ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30.—The annual, ever, enthralling spectacle of the world series, bringing together the Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals for the second consecutive year, opens in Sportsman's park tomorrow.

Twice champions of the world and three times American league pennant winners in the span of three years, the Athletics are 2 to 1 favorites.

Two New Records Near

Connie Mack's team, which has swept all opposition before since the spring of 1929, is on the threshold of two new world series records. If the Athletics win, they will be the first team ever to win three world championships in a row and will have the honor of giving the American league five straight triumphs in world series competition.

The National league hasn't won a world series since this same Cardinal team, piloted by Rogers Hornsby, defeated the New York Yankees in 1926.

Good Weather Forecast

Fair weather is forecast for the opening game which will draw a capacity crowd of 39,500 spectators. The second game will be played here Friday and then the scene shifts to Philadelphia, where the series will be resumed with three games Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. If any more games are necessary they will be played here beginning Friday, Oct. 9.

Bob Grove, greatest pitcher in the American league, and Paul Derringer, 24-year-old rookie right-hander from Kentucky, will work the opening game, unless there are last minute shifts.

Hunter on Stand In Murder Trial

ANSON, Texas, Sept. 30. (AP)—Trial of Cecil Hunter on a charge of murder in the slaying of Ralph Shirley continued in district court today with the defense sending Hunter to the stand to testify.

Hunter admitted striking Shirley with a single-tree at Stamford as the aftermath of a fight between them in which Hunter's throat was slashed.

The state sought to prove Shirley was struck twice by Hunter as he sat in a chair watching a dice game and that Hunter fell from a cotton platform two weeks before the killing receiving the injuries spoken of in the trial.

Taking of testimony was completed late today. Argument will start Thursday morning, and it was expected the case would reach the jury Thursday afternoon.

Dan Moody Argues For J. B. Price

Ex-Governor Cites Law As Written in Texas Constitution

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (UP)—Former Gov. Dan Moody today re-entered the state capitol to raise the Texas constitution as a shield for District Judge J. B. Price.

Before the Texas senate, sitting as a court of impeachment, the former boy-governor of Texas argued that the lower house of the legislature was seeking to impeach the jurist on a charge not known to the law of the land.

Judge Price, 65, was charged by the house with gross negligence in approving mileage and witness fee warrants of three sheriffs in his judiciary district.

Moody, the only attorney to speak at today's hearing, declared negligence not a constitutional basis for impeachment. "They make no charges impugning the honesty or integrity of this man. They do not even charge him with wilful neglect—only with negligence in discharging his official duties."

His remarks were made in support of general demurrers entered by the defendant.

Quoting the constitution, "the judges of the district court shall be removed by the governor on the address of two-thirds of each house of the legislature for wilful neglect of duty, incompetency, habitual drunkenness, oppression in office or other reasonable cause which shall not be sufficient grounds for impeachment," Moody said.

"If therefore, Judge Price may be removed from office at all by the legislature, he is not subject to impeachment, but is subject alone to the constitutional process of address," he declared.

Cameron and Hidalgo County Fees Reduced

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—Fees of officers in Cameron and Hidalgo counties were limited to $6,000 in a bill passed by the house today. Under existing statutes officials in these two counties are allowed a maximum of $8,000 per year.

QUINN BLASTS MURDER CLAIM

Defense Scores Repeatedly In Newkirk Trial

NEWKIRK, Okla., Sept. 30. (UP)—Earl Quinn did not murder Jessie and Zexia Griffiths, the ex-convict's attorney today told a district court jury in placing the blame for Oklahoma's most brutal crime upon either the sisters' shell-shocked brother or a second suspect.

Defense Counsel James S. Mathers started presentation of his case after Judge John S. Burger overruled his motion for an instructed verdict of not guilty.

The defense will prove, Mathers told the jury in his characteristic low tones, that Amos Griffith, world war veteran, was in Norman last December 1—the same month the girls were killed—harassing Jessie for money. The girl lived in constant fear of her brother, he said.

The name of a second suspect, James R. Coleman of Tonkawa and Oklahoma City, was written into the court records by Mathers. He issued witness subpoenaes for Mrs. Pearl Gibson, Coleman's former wife, and Mrs. Alta Vallen, her sister.

Then with actual presentation of defense testimony, Mathers started his attempt to tear down the case of circumstantial evidence upon which County Attorney Bruce Potter hopes to send Quinn to the electric chair.

Defense testimony late in the day consisted of attempts to prove many cars were seen on the high-

Presidential Primary Proposed for Texas

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (UP)—A presidential primary for Texas was proposed today by Representative T. H. McGregor of Austin, the lawmaker who severely took to task Gov. Huey Long in a scholarly Phillipic before the legislature several weeks ago.

Identification of Body Found Near Collings Murder Scene 'Fits' Story

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (UP)—Identification of a body found floating in the waters of Long Island sound as a missing Norwalk, Conn., mechanic gave renewed vigor today to the detectives, amateur and professional, who have been seeking to unravel the tangled clues to the killers of Benjamin Collings, seafaring civil engineer.

This new factor in the drama of three weeks ago in which, according to Mrs. Lillian Collings, "two pirates" boarded her husband's motor boat, the Penguin, threw him overboard and kidnaped her, fits in to the story as theoretically perfect link in the chain of known evidence.

The body has been identified as that of William Smith, a young man who lived in Norwalk with Dr. Louis Ritchie, a veterinarian. Smith is said to have told negihbors, within recent months, that Ritchie had threatened his life.

Ritchie, convicted once of practicing veterinary surgery without a license, and recently arrested for tampering with automobile license plates, disappeared from Norwalk more than a week ago, taking his wife and child ostensibly to Florida.

Ritchie is described as a middle-aged man, who, when denied the right to engage in veterinary medicine, took up the trade of clam digging. He owned a green canoe,

STERLING GOES BEFORE HOUSE WITH OIL PLAN

Governor Defends Bill for State Drilling of Sabine River

DENIES POLLUTION

Executive Explains Fully How Wells Can Be Bored in Stream

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (UP)—Gov. Ross Sterling faced the Texas house of representatives this afternoon defending his proposal to drill for oil in the Sabine river bed.

"I prefer not to have the state drill," said Sterling. "It would be better to make a trade, pooling the state land in the river bed with that of individuals on either bank and taking a share of the royalty. But if an advantageous trade cannot be made, I would drill."

"If it was your own land instead of that of the state, what would you do?" asked Representative W. R. Bounds of Hubbard.

"I would have drilled long ago," answered the governor.

Leeway Needed

The governor admitted he was adverse to putting the state in the oil business but said it may be necessary.

"A committee should be given all the leeway and freedom possible," he said.

"Is that so the best trade can be made?" asked Representative J. R. Donnell of Hillsboro.

"I see you are a good trader," answered the governor.

"There should be a three-way plan," said the governor. "It is possible to lease the river bed for drilling and get considerable bonus. If it cannot be leased to advantage, the state has the right to drill. I think you can get more money by drilling than by lease. However, I prefer it to be leased because the state is not in the oil business.

Trading Possible

"Trading with abutting property owners is the other possibility. It has been suggested that they might pay a royalty in proportion to the acreage."

Answering numerous questions he invited from house members, the governor declared there is not the slightest doubt in his mind that oil can be produced at any place in the river in the East Texas field. "There is nine miles of the river with oil being taken out on each side," he said.

(Shilo) Scrivnor, both indicted for the murders of Chester A. (Keggy) Jones and his wife Aug. 31, after a lengthy grilling in St. Louis of Mrs. McCabe and five acquaintances of the men sought.

BRADFORD, Pa., Sept. 30. (AP)—The Pennsylvania grade crude oil general conservation board, meeting here today, approved suspension of proration in all districts of the Pennsylvania crude area during the month of October.

Parnell Disputes State's Right To Set Districts' Oil Allowable

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—Protest against setting daily allowable production for the West Central Texas oil area was made to the Texas Railroad commission today by J. D. Parnell, Wichita Falls oil man and former state senator.

The hearing was being held by the commission for the purpose of fixing the allowable for all fields except East Texas, Van and the Panhandle.

A separate hearing for the Panhandle will be held Saturday at Amarillo. The allowable for the East Texas area is open to revision without notice. The commission postponed the Van hearing until Oct. 13.

Parnell contended that under the new conservation statute the commission did not have authority to set a field allowable. He claimed that if a well could produce 5,000 barrels daily without waste of oil or gas it should be allowed to do so.

The old central proration committee was playing an important part in the hearing. It recommended an allowable of 33,000 barrels daily for West Central Texas. That was the figure included in the commission's last order.

Recommendation that the Crane and Upton field be allowed 18,000 barrels daily and the Yates pool 76,000 was made by the old proration committee. Other recommendations were: Ector county, 7,000 barrels; Darst creek, 20,000; North Texas, 63,000; Reagan county, 30,000; Salt Flat, 11,175; Winkler, 45,000.

The commission paid considerable attention to the reported wastage of gas in several West Texas fields. It was indicated more stringent rules to prevent gas wastage would be contained in the new order.

Announcement was made that a further hearing on the application to place the common purchaser act into effect as it pertained to natural gas would be held by the commission Oct. 8.

Longshoremen at Four Texas Ports Strike Today Unless Pact Is Made

Laborers Set Midnight for General Walkout of 3,000 Men in Galveston, Houston, Texas City and Corpus Christi

GALVESTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—All union longshore labor in the ports of Galveston, Houston, Texas City and Corpus Christi will stop at midnight tonight unless an agreement on wages is reached before that time, H. Dwyer, president of unions in the gulf district, said after a meeting of the unions here early tonight.

"Our organization has waited patiently and tried every way to reach an agreement, even asking an extension of time on the present contract," Mr. Dwyer said, "but steamship men have refused to do anything."

Shippers Notified

Maritime representatives were notified immediately of the decision of the unions.

"If the International Longshoremen's association does not furnish men to work the ships tomorrow we will obtain them from other sources," a spokesman for the steamship men said.

Almost 3,000 men are affected by the strike order, which includes work on all ships in the so-called foreign or deep-sea trade. Several coastwise lines are included as well as West Indies lines, but a number of other coastwise lines do not employ union labor.

About 1,200 of the men are at Galveston; 1,000 at Houston; 400 at Corpus Christi and 250 at Texas City.

Propose Straight Rate

The steamship men had proposed a straight rate of 65 cents an hour for all longshore work. The rate under the contract now expiring is 86 cents an hour for general work, 18 cents per bale on cotton and premiums on grain and sulphur and several other commodities. Sixty-five cents per hour on cotton would mean a reduction of about 50 per cent, labor leaders estimated.

The last serious strike in Galveston was in 1920 and it resulted in calling out several thousand national guardsmen under command of Gen. Jacob Wolters. Martial law was in force several months.

Artists' Colony Has Real Murder Mystery

WESTPORT, Conn., Sept. 30. (UP)—The exclusive but Bohemian "silver mine" artists' colony of Westport was shocked today by discovery of a real-life murder which might have been "act one" in any of the mystery plays produced by its imaginative authors.

Reisbeck's automobile in which he had come to Westport from Plainfield, N. J., recently, was found parked in front of the morgue.

PART OF TRUCK LAW HELD VOID

Cotton Load Limit Called Discriminatory

HOUSTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—A three-judge federal court today voided one section of house bill 336, one of the truck laws enacted by the present legislature. The rest of the law was upheld. The provision invalidated was that fixing the limit of 7,000 pounds on certain loads.

An interlocutory injunction was granted restraining the state from enforcing the annulled section. That portion limited truck loads composed of boxed, baled or bundled units containing more than 30 cubic feet and weighing more than 500 pounds to 14 such units and to a total weight of 7,000 pounds. It was declared by the court to be discriminatory against uncompressed cotton.

The opinion was written by Judge T. M. Kennerly of Houston, and concurred in by Circuit Judge J. C. Hutcheson Jr., of New Orleans and Judge Duval West of San Antonio.

W. T. Stevens, who intervened in the suit brought by Ed Sproles of Fort Worth to enjoin enforcement of the law was the only one of the many attackers of the measure to win a verdict. Stevens alleged he has a contract to transport uncompressed cotton and the load limit section of the law would abrogate it.

Judge Kennerly wrote in part:

"That this act, insofar as it regulates, or seeks to regulate, the size of vehicles and loads, the speed thereof, and makes provisions for the safety of the public and the protection of the highways, exemptions and other provisions complained of, is well within the power of the legislature, we need not stop to discuss."

Considerable discussion of the section voided by the court was contained in the opinion, the court pointing out that whereas uncompressed cotton loads would be lim-

TESTIMONY IN MURDER TRIAL OPENS HERE

Former Negro Employe for Officer Testiifes For State

SHOOTING DESCRIBED

Girl Student Describes How Black Was Shot on Church Steps

Both state and defense completed introduction of direct evidence in about two hours Wednesday afternoon in the 89th district court before Judge P. A. Martin in the trial of John Alsup, one time Fort Worth police officer charged with murder in connection with the death of Isaac Tate, negro, after an alleged bank robebry in Fort Worth about 17 months ago.

When the defense rested at 3:40 p. m. Wednesday, two hours and 10 minutes after taking of testimony in the base began, the state immediately launched its rebuttal campaign by which it hopes to prove that Alsup framed the bank robbery in order that he might qualify for a large reward by killing the negro.

"Tip" Framed, Says Negro

Will Vincent, negro, declared that he had known Alsup for about seven years pior to the killing of Tate at Fort Worth. The witness said he had worked frequently for the defendant as cook, chauffeur, and handy man about a camp. About four months prior to the alleged bank robbery, he continued, Alsup proposed to the negro that "some easy money can be had down at the Polytechnic bank," and suggested that Vincent pull a holdup job there. The negro said he laughingly dismissed the proposal.

The next conversation with Alsup, the witness continued, occurred on Monday afternoon, April 7, 1930 three days before the killing of Tate. He testified that the defendant obtained from him (Vincent) the street address of Tate, and that before leaving, Alsup also asked him to come out to the officer's home that night and "give him a tip about a bank robbery."

Vincent related that after working hours that evening he called upon Tate at the latter's home, and heard Tate tell that "some of his buddies were going to pull a holdup at the Polytechnic bank some day that week; that it was being fixed up." Thereafter, Vincent continued, he went to Alsup's house as requested. Coming to the door, Alsup asked the negro to wait a moment until he brought out another man" before whom he wanted the statement made," according to the witness. The other man, he said, was Bill Zint, who he learned later was chief of police at San Angelo. The witness said he then told Alsup that a plan was being made to rob the Polytechnic bank some day that week. The officers replied, he said, that "they would watch it." Vincent said they handed him 50 cents with which to pay his way back home.

Robbery Planned

The witness testified that on Tuesday morning Alsup came by the negro's place of employment, called him to the gate, and asked if he had heard any more about the bank robbery. On Tuesday night,

QUINN BLASTS MURDER CLAIM

way near Tonkawa where the sisters were slain about the time of of the killing.

Frank Fox of Wichita, Kan., convicted bootlegger, gave an alibi for Quinn. The dapper defendant, who served time in the Missouri state penitentiary, was in Wichita at 7:30 o'clock the morning of the killing, Fox said. He was used by the defense after having been subpoenaed by the prosecution.

Mrs. George Quinn, the defendant's aged mother, opened the defense case, testifying her son visited her home in Kansas City early in January.

The state's contention that a vest button found in the Griffith death car belonging to Quinn was exploded by Bill Smith, 17, Norman high school student. He said the button belonged to him and that he lost it in Jessie's automobile before last Christmas.

Mathers' statement that Jessie often expressed fear of her brother, Amos, was substantiated by Frank Asby, student at Oklahoma university.

"I never know what to expect of Amos," Asby quoted the dead girl as saying. "I'm almost afraid to go home when he's there."

Mathers' attempt to have Judge Burger declare the proceedings a mistrial were unsuccessful. He contended jurors had been allowed to separate and read newspaper accounts of the trial.

Judge Burger did not overrule the mistrial motion but said he could not "entertain such a motion at this stage of the proceedings."

The two girls were killed on a highway near Tonkawa the morning of Dec. 28 last year. They were returning to their schools at Norman and Warner after spending the Christmas vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Griffith, at Blackwell.

which was often seen strapped to the top of his automobile. A canoe in which Mrs. Collings said her husband's assailants kidnaped her, figured heavily in detectives' attempts to capture the slayers. Ritchie also owned a 12-foot boat.

Mrs. Collings was shown a photograph of Ritchie today. She failed to identify it as the picture of either of the "pirates," although she declined to say positively that it was not one of them. Mrs. Collings expressed a desire to see another photograph of the man bareheaded.

A second development of importance today was the arrest of a city island marine engineer named Oscar Hubner on charges of non-support, at White Plains.

Hubner is said to have admitted that he was cruising near the scene of the murder on the night of Sept. 10, but that he "saw nothing unusual."

Petrified Trees Found Near Spur

SPUR, Texas, Sept. 29. (AP)—Residents of this community have found sections of petrified trees that might have been larger than the giant redwoods of California.

A group of boys recently excavated a section of a tree trunk that measured three by five feet, and the curvature of the grain indicated that the tree might have been larger than the famed redwoods.

The excavation was made on the state experiment station farm, and R. E. Dickson, superintendent, said he would hesitate to estimate the size of the tree. Two boys in the employ of Dickson excavated five wagon loads of petrified wood from ranches near Spur.

The petrified wood is found near the surface and is easily obtained. Dickson is using it to trim the edges of the lawn at his home. The wood is found in large quantities along the caprock and Palo Duro canyon, farther north.

Dickson said that lava also had been found in making excavations near Spur.

Attorney for Slain Choir Girl's Sweetheart Finds New Evidence

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Sept. 30. (UP)—A sensational and entirely new explanation of the killing of Dorothy Dorcas Symons, pretty Sinton, Texas, choir singer, was made here tonight by M. C. Nelson, Aransas Pass attorney who is defending Newton Yarberry, the girl's sweetheart on a charge of murdering her.

Nelson said that Miss Symons was killed in Corpus Christi and not Aransas Pass, as was supposed, and that a person other than Yarberry is guilty. The choir singer's almost nude body was found buried in a shallow grave of seaweed near Aransas Pass, Aug. 1.

Her sweetheart was charged with the murder after a clash of authorities that led to sending here of state rangers. He is to go on trial for the murder next Monday at Sinton.

Nelson said Yarberry's attorneys are in possession of reliable information that the girl was killed in Corpus Christi and died in a parking lot near a downtown hotel. He said he had information the girl's body was taken to Aransas Pass in an automobile and deposited in the bay in front of the town, just across the Nueces county line.

The attorney refused to reveal his informants' names, but it was learned here that Justice of the Peace Carl Utterback at Aransas Pass today took a written statement from a young woman there that another girl had told her shortly after the choir singer's death that she knew all about the tragedy.

The young woman told the justice that the Symons girl and another girl were together on the fatal night accompanied by men. The justice withheld the name of the woman making the statement.

Attempts were being made tonight to have Ranger Captain Albert Mace of Falfurrias return to Aransas Pass to resume the investigation.

Justice Utterback asked for the rangers once before, after he had ordered an autopsy performed on the girl's body.

He asked Gov. Ross Sterling for the rangers the next day, asserting he had been attacked by deputy sheriffs in the presence of Sheriff Frank Hunt of San Patricio county.

The justice and other local authorities at Aransas Pass did not ask the sheriff to participate in investigation of the new theory of the murder, because of the controversy.

Nelson, the attorney for Yarberry, said he regarded the information given him as reliable and that he expected to issue a statement detailing it tomorrow.

PART OF TRUCK LAW HELD VOID

Cotton Load Limit Called Discriminatory

ited to 7,000 pounds, loads of compressed cotton might weigh as much as 24,000 pounds and still be carried over the highways without violation of the law.

"It is certain," the court held, "that the transportation of a load of one weight of packages containing more than 30 cubic feet and weighing more than 500 pounds, is no more injurious to the highways, or persons and property thereon, than the same weight load containing a miscellaneous assortment with packages of less cubic feet content or less weight. One is reminded of a catch question, frequently propounded in childhood days, of which is the heavier, a pound of lead or a pound of feathers."

The courts decision probably will be appealed.

WICHITA CONCERN OPPOSES LAW

The Wichita Falls Motor company, only manufacturer of trucks in Texas, was one of many corporations and individuals attacking the validity of the new state truck regulation bill in the suit before the federal court at Houston.

Objections of the Wichita company have been directed particularly against the terms of the bill which set a limit of 7,000 pounds for loads, and also seek to fix the height, width and length of trucks. This legislation does not become effective until Jan. 1, 1932, according to Charles I. Francis, attorney for the company, and consequently no injunction was requested against its enforcement. The court's opinion was directed to those portions of the legislation which were to have become effective in August, but which were suspended by the temporary injunction of the court.

After final hearing before the same court, Mr. Francis said, the validity of limiting the loads of trucks to 7,000 pounds will be determined.

Pampa Cuts Tax Rate For 1931 by 10 Cents

PAMPA, Texas, Sept. 30. (AP)—Pampa city commissioners have announced a 10-cent reduction in the city tax rate for 1931. The reduction was from $1.50 to $1.40 on the $100 valuation.

The reduction would have been greater, the commission announced, had it not been for delinqeutn taxes and a still greater prospective delinquent list next year.

Restaurant Men Protest Ruling

Objections to a proposed revision of city sanitation ordinances to allow fans to substitute for screen doors at the entrances of concerns serving food were voiced in a resolution adopted by the Wichita Falls Restaurant Owners' association which met at the Labor Temple Wednesday night.

It is the contention of the association that present sanitation laws are satisfactory without change. A committee will go before city officials in the immediate future to present the opinion of restaurant men that screen doors better serve the interest of public health and sanitation than fans, it was said.

The objection to the revision of the ordinance follows close upon the protest of restaurant men here earlier in the month that the present enforcement of sanitation laws discriminate in favor of drug stores and boarding houses.

A committee of L. J. Pack, Charles E. Veros and W. J. Gillard was named at the initial meeting to protest to city officials the alleged laxity of sanitation enforcement. The committee called upon V. R. Smitham, city manager, and Dr. R. B. Wolford of the city health department, and urged that sanitation laws be rigidly enforced without discrimination against any particular business engaged in the serving of foods.

The same committee will voice its objection to the ordinance revision within the next few days, it was said. Unless the city complies with the request for rigid enforcement, it was declared, the association will retain a legal force to carry its fight to the courts.

GAS INQUIRY BIDS RECEIVED

Evaluating Contract to Be Awarded Soon

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—Bids for evavaluating the property of the Lone Star Gas company pipe line to determine if the gate rate is reasonable to cities using gas have been received and a contract for the work may be awarded soon by the Texas railroad commission, Laten Stanberry, chief of the gas utilities division said today.

Meanwhile the gas rate of 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet set by the city of Wichita Falls as an adequate charge for gas sold to consumers by the Municipal Gas company, who take gas from the Lone Star company, was suspended by the railroad commission pending appeal of the municipal company.

The rail commission required the company to post a bond of $60,000 to insure a refund to gas users of all money in excess of a rate which the commission finally should determine as reasonable. The rate was 75 cents per 1,000 and the city claimed 50 cents was adequate.

Stanberry said it was decided it would be best to enter an order suspending the ordinance pending a hearing since posting a bond to guarantee users a refund of all money paid in excess of the rate finally fixed would be preferable to court action in view of a ruling of the attorney general the company could continue charging rates fixed by it provided a supercedeas bond were posted.

In his opinion to the railroad commission, Fred Upchurch, assistant attorney general, suggested caution in approving a bond of this nature.

"You should make sure that such bond is not only properly worded but is sufficient in amount to protect each subscriber for the difference between the existing rates and the reduced rates during the time that said matter is on appeal," Upchurch said.

Lions Hear Talk On Need of Faith

Faith is the foundation and the power of all accomplishment, Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, declared before members of the Lions club at the Wichita club Wednesday noon.

Faith of early settlers and their steps in community building account for the city's motto, "The City that Faith Built," rather than chance, the speaker said. In all phases of human activity, Dr. Powers said, faith is the most practical and necessary quality.

The importance of prompt payment of school taxes during the next few days was urged by Luther Hoffman. Almost $300,000 in taxes payable to the school funds will become delinquent if not paid by Oct. 15, he said, and declared that early payment of such taxes is requisite to a maintenance of the public schools here at their present high standard.

J. W. Lyle announced that a committee of which he is chairman has secured a rug loom for a blind girl in this community with which she may earn her own livelihood.

Members of the club voted to join with Lions clubs of Burkburnett, Electra and Iowa Park in putting up a booth at the Wichita county fair at Iowa Park next week. Tom Vague, Jim King, and Robert Trotter were named by Roy J. Mann, president, as committee to represent the local club in the matter.

James King made a brief report on recent inter-city Lions meet held at Vernon.

Mrs. Wayne J. Holmes, accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Collard, contributed a vocal solo to Wednesday's program.

Fiscal Quarter Ends With Great Deficit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (UP)—The federal treasury today closed the books for the first quarter of the fiscal year 1932 with a deficit running close to $400,000,000.

If this rate continues until the year ends on June 30, the balance on the wrong side of the ledger will be somewhere around the $1,500,000,000 mark, an unprecedented deficit for peace time.

Borger Officers Continue Search For Money Teller Took From Bank

BORGER, Texas, Sept. 30. (AP)—Hutchinson and Borger city authorities continued searching tonight for approximately $4,200 which Rowland Rugeley, bank teller, charged in connection with the robbery of the Borger State bank, told officers he gave away.

The bank was robbed of $8,100 Sunday night. Rugeley stated about $3,200 of the missing money was accounted for in shortage of his books.

J. T. Peyton, bank cashier, discredited Rugeley's statement, saying all of the teller's accounts recently checked out satisfactorily.

W. L. McConnell, district attorney, came from Canadian to Borger today to work with local officers on the case.

"The money was taken from the bank about 6 o'clock Sunday night and was in my car at the time of the hijacking. I took the money from the safe," Rugeley's statement read.

Lewis Crim, charged with Rugeley and a third man with theft over $50, was taken to the Stinnett county jail from Amarillo late today. Crim refused to talk, officers said. They believed the third man would be captured soon.

SCHOOLS PLAN $220,000 LOAN

Prompt Payment of Taxes Vital to City

Plans for financing operation of the Wichita Falls Public schools during the ensuing four months, and the importance of early payment of school taxes, were discussed before members of the Optimist club Wednesday noon by Rhea Howard, a member of the school board.

Arrangements virtually have been completed, the speaker said, for borrowing $220,000 on a 12-months basis. The loan will be secured by current revenues for 1931. It will be subject to payment on 30-days' notice, and will be subjected to a 5 per cent bonus, Mr. Howard said. He also stated that the $220,000 will be additional to a present overdraft of about $180,000.

In refering to the payment of school taxes, Mr. Howard stated that a total of $226,328.54 will become delinquent ofter Oct. 15 under the present law. But should an act recently passed by the legislature be approved by Governor Sterling, waiving penalty and interest on delinquent taxes if paid by Jan. 31, 1932, Mr. Howard predicted that much of the taxes now due will be left unpaid for a considerable time.

Ralph Hyer, city tax assessor and collector, announced that Marvin Smith, a member of the club, had asked that receipt No. 1 for both city and school taxes be reserved for him. Dr. George T. Singleton, president of the club, at once asked for the reservation of receipt No. 2.

A brief talk on optimism was given by B. D. Sartin, who urged that "we force our minds into a more optimistic channel."

A piano solo by Miss Frances Krause, and a violin solo by Miss Loraine Mathis were included in the program, which was arranged by Dr. C. L. Bailey.

Approximately 20 members of the chapter and advisory board attended the regular meeting.

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 30.—Officers of the Vernon Chamber of Commerce and of the Oklahoma-Texas District Singers' association have been working overtime during the past several days, making preparations for the third annual convention of the singers' association, which will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 10 and 11, in Vernon. Meetings will convene in the auditorium of the First Baptist church, beginning at 10:30 a. m. on the opening day, and continuing through Sunday, the program that day starting at 10:30 a. m., also. All the programs are open to the public.

A group of highly popular singers from many different parts of Texas and from nearby states will be in attendance, furnishing special numbers, such as quartets, trios duets, and solos, for the entertainment of the large crowds that are expected. Other noted entertainers will attend, including Freddie Martin, 14-year-old musician who plays the accordion, piano and other instruments, besides having a splendid voice for singing.

In helping to entertain the large crowds that will be in attendance at the convention, the Vernon Chamber of Commerce was required by officers of the singers' association to furnish room accommodations for not more than 125 delegates for the night of Saturday, Oct. 10. All other visitors will arrange for their own accommodations.

The Oklahoma-Texas District Singers' association was formed in 1929, at Mangum, Okla. Wesley J. Mangum, of Memphis, Texas, is president, now serving a two-year term in that capacity. INDIGESTION

Take a Pinch of Black-Draught After Meals

Is bothered with indigestion after meals, try taking a pinch of Black-Draught just after you leave the table. Many people do this to avoid indigestion. Mrs. H. A. I began taking a pinch (of Black-Draught) after each meal, and I found that was the best way. I soon was relieved of so much gas, and the smothering spells did not come on so bad. I soon began to feel much better. Since then, my health is much improved." FBA-10

Retired Police Official Charges Political Protection Aids Gaming

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (AP)—Professional gambling could not exist in New York City if it were not protected by "politicians and others," Ezekiel E. Keller, retired police lieutenant and former police expert in dealing with gamblers, told the legislative investigating committee today.

Samuel Seabury, counsel to the committee, elicited this opinion at the conclusion of Keller's testimony about gambling raids in political clubs, so that, he said, the committee might make constructive suggestions to the legislature.

Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, a member of the Democratic minority, pressed the subject as to the nature of the protection.

"Protected by whom?" he asked.

"Protected by those people who would be most interested in it," replied Keller.

"Well, what do you mean by 'most interested' in it?"

"Certain politicians in whose bailiwick or district the games might be operated. I have found various people interested in the games and they have obstructed my efforts to suppress gambling in various ways."

Corsicana Street Railway Service Is Discontinued

CORSICANA, Texas, Sept. 30. (AP)—Abandonment of street railway service in Corsicana was announced today by H. G. Floyd, superintendent of the Texas Electric Railway company. Service was terminated at 11 o'clock tonight.

Heavy decrease in revenues over a period of years was given as the reason. Floyd stated that reduced revenue was not a condition peculiar to Corsicana. He said many other cities in the United States under 100,000 population were suffering similarly.

The franchise under which the company operated was granted in 1902 and service has been continuous since that date.

HERESY TRIAL REPORT MADE

Church Committee Makes No Recommendations

GREENWOOD, Tenn., Sept. 30. (AP)—A special committee, which was expected to decide if a heresy trial should be held for Dr. Charles E. Diehl, president of Southwestern, a denominational school at Memphis, submitted its report to the Nashville presbytery of the Southern Presbyterian church here today without recommendations.

Dr. Diehl's orthodoxy has been formally attacked on two occasions in the past year.

The first time was in a petition to Southwestern's board of directors last October. The board subsequently gave him a vote of confidence.

The second attack came at the April meeting of the Nashville presbytery, when his beliefs were assailed by Elder Eugene T. Hollins of Nashville.

The report today contained Doctor Diehl's answers to nine major questions and numerous subordinate queries as to his orthodoxy.

The answers asserted Doctor Diehl's belief in the virgin birth of Christ, in the bodily resurrection of Christ and in hell. With reference to the opening part of the Book of Genesis, he said, "properly interpreted, there is no conflict between these chapters and true science."

The presbytery voted to hear the committee's communication. Afterwards a vote for or against a trial may be made, churchmen said.

A $20,000 school building was recently completed in the Graham district, seven miles south of Post, Texas.

Fiend Sought After Girl's Body Found

GREENSBORO, N. C., Sept. 30. (INS)—Horror shrouded Greensboro this afternoon as police and citizens pressed a relentless search for the fiend who today beat 9-year-old Vera Leonard to death and then burned her body.

The charred body of the girl was taken from the smoking embers of the Leonard home shortly before noon. Her head had been brutally battered and police believe she was criminally attacked.

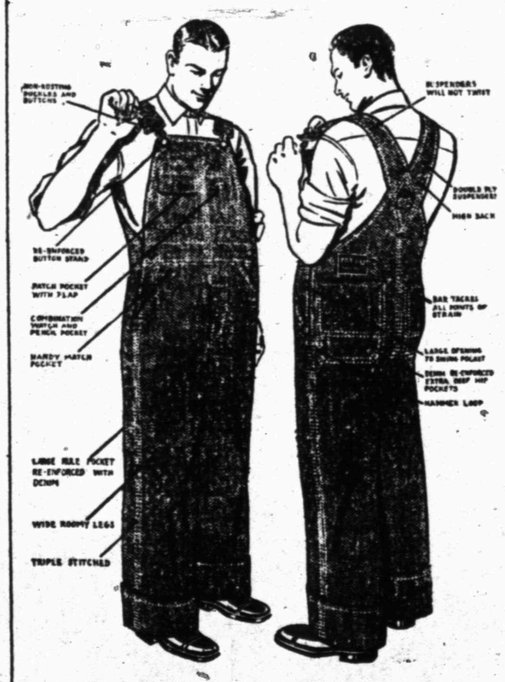

The girl was left alone, awaiting arrival of a school bus, at the Leonard home, six miles from here, when the parents went to work this morning. An hour after the parents left, a passerby saw flames rising from the house and the body subsequently was discovered.

Conservation Work Features Wichita County Federation

Miss Ethel Luise Webb, in her talk on conservation as the term had been applied by farm women in their work for relief in the economic crisis, made a vivid impression at the afternoon meeting of the Wichita County Federation of Women's clubs in session all day Wednesday at the Woman's Forum clubhouse. Miss Webb stated that she had gone to the hardware stores and made inquiry to ascertain just how many new vessels and canning utensils had been purchased by Wichita county women. The result showed that 96,800 tin cans, 600 pressure cookers, 86 sealers and 32,052 glass jars had been purchased since Jan. 1. Miss Webb explained the smaller number of jars purchased with the statement that women keep glass jars from year to year and had many on hand. She also said that 15,000 cans of meat had been canned since Jan. 1.

Miss Webb warned the federation not to look at the situation too optimistically but to be ready to stand back of one another with an unconquerable faith in the future.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal in her message as president of the first district, T. F. W. C., told of what was being done in every line in the district and stressed the interdependence of the rural and city women. She said that Phebe K. Warner, nationally known farm writer of Claude, Texas, was in Washington now in conference with Mrs. John Sippel and government officials in regard to the economic possibilities of the winter and that the key note sounded at all state federations, emphasizing that to be held in Lubbock in November, would be "What Service Have You Rendered?"

In speaking of scholarships, Mrs. Oneal stated that Clay county had the only county federation that had taken up scholarships; that they had qualified one girl as a teacher and now were sending another to college. She urged the Wichita county federation to consider this splendid work. "Today," Mrs. Oneal said, "the rural woman is the queen of the hour."

In her talk, she told what Montague county had done for the poor in filling 6,000 cans that the Red Cross had furnished.

Reports Made

After luncheon, the federation was called to order with prayer by Mrs. M. W. Majors of Burkburnett and Mrs. John Barbour, president, introduced R. E. Shepherd who made a short talk stating that the business men of Wichita Falls were ready to cooperate with the women in the work for a municipal market and urging that a committee be appointed to call upon the chambers of commerce in Wichita Falls and in Iowa Park.

Mr. Shepherd, accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd, sang "Queen of the Earth," and "The Road Ain't Long," by John Gurley.

In the reports, Westmoreland Demonstration club showed splendid work done and pointed out the hooked work exhibited by members. Valley View club is making a special work of canning beef to take care of lunches for needy school children in the coming winter. Pleasant Valley reported 967 fruit trees planted; $704.43 in products sold; 1,007 quarts of fruit, 1,046 of meat, 1,052 vegetables, 610 pickles and relishes; 389 preserves and 337 of jellies and jams put up and also 1,500 pounds of meat.

Bowie demonstration club reported 1,480 quarts of fruit canned, 311 of meat, 3,033 of vegetables, 744 of pickles, 477 of preserves, 698 of jellies and jams, 125 pounds of dried vegetables and 470 pounds of meat cured. All demonstration clubs made reports of the number of gardens; the fowls and eggs sold; garments made and improvements in homes.

Attention was called to the display of hooked and braided rugs.

Announcements of the writers' department luncheon at 12 o'clock Thursday and of the inter-county federation to convene in October were made before the adjournment of the federation.

Morning Session

Mrs. S. E. Trevathan gave the opening devotional, when Mrs. Jno. Barbour of Iowa Park, president, called the meeting to order and Mesdames W. M. Priddy and C. Y. Tully, accompanied by Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff sang two beautiful numbers.

Mrs. J. M. Isbell was introduced by the president as chairman for the county of conservation of beauty.

Roll call found representatives of 10 clubs answering and the minutes of the last meeting which took place Feb. 11, 1931, was a pleasant resume of the enthusiasm of that date when the intercounty federation was formed.

Mrs. J. Truman Stevens, chairman in charge of plans for organization of a county library, read her interesting report and Mrs. G. A. Anderson told of the organization of the cooperative market in March, 1931, and called on Miss Ethel Webb, county demonstration agent, for a full report. Following a discussion of the market, it was decided that the market would not be held during winter months, but that a committee would be appointed to confer with the men's marketing committee and make arrangements for opening in earnest early in the spring.

Reports Heard

Mrs. C. C. Burrows, president of Valley View Demonstration club, made a report of her work, showing that she had sealed 1,013 cans, including 366 of her own and had 1,100 containers off her own farm and from the same acreage had sold 200 gallons of berries. She told of another member of the Valley View club who had sold 600 dozen eggs from 80 hens, 124 pounds of butter from two cows, 171 fryers and had two gallons of eggs in water glass for winter use.

The Valley View Demonstration club reported among other outstanding works 729 quarts of relishes and pickles put up; 1,331 quarts of vegetables canned; 1,192 quarts of fruit; 386 of meat; 523 of preserves; 439 glasses of jelly and 553 quarts of fruit juice.

Tardy arrivals delayed the morning session's opening until 11 o'clock, so at this time, the distinguished members present were introduced and approximately 40 adjourned to luncheon, which was served by the hostess, Mrs. Ruth Kirksey, in the dining room, which was prettily decorated for the occasion.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, president; Mrs. St. Andrew Myers of Henrietta, secretary, and Miss Robbie Castleberry of Vernon, first vice president of the first district Texas Federation of Women's clubs, were present.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Just for a moment the other night I knew what it was to be held up—and it is not at all pleasant. Accompanied by another woman, I left the Forum clubhouse at about 8 p. m. to go to a car parked in the street. The hostess put the lights out and we halted for a moment to look at the great golden moon, more beautiful than any man made picture, with clouds floating toward it.

I turned on the lights of the car and all at once, another car dashed round a corner directly toward us and halted so near the wheels of our car I could not move. A man leaped out and turned a flashlight on us.

As we sat paralyzed for a moment, wondering whether to sit still or scream, he began to apologize. "I beg your pardon," he said, "but I just wanted to see what a car was doing parked here. I am the watchman out in this section."

It was perfectly all right, but we decided right there and then not to park on any road at any time—unless we had a flat. And so that we won't have a flat in the dark, we will not travel at night.

Women of clubs from all over the county met at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Wednesday for the day. Reports made by individuals and by demonstration clubs sounded a glorious note.

For instance, three clubs with incomplete reports announced they had canned 5,416 quarts of vegetables; 3,677 quarts of fruit; 2,083 quarts of pickles and relishes; 1,389 quarts of preserves; 1,474 quarts of jellies and 1,743 cans of meat, beside a huge amount of dried vegetables and meats.

The full reports would probably cover three times that many cans. Women of demonstration clubs are helping other women can and seal their products. They are putting up things for children for lunches at school—children who will probably not be able to carry a complete lunch from their homes.

Thees rural women, federated in their demonstration clubs are building club houses; they are making quilts; they are raising poultry and selling eggs; they are putting up eggs for the time when the hens stop laying.

They are setting a precedent that may be followed by city women who are fortunate enough to have space for a little garden.

As Mrs. Ben Oneal said in her talk at the federation meeting, the country woman is "the queen of the hour."

How Do Chorus Girls Manage?

The theatre knows no "sick list." Chorus girls just can't be "absent." Regardless of their monthly sickness, they must be in line, on time, on their toes, and smiling. How do they do it? Nature doesn't spare them. They menstruate, of course; but stop the pain for hours at a stretch, by the use of a perfectly harmless medicine called Midol.

It acts in seven minutes. Relief is complete. The pain is gone. You menstruate in comfort. Midol is not a narcotic and offers no interference with nature. All druggists; ask simply for Midol.

Alathean Board Mrs. McGregor's Luncheon Guests

Mrs. Homer McGregor was hostess Wednesday at luncheon to the outgoing and incoming members of the executive board of the Alathean Sunday school class of the First Baptist church. The bowl of pink roses and orchid ageratum centering the table set the motif for the orchid color scheme observed in the entire luncheon.

Mrs. McGregor gave the devotional with prayer following by Mrs. H. E. Nettles. In a short business meeting, reports were heard and, in the short social session, Mrs. W. C. Reeves presented a handsome scrapbook with all the reports of the former year's meetings to Mrs. McGregor. Mrs. C. M. Smith presented the gift of the group captains, a pretty silver bonbon dish, to Mrs. H. E. Nettles.

Handsome leather bookmarks, inscribed "Books like friends should be well chosen" were presented by Mrs. Reeves to each retiring officer. Miniature telescopes through which the Lord's prayer was visible, were attached to these.

Members present included Mesdames W. C. Reeves, H. E. Nettles, L. G. Stewart, Bryan Lovelace, Frank Morgan, Sibyl Morris, C. W. Stovall, W. D. Jones, C. E. McWhirter, C. D. Whitley, C. M. Smith, W. R. Morton, Rufus Alexander, C. C. Bunnenberg, Thoma Wynn, W. H. McDonald, Pearl Blair, L. T. Francis and the hostess, Mrs. McGregor.

Portrait Of Davy Crockett Is Dedicated At P. T.-A. Meet

A beautiful climax to the opening meeting of the Crockett School P.-T. A. in the autumn session Wednesday was the dedication address made by Mrs. Guy Rogers in presenting a portrait of David Crockett done by Mary Lou Thomas Sanford, former Wichita girl, and given to the school by the mothers of the association. Crockett's motto, "Be Sure You Are Right and Then Go Ahead," was engraved on the picture and at the close of her dedicatory talk, Mrs. Rogers introduced Mrs. Luther Hoffman who pointed out the artistic value and beautiful and interesting points of the painting.

Mrs. Austin Leach, first vice president, introduced the new president, Mrs. T. F. Richardson and Mrs. W. W. Silk made an inspiring devotional talk. She emphasized the fact that any child, to be able to stand the stress of life, should have spiritual and moral training and if he did not have them, the parents were at fault. The right kind of rearing, she stated, creates better citizens who throw out radiance to their fellows. Purity of life and sincerity of worship were said to be the most necessary qualities.

After the reading of the minutes, various chairmen made reports and Miss Ida Moore, school principal, made a plea for the Camp Fire Girls who were asking a sponsor in each school; the association voted to cooperate with them. Miss Moore then introduced new teachers to the body.

Program Heard

Mrs. Austin Leach, program chairman, introduced H. D. Fillers, school superintendent, who talked interestingly on the process of majoring the child's intelligence. He stated that brightness of mind might be developed through the senses of color and sound. With proper training of senses, growing children may learn to discriminate early.

Arthur Davis, accompanied by Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff, played two violin numbers, "In a Persian Market," by Kittleby, and "Caprice Droll," by Eithel Allen Nelson.

Following the talks by Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Hoffman, approximately 125 members present spent a social hour viewing the handsome portrait of Davy Crockett.

Members present were Mesdames H. R. Cloughley, J. Frank Smith, J. E. O'Brien, J. T. Watson, O. F. Bagwell, R. E. Honea, C. W. Staley, J. W. Fitzpatrick, Reece Carter, L. H. Hull and the hostess, Mrs. Kolb.

He blamed the Cook

but Oxygen had stolen the flavor

OXYGEN, not the cook, is most frequently to blame for a muddy, flavorless cup of coffee.

Coffee flavor is highly perishable. Air (Oxygen) robs coffee of its strength and flavor.

Just read these amazing facts established in the laboratories of a leading Eastern University:

(1) Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in nine days after roasting

(2) Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in nine days after roasting

All due to the attack of Oxygen!

Think of it! Forty-five to sixty-five per cent of the flavor gone from nine-day-old coffee. Even vacuum packing, a definite improvement over old-fashioned methods, removes only part of the air from the can, leaving sealed in enough Oxygen to cause flavor loss and deterioration.

The new Vita-Fresh Process removes the air so completely that the most rigid chemical analysis reveals no trace of Oxygen in the Vita-Fresh can after packing.

Remember—Oxygen is the destroyer of coffee freshness and flavor. The Vita-Fresh Process alone gives full protection to coffee goodness. Maxwell House and Maxwell House only gives you this guarantee of full flavor, full value in every pound.

Your first sip will be a taste thrill

If you would know how vastly superior, how thrillingly delightful, completely fresh coffee is, ask your grocer today for a pound of Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee. Just one sip, and you will understand why lovers of fine coffee everywhere are switching to this finer blend, which comes to you with the fresh breath of the roasting ovens still on it.

Your money back if you don't agree it's finer

After trying Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee, if you and your family do not agree that it is the finest coffee you have ever tasted—simply return the can with unused portion to the grocer from whom you bought it and he will gladly return the full purchase price.

BROKER TELLS OF KIDNAPING

Charles Rosenthal Testifies At Trial of Five

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (AP)—Charles M. Rosenthal, stock broker, today described on the witness stand how he was kidnaped for ransom last August by four men and a woman who are on trial for the crime.

The defendants are Betty Stewart Green, who is alleged to have put Rosenthal into the hands of the kidnapers; Marcus Blumenthal, reputed leader of the gang; Nicholas Rutigiano, manager of the Hotel Vendig, where the $50,000 ransom money for Rosenthal's release was delivered, and Theodore Adnolfi and Albert Sileo, who are alleged to have kept Rosenthal prisoner in an apartment.

The broker, 23 years old, was left an estate of $3,000,000, he said.

On Aug. 9, Rosenthal said, someone giving the name of Thelma Gross telephoned him at his office and said they had mutual friends in Philadelphia and suggested that he take her out. Rosenthal made an appointment to meet the woman, whom he later identified in his testimony as Miss Green.

Rosenthal said he took the woman to dinner and later, while he was waiting in a taxicab for her, a large car drew up and a man asked him to get into the car, telling him the men were friends of Miss Green. They stuck a gun in his side, he said, and took him to a house where he was held for the next 17 days.

The alleged leader of the kidnappers, he declared, then forced him to write to Edward Nathan, his attorney, requesting that Nathan obtain $50,000 ransom from Rosenthal's mother.

Death Suspect Escapes In Running Gun Fight

SALLISAW, Okla., Sept. 30. (UP)—Charles Floyd, wanted by federal agents as a suspect in the slaying of a Kansas City prohibition agent last winter, and his companion, George Birdwell, escaped from officers early today in a running gun battle.

Acting on a tip the men were suspects in the $3,000 robbery of the First National bank at Maud yesterday, Sheriff George Cheek, Sequoyah county, and a deputy followed the men to a house near here.

When the officers attempted to arrest the suspects, they opened fire and fled. None of the officers was injured as they exchanged shots. Trail of the suspects was lost today east of Fort Smith by a posse.

New Waldorf Hotel, Largest in World, Opens Today With Legacy of Rich Tradition Taken From Famous Old Plant

Mammoth Hostelry to Be Viewed by New Yorkers

NEW YORK, Sept. 30, (UP)—Ghosts of the Peacock alley of 1893-1929, the promenade of presidents and royalty, hovered today over the new Waldorf Astoria hotel.

The "world's biggest hotel" was opened formally today for preview by 12,000 invited guests in elaborate ceremonies.

The milkman on the exclusive Park avenue delivery route will make his first formal call tomorrow morning, then Warren Ross, the first paid-in-advance patron of the hotel—patron, not guest, mind you—may move into his $6-a-day room.

With that the 47-story stone monument to tradition, to its famous guests, its famous dinners, its famous Oscar of the Waldorf, will be launched upon its career.

By GENE COHN
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Decorous and genteel old Mme. Waldorf, who dwelt for many years in Fifth avenue until the mighty Empire State building sprouted from her historic site, has become the proud mother of another handsome, broad-shouldered young giant.

And old gents and ladies of the Mauve Decade, who "knew the Waldorf when," gape in wonder at the gargantuan new Waldorf-Astoria and sigh—"Who ever" would have thought?"

They recall that it was only about 40 years ago that Peacock alley swarmed with New York's swankdom for the opening of the historic Waldorf. And what a high-hat event that was, my lads. The opening dinner cost $5 per ticket—and did this figure bring a gasp or two? Of course, it was for charity, and a certain amount of champagne was to be included and Mrs. Vanderbilt passed up a musicale to be there—which made it almost worth even a five spot.

The new Waldorf opens with a telephone service that would serve a city of 25,000; with a train siding from Grand Central station from which guests can step, if riding in a private car, directly into an elevator; with an army of page boys and bell boys! wth red marble and Morocco and a bigger, perhaps better, Peacock alley; with every conceivable sort of badget, 2,253 rooms and 47 floors.

The main ballroom occupies almost a square block, and is outfitted like a theater, with boxes and a mechanically operated stage, which can be removed from sight by the pressure of a button and brought back by the pressure of another. There is a roof garden that removes its roof automatically in nice weathers, and covers it over again with a ceiling of stars and skies. There is a back-gammon room, which will be occupied by several hundred of the society folk who have adopted this game. There is a combination bridge and dining room in which the decorations are exact replicas of furnishings brought around the Horn in clipper ships. There is a Don Quixote room, done by Sert, the famous artist.

Above the 28th floor, a residential section begins. The luxury of these is peaked by the "state apartment," set aside for the most distinguished guests. The rental is a mere $125 per day. There are five stories devoted to mechanical contraptions which make the wheels go round.

The gents who want to go golfing, or yachting or fishing, can make their arrangements without rising from a table in the club room. On the walls are colorful maps of all the better known country clubs, boat harbors and such in the New York vicinity.

There are some 30 ball rooms, of various sizes and styles of decoration. Banquets and parties that will not be held for five years were booked for several of these long before the building had been completed. Organizations are worried about dinners that cannot be eaten for a couple of years. Some of the potential guests will be dead before they get around to accepting the invitations.

Dominating the more swanky reaches of upper Park avenue . . . the new Waldorf is 625 feet tall . . . a poem in white stone, capped by two aluminum-plated, beacon-lit towers.

I C C CONSIDERS RATE REVISION

Railroad Proposal Taken Under Advisement

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (INS)—The momentous question whether the railroads will be allowed to increase freight rates 15 per cent and thus increase their revenues $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 annually, was formally taken under consideration today by the Interstate Commerce commission. Its decision is expected within the next two weeks.

The proceedings were initiated June 17, and for the past 10 days the commission has heard oral arguments for and against the proposed rate increase. The great preponderance of the argument was against raising rates and came from many varied sources.

Agricultural interests led the fight against increasing rates. The general claim being that agriculture now burdened with heavy surpluses and unprecedentedly low prices, could not stand further rate increases.

If the commission denies the 15 per cent increase such denial will accelerate and force an effort to cut wages on railroad workers, Grenville Clark, representing a group of life insurance companies and mutual savings banks, told the commission today.

While the commission has tried to keep the wage question out of the proceedings it has persistently appeared during the oral arguments.

"The wage question is a very large and complicated one," Clark declared. "I have figured it would mean 1,400 different possible mediation cases for the board of mediation to handle. This commission should not hurl this controversy on the country."

QUANTICO, Va., Sept. 30. (INS)—Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler, whose career of more than 30 years in the United States marines ended today said farewell to the famous corps here today.

Seven hundred civilians of Quantico joined with the marines in bidding farewell to General Butler.

With his eyes moist as his flag was hauled down from the post, Butler asked the men to sing "Sweet Adeline," which they did and at its conclusion gave the general a rolling cheer.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas employs 43,802 teachers in its public schools system, maintains 8,079 public school libraries and operates 1,916 buses for transportation of scholastics to and from school.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Livestock industry is being helped by the "living-at-home" idea. First feeder-breeder "exchange" in Texas has been formed. It is expected to facilitate the feeder-breeder movement by arranging deals between raisers and feeders whereby the latter will take the unfinished animals and prepare them for market, no money changing hands until the cattle are made into "killer stuff" and marketed. Behind the movement is the Breeder-Feeder association formed to secure the finishing of Texas cattle on Texas farms and ranches. Success of the movement means the retention on Texas farms of $15,000,000 worth of fertilizer that for years has been going to enrich the soils of other states. . . . Creeper-feeding, whereby calves are put on feed at early ages, has shown good results in some recent Texas experiments. . . . Texans generally and cattlemen particularly are interested in the outcome of an experiment which the federal bureau of animal husbandry will conduct on the King ranch. The bureau will buy a herd of Afrikander cattle in the Union of South Africa and bring it to Texas for experiments both in breeding and in adapting the results to Texas climatic and range conditions. The Afrikanders are very strong and hardy, fair milk producers and furnish some beef, but it is expected by crossing them with Brahmas and native stocks to develop a breed well adapted to Texas. The first shipment of Afrikanders will reach Texas about Jan. 1.

European Groups Oppose Debenture Plan in Messages

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (INS)—The debenture plan and similar measures for subsidizing exports of American cotton will act to depress, rather than increase, prices to American cotton producers, according to cablegrams received today by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde from European cotton associations. They came from associations in Manchester, Liverpool, Havre, Bremen, Barcelona, Milan and Rotterdam and from the American agricultural attache in Berlin.

The messages indicated the fact that such measures have been proposed is now acting to disrupt the buying of cotton by European mills.

To allay the fears of foreign buyers and to stimulate immediate purchases of American cotton, Hyde pointed out in his reply that the price of cotton is now below the cost of production and that it is "inconceivable" that congress would take any action, the benefit of which would accrue to the buyers, rather than the producers of American cotton.

"You are advised that the present administration of this government has repeatedly opposed the enactment of such measures and made public announcement of its opposition," Hyde cabled.

"Big Shot" Philosophy

HISTORIANS of the future may very well speak of the present time as an era of the big shot—referring not to any man or group of men but to a mental attitude.

Borrowed from the underworld, this little expression has crept into everyday use from one end of the country to the other. It is a handy thing. It fits the frame of mind we have evolved; a frame of mind in which we envy the successful man, and aspire to be like him, not because he is better than we are but because we want the money, the recognition and the fame that go with his position.

An example from the newspapers illustrates it.

In a large middle western city there was recently a man who had tired of his wife. He did not want her any longer, but he did want the $2,000 or so for which her life had been insured. So he called in his nephew—a lad of 18—and the two of them cooked up a plot which ended in the woman's murder.

Presently they were arrested. They confessed; and the nephew whose boastful talk among his friends concerning the exploit had led to their downfall, was deeply chagrined.

"I blabbed everything and here I am in jail," he said sadly. "I though I was a big shot. This is what I get for not keeping my mouth shut."

Not a word of remorse for the crime; not one note of sorrow that he could not erase the whole ugly business from existence. Just the shame at the realization that he had failed to become the big shot he thought himself—and self-disgust for having talked too freely!

That sort of thing, unluckily, isn't exactly uncommon. Similar stories have appeared before, and we shall be seeing more in the future. And the whole business is not simply a sidelight on the baseness of fortune on any man who has made a go of things, no matter what his line—on any big shot, crooked or honest, who manages to get his head above the level of the crowd.

It isn't only the vicious and the unprincipled who share in this habit. All of us have a part in it. We always tip our hat to a big shot. Is it any wonder that empty-headed youth now and then gets into a muddle over it?

Gandhi and Chaplin

ONE of the most interesting stories about Gandhi to come out of London was the recent revelation that the famous Indian leader had never heard of Charlie Chaplin.

Gandhi is unlike other world leaders in a great many ways; but somehow nothing emphasizes his difference more than this. Is there, anywhere else in the civilized world, an informed adult who doesn't know who Charlie Chaplin is?

Probably not. Yet Gandhi, in some way, seems to have built a successful life despite this lack. The western world holds little that appeals to him. He has already told us that he does not want our machinery or our inventions; now he reveals that he doesn't care for our amusements, either.

Depression and Sports

THERE is not much use in trying to pretend that the business depression isn't rather severe. Just the same, it is worth pointing out that the sports fans of the nation seem to be about as numerous and as flush as they ever were.

Big league baseball has enjoyed a prosperous summer, and more than 200,000 people have tried to buy seats for the world series. A number of huge college stadia are said to be sold out already for football games that will not be played for several weeks. Golf tournaments have drawn big crowds. Race tracks have prospered in various parts of the country.

Boxing, of course, has not done so well. But that may be the fault of the performers; for Jack Dempsey, on an exhibition tour, has been packing 'em in in amazing style. All in all, it appears that a good athletic event will get the crowds about as well in hard times as in an era of prosperity.

Beer Bills in Congress

DISPATCHES from Washington indicate that a flood of "beer bills" will be offered in the house of representatives as soon as congress convenes. In the senate, likewise, there will be proposals of the same kind. All in all, a stormy session is in prospect, and the wets are reported to be nourishing fond hopes that one or another of their bills will actually get through.

Without in any way going into the merits, or otherwise, of plans to modify the prohibition law, it is a bit hard to see much reason to expect that the coming congress will enact any of these measures. Figures tabulated after the last election showed a comfortable dry majority in each house. There would have to be a tremendous shift to give any modification bill even an outside chance of passage.

Dear W. W.: The Walter Buckley gag about looking like his passport photo on the third day at sea is now claimed by Jack Benny . . . Cab Calloway and his grand "torch"-estra were swell on your broadcast . . . Glad you let him do two numbers, even if it did slice your talk . . . Are you going to take that Hollywood offer? . . . Jolson's buy on the "Cat and Fiddle" show is off, but the owner presented Howard Dietz with 5 per cent of it . . . James Stillman, who gets into the paper almost as often as you do, now is supposed to be on the verge of marrying a multimillionairess of Chicago last-named Ford . . . On the Sabbath, by the way, it was announced over all news wires that the launching of the Akron, the biggest dirigible, had been deferred until Wednesday . . . One of N. EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE $6,000 LIMB OF AN APPLE TREE—The boy I illustrated sitting on the limb of the apple tree will be given his college education with the money obtained from the sale of a single limb of the tree. He is the son of Louis A. Mood, who sold the limb to Paul Stark of Louisiana, Mo., for $6,000. Mr. Stark is a famous orchardist who specializes in the production of the more unique varieties of fruits, and he is also owner of the caged tree which I illustrated last year. The limb was a bud sport which bore a deep solid red apple that has become famous because of its early season coloring and ripening, and the large amount was paid for the exclusive right to propagate it.

FASTED OFF 232 POUNDS OF WEIGHT—Mr. Richard Fausel, a hotel proprietor of North Dakota, in 1912 found himself at the inconvenient weight of 385 pounds. Shortly thereafter Mr. Fausel, still unsatisfied, embarked again on a fasting spree. This time he fasted for 90 days and succeeded in getting rid of an additional 102 pounds. Thus within a period of a little over four months Mr. Fausel has dieted off 232 pounds, or nearly two-thirds of his original weight.

THE GIRL WHO WON

By May Christie

"Do not flatter yourself that I think Mr. Brilling had any interest in being with you after working hours," said Miss Galbraith.

Nollie Day, young and pretty, goes to New York for a career. After searching in vain for a position, she faints on the street. She regains consciousness in a suspicious looking house owned by a woman called "Daffy." Nollie flees in terror when one of Daffy's "friends" make advances. Later, she obtains a position as public stenographer in a high class hotel where she meets Mrs. Virginia Judson, a wealthy widow. Nollie substitutes for Mrs. Judson at a theater party. Mr. Hiram, with whom Mrs. Judson had the appointment, sends young and handsome Tony O'Brien in his stead. Nollie tries to explain—she is not Mrs. Judson but Tony does not hear her. After a happy evening together, Tony tells Nollie he will telephone her next day.

It dawns upon Nollie that Tony will call Mrs. Judson. Later in the evening, she had not revealed her identity as she feared it would break the spell if he knew she were not the fashionable widow. Next day, the telephone operator has a difficult time convincing Tony Mrs. Judson has sailed for Europe.

Nollie sees Tony in the hotel, but before she can reach him, he disappears. Nollie thinks Tony did not recognize her because he believes her an imposter. She takes a new position as secretary to Jack Brilling of Galbraith & Co.

Nollie's thoughts are all of Tony. One night, after working late, Brilling invites her to dinner.

Next day, Miss Galbraith enters the office, glares at Nollie, and tells her she is engaged to Brilling.

CHAPTER XVII

Mr. Billing's alleged fiancee sat in the outer office and stared truculently, provocatively at Nollie.

What had she heard to make her act like this? What had Miss Galbraith against Mr. Billing's secretary?

Daughter of the head of the firm, and, as she claimed, engaged to be married to Nollie's chief, she could—and evidently intended to—make it uncomfortable for this young woman.

Nollie looked her directly in the eyes. She saw there pride . . . jealousy . . . suspicion.

But that was foolish, for Mr. Billing and Nollie—beyond their work and their business contact in the office—had nothing in common.

Had someone been telling Miss Galbraith about their snack last night in the chophouse?

But what of that? They were both hungry, and Mr. Brilling was merely being courteous to her because they had worked so late.

For the firm's interests. As daughter of the head of the house, this hard-faced woman should understand that.

Miss Galbraith was evidently expecting some sort of comment on her announcement. Nollie said quietly: "I congratulate you," and went on with her typing.

But that didn't suit this nervous, restless person.

"Please stop that din while I am here. My head aches. I'm not very strong."

"Oh, I am sorry." Nollie took the sheet out of the machine and began to read through a pile of letters.

Miss Galbraith said restlessly: "Pardon me interrupting you. You say you haven't been here long?"

"Just a few weeks."

"And how long have you been with Jack?—I mean, Mr. Brilling?"

"About 10 days. I'm taking the place of his secretary who is gone on her vacation."

"Oh!" The exclamation long drawn out. The small eyes narrowing. "How did they happen to pick on you, a new girl? Who was it chose you for this special position?"

Nollie answered unwisely: "Why, it was Mr. Brilling."

"So?" The brows lifted. The mouth tightened. "He chose you himself, did he?"

This was said in such a meaning tone that Nollie reddened.

She was angry at herself for blushing guiltily when she had done nothing wrong.

"He chose me because I'm keen about my work, I suppose," she said shortly. "It's summer time, you see, and a lot of girls don't fancy working late in the evenings."

"So you do work late? You like working late? You stay down here with him after the others have gone home?"

"I stay when I am required to stay," said Nollie briefly.

She resented the woman't tone, her mien, the truculence of her manner.

Engaged to Mr. Brilling though she might be, that gave her no excuse to be rude to his secretary.

Miss Galbraith crossed her knees and lit a cigaret. She blew a puff of smoke into the air.

"I suppose by working late—devotion to the job and all that sort of thing—you figure you'll go up in the firm?"

Nollie did not answer that. She waited.

And the next barb came, just as she had thought it would.

"Well, there are lots of ways of getting on in the world, but sometimes a clever girl can over-reach herself, and cleverness becomes an indiscretion."

"What exactly do you mean by that, Miss Galbraith?" Nollie swung round in her chair.

"I mean that—even though he only did it out of kindness—d'you think that to go out to supper with your employer is—proper?"

A hot flush flew to Nollie's forehead.

The chophouse snack last night? Already this jealous woman had heard of it?

"Mr. Brilling had an engagement with me at my home. It was stupid of you to detain him," continued the visitor.

"But I didn't. We both worked late. To have a bite of food on the corner was his suggestion."

Miss Galbraith glared at her like an angry rooster.

"A girl who knew her place wouldn't do such a thing! If my father heard of it I don't know what would happen . . ."

"But there was nothing in it, I tell you," exclaimed Nollie, uncertain whether to laugh or cry, and indignant.

Miss Galbraith smiled disagreeably. "Excuse me saying so, but you are very ignorant."

"I never knew that Mr. Brilling was engaged. I never knew you would object like this." Nollie's thoughts flew to how he'd begged her to go with him to a roof and dance last night . . . of his reluctance to leave her.

If this woman really were his fiancee, he couldn't greatly care for her!

"You misunderstand my attitude in the matter," announced Miss Galbraith, fixing cold eyes on Nollie. "Do not flatter yourself that I think Mr. Brilling had any interest in being with you after working hours whatever. Quite to the contrary. But I only want to give you a hint of how a girl in your position ought to act—if she wishes to retain her position. Don't take it the wrong way, but be grateful to me." She added, shortly, "I hear from Jack that you came to my father with a letter from Virginia Judson?"

"Yes."

"You knew her long?"

"So so." Nollie's back was up. She was indignant with this woman.

But before another word could be exchanged Mr. Brilling himself came into the office.

He didn't seem at all delighted to see Miss Galbraith.

"I called for you in the car, dear. Remember, we've a dinner party tonight out at our house . . ."

"I didn't forget." He gave some instructions to Nollie, picked up his hat and left the office with his fiancee.

Four nights later Nollie worked till 7:30.

She was alone in her little sanctum.

Her work finished, she was about to leave when the door of the outer office opened.

It was Mr. Brilling who stood there. There was a queer expression in his eyes. His face was flushed. He said: "I just came back to sign those letters . . ."

Q.—How many people are engaged in playing baseball?—W. S. L.

A.—The National Recreation association reports that baseball maintains a commanding position in popularity among municipal league sports. According to records, 241,706 players took part in games during the past season. These figures include only leagues that support three or more teams and do not include informal athletic contests.

Q.—Of what material are the twin towers on top of the new Waldorf-Astoria?—C. L.

A.—They are made of copper sheet with aluminum leaf.

Q.—What is the meaning of "hurst" in such names as Maplehurst, Hazelhurst, etc.?—F. E. M.

A.—The suffix "hurst" is derived from the Anglo-Saxon word "hyrst" which means a wood or a forest.

Q.—Who was Lord Beaverbrook's father?—M. E. B.

A.—Lord Beaverbrook, the Right Honorable William Maxwell Aitken, is the son of the late Rev. William Aitken, a Scotch minister of Newcastle, New Brunswick, Canada, where he was born.

Q.—When did Essays of Elia first appear and why did Lamb use that title?—A. E. B.

A.—The first collected volume of Lamb's essays, "The Essays of Elia", appeared in 1823; the second, "Last Essays of Eli," 10 years later. The signature, Elia which Lamb adopted from the name of a former clerk in the South Sea house where he had been employed, served as a thin disguise, under the cover of which the author revealed in an intimate way his own experiences and thoughts, distorting the actual facts of his life only so much as was necessary to preserve a semblance of anonymity.

Q.—Where is the Physical Culture hotel?—E. M. B.

A.—At Dansville, N. Y.

Q.—What is the name of the prehistoric animal which resembles a rhinoceros?—W. S. K.

A.—The titanothere.

Q.—What is the meaning of Conestoga, a town in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania?—E. B. T.

Q.—Please tell something of the work done at the snake farm at Sao Paulo, Brazil.—R. K. S.

A.—At the Instituto Butantan, popularly known as "The Snake Farm," there are snakes from all sections of that country. A national law requires any one to ship to the farm from the place of capture all venomous snakes and any new species of non-venomous ones. The deadly poisonous snakes will not eat in captivity and soon die. To replenish the supply for serum 20 snakes arrive daily, transported free by the railroads. The farm was first started as a hobby by Dr. Vital Brazil, who lives near Rio de Janeiro. Besides manufacturing serum the instituto breeds the Mussurama, the enemy of the deadly snakes, the jararaca. Its bite is not deadly to man, and it lives on other snakes, preferring poisonous ones.

Q.—Are appetite and hunger the same?—A. H.

A.—There is a common belief that appetite and hunger are the same thing, yet the two are different. Scientists have definitely localized hunger as a function of the stomach, and find that the contraction of any empty, or nearly empty, stomach is the source of hunger pains. As the stomach is filled and the walls are expanded, hunger disappears. Appetite has been found to emanate from the mouth and throat area and is influenced by previous tastes or odors of food. Pavlov, the Russian physiologist, defines appetite as the flowing of digestive juices aroused by the memory of food. The familiar watering of the mouth at the sight of what is considered appetizing food does characterize appetite, he says.

Q.—When were the Fisk Teachers agencies established?—S. T.

A.—They were founded by Everett O. Fisk in 1884.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Famous Love Affairs

This is a collection of real stories of real men and women, most of them conspicuous by reason of birth or achievement, who had love affairs of engrossing interest. These stories come from many lands—from India, from Egypt, from France, Italy, Germany, England, America—and no two of them alike. All of them, however, illustrate the potency of love in ruling human lives, and many of them unfold more of tragedy than of happiness.

OKLA. GINNERS CUT RATES

20 Cents Hundred Agreed In Eldorado Area

Special to The Record News.

ELDORADO, Okla., Sept. 30.—A mass meeting of farmers and ginners was held at the high school auditorium here Monday night to hear reports from committees appointed at a mass meeting held at Lincoln high school auditorium last Friday night when farmers and ginners of Eldorado, Gould and Bethel agreed on a ginning rate of 20 cents per hundred pounds of cotton, which is ten cents per hundred lower than the rate set by the Oklahoma corporation commission for snapped cotton.

Dissatisfaction among the farmers of Jackson and Harmon counties as a result of the high ginning rate set by the corporation commission has been general and had reached a point in this section where some gins were disregarding the rate set by the commission and were ginning on various price bases—some for the seed, some for 30 cents and paying several dollars above the market for seed, others making up the difference to the farmer by paying from one-fourth to half a cent a pound above market for cotton.

The confusion resulting was responsible for the mass meeting held Friday night, farmers and ginners alike desiring to reach a mutual and satisfactory understanding on the matter of rates.

Committees were appointed to contact gin managers throughout Jackson and Harmon counties and if possible to get them to sign an agreement in the form of a resolution to gin on a flat rate of 20 cents per hundred pounds of cotton.

According to the report of committeemen at the meeting Monday night ginners at Altus, Blair, Humphreys, Headrick, Elmer and Olustee were interviewed and with but possibly four exceptions approved the plan and signed the agreement to gin for 20 cents per hundred flat.

None of the committeemen who conferred with the corporation commission were at the meeting Monday night but sent word that the commission authorized the gins in this district to proceed on the new rate agreement as outlined in the resolution passed Friday night.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 30. (INS)—Search for Leon Gleckman, one-time reputed bootleg king, kidnaped and held for ransom, was centered again today in the vicinity of the twin cities.

Police said information that Gleckman was being held in Chicago apparently was given out by the abductors to throw authorities off their trail.

BRAZOS BRIDGE IS COMPLETED

Opening of New Structure Expected Soon

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, Sept. 30.—With the construction work completed on the new bridge over the Brazos river on highway 67, near South Bend, it is believed that traffic will be permitted to pass over the new bridge shortly after Oct. 1.

This splendid new span erected at a cost of approximately $95,000 will replace the old bridge which has been considered unsafe for several months. The construction was begun March 14 of this year by the contractors, Brown-Abbott company of Dallas, and about 50 workmen were employed, 90 per cent of whom were local men.

The entire project including approaches is a little more than a mile long. The bridge itself is 839 feet in length. The structure stands well above all previous high water marks and rests on concrete piers about 60 feet high which extend 20 feet below the river bed to rock foundation. The change in the location of the bridge made necessary the construction of one-half mile of roadway on the south side and one-fourth mile on the north side.

Cleveland, Ohio, County In Financial Distress

CLEVELAND, Sept. 30. (AP)—County Auditor John A. Zangerle announced today that Cuyahoga county has just enough money to meet its Oct. 1 pay roll and immediately after that date faces a financial crisis. Guyahoga county includes within its limits the city of Cleveland and several suburbs.

The county budget commissioner's office said the county will have to go on a quarter working basis, with the stagger system of employment and that the situation is so acute that a special session of the legislature may have to be called to prevent a shut down of the courts here.

Unpaid taxes for 1930 and 1931 were given as the cause for the county's financial difficulties.

A $25,000 armory building is under construction at Amarillo.

Health and Diet Advice

Fillets of Fish

Fish are such valuable articles of diet that they deserve a place on the family menu on other days besides Friday. The meat of fish is usually less expensive than many of the cuts of meat, but it is just as nourishing. In fact, the composition of fish closely resembles that of lean meat and contains no starch.

Fish is rich in potassium, phosphorus and sulphur, but deficient in sodium, iron and silicon. For this reason it should be used in combination with leafy vegetables since they will supply the needed elements. The saltwater fish, especially, offer varying degrees of iodine which is valuable in preventing goitre.

Among the more easily digested fishes, you will find the sole, halibut, sea bass, pickerel, fresh cod, tom cod, perch and black bass. These fish do not contain as much fat as some of the other fishes, such as salmon, mackerel and herring.

Each year there are two billion pounds of fish marketed, and this is just enough to meet the demand. If the demand were greater, several times as many pounds of fish could be marketed, as the ocean and lakes which cover the larger portion of the earth's area, are full of enough fish to last many years, if no effort were made to restock these water with them. As it is now, fish is comparatively cheap proteid, much less expensive than most meats, and just as nutritious as beef.

You must remember when you take the fish home that it should be packed in chopped ice, as fish do not keep well at the ordinary temperature of the ice box. Even placing it on a cake of ice does not suffice. Chop some ice very fine, put the fish on clean paper in the ice chamber, pack around it the chopped ice and allow it to remain until you are ready to cook it.

Many people like to use the whole fish and think that its flavor is superior to where only the fillet is used. This may be true where the fish can be secured fresh, but the tendency of the fish merchants is away from the whole fish to the use of more fillets.

It is more difficult to handle and keep the whole fish fresh, and if the whole fish is used it is very important that the meat be in good condition. The eyes should look bright and shiny. The gills should be bright red rather than a faded color. The flesh should be firm and elastic, and should not dent easily. It is a bad sign if the scales come off too easily. Fish with a fine texture is more easily digested than where the flesh is more coarse.

The fillet is the thick, flat, muscular part of the fish after the bones, skin and internal organs have been removed. Filleting fish is done at the fish houses as soon as the boats dock. The fish, often still alive when landed at the dock, are killed and the fillet part removed and immediately put on ice and frozen. This is by far the best part of the fish. The head and fins have no food value, and practically all of the edible portion of the fish is contained in the fillet. When the fillet is removed, dressed and shipped there is very little danger of decomposition even if kept for months in the packing houses.

Fish may be boiled, broiled, grilled, fried or stewed. Broiling and baking are the best methods to use since they preserve all of the nourishing elements and do not interfere with the digestibility of the fish. In boiling fish the water should be salted, as otherwise the fish becomes soft and breaks apart. Fresh fish are easier to digest than those which have been pickled, smoked or canned in oil. One of the most delicious ways to serve fish is to use it with vegetables and a salad of tomatoes, lettuce and cucumbers. The malic acid of the tomatoes seems to assist in the digestion of the fish when tomatoes and fish are used at the same meal. It is best not to use starch with a fish meal, but as many cooked and raw non-starchy vegetables as desired may be used. No milk should be used with fish. Lemons seem to combine tastily with fish and are often used as a garnish.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

What Regulates Body Heat?

Question—Mrs. W. inquires: "What is the name of the gland that keeps our body heat at a uniform temperature?"

Answer—The even regulation of the body's heat is brought about by the nervous system. The temperature is regulated somewhat by the flow of blood which is in turn controlled by nerve centers. There is no particular gland which has any effect in that way except the thyroid gland to some extent. If it is overactive, it causes a more rapid oxidation of the heating materials in the blood. This does not usually produce a rise in temperature as the nervous system compensates by producing a larger amount of perspiration to cool the body.

Contracted Pelvis

Question—Mrs. Y. T. J. writes: "What can be done for a contracted pelvis? I have had one child and expect another?"

Answer—Very little, if anything, can be done in regard to a contracted pelvis. Your doctor should be able to determine by an examination whether your child will be born normally. Having given birth before it will probably be much easier for you this time.

Lichen Planus

Question—Ivan writes: "I feel in good health except for chronic lichen planus in the inner lining of my cheeks. What can be done for this?"

Answer—Lichen planus is a skin eruption caused by infection by a small micro-organism or fungi. A short acid fruit fast is very beneficial in building up resistance to this type of infection. You should also have some local treatments of the infected region such as ultra-violet or actinic light which you should be able to obtain at some doctor's office. Also have it painted with some antiseptic such as argerol or nitrate of silver after the light treatment.

Gold Production In United States Falling Steadily

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—An ebb tide in the steady stream of gold flowing from domestic mines to America's well-filled coffers in the next decade is expected by scientists.

Troubles of Great Britain, Sweden and Norway and other gold standard nations have revived discussion here among geologists and mineralogists of this country's future raw gold supply.

Although none of the experts would venture a flat prediction, all held to the theory future discoveries would be negligible while existing fields slowly would be exhausted.

A sharp break in gold production since 1915 was considered a supporting factor. That year, America reached her production peak, 4,823,672 ounces. It has now declined to slightly more than 2,000,000 ounces annually.

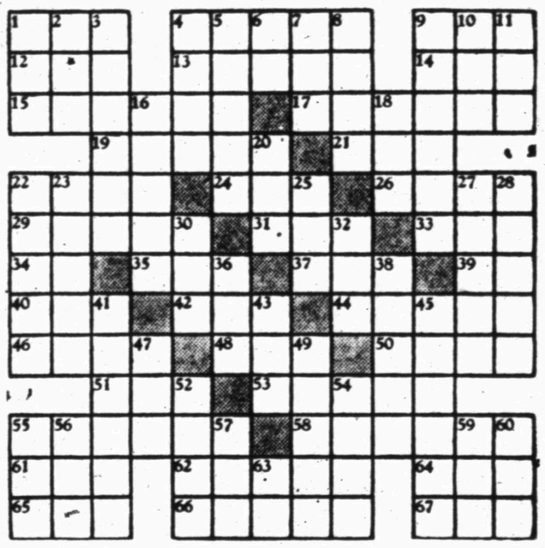

International statistics predict the United States will relinquish second place in world production ranking to Canada by 1933 and drop from a valued output of $42,800,000 in 1930 to $36,100,000 in 1940. South Africa now leads with upwards of $200,000,000 yearly.

Anticipating which we pen

The Vicious Circle

The baseball season is over, says Lloyd Gregory, Houston sports scribe, in a recent column, but the second guessing season has just started. He refers to the number of fans in Houston who are telling him why the Buffs lost the Dixie series.

We know all too well how Gregory feels, and unfortunately can offer him no words of consolation. That second guessing season in Houston will last a long time. The Wichita Falls season, which opened after the Spudders lost the Texas league flag to the Cats in 1930, isn't over yet.

Well, since everybody else is second guessing anent the late lamented "Dizzy" series, we had just as well horn in. We believe the Buffs were blatantly overconfident from the start of that series to the finish.

In a Quandary

The doctor might have made up his mind in the meantime, and may by now be half way to St. Louis. But last night I saw him—Dr. Everett Jones—at the coffee counter, and this great problem was in danger of turning his hair a silvery gray:

He had a railroad pass to St. Louis. He had the promise of L. C. McEvoy, vice president of the Browns, that two passes to the world series awaited him in St. Louis. He had the additional assurance that should he choose to attend the series he would be Mr. McEvoy's guest at a swell St. Louis hotel, and that he wouldn't be called upon to spend a dime.

And Dr. Jones couldn't decide whether to go or not!

A Suggestion

The football field behind the high school building is certainly an improvement, but we believe several things remain to be done. In the first place, we hope that by the time the next game is played on the field it is roped in, to prevent the crowds from swarming on the field. The ropes should be stretched several feet away from the field boundary.

There was no amount of confusion the last two games resulting from the crowd pressing too close to the field when the teams were near the edge of the gridiron. We don't mean to be particular, but it was also tough on the scorers, who were trying to keep a running account of the game. In the present condition of the field, the scorers have no place in which to stand, and are at the mercy first of the crowd, and then the football team. Get a scorer pressed between the two and he is in dire danger of getting his block knocked off.

Also, if the school can possibly arrange it, we would like to see the field lined off better for the next game. The lines in the past have been so dim that it was difficult to tell the position of the ball. This leads to many errors in the reporting of a football game.

An array of bleachers for the high school field would solve a great problem, and would give the high school something of which it could be justly proud. In the long history of the school, it has never been able to boast of a true "home field." Home fields have a habit of breeding a tradition—a tradition that the team will not stand for a defeat on its own gridiron.

The high school this year is showing signs of having a pretty fine football team. If it turns out that this city is to have a winning team for the first time in years, it would be doubly impressive if that team could start the tradition of being unbeatable on its home field.

We understand that there have been several moves toward the building of a home field, but none has materialized as yet. It is a thing that should occupy the attention of all citizens who take pride in their high school.

The New Spirit

Things are hunky-dora out at the Coyote camp. There is in the air some undefinable atmosphere that was lacking last year. It is an atmosphere of punch and aggressiveness. Even if the Coyotes don't set the state afire, they can take pride in the fact that they started the new awakening in football interest.

We suspect that much of the pep and ginger in the Coyote camp is the result of two coaches doing the work that formerly was shouldered by one. The Coyote squad annually is a bulky one, far too unwieldy for one mentor. The addition this year of Charles Lindsey, a backfield expert, has worked wonders.

Holton now is free to devote most his time to the lineman, a thing he never had the opportunity to do in the past. And the results are coming more to the surface daily. Every member of the line receives minute and detailed instruction, and, what is more, hour upon hour of drill under the eyes of the coach.

Meanwhile Lindsey is on another part of the field with his backfield men, each one of whom gets the same careful attention. Lindsey, a great halfback in his time, is a young man with more pep than a skyrocket, and his hustling spirit has proved rapidly contagious.

One of his hustling backfield men is Cleo Creecy, and I like Cleo Creecy very, very much. And I am confident that in the years to come I am going to like Cleo Creecy very, very, very much more than I like him now. I liked Cleo Creecy a great deal last year, when he was playing for Coach Beck's Reagan junior high eleven, but I had no idea he would turn out this year to be a formidable man in the first string Coyote offense. Give this boy time, and he will be another Benny Withrow, and you know what Withrow is.

pennant winners and five world champions, never reveals in advance his pitching selections. Mack may have a surprise up his sleeve as he did when he unexpectedly picked Howard Ehmke to open the 1929 series against the Chicago Cubs, but the odds are 10 to 1 against it. Grove pitched and won the first game against the Cards last year.

"I plan to start Derringer if he looks good when he warms up tomorrow," said Street, who celebrated his 49th birthday today. "If Derringer starts the first game, Hallahan will pitch the second. If I don't use Derringer, I will start either Hallahan or Grimes tomorrow.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30. (AP)—The probable batting order for the opening world series game tomorrow:

ATHLETICS	CARDINALS
Bishop, 2b	Adams or High, 2b
Haas, cf	Roettger, rf
Cochrane, c	Frisch, 2b
Simmons, lf	Bottomley, 1b
Foxx, 1b	Hafey, lf
Miller, rf	Martin, cf
Dykes, 3b	Wilson, c
Williams, ss	Gelbert, ss
Grove, p	Derringer, p

Umpires—Klem, National league, behind plate; Nallin, American league, first base; Stark, National league, second base; McGowan, American league, third base.

Time of game—1:30 p. m., central standard time.

Eight Right-Handers

The Cardinals' batting order will muster eight right-handed hitters against Grove's southpaw slants. Wally Roettger, a right-handed batter, will be in right field instead of Watkins. Frankie Frisch bats right-handed against southpaws. Jim Bottomley will be the Cards' only left-handed batter against Grove.

There will be only one change in the Athletics' line-up which defeated the Cardinals in four out of six games in last year's series. Dibrell Williams, 21-year-old Greenbriar, Ark., boy, will be at shortstop instead of the aging, crippled Joe Boley. Williams outbatted Boley by about 40 points during the regular season, with the mark of .272.

The Cardinals present improved form over last year when they were worn out after a hard, uphill pennant fight. This year they won the pennant by 13 games and outclassed the National league field almost as much as did the A's in the American league.

Cards Stronger

Derringer's pitching, the improved batting of Chick Hafey and Jim Bottomley and the addition of two new outfielders, Pepper Martin and Wally Roettger, apparently give the Cards a stronger combination than in 1930.

Hafey, with .3488 and Bottomley, with .3481, virtually tied for the National league batting championship. A year ago, Bottomley was the biggest flop of the series, making only one hit in 22 times at bat for an average of .045.

Martin, a speedy, hustling ball player, has replaced Taylor Douthit in centerfield. Douthit made only two hits in 24 times at bat against the A's last year for a mark of .083.

So Martin is bound to be an improvement of Douthit, and Bottomley will be riding the bench after the first two games unless he delivers some telling blows in a pinch.

CONNIE MACK'S TEAM ARRIVES ON SCENE

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30. (AP)—Connie Mack's world champion Athletics rolled into town late today on a wave of roaring confidence, eager to get at Gabby Street's St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow afternoon in the first game of the world series.

Down a narrow lane of what apparently was a small section of St. Louis unemployed, lanky Lefty Grove led the procession, the inevitable black "Seegar" tip tilted from his teeth, a wide grin on his narrow features.

"You're good, Lefty," some one in the crowd shouted. "But you're gonna get beat. We'll lick you sure this time."

The long left hander, with 31 pitching victories to his credit over the season, just grinned back at the greeting.

DERRINGER OBSERVES OLD SUPERSTITION

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30. (AP)—Paul Derringer, 25-year-old pitching "freshman," who will start the world series for the Cardinals tomorrow, observed an ancient and superstitious baseball custom today by refusing to be photographed while working out at Sportsman's park.

On the same ground that it's bad luck to be photographed before a big battle Manager Gabby Street declined to collect his athletes for a group picture.

Members of the committee, besides Mr. Kelly, are B. B. Greever, A. C. Moline, Frank Wolf, J. H. Allison, J. N. Sherrill, all of Wichita Falls, and T. J. Pace, Iowa Park, and W. L. Hodges, Valley View.

Probable Starters in First World Series Game Today

PACK READY FOR ARDMORE

Light Drill Today to Round Team Into Shape

Three men, all vitally connected with high school athletics, stood arguing on the school practice field yesterday afternoon, and each had a different objective.

"I want to beat Childress," said Assistant Coach Charles Lindsey. "If we beat Childress, we'll win the district."

"And I want to beat Quanah," said Carter McGregor, member of the school board. "We've got to have a line to stop Quanah. If our line won't hold, they'll plough right through us."

"But I," said Head Coach Barry Holton, "want to beat Ardmore. That game comes first."

And indeed it does. In fact it's only one day away. When the high school Coyotes play the Ardmore eleven tomorrow at Ardmore, they will get their first real test of the season, and both Holton and Lindsey know it.

The team yesterday was put through the final stiff conditioning for the game. Only a light workout was expected to be ordered today. The practice yesterday was featured by a spirited scrimmage between the regulars and the reserves, the first stringers ploughing through the line for consistent gains, and several touchdowns.

While the Coyotes worked out, the B squad journeyed over to the Zundelowitz Junior High school field and engaged Coach Roy Golden's crew in a regulation game, the future Coyotes winning, 19 to 0.

Bill Reynolds, regular guard who teams with the redoutable Malcolm Mauldin, was on the sidelines Wednesday with a broken finger, sustained in scrimmage Tuesday, and it is doubtful if he will get into the Ardmore game. His injury is another in a long list of Coyote casualties. Burns McKinney, halfback, is still out of the game with an injured elbow, and J. R. Holton, regular center, is still ailing with his injured back. The injured players may be sorely missed in the game with the Sooners. However, Coach Holton Wednesday was grooming W. J. Hawthorne to take Reynolds' place, and both Gentry and Daniel have been showing up well at center. Hawthorne is a converted fullback.

McKinney's place will not be difficult to fill, as Holton has a wealth of backfield men, including Bill Jenkins, Cleo Creecy, and Dick Warren, all of them fleet scrappers.

Girl Indicted for Shooting Two Men

HOUSTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—Two indictments charging Miss Albina Kowalik, 24, with slaying R. L. Urquhart, Houston salesman, July 4, and with wounding Dr. J. T. Bothoff, Pelly dentist, two days earlier, were returned today by the Harris county grand jury.

The young woman was arrested in San Antonio Monday by City Detective C. F. Arnold of Houston. Arnold said she confessed she shot both Urquhart and Doctor Bothoff during automobile rides. She claimed she shot in self defense.

School Boy Confesses Wielding Fatal Blow

ATHENS, Ohio, Sept. 30. (AP)—Mystery surrounding the death of John Gooding, 18, Uhrichsville, freshman at Ohio university, who died Sunday with a fractured skull, was cleared today when John W. Genter, 17, high school student, told Prosecutor John Bolin that he had struck Gooding on the head with a mallet during a fight.

Prosecutor Bolin sent Genter back to school after his confession, saying he would investigate the case further.

Things Look Bad for Cards, Says Foxx

But Grimes Is Confident 'A's Can't Beat Us'

By BURLEIGH GRIMES
Pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30.—You've got to sock that old apple to win ball games and that's what we've been doing all year. I see no reason why we shouldn't keep right on doing it during the world series.

Team averages show that the Cards and the Athletics are about on a par but this does not mean much where a short series is concerned.

Comparing the hitters individually, Cochrane appears a better hitter than either Wilson or Mancuso. Bottomley, on his form this year, figures to outhit Foxx on the latter's 1931 form. I consider Frisch a much more dangerous batter than Bishop and Gelbert a better hitter than either Boley or Williams. If Dykes is at third, the dope indicates Sparky Adams whom I think will be ready to play, should outhit him by a comfortable margin.

Hafey Dangerous

In the outfield, Simmons had the edge over Hafey, but the latter is one of our most dangerous hitters, although he did not prove it in the 1930 games. Assuming that Haas will be unable to play, Pepper Martin looks like a much better man at the plate than Cramer, while Watkins ought to hit much higher than Bing Miller.

The above two paragraphs show that only the A's catcher and left fielder figure to outhit the corresponding players on our team. Of course the reverse may be true in the actual series, but nevertheless I consider my deductions sound.

I figure we will outhit the A's by a comfortable margin, and as it is hitting that wins ball games I can see no sound reason why we should not win the series.

Summing up our chances for winning the world's championship, it must be remembered that we played at top speed until we had the pennant cinched. We let down a little then, but kept on winning ball games just the same.

At Full Strength

With the possible exception of Haines, we will be at full strength for the big series. It is doubtful if the Athletics will be, but I hope they are.

We have the additional advantage of starting the series on our home grounds, and if the series is not decided in five games, it will end at Sportsman's park. The result is that we have a fine chance of getting the jump on the A's, which we didn't get last year.

Any number of my friends have asked me who the starting pitcher will be and now—the night before the first game I can honestly say I don't know—nor will I until a half hour or so before game time.

I don't see that it makes any particular difference as any one of our pitchers rates an even chance of winning.

It is admitted that the A's got a break in the series by having the first game start on Thursday. This means that there will be a two-day interval between the second and third game, giving the two Mack aces, Grove and Earnshaw, a more or less unexpected day of rest. Sunday ball being prohibited in Philadelphia.

Sure of Victory

Many fans think that Mack will use only Grove and Earnshaw as his starting pitchers. I can't recall that any team ever won a fall classic recently with only two moundsmen and I don't think Mack can.

I don't think the A's can beat us in any event.

To my way of thinking, we figure to win.

And I am certain we shall.

By JIMMIE FOXX
First Baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30.—Only one more day of rest and things don't look any too bright for the Cardinals.

During the past week we have been playing in top form.

All the pitchers we have started have shown mid-season form. Earnshaw pitched against the Tigers and retired after we had piled up too big a lead to be overtaken. Grove hurled against the Red Sox and allowed five hits. Rommel and Hoyt both went the route and won their games. That's what I call pitching.

Of course, I can't compare a second division American league team to the Cardinals. But statistics show that the Red Birds have been faring rather roughly during the past week.

Hops on Grimes

Hallahan, Grimes, Derringer and Johnson failed to finish the games they started. As a matter of fact, in an exhibition game against the Browns, Grimes made a pitiful showing, allowing six runs in one inning. The Card sluggers could only get six hits off the Brown hurlers. We have beaten the Browns in at least three-quarters of the games we have played with them.

I noticed a little item in the paper which stated that the Cards have arranged to bat against Bill Walker, a southpaw, in practice. That may or may not help them.

Grove has a style that is in a class by itself and no matter how long the Cards practice batting against left-handers, they'll probably be just as easy for our "smoke-ball" king as they were last year.

The records show that Jim Bottomley and Chick Hafey are among the batting leaders in the National league. That may or may not mean anything.

Remember 1930

Bottomley was unable to touch our pitching last year and Hafey also failed to impress. Of course, the improvement in their batting during the season might be a factor in the series. But then again, we still have the same pitchers who turned the trick a year ago. Figure it our for yourself.

Another thing in our favor is the scheduled arrangement. We start tomorrow in Sportsman's park for a two-game session and then we have a day of travel to our home park. We don't play Sunday and that gives our pitchers two full days of rest. We play three games at home, if the series goes that far.

Incidentally, don't take too seriously the fact that Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg were hammered hard in the last games of the season. It was just a warm-up.

Connie Mack says:

"I have always maintained a team was not really great unless it could repeat. This team has done me great honor, it will win another world series."

It may sound like a bromide, but we're going out to win this series for Connie more than any other reason.

Everything is in our favor.

It is not improbable that we will win four straight.

The shorter the series, the better we will like it, providing we are on the winning side.

And I am certain we will be. Practically positive of it, in fact.

They were charged with shooting from a car and shooting while on a public highway. They were arrested by Game Warden Hopson. BOBCAT TEAM MEETS HOLLIS

Stronger Childress Eleven Expected on Field

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Sept. 30.—Facing a strong aggregation from Hollis, Okla., the Bobcats will play the fourth game of the season here Friday afternoon at Fair park. The locals have been the underdogs in each go, and face one of the strongest teams in this section in their tilt this week. Coach Ballard has been sending his charges through stiff workouts all week in an effort to stage a rally that will put the Cats in the win column.

Lacking seasonable material around which to build a winning team, Ballard has been facing the problem of choosing from his men the best combination. Several changes have been made in the line up and likely a stronger Bobcat eleven will take the field in this week's game.

Hollis took a onesided affair from Gould last week by a score of 43 to 0. The locals met Gould in the first go of the season dropping the game 6 to 0. Taking comparative scores of these two games the Cats are due to take a good licking at the hands of the Harmon county eleven, but with a strengthened backfield the Ballard men are preparing to put up a stiff battle.

The first conference game is to be played with the Coyotes of Wichita Falls, Oct. 10. The Bobcats and the football backers are making preparations to take that game.

Shamrock Irishmen Play McLean Friday

Special to The Record News.

SHAMROCK, Texas, Sept. 29.—The Shamrock Irishmen are slated to meet the McLean eleven at McLean Friday, Oct. 2, for a non-conference clash.

In a game with the Canadian Wildcats last Friday the Irishmen played their first real football of the season and tied the Canadians 6-6. Several new players showed up well in this clash and will help the Irish lineup materially in future games. John Stevens, Irish coach, is giving the gridsters hard workouts for the McLean game and a good tilt should result.

Panthers Anticipate Stiff Grid Battle

SEYMOUR, Texas, Sept. 30.—Coach Jenkins is working his Seymour High Panthers faithfully this week, whipping them in shape to meet the Crowell eleven here Friday, Oct. 2. This promises to be a real battle.

The Panthers know they are going up against one of the strongest teams in the conference, and are getting in some real work this week, feeling more confidence than they have so far this season. Both backfield and line are showing great improvement and will go into the game wide awake.

Mrs. Chandler Holds Lead In Dallas Golf Tourney

DALLAS, Sept. 30. (AP)—Hitting 200-yard tee shots, Mrs. Dan Chandler of the Dallas Brook Hollow Golf club held her lead here today at the conclusion of 36 holes of the 54 holes Dallas Woman's Golf association second annual invitation tournament.

At the close of yesterday's play, Mrs. Chandler's 84 led the field by two strokes. She put together a 39-44—83 today to increase her lead to three strokes, with the final 18 holes scheduled tomorrow.

Three strokes behind Mrs. Chandler was Mrs. F. C. Rochon of Wichita Falls, Texas, municipal champion, who shot a consistent 42-42—84 today for a 36-hole total of 170. Miss A. Gorczyca of Fort Worth, after a 96 yesterday, featured today with a splnedid 42-41—83 to give her a 36-hole total of 170 and third place. Mrs. R. R. Fisk of Wichita Falls, Texas, Woman's Golf association state champion, today put a 47-43—90 with her 91 of yesterday for a total of 181.

ESTELLINE, Texas, Sept. 30.—Coach T. L. McBride is putting his Bear Cubs through stiff training this week getting ready for the football battle with the Wellington Skyrockets in Wellington Friday.

After their sweeping victory over Matador last Friday the Cubs are encouraged and expect to give the Wellington lads a battle for the game. Dope has it that Wellington will carry off the big score but the Cubs are looking better every day in their workouts.

Memphis to Play Amarillo Yans

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Sept. 30.—According to Coach Nolan Walter, the Memphis High school Cyclones will play the Amarillo Yannigans here Friday. The Yannigans have played several stronger teams in this section and have made impressive showings in each game.

It is expected that they will give the Cyclones a real battle. Coach Walter plans to groom his men this week and be ready to make a better showing than they did with the Pampa eleven last week. It is probable that several new plays will be perfected in time for use in the game.

The Cyclones will open their conference schedule with a game with Turkey here Oct. 16.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (AP)—A slight opening decline in cotton today was followed by moderate rallies on covering and trade buying but the demand was supplied by further southern selling and prices reached the lowest levels of the day and movement in the late trading.

December contracts closed at 6.02. The final tone of the market was barely steady at net declines of 3 to 6 points. March sold off to 6.30 and closing quotations were at the lowest of the day on active months.

There was little or no comment on the weekly report of the weather bureau, while the day's weather news was regarded as indicating generally favorable conditions for picking and marketing. An early decline in the Liverpool market was attributed to hedging with London and Bombay liquidation but prices there rallied quite sharply just before the local opening and houses with Liverpool connections were buyers here during the early trading.

According to private advices there were fair cloth sales in Manchester for China account. A private crop estimate of 15,182,000 bales was without apparent effect upon the market here. Exports today 51,712, making 731,479 so far this season.

Futures closed barely steady, 3 to 5 points lower. Spot quiet; middling 5.95.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30. (AP)—Trading in cotton was somewhat more active today, but prices again made new lows for the season and closed at net declines of 5 to 7 points.

A private estimate issued during the morning for 12 of the leading cotton states made the estimated yield 15,139,000 bales, while a private estimate issued late yesterday made the crop 15,918,000 for the entire belt.

Liverpool is due tomorrow 6 penny points down on New Orleans.

Liverpool cables at the start today were 3 to 4 penny points worse than due but rallied some later. Sterling exchange was firmer. Private cables stated that there was hedge selling and that London and Bombay liquidated on the proposed increase in India's import duty. Manchester cabled that there was a fair cloth trade with China.

The market made new lows for the day and season in the late trading owing to realizing and in sympathy with easier stocks. December dropped to 6.00 and January to 6.09, down 15 points from the highs. The close was at the lowest with December showing a net loss for the day of 5 points and January a net loss of 7 points.

Yesterday's quotation for spot middling of 5.70 was a new low for the season and the lowest since November, 1898, when middling dropped to 4.75. The lowest price ever recorded in New Orleans for spot middling was 4⅝c in 1845.

Repeated Waves of Liquidation Sink All Stocks Except Rails

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (US)—The stock market passed through another liquidating movement today, with new low prices reached in all sections excepting the railroad department.

Firmness of the rail shares encouraged the faint hope that perhaps the group is again presaging an important turn, just as they had repeatedly indicated, on the downside, that no rally could be held for long. The rail shares closed unchanged for the day and still above their lowest level of the bear market, reached over a week ago.

Having been subjected to repeated waves of liquidation which at times reached panicky proportions, the railroads certainly have been entitled to a period of relative firmness, although as yet none of the large-scale buying, which inevitably must be attracted if advances are to be held, has appeared. Nevertheless, their consistent refusal to yield to the remainder of the list's decline has given rise to the hope that perhaps they are discounting a favorable development.

In this respect, the report was persistent today that something of constructive nature may develop tomorrow from the resumed meetings of the Eastern railroad executives seeking an agreement on the merger scheme. The same promise has been made on numerous occasions in the past only to result in bitter disappointment, but there is now the added incentive to agreement possibility of strong external pressure and recognition of the need for some psychological swing away from the utter depression now prevailing.

The volume of more than three million shares was the best evidence that liquidation in unabated amount was still under way. Bond prices continued lower, yet net losses were more moderate than heretofore.

Along with the railroad merger possibility, there was also the suggestion, mainly based on wish to be sure, that perhaps the heavy liquidation in bonds and other securities may have been incidental to banking preparations for the Sept. 30 statements. Liquidity certainly has been the main objective of the institutions which have been disposing of securities almost without regard to price.

But, in the public utility section of the market there was hardly a sign of let-up in the selling. The offerings here very plainly are of distress nature. Short-selling is playing a minor role on the offering side, yet it is known to be exerting substantial stabilizing influence. In American Telephone, for example, enormous scale-down buying orders placed by former shorts were providing the principal means of immediate support.

Consolidated Gas was the day's most disappointing performer. This stock at present levels is attracting little bear selling, but it was in very free supply. Investment Trust and other such sources were principal sellers. The stock is very close to a 6 per cent yield.

Several times during the day the market was able to stage rallies which, even though short-lived, were suggestive of temporary suspension of liquidation. But subsequent waves of selling overcame all support and marked prices down to new lows.

The Baltimore and Ohio directors voted "a dividend" of $1 for the quarter, but still leaving in doubt the annual basis. The stock, however, has been discounting a lowering of the dividend and some short covering came into the stock. B. & O. has been one of the few railroad issues meeting fairly sizeable buying around current prices, although its future is dependent upon the general prospects for the entire industry. Its August net is estimated to have been about $2,000,000 below a year ago.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—Swayed largely by fluctuations of Wall street securities, grains at least temporarily quit backsliding today, but failed to hold well on upturns.

September wheat contracts touched a new all-time low record for any wheat future on the Chicago board of trade, and all deliveries of corn outdid the lowest levels reached heretofore this season. Then buying broadened, influenced by the fact that grains had declined for five successive days and that a reversal of trend appeared overdue. Late action of the stock market, however, put grains under a fresh handicap.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to ⅛ cents off, corn varying from 1¼c decline to ⅛c advance, oats unchanged to ⅛c down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

The new minimum price scored for Chicago wheat futures, 44⅝ cents a bushel, represented less than one cent fall overnight, but today's final quotations for September showed only ¼ cent recovery.

Weakness of corn prices were associated especially with the heaviest bookings made of late in corn to arrive here from rural sources, 250,000 bushels. Besides, today's Chicago receipts were large, 169 cars, compared with 58 a year ago. Auspicious weather for field work gave a further advantage to bears. Oats followed corn.

Provisions advanced on account of an unusual increase of lightweight hogs reaching terminal markets.

Closing indemnities—Wheat: Dec. 46½@⅛c, 47⅛@⅛c; March 49⅝c, 50⅛c; May 50⅞@51c, 52¼@⅛c. Corn: Dec. 35⅛c, 35⅝@36c; May 39⅛c, 39⅝@⅞c.

Motorists Here To Drive Cheaper Under New Rate

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Well, fellow motorists and drivers of Chevrolets, rejoice and give thanks on account of your foresight in being citizens of Wichita Falls. Why? Because three of the major companies have announced a reduction of two cents in the retail of gasoline at their stations within the corporate limits of our fair city. The new schedule, which was announced by the Gulf Refining, Magnolia and Sinclair companies effective Wednesday morning, is 12 cents for commercial white, and 15 cents per gallon for ethyl and special brands.

The new price softens the mileage for the motorists but it is but a bed of cactus for the local plants. Up to noon Wednesday none of the other major companies or local plants had met the new price, but in all probability the other dispensers of joy juice will fall in line within the next 24 hours.

Houston to Get Huge Refinery

HOUSTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—Plans have been completed for erection of a new oil refinery on the Houston ship channel which will employ not only many men but will operate on a new principle, E. W. Hartman, representing the Hartman interests, Inc., announced today.

The source of supply is within 60 miles of Houston. The oil, of low gravity, will be partially processed at the field and piped to the refinery in a condition that permits refining into high grade lubricants and high test gasoline with great rapidity.

The refinery will be of 25,000 barrels daily capacity and will cost $3,000,000. It will employ about 300 men. An additional $2,000,000 will be expended at the field source where 100 men will be employed in addition to the well crews.

The entire output of the refinery is contracted for shipment to the orient.

DOMESTIC OIL OUTPUT DROPS

Heavy Drainage Made on Stocks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—Domestic petroleum production in the United States for August was 68,418,000 barrels, for a daily average of 2,207,000, a decline of 12 per cent from the previous month.

The August figures reflected in full the military shut-down of the Oklahoma flush fields right after Aug. 1 and the closing of all East Texas wells late in the month.

The decline in production caused a withdrawal from storage tanks of close to 16,000,000 barrels, the largest ever made. The decline, however, led to a total reduction of crude stocks of 14,000,000 barrels with the remainder accounted for by withdrawal of refined products.

Production in the Oklahoma City field, the only field in that state with a material amount of flush production, fell from a daily average of 157,000 barrels in July to 24,000 in August. Production in the East Texas fields fell from a daily average of 519,000 barrels in July to 460,000 barrels in August.

Shortage of Pickers In Tillman County

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 30.—Thousands of bales of cotton open for the harvest, and no pickers to gather the crop, is the present situation in Tillman county.

Although a surplus of hands is usually to be found in this section during the fall harvest season, the extremely hot and dry weather of the previous weeks has evidently caused the pickers to remain at home for the gathering of their own cotton. The unusually hot period has opened the boll crop all over the South, so that farmers who have gone to other Oklahoma and Texas towns in search of help, have returned empty-handed. Even Arkansas has been invaded in the fruitless search for pickers.

Farmers are paying on the average of 50 cents for picking, and 35 for pulling bolls.

COTTON PREMIUM

Frederick Plans to Post Top Price During Festival

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 30.—A premium price may be paid for cotton here during the two days of the Cotton Festival, Oct. 22 and 23, if present plans of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce are accepted.

The merchants propose to offer a premium above the market price of the cotton, the pay for cotton to be taken in trade by the farmers.

L. M. Wagnon, secretary-manager of the body, also suggested an extra premium for the bale of the best staple brought to town the two days. It is proposed to stack all the cotton in the center of the down town district, in order to advertise the festival and Frederick as an important cotton center. The chamber of commerce, if the plan is carried out, will probably issue scrip at the receiving station for the cotton, which will be redeemable in merchandise.

SOVIET TROOPS IN MANCHURIA

Cavalry and Armored Cars Cross Border

LONDON, Oct. 1. (Thursday) (US)—Patrols of Russian cavalry and armored cars have entered the Manchurian border city of Manchouli, a special dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph today stated.

The dispatch from Mukden declared the Soviet invasion of Chinese territory evoked a protest from Chinese residents of Manchouli to the Russian consul stationed there.

The consul is reported to have replied that the patrols crossed the frontier merely to search for antibolsheviks suspected of hiding in Manchouli and waiting for an opportunity to cross into Soviet territory.

Manchouli is the last Chinese station on the Chinese Eastern railway before the road crosses into Russian territory. It was the first Chinese city occupied by Russian troops in the dispute over management of the Chinese Eastern railway between Nanking and Moscow in 1930. The railway is now under joint Russian and Chinese control.

Chinese officials in Peiping have accused Japan of having a secret understanding with Russia on a division of spoils in Manchuria. Japanese military occupation of the South Manchuria railway, which connects with the Chinese Eastern railway at Harbin, has been described in Peiping as the first step in a joint Russo-Japanese invasion.

Roger Cornett, driver of the second car, who has been held in jail at Channing on a charge of negligent homicide, today was released on $1,000 bond.

ALSUP TRIAL OPENS HERE

State Offers Testimony on Alleged Plot

Vincent continued, Tate asked to see him. His duties as chauffeur prevented his going to Tate's house, he said. Two men named Gus Boyd and Earl Wilson drove shortly after that, Vincent said, to a filling station where he waited for his employers, and declared they wanted to talk with him. Further conversation was prevented there, the witness said, by his employer's arrival to be driven home. Vincent said he kept an appointment a few moments later with the men at a given street intersection. They declared, according to this testimony, that they needed another negro to help pull the Polytechnic bank job, and tried to persuade him to take part. The witness said he told them "he couldn't help them, they'd have to thresh it out for themselves," and went home.

On Wednesday afternoon, the witness said, Alsup came to see him, accompanied by Earl Wilson. Alsup said on that visit, the witness said, that "this bank job doesn't seem to be coming along very well," and asked for help in getting negroes to participate in the robbery. Vincent said he was urged to get in, but declined. Alsup told him, he said, that "he'd get as much as any of the rest out of it."

On Wednesday night, Vincent said, he went to Tate's house, and advised Tate to keep out of the bank robbery. Two men in a car drove by the house several times, the witness said, and were then named by Tate as the two men who were planning for him (Tate) to holdup the bank. The men stopped, Vincent said, and called to Tate. They were Boyd and Wilson, he said.

On the night of Thursday, April 10, the date on which Tate was killed, Vincent continued, Alsup came to his house saying that the district attorney wanted to see him. The witness said Alsup told him "all you have to do is just repeat what you told me about that tip—just say what you said when you gave me the tip on the bank robbery."

Vincent testified that he stayed at the district attorney's office only a short time, and repeated the message which he had brought to Alsup's home on Monday night at the latter's alleged request.

Girl Tells of Shooting

The witness was subjected to a rigorous cross-examination by Defense Attorney Lew Brewster, which brought out the fact that Vincent was charged as being an accomplice to the robbery, but was not indicted. The witness also stated that Alsup, in obtaining Tate's address, said he wanted the negro for some work at the defendant's home.

Witnesses introduced by the state early in the afternoon gave testimony designed to show that Tate died as a result of gunshot wounds inflicted by Alsup. Miss Dorothy Hambright of Gilmer, Texas, a student at Texas Woman's college in Fort Worth last year, said she was attending a class in the fine arts building April 10, 1930, when she heard shooting and went to the window.

The witness said she saw a negro running, and pursued by a white man who was shooting at the fugitive. Almost against the walls of a church across the street from the fine arts building, the witness said, the negro stopped and held up his hands. Miss Hambright testified that she saw the white man fire about four times while the negro ran, and twice while he stood with hands uplifted. After the negro fell, she said, the white man shot three or four more times. She identified Alsup as the man who shot the negro.

William Jeffries, negro undertaker who said he handled the body of Tate, told of finding five pistol bullet wounds and two caused by buckshot.

E. L. Adams was called by the defense to testify as a spectator at the scene of the alleged bank robbery. He described his position in the door of a nearby store, and said he saw the negro run from the bank and disappear round a corner, pursued by Alsup. He did not see the defendant shoot the fleeing black, he said.

Barney Finn, of the bureau of identification of the Fort Worth police department, was placed on the stand to describe his examination of the wounds in Tate's body.

Attorneys Clash

A clash between opposing attorneys in the case occurred at 1:30 p. m. relative to "secret witnesses." The state asked Judge Martin to compel defense counsel to reveal the whereabouts of Maud Tate, wife of the dead negro, if she is in Wichita Falls. Upon Judge Martin's declaration that no concealed witnesses would be allowed to testify, Attorney Otis Rogers stated that he would try to locate the negress for the state attorneys before Thursday.

H. B. Smith of Burkburnett, oil well supply dealer, was chosen as the 12th juror about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. Seven of the 10 talesmen summoned Wednesday morning were examined to obtain the 12th juryman.

State attorneys indicated Wednesday evening that their introduction of evidence supporting their contention of conspiracy will occupy all of Thursday, and possibly Friday morning.

Alsup is on trial for the third time for the killing of Tate. The first trial resulted in a hung jury. The second produced a conviction carrying a 25-year sentence, but the verdict was reversed and remanded. Two negroes were killed following the bank robbery. Alsup was acquitted on a charge of murder in the first case.

WORK OR STARVE

Lawton Relief Society Issues Statement to Unemployed

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 30.—"Those who will not work shall not eat."

The ultimatum of Capt. John Smith of America's pioneers is recalled by announcement here of the Salvation Army that no relief will be extended by the army this winter to men who are now refusing to work when they have opportunity. Names of these persons are being recorded as a survey is being made.

Farmers from many surrounding counties, and from North Texas are here every day seeking cotton pickers, but many men are refusing to go to the cotton fields at the prevailing scale of wages, 50 cents per 100 pounds. Many farmers offer additional inducement of housing, garden truck and free milk, so anxious are they to get the staple out of the fields.

Pipe Line Concern to Run East Texas Oil

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 30. (AP)—Organization of a new $5,000,000 pipeline company to transport crude oil from the East Texas fields to Port Arthur, Texas, was announced here today by H. R. Straight, president of the new concern.

The firm is called the Texas-Empire Pipe Line company of Texas, and subscribers were the Texas corporation, the Empire Gas and Fuel company, each holding 37½ per cent of the stock, and the Tidewater Oil company, with the remainder of the capital stock.

Headquarters of the company will be in Tulsa. The company expects capacity of the 12-inch line to be 65,000 to 70,000 barrels daily.

A Lamb county dairyman, under test, produced butterfat for seven cents per pound during July by using sudan grass pasture and a concentrated ration on a one to five basis.

STERLING GOES BEFORE HOUSE

Governor Explains Oil Drilling Plan

several cities and towns for water supply, can be avoided, Governor Sterling declared as a practical oil operator. Drilling in the stream, he said, would cost about $2,000 or $3,000 more per well than drilling on the banks. The bill proposes an initial appropriation of $40,000 for two wells. First income would return this $40,000 to the fund from which it is appropriated.

Tells How to Drill

In detail, the governor described just how piling would be driven, coffer dams built, wharfs and slush pits be arranged.

"The danger of river pollution," he declared, "is not from the state drilling in the stream but from the numerous wells on the watershed. There will be 5,000 wells there in time. Oil will float on the water. Water supplies are drawn from below. The danger is not from oil but from eventual appearance of salt water.

"I would be quick to prevent any water users being deprived of their water supply," he concluded.

Governor Sterling's appearance was at the request of the house which sat as a committee of the whole. He was applauded both on his appearance and at the conclusion of his explanation.

The hearing will continue tomorrow in order that residents of Orange, Port Arthur, and other places may present protests.

Advocates of the bill estimated a possible $10,000,000 income from the river bed. Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls asked how the less than 1,000 acres in the river bed can yield that much when no acreage in the field is selling at over $1,200.

Governor Sterling made no estimate in his address. When asked if it would be possible to drill also on railroad right of ways and highway territory, the governor said they were legal questions he was not prepared to answer.

Dollar Bills Vanish, Ralls Bank Reports

RALLS, Texas, Sept. 30. (AP)—What becomes of all the dollar bills handed out by the Security State bank is the biggest worry of Marvin McLaughlin, vice president and cashier.

"We put into circulation about 1,000 dollar bills every month," McLaughlin said, "and few of them ever come back to us with cash deposits. What becomes of them? I don't know."

C-C JOBBERS MEET FRIDAY

Schedule of Trips Drawn by Committee

A general meeting of the membership of the chamber of commerce manufacturers and jobbers division will be held Friday afternoon to select the personnel of the group's first contact trip to neighboring towns, C. H. Thompson, chairman, announced Wednesday following a conference of the executive committee.

The first tour will be made Tuesday, it was announced. Trips will be made on that day to Burkburnett, Devol, Petrolia, Byers, Waurika, Sudgen, Ryan, Terral, Ringgold, Belcherville, Nocona, Henrietta, Bellevue, Olney, Archer City, Iowa Park, Electra, Holliday, Dundee, Mabelle, Harrold, Oklaunion, Seymour, Mankins, Davidson, Vernon, Bowie, Graham, Hollister, Frederick, Grandfield and Loveland.

About 20 groups of manufacturers and jobbers will go to one or more towns each. Every business concern in the town visited, it was said, will be called on with the view to creating a more friendly attitude to Wichita Falls. It was explained that although the objective of the trips, which will be made at regular intervals throughout coming months, is to obtain business for Wichita Falls manufacturing and wholesale concerns no effort will be made to solicit business from a town that has its own jobber.

Mr. Thompson particularly urged that representatives of every manufacturing and jobbing concern in the city be present at the meeting Friday. The series of trips planned for the fall, he said, is of particular importance to the development of Wichita Falls as a trade center. He was of the opinion that much good will result to every concern represented on the trips. The Friday meeting is called for 3 p. m.

The executive committee in its conference Wednesday endorsed plans for the special train to be run to Childress from Wichita Falls Sept. 10, when the Wichita Falls football team plays the only out-of-town game on its schedule. All Wichita Falls manufacturers and jobbers will be urged to take the special train for a visit to Childress business men.

Church Young People To Repeat Comedy

Young people of the Wilson Memorial Methodist church in the Sibley-Taylor addition will repeat on next Friday night at 8 o'clock the three-act comedy, "Eyes of Love," which they presented last week at the church.

The production is in charge of Harold White, and is being given as a benefit of the general church funds. Admission will be 15 cents for adults, and 10 cents for children. Those in the cast are Misses Bernice Moser, Burma Jeffers, Lucile Gilbert, Helen Arnold, and Ollie Jeffers, and Messrs. Rev. Ben Bell, Harold White, R. B. Dodd, Drew McCullough, and Oscar Roberts.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma N. Sigler, 71, were held Wednesday morning from the Highland Heights Christian church, with the Rev. J. E. Montgomery, the pastor, officiating. Burial was in Riverside under the direction of the Hines mortuary.

Mrs. Sigler died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arch L. Tucker, 1513 Kemp boulevard, after several years' ill health. She resided during the greater part of her life in Denton county. Six years ago she removed here. She is survived by four daughters, a son, and a sister.

T. B. SNYDER

T. B. Snyder, 86, an early settler of Wichita Falls, died Tuesday night at his home in Norwich, Ohio, according to word received here Wednesday. A son, F. W. Snyder, resides here at 1645 Elizabeth street.

The elder Snyder resided in Wichita Falls for 22 years. He left here about 16 years ago. In addition to the son, a daughter, Mrs. Charles Robbecke, Norwich, survives.

Writers Club Elects

Ten new members were admitted into the junior college Writers' club at a meeting Wednesday afternoon, when officers were elected and admission manuscripts heard by the members.

S. C. Anthony, Helen Broodo, Olivert Castile, Florence Frazer, Frances Hyland, George Nelson, Rebecca Park, Helen Simpson, Bernice Trevathan and Velma Rogers were the students who acquired membership.

Bernice Trevathan was elected secretary, Katherine Crocker, keeper of manuscripts, and Helen Broodo, reporter, for this year. Other members already holding offices are Miss Laurette Erwin, president, and Miss Katherine Stewart, vice president. Miss Eva Weber sponsors the club.

After the election, Miss Erwin read several of the examples of the new members' composition, which they had submitted in order to join the group. Following the custom of the club Miss Weber informally addressed the club, and the vice president announced that the program for the next meeting will introduce a study of newspaper writing. Helen Broodo was asked to speak to the club next Wednesday about "City Dailies." Olivert Castile will tell about "Sunday Editions," and Helen Simpson will talk about school papers.

Goes to Lubbock

August Karrenbrock left Wednesday for Lubbock, where he will take up his duties as assistant manager of the lumber yards of the Shamburger Lumber company. He accepted the position of assistant manager recently.

Pep Squad Named

One hundred girls in red and black uniforms will form a large "W" and drill for the audience to attend the football game between the Coyotes and the Childress High school team, Oct. 10.

The 100 girls have been faithfully practicing and are "apt pupils", said Miss Davida Olinger, sponsor of the Wichita Falls High school pep squad. The Parent-Teachers' association of the school is sponsoring the purchase of uniforms to outfit the girls' squad.

Miss Olinger stated that the uniforms will be here in time for the game. Responding to numerous inquiries as to what they will look like, she said that each complete uniform will consist of a black serge pleated skirt, a red knit jersey sweater with a large black "W" in front, a black beret, red anklets, beige hose, and black shoes.

Various formations, drills, and marches are being regularly practiced by the following girls, the first 100 to be placed on the rolls of the pep squad: Mae Anderson, Sally Bancroft, Elsie Fay Barron, Mary Brown Basham, Bonnie Beeson, Geraldine Bennett, Virginia Bentley, Helen Berry, Marguerite Birkman, Maurine Boardman, Louise Brackett, Loudell Bridges, June Bruce, Joan Burlew, Beverly Calhoun, Kathryn Campbell, Marguerite Carter, Fairy Fay Chandley, Helen Clayton, Irma Cline, Maxine Collins, Pauline Cain, Annie Lee Dickey, Pearl Dodson, Margaret Dickey, Lucile Fraley, Maybelle Franks, Mable Green, Loneta Glidewell, Dorothy Gothard, Helen Green, Eulalie Griffin, Jeanne Gullahorn, Beatrice Hathorn, Patty Lou Hearn, Gena Henley, Nathaline Hendricks, Alta Herd, Dessie Lee Hill, Anna Katherine Howard, Bessie Pauline Huddleston, Mary Lou Hull, Jean Hunter, Dorothy Dean Huffman, Dorothy Johnson, Jewell Johnson, Frances Marye Krauss, Lena Mae Lesley, Helen Long, Corrie Anna McBee, Moselle McGaughey, Delia Moore, Katherine Mosby, Maxine Collins, Ellen Newby, Louise Nickell, Charlotte Ruth Odell, Laurie Glenn Patillo, Dorothy Pounds, Helen Ragland, Elizabeth Reed, Evelyn Reese, Margaret Ross, Mable Rowe, Rudell Seals, Phoebe Lou Sehmann, Freda Shaw, Ollie May Sikes, La Rue Simmons, Noreta Sims, Pauline Sloan, Elizabeth Smith, Eulala Smith, Winnie Smith, Gwendolyn South, Vergie Mae Stearman, Margaret Steel, Gladys Stevenson, Gussie Lee Stevenson, Margaret Street, Eleanor Taylor, Emmie Taylor, Lurline Thurman, Irene Tittle, Leta Mae Trevathan, Evelyn van Emden, Emogene Wagoner, Jessie Warren, Reba Weinstein, Jean Worley, Jane Wright, Virginia Mansker, Marie Moorhead, Jane Mann, Evelyn Marguard, Modenia Long, Erleen Short Lillian Martin and Mary Sue Allen.

Stronger Tires Being Built for High-Speed Cars

With high-speed driving practically universal today, tires are being built with greater strength and resistance, so that the motorist gets far more wear and service than ever before in the history of the automotive industry, according to Jim Durnal of the Durnal-Jones Rubber company, United States tire distributor here.

Tire improvement has progressed so far, Mr. Durnal said, that today the tread on the tires of a light car wears less than one fiftieth of an inch in 1,000 miles of driving. As a result of all these improvements, he pointed out, it costs the motorist today only 80 cents a thousand miles of driving for tire cost.

"The general trend in automotive development in the last few years," said Mr. Durnal "has been to accentuate performance in all its phases—acceleration, hill climbing, quick stopping and starting and general roadability. To keep up with this, tire manufacturers have been devoting considerable time and expense towards the improvement of tires. As a result today tires are constructed to withstand far more speed and to resist the heat that is engendered by the usage to which tires are put.

"The average speed on the open road today is at least 10 to 15 miles faster than it was a few years ago. Forty miles an hour average is no longer unusual on long trips, and, of course, that means speeds of between 60 and 70 miles to maintain this average. That tires today stand up under these speeds even better than did the tires of yesterday under far slower speeds is ample proof of the great strides that have been made in the development of tires.

"In the main plant of the U. S. Rubber company at Detroit there is a department that devotes its entire time to the development of tires, experimenting and conducting extensive research. In addition, tires supplied for original equipment on motor cars today must meet rigid tests of the car manufacturers themselves. Fourteen motor car manufacturers, producing over 75 per cent of all the cars made in the United States today provide United States tires as standard equipment."

Junior C.-C. Luncheon To Feature Athletics

Athletics will be a topic of general discussion at the Junior chamber of commerce luncheon program Friday noon at the Wichita club, it was announced Wednesday by T. J. Waggoner Jr., president.

H. D. Fillers, superintendent of schools here, will be the principal speaker on the program. The program will be in charge of Gerald Coffey, chairman of the athletics committee. Members of the athletics committee of the senior chamber will be present as guests.

Following the luncheon a tour of Wichita county will be made to towns and rural schools to announce the Wichita County Free fair at Iowa Park Oct. 8-10.

HUNT RELEASED ON $2,000 BAIL

Liquor Charge Dropped by Officers

Continued investigation Wednesday by officers of Wichita, Archer, Baylor and Taylor counties failed to produce any additional evidence in the Dundee bank robbery case, in connection with which charges of burglary were filed Tuesday against four men, according to local officers.

A search of the safety deposit box of Kelly Hunt at a local bank, made possible Wednesday when a search warrant was obtained, revealed no papers or other possessions which had any bearing upon the Dundee bank case, according to Sheriff Perry Browning.

Hunt, arrested early Tuesday at his home west of this city, was released Wednesday morning on $2,000 bond which was perfected Tuesday night. A liquor charge pending against Hunt will not be filed, District Attorney Sam B. Spence stated Wednesday. The "quantity of whisky" reported by searching officers Tuesday night as having been found at Hunt's home proved Wednesday to have been a small amount of wine discovered on an adjoining piece of ground.

Erwin Spicer, already under sentence of 17 years for offenses at Sweetwater and Jean, was taken to Seymour early Wednesday by Sheriff Arch Holmes of Baylor county. Spicer and Hunter Russell, Sheriff Holmes said, have been under indictment there for several months in connection with two burglaries at Seymour.

Members of the chamber of commerce at Rails, Texas, planted the city park in grass recently, doing the work themselves.

Less Than Inch of Rain Recorded In September; Temperatures High

September was an exceptionally dry month here, less rain falling in the period than for any September since 1928, according to data compiled by the Texas Electric Service company weather bureau.

Total precipitation for the month was .60 of an inch. In September, 1930, 1.02 inches fell. The same month 1929, rain totaled 3.53 inches. September, 1928, recorded only .30 of an inch.

On two days only in the past month did rain amounting to more than .01 of an inch fall.

Temperatures of the past 30 days were unusual, compared with similar months for previous years. Mean temperature was 84.90 degrees, slightly higher than for September, 1930, when the registration for the month was 82.10. In 1929, however, the mean temperature was 77.12 degrees.

The maximum temperature for the month was 105 degrees, registered on the 5th. The high for September, last year, was 106. The September minimum was 60 degrees, compared with 52 for September, 1930. The greatest daily range of temperature, 31 degrees, occurred on the 3rd.

Skies were clear here nine days in the month. Cloudy skies existed four days. There were 17 partly cloudy days. Thunderstorms occurred four times during the month, on the 3rd, 9th, 15th and 25th.

Man, Woman Sought In Burglary Here

A small quantity of clothing and a pistol was obtained by burglars who entered the home of J. T. Maunders, 1810 Ninth street, Tuesday night, it was reported to police Wednesday. Entrance was gained through a window. Officers were searching for a man and a woman after an investigation revealed the footprints of a man and a woman under a window.

JURY DISAGREED

Only one case was tried before Judge Irvin J. Vogel in the county court, at law Wednesday, a hung jury resulting in the case of a woman charged with aggravated assault upon a minor.

According to the testimony, two women, related by marriage, were quarreling when the 10-year-old daughter of one interceded on her mother's behalf. The child was said to have been hit upon the head with a stick seized and wielded by the other woman.

All active cases on the criminal docket for this week have now been disposed of, County Attorney L. V. Abernathy said.
