Hail-Loaded Storms Hit West Texas

By The Associated Press

A six-inch cloudburst struck the Perryton area as gusty thunderstorms loaded with hail thrust eastward through the Panhandle-Plains sector and areas farther south in West Texas during the night and early today.

SWEPT CAR

The deluge around Perryton, in the northeast edge of the Texas Panhandle, sent water surging over Texas 15 and swept a car off the road 13 miles east of town about midnight. Searchers found the driver, Deanna Babitzke of Booker, unharmed three hours later.

Water still covered parts of the road east of Perryton early today, stranding several other cars where the highway crosses an old lakebed. Hailstones up to the size of marbles accompanied the downpour.

At least one tornado dipped down from the boiling storm clouds, touching ground briefly northeast of Stinnett—near Borger—Tuesday night. It apparently caused no damage.

Heralding the arrival of a new Pacific cold front, the turbulent weather thrust into parts of North Central Texas and Oklahoma before dawn.

Thunderstorms and showers kept popping along about 100 to 125 miles ahead of the front, and more were in prospect as it progressed. By early morning the forward edge of the colder air stretched south from the Panhandle across the Big Bend country of far West Texas.

Hail as big as baseballs pounded the Wolforth community four miles southwest of Lubbock, smashing windows in a number of homes. There also was hail three-fourths inch thick with blinding rain in Lubbock.

Amarillo received .27 inch of rain in a storm accompanied by hail. Farther south, hailstones covered the ground at Andrews and icy pellets the size of golf balls bounced off Odessa rooftops.

GRASS FIRE

Lightning flicked out of one of the heavier storms and set off a raging grass fire near Denver City. It blackened 3,500 acres of range land before volunteers and firemen from Denver City, Plains, Seagraves and Brownfield controlled the blaze.

Amid Reports

Unconfirmed reports said U.S. would stop the bombing — presently restricted in North Vietnam to south of the 19th parallel.

Colds Better, Trio Gives Cooking Tips

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — Bearded, rested and feeling better, the Apollo 7 astronauts presented a televised lesson in space age cooking and plumbing on the Wally, Walt and Donn show today and then sped on toward the halfway point of their marathon space mission.

As they swept into their sixth day in orbit, their space chariot was performing so well that plans were being firmed to send three men around the moon Christmas Day.

FOURTH TEST

The spacecaft engine that will steer astronauts to the moon was successfully fired for the fourth time on the Apollo 7 mission shortly after the telecast. A brief half-second burst demonstrated that the powerplant can make small course corrections.

The astronauts said the tiny burn felt like two bumper cars coming together in an amusement park ride.

For the third straight morning, the tediousness of the flight was broken by the daily television. The TV show was shortened from 11 minutes to nine minutes today because of initial reception trouble at a receiving station at Corpus Christi, Tex.

The show began as usual with Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. holding up the usual introductory sign: "Hello from the Lovely Apollo Room High Atop Everything."

Then, in contrast to the hijinks of previous days, the astronauts were more businesslike as they demonstrated some of the things they do in space.

Civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham showed how the astronauts prepare their food as he took a plastic container of breakfast fruit juice and injected cold water in it through a nozzle.

PALATABLE

Narrator Schirra said that the rehydratable food could be made palatable with either hot or cold water. Apollo 7 meals have been the first hot meals in space.

As the food bag floated freely off Cunningham's fingertips, Schirra said: "You can see in the center an interesting formation of bubbles."

The bubbles, caused by weightlessness, were not actually visible to viewers.

Then Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele took over the camera and pointed it at a puddle of water in the lower bay of the cabin.

Schirra said the water is caused by condensation from some of the cold tubing in the life support system but that the exact source was not known.

Demonstrating how they cope with the plumbing problem, Eisele took a small vacuum cleaner-like device and Schirra described:

"Now he's going to suck up the water with the accumulator line we have. It's a pretty good size blob of water. It takes quite a while to mop up."

He explained that the water is then spilled overboard through a water dump system.

Following the mop-up operation, the camera was panned around the cabin showing such things as the hand controllers and display panels.

LEVITY

The only levity in the conversation, in contrast to earlier days, was this comment from Schirra, emulating an airline pilot:

"This is your captain speaking. On this flight you can unfasten your seat belts and relax and I hope we can make this flight enjoyable for you."

Mission Control told the astronauts that the reception was good but not up to the quality of the previous two mornings.

Trouble with the converter equipment at the Corpus Christi receiving station threatened to cut several minutes off the telecast, but the trouble was corrected just minutes before Apollo 7 appeared overhead. The show flashed on only two minutes late.

Had the trouble persisted, viewers would have seen only half the show as received at the station at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Apollo 7 was headed for the midway mark of its planned 11-day journey tonight. No major highlights are planned in the last half of the mission as the astronauts continue the routine job of checking and re-checking the systems.

They all slept well Tuesday night, each averaging about eight hours. This contrasted with the previous night when Schirra complained that they were awakened too early.

All three reported their colds were much better and that they had stopped taking medication, including aspirin.

Bombing Halt Rumors Disclaimed By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today there has been no breakthrough in Vietnam war negotiations despite widespread reports of a U.S. proposal to halt completely the bombing of North Vietnam.

"The position of the United States with respect to Vietnam remains as set forth by the President and the secretary of state," presidential press secretary George Christian said.

"There has been no basic change in the situation. No breakthrough," he added in a midmorning statement prompted by newsmen's queries following reports of a possible major new peace move from here, Paris and Saigon.

BOMBING HALT

A senior South Vietnamese political official said in Saigon earlier today the United States has proposed a full bombing halt and was discussing the proposal with the Saigon government.

In Paris South Vietnamese diplomats told newsmen they understand the United States had made the proposal as an attempt to further peace negotiations.

Washington officials, although declining to say whether a final settlement has been reached, acknowledged the United States and North Vietnam have been discussing for several weeks a package plan to end the deadlocked talks in paris.

RESTRAINT

The Washington officials said a key element of the package is North Vietnam's military restraint in return for a bombing halt.

Also being discussed, they said, is the way the South Vietnamese government and the National Liberation Front—political arm of the Viet Cong—would be brought into the second phase of the Paris talks.

The report from Saigon followed two meetings today between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu. Later Bunker met a third time with Thieu who meanwhile had met with his Cabinet and top political legislative and government figures.

GUARANTEE

The Saigon source said Thieu told top members of his regime the enemy must guarantee they will not escalate the war if a bombing halt is ordered.

There was no indication during today's 26th meeting in Paris between U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators of any breakthrough in the talks.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, top U.S. negotiator there, told newsmen after the session there had been no talk of the bombing issue.

North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy declared: "The 26th meeting was just like the 25 preceding ones." During the session itself Thuy repeated Hanoi's formula for progress in the talks: a total, unconditional halt in U.S. attacks on the North.

GREATER

Pollsters Admit Chance For Error

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey among political pollsters shows they agree that their chances for error may be greater this year than at any time since 1948, when the major polls failed to predict the winner in the presidential race, The New York Times reported today.

In a story from its Washington bureau, the newspaper said that the pollsters are nonetheless confident that the odds are strongly in favor of their calling this year's election outcome correctly.

The story also said in part that the pollsters listed these major uncertainties as they drew near the time for their final pre-election polls:

—Refusal of an increasing number of persons, especially large city dwellers, to be interviewed by the polls, and the corresponding problem of how to allocate their votes.

—The questionable validity of techniques developed in two-candidate races for screening out those who won't vote and for allocating the undecided vote when applied to a three-candidate contest.

—An apparent lack of enthusiasm that may mean a higher than usual possibility of last-minute switches if there is a last minute campaign issue or disclosure.

United Fund Report

The United Fund in Big Spring moved steadily upward today to 48.3 per cent of the $109,225 goal with $52,807.40 reported at the United Fund office.

McMahon Concrete Co. reported new figures in the employes division to up its fair share giving to $26.38 per capita, the highest average of any company in the drive.

A heavy push should begin this week for the remainder of the campaign, and 50 per cent of the objective is needed by Friday, said Mrs. Alyce Butler, executive secretary.

FLORIDA BRACES FOR BIG BLOW

Gladys Becomes Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gladys became a full-blown hurricane today as she crossed the south coast of Cuba. Hurricane warnings were raised on Florida's west coast from Fort Myers to Clearwater.

Dr. Robert Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center, said winds in the tropical cyclone were up to 80 miles per hour.

SPEEDING

Simpson said Gladys was picking up forward speed as it moved and was expected to increase from 8 m.p.h. to about 12 m.p.h. and possibly 15 m.p.h. as it pushed north.

"On the course it's on now and with the expected accelerated forward movement, it will probably reach Florida's west coast late in the day Thursday," Simpson said.

Earlier, Gladys pounded Fidel Castro's "island of youth" south of the Cuban mainland with gales up to 70 m.p.h. and heavy rains.

The Isle of Pines, a colony of the young 50 miles south of Cuba, has about 50,000 residents.

The Cuban government suspended flights from Havana to the island as intensity of the storm neared the 74 m.p.h. level of a full hurricane. Forecasters said Gladys might reach hurricane strength even as it passed over the Cuban mountains, a passage usually counted on to break the back of hurricanes.

Even as heavy rains pounded the Isle of Pines, evacuation to higher ground began for thousands of people and cattle in Pinar del Rio and Havana provinces in western Cuba.

WATCH

A hurricane watch was in effect in the Florida keys and from Clearwater southward along the Gulf Coast across Florida Bay to Key Largo. Forecasters said hurricane-force winds of 74 m.p.h. or more were likely to reach the keys by Thursday.

EPIDEMIC IN AUSTIN

Diphtheria Rages

AUSTIN (AP) — The Travis County Medical Society said Tuesday night that an epidemic of diphtheria is raging in this Texas capital city.

The society, meeting in emergency session, said Austin now has 60 cases of the disease, half of all the known cases in the United States.

They urged an emergency mass inoculation to prevent further spread of the disease.

U.N. Needs Money

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Inflation has hit the United Nations, and Secretary-General U Thant is asking the General Assembly for more money to pay its bills.

Because the cost of living has risen, he wants the assembly to raise the salaries next Jan. 1 of the U.N.'s professional and higher-ranking employes five per cent above the level set three years earlier.

The raise would result in gross salaries ranging from $7,600 a year for a starting assistant officer to $36,850 a year for an undersecretary-general.

Net salaries, after deduction of a staff tax, would range from $6,200 to $24,867.50. For a U.N. employe, his net salary corresponds to what an American on a regular job takes home out of his pay check.

Large Check

Col. W. C. McGlothlin Jr., Webb wing commander, presents an oversize check for $13,013 to Mayor J. Arnold Marshall, representing the base's achievement of 100 per cent of its United Fund goal.

Webb Goes Over The Top With Fair Share For UF

Webb's contribution to the 1968 United Fund went over the top Tuesday.

In a brief ceremony during the downtown luncheon honoring C.M. Sgt. Paul W. Airey, Col. W. C. McClothlin Jr., wing commander, presented an outsize check for $13,013 to Mayor J. Arnold Marshall, representing slightly more than Webb's "Fair Share."

Maj. C. T. Pajot, base executive officer, explained that the Webb campaign will still receive some donations, which will be turned in to the United Fund. The check, however, represented the major portion of Webb's contribution and full achievement of the 1968 goal by base personnel. Maj. Pajot has served as project officer for the UF campaign at Webb, assisted by 1st Lt. Donald C. Paladino.

Americans Named For Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Three American professors were awarded the 1968 Nobel Prize for physiology and medicine today for their work in deciphering the genetic code, popularly known as a key to life, to determine how genes of a cell direct a cell's function.

The joint winners are Robert Holley of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., Har Gobind Khorana of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., and Marshall Warren Nirenberg of the National Heart Institute, Bethesda, Md.

Many scientists have worked on the problems for which the professors won the world's most coveted medical distinction. The three will share equally in the award, which has a record cash value this year of $70,000.

Experts explained that the efforts involved translation of the genetic code, a sequence of four nucleotides in nucleic acids, into the sequence of 20 amino acids in proteins. This could be compared with the translation of a language containing four letters into another containing 20 letters.

The medical prize is one of five set up to be awarded annually under the will of Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite. Each will be worth $70,000 this year.

The Nobel Peace Prize for 1968 was awarded Oct. 9 to Prof. Rene Cassin of France, who heads the European Court of Human Rights.

One Of 10 Best

Pace Of Fighting Slows, More Stockpiles Found

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese officials held marathon conferences today, amid another of the periodic lulls in the ground war, a lull which top U.S. officers in Saigon do not think means the Communist command is de-escalating. But they admit they "can't get the enemy to stick around and fight."

Some U.S. officers feel the enemy was hurt badly by thousands of allied troops combing the countryside and seizing huge munitions and food stockpiles stashed away for future offensives. Massive air strikes by B52 bombers may be another reason for the enemy's disinclination to fight.

DISAPPEARED

In the 3rd corps region between Saigon and the Cambodian border, three main force North Vietnamese divisions "just seem to have disappeared into the woodwork," said one officer.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces found two more enemy base camps Tuesday that yielded munitions stockpiles.

American infantrymen of the 1st Division, operating 25 miles northeast of Saigon, found 130 weapons, including three sniper rifles with telescopic sights, two light machine guns, a 572mm recoilless rifle, twenty 60mm mortar shells and 1,000 rounds of small arms ammunition.

In the Mekong Delta 63 miles southwest of Saigon, South Vietnamese militiamen seized three machine guns of East German manufacture, two light machine guns, 32 individual weapons and assorted ammunition and equipment.

The militiamen also killed two guards, captured two and freed two civilians being held prisoner. A spokesman said the Mekong Delta camp contained three jails, an aid station, an office, four arms shops and 20 trenches.

The U.S. Command announced today that Marine artillery accidentally fired eight 155mm shells into a supposedly empty village Tuesday, killing 10 South Vietnamese and wounding 23.

The village was about a mile northeast of the Thuong Duc Special Forces camp, 30 miles southwest of Da Nang, where U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen are searching for Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces threatening the camp.

Connally referred any questions to details about his job with the firm to David Searls, a senior partner in Houston.

Words are wonderful things, and there's no getting around it, they get the message across almost better than any other means. But there are some words that are used frequently that rub me the wrong way, so to speak. One of the most offensive is "gutsy" and all of its forms. I think it's pretty terrible used to describe men who are the most in aggressiveness but when sports-writers use it to impart the idea that a female competitor is full of grit etc., it's gone too far for me. I also hate the term "belly dancer" although if you have ever seen one at her work you well know that exotic isn't the very word to use even if it does sound better.

It has been a long time since I would have qualified for the term "little woman" but I would have deplored that just as much as being referred to by my husband as his "old lady." By the same token "old man" is almost as painful to my ears as "hubby" even though it does fit better when writing headlines.

Lately there has been a turn toward new embellishment in the bridal department and one of the more popular headpieces, it now appears, is a cabbage rose for holding the veil. There are so many words to use along with rose . . . why cabbage? Somehow or another I think of cabbage as that last resort vegetable cooked on wash day to save time. You can see why it leaves me cold when used in a wedding story. But more than likely the brides are going right on and having a cabbage rose to hold the pretty, misty veil . . . and they are beautiful, it's just the name that isn't.

'Living With Discipline' Stressed By Counselor

Mrs. Harold Rosson, a counselor at Big Spring Senior High School, spoke on "Living With Discipline" at Tuesday's meeting of Kentwood Parent-Teacher Association.

"You can't live without discipline," said Mrs. Rosson. "It is the training of the mind and character to bring order and obedience. There are two types of discipline: external, which is painful, and internal or self discipline, which is also sometimes painful."

Mrs. Rosson stressed that in earlier times discipline was harsh and rigid but had gradually become "permissive." She noted that educators now believe that there is a medium between the two that will be best for the child.

Hostesses were Mrs. Joe B. Benson and Mrs. A. W. Franklin. Mrs. Kenneth Born gave the invocation, and room count was won by Mrs. Wayne Speegle's second grade class.

Wallace Backer Rips HHH, Nixon

COLORADO CITY (SC) — About 65 Wallace backers attended a rally for their candidate Tuesday night in Civic House, to hear H. Dustin Fillmore, young Wichita Falls attorney, sock it to both the Republican and Democratic candidates for president.

But most of all, he blamed voter apathy for the quality of elected leaders, and said "we have almost run out of time for making mistakes in the men we elect to represent us."

Fillmore was interrupted by applause twice — once when he suggested that those Americans and others who support other governments be paid off for any property they own and shipped to those other countries, and again when he made a joking remark about tax money — that it had to cover the expense of government, the needs of those who were opposed to work and maybe "a little left over, so the chief executive can get him a nice ranch somewhere."

Fillmore, who flew to Colorado City, was thirty minutes late, and explained that head winds and a busy schedule had delayed him. He was introduced by Olson Sweatt, Mitchell County Wallace chairman.

Air Medals For Duty In Vietnam Go To Two

Two pilots in Webb's 3561st Pilot Training Squadron recently received Air Medals for duty while serving in Vietnam. The pair, Maj. Donald B. Williams and 1st Lt. Ronald Whitlaw, received the medals at a 3561st Commander's Call.

Maj. Williams, who has earned the medal seven times previously, was presented with the eighth and ninth oak leaf clusters to the Air Medal by Col. William C. McGlothlin Jr., wing commander.

Col. Robert W. Casey, deputy commander for operations, presented Lt. Whitlaw with the Air Medal and first and second oak leaf clusters to the medal.

Maj. Williams' medal was for his service while flying a C-130 Hercules with the 817th Troop Carrier Squadron, Naha AB, Okinawa. During the major's two years there, he recorded more than 320 missions, amassing approximately 750 combat hours.

He flew more than 56 missions over North Vietnam at night, where the C-130 was used as an airborne command control, forward air controller and flare ship. Also included in the major's SEA tour were numerous airlift missions to the bases at Khe Sahn and Dak To.

Maj. Williams has been stationed at Webb since August, 1967, and is now T-37 flight safety officer.

Lt. Whitlaw was granted the Air Medal for his service while flying the C-7 Caribou in Vietnam. He was stationed at Vung Tau, Vietnam and served with the 535th Troop Airlift Squadron between March, 1967, and March, 1968.

While at Vung Tau, the lieutenant became the youngest aircraft commander in his squadron and the first first lieutenant to become an aircraft commander. He was granted a waiver of the 1,000 hour requirement for the position after he had accumulated 750 hours.

The lieutenant arrived at Webb in July and is currently a member of P-flight, instructing students in UPT class 67-G.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♡	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♡

Failure to maintain complete control of the play by the declarer led to the defeat of South's four spade contract.

West opened the king of hearts and the ace was played from dummy. A small spade to declarer's king drew the outstanding trumps and, once in his hand, South led the jack of diamonds for a finesse. East won the trick with the king, and a club shift thru the declarer enabled West to win two club tricks. He then cashed the queen of hearts to defeat the contract.

North and South agreed at the conclusion of the deal that they had been the victims of an unfortunate break in finding every card adversely located. In point of fact, however, the declarer had it in his power to make his four spade contract against the actual division of the cards.

Since it is desirable to keep East out of the lead in order to protect his club holding from attack, South should endeavor to control the play. It is suggested that he permit West's king of hearts to hold the opening lead and then win the heart continuation. After trumps are drawn, South may play the jack of diamonds; however he should go up with dummy's ace, refusing the finesse. Now the ten of hearts is led and, when East shows out, South discards his last diamond—permitting West to win the trick.

If West returns a diamond, North's ten forces out the king and declarer ruffs. The queen of diamonds now provides a parking place for a losing club. If West shifts to a club, South's king automatically becomes established.

Observe that the recommended play cannot cost. If East is able to cover the ten of hearts, declarer ruffs and leads a small diamond toward dummy. Even if West should turn up with the king of diamonds, where it was originally finessable, he can do no better than to cash the ace of clubs for the third and final defensive trick.

A Devotional For The Day

"Do not be anxious about tomorrow, tomorrow will look after itself. Each day has troubles enough of its own" (Mathew 6:34, NEB)

PRAYER: Dear heavenly Father, we do not know if we have a tomorrow, but we do have today. Help us to live this day to its fullest for Your glory. In the name of Christ, we pray. Amen.

Knowing May Help—Maybe

Henry Giordano, associate director of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, is properly disturbed over the massive increase in marijuana traffic.

Approximately 12 metric tons of marijuana were seized during the 1966-67 fiscal year, while approximately 31 metric tons were seized in the 1967-68 fiscal year, Giordano told the International Association of Chiefs of Police meeting in Honolulu. The need for better, increased enforcement is apparent, he said, "But I am convinced that one of our greatest and most immediate needs today is for an effective program designed to correct the deluge of misinformation currently being disseminated by those who argue that marijuana is really a harmless substance.

This brings us face to face with an uncomfortable dilemma. The vast majority of Americans is convinced that marijuana is evil. But many of our youths and some adults do not agree. Why?

In an effort to understand the effects of marijuana the Narcotic and Drug Abuse Center of the National Institute of Mental Health is in the midst of a $3 million research program.

The Bureau of Narcotics has conceded that marijuana is not physically addictive, but it insists that marijuana smoking is a step toward more harmful drugs, such as heroin.

The argument between the Narcotics Bureau and the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) over marijuana surely has not been lost on many youths. The bureau is in favor of harsh penalties and the FDA would prefer the elimination of harsh penalties for possession, but be given the authority to regulate strictly sale and distribution as with other allied substances such as LSD.

The best policy may be just to continue control while awaiting the advice of experts who are currently studying the effects of marijuana. And even then there is no assurance this will turn the tide. Knowing what a deadly thing heroin can be, there are still those who embrace it. Knowing that glue sniffing may damage the brain, some still toy with this snake.

Concert Memberships Needed

Memberships are lagging for the Big Spring Concert Association and with the start of the season less than a month away.

Surely, this is a case of a number of people simply delaying in obtaining their memberships, for the program is — across the board — probably the strongest ever lined up for a season by the association.

In fact, the value of the first two programs will in effect give members a free ride for the last two. The season opens Nov. 12 with "Cactus Flower," which will carry a $7.50 tab when it opens in Dallas. Next will be the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra Dec. 16, and ordinarily prices on this splendid group runs from $3.50 up. So for $10, the Concert Association member not only gets to take in these two productions, but also the Pennsylvania ballet with a company of 55 dancers and musicians, and, finally, the Paul Winter Contemporary music consort. Critics have given lavish notices to both.

If you haven't taken your membership, please don't delay. You can send in yours to the association care of Hemphill-Wells, Box 151, at $10 adult and $4 student. For reserved seats add $4 in each case. You not only will be buying yourself a tremendous amount of pleasure, but you will be enriching our community life.

Some Steps Toward Freedom

WASHINGTON — Every now and then fragmentary pieces of information, as revealed either in speeches or in announcements after a diplomatic conference, tend to indicate when put together in perspective that the policy of the United States — in standing up for the self-determination of peoples — is making substantial progress in the world.

PERHAPS little noticed was the declaration by Secretary of Defense Clifford — after a conference with Chancellor Kiesinger in Bonn over the weekend — that the United States will back West Germany in case of Soviet attack. Mr. Clifford said that an attack on West Germany is an attack on the United States. This, of course, is the basic principle of the North Atlantic Treaty, where it is spelled out explicitly.

Secretary of State Rusk, moreover, in the last few days explained in detail the economic progress that has been made by the countries in Southeast Asia. He pointed out that the free nations in the region have made remarkable improvements in the life of their peoples.

THE UNITED STATES, to be sure, has made important contributions, as, for instance, in helping to create the Asian Development Bank. Not the least of the influences which have generated a new initiative in Southeast Asia is the resoluteness of the United States in helping to repel or deter aggression. The Vietnam War, incidentally, has furnished an opportunity to aid the South Vietnamese government to institute important reforms along with a program to root out corruption.

WHILE INDIA, Pakistan, Ceylon, Indonesia, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines have been stimulated by what America has done, it is not realized what the impact has been on Communist peoples.

From time to time there are evidences that the people of the Soviet Union, too, are hearing about the better standard of living and freedom of expression which the peoples of other countries are enjoying. A UPI dispatch from Moscow last Saturday said:

"FREE PUBLIC argument surged in the streets around a Moscow courthouse this week with a vigor rarely seen since the Bolshevik revolution 51 years ago.

"Inside the yellow three-story building, five political dissidents, including Pavel Litvinov, grandson of the late Bolshevik Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinov, were convicted Friday on charges of 'disturbing the peace' by trying to stage a protest in Red Square against the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

"Outside, in the windswept space along the courthouse, groups of Muscovites discussed the invasion and such questions as the freedom of speech and expression.

" 'WHAT DO YOU know about the freedom of speech,' shouted a young man whose friends were on trial during the past three days.

" 'I am a worker,' a burly middle-aged man shouted back. 'I fought for your freedom with my bare hands during the war. I know all.' . . . About 50 persons surrounding the speakers — including a half dozen plainclothesmen — were silent. So were several glum-faced uniformed police standing nearby."

THIS IS NOT the kind of news report one would have read a few years ago, as all such comments would have promptly landed the speakers in jail and the news would have been suppressed.

Times have changed, not only in Czechoslovakia but inside Russia, and the probable cause of it all is the envious desire of the enslaved peoples to obtain the freedoms and material benefits which are available in the free world.

Billy Graham

I am what you would call a "poor person." One Sunday I went to the "first" church of one of our denominations because I am a fairly intelligent person and was tired of my church where we have an uneducated minister. But, because my clothing was a bit shabby, everyone stared and scowled at me. This made me so uncomfortable that I will never go back again. Would you call this real Christianity? H J.

Emphatically no! In too many instances the modern church has become a sort of social club for a certain class of people. People attending these "social clubs" have a uniform: class clothing. And they have "rules": class morality. In order to attach a certain respectability to the operation they tie in a little Christianity. This sort of makes God the sponsor of their activities. However, poor people usually dress up to go to church out of respect for God. But remember Jesus, who "had no place to lay his head," and the disciples who went out with "neither purse nor script." Jesus, says the Bible, came to minister to the poor as well as to the rich. He said, "He hath anointed me to preach the Gospel to the poor." Christ saw men, not as rich or poor, but as men alienated from God and from each other.

Every Christian church should extend the hand of welcome to every person, regardless of race, color, or class. Until this is done, no church should call itself Christian.

Hal's Silver Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — The late Don Marquis once described writing a newspaper column as "digging a daily grave."

Glancing at a calendar recently, I was surprised to note that I have now spent 25 years in this odd, lonesome and sometimes rewarding industry.

The nation as a whole seems to have taken my silver anniversary pretty much in stride.

Congress in its rush to adjourn failed to pass any resolution of congratulation. President Johnson neglected to declare a national holiday. No flags were specially flown for the occasion, no guns boomed in salute, no skyrockets were fired, no church bells pealed in celebration.

SOMETIMES I get the feeling that this country is becoming too sophisticated for its own good.

A quarter of a century isn't a long time in the life of a public building or a redwood tree, but it does take toll of a man. The turmoil of churning out some 6,000 columns has removed some of the starch from my spinal column and left me noticeably shorter of hair, breath, teeth, and sometimes—when dealing with press agents—of temper.

The direst peril facing a newspaper columnist is stuffed shirtism, but it is not up to him to judge whether he has become a victim of that deadly affliction. That is for you to judge, gentle reader.

Naturally, at landmark moments of his life, a man likes to "look before and after the pine for what is not."

I AM GRATEFUL that this job has enabled me to meet and write about literally hundreds of interesting people. It has also permitted me to see the best of some 67 countries throughout the world and the worst of three wars.

But at heart every columnist is a reformer, although he may deny this or seek to hide the fact, and he feels that his real job is to make a better world.

Here, it seems to me, I have failed lamentably.

It is true that there are millions more people alive than when I first started writing a column in 1943, but as I am not the father of my country, I can hardly take credit for them.

Woes have multiplied since I first sat down at my typewriter and waited for someone to laugh.

THE NEW YORK Yankees fell apart, prices have risen, our prestige abroad has fallen to a new low, what the country needs now is a good dime instead of a nickel cigar, and parking places are harder than ever to find.

Youth is rebellious, the old feel forgotten, and the middle aged feel that Uncle Sam is breaking their back with taxes.

Diplomatically, we're doing so badly that even Gen. Charles de Gaulle must be tempted to send us a get-well card. National politics is in a stew. The churches are in an uproar. Everyone is taking so many tranquilizers that soon they'll start putting them in chewing gum.

Yep, I have to admit that the world seems to be going pell-mell to Hades. But can the blame for all this be heaped on the head of one newspaper columnist?

PERHAPS I nodded at the typewriter too often. Perhaps the world came unglued because I took too many long vacations.

Anyway, I promise to try harder in the next 25 years. If, at the end of that time, we don't have a better world—well, I'll give it up as a bad job and go into some other line of work.

(Editor's Note: Hal Boyle seems to have survived his silver anniversary, and is recovering nicely. Don't bother to send flowers.)

Boeing's Frustrations

NEW YORK (AP) — A meeting with airline representatives today at Seattle may soon lead to a public announcement by the Boeing Co. that it finally has abandoned a movable, swing-wing design for America's first supersonic transport.

Industry officials speculate that barring disapproval by customer airlines, a more conventional, fixed-wing design may be revealed to the public later this month.

THE NEW design may be slightly smaller than the original plans, which called for a seating capacity of about 300 passengers.

Boeing officials are understood to be convinced that the swing-wing concept, in which the outstretched wings would be swept back as the craft reached cruising speed of 1,800 miles an hour, will be built eventually.

The concept is considered superior by Boeing officials, but at the moment the problem of too much weight cannot be licked by Jan. 15, when final designs must be submitted to the Federal Aviation Administration.

BOEING'S frustrations, which have built relentlessly since it was awarded two years ago a federal contract to design and produce two prototype planes, result mainly from its inability to mesh safety, weight, economy and time.

Early last year, when Boeing was about to release drawings to the shop and begin cutting metal, it was forced to seek a slowdown to tackle the problem of weight-economy. Much as it wanted to proceed it could not ignore these factors.

Now that it appears a change will be made, Boeing officials are believed still to feel that the day of the swing-wing may come in the next decade or so as more powerful engines and stronger, lighter materials are developed.

THE DEADLINE, however, is not off in the 1980s but the first month of 1969. If the government does not accept Boeing's new design the company could lose $45 million by default. And the airlines have $50 million tied up in the project.

Considerable feeling exists within the industry that the new design will be accepted.

Combatting Diabetic Neuritis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is diabetic and takes insulin, and seems to have it under control, but now he has neuritis. The doctor is giving him vitamin B-12 — he has had two shots a week for three weeks — but they don't seem to help the pain as yet.

Do you think neuritis is caused by the diabetes? Is there any other medication for it? — Mrs. H. C.

Yes, there certainly is such a thing as diabetic neuritis, and it is one of many good reasons why diabetes should be kept under as good control as possible.

In addition, large doses of vitamin B complex as well as B-12 alone tend to help correct the neuritis, but three weeks of treatment is not likely to be long enough. Give it time.

Symptoms of neuritis can also occur if the blood sugar is too low. Hence, the doctor may have to see whether the insulin dosage should be reduced.

Remember, of course, that neuritis can occur from other factors unrelated to the diabetes, principally infections, and infections involving the teeth particularly should be eliminated.

Frankly, diabetic neuritis can be a miserable and relentless condition and can progress to a serious degree. On the other hand, I have seen near-cripples improve from the neuritis and return to normal activities and comfort.

Proper control of the diabetes is basic.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: My son has had a long siege with acne. The doctor gave him two kinds of pills, vitamin A and another which, I believe, was for hormone balance.

They were quite expensive, so my husband has discouraged the boy from refilling the prescriptions and decided to prescribe himself by telling him to cut out milk.

The boy has been in excellent health all his life and has averaged a quart of milk a day. At my husband's suggestion, he is now drinking no milk at all, just tea. I feel that since tea has no food value he is losing valuable proteins, etc. Do you think milk causes or advances acne? — M.V.

I think the chance of milk being involved in the acne is so remote as to be what you might call far-fetched. To keep peace in the family, maybe if the no-milk notion doesn't show any results in, say, a month your husband will give up on that kick.

Certainly the protein, as well as the calcium content, is important in the diet. If your husband is going on the theory that fat has anything to do with the matter, at least get him to permit low-fat or skim milk, so the boy will still get his calcium.

* * *

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

The Old Rivalries

Arch rivalries come and go upon the gridiron, but some persist longer than others. Over the years, Big Spring has had half a dozen which rate as keen rivalries, and I suspect that the reason a couple have persisted locally is that we have been on the short end of the score more often than not against those teams.

PERHAPS THE first rival of this sort was Midland, and more particularly old Midland College. At the outset the Big Spring Jayhawks (that's what they were before Joe Ward came here fresh from the University of Texas in the early '20s and renamed them for his alma mater's Steers) had difficulty finding competition. One ready opponent was Midland, which then had a small college of sorts. Big Spring won most of those games, but not all of them, and when Midland rose up and smote us hip and thigh, it only sharpened the rivalry. In latter days, both cities took their share of victories, so the rivalry is no longer as sharp as it once was.

ABILENE TOOK the place of Midland because it represented an almost insurmountable challenge. In the years when Abilene was winning state championships and was the scourge of the West, Big Spring marched dutifully to the slaughter. Members of the team consoled themselves that they had courage to play Abilene when other schools this size did not. A most happy way to rationalize away a 60-0 battering.

SOME 45 YEARS ago when Joe Ward had his great team, he held Abilene to 19-0 and it was a moral victory. Finally, when Big Spring moved to a par, there was almost a complex about this game, and once, nursing a two TD lead going into the final quarter, we frittered victory away. The rivalry might have lost some edge, except a few years ago when Abilene was again going to the state finals, the noble Steer drew smarting wounds from the Eagle.

In the 1920's, our mortal football enemy was Colorado City. The games were most always close, but alas, C-City laid it on us more often than not. Then came Sweetwater, and this was a slam-bang series which dated back to the days when Sweetwater borrowed Mike Hicks from Roscoe and beat our Tack Dennis, whom we had borrowed from Marlow, Okla. Sammy Baugh and Red Sheridan didn't pour oil in our wounds, either.

GRADUALLY THE heat subsided and in its place came a redhot series with Snyder, which had boomed into a small city and acquired some rather remarkable talent. Snyder lads marked this as the one game they wanted above all to win — and by golly they did it, more than occasionally.

Odessa, and Odessa Permian, came on to the scene and stirred the local juices, first the Hosses as raunchy state contenders, and then the Panthers as spoilers and punishers.

BUT THE ONE rivalry that has been little diminished over the years is that with San Angelo. Three to four decades ago there could be several touchdowns difference between the two, but when they met, records meant nothing. Tie games were not uncommon. When Big Spring moved back up into San Angelo's district, some healthy shellackings lay in store. But not always, for the Steers scored upsets here and there. Then when the Steers proved to be surprise contenders, the Bobcats whacked them down like mere upstarts and, local fans were sure, deliberately ran up humiliating scores. That lay behind Big Spring inflicting an embarrassing upset on an undefeated San Angelo a few years back, then following it with another victory. Since then San Angelo has laid it on. And such is the stuff that rivalries are made of.

Texans In Politics

Demo Party Worries

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Texas' pro politicians are doing a lot of behind the scenes worrying over what will happen to the state Democratic party organization after the presidential election.

Texas Republicans have no such worries because, win or lose, their organization will stay pretty much as it is now, although a win by Richard Nixon certainly would bolster party coffers and membership.

The Democrats face a different situation.

IF NIXON WINS, as many polls indicate, the establishment Democrats who backed Gov. John Connally are afraid they will be blamed for the defeat of Hubert Humphrey.

Connally, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Speaker Ben Barnes are supporting Humphrey but neither one has done any active campaigning. Humphrey and Larry O'Brien, as campaign manager and national party chairman, will still technically head the national Democratic party after a loss.

If Humphrey should win, establishment Democrats predict Sen. Ralph Yarborough and his followers who have fought Connally so bitterly, will claim credit for the victory. Several avid Yarborough supporters are on the new State Democratic Executive Committee, set up by Smith as the party's gubernatorial nominee, but the group also has a majority of conservatives including 14 party officers and committee members held over from the Connally regime.

Win or lose in November, Texas Democrats likely will end up with a strong state organization but with fragile and tenuous ties with the national party.

THIS WOULD not be unusual in Texas. There was little widespread cooperation between the state and national parties in recent years — until Lyndon Johnson became vice president and later president.

Gov. Allan Shivers had strong party machinery when the state voted for Republican Dwight Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956, but there was little communication with the national party.

"About all we used to get from national to the state headquarters was some form letters," recalls one who knows.

Wright Morrow of Houston was elected national committeemen but the national committee refused to seat him because of his support of Eisenhower in 1952, along with other party leaders.

DURING SHIVERS' administration, the first formal state headquarters with a paid staff and permanent records was established, under state chairman George Sandlin in 1954.

Before Sandlin, J. E. Wheat of Woodville, and Wallace Savage of Dallas served as chairman, each keeping what records he thought necessary in his hometown office.

The state party headquarters has been in Austin since 1954, with close, often direct, supervision from the governor's office.

Running Scared To Work Up An Appetite

WASHINGTON — "The day my candidate complains that you're doing too much," said Charlie Rhyne over long distance from the Willard Hotel, "then you'll know you've become a success."

Rhyne is national chairman of United Citizens for Nixon-Agnew. He was using campaign hyperbole on one of his sub-chairmen. But he was also verbalizing the nightmare of Dick Nixon's pillow: overconfidence.

RHYNE WAS simultaneously conjuring up Nixon's sweetest daydream: a popular majority big enough to be called a mandate, which is to say, a commandment from the people to restore American normality.

This is the double motif of the Nixon campaign at this writing. There is fear of a debacle. There is this Big Win compulsion. The dual drive of these motivations can only be described in distended wordsmanship. It is supercolossal.

THERE ARE twice as many Nixon-Agnew clubs as there were Eisenhower-Nixon clubs at this point in 1952. There are five times more "citizens" for the Nixon team than there were when the 1960 campaign was disbanded. On television-radio commercials, according to one published report, Nixon ranks as spender with the automotive and detergent industries.

Since the Citizens took over the defunct Willard Hotel, its "population" has doubled from 500 workers to 1,000. The Citizens are merged in a corporate structure with the Republican National Committee and the Campaign Committee in New York City. The most dynamic Republican force of all, Dwight D. Eisenhower, is laid up at Walter Reed Army Hospital, but his feeder lines are spliced into the campaign. Mamie Eisenhower works for the "volunteers." Her son John is a mobile trouble-shooter, most recently dispatched into Missouri. Her grandson, David, is in charge of youth-students.

HOW'S IT GOING, this fight to subdue overconfidence and to obtain the mandate? Internal correspondence among the Nixon coordinators shows a candid mix of caution and gung-ho.

Much of the caution relates to the George Wallace phenomenon. He "could hurt us" in Missouri reads an end-of-September report. "Nervous about Wallace," says a dispatch relating to the border states of North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky.

THE GUNG-HO memos often relate to new appointments and expenditures, but nobody is encouraged to believe that personalities and dollars will suffice. There is constant cross-checking to make sure that the saturation method is effective.

Except for New York, says a confidential report, "there is not a state with an unmanageable problem." Illinois looks good, but "we need to live with this state." Michigan work is "successful," "but please have RN call Gov. Romney and say thanks. This call is important." Massachusetts "excellent," but there's a "money problem" in Pennsylvania, and "can New York ask John and Barbara Eisenhower to make an appearance here?"

THE DEEP SOUTH is rated as "okay," but small states are "very sensitive about all this talk of near-total emphasis on major states. While we cannot divert candidates and money to small states, the entire campaign crew can give them personal attention, praise, etc . . . In a close race, these small states are our bedrock."

The Nixon camp is running scared. But running, also, to work up an appetite for the biggest possible victory feast.

SOMETHING TEDDY ROOSEVELT, LaFOLLETTE NEVER ABLE TO DO

Wallace Gets On Presidential Ballot In All States

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decision making George C. Wallace the first third party candidate to get on the presidential ballot in all states holds important implications for his future and that of American politics far beyond the impact it will have Nov. 5.

6-3 DECISION

In a 6-3 decision Tuesday the court ruled that Ohio cannot impose "unequal burdens" on small parties in the form of stiff election regulations unless there is a "compelling state interest."

The immediate effect was to put Wallace's name on the ballot in one of the largest electoral states and one where Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon is leading in most public opinion polls.

Although likely to attract some conservative votes from Nixon, Wallace also could be expected to bite into labor votes that might have gone to Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey.

Wallace generally is considered to have some strength among blue collar workers in the state's big industrial centers, especially Akron and Cleveland.

ESTIMATES

Although there have been no independent published surveys of Wallace strength, estimates by Republicans and Democrats range from 10 to 25 per cent statewide, and much higher in some counties including Akron.

Ohio has 26 electoral votes.

By getting on the ballot in every state Wallace has accomplished something that the highly popular Theodore Roosevelt, the well-regarded Robert M. LaFollette and the controversial Henry A. Wallace were never able to do.

State laws have inhibited it since the Republicans blotted out the Whigs in pre-Civil War days.

But now the one-man, one-vote Supreme Court has decided that it, instead of the states, is the final judge of qualifications of voters.

This is the court which the former Alabama governor has attacked vigorously in his campaign and has promised to replace—if perchance he might become president—with strict, old-style constitutionalists who would return, among other things, to equal but separate construction of law.

What Wallace has done, however, goes beyond the court's decision that Ohio's law requiring 400,000 signatures to place a presidential candidate on the ballot cannot be justified.

This means that for the foreseeable future, which certainly includes 1972, there will be a third party candidate for president who must be reckoned with.

If he again is elected governor of Alabama, as permitted by that state's law after a four-year layout from the office, Wallace intends to be the third party's candidate.

Whether Wallace can ever again match his 1968 appeal to the discontented will depend on the events of the next four years.

SURE THING

But one thing seems certain. For better or for worse Wallace or some other personality will be back in 1972, jetting across the country, speaking at political rallies and denouncing things as they exist then.

And the American Independent Party, which he has raised to national status as none has been raised since the Republicans arrived on the scene more than 100 years ago, will be nudging the major parties with the local candidates it has not had time to assemble and get on the ballot in 1968.

Says Humphrey Can't Match HST Comeback

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Richard M. Nixon told a roaring rally in Harry S. Truman's home state today that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey cannot match the Truman comeback feat of 20 years ago because "we are campaigning this country as it never has been before.

"Our opposition says don't worry," the Republican presidential nominee told thousands of cheering partisans at Kansas City's Union Station.

SOMETHING ELSE

"Maybe they're behind but they say don't worry, it's going to be like 1948.

"You remember how Harry Truman won in 1948, he gave 'em hell."

"And my answer is it's one thing to give 'em hell, but its something else to give em Humphrey.

"I don't care what the polls show," said Nixon, who leads them.

"The last three weeks of this campaign we are campaigning this whole country as it never has been before. Harry Truman said 'give 'em hell,' Nixon says sock it to 'em and we're going to win, too, in 1968."

Nixon earlier told the national convention of Future Farmers of America that U.S. agriculture has "a strength that it can share with the rest of the world."

BIG BRAG

He said Americans must do a better job of bringing agricultural knowhow to underdeveloped nations.

"They must learn as we have learned that the basis for a strong industrial society is a strong agriculture," Nixon said.

Earlier Nixon, claiming the presidential lead in "every major state" moved into what he called Operation Extra Effort—a campaign windup with electronic focus.

Nixon described his plan for the remaining days of the White House campaign Tuesday before he set out from Key Biscayne, Fla.: "The fastest finish in campaign history."

Robert Ellsworth, his national political director, said that will mean an intensified television and radio campaign, plus a stepped-up regimen for the nominee.

BACK IN '60

It was evident that Nixon's windup plan does not include the kind of exhausting and extensive personal travel which marked his losing bid for the presidency eight years ago. Then, in a 32-hour windup spring, Nixon covered more than 7,200 miles. Some of the major items in the current plan:

—A six-day-a-week schedule, with Sundays off, except, perhaps, for some radio and television tapings.

—Four hours of national television on Monday, Nov. 4, the day before the election. The whole show is to originate in Los Angeles, the first two hours aired in the East, the second in the West.

—A 10-night series, starting tonight, of 15-minute radio addresses on major campaign issues.

A 150-page compilation of the Nixon position on campaign issues.

Nixon reported his polls convince him he is ahead of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic nominee. "We believe that we are ahead in every major state," he said.

Hubert Talks Civil Rights

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Hubert Humphrey says that a century of deprivation requires not only equal opportunity but even "a little extra help" for Negroes.

The Democratic presidential nominee spoke on civil rights in appearances Tuesday before a predominantly student group at Kansas City's Rockhurst College and at a meeting of labor and Negro leaders here.

FINE DAY

With crowds urging him to "give 'em hell" at a campaign in the two largest cities of normally Democratic Missouri, Humphrey enjoyed one of his best days as he launched the final three weeks of his campaign.

Humphrey said he has been criticized for his support of federal programs to train more Negro workers, and to upgrade educational levels in the nation's slum areas.

He told a group of Negro leaders, "I do not intend, in order to win this election, to compromise a lifetime of dedication to the cause of human rights."

Humphrey's long day included 10 appearances in the two cities. After being mobbed by students at a Negro high school and giving a rousing stump speech to 10,000 persons at a downtown rally in Kansas City, Humphrey received one of his most enthusiastic airport receptions from a crowd of more than 2,000 when he arrived here in late afternoon.

HIT AT AGNEW

In a speech prepared for the downtown rally, Humphrey criticized Nixon's choice of Spiro T. Agnew as the No. 2 man on the Republican ticket.

"You know," he said, "it's bad enough that Mr. Republican's TV blitz keeps telling us that 'Nixon's the one.' But it's even worse when you stop to think that 'Agnew's the two,'" he added.

Cops Check Thefts Rash

A rash of thefts and a break-in were reported to local police Tuesday.

Walter H. Jones, a guest at a local motel, reported several articles had been taken from his pickup. Some of the articles were recovered a short distance from the motel where they had apparently been discarded by the thief, according to a police report.

Another motel guest, W. L. Johnson, reported that 11 credit cards had been taken from his car. They were in a wallet. The thief forced open the wing window to gain entry into the car, police said.

Robert Dyer, 502 Washington, reported a bicycle was taken from his yard.

Terry's Drive-in, 1307 E. 3rd, was broken into Monday night and about $1.50 in change was taken from the cash register, plus a toaster, several chickens, hamburger patties and corn dogs. The glass in the front door was broken out and entry gained there, according to police.

Wallace Arrives In Texas For Few Campaign Stops

By The Associated Press

Campaign trails of Texas' rival candidates for governor were due to cross in Dallas today.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, the Democratic nominee, was honor guest for what Dallas County Judge W. L. Sterritt and other hosts described as "an open house" in the lobby of the county courthouse.

Republican candidate Paul Eggers headed into Dallas for an evening reception given by Young Businessmen for Eggers.

Speaking to supporters in Austin, Smith plugged Tuesday for efforts to lure additional industries into the state.

Eggers worked on a theme of new faces in government as he addressed an audience at Stephen F. Austin College in Nacogdoches.

NO RULE

Smith told his listeners, "there is no written rule which says Texas' growth and prosperity must continue. There are 49 other states competing with us and exerting every effort to attract industry."

In appealing for changes at the Capitol, Eggers declared, "Instead of a new team of old faces in Austin, we need dedicated new individuals in our state government offices—people not tied to any club, clique or special interest group."

George C. Wallace, American Independent party presidential candidate, arrives in Texas today for a series of campaign stops. He will return to the state a week before the general election for another hunt for votes.

FOLLOWS NIXON

Wallace's trip today and Thursday comes less than a week after the Republican candidate, Richard M. Nixon, campaign in Dallas. This will be followed by Democratic hopeful Hubert H. Humphrey who will be in Texas next Monday and Tuesday.

Hartburger To Talk Here

Hartburger has been first assistant to Sargent Shriver, currently U.S. Ambassador to France, on three of Shriver's assignments over a six-year period. The Odessa lawyer is well versed in programs affecting the area, Riordan said.

Threatening clouds over Big Spring Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning produced only .01 inch of moisture at the Big Spring Experiment Station, but winds did whip to high speeds.

Early this morning gusts were reported up to 33 miles per hour at the Howard County Airport.

Tuesday evening Howard and surrounding counties were under a severe weather alert, but no damage in the county was reported by the sheriff's office.

$10,000 Suit Against City

A $10,000 suit against the City of Big Spring has been filed by C. D. Herring Sr., in 118th District Court, and has been placed on the District Court docket for Oct. 21.

The suit alleges that Herring has two acres of property and a home at 1501 E. 2nd St., with a drainage ditch on the north side of the property running east and west.

The plaintiff alleges that the city changed the natural flow of water in the ditch by cutting a deep ditch along the east side of the home into the drainage ditch, causing overflow of water from both ditches and causing the water to stand on the property.

Herring is seeking $5,000 for alleged reduction of value of the property and $5,000 for personal discomfort.

SPOKESMAN

Sgt. Airey, a 26-year-veteran attached to the AF Chief of Staff, is the spokesman for all the NCO's and enlisted personnel in the Air Force — approximately a million of them, counting Air National Guard and reservists. His job is that of personal advisor to the Chief of Staff on all matters relating to welfare, utilization and progress of the enlisted corps. He quipped: "There are 435 generals in the Air Force, but only one Chief Master Sergeant."

In his Tuesday luncheon talk the Sergeant related how two Air Force programs — retention and Project Transition — affect the civilian segment of the country.

COST OF TRAINING

A major aim, he said, is to try to keep top enlisted personnel in the Air Force to make it a career, after the conclusion of the first four-year term. "A tremendous amount of our budget goes into training," he said, "and the training expenditure begins to pay off if we can re-enlist the man. The more good ones we can keep, the less it costs the taxpayer."

He said the AF retention rate has been declining, and may go lower, and this is a matter of concern, both from the effective strength on the Air Force and from the dollar standpoint. "If we lose our best men, the Air Force won't be the same, and neither will the defensive strength of our country."

IMPORTANT ROLE

He said the Air Force has attempted to increase career opportunities and to offer every possible incentive to keep the top enlisted men. "We have today the brightest, most capable airmen we've ever had, and we want to keep them. They play a tremendously important role; if it weren't for them, the planes wouldn't get off the ground."

When a man does make up his mind to leave the service, however, Sgt. Airey said the Air Force again operates to help the civilian economy. Indoctrination is given on adjustment back to civilian life, employment opportunities are pointed out, and the best preparation possible is provided to make the new civilian a top citizen. "We try to send each man out as a better American, a better citizen, one able to earn his own way, and be a contributing factor to our economy."

PRAISE FOR VETS

Sgt. Airey, a combat veteran who has made many trips to Vietnam, had highest praise for the sacrifices being made by the men in the field of battle. "They are devoted, dedicated lads who have borne their load like true men. You don't hear complaints. All the armed services are working together better than ever before."

The graying sergeant seemed to personify the type of military personnel he described as being the most effective. "Money cannot be everything, in this appeal to a military career," he said. "There must be a dedication, a devotion, a spirit of patriotism, and a willingness to do one's part in keeping this nation militarily strong and safe from all foes."

At the conclusion of his remarks, Sgt. Airey was presented with a plaque by Mayor Arnold Marshall. It designated him as an honorary citizen of Big Spring and honorary mayor for the day.

The sergeant was introduced by Col. William C. McGlothlin, wing commander at Webb.

Honorary Big Springer

Mayor J. Arnold Marshall presents a certificate making C.M.Sgt. Paul W. Airey, chief master sergeant of the Air Force, an honorary citizen of Big Spring during a luncheon Tuesday.

C. M. Sgt. Airey's Big Spring Visit

If his days in Big Spring are typical for C.M. Sgt. Paul W. Airey, it takes a strong constitution to be chief master sergeant of the Air Force. From the moment he landed at Midland at 3:15 p.m. Monday until he took off this morning at 7:45 for a similar tour at Laredo AFB, Sgt. Airey was on the move.

He made four formal addresses, answered questions at every session, shook hundreds of hands, both military and civilian, and toured the base and downtown, making acquaintances at every turn.

With scarcely a pause, the chief master sergeant, who serves as enlisted advisor to the Air Force Chief of Staff, moved from activity to activity as the center of attention.

His first appearance was at a Monday-evening Dining-In at the Non-Commissioned Officers' Open Mess. Following the dinner, Sgt. Airey was introduced to the more than 250 guests by C.M. Sgt. Stanley Leshinski, wing sergeant major. Sgt. Airey stressed the importance of the Air Force in the world situation today, and commented on the role of the NCO as supervisors. Special guests for the occasion were Col. W. C. McGlothlin Jr., wing commander, Col. Chandler B. Estes, Col. R. W. Casey, Col. D. A. Jones, Lt. Col. R. E. Gagnon, Lt. Col. E. C. Parker Jr., Sgt. Major P. J Haddox, Army recruiting main station, Dallas, and Gene Nabors. S. Sgt. Cole Jacobs served as vice master of ceremonies.

Tuesday morning, Sgt. Airey attended Col. McGlothlin's "How Goes It Webb" briefing. Present for the session were all base first sergeants, including those of the tenant organizations.

FLIGHT LINE TOUR

Hosted by C.M. Sgt. Curtis Singleton, Sgt. Airey toured T-38 flight line facilities after the morning briefing. At the T-38 flight test section he was briefed by Sgts. John M. Hall and Duane S. Kaiser. S. Sgt. Gilbert J. LaForest explained to him the working of the T-38 in-work dock.

During a tour of the various flights, Sgt. Airey visited with Airman 1.C. Richard K. Rush and Sgt. Frank J. Winters, observed a T-38 launch, and witnessed on-the-job training of Airman 1.C. Ralph R. McNabb and Amn. Donato Nattello Jr.

LUNCHEON

Whisked from the flight line tour to the Holiday Inn, Sgt. Airey was guest of honor and principal speaker at a luncheon given by civic leaders. Some 42 persons, civilian and military, heard his address there.

Back at Webb shortly after 1 p.m., the sergeant made a rapid tour of the T-37 flight-line guided by M. Sgt. David M. Ray, T. Sgt. Sidney C. Hart Jr. and Sgt. Kenneth R. Haines. In a visit to Bravo flight, Sgt. Airey saw a T-37 launch.

At 3 p.m., he spoke to a gathering of some 500 young airmen at Withycombe Hall. Stressing the importance of assignments and promotions, Sgt. Airey told the group that promotion opportunities are greater than they have been in 15 years. "More promotions are being made," the chief non-com said, "and it seems sure that the trend will continue."

NCOA DINNER

As his final appearance Tuesday evening, Sgt. Airey addressed members of the Non-Commissioned Officers' Association (NCOA). The chief master sergeant, Col. McGlothlin and Col. Estes were made honorary members of the NCOA.

Preceding his address, Sgt. Airey presented to M. Sgt. Charles R. Aggen, chairman, the charter for the newly-formed Permian Basin Chapter of the NCOA. A delegation of senior non-coms from Dyess AFB, headed by the wing sergeant major, attended the affair.

CHANCE TO PICK UP LOOSE ENDS FOR FREE

Adult Education Program

Adults who missed out on schooling earlier in life have a chance to pick up the loose ends again starting Thursday.

Registration for the adult basic education program will be held on the ground floor level at Runnels Junior High from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Thursday.

Any person who did not complete the eighth grade is eligible to participate. This is a public service of the Big Spring schools and there is no charge.

200 TARGET

Some few who previously were in the program and who have perhaps advanced beyond the eighth grade level will be enrolled again in an effort to qualify them for the GED tests, which are the approximate of a high school diploma and may thus open promotional opportunities to them.

Last year 160 adults enrolled in the program. Keith Swim, who directs the effort, said he hoped as many as 200 will avail themselves of the chance to pick up their basic education this year.

Some of those who take part will be learning to read and write. Others will be taking up at levels where they left off in their formal schooling. Grouping will be in three general levels, and students may progress up the ladder as rapidly as they are capable.

PROMOTION

"We hope employers will encourage employes to take part in this basic education program," said Swim. "Last year we had an employer who got a valued employe to enroll because he could not be promoted due to lack of basic education. Now a chance for promotion and economic advancement is opening to him. People like this make excellent students."

Another case last year was the foreign-born wife of a man in the Air Force. She wanted to help her children in school but could not because of language difficulties and lack of some basic education in America. She proved a rapid learner.

The staff — consisting of Gerald Wilson, D. Ball, Paul Chappel, Leonila Cantu, Essie Persons, and Loyce Phillips — will be on hand Thursday evening to visit with prospective enrollees and to help place them in one of three groups. Classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 o'clock.

A workshop on basic education instruction was conducted at Runnels Monday and Tuesday evening by Don Manigold, representing the Texas Education Agency. In addition to the local staff, those from Lamesa, Colorado City, Snyder, and Imperial also shared in the meetings.

Three Will Soon Pin On Silver Oak Leaves

Three Webb majors — Lillian H. Parrish, John L. O'Donnell Jr., and James J. Malone — received word last week that they will soon pin on the silver oak leaves of a lieutenant colonel. Effective dates for the promotions have not been released.

Maj. Parrish is chief nurse at Webb's 3560th USAF Hospital. She came to the base in June from Keesler AFB, Miss., where she was supervisor of surgical services.

Since her commissioning in October, 1952, she has served tours in France, Labrador, Florida, South Carolina, Virginia, Alabama, Texas, New York as well as Mississippi.

Maj. O'Donnell is the commander of Section Two of the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron. He, along with Maj. Malone, came to Webb from tours at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam. There Maj. O'Donnell served as an advisor to the joint operations center.

Maj. Malone, current commander of Section One of the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron, served in the command center of headquarters at the Vietnam air base.

Maj. O'Donnell has flown the F-86D-E-and-F, the F-80 Shooting Star, the F-104 Starfighter and the T-38 Talon.

Maj. Malone has also flown the Talon. In addition, he has piloted the T-6 Texan, F-51 Mustang, the F-86 Sabrejet, the T-33 Shooting Star and the T-29.

Winnie The Pooh Leads Humphrey

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey ran into a new opponent for the presidency Tuesday—Winnie the Pooh.

Humphrey made a two-minute surprise appearance on a children's television show shortly after the vice president had finished taping a TV interview in the same studio.

The master of ceremonies, Torey Southwick, told the vice president that children appearing on the show favored a different candidate for the presidency.

"Yes, I was afraid of that," said Humphrey.

But when told the children's favorite was Winnie the Pooh, the toy bear character in a nursery story, the vice president grinned and replied:

"Oh, I'm for Winnie the Pooh. He's one of my favorites. He almost makes more sense than anybody."

Iden Succeeds Blagraves As County FB President

Jerry Iden is the new president of the Howard County Farm Bureau.

He was elected for a year's term at the meeting of the FB directors Tuesday evening, which followed on the heels of the annual membership meeting Saturday at the Dora Roberts Student Union Building on the Howard County Junior College campus.

Iden succeeds Durward Blagraves, who has held the post for the past four years. Directors expressed appreciation to Blagraves for his long record of service.

Other officers named were Larry Shaw, vice president; and Johnny Walker, secretary-treasurer.

Named to the board for two-year terms by the membership were: Precinct 1—Larry Shaw and Durward Blagraves; Precinct 2—Delbert Stanley and Ralph White; Precinct 3—Neil Fryar and Oliver (Bud) Nichols Jr.; Precinct 4—J. L. Baugh and L. J. Davidson. White and Davidson were new members on the board.

At Saturday's meeting, three students who were sent by the chapter to the student seminar at Waco were introduced. They were Diane Cheatam, Sands; Clayton McKinnon, Forsan; and Debbie Fryar, Coahoma. Also presented to the group was Ginger Adams, the bureau's county queen.

Audit report for the year was presented by Johnny Walker. Entertainment was furnished by a western band comprised of Joe Dunn, Arnold Lloyd, Lloyd Shortes, T. J. Castle, Tom Castle and Shelton Castle. Blagraves presided and White worded the invocation.

Snow Socks Rockies, Twisters In Nebraska

By The Associated Press

Summer-like warmth continued over the eastern half of the nation today as a cold front pushed into the West.

Warm air flowed from the Gulf northward to the Canadian border. The air circulated around a high pressure system on the Eastern Seaboard and caused a dense fog to settle on the East Coast with visibilities reduced to near zero in some places.

Temperatures dropped in the intermountain region of the West, and cold air reached inland from the Pacific Northwest to the Dakotas and Minnesota.

The northern and central portions of the Rockies had snow.

A cold front led the chill and set off thunderstorms from the Upper Mississippi Valley to the southern plains.

A tornado near Kearney, Neb., demolished two mobile homes and slightly injured a family of five. The twister was accompanied by rainfall of up to 1.35 inches within 30 minutes.

Another Nebraska twister near Cotsfield damaged barn sheds and power lines.

Hail up to the size of a baseball was reported in the Texas Panhandle, and heavy rainfall struck Dodge City, Kan., and parts of Nebraska.

Florida braced for tropical storm Gladys that, forecasters said, could reach the keys by Thursday.

Soviet Spy Still

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Soviet spy Rudolph Abel confirmed Tuesday that he still is cooperating with Soviet intelligence.

Abel, 65, was interviewed by Smena, a youth magazine. He has been in Moscow since 1962 when he was exchanged for U.S. intelligence pilot Francis Gary Powers. Abel remains inaccessible to the Western press.

United Fund collections this year at Southwestern Bell were $276.36 more than in 1967.

Wanderlust Hits Son Of Witness

MIDLOTHIAN, Tex. (AP) — A witness in the John F. Kennedy assassination probe, former Dallas County deputy Sheriff Roger Craig, learned with relief today that his son was not kidnaped after all.

Sheriff's officers in Texarkana, Ark., notified him that Roger Craig Jr., 14, simply was bitten by teenage wanderlust and ran away from home.

The youth had hitched a ride from Midlothian and worked one day on a ranch 10 miles east of Texarkana, deputy sheriff John Schneider said in the Arkansas border city.

Craig, notified by the Arkansas officers, drove to Texarkana, spent 10 minutes picking up his son and started back home to Midlothian about 4:30 a.m.

Schneider said the rancher employing Roger Jr. heard a newscast about the father's fear that his son had been kidnaped and advised officers where the youth could be found.

The elder Craig, reporting his son disappeared Monday after starting to school, said earlier he had no idea who would abduct his son "but that's about all that could have hapened."

Craig, 32, testified before the Warren Commission that a man resembling Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of killing the late President Kennedy, ran from the Texas School Book Depository building in Dallas and entered a station wagon shortly after the assassination.

Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison in New Orleans has described Craig as "the most important live witness" in his probe of the Kennedy slaying.

Craig was with the Dallas Sheriff's office about nine years until he was fired in 1967. He now works at a refinery near Midlothian and is a justice of the peace in his precinct.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS—4

Chance To Get Rid Of Tax

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of stories on the 14 proposed changes in the Texas Constitution that will be voted on Nov. 5.)

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

Texas voters who have seen their taxes increase rapidly the past several years will have a Nov. 5 chance to get rid of a tax.

They will vote on a constitutional amendment to eliminate all but a dime of the 47 cents per $100 valuation state property tax by Dec. 31, 1976.

If approved by the voters, the amendment would phase out the tax in stages, leaving only the 10 cents per $100 ad valorem levy earmarked for buildings at state colleges.

NOT FAIR

Also on the ballot will be several other amendments in the taxation and revenue field, including two designed to give industry incentives to build new plants and install new pollution control devices.

Gov. John Connally recommended abolition of the state property tax, and his brother Wayne sponsored the amendment in the Senate last year.

"The ad valorem tax is the most inequitable tax Texas has ever had, and the most difficult to collect," Sen. Connally said.

One argument against the tax is that it is levied on property values as assessed by counties. Valuations vary from county to county, giving the tax a built-in inequity.

Be that as it may, legislative opponents argued this is no time to start cutting into the state's revenue. A sales tax increase was passed only this summer to balance the budget.

BURDENS

In the state fiscal year that ended Aug. 31, the property tax brought in $59.7 million, all but $12.7 million of which would have been lost under the proposed amendment. Demands are increasing for more state spending, especially for education.

The amendment's advocates say that local revenue requirements are increasing, too, and abolition of the state property tax would in many cases allow cities and counties to raise their ad valorem taxes without adding to local taxpayers' burdens.

Four other amendments on the ballot deal with taxes and government revenue.

Amendment 6 would allow the Legislature to exempt from all property taxes—state and local—equipment installed by businesses and factories to meet state air and water pollution control rules.

AIDS INDUSTRY

Legislative sponsors said the amendment would encourage industry to install the best available pollution control equipment.

A firm that takes steps to curb its emissions of smoke, chemicals and other industrial filth should not be penalized by higher taxes on its equipment, they say.

Rep. Rex Braun of Houston, a vocal advocate of strict anti-pollution laws, has pledged an all-out fight against the amendment.

He says industry should not be rewarded for complying with the law. Braun says the state would lose millions of dollars in taxes.

Also controversial is Amendment 12, which would empower the Legislature to pass laws letting cities and counties issue revenue bonds and spend the proceeds to buy land for industrial sites and to equip factories.

Industries would lease the property, and their lease payments would be used to pay off the bonds.

During legislative debates, sponsors—led by East Texans—contended the amendment would put Texas in a better competitive position with New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas, all of which allows such bond programs.

Opponents say the measure would afford new industrial firms an advantage over companies who paid their own way in getting established in a community. They also say the amendment might induce cut-throat competition between cities.

TOBACCO TANGLE

An amendment of somewhat more limited application would give a property tax exemption to merchandise in the temporary custody—six months or less—of a public warehouse on its way to an out-of-state destination. The warehouse could not have any financial connection with the owner, shipper or recipient of the goods.

Only 16 states now tax warehoused goods, advocates of the amendment say, and Texas warehouses are at a competitive disadvantage with neighboring "free port" states.

Opponents say the amendment would be discriminatory, would tempt warehouses to make inaccurate inventories and would cost the state and its subdivisions needed revenue.

Texarkana tobacco dealers would be the prime beneficiaries of Amendment 10. This amendment would enable the Legislature to pass a law authorizing rofund of state taxes paid on the first sale of cigars and tobacco products later sold at retail in Texarkana.

The purpose of the amendment is to help Texarkana tobacco dealers compete with those in Texarkana, Ark.

Opponents claim other areas would seek the same exemption if the amendment passes. Sponsors say the city's merchants would regain profits on other goods purchased in Texarkana Ark., by persons who cross the line to buy untaxed tobacco.

Bridwell Hereford Ranch Herd Sold

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Budd Thurber, manager of the famous Bridwell Hereford Ranch, said Tuesday the entire 1,150 animals of the registered Bridwell herd had been sold.

The herd, developed by the late J. S. Bridwell, was one of the most famous Hereford herds in the nation.

Thurber, who was a partner in the Bridwell Ranch, said the Northern Pump Farms of Richmond, Ill., bought one-third of the cattle, and the Oxley Hereford Ranch of Pawhuska, Okla., bought the remaining head.

Settlement of the estate of Bridwell, who died in 1966, was the reason for the sale Thurber said.

World's 52nd Heart Swap Recipient Dies

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Methodist Hospital doctors awaited an autopsy report today on the death of Mesa, Ariz., schoolteacher Verne L. Martin, the world's 52nd heart transplant recipient.

Martin, 46, died Tuesday night. A hospital spokesman said he never regained full consciousness following surgery Sept. 23. He suffered a cardiac arrest two days after receiving the heart of a 17-year-old traffic victim.

His death occurred less than 24 hours after Louis J. Fierro, the world's 15th heart recipient, died at nearby St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital. Fierro, 54, an Elmont, N.Y., automobile salesman, received a new heart May 21.

Of the 17 heart transplant operations performed here, nine recipients survive. There have been 59 such operations in the world.

Fierro's death was attributed to rejection of the transplanted heart, a hospital spokesman said.

Everett C. Thomas, the nation's longest living heart recipient, was listed in serious condition Tuesday at St. Luke's. Thomas, 47, of Phoenix, Ariz., became the first heart recipient here May 3.

Thomas was readmitted to the hospital last week with what was described as symptoms of heart rejection. He and Fierro had been working in Houston while receiving outpatient care.

Deer Is Stabbed

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — Someone killed a three-point deer in the Klamath Falls zoo.

Police said Tuesday the deer apparently was enticed by hay to come to the fence of its compound Monday night. Someone stabbed it and it bled to death.

Video Lecture Last Of Series

"Cardiac Arrhythmias" will be the subject of a videotape lecture at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in Room 232 of the Veterans Administration Hospital here.

The lecture, last of a series beginning in July, will be about the detection, classification and correction of cardiac arrhythmias demonstrated through case discussion.

All members of the medical community in Big Spring and area are invited to attend the lecture. A second series of medical lectures at the VA Hospital will begin Nov. 7, according to C. E. McDonnel, program coordinator.

U. S. Officials Talk Nuclear Arms Use

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has given NATO allies a detailed outline of how demonstration-type nuclear bursts could be used to show an invading enemy the West is not afraid to resort to such weapons.

The American document was carried to Europe last week by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford.

It assumes added interest due to the Soviets' August invasion of Czechoslovakia although it was prepared before then.

The defense chief submitted the paper to the seven-nation meeting of NATO's nuclear planning group.

STUDY SECRET

Conclusions of the study are secret. But in candid conversations with newsmen, U.S. officials suggested one or two well-placed nuclear detonations could be considered in the early phase of a massive, uncontrollable assault by enemy forces over NATO borders.

The idea would be, as one official explained it, to show an enemy "that you were prepared to use nuclear weapons to deter him."

The study also sets forth disadvantages to such a move, among them the possibility that even limited nuclear shots might carry both sides into a devastating major atomic exchange.

U.S. officials discussed the possible use of nuclear weapons, particularly the demonstration-type shots, far more openly than at any time in recent years —perhaps to emphasize American backing of the alliance at this time of tension in Europe.

7,200 WEAPONS

Clifford made one statement after another in his swing through Western Europe, reaffirming U.S. support of NATO and saying the United States "would take whatever action was necessary" to repel any attack.

In Berlin, Clifford estimated there are now 7,200 nuclear weapons assigned to NATO forces in Western Europe. His successor, Robert S. McNamara, put the total last year at 7,000.

U.S. officials emphasize that in any war between NATO and the Warsaw Pact there would be every inducement not to use tactical nuclear weapons.

But they also stress that any would-be aggressor ought to know that if NATO conventional forces were unable to stop an invasion across NATO borders, allied leaders would consider using their nuclear punch.

Under one scenario, a tactical nuclear weapon might be exploded near an aggressive force.

NAVAL USAGE

"If you were the aggressor and you started in over the frontier and about that time you were advised that just off to one side of you an enormous nuclear explosion had taken place, and you were then informed that if you advanced further that this is what you would have to expect, there would be some hope that that might possibly deter him," an official explained.

Or, he said, NATO forces might launch a tactical nuclear weapon behind invading enemy units, informing them at the same time that this is what lay ahead.

Besides discussing demonstrative nuclear detonations, NATO nuclear planners also examined three other papers.

The British presented a study on the naval usage of tactical nuclear weapons, the Italians gave a paper on the potential of atomic demolition munitions or nuclear land mines and the Germans examined use of tactical nuclear weapons on the battlefield.

CHICAGO SCHOOLS

Negro Student Agitation Up

CHICAGO (AP) — Most Chicago school officials have reacted with alarm to Negro student agitation which has thrown many of the city's high schools into turmoil, but two officials see cause for encouragement.

Some 5,000 Negro high school students stayed away from classes Tuesday in continuing protests to dramatize their demands for more representation, more Negro teachers and administrators and more Negro studies. Seventeen persons were arrested.

BOYCOTT

A boycott Monday kept almost half the city's Negro enrollment of 62,000 out of school.

The demonstrations illustrate "a healthy attitude despite the fact that here and there some excesses are engaged in," Warren Bacon, a Negro member of the Board of Education, has said.

"We should be pleased that black students are really becoming concerned about their education and that their interest is awakened to the relevance of schools to their lives," he added.

Said Joseph Rosen, district superintendent for a West Side area in which some of the troubled schools are situated: "I think it is a disturbing phenomenon for those in the middle of it, but a beautiful phenomenon for the people who are growing."

HAVOC

Some of the alarm stems from the fact that widespread absences could play havoc with the school board's budget. State aid is based on attendance records.

There were 28,000 absences in Monday's boycott and militant leaders have threatened to make that a weekly occurrence.

"From now on until our demands are met, every Monday will be black Monday, every Monday will be a black holiday," Victor Adams, a protest leader, said at a rally preceding the boycott.

Adams is a 17-year-old student at Harrison High School, on the West Side, a prime trouble spot.

There have been at least 12 walkouts by Negro students since the schools opened in September, beginning with a Harrison protest Sept. 17. The students were angry that a white teacher had been named to teach a class in Afro-American studies.

Harrison has 50 per cent Negro enrollment, 25 per cent Latin American and 25 per cent white. It was virtually all-white until the last decade.

'OUTSIDERS'

When it opened its doors this fall, Harrison had an all-white school administration and a mostly white faculty.

Students presented the administration with a list of demands. Negotiations on them broke down Oct. 4 when the principal, Alexander Burke, declined to meet with student and community leaders together.

The community group staged an angry walkout. There followed a sit-in, a boycott, a demonstration at the Loop offices of the Board of Education, student arrests, fires, vandalism, rampages through the halls, destruction of furniture and, last Wednesday, the closing of the school.

"It was not civil rights, but more hooliganism that caused the incidents," asserted Burke, who blamed "outsiders" for the disruptions.

The school was opened again the next day but with depleted attendance and beefed-up police patrols. Meanwhile, similar disorders had arisen at several other schools with substantial Negro enrollment.

The student demands largely involve more Negro teachers and administrators, more courses in Afro-American studies, more representation for black student groups.

Surprsingly, one demand was for more homework.

Gross National Product Flashes Inflation SOS

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the government's principal economic signals, the gross national product, has flashed another SOS about inflation. But the top White House economist says a welcome slowdown already has begun.

BAD NEWS

The Commerce Department estimated Tuesday the GNP—market value of all of the nation's goods and services—rose in the third quarter by nearly $18 billion, to an adjusted annual rate of $870.8 billion.

It was the fifth consecutive quarter of major increases—bad news when demand exceeds supply and pushes prices up.

The third quarter performance was the equivalent of an annual growth rate of 4.8 per cent. Government economists commonly describe anything above 4 per cent as inflationary.

While he acknowledged that the GNP had taken a "large" step up, Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, noted the total increase was less than the $21.7 billion rise posted in the second quarter.

SPENDING

"It is thoroughly consistent with prospects of a continued slowdown in the fourth quarter," Okun said. "The spurt in consumer spending is most unlikely to be repeated, while the moderating trend in other areas is likely to be extended.

"More generally, I would reaffirm our fundamental assessment that the nation is embarked on a slowdown decisive enough to improve our price performance markedly over time."

Kosygin, Cernik Expected To Sign

MOSCOW (AP) — Czechoslovak Premier Oldrich Cernik returned to Prague today after two days of Kremlin talks to complete a treaty legalizing the Soviet occupation of his country.

Unofficial reports said agreement was reached Tuesday on terms of the treaty giving formal approval to the presence in Czechoslovakia of troops from the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.

DUE SOON

Cernik and his delegation were seen off at the airport by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko and other officials.

Informed sources said Cernik would present the treaty to government officials in Prague for their approval and a signing ceremony will be held "in the nearest future," probably in Prague.

Kosygin is expected to sign for the Soviet Union.

A brief communique Tuesday said the Czechoslovaks and the Soviets "exchanged views on... the question of the terms for the temporary stay of Soviet troops" in Czechoslovakia.

NO DETAILS

Details were not revealed, but reports from Prague have indicated the Soviets want to keep between 50,000 and 100,000 troops in the country. Estimates of the total occupation force range from 275,000 to 600,000.

The Russians promised to start pulling out troops as soon as liberalizing trends in Czechoslovakia were halted and the position of the Communist party was strengthened. The absence of criticism in the Soviet press in recent days indicates progress is being made toward those goals.

Amid the negotiations between the Kremlin and Czechoslovakia, officials in Bern reported the arrival in Switzerland of former Deputy Premier Oa Sik and said he had asked for political asylum.

Sik was the author of the economic reform program which touched off the liberalization drive in Czechoslovakia. He resigned after violent Soviet criticism made apparent that his removal was one of the occupation's goals.

ARROW ERROR

DUMMERSTON, Vt. (AP) — Albert Graimaldi, 35, of Springfield, Mass., a bit fatigued from a day of bow and arrow hunting, decided to take a snooze in a field here.

It didn't last long.

He was startled to see a rescue team and some state police officers at his side.

An elderly couple walked by and saw him lying in a field with what looked like an arrow stuck in his back. But Graimaldi had only plunged the arrow into the ground for safety.

Airport Greeting

Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon is greeted late Tuesday night at Kansas City's Municipal Airport. There was no indication he noticed the signs above the crowd: "Why Spiro?", "Nixon Evades", "Is there really a Spiro?" and "Sounds of Silence." The signs referred to Nixon's running mate, Spiro T. Agnew, and to Nixon's no comment on an invitation to debate his Democratic counterpart, Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Huge Heroin Deal Charged

HOUSTON (AP)— Two Victoria, Tex., men received $10,000 for 20 ounces of heroin before they were arrested in a motel, a federal narcotics agent said Tuesday.

Agent Ray C. Atkinson testified at a hearing for Willie Galvan, 35, and Rudy Encinas, 34, charged Monday with concealing and selling heroin.

The defendants were arrested after they went with two undercover agents to a Houston bank, where the money was counted and returned to a safe deposit box, Atkinson said.

Galvan, a used car salesman, received a key to the box, Atkinson told U.S. Commissioner Ralph Fowler.

Houston police estimated the heroin could be worth as much as $224,000 on the underworld market.

Tri-Captains At Stanton

Pictured here are the tri-captains of the 1968 Stanton Buffaloes, who Friday night open District 5-AA play at home against McCamey. From the left, the boys are fullback Johnny McMeans, quarterback David Jones and halfback Carl Dean. Bryan Boyd's club is 4-1 on the year.

Royals, Pilots Set For 1969 Campaign

BOSTON (AP) — The Kansas City Royals and the Seattle Pilots figure they are just about ready for entry into the 1969 American League pennant race after mixing age with youth in taking 30 players each at a cost of $175,000 per man in the expansion draft.

Everyone was in a happy mood Tuesday after AL President Joe Cronin hustled the draft through its six hours with the help of an IBM computer which provided data on players in lightning fashion.

"I'm sure we put some holes in a lot of clubs today," Charlie Metro, Kansas City's director of player procurement, announced gleefully.

"I'm completely satisfied with the draft, but I'm not completely satisfied with our personnel —and I won't be until we've won our division and the World Series," Seattle General Manager Marvin Milkes said.

"I think it was a very fair and equitable draft, the best in modern professional sports."

Even the Boston Red Sox, who pocketed $1.05 million like the other nine established clubs, were able to smile after losing six players, including regular third baseman Joe Foy and starting pitchers Gary Bell and Dave Morehead.

"We think we came out of it very good," Red Sox Manager Dick Williams said. "We were very lucky. We've protected a lot of young players."

JAYHAWK SEASON TICKETS ON SALE AT BARGAIN RATE

Subscribers to season tickets for home games of the HCJC basketball team not only will get to see the contests at reduced rates but will receive regular newsletters about the team from the coach himself, D. E. (Buddy) Travis.

The ducats, good for 11 home games, sell for $5.50 adult and $3 student.

That's half price to everyone. The Hawks, who could field one of their most formidable teams in years, will play Grayson College, Southwestern Christian of Terrell, Odessa, Lubbock Christian, McLennan of Waco, New Mexico Junior College of Hobbs, Frank Phillips, Amarillo, South Plains, Clarendon and New Mexico Military Institute in home contests.

They open play at home against Grayson the night of Nov. 25.

Most of the ticket sales pitch will be done by mail this year, according to Travis. Basketball fans can obtain the ducats either by contacting him in person, writing him in care of the school or by contacting the School Business Office.

The Hawks played a Webb AFB team Tuesday night and scored the amazing total of 152 points in a regulation contest.

Joe Matulich Is Honored As Top Back

By The Associated Press

Joe Matulich keeps getting getting teased by his Texas Tech teammates about being the Raiders' undefeated quarterback through six games. It's a joke everyone but Tech opponents enjoys laughing at.

But that's the kind of comedian Matulich is—he keeps Tech fans smiling at the deeds he accomplishes with a football.

He had them rolling in the aisles at College Station Saturday when he completed 11 of 16 passes for 134 yards and engineered the Raiders on touchdown drives of 62, 80, and 59 yards en route to a 21-16 victory over the Texas Aggies.

5TH IN ROW

It was the fifth straight victory for Tech since Matulich took over at quarterback with two games to go in 1967. His performance against the Aggies made Matulich an easy choice as this week's Associated Press Southwest Conference Back of the Week.

Texas defensive tackle Loyd Wainscott, the human cork who almost personally plugged Oklahoma's ground game up the middle, was named the Lineman of the Week for his part in the Longhorns' 26-20 victory.

Matulich directed the Raiders to victories over Baylor and Arkansas last season and through three victories this year, although Tech was tied 10-10 by Cincinnati in the operer.

"I don't go out there thinking I've won five in a row and this will by my sixth," Matulich said. "Everybody teases me about it but as long as we win I don't care if (No. 2 quarterback Tom) Sawyer is quarterbacking."

Since Matulich took the reins he has taken the Raiders on 18 touchdown drives totaling 1,070 yards. A 95-yard TD drive against Colorado State was the longest of any Tech quarterback since the Raiders joined the SWC.

Matulich said Tech assistant coach Tom Wilson, who quarterbacked the 1965 Raiders, was partially responsible for his ability to conduct sustained scoring drives.

"Our offensive coaches have done a real fine job," Matulich said. "Coach Wilson has been working with us a lot on our play selection. I think that's the reason we're moving the ball. We have fewer wasted plays."

While everyone else stood in awe over Matulich's performance, he praised the Raider defense. "They won the A&M game for us. They're real sound and confident. They've given us the ball and it's not hard to score when you get the ball in good field position."

Other backs receiving votes were Arkansas quarterback Bill Montgomery; Texas back Steve Wooster, who scored UT's winning touchdown; and Baylor's Pinky Palmer.

"You can give Wainscott nine points and the rest of the team 17," Texas Coach Darrell Royal said.

Scout Warns: OHS Better

Scout Bill Curry told members of the Quarterback Club the Big Spring Steers could expect to meet a greatly improved ball club when they take the field against Odessa High in Odessa Friday night.

The Bronchos are 4-1 this season, having lost only to Odessa Permian, and last week blanked Odessa Ector, 7-0, in a spirited battle.

In 6-4, 200-pound Mark Green, the Red Hosses have one of the best quarterbacks in 3-AAAA.

Bob Hicks, fifth leading ground gainer in the conference, and Gary Fick are other leading threats for Odessa.

The Bronchos, who didn't win a game last season, boast a hard-nosed defense and the type of offense that keeps the opposition off balance, according to Curry.

Coach Spike Dykes said five Steer starters would miss the Odessa game. They are Snake Tucker, who underwent knee surgery this morning; halfback Mike Barnes, Charley Lewis, Fernando Mendoza, and Gary Chrane.

Lewis limped to the sidelines Tuesday with a knee injury. He has been invaluable to the Steers as a cornerback.

Porkers, Ponies Given Nod In Week's Games

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual scramble for the Southwest Conference football crown abounds with hurdles and hazards at every bend . . . and seldom does the survivor gallop into the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day without having taken at least one jarring spill.

Arkansas and Southern Methodist, two teams picked by most pre-season experts to finish down the line, have come up with sophomore passing phenoms and risen to the head of the conference pack. This week, the Razorbacks' Bill Montgomery and SMU's Chuck Hixson should encounter their most severe tests to date.

But we look for the kid quarterbacks to keep the faith in Fayetteville and Dallas . . . at least for one more week.

We were on Cloud Nine last weekend when upset pick Ohio State flattened then top-ranked Purdue. But the trip was short-lived. When all the returns were in, the weekend was lost. We were 33-21-1, the worst showing thus far, and the over-all slate dipped to 173-58-8, a .724 pace.

Plunging ahead, with renewed vigor:

Arkansas over Texas: Montgomery saved the Hogs' bacon last week after they'd blown most of a 21-0 lead against Baylor. If he duplicates that 259-yard air burst in Longhorn Country, Arkansas will finish the day at 5-0.

Southern Methodist over Rice: Hixson, the nation's total offense leader, and jet-propelled Jerry Levias made the Mustangs go in last week's conference opener against TCU. An encore is in order for the home folks in Big D.

Tennessee over Alabama: The Vols are quicker on the trigger with Richmond Flowers in the backfield and Bubba Wyche calling the shots.

Nebraska over Missouri: Greg Cook, the Tigers' talented tailback, hasn't run into the likes of Nebraska yet. And the Cornhuskers should be meaner than ever after stumbling against Kansas in last week's Big Eight headliner.

Kansas over Oklahoma State: The Jayhawks, unbeaten in four starts, are beginning to get that No. 1 feeling.

Michigan over Indiana: The heart-stopping Hoosiers hoodwinked Iowa 38-34 last week to stay atop the Big Ten heap. But Michigan has the momentum, and Ron Johnson, on its side.

Minnesota over Michigan State: Points should be hard to come by in this collision of doomsday defenses. One vote for burly Bob Stein and the Gophers.

Arizona State over Oregon State: Earthquake Enyart, Oregon State's one-man gang, will find the Sun Devils a little too hot to handle.

Among the others:

EAST — Army over Rutgers; Pittsburgh over Navy; Yale over Columbia; Princeton over Colgate; Dartmouth over Brown; Harvard over Cornell; Penn over Lehigh; Holy Cross over Boston University; Buffalo over Villanova.

SOUTH — Florida over North Carolina; Georgia over Vanderbilt; Auburn over Georgia Tech; Louisiana State over Kentucky; Mississippi over Southern Mississippi; Miami, Fla., over Virginia Tech; Florida State over Memphis State; Texas Tech over Mississippi State; Boston College over Tulane; Clemson over Duke; North Carolina State over Virginia.

MIDWEST — Ohio State over Northwestern; Purdue over Wake Forest; Notre Dame over Illinois; Iowa over Wisconsin; Oklahoma over Iowa State; Colorado over Kansas State; Bowling Green over Kent State.

SOUTHWEST — Texas A&M over Texas Christian; West Texas State over Texas-Arlington; North Texas State over Tulsa; Texas-El Paso over New Mexico State; Arizona over Brigham Young; San Jose State over New Mexico.

FAR WEST — Southern California over Washington; Stanford over Washington State; California over UCLA; Wyoming over Utah; Air Force over Colorado State; Oregon over Idaho.

Aggies Hit Hard By Injury Jinx

COLLEGE STATION (AP) —Five injured Texas A&M football players, all starters, may figure heavily in the Aggies' battle with TCU Saturday.

Two are definitely out of the game and three others are doubtful, Coach Gene Stallings said.

Three Bisons Are Dismissed

STANTON — Coach Bryan Boyd Monday dismissed three members of the Stanton football team for disciplinary reasons and said the Buffaloes are bound to be a little thin in spots when they open their District 5-AA season here Friday night against McCamey.

Boyd's problems were further complicated when fullback Johnny McMeans had to have eight stitches taken in his foot after having his Achilles heel trampled from behind during a drill.

Quarterback David Jones, who has a slight ankle sprain, and halfback Alan Gregston are other players ailing in the Stanton camp.

McCamey will bring a 3-1-1 record here. The Badgers depend upon power sweeps and the long pass for much of the gains.

McCamey's only defeat came at the hands of Pecos, a AAA school. Final score was 21-14.

Oerter Picks Up 4th Gold Medal In Row

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Al Oerter stood a man alone among Olympians today, serene and unperturbed in these strife-ridden, weather-plagued and racially-troubled 19th Olympic Games.

The strong man from West Islip, N.Y., who competes but rarely between Olympics, picked up his fourth consecutive discus gold medal Tuesday, the only track and field athlete ever to accomplish such a feat.

Asked his reaction, the 32-year-old Oerter said:

"I'm tired."

WELL IN FRONT

His victory, plus a 1-2 finish in the women's 100 meters by Wyomia Tyus, who set a world record, and Barbara Ferrell pushed the United States well out in front in the medals race. Russia was blanked.

The United States now has a total of eight medals; four of them gold. Russia has five, one gold.

And the Americans stand a very good chance of adding substantially to that total Thursday with the start of swimming—which they are expected to dominate-and in the pole vault and 200 meters.

Bob Seagren, who holds the pending world mark, and John Pennell, former world record holder, are favored in the pole vault.

Then too, there are John Carlos and Tommie Smith, along with Larry Questad in the 200 meters. Carlos and Smith both Negroes, have broken the existing world record, Carlos with a 19.7 and Smith 19.9 in the same race.

Each easily won two heats Tuesday, wearing long black socks, and raised the possibility of an embarrassing incident at the awards ceremony.

Smith, one of tracks racial militants, said flatly: "I don't want (International Olympic Committee President Avery) Brundage presenting me with any medals."

Monday, when Jim Hines and Charlie Green mounted the podium after their 1-3 finish in the 100 meters, the presentation was made by Lord Burghley of England instead of by Brundage.

RAINS ARRIVE

The day's activity in track and field began and ended in a torrential rain, braved by most of the crowd of about 40,000 and apparently bothering the athletes not at all.

Oerter's winning throw was 212 feet, 1½ inches, about five feet better than he has ever done before. He was followed by Lothar Milde of East Germany and Ludvik Danek of Czechoslovakia.

Jay Silvester, who set an Olympic record in qualifying, could do no better than fifth, 202 feet, 7¾ inches.

Oerter, a 6-foot-4, 260-pound computer analyst who won his first gold at the Olympic Games in Australia in 1956, said, "I get fired up for the Olympics. Something happens to me when I get to the games. The people, the pressure, everything about the Olympics is special to me."

He said he wasn't sure whether he would try for a fifth in the 20th games in Germany. "Now, 1972 seems to be very far away," he said.

Miss Tyus, from Griffin, Ga., beat Miss Farrel, Los Angeles, by about a yard in 11 seconds flat, bettering the world record. It was her second consecutive Olympic 100-meter victory. Miss Farrell and Irena Szewinski of Poland, third, each were timed in 11.1.

TYUS RETIRES

Wyomia immediately announced her retirement after the Games. "I'm hanging up my shoes. I'm not getting any younger."

The medal awards were made in a driving rain, by Lord Burghley.

Tom Farrell of New York picked up the other U.S. medal, a bronze for third in the 800 meters. Ralph Doubell of Australia won it in world record matching time of 1:44.3, followed by Wilson Kiprugut of Kenya, 1:44.5, and Farrell, 1:45.4.

The United States was blanked in the 400-meter hurdles, Geoff Vanderstock being edged out in a blanket finish for second. Dave Hemery of England, who is a graduate of Boston U., and has spent a large portion of his life in the United States, won it in 48.1, a full second better that the listed record.

In the fight for the other medals, Gerhard Hennige, West Germany, took second, John Sherwood of Britain third and Vanderstock, Los Angeles, was fourth. All three were timed in 49 flat.

Two other gold medals were awarded, with the Americans blanked as expected. Waldemar Baszanowski of Poland won the lightweight weightlifting gold pounds, an Olympic record, and defending champion Holland retained the 1,000-kilometer time trial cycling event.

Several rollers collapsed in the 7,347-foot altitude, but none were considered to be in serious condition. John Van Blum, Long Beach, Calif., advanced to the semifinals of the single sculls and the U.S. coxless fours made it to the finals.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

One thing for sure, the Big Spring Steers showed 50 per cent improvement in defensing Abilene Cooper last Friday night over their 1967 effort against the same team—56 points last year, 28 this time out.

Even in losing, Big Spring exploded some myths about Cooper's defense, too. The Cougars had yielded a single touchdown in its previous four starts (to Permian) but gave up two to Big Spring.

Cooper actually counted its last touchdown after Big Spring had spent its strength and relaxed a little, the Steers knowing full well (after John Villareal's third successful PAT) it could not overtake the Cougars.

A couple of times, Big Spring had Cooper on the ropes. The Cougars appeared on the verge of losing their aplomb but two major penalties inflicted against Big Spring kept a Cooper drive going.

They say a great team makes its own breaks but Cooper got a little help in this instance.

Take it from a visiting scout in the press box for the game, the Steers have come a long way since they were stashed by Midland Lee. They may make it a little rough for everyone from here on down to the wire.

* * * *

A Big Spring football buff suggests in a letter an all-time Steer team be chosen by the readers and that this desk be used as a clearing agency for such a chore.

I think ground rules for such an endeavor should be laid down by a committee rather than an individual and that committee should also function as a polling body.

Here is the reader's idea of an all-time team. (Quite obviously, he has been watching Big Spring football a long time because some of his selections go way back):

OFFENSE

C—Jerry Graves; G—Ike Robb, Danny Birdwell; T—Bob Flowers, Cliff Patton; E—Eddie Nelson, Eddie Houser; QB—Albert Fierro; HB—Ollie Cordill, Horace Rankin; FB—Frosty Robison.

DEFENSE

DL—Bob Flowers, Danny Birdwell, Tim Smith, Hal Battle, LB—Don White, Buddy Cosby, Jack Ed Irons; DB—Horace Bostick, J. C. Armistead; WS—Joe Jaure; SS—Charlie West.

Athletic director—John Dibrell; head coach—Pat Murphy; offense coaches—Carl Coleman, Obie Bristow; defense coaches — Don Robbins, Mule Stockton.

Not many were around when such stellar athletes as Frank Segal, Tack Dennis, Dave Hopper and Melvin Pittman (to name a few) were representing Big Spring on the football greensward. All were outstanding in their day.

Miller Harris, the one-time sheriff here, was in professional baseball a number of years ago as the chattel of the Philadelphia Athletics.

He was with the A's in spring training when the great Ty Cobb was winding up a sensational career in baseball with Connie Mack's team.

Harris, who reminded observers of Babe Ruth when he swung a bat, was farmed out to Martinsburg, Va., in the Blue Ridge league. That year, Virginia insisted on a strict observance of Sunday Blue Laws, so allowed no Sunday baseball.

Miller took advantage of the holiday by going over to Washington to catch a big league game when possible. He settled into a seat in the upper deck on one occasion when a rain shower halted proceedings for a while.

Some of the A's, notably Cobb, spotted Harris sitting upstairs and called for him to join them in the dugout. It seems they wanted him to add his voice to a cacaphony of yelling from the A's dugout, for no particular reason and aimed at no one in particular, to help pass the time until the umpires ordered the resumption of play.

Harris had and still retains a nasal twange peculiar to most Texans and Cobb and the others liked to hear him barbering the opposition.

Miller stayed in professional baseball (and probably would have gone up to stay in the big tent) until he pulled a muscle in his throwing arm. In his time, Harris could spank the ball as well as anyone.

Jim Ned and Forsan are shaping up as the leading contenders for the District 7-B football championship. Both are big ball clubs, capable of fine play on occasions.

The team which can develop the most consistency by the time they meet in Jim Ned Nov. 15 could win it all.

Coach Oscar Boeker has already seen his Forsan team win more games than it did all of last season.

Hog Star Second To Chuck Hixson

By The Associated Press

No one is even close to catching SMU quarterback Chuck Hixson in the Southwest Conference passing and total offense categories but Arkansas quarterback Bill Montgomery is certainly trying.

While Hixson continued to bomb away, completing 24 passes for 309 yards against TCU, Montgomery, a sophomore, jumped from fourth to second in both passing and total offense.

Montgomery completed 22 of 34 passes for 260 yards and one touchdown in directing the Hogs past Baylor for their fourth consecutive victory.

Montgomery still is a distant second to Hixson, who also is the national leader in both categories. Hixson has completed 108 passes for 1,332 yards to 51 completions and 608 yards for Montgomery.

Hixson has 1,323 yards in total offense to 697 for Montgomery.

SMU players remain well-stationed throughout the statistical gatherings. Jerry Levias, the national leader in pass receptions with 38 for 568 yards, also leads in scoring with 32 points.

Mustang halfback Mike Richardson leads in rushing with 372 yards in 72 carries. Richardson also leads the tandem offense category—rushing and receiving combined—with 660 yards.

TCU's Mike Hall also made great strides in the punting department. Hall booted seven times for an average of 47.3 against SMU last week, including one 65-yarder.

Hall's effort boosted him into a tie for the league punting lead with A&M's Steve O'Neal. Both have a 42.6 average for 26 punts.

SMU continues as the total offense leader with 444.0 average per game. Texas Tech took over the total defense lead from the Aggies with a 284.3 yard average.

Forsan Wins Over Sands

ACKERLY — Forsan's girls rallied after a slow first quarter to edge Sands, 48-45, in a basketball game here Tuesday night.

Gloria Dodd scored 19 points to lead the Queens while Shara Dee Hambrick paced Sands with 19.

In B team action, Sands won, 38-21. Janice Clnton had 15 points for Forsan in that one while Lupe Miranda counted 15 and Cynthia Richter 12 for Sands.

Sands returns to play next Tuesday night at home against Garden City while Forsan waits two weeks for its next game, at which time it hosts Sands.

Black Athletes May Snub IOC Prexy At Ceremony

MEXICO CITY (AP) — If American sprinters John Carlos and Tommie Smith win medals in the Olympic 200-meter dash today, will they let Avery Brundage hand them their laurels?

This became the guessing game of the Olympics after subtle new moves by U.S. Negro athletes which find the 81-year-old, embattled president of the International Olympic Committee caught in the middle.

"If I win a medal, I don't want Mr. Brundage to present it to me," said Smith, after qualifying for the final Tuesday.

The word is out that some of the black U.S. competitors, particularly those who earlier were instrumental in a threatened boycott, plan to put the snub on the IOC president.

Their reason: Brundages strong stand in favor of admission of apartheid South Africa to the Olympics. The South Africans were admitted in February, later were tossed out when a boycott of the Mexico City Games was threatened.

A source close to the U.S. track and field team said that there was a quick change in presentation ceremonies after Jim Hines of Oakland, Calif., won the gold medal and Charlie Greene of Seattle the bronze in the 100-meter dash Monday.

Brundage had been slated to present the medals but the job instead was passed on to Lord Burghley of England, a long-time member of the IOC.

Hines was confronted with the rumor Tuesday.

"We made no request that somebody besides Brundage present the medals," Hines said. "We asked who was supposed to give us the medals. We were told, 'Brundage.' We didn't smile. I guess they got the message."

Asked if this attitude resulted from Brundage's position on South Africa, Hines replied:

"Yes, I think you could say that."

Golf Pros Amass For Pro-Member

Golf pros from all over West Texas gather at the Big Spring Country Club this afternoon to engage in an 18-hole pro-member meet, a type of play that is gaining popularity in this area.

Each of the pros will bring an amateur from his own club and will be joined by two Big Spring amateurs assigned by C. G. Griffin of the host club. Winning teams will be determined in a low-ball type meet.

The teams will use a shotgun start at 1 p.m. Gift certificates will go to the winners.

Pros scheduled to compete here include Elwyn Stobaugh and Jerry Green, both of San Angelo; Michael Dugger, Brownfield; Don McDaniel, Gaines County; Joe Collins, Dumas; Charles Brantley, Big Spring; S. A. Smith, Andrews; Val Howard, Lamesa; Horace Norman, Monahans; Bobby Maxwell, Abilene; Jake Bechtol, Odessa; Bill Wilson, Slaton; R. L. Montgomery, Sweetwater; and Griffin.

Kirkland Slated To Play Again

COMMERCE — Benny Kirkland, senior quarterback from Big Spring who missed last week's game for East Texas State against McMurry, is due to return to play when the Lions oppose Texas A&I Saturday night in Commerce.

An ankle injury kept Kirkland out of the McMurry game. Benny has thrown for six touchdowns in the three games in which he has appeared.

Bulls Decision Knicks, 100-96

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Motta was bubbling over with enthusiasm he had brought from successful coaching at Weber State, after opening his pro basketball coaching career with his Chicago Bulls" upset 100-96 victory over the New York Knicks in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

"It's like a dream," he said after the Bulls dissipated a 15-point third quarter lead, fell behind 87-84 and then fought back in the final seesaw minutes.

"They (the Bulls) needed this win, and I needed it to see if what I've been talking to them about has sunk in. I had to sell spirit and enthusiasm to them because we have no winning tradition to fall back on."

Wallace Winds Up California Swing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George C. Wallace received a restrained but polite reception Tuesday as he wound up a three-day California swing with speeches at three aerospace plants and by fielding questions from the audience on a national television show.

The American Independent party's presidential candidate goes to Alamogordo, N.M., and Texas today.

A Negro, who identified himself as Booker Terry Sharp, a Los Angeles cement mason, drew loud applause at the Joey Bishop TV show when, as the last question from the audience, he said: "What we need in this country is a president who will unify the people, not divide them. What are you going to do about that?"

"I agree with you," Wallace began before Bishop stopped further discussion by saying that Wallace now was over the time given other presidential candidates who appeared on the show. The program, on the American Broadcasting Co., was taped for showing tonight.

Earlier Wallace spoke at Hughes Aircraft in Culver City; at TRW Systems in Redondo Beach and Aerojet General in Downey. For the most part, the employes listened silently, although there were occasional bursts of applause and some boos.

Wallace told about 4,000 TRW workers "It's really difficult for me to speak to an orderly crowd. It really throws me, if you want to know the truth."

'The People Next Door' To Spark Heated Debate

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright J. P. Miller's message to worried and nonplussed parents of rebellious and alienated children is curt and clear: They have only themselves to blame.

Miller's message was delivered in his original drama—melodrama, really—called "The People Next Door," the first production of this season's "CBS Playhouse" on Tuesday night.

BAD TRIP

The story opened with a hectic pre-dinner martini gathering in the upper middle-class, upper middle-income home of one couple with a 16-year-old daughter and a boy a few years older.

The shabby behavior and easy morality of the elders was revealed quickly. The wife of a teacher who lives next door has had a couple of drinks too many. The husband of the house storms in from duck hunting and admits that, although the limit was three ducks, he shot a dozen.

There followed an angry scene with the son, a long-haired, guitar-playing fellow with a slightly condescending attitude. The distraught daughter rushed to her room and took off on a bad LSD trip.

DRUGS, SEX

Thereupon we learn that the young girl has been experimenting not only with drugs but with sex. When confronted by her frantic, handwringing mother and aggressive father, we then learn that the girl has seen her father with other women and is aware that her parents were intimate before their own marriage.

Both children, as the son explained, have lost respect for their parents and have left them in different ways. The boy has moved on from marijuana to be a turned-on philosophical dropout. The daughter moves on to stronger drugs, East Village excesses, and winds up a patient with a bad prognosis in a mental institution.

Meanwhile, the "good boy" next door—the one with the short hair cut and the good school marks has been pushed beyond endurance by his parents. He winds up revealed as the neighborhood drug pusher.

HERO

It is interesting that the hippie son in the Miller drama is the closest there is to a hero. The parents, all four, are the inadvertent villains.

The 90-minute program lacked any kind of a resolution. Neither set of parents seemed to be any more enlightened or subjective at the end than at the beginning, and the play closed in tragedy and without much hope.

If the dramatic structure left something to be desired, the play was nevertheless emotional and thought-provoking, and obviously was written with passion and conviction.

The acting throughout was excellent. Lloyd Bridges was convincing as the tough, intransigent father. Kim Hunter fluttered pitifully as the shocked mother. The most brilliant performance was turned in by a 14-year-old, Deborah Winters, who made a drug-induced descent into a permanent hell seem very real and terrible.

SO LONG, GOMER

It is a show that will no doubt be the subject of some heated debate for some time to come.

CBS has signed comedian-singer Jim Nabors for a series of weekly variety hours to start next season. That means that "Gomer Pyle," starring Nabors and one of the most popular series currently on the air—it ranked No. 2 in the most recent Nielsen ratings—will be retired at season's end.

Space Show Is Forerunner Of More Spectacular TV

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The daily Wally, Walt and Donn television show from the Apollo 7 is a forerunner of more spectacular things to come as America pushes outward toward the moon.

Included is a possible live telecast of an Apollo astronaut walking in the void of space from one ship to another early next year.

HOPES

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, beset by budget problems, hopes the Apollo 7 TV shows will boost the popularity of the American space program.

"People are saying the American space show is better than the Olympics," Paul Haney, director of public affairs for NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, said Tuesday.

"I get the impression it is being very well received. The networks tell me they know it is in Europe," where the first show by Apollo 7 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr., Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham was beamed live Monday.

"Television does have a place in the lunar mission," Haney continued in an interview. In Tuesday's telecast, when the pilots took viewers on an 11-minute tour of Apollo 7's interior, "people got to look around that spacecraft in a way you couldn't do with words."

MOON SHOTS

Plans call for another TV camera to fly with the Apollo 8 crew—Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Air Force Maj. William A. Anders and Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr.—on their flight about Dec. 21, expected to be a trip around the moon.

On the following flight, Apollo 9, astronaut Russell L. Schweickart is to walk in space from a two-man spacecraft called a lunar module to a three-man Apollo mother ship, "and I'm hopeful we can do it on TV," Haney said.

And when astronauts go to the moon, which could be as soon as mid-1969 with the Apollo 10 crew, a better-quality television camera will go along. Pictures seen on home screens will be about as clear as those from Apollo 7, but the moon camera also will be able to relay high-quality still photographs to earth.

Three Accidents In Big Spring

Big Spring police investigated three automobile accidents Tuesday.

Dominga Rangel, 123½ Mobile, and Ruth Robinson, Rt. 1, Big Spring, collided in the Gibson's parking lot at 1:58 p.m.

William Calvin Sherman, 701 Wyoming, and Robert Earl Douglas, 1303 Colby, collided at 5:45 p.m. in the intersection of Sixteenth and Bluebird.

A car owned by Mrs. Vel A. Josey, 605 E. 15th, was struck by a car driven by Andy Ollie Gaston, 424 Hillside, while it was parked in front of her home.

You Must Go To Another Town To Take A Bath

TRAUGER, Pa. (AP) — There's no water in Trauger. Well, almost none.

People take baths at homes of friends or relatives outside the western Pennsylvania village 35 miles southwest of Pittsburgh. Women take clothes to coin laundries in other towns. Watering lawns is unthinkable.

When water is available, it drips and spurts during the wee hours of the morning when a bit of feeble pressure builds up.

MILK JUGS

Women put milk jugs and plastic cartons under the faucet to gather enough to boil and use for drinking. Sometimes there isn't enough.

The problem is really nothing new to the 200 people in this former coal mining community. They haven't had an adequate water supply for six or seven years.

But concern is widespread now. Not only do residents have an erratic water system, they have an ownerless one. The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission closed its books on the Trauger case Tuesday, authorizing George Gaydar to relinquish ownership. Gaydar had pleaded he was losing money.

With help from Eugene D. Saloom, a state legislator from nearby Mount Pleasant, Trauger residents are now managing the system themselves. Saloom said he will assume responsibility while residents continue a thus far unsuccessful fight for assistance.

Gaydar is the last of a number of individuals given title to the system, without charge, by the H.C. Frick Coal Co. when the company quit the village and left its company houses and store in 1935.

MONEY

Gaydar bought water from the Municipal Water Authority of Westmoreland County, which serves some 55,000 customers in five counties, including Westmoreland. The authority has an income of $4 million a year, assets of $49 million and indebtedness of just over $29 million.

The authority charged Gaydar some $200 per month for the water poured through the line which no one seems to get. It has no other obligation. To maintain the line and the quality of water was Gaydar's job.

Harvey Shopsky, an engineer and Tom Hyde, a steelworker, have been fighting to have the authority take over the system. But the authority wants $27,000, the price it says 5,400 feet of new pipe will cost, to give the village adequate water.

Cop Flags Train To Nab Robber

AMITYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A bank was held up here Tuesday, for only the second time in the memory of this Long Island community, and a suspect was caught minutes later when a policeman flagged down a train, thus blocking the street and trapping his quarry in a taxicab.

Police said the robber entered the Security National Bank, gave the teller a note demanding money and threatening to use a gun. The teller put $490 in a bag and the robber fled on foot.

Patrolman George Kirwin, on a motorcycle, flagged down a train passing a crossing on the street, creating a traffic jam. He then found the suspect, unarmed, in a cab.

Arrested and charged with first-degree robbery was Larry L. Hawkins, 24.

FOR TOMORROW

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to get into all of the little affairs of everyday living and to make sure you get everything in perfect operative condition even to the very smallest item and detail. Clean and use whatever detergents that are necessary to have a new feeling of well being. Make notations what you can do to have greater efficiency in the days ahead.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Associates and co-workers have been too busy to coordinate their efforts with you lately, but will do so now happily. Take the health treatments that give you real bounce and verve. Be glad to be alive.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Make preparations for fun that give you a feeling of "joie de vivre." Go to see that new barber or beautician who is reported to be so good. Begin tonight with some inexpensive but charming fun.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Better take time to analyze how you have been progressing in present set-ups instead of looking for new mountains to climb. Learn to understand close ties better. Stop being so high and mighty.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Sit down and talk over with allies how to make daily routines more efficient and profitable. Buy those gadgets that make your work easier and more perfect. Stop working with whatever is terribly antiquated.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get those financial matters studied and set up a better budget for yourself. Consult with expert who can really make things go for you. There is no need to have a sense of lack when abundance only means thinking constructively.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study yourself well in A.M. and see where you can make improvements. Then out to the social and get yourself a whole new set of friends. It may very well be that those you have had have been holding you down.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Getting rid of all those small accumulated duties in front of you is best so that you then have free time for the things you want to do of an important nature. Talk to experts and make better plans for the future. Be alive, alert.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be a loyal friend and do whatever makes others really happy and be helpful in their needs. Repay that social obligation you have been putting off for a long time. Entertain as charmingly as pocketbook allows.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) An influential person in your life now gives advice you need, so follow and gain support for some pet project. Be active in some so-called civic venture which is also connected with industry, and gain acclaim. Be smart.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Follow your intuition and gain the respect of one you admire and want to have join you in some vital project. Also contact persons out-of-town and see what they will do for you. Think more positively.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have some responsibilities that are rather annoying, so get rid of them quickly in a steadfast and efficient way. Do as much as you possibly can in other directions, too. Then happiness with mate in P.M.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you have long conversations with associates, you know exactly where you stand with them, find out what their real views are. A close tie joins you later in some favorite hobby of yours. Be clever at chess, if that be it.

Deadly Guitar

FORT ST. JAMES, B.C. (AP) — Clement Joseph, 24, was electrocuted while playing an electric guitar in wet stocking feet, police at this northern British Columbia community said Tuesday.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police said Joseph died from a 300-volt shock from the guitar's faulty amplifier.

"Three other people handled the instrument and had no trouble but they were wearing shoes," police said.
