Officers make huge drug bust

Officers made one of the biggest drug busts in the nation this year when they stopped a pickup truck carrying from $21 million to $35 million in cocaine and heroin late last Wednesday near Loraine.

"Someone is really hurting over that little deal," said Sheriff Patrick Toombs Tuesday.

The episode began about 10 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 5, when West Central Texas Interlocal Crime Task Force Agent Ronnie Stiltner of Abilene stopped a man and woman in a 1978 Ford four-wheel-drive short-bed pickup truck.

Agent Stiltner obtained the couple's permission to search the vehicle and noticed a string hanging from one of the seat-belt brackets, Sheriff Toombs said.

"He pulled the string and brought up a bag of heroin," the sheriff said.

Sheriff Toombs and other officers had arrived at the scene off the eastbound lanes of Interstate 20, and they took the truck into Colorado City and found 20 pounds of black tar heroin and seven pounds of cocaine in compartments on each side of the cab interior.

The couple, 59-year-old Jose Preda-Larquier and 49-year-old Maria Gonzales Lopez, both of Chihuahua, Mexico, were taken into custody at Mitchell County Jail by officers of the United States Customs Service.

Sheriff Toombs said they were being held Tuesday at a federal detention facility in San Angelo.

They were believed to have been en route to Dallas-Fort Worth.

"It's the second or third-largest heroin seizure in the United States in the last few years," Sheriff Toombs said. "They've seized a lot of cocaine, but not a lot of heroin."

"This is not the regular white or powder heroin. It's black tar heroin."

Black tar heroin is in a solid, sticky, form, somewhat like tar, and addicts use it by melting it and injecting it with a hypodermic needle.

"The Crime Task Force estimated that the cocaine and heroin were worth $21 million, but U. S. Customs said it could be worth up to $35 million," the sheriff said.

In other police action, 41-year-old Federico Diaz of Colorado City was arrested on a family violence charge in connection with the 9:30 p.m. Sunday discharge of a firearm into a house in the 200 block of East Eighth Street.

City police issued a warrant for Diaz' arrest, and he turned

Q. If there wasn't enough money to finish the day care center, why was it started?

A. The concrete foundation and basic structure of the center were completed about a year ago by People for Progress Inc. in Sweetwater with the expectation that the city and other governmental entities here would raise the necessary money to complete it.

City won't apologize

In an action-packed Tuesday night meeting, city councilmen declined to apologize over city officials' actions pertaining to a dispute over the removal and replacement of bunting on a billboard owned by local attorney Pat Barber.

After a 30-minute executive session with City Attorney

Tom Rees, Mayor Jim Baum reviewed the issue and asked if there was a motion to apologize to Barber for the actions of Police Chief Pat Taylor, Police Investigator Charles Rice, City Manager Steve Shutt and Rees.

Councilman Gary Redwine moved to draft an apology for Rice's removal of the bunting from the "Just Say No" billboard that Barber has erected west of town, referring to searches of vehicles on Interstate 20 by state narcotics agents.

The motion died for lack of a second.

Mayor Jim Baum said Barber

Court argues money

Mitchell County commissioners Monday gave tentative approval to the county's 1999 budget, which includes the deletion of $28,000 to help support the local ambulance service.

Pct. 2 Commissioner Carl Guelker, who opposed the action in a budget hearing two weeks ago, voted in favor of the budget but suggested a different money-saving tactic during the brief Monday morning discussion.

Commissioner Guelker said that instead of buying a bulldozer, Pct. 3 Commissioner Wendy Inman could share Pct. 4 Commissioner Bill Preston's dozer.

Guelker said he and Pct. 1

Commissioner Ed Roach could then share the "unit dozer" that is currently used by Pcts. 1, 2 and 3.

Guelker said that would offset Commissioner Preston's $35,000 annual payment on a road reclaimer machine that is used in Pct. 4 to dig into dirt roadways.

School board discusses tax rate

Colorado High School and Middle School each had only one area below the 80 percent passing standard that disqualified them from "recognized" status in TAAS testing last spring, Supt. Russell Merket reported Monday night.

In a report to the Colorado School Board, Supt. Merket said 76.4 percent of CHS students passed mathematics while 75 percent of economically disadvantaged students at CMS passed reading.

Over 80 percent of Kelley and Hutchinson Elementary School students passed all tests, with two exceptions -- 75.6 percent of Hispanics and 79 percent of economically disadvantaged students passed reading.

District-wide, 93.7 percent of white students and 79.4 percent of Hispanics passed reading; 89.4 percent of whites and 80.3 percent of Hispanics passed mathematics; and 91.2 percent of whites and 84.5 percent of Hispanics passed writing.

The scores of African-American students were not tabulated as a sub-group because fewer than 30 students took the tests, Merket said.

"Hispanics are really up in the last few years," he said. "From where we were to where we are is tremendous."

"That math test is really hard."

The superintendent said special education students' TAAS Test scores will be averaged in beginning next year unless a student is exempted his or her Admission, Review and Dismissal (ARD) committee.

"Until we get a handle on how to teach these kids and get them to pass the TAAS, we will see some scores decline," Merket said.

Hospital board supports EMS

Mitchell County's Monday withdrawal from a three-party arrangement to help finance the county ambulance service has left the company in an uncertain, although apparently not life-threatening, situation.

County commissioners decided in budget deliberations to stop spending $28,000 a year on Mitchell County EMS, and spokesmen for the other two parties, the City of Colorado City and the county hospital district, said that action makes their seven-year-old contract null and void.

Tom Carlock, president of the Mitchell County Hospital Board, said Tuesday in a joint statement with Administrator Rick Rickard that the hospital will assume the shares of both the city and county if necessary.

However, they said a tax rate increase might be necessary.

"Mitchell County Hospital District has a strong sense of responsibility and moral obligation to the citizens of Mitchell County to provide the very best ambulance service possible," they said.

"We will not let the actions of some members of the commissioners court affect the health and safety of our residents."

Ag secretary meets farmers

Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman said here Tuesday that although North and South Dakota got most of the early national publicity about drought damages, Texas and the Southwest will get their fair share of federal benefits.

Secretary Glickman, a member of President Clinton's Cabinet for the past 3 1/2 years, told an estimated 75 farmers and ranchers in an early morning gathering north of Colorado City that news coverage has recently centered on the Southwest.

Accompanied by Congressman Charles Stenholm and State Farm Service Agency Committee Chairman Woody Anderson of Colorado City, Glickman met with the producers just before 8 a.m. five miles north of here on Anderson's land on the east side of Hwy. 208 and just south of FM 1808.

Glickman, a Wichita, Kan., farmer who served in the House with Stenholm, noted that Stenholm, the committee's ranking Democrat, will become chairman if the Democrats regain control of the House in November.

Mitchell County farmer Todd Shaw told the secretary that crop insurance "is not working" for producers whose cotton crops have been burned into oblivion this summer.

"The '96 Farm Bill did some things I didn't like, and I'm going to try to change it," Glickman said.

He added that the bill's "Freedom to Farm" provisions are good in that they al-

8 p.m. Monday, Aug. 17, and adopted in a 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 20, meeting at which bids will also be opened for an addition to the athletic field-house at Wolf Stadium.

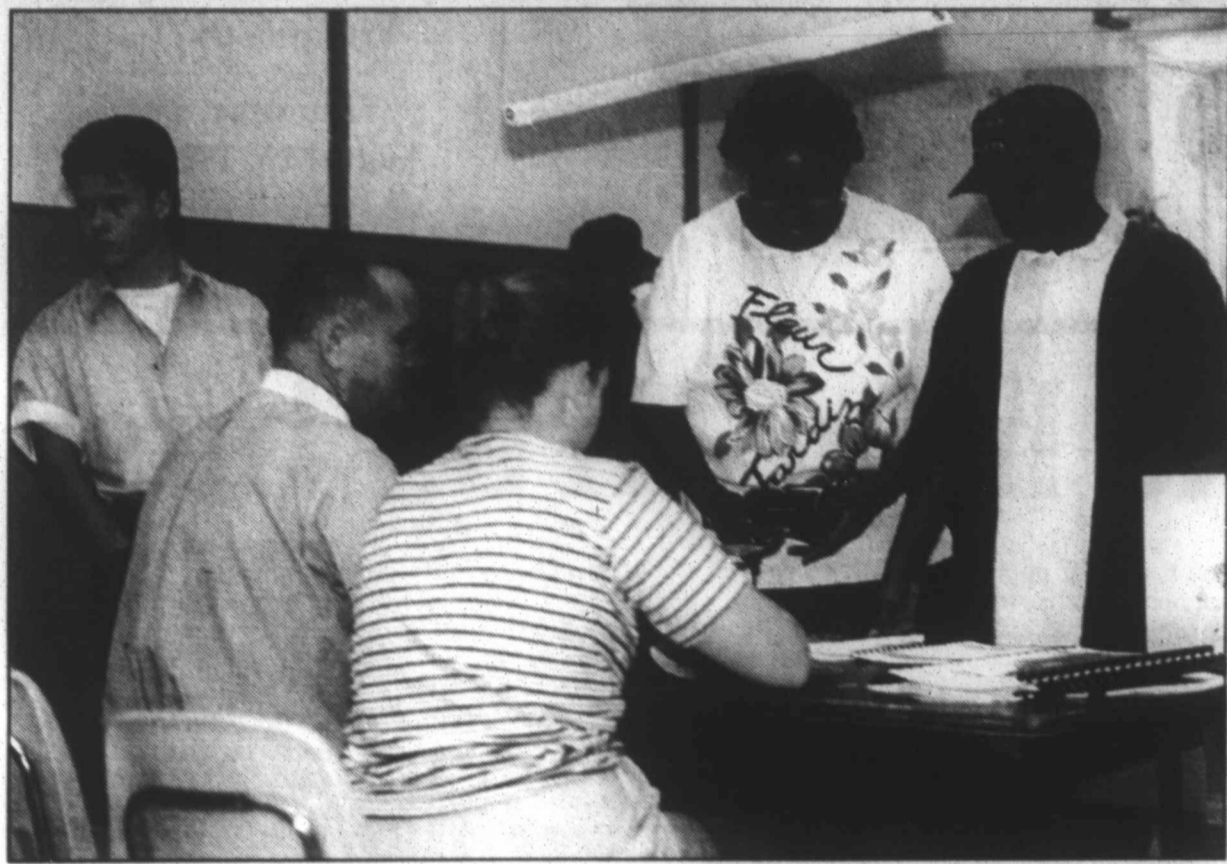

A new tax rate will be adopted in the 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 14, regular board meeting, Board President Larry Blassingame said.

Ms. Findley said the amount of the new budget had not been tabulated. The current budget is for $10,577,569.

She said the tax rate, 1.5735 cents per $100 in valuation, will be reduced by three cents

FAYE ROSS, second from right, was registering her son, Travis Green, Friday at Colorado Middle School, assisted by Assistant Principal Tom Kelly and Megan Merrell.

Schools gear up for Thursday start

Colorado Middle School was registering students and taking school photographs Friday while a Lubbock construction company accelerated its installation of a new elevator in the three-story school at the 312 E. 12th St.

Principal Mark Merrell said taking students' photos just after they register is a good way to get the job completed without taking time away from classes later.

He is disappointed that the elevator project by Wardroup Construction Co. will not be finished by the time school starts on Thursday, but he said it will be used to teach lessons about construction and elevators in mathematics and science classes.

He expected about 300 students to enroll -- approximately the same number the school had this time last year.

The $109,523 elevator job is expected to take another two to three months, and Merrell said San Angelo architect Gary Donaldson, who designed it, might be invited to speak to students about it.

The elevator will run from the back of the auditorium on the ground floor through the balcony to a third-floor computer mathematics classroom.

All three floors have been bored through, and Merrell said the work areas have been sealed off so that students will not be injured.

The elevator is being installed primarily to provide handicapped or injured students easier access to classes.

Merrell said it will also be used to carry heavy loads like books from floor to floor and to accommodate parents or grandparents who have trouble climbing stairs.

Faculty members will not use it except in special circumstances.

Aside from the usual repainting and cleaning by inmate work crews from the Wallace Unit prison, the middle school has also benefitted from the installation of a new computerized reading laboratory in the library.

The middle school got 15 of the 30 new Internet-connected computers that Supt. Russell Merket obtained with a grant of about $100,000 from the Texas Education Agency's Regional Service Center in Abilene. The others went to Colorado High School.

Science teacher Pam Alvarez and English teacher Bobbie Baker took five days of training at the TEA center and then trained 11 other CMS teachers in the new laboratory's use.

Its operation will be under the supervision of Librarian Beverly Adams.

Kelley Elementary School Principal Kitten Arthur said inmates re-painted the 1435 Elm St. school's "Launching the Future" rocket ship signs at its east and west side entrances and built new flower beds with money donated by the First National Bank.

Workmen have also repainted the handicapped railings and every door in the building in the alternating primary colors of red, green, blue, yellow and orange.

Kelley educates students from kindergarten through the second grade.

Ms. Arthur and 38 faculty and staff members spent last Wednesday in a retreat at the Wagon Wheel Ranch north of Snyder to complete preparations for the new school year.

"After living through the drought, we were ready to retreat," she said.

"Sometimes when you get away, you can see things a little better."

Westbrook Principal Doc Rowell said the western

Mitchell County school finished the 1997-98 year with 164 students and will probably start school Wednesday with between 160 and 170.

He said the summertime installation of a new state-financed $99,000 30-terminal computer system "is going to help our students be more competitive in the outside world because they will have the same level playing field as people from the metropolitan areas."

Rowell said a new Renaissance English accelerated reading program "has been used in area schools with high success" and will be employed for the first time this year in Westbrook's kindergarten through sixth grade classes.

"The teachers requested it, and we added it," he said. "It will give students more of an incentive to read and make reading more desirable."

He explained that students will earn points and win prizes by reading books of varying complexity and taking computerized tests about them. Another new program called Saxon Phonics, or phonetically based reading instruction, will be instituted this year in kindergarten through the third grade.

Westbrook's library was open concept-style until the installation of three computers in it, and a wall was built over the summer so that it will be enclosed and lockable.

The computers will have access to Internet T-Star Satellite educational programming.

The school's old green and yellow interior color scheme has been replaced with eggshell white paint.

"Back in the 1950's and 60's, light green and light yellow is what everybody put in schools," the principal said.

"Eggshell white looks cleaner and is not as hard on the eyes."

C-COURT

"I don't want to be partners," said Commissioner Inman, whose purchase of a new or used bulldozer was approved by the court earlier this summer.

"We have all benefitted from the reclaimer this year," said Commissioner Preston, referring to the machine's extensive use in the Col-Tex Refinery clean-up project on the southwestern side of town.

"I don't want to get into an argument with the commissioners," Preston said quietly before moving that the 43-page tentative budget be approved.

Inman seconded the motion, which was approved with all four commissioners saying "Aye."

Final approval of the budget is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 25.

Guelker said after the 9 a.m. meeting, which ended at 9:48, that the Mitchell County Hospital District's promised January receipt of $141,000 from the state's settlement with the tobacco industry was the court's primary motivation in removing its support of Mitchell County EMS.

The deletion of $28,000 from county expenditures eases financial pressure on the court, Guelker said, but he did not want the county to withdraw from its contract with the City of Colorado City and Mitchell County Hospital District to support the EMS.

Guelker is a longtime member of the Ambulance Board, which oversees EMS operations.

The subject of the ambulance service was not specifically broached during the Monday meeting.

Guelker said it has long been apparent that the ambulance service must be subsidized, largely because its collection rate is only 60 to 65 percent.

The collection rate is relatively low because many of its customers are on Medicare and it often does not receive payment for 100 percent of a bill, he said.

County Auditor Susan Buckalew said in presenting the proposed $3.7-million budget that a decline in county-wide property valuations necessitates a property tax increase from 55.75 to 57.47 cents per $100 in valuation to raise about $1.3 million next year.

The budget rises by $57,000 over the current calendar year budget and includes no raises for county employees other than the usual increases for longevity.

Ms. Buckalew said most of the increase is for a new computer system in the county clerk's office.

Tax revenues are expected to go from $1,163,084 this year to $1,276,537 next year.

Other business included a report by Chamber of Commerce Director Winda Fuller and High Plains Junior Rodeo Chairman Charles Rice that the July 9-11 rodeo "was very successful" financially.

Rice said electrical expenses ran a little more than expected but that this was the first year for the 14 new Metal Hallide arena lights that the court appropriated $5,000 for last spring.

Ms. Fuller said the new lighting system and a new announcer's booth greatly improved the event.

The commissioners acknowledged the receipt of a nine-name petition from the Laguna Drive area on the east side of Lake Colorado City for the county to assume maintenance of a dead-end road that is six-tenths of a mile long.

Commissioner Inman said the road is in his precinct and that he will consider making it a county road.

Naomi Williamson of Westbrook was appointed an alternate election judge in voting Pct. 2.

MCH

"MCH remains committed to keeping our ambulance's professional employees and services available to everyone, although it may be necessary to re-evaluate our planned tax rate due to the recent actions of some members of the commissioners court."

"The hospital district believes a quality ambulance service is essential and stands firm in its commitment to continue to provide quality patient care to our citizens."

City Manager Steve Shutt said Monday that the original 1991 contract among the city, county and hospital district had each entity paying an equal third of the subsidy, or $2,033.33 per month.

In 1994, the agreement was modified to give the city 21 percent, or $1,377.50 monthly, and the county and hospital district 39.5 percent each.

Carlock said the district has been paying more annually than the county, mainly because it has been providing administrative assistance.

Shutt said he did not think there was any sentiment on the city council to withdraw its support, too, but the issue would be discussed in its Tuesday night meeting.

He said the 1994 contract allows any member to withdraw with a 60-day notice that nullifies the entire agreement.

New heart conditioning center opens at Healthstyles

Modern Americans live lives of air-conditioned comfort, good food and drink and relative physical ease.

They might work hard, but it's at a desk or indoors with muscle strain as the least of their worries.

And that's the problem. High pressure jobs with no physical outlets for stress lead to hypertension, heart attacks, strokes, heart by-pass operations and lifetimes on heart medications.

When you're talking about your heart and lungs, as Healthstyles Center Director Tina Pate Turner says, "An ounce of prevention is worth more than a pound of cure."

Affiliated with Mitchell County Hospital, the Healthstyles Center at 2112 Hickory St. has been in existence for about three years, providing various types of exercise for people who have to make a special effort to get it.

Starting Monday, it became the center for Phase 4 heart conditioning patients from the county hospital who are recovering from heart attacks, heart surgery and other cardio-vascular problems.

"Having a healthy lifestyle is not as hard as people think it is," said Ms. Turner. "It's just a matter of making up your mind and disciplining yourself."

She knows what she is talking about because she had her second child 12 years ago and needed two years to lose the extra 25 pounds she had gained.

She also has a family history of heart problems with a sister who has been on heart medicine since age 30 and with her mother having been on such medication since her late 30's.

"We have such a sedentary society, people don't really think about what they're eating or what they're doing," Ms. Turner said.

"Exercise is so beneficial. It relieves depression, and you know, we don't have any medicine for cholesterol. The only way you can reduce it is with exercise."

"You feel better and feel like you look better."

The center has cardio-vascular treadmills, exercise bicycles, a Universal weight training machine with various stations and an assortment of free weights.

It has about 65 members who pay $25 per month for either aerobics classes or the cardio-vascular program with free weights or $30 for both.

Texas Department of Criminal Justice employees pay $20 for both programs.

"We invite anyone to come in and view our services and facilities, and hopefully we'll get them into a new lifestyle of strength and resistance training and cardio-vascular prevention of long-term illnesses," Ms. Turner said.

The program has been created in cooperation with local hospital cardio-vascular rehabilitation supervisors Wes Whiteaker and Cheryl Haggerton and Jon D. Connelly, director of the Abilene Regional Medical Center's Heart and Vascular Institute.

Whiteaker, Connelly and Ms. Haggerton took part in a Thursday morning reception at the center last week, when free blood analyses, body mass evaluations and heart rate and blood pressure tests were given.

The center is open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Saturday.

Other staff members are receptionist Elinda Silva and instructors Sheila Redwine, Mary Petty and Denise Marshall.

Ms. Turner and her husband Gordon have two boys, Troy, 17, and Tristan, 12. She is a native of Mineral Wells.

CARDIAC CONDITIONING is the task of the Healthstyles Center at 2112 Hickory St., where county hospital cardio-vascular rehabilitation supervisors Wes Whiteaker, left, and Cheryl Haggerton were demonstrating the blood pressure machine. With them is Jon Connelly, director of the Abilene Regional Medical Center's-Heart and Vascular Institute.

Mr. Robert C. (Bob) Richardson, age 49, died Monday, August 10, 1998 in Abilene.

Graveside services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, August 15, 1998 in the Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of Kiker-Seale Funeral Home.

Mr. Richardson was born December 17, 1948 in Colorado City to Porter and Anita Richardson. He graduated from Colorado City High School in 1967 and then attended McMurry College, now McMurry University in Abilene, Texas. He received a B.A. degree in Business Administration in 1972. Mr. Richardson then worked many years in Abilene as a manufacturing supervisor for C.G. Conn and Lockheed Martin's tactical aircraft system before retiring several years ago.

He is survived by his brother, Mr. Richard A. (Dick) Richardson of Fort Worth, two predeceased and numerous cousins.

He was preceded in death by his parents and one sister.

Fair revisions considered

The Mitchell County Fair needs spicing up, and how well it does this September 17-19 might determine whether or not it is continued.

"I think we need to continue having it because it is a great asset to a small community," said Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce Director Wendi Fuller during a Thursday night meeting.

"But we're not doing it right. I only want to continue it if it's a good county fair and people want it."

Sixteen people attended the meeting at the Civic Center, proffering a number of ideas about making the fair more attractive.

Tommy Guelker said having it during football season is a drawback because few people attend on Friday night.

The past few fairs have suffered because they were held when the Colorado Wolves played out of town, but this year's should do better because the team will play here that weekend, Guelker said.

Walt Staats, a CHS teacher and the team's game announcer, said he will invite the home crowd to attend the fair after the game.

Offering a benefit like a free softdrink or hotdog with a ticket stub from the game was discussed.

Asked if the fair could be scheduled during the team's annual open date, Ms. Fuller said the game schedule is not prepared far enough in advance.

She said the fair also has to be held at a time when a carnival can be here.

A FAIR DISCUSSION was underway last Thursday night at the Civic Center, where Chamber of Commerce Director Wendi Fuller, center background, was reviewing the future of the Mitchell County Fair with banker Richy Womack, right, and other interested citizens.

Guelker suggested not charging a $2 admission to get into the fair on the county fairgrounds west of town off Hwy. 80.

Ms. Fuller said that would eliminate one of the fair's primary sources of revenue.

She said attendance might be better this fall with the 2 and 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 19, performances of Lubbock magician Monte Montgomery, whose show is called the Magic of Montgomery.

A chainsaw artist from Lorenzo will also perform.

Richy Womack said the Lions Club might run a dunking booth, and Mayor Jim Baum suggested a men's "pretty legs" contest.

Ms. Fuller said one of her major reservations about the fair has been the public's lack of interest in arts and crafts, cooking and agricultural exhibits in the nearby ag show barn.

Guelker said a school student's science fair might be added to the exhibits.

Dell Toelkes suggested having a drama group from Angelo State University in San Angelo or Westen Texas College in Snyder perform skits or a play at the fair.

Other citizens who took part in the meeting, which lasted about an hour and 15 minutes, included Marjorie Kolman, Lillie Funderburg, Lula Leach, Martha Holstine, Heidi Harris, Mrs. Tommy Guelker and Marsha Rickard.

low farmers more flexibility in how much they plant and that some of its conservation measures are helpful.

But he said there will be a better opportunity to change the bill if the Democrats regain their majority in the House.

Congressman Stenholm said the bill's "floor" for commodity prices is too low, and action needs to be taken to assure that cotton prices, for example, do not fall as far as they did last year.

Asked if he has any concerns about the passage of the Kyoto Treaty, to control global warming, the secretary said anything that affects the weather is a concern to agriculture "because we are so vulnerable to the weather."

The secretary's group left here to attend a morning panel discussion and outdoor catered luncheon at Lorber Industries east of Snyder.

himself in at the sheriff's office at noon Monday, Police Chief Pat Taylor said.

Firefighters were called at 11:10 p.m. Monday to the 2186 Chestnut St. home of Carla Merket, where the front porch was on fire.

Fire Marshal Billy Ray Williamson said neighbor Rodney Hallmark had been knocking on the front door and city policeman George Oliver arrived, broke through the back door and advised the occupants, who had been asleep, of the fire.

Marshal Williamson said the cause of the fire had not been determined, but that there was no evidence of an accelerant where it had started, at a corner of the porch.

He said the fire took only a few minutes to extinguish.

Ramsey named employee of month at Ware Unit

Roberta Ramsey

Education is the best opportunity for most penitentiary inmates to gain a new perspective and make a new start in life, says a Ware Unit correctional officer who has worked extensively in the field. Colorado City native Roberta Ramsey is the Ware Unit's "Employee of the Month" for August. "The more you're educated, the more you come to like yourself and want to advance," she said. "Attitudes change as you get a better perspective. I have seen them go in there with not much education, and they come out acting better. Their attitude is better." Ms. Ramsey attended Colorado High School until the 11th grade, married and later earned a GED high school-equivalency diploma. She qualified to become a Texas Department of Criminal Justice correctional officer by completing the TDCJ Academy in Beeville. Ms. Ramsey worked for three years in the Windham School at the Wallace Unit, checking rosters and working with teachers to make sure inmates were in class on schedule. Then she applied to work with the general population at the Ware Unit and started there in April 1997, advancing to CO-3. She works the first shift, from 6 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. And that's one of the things she likes about the TDCJ -- opportunities constantly arise for different assignments and advancements and supervisors encourage officers to apply for whatever interests them. Ms. Ramsey's mother, Doris King, is a licensed vocational nurse at Mitchell County Hospital. Her father, Joe Turnbull, died in 1985. She has two sons, Wendell, 8, and Carl, 10.

Scripture leads to conclusions

By Pastor Ron Garner
Loraine, Texas

An event known as "The Rapture of the Saints" is about to happen.

While it is true that "No man knows the day or the hour" (Matthew 24:36), the context of 24:36 is 24:3. There is a 2,000-year gap between Verses 3 and 4 of Matthew 24.

This 2,000-year period is known as the "The Day of Jacob's Trouble" (Jeremiah 30: 7, 18), occurring between the "69th and 70th weeks" of Daniel 9:24-26.

The events of these 2,000 years are past tense while the events of Verse 27 are in the imminent future.

In Matthew 24:4 through 25:46, the Lord Jesus Christ tells of the earth's frightening future, when God's wrath upon mankind finally kicks in -- the 70th week of Daniel that God chose to postpone for almost 2,000 years.

But prior to that, all genuine Christians will be "caught away in the Rapture" and thus escape God's wrath which is about to be poured out on the world's population (First Thessalonians 1:10, 5:9).

Also see First Thessalonians 2:16 and Revelation 6:16-17, 14:8, 10, 19, 15:1, 7, and 16:1, 19.

Where has Israel been in her relationship to God since 37 A.D.? She has been "Lorraine," meaning, "You are not My people and I am not your God" (Hosea 1:9).

But this is going to change in the post-Rapture when God introduces "The Seven-Year Tribulation" of Matthew 24:9, 21. This period is "The Day of Jacob's Trouble" or the "70th Week of Daniel."

The "he" of Jeremiah 9:27 is the same "man of lawlessness" of Second Thessalonians 2:3-9 -- the anti-christ of First John 2:18, 22, and Second John, Verse 7.

His office has existed in the new European Union since Jan. 1, 1996, but is only being filled on an interim basis until his revealing in the post-Rapture.

What restrains him from being revealed now?

In Second Thessalonians 2:7, note the words "leteth," meaning that which restrains, hinders or suppresses his appearance, and "until he," the Christian, is taken away in the Rapture.

"The Times of the Gentiles" began in 586 B.C., when Babylonian King Nebuchadnezzar was given sovereignty over Israel (Second Chronicles 36:22-23).

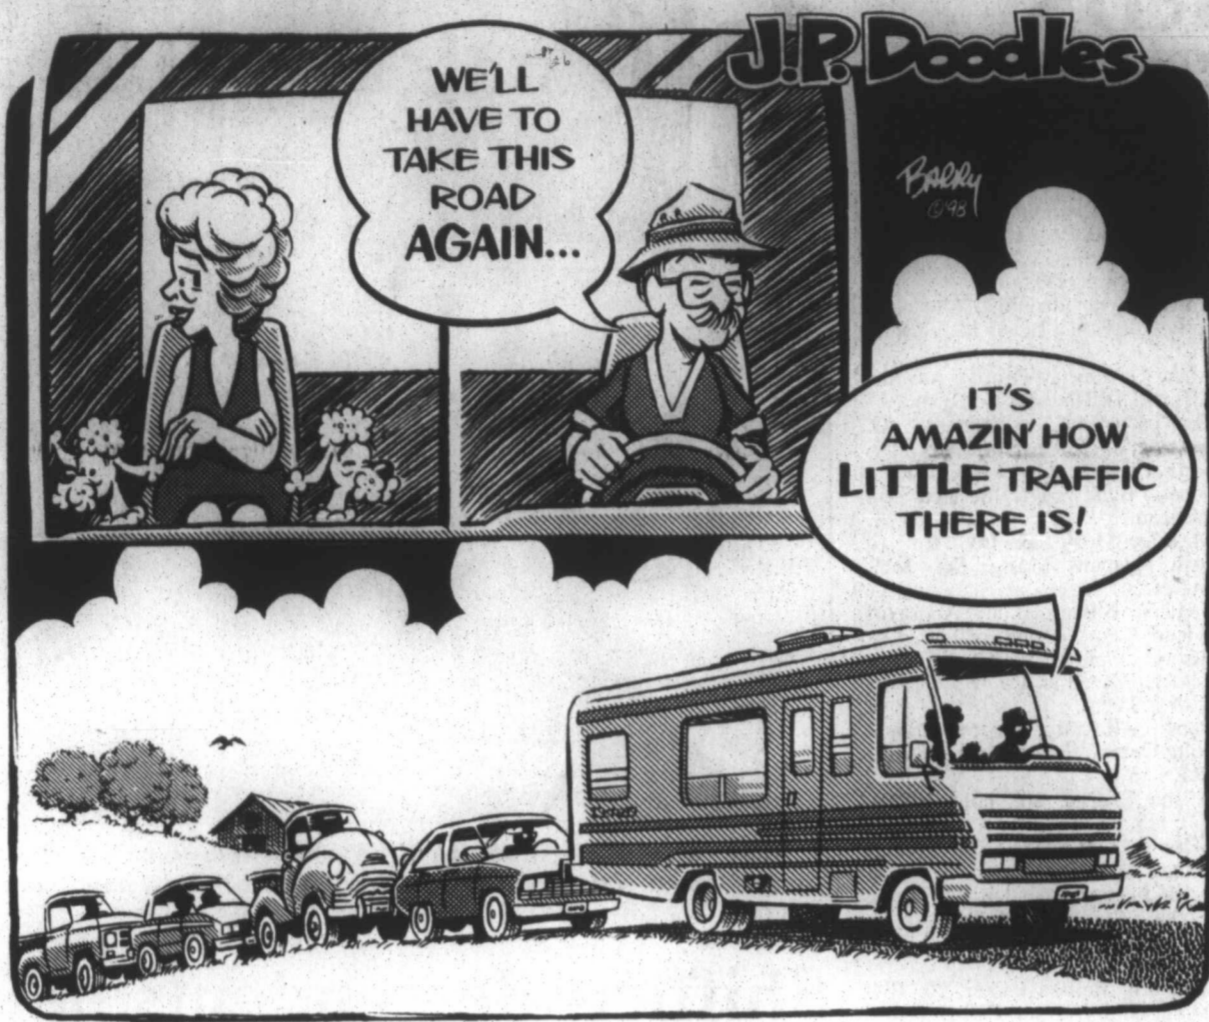

Israel will again fall under Gentile dominion during the Seven-Year Tribulation, just before Christ returns to deliver and restore Jerusalem.

In First Thessalonians 4:17, we find "caught up" (harpazomai) or "snatched away." The Greek "snatched away" is "in a twinkling of an eye" (First Corinthians 15:52).

Both the dead, Christians in the grave, and those who are still alive shall arise from the earth to meet the Lord Jesus Christ in the air and so forever be with the Lord.

"Caught up" is written in future passive form, meaning it will be in a fraction of a second, without resistance.

"Rapture" in Latin refers to the same event and to the two who have preceded us, Enoch and Elijah (Genesis 5:21-24 and Second Kings 2:10-11).

Just another new year

By Tumbleweed Smith

I started this year in a casino owned by the Ojibwe Indians in Minnesota. When the stroke of midnight came and went, nobody noticed. Everyone was busy pulling handles on slot machines or placing bets at gambling tables.

I did see two men at the coat check place shake hands and wish each other Happy New Year. Otherwise, the beginning of 1998 was very quiet.

The casino is located at Mille Lacs, Minnesota. It is owned by the Mille Lacs Band of the Ojibwe tribe. They also own another casino at Hinckley, Minnesota. The band numbers only about 100 and each member makes well over a million dollars a year from the casino revenues. Members of the band who moved away years ago are now trying to move back and prove their heritage so they can get in on the big money.

We spent most of January first at the Mall of America in Bloomington, a suburb in Minneapolis. It is the biggest mall in the world. The mall covers 78 acres and is large enough to hold 7 Yankee Stadiums or 32 Boeing 747's. It has 30,000 live plants, including 400 huge trees. It has an amusement park named Camp Snoopy in the center of it with a roller coaster, ferris wheel and other attractions. Golf Mountain is an 18 hole miniature golf course complete with 7 waterfalls.

When we were there, the mall was raffling off a 3 bedroom house that had been built in the mall. The mall, now five years old, has 400 stores on 4 floors. Twelve thousand people work there. It attracts 40 million visitors a year who spend an average of 3 hours at the mall. The mall is located just two miles from the Twin Cities airport.

We toured the Lego Imagination Center, where you can see Lego creations 8 feet tall. Then we went to Underwater World, an aquarium like no other. It is a dry journey through the sea.

Visitors tour Underwater World on a moving walkway through a well lighted acrylic tunnel beneath a lakeful of water. You can look up and around and see the undersides of live sharks, stingrays, turtles, green moray eels, lobsters, pike, walleye and dozens of other things that live in the water. Visitors are given a "Dive Guide" to identify what they are seeing.

The aquarium contains 8,000 species of underwater life found in Minnesota cold water lakes, the Mississippi River, the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean.

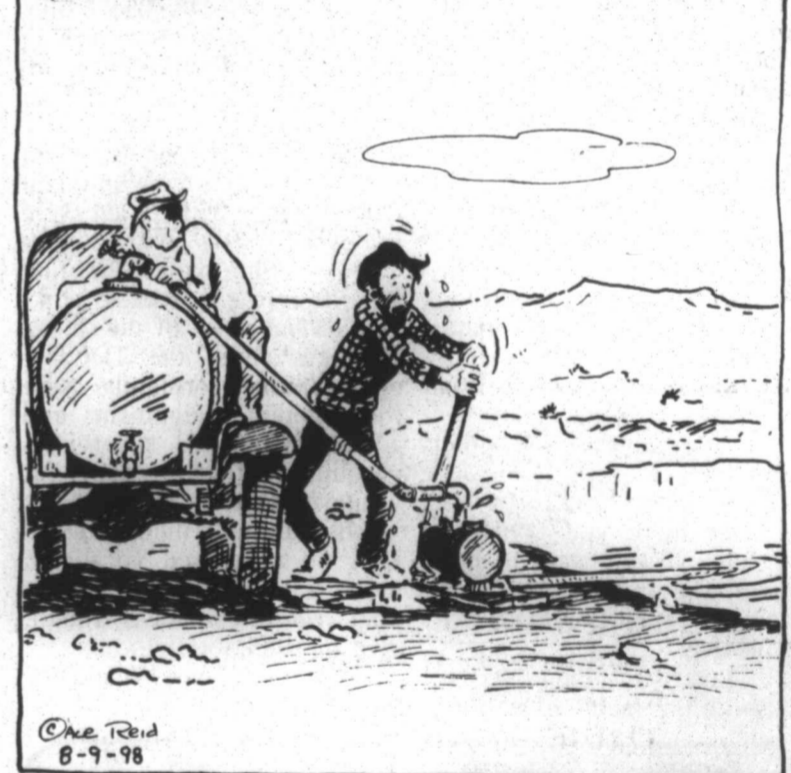

We dined at the mall's original Rainforest Cafe. When I went to make reservations, I was given a passport with the name Kookaburra written on it. At 5:34 I was told the wait would be 30 minutes. The passport contained information about the restaurant and a menu. At 6:04 on the dot, I heard the hostess announce "Kookaburra, party of 4." We sat down and experienced jungle sounds, thunder, lightning and a rain shower during the meal.

Texas had more snow than Minnesota over the holiday season. We took pictures of our Christmas snow to show our friends in the north. It was their first Brown Christmas in ten years.

I-20 signs prohibited

Eight businesses must take down signs

Eight Lake Colorado City area businesses have received notices from the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) that their Interstate 20 signs are out of compliance with state highway beautification laws and must be removed.

Rhonda Simon, co-owner of Take It E-Z Resort and Grill House Cafe, said Monday that most of the business owners were taking their signs down.

Local attorney Pat Barber, who has received a similar notice pertaining to a billboard he erected on the south side of I-20 just west of town, said he would have no comment until possibly later this week.

Barber's billboard encourages motorists who are stopped by state narcotics agents to "Just Say No" to agents' requests to search their vehicles.

Ms. Simon said TxDOT's ultimatum either to remove the signs or have them removed by the state comes at a bad time, just prior to the last big holiday of the summer season, Labor Day.

"We want people to know that just because the signs are down, that doesn't mean we're out of business out here," she said.

She said other businesses affected by the sign enforcement are the Sportsman's Club, K. C. Bar-B-Que Shack, Cooper's Cove Marine, Lakeside Lodge, Bojo's convenience store, Five Acres Marine and Lake View Camp.

"We're mom and pop, and we depend on this six months of the year to make any income," Ms. Simon said. "We'll close down after Labor Day."

"This drought killed us. If we're not getting these tourists in here, we're all going under."

TxDOT spokeswoman Mary Beth Kilgore of Abilene said

Tuesday that the eight businesses have 14 days from their receipt of the Aug. 7 letter to remove the signs from state right-of-way.

She said licenses and permits are not an issue.

Ms. Kilgore said regional newspaper and television coverage about Barber's billboard brought the other Mitchell County signs "closer to our attention" but did not affect the situation over the long term.

Referring to TxDOT sign compliance official Kristy Gardner, who wrote the letters, Ms. Kilgore said, "She was going to get around to it. She just went ahead and did it sooner."

"Our maintenance supervisor had noticed them and was getting around to it himself when this came up."

She said nine signs must be removed, including two from the Take It E-Z Resort.

Home equity loans are mushrooming

AUSTIN -- The passage of Proposition 8, the home equity lending law, last year has created a statewide "feeding frenzy" of such loans and will probably lead to proposed modifications in the January session of the Texas Legislature, a state banking official said.

Deputy Banking Commissioner Randall James told the Record last Friday that some out-of-state banking corporations have been offering loans equal to 125 percent of a homeowner's equity -- a blatant violation of the amendment's explicit limitation of 80 percent.

But Commissioner James said Attorney General Dan Morales has been refusing to intervene or answer questions about such activity because constitutional matters can only be decided by the Texas Supreme Court.

"I think we will see modifications in the future," he said. "It would really help if the Legislature felt comfortable in assigning it to a specific agency."

"Tons of questions have been coming out of this deal. Offering 125-percent loans could be bordering on deceptive advertising."

James said that under state law, a financial institution that makes a loan of more than 80 percent of equity may itself open to a default for which it has no protection.

With a 125-percent loan, for example, a borrower could default on 45 percent and simply not have to repay it, he said.

The constitutional amendment, which passed by almost 60 percent last November, requires all foreclosures to be approved by a state district judge.

"It's not a bill," James said. "There are severe penalties against a lender who violates the constitutional amendment, including loss of principal and interest. The customer doesn't have to pay."

"No state agency is charged with enforcing any aspect of it. The lenders are aware of this, and therefore some questions have arisen about enforcement."

James said he was not aware of any pending court cases pertaining to the amendment.

State Rep. Rob Junell of San Angelo, who voted against the proposed amendment, said last week that most home equity loans are being made to pay off large credit card debts.

Foreclosure on a home equity loan could result in the loss of one's home.

James said that while debt consolidation loans are theoretically sound because they reduce the total amount of monthly payments, in practice they are often ill-advised because the borrower has already displayed the inability to manage money.

"You look at it from the standpoint of how they got themselves into that position in the first place," he said.

"It can be a good idea to consolidate debts to reduce interest rates and income taxes. Hopefully, these same individuals will not find themselves continuing the increase of their consumer debt."

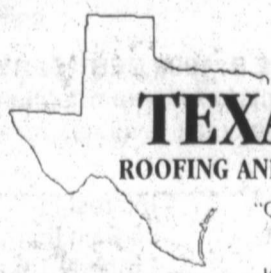

"If they go right back out and increase their consumer debt and credit card debt, they're only harming themselves. It's kind of a second chance."

HIGHWAYMEN were using their big "lay-down machine" Tuesday to put a hot-seal mix on Hickory Street as the repaving project neared completion.

Man dies in Sunday wreck; woman and baby injured

A 26-year-old Abilene man died on the way to Mitchell County Hospital after a 10:40 p.m. Sunday traffic accident west of Colorado City at the Mitchell-Howard County line.

Michael Alan Owens was eastbound on Interstate 20 in a 1998 GMC pickup truck when the vehicle went out of control and overturned, Department of Public Safety Trooper Shane Johnson said.

Owens' 23-year-old wife Teresa and a 2-year-old girl, Tracy Tucker of Abilene, sustained minor injuries and were treated and released at the hospital here.

Trooper Johnson said Owens had a major head injury.

He said none of the three occupants was wearing a seat-belt and that Owens suffered the fatal injury when he was thrown from the pickup.

The man was declared dead on arrival at the hospital after being transported by Mitchell County EMS.

In the first of three accidents in the same area in only five minutes, 53-year-old John R. Abshire of Tucson, Ariz., was eastbound in the one lane of I-20 that has been left open in the highway construction area when his 1991 Subaru overturned in the median.

Abshire was not seriously injured, but he was arrested for driving while intoxicated and was incarcerated in Mitchell County Jail on a $1,000 bond.

The third accident happened immediately after Owens' when an eastbound motorcycle rider laid his vehicle on its side and it came to a halt.

A Big Spring-based DPS trooper investigated the accident, which did not result in a serious injury, Johnson said.

because the district is already over the maximum allowable $1.50 and a bond issuance has recently been paid off.

She said a reduction in values at the TU Electric Co. plant south of here will cause tax revenues to fall by $261,000.

Merket announced that he is applying for an $88,000 grant from the Telecommunications Infrastructure Fund (TIF) to buy 26 computers and cable connections at Kelley, Hutchinson and the middle school.

Ms. Findley gained approval of a revised salary schedule to give raises to long-time clerical workers whose pay had plateaued, and a new student handbook, specifying school rules and disciplinary measures, was approved without change from the past school year.

The GM Southwest Co. of Dallas, which has been carrying students' school insurance, was awarded a $21,325 bid to continue doing so.

Octavio "Toby" Frausto of Marathon was hired as an elementary school special education teacher, and Sherri Ann Miller of New Braunfels was employed as an athletic trainer and health teacher at the high school.

The ARAMARK Co. was given a $201,646 contract to provide cafeteria services this school year -- a decrease from $223,303 based primarily on Manager John Loper's new assignment in Snyder and the assignment of a subordinate to replace him here.

ber's Aug. 4 letter demanding an apology and publication of it in area newspapers "is intimidation, the same thing he is accusing the Crime Task Force of doing out on the interstate."

Then Councilman Walt Staats moved not to draft an apology, Councilman Bob Reily seconded and the motion passed unanimously.

"It appears to me that no damage has been done," Councilman Staats said. "I don't know why Barber got so upset."

Investigator Rice replaced the bunting after Barber demanded its return. The question of why the policeman had taken the bunting was not addressed.

In a 10:30 p.m. Tuesday meeting after the council meeting ended, Barber said he will file a lawsuit against the four officials but will seek only a declaratory judgment and an injunction.

"I am not going to take a dime -- of the taxpayers' money," he told the Record in a telephone interview. "I will basically ask the court to tell them they did wrong and not to do it again."

Barber said the suit will be filed in 32nd District Court, which serves Mitchell, Nolan and Fisher counties, and said he was not ready to announce what attorney will represent him.

"Rees won't be able to make any money out of this because he will be a defendant and won't be able to bill this out at $150 an hour or whatever he charges the city," Barber said.

"I have to assume that they will be encouraged to commit other illegal acts against me that might be more difficult to defend than this one, so I feel like they've left me no choice," he said.

Other business in the 6 p.m. meeting, which lasted three hours, included approval of a report from financial officer Connie Ponko that city finances necessitate an increase in the property tax rate from 68 to 76 cents per $100 in valuation.

Ms. Ponko said a $130,000 tax note to help finance a new day center in the 1100 block of East Ninth Street is the chief cause of the increase.

The city will have a public hearing on the tax rate at 5:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 31.

Councilman Sammy Contreras, a member of the Ambulance Advisory Board, reported that Mitchell County Hospital District wants to assume complete responsibility for Mitchell County EMS now that the county commissioners court has withdrawn its support.

Rees said, however, that the 21 percent the city has been paying into the service entails ownership of that much of the equipment, which the city is legally prohibited from giving away.

Council members indicated that they want to continue the city's participation in EMS, and the mayor said the hospital board will be contacted about drawing up a new contract.

"As one county employee said, 'I just hope we don't have to call 911,'" he joked.

County Agent Vance Christie and Lone Wolf 4-H club member Mark Sheets appeared to ask the city to lease the club two to four acres of land on 15 acres it owns across the road from the city landfill north of town.

Mayor Baum and other council members indicated that they are favorable to the idea of giving 4-H Club members who do not have a place to raise animals a chance to do so, and the mayor asked Shutt to investigate the matter.

Fire Marshal Billy Ray Williamson won approval to sell a 1976 Ford three-quarter-ton truck and a "skid unit," or tank, pump and related equipment, to help finance a bigger pump and upgraded equipment on Truck No. 39, a one-ton four-wheel-drive Ford.

Pharmacist Eddie Piland's request to rezone four lots behind his 10th and Hickory Street store from residential to commercial was referred to the planning and zoning commission.

1998 PROPERTY TAX RATES IN THE CITY OF WESTBROOK

THIS NOTICE CONCERNS 1998 PROPERTY TAX RATES FOR THE CITY OF WESTBROOK.

It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's EFFECTIVE tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's ROLLBACK tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case, these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$9,718.00
Last year's debt taxes	0
Last year's total taxes	$9,718.00
Last year's tax base	$2,566,830.00
Last year's total tax rate	$3.786/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$9696.00
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$2,588,250.00
This year's effective tax rate	$3.746/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$9592.00
- This year's adjusted tax base	$2,588,250.00
= This year's effective operating rate	$3.705/$100
+ $1.08 cents = this year's maximum operating rate	$4.002/$100
+ This year's debt rate	$0/$100
= This year's rollback rate	$4.002/$100

SCHEDULE A: UNENCUMBERED FUND BALANCES

The following balances will probably be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

Type of Property Tax Fund	Balance
General Fund	$38,000.00

SCHEDULE B: 1998 DEBT SERVICE

The unit plans to pay the following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).

Description of Debt	Principal or Contract Payment To Be Paid	Interest to be Paid from Property Taxes	Other Amounts to be Paid	Total
Total required for 1998 debt service			0
- Amount (if any) paid from funds listed in Schedule A			0
- Excess collections last year			0
- State aid for facilities			0
= Total to be paid from taxes in 1998			0
+ Amount added in anticipation that the unit will collect only 100% of its taxes in 1998			0
= Total Debt Levy			0

SCHEDULE C: EXPECTED REVENUE FROM ADDITIONAL SALES TAX

In calculating its effective and rollback tax rates, the unit estimated that it will receive 0.00 in additional sales tax.

This notice contains a summary of actual effective and rollback tax rate calculations. You can inspect a copy of the full calculations at CITY HALL, 110 N. HOOPER ST., WESTBROOK, TX.

Changing your controllable risks

By Mary McMullen-CEA-FCS
Part 2 of 4 Part Series
Controllable Risks

Last week we covered uncontrollable risks factors for high blood pressure and uncontrollable risks are just that uncontrollable, so the more uncontrollable risks factors you have the more important it is for you to treat, change and control the ones you can. Here are the risk factors you can control:

1) Physical inactivity - If your physically inactive you're much more likely than an active person to develop hypertension. When you combine physical inactivity with over eating you can gain excess weight. This excess weight often leads to high blood pressure. New research has shown that doing regular moderate-intensity physical activity helps reduce your risk of high blood pressure. You can work a variety of activities into your daily routines, adding up three 10-minute or two 15-minute periods per day. For most healthy people, the American Heart Association recommends vigorous activity to condition your heart and lungs and promote cardiovascular fitness. See the chart for recommendations.

Moderate-intensity activities: walking for pleasure, gardening, yard work, housework, dancing, golf-a total of 30 minutes on most days;

Vigorous activities: brisk walking, jogging, swimming, water aerobics, tennis (singles):30 to 60 minutes, 3 to 4 times per week.

2) Obesity or overweight
If you are obese or overweight, you have a higher risk of heart disease and stroke, even if you have no other risk factors. Obesity is indirectly linked with heart disease and stroke risk mainly because it influences blood pressure, blood cholesterol and triglyceride levels, and makes diabetes more likely to develop.

Often losing as little as 10 to 20 pounds can help lower your risk for heart disease and stroke! But beware of fad diets, programs and that promise rapid weight loss. Work with your doctor and/or a registered dietitian to set up a sensible program of eating and exercise to reach and maintain a more healthful weight.

3) Cigarette or tobacco smoke

Smoking is the single greatest cause of preventable death in the United States. Women who smoke cigarettes or cigars have a higher risk of death from brain attack, heart attack and other diseases.

Constant exposure to other people's tobacco smoke-in your workplace or at home-increases our risk even if you don't smoke. The good news is that when you stop smoking-no matter how long or how much you've smoked-your body immediately begins to heal itself and your risk begins to drop.

If you don't smoke, don't start! If you do smoke, Quit Now!

4) Excessive alcohol intake
More than one drink per day raises blood pressure. One drink is defined as 1 1/2 fluid ounces (fl. oz.) or 80-proof spirits (such as bourbon, Scotch, vodka, gin etc.), 1 fl. oz. of 100-proof spirits, 4 fl. oz. of wine, or 12 fl. oz. beer.

Binge drinking can lead to stroke. It also increases calories, contributes to obesity and makes it harder to lose weight. Finally, it can increase public health dangers, such as alcoholism, suicide and accidents.

5) If you're taking the pill

Doctors have found that taking contraceptive pills is linked with high blood pressure in some women. This is more likely to happen if you are overweight, have had hypertension during pregnancy, or have a predisposing condition, such as mild kidney disease or a family history of high blood pressure. So it's a good idea to ask your doctor to measure your blood pressure before prescribing the pill and then to have your blood pressure checked every six months or so. The combination of contraceptive pills and cigarette smoking may be especially dangerous in susceptible women.

Taking oral contraceptives and smoking increases the risk of stroke many times.

If you are a woman over 35 who has not reached menopause, and you wish to use birth control, talk with your doctor about...

* your personal and family medical history
* your risk factors for heart disease and cancer
* safety and effectiveness of the various birth control methods

6) After menopause

As a woman grows older, her chances of having high blood pressure becomes greater than a man's. Although you may have had normal blood pressure most of your life, the chance of you getting high blood pressure increases considerably after menopause.

Scientists believe that the hormone estrogen, produced by a woman's body, offers some protection against heart disease and stroke before menopause. For decades millions of women have used estrogen replacement therapy (ERT) and, more recently, hormone replacement therapy (HRT) to help relieve symptoms of menopause and protect against the crippling bone disease osteoporosis. HRT is estrogen therapy combined with the natural hormone progesterone or with its synthetic form, progestin.

If you have had a natural or surgical menopause, you may be considering estrogen or hormone therapy. To help you and your doctor determine whether ERT and HRT is appropriate, you need to understand the benefits and risks.

7) Be in charge! Take responsibility for your health.

Ask healthcare providers questions ... no question is stupid. If you don't understand an answer, ask again! If your questions aren't answered satisfactorily, ask for a referral to someone who can give you a second medical opinion.

Your doctor may prescribe one or more of the many drugs available to help control high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, diabetes or other conditions. If so, keep taking your medicine exactly as directed. Talk to your doctor if you have unpleasant side effects while taking your medicine. You may need to try several kinds to find what works best for you.

8) And finally - learn to relax and find healthful ways to deal with stress. Research has yet to explain the exact role stress may play in the development of high blood pressure, heart disease and stroke. Unhealthy responses to stress may contribute to other risk factors for high blood pressure and its related diseases such as smoking, overeating and increased use of alcohol.

Next week we will cover how to control your blood pressure with your doctor's help. If you would like to have a copy of "What Every Woman Should Know About High Blood Pressure" please contact my office at 728-3111. I would be glad to mail you a copy.

By SHEILA PLAGENS

I had some good response to our new format of Cook's Corner, I hope you enjoyed it also. Remember - we will try our best to find a recipe for you or maybe you could even help us if you have a recipe for something a reader is searching for.

This week, we are including some recipes I have been asked for in the past. As you might guess, they are pretty easy, the kind I like and I'm sure you do, too. I hope you enjoy them.

Pad practice begins

Wolves come out hitting

The practice field really came to life Monday as Wolves football players put their pads on and 'got to hit somebody' during the scrimmage portion of practice.

The 'mostly new' offensive team "had their hands full dealing with a strong defensive unit," said Head Coach Gerald James. With Abel Bonilla back on the squad as linebacker, all opposing offenses should beware...he's gonna make up for lost time. Bonilla missed all of last season when he suffered a broken arm in an automobile accident.

On the offensive side of the ball, sophomore quarterback Chase Phariss "has stepped in for the injured Justin Hill and done a great job," according to James. Chase is an "exceptional athlete who knows his role and will help this team for the next three years," James said.

Senior quarterback Justin

Hill has two fractures in his right ankle and is expected to be ready in three weeks, hopefully in time for Ballinger. Hill has been working out in a cast from the knee down and still throws a strong, crisp pass. Hill was the second leading passer in class 3A last season passing for almost 3,000 yards.

The upcoming scrimmage in Breckenridge on Thursday, August 20, should be a good test for the Wolves. The Buckaroos, a 13-1 state quarterfinalist team last year, return 15 lettermen including all-state center Josh Powers. Also, district MVP quarterback Cliff Watkins returns to lead the team. Coach James says "this should be a great scrimmage for us...our seniors feel this team will be as good as ever."

JUNIORS Carlos Silva, left, and Will McAdams go head to head as the Colorado Wolves put pads back on Monday for the first time.

Pee Wee football sign-up Monday

The 1998 season of Optimist Pee Wee Football is about to be 'off and running'.

The best time for registration will be Pigskin Preview, Monday, August 17, go to the northwest entrance of Wolf Stadium to sign up your future 'hall-of famer'. The last chance to register will be Thursday, August 20, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the C.C. Thompson Room.

Tryouts will be held Saturday, August 22 at the Colorado Middle School practice field at 9 a.m.

All coaches and managers must be present at the C.C. Thompson Room on Monday, August 24 for the 'draft'. Draft order will be determined by the teams' previous season record.

On Thursday, August 27, players will be issued equipment at the CMS practice field at 6:30 p.m.

Team pictures will be taken Saturday, September 12, prior to the first game. All games will be played at Wolf Stadium with a season-ending Super Bowl to determine the champions.

Lorraine news

By Bessie Ann Vaughn

Greetings to you! Aren't you glad you don't have to get up early and start back to school?

The kids of today are too smart for me. I would be embarrassed to be in their classes.

Tiny kids would be working computers and there I would be sharpening my number two fine point pencil.

My school clothes might distract the other students as well. A Granny dress, house shoes and a shawl.

My back pack would be full of Doctors phone numbers, a heating pad, milk of magnesia, prunes and pills that I take on a daily basis.

What did you say? I can't take pills in school?

Well, what a disappointment - Maybe I can hire a first grade tutor to help me.

Back to my "Ned In The First" See Spot Run, See Spot Chase the Ball!

Billie Ruth Abernathy and several members of her family were in Lorraine last Monday doing away with house hold goods, and having a garage sale. (Her house is for sale)

As most of you know Billie Ruth has moved to La. We Miss her but want what's best for her.

Mr. & Mrs. A.B. Woodard of San Antonio visited the Dan Marshalls over the week-end.

Joe Millsap of Dallas visited with Chrystene Hall last Thursday.

Maylon and Peggy Beaty of Abilene spent time over the week-end with Elba Evans and with Earl Phillips.

Mr. & Mrs. Gregg & Robin Walker & sons from Big Springs visited with Elba Evans last week.

Pat White recently spent eight weeks in Partridge, KS helping her family with their wheat harvest.

It is a large affair and takes the help of several "Knowing Hands."

After returning home and having a short rest, she learned that she had a new grandson, so back to Partridge, KS she went, and can you blame her? I feel sure she has pictures.
 Before returning home Pat attended a family reunion with seventeen family members congregating.

Oscar Singleton spent the past week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Havins at Horse Shoe Bay.

He also spent some time touring around Fredericksburg.

Glenda Johnson is back in Lorraine after several weeks in school and having surgery on her eye. Both matters went well and we are glad to have her home.

She was back in time for Sunday Services at United Methodist Church last Sunday.

Our condolences go out to the family and friends of Paula Coffee Brock. She passed away last week.

She was cremated and a memorial service was held for her at United Methodist Church in Lorraine with Bro. James Merrell officiating.

Mr. & Mrs. Floyd Coffee, Paulas parents preceeded her in death. Paula is survived by a son.

We have concerns for Juanita Clark Stewart and Dorothy Haltom.

Bea Loamy had her family here from different parts of the country to celebrate her birthday:

Tommie Ann & George Clark from Iowa. (Sister) Pat and Steve Berry, Lubbock (Sister), David Berry, Washington, D.C. (Nephew), Roger and Rae Clark and family, San Jose', Stephanie Klies and her little boy Jack, from Kansas & Joan Kinder, Cahoma.

The visitors and the Birthday Girl enjoyed a special lunch at Mullberry Mansion at Sweetwater.

Christene Britton, Lorraine and her sister Mary Shearer from Lubbock visited with Christene's children this past week.

Jana and Troy Holloway and children live in Carrollton, Tx.

SENIOR CENTER
 Lorraine's new teachers came to the center last Monday for a meet and greet affair.

Ken Kendall Superintendent and Tanya Sorrells were with the teachers.

Teaching for the first time in Lorraine will be Scott Brewer, Jerry Miller, Anna Miller, and Ann Shannon.

August 14th we will have Mark Setser who will talk to us about Living Trust.

It was good to see the B.B. Lees back again, also Billie Ruth Abernathy.

Next Wednesday on the 12th, Aubrey Wilson Band will play.

Fire Safety will be discussed on Wed. the 19th.

On Wednesday the 26th, Birthday Party, Turkey & Dressing with Dexter & Dorothy, Gus & Charles' Birthday Dinner.

FUNNY BONES
 Little Claudes mother had reluctantly allowed her precious child to attend public school.

She gave the teacher a long list of instructions. "My Claude is so sensitive," she explained. Don't ever punish him. Just slap the boy next to him. That will frighten Claude.

A worried father visited his son in the hospital. The teenager had a broken leg, cuts and bruises.

Were you and your girl in a car wreck? "No, the boy groaned" Well, what did happen, persisted the father?"

We were just jitterbugging over at Janies house when her father walked in. He's deaf and couldn't hear the music, so he threw me out the window.

TAKE GOOD CARE AND SEE YOU AROUND TOWN!

1998 PROPERTY TAX RATES IN THE CITY OF LORRAINE

THIS NOTICE CONCERNS 1998 PROPERTY TAX RATES FOR THE CITY OF LORRAINE. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's EFFECTIVE tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's ROLLBACK tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case, these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$58,617.71
Last year's debt taxes	$5,794.46
Last year's total taxes	$64,412.18
Last year's tax base	$6,253,610.00
Last year's total tax rate	$1.0300/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$64,183.00
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$6,139,095.00
This year's effective tax rate	$1.0454/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$58,406.00
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$6,139,095.00
= This year's effective operating rate	$.9513/$100
x $1.08 cents = this year's maximum operating rate	$1.0274/$100
+ This year's debt rate	$0.9000/$100
= This year's rollback rate	$1.1174/$100
