NEGRO ON TRIAL COOLLY TELLS OF MURDER DETAILS

CASE MAY GO TO JURY LATE TODAY IS PREDICTION

GIBSON TO TESTIFY GROWING TENSENESS IS SHOWN BY CROWD AT HEARING

CROSBYTON, March 25.—Stalling cynically as he described in a casual fashion details of how he had slain E. E. (Bob) Morgan, prominent Dickens county farmer, Robert Lee Benton, alias Robert Stanley, negro, on trial with Son Gibson, another negro for murder before Judge Homer L. Pharr at Crosbyton, admitted practically all details of the confession he gave officers following his arrest in Fort Worth where he was taken off a train to answer for the deed.

Maintaining an entirely cool demeanor in the face of a tightly tense audience and frowning jury, the black Thursday afternoon had apparently given up all hope of saving himself and shouldered all blame for the crime, stating that he had forced Son Gibson to accompany him when the slaying was committed.

TREASURER ELECTIONS START TODAY

With friendly rivalry existing between the various candidates and their friends, the second annual election of the staff-members of the Treador will get under way today.

Seven students, all experienced in the work, are out for the positions: four for the editorial position and three for the management position.

The winners of the election will take charge of the duties of the assistants for the spring term and will automatically become the chiefs for the fall term of next year.

DEBATERS MEET T. C. U. TONIGHT IN FIRST CONTEST OF YEAR

Entering the contest with heavy odds facing them, the Tech debating team, composed of E. E. Jordan, of Amarillo and W. R. Sewell, of Slaton, will meet the team from Texas Christian university tonight at 8 o'clock in room 202 of the administration building.

T. C. U. comes to the Tech with an excellent record behind them and with several contests more experienced than the local boys.

was a strong contender for high honors in all of the debates last year and holds the Lynch Davidson scholarship for being the best speaker in the college.

Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, Judge G. E. Hamilton and Dr. E. B. Wayland, of Plainview, are to judge the debate.

Although room 202 will accommodate only about 150 students, Miss Pirte states that student activity tickets will admit students. The Tech girls pep squad plan to attend in a body.

CLUBS TO ENTERTAIN WITH FIRST ANNUAL DANCE

At a meeting of the "T" club held during the past week, plans were perfected for the first annual "T" club dance which will be given in the assembly hall on the night of April 29.

The affair is to be an invitation certain number of friends. Carpenter certain number of friends, Carpenter will be in charge of the affair.

Plans for the dance call for elaborate decorations, members of the decoration committee say, and the hall is to be completely covered with the school colors, Scarlet and Black.

SENATOR BLEDSOE EXPLAINS LAW-MAKING TO STUDENTS

In the first convocation of the spring term held at the Assembly hall Thursday morning, Senator W. H. Bledsoe, of Lubbock, the man who is known as the father of Texas Tech, presented a very thorough inner view into the law-making process of the state in his address to the student body.

Senator Bledsoe gave the route of a bill from its creation until it had passed through the governor's hands and was in force before the people of the state.

The senate, of which Senator Bledsoe is a member, is more uniform divided than ever before, he said. He predicted a good appropriations bill for the Tech and stated that the eyes of the legislature were constantly on the new school.

In closing his talk, Senator Bledsoe urged the student to show more appreciation for the work of the legislators which is one of the best means of assuring the growth of the school.

Of Interest to Women

(By the Associated Press)

She Spends Millions As State Budgeter TOPEKA, Kan.—Lucy Stoness takes heed. Many women who manage only a family allowance refuse to use their husbands' name, yet Mrs. C. W. Wetherston, who budgets the income of the whole state of Kansas and annually directs the spending of more than $2,000,000, signs her husband's name to all financial documents.

When the Kansas senate refused confirmation as budget director to Norman A. Turner, Mrs. Wetherston, the assistant, assumed all the duties of that office. She had formerly been assistant state auditor. In the last two years, Mrs. Wetherston has controlled a budget of $5,000,000 dollars.

Kentucky Women Run For State Office

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The office of secretary of state seems to be the favored goal of the political women of Kentucky.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

Breakfast: Blood bananas with ready-to-serve cereal, cream, spinach with poached eggs on toast, crisp Graham toast, milk, coffee.

Lunchroom: Tomato bouillon, toast, crackers, chicken, and pineapple salad, whole wheat rolls, Spanish cream, milk, tea.

Dinner: Baked haddock, with egg sauce, Saratoga potatoes, hot French slaw, vegetable salad, peach islands, plain cake, milk, coffee.

The chicken salad is planned to use up the remnants from the roast chicken served for dinner the evening before. If you have never combined pineapple and chicken in a salad you have a treat in store. For the fruit adds much to the interest of the dish.

The old combination of peaches, gelatine and whipped cream is something else again in the dessert of "peach islands."

One pint canned peaches, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 orange, 1 cup whipping cream, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Drain peaches from syrup in can. Add enough water to syrup to make 1 cup. Add sugar to syrup and bring to the boiling point. Stir in gelatine softened in cold water and remove from fire. When cool add juice of orange. Reserve about 4 tablespoons of this mixture, keeping it warm over hot water until needed. When remaining gelatine begins to thicken, beat with a Dover beater until frothy. Whip cream until firm, add vanilla and beat into gelatine froth. Pour into a shallow serving dish and dot with halves of peaches. Put reserved syrup over each peach and put in a cold place to chill.

Texas Manufacturers Increase Exports Figures From Leading Port Now Record

HOUSTON, March 24 (AP)—While Texas exports cotton of the approximate value of $400,000,000 it exports only about $10,000,000 in manufactured products, exclusive of petroleum and lumber, according to Ernest L. Tutt, manager of the district office here of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

"The export of manufactured products, such as these," Mr. Tutt said after enumerating nine important items, "offers Texas a great opportunity as I see it, to greatly increase the total export volume."

Lard, he said, accounted for $1,610,000 in the last available list of exports from Texas; vegetable oils, $1,410,000; cotton cloth $1,356,000; other cotton manufactures, $1,042,000; other textile manufactures, $1,239,000; iron and steel, $2,981,000; machinery, $3,343,900; vehicles and parts, $4,214,000; and loaded carriages, which for some reason was included in the list, was valued at $5,000.

"I believe," he said, "any man who is familiar with Texas will concede that the next ten years will witness a great industrial development in the state."

More Export Trade

"Along with industrial development, there are many reasons why we should not expect that a fair proportion of the products will be sold in foreign markets? Look at some of the things now being done in Texas. There is a motor truck plant at Wichita Falls selling in nearly every country in the world. It is not a large plant, but it is entirely divorced from the automobile manufacturing center. You probably do not find so many of its trucks in the United States, except in Texas, but you find them in other countries selling in competition with a similar product from northern factories. Why can't other Texas factories do that too?"

Texas has several hosiery mills selling like those in eastern markets, right at the door of factories turning out similar articles. Couldn't they more easily compete with those same eastern mills in foreign markets where the eastern mills should have less advantage in transportation charges? "Houston has a comparatively large

Lock of Poet's Hair Is Added Baylor Group

WACO, March 24.—A lock of hair from the head of Robert Browning, reversed post is to be added to the Browning collection at Baylor university. The lock was clipped from Browning's head hardly an hour after his death by his nurse, Mrs. C. E. Jiles. It is to be donated by Dr. Maria Ada Molinoux, Browning scholar.

Canyon Prepares To Construct School

CANYON, March 24.—This week Canyon's grade school children are being transferred from the old building to various places about town, including the high school building and the court house, so that work may be begun on the erecting of the old grade school building. A general contract has been let to D. N. Leaverton of Lubbock for the building of the new $65,000 building which will be erected along the same general plans as recently adopted with many changes in order to stay within the funds recently voted.

Acme brick, the same as in the new high school building, was selected for the construction of the grade school. Another boiler will be added to the high school plant, and the new building heated from the central plant.

Under the terms of the contract, the new building will be completed and ready for use by the first of September.

Luncheon Planned

An honorary luncheon will be given for the visitors.

The work of moving into the new library building is being carried on this week and is expected to be finished Saturday. The new building will probably relieve much congestion at C. I. A. through adding several classrooms. These will be included in the new library proper and others will be converted from the space formerly occupied in the administration building by the library department.

Authority and intelligence and thorough knowledge of local politics and prejudices, which is impossible under the peripatetic system; and yet the latter has the advantage that it keeps the men from growing stale and self-sufficient and enlarges their horizon. Five years would seem to be not too long a stay at a post where a language and a knowledge of the national equation are to be acquired. The plan of bringing secretaries back to Washington for service in the department is also broadening. Perhaps it will serve to explain to them why so many communications from their chiefs to the Secretary of State were never answered.

No one who has had experience of the interplay of the department and our diplomatic representatives can have failed to note the chief defect of our policy, namely, the lack of team play, the failure to use our accredited agents to the full extent. Great Britain and France make no such error. Each has its interlocking system, by which definite policies are steadily advanced through the activity now of one ambassador or minister, now of another. It is hoped that we shall approximate this standard of efficiency by the closer contact of our ablest younger men with the home office and with one another. Until recently at least, our ambassadors have been marooned on desert islands so far as attention has been paid to their opinion, until some crisis has arisen, when they have testily recalled for consultation.

Mr. Bryan, with his old-time spoils theory, did great damage to the morale of the service, but this has been repaired by the choice of competent men from the "career" to the exclusion of the political wheelhorse. Men like William Phillips, Butler Wright, Leland Harrison, Hugh Gibson and Robert Bliss have earned promotion they have now received, by long varied and devoted work. They are not bureaucrats, but gentlemen of large views with dynamic power of enforcing them often acquired in emergencies.

There will always be cases when a man of no diplomatic experience may well be drafted as ambassador or minister for his available personal qualities or special adaptability to a situation. Imagination and good sense are not confined to the "career." But in general, the merit system in the Foreign Service is vindicating its superior value over the old custom of reward to party hacks or campaign contributors, with the occasional exception of a man of real distinction.

A WAR DEBT DIVISION

Agitation for a revision of allied war debts continues on both sides of the Atlantic, but whether any further reductions in the amounts now fixed shall be made is very doubtful. Recently President Hibben and 116 members of the faculty of Princeton endorsed the sand taken last December by the faculty of Columbia in advocating revision, and issued the following statement: "We, the undersigned, members of the faculty of Princeton University, heartily endorse the desire, expressed by the faculty of political science of Columbia University for a reconsideration of the settlement of allied debts."

While there is some valid argument put forward on the side of revision, and the view of the distinguished educators mentioned is entitled to respect, there are many reasons for insisting upon payment of these debts, which have already been subjected to a very liberal reduction. It is hard to reconcile the elaborate military plans of France and Italy with the idea that they should not pay for their last war.

OUT OUR WAY

SO THINK WE

We think that Wall Street is probably too serious about things, but after all we don't see that Wall Street should feel so bad as the fellows that Wall Street usually skins.

We think now is the time for every man who signed a railroad note to pay off. The sooner this is done the sooner you will begin to get some of it back. The railroad committee is looking every day to receive the blueprint of the route the right of way will be wanted on, and then it is up to Lubbock. As soon as this right of way is delivered, then it is up to the railroad and they will be on the job pretty quick. There is a great deal of work on this road right in the edge of Lubbock, which means a great deal of work, and the spending of much money, which will benefit Lubbock.

We think that Henry Ford will find out how popular he is with the women. He has six on the jury that will try him for the million dollar libel suit, that Aaron Sapiro is waiting against the billionaire automobile manufacturer.

We think the fact that Dan Moody drank lemonade in James in preference to non-voluted whiskey is giving him a bad publicity. If that is just ordinarily dry we feel as whiskey is concerned, he is to be congratulated. If he is pulling it for a political stunt, we are inclined to believe that it is cheap politics.

We think that Mussolini is the "marked politician" that Italy has ever had, and if they don't watch out over there he is going to turn that old back of a nation's belly loose.

We think that every institution should have a hand even the home, and in speaking of the home the head of that institution should be one of the wisest and calmest and common-sense heads of any. Most of them however seem to be mere figureheads.

We think that there is one thing that is unusual. Usually when they see our cars they raise their hats, but we have noticed when they saw our cars that they invariably raise their hats.

We think because of so many people camping at conventions, many failures result.

We think Lubbock should certainly get in line with the clean-up week weeklamation of the government, and be busy to make a clean sweep when the time comes for action.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that some people are still believing that it is cheaper to rent than to own a home, but how much interest do you take in a home that belongs to some one else. Very little we dare say, and you never make rent property worth more each year, that you live in it, while if it is your own home you will add to it, and plant trees and shrubbery and flowers and keep the fence up, and the house painted. There is quite a difference.

It is reported that there is at least one very frank wife in Lubbock, if what we have heard is true. One of the youngsters of the family was raising a great deal of disturbance and the mother proceeded to tell him down whereupon he said he would be good for a night. She very sincerely thanked him and said he should be as good as his father, and he was good for nothing.

It is reported that the state highway department at Austin has withdrawn all aid on roads in Lubbock county, but we have not heard one bit of information about them without holding the three-cent tax, one each gallon of gas that the state in Lubbock county consumes. It is all right for us to go ahead and pay into the highway

STATUE TO BOLIVIA

It is fitting that the United States should cooperate in the erection of a monument to Simon Bolivar, liberator of South America, as provided in a bill signed by President Coolidge on March 3. The monument will be erected in Panama, probably to be unveiled on the 140th anniversary of Bolivar's death, which occurred on December 17, 1830.

As soldier, statesman and patriot the name of Simon Bolivar stands high on the scroll of the world's champions of liberty. Born in Caracas, Venezuela, of a noble and wealthy family in 1763, he was educated in Madrid and spent several years in Europe, returning to his native land in 1808, he identified himself with the cause of independence, which had become a lively issue, and for 20 years devoted his high abilities to its service.

During the early years of the struggle he met with various reverses, but through dogged persistence and unflinching courage he finally broke the power of Spanish rule. His military career culminated in Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru and Paraguay where he was for a time virtually dictator until his retirement shortly before his death in 1830.

Bolivar's statesmanship was almost as striking as his military genius, and while his countrymen no longer remember him with interest, still for many years the peace which finally prevailed would have been impossible but for the foundations which he wisely laid.

Monuments to Bolivar have been erected in Caracas, Venezuela, and Lima, Peru, while the new statue proposed for Panama will carry an historic national character, signifying the nation in which his memory is held throughout the New World.

MEMORIES

The Avalanche of July 22, 1924, contained the following local items: Civil Engineers Key and Hudson, who are making preliminary surveys for the road from Chason, were in the city this week.

Haven't the road workers made a great improvement on the public square the past few days? This is getting much favorable comment from everyone.

A number of our citizens are taking in the reunion at Canyon City. Many others are intending to go to Lockney to attend the debate, so that it is likely to be rather quiet here for the next few days.

Lawyer Dalton passed through Lubbock enroute to Tampa where he will attend to legal business in the court.

Mrs. Mary Lee Cagle, assisted by her husband will begin a protracted meeting at Tahoka on the 4th of September.

Uncle Jimmie Clark returned this week from Oklahoma where they have been visiting for several weeks.

M. S. Acuff moved into the residence of Tiff Sanders the earlier part of this week.

Mr. Turentine, one of Hookley county's successful farmers, was with us Saturday.

W. S. Ekins, the war ardor of Grovesville was here attending the democratic convention Saturday.

Tio Tipo "My brother sent me a picture of his new car. 'Oh, what kind is it?' 'Just an ordinary 116 type.'"

Pure Americans

During the war there were scores of units among the American expeditionary force that bore on their banners names which indicated how extensively is the melting pot of the American army. In one company, for example, there were boys with names indicating that they were of Polish, Irish, French, German, Scotch and English ancestry, besides many who were of "pure American" stock.

But the War Department has found a cavalry troop connected with the Kansas National Guard which has on its roster the names of more "pure Americans" of various nations than were ever before registered in any organization in the country. This is Troop C, 11th Cavalry, Kansas National Guard. Every member of the organization is an "American of the American." They are full-blooded Indians and represent 28 different tribes or nations from 25 different sections of the Union. Among them are 13 Cheyennes, 11 Sioux, 5 Pawnee, 5 Navajo, 4 Utes, 2 each of Seminole, Shawnee, Pueblo, Apache, Arapaho, Choctaw, Kickapoo, Creek, Seneca, Chickasaw and Menominee, and one each of the Pima, Rockledge, Sac and Fox, Shoshone, Omaha, Wichita, Pawnee, Pine, Banock, Kiowa, Cheyenne, Arapaho and Oneida tribes.

This troop attracts more attention, especially from visitors to Lawrence.

Dr. Frank Crane Says Too Much Bad Mothering

Most mothers are good, but many are too good, that is, they are too hard, and they do more harm than good, they believe.

For instance, there is the too indulgent mother. Everything her child does is right and she can not even bear to reprove him. I recall an incident of the wife of a prominent man who was out walking with her child. For some offense she slipped him, and she immediately knelt down in the snow and asked his pardon and pronounced never to do it again.

It is all important to the young human being that he shall learn to recognize and respect the laws of the universe, moral as well as financial. This is no pink tea world.

Sooner or later he is going to run up against it.

Unless a mother recognizes these limitations and teaches her child to recognize them, she is doing him harm.

I know a son who has been spoiled and did almost everything wrong, but who yet is the apple of his mother's eye. What he needs is some good stiff punishment for his sin, but he is always apologetic to his mother and is saved from paying for his crime.

Another kind of mother who wrongs her son is the one who will not let him go when he has reached the age of manhood and chooses a wife. This mother tries to continue her hold on him with the result of making the wife jealous.

One essential element of good motherhood is to let the fledgling try his own wings when he is old enough.

A mother should control herself and should know the inevitable laws that govern child. She should let him see that he has no right to her love. It is his interest to find them out and govern his life by their laws, but not prevent him from doing this.

Very often the devoted mother sees that her son is getting pretty when he needs a stern kick. In the end the heavy kick does him more good than the gentle pat.

LAUGHS

In Case of Emergency

"What is it?" asked the doctor who had been hurriedly summoned at midnight.

"Nothing this time, doc," answered New Year, looking at his watch. "He told me to stand by him until you come, but he's not here now, so I'm sorry he was suddenly taken off."

A Desirable Thing

A lecturer had been describing some of the habits he had seen abroad. "There are some spectacles," he said, "that one never forgets. I wish you would tell me where I can get a pair." exclaimed an old lady in the audience. "I am always forgetting mine."

JUST FOLKS

ESTATE

A boy and girl had my estate. To each I gave my little part. All joy, all pride, which are to be. Through them alone must come to me. The man and woman, little child, my life was yours, my love was theirs.

My triumph comes for little now. What I had behind that rounded brow. Of boyhood, and what is in store. For that glad little girl of four. Today are most important for. That all my self-planned battles are.

My dream of joy lies not in me. But in the man that is to be. And in the woman, fond and fair. Who sews the ribbon in her hair. And runs up and down the floor. As all the little girls of four.

I've had my heart with wealth and fame. Not much is left for me to claim. What is to be my future lies. Behind his wife and eager eyes. And in her little hands which seek at night to stroke my grizzled cheek.

ALL OF MAJORS IN FLORIDA GO INTO ACTION

FASTER PACE IS SET BY BIG LEAGUE TEAMS IN PENINSULA STATE NOW AS FINAL TERMS SOUGHT WITH HOLDOUTS

(By the Associated Press)
 ATLANTA, Ga., March 24.—The thunder of battle raged over all of the eleven Major League baseball clubs training in Florida today for the first time since the conditioning season opened more than a month ago. Excitement in the state centered about the exhibition contests.

Bluebirds in Dixie, however, the campaign was momentarily halted. The Boston Red Sox at New Orleans contented themselves with routine drill, while the Detroit Tigers at San Antonio stayed away from the field until late afternoon, when they indulged in a short batting and running session.

The Chicago White Sox continued their barnstorming tour of the Lone Star state, though Ray Schalk is keeping the home stopping at this date near for his initial appearance as manager before the old league.

The American and National League clubs in the peninsula state were engaged in seven games. The camp of the Cleveland Indians was brought to a close during the day with a game against the Cardinals. It marked the third outing of pitcher in Florida, as the home team is near.

As for holdouts, five of these species are now under the microscope, in a manifold effort to clear up trouble of "illness and cents" of what have you.

Three of the quintet are pitchers, all of whom are discussing the situation with their respective clubs. Laque, Cuban pitcher, is at Palm Beach talking it over with Jack Hendricks of the Reds. Herb Tompock was enroute to St. Petersburg to tell Miller Huggins "shoot it" and Jack Scott is still hanging around Bradenton for another talk with Duffy Melnick.

The other two permanent stay ways are Hughie Critz and Eddie Houch. Critz has sent an ultimatum that the Reds must meet demands or he returns to his "old job" while Houch is keeping quiet as any negotiations with the Giants may develop.

Aggies Open Ball Schedule At Home

Special to The Avalanche
 COLLEGE STATION, March 21.—With the whippers of the House of David and a large part of the scalp of the Waco Cubs (with credit due) the exhibition season of the Texas Aggies will open the conference season on here Friday when he first of two same series will be played with the Blue Owls. In the exhibition games, the Aggies trimmed the House of David 15 to 2, defeated the Waco Cubs 4 to 2, and lost the second game in the ninth inning to the Cubs 1 to 6.

It is considered likely that Coach Claude Rutledge will use H. A. Hillin, the right-hander from Mount Calm, Wymon from Cleburne, or Bryant from Mexia, on the rubber in the first game. Conditions being propitious, it is likely that the twister for the second game will be chosen from the trio composed of J. W. Slick of Leonard; Broiles, and Gorman. Slick showed his stuff a bit in the second game with the Waco Cubs, breaking through the first six innings without permitting a hit or run.

With H. W. Schoeneman from Seagun and Jerome Harris of San Antonio on hand, the Aggies have an looking series. First base position is taken care of by Slick, Clark, or J. Broese of Burton. They kerstone long will be defended by J. P. Mount of San Augustine or Joe Hunt, Captain of the University of Houston or L. R. Williamson, star from the Baylor City, will take care of the short field position. P. H. Hays of Fort Worth, considered by many circles as the most valuable player on the team, will be at third base.

The outfield trio will be selected from O. E. Seibon of Clinton; Broiles, Williamson, and K. A. Clark of Williamson. Williamson is considered slated for centerfield.

Team That Beats Giants Will Win Pennant, Says Hornsby, and It Sounds Like Wise Crack

DE WITT LE BOURVEAU, BURELSON GRIMES, W.H. CLARKSON, GEORGE HARPER

BY BILLY EVANS
 SARASOTA, Fla., March 24.—The ball club that beats the Giants will win the National League pennant.

That was the reply of Rogers Hornsby to my query as to how he liked his new berth and what he thought of the team.

He answered the tag end of my question first and then finished thus:

"I don't break I ever had in getting with the Giants, I have always wanted to play for McGraw. I'm playing for a wonder manager on a great club.

"You can't make it too strong about what I think of our chances. I repeat the club that beats the Giants will win the National League pennant.

"That goes for Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cincinnati and all the other clubs that think they have a chance."

After watching the Giants perform for a couple of days in practice, also real competition against the Philadelphia Athletics, I am inclined to agree with Captain Rogers Hornsby. That's his title with the Giants.

As usual, New York looks like a great ball club. McGraw's clubs are always impressive, particularly in the spring, for a manager drives them harder for condition. They are up at seven bells in the morning and dark comes in coming over the field when they quit.

No team can be considered a strong pennant contender without a good infield. McGraw has the happy faculty of welding together an air-tight inner defense. That is one thing his club of this year will have.

Jackson, at short, looks great. His knee isn't troubling him in least. If his legs hold up, one of McGraw's biggest worries will have been eliminated.

I have never seen Hornsby look in better shape so early in the spring. Although they have played together only a few weeks, he and Jackson work together like a veteran combination.

Freddie Lindstrom as third has definitely arrived. Always a great prospect, he has rounded into a brilliant performer, both in the field and at the bat.

Bill Terry at first is not the fielder George Kelly is, but he is a most capable performer and a constant threat with that big black bat of his.

New York's inner wall is a regular big league affair in every respect, comparing very favorably with any other quartet of infielders in the majors.

McGraw is very frank to admit that in all probability he will miss the versatility of George Kelly. But he knew in some straits his outfield and he could best play with Kelly.

Eddie Houch is pulling his annual holdout act. Perhaps he likes to miss the rigors of spring training. The Giants need him badly in center field and there is no doubt but that he will be there when the season opens.

It is a rather peculiar coincidence that two of Houch's running mates are former members of tall-end Philly combinations. George Harper and DeWitt LaHouveau, called "Bevo" for short, Houch's partner is also a strong contender for an outfield berth.

Al Tyson, who cost the Giants a lot of money one year ago, has disappointed and at this time is playing the part of utility man. Poor health, as well as several serious injuries, have hampered Tyson ever since he joined the club.

It struck me that pitching was McGraw's biggest problem. If the Giants get it, then Houch's holding out goes to be far from right in his belief that the team that beats the Giants will win the pennant.

PAGAN RITES MARK FINAL CONDITIONING OF TARAHUMARA MARATHON RUNNERS IN ATTEMPT TO BEAT DISTANCE RECORDS

(By the Associated Press)
 SAN ANTONIO, March 23.—Primitive training rites concluded the conditioning process for three Tarahumara Indians who want to beat the long-remembered record of 36-year-old world champion for an 82-mile run in their race from San Antonio to Austin tomorrow.

The runners will start from the city hall here tomorrow, the bells on their belts jingling and their heads bowed in prayer, their route will take them north to the University of Texas stadium in Austin, 82 miles away where they will cross the finish line during the University of Texas relay games. They hope to make the trip in 12 to 14 hours.

Final preparations for the race included the drinking of an herb tea, with which they also anointed their bodies and the utterance of certain "luck phrases."

Course is Bad
 The runners and their manager, Tommie Hudgins, shook their heads dubiously when they examined the highway between here and Austin during an automobile trip to San Antonio today. The road is hard surfaced most of the way and in places is covered with loose gravel. As the Tarahumaras run almost entirely on their heels the race will probably be won on the crooked stretches, but the Indians prefer to run on level ground.

They will suffer from the heat, which is much greater than the temperature to which they have become accustomed in their high mountain home, but will be able to breathe the denser air in his altitude much easier than the rarefied atmosphere of their mountain peaks.

Old Rivalry
 The race is expected to be a traditional battle between Tommie Zaffro, 28 years old, veteran runner of the local village and Jose Torres, 21 year old runner of the local village. The two men have met in hip and tuck battles before, inspired by a traditional rivalry which once was an enemy between their communities.

Zaffro is styled the world's 100 kilometer champion with a record of 3 hours and 45 minutes which he has broken in unofficial races since that time, according to Hudgins. Torres is considered the Latin-American 5,000 meter champion. The two have run frequently and seldom have they been more than a yard apart at the finish line. Augustin Sañudo, the other runner, is considered to be almost as good as either of his companions and may pass them over the longer distance.

The three went to bed tonight happily pleased with a set of toys presented to them by a vendor whom they met on their trip from Austin today. The Austin road is lined with such shops which display brightly painted carvings of birds and animals which they sell to tourists.

Westerners Leave For Lamesa Today

Repaying the visit of the Lamesa high school track squad to Lubbock in which the Westerners made a sweep of the meet here, Coach E. J. (Pinkie) Lowery will take the Lubbock high school track squad to Lamesa today for a dual meet there this afternoon. Today will be the last contest of the local track team until the county meet which will be held here April 1 and 2.

Coach Lowery states that much improvement has been shown by the boys in the field events and this phase will be stronger than at the opening of the season. The track events have exceptionally strong entries and Coach Lowery feels that in Cyrus Leland, Smythe Reynolds, and others, he has state title timber. Morton Smith, Freehand and Harkey are showing up well on the track also and are due to carry points today. Leland and Reynolds are clipping the 100 and 220 in fast time and no doubt will have only slight competition in the meets this year until they make the state meet. Smith is making the 440 in good time with the half and mile.

The meet today will be the first time that the local boys run in Deason county, a fact which will arouse much interest in that section.

French Is Leading Atlanta Golf Meet

ATLANTA, Ga., March 24 (AP)—Eugene French, veteran professional of Southern Hills, N. C., and Youngstown, Ohio, led the field late today at the first round of the $12,000 Southern open golf with a 71. He was striking in a position at the top of the class after 18 holes, however, with three other professionals and an amateur close on his heels with 72.

Cardinals Will Take The Field Almost Intact In Effort To Repeat Their Win

BY BILLY EVANS
 AVON PARK, Fla., March 24.—Like the New York Yankees in the American, the St. Louis Cardinals are the founder club of the National League's nearly so.

While the Yanks will start the season with the club that finished the 1926 campaign intact, the Cards will undergo one important shift.

Frankie Froy will be at second base instead of Rogers Hornsby. This home as a 25-50 proposition with both sides.

"Lex" Lewis will restore at third, Jimmy Thrunette, veteran of the world series of short, and the ever reliable Jim Bottomley at first.

It is a great looking infield. Outside of "Pie" Traynor of Pittsburgh I don't see a better third sacker in the majors than Lex. Here's a great fielder and at the bat is another edition of Rogers Hornsby in style, if not quite so efficient.

Thrunette is the greatest young shortstop to join the majors in years. He came first last season, topping the year with one of the greatest performances I have ever seen any player give at that position in the big leagues.

Frankie Froy is a moved around second. It is needless to comment at length upon his shifts. As a matter of fact, I am inclined to think he and Thrunette will make a grand double play team like old Tommy and Horace

It would be hard to improve on Jim Bottomley at first. He is a finished performer in all departments.

The Cardinal infield is one of the best in the majors. Incidentally, it is composed of young players who should be good for many years of service.

Unless Lex Blades recovers from his knee injury that put him out of the running most of last season, the Cardinal outfield will be practically the same.

Blades who impressed for as one of the greatest outfield prospects in the majors until he hurt his knee, is the big question mark of the club.

During the winter he underwent an operation similar to that which cured Third Baseman Jim Dugan of the Yankees of a like ailment. He is going slowly in his training, hoping that by the time the season opens he will be stable.

If Blades returns to outline form, it is going to be hard to keep him out of a job and he prefers left field. Otherwise, the outfield will be Southworth, Douthitt and Haley.

The battery men, unless some rookie shows his league stuff, will be the same as last year, with the addition of the veteran pitcher Jimmy Rine and Catcher Frank Snyder.

The Cardinals may reach the same club under a new manager. Bob O'Farrell has the task before him of securing an outside a handful of new as the team he succeeded, Rogers Hornsby.

night in a west side laundry in what the police believed to be a renewal of Tong warfare here, which broke out last night with the killing of a member of the On Leung Tong in a Chinese gambling house.

One hour before the double shooting took place Chinatown celebrated release from custody of five suspects held for questioning in connection with the slaying early today of Chin Poch, Chicago, a member of the On Leung Tong.

When police released the suspects hundreds of Chinese crowded the district, touched off fireworks, burned an effigy, threw streamers from windows, and danced about before puzzled police.

Poch was slain in a card room by a man whom witnesses at a coroner's inquest this afternoon identified as a member of the Hip Sing Tong. On Leung Tong members said the slaying of Poch would be avenged.

long vengeance blazed tonight from the muzzles of a dozen automatic pistols and with a Lull in the warfare the police counted one Chinese killed, two probably fatally wounded, and one other injured. Sing, one of the wounded Chinese, died at a hospital.

The longer score was even. Two of the victims were members of the powerful On Leung Tong. The other two were members of the Hip Sing, deadly rival of the Leungs.

camp under this fire. Almost immediately, however, the American destroyers Naos and Preston and the British cruiser Emerald, opened fire on the hill and took the refugees to the warships in the river. Some lives were lost in this operation. About 100 American naval men took part in the landing expedition.

The city of Shanghai itself was quiet yesterday after the carnage that prevailed in the native section early this week when the Cantonese took over the city.

Crisis Arrives WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP)—The Chinese situation flamed to sudden crisis filled with gravest possibilities today in the rear of American and British naval guns at Nanking.

Solemn warning has been served on nationalist leaders by the American and British commanders to produce these unharmed or take the consequences. Menacing muzzles of naval guns, trained on a swarming city of a quarter of a million population, backed the demand.

Drastic Action Planned Late in the day Secretary Kellogg went over to the White House and conferred for an hour with President Coolidge, showing the chief executive all the official dispatches received from China.

Later, he too declared that the American naval forces in the zone of disorder would be upheld to the utmost and reiterated that the state department was prepared to back the navy in all it did.

Fragmentary radio reports from Nanking alone carried the story from the river for 130 miles from the coast out to the world. They painted a grim picture in the terse language of official dispatches.

More Ships Sent Six more American destroyers were ordered into Chinese waters from Manila tonight by Admiral Williams, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet.

Three of the destroyers, the Peary, Ford and Pillsbury, were directed to proceed at once to Shanghai. The other three, the names of which were not given in a dispatch to the navy department, were ordered respectively to Amoy, Foochow and Swatow.

Apparently the first outbreak came within the city of Nanking as American Consul John K. Davis was desperately gathering American nationals for refuge under guard of American sailors in Soocny Hill at the edge of the city but two miles or more from the river. It is the plant of the Standard Oil company, one of the two big American oil establishments at Nanking, and was picked as a place possible of defense against a mob.

Meanwhile rioting and looting had broken out in the city. The official reports made it clear that Cantonese troops were involved.

Japanese Consul Slain "During the afternoon Cantonese troops looted the American, British and Japanese consulates, wounded the British consul and are reported to have killed the Japanese consul," Admiral Williams, at Shanghai.

"Foreigners on Soocny Hill at Nanking were attacked," he said. "The British cruiser Emerald and the United States destroyers Naos and Preston shelled the area around the hill to protect foreigners. Landing forces were sent to attempt the rescue from the hill."

soon after his arrival at Nanking, in the river gun boat lumber furnished by the Yangtze river patrol forces.

In the river lay the American destroyers Naos and Preston, and the British cruiser Emerald. But before Admiral Hough arrived on the scene the mob and undisciplined troops had turned on the foreigners on Soocny Hill. The first official word came from Admiral Williams, at Shanghai.

on looking back he saw the farmer struggle to his feet and decelerate to go back and finish him, of leading the farmer further back into the pasture and talking to him a short time before again shooting him, this time through the heart, and rilling the body into a ravine.

Stanley denied striking Morgan on the head as related in the confession, although testimony preceding this had told how Morgan's head had been crushed by heavy blows.

Kept on Farm Apparently the only point in the testimony presented so far in the trial was an effort to show that the farmer was forcing the process to remain on his place and work out money which they owed him.

The recitation of the killing was characterized by Judge Phair as the most cruel, hardhearted and cold-blooded account of murder that had ever come before his attention.

Completion of defense testimony will be heard this morning, when it is understood that Gibson will go on the stand. The case possibly may go to the jury before night, it was predicted.

The crowd, which took the court room and overflow into the yard are daily gathering in size, and a growing tension of feeling appears to prevail.

Officials stated, however, that they do not believe there is likelihood of an attempt at mob violence.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
Death strikes GARRETT FOLSOM while bathing at Ocean Town, N. J. It is thought at first he is a stroke victim, but investigation shows he has been stabbed to death beneath the water.

Folsom's swimming companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CAMELITA VALDON. It is established that Folsom, just before his death, had been standing next to NED BARRON, known as the copper king.

ANASTASIA FOLSOM, eccentric and maternal sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pichao, an Oriental knife and that it had been bought on the boardwalk.

It is learned that one CROYDON SEARS is a fancier of curious weapons. He admits buying two knives but not the pichao.

ANASTASIA engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case, DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives and is intrigued by some curious French dolls in Folsom's room. Croydon Sears' initials are discovered in a notebook of Folsom's and Pelton thinks his uncle had been doing some blackmailing. ROBIN SEARS, Croydon's son, is resting on his father. Riggs tells him he has learned that Croydon Sears had purchased a third dagger.

The elder Sears sends for the famous detective, FLEMING STONE. He tells this to Riggs who seems surprised.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV

"Then," said Riggs, "you know the police are interested in you."

"My activities in the auction room? Yes, I know it," replied Sears. "And I don't wonder at it. I know around buying antique weapons, and first thing you know a chap is killed with one of them, or a similar one. Why wouldn't the average detective link up the two facts?"

"But lots of other people bought those old stickers, Meeker, for instance." "But Meeker had no reason to kill Folsom."

"Had you?"

"Depends on what constitutes a reason. How do you differentiate between reason and motive? But that's splitting hairs. I'll tell you what, Riggs, if you'll leave your question to be answered until after my friend Stone gets here, I'll give you some sort of answer then. He'd you like to sit in on our conferences and see what we can do, all working together, about the Folsom affair?"

"I'd like it first-rate, of course regarding you that I'm working for Miss Folsom. At least, she says I am, but I've not done much yet, except to stir up things."

"Good to have things stirred up, Kessler, maybe, for Fleming Stone to settle."

Robin, meantime, having handed in his telegram, went out on the deck in search of his fiancée, Angelica Fair.

She was there, with the Barrons, in their favorite corner, and he joined the group.

Near by Miss Anastasia Folsom was talking with Mrs. Barnaby and Carmelita Valdon.

"You see, Duchessa," the spinster was saying, "for she had become rather fond of these two women, things are not moving fast enough to suit me. I have faith in that nice Mr. Riggs, and I know he's doing all he can, but I don't like the way he's heading."

"What way is that?" asked Carmelita.

"I won't exactly mention names, but he has Garry's notebook, and just because it's full of a lot of mysterious names and initials, Mr. Riggs proposes to run down all those people and see if any of them are implicated."

"Just because they are in his notebook?" cried the Duchessa. "Why, my goodness, they might be the merest business matters, or—"

"Of course they might," agreed Anastasia. "Dan wants to drop the whole question; says it can't help Garry to have somebody swing for him, but I don't look at it like that. A Folsom has been murdered, and if the man who killed him doesn't pay the penalty it won't be my fault. One-third of Garry's money is mine now, and I'll spend every cent of it before I'll stop chasing the wretch who killed him!"

"Don't they say," the Duchessa asked, "one must always suspect those who are benefited?"

"Oh, yes. But that amounts to nothing. Of course, the minor beneficiaries might be thought of, but they're only servants and a few old friends. No, the motive for this crime was a deep one, and the method was planned and carefully carried out. It was no sudden impulse; it was premeditated, and we must look for a motive of big import and a murderer of cunning. And I'm going to get him! I say he-out do you know I sometimes think it may have been a woman. The cleverness of that still under the water somehow suggests a woman's ingenuity. What do you think?"

"No," Carmelita said, emphatically. "The idea may have been a woman's, but the criminal was a man. A woman even if she had strength enough to strike that blow, couldn't have managed it in that rushing sea. It was awfully rough, you know. We were knocked about by the waves."

"Pooh," said Miss Folsom, "the woman of today is as lithe and muscular as a man. And that's what it requires, that and cleverness in taking the exact moment for the rush of the wave."

"What it required," the Duchessa declared, "was determination. Either a man or a woman could have struck that blow, had it been inspired by a hate as revenge strong enough. There wasn't such a lot of physical force needed. It was a question of aim and of choosing just the right moment. I shouldn't wonder if more than one attempt had to be made."

"Oh, an attempt about it!" cried Carmelita, her face drawn with emotion and her long slender fingers twirling rightily about themselves.

"I shan't stop talking about it," Miss Folsom announced. "If you don't like it, you needn't listen. Oh, there's Mrs. Barron—good morning, my dear."

Anastasia had taken a fancy to Madeline from the first, perhaps because they were so different in type. While the liking was not fully returned, Madeline was faintly amused by the spinster's odd ways and was fascinated for some inexplicable reason by her society.

"All right this morning," she asked, breezily, and she came toward Madeline. "Going in?"

"No," Madeline returned, "the sun is too hot."

"Seen so've lost your taste for bathing?" Miss Folsom inquired sympathetically. "And look how it's working wonder! Why, you stood next to Garry when he was killed, didn't you?"

Miss Anastasia was not one for euphemisms. If her friends died she never said they passed away. And of her brother's death, she never said "when he fell," or "when he went under," as many others did.

Madeline shuddered. "I wish you wouldn't talk about it," she said, almost petulantly. "No, I wasn't next to him."

"What else all the women?" exclaimed Miss Folsom, grimly. "Can't bear to hear about anything unpleasant? I just guess if any one you loved had been stabbed you'd—"

"I wouldn't talk about it to strangers!" said Madeline, losing her temper at last, and rising she went into the hotel.

Ned Barron at once threw himself into the breach.

"Please pardon my wife's abruptness," he said to Miss Folsom, with his big, pleasant smile. "She is my feeling any the well."

"What the matter with her?" demanded Anastasia, with a fine assumption of her own.

"Nothing especially. But I think she is tired of the subject and she is nervously sensitive about—about your brother's death. You must see, Miss Folsom, that though to you the subject is naturally of the deepest interest, it is nerve-racking for a woman to have a strange man killed—almost at her very side."

"Was he an utter stranger?"

Anastasia Folsom gave Barron a long, keen glance from under her heavy eyebrows.

"Surely!" he exclaimed. "You didn't think they were acquainted, did you? Why, we never saw or heard of Mr. Folsom until that morning."

"No," said the lady. "I'm glad you appreciate Mr. Barron, my own deep interest and anxiety, and I do see how it is a very unpleasant memory for your wife to have in mind. Though"

BILL LEWIS

Both as an actor and a director of "The Night Club Revue", Bill Lewis has won a place for himself in the hearts of theatre-goers of Lubbock. The revue, which was assembled in Lubbock by the Lindsey Theatre enterprises, has been packing the house at the Lindsey Theatre every night since its initial production Monday. Two shows, one at 8 and one at 10, are held each evening. The company will play an indefinite engagement here.

to spoil anybody's summer vacation. With one of her sudden, abrupt gestures, she turned and walked away. Angelica rose, and without a word, even to Robin, disappeared into the hotel.

Straight to the Barrons' apartment she went, and not entirely to her surprise, found Madeline with her face down on the bed sobbing.

Everything Ready For April Frolic

Plans have been completed, with the exception of a few minor details for the second annual April Fool's Frolic of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the Lubbock hotel, beginning at 7:27 the evening of April 1. It was announced at Chamber of Commerce headquarters, Thursday. Tickets for the frolic are now on sale at the Chamber offices at 5:30 each, and the number that will be sold to citizens other than members of the Tech faculty and their families, is 100, it was announced. First come will be first served in the ticket sales. The frolic, started last year as a well-acquainted party for members of the faculty of the college and other citizens of the city, was such a success that great demand for tickets this year is anticipated.

MRS. J. W. HASTINGS TO BE BURIED THIS AFTERNOON

Funeral services for Mrs. J. W. Hastings, who died in Amarillo Tuesday night, are to be held here this afternoon at 2:30 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gattner, 1118 37th street. Burial will be in the Lubbock cemetery. Delay in holding the services until today was made in order that Mrs. Hastings' father, H. C. Warren, might arrive from Collins, Ill. Mrs. Hastings was Miss Opal Warren.

DAILY MARKET

COTTON CLOSES STEADY.

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP) - Early advances were followed by reactions in the cotton market today, but prices steadied up again, and after selling off from 14.14 to 13.97, May closed at 14.10; the general market closed steady at net advance of 1 to 5 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 4 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables. Prices eased off a few points after the opening under southern selling and realizing, while there was weather was local setting on better weather prospects. Trade buying soon checked the decline, and the market developed considerable firmness, selling up to 14.03 for March and 14.30 for October, or about 4 to 5 points net higher.

There was some covering in March, in which position trading ends at noon tomorrow, and the steadiness of the spot month helped the tone of the general list. The advance ran into a little more southern selling, however, and prices broke rather sharply in the early afternoon, under renewed liquidation. March sold off to 13.89 and October to 14.25, the more active positions showing net losses of 11 to 13 points.

Some selling was promoted by reports that Lancashire spinners of American cotton had been advised to close down their mills for the full Easter week, and that their current sales were falling short of the present 50 per cent capacity production. An unfavorable view of the Chinese news was also a factor, but it was pointed out that the Chinese situation had not weakened the Liverpool market this morning, and the selling tapered off during mid afternoon.

Prices later rallied on covering and buying supported to be partly for trade accounts. Closing prices were within 3 or 4 points of the best.

Exports today 7,755 bales making 8,519,579 sq ft for this season. Port receipts 2,628. U. S. port stocks 2,361,152.

COTTON OILS QUIET

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP) - The cottonseed oil market was quiet today, but the undertone was steady and prices were higher on covering and contract house buying. Influenced by the steadiness of cotton, lard and crude oil. The close was 2 to 11 points net higher. Sales 5,709 barrels. Prime crude 7.75; prime summer yellow spot 9.25; March closed 9.25; May 9.38; July 9.50; September 9.70; October 9.95.

COTTON GOODS STEADY

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP) - Cotton goods markets were quiet and steady today. Printed wash goods were active. Raw silk was fairly steady. Silk coatings sold moderately. Dress goods were dull. Barlays were lower in price parity here than in Calcutta on heavy weights, due to the sharp rise abroad. Linens were higher and are selling more freely in primary markets abroad.

COTTON BETTER

NEW ORLEANS, March 24 (AP) - A reported diversion of six million acres of cotton land into the production of grain and other products brought a rise in the cotton market today which attracted hedge selling and accelerated by cables indicating that Lancashire mills would return to short time, led the market to new lows for the day.

Shorts covering in the final hour of trading, however, regained the loss and swung price levels upward to a close with net gains for the day of 1 to 4 points.

Price cables brought a correspondingly firm opening with gains of 2 to 4 points under liquidation, which set in immediately afterward prices turned easier and May moved down to 14.02, July 14.20 and October 14.30, 4 to 6 points under yesterday's close and 8 to 9 points below the early market.

The reduced acreage report advanced May to 14.17, July 14.31 and October 14.41, 11 to 13 points above the early low and 6 to 7 points over the previous close.

Hedge selling dropped May to 13.99, July 14.15 and October 14.25, 16 points under the high and 10 to 12 points under the previous close, but the rebound in the last hour regained virtually all the loss and the close was steady with a nominal gain.

BETTER WOOL DEMAND

BOSTON, March 24 (AP) - Broader demand for fine territory wool is being received. Sales of moderate size quantities have been closed on three including graded and original bag wools from Montana and Oregon fine wools in the original bags brought 1.65 to 1.68, clean basis for lots containing a bulk of French combing and air edge of strictly staple.

CORN HITS LOWEST LEVEL

CHICAGO, March 24 (AP) - Renewal of liquidating sales in the corn market today brought about the lowest price yet this season for corn, and weakened other grain as well. Corn closed unmodified 1 cent to 1 1/2 cent net lower than unchanged to 1/2 cent down, with 1/2 to 3/4 cent to 1/2 cent off, and provisions were firmer owing to an upturn in hog values.

TOO MUCH OIL STORED

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP) - Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, declared today there was still too much crude oil and finished gasoline being held in storage.

"Stocks of 520,000,000 barrels should be reduced," Mr. Teagle said, "regardless of the fact that oil in storage costs more money than stored petroleum. Mr. Teagle would not venture an opinion as to whether prices will decline."

SUGAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP) - The spot raw sugar market was unchanged today, but a better inquiry was reported resulting in sales of about 75,000 bags of Porto Rican and 15,000 bags of Cuban, for prompt and early April shipment at 4.71, while 75,000 bags of Porto Rican, due next week sold at 4.65.

Evening up of March commitments caused a little liquidation in early trading in raw sugar futures, prices declining 1 to 2 points. Offerings were not aggressive, and a steadier tone later developed on covering and trade buying, influenced by increased activity in the spot market. The loss was all recovered, and final prices were unchanged to 2 points higher. Approximate sales 75,000 tons, May closed 2.97; July 3.10; September 3.18; December 3.14; January 2.92, March 2.82.

Refined sugar was easier and unchanged to 10 points lower, fine granulated now ranging from 5.80 to 6.20, with a better inquiry reported at the inside level.

HOGS STEADY

CHICAGO, March 24 (AP) - Hogs 25,000, generally steady to strong; top 15.00; light hogs 11.45 to 12.25; bullock 11.00 to 11.75; cows 10.00 to 10.75; pigs 11.75 to 12.10; estimated hogs 12,000.

Cattle 12,000; steady to strong on steers; best heavies 12.75; yearlings 12.00; bulk steers 10.00 and upward; stockers and feeders strong; bulk 4.00 to 5.25; cows active; strong; bulk 2.00 to 2.50; heifers steady at 1.50 to 2.00; bulls steady; bulk 4.00 to 4.50; veal weak to 5.00; bulk 9.00 to 10.00.

Sheep 12,000; fat lambs weak to 2.00; lower; top 16.00; bulk 15.25 to 16.75; sheep steady; fat ewes 3.50 to 4.50; feeding and abating lambs strong to 15

Burr Machine To Be Shown Saturday

Demonstration of the miniature cotton burr extracting machine Saturday afternoon is to be under the personal supervision of John P. Mitchell, head of the manufacturing firm in St. Louis that produces this equipment. It was announced by Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station where the demonstration is to be conducted.

The machine arrived here several days ago, and Mr. Mitchell is due to arrive in town today. It is built along similar lines to the extractors being used in gins for removing burrs from sledged cotton, but is much smaller so that it may be mounted on skids to be taken into the field. It has not yet been perfected to the point where it can be used on the skids, but the manufacturers hope to develop it to this stage within the near future.

Farmers, ginners, cotton men and persons interested in the industry from all parts of West Texas are expected here for the demonstration, the being the first public showing in the state. Use of the machine, if it proves practical, will probably be widespread especially in West Texas where sleds can be used effectively. Improvement in the grade of sledged cotton and keeping the burrs on the field for fertilizing the soil are big benefits expected to be derived.

Music Festival In Full Swing Today

With piano, violin solo, orchestra, music, orchestra and tenor, the music festival contests will continue from yesterday.

Several hundred pupils, teachers and friends of those contesting are attending the annual festival from out-of-town points. And awards are to be made tomorrow to winners in the event. The contest is being held at 8:15 o'clock in the technological college pavilion as the feature number of the festival.

The program for today follows: 8:30-11:00 a. m.—Nocturne No. 9 by Chopin—Field-Laschitzky. Two Spanish Dances No. 1, op. 1—Pfitzner. Scherzino-Moszkowski. Souvenir de Napoli—Tschalkowsky. 11:00-12:00 a. m.—Andante in F major—Beethoven. La Paladine—Lysberg. Rondo in C op. 51. No. 1—Schubert. Gavotte—Pizani. 1:00-2:00 p. m.—Scottish Tone Poem—MacDowell. Andante—Chaminade. Rigodon—MacDowell. Maiden's Wish—Chopin-Liszt. Gondoliera—Reinecke. 2:00-3:00 p. m.—All violin solo work. 3:00-5:00 p. m.—Orchestra. 6:00-8:00 p. m.—Orchestra. 8:00-8:15 p. m.—Trombone.

Gestor Looming As New Petroleum Head

ETL&A, Okla., March 24. (P)—Clark Gestor, chief geologist for the Standard Oil company of California probably will be the next president of the American association of petroleum engineers. He was the only nominee for the office today when the engineers nominated candidates for their various offices for the ensuing year.

Others nominated were as follows: C. Max Bauer, Amarillo, Texas, and Luther White, Tulsa, for vice-president.

Dave Donohue of Houston, Texas, and Marvin Lee, president of the Kansas geological association of Wichita for secretary-treasurer. Wilbur A. Nelson, state geologist of Virginia, past president of the American association and John L. Rich of Texas, present editor, for the editorial chair of The Bulletin, official publication of the association.

Main Drag Doin's

Today while strolling down the Main Drag I saw: What appeared to be a male spruce of college boys on the curb. As favored auto would pass, someone would shout "heat," and all would uncover and recess their hair in unison. They were rewarded with a number of smiles.

Girl standing on the corner at Broadway and J, stamping her feet and looking impatiently at her watch. A young man came up, and was rewarded with a severe scolding—because he could display his watch as evidence. After that—all smiles.

Man with a "nigger-shooter" in his hand, creeping down an alley—figured he was going to beat somebody.

Several groups of sidewalk critics, discussing all the bits of the country, while doing nothing in particular. Two of them grew very angry over whether or not Senator Reed is a likely candidate for president.

Beats Retreat

Bullets of Portuguese rebels drove Minister Fred M. Deering from the U. S. legation at Lisbon, Portugal. Deering has reported to the State Department. Rifle and machine gun fire, aimed at Portuguese government forces, hit the legation instead.

LOCK UP FIDO NEW OFFICIAL COMMAND

CITY COMMISSION PASSES A MEASURE AGAINST DOGS RUNNING LOOSE

In an effort to control what is termed a menace from stray dogs in Lubbock the city commission, in regular session here Thursday afternoon passed an ordinance through the final reading providing that all dogs, regardless of whether or not they are at the time wearing tags or other marks of identification, may be summarily killed or destroyed, when caught outside of a yard or loose from its master in any part of the corporate limits of the city.

The rather drastic action was taken, it was explained, due to the large number of canines that daily run loose, sometimes in droves about the city, constituting what is considered a menace to life and property, especially school children. The emergency clause was attached to the ordinance, and it will take effect as soon as legal publication can be made. It was said that efforts of the police department thus far have proved unavailing, despite the fact that many dogs have been killed. The commission also passed the final reading a new building ordinance that repeals all conflicting ordinances, providing for establishment of fire limits, nature of construction, and various other phases of the building program.

By unanimous consent of members of the commission present, the lease on the city's property southeast of the city near the disposal plant, was transferred from J. R. Teaver, who farmed the tract last year, to Wm. McIlhenny. The tract contains valuable agricultural land.

E. E. May, chief of police, was granted a thirty day leave of absence upon application, this to take effect April 1. His successor during the leave was not announced.

The bid of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel company for construction of a 1,000,000 gallon standpipe reservoir, which was submitted some time ago, was accepted by the commission, and the contract drawn up—contingent upon outcome of the bond election that has been ordered to run all outstanding warrant indebtedness of the city, the date of which has not yet been set.

The contract, entered into between the city and O. D. DeHart, Dallas manager of the company, provides for construction of the standpipe unit of the water department at a cost of $80,000, which amount will be accounted five per cent for cash in the event of passage of the bond issue. This in itself will effect a saving of $2,000 to the city, and in the opinion of city officials, the new standpipe must be added even though warrants must be issued in payment.

Plans for the proposed new fire station in the southwest part of the city, which have been submitted to city officials, were not taken up at the session.

Floydada Ships Ten Car Loads of Hogs

FLOYDADA, March 24.—Ten car loads of finished hogs have been shipped from Floydada in the past few days by Hammonds and Howard. The last two cars were shipped Monday morning. This is a part of the contract to ship sixteen carloads to an El Paso packing house. The shipments will continue for the next forty days. The hogs were shipped here during the later part of October from Nebraska where they had been purchased by the local dealers.

Texas Grapefruit Shipped To England

HOUSTON, March 24. (P)—Rio Grande Valley grapefruit growers are entering the British markets with the aid of cotton men.

Every once in a while Houston cotton shippers have sent to European connections samples of Texas grapefruit. Englishmen have liked them so well that when the British steamship Nesheim of the Leyland Line sailed from Houston she carried fifty cases to Liverpool and Manchester for English consumption.

Not that it has anything to do with the grapefruit, but as a matter of common interest, the agents of the ships have noted that she carried three cases of well machinery to the British ports for trans-shipment to Calcutta, India.

Other cargo included 12,000 bales of cotton, 1492 bags of cottonseed meal, 1596 pockets of rice, and 568 pieces of lumber.

After their messenger dog had been seriously burned in carrying orders from one agent of a forest to another, California forest rangers made an asbestos coat for him.

THIS SCOURGE WAS DRAGGING HIM DOWN

ALL-BRAN gave him new lease on life when it checked constipation

No matter how chronic constipation has become—no one need give up hope of relief. Read Mr. Williams' cheery message: "I was on the downward slide. Never had any sickness, but for two years have been troubled with constipation. Began to make up my mind that I was done for. Have taken tablets, castor fruits, etc. but did not get much help. Began to use your ALL-BRAN twice a day. Have gained 15 pounds. Feel like a fighting cock. Bowels are regular. You have certainly done a lot for humanity."

L. C. WILLIAMS, Nashville, N. Y. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Eat two table-spoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend Kellogg's because it is 100% bran—100% effective. Delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Ready to eat. Fine in cooking. Sold and served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Recipes on package.
