SOUTH CAROLINA VOTES LONG PLAN

Huey Long Will Not Apologize

REFUSES REQUEST OF TEXAS SOLON TO DROP CHARGE

(By The Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept 17—Governor Huey Long today refused to apologize for accusing the Texas legislature of having been "bought like a sack of corn," after receiving a telegram from J. H. Fisher, Texas representative who supported the Long cotton prohibition bill, suggesting that he do so to "allay bitterness."

Representative Fisher, of Newcastle, Texas, adherent of the cotton holiday measure until its death in the Texas house of representatives yesterday, wired Governor Long that he regretted the latter's attack on the legislature, and asserted his belief that the lobbyists had paid no money to the lawmakers but had only "urged their point of view."

Mr. Fisher asked the governor to apologize, saying that if he did so, "we could rightly allay the bitterness."

Governor Long immediately wired back that if Fisher thought the point of view of the lobbyists would have had any effect "without something more substantial, he had not had sufficient experience to know how things are done by lobbyists."

LOUISIANA LAW NOT TO BE REPEALED FOR SOME TIME

(By The Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 17 — Governor Huey Long today said he would not repeal the Louisiana law prohibiting growing of cotton next year for the time being, explaining that he wished Louisiana to "stand fast" in the event other states might desire to take cotton relief action along the same lines.

The governor pointed out that he had until January 15, 1932, to repeal the statute by proclamation if other states did not concur with similar legislation, and added that he was in no hurry to do so right now.

The governor said a statement issued in New Orleans indicating he would repeal the law without delay was the result of a misunderstanding.

"There's not a chance under God's sun of my calling a special session of the Louisiana legislature to pass any acreage reduction bill," Governor Long said. "Such a law would be unconstitutional, and unenforceable and would not do any good if it were not."

The governor said that no acreage reduction would do any good as far as prices of this year's crop were concerned.

Lawyers Okeh Prohibition Repeal

RESOLUTION IS APPROVED BY BAR TODAY

REFERENDUM RESULTS ARE ANNOUNCED AT ANNUAL CONFAB

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 17.—The American Bar association today went formally on record as favoring repeal of the prohibition amendment.

The executive committee announced the results of the referendum last year as showing 13,779 members of the association as favoring repeal and 6,340 opposed. The total vote of 20,119 represented 75 per cent of the association's membership. There was no discussion of the report, and prohibition was not scheduled for consideration by the convention.

A previous vote on whether a referendum should be conducted showed 14,782 in favor, and 5,625 against. After that vote the referendum on the repeal was held.

Meanwhile Charles A. Boston, president recalled a recommendation of George Washington for the erection of public distilleries to supply spirits to the revolutionary armies, and suggested that the recommendation, if it had been followed, would have saved the country from the present prohibition situation.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 17 (AP).—Charles A. Boston, president of the American Bar association, today labelled prohibition as one of the four vital subjects that have emerged to interfere with "the arduous but pleasing task of attempting to make a nation happy."

Mr. Boston opened the 54th annual convention of the association here today with an address on the constitution.

Other Interferences

Aside from prohibition, Mr. Boston found the development of the bank, slavery, and secession as the vital developments in our history interfering with the nation's progress. Slavery still casts its shadow, he said, and secession appears to be dead. The bank apparently has fin-

BOTH HOUSES APPROVE BILL FOR HOLIDAY FOR 1932 CROP

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 17.—The South Carolina senate today approved on final reading the bill to prohibit cotton growing in 1932 and ordered it sent to the house. The vote was 21 to 13.

After hearing of the senate's action, the house passed the bill on second reading without a record vote. It must come up for a third and final reading in the house.

Fellows Debate

The senate's vote followed a morning of debate, and consideration of various amendments to the bill. One adopted was "to clarify the bill" according to its author, Senator Stukes, by specifying that its purpose is to eliminate at least 75 per cent of the south's cotton crop.

Senator Stukes said this would make the bill operative in the face of curtailment rather than total prohibition in Texas.

J. Swinton Whaley, chairman of the house agriculture committee, said he was "absolutely in favor of going ahead with the cotton holiday plan, regardless of what Texas has done."

TEXAS HOUSE STICKS TO ONE-THIRD PLAN

AUSTIN, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Texas house of representatives stuck to its guns today and refused to adopt an amendment to the Olsen bill to limit cotton acreage to 25 per cent of the cultivated area. An amendment providing for this limitation has been approved by the senate. The Olsen bill would limit cotton to one-third of the cultivated area.

Action of the house was made final when a motion to reconsider was tabled and table prevailed.

Motion Defeated

The motion to cut acreage to 25 per cent, made by Representative G. R. Terrell of Alto, was defeated, 97 to 47.

Failure of the house to limit cotton acreage to 25 per cent will make it necessary to throw the

ARREST NINE IN SLAYINGS

SUSPECTS QUESTIONED IN TRIPLE DETROIT GANG MURDER

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Sept. 17.—Nine men were held for questioning today as police sought four underworld executioners whose pistols yesterday ended the rebellion of three liquor racketeers against gangdom's regulations.

One of the men held is Sol Levine, who started out to drive the three victims from their handbook agency to an "amicable conference" for settlement of underworld differences over liquor selling rights—a conference which ended in a typical gangland assassination.

Levine told his inquisitors numerous conflicting stories during hours of questioning last night. The one police were inclined to believe was that, at the busy intersection of Grand Boulevard and Third street, three or four men boarded the car, flashed guns, told him to get out, and drove away.

The scene next shifted to the apartment house at 1740 Collingwood avenue, in the heart of a quiet residential district, where fifteen shots were heard, and four men raced down a rear stairway to an automobile waiting in the alley.

They left behind them the bullet riddled bodies of Joseph Lebold, alias Lebovitz, 31; Isaac Sutker, alias Sutton, 28, and Herman Paul, 31, all allied with the once notorious Purple gang, who, police say, conducted a flourishing wholesale liquor business without regard for district boundaries established by powerful underworld interests. It was this defiance of gangland's regulations that brought death to them, police believe.

The killers introduced a new departure in mass murder by secreting their pistols in a can of paint, left sitting casually under the sink in the apartment. It was hours later when the weapons were found, tell-tale fingerprints obliterated by the paint.

Baptists Denounce Cocktail Guzzlers

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 17 (AP)—A stinging rebuke of "rich cocktail guzzlers" was ringing in the ears of members of the Southeast Texas Baptist association today as they prepared to close their 45th annual convention here this afternoon.

Applause and cheers greeted Rev. A. C. Maxwell of Beaumont as he attributed the present economic stringency to "Wall Street financiers who are making you suffer because you elected a dry president instead of putting a wet in the White House."

With Liberty chosen for the 1932 convention, delegates prepared this afternoon to elect new officers.

OVER HUNDRED LIVES LOST

LOWER CALIFORNIA IS RAVAGED BY STORMS OVER WEEK-END

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 17—Upwards of 100 lives were lost in hurricanes that ravaged the Lower California peninsula over the week-end and descended on the Vera Cruz gulf coast yesterday, it was estimated from dispatches today.

A report to the National Telegraph said more than 50 persons were killed at Santa Rosalia, Lower California, and dispatches from La Paz, capital of the southern district of the peninsula, said eight were lost when small vessels in the gulf were wrecked by the tempest in addition to a number of ships still missing.

From Pregreso, Yucatan, and Vera Cruz City came reports that numerous coastwise ships and fishing smacks had not been heard from and had likely foundered or went aground in the Vera Cruz gale. Vera Cruz harbor was described as clogged with the wreckage of small ships. Vessels averaging between 40 and 50 tons in size were lost in the harbor, although their crews managed to escape.

Communications with Boca Del Rio and Alvarado were disrupted and it was feared heavy damage was caused in those towns, where the center of the hurricane is believed to have struck.

'LOVE MART' TO BRING BUSINESS MEN AND GAY STENOS TOGETHER PROBED

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Sept. 17.—A "love mart," through which gay stenographers and tired business men were allegedly brought together in a business way, was under investigation by police here today.

Police said they had learned that the operator of the "mart" came in contact with unemployed stenographers through newspaper advertisements. The girls were instructed to meet the prospective employer at a downtown hotel, where they were questioned carefully as to their willingness to join in the scheme.

Then the operator, for whom police hold a warrant, would tour downtown business offices in the guise of a typewriter ribbon salesman and try to place the girls. Officers learned that his inducements were spiced with information that the girls were attractive and not averse to enjoying themselves.

Officers received information that the scheme worked in several cases and that it developed into a blackmail proposition. The girls, under one pretense or another, demanded money in exchange for silence.

Police learned that one business man was fleeced out of $9,500 last week.

Discipline To Be Used On Mutineers

LONDON, Sept. 17 (AP).—Any further refusal of men in the British navy to carry out orders will be dealt with under the navy discipline act, Sir Austen Chamberlain, first lord of the admiralty, announced in the house of commons today in a statement on naval pay reductions and the unrest which has followed them.

In reply to an ironical question whether the pay cuts were among those agreed to provisionally by the late labor government, he said that when he took over the admiralty for the new national government he found instructions to make the cuts in question.

FOOSHEE GETS TEN YEARS

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Sept. 17—Charles A. Fooshee, 21, was found guilty of murder with malice and given a term of 10 years in the penitentiary by a jury in criminal district court today. Fooshee was charged with stabbing to death his estranged wife, Anna Moore ("Billie") Fooshee, 22, last December.

When the verdict was returned, Fooshee was seated by the side of his father, A. M. Fooshee. Neither father nor son displayed any emotion when the verdict was read. Fooshee was taken back to the county jail. His attorneys expect to appeal.

Late reports received at the Coco Solo airport indicated that the navy ship nose dived and caught fire as it struck tthe earth rather than in the air.

LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND IS UPHELD

STOCK EXCHANGE HEAD SAYS PRINCIPLES MUST BE HEEDED

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—Attempts to tinker with the ancient law of supply and demand by injecting artificial measures to stimulate or depress its normal operation may well lengthen the business slump and retard recovery, said Richard Whitney, president of the New York stock exchange, in an address to the New York Merchants' association today.

"Before the flood-tide of prosperity can return," he said, "invisible undercurrents and the pull of unseen economic forces must exhaust themselves. These forces respond to laws vital to human control. If in our vanity we cannot or will not learn this lesson, if we still insist upon attempting to oppose futile obstacles to the inevitable course of events and to swim against their mighty currents, our folly will be upon our own heads.

"It remains for us to heed the principle of supply and demand, to govern our actions in accordance with its dictates, and thereby hasten the return of a prosperity based upon the sound and lasting foundation of natural law."

Mr. Whitney made no attempt to predict when the return would come, although he did say that from the perspective of 1940, "the extreme optimism of 1929 and the unmitigated gloom of 1930 and 1931 will appear equally exaggerated and ridiculous."

"Weak and uncertain counsel" from business leaders have not helped the present predicament, in Mr. Whitney's opinion.

"There have been too many suave statements that reassure nobody, too many empty platitudes, too great a lack of frankness and real-

GRAIN MEN RAP FARM BOARD

CLAIM FARMER WOULD PERISH WHILE THE BOARD WAITED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A charge that the farm board would wait indefinitely for a perfect solution of the wheat surplus problem while the wheat farmer perishes was made today by a group of Pacific northwest grain men.

The group, headed by Representatives Summers, Republican, Washington, yesterday was notified the board rejected their proposed "Walla Walla" plan for disposal of surplus wheat and the reduction of acreage next year.

Statement Issued

"The board will wait indefinitely for the perfect plan while the wheat farmer perishes under surplus production," the group said in a statement before departing for home.

"We have made an honest, determined effort to put in operation a plan to cut surplus production which the board has always said must be done if wheat prices are to permanently advance. The board has rejected the plan. We have asked for a modified plan but the board offers no concrete plan to accomplish the thing they say must be done."

The "Walla Walla" suggestion for increasing prices and reducing surpluses contemplated sale of wheat controlled by the board to farmers upon signing of contracts not to plant next year an amount equal to the purchases. Approximately 190,000,000 bushels remains in the board's wheat bin.

Acting Chairman Denman wrote Summers the plan was impractical and beyond the scope of the board's authority.

Bumpass operated the laundry and held an undetermined amount of insurance on it, the county attorney said. The three suspects were in jail this morning but Dryden did not know their whereabouts, he said. The sheriff's department at Lubbock reported that Bumpass, arrested there Tuesday, was taken to Littlefield.

Lane and Harvey were reported to have been taken into custody at Tulia last Saturday night. Lane is a brother-in-law of Bumpass.

MOYLE, ALLEN AND PLANE NOT HURT

MONOPLANE REFUELLED FOR HOP TO SEATTLE OR BACK TO JAPAN

(By The Associated Press)

SEATTLE, Sept. 17.—Turning up safely aboard a little Russian ship in the Bering sea after having been missing nine days subsequent to their takeoff on a projected flight from Japan to Seattle, Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, California fliers, today radioed a call for the services of a publicity man and announced they were ready to fly some more.

The United States naval radio station on St. Paul Island, in the Bering sea, late last night received a wireless from the Russian steamer Buriat, saying Moyle and Allen had landed on Navarin island, Siberia, when their fuel and oil gave out.

The message said neither the fliers nor their plane was hurt when they landed and that they were ready to fly out of the Siberian area as soon as a current storm subsided. Their big monoplane, the message said, had been refueled and was ready for flight. It said Moyle and Allen might start for Seattle, but added they might go back toward Tokyo.

Neither did the message say whether the plane was brought on the steamer to Miano, on Tilgino island, where the little ship set the fliers ashore yesterday after having picked them up at Navarin.

Navarin island is off Cape Navarin, Siberia, about 2,200 miles north of Samushiro beach, Japan, from which the fliers took off September 7 on a projected 4,465-mile nonstop flight to Seattle. It is several hundred miles north of the circular route which they had mapped as their course to Seattle. Navarin is west and slightly south of Nome, Alaska.

The message telling of their safe-

MAYOR IS OUSTED AS SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER BECAUSE OF "WET" VIEWS

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 17.—The Rev. Robert Z. Tyler, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, today said relations of Mayor James L. Key as teacher of a men's Sunday school class there had been terminated "in the interest of peace in the church" as a result of the mayor's anti-prohibition utterances.

The action came last night after the mayor and church officials had conferred.

Mr. Tyler said the mayor had been requested to refrain from further criticism of prohibition.

Mayor Key refused. The minister said the mayor then was informed he might no longer teach a class at the church.

Mayor Key's views on prohibition came into national prominence when during a tour of France with a party of American mayors, He said prohibition was "corrupting the government," that it could not be enforced as its friends had hoped, and was a failure.

Since his return, he reiterated his views several times publi-

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

DR. MYERS

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

SUCCESSES OF CHILDREN

From a teacher comes this letter: "Dear Dr. Myers: Your articles to parents are much appreciated by me, a country school teacher, and I wonder if other teachers ever read them or write to you about their problems.

"I believe with you in celebrating children's successes. A real teacher of my acquaintance has as her classroom motto these three words: 'Commendation not condemnation.' It is mine, too, but once this past year, under the repeated advice of my superintendent, I reversed my methods and nearly brought disaster into the life of one youngster, who is below par mentally. He has been in first grade three years, but that delay in promotion has not diminished his great joy in his school work, and his face beams like the sun as he busily works away at the few things he is able to accomplish successfully.

"Of course, he often has spare time on his hands and I give him many little chores to do (he delights to help) and much extra busy work. This worried my superintendent. I was told that I was making this pupil lasy—that he could accomplish more if he had to.

"Much against my convictions I ordered him to work hard labor in a prison workshop. He did his level best (no more than he had always done, for he had always tried so hard), but I scowled and scolded, and demanded more and more, while he felt himself sinking in defeat and humiliation. He stood it bravely until one day, when he balked completely and when punished cried out, 'I hate this old school. I never want to come to school any more.'

"Then I said to myself, 'I have committed a crime if I cannot bring back to this child the joy that has been his through his small successes. How would I feel in his place? He readily responded to the old treatment, and in June passed from the A division into second grade, his confidence in his ability to succeed at top notch. He will be two years at least in this grade (teachers can't make brains), but he will be happy if I teach him."

Answer: If you follow this column regularly you will see every now and then a letter from a teacher. Many other letters come from teachers which request personal answers. You and I do not separate the home from the school. Some great souls who teach are wonderful parents of 40 children. In teachers I have a peculiar interest since, like yourself, I was a country teacher; and have been teaching since I was 16.

The only thing I did not like about your letter were the memories it recalled of some of my own teaching failures. No doubt many a mpther reading this column who has a child often misunderstood at school, will wish over and over again that her child might have a teacher with the human sympathy which you reveal. May you enjoy good health and live long to continue to bless children by celebrating their successes.

The "Perfect Retention Shields" hold the rupture perfectly, no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief and contract the opening in a remarkably short time.

The secret of their success is in their simplicity. An expertly adjusted device seals the opening without discomfort or detention from work. It is practically everlasting, sanitary, comfortable and actually holds ruptures which heretofore were considered uncontrollable.

Stomach troubles, backache and constipation, nearly always a consequence of rupture, promptly disappear.

Americans Hostess In Paris Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Hostessing" at Mt. Vernon in Paris is rare fun for a group of American girls.

Headed by Miss Anne Washington, great-great-grandniece of George Washington, the girls trip up and down staircases imitating those Martha Washington once trod.

They graciously greet the hordes of visitors from every country who go through the stately white mansion which is part of the American exhibit at the Inter-Colonial exposition.

About 5,000 persons daily visit the reproduction of Washington's home.

Made In America

The house was made in this country in sections and shipped abroad. Each room in the real Mt. Vernon has been faithfully copied in every detail, even Washington's desk and sword having been reproduced in wax or plaster.

The girl hostesses go on duty at 10 a. m. and remain until 6:30 p. m. Teas, dinners, band concerts and colorful pageants and military exhibitions make the days pass swiftly.

Titled French nobility gathers in the old fashioned dining room, mingling with the daughters of congressmen and capital debutantes. General John J. Pershing and Ambassador Walter Edge are often there.

Troops of mounted Arabs gallop by and flags used by colonial

Miss Dorothy Nicholson is one of the girls who greet visitors in the American exhibit at the inter-colonial exposition in Paris.

French troops flutter in the breeze. The exposition will continue through October. Among the American girls serving as hostesses are Miss Catherine Harrison, daughter of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, Miss Rachel Davis and Miss Dorothy Nicholson of Washington.

Miss Anne Washington, head hostess, has been at the exposition since it opened in May, presiding over the replics of the house in which her father was born. He was the last of the Washingtons to occupy Mt. Vernon.

MRS. HOOVER TO BE HOSTESS FOR GIRL SCOUT CAMP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The "town hall" of President Hoover's Rapidan camp will lose its hitherto informal air for two days next week, and will be run to the rat-a-tat of a girl scout executive's gavel.

For Mrs. Herbert Hoover, honorary president and long-time patroness of that organization, has invited the 23 members of its executive committee, and 23 others belonging to its board of directors, to come to the Virginia retreat for the regular monthly meeting.

Before her husband became president, Mrs. Hoover seldom missed a girl scout executive meeting, and when the group scheduled a gathering here for the first time since 1929, Mrs. Hoover hospitably asked them to the mountain camp.

Except that the locale chanced to be the summer retreat of the chief executive, the meeting will not be an innovation. Indeed, the girl scout executives, outdoor women all, have often camped together.

Brothers Counsel Asks For Reversal

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 17 (AP)—Counsel for Leo V. Brothers, convicted of slaying Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune crime reporter, in June, 1930, has filed a petition with the state supreme court asking that the jury's verdict either be reversed and Brothers declared acquitted, or be thrown out and a new trial granted.

James C. O'Brien, Brothers' lawyer, declared that the trial court had erred in conducting the trial and in instructing the jury and that the defendant's rights had thereby been prejudiced. The guilty verdict, he declared also, was against the weight of the evidence. Brothers was sentenced to 14 years imprisonment for murder.

President Hoover himself, ordered an investigation of the police and denounced "third-degree" methods.

A. C. Jackson, tax collector for the Lubbock Independent school district, was the person visited and the recipient of the check.

"Being in the tax collecting business, I realized the difficulty in obtaining early tax payments," Mr. Clark said. "I wanted to do my part toward aiding in the operation of the city schools and enable the system to function without going in the 'red'."

TEAR GAS BOMB THROWN IN TENT DURING REVIVAL

JONESBORO, Ark., Sept. 17. (AP)—A tear gas bomb exploded last night in the tent tabernacle where the Rev. Joe Jeffers, Baptist evangelist and center of a church controversy here, was holding his nightly meeting.

The congregation of about 4,000 persons fled from the tent as the fumes spread, but returned to few minutes later to hear Jeffers attribute the explosion to "the chief of police of Jonesboro or persons from Jonesboro State college" where a national guard detachment is stationed. Students of the college form the detachment.

The Jonesboro guardsmen, with several other detachments, patrolled the streets of Jonesboro for three days last week to prevent disorder as a result of Jeffers' efforts to oust the Rev. D. H. Heard as pastor of the First Baptist church here.

The troops were called out after adherents of the two factions fought on the lawn of the church last Wednesday night.

Damage Suit Filed Here On Wednesday

Alleging a land-leasing agreement had been broken, T. H. Pierce filed suit for damages totaling $4,670 against Fritz Broun in 99th district court Wednesday.

The plaintiff said on December 25, 1930, he entered into an agreement with Broun, whereby Pierce and his three sons were to work 220 acres of Broun's land on the halves and to cultivate an additional 100 acres for the plaintiff for wages at the rate of $2 per day per person engaged.

After the land had been broken and prepared for planting, Broun breached his contract by refusing to furnish the necessary equipment for farming the land, the petitioner states.

American apparatus is favored in Italy's present radio craze.

BOOSTERS TO BE SERVED MELONS AT BROWNFIELD

Watermelon will be served members of the Lubbock goodwill autocade to towns south and southwest of here Friday to advertise the eighteenth annual Panhandle-South Plains fair when they stop at Brownfield, Harvey Williamson, chairman of the committee supervising the booster trip, said. Williamson also asked for more automobiles and drivers for the motor caravan.

J. E. Shelton, secretary of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, has notified the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce that a large number of famous Terry county watermelons are being rounded up for the feast Friday afternoon, Williamson said.

More automobiles are needed for transporting the Lubbock high school band and to fill out the delegation, he said. Anyone who can go and take a car is requested to call Williamson at number 260, or the chamber of commerce, telephone number 2083.

NAVY IS NOT TO COMPETE IN RACE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The navy—which, for some years has conducted the annual Curtiss marine trophy race for seaplanes—will not participate this year if any is held.

Efforts to reduce expenditures resulted in a decision by officials to dispense with participation.

Whether the race will be held this year rests with the National Aeronautic association, as it either conducts, or assigns the privilege of conducting the contest, to some organization.

In the time the navy has conducted the race, due largely to the fact that it has been the country's chief seaplane purchasers, contestant planes have been limited to service types.

WALKUP TO FACE MCCABE IN SECOND DIXIE SERIES CONTEST

WESTERNERS, TECH READY FOR TILTS

DIZZY DEAN IS DEFEATED IN THE OPENER

BARONS WILL SEEK TO MAKE IT TWO IN A ROW OVER BUFFS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 17. (AP)—Jimmie Walkup, dimunitive southpaw who toiled for several years in the Texas league will facs the Houston Buffaloes today for the second game of the Dixie series between the Texas champions and Birmingham, winner in the Southern association.

Walkup, leading hurler in the southern this year, will be out to make it two straight for the locals who won yesterday's opener 1 to 0 when the ancient Ray Caldwell bested Dizy Dean, ace of the Houston staff.

Dick McCabe, stellar Fort Worth right hander borrowed by Houston to replace the injured Tex Carleton, will face the Barons in today's encounter.

Yesterday's opener, witnessed by 20,074 persons, a new attendance record for the Dixie series, showed as pretty a hurling duel between Caldwell and Dean as has been seen in the 11 years of battling between the two leagues. Dean gave up only five hits while Caldwell allowed seven. The Barons, however, bunched three of their blows in the eighth while the Buffs could get no more than two an inning.

Dean, strike out king of the Texas league, failed to retire a single Baron on strikes. Caldwell accounted for five in this way. While Caldwell was being nicked for two hits each in the first, second and fourth innings, Dean allowed the Southern association champions only two safe blows until the eighth when Taylor and Caldwell singled and Bancroft doubled to score the winning run.

Following today's games the teams go to Houston for three games Saturday night, Sunday and Monday night.

ALABAMA TEAM LOOKS GOOD

RIVAL COACHES ARE WORRYING MORE THAN COACH

BY DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 17 (AP)—In the deep south rival gridiron coaches are worrying more about Alabama's 1931 team than is Frank Thomas, the new coach.

Most of the great Alabama machine of 1930 passed out with Wallace Wade, who now is coaching at Duke university, but those coaches whose teams played 'Bama last year recall that the "shock troops" were almost as potent as the varsity.

Few squads can lose 13 lettermen—all regulars—and not leave the coach in a state of depression.

Thomas hasn't any championship ideas. He knows he has a good team and he's going to play it for what it's worth.

With a schedule made to order, Alabama has been picked as a championship contender by some experts.

"The schedule is not exceptionally hard and we may win a lot of games but we are not figuring on any title," Thomas says.

"My line will be much lighter than last year and the same applies to the backs. They will average about 160."

A fullback signal caller, John "Hurry" Cain, will do most of the running, passing, and kicking. Another experienced halfback, Holley, and three sophomores, Hughes, Chappelle and Cochran, will assist him.

The line isn't giving Thomas any trouble. There are veterans—for the reserves got plenty of drilling under fire last year, Captain Shapre will play center, with Whitworth and Sanford at guards, and Godfrey and Ecther Lassley of Fackson at tackles. They say Godfrey is better than Sington.

The schedule follows:

September 26—Howard at Tuscaloosa; October 3—Mississippi at Tuscaloosa; October 10—Mississippi A. & M., at Meridian, Miss.; October 17—Tennessee at Knoxville; October 24—Sewanee at Birmingham; October 31—Kentucky at Tuscaloosa; November 7—Florida at Birmingham; November 14—Clemson at Montgomery; November 26—Vanderbilt at Nashville.

Walla Walla Wheat Plan Is Rejected

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The "Walla Walla" wheat plan, designed to increase prices and reduce acreage, was rejected Wednesday by the farm board as impracticable and without the scope of its authority.

The board's decision, arived at after a series of conferences with a delegation of wheat growers, bankers and business men from the Pacific northwest, was made known in a letter to Representative Summers, Republican, Washington, chairman of the group.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

WRESTLING TONIGHT AT THE North Avenue H arena. Big Chief Stine, Oklahoma City, versus Sailor Jack Lewis, Los Angeles. Also five amateur boxing bouts and a negro battle royal, all combining to make the third weekly program of the Golden Gloves Amateur Boxing and Wrestling tournament.

Count on Mack Saxon, the El Paso School of Mines mentor, to do something different. These Austin College guys are always trying to out do each other. Now the wisecracking Saxon announces that his team will alleviate the cotton field depression by using cotton jerseys, sox and sweat shirts instead of woolen products. Uniforms in all department of athletics will be made of cotton.

It's football season in the Texas League. Papa Del Pratt, skipper of the Galveston Buccaneers, has a baseball team of football players this season, (No, you crank, that's not why the team didn't do so well) and he plans to issue football equipment for a couple games this fall with a Galveston amateur club. Outstanding on the Buc team is Jake Wilson, the flashy quarterback from Baylor, named most valuable player in the Southwest Conference by sport writers last fall. Wilson has been playing third base with the Bucs all summer and will quarterback in the football game. Pratt himself is an old grid star, a coach in former days at the University of Alabama, Southern university and University of Michigan. On the club are Keith Molesworth star at Miami university and for two years a professional gridster; Jim Ryan, one of Knute Rockne's Notre Dame star of a few years ago, Andy Bedner, Beau Bell, star at Texas A. & M. a few years ago, and Drusell Speer, a bright light at S. M. U. for three years.

And at this juncture the repect of the first Dixie Series game comes in and we are somewhat saddened. Old Dizzy pitched a good game at that, however, giving up only five bingles. Too bad three of them had to come in succession to bring in the lonesome tally of the contest.

Went out to observe the collegiate gridsters yesterday and came away, as usual, filled with inspiration to write gobs and slathers of copy relative to the fine prospects at Texas Tech. On Matador Field we saw forty-four crimsonclad huskies divided into about three groups running through light scrimmage and doing a bit of passing and booting. On the other side of the stadium, spread over the 40-acre practice field, were 72 freshmen, doing practically the same thing. Del Morgan and Weir Washam were in charge of the youngsters, who look about as big as the varsity boys. Visitors are impressed by the size of the men in the first year ranks.

Of course there are the blue notes to be struck in connection with the gridiron music now being prepared by the Tech choruses. For instance, there is already the inevitable weeding out of the ranks taking place. Team manager-flunky Bo Williams says he has issued uniforms to 125 prospects for the fish team all told but that fifty have already been checked in. Before the season is well under way, the freshman squad probably will be trimmed to about 50, which is big enough. The others will be patted on the back and told to try chemistry or come out for intramural sports.

So far injuries have been held to a minimum on the varsity side of the fence, though a few were hobbling around yesterday with charley-horses, sore knees and strained leg ligaments, as well as bruised shoulders and hips... Captain Jack Durham, for one, is taking practice lightly and will not start Friday's game, maybe, because of a wrenched knee.

Then too, several of the junior college graduates upon whom Cawthon had depended as possible regulars this season have failed to show up; others reported last week but evidently didn't like the scenery and consequently shifted before it was too late. Slick Close, the little lad who formed the bulwark of the Wayland college backfield for a coupla years, changed his mind about coming to Tech and headed for Vanderbilt. A couple of others failed to show up. Nine ex-junior college stars, however, are working out daily with the varsity and are showing up fine. Two of them, O'Leary from Oklahoma and Thompson of Weatherford Junior college are looking especially good and may start Friday's scrimmage against the freshmen. O'Leary is a quarterback and Thompson is a half. The latter was doing some nice running and some nicer passing yesterday afternoon.

LUBBOCK HIGH WILL CLASH AT CLOVIS

TECH VARSITY IS TO TEST STRENGTH IN PICADOR TILT

Three Lubbock football squads are in their final practice sessions this afternoon before assembling for the week-end games. Tomorrow afternoon finds the Lubbock High school Westerners in eastern New Mexico to do battle with the Clovis High school Wildcats. Here at home, the Texas Tech Matadors meet the Tech Picadors, first year gridsters, in a regular scheduled contest at Matador Field.

The Tech teams went through a strenuous workout this morning, blocking and signal running making up most of the practice hour, and were to top off the first week of practice this afternoon with more running of plays which will be tried out for the first time tomorrow.

Work Gets Heavier

Light skirmishes between varsity groups yesterday foretold of heavier work that came this morning, the teams doing a bit of scrimmage while running a few plays and signals.

Tomorrow's game may be played at night. School authorities were to announce today whether the lights would be ready in time for Friday's game. The lighting system that has been illuminating baseball games here this season is to be moved to the Tech field for night games this season. Definite announcement as to the time of day reserved for the game will be made early tomorrow.

Coach Weldon Chapman and his assistants, Swede McMurray and Burl Huffman, sent the Westerner second and third stringers through a light scrimmage yesterday, holding out the first team for signal running, individual training in blocking and tackling and other particular phases of the game. The Lubbock mentor expects to find a fair test for the Westerners in tomorrow's game with the Clovis team. Reports from the New Mexico town would indicate that the Wildcats are unusually powerful. They won their first game of the season last Saturday by defeating the Forrest High school team, 6 to 0, though their showing in this game is said not to be indicative of the real strength of the club.

Sophomores Strong

It continued to appear that Tech's starting lineup would consist mainly of sophomores. It is doubtful if more than three veterans lineup with the Matadors in most of their games this season. George Langford at tackle, Bill Teal at end Captain Durham at guard will have tough times holding their old jobs. With the exception of Teal, who looms now as the regular starter, every returning veteran has strong competition. Durham must battle Toby Greer, Jay Maltby and Elva Baker for his guard position, with Turner and Harris fighting for the other guard position. Langford has Bennie McWilliams to contend with, with Truett Owens having the other tackle position pretty well sewed up. A sophomore will be at center, whether it be Whacker Barton or Lester Tribble. These lads are about equal.

The backfield as it now stands looks like Yancy Price at full, Dee Thompson and Harrold Crites at halfback posts and O'Leary at quarterback. Speed Moffett, the returning halfback, is looking good at his position and may start. He can play at quarter with equal precision. Thompson and O'Leary are junior college graduates.

CRUCIAL PLAY SCHEDULED

TOMMY ARMOUR, GENE SARAZEN FAVORED IN PRO TOURNEY

Cardinals In Possession Of National Loop Championship

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals were in possession of their second straight National league pennant today, having clinched the flag early yesterday afternoon without the necessity of firing a shot. Their only remaining goal before they tackle the Philadelphia Athletics in the world series October 1 is to be the first National league club since 1913 to win more than 100 games.

They have bright prospects of bettering the mark of 101 victories set by the New York Giants eighteen years ago. Yesterday's 6 to 3 triumph over Philadelphia was No. 96, and they have nine more games to play before the curtain falls. They are likely to go on winning their share, as Manager Gabby Street announced last night he intended to use his best pitchers in their regular turn right up to the last play.

Thanks to the Cincinnati Reds, who, it appears, had a mission after all, the Cards did not even have to win yesterday to sew up their fourth title in six years. The Reds attended to that nicely when they trimmed the New York Giants 7 to 3, in the first game of a doubleheader. Their 4 to 3 victory in the night cap merely added insult to injury. The first loss made it impossible for the McGrawmen to finish closer than a half-game to the top.

Red Lucas, sometimes referred to as Cincinnati's pitching staff, had the privilege of sinking the Giants and, incidentally, scoring his 13th triumph of the year for a last-place club. His mates fell on Carl Hubbell with gusto. The second tilt was not decided until the eighth inning, when successive hits by Hendrick, Ford and Sukeforth broke a 3-3 tie and provided the winning run.

Hallahan Is Right

Bill Hallahan, who is expected to start the second game of the world series, pitched the Cards to their unneeded win over the Phils, allowing only six hits. It was their seventh straight victory and their 12th in 13 starts.

The Chicago Cubs took a firmer hold on third place by beating the Boston Braves in two close ones, 6 to 5 and 8 to 7, and Brooklyn practically sewed up fourth by downing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11 to 5.

By way of celebrating their clinching the American league flag the previous day, the Athletics rang up their 100th victory of the year at Cleveland's expense, 7 to 5. Big George Earnshaw went the route to record his 20th triumph.

Alvin Crowder scored his eighth straight win as the Washington Senators took a 6 to 2 decision from the St. Louis Browns. The victory put the Senators a game and a half ahead of the New York Yankees in their close race for second place. The Yanks were not scheduled.

By winning their third straight game from Chicago, the Boston Red Sox bounced out of the American league cellar and left it to the White Sox. Ed Durham bested Vic Frasier in a great mound duel, 2 to 1.

TO TALK ASSOCIATION

BIG SPRING, Sept. 17 (Special)—A proposed Howard County Livestock Shipping association will be discussed at meetings in the county this week, J. V. Bush, county farm agent, said. The association would assist the farmer in disposing of stock for which he has no further use. A profit could be realized on the animals after feeding and fattening, Bush opined.

ALL INQUEST IN SLAYING

ORY TOLD BY MRS. OLLINGS DOUBTED BY INVESTIGATOR

UNTINGTON, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP) nvinced that Benjamin P. Col- was slain before being thrown board from his yacht, District rney Alexander Blue of Suffolk nty, called a coroner's inquest for afternoon.

n autopsy led Blue to believe Collings first met his death on cruiser Penguin, then was bound d and foot and thrown into Long nd sound last Wednesday. His was washed up yesterday at d's Neck.

rs. Collings had told authorities heard her husband cry: "They're g me and putting me over- rd." She has insisted under re- ed questioning that two men rded the yacht and kidnaped attacked her in a small boat af- drowning her husband.

r. Schulze arranged to have Col- 's lungs examined by Dr. Alex- er O. Gettler, New York toxicol- t.

Mr. Blue said that Mrs. Collings ld not be called until tomorrow questioning.

Story Doubted

CAPITAL IN THROES OF CITY-WIDE RENOVATION; SOLONS TO SCARCELY KNOW THE PLACE WHEN THEY RETURN

BY BESS FURMAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Members of congress will scarcely know this staid old capital city when they come trooping back in December.

Never before has it seen such a season of change—razing, excavating, terracing, remodelling, building.

From Capitol Hill, down Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues to the Potomac, and on out the river boulevard sweeps the clamor of construction. Ninety-two mid-city blocks are in the throes of it. Whole sections look like after-the-earthquake snapshots—except that the debris is somewhat arranged. The federal building program is on, full blast, and departments have caught the contagion, improving here and there.

Few familiar things about the government's plant look quite as they looked when congress adjourned last March. The capitol's central portion has been painted, its dome done over, its freedom statue shined. On its secluded and dignified west front, whole flights of marble steps that statesmen have trod for more than sixty years are being torn away to be replaced with new.

The library of congress is getting a new copper roof—and a new copper-covering for its dome. The senate office building is smart, with a new, nobly-columned entrance looking toward the union states across a 12-square landscaping project. It's getting a new wing too—which will give each senator a 3-room suite.

The tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington cemetery is center of its own elaborate beautification scheme, with stairsteps and fountains and balustrades in process of building and a wooden frame about it as it awaits the rare block of marble, which will complete it.

Sixty acres will have been added to Capitol Hill when $35,000,000 in jobs is finished, about 1934. Right now the activity centers on union station plaza, where all is being made beautiful, with subways being built to conceal street cars, and an underground garage to keep parked cars from getting between you and your view. There also, hundreds of young trees are being added to Washington's 115,000 tree-population. Thousands of shrubs are being set. Coming into being are a reflecting pool to mirror the capitol dome, fountains, walks, and a proud new avenue.

The new house building is two months ahead of schedule. Across the capitol grounds, foundation is complete for the supreme court building and bids for the superstructure will be opened next month. Down the hill, foundations are being made for the new conservatory.

But that's only the beginning. The projects on Capitol Hill, all directed by the office of David J. Lynn, architect, are few compared to those directed by the treasury department, now involving eighty city blocks.

The amazing new commerce building, covering nearly 8 acres, and boasting a net floor area of 1,092,800 square feet is almost finished. As soon as the commerce department moves into it, the war department can be temporarily quartered where commerce moves out to make possible the promised remodelling of the state war and navy building. Its mixed architecture doesn't suit the experts.

On the new archives building and the new public health service building work has been started. For the department of justice building, ground has been cleared. Post-office and labor departments and the interstate commerce commission now watch the clearing of sites for their new homes.

The department of agriculture proudly views the progress on its extensible building, now almost done. A new Red Cross building is also near completion. Bids have been opened for the huge new federal warehouse which will store the bulk materials for all departments and a huge internal revenue building is finished.

Below the portrait of his illustrious grandfather, President Grant, in whose administration Washington first stirred with great construction activity, Lieutenant Colonel U. S. Grant, III., supervisor of public parks, is in the thick of bridge and boulevard beautification. A new memorial entrance into Arlington cemetery, pavement and approaches of the new memorial bridge, and the completion of Rock creek and Potomac parkway are among the present enterprises.

HEART ATTACK INDICATED

PROFESSOR SEEKS TO OBTAIN FREEDOM IN PROBE

HAMPTON, Va., Sept. 17 (AP)—A theory that heart trouble contributed to the death of Mrs. Elisha Kane Kent has been set forth at an inquest of her drowning. Her husband, a professor at the University of Tennessee, is seeking freedom on bail.

Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane, father of the accused man and a surgeon, testified at the inquest last night he had treated Mrs. Kane for heart trouble, which had bothered her for seven years. He suggested that heart trouble might have caused her to slip from a rock and drown while she was helpless.

Coroner George K. Vanderslice previously had said that he was convinced Mrs. Kane's death was due to drowning and the only question was whether or not it was homicidal.

Defense attorneys said that evidence presented at the inquest last night was favorable to the professor.

Commonwealth's Attorney Roland D. Cocke, on the other hand, said: "As the case now stands, I would have no hesitancy in presenting it to the grand jury and I believe it would obtain an indictment."

No time was set for resumption of the inquest but a hearing on the question of bail was arranged for today.

Both defense attorneys and Dr. Vanderslice agreed no letter which would incriminate Kane or involved another woman had been located. The coroner said that a number of letters exchanged between Professor Kane and his wife were read last night and that they indicated complete and mutual devotion.

LINDYS TO GO TO CHINA

FLIERS AT FUKUOKA AFTER A 300-MILE HOP FROM OSAKA

FUKUOKA, Japan, Sept. 17 (AP).—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here at 4:01 p. m., (1:01 a. m., Central Standard time) today after a 300-mile flight from Osaka. From here they will proceed to China in continuation of their aerial vacation tour of the Orient.

The Lindberghs took off from Osaka, Japanese industrial city at 12:58 p. m., today (9:58 Wednesday Central Standard time).

They were escorted along the inland sea by a Japan Air Transport company plane, the services of which were requested by the Colonel to avoid the possibility of crossing fortified areas, an offense for which Clyde Pangburn and Hugh Herndon, jr., American fliers now awaiting permission of the Japanese government to start a trans-Pacific flight, recently were fined.

To Leave Tomorrow

The Lindberghs will spend the night here. They expect to take off on the more than 600 mile flight to Nanking, capital of China, early tomorrow.

The fliers enjoyed a privilege not often granted foreigners—that of flying over the inland sea, whose scenery is very famous. Thousands of foreigners view the inland sea from commercial vessels, which are permitted to ply the river-like body of water splitting Japan in half, but few are permitted to fly over it.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh had another unusual experience before their take off from Osaka in the form of a stowaway. The colonel and American Counsel Dickover of Koke found the stowaway in the luggage space of the big monoplane. Police took him in hand.

The stowaway was Matsuji Shimizu, 17, a student. He said he hid himself in the plane before dawn, hoping to "make a flight with the famous couple." Shimizu pleaded he was a great admirer of Lindbergh. He said he long had wanted to see America and thought it would have been a great stunt if he could have done so via whatever route the Lindberghs might choose for their return flight.

Attacks Are Held Not Anti-American

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 17 (AP)—A denunciation of a "growing divorce menace," was voiced yesterday before the fiftieth convention of the Protestant Episcopal church as a joint commission prepared to submit a proposed canon liberalizing rules for the remarriage of divorced persons.

The Rt. Rev. Michael Bolton Furse, lord bishop of St. Albans, London, England, declared before the convention that "to those who are convinced that Christian marriage is God's law for man, the alarming increase in the number of divorces and of the causes for divorce, is sinister enough."

Bishop Furse echoed views voiced Sunday by Presiding Bishop James De Wolf Perry, of Rhode Island, who opposed the liberalization of church laws against divorce.

Veteran Officer Is Acquitted By Jury

ANSON, Sept. 17 (AP).—W. H. "Bill" Johnson, veteran Hamlin peace officer, was acquitted by a jury late last night of the charge of Slaying Stonewall Parker last April. The verdict was reached on the first ballot.

Seventeen character witnesses testified for the defense, including sheriffs of surrounding counties. The defense contended Johnson shot at the ground while chasing Parker and that the bullet struck cinders and bounded. Parker was struck in the head, dying instantly.

A hung jury resulted when Johnson was tried the first time in May.

Shooting Results In Delay Of Case

FORT STOCKTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The murder trial of William Wiley, 26, charged in connection with the fatal stabbing last July of Leigh Harkey, Sheffield ranchman, was continued for the term yesterday. Postponement followed an apparent effort to kill Wiley as he was brought to court for trial.

The grand jury reconvened today to investigate the shooting which occurred near the courthouse yesterday as Wiley was being conducted to the courtroom. Several shots missed Wiley. Jeff and Jim Harkey, brothers of Leigh Harkey, were under bond in connection with the shooting.

Have you what is commonly called that Tired Feeling?

"I just can't go on"—how often you hear this.
So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living . . . pressure of work and worry.
Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count . . . the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."
If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

Thought For Today

The husbandman that laboureth must be first partaker of the fruits.—Timothy 2:6.

The lottery of honest labor, drawn by Time, is the only one whose prizes are worth taking up and carrying home.—Theodore Parker.

The Quest

Men are trekking to the west again.

When the price of gold was fixed at $20 an ounce by international agreement, not long ago, hundreds of the unemployed remembered that the creek beds in the hills are said by some to hold nuggets. So they have started the old adventure. They have become placer miners who start out every morning with the hope that today they will find the precious ore. They have become weary men who come home every evening, wondering if the quest is futile some days, surprised at their sudden good fortune on others.

For the first time in 40 years Montana newspapers are advertising gold-panning equipment. But the present rush is only a postscript that has been added to the long parade which rode the far trails westward in a pioneering yesterday. Then there was a buccaneering spirit of adventure. Today there is a panic-stricken urge to discover gold since no other employment doors are open.

Yesterday belongs to a romantic yarn of a new country. Today belongs to the economic chronicles of a great nation.

Yesterday men's hearts sang as they followed the dusty roads. Hope rode high as the screen boughs burst into pink and white riot of flowering blossoms, or the flame shades of autumn and the white frost of a too-cold evening made them urge their horses faster. Today they go, not so much because they seek fortunes as livelihoods. Making a living is never as colorful as making an adventure.

Men took along a caravan of visions yesterday. Their wind-blown, rain-faded wagons held more than the horse-hair parlor furniture that their wives wanted to bring to the new land, the meal and bacon and ammunition. There was a lonely ecstatic joy when they swung toward the promised land, and a sharper thrill when they saw it over the ridge. The Children of Israel who roamed for 40 years before they came to Canaan had felt that same fierce joy when the long road home was ended.

Perhaps a little of this old venturing spirit will come back to the modern placer miners. If it does, whether they find gold or not will not be so important. The lure of the quest, that something which reaches beyond, forever unsatisfied, will return. And that, after all, is worth more than a nugget or two.

Understanding

That war has become an impersonal instrument, entirely devoid of human relationships, was demonstrated recently at the National Air Races when Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, famous American war ace and Captain Ernst Udet, noted German war flier, met. Probably they chased each other's ships over flaming skies once upon a time. But the war is over. Friendship has been resumed. The personal equation has nothing to do with the aftermath.

Those who lament that war has become such a scientific, wholesale slaughter, lacking the chivalry of the days when men had only bayonets and guns for a hand-to-hand struggle, must admit that the old combat lacked the forgiving-forgetting feature of the new system. Certainly everyone regrets any need of war at any time, and increase in the number of casualties. But at least the aftermath is more peaceful since men do not know whom they fight.

Cubans are growing beards to show their sympathy to the revolutionary cause. Rebels in Chile also took it on the chin.

Major Doolittle, in bowing to Lowell Bayles' speedy Gee-Bee, might have felt inclined to dub it the Heeby Gee Bee.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says her neighbor won't let his wife smoke cigarets. He says her throat is healthy enough.

Just imagine how Sitting Bull would have felt if he had gone to the theater and found nothing left but standing room!

COUNTY JUDGE E. L. PITTS tells The Plainsman that he and Mayor Clements agree with this column's suggestion of a day or two ago, that a place of registration be established for unemployed.

They agree with the suggestion so entirely, the Judge said, that they are establishing just such a place of registration and have placed Hollis Cowan in charge. The address is 708 13th street, registration will begin tomorrow morning and Mr. Cowan will be in his office from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

Hurrah for Mayor Clements and Judge Pitts.

The unemployed man may now go to the registration office, list his name, address and type of work he does best—and when work bobs up, if it ever does, it will be an easier matter to fit men and jobs together quickly.

The Plainsman salutes the registration plan. It can't help but aid the situation somewhat.

YESTERDAY'S mail brought to The Plainsman a nicely framed spanking from a reader who declares that "Governor Sterling is still good enough for me." The correspondent charges The Plainsman with being "a would-be political demagogue"—whatever 'demagogue' means—and a writer "with a one-track mnd who has gotten onto a subject and can't get off." Here's the letter in full—it's too good to keep:

"To The Plainsman: I am an avid reader of editorial pages, not only those of our local papers but also every other paper I can find, and I notice that both Lubbock papers have been criticizing Governor Sterling rather often.

"Presuming that you are the editor of The Journal, and if so, also the editor of The Avalanche, you may be interested to know that the Lubbock papers are the only ones I have seen that are actively critical of Mr. Sterling.

"I may be wrong, but I have you pictured as a would-be political demagogue with a one-track mind, who has gotten onto a subject and can't get off. Governor Sterling is still good enough for me and as a paying reader of your paper, I want you to know it.

"It both puzzles and irritates me to have my favorite and home-town papers at such variance with my own views. Very truly yours, "R. M. F. (Name on request.)"

It happens that The Plainsman gets a bigger kick out of written verbal spankings than he does out of written bouquets. If it makes R. M. F. any happier, this writer here and publicly admits his charges.

But the criticism was not unexpected — The Plainsman has been looking for something like that for some time, feeling certain that there must be at least one Sterling admirer left. So in Columns 7 and 8 of this page there appears some comment from other Texas papers concerning the present state administration, with which The Plainsman heartily concurs.

NEXT Sunday's Avalanche-Journal, which will be the annual fair editon boosting Lubbock, the fair and cities of the trade territory, will boast, as usual, a rotogravure section.

Smallest city in United States with an annual rotogravure section. Lubbock thus garners added publicity in newspaper trade journals.

If you want a copy or two to send the folks back home, advise the circulation department by 6 p. m. Saturday. One dime will pay for the paper, its addressing and mailing.

Incidentally, this year's rotogravure, like others published by The Avalanche-Journal, is unique, as roto sections go. It hasn't a single picture of a scantily clad young woman—a feature rarely, if ever overlooked by rotogravure editors.

No sir, The Avalanche-Journal roto stands on its own hind legs, showing scenes of Lubbock and the South Plains, which have reader interest of their own. We didn't need nudity to make it a good section!

A STOUT man, with large broad feet, went into a local department store the other day and asked the shoe clerk to wait on him. Although the clerk showed much sunlight as possible during the winter.

Rickets appears in the spring, after the long succession of sunless winter days. Sunlight will form vitamin D in the body, even when none is in the food. This is not surprising because sunlight is capable of causing many chemical changes—as on a photographic plate, for instance.

Whether viosterol will replace cod liver oil as a rickets preventative or curative is not entirely settled. It is tasteless, and smaller quantities can be given than cod liver oil. Reports from clinics show that in spite of frequent warnings and instructions, less than half the mothers were giving their babies the full three-teaspoonful dose a day of cod liver oil. The dose of viosterol can be as low as 8 to 10 drops a day. In premature infants its use is superior to cod liver oil, because the latter cannot be given in sufficient dosage without upsetting the digestion in such delicate babies.

Senator Admits He Drew His Pistol

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., Sept. 17 (AP)—State Senator Tom Anglin, testifying at his trial on a charge of assault with intent to kill Tom Phillips, editor of the Holdenville Daily News, admitted last night he drew a pistol after Phillips had struck him during a street altercation here last spring.

Anglin told his story of the altercation at a night session of district court, after Phillips had told, from a cot, his story of the incident that led to Anglin's trial. Phillips, over protest of his doctor, had come from Chickasha to testify. He had been a patient in a Chickasha hospital, where doctors said he was suffering from acute indigestion and appendicitis complications.

HARLINGEN, Sept. 17 (AP)—Mrs. L. R. Johnson, charged jointly with her husband, in connection with the assault with intent to kill W. W. Redwine, jr., 21, was released under bond of $500. Johnson was remanded to jail without bond, pending the outcome of Redwine's condition. Redwine was shot Tuesday.

Chances Are Both Parties Will Hold Their Conventions In States Likely To Prove Doubtful In 1932 Elections

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 — The political-psychological factor which usually is given careful thought when the two political parties select cities for their national conventions is expected to carry more than its customary weight when the republican and Democratic national committees meet this winter to choose their sites.

DUTCHER

It probably will be regarded as more important than the financial consideration and certainly more so than such matters as physical comfort and geographical convenience. The committees will not ignore the size of the checks that representatives of the bidding cities will wave under everyone's nose. Not with Republican political contributions coming in such an unusually tiny dribble and with the Democrats, still deeply in debt to Chairman John J. Raskob, having indefinitely delayed the drive which they once planned for a $6,000,000 campaign chest.

Strategy in Choosing

But all the contending cities will have big checks to wave and the prospect is that instead of throwing the conventions onto the auction block, both parties will go into important states where the fighting is likely to be hot and doubtful in the 1932 presidential election. The probable party nominees will have more influence in the choice of convention cities than anyone else. The Republican committee certainly will not thwart any desire President Hoover may have and if Governor Roosevelt is still out in front among Democratic aspirants next January most of his supporters among committeemen and committeewomen will heed his wish as to the place where he wants to be nominated.

Chicago and Cleveland are considered as among the most logical convention cities, although sentiment has not begun to crystalize. You hear just as much talk about San Francisco for the Democrats and Atlantic City for the Republicans.

Eastern cities began bidding early, apparently aware that 1932 would be a big political year and that the conventions would attract large crowds even though the presidential nominations were pretty well forecast in advance. Philadelphia, Boston, Atlantic City, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, San Francisco and Los Angeles have all been reported as after the G. O. P. meeting.

G. O. P. to Stay in East

It is doubtful whether the Republicans, with a wet east to worry about, will go west of Chicago. Detroit is unlikely because the Republicans would hate to convene among so much unemployment. Boston appears to have little chance. Atlantic City, offering $150,000 and a new $15,000,000 auditorium seating 40,000 persons, is attractive to more Republicans than Philadelphia with its $6,000,000 electrically refrigerated auditorium. One argument made for Philadelphia by its boosters is that Pennsylvania is not surely Republican now, but if the Republicans can't rely on Pennsylvania they can't rely on anything, so the argument isn't very cogent.

Democrats have spent less time discussing their convention city choice, but they've been thinking of Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco and the bid from Kansas City. They think the yhave a fine chance to carry Illinois and Ohio next year, as well as New York and Massachusetts. But they regard Illinois and Ohio as the most doubtful.

Chairman James A. Farley of the New York Democratic state committee, Roosevelt's unofficial campaign manager, was reported to have told San Francisco that he personally favored their city for the convention. It has not become clear whether he reflected the governor's view or whether he was partly inspired by a wish to make the boys out there feel happy. But there are some Democrats who believe party reports that their ticket can carry California next year and who consequently think it would be a splendid idea to go out and nominate their man in Herbert Hoover's own home state.

VIOSTEROL

VIOSTEROL is a comparatively new product used for the prevention of rickets in infants. It is like cod liver oil and is similar to cod liver oil in its action on rickets in that it contains vitamin D. On account of its higher potency it is likely to be used quite as much, or more, than cod liver oil for this purpose in the future.

Dr. Clendening

Vitamin D is a substance that dissolves in fat—that is why it is called fat soluble. Cod liver oil is, of course, fat. Vitamin D is stored in the body in the liver. Fishes, among the animals, are particularly conspicuous in storing vitamin D in their livers. That is why the liver of the cod is used for this product. It is found elsewhere in nature, but nowhere else so abundantly.

The substance used as a basis for the manufacture of viosterol is ergosterol, which is an oil obtained from yeast. This is exposed to ultra violet light, which irradiation forms vitamin D in the ergosterol. The discovery that vitamin D could be produced by ultra violet light was announced in 1924, the work of Professor Harry Steenback of the University of Wisconsin. The manufacture of the product, which is called viosterol, is controlled by a committee of the alumni of Wisconsin university so that proper supervision of the manufactured product can be exercised. Five American pharmaceutical houses are licensed to sell viosterol.

This action of ultra-violet light (either artificial or in sunlight) in forming vitamin D in substances that do not previously contain it is the reason for giving the baby as

"That may be so," he said, "and you ought to know. But I happen to be wearing last season's feet!"

IN NEW YORK with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Did you know that "Silver Threads Among the Gold" grew out of an obscure clipping in a farm magazine? And that "Bred In Old Kentucky" was suggested by a horse trade in Central Park in ye olden days? That the historic Fioradora sextet started out to be a duet written by a church organist?

Well, neither did I until just the other day when Jim Geller started telling me the "low down" on the famous old ditties that have lived to a ripe old age. James J. Geller, theatrical advance man of the old school and Manhattan newspaperman for a generation, has been spending his odd time tracking down the stories behind the best known songs. Recently he collected his reminiscences and put them in a book titled, "Famous Songs and Their Stories."

"The Man Who Broke The Bank at Monte Carlo," for instance, was based on the legend that one Arthur Bower actually had achieved that rare distinction. He was a reckless and lavish spender and a careless gambler, and tales of his exploits fired the imagination of Fred Gilbert, an English song writer. London gave it but ordinary welcome, but an American team—Hoey and Evans—used it in one of the old Charley Hoyt comedies and the American nation picked it up.

Just a few years ago, there came a news story from London telling of the death of Arthur De Courcey Bower, the inspiration of the venerable tune. Bower had died penniless and the tale went that some early day press agent had engaged him to go about Europe, tossing money about and boasting of his Monte Carlo winnings. The purpose, of course, being to lure gamblers to the roulette wheels.

"Silver Threads" was used first as a "space filler" in a Wisconsin farm paper. It was noticed by a traveling singer named Hart Danks while making a tour of the middle west. Making inquiry, Danks learned that it had been written by Eben Rexford, the magazine's editor, who was tickled to sell it for $3. Danks then wrote the music, sold the song to a Chicago publisher and the minstrels farly fought for it. The amazing sale of two million copies followed in record time. Years passed and Richard Jose, the tenor, repopularized it—and so it has gone ever since.

But to get back to the story Danks, who had immortalized lifelong adoration of husband and wife, became estranged from his own sweetheart. Something like a dozen years ago, he was found near death in a Philadelphia rooming house. He was propped up in bed and had begun to scrawl a farewell message to the world across a page of the song. He had written but six words—

"It is hard to die alone—"

But he did die alone, already forgotten.

And here's a particularly interesting bit; Anent the line in "Daisy Bell" which goes, "but you'll look sweet upon the seat of a bicycle built for two."

The author, Harry Dacre, had arrived in New York with a bike in 1893. He had brought his bicycle with him from London and the customs officer demanded a fee that he could not afford.

Telling his experience to the historic Tony Pastor, who had brought Dacre over, Pastor commented: "You ought to be thankful it wasn't a tandem. That would have cost twice as much."

Which is where "the bicycle built for two" idea originated.

(Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

A Kansas paragrapher says "Some women simply were not born to wear Empress Eugenie hats." That ought to help the sale.

OTHER EDITORS, TOO, ARE PRONE TO CHIDE "SAINT PETER. OF HEAVENLY HOUSTON"

The following comment was written by George I. Seitz, of Houston, editor of Editorials of the Month, a publication seeking to be a concise review of the opinions of Texas newspaper editors upon problems of the day.

It is being reproduced here in answer to a letter, appearing in today's column, "The Plainsman Says", and is being printed here to show that Lubbock papers are decidedly not alone in their disappointment over our "business man governor".

"Wholesale desertions from the ranks of Sterling's political supporters are by far th most significant political development of recent weeks. It is a movement that involves many of the newspapers that successfully carried the governor through the first and second primaries.

"The reason is that Ross Sterling is not the strong, sound-thinking, fearless leader some half million voters thought him to be. With a cargo of opportunity the like of which no other commonwealth ever carried, the Texas ship of state drifts aimlessly in threatening economic seas. The hull is strong and sound, an able crew of men stand alert and eager upon her decks, and engines throb to the head of steam that is ready to propel her to havens of security. But there is no navigator to lay her course; there is no leader. In consequence, to borrow the words of the Houston Chronicle, "we drift, we know not where."

"Governor Sterling has done nothing dishonest. He has done nothing for which a voice may be raised against him. And that, perhaps, is just the trouble. To avoid blame, he has evaded any display of initiative. He has made himself putty in the hands of a vociferous, half-hysterical group who demanded ice-cream when they needed castor oil. It seems that he possesses every qualification of leadership except the divine spark of leadership itself. If he has dreams, he crushes them; if he has enthusiasm, he suppresses it. If he has convictions, he lacks the courage to stand upon them; and if he has courage, he has no convictions wherewith to arm it.

"No stronger indictment of the administration's hesitant and irresolute tactics could be penned than the Houston Chronicle's masterful editorial, "Drifting:" and it is possible that the Chronicle is thereby estopped from again supporting the man it drafted into the governor's race. The Dallas Journal administered no gentle rebuke when it contrasted the actions of Grover Cleveland and Ross Sterling under comparable circumstances and concluded with the observation that Texas needed a Grover Cleveland today. The other member of the influential News and Journal combination asserted that "nothing but results" could justify the governor's resort to martial law in the shutdown of East Texas oil fields, leaving the inference that the governor's only defense must be that the end justifies any means. West Texas newspapers are almost unanimous in condemning the governor for his stand on sectional matters: indeed, they accepted him in the beginning only when a "better man" (Clint Small) was eliminated from the race. Peter Molyneaux (The Texas Weekly) and J. J. Taylor (The Dallas News) both of them publicists with large followings and both irrevocably opposed to legislative tamperings with the cotton situation, question the governor's wisdom in spending more state money on "what will be another futile session" of the legislature. The Corpus Christi Caller on the other hand, deplored the governor's hesitancy and delay in calling the session, a position which was seconded by the Waxahachie Light. The Denison Herald agrees with the Marshall Morning News that "all of the newspapers which have been patting Governor Sterling on the back for his course in opposing the railroad commission's proration order, are left with the bag to hold."

"All of which, probably proves that in trying to displease none, the governor has succeeded in alienating the support of many. Had he adopted a policy and adhered to it, the chances are he would have retained the support of most of them. The people expect more of a governor than compliance; they demand a type of leadership that compels respect even if it create opposition.

"Months before Mr. Sterling announced his candidacy, the Abilene Reporter said: "It would be too bad to lose a fine chairman of the highway commission to sacrifice a rich man on the altar of political prejudice." Now the handwriting on the wall suggests that this dire prophesy is about to be fulfilled."

PURELY PERSONAL

(Personal message to Boy Scout Hilton Hotel: As far as I have been able to learn, information which you had received and which you passed on in your letter is at least partially true, but to what extent I do not know. I am not reproducing your letter for the reason that it wouldn't do any good, might do some harm. I agre with your comment but smile at your remark "Boy, Boy! If I had a column!" Experience would convince you, as it has convinced me, that sometimes comment from the outside makes matters worse rather than improving them. Write me again. The Plainsman.)

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Stocks met support after an early decline today, recovering losses of 1 to 2 points. The market, however, became dull on the rise.

U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Woolworth and International Harvester made up moderate recessions. Atchison and Union Pacific more than regained what they had lost in the first half hour, while Western Union, New York Central, North American, American Tobacco "B" and Allied Chemical rallied a point or two net. General Electric and General Motors improved fractionally.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Cotton opened barely steady at a decline of 4 to 7 points under continuation of yesterday's selling movement which seemed to be promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables.

This decline carried all active months into new low ground for the season with December selling off to 6.67 and March to 6.96 under liquidation combined with southern and local selling. At the low level considerable buying or covering for both trade and commission house account developed which absorbed the early offerings and caused rallies of 4 or 5 points from the lowest by the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables said that hedging, liquidation and continental selling accounted for the decline in that market, but reported improved cloth sales to the continent and a sustained demand from China.

The failure of the early break into new low ground to bring out more aggressive selling, appeared a disappointment to shorts and the market steadied up later in the morning on covering.

Most of the early losses were recovered with December advancing to 6.74, and March to 7.04 but business became quiet and the market at midday was steady at net declines of 2 to 4 points.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17 (AP) — The cotton market had rather a quiet and easier opening, although Liverpool cables were about as due. The market here opened eight to 10 points down. This decline was attributed to continued good weather in the belt, and disappointment at the action of the Texas legislature and some doubt as to just what percentage of reduction in acreage the proposed law provides for.

After opening at 6.46 or eight points down, October rallied four points to 6.50 and December five points to 6.73 on some trade buying and short coverage towards the end of the first hour.

At the lows of the first hour, prices made new low records for the season.

The cotton market ruled very quiet all morning with prices fluctuating within a range of a few points.

October at one time traded up to 6.25 and December to 6.73, or 2 to 3 points above the previous high and 6 to 8 points above the opening lows. There was little disposition to trade owing to the uncertainty as to the exact meaning of the Texas measure reducing acreage.

The good weather in the belt was also restricting support. At midsession the market was quiet.

Three Speakers At Kiwanis Luncheon

Observing constitution week, three speakers were heard on the program of the Lubbock Kiwanis club at Hotel Lubbock today noon. H. D. Woods presided in the absence of President Jack M. Lewis.

Dr. Fred W. Standefer made a brief talk on the responsibility of citizenship, James H. Goodman spoke on the constitution and states rights, and W. T. Strange of Big Spring gave a few brief remarks on the home.

C. A. Sanford was a guest.

It is estimated that in our western reserves oil-soaked layers of shale clay contain over 100,000,000,000 barrels of oil. All that remains to get at this oil is to invent a process to release it from the shale.

UNEMPLOYMENT

Mayor Clements and Judge Pitts said.

"If there be those in the city who are not self-supporting, yet are able-bodied and refuse to work, their names will be taken by personal solicitors for the files of the charity organizations for future references," the statement continued, "but we sincerely trust that all workers will voluntarily register for labor and it will not be necessary for personal solicitors."

To Seek Employment

Names and addresses of all those desiring work will be taken at the booth and an effort made to find them some kind of employment, it was said. Unemployed will be required to register in person.

Referring to the recent announcement that a representative of the U. S. department of labor will assist farmers in procuring necessary labor for gathering crops, the two officials stated further "we feel sure that there should be no imported labor for crop gathering in this section until our own city and county have been completely exhausted for laborers and we feel that our county and city will not be exhausted until every able-bodied person who does not already have employment is at work."

The statement said that "workers should not demur at the price paid so long as the laborer can earn even a scanty living for his labor."

The telephone number of the office will be 209.

SUPPLY, DEMAND

ism, too much of an attitude of trying to whistle in the graveyard at midnight. On the other hand, the occasion has called forth the usual crop of calamity-howlers, alarmists and irresponsible publicity-mongers with some personal axe to grind."

Pointing out that supply and demand got out of adjustment during and after the World war, through artificial fixation and control of prices, Mr. Whitney said the nation was still paying the penalty for such policies and had not yet learned the true economic lessons of its war experience.

"The price of success is bound to be obedience to the law of supply and demand," he said. "Waste can and should be eliminated, by-products fully utilized, invention stimulated and better products perfected. Hard work and constructive thought, rather than idle lamentations or the pursuit of futile panaceas, must be the order of the day. All such efforts are in fundamental harmony with the law of supply and demand. They constitute the methods by which America has successfully met the challenge of depression many times before, and can meet it again."

CONGREGATION IS FORMED BY JEWS

Jewish residents of Lubbock have formed a congregation, selected officers and made plans for the purchase of a lot on which they hope to later erect a permanent home for their members.

More than a score of families are represented in the organization. L. Feldman is president; C. Grollman, treasurer; Al Mirskey, secretary and H. J. Jarrott and J. Leverstein, trustees.

Yom Kipper is to be observed in a special service Sunday night and Monday at the Lubbock hotel, starting at 6 o'clock.

Rabbi Goldstein, of Fort Worth, has been obtained to conduct the service. He probably will look after the spiritual needs of Jewish families in Lubbock until other arrangements are made.

Jewish families from other sections of the South Plains will be asked to join the local group in its work.

MOYLE, ALLEN

ty, sent from the Buriat yesterday, and addressed to Miss Frances Bresson, fiancee of Moyle, at Riverside, Calif., said:

"Landed on uninhabited island. Everything all right. Have Frank put publicity man on job will be in Seattle September 22."

The reference to hiring a publicity man was not clear here, but by "Frank" the fliers presumably meant Frank Bresson, brother of Miss Bresson and one of the sponsors of the flight.

At the takeoff the ship carried 1,030 gallons of gasoline, which was considered enough to keep the plane in the air about 47 hours. Just when they reached Navarian islands, which by direct flying would have required only about 22 hours out of Samushiro, was not stated.

The Buriat reported she had supplied the gasoline to refuel the Moyle-Allen plane and that the fliers were planning a take-off today, weather permitting. The ship said both men and plane were in good condition. However, it reported high winds and heavy seas at Navarin.

SALESMAN MAKES FLYING TACKLE

IRONWOOD, Mich., Sept. 17 (AP) —An ordinarily well-behaved traveling salesman from Minneapolis saw a stranger reading a newspaper in a hotel lobby here yesterday, forgot all his manners, executed something like a flying tackle and snatched the paper from the stranger's hands.

The stranger gasped—and gasped again as he saw on the salesman's face a broad, benign smile instead of the ferocity of a lunatic.

Some minutes later the salesman was explaining. He was Ted Moyle, brother of Don Moyle, the lost-and-found trans-Pacific aviator. The headline in the paper was the first hint he had received that Don was safe.

Fall Victim Here Is Better Today

Improvement was reported today in the condition of James H. Gallian, 34 of Acuff tourist camp here, who suffered fractures of the skull, the left hip, and the lower segment of the backbone when he fell about eight feet from a scaffold on the new federal building.

The accident occurred shortly before noon Wednesday. Other workmen said Gallian hit the ground in a sitting position and was folted backward on his back, his head striking a brick. He was taken to West Texas hospital and was there today. The skull fracture is on the left side.

Abduction Feared By Mother Of Boy

Declaring she feared her husband, Gene A. Dillehay of Dallas county, "will attempt to abduct" their three-year-old son, Mrs. Bonnie Lynn Dillehay of Lubbock county asked for an injunction restraining Dillehay from molesting her or the child, in a petition for divorce filed in 99th district court this morning. Mrs. Dillehay said she feared she never would see her son, Gene Lynn, again if the father took him.

Pocket Edition Bullfighting

Bullfighting is not confined to Spain and Mexico, contrary to popular belief. In the Siutr of France even the children are coached to follow in the nimble footsteps of El Toreador. Nightly "corridas" are held during which the youngsters attempt to unfasten the ribbon tied about the neck of a calf. Skill and agility are required to successfully complete the operation, as evidenced by the above photo. The practice gives excellent training for would-be matadors.

WEARY FROM DAYS OF HARDSHIPS, 234 SHIPWRECKED PASSENGERS REACH LAND

WILMINGTON, Cal., Sept. 17. (AP) —Weary from four days of hardships but smiling broadly and wearing pajamas or borrowed clothing, the 234 shipwrecked passengers and crew of the liner Colombia set foot on ground here yesterday from rescue steamer La Perla.

The same forces which sent the Colombia crashing into the jagged, rocky lower California coast 683 miles south of here shortly before midnight Saturday, aided in their rescue, the passengers said.

Oil Quited Waves

"Oil from the ship's tanks, which burst as the boat went aground, spread over the rough sea and helped quiet it for the life boats," said R. E. Griffith, Wells Fargo official from Mexico City, who had boarded the Colombia at Mazatlan.

"We had been in an 80 mile gale the night before and the sea was still rough. When the crash came we did not at first realize what was wrong. Members of the crew kept the passengers calm and we were in the boats in less than half an hour, the women and children going first. It was remarkable that no lives were lost.

"There were three terrific impacts as the ship, traveling at 14 knots, ploughed into the rocks. The lights kept going for about 15 minutes, and members were in the lifeboats when we were suddenly left in darkness.

"Once in the water we rowed to keep the boats together and off the rocky coast. Most of us were sea sick. The steamer San Mateo came up about daylight and took us aboard. The San Mateo sailed to Magdalena bay, where the water was quiet, and we were transferred to the La Perla."

Hailed As Hero

Second assistant engineer Ernest Kaufner was hailed as the hero of the Colombia. He opened the safety valves and did everything possible to allow the steam from the boilers to escape.

"There would have been an explosion sure," said another member of the crew, "if the ocean water had reached the boilers while they were under high steam pressure."

The Columbia's crew numbered 120 and there were 114 passengers, including 64 Chinese fleeing from Sonora and Sinaloa following demonstrations against them there.

PROHIBITION

ally been defined.

But prohibition, though in the constitution, has not ceased "to invoke opposition," Mr. Boston said, and he recalled that the association by an overwhelming referendum vote found prohibition wrong.

He also recalled a letter of John Hancock, president of the continental congress, to the congress, in which he urged that the government appoint proper persons to buy grain and distill it for the army.

"We may well wonder," Mr. Boston said, "whether if this advice had been followed, and followed up by congressional legislation, as part of the flexible war power which justified the banking system, we would not by this time have had a model system that would even be an improvement on that which I have seen in operation in the province of Quebec."

ATTACK MADE ON DIVORCE MENACE

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 17. (AP)— The independence day celebrators' attack on automobiles occupied by Americans in Juarez Tuesday was viewed in official circles today as "lamentable," but not necessarily of an anti-American nature.

It was pointed out that similar disturbances occurred here and at other places where Mexicans were the victims, despite police precautions. Such acts frequently accompany the celebrations, it was said, but the rowdies when apprehended are dealt with severely.

Continue To Watch For Three Airmen

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Vessels and airplanes continued to watch today for two Germans and a Portuguese who teempted to fly from Lisbon to New York.

Atlantic vessls reported no signs of the fliers, or the plane Esa, and search parties in Canadian maritime provinces failed to find any trace of the trans-Atlantic plane. It was last sighted about 400 miles off Halifax, by the steamship Pennland.

Uncontrolled Oil Fire Rages Today

GLADEWATER, Sept. 17 (AP)—An uncontrolled oil fire was raging today at the Texas Oil and Royalty company well two miles northeast of Gladewater.

The well was ignited last night while workers were trying to drill the plug. A stream of oil flowed down a ravine for a distance of over a mile and caught fire, then roared back to the well.

Derricks and other equipment were quickly ruined and workers were forced to flee from the area. None was injured.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The man then showed the Tinymites some very interesting sights that had to do with pretty wings that came from butterflies. "These wings, when placed in trays," said he, "make them as colorful as can be. I make them in my little shop in almost every size.

"If you'd like me to show you how I do it, there's no time like now." He sat down at his work bench and produced a little tray. The glass was taken from the top. Said Scouty, "Gee, don't let it drop, 'cause all it would be good for then is just to throw away."

"You're right! These are quite brittle things," the man replied. Then he took wings and slipped them underneath the glass, up tight against the tray. The glass was promptly put in place and, with a smile upon his face, the workman said, "That tray is done. I'll sell the thing today."

The Tinymites bid him goodby and Mister Travel Man said, "I will take you all for quite a ride, out to where coffee grows. Fazenda's what they call it here, but you will see, when you get near, that it's just a plantation, but a find one, goodness knows."

They reached the old plantation where the smell of coffee filled the air. "Oh, look!" exclaimed one Tiny. "Are those really coffee trees?" "Of course," replied the Travel Man, as up to one tree they all ran. "They wait until the coffee's ripe, then pick it off with ease."

A coffee picker then walked by, but stopped when he heard Clowny cry, "Hey, Mister, can we help you pick? We'll promise we won't shirk." The man smiled at the bunch and said, "Why, sure you can! Go right ahead!" It wasn't very long until each Tiny was at work.

(The Tinymites watch the coffee drying process in the next story.)

PLAN VOTE ON PROHIBITION

AMERICAN LEGION TO SEEK MODIFICATION OF DRY LAWS

DETROIT, Sept. 17.—The Free Press yesterday said a high American Legion official said that the legion national convention here next week will vote on the prohibition question.

This legion official, who is not named, was quoted by the Free Press as saying that Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican national committee, predicted action by congress within 60 days of convocation if the legion goes on record as favoring modification or change of the present national prohibition laws. Senator Fess was not represented as favoring a change, but as giving it as his judgment that congress will consider revision of the dry laws as a result of the weight of the legion's recommendations.

Lively Fight Seen

The legion official was quoted as saying there will be a lively battle on the subject of prohibition, heretofore kept off the floor of legion national conventions, and that there is little possibility of peremptory tabling of the matter.

The Free Press quoted the unnamed official as predicting that the prohibition proposal would be that beer and wine containing three and one-half per cent alcohol be legalized. The official was represented as feeling certain a resolution embodying this proposal would receive support of a majority of the delegates.

The commander's ruling at Boston last year that prohibition was a political issue and thus out of order was recalled, but the Free Press said the official it quoted believed that the matter would not be viewed in that light this year.

Fess In Denial

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Senator Fess denied published statements attributed to him that congress would act upon prohibition revision within sixty days after convication if the American Legion voted next week in favor of a change.

"There is not one iota of truth in it," the Ohio Republican said after listening to the report representing him as believing congress would act as a result of the legion's recommendations. "There is absolutely no foundation for such a statement attributed to me."

PPPPP? AMERICA'S ONLY REFINER OF GERM PROCESSED OIL OFFERS....

$10,000 IN CASH PRIZES

FOR THE BEST ANSWERS EXPLAINING THE

MYSTERY OF THE "HIDDEN QUART"

AND TELLING HOW THIS QUART BENEFITS MOTORISTS

Fact No. 1—Thousands of motorists and service station men have observed that after a car has been given its first fill of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and is driven 200 to 350 miles, a look at the crankcase gauge shows that about one quart of oil is apparently missing . . . but

Fact No. 2—These same people have noticed that on the second and later fillings with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, scarcely a drop of oil will disappear during the first 350 miles and practically none at 500 and up to 1,000 miles!

THE above facts have been checked by actual tests with cars that use six quarts of oil for the crankcase, cars in good mechanical condition and driven at ordinary rates of speed. These facts will also prove true for your car, in proportion to the amount of oil your crankcase usually holds, your car's mechanical condition and the speeds at which you drive.

What becomes of the "hidden quart"? The answer is easy if you study the Facts given above and keep in mind the things that only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil can do. The explanation of the whereabouts of the "hidden quart" is simple — no technical knowledge of motors or oil is necessary.

Remember — The "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil does not escape through leakage . . . does not burn up, wear out nor evaporate. It is "present but unaccounted for." Fact No. 2, given above, proves all this.

After you've found where the "hidden quart" goes, you can easily see the special benefits it gives the motorist—advantages that no other oil can give.

THE QUESTION

"What becomes of the 'hidden quart' and how does this quart benefit the motorist" ?

Ask at any Conoco Station or Conoco Dealer for free entry blank, which contains information about Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil that may help you win. Conoco Station and Dealer employees will gladly answer your questions. Remember, you do not have to buy anything to enter this contest. . . Any Conoco Station or Conoco Dealer will give you, free of charge, a convenient Official Contest Entry Blank for writing your answer.

Answers written on one side only of any plain white paper will be accepted as accredited entries in the contest. But we recommend that you secure an Official Contest Entry Blank, which gives valuable information about Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and its operation in motors—clues about the "hidden quart" that may help you write an answer that will win a prize.
