The Eagles played the Short horns a good game throughout the contest, according to local fans who went to see the game, but were outplayed by virtue of weight and larger substituting abilities.

The statistics for the game stacked up in favor of the Eagles on some points, showing San derson stronger in the air and almost as strong in first downs. Marfa went around the Eagles in yards gained rushing and punts returned.

The kitchen has been furnished with china, silver and glasses.

The beautiful Hammond elec tric organ in the sanctuary is a gift of Mrs. Mary E. Mitchell. Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Stumberg gave the church a lovely vase for floral arrangements.

To date no disposition has been made of the old church building and furnishings and the lot on which it is located. The bell from the old church was installed in the new bel fry.

Rev. John W. Byrd, Presbyterian Pastor, To West Texas in 1927

Rev. John W. Byrd, present pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Sanderson, is a na tive of West Virginia, receiving his college work from Davis and Elkins Colleges. He is a graduate of the Union Theological Sem inary of Richmond, Virginia.

With his bride, he came to Pecos over twenty two years ago. At that time, West Texas was sparcely settled in many sections and so they drove 150 miles to fill an appointment at Coahoma one Sunday and 75 miles to fill an appointment at Odessa another Sunday. Rev. Byrd preaching two Sundays a month at Pecos. In 1928 when the oil boom at Odessa first be gan, the church there was reor ganized under the leadership of Rev. Byrd.

The church at Pecos with a membership of twenty at first, was a small home mission church and during the thirteen years pastorate of Rev. Byrd, became a full support church with a membership of about 150.

When Rev. Byrd came to San derson in August 1940 the pres ent manse, modern in every de tail, had been constructed. He came with the dream of build ing a new and modern church.

After lots, where the present new church has been erected, were given by Mrs. Mary E. Mit chell, the scarcity of materials prevented the building plans being carried out. In the mean time, the church which through the years had been under the partial support of Home Mis sions became self supporting and the dream of the pastor and congregation was realized when it became possible for the new church building to be erected.

connected therewith shall be held in absolute confidence and shall not be open to public inspection and the hearings on the application shall not be made public"

This means that a marriage license so issued may not be inspected as a public record. To prove their marital status, persons so married will have to rely upon cohabitation under our common law marriage. This is a speculation but the question does arise. It does give room for a corrupt judge in an outlying county to do a "land office business" through the practice of issuing fraudulent orders to his county clerk and then performing the ceremony for a fee of his own price.

The couple living as man and wife may really be married, since the whole affair is hush hush and no one has the authority to see the public records. That is not good in my book. Still with the "bunglers" on the job making our laws what more can we expect? And they want more money for doing everything wrong.

Did you ever attend a barbecue where there was not meat and bread? Some day we may tell a good story in this column about one we attended once upon a time. Right now all we can say is that the beans and coffee were just right. Some newspapers have photographers on the job for almost all occasions. The Times, being short on picture takers, failed to record the above mentioned barbecue with photographs. There are some things reputed to be not too photogenic and one of those things is a barbecued goat A goat just doesn't take a good picture under any circumstances and more especially when he is barbecued to a rich brown. Eating babrbecue is usually a subject for a good picture, especially when the photographer can get a beautiful girl filling her plate with the sumptuous feed. On this occasion there was no pulchritude unless the burning of sotol in the early night air can be called beautiful.

In this section of the country a native is sometimes asked what the sheep eat and how they find enough forage on these rocky hills for sustenance. One rancher's reply to this question was that they eat what you don't see. That is a good argument but when a group goes out to eat what they can't see they will either come back hunyry or eat just beans and drink some coffee.

Rivers of grass...

"Rivers of grass" flow across this country. Millions of cattle and lambs have spent the spring and summer turning grass into meat. Now they are ready for round-up and shipment. So in October they move to the markets—in a great flood of livestock. Many go direct from the range to meat-packing plants. Others go to the feed lots to be grain-finished. But, either way, these meat animals are mostly grass—which folks cannot eat—converted into appetizing, nourishing meat for people. They are adding greatly to the health and wealth of the nation. Without this "livestock economy," in which you and we are engaged, 779,000,000 acres of our United States would produce little food for human use.

Whether you ship your cattle and lambs early or late—whether it's to Chicago, Ft. Worth, Denver or any of scores of other markets—you'll find buyers there to bid for them. With many others, Swift & Company helps provide the year-'round daily market which is as essential to your business as it is to ours.

Your grass, turned into meat, is a vital raw material of all meat-packing operations. There is keen competition for it. Every meat packer and commercial slaughterer (and there are more than 18,000 of them in the United States) must have a regular supply of meat animals. Each buyer knows the high bid gets the animals. He knows also that his own price range is set by supply and demand. He sees your steers and lambs as so many pounds of meat and by-products. The price you are offered for your livestock is governed by what the meat packer can get for the meat and the by-products.

Your Markets for Meat

In the early days of our country, livestock was produced close to the point where it was eaten. But as the population grew, those conditions changed. Today two thirds of the people live east of the Mississippi, while two thirds of the livestock is produced west of that river. To bridge that gap of more than 1,000 miles is no small job. Millions of head of livestock must be processed and the meat distributed to where it is wanted. The facilities of nationwide meat packers provide you with markets for your meat animals; move the meat to cities and towns where it is in demand.

Swift & Company, and other nationwide meat packers, sell meat to retailers wherever there are people who want to buy it . . . no matter how far that may be from your farm or ranch. We bring you the benefit of national, rather than local, demand. This means that, in selling your livestock, you choose between the price created by local demand, or the price created by the national demand of millions of meat eaters.

We work hard to encourage people to serve meat oftener—to eat more of it . . . And we are proud that our nationwide system is one of the most efficient, low-cost food distribution systems in the United States.

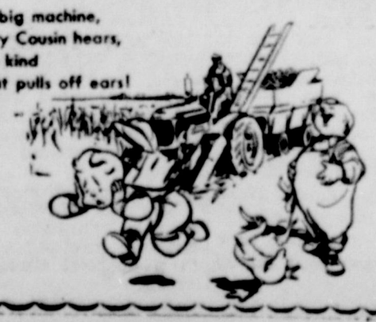

P. M. JARVIS
Vice-President
Swift & Company

Quotes of the Month

"We, as ranchers, are not sufficient unto ourselves. In fact, we are only the beginning of the beef line. Of equal importance are the feeder, the processor, the distributor and the consumer. Disregard the rights or welfare of any of these, and sooner or later we suffer."

Supplement that Poor Forage

by Robert D. Rasmussen
New Mexico A. & M. College

R. D. Rasmussen

Dried-up pastures and winter weather create the same feeding problem for the cattleman. They simply mean that you have lower quality feed and less of it. And you have little choice as to what you can do about it. You can let the cattle eat what they can find. In this case you're likely to take a weight loss on your cows. You'll also take a chance on a weak calf crop. Or you can feed a supplement. If you feed enough of the right kind, your cows and unborn calves will come through in good, healthy condition.

California experiments on deficient range showed the cow herd that got a protein supplement produced a 91% calf crop. Cows on similar range, without a supplement, produced a 61% calf crop. Arizona found that feeding supplement increased the weight of the calves at birth by 10 pounds.

The amount of supplement needed varies. Cows carrying calves, and young stock require more protein than open cows or mature animals. A safe rule to follow is to watch the condition of the stock. Keep them healthy and thrifty.

Research by the New Mexico agricultural experiment station shows that during the winter months range forage is most critically short of phosphorus as well as protein. While some of the cake supplements are high in phosphorus as well as protein, most ranchers over the state are using mineral supplements for year-'round use. A mineral supplement containing at least 6% phosphorus should be made available at all times to range cattle. Experiments have shown that year-'round use is better and more profitable than seasonal use.

Here's a goal for cattlemen. Use whatever kind and amount of supplement is necessary to keep your cattle healthy and thrifty. (Editor's Note: The principles of animal nutrition discussed above apply in all parts of the country.)

GIRL SCOUT DRIVE SHORT $650.00

Announcement was made this week by W. W. Sudduth, chairman of the Girl Scout Council finance committee, that the drive for funds for the maintenance of the local troop is short about $650.00 of the $800 that was set as the amount necessary to carry on the work of the Intermediate and Brownie Scouts and pay off the indebtedness of the local Scout Hut.

$150.00 is needed to pay off the area camp dues; $50 for the area headquarters; $121 for the Intermediate Scouts; $93.80 for the Brownie Scouts, and a miscellaneous fund of $35.20, making a total of $400. The remainder of the amount set as the quota for this year's drive is to pay on the indebtedness of the Scout House.

Members of the finance committee are urging that you send in your contribution to the chairman as soon as possible, and are appealing for your support of this project because of the need for the program locally. The girls have been doing some nice work in their crafts, their advancement has been steady and the membership is increasing constantly.

Mrs. C. C. Mitchell, Mrs. H. E. Schroegler and Mrs Eddie Leatherwood are the Intermediate leaders and Mrs. J. A. Gilbreath, Mrs. A. J. Hahn and Mrs. S. F. Ord are the leaders of the Brownie Scouts.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

But Curly "Knows What The Score Is!"

Was over at Doc Sherman's drug store listening to the World Series on the radio. Curly Lawson wanders in and says: "How about a chocolate malted, Doc?"

"Sorry, Curly," says Doc, "can't make you a malted for a while yet." "What's the idea?" Curly asks. "Well," says Doc, "most of the folks want to hear the game and the mixer makes too much noise." Curly thinks a moment and says, "Okay with me, Doc—I'll take a chocolate soda!"

This shows how tolerant folks can be. Doc showed his respect for how the majority felt; Curly was big enough not to insist on his malted even though he doesn't happen to be fond of baseball.

From where I sit, willingness to respect the other people's feelings is important in a Democracy. If we're tolerant of a person's like for baseball or a glass of temperate beer, we've come a long way on the right road . . . the road to a better America, that is!

Zulus Play Host to U. S. Sailors

Natives in Africa give crew members of the cruiser USS Huntington and the destroyer USS Douglas H. Fox a lesson in basket weaving. With but a short four-day sojourn in Durban, South Africa, thirty U. S. Navy camera enthusiasts and adventurers made a tour into the interior to visit African tribes. Even the depths of the Dark Continent are no stranger to the contact of America established through the calls of U. S. Naval vessels to African ports. (Official U.S. Navy Photograph)

Economic Highlights

States, cities, and other local governments have been searching frantically for new sources of revenue. The cost of road building, fire protection, police service, and all other functions has skyrocketed. Local officials say, with considerable justice, that the taxpayers demand good and expanding services, but that they kick hard when taxes are increased. It is something like the case of the irresistible force meeting the immovable object. And one of the major reasons for the difficulty is the extent to which the Federal government has increased its share of total national revenues.

In a recent report it was revealed that of every tax dollar the taxpayer shelled out the Federal government received 39 cents and other governments got 61 cents.

Now, the Federal government is taxing us to the tune of $39,100,000,000 a year, while local governments take $14,500,000,000. Breaking down these figures we find that the Federal government at present swallows 73 cents of each tax dollar while the rest of the governments get 27 cents. This is a comparison of figures in 1940 and 1948.

The result is that local governments are "moving into tax fields now occupied by the Federal government. Favorite old tax sources, incomes, sales, admissions, gross receipts, liquor, tobacco, gasoline, others — are being hit hard. Triple taxation is no longer a novelty." In a few places, residents actually pay three separate income taxes — one to the Federal government, one to the state, and a third to the city.

This illustrates one very practical reason why Mr. Truman's program has met such hard going in Congress. In the Senate, particularly, Democrats as well as the Republican opposition show a growing concern over the tax burden. It is estimated that Mr. Truman's social security program alone would add at least $12,000,000,000 a year, and possibly a good deal more to the cost of the Federal government. Secretary Brannan's farm price support program, which, incidentally, is viewed with deep suspicion even by the farm organizations — would cost another huge sum. And so, of course, would the President's Federal power program.

Congress is committed to enormous military budgets, and to continued heavy spending for European aid. It must also provide for the normal functions of the government. That is why more and more of its members are viewing avoidable spending with a cold eye. It is also the reason why sentiment for putting into effect the Hoover Commission recommendations is increasing.

When you find you haven't any meat on hand and want to ensure the family getting enough energy food, serve a main dish of Potato, Lima Bean and Nut Casserole which contains plenty of protein value. Cook until tender in small amount boiling, salted water ¾ cup diced celery. Drain liquid. Add ¾ cup chopped nuts, 1½ cups mashed potatoes, 3 tbsps. fat, 1 beaten egg, 1 tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. paprika, 2 tsps. grated onion. Mix well. Add 1½ cups green lima beans. Mix together lightly. Put in greased casserole dish. Bake in gas oven at 350°F. 35 mins. Serve with tomato sauce or relish. Serves 6.

Brush the roast with a commercial gravy extract before putting into the oven to give it a crisp brown crust. The drippings make very good gravy.

If, after cooking, the broiler pan of your gas range is greasy, pour in hot water, sprinkle with detergent as soon as food is taken out. By the time the meal is over, all you'll have to do is rinse and dry it.

Undulant Fever Noted In Texas

Undulant fever or Malta fever, a disease contracted from cattle, goats or sheep which are infected with contagious abortion, is being reported sporadically throughout Texas and the nation, according to Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. This indicates malta fever to be a public health menace and the attendant need of more general recognition by the public to the disease.

Undulant fever is so called because of the wave-like variations in temperature. The accompanying symptoms include rise in temperature, loss of weight and strength, chills, sweats and joint pains. The disease has rather a low mortality rate, but important because symptoms may persist for a number of weeks and even months before normal health and strength are restored.

In Texas, goats, horses and cows are the usual spreaders of this disease. The germs of undulant fever enter the body through the mouth or skin. Therefore, care should be used in handling animals known to be infected and dairy products from the same sources should be pasteurized, if used. More men acquire this disease than women and adults seem more likely to have it than children. More cases are found in the rural areas than in the cities.

The true prevention of undulant fever is based upon the detection of the disease in livestock and the elimination of infected stock from the herds. Dairy herds should be tested for Bacillus abortus. This is a task that cannot be accomplished in a short time. Pasteurization of milk will prevent the spread from this source.

History of Local Presbyterian Church Told

The Sanderson Presbyterian Church was organized in February of 1909 by Rev. M. W. Doggett, evangelist of the West Texas Presbytery.

Charter members were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stansell, Calvin, Aleen and Carrie Stansell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downie, Miss Bess Davenport, Mrs. T. desLandes, Chris Gates, Jack Walsh, Mr. and Mrs J M Pitts Mrs. Joe Wolfe, Miss Emma Wolfe, Mrs. J. O. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Kellogg, Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. W. H. Mansfield and Mrs. J. Roach.

A. C. Murray and J. C Stansell were the elders in the early church with S. J. Kellogg and Chris Gates as deacons.

Rev. W. H. Matthews was the first pastor and meetings were held in the Methodist Church building until the latter part of the year when work was started on the church building that has been in use until the present time. Rev. Matthews' father was a saloon keeper here and his preacher son remarked that he was going to preach the gospel here until his father was converted. Mr. Matthews did join the Presbyterian Church during his son's pastorate.

The pastors who have served the church during the past forty years include Rev. M. L. Brown, Rev. James McIntosh, Rev. J. Cross Gray, Rev. J. R. Jacobs, Rev. H. J. Reemstma, Dr. J. A. McMillan, Dr. John V. McCall, and Rev. J. W. Byrd. Dr. McMillan was the first resident pastor.

A union Sunday School was held in the church building for several years, with J. W. McKee as superintendent. Although the Methodists and Baptists had Baptists had church buildings, they had preaching only once a month also since all were circuit charges. After the building had been warmed for the Sunday School the preaching services for all of the churches were usually held in the Presbyterian Church during the winter months. It is recalled that one very dignified Methodist preacher who wore a black broadcloth suit to this charge was always ill at ease and unable to sit down lest he get dust on his clothes.

The Sunday School rooms were added to the north end of the church building in 1919. The present manse and the first to be owned by the church was built in 1940 after Rev. Byrd came here.

The building was lighted with gasoline lamps at first and, when only a few years old, careless handling of the lamps started a fire that could have been very disasterous but for the very prompt action of the volunteer fire department with J. W. Happle as chief.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Presbyterian Church was organized in 1922 in the home of Mrs. J. W. McKee with nineteen charter members: Mesdames A. P. Rachal, N. E. Charlton, Joe Kerr, J. W. McKee, W. J. Ferguson, T. L. desLandes, H. D. Williams, Lee Grigsby, S. C. Bodkin, W. A. Cochran, D. A. Pollard, J. E. McLymont, R. O. Black, Alexander Mitchell, P. F. Robertson, J W McKee, Baseley, and Misses Olline Stansell and Sybil McKee (now Mrs. W. H. Savage). Mrs. Rachal was the first president.

The name of the church was recently changed to the First Presbyterian Church.

Elders are R. S. Wilkinson, W. H. Savage, N. E. Charlton, W. E. Grigsby and J. D. Nichols.

Deacons are W. G. Downie, G. K. Mitchell, W. J. Ferguson, Jr., Garland Inmon, H. E. Schroeg ler and C. C. Mitchell.

The present membership of the church is 80. Sunday school enrollment is 40 and the Presbyterian Youth Fellowship has 14 members. Mrs. J. D. Nichols is president of the Presbyterian Women of the Church which has 26 members. Miss Ernestine is president of the youth fellowship group. R. S. Wilkinson is superintendent of the Sunday Schools.

J. D. Nichols is clerk of the session and trustees are S. L. Stumberg, R. E. Corder and John Harrison.

Mrs. J. W. McKee, a long time member of the church has an unusual record in that she has not missed any Sunday School meetings or any preaching service for thirty five years only when she was out of town. She has been a Sunday School teacher for almost fifty years, teaching a young people's class at the present.

Our Sincere Congratulations and best wishes to the members of the

First Presbyterian Church on reaching a milestone in the progress of the church's growth and development.
