Statement Describing Killing Of Man At Edinburg Is Made By Ex-Convict

SUSPECT HAS SUITCASE AND VICTIM'S GUN

VALLEY POSSE TRACKS
MAN TO TRANSIENT
CAMP BED

SAN ANTONIO, April 3. (AP)—Sheriff Albert W. West, Jr., said today that James D. McAllister, 36-year-old ex-convict, admitted after his arrest at a transient bureau that he killed Percy A. Calkins, well-known Houston salesman and bridge room of a month, near Edinburg Sunday.

The man, West said, had served two sentences at the state penitentiary and had only recently been released from the Eastham farm.

The ex-convict was surprised by the officers at 4 a. m., as he lay asleep in a bed at the transient bureau. A 16-inch double barreled sawed off shot gun was found under his bed, together with a pearl handled 38 calibre pistol and Calkins' suitcase.

The man told the police they could find Calkins' automobile in the 500 block of Indianola street. They hurried to the address and located the car, still besmudged with blood.

The arrest in the transient bureau set Sheriff West's men into a frenzy of action. Raising parties of deputies cleared out the bureau and after downtown places of all their occupants and marched them to the county jail stockade.

More than 600 men were in the parade which last from 4:50 to 6:30 a. m. All of the men will be fingerprinted by detectives.

The Valley posse that tracked the ex-convict to San Antonio consisted of Sheriff J. A. Goolsby of Cameron county, Sheriff R. T. Daniels and Deputy Sheriff N. K. Campbell of Hidalgo county, and United States Border Patrolman Charles Sea.

The four men had been on the trail since the finding of Calkins' partly clothed body late Sunday on the lonely Red Gate road, 30 miles northeast of Edinburg.

The man's statement told of his leaving San Antonio week ago to holdup some prosperous looking person, Sheriff Daniels said.

The sheriff said the ex-convict admitted thumping a ride from Calkins a few miles out of Palfurris. Calkins stopped and the man shot him with his pistol as he climbed into the car, he said.

The man told the sheriff that Calkins body slumped from the car but that he pulled him in and threw him in the back seat. He said he then drove down a blind road and had to retrace his way.

The transient then drove down the Red Gate road and reported and dumped Calkins' body, clad only in his underclothing and a red tie, into a thicket of prickly pear at the side of the road. Sheriff Daniels had robbed the body of $7.65 a wrist watch and other articles of jewelry.

McAllister then drove on to Raymondville, according to the sheriff's report, and picked up a hitch-hiking carnival worker. The two drove into Rio Hondo where they spent Sunday night. The carnival worker was given the wrist watch and one of Calkins' bags.

A co-worker became suspicious and took the license number. Patrolman Sea reported, and when he read of the murder next day, immediately notified the officers.

The hitch-hiking carnival worker was arrested and the watch recovered. He then led the officers to a place where he had thrown the torn remnants of Calkins' bag.

Getting McAllister's trail from the carnival worker, the officers hurried to San Antonio, arriving early Wednesday morning.

Sheriff West, Chief Investigator A. J. Goetz and a squad of deputies rushed to the transient bureau with the valley officers and captured McAllister before he was conscious of their arrival.

Under questioning by Sheriff West, McAllister readily agreed to make a written statement.

HUNTSVILLE, April 3. (AP)—James D. McAllister, 36, arrested in San Antonio in connection with the slaying of Percy Calkins of Houston, was released from state prison here on Sept. 15, 1933, on a conditional pardon.

At the time of his release he was serving his second term in the penitentiary, having been sent up from Wichita and Floyd counties for burglary and theft.

He first came to the prison in 1929 on conviction of four cases of theft over $50 in Texas county.

Twinkles

Gray county taxes for all purposes reach a rather high total, Gray county tax paying is just about the best in the state. We can vote 'em and we can pay 'em.

We're all one big family of states, but we wish some of our states would keep their dirt at home. Dirt, wandering, is worse than dogs.

War is hell. There's nothing worse than hell. Nobody ought to go jingoistic.

The government took over the newspapers in Russia. Which probably explains the campaign for changing of cities' names to something easier to spell.

We hope to live a long time. For one thing, we firmly believe the state will close the gaps in its underclothing and a red tie, into a thicket of prickly pear at the side of the road.

WORK OF RED CROSS HERE IS GIVEN PRAISE

FIELD REPRESENTATIVE VISITS PAMPA AND LAUDS RECORD

Pampa's Red Cross chapter was praised for the success of its roll call, the breadth of its program, and its plans for the future by R. T. Bridge, field representative, who spent two days here with the officers of the chapter, which is headed by Alex Schneider.

The local chapter has 901 members, first aid and life saving courses were explained to Mr. Bridge yesterday by C. A. Clark, chairman of this work. Cooperation of oil companies is making it possible to greatly expand this work.

Under a new arrangement, Mr. Clark will have charge of life saving work and Clyde Gold of first aid.

Guy E. McTaggart has been appointed chairman of disaster relief. He will perfect a list of committees and arrangements for instant response in case of a disaster in the county.

Mrs. W. H. Davis, executive secretary, told of the work of the Junior Red Cross in the schools, of work with war veterans, furnishing of shoes and clothing for school children and, in the early part of this fiscal year, distributing of articles for the government.

Hank Breining of LeFors told of the Red Cross and Junior Red Cross work there.

Jim Collins was re-appointed roll call chairman for this year. His work and that of his committee accounted for the success of last year's roll call and drew much praise. Pampa's is one of the leading chapters of the state.

In outlining plans for the future, Mr. Bridge said that the government would gradually abandon its present relief set-up, placing a burden on local communities.

When that happens, the Red Cross chapters will offer their services to meet certain emergencies which are certain to arise. The organization will not, however, assume the entire burden. He advised that chapter funds be made as large as possible in order that the emergencies of next winter may, with the next roll call, be met as the government decreases its aid.

The title is as his head of the Christian (Catholic) apostolic church and has not been subjected to the ballot since Voliva wrested control from the late John Dowie, founder of Zion, in 1907.

Leading the "uncontrolled" candidates was William M. Edwards, a plastering contractor who remodeled the white house in the summer of 1927. Edwards, a grandfather at 47 and for 32 years a Zion resident, will take office as mayor May 1.

Edwards carried into office with him four city commissioners, the police magistrate and the assistant township supervisor by a plurality of more than 350.

As the final figure in the vote for mayor was posted, showing Edwards had defeated John Nathan Bales, Voliva's man, by 1,759 to 1,407, several hundred persons scattered to their automobiles to blow horns, shout and form an impromptu parade.

To those who voted for others than his candidates, Voliva promised "hell will be their portion."

Ruben Jones was admitted to Worley hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of a broken hip and broken arm, received when he fell from a windmill at his home, two miles south of McLean.

John E. Hill of Amarillo was here yesterday on business.

WILBUR HAWK IS APPOINTED MEMBER OF PLANNING BOARD

AUSTIN, April 2. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred today appointed W. M. Massie of Fort Worth, a banker, as chairman of the new state planning board. He appointed Wilbur Hawk of Amarillo, newspaper publisher, a member.

Massie and Hawk were two of the governor's "independent" choices. Under the law, the nine-member board must be composed of the secretary of state, the highway engineer, the chairman of the board of water engineers, a representative each of labor, agricul-

MONOPOLY IS DEMANDED BY HOUSE GROUP

OPEN SALOON MENACE
CITED BY CONTROL
ADVOCATES

AUSTIN, April 3. (AP)—Bitter debate over a resolution to submit repeal of state prohibition to popular vote flared again in the house as members joined issue on an amendment to revise the state monopoly scheme to authorize sale by restaurants and cafes, a move that brought vociferous protest from monopoly leaders who contended it would make every hamburger stand a saloon.

"When you turn an outlaw loose on the range you put a bell and a drag rope on him, and that's what we ought to do to the liquor problem," Representative W. E. Jones of Jourdan said. "We want it so that when we turn liquor loose we can haul it back if it gets out of control."

Jones predicted failure to adopt the monopoly plan would result in return of the open saloon and "to those shameful conditions that brought the people to outlaw liquor."

He said gambling and vice would follow unless the state assumed full control over the traffic.

Representative Pat Dwyer of San Antonio unleashed a withering attack at the prohibition against sale in restaurants and cafes, asserting it would make saloons out of every automobile and drive persons wishing to drink from the open into seclusion.

The campaign for a state monopoly was sharply criticized by Representative J. C. Duval of Fort Worth. He said a majority of the members of the house in the past campaign said they favored prohibition of repeal, but "you didn't tell the people you wanted to submit the question with a lot of strings attached."

Duval expressed doubt the repeal amendment would be adopted, but said the electorate should be given a fair chance to express its opinion on repeal without being forced to ballot on a proposed control plan.

The Lonesome Cowboy, here from Del Rio where he sang over Dr. Brinkley's radio station for a long time, became lonesome in the city jail last night and left for a brief period to again mingle with his fellowmen and get a refreshing drink. He was arrested yesterday morning on a charge of being intoxicated.

His sudden departure was about 9 o'clock. He asked to use the telephone and was released from his cell. A friend offered to pay his fine so the Cowboy was allowed to sit in the "run-around" until the friend arrived.

About a half hour later the telephone rang and Chief Art Hurst heard a voice asking, "Is the lonesome cowboy there?" To which the chief replied, "Yes."

"All right, I'll be up after him," said the voice. The chief went into the jail to get the singer but found him missing. An open window told the story.

TAX ON "THE LITTLE MAN"

It has come to the attention of the state Junior chamber of commerce and other groups that House Bill No. 766 has been introduced at Austin to provide a 5 per cent tax on automobile finance contracts.

This is another form of sales tax. It would be passed on to the buyers of motor vehicles. It is one of a number of bills conceived to increase state revenues without the necessity of increasing other taxes, such as corporation taxes.

It might be mistakenly assumed that everyone able to buy an automobile is able to pay the tax. This is far from the truth. An automobile in this age and in this state is virtually a necessity. The laborer needs a means for going to his work, which may be as far as 20 miles distant. In this high-gear era, meetings are called on short notice and must be reached with as little consumption of time as possible.

The proposed tax is a tax on many persons least able to bear it. It is discriminatory as between different classes of business. It would tax still more the already most overtaxed of all persons—the motorist.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The utilities holding company bill which President Roosevelt wants is being fought with every backstage device which can be conceived by a lobby backed by billions of dollars.

The latest secret move is an attack from the rear and an attempt to bore from within the administration itself.

The weapon is that darling of Secretary of Commerce Dan Roper's heart—his Business Advisory and Planning Council, composed of two or three-score leading industrialists.

This council's chief function, though it furnishes rotating members for NRA's Industrial Advisory Board, is to serve as a vehicle for getting Mr. Roper's name in the papers.

Every so often Uncle Dan pops out with an announcement of something very important the council is about to do. First it was virtually going to run the NRA. Later it was going to be very important in the reorganized NRA.

While ago it was going to serve as adviser for the $4,000,000 work-relief program—though every insider snickered as he heard that one.

It remained for President Henry I. Harriman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, who opposes the holding company bill, to figure out how the council could really be useful. (Or perhaps someone suggested it to him.)

Harriman paddled down to the Commerce Department. He found in charge of the council Harry Kendall, prominent manufacturer and one of Roosevelt's business advisers.

Kendall was persuaded that the council should oppose the bill.

A report was prepared in which the council recommended that electric and gas holding companies be left in existence.

Roper has the report now. He is trying to get up nerve enough to take it to Roosevelt. But it's all likely to remain a deep dark secret.

Tactics almost exactly similar were used by Wall Streeters last year in their fight against the administration's stock market regulation bill.

Then the durable goods committee of NRA was persuaded to issue a blast which said the menace of the bill was a distinct impediment to recovery.

The guiding spirit in that action was the president of a world-famous manufacturing corporation who was especially violent against the provision for making complete corporation statements of assets and other facts.

The stock market bill passed. And, by a peculiar coincidence, three months after the Securities Exchange Commission came into existence, that world-famous corporation defaulted on its bonds.

Senator Bob LaFollette was invited to lunch the other day at a man's house. He couldn't quite place the man when he received the invitation by phone, but the name sounded familiar and he went.

He still couldn't place the host after he saw him, but there were others there and he had a good time.

It wasn't until afterward he learned he had been entertained by a lobbyist for one of the big sugar producing companies. And it happens that the sugar lobbies here are among Bob's pet hates.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

"The visit of General Lamar to this city," the New York correspondent wrote back to the Galveston News in 1844, "has created a warm and friendly interest in Texan affairs among all classes. He came here quietly, and was exceedingly unwilling to share in the public demonstrations due his rank. Hitherto the current belief has run that to be a Texan of note implied an indefinite capacity for drinking, gambling, and swearing, a great deal of talk about fighting, a very slight knowledge of books, and a decided aversion to truth. When our citizens saw the ex-president... they were struck dumb with amazement."

A Texas senator handed the sheet over for his wife to read. "Do they think we are all ignorant in Texas?" he asked indignantly. "We will prove, before many months have passed, that the annexation of our republic to their union will be a thousand times better."

Men in Texas governmental affairs were, for the most part, well educated and intellectually interested in the affairs of the nation in which they were living. Sam Houston had a power and magnetism about him that made him many friends as well as enemies. Always accused of drinking more than one should, many bitter things were spoken of him. He did like his bit of drink, flavored with orange peel—"to make it palatable," he told a friend. Houston vigorously denied drinking to the point of excess.

A hundred years have passed since Houston's time, and Texas will remember only the good things about him when they commemorate the making of the state with celebrations in 1936.

HOUSE DISCORD IS THREAT TO SECURITY ACT

EACH REPRESENTATIVE HAS OWN IDEA ON COURSE TO TAKE

BY CLARENCE M. WRIGHT, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Emphatic differences of opinion in the house of representatives threatened today to raise formidable barriers against the enactment of the president's social security bill in anything like the form he advocated.

Neither in the ranks of the democrats, nor among the republicans, was there agreement on the course to take. One old-timer summed up the situation this way:

"There are 432 sitting members of the house and there are about 432 different ideas of what we should do."

The democrats, knowing that the president had not approved every detail in the bill reported by the ways and means committee, were undecided whether to permit amendments to that measure.

But democratic leaders yielded a bit in their insistence that a "gag rule" forbidding amendments be agreed upon. Today they began a special survey to determine whether a majority of the house would vote for a "gag."

The democratic chiefs conceded the result would be close. Today, however, they learned of a new movement which they said might have an influence. They said there was a growing desire by members to put upon the federal government the full burden of the old age pensions.

As the ways and means committee's bill stands, the federal government would match—up to a federal contribution of $15 a month—any sum a state chose to give to a man or woman over 65. Leaders reported that if there was no "gag rule" an amendment would be offered from the floor to make the federal government supply $30 a month and the states nothing.

Another threat still hung over the bill. That was the petition drive for a "gag rule" forbidding amendments be agreed upon.

TWO MAKE IT CROWDED.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., (P)—The bewildered juror looked at twelve filled seats in the jury box and then at Judge Collett Littlepage.

"Just where, your honor, am I going to sit?"

The judge ordered the jury polled. "John Morgan," called the bailiff and from two seats came the answer, "present."

One of the John Morgans got a vacation.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR COUNTY ART EXHIBIT MADE

JUDGES NAMED FOR CONTESTS OF WEEK-END

ENTRIES TO BE MADE TOMORROW, SHOW OPENS FRIDAY

Judges for the county art exhibit to be sponsored by Arno Art club this week-end were named at the club meeting yesterday afternoon. Mrs. A. H. Doucette was hostess at her home.

Mrs. Clare Holt and Mrs. R. G. Christopher are to judge the exhibit, for which entries will be received tomorrow afternoon at city club rooms, and which will open to the public Friday morning for a two-day showing.

Other details of the exhibit have already been worked out by the club. Members have been assigned in committees of two to act as hostesses through the two days. Entries from all schools and art classes in the county are expected, and many individual students will also enter work.

Ribbons will be awarded winners in each division and medium. Only students may enter the competition.

Mrs. E. Hooks was leader of the program yesterday. She presented an interesting report from the recent district federated club convention to which she was the Arno club's delegate.

The program continued a study of modern French art, and was devoted to the life and work of Auguste Renoir. Mrs. Hooks sketched the artist's life.

He studied light and its effect on color, she said, resulting in firmer painting and greater sense of form than was possessed by his fellow impressionists. Renoir is called "a poet of air, sunshine, and beautiful women."

Mrs. R. E. Gatlin discussed his portrait of Madame Chaupentier and Children, and Mrs. Ramon Wilson the picture, The Breakfast. Other members present were Meses. John V. Andrews, Roy Tinsley, V. E. Fatheree, T. W. Jamison, T. F. Morton, and the hostess.

CULBERTSONS HAVE LARGEST LEAD OF GAME

Take All But One Rubber in Match Yesterday

NEW YORK, April 3. (AP)—P. Hal Sims is almost ready to believe that aces and kings are not so very important in the great game of contract bridge.

At the end of 59 rubbers in the 150-rubber bridge match between Hal and Dorothy Simms and Ely and Josephine Culbertson, the Culbertsons are leading by 11,340 points, yet the honor count shows them trailing in the number of aces and kings.

The count shows the Simses leading in aces, 743 to 725, and in kings, 752 to 718. The Culbertsons have held more queens, 764 to 704.

The Culbertsons had virtually everything their own way in two short sessions yesterday afternoon and last night, almost doubling their previous lead of 5,940 points. They won six of the seven rubbers played, climaxing their streak by taking the last rubber of the night by a margin of 2,010 points. Their present lead of 11,340 is the largest they have held since the match began last week. The Simses have been in the lead only once—at the close of the first night's play.

The Culbertsons have now won 35 rubbers and the Simses 24. The point score stands 54,160 to 42,820. The largest gallery of the match watched the play last night, but left without seeing any spectacular bridge, or listening to more than a few sallies between Culbertson and Sims.

The high spot of the evening came in the 59th rubber when Culbertsons made seven on a six-spade bid, getting a break in trumps, however, to do it.

The only rubber won by the Simses was the second one of the evening session. It netted them only 750 points.

The First "Alloyed Oil"

—for better lubrication of today's high-speed, alloy-steel motors!

Alloyed by the Germ Process

Just as the metallurgist adds small amounts of other metals to make special alloy steels, so we add small quantities of a concentrated oily essence to highly-refined, paraffin-base motor oil. This Germ Process, discovered and patented by Continental scientists, gives Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil lubricating qualities no other oil has.

YOUR MOTOR is built of parts made of special alloy metals. Car manufacturers and metallurgists worked together to produce metal alloys strong and durable enough to withstand the greatly increased pressures and temperatures of the modern motor.

Oils, too, must withstand these pressures and temperatures and they must have extra oiliness and film strength to do it. Yet oils generally have no more oiliness and film strength than they had ten years ago. And many new refining methods now used to make oils free from carbon and sludge have lowered instead of increased oiliness and film strength!

Continental, pioneering as it has pioneered for 60 years, has developed the first alloyed oil—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil! It is custom-made for high-speed, alloy-steel motors. It has 2 to 4 times the film strength of straight mineral oil, as tests on the Timken machine have proved! It has more oiliness than any oil has naturally. It penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, forming a permanent lubricating film—the "Hidden Quat". It is a pure, clean oil, free from carbon and sludge troubles. It gives extraordinary mileage as well as motor protection, as proved by the Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Say "O.K.—Drain"—fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and you will have the finest lubrication you can buy!

LIQUOR ISSUE FORCES BITTER HOUSE BATTLE

MONOPOLY ADVOCATES CHALK UP CLOSE VICTORY

AUSTIN, April 3 (P)—The house of representatives was locked today in a bitter controversy over the method of submitting the question of prohibition repeal to a vote of the people.

Having approved submission with sale of hard liquor only in packages and consumption away from the place of sale, the senate was through with prohibition for the time being.

In the upper chamber, the house bill appropriating $9,945,924 for expenses of the eleemosynary institutions during the next two years was slated for early consideration. A senate eleemosynary bill was called for an appropriation of $9,945,924.

Advocates of a state monopoly over hard liquor scored a close victory in the house yesterday with the adoption, 76 to 67, of a proposal by Rep. Alfred Petch of Fredericksburg for submitting such a form of control along with repeal.

Opponents immediately offered an amendment to prohibit sale of hard liquor in open saloons, but leaving any monopoly as an optional means of regulation by the legislature in the event of prohibition repeal.

This was the pending question on adjournment.

Representatives favoring submission of the single question of repeal argued that the proposition of a monopoly would confuse the voters and was fostered by prohibitionists to prevent repeal.

Drys and some wets said it was the only effective way to control the liquor traffic and would remove the profit incentive leading to many evils. Rep. Harry Graves of Georgetown said the drys would defeat submission altogether unless provision for a state monopoly was made.

Meanwhile, senate and house committees made reports on a number of important bills and resolutions proposing constitutional amendments.

There were only two votes in the senate state affairs committee opposing a favorable report on a bill already passed by the house extending the oil provision market law for two more years. The law expires in September.

The KING WHO QUIT for A RIGHT

POPULAR Prajadhikop I, former king of Siam, is a private citizen in a foreign land because he refused to relinquish an old hereditary right by which the king alone held power of life and death over his subjects. Absolute monarch of Siam for eight years, Prajadhikop submitted to constitutional government in 1932, but when the national assembly sought to amend the king's right to approve sentences of death or life imprisonment, he abdicated. His 11-year-old nephew, Ananda Mahidol, ascends the throne.

Soon Prajadhikop's features on Siam's stamps will be replaced by those of the new monarch. Until then, four different issues vaunt the features of the former ruler to the stamp world.

line. But it is likely that some firm will come forward soon in this territory to make building of homes possible under the federal plan.

Other methods of financing likewise will be made available. . . Personal credit and a steady job are of course necessary. The government will not approve a "black" loan or a loan to a fly-by-night type of individual who never holds a job long. There's no Santa Claus in the federal plan.

YET THE FEDERAL housing plans are the most feared of all the new measures—the most feared that is by those narrow-minded anti-new dealers who hope that the present administration will do nothing to perpetuate itself in office. There is nothing in sight which could more quickly restore employment. A depression always results which new construction is stagnated. It follows that a nation-wide wave of home and business construction would greatly relieve the unemployment situation. This would be as true in Pampa as in other places.

THE HOME buildings plans are ideal in the sense that private funds are to be used, but the mortgage backed by the government; the interest rate is lowered; and no taxation is necessary to pay for the government's part. As long as the government borrows huge sums, capital can flow into such things as road building—a desirable end but one that is not self-liquidating, that requires taxation, and that is non-productive. When a road is built, employment ceases except for relatively negligible maintenance. When money flows into private industry, it keeps turning and employment is continuous.

THE NECESSITY of making employment permanent is shown by the fact that we are fast developing a class of jobless. Children are growing up who have never seen their fathers in private employment. In Dallas during a recent month, 80 per cent of the births were to families registered for relief. This is not a good way to be born. There is nothing tainting about it, but the spectacle of a generation of relief-supported children is saddening and alarming. The fine American spirit of independence and personal initiative is absent under such conditions.

MARRIAGE IS normal and wholesome. But marriage is not in wholesome surroundings when relief is the sole financial background.

Hitler's sociologists figure that the best ages for marrying are 26 for men and 24 for women. This would be true if employment were normal. Physiologically, a somewhat earlier age is often recommended. Economically, the man of 30 today has often no more than obtained a financial standing—if he is spent 4 years in college—which can properly support a family.

District Track And Field Meet To Begin On Friday

More Than 400 Boys Are Expected To Compete

Athletes from 11 north Panhandle counties will arrive in Pampa Friday morning to compete in the District 2 Interscholastic League track and field meet. All events will be staged at Harvester field.

Preliminaries in a number of the events will be run off Friday morning beginning at 10:30 o'clock. The finals will begin at 2:30 o'clock. No admission will be charged.

The four winning athletes in each event in county meets are eligible to come to Pampa. Pampa high school is also eligible to enter the same number of athletes in each event.

Contestants will be here from nearly every high school in Oklahoma, Lipscomb, Hemphill, Roberts, Hutchinson, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Hansford, Donley and Armstrong counties. A dual pentathlon champion will be selected at the same time.

More than 400 contestants are expected to take part in the athletic events alone. Literary events, with more than twice that number of entrants, will be conducted Saturday.

The district was created last year and records made at that time will be marks for contestants to "shoot at" Friday.

An excellent track has been laid off for the speedsters. A new pit has been dug and filled with fresh sand for the jumping events. The javelin and discus contests will be on the football playing field. Spectators will be able to see all events from the grandstands.

Cage Rules May Eliminate Pivot And Center Jump

CHICAGO, April 3. (AP)—College basketball, a thriving sport that beamed one of its healthiest box office complexes in the season just passed, was called to a busy clinic today for a thorough examination that may result in major operations to remove the center jump and pivot post troubles from its system.

The clinic was in charge of some 225 "doctors," members of the national association of basketball coaches, who will hold a three day consultation over the "patient" and then report their conclusions and recommendations to the chief board of surgeons, the rules committee, which convenes in New York Saturday and Sunday.

Although a survey disclosed that nearly 50 suggestions for improvement of the game were to be made, only those involving the center jump and the pivot post play were expected to come in for serious consideration at the clinic. The general impression was that they, too, would be retained with strict modifications.

George S. Hamlin Of Unsound Mind Say Depositions

AMARILLO, April 3. (AP)—Depositions of two Californians who said they believed George S. Hamlin of unsound mind were read today in Hamlin's trial to the hammer slaying of his bride here last Jan. 4.

The deposition of Dr. N. J. Cleck, city physician of Oakland, Calif., said Hamlin suffered a mental disorder as a result of an accident while he was a fireman in Oakland.

Two depositions previously had been read and eight others were yet to be offered in an effort to bolster the defendant's plea of insanity.

The shoes of L. D. Lewis, former Amarillo railroad man, were measured in the court room and were found to be of different width but of the same length as footprints found in the Hamlin yard after the slaying.

Sought as a defense witness since the first of the trial, Lewis yesterday testified that he did not know the Hamlins and had never been at their home.

Phillips 66 Of Borger To Have Baseball Team

The Pampa Road Runners have started taking their workouts more seriously. They are hitting the ball more fiercely, fielding with more determination, and cutting down on the "horse-play" found in every ball park during the spring training season.

The reason—Phillips "66" Oilers of Borger have definitely thrown their hat in the ring for the 1935 season. Phillips was an uncertain entry in the Panhandle baseball world. Now the decision to form a team has been definitely reached.

Spring training was scheduled to be opened yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Alamo stadium has been repaired and the field put in playing condition. Reflectors have been repainted and new bulbs installed.

George Dye was elected manager to replace Red Lowrance, who piloted the team to first place in the Borger tournament and second place in the Pampa tournament last year. Dye will play some this season, but it is expected that he will confine his duties mostly to directing the team.

Practically the same setup as last year will take the field. Those missing will be "Pee Wee" Bass, pitcher; "Joe Brown" Deck, outfielder, and Parker Perry, outfielder. Bass and Deck have joined the House of David and Perry has moved to Dallas.

Ordered to report from last year's team were Surface, Jackson, Mulrooney, Francis, Underhill, Ellis, Lowrance, Parquhar, Haddock, Dillon, Christian and Dye.

Manager Dye has issued a call to players interested in trying for a place on the team. It is his plan to bolster the club with local players.

New uniforms have been ordered. They will arrive in time for the opening game.

ALLISON AND FAVORITES WIN FIRST ROUND TENNIS MATCHES

HOUSTON, April 3. (AP)—Wilmer Allison, ranked No. 1 among United States tennis players, led an unbroken parade of favorites into the third round of the River Oaks tournament today.

Other survivors included the seeded list.

The third round encounter between Jake Hess of Houston and Hal Surface of Kansas City was looked to for today's fireworks. Hess romped through two matches yesterday to catch up with the field, trouncing M. J. Laney of Louisiana State university, 6-2, 8-6, and eliminating Bill Francis of Rice 6-0, 6-0. Surface defeated George Dullin of Austin in a second rounder, 6-1, 5-0.

Allison also had to handle two adversaries to catch up. He defeated Jack Harris of Chicago and Donald Longcope of Houston with the loss of only one game to each.

Bryan Biley Grant of Atlanta had to work for his first set against Arthur Trum of Houston, winning 7-5, but that was the end of Trum's resistance and Grant ran out the match without loss of a game.

Berkeley Bell of New York eliminated T. O. Rayoll of Vancouver, 6-3, 6-1.

Martin Buxby of Miami, Fla., defeated Charles Cook of Houston, 6-1, 6-0.

Gilbert Hall of East Orange, N. J., advanced over Charlie Sloan of Houston, 6-0, 6-4.

Wilbur Hess of Houston won from Haseball Walthall of San Antonio, 6-1, 6-3.

Family Of Seven Needs Clothing

Furniture and clothing are badly needed by a family of seven who lost everything they possessed in a fire Saturday night which destroyed the two-room house in which they were living. Pampans desiring to help the family can leave their offerings at the home of John Kiser, 702 East Denver street.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Brown and their five children were away from home when the fire was discovered. He has been working on an FERA job here and at the present time is unable to re-furnish a home or re-clothe his family.

The children in need of clothing are three boys, 10, 6 and 3 years of age, and two girls, 8 and 2 years old.

The family has located a house in which to live. The local relief office gave a mattress, sheets and pillow cases, and blankets that could be spared.

John Sturgeon is in Tyler on business.

BRIEFS FROM TRAINING CAMPS

By The Associated Press

JACKSON, Miss., April 3. (AP)—Clyde Castleman, who hadn't even been heard of by the Giants until last year, appears to have drawn the job as starting pitcher along with the "big four." Castleman came to the Giants in 1934 at the suggestion of Chuck Dressen, then Nashville manager.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Col. Jacob Ruppert, the owner, appears satisfied with the 1935 edition of the Yankees at the conclusion of their training period here. He said as much before leaving for New York and added that he didn't believe the absence of Babe Ruth would affect the club.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Dazzy Vance, trying to make a comeback with the old club, the Dodgers, has struck what he thinks is a winning combination in a uniform. He came out dressed in Lefty O'Doul's pants and Van Mungo's shirt, the former for hitting and the latter for pitching. Incidentally the dazzer showed enough "stuff" to convey the idea he may earn a regular job.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Rookie Wayne Osborne gets his chance on the mound for the Pirates today. He will try to go the full seven innings against the Galveston team in the "Bucs" half of a double bill which also will see the Chicago White Sox battling the locals.

'FRIENDLESS' PAROLED

AUSTIN, April 3. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he had granted clemencies to 21 convicts, about half of whom were negroes and whose names would be announced soon. Most of them were "friendless, penniless men," the governor said, the minimum terms of most had expired, and, in some instances, recommendations of the board of pardons and paroles for clemency had been on file for as long as three years.

JONES WON'T BE HOST NO 1 IN GOLF MEET

HE RULES AS 6 TO 1 FAVORITE TO WIN AT AUGUSTA

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 3. (AP)—The crack brigade of American professional golf brings the long winter campaign to a brilliant climax with a double objective in view, starting tomorrow in the opening round of the Augusta National Golf club's invitation tournament.

The money-players not only expect to frustrate the second annual come-back attempt of Bobby Jones, one-time world champion, but to give old man par a fearful shellacking on the course designed by Jones and considered one of the finest golfing tests in the United States.

It is entirely possible, of course, that the professionals may prove to be wrong on both counts.

Jones, shunning the responsibilities he played as No. 1 host here a year ago and doing his best to get back into condition, may suddenly find himself when the tournament pressure is turned on tomorrow. The galleries, as always, will be pulling for the Georgian to come through. So far as his practice rounds have revealed, however, Bob is not within four or five shots of his best game.

Sentiment alone counts for the unique fact that Jones, although this is only his second tournament in five years today ruled a 6 to 1 favorite.

Gene Sarazen has hammered himself down to 7 to 1 and the odds are reasonably short on such other pro favorites as Paul Runyan, Horton Smith, the 1934 winner, Tommy Armour, Ed Dudley, Craig Wood, Henry Picard and Olin Dutra, the National Open king.

Sarazen is the hot choice of the experts. Gene has concentrated to such an extent lately on his golf that he is back in championship form. He has carded four straight rounds of 65, 72, 67, 67 over the Augusta layout for a total of 271. That is 17 shots under par.

At least a dozen professionals have been cracking 70 with some regularity. So have several amateurs, including W. Lawson Little, Jr., holder of the British and American championships; Leland Hamman, Texan who holds the Transmississippi; Johnny Dawson of Chicago, a "business man" player, and Gus Moreland and Jack Munger, Texas stars.

Three Favorites Are Defeated In North-South Meet

PINEHURST, N. C., April 3. (AP)—Three pre-tournament favorites, Dick Chapman, Jack Ryerson and M. Pierpont Warner, were out of the picture today as 16 survivors took up their clubs for the second round of the North and South amateur golf championship.

Chapman, Greenwich, Conn., star, lost to Johnny Johnson of Lumberton, N. C., one up; Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., player, bowed to Howard Tyrone of Elmira, N. Y., 6 and 4, and Warner, 1932 champion, was eliminated by R. P. Davidson of Washington, 1 up.

George T. Dunlap, Jr., of Kew Gardens, N. Y., the defending champion, was paired today with W. Stanton Barbour of Benningville, N. Y., and Ray Leshan of Providence, R. I., the medalist, was pitted against Dick Lunn, former District of Columbia champion. Dunlap trounced L. E. Coker of Providence, R. I., 5 and 4 and Leshan defeated Robert Lowery of Shamokin, Pa., 2 and 1.

Cleveland Picked To Win American League's Pennant

New York's Yankees Chosen to Finish In 2nd Place

NEW YORK, April 3. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, who last year failed to muster a single first place vote and only one for second, have been selected by the baseball experts to win the American league pennant in a wide-open race involving five of the eight clubs.

Although the Indians will be without the services of their ace shortstop, Bill Knickerbocker, at the start of the season, 25 of the 76 sports writers participating in the ninth annual Associated Press pennant poll selected Walter Johnson's outfit as the team to beat by the small margin of two votes over the New York Yankees.

The surprise of the balloting was the failure of the Detroit Tigers to run one, two. The 1934 champions, who were picked by five experts to win last year, were favored by only 13 writers and just managed to nose out the Boston Red Sox, who received 12 first-place votes.

The three other votes to lead the league went to the Philadelphia Athletics. In contrast to the National league, in which the Cardinals and Giants were the heavy favorites to finish either first or second, the Tigers dominated the second-place voting in the junior circuit. They received 35 votes, nearly twice as many as their nearest rivals, the Yankees. Cleveland was picked by 17 for runner-up honors.

The wide diversion of opinion was noted in the voting for the Athletics and the Red Sox. Connie Mack's team, with Jimmie Fox placed behind the plate, received votes for every position while the Sox were picked for every one except eighth.

There was little argument as to the last three positions. The Washington Senators received 41 of the sixth-place votes, the St. Louis Browns, 49 of the seventh-place ballots, and the Chicago White Sox, 64 to again finish in the cellar.

Invitation Track And Field Meet Here Called Off

An invitation track and field meet, scheduled for yesterday afternoon, was called off by Coach Odus Mitchell because of the unpromising weather. Teams from White Deer, Miami, Mobeetie, Wheeler, and LeFors had been invited to the meet.

Coach Mitchell took his thinclads out to Harvester field for a brief but stiff workout. He announced that he would definitely select the team that will represent Pampa high school in the district track and field meet this afternoon.

Entrants in most of the events have been tentatively named, however, Coach Mitchell has not been satisfied with the work of his boys in some of the field events. Run-offs will be staged in the broad jump, high jump, shot put, pole vault, and maybe one or two track events.

Weather has been against the thinclads this season. In the past, many invitation meets have been held previous to the district trials. This year only two major attractions were announced, and one was called off because of a sandstorm. The Harvesters have been somewhat handicapped by Coach Mitchell having to divide his time between spring football training and track and field. He has been the busiest man on the campus for the past two months.

RAID BILL INTRODUCED
AUSTIN, April 3. (AP)—Furishings of gambling houses seized in raids would be assigned to state institutions under a bill introduced in the house today by Rep. Ed Ehornton of Galveston. It would require that all paraphernalia seized in raids be held for court order.

House wrecking companies at Asheville, N. C., say property owners there have demolished more than 500 buildings within two years to escape paying taxes on them.

RANGERS MAY STAY IN CORPUS CHRISTI TO PROBE ELECTION

DALLAS CITY MANAGER WILL LEAVE OFFICE

ENTIRELY NEW TICKET IS ELECTED IN METROPOLIS

By The Associated Press.

Talk of Ranger investigations and contests following yesterday's bitter municipal election in Corpus Christi centered political attention on that city today while other towns in the state looked back on halting that was, on the whole, quiet by comparison.

The voting in Corpus Christi was carried out under the watchful eyes of half a dozen Texas Rangers who patrolled the balloting places. The voting itself was entirely peaceful though political circles accepted it as more than a probability that there would be contests, and Police Chief A. R. Mace, a supporter of the losing A. C. McCaughan ticket, said the rangers would remain there to investigate the election.

Win By 300 Votes.

The Rangers kept their own counsel on the point, but one of their number, Al Lee, whose fight Monday with Maxwell Dunne, political leader and supporter of the ticket headed by Dr. H. R. Giles, precipitated demands that the Rangers be recalled, said that "anything still might happen." Austin officials have denied that the Rangers were there originally on account of the election, but Adjutant General Carl Nesbitt said they had uncovered evidence of illegal distribution of poll tax receipts.

Dr. Giles and his ticket, on the face of complete unofficial returns, won by a margin of less than 300 votes over the McCaughan ticket in the heaviest vote ever recorded in Corpus Christi.

Dallas voters at the same time called in a complete new administration, pledged to the dismissal of City Manager John N. Edy. The citizens association ticket, opposing the administration, elected all of its nine council aspirants by a vote of approximately three to two.

By way of contrast to those hotly-waged contests, both the Texas and the Arkansas municipalities of the arkana practically disregarded the fact that an election was going on. Only 158 voters went to the polls in Texarkana, Texas, and 137 on the Arkansas side. Candidates nominated in democratic primaries a month ago were approved.

Victory Margin Small.

The civic league, which organized the city manager form of government in Waco, turned back a challenge from new deal independent candidates for the city commission in a warmly contested election, winning by 700 votes. Joe Hale and Sam Knight were the successful commission candidates.

Winners in the Dallas commission race were George A. Sanguet, J. Willis Gunn, Emil Coughlin, D. R. Graham, Cleve Reasch, James F. Cochran, P. M. Brinker, Max Hahn, and George Sergeant.

Edy, told of the result of the vote, said he would present his resignation today. He said he was "naturally disappointed" at the decision in an election in which his tenure was a chief issue, but "not amazed."

"Such vicissitudes are to be expected in the life of every man who has made a profession of city managing," he said.

An extensive shakeup among department heads at the Dallas city hall was forecast by members of the winning party.

The Fort Worth administration retained a council majority, re-electing Mayor Van Zandt Jarvis, Willard Burton, Dr. W. R. Thompson, William Monnig, and T. J. Harrell. Roy C. Murphy, an administration candidate, was elected. The people's progressive league candidates who won were W. J. Hammond, Texas Christian university professor; J. C. Martin, and Dr.

Arthur Brown. A $485,000 bond issue to secure a $643,700 PWA loan and grant for a new library was defeated by more than 2 to 1.

Mayor C. L. Johnson was re-elected at Abilene.

Cleburne approved a $29,500 bond issue for a swimming pool, which had been opposed by several ministers.

Tyler cast the heaviest vote in city election history there, 2,200, to re-elect Frank James and Oscar Burton and elect John Smiley as city commissioners. Independent candidates trailed. Mayor J. H. Handorf of Palestine was elected without opposition and Willard L. Johnson, Ben Jordan and Albert W. Elrod were named to the city commission.

Former Mayor Falls.

Olney commissioners were re-elected without opposition.

G. A. McCreight was defeated for re-election as commissioner at Longview. Horace Glover led the ticket with Lawrence Birdsong and T. L. N. Rawlinson also being elected.

Former Mayor J. M. Williamson, mayor of Cisco for 16 years prior to 1930 when he did not run, failed in an attempt to make a comeback. J. T. Berry, running for a third term, retained the office and his entire ticket was elected.

Roy H. Laird was re-elected mayor of Kilgore without opposition.

Tom W. Perkins defeated the incumbent, Joe E. Largent, for mayor of McKinney and carried his council ticket with him. He is a former mayor.

J. S. Murchison, after being out of the office for six years, was elected again as mayor of Corsicana, defeating Dr. R. C. Curtis, member of the commission, and E. M. Palmer, former commissioner.

Four new commissioners were elected at Borger. They were C. H. McClelland, L. A. Thompson, Henry Knight, John R. Miller, Mayor J. A. Robinson was the sole survivor of the present administration. Miller, former mayor and leader of the new faction, fought for election on a demand for lower light and water rates. A total of 1,306 ballots were cast out of the 1,500 paid poll taxes.

Borger voters decided against two proposed amendments to the city charter proposed by the administration which would have provided that the city not pay bills to anyone owing the city and that any person delinquent in taxes could not hold a city commissioner's post.

Kirbyville elected J. A. Herndon, lumberman, mayor, and returned all Aldermen, M. M. Davis, J. M. Reed and T. E. Pearson. Bevis Skinner was re-elected city marshal.

Husband Shoots His Wife After Alleged Torture

KANSAS CITY, April 3. (AP)—An unusual story of being tortured by his wife to admit illicit relations with another woman was told to police here today by 77-year-old Herbert Hurd a few hours after he allegedly shot and critically wounded Mrs. Hurd.

Hurd was arrested fleeing from the home, clad only in pajamas, a pistol in his hand.

At the home Mrs. Hurd, 64, was found in bed, a bullet wound in the chest, another in the abdomen and two in the arm.

An investigation at police headquarters showed evidence that Hurd's feet had been burned a short time before his arrest.

There were cuts on Hurd's arms that Police Sergeant Samuel Higginbotham said might have been caused by wire binding.

Higginbotham said Hurd told him he had been burned, cut and beaten by Mrs. Hurd to make him write a long document which the officers found lying on a table in the home.

At police headquarters Hurd was quoted by the sergeant as saying he wrote the "confession" of three years of illicit love only because of the torture and that none of the story the document told was true.

No charges were filed against Hurd immediately.

'MANSION' OIL FIELD APPROVED IN CITY BALLOT

Legislature Acting To Halt March Of Derricks

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 3. (AP)—Municipal barriers to prevent drilling for oil in Oklahoma City proper were stricken today from 300 acres in the general vicinity of the state capitol, but in the statehouse itself proceedings were under way to halt the march of the derricks.

By a scant majority yesterday voters opened the new area to be developed as part of the broadening oil field which for six years has chugged away at the southeast back door of Oklahoma City.

The state supreme court today had under advisement a plea of anti-extensionists to take original jurisdiction in the extension battle and issue a restraining order against oil companies to prevent drilling in another recently opened zone.

The house of representatives yesterday passed a bill prohibiting drilling within three quarters of a mile of the capitol building, and Representative W. C. Coe of Oklahoma City said he would attempt to have it amended in the senate to forbid drilling around two state hospitals.

Four weeks ago a much larger section—1,050 acres—was voted into the oil zone.

The new extension's western edge lies within 400 feet of the limestone mansion occupied by Gov. E. W. Marland. Allowing for a 300 foot "buffer" within the drilling territory, a well might be sunk within 700 feet of the governor's home.

Officials figures on the three separate extension proposals yesterday show: 13,362 for, 11,689 against; 12,753 for, 11,718 against; 12,529 for, 11,618 against.

Voters in the northeast ward including the territory in question voted approximately 3 to 2 against the extension, and their northwest neighbors balloted about 2 to 1 against, but the crude oil tide was turned against them by the southern wards, especially the southeastern, which has rubbed elbows with derricks and harbored roustabouts since the field was discovered.

Lions Show Will Feature Favorite And Original Airs

The 1935 Lions musical show will include an opening overture embracing popular, original, and old favorite songs.

Other parts of the show are taking form under the general direction of John Sturgeon.

Cattle Rustling Goes Modern In Theft At Canyon

CANYON, April 3. (AP)—Cattle rustling, long-time menace to West Texas cattlemen, has gone modern. Sunday night a cow was stolen from the membership and the group of local girls at another practice Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The cast will meet at the cafeteria in the red building on the central school campus.

Other parts of the show are taking form under the general direction of John Sturgeon.

Miss Jean Daly was a visitor in LeFors last night.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, April 3. (AP)—Modest improvement in sugar shares during late dealings gave a slightly sweetened flavor to an otherwise sour market today. Leading industrial, utilities, rails and metals improved from the lows of the day but ended minor fractions to a point or so lower. The closing tone was easy. Sales aggregated 530,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 3. (AP)—Corn rose about 2 1/2 cents a bushel today to the highest price level since March 6.

Believe prevalent that a tight marketing situation might develop in regard to shipment of May delivery contracts for corn was largely responsible for broadening of speculative dealings in corn, with aggressive buying in evidence much of the time.

Corn closed strong, 1 1/2-2 1/2 cents above yesterday's finish, May 83 1/4-3/4, wheat 1/4-1/2 up, May 95 1/4-1/2, oats 1/4-1/2 advanced, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 12 cents.

Simon Says Nazi Air Force Is As Big As Briton's

LONDON, April 3. (AP)—Sir John Simon, foreign minister, revealed to the house of commons today that Reichsfuehrer Hitler told him in Berlin that Germany already has an air force as large as that of Great Britain.

Sir Charles William Cazyer, conservative, asked whether Hitler during his conversations with the foreign secretary "gave any indication of the present size or strength of the German air force."

FDR'S SON IS INVOLVED IN NAVY INQUIRY

CLAIM HE INTERCEDED FOR MAINE SHIP BUILDERS

BY PRESTON L. GROVER, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, April 3. (AP)—Evidence that a friend of James Roosevelt, son of the president, interceded at the White House for naval ship building jobs for the Bath (Maine) Iron Works corporation was introduced today at the senate munitions committee.

Previously, Chairman Nye had asserted that a "Japanese war scare" was stirred up to help pass every naval appropriation before congress.

A letter written by Roger S. MacGrath, agent of the New York Life Insurance company, to Louis McHenry Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt, said:

"The psychological effect of the administration awarding to the Bath Iron Works contracts for two new destroyers will be looked upon very favorably by the people of Maine, and will be very helpful in the up-building of the democratic party in this state."

The letter was dated July 12, 1933. Eugene Thibault, secretary-treasurer of the Bath Iron Works, described MacGrath as a "friend" of James Roosevelt.

Thibault declared MacGrath was "just an insurance agent trying to build up business."

Meanwhile, Eddie Rickenbacker, World War flying ace, declined an invitation to appear before the house military committee to testify on legislation to strengthen the army air corps, he expressed the opinion another trip to Washington would be fruitless.

Mrs. E. W. Voss is spending a week with her sister in El Reno, Okla.

PAMPA'S FIRST BIG REFRIGERATION SHOW WILL OPEN ON THURSDAY

ECONOMY AND HEALTH GO WITH ELECTRICAL REFRIGERATION AS PROVIDED BY 1935 BOX LINESQUANTITY BUYING AND LONG KEEPING ARE FEATURES

Appetizing meals, in the preparation of which are combined the magical advantages of the modern stoves and the modern automatic refrigerators, are quickly prepared by today's housewife.

Pampa's first electrical refrigeration show which will open tomorrow morning, will demonstrate the advantages of refrigeration. The event will be held from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Thursday and Friday at the show room of the Southwestern Public Service company.

The 1935 electrical refrigerators are gems of beauty, both in lines and finish, and interiorly are arranged for classification of foods as to temperature. They are also arranged for maximum storage in the space provided, with exceedingly clever spacing of shelves.

Although super-powered for fast freezing of ice cubes and frozen delicacies, they have a wide range of operating temperatures and achieve an economy not previously obtainable.

The price range is well below that of last year. In fact, the steady reduction of prices, coupled with refinements in operating economy and efficiency, has been a sensation in the American manufacturing field.

Thousands of electric refrigerators are in use in Pampa and this territory. There is a good market for used boxes as well as the new lines.

NEXT WAR MAY SEE WIDE USE
OF POISON GASTear Gas and Smoke
Will Be Used to
Blind SailorsBY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE,
Associated Press Science Editor.

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—In case of war the sea-fight face a new kind of attack, the blinding of ships crews by combined use of tear gas and smoke.

The tactics are described by Major Paul Murphy, formerly director of experiments in the chemical defense experimental station, Portsmouth, England.

He points out that, in principle, even this use of modern police tactics is now new. Four years ago in the English channel a British fleet took part in a fight in which quicklime was drifted by the wind over the enemy with the object of "disturbing their vision."

That was probably the beginning of modern gas warfare, which, on land, did not start until the World War, although it had been considered in Napoleonic and other earlier campaigns.

The tear gas attack proposed for sea-fighting is a quadruple-action combination. Major Murphy proposes that lacrimatory smoke curtains be dropped from planes, not upon ships, but across ships courses. A series of them would be dropped.

"In the cloud so created," he writes in the Army, Navy, and Air Force Gazette, "the personnel exposed would be blinded in one or all of three ways; by the smoke, by lacrimation, or by the enforced closing of their respirators."

"While this was going on the fourth factor of attack would enter war planes diving to attack from above.

"To maintain such a lacrimatory smoke barrage for more than a short period," he states, "would be too expensive in machines and material. But even a short submergence, timed for the critical moment when airplanes, launched on their steep dive from high altitudes, are about to strike their prey, might lead to a drastic reduction in the efficiency of anti-aircraft gunnery."

"The attack might even be made while the assaulted ship was still immersed in smoke; for looking up through smoke while immersed in it gives less visibility than looking down through such a smoke screen from a height."

"I have suggested a lacrimatory smoke curtain, but other methods could be employed which would not necessitate the descent of the smoke-screening airplanes from a high altitude."

"It would be a strange completion of the circle if the first naval attempt with quicklime to 'disturb the enemy's vision' should culminate at last in the use of this method of 'blinding' with the latest weapon of war."

Major Murphy doubts that naval craft can be successfully attacked at sea by poison gas alone. But he holds that mustard gas, which contaminates everything it touches, poses a problem in "decontaminating" the ship. He thinks ships will have to be designed with the purpose of making it easy to clean off the mustard gas.

PINCH! PINCH!
WILDWOOD, N. J. (AP)—The police department was called out to make a big "pinch" at the home of Mayor Doris Bradway.

A 14-pound lobster, something of a pincher himself, got loose from the basket in which he was presented to the mayor after her inspection of the fishing fleet. The mayor's cook looked, fled and screamed for help.

The police made the pinch without getting pinched.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Eversole of Grandfield, Okla., are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Nance.

Mrs. C. C. Fitzgerald and baby left Pampa hospital for their home in Magic City yesterday.

JAYCEES WILL DINE WITH MEN
AT GASOLINE PLANT ON TUESDAY
—PRE-CENTENNIAL AID PLEDGEDValue of Building of Homes Told by Bratton

Pampa Jaycees will have their regular luncheon at the Schaffer gasoline plant next Tuesday, it was announced yesterday.

A Dutch lunch will be served in cafeteria style and the Jaycees will study the operation of the plant and will meet the employees. The group will meet at the corner of Frost at Kingsmill and will go in a body. Business men are invited to join them.

On next Friday evening, the Jaycees will go to Skellytown to attend a school carnival.

That money spent in a lumber yard has the greatest turnover of any expenditure for major projects was stated to the group yesterday by W. A. Bratton. Mr. Bratton made an interesting talk on how the building of a home furnishes employment in scores of lines and helps maintain general prosperity.

Similarly, cessation of home owning and building disrupts the economies of a nation.

Dr. John M. Hooper was program chairman. Jack Dunn reported on a Pre-Centennial meeting in which city-wide cooperation was pledged. Carl Benefield was received as a new member.

Mrs. Ray Carter of LeFors was a Pampa visitor Tuesday.

Nothing Done to Build Gas Line

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—As far as Secretary Ickes knows, Texas has done nothing more about the matter of getting a $50,000,000 PWA loan for construction of a natural gas pipe line from the Panhandle of Texas to St. Louis and Detroit.

Governor Allred sent a lawyer up here to talk about it, and I referred him to our legal staff," Ickes said at a press conference.

"I've had no report since," R. B. Anderson, Texas tax commissioner, and Scott Gaines, first assistant to the state attorney general, spent several days here recently conferring on legality of the proposed corporate setup which would administer the huge loan if it were obtained. They returned to Texas under the impression the state legislature would pass a law creating the corporation as soon as PWA officials here approved.

ODDITY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The man on the telephone asked for odds, but the odds are all against him getting anything out of his bet.

Police Captain Daniel Harbitt took the caller's bet, tricked him into disclosing the telephone number of the bookmaker, then raided the cigar store where the number was listed.

PAMPA LEADS TERRITORY FOR
AUTO BUYINGCounty Is Far Ahead of Amarillo—180 Cars Are Bought In March.

Is there another community in the southwest that, for its size, buys as many automobiles as Pampa? This is to be doubted, in the opinion of local observers.

There were 180 new motor vehicles registered here during March. Amarillo, another leading automobile center, registered only 233, or far less than Pampa by comparison.

The drought, dust storms and other factors seemed to have no bearing on buying of automobiles. The city and community are full of the shining, attractive 1935 models. The parking problem remains one of Pampa's leading topics of conversation.

McLean Judging
Teams Win 4th
Title At Tech

M'LEAN, April 3.—McLean F. F. A. boys again took off sweepstakes honors in a hotly contested contest between 33 teams from 41 schools at Texas Tech Monday. This makes the fourth sweepstakes championship won at Texas Tech in seven years of competition.

McLean's livestock team also won $30 in cash prizes by the American Horse and Mule association for highest team in judging in this event. Tulla was second in horses and mules.

McLean's farm shop team also won a trophy for the third time in six years. It is now their permanent property. They were first in soldering, saw filing, concrete and hardware identification.

Chas. Weaver was the high man of the contest, Glyn Fugh second, and Geo. Chambers third. All three were from McLean. Weaver also was high scorer in most of the divisions of the contest.

McLean's poultry team, after losing four of their best judges due to sickness, took second place, with the aid of their capable substitutes Vernon King and James Scott. J. L. Mann, the other team member, was the only regular that was able to make the trip. Scott was high man in the exams. They were also high team in examination and leghorn judging.

The dairy team was 5th with T. B. Masterson, first scorer in Jerseys. Bill Webb and Kid McCoy were the other team members.

The members of the livestock team were A. Ledbetter, Vern Harris, and Cecil Jones.

HOW AND WHEN TO PUNISH NEGRO SLAVE TOLD IN TEXAS PLANTER'S BIG LIST OF 'PLANTATION RULES'

Working and Eating Rules for Slaves Set Forth

(Note: This is one of a series of articles taken from the 300 special collections of family archives in the University of Texas library. The collections cover all periods of Texas history from the earliest days of the Spanish missionaries in the province of Texas, through the colonial era to the present. This series of articles presents interesting excerpts from a number of these family collections, some chosen for their intrinsic significance in the development of the state of Texas, others for their purely human interest in portraying personalities, economic conditions and social intercourse.)

AUSTIN, April 3.—The shadows cast over the south by the Civil war, purported to end the wrongs engendered by slavery, have not yet faded away, and the racial problem has instead become national in scope. It was pointed out by Abner J. Strobel, whose thin volume of reminiscences of "The Old Plantations and Their Owners of Brazoria County, Texas," was published a few years ago.

"I make no apology for slavery," he wrote. "It was not originally a southern institution. Several of the southern states at a very early period prohibited the importation of slaves. But slavery in the south to the negro was a blessing and not a curse."

Whether Mr. Strobel's opinion is substantiated by fact with regard to the mass of plantations in the south is a moot question. But surely, had all the slave owners of the south been as considerate of their slaves as one Texas planter, Ebert Tait, of Columbus, the taking up arms in defense of negro rights would have been his imperative.

It was not long after Austin's colonization project that the foundations were laid for large cotton and sugar plantations in Texas, plantations that in time grew to immense proportions, of thousands and tens of thousands of acres. All these were worked by slave labor. But care was taken to provide adequate living quarters, food, working hours, and, in many cases, churches and places of recreation.

A manuscript of "plantation rules" for the administration of slave labor, prepared years before the Civil war by C. W. Tait, a plantation owner of Columbus, Texas, is deposited in the family archives of the University of Texas library. In those regulations, overseers were instructed to be firm yet mild, reasonable yet just. They were warned not to be too rigid in discipline, and to be considerate of infirmities. Profanity was not to be allowed, and clean clothes were required every Monday morning.

PLANTATION RULES.

General Rules.

1st. Never punish a negro when in a passion. No one is capable of properly regulating the punishment for an offense when angry.

2nd. Never require of a negro what is unreasonable. But when you give an order be sure to enforce it with firmness, yet mildly.

3rd. Always attempt to govern by reason in the first instance, and resort to force only when reason fails, and then use no more force than is absolutely necessary to procure obedience.

4th. In giving orders always do it in a mild tone, and try to leave the impression on the mind of the negro that you say is the result of reflection.

5th. In giving orders be sure that you are understood, and let the negro know that he can always ask for an explanation if he does not understand you.

6th. When you are under the necessity of punishing a negro, be sure to let him know for what offense he is punished.

7th. Never act in such a way as to leave the impression on the mind of the negro that you take pleasure in his punishment, your manner should indicate that his punishment is painful.

8th. A regular and systematic plan of operation is greatly promotive of easy government. Have all matters therefore, as far as possible reduced to a system.

9th. Negroes lack the motive of self-interest to make them careful and diligent, hence the necessity of great patience in the management of them. Do not therefore notice too many small omissions of duty.

10th. The maxim of making basic slow in plantation operations, is equally applicable to ordinary vocations of life. The meaning of which is not by attempting to do too much, to overwork and consequently injure your hands. Recollect that the journey of life is a long and at best a tedious one. The traveler who wishes to make a long and safe trip, always travels in regular and moderate stages. Do not kill the goose to obtain the golden egg.

11th. Always require the negroes to eat their breakfasts before they go to work.

12th. From the 1st of October to the 1st of April they must be ready to go to work at daylight, stopping at 12 M. long enough to eat their dinners, or as long as one hour according to circumstances.

13th. Never require field work of a woman, until the expiration of four weeks after confinement, and then permit her to come home to her child between breakfast and dinner, at dinner, and between dinner and night, until the child is seven months old. After that once a day, until the child is a year old or weaned.

14th. Every overseer on taking charge of the plantation to take an inventory of the effects &c on the place and to do the same before leaving.

15th. No profane or obscene language to be allowed among the negroes.

16th. Every negro cabin to be inspected every Sunday morning to see that it is kept clean. Every negro to appear in the field on Monday morning in clean clothes.

17th. The negroes are never to be allowed to leave the premises, unless by special permission, and a written pass stating where they are permitted to go.

18th. No strange negro to be allowed to visit the plantation, unless by permission of the overseer, and a written pass from his master.

19th. Every overseer on taking charge of the plantation to take an inventory of the effects &c on the place and to do the same before leaving.

Flames Destroy Abandoned Car

Pampa's total estimated fire loss for the month of March was $1,100 and not $11,000, as was erroneously stated in a story appearing in Monday's issue of the Pampa Daily News.

At 2 o'clock Tuesday morning the fire department made the first run of the new month, when they were called to put out a fire in an automobile, apparently abandoned, on a road west of the city limits.

Fire had completely destroyed the automobile, when the firemen arrived. Only the front tires remained undamaged. No person was about the blaze to give the fire department any information about the automobile's owner, or how the fire started. It is believed that the fire originated in the engine, as the firemen discovered that sand had been thrown over it, apparently in an effort to put out a fire.

Dr. C. D. Hunter, returning to Pampa after a call, noticed the blazing car, a 1934 Graham-Paige sedan, and notified the fire department. No trace of the owner had been found by county officers this afternoon. A 1935 license plate on the sedan bore an out-of-county number.

GERMAN YOUTH DON'T DESIRE WAR, A. P. TOLD

Youth Militaristic But Not Warlike, Leader Says

Does the emphasis upon soldierly bearing foster militarism in Germany? Won't the young man who is taught hero worship want to test his prowess some day on the field of battle? And what of the danger that blind obedience and subordination may kill individual initiative and responsibility? These questions, agitating many an anxious father and mother in Germany today, were presented to Balduur Von Schirach, reich youth leader, by Louis P. Lochner, chief of the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press. Von Schirach's views are expressed in the following interview.

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)
BERLIN, April 3 (AP)—German youth does not desire war, its 28 year old leader, Balduur Von Schirach, said today. On the contrary, he contends, despite its belligerence, it craves nothing more than international peace.

Von Schirach is Reichsfuehrer Hitler's chosen leader for the 6,000,000 German boys and girls who are banded in Nazi youth organizations. In his opinion, the power of youth is much more important for deciding great political issues than the experience of age.

"In contrast to many other states which began to train their youth in the use of arms at the early age of 14," he said, "German youth isn't trained militarily at all before entering the army. Our sports are on the whole confined to gymnastics, calisthenics, athletics and movements by formations in fields and forests. Besides there is a very limited amount of training in shooting with pop guns."

"I should favor this sort of defensive sport even if Germany were surrounded by completely unarmed neighbors, for the simple reason that the tendency of this form of education is peaceful and humane. We have no other desire except to make our youth healthy and happy. To do so, however, we must also train their bodies."

"Our soldierly spirit has nothing in common with militarism. By a soldierly attitude we mean training the young generation to realize the great human ideals of discipline, fidelity and comradeship. Every youth leader has plenty of opportunities to test his qualities within the large Hitler youth movement. Military honors don't tempt him, for he finds full satisfaction in the exemplary fulfillment of the duties assigned to him, in other words in deeds of peace such as are offered by our great athletic meetings, our encampments and our vocational contests."

"German youth would be mad to desire war. Our youth has experienced the terrible results of war much too intensely, and has been compelled to think constantly of the results of war, for it ever to want, from an unwarranted craving for military honors, to destroy the structure of peaceful labor that we all, from leader to the smallest youngster, are trying to erect in Germany."

"If it is true that no youth organization in the world so trains its young people in obedience as the Hitler youth movement. Orders by any official are carried out immediately and unquestioningly. The Hitler youth is, however, not only the most obedient youth in the world—it is also the most independent."

Even the 12-year old leader of a small sub-division of but a few boys has an area of responsibility within which he must not only carry out the orders from the top, but also give evidence of his own initiative and energy at making decisions. For the little youthful leader and his subordinates his decisions are as important in their way and his effectiveness as the decrees of a minister are in the life of the state."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of calomel water, or laxative or other clearing stuff and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they don't. They only move the bowels and that's about all. The reason for your downcast mood is not in your bowels. It's in your liver. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Gas often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and fat. Your whole system is out of kilter.

It takes these road, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resort to a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

WHEELER AND CHILDRESS WILL BE FIRST COUNTIES IN 1935 SHELTERBELT TREE PLANTING

Preliminary field studies have just been completed by investigators in the plains shelterbelt organization, according to Paul M. Roberts, acting director, Lincoln, Neb. These studies will be assembled in a comprehensive report and used as the basis for conducting the field work of the project.

Moisture is clearly the primary limiting factor in the planting of trees in the zone chosen for this project, and the selection of proper soil types is the major problem in this connection, since soil is the medium through which moisture is furnished to the tree roots. A soil survey has been made, and records compiled, to serve as a basis for the final adjustments in the boundaries of the zone and the determination of specific sites for shelterbelts within the zone.

Surveys of native vegetation have also been made, particularly with regard to trees that can be used as a source of seed in producing nursery stock suited to the conditions under which planting is to be done. The growth and history of existing plantations have also been investigated.

Records of the weather bureau and other government bureaus, particularly those of the department of agriculture, also records of research work carried on by state agricultural colleges, extension services, and other state departments, have been studied so that the present investigative work in the field could be correlated with scientific data accumulated in the past.

Sites for shelterbelts to be planted this spring have been selected. They are located in the following counties:

Texas—Childress, Wheeler.

Oklahoma—Jackson, Harmon, Greer, Kiowa, Washita, Beckham, Custer, Roger Mills, Dewey, Ellis, Woodward, Major, Woods, Harper, Beaver.

Kansas—Kiowa, Pratt, Kingman, Edwards, Stafford, Pawnee, Barton.

Nebraska—Red Willow, Frontier, Custer, Antelope, Holt.

North Dakota—Dickey, LaMoure, Logan, Sully, Kidder, Foster, Wells, Eddy, Benson, Towner, Rolette.

These are all within the limits of a zone, the present location of which has been determined in accordance with the investigations of the past winter. In some states the planting sites will be grouped more than in others, but the areas to be planted in each will be the same so far as conditions permit. The exterior limits of the zone itself are subject to adjustment, and, pending final adjustment, some experimental planting may be done outside them. It has been necessary to select land for the 1935 plantings that has been in cultivation during the past year, since sufficient time has not elapsed since the establishment of the project to permit of the kind of advance soil preparation that is necessary. The importance of selecting properly cultivated land is emphasized by the unusually low supply of moisture in the ground at this time. The area to be planted will be limited this year by the amount of planting stock that can be obtained from existing nurseries, and therefore will necessarily be small.

Ralph White and children of Burk Burnett were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Pierson over the week-end.

Mayor Kelly Of Chicago Given Huge Majority

CHICAGO, April 3 (AP)—Edward J. Kelly, democrat who once swung a pick-axe for the sanitary district, was elected mayor of Chicago in Tuesday's election by 798,150 votes, smashing all records for a mayoral candidate in Chicago.

Torpedo Strikes U. S. Cruiser In Naval Accident

SAN PEDRO, Calif., April 3 (AP)—Struck by a dud torpedo, the U. S. S. Northampton ploughed through fleet maneuvers today as though nothing had happened.

The 10,000-ton cruiser carried a sizeable but unimportant dent in her steel plates as a memento of the accident which might have resulted disastrously had the torpedo carried its warhead load of TNT.

The 45-knot torpedo crashed into 50 yards, the 56-year-old mayor dealt a crushing defeat to his opponents, Emil C. Wetten, republican, and Newton Jenkins, independent, with an avalanche of democratic votes that totaled 75.94 per cent of the ballots cast.

So great was the mayor's victory that there was talk in some quarters that the national organization of his party may consider him as possible vice presidential timber in the national election in 1936.

Mayor Kelly's plurality over Wetten, his nearest opponent was 631,579. His majority over both his opponents was 543,533. Wetten managed to garner 166,571 and Jenkins 87,726. Kelly's vote was just about what democratic chieftains predicted it would be, and he carried with him into office the other democratic candidates—City Clerk Peter J. Brady and Gustave A. Brand as city treasurer. Brand ousted Jas. A. Kearns, the last republican holding a major office in Cook county.

the Northampton last week during target practice on the navy's drill grounds off San Clemente Island. It was fired from a distance of about 500 yards.

Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, could not be reached to give official details of the accident.

Accidents of this sort, navy men pointed out, are not unknown in torpedo practice. They regarded the loss of the torpedo with more concern than the mishap and attendant inconvenience to the Northampton.

Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, announced from his headquarters in Washington that a request had been received to place the Northampton in drydock at Mare Island to repair bent plates.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to take this means of expressing our heartfelt thanks to those who were so kind to us at the time of the death of our loving sister, aunt, and cousin, Rosa Schaffner.

Especially do we thank the many ladies who called at the time of her illness, those friends who sent the floral offerings, the group of singers who sang her favorite songs at the services; and Rev. L. Burey Shell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, for his comforting words.

Sinclair Party Wins A Partial Victory In Vote

By The Associated Press.
Progressives strengthened their position in Wisconsin and Upton Sinclair's epic party achieved partial success in California to high-light elections in various parts of the nation.

Two more progressives were elected to the Wisconsin state senate yesterday, bringing the LaFollette-sired party within one vote of the democratic majority in a show of force interpreted in some quarters as a vote of confidence in the third party that put Governor Philip LaFollette into office three months ago.

A republican assemblyman was elected from a normally republican district, but progressives maintained their wide margin of power in the lower house.

In Los Angeles, one city councilman was re-elected by the Sinclair forces, whose "end poverty in California" campaign failed to elect the former socialist governor a few months ago. Apparently from 10 to 15 epic council candidates were assured of positions in the run-off election May 7.

The epic movement, however, placed only three out of ten candidates in the municipal judgeship race.

R. E. Cooper was able to be taken to his home in Groom from Pampa hospital yesterday.

Hailstones As Big As Hen Eggs Hurt Crops At Temple

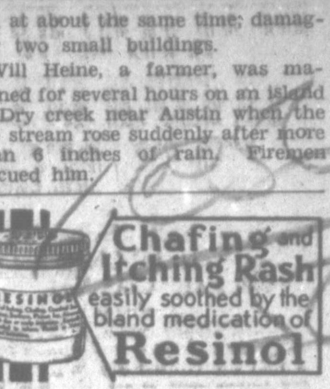

TEMPLE, April 3 (AP)—Damage was counted in thousands of dollars today as the result of hail and rain storms in this section of Texas late yesterday.

Hailstones as big as hen eggs fell for 40 minutes in Bell county east of here, damaging crops, fruit trees, houses, and automobile tops. Torrential rains accompanying the hail flooded creeks. An unidentified boy was swept into a deep ditch and through a drain culvert but was rescued.

Williamson county fruit was severely damaged by hail, heavy rain, and hard wind that swept on to Granger. Some hailstones at Madisonville measured two and a half inches in diameter. Considerable damage was reported there. Madisonville had a light hail.

A small tornado visited the Turnerville community on the Travis-Hays county line not far from Austin, at about the same time; damaging two small buildings.

Will Heine, a farmer, was mangled for several hours on an island in Dry creek near Austin when the stream rose suddenly after more than 6 inches of rain. Firemen rescued him.

PLANTING OF TARZAN BELT TO BE BEGUN

Shelter Belt Trees To Be Set Out in Childress and Wheeler Counties.

AMARILLO, April 3 (P) — The first of miniature man-made forests which the United States forest service hopes will check eroding winds which for an estimated 50,000,000 years have swept the midwest will be planted in the Texas Panhandle this month.

Two strips, each a half a mile long will be planted before April 1, John D. Jones of Wichita Falls, state director of the plains shelterbelt project, announces. One will be 6 miles west of Childress and the other in Wheeler county between Shamrock and Wellington.

Each strip will be 165 feet from fence to fence with trees planted 12 feet apart over about 130 feet. Tallest-growing trees will be placed in the middle, flanked by smaller ones and at the extreme edges by shrubby growth, creating a roof-like formation.

The tree belt program is getting away to a slow start in Texas because of a lack of seedlings and the lateness in perfecting a state organization. The next immediate problem of shelterbelt officials will be to make arrangements for seedlings to be planted next year.

"Seed has been obtained and if we can lease nurseries we will use relief labor to raise trees," Jones said.

Planting has started in Oklahoma under the direction of George R. Phillips, state director. He and his crew will be in charge of the Texas planting this spring as his organization is more nearly complete than the one in Texas.

The Texas-Oklahoma line splits in half the present tentative shelterbelt zone for those states. The belt includes only the eastern part of the Panhandle, embracing Lipscomb, Hemphill, Wheeler, Collingsworth, and Childress counties and the eastern sections of Ochiltree, Roberts, Gray, Donley, and Hall. The final designed area is to be determined by soil and moisture.

As now planned, shelterbelts eventually will do an area 100 miles wide extending from Texas to the Canadian border.

Initial plantings will be in the most favorable locations and the trees will be those common to the localities. The government will obtain a 7-year lease on each strip with an option of buying at the end of that period. Accurate surveys and correct titles will be required.

Strips will be planted at right angles to prevailing winds whenever possible. No trees will be plant-

GREAT RICHES

by Mateel Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: James Stinson, III, as the last of the Stinson male line in New Concord, Kas., has occupied a prominent position in New Concord society from birth. He has lived in the old Stinson mansion on the bluffs overlooking the Missouri river, and his future has been a subject of interest to all the town's best people. Now, however, he has been sent to school in the East and is, precisely, a nobody.

Chapter Eight SCHOOL DAYS

It must be confessed that James at this period was neither a beautiful nor a prepossessing young man. The year before he suddenly had begun to grow and after he got a good start it seemed as if he were determined never to stop.

He grew, alas! only in one direction and was so exceedingly thin for his height—he finally reached six feet one and a quarter—that when he sat down he had the effect of doubling up like a jack-knife.

His curly red hair was another cross. Each morning he soaked it in water, parted it in the middle, plastered each half firmly into place and put his cap on to set the mold. But a certain cockle on his crown refused absolutely to stay where it was put more than twenty minutes at a stretch.

James' eyes were not bad. When he grew older the girls used to claim they were "speaking eyes" but at present he avoided girls, considering them pests.

His best feature in after life, a deeply musical and resonant speaking voice, had as yet only foreshadowed a later appearance. While it was already inclined toward the bass and had many notes extremely pleasant to the ear, it unfortunately was punctuated thickly with little soprano squeaks which not only spoiled the ensemble but embarrassed their owner to the verge of tears.

James was sent, of course, to the famous old academy in Massachusetts where his father and grandfather had been such shining lights. James, however, lacked altogether the grand air possessed so abundantly by the senior Stinsons.

He was much given to dreaming and was neither alert nor self-confident and appeared just what he ed on grass or break lands, only in cultivated areas where wind erosion, augmented by years of one-way plowing, takes its heaviest toll.

After nurseries are obtained the next step will be to acquire strips and prepare them for planting next December, January, and February. Next year's program will not be announced definitely until the 1936 appropriation is made known.

was—somewhat helpless and inefficient. Possessing at this time what looked to be the longest neck in the world outside a zoo he was violently addicted to collars so high they looked more like cuffs.

James' clothes had been made by Mr. Davis, the best tailor in New Concord, of his finest weaves and cloths. That they were well and carefully made cannot be denied, but neither is there doubt that they, like their owner, lacked that indefinable flair and style which distinguished both the clothes and the manners of the gilded youths with whom James now found himself surrounded.

Miss Sarah went East with her nephew and, the dormitories being full, found him a room recommended by a helpful member of the faculty, in a charming old Colonial house whose owner, Mrs. Bliss, was in "reduced circumstances" and forced to rent rooms to young gentlemen.

Miss Sarah, after arranging for the payment of James' room and his board with a friend of Mrs. Bliss, gave her nephew twenty-five dollars in cash for incidental expenses during the remaining three months of school, kissed him goodbye without breaking down and departed bravely to visit her Eastern relatives without letting James guess in the least what the parting cost her.

To James who had never needed more than a dollar or two at a time, twenty-five dollars seemed an ample amount and he wondered vaguely when his aunt gave it to him what he would do with all that money. He was to learn very shortly.

That very evening when he was unpacking his trunk a delegation called on him for a subscription for the school football team. James was about to offer them a dollar when the supercilious upper classman who was spokesman, shrewdly taking James' measure, made it plain at once that anyone giving less than ten dollars would be branded for the rest of his life as a piker.

James, fairly trembling with relief at the narrowness of his escape, promptly handed over ten dollars. The news spread. The next morning he gave ten more to the baseball team. The following afternoon he promised a third ten to the track team and wrote hurriedly to his aunt for fifty dollars.

The request staggered Miss Sarah and she did not sleep a wink that night debating with herself whether to send the money.

While her father lived it had never occurred to her to worry over her nephew's future, but when the Governor died just as James was budding into manhood and made her his sole guardian, Miss Sarah was stunned by the pressure of her responsibility. She realized only too well that she knew nothing of a certain dark side of young men or of their temptations. On the other hand, James might need the money very urgently. In the novels she had read the young heroes often got into desperate straits for want of a little ready cash during the process known as "sowing wild oats."

How James in forty-eight hours and under the watchful eyes of his preceptors could have already begun to plant his oat crop his aunt could not figure out. Miss Sarah's thoughts were as delicate as wild cherry blossoms. When something was forced on her notice that she did not consider "nice" she preferred to shut her eyes and pretend it was not there.

But in a matter where her duty lay plain before her, Miss Sarah could be counted on to keep her eyes fully open no matter what the odds to her sensibilities. Therefore, after praying for help until her knees ached, Miss Sarah rose to what she felt was a "crisis" and prepared to do battle as best she was able.

She wrote James a long and (for her) firm letter in which she warned him against temptation, and wondered how he possibly could have spent such a sum in two days. But having finished the letter without yielding, she added two postscripts.

"P. S. Do not think, my dear nephew, that I have not faith and confidence in your fortitude. But forewarned is forearmed, as you know. I enclose a postal order for twenty dollars. You must make it do till the end of the term. Aunt Sarah."

"P. P. S. Of course, if anything should occur that would make the possession of more money imperative, you must let me know. I trust, however, no such contingency will arise. Auntie."

The letter embarrassed James terribly. When he answered it he referred only vaguely to Aunt Sarah's warning. The letter made him feel more alone than he had ever believed possible.

A longing for his grandmother more overwhelming than he had yet experienced swept over James and twisted and tore his heart. His grandmother, would have understood. His grandmother would not have prated about temptations. It came to him as if for the first time that when he went home his grandmother would not be there. He would never see her again.

It was years before James could bear to look back and relive his first weeks at school.

James' room was on the third floor front of the Bliss residence and directly below him was a suite occupied by two upper classmen, who had achieved respectively positions no less exalted than the captaincy of the football team and the editorship of the school paper. The captain of the football team made it a matter of policy to be on a friendly footing with even the lowliest and most insignificant. The editor of the paper, being a student of human nature, saw in James something of the pup the Judge had visualized shut out in the cold and trying his best not to whine. Consequently their mightinesses were on the whole inclined to be friendly, even though they jibed at James and his native state for the good of his soul.

Unfortunately James remembered the Judge's advice to go slow in making friends and ignored the friendliness. Later, when he had discovered the eminence of the two who dwelt just below him he was too proud to make any but the most tentative advances, which were in turn ignored. James immediately retreated into the fastnesses of his own soul and surrounded himself with prickles.

It took but a week or two at school to make him doubt his own importance. It took less than a month to make his wonder whether there was something inherently wrong with him that made strangers shun and avoid him. James was naturally the most sociable of souls and he missed companionship fearfully.

He took refuge in books or long solitary walks, varied occasionally by the company of another pariah like himself. As for the temptations from which his aunt had urged him to flee, they seemed to be confined, as far as James could discover, to her imagination.

But tomorrow, James has another significant triumph.
