

Elm Creek Watershed, RC&D Will Be Sought

Salt Fork Soil Conservation District will push two projects that, with the backing of the people of Collingsworth County could give the economic shot in the arm this area has sought for two decades.

Both are multi-county projects. Following a meeting of the board of supervisors Tuesday night, June 18, Gary Reed, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, announced:

—The district will make application for approval for planning of Collingsworth County for Resource Conservation and Development Projects (RC&D). At this point, it is indicated that Hall and Wheeler counties will go into the project with Collingsworth. There may be other counties.

—Work is under way on an application under Public Law 566 for an Elm Creek Watershed. Wheeler County is working jointly with Collingsworth on this project and Gray County is co-operating. This watershed project is in Texas only, Mr. Reed emphasized.

"This is not our program, it's the people's program," he continued. "We'll help carry it out but it will depend on the people."

"We're about ready to sign the application for the Elm Creek Watershed," he continued.

This will propose a series of dams along that stream, which flows through most of the north part of the county. The number of dams and their location would be determined later when the planning stage is reached.

The Wheeler County Commissioners' Court has voted to be a co-sponsor in this project, said Reed.

The Collingsworth County Commissioners' Court is interested in both the RC&D project and the Elm Creek Watershed.

Within a few days, Collingsworth County civic clubs will receive from the Salt Fork SCD information on the RC&D projects and a request for suggestions of projects they believe this county needs. These will go into the application when it is made.

"Like a lot of other things this is going to take more time than we first thought, because we want to do a little more planning," Mr. Reed continued.

This is the outgrowth of an RC&D educational meeting held in Wellington earlier and attended by representatives of Soil Conservation Districts and counties that included Wheeler, Hall, Donley, and Gray.

This would be a multi-county project, he reminded, and at this time, Shamrock is more encouraged than anyone else.

To Praise America

Patriotic Sing-Out Planned for July 2

Collingsworth will sing out for America Tuesday night, July 2, in a program whose only purpose is praise of democracy and patriotism.

Plans for the county-wide community sing are being developed by Dr. Chas. B. Jones.

The event will be in Ellison Park at 7:30 p.m. Those attending will bring their blankets or chairs and sit under the trees. In event of rain, it will be in Bura Handley Community Center.

It is the people themselves who will sing, and their songs will be both old and new. Dr. Jones stressed. But all the songs will be those by which every era has voiced its praise of the nation.

Several high school musical groups will perform, bringing youth's feelings of patriotism. Complete details of the program will be announced next week, Dr. Jones said.

Ralph Lewis Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Harold Watkins was notified Tuesday, June 18 that her brother, Ralph Lewis, died presumably of a heart attack about 30 miles out of Williams, Ariz.

He and Mrs. Lewis were returning to their home at Camden, Ark., after a vacation at Las Vegas, Nev. They visited in Wellington last week.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Mr. Lewis is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lewis. He grew up here, graduated from Wellington High School and attended Notre Dame University.

He left Wellington about 35 years ago and was employed by International Paper Company at Camden.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Kay Lewis; three sons, Gene, Allen and Dan; and two sisters, Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Joe Shields of Amarillo.

Organization Continues

First Game of Summer Youth Baseball Season Set Monday

First games in the summer youth baseball competition are due to be played Monday night June 24, Paul Guthrie, chairman, has announced.

Organization of the baseball program is still under way, and although part of the age groups have been divided into teams, names have not been selected. The playing schedule is being worked out this week.

Approximately 120 Collingsworth County boys are playing in teams on five age levels.

The Monday night double-header will be played at Mari-an Airpark Baseball Diamond, which has undergone extensive improvement this spring. Playing time is 7 p.m. That will be the home field for all teams except the youngest, boys 6 and 7 years old, who will play this year at Ellison Park, Mr. Guthrie said.

The following teams by age divisions were announced:

—There will be two teams of boys 6 and 7 years old. Donald Settle heads the coaching staff, assisted by Paul Hawkins and Dan Guthrie.

—Two or three teams of boys 8 through 10 years, coached by Doyle Brown, B. M. Sims, Willie Gragson, Olan Lowe and Cal Hurst.

—Two teams of players 11 through 13 years old, with Jack Neeley, Raymond Hodges and Harold Gattis as coaches.

County's Wheat Crop 85 Percent Harvested

Approximately 303,000 bushels of 1968 wheat have been delivered at Wellington and Dodson, and buyers estimate the crop is about 85 percent harvested in the county as a whole.

Practically all the crop should be in by the end of the week if good weather continues, they believe.

The better wheat south and southeast of Wellington is yielding from 28 to 30 bushels per acre. Most growers are satisfied with their yields except those in areas where grain was damaged by hail, it is indicated.

All of the wheat now being delivered is No. 1 and is "all very dry."

The crop is estimated at about 98 percent harvested in the Dodson area, where a near normal crop is reported.

Yields range from 18 to 25 and 27 bushels per acre.

The crop is estimated vari-ously from 70 to 85 percent out in the Wellington area and on north.

On the whole, the crop will be shorter than was anticipated earlier in the season due to hail that has struck in various parts of the county much more frequently than in some recent years.

Even so, a county-wide yield of 15 to 18 bushels is expected, buyers say.

Silver Tea Open to Public

Sagebrush Corral Opens Sun. Afternoon in Highway 83 Site

Sagebrush Corral opens this week in a home of its own—Wellington's first gallery to exhibit the works of local artists and craftsmen on a permanent basis.

It is backed by the Sagebrush Arts and Crafts Association, headed by Mrs. Hubert Bowen.

The new Corral is located in one of the choice locations on Highway 83, the house belonging to the Cudd estate, two doors north of Corky's Flower and Gift Shop.

"This is convenient for our local people, but it is also in a spot to catch the eye of travelers passing through on Highway 83," Mrs. Bowen said.

In observance of the opening, a silver tea will be held Sunday, June 23, from 2 to 6 p.m. and the public is invited.

Works of several out of town guest artists will be on display for the tea, and paintings and crafts of approximately 20 members of the Sagebrush Arts and Crafts Association will be shown.

The public is urged to attend.

The new home of the Sagebrush Corral has been redecorated to fit the needs of the Association. Two rooms will be used for exhibits, a third for crafts and the other as an office, Mrs. Bowen said.

The Sagebrush Corral will be open each week day from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and on Sundays from 1 to 9 p.m.

After Sunday, everything exhibited will be for sale.

Mrs. Earl Hunter, Mrs. Celia Meadors and Mrs. Bowen are general chairmen of the tea; Mrs. Clyde Drake heads the registration committee; Miss Bonnie Willis, reception committee; and Mrs. Meadors and Mrs. Weldon Cleveland Jr., will serve.

"We are quite pleased with the big step we have taken, but the townspeople will have to get behind Sagebrush Corral if we are to make it succeed," Mrs. Bowen emphasized. "We can start it, but we can't keep it going."

Paintings will be in all mediums, and there will be quite a few crafts, those working with the Corral said.

Each week two or three members will exhibit any works they wish on a wall set aside for the purpose. These also may invite a friend who is not a member of the Association to share the wall for that period.

Whether Sagebrush Corral becomes a part of Wellington's life or closes at the end of the summer will depend on its ability to be self supporting. A fee of 25 percent is charged for paintings and crafts sold from its exhibits.

Mision Bautista Vacation Bible School Planned

Vacation Bible School for the children of the Mount Sinai Mision Bautista will begin Monday, June 24. It will be each morning from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Along with a few of the young people from the First Baptist Church, there will be two college men here to assist in the Bible school. They are Gary Clements of Brownsville and Dave Wasters of Pasadena.

The Vacation Bible School Commencement will be Friday night, June 28 at 8 p.m.

Grain Sorghum Loan Rate Set at $1.67

The price-support loan and purchase rate for 1968 crop grain sorghum in Collingsworth County will be $1.67 per hundredweight, Tom Birchfield, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced. This compares with the county loan rate of $1.60 for the 1967 crop. The rate schedule is for grain sorghum grading No. 2 or better, except mixed grain sorghum.

The national average loan rate is unchanged from the 1967 level of $1.61 per hundredweight, but extensive changes in export rail freight rates throughout the major grain sorghum-producing area have required widespread changes in terminal and county loan rates. The effect of these freight changes is to reduce terminal rates by 4 cents per 100.

The chairman reminded the growers that price support on the 1968 crop will be available to those grain sorghum producers who participate in the 1968 feed grain program. Total support for 1968-crop grain sorghum includes the loan rate and a price-support payment of 53¢ per 100 for the 1968 crop, the same as for last year. The loan rate varies by terminals and counties; the price-support payment is the same for all participating farms — it applies to the projected yield of the acreage planted to the crop up to 50% of the total feed grain base acreage.

For major producing areas, as in the past, the county loan rates reflect terminal loan rates less the freight and handling charges needed to get grain sorghum to terminal markets. To determine rates for individual producers, rates will be adjusted by discounts for class, grade and quality. The discount schedule is unchanged from that in effect for the 1967 program.

Farmers who wish to know the terminal or other county rates for their area may obtain them from the ASCS county office.

Open Prairie Chicken Season Proposed Here

An open prairie chicken season of two days is being recommended to the State Parks and Wildlife Department for Collingsworth County, along with a later deer and turkey season.

This was reported by Dick Dearnment of Wheeler, biologist for the department, and Weldon Fromm of Amarillo, hearing officer in Wellington Wednesday, June 12.

The two came here to conduct a hearing on proposed changes in the game and fish regulations, but no one appeared at the 10 a.m. hour set, although legal notice had been given.

These and other changes that do not concern this county are proposed for the Panhandle Regulatory District and will be acted on by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission at its July meeting.

This county's first open prairie chicken season since hunting that of native bird was halted many years ago, is proposed to begin Wednesday, Oct. 2, and be two consecutive days. This would eliminate the surge of hunters on a week end. The bag limit would be two chickens and these must be taken to a P&WD check station at Higgins, Allison, Wheeler, McLean or Booker, Mr. Fromm said.

Last year there was an open season in Hemphill, Lipscomb and Wheeler counties. This year counties bordering on those three were added, and include Collingsworth, Donley, Gray, Ochiltree and Roberts.

The 1968 deer and turkey season is proposed to begin Nov. 30 and run 16 consecutive days. By this time the deer will be moving about more and should give better hunting, Mr. Dearnment said.

The Texas Game and Wildlife biologist said the potential for game in this area looks good. "We'll have a wonderful quail crop if it's not rained out or dried out," he remarked.

Although hatching has begun, the peak of the quail hatch will come about July 8.

E. D. Godbey Dies at Pecos

Elmer Dale Godbey, 77, the brother of four county residents, died May 30 at Pecos, where he had lived about 15 years.

He was born at Thurman Nov. 23, 1890, and was married to Miss Virginia Britton at Odell in 1914.

He had visited his family here many times.

Funeral services were held at Pecos. Attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Godbey, Mr. and Mrs. Clubb, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan.

Three other sisters survive, Mrs. T. E. Barton of El Paso, Mrs. Joe Rogers of LaMont, Calif., and Mrs. Ethel Britton of Odell; along with his wife, Mrs. Virginia Godbey of Pecos; two sons, Dale Godbey of Pecos and Marvin Godbey of Austin; seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Swimming Pool Attendance Up

Good attendance during much of the day at Marian Airpark Pool is reported by James Larson, manager. Dirt blown in by the recent sandstorms is now cleaned out, he added.

Mr. Larson and his son, Jamie, are the life guards and Miss Vickie Bergvall and Sammie Hicks are employed at the pool.

Swimming lessons are planned tentatively for late July, and plans for these will be announced later.

The pool opens each day at 2 p.m. and the closing time depends on attendance.

The pool is not open on Friday nights this year due to lack of interest for several seasons. However, if interest and support should grow, the pool will be reopened at that time, Mr. Larson said.

Officers and Boy Scouts of Troop 31, sponsored by the Wellington Jaycees, returned home Saturday, June 16 from their summer camp near Mo-bettie. All returned safely but very tired after a strenuous and exciting week in the new camp.

Accompanying the boys were Roy Jeffrey, Scoutmaster, and Gus Allen, retired Scoutmaster and advisor.

The Scouts were very successful in their trials and tests for various merit badges and honors. Among those who will receive recognition at a Court of Honor to be held soon were:

For swimming one mile and for marksmanship: Cecil Parker, Alton Belew and Eric Thomas.

The high honor of Order of the Arrow, and for marksmanship: Robin Maddox.

For advanced swimming and marksmanship: Jacob Green, Ray Jeffrey and Pat Thomas.

For compass, nature, marksmanship, rope-yard, pioneering, and second class badge: Mike Cummings.

Joe Porter received the honors for axeman, nature, rope-yard, pioneering, and second class badge.

For nature, pioneering, axeman, rope-yard and swimming: Andrew Henderson.

Eric and Pat Thomas will be promoted to First and Second class Scout respectively.

All in all, a very excellent performance by the boys of Troop 31 in their new Adobe Walls Council camp this summer.

They will continue to meet during the summer months on Mondays at the Armory or the Jaycees hall, under the leadership of Roy Jeffrey, Gus Allen and Father Pat Burke, their athletic director and reporter.

Mrs. Mickey Carter

Nancy Holton, Mickey Carter are Married in Amarillo Ceremony June 2

Miss Nancy Bess Holton and Mickey Wiley Carter were married in a double ring ceremony performed in San Jacinto Methodist Church in Amarillo Tuesday, June 4, at two in the afternoon.

The Rev. Woodrow J. Adcock, pastor, officiated. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Holton, 1616 El Paso, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Carter, Jr., 1102 West Avenue.

Baskets of gladiolas decorated the altar before which the vows were spoken. The bride wore a white crepe three-piece suit with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

The couple's attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fires, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom. She wore a street-length dress of blue crepe, designed with long sleeves, with a white collar and cuffs as accents. Her flowers were a white carnation corsage.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple left on a wedding trip to Santa Fe and Raton, New Mexico.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Carter were graduated from high school in Wellington. She attended West Texas State University, Canyon, and International Academy in Oklahoma.

Eastern Star Meets June 11

The Wellington Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star held its first meeting of its new year Tuesday evening, June 11.

Mrs. Sam White was installed as organist for the coming year and Mrs. Elzie White, the junior past matron, gave the annual report.

Mrs. Jack Davis, worthy matron, presided.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis, Mrs. Ola Parker, Mrs. Dorothy Parker, Mrs. Ruby Ball, Mrs. Jennie Holcomb, Mrs. Mayme Somerville, Mrs. Ben Hurst, Mrs. George Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Land, Mrs. Elzie White, Mrs. Nora Parker, and Mrs. Sam White.

The hostesses were Mrs. E. F. Bartlett and Mrs. Bryan Denley.

Jimmy Marks, a student of Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, spent the week end with Miss Nancy Sanford and her family. Being secretary of the Midwestern student body, Miss Sanford returned to Wichita Falls with Jimmy to work on some material for the school. Miss Sanford's brother, Bob, will be visiting in Wichita Falls this week and will bring her home.

Mrs. Jerry Kirby of Littlefield visited several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Forbis. She will be remembered here as Wilma Ruth Forbis.

the fruit in syrup, sprinkle dissolved ascorbic acid over fruit just before adding sugar. Use ½ teaspoon in ½ cup cold water to each quart of fruit.

Some special commercial anti-darkening preparations are on the market. These materials can be found at drug stores or where other freezing supplies are sold.

Most fruits have better texture and flavor if packed in sugar or syrup. Some may be packed without sweetening for use in special diets.

The way you plan to use fruit determines the method of packing it. Fruit packed in a syrup generally is better for dessert use; fruit packed in dry sugar or unsweetened is better for most cooking because there is less liquid in the products.

Quickly getting vegetables from the garden to the freezer is a must for top-quality frozen vegetables. During hot weather, harvest vegetables in the early morning before they absorb much heat.

Vegetables at optimum maturity will have best flavor and texture.

If you must store vegetables before freezing, spread them out loosely in a cool, well ventilated place or packing loosely in the refrigerator.

Prepare vegetables for freezing similar to cooking them. Wash thoroughly in cold water, drain and sort; peel, trim and cut.

Blanche the vegetable in boiling water. Head leafy greens for two minutes, the time varies with the vegetable.

This kills enzyme action in the product. Enzymes help the plants grow and mature but if not deactivated the vegetables will develop off-flavors and often discolor or toughen during freezing.

After the vegetables have been heated, cooled and drained, pack in airtight moisture-vapor-proof containers, leaving ½ inch headspace. Seal according to type of container you use.

Cook all vegetables in the frozen state, except corn-on-the-cob, which should be partially defrosted. Cook them only until tender in a small amount of water. If you would like to have a free bulletin on freezing, contact my office.

Mason Jars

Many of you may have read a recent article on mason jars by Ralph and Terry Kovel. It is very interesting, especially to those of you that still have some old glass jars in your cellars and cupboards. In my grandmothers' day fruits and vegetables were "put up" in glass jars to feed the family during the long winter months. Today these same jars are "collected" by people who enjoy old things.

In 1810 the theory that food could be preserved through sterilization was developed, but it was not until Nov. 30, 1858 that John Mason patented his screw-cap glass jar with the air-tight zinc cap. Other jars quickly followed. Boyd's porcelain lined cap in 1869 and the "lightning" type clamped lid jar in 1882.

Most early jars were shades of green and blue with tiny flaws and bubbles in the glass. Amber jars date from the last half of the 19th century to about 1917. The first colorless glass jars did not become standard until the 1930s, when they discontinued the blue and green jars. Over the years many manufacturers have made Mason jars. There are at least 122 different styles. The old jars have a small neck opening and the ones made before 1904 have the words "Mason's Patent November 30, 1858" raised in the glass. On these older jars the bottoms have a rough scar and the top has a rough cut lips.

Prices on these old jars range from 50 cents to, for rare jars, $10 or more. A matched set makes very nice canisters for kitchen staples.

Freezing Fruits and Vegetables

Frozen fruits and vegetables spice year round menus with garden-fresh flavor. But the nutritive value and quality of these fruits and vegetables depend largely on the treatment before freezing, storage temperature and method of cooking and serving.

Most fruit can be frozen satisfactorily.

In general, fruit is prepared for freezing as for eating.

Keep fruit cool until it is frozen. Wash it in cold water but do not allow it to stand in the water. Some fruit loses food value and flavor and some gets water soaked.

Some fruits, such as peaches, apricots, apples and pears, discolor easily.

Use ascorbic acid (vitamin C) which is available in tablet, crystalline or powdered form to prevent discoloration. Use ½ teaspoon of this per quart of syrup.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cason Honored at Reception of Golden Wedding

Friends honored Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cason on their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, June 9 at a reception held in their home, 1211 East Avenue.

The hostesses were her sisters and included Mrs. R. W. Scales of Memphis, Mrs. Hazel South of Lawton, who was unable to attend, Miss Millie Land, Miss Ellen Fay Land, Mrs. Johnny Hill and Mrs. Margie Bailey of Hedley.

A high point of the celebration, and one that is unusual at a golden wedding, was the presence of eleven members of the family who also attended their wedding.

The reception table was laid with a net cloth over gold and white chrysanthemums in a gold bowl formed the centerpiece. Punch was ladeled from a crystal and gold bowl. Presiding were Miss Ellen Fay

Land and Mrs. Hill. Guests were registered by Mrs. Jean Stavenhagen of Amarillo.

Prior to the reception, members of the family coming from out of town were honored at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Land, the brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Cason.

Three of his brothers were here, Lawrence Cason and Sam Cason of Big Spring, and Claude Cason of Plainview. In addition to her sisters who gave the reception, five brothers of Mrs. Cason attended, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Land and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Land of Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Land, Mr. and Mrs. Jiggs Land of Perryton, and Mr. and Mrs. Zebbie Land of Pampa.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Cason are natives of the county, and upon coming here with their families, lived in the Buck Creek community and attended school there.

Mr. Cason—Clarence to his friends—was born in Alabama, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cason, who arrived here about 1910. The Land family came to Tell in 1916, and after a few years moved to Hedley, where Mr. Cason was married to the former Vivian Land on June 1, 1918.

The couple has no children. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cason are members of the Baptist Church and he was ordained a deacon at Bean Hill a number of years ago. They also belong to the Eastern Star, in which he is a past Worthy Patron and he is also a past Worshipful Master of the Masonic Lodge.

With the exception of a few years when they lived at Hedley, Mr. and Mrs. Cason have made their home in the Wellington area. Two years ago they left their farm two miles east and one and a half north of Wellington and moved into their present home at 1311 East Avenue.

Miss Judy Ann Finell and Bobby Dale Barnett were married Sunday, June 16, in a ceremony performed in the rose garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde R. Nelson, 1104 SW 65th Street, Oklahoma City. The Rev. Lester L. Hall officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moon of Oklahoma City and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Barnett of Wellington.

The wedding party stood before a white altar entwined with foliage and red and pink roses. Traditional wedding music was played softly through the ceremony.

The bride wore a pale pink A-line dress of Chantilly lace, styled with a rounded neckline and wrist length bell sleeves. A tiny veil was attached to a white Dior bow. She carried a bouquet of white carnations atop a white Bible.

Miss Donna Chaloupek was the maid of honor. She wore a red voile dress with a rounded neck and raised beited waist line.

The best man was Clyde R. Nelson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and the ushers were his twin brothers, Jackie Barnett and Donnie Barnett. After the wedding a reception held on the patio honored the couple.

The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth and appointed in crystal and silver. Her bouquet was the centerpiece.

Guests were served by Mrs. J. H. Henderson and Mrs. Dub Raper of Oklahoma City. Miss Penny Henderson, also of Oklahoma City, registered the guests.

4-H Girls Briefed on Fashions, Materials for Coming Dress Revue

Collingsworth County girls who will enter the 4-H Club Dress Revue later in the summer were briefed on fashions and patterns Tuesday morning, June 18.

The girls from all clubs were brought together to get acquainted and a recreation period was directed by Mrs. Emmitt Cook and Mrs. Kyle Lindley.

Ruffles and the romantic look with lots of gathered skirts, will be popular, Mrs. Leta Hill, home demonstration agent, told the girls as she discussed late summer and fall styles.

The three hemlines they will see are just above the knee, just below the knee, and mid-calf. The just-below-the-knee (a new one for teen agers) is looking back to the 1950s, Mrs. Hill remarked.

In shoes, they'll see boxy heels and square toes, and with them the girls will be wearing lots of colored hose. Mrs. Hill had a complete outfit—dress, shoes and hose—to illustrate the total look.

The county agent also demonstrated a new product on the market, "Wonder Under", a webbing-type adhesive to hold appliques, trims, collars, facings and mending. It comes on a brown-paper type backing, which is ironed on the garment. The paper is then peeled off but the adhesive remains.

Girls attending the workshop were Kay Coffee, Sonya Scott, Kimberly Goforth, Linda Coffee, Kathy Patterson, Pamela Marsh.

LaDonna Jones, Kathy Guthrie, Carol Sue Burba, Betty Burba, Becky Burba, Beth Peters, Della Shumate, Nancy Teutsch, Ronnie Vann.

Sheri White, Peggy Walker, Pat Segura, Molly Martinez, Rebecca Ann Graves, Jayne Ann Morgan, and Susan Peters. Adult leaders attending were Mrs. Loyd Langley, Mrs. Truitt Holland, Mrs. J. M. Morgan, Mrs. John Coffee and Miss Susan Coffee.

Seafood Brochure Available Now

AUSTIN.—The title of the brochure is "Texas Seafood Recipes," but that doesn't tell the story.

The little foldout, compiled by the Seafood Marketing Section of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, has recipes all right, but the main attraction is the wealth of information on nutritive values, storage, cooking, and variety of fish.

There is information on how to thaw fish, and how to tell a good fish from a bad fish.

From the brochure, housewives may learn how much to buy for a serving and how to tell a fat fish from a lean fish. Seafood Marketing Specialist Bill Schwartz says the recipes included combine ease of preparation and variety.

Recipes include: Baked Flounder in Wine Sauce, Charcoal Broiled Red Snapper, Texas Fried Catfish, Baked Red Snapper, Flounder with Crab Stuffing, Galveston Gumbo, Shrimp Creole, Shrimp Pizza, Southern Curried Shrimp, Gulf Coast Oyster Stew, Baked Oysters on the Half Shell, and Crab Cakes.

Sauces were not forgotten. There are recipes for Sour Cream Stuffing, Crab Stuffing, and Hot Marmalade Soy Dip, included in the brochure.

"Texas Seafood Recipes" may be obtained by writing Texas Seafood Recipes, Seafood Marketing Section, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

Gun Ownership

The shooting of Senator Kennedy has generated national emotional outburst against gun ownership and there are renewed demands that gun control laws be quickly passed so as to end any more threat of assassination of public figures in this country.

Some Congressmen are calling for a total, absolute, surrender of all guns of all types. We listened to one fellow on radio the other night with a plan for all guns to be turned in at local police stations. When a hunter wished to go hunting, he would go to the police station and draw out his gun and the required rounds of ammunition, filling out a form stating where he was going, how long he would be gone, etc. When he got back he would turn in his gun and unused ammunition, then fill out another form reporting what use he had made of his gun.

This sounds more like Russia or Germany under a dictatorship and we can't believe that the American people will stand for such a program.

It has long been the contention of organizations such as the National Rifle Association that the U.S. Constitution guarantees the people of this nation the right to own firearms. The Supreme Court, apparently clearing the air and hoping for a chance to hear a case on this question, has indicated that this right applies only to "state militia" or organized troops and not individual citizens.

Be that as it may. The right to own a gun is fundamental to American heritage and tradition and we don't believe that they will give it up without a struggle.

We already have laws prohibiting the unlawful use of guns. The gun, used in robbery or assault or murder, is incidental to the act itself, not the cause of it.

And the way things have drifted toward anarchy, more and more Americans who don't own a gun have bought one or are thinking about it.

Our Land of Lost Lakes

A recent resident of Amarillo, in a letter to the editor of the Amarillo newspaper a few days ago, had some pointed remarks to make about our public recreational areas in the Texas Panhandle, including our own Lake Marvin, and some unflattering comparisons to make with similar areas in Oklahoma . . . and before we rise up in parochial pride to throw the Okie out, we'd better heed what he has to say because it's true.

The writer is B. J. Graham of Amarillo, and his remarks need no amplification:

"We have just come here from Oklahoma, where the recreational facilities, even at the smaller lakes, are outstanding, and we are appalled at the condition of the few available areas here.

"Your Buffalo Lake, undeveloped, un-cared for; Lake Meredith, barren, tree-less, frightening; Lake McClellan, with its beautiful old trees, filthy shorelines, ungraded roads, camp areas closed to all but picnickers or tent campers; Palo Duro Canyon, while making an effort seems swamped by mismanagement . . . water faucets every 50 feet in some areas, none at all in others; a dozen tables and benches in a row, unclean odorous rest rooms; . . . poor little Lake Marvin doesn't seem to have a chance.

"Hasn't anyone with authority here ever visited such places as Draper Lake, Roman Nose, Keystone, Lake Lugart, Canyon Reservoir, Tenkiller . . . even little Ft. Cobb Lake? Please do . . . this dry tree-less region needs all its beauty spots and needs them developed, planted, clean and cared-for."

POISED AND READY are these Hawk missiles silhouetted against the sky at North American Air Defense Command, Colorado Springs, Colo. The Hawks carry conventional warheads and are specialists in bringing down low-altitude targets.

AUSTIN.—This is a crucial week for the special session of the Legislature which, as expected, neared the half-way mark without coming to grips with any major assignments.

House members were due to face up to Gov. John Connally's "small bottle" liquor-by-the-drink bill early in the week, followed closely by a vote on a $2,500,000,000 budget for 1969 state governmental operations.

The mini-bottle liquor bill was voted out of the House State Affairs Committee, but only after one of the most confusing bouts of legislative in-fighting in history.

Two "wets" held critical positions. They voted for the bill on the second day of the committee debate after opposing it throughout the preceding day.

First, Rep. James Clark of Dallas captured the spotlight when he switched his vote from pro to con during the initial day's debates. Clark had offered amendments to the bill that were defeated by the committee.

Then, late in the afternoon, Clark started voting with the "drys", saying the legislation was an impossible "hodgepodge of legal gobbledegook."

But the next morning Clark voted for the bill, as did another "wet" opponent, Rep. Jake Jackson of San Antonio. Both men indicated they had received assurances from the authors of the bill that their amendments would be given favorable consideration on the floor of the House if they would just help get the bill out of committee.

Clark and Johnson both want liquor-by-the-jigger legislation instead of liquor in two ounce mini-bottles as provided in the governor's bill. But they said they would go along with the little bottles if they could secure certain other changes in the law.

They want at least three provisions added:

1. An amendment to outlaw the practice of legislators representing clients in cases before the Texas Liquor Control Board.

2. A provision doubling the license fees for persons selling liquor and beer.

3. A provision requiring complete financial disclosure by holders of beer and liquor licenses. This is aimed at stopping the practice of juke box operators making loans to tavern operators at high interest rates.

With these assurances from the bill's authors, Clark and Johnson would seem to be in a strong position to make their demands be met but margin on the House floor appears very close, and the Senate even closer.

In case of failure of the governor's tax proposals, tied largely to a raise in the sales tax rate to three percent with 75 percent of the new income refunded to incorporated cities on basis of their populations—lawmakers may turn to a straight increase in the sales tax without refund provisions. Both the governor's bill ($127,200,000 a year total taxes) and the straight sales tax raise ($150,000,000 annual yield) were reviewed by the House Revenue and Tax Committee and sent to sub-committee.

State Conventions

Two Texans will go to the national political conventions as favorite son candidates for president—Governor John Connally for the Democrats and Sen. John Tower for the Republicans.

Both won their honors overwhelmingly in state party conventions.

Both also are being mentioned prominently as prospective candidates for vice presidential nomination, although they deny they seek or expect places on the national ticket.

Connally and the moderate-conservatives proved they still are in firm control of the State Democratic party machinery when they crushed liberal opponents 2,835 to 499 on the favorite son resolution at their state meeting in Dallas.

All 104 Texas delegates to the Democratic convention in Chicago, Aug. 26, are bound to support Connally under the unit rule until he releases them — which is expected to be early — in favor of Vice President Hubert Humphrey. It is doubtful there are any supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy on the delegation.

Republicans shouted four-to-one approval of the Tower favorite son resolution, and instructed their 56 delegates to Miami Beach for the Aug. 5-8 national GOP convention to back him "until released after consultation" among the group.

While most of the Republican delegation is believed to favor Richard Nixon for the presidential nomination, an estimate

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the Supreme Court has ruled that a jury is stacked against a defendant and it's not opinion-integrated with representatives of all different social viewpoints among his peers.

Like a death penalty for murder is void unless at least one member of the jury is picked from among conscientious objectors to legal executions.

Hereafter, a jury of all law-abiding citizens may be considered prejudiced against a law-breaker. On a horse stealing charge, the jury will probably have to include a horse thief, and the verdict in a rape case may be illegal if there is no rapist on the jury. D. E. SCOTT.

ed 12 to 16 prefer California Gov. Ronald Reagan. Reagan boosters, catching the majority by surprise at the Corpus Christi convention, forced through a resolution commending the act-turned-governor on his administration and his "constructive influence on national affairs", and urging him to take a more active role in national GOP politics. There were no backers of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller among the Texas delegates.

Texas Democratic leaders polled in Dallas acknowledged a race between Nixon and Humphrey would be too close for comfort.

Tuition Hike Pushed

Top state college executives and governing board members are pushing hard for doubling the $50 per semester tuition fee at colleges and universities.

Committee of State College and University Governing Boards and Council of Presidents of State Colleges and Universities by resolution and public statements have jointly endorsed the increase. They claim revenue is urgently needed to close the $21,400,000 gap between higher education requirements in seven areas (such as teaching salaries and library needs) and funds foreseeable.

Tuition boost to $100 per semester would bring in $20,000,000 a year in new revenue. Liberal legislators already are tuning up for a fight against the raise. Tuitions have remained unchanged since 1957.

State Pay

Members of the Attorney General's staff are meticulously studying a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision which requires states to pay the federal minimum wage at state schools and hospitals.

State of Texas currently is paying the minimum wage, but requirements for paying overtime could call for $14,000,000 more in state expenditures.

Phone Tax

Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado assailed Gov. Connally's recommended tax reduction for telephone companies as the "most indefensible special interest proposal brought before the Legislature in years."

Patman's objection centers on the fact that the Governor is asking at the same time for tax increases, through the sales tax, from other businesses.

Ranchers Should Learn Feeder Steer Grades

All cattlemen, whether large or small operators, should familiarize themselves with the new U.S. Department of Agriculture feeder steer grades, advises County Agent Sammy Helmers.

The rapid growth of commercial feed lots in Texas means increasing opportunities for producers to market their calves direct to the feeder. In order to bargain effectively, cattlemen must understand how to grade feeder animals, he adds.

Due to pride of ownership, most ranchers over-estimate the grade of their own calves. Ranchers then feel they are being "short-changed" on prices received at the market. Cattlemen should learn official standards of grading and how to use them, Helmers says.

Grade names are the same as the slaughter cattle and beef carcass grades. These help predict the feeders' potential slaughter grades.

Official written standards and pictures containing requirements for each grade can be obtained from the Livestock Division, Consumer and Marketing Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Still Time to Spray Mesquites

COLLEGE STATION.— Only about two weeks may be left in this season to effectively control mesquite by aerial spraying, Dr. J. D. Rodgers, Texas A&M University Extension range specialist, says.

The extensive rains this year have prolonged the growing period for the pest and thus delayed effective spraying. During the period of rapid growth is the best time to spray mesquite because the leaves are performing photosynthesis to produce food for the tree. By interrupting this process it is possible to kill the mesquite, he adds.

Trees in nearly all areas of the state are now showing the characteristic dark green leaves which indicate maturity and rapid growth. But the time is growing shorter to treat aerial-ly as the growth begins to slow says Rodgers.

Trees are also approaching the cut-off point for spraying due to soil moisture reduction by excessive weed and brush usage of water. However, mesquite is entering the stage when basal application of herbicides can be used successfully, Rodgers continues.

On land where the stands of mesquite are sparse, generally less than 75 trees per acre, the basal method is unbeatable. In areas where the optimum spraying period cannot be met, Rodgers suggests the basal application unless the stands are heavy enough to make it economically unwise. When the soil is dry during the summer, basal application of herbicides is best because the chemical can reach the crown buds easier, the specialist concludes.

Slow-Moving Farm Vehicles Spell Disaster, Patrolmen Warn

Using the farm tractor for an all-purpose runabout is a dangerous practice. Do not use a tractor for trips not directly related to field work.

Slow-moving vehicles are one of the major problems of rural highway travel. Many of them are inadequately lighted or lack proper identification with which to warn motorists, the Texas Department of Public Safety warns.

It is up to the operators of slow-moving farm vehicles to practice courtesy whenever they can. When it is possible the farm operator should pull his equipment onto the shoulder and allow faster moving traffic to pass. Although the farm operator has a privilege to move his farm vehicles and equipment on the roadway he should be willing to pull off the roadway for his own protection. This may prevent himself, his farm vehicles and farm equipment from being involved in an accident.

It has been observed that many farm tractors, vehicles, and motorized equipment while upon the roadway are so designed or pulling other vehicles and equipment that the operator is unable to ascertain the approach of traffic from the rear.

Under such conditions these vehicles and equipment should have a rearview mirror like on a truck or bus enabling the operator to see the approach of traffic from the rear. However, in many instances where there were no such obstructions in rear of the operator it has been observed the operator has been negligent in failing to turn his head around to check for the approach of traffic from the rear. This type of operator becomes a "road hog", creating traffic congestion, and endangering the lives of others as well as himself. Farm vehicles should be operated only by mature, responsible persons upon the highways.

White Joins C&H Pharmacy

Tony White, born and reared here, has returned as pharmacist for C&H Pharmacy, according to the owners, Jimmy Cochran and Ham Holton.

He began work Friday, June 14.

White received his bachelor's degree in pharmacy from Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla., at the spring commencement. On June 7 to 9, he took his examinations before the State Pharmacy Board in Houston.

White is now working full time where on week ends he did his 1,000 hour pharmacy internship required of graduates of that school of pharmacy at Southwestern.

A graduate of Wellington High School in 1962, he attended Tarleton State College at Stephenville, and West Texas State University. 1968 Recommendations for Weed Control Now Available

The 1968 revision of recommendations for weed control in Texas is now available, says County Agent Sammy Helmers. Good weed control, he adds, can increase yields, provide better quality crops, and reduce weeds by preventing weed seed production. Herbicides can provide cheaper weed control than hand labor. In test plots, it was found that preplant and preemergence herbicides cost from $2.50 to $8 per acre, while hand labor averaged between $12 and $14 for hoeing. The herbicides protected the crops from weed competition during emergence and early growth, while the untreated fields were weedy all season.

One test of postemergence treatment with herbicides applied to control small careless weeds in grain sorghum showed an increase of 880 pounds of grain per acre. The income from the extra grain paid all costs and gave a nice net profit.

Certain mixtures of herbicides are available as preemergence treatments in grain sorghum, peanuts and soybeans in 1968. The bulletin, B-1029, "Suggestions for Weed Control with Chemicals", is available from Helmers' office. It is a joint Texas Extension Service and Agricultural Experiment Station publication.

The recommendations of the 35-page bulletin also include suggestions for spray equipment, information on herbicide application on non-crop site and cropland in fallow and ponds and lakes.

Square Dancers Will Not Meet

The Square Dance Club will not hold its regular dance this week, Mrs. Hubert Bowen has announced.

The next square dance will be Saturday, July 13 at 8 p.m. Knox Day of Amarillo will be the caller.

The location of the dance will be announced later, Mrs. Bowen said.

Bagworms Make Appearance Now

The bagworm, the larval stage of a moth, attacks many trees and shrubs but is a very destructive pest of arborvitae, juniper and cedar, reminds County Agent Sammy Helmers.

It will also infest willows, apple, maple, oak sycamore, abelia and other plants when populations are high. The worm gets its name from the bag in which it lives.

Picking the bags off of infested plants during the winter and burning them will materially aid in controlling the pest, says the county agent. Chemical sprays are very effective if applied before the young worms begin to construct bags around themselves. 1 Chemical treatment is recommended as soon as the young worms begin hatching in the spring and their presence is noted.

For the spray application, malathion, carbaryl (Sevin), lead arsenate or toxaphene insecticides are effective. These chemicals are available from nurseries, garden supply stores and supermarkets under several trade names, says Helmers. Mix the selected insecticide

Area Diabetes Society Formed

Officers were elected for the first year at the June meeting of the new Amarillo Area Diabetes Lay Society. The Rev. Jack Riley, who served as the chairman of the organizational committee for the past three months, is now president. Among other officers and committees are persons who have diabetes themselves, who are married to diabetics, or have diabetic children. This is characteristic of the entire membership, which has grown to over 100 individuals, including 58 who have diabetes, and two who are interested in diabetes from the standpoint of their business or profession.

Families from Clarendon, Memphis, Borger, Panhandle, and Canyon are already registered as members, and some from other towns in the area have indicated interest. Roy Pendergraft is first vice president and program chairman. Marvin V. Fritts, Jr., is second vice-president and projects chairman and on the publicity committee.

with water as directed on the package label and spray the infested plant from top to bottom and from the bottom to the top and from the sides for complete coverage, advises the county agent. Stop spraying when the plant is thoroughly wet and the material begins to run off.

Persons interested in detailed information on controlling insects around the home grounds are invited to contact Helmers' office for a copy of L-199, "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants." He added that other publications are also available covering many other insect and disease control problems.

George Stephens

From Quail

Stephens Is Denton Area Coach of Year

A former Quail student and coach was named High School Coach of the year at the second annual Denton Sports Association's All-Sports banquet.

He was George Stephens, superintendent and coach of the Slidell schools.

A high school cage star of note in the lower Panhandle some years ago, Stephens' boys team at Slidell threw its basketball district into a three-way tie in the last week of the season. In the play-offs, Slidell defeated Paradise but was beaten by Krum, the defending champions and state finalist last year.

Stephens' girls team went undefeated in winning the district basketball title and also won bi-district and the regional tournament. In the first game of the state playoffs in Austin, Slidell lost by two points to the eventual state champion.

The 33-year-old coach was born at Quail, graduated from high school there, then became the first ex-student to return to the faculty, serving as principal and coach.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Stephens. He also has taught at Scranton, was coach at Spearman 5 years, then several years ago moved to Slidell in Denton County. He holds the bachelor's degree from Texas Wesleyan University, Fort Worth, and the master's degree from West Texas State University.

Girls State Activity Under Way This Week

Waulen O'Hair of 1112 West Avenue, a Citizen of the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State now in progress in Austin at Saint Edwards University, was elected National Party Chairman of Choo County in the state election. She is the daughter of Ross O'Hair and was sponsored to Girls State by the Business & Professional Women's Club, a local contributing organization, through the American Legion Auxiliary unit.

Others attending from this county were Janis Gosnell, sponsored by the City State Bank, Wellington State Bank, Quail teachers and Memphis Compress; and Karen Waters, sponsored by the Samnorwood Parent Teachers Association.

Girls State was organized as a national Americanism activity in 1937 by the American Legion Auxiliary. Non-partisan and non-political, the purpose of the Girls State program is to provide citizenship training for girls of high school age, to afford them an opportunity to live together as a self-governing group and to inform them of the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities which they will assume when they become adults. They learn the problems of government by performing the same duties as real officeholders in the everyday world.

The 1968 session of the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State has grown from an experimental conference of 94 girls, held at Baylor University in 1941, to become the largest single extracurricular educational program for high school girls in Texas. This year 420 girls are in attendance, making a total of more than 8,000 girls in Texas who have participated in this top-level citizenship program. Citizens are selected at local levels principally on a basis of character and leadership from students who have just completed their junior year in high school. Since 1963, two citizens from Mexico City have attended the session each year.

Associate Justice Meade Griffin of the Texas Supreme Court administered the oath of office to the various elected officials of Bluebonnet Girls State Monday, June 17 in the rotunda of the State Capitol. The Honorable Ben Barnes, Speaker of the House of Representatives, was the principal speaker.

Climaxing the session will be the selection of two outstanding citizens of 1968 who will be sent to Girls State in Washington, D.C. There the two young representatives will continue their study in the responsibilities of the Republic. The election of a President of Girls Nation will highlight the Girls Nation program.

TO SAVE OUR CITIES

We must have Rural-Urban balance

There is something we can do about the crisis that faces every big city in America.

What we can do is to use our greatest resource—space—to reverse the tide of unhappy refugees from the countryside that flows to the streets and sidewalks (and slums and ghettos) of the city.

Because these refugees are the victims of a quiet revolution in agricultural technology rather than of war . . . because they travel by ones and twos and threes in cars and buses . . . because they disappear into city warrens and by-ways rather than refugee camps, they are unseen and unheeded until they pour forth into the streets in violent protest.

Riots in the cities begin with hungry children on land that has lost its promise. They and their parents move from the bleak areas of the countryside to the cities in search of another promise.

But the cities are already over-crowded, straining to cope with their own growth. There is little room and less opportunity for those who are poorly-schooled, without modern skills, unequipped to meet the city on its own terms.

In many areas of rural America, rural electrics have achieved great success in developing local resources of space and people. They have helped create home-town industries providing home-town jobs with home-town payrolls.

But the job is bigger than one group. The urgency of the problem requires the effort of us all, acting in concert with Federal, state and local officials as well as the private organizations in the cities and the rural areas.

We can—and we must—restore the promise to the land. We must create the job opportunities in the small towns and rural areas. We must develop the instruments of modern living—more decent housing, more hospitals and medical facilities, better schools and libraries, improved water supplies and sewage facilities, adequate public services—that will attract and hold people who yearn for space to call their own.

America's rural electrics have been heartened by the response of the nation to their initial efforts. We look forward with high hopes to the efforts of our nation's leaders to restore the rural-urban balance in people and in opportunity. We offer our unstinting cooperation and all our resources of energy and determination in this effort.

The answer to what will we do with the next 100 million people lies in the rural-urban balance.

There is nowhere else to go.

Durfey Receives Masters Degree

LUBBOCK.—Bill Durfey, the Texas Tech Red Raider during the 1962-63 school year, has been appointed director of performance and research for the American International Charolais Association.

Durfey was the horseman who led the Red Raiders onto the football field at the beginning of each game, then watched the game from horseback.

Durfey will begin duties with the association in June, with headquarters at Houston. He received his master's degree in animal husbandry at Tech commencement ceremonies Saturday, June 1.

During the spring semester, he has served as a teaching assistant in the animal husbandry department under Profs. Dale Zinn, Sam Curl and Ralph M. Durham.

Durfey is the son of W. M. Durfey of Wellington. His wife is the former Charlene Waybourn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Waybourn of Lubbock.

Use Care With Power Mowers

The roar of power lawnmowers, and it's pretty constant now, may be broken by a scream of pain if the operator becomes careless. Accidents involving this necessary piece of lawn care equipment most often result from carelessness, says County Agent Sammy Helmers.

He suggests directing the first "ounce of prevention" at the machine. Be sure, he adds, that the machine is in good mechanical condition and ready for heavy work. Proper maintenance is the key.

Safety suggestions by the county agent include checking the lawn, especially those areas where children and pets play, for rocks, toys and other debris which can become missiles if thrown by a rotary mower. Short pieces of wire or knives, forks or spoons dropped during a backyard picnic have been known to cause fatalities when discharged by a power mower.

Keep children and pets away from the area being mowed. Push and don't pull the mower over uncut areas. Mow across slopes rather than up and down because a slip could mean the loss of a foot, advises the county agent.

Never fill the gas tank when the engine is hot or running. Disconnect the spark plug wire when working on the underside of the mower, and it's unwise to operate the machine inside a closed garage or other building.

Gasoline is also dangerous and should be stored only in approved containers and these never include glass, reminds the county agent. The storage container should be kept out of reach of children.

Finally, he advises sharpening and balancing the rotary blade at the same time. An out-of-balance blade will cause wear that increases repair bills.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

While attending the state Democratic convention one impression kept coming to mind. It was the noticeable lack of enthusiasm on the part of the delegates. They were not enthusiastic about John Connally although they voted for him in a perfunctory way in keeping with their instructions from precinct and county conventions. This did not seem to be any reason for the lack of excitement and fervor of other conventions.

From what little I talked with delegates from other parts of the state, I wondered if it was not due to their lack of confidence in the Democrats being able to win the national election next fall. And another thought was that a nation faced with the possibility of more violence and riots as the United States does today has no business wasting its substance trying to help other countries when we need to be using our best efforts to strengthen our own country.

Dick Dudley, the Hollis editor, is an independent; but this is one year when he can't get excited about either the Republicans or the Democrats. His political fire burns very low when he thinks of Nixon or Rockefeller and maybe even lower when he considers Humphrey or McCarthy. Well, there is still Wallace; but I was not quick-witted enough to suggest him.

Judge Charles Reynolds, in commenting on this column in last week's paper, said: "I did not see you at the Democratic State Convention in Dallas last week." It is no wonder that the cheerful and learned judge did not see us. Collingsworth delegates were on the first row of the 31st Senatorial District which was right up against the speakers stand and the band rostrum, whereas the Childress delegation was buried so deep in the center aisle that you might have thought they were part of the rump delegation from El Paso.

I see by the agricultural reports that an experiment is being made on the plains to control boll weevils by sterilizing the males. The program is much like the one that was developed successfully to wipe out the screwworms. The sterile males are being flown in from the State College in Mississippi and are placed in an isolated field of cotton that is miles from any other cotton. If this test works it will bring some aid to an industry that is sorely tried on many sides.

What ever happened to the program to eradicate goat-heads by having an insect to eat them? I notice the weeds are still here. Sometimes we get more than we bargained for when we bring in new insects to combat something that is bothering us such as the fire ants on the coastal plain of Texas and in many Southern states or as the case of the rabbits in Australia.

Since the reunion of the ex-students of Wellington High School is near at hand, August that is, it seems appropriate to quote from Charles A. Peterson who writes as follows in The National Observer:

Debunk: Salmon always return to the stream where they were born to spawn. Fact: It is absurd to think that a sensible adult fish will wear himself to a frazzle and swim thousands of miles to return to the scenes of his youth. It is only human beings who do this, during Alumni Week.

Before you get the idea that I am making light of the ex-students reunion, which I treasure, I would like to inform you that Mr. Peterson writes with his left tongue in his right cheek as you can see from another quote from the same column:

Debunk: A leopard cannot change its spots. Fact: Capt. Felix von Humpff, chief leopard tracker for the Imperial German Army, disproves this canard. He states categorically that of 15,943 leopards he tracked during his professional career not one ever stayed in one spot for more than two days at a stretch.

Burial Service Held Here for Mrs. Mosley

Mrs. Mosley, the former Tennie Viola Holland, was born at Boonsville. She and her husband, the late W. E. McBride, farmed near Wellington for approximately 25 years and reared their children here. He preceded her in death July 3, 1961.

Later she was married to Milton Mosley. He also preceded her in death several years ago. She had lived in Clarendon seven years.

Survivors are four daughters and two sons: Mrs. Clayton Mann of Clarendon, Mrs. Harry Mathews of Sulphur Springs, Mrs. A. J. Lundgreen and Mrs. H. R. McGinnis of Amarillo; Eugene McBride of Edmond, Okla., and Cecil Travis McBride of Canyon; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Ruby Bromley of Clarendon; and two stepsons, Winfield Mosley of Hedley and Raymond Mosley of Amarillo. Buske Kills Big Rattlesnake

Travis Buske killed a diamond back rattlesnake of ancient vintage and unusual size Wednesday, June 12. He went out to the Estes farm three miles north of Wellington about sundown to look after the cows and calves he keeps there and discovered the snake while walking in the pasture.

He killed the reptile with a jack handle and brought it to town. It measured 67 inches in length and 8 1/2 inches at the largest part of the body.

Jack Johnson, who works at the Buske Farm Store, skinned the snake and Mrs. Johnson cooked some of the meat in corn meal the next day. She said her family liked it fine.
