German Rout Develops On West Front

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Tuesday, Jan. 23— The Belgian bulge collapsed yesterday in a German rout over ice-glazed and snow-drifted roads as Allied warplanes knocked out nearly 3,000 enemy motor vehicles and tanks—enough to equip almost an entire panzer army.

In an aerial slaughter without equal in this war, airmen rained punishing blows on the remains of two German panzer armies that had made the Ardennes breakthrough. At the same time some 1,000 railroad cars were destroyed or damaged in aerial sweeps over Nazi supply lines.

More than 3,000 sorties were flown in close support of ground foces. Marauders sealed the exits on the only good highway leading out of the German-held sector of Luxembourg into Germany and the Siegfried line while fighter-bombers strafed and divebombed enemy equipment jammed bumper-to-bumper for miles on snow-covered main and secondary roads.

Slaughter Results

Flying weather was good in the wake of storms, but on the ground, heavy snow and slippery roads impeded the doughboys.

The U. S. Third army, racing ahead up to five miles, found the Luxembourg half of the shattered Ardennes salient virtually deserted and resistance disorganized, and the enemy stand crumpled before the U. S. First army in Belgium.

Pilots reported hardly any of the German columns fleeing from the Ardennes made good their escape; earlier accounts had put the number of enemy vehicles caught on the roads at about 3,000.

They reported 65 tanks and armored vehicles, 1,593 trucks and 635 railroad cars destroyed, and 62 tanks and armored vehicles and 2,179 trucks damaged. Hundreds of German troops were slain.

Three hundred medium and light bombers set the stage for the kill by blowing up bridges and blocking roads along the paths of retreat.

All day long the German col-

MacArthur In 60 Miles Of Luzon Prize

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

AMERICAN doughboys, smashing ahead 13 miles on the central Luzon plains, have reached a point less than 60 airline miles from Manila.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported general American advances on Luzon late Monday, shortly after Pacific fleet chief Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced another devastating carrier plane blow against Formosa, chief Japanese supply base for the Philippines.

Meanwhile in Burma the American commander, Lt. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, reported officially that the Ledo road into China, cleared of Japanese, is open to convoy traffic—the vital war supply artery needed for the rushing of munitions to the hard-pressed Chinese.

Near Manila Gateway

General MacArthur said the Yanks captured Capas and Santa Monica, 11 and 13 miles respectively south of Japanese-burned Tarlac city. American capture of Tarlac was reported Sunday. The Americans are nearing Pampanga province, gateway to Manila and home of Clark field and Fort Stotsenburg, major pre-war U. S. bases on Luzon.

On the left flank of the central plains the doughboys took several other towns. They upset attempts by Japanese demolition units to infilter their lines and routed a tank outfit.

In the embattled Rosario sector on the North American artillery, airmen and warships blasted Japanese gun positions in the Benguet mountains.

On the right flank, west of the Lingayen gulf beachhead, the Americans reached Infanta, Dasol bay, on Luzon's northwest coast.

Air Support Ranges Widely

Yank airmen continued to lash airfields, highways, railroads, bridges, storage areas and supply dumps. They wrecked locomotives, freight cars and auto trucks. The fliers hit especially hard in Batangas province, just north of American-held Mindoro island.

Ledo Road Open For Supply Run

By FRANK L. MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

MYITKYIMA, Burma, Jan. 22.—The new Ledo road to China was officially declared open to military traffic tonight and the first convoy of trucks to carry supplies across Burma in two and a half years was ready to leave here on the final leg of its winding journey.

Lt. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, commander of the India-Burma theater, announced officially that the road had been cleared of Japanese troops and was ready to handle convoys. The fall of the Chinese border town of Wanting eliminated the last remaining enemy obstacle to passage of Allied trucks.

Chinese Take Wanting

Wanting fell to Chinese troops two days ago following two weeks of bitter fighting. The next-to-last Japanese stronghold in the area was Namhkam, stormed and captured Jan. 15 in a surprise assault. The jungle tract between the two towns had represented the last 25 miles of the new supply line that enemy troops menaced.

Contact with the main Japanese force retreating down the old Burma road toward Lashio has been broken off and only a few enemy snipes and small isolated pockets are left on the road between Wanting and Mongyu. The full weight of several Chinese armies closed in on the enemy's

Memorial Read For Ex-Champion Roper

DENVER, Jan. 22 (AP)—Booted rodeo performers crowded a chapel here today in a memorial service for Clyde (Sagey) Burk, 31, former world champion calf roper who was fatally injured in the final day of the 1945 National Western Stock show rodeo.

Burk, a Comanche, Okla., cowboy, suffered fatal head injuries Sunday when a horse rolled on him during a steer bulldogging event.

FROM SKILLET INTO FIRE

DETROIT, Jan. 22 (AP) — Mrs. Helen Larabelle, 62, suffering from gas pressure about the heart, was enroute in an ambulance to a hospital today when the ambulance and a truck collided. The impact released the gas which was threatening her life, her physician said, but nine of her ribs were broken.

AFTER BRESLAU, WHAT?—The massive Red army last night was menacing the eastern German capital of Breslau, which is a chief industrial center and important transport hub on the Berlin-Vienna railway. Only as far from Berlin as Pittsburgh is from Washington, the possibilities of Russian entry into Berlin may be realized from the map above. Nazi Command Betrays Indecision As Evacuation Starts; Hitler Takes Over

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Tuesday, Jan. 23—Powerful Soviet armored formations struck to within 165 miles of Berlin in a 38-mile dash across western Poland yesterday, clamped a pincers on Oppeln, capital of invaded southern Silesia, and slashed to within 37 miles of the East Prussian Baltic port of Elbing in one of the greatest potential military encirclements in history.

Killing or capturing many thousands of Germans in steady strides westward, the Russians drove to within eight miles of Oppeln and were only 30 miles from Breslau on the Oder river, capital of northern Silesia and the Reich's ninth city.

Soviet spearheads, only six to 10 miles from the Oder defense line at sereval points, were 30 miles inside Silesia and had extended their front to more than 50 miles as they outflanked the big industrial towns of Gleiwitz, Hindenburg and Beuthen.

Losses Mounting

Marshal Ivan S. Konov's First Ukraine army, the Silesian invaders, alone had killed or captured 81,000 Germans in 10 days and destroyed or captured 734 tanks, Moscow said. There are four other Soviet armies driving through East Prussia, Poland and Czechoslovakia whose figures still are to me made known.

The German radio appealed domestically for help against "this bestial, overwhelming mass onslaught," and although the Germans were hurling thousands of Volkssturm, or home army recruits and "alarm units"—locally available troops—against the Russians, a Berlin commentator said early today that the German high command "still hestitates" and is making only "improvised counterthrusts."

(A German broadcast quoted by BBC and recorded by NBC said that Adolf Hitler had gone to the eastern front to take personal command of the German defense).

Evacuation Commences

Evacuation of industrial installations in Breslau and also at Konigsberg, East Prussian capital, has begun, European broadcasts said, and Moscow announced that Soviet spearheads were within 28 miles of Konigsberg after another brilliant day in which the Russians captured 1,750 localities.

Berlin said that the two Soviet armies attacking on three sides of East Prussia alone totalled more than 1,000,000 men, and it was estimated that 30 or more German divisions were caught in the fast-closing Russian pincers cutting through the shell-torn forests.

The big East Prussian bases of Insterburg, Allenstein, Osterode and Deutsch-Eylau fell in quick succession to the Russians who had cut one Berlin-East Prussian trunk railway at five points and were only 33 miles from the last supply artery running through Elbing.

Riding the crest of the war's mightiest offensive, the hard-hitting Russians were less than 28 miles from Poznan, last big West Polish stronghold on the direct

Germans Admit Berlin's Threat

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 22—Nazi leaders, calling today on every German who could shoot to join in the defense of the Reich, demanded self-sacrifice and fanaticism to "work a miracle" and stop the Russian tide now within 165 miles of Berlin.

Germany's economic belt was tightened as fuel rations and public services were cut. For the first time German home broadcasts conceded that Berlin itself was threatened by the Red army drive.

(A wireless dispatch to German troop newspapers said "the Soviets have broken through." The dispatch appealed to German soldiers to "stand firm at any price until reserves which are coming up intervene in the fighting.")

DNB said women and children had been removed from menaced areas.

The Berlin radio disclosed that a partial security blackout had been imposed by the Nazi high

Produce And Save Food, FDR Asks

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—President Roosevelt called on Americans today to help grow, process, conserve and share food.

The White House statement made no mention of such factors, but it set off immediate speculation whether it was intended to help fill the places of new farm draftees.

Congress is now embroiled over selective service's call for a review of agricultural deferments for young men, with farm state legislators pressing for a stiffly-worded directive requiring literal application of the Tydings act, blueprint for farm deferments.

Another suggestion was that the President might have been laying groundwork for tighter food rationing but Office of Price Administration officials said no major changes are under consideration. It was indicated that there will be few point value changes in February.

Tribute Offered

Mr. Roosevelt's statement, which he described as "these calls to action," paid tribute to the performance of those Americans who in the last three war years have had a part in the food program.

"As we enter a new year," it added, "the demands for our food at home and abroad are so great that it is essential for every man and woman to do everything to help in the huge tack of getting the food produced and seeing that it is conserved and shared."

Commenting that "many of our favorite foods are scarce," the President specifically urged town and city dwellers "to assist farmers in every possible way." He asked victory gardeners to "continue their good work." He called on those who can spare the time to "assist the nation's food producers." He requested women who can preserve food at home to "carry on until the war is won."

Hannegan Stays With Demo Job

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP) — Democrats added a few new faces to their party organization today and heard Robert E. Hannegan say he will stay on as national chairman instead of becoming postmaster general.

George L. Killion, of San Francisco, was named finance director, and Sam A. O'Neal, Washington and St. Louis newspaperman, director of publicity.

Hannegan made his personal plans known to a meeting of the Democratic National Executive committee in outlining a program of unusual between - election activity.

Educational and money-raising activtiies will be maintained and increased instead of waiting until shortly before the 1946 elections, he said.

BROWNELL KEPT AS CHAIRMAN OF GOP

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 23. (AP) —The Republican National committee, voting confidence in Chairman Herbert Brownell, jr., adopted today a year-round political action program praised by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as "the most vital step possible" toward winning the war and building peace.

Naming Mrs. Dudley C. Hay of Michigan its first woman secretary, the committee unanimously approved a "militant oppostion" program outlined by Brownell. The latter action was interpreted by members as a vote of confidence in the 40-year-old chairman who promised to give as much time as necessary to party affairs.

Brownell's job as chairman was not technically at stake in today's session but some objections were voiced to his retaining the post.

JUDGE KEELING DIES

AUSTIN, Jan. 22 (AP) — Friends here today were notified of the death in San Antonio of Federal District Judge W. A. Keeling.

Frazier Given Life Sentence

Luther Frazier, 29, was sentenced to life imprisonment upon his plea of guilty Monday afternoon in the 99th district court of Judge G. Y. Pardue of a forgery charge embodied in an habitual criminal indictment.

The indictment recited that Frazier twice before had been sentenced on felony charges in 72nd district court here. He was sentenced once for cattle theft and again for forgery.

The third indictment against Frazier, who, according to officials, has lived in Lubbock county "off and on" several years, charged that he forged a check for $12.50 to which he signed the name of R. B. Stokes.

Four other cases were disposed of Monday through pleas of guilty.

Judgment Pending

Lonnie Trussell, charged with forgery, was released until Wednesday on his own recognizance after he pleaded guilty and promised the court that he would make payment on the check in question. Judge Pardue said he would dispose of the case at that time. The check, it was alleged, was signed J. G. Carlisle and was passed to J. I. Tyler.

A negro, Mannie Foster, was assessed a five-year suspended sentence for the murder without malice of another black, Cleveland Smith, which occurred in Lubbock in December of 1943. Smith died of knife wounds.

Ernest McNeil, negro, was fixed a three-year term in the penitentiary for forgery.

Given Suspended Sentence

O. L. Latta was given a five-year suspended term in the theft last December of a car from Elzie Holman.

Duke Howard was given a two-year term on a charge of burglary of a Lubbock meat market.

The attorney for E. A. Fox, charged with forging and passing a $21 check, presented a motion for continuance, which was granted, and the case was re-set for Feb. 21. Fox allegedly signed the name of M. E. Clay to the check and passed it to J. Floyd Fry.

A jury panel of 4 men had reported to Judge Pardue at 10 o'clock. Four were dismissed upon offering proper reasons.

Set for hearing today are two charges of assault to murder against Luis E. Romo, a Mexican, and charges of theft from the person, against James Ross, Johnnie Dyer and Charlie Moore.

Manpower Bill Has More Teeth Added

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—A jail-backed manpower control bill embodying an anti-closed amendment won tentative approval from the House Military committee today.

Slated for House consideration late this week—with a vote unlikely before next week—the legislation will be reviewed by the committee Wednesday before being formally sent to the floor. In the meantime, a new bill embodying changes agreed to by the committee in closed session will be drafted.

Simultaneously with the committee action, Chairman Flannigan of the House Agriculture committee announced that Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, has reemphasized to draft boards that the Tyding act outlining how farm workers shall be deferred, is still in full force.

Teeth In Provisions

As tentatively approved the bill has these major provisions:

It is applicable to any man between the ages of 18 and 45; any man in that group who leaves an essential job without local draft board approval, or who refuses to take a job at the direction of the

Broad Revisions In Cotton Are Asked

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 22 (AP) — President Oscar Johnston of the National Cotton council appealed today for broad revisions in government programs affecting cotton so that the American industry may meet foreign challenges after the war.

In a speech prepared for the council's seventh annual meeting, Johnston proposed enactment by Congress of a price adjustment plan supplementing the current price support program and replacing the present export subsidy program.

The plan contemplates an adjustment payment to cotton producers representing the difference between parity, or a designated percentage of parity, and the average price prevailing on 10 American spot cotton markets on the date the producer sells his cotton. This program was advanced here several months ago by D. W. Brooks, general manager of the Cotton Producers association of Georgia.

Johnston suggested that the present payment be limited to four cents a pound. He said this would permit cotton to sell at home or abroad with protection to the farmer. He added it would not cost the government as much as present plans.

Lee Pfluger Of Tech Board Dies

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 22 (AP) — Lee Pfluger, 63, Concho county ranchman and member of the board of directors at Texas Technological college, died in a hospital here today. Funeral services will be held at Eden tomorrow.

Survivors include the widow; three sons, Maj. Walter Pfluger of Dallas and Carl and Raymond Pfluger of Eden; three sisters, one brother and six grandchildren.

DIRECTOR PRAISED BY TECH PRESIDENT

President William M. Whyburn of Texas Tech, informed of the director's death, said Lee Pfluger was the most recent appointee to the Tech board of directors, having been appointed by Gov. Coke R. Stephenson last summer to replace Milburn McCarty of Eastland, who resigned to accept a position with the federal government in Washington. McCarty's term as a director would have expired Feb. 19.

Dr. Whyburn said that Pfluger was present for his (Whyburn's) inauguration as president of Tech on Sept. 30, 1944, and attended a meeting of the board on that date.

Dr. Whyburn's made this statement:

"Although Mr. Pfluger was the most recent appointee to the Tech board of directors, he attended faithfully and had already won our highest respect for his sound judgment and conscientious constructive interest in the college. We were looking forward to his presence at a board meeting in the president's office on the campus next Saturday. I know I voice the feelings of the members of the board and all members of the college faculty, administration and all others interested in the welfare of the college when I say that the passing of Director Pfluger has been a severe blow to the college and has deprived us of much wisdom in meeting the problems that lie immediately ahead of the institution."

HEROISM AWARDED

WITH THE U. S. SEVENTH ARMY, France, Jan. 22 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commander of the American Seventh army, presented the Congressional medal of Honor today to Sgt. Stanley Bender, 35, of Chicago for his heroism in wading through enemy fire to kill more than a dozen Germans. His act inspired his company to an important victory.

Anniversary Quiet On Italian Front

ROME, Jan. 22 (AP)—Fighting on the snow piled Italian front was confined to patrol action today as this first anniversary of the historic landing at Anzio found Fifth army troops 220 miles beyond that bitter battle area.

Enemy patrol activity has been speeded up on the American front south and southeast of Bologna, Allied headquarters said. Only light contact with the Germans was reported by the few Allied patrols operating in the Fifth army sector northwest of Vergemoli, three miles west of Gallicano in the Serchio river valley.

In the Adriatic sector Eighth army troops threw an enemy raiding party back to its original positions after the Germans had penetrated two and a half miles into Allied lines northeast of Alfonsine. The Germans struck behind a heavy artillery barrage.

Army Intelligence At Times Defeats Its Own Purposes

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE U. S. NINTH ARMY, Jan. 22—While Gen. Eisenhower has been trying to convince American soldiers that fraternization with the enemy is dangerous and that German youth has been poisoned by Nazism, some Army intelligence officers have tried to suppress one of the best evidences of the supreme commander's contention.

This incident is the climax of a steady growth of interference by American army officers who are not connected with censorship, but who try to restrict the policy of freedom of news within the bounds of security laid down by the supreme commander.

In this case a 17-year-old German girl was arrested on suspicion of participation in sabotage. In her possession were found papers on which she had written in the most violent terms her day by day thoughts concerning American soldiers and what she would like the Germans to do to them.

These papers constituted one of the few evidences that have come into Allied hands of the true feelings of the Germans toward the Americans. Newsmen considered

Senate Seeks To Divest Wallace Of Immense Loan Power; Sen. George Heads Attack

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Senator George (D-Ga) struck the first strong tactical blow in the Senate today against turning over vast federal loan powers to former Vice President Henry A. Wallace.

George introduced legislation to set aside President Roosevelt's executive order of 1942 under which the federal loan agency, the Reconstruction Finance corporation and subsidiary agencies were transferred to the Commerce department.

The effect would be to split up the twin job of loan chief-secretary of commerce to which President Roosevelt nominated Wallace at noon today.

Should the George measure win approval, and get past the possibility of a presidential veto, it might smooth the path of confirmation as secretary of commerce for the former vice president. Nearly all the objections voiced in the Senate have been against turning the loan power over to him.

Jesse Jones, the big, white-haired Houston, Tex., banker, has ridden herd on both assignments since 1940 and his removal to make room for the President's former lieutenant aroused protest among Republicans and a number of Democratic Senators.

Whether the revolt was powerful enough to foreshadow rejection of the nomination remained to be seen, but the outcry from Jones' friends was immediate, loud and unequivocal.

Senator Byrd (D-Va), chairman of the joint economy committee, called Wallace "the leader of the most radical groups in America," said he could thing of "no person less suited by temperament and business ability" to administer RFC, and declared it is "imperative" that the Senate reject the

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner:

The letter from "A Mother" in Friday's paper shows that she has a real interest in her children and the public school system but I wonder if she could be misinformed about the "disease-laden text books." It would be interesting to have the opinions of some of our local physicians on the subject, wouldn't it? I have read of research projects on the question of whether or not diseases were spread by books and, as I remember, the results indicated that germs did not remain virulent long on dry paper and consequently there was no danger. If this is not the whole story, we ought to be told the rest.

I believe a child uses ten or fifteen textbooks a year in school and not infrequently he brings home as many as fifty library books in a school year (and reads them). I'm glad the state doesn't have to buy all of these books individually for each child and I'm also glad the parents don't have to buy them, because in either case it would all come out of Texas. And surely we would not deprive the children unnecessarily of this heritage of wholesome books.

It would be fortunate if we had a school doctor and nurses to examine the children periodically and if our buildings could be better equipped for personal cleanliness. We are proud of our schools but we could use some improvement on the play grounds and lawns and perhaps most of all, we need to pay our teachers more adequate salaries. (This wouldn't effect my family except in taxes.) I am aware that such changes would mean raising the evaluation of property in Lubbock because no improvements can be made under the present legal tax rate and our extremely low evaluations. But I know a number of people who think it would be worth more than the cost. At any rate, this is a subject which is well worth thinking about.

Sincerely yours,
Another Mother.

DEAR Another Mother: Thank you for your thoughtful letter. We talked with Dr. R. H. McCarty at Lubbock General hospital and he agees that it's unlikely that germs are transmitted by textbooks. "It's a moot question," he said, "but it's generally conceded that pathogenic bacteria do not live long in dry places."

Dr. and Mrs. McCarty have two children attending school and he said they never worry over the possibility of the youngsters contracting anything from using the text books.

New Study Course Opened By WSCS

First lesson of the new course of the Woman's Society of Christian Service on the topic, "The Christian Faith and the Christian Way," was presented by Mrs. J. H. Rutherford of Abilene Monday afternoon at the First Methodist church.

Mrs. Rutherford is president of the Northwest Texas conference WSCS. She was presented by Mrs. C. P. Carlock, who will have charge of the study.

Approximately 150 women attended. Members of the Asbury and St. John's WSCS were guests. Mrs. Charles Ross, president of the First Methodist WSCS, welcomed the group.

Mrs. H. I. Robinson presented a devotional on the Bible, after which Mrs. O. B. Trinkle sang a solo, "My Mother's Bible." Mrs. Chester Elliott played piano accompaniment for singing. Mrs. A. N. Gamble led singing of "Wonderful Words of Life," after Mrs. Charles Lutrick had read words of each verse and Mrs. Robinson had commented on their significance.

Mrs. B. F. Hodges gave the closing prayer.

The new study of the WSCS is on the Book of Ephesians, with "Word of His Grace,," by Cosden J. Harrell, as the text.

Mrs. Keeney Named Garza County Agent

Appointment of Mrs. Wilma Rodgers Keeney as home demonstration agent of Garza county to succeed Miss Mabel Ann Manley, who will be transferred to Cochran county, has been announced by Miss Kate Adele Hill, district agent of the extension service, A. & M. college, in conference with Lee Bowen.

The change will be effective Feb. 10.

Mrs. Keeney will arrive in the county Feb. 7 in order to become acquainted with the work before Miss Manley leaves. Miss Hill met with the county home demonstration council, announced Miss Manley's transfer and presented Mrs. Keeney to the group.

Mrs. Keeney holds a bachelor of science degree in home making Education from Texas Technological college, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rodgers of Lubbock.

Her husband F/O William O. Keeney is serving overseas with the air force.

Wylie-Lowe Vows Read In Abilene

Miss Marifrances Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Lowe of New Orleans, and Cpl. Robert Keen Wylie of Camp Barkeley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wylie of 2818 Twenty-third street, were married Saturday afternoon in the Colonial room of the Wooten hotel in Abilene.

Dr. J. O. Haymes, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, who had officiated when the bridegroom's parents were married in 1918, performed the double ring ceremony.

The candlelighted altar was banked with white gladioli against a background of ferns. Donald Moore, sang "At Dawning" preceding the ceremony and after the vows were exchanged he sang "The Lord's Prayer." Accompanying were Mrs. Wylie Caffey, pianist, and Ben Adams, violinist, who played the traditional wedding music.

Bride Wears Traditional White

The bride, wore a wedding gown of white taffeta with a full skirt ending in a long train. Embroidery edged the sweetheart neckline of the fitted bodice and the sleeve ended in points over her hands. She wore a veil of bridal illusion held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and carried white gladioli and blue iris. The bride's only ornament was a three-strand pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Virginia Maxwell, maid of honor, wore airforce blue marquisette over taffeta, fashioned with full skirt, bracelet length sleeves and a rounded neckline ended with ruching. She carried yellow gladioli.

Mr. Wylie served as his son's best man.

Reception Is Given

A reception followed the ceremony and Mrs. Emmett Chandler and Mrs. Caro Russell of Abilene presided at the refreshment board which was appointed in crystal and bridal white with a centerpiece of white stock. A three-tiered wedding cake was served. Miss Alice Ann Chandler registered guests.

The couple has gone to San Antonio for a wedding trip and will be at home in Abilene. The bride attended Sophie Newcomb college, New Orleans, where she was a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lubbock High school and New Mexico Military institute, Roswell, N. M. He attended pre-medical school at Tulane university prior to entering the service.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Williams of Arlington, Mrs. Almeda Keen and Clyde E. Keen of Aspermont, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hudman of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wylie of Moran and Mrs. Wylie, mother of the bridegroom.

Houston Residents Oppose FDR Action

HOUSTON, Jan. 22 (U.P.)—Several prominent Houstonians, including the mayor, expressed disapproval today of President Roosevelt's request for Jesse Jones, Houston businessman and newspaper publisher, to relinquish his post as secretary of commerce to Henry A. Wallace.

Mayor Otis Massey: "My immediate reaction is one of indignation."

H. R. Cullen, oilman-capitalist: "It's an outrage. I don't think Wallace has ever shown by anything or in any way that he is qualified for the job. He's just a political hick."

Others, from bank executives to chamber officials, expressed reaction ranging from surprise to anger.

To Relieve Bad Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home
Swift Acting, and Saves Big Money. Easily Mixed.
You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, when you try this splendid recipe, mixed in your own kitchen. It gives you about four times as much cough syrup for your money, and you'll find it wonderful for real relief.
Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. (You can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.
This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness.
Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

SMU Declines To Accept Gift From Liquor Dealers

DALLAS, Jan. 22. (AP)—Southern Methodist university today refused to accept a check for $30,000 from Dallas Retail Liquor dealers.

The executive committee of the SMU board of trustees followed the lead of Baylor Baptist institutions in Dallas which Saturday turned down a similar check for $25,000.

Meanwhile, W. A. Green, vice-chairman of St. Paul Catholic hospital's current drive for funds, said St. Paul had no intention of turning down a $10,000 check presented by the Liquor dealers.

"We are very grateful for this gift," Green said.

In a statement, Frank L. McNeny, chairman of the executive committee of the SMU board, said: "It was the uanimous decision of the committee that in view of all the issues involved, the gift be declined.

Navy Plans Post-War Legislative Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Navy will send to Congress soon the first installment of a postwar legislative program designed to keep the United States in the first rank of world sea powers.

Congressional sources who asked that their names be withheld disclosed today that some of the postwar Navy's blueprint will be working its way through Congress by mid-year. Basic bills on fleet tonnage, bases and the like probably will be held up until victory is in sight.

Young Generals Promise Increase In Bombing Of Japanese Islands

B-29 HEADQUARTERS, Guam (Via Navy Radio) (Delayed) Jan. 10.—Five of the younger generals of the United States Army's globe-spanning 20th Air force studied plans here today for increasing B-29 blows against Japan.

Maj. Gen. Curtis Le May came to the conference by air—making air history by flying a B-29 Superfortress from an advanced base in western China across enemy territory and water to Guam. He was greeted by Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, commander of the 21st Bomber command, with headquarters here.

(A later delayed dispatch, dated Jan. 20, said Le May had left the India China-based B-29 command to succeed Hansell. The change in command was announced in Washington Jan. 22).

The other three younger generals participating in the conference were Brig. Gen. Lauris Norstad, 20th Air Force chief of staff, who flew here from Washington; Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, Hansell's chief of staff, and Brig. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, jr., commander of the Saipan-based unit of the 21st Bomber command.

(The Washington announcement said Ramey had been named to succeed Le May as head of the 20th Bomber command in India and China.)

Le May, at a press conference, said both the 20th and 21st Bomber commands would direct their main effort in the future to bombing Japan proper.

"We will bomb Japan from wherever we can," he said.

Hansell, at 41, is the "old man" of the group. Le May and O'Donnell are 38 and Norstad and Ramey are 37.

Manpower Bill

board, faces induction into the Army or Navy, if physically acceptable, or five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine if over draft age or physically unfit.

No man accepting a job in accordance with a draft board request or directive shall be required to join a union unless he wants to, regardless of whether the job he takes is in a closed or union shop. This provision was approved by a 14-10 committee vote in closed session.

Men now deferred under provisions of the Tydings farm-draft deferment formula shall not be required to take a non-farm job.

Draft Boards Have Power

Transportation and subsistence costs shall be paid by the government in the case of a man taking a job, at draft board direction, in an area away from his home.

Determination of essential jobs and referral of registrants to them shall be made by the director of war mobilization, who may delegate this authority to draft boards or anyone else.

The committee voted also to permit conscientious objectors, for whom special units in the armed services now are provided, to decline to work in war plants.

The new directive to draft boards was worked out at a closed-door conference of Hershey with members of the House Agriculture committee, after Capitol Hill had heard loud complaints that a Jan. 3 directive had opened the way for draft of farm workers.

To Screen Farm Workers

After the conference, Flannegan issued a statement saying that due to the urgent demand for young men in the service "the local boards should carefully screen through the Tyding amendment" all those heretofore with farm work deferments "in order to determine if any mistakes were made in classifying originally and also in order to determine if changed conditions now make it possible for any of them to be released to the armed forces."

In connection with committee approval of the anti-closed shop provision, Lewis G. Hines, legislative representative of the AFL who opposed any compulsory labor draft legislation at hearings before the committee last week, asserted that "such stupidity hurts the war effort, that's all—it doesn't hurt the labor movement."

"It is a good bill and ought to be passed without any trouble," Chairman May (D-Ky) told reporters as the committee ended more than two weeks of deliberation on the bill. He conceded, though, that the labor amendment might lead to a stiff fight on the House floor.

Graduating Nurses Plan For Enlistment

At least ten of the eleven nurses of the January, 1945, class who will complete their three-year course at Lubbock General Hospital School of Nursing in the next two weeks plan to enter one of the armed forces, it was reported Monday night.

Nurses graduating and the branch of service they plan to enter are Miss Tommie Bridge of Glenn, Tex., army; Miss Winell Fischer of Big Spring, Army; Miss Madge Jackson of Roaring Springs, Army; Miss Frances Lee of Lubbock, Army; Miss Martha Little of Breckenridge, Navy; Miss Faye Mathis of Fluvanna, Army; Miss Barbara Randolph of Anton, Tex., Navy; Miss Mary White of Clovis, N. M., Army; Miss Melba Rawlins of Lubbock, Army; Miss Pearle Poole of Dumas, Army; and Mrs. Elmira Dickenson of Lovington, N. M., undisclosed.

Mrs. Daris McCune is superintendent of nurses at the hospital, and Mrs. Inez Hines is assistant.

Philippine Fighting

claimed that more than 6,000 Americans were killed during the first 10 days of the Luzon invasion. It added that Japanese forces "captured or destroyed 49 artillery pieces, 67 tanks, 26 motor cars, 42 tents and large quantities of other arms, muntions and supplies."

At Pacific fleet headquarters Admiral Nimitz disclosed the devastating attacks Saturday by carrier planes against fight airfields on Formosa — bases from which Japan has been trying to send aerial reinforcements to Luzon.

Navy-Airmen Busy

The Yank naval fliers shot down 43 Japanese planes and wrecked 97 on the ground. An additional 100 were damaged.

American air losses were described as relatively light but the admiral said "one of our major ships was damaged."

The fliers also hit shipping in Formoscan and nearby harbors. At Takao naval base two large ships were left burning furiously while large fires blazed in dock and industrial areas there. The reports on shipping raids were not complete but the admiral said four other ports were blasted.

It was the fifth carrier plane strike of the month against Mormosa and followed the raids along the China coast by five days.

An attack by 550 American carrier-based planes on Japan's Okinawa island in the Ryukyus immediately southwest of the Nippon homeland was reported by Radio Tokyo Monday.

It was the second smash at Okinawa in as many days, the Japanese said. Sunday they reported 450 carrer planes hitting the Ryukyus base and Formosa, with airfields as main targets.

The unconfirmed Tokyo broadcast Monday said there was some damage at Okinawa but that losses were light.

Tokyo Makes Claims

Earlier Tokyo claimed, also without confirmation, that three American aircraft carriers and an unidentified warship, hit by aerial bombs, were left in flames off Formosa.

An indication that American Superfortresses from Saipan bases were continuing their smashes against war industries on Japan's main Honshu island was given in a tokyo broadcast. It said air raid alarms were sounded Monday night (Japanese time) in the Tokyo-Yokohama district as several planes appeared over the region. Tokyo added that radio programs "will be temporarily called off."

Washngton offiically disclosed that direction of the Superfortress bombings of the Japanese homeland has been placed in the hands of Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, new chief of the 21st Bomber command with headquarters at Guam. The general formerly commanded the B-29s based in China and India.

General LeMay succeeded Brig Gen. Haywood S. Hansell who has returned to the United States to take an undisclosed assignment.

British Successful

Hansell's last official act at Guam was to report that the Jan. 19 Superfort raid on Japan's great Kawasaki aircraft factory in the Kobe area knocked the plant out of operation for some months to come. Prior to his departure Hansell was decorated with the Distinquished Service Medal.

British forces added to their series of victories over the retreating Japanese in Burma. They captured the North Burma Chindwin river town of Monywa, an important defense point 50 miles west of the vital Nippon Mandalay base. One British spearhead was reported only 26 miles north of Mandalay Sunday.

At Monywa the Japanese put up a fierce but brief fight after a six day siege.

Army Intelligence

it a good story, also strong support for the campaign against fraternization.

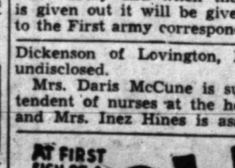

A Ninth army briefing officer who read quotations from the girl's writings in official reports passed them on to correspondents, who wrote the story.

But because the story developed in First army territory field censors called First army censors and asked if there were any objections to the story.

As a result a First army counter-intelligence corps officer called the Ninth army command and objected, declaring that the girl's writings were secret and that anyway when the story was released it should be given out by the First army to correspondents accredited to the First army.

Correspondents' dispatches then were held in the First army for three days while field press censors, all junior officers, tried to get them released.

Meanwhile a British woman correspondent tried to interview the girl and her parents. The parents were willing to tell what Nazi teachings had done to their daughter and how she had changed. The correspondent, however, was forbidden by Army officers to pursue the matter. Further, she said, she was told that "anyway you are not accredited to this (the First) army and when the story is given out it will be given first to the First army correspondents."

West Front Rout

umns, withdrawing too late from the Ardennes, were ripped in a hurricane of bombs, rockets and bullets by swarming warplanes snarling down through the mists on the transports, massed so densely on icy roads that pilots said they could not miss.

Front dispatches quoted fighter-bomber pilots as saying the scene of havoc, stretching from northern Luxembourg into Germany east of the Siegfried line, was worse than at Falaise, where Allied aerial execution was so terrible the enemy could not rally for a stand on the Seine.

Thus, Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt found one of his two mobile reserve armies practically on foot at a time when the Allies were returning to the offensive on the Western Front for the concerted blows from east and west designed to crush the Reich.

Third army doughboys captured the Luxembourg anchor of Wiltz, cut off retreat out of the duchy through Vianden with artillery fire and were shearing off the tiny country's mountainous northern tip in a rush that carried through a village five miles from Germany.

British, French Gain

The U. S. First army was within two miles of the Ardennes exit town of St. Vith, and registered two and three-mile gains in pursuit of the retreating enemy.

The British Second army, gaining another two and a half miles north of Aachen, had flattened a once-dangerous salient 33 miles southwest of the Rhine industrial city of Dusseldorf and was three miles from the Roer—first water hurdle on the Rhineland plain.

The French First army gouged out limited gains in southern Alsace despite a hamstringing new heavy snowfall, and the German push still appeared stalled nine miles north of Strasbourg.

(Enemy broadcasts claimed German forces in a new assault had stormed into the French fortress town of Haguenau, 15 miles north fo Strasbourg and more than seven miles west of last reported positions on the Rhine.)

German counterblows along the Moselle just east of the southern Luxembourg border were contained by the Third army.

A competent miltary authority, assessing the aerial slaughter in the Ardennes, said the transport caught out on the roads probably represented that of an entire panzer army.

Airpower Gangs Up

Fighterbombers ganged up in an endless shuttle of destruction without interference from the mauled German Air force.

In 55 sorties before noon, one tactical command alone reported destruction of 15 tanks and armored vehicles and 228 motor vehicles, testifying to the intensity of the attack.

Approximately 1,500 vehicles were sighted in the area of Prum behind the Siegfried line east of St. Vith.

A second column of the same size was caught in northern Luxembourg eight miles north of Diekirch, apparently trying to bypass the road junction of Vianden, which the Third army was hammering with artillery from positions no more than three miles away.

A third and smaller group was attacked as it tried to get through the Siegfried fortress of Prum to the Rhine, where troop trains were spotted and attacked. At least 10 tanks were destroyed or damaged.

A front dispatch said the Germans undoubtedly had received orders to pull entirely out of the narrow Belgian and Luxembourg positions into the Reich, possibly to resume a defensive role along the Roer and in the Siegfried line to the south.

Other Salients Slacken

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army fought into Wiltz, a mountain town of 3,000 population 25 miles north of Luxembourg City, and captured Noertrange, a mile to the northwest.

At the same time the Sixth armored division rammed ahead into Stockem, seven miles north of Wiltz and the same distance from the German border.

Resistance likewise slackened on Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army front to the north, where the Germans were driven from Born, three miles north of St. Vith, and the doughboys pressed on south nearly a mile.

Other First army troops fighting down from the northwest were about two miles from St. Vith, where they struck die-hard rearguard resistance. Another push was develpoing to the northeast.

The German high command, apparently fearful that the next Allied blow may come through western Germany north of Aachen, threw in reserves against Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's British Second army but still the Tommies pressed on.

British Meet Resistance

Plowing five miles into western Germany, the British fought into the villages of Selsten, Honten and Laffeld, two and a half miles west and southwest of the highway center of Heinsberg, and within three miles of the Wurm river, a tributary of the Roer.

On this front the Tommies had broken into the main German defenses and the enemy was resisting fiercely to hold his last lines before the Roer.

Even heavier fighting raged to the northwest around St. Joost, where British vanguards were reported within three miles of the Roer near its confluence with the Maas at the enemy stronghold of Roermond.

Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny's French First army forged on north in southern Alsace, but at a pace slowed by counterattacks and new storms.

FOR MEN ONLY

Scientists have now found that men who are run down, and no longer have the ability to enjoy life as they once did may be suffering from a deficiency of certain essential vitamins and hormones. Middle-aged men especially may be the victims of this embarrassing condition. Tromone, the new medical discovery, combines the necessary vitamins and hormones that may make it possible for you to get a kick out of life again. If taken in sufficient quantities, to make up your vitamin-hormone deficiency. Tromone may stimulate your vitality, give you the verve and zest of a much younger man. Added years may no longer deprive you of desired enjoyments once you begin to use Tromone. Note: follow directions on label. Tromone for sale at Bowen's Drug Store and druggists everywhere. Adv

Russians In 165 Miles Of Berlin

road to Berlin; others were almost at the entrance to the Polish corridor jutting up to Danzig, now only 60 miles away; still another massive Red army was digging deeper into industrial Silesia, menacing the capitals of Breslau and Oppeln in southeastern Germany.

Civilians Leaving

Women and children were streaming out of the endangered border zone from Danzig down to Silesia, their trains, carts and cars passing a steady stream of German reinforcements speeding to the east, Berlin said.

The Germans had lost a great tank struggle on the approaches to Poznan, and the First White Russian army of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov, victor at Moscow, Stalingrad and Warsaw, was bearing down swiftly on Poland's third largest city.

"If the Russians capture Poznan, then the threat to Berlin will enter the acute stage," said the Stockholm Aftonbladet's Berlin correspondent who also quoted German military officials as saying that the Russians had hurled forward their infantry masses "faster than expected."

It was another great night in Moscow. The capital's 224 Victory guns began firing 100 salutes ordered by Premier-Marshal Stalin in five orders of the day announcing these triumphs:

Populated Places Fall

1. The capture of Deutsch-Eylau, Osterode and Allenstein on the Berlin-East Prussian railway by Marshal K. K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian army. Berlin said this force striking toward Elbing, 37 miles north and 38 miles northwest of Deutsch-Eylau and Osterode, numbered 58 infantry divisions and six fast motorized corps.

The fall of Allenstein, a nine-way road junction 61 miles south of Gonigsberg, represented a 22-mile advance from Tannenberg, Nazi military shrine taken Sunday. It put Rokossovcky's enveloping eastern wing within 75 miles east of Lyck and 82 miles southwest of Goldap, two major strongholds at the end of the endangered Nazi salient. Berlin said a third Russian offensive aimed at Goldap and Lyck had begun Saturday west of Sumalki in the effort to quickly crush East Prussia.

2. Insterburg, 60 miles east of Konigsberg, fell to Marshal Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army, striking directly along the highway from the Lithuanian border. Other units were reported about half that distance from Konigsberg on the northeast. Insterburg is a city of 41,000 and a munitions center.

3. Gniezno, a nine-way junction 165 miles due east of Berlin and 28 miles from Poznan, fell to Marshal Zhukov's legions. They also captured Inowrocław, another point on the Berlin-East Prussian railway running through northern Poland just below the Polish corridor to the sea.

Nazis Use More Rockets

Speeding on northwest of Inowrocław the Russians captured Labiszyn, 180 miles northeast of Berlin, in a 30-mile advance and were only 10 miles south of Bydgoszcz, 10-way road hub controlling routes into the Polish corridor. Farther east another force took Aleksandrow, likewise only 10 miles south of Torun, another communications prize on the rim of the corridor.

The Russians reported that the Germans were using increasing numbers of rocket projectiles in East Prussia in a vain attempt to stem the Red army.

South of this break-through area Zhukov's troops, attacking along the Warsaw-Berlin highway west of Kolo, taken Saturday, were reported by Berlin to have reached the edge of Konin, 195 miles east of Berlin. The Germans also said Soviet spearheads were trying to force the Warta river to the southeast.

Millions Switch To Mutton Suet Idea For Chest Cold Aid

Relieves Muscular Aches and Pains, Chest Muscle Tightness

Many mothers all over America are switching to this idea of getting fast relief for these chest cold miseries. They are simply following Grandma. For years she counted on mutton suet to help carry her home medication to do its pain-easing work on nerve ends in the skin. No wonder so many more now welcome Grandma's idea as improved by science—Penetro, with its multi-medicated formula in a base containing mutton suet—that acts both as counter-irritant and pain-reliever when you spread it on, and as a soothing aromatic when breathed in. And so today Penetro hurries along newer help in the old reliable way—help that eases painful misery, lessens coughing, loosens phlegm, soothes chest rawness—so that you can rest more comfortably and give nature a chance to restore vitality. That's why millions are switching to Penetro today—why druggists are recommending it. 25c, double supply 35c. For all your family's chest cold miseries, be sure you get white, easy-to-use Penetro. Berlin Threatened command.

"German military circles are not divulging any information about the names of towns and villages in the central sector of the Russian front where Soviet tanks still are rolling westward," Transocean's military commentator said.

Germans were told to rely on official high command communiques for news "in these critical times" and to depend on their leaders to master this crisis "as we have always mastered every situation."

"Damned be our enemies," the announcer shouted. "This soulless, bestial, overwhelming mass onslaught must be held at all costs."

A Berlin dispatch to the Stockholm Aftonbladet passed by Nazi censorship said, "if the Russians capture Poznan (in western Poland) then the threat to Berlin enters the acute stage."

Cuts in gas, coal, coke and electricity and reduction in postal service were ordered by the Nazis. Transocean explained that with industrial Silesia invaded drastic fuel cuts were necessary "to conserve the German war potential in this critical hour."

Russians Apparently Picking Up Speed; Mapping More Difficult

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

A barrage of new victory announcements from Moscow officially reporting Russian capture of key communication centers in Silesia, Poland and East Prussia guarding every eastern gateway to Berlin between the Baltic and the upper Oder valley opened the second week of the Titanic main Red army winter offensive.

They came tumbling on each other's heels so fast as to make any detailed mapping of the vast 800 mile eastern front a matter of conjecture. Utterly confused and off balance as the whole Nazi defense deployment from the northern flank of the Carpathians to the north end of the old Danzig corridor appeared to be, there still was no Russian claim of a total German rout although the retreat into the Reich itself seemed fast verging that way.

The most astonishing aspect of the Russian offensive tidal wave was that it appeared to be gaining instead of losing speed the farther its supply lines were extended.

Within a week's time the remote possibility of an attempted Nazi evacuation of East Prussia had been converted into a virtual reality. The fall of such mighty defensive bastions in northern East Prussia as Tilsit and Insterburg strongly suggests that Berlin has thumbed the whole German army westward in a desperate attempt at escape before the Russians cut the last land transport route across the Danzig corridor.

Ledo Road Open

last strongpoint near Mongyu.

After announcing the opening of the road, Sultan said:

"This convoy represents a magnificent achievement. It represents bitter fighting by Chinese troops both in Burma and across the Salween river, and their American comrades in arms. It represents the untiring work of American troops who built the Ledo road and it represents the complete coordination of ground and and air forces. It marks the first breach in the Japanese land blockade of China."

Drivers tonight were making final preparations for the final lap of their historic trip. They arrived in Myitkyina last week after covering the 262-mile stretch from the western terminus at Ledo. Some are negro soldiers who will become the first American ground troops to enter China.

First Of Its Kind

The pioneer convoy will be the first overland assistance rendered to U. S. Air Transport command pilots and commercial fliers of the China National Aviation corporation who have been the only carriers of supplies over the treacherous Himayalan "hump" to China since the Japanese swarmed into North Burma in 1942.

It also will be the first convoy in history to travel from India into China. Old Burma road convoys picked up their cargoes in lower Burma and carried them from Mandalay to China.

Fight On Wallace

nomination.

Senate Republican Leader White of Maine observed tartly that "apparently political service by Mr. Wallace outweighs public service by Mr. Jones." That was an obvious reference to Mr. Roosevelt's statement, in his letter asking Jones' resignation, that Wallace had "displayed the utmost devotion to our cause" and "deserves almost any service which he believes he can satisfactorily perform."

Tentative feelers were being sent out as to the possibility of a working agreement between Republicans and Democrats bent on blocking the appointment. But there was as yet nothing approximating such an agreement.

Chairman Bailey (D-NC) of the Commerce committee announced that group would take up the Wallace nomination tomorrow morning.

News Briefs

The Master's degree will be conferred upon three candidates at 6 o'clock tonight, and on two Wednesday night commencing at 7 o'clock, by Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF and AM, said Cliff Elliott, worshipful master.

Several thefts were reported to police over the week end and Monday. Someone took $13 from Susan Hernandez Baca Sunday in the Mexican quarter and two 19-year-old Mexicans were being held by police in connection with the case. Jack Adkins of Lubbock told police he discovered that $72 was missing from a coat pocket after he had taken the coat off in an alley. Texas Ranger Levi Duncan's automobile was stolen, but recovered three blocks from where it had been parked, at Duncan's home, 3011 Twenty-second. A car stolen Saturday night from Pvt. P. E. Biddle of South Plains Army Air field, was recovered Sunday by police on a city street. J. W. Calvert, automobile salesman, Monday afternoon reported theft of two tires, size 600x16, and wheels from a model A Ford which was parked on the used car lot of Fuller Motor Co., 901 Ave. H.

Rev. Harold Rea, assistant pastor and educational director of the First Christian church at Fort Worth, visited his father, Fred H. Rea of 1613 Seventh, here last Sunday. While he was in town Rev. Rea also was a visitor at the Lubbock First Christian church.

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Moyers of Lubbock, who was fatally injured Saturday afternoon in a highway accident, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist church at Morton, Rix Funeral home announced. Mrs. Moyers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Waller, who live near Morton.

Pvt. Loyd Lee of South Plains Army Air field was slightly injured late Monday afternoon when the motorcycle he was riding was in collision with a Continental Gas company transport truck in the 800 block of Ave. H. Another soldier who was riding with him, Pvt. Tommy McCobie of SPAAF, was not hurt. Pvt. Lee received emergency treatment at Lubbock General hospital, and later was taken to the SPAAF hospital.

Buchanan Rites Will Be Read Here Today

Funeral services for Robert E. Buchanan, 26, son of Mrs. W. R. Buchanan of 1524 Twenty-eighth, who died Monday morning at Sanitorium, will be at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Cumberland Presbyterian church, 1602 Tenth, conducted by Rev. Brown C. Welch, pastor.

Pall bearers will be H. J. McClelland, J. A. Martin, Claude Martin, Bruce Mullin, Chester Wright and Sgt. Welty Wright.

Buchanan lived in Michigan for 10 years until he moved to Lubbock last October to live with his sister, Mrs. Jewell Mullins, 1524 Twenty-eighth. He had been ill several months and was taken to Sanitorium 18 days ago.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery with Rix Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Two More Cards Are Received From POWs

Mrs. Huddleston W. Wright of 2201 Twenty-fifth and Mrs. Ilo B. Hard of 1613 Fifteenth have received cards from their husbands who are prisoners of the Japanese in Thailand.

The cards were the usual form cards bearing this message from Capt. Wright and Lt. Hard: "My health is good, am paid a monthly salary and am not working. Best regards to all the family and my friends. Have had no mail from home."

The card received by Mrs. Wright had no date on it, but Mrs. Hard's card was dated May 19, 1944. Capt. Wright and Lt. Hard were members of the famous lost battalion on Java, which included a number of Lubbock and South Plains men.

Pomeranian Woman's Dog, Judge Rules

DETROIT, Jan. 22 (AP) — The Pomeranian is a "woman's dog." That popular conception was upheld right at the bar of justice today.

Otto Boem and his former wife, Lewit, were in dispute on the ownership of Teddy, a Pomeranian. One look was sufficient for Common Pleas Judge David C. Vokes.

"That's not a man's dog," said the court. "That's the kind of a dog a woman likes."

Dr. Doyle Jackson Speaks To Legion

Speaking on "Time for Decision," Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education and psychology and director of the replacement at Texas Tech, was principal speaker at the regular monthly social meeting of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion Monday night at Legion hall.

Also speaking on the program was Charles Byers, a native of New Zealand, who told an interesting story about his country.

A. C. Jackson reported on his recent trip to Washington and on the progress being to secure a veteran's hospital here.

Floyd C. Lebow, a World War II veteran, was installed as post adjutant, succeeding R. A. Powell, who resigned last week to move to a farm near Fisk, Texas. He was installed by J. A. Raley, jr., who was program chairman.

One of several guests was Lt. James Marriman of the U. S. Marine corps, who is at home on leave from the Solomons islands after completing 32 missions. Lt. Merriman was all-state lineman of the Lubbock High school Westerners in 1939 and 1940. Other visitors included wives of Legionnaires and several veterans of World War II. More than 200 were in attendance.

Twenty-Fifth Marine Gets Highest Award

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP) — The Congressional Medal of Honor was clasped today about the neck of Marine Colonel David M. Shoup who, although wounded by murderous gunfire, led his men to victory at bloody Betio island in the battle of Tarawa.

The medal for the fighting man who was born in the village of Battle Ground, Ind., was presented by Secretary of the Navy Forrestal in behalf of President Roosevelt and Congress.

Shoup is the 25th Marine to receive the nation's highest military award in this war.

The commander of the Marine troops in action against the Japanese on Betio risked his life "above and beyond the call of duty," said the citation read by Forrestal.

Income Tax School Of Instruction Here

About 25 Lubbock business firms were represented Monday morning at an income tax school of instruction conducted in the auditorium of West Texas Gas company, sponsored by the Lubbock Office of Internal Revnue.

These representatives received instructions in filling out income tax returns on wages received in 1944 so that they might assist employes of these firms in filling out their returns, thus saving them much time. C. I. Powell of the Amarillo office was the instructor.

Episcopal Meeting Here Is Concluded

The future work of the Episcopal churches of this district was discussed at a business meeting Monday afternoon which closed the 35th convocation of the Missionary District of North Texas which opened Sunday in St. Paul's Episcopal church here.

Since Bishop E. Cecil Seaman has announced his resignation, which becomes effective Jan. 31, this convocation urged the headquarters of the church to retain this missionary district as it is and to elect a new Bishop immediately. Bishop Seaman celebrated his 20th anniversary as bishop Sunday when he called the convocation to order.

At a meeting of the district Woman's auxiliary, Mrs. Clayton Carter of Lubbock was elected president, and Mrs. Mark Allen of Loop was named secretary. These were the only officers elected.

Monday's session was opened with a corporate communion of the women of the church, followed by the business session of the convocation and the Woman's auxiliary.

Approximately 250 persons attended a consecration of the $28,000 St. Paul's church, now free of debt, at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Bishop Seaman delivered the Sunday morning sermon. A fellowship dinner was held at Hilton hotel at noon Sunday with Rev. E. W. Henshaw of Pampa as toastmaster.

Most of Monday's meeting was devoted to a meeting of the district Woman's auxiliary with the president, Mrs. S. M. Alexander, presiding. Delegates were welcomed by Mrs. T. F. Wiesen, president of St. Paul's Woman's auxiliary, and the devotional was read by Mrs. H. J. Beadle of Abilene.

Mrs. Mary W. Doak gave a report on the credentials committee and talks were made by Rev. John A. Winslow of the Lubbock church; Mrs. C. L. Svenson, Mrs. J. C. Allensworth, Mrs. W. W. Rix, all of Lubbock, and Mrs. J. M. Daly of Abilene.

Miss Ruth Towne, educational director of the First Christian Church here, talked on "Women in the Educational Program of the Church.

Bishop Seaman addressed the auxiliary at 12 o'clock.

GOP Chairman Submits Proposal For Returning To National Power

By JOHN L. CUTTER
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 22. — Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell, jr., today submitted to the G.O.P. national committee an eight point proposal for strengthening party organization as a step toward returning to national power in the 1946 and 1948 elections.

Riding with his proposal also appeared to be Brownell's own prospects for continuing as national chairman.

Chairmanship Considered

Brownell reportedly would like to continue his present unsalaried part time status. Some committeemen, however, want to make it a full time paid job. Some also fear that Brownell's continuance would give an undue advantage for the 1948 presidential nomination to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who picked Brownell to run his unsuccessful 1944 campaign.

Brownell sought to meet that latter challenge in his opening statement before the national committee meeting he called to consider ways and means of strengthening party organization.

"Any attempted use of party machinery for the advancement or blocking of any individual or his personal ambitions shall be completely prohibited," Brownell said.

In offering his program, Brownell predicted that if carried out intelligently it would win for the Republican party in the 1946 congressional elections. He proposed:

Eight Points Given

1. A national organization to function fulltime with an enlarged staff instead of operating only at campaign time.

2. Close working relations with Republican leaders in Congress.

3. Establishing at national headquarters a research staff "to show the fallacies of New Deal doctrines and help prepare affirmative legislative proposals," an investigative staff to help "ferret out waste, extravagance and bungling of New Deal agencies," and a publicity staff to publicize "the reasons why the Republican party should be returned to power nationally."

4. Cooperation as well with Republican governors and state legislators.

5. Integration of national committee activities with those of state and county committees, including consultation with state G. O. P. chairman for this purpose.

6. A more active part for individual members of the national committee in development and promotion of the national program.

7. A financial program designed to "broaden the basis of contributions" by encouraging small individual donations.

8. An intensive two years campaign in copperation with senatorial and congressional committees to win Republican control of the Senate and House of Representatives in 1946."

Brownell said it was "a rank and file program, compiled after checking many hundreds of letters and memoranda received since election day."

Diplomatic Schooling Plan Is Approved

Cabinet members of zone 2-T of Lions clubs endorsed "diplomatic schooling" in opposing a system in which posts to foreign countries are sometimes assigned as political rewards at a meeting in Lubbock Sunday at Hilton hotel.

It's promotion was placed on the zone's program agenda for the organization's fiscal year. Emphasis on such training would improve this country's relations with other nations, the cabinet opined.

Other aims high on the agenda are the promotion of postwar planning and rehabilitation of former service men; better understanding between the U. S. and Latin-American countries; improved relations between capital and labor and alleviation of the racial problem.

Cabinet members in attendance were Robert H. Bean, Lubbock; Dennis Q. Lilly, Brownfield; H. C. Kyle, Seminole, H. Grady Wilson, Amarillo; John McLean, Hereford; Fred C. Gage, Odessa; Leslie C. Pratt, Lamesa; Louis. Pinkston, Monahans, L. R. Harding, El Paso, and Joe Gipson, Childress.

In attendance also were Dr. Weston A. Petty, president of the Lubbock club; Dr. Marshall Harvey, secretary of the local club; Lee Johnson, Wink, district governor; R. A. Lipscomb, Wink, cabinet secretary-treasurer; Waltern Naln, president of the El Paso club, and J. W. Robinson, Hereford.

There are 62 clubs in the zone with a combined membership of 3,047.

No Beer Campaign Is Planned For Present

Lubbock county will not have a campaign to bring legal sale of beer "at the present," S. P. Morrow, apartment house owner, said Monday.

Morrow said that sufficient signers had been obtained for a petition granted Oct. 24 but that the petition would not be presented to the commissioners court for the purpose of getting an election called.

He said enough signers were obtained in "two or three weeks" after the petition was issued.

Morrow cited the small number of people paying poll taxes as one reason for the decision.

The petition obtained last October called only for beer. A petition requested a few weeks earlier, calling for a vote on both beer and wine, was nullified at the request of the "wet" block.

McMahan Funeral Is Conducted at Matador

Funeral services for George McMahan, three-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. McMahan of Matador, were conducted at Matador Monday afternoon at the First Methodist church with the pastor officiating. Interment was in the Matador cemetery, Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home said.

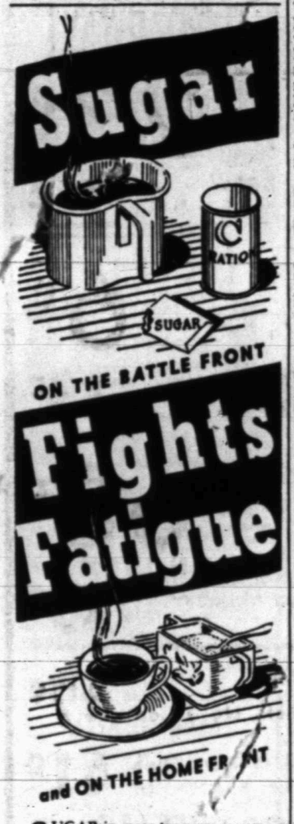

The baby died early Monday morning in West Texas hospital.

Surviving are the parents, two sisters, Wanda Louise and Dorothy Ann, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lee of Matador.

Mexico City Workers Make Strike Threat

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 22. (AP) — Mexico City tramway company employes announced their intention of striking on Feb. 3 unless their demand for a 50 per cent pay raise is met.

On Saturday employes of the Ericsson Telephone company (Empresa de Telefonos Ericsson, S. A.) threatened to strike on Feb. 14 unless 100 per cent pay increases are granted.

News Briefs

Routine business was conducted Monday at a session of the Lubbock County Commissioners court. The commissioners approved the plat and dedication of Kise subdivison of Roberds and McWhorter addition. The application was filed by S. E. McMillan. It previously had been approved by the city commission. Bond of Horace Smith, justice of peace for place 2 in precinct 1, was approved. Quarterly reports of several county officials and Mrs. J. A. Humphries, county librarian, were approved. Bills were allowed and $10 was contributed from the charity fund to the support of a cripple. Immediate payment of $500 to the 39th battalion of the Texas Defense guard was authorized. The appropriation earlier had been allowed.

Jose Ortego and his father, Beterbo Oretgo, Monday afternoon pleaded guilty in county court of charges of aggravated assault on young Ortego's wife, Santos Ortego. Judge Walter Davies assessed fines of $25 and costs each. The men had paid $25 fines Monday morning in corporation court for drunkeness. The charges grew out of a disturbance Sunday night in the Mexican quarter.

Burl Gene Moore of 1402 Twenty-fourth left Dallas Saturday for St. Petersburg, Fla., to begin training with the Merchant Marines. He was accompanied to Dallas by his wife. Moore was formerly employed by the Allen cleaners.

A civil suit of the Office of Price Administration filed in federal court here alleges violation of maximum price ceiling regulations in the sale of used cars. Defendant is Bob Fuller, operator of a motor company in Lubbock. The OPA seeks for the U. S. government damages in the amount of $6,267. An injunction to prohibit Fuller's engaging in selling cars above ceiling prices is sought.

Miquel Garza, a Mexican arrested recently in the Plainview vicinity on a charge of failure to report for induction to his draft board at Beeville, Tex., has been taken to Corpus Christi by Deputy U. S. Marshal C. E. Luce to stand trial at the current term of the Corpus Christi division of U. S. court. Garza was surrendered to federal authorities here by Hoyt Curry, Plainview chief of police, and Thomas E. Andrews, Hale county deputy sheriff.

Third in a series of radio editions of the "Orchard School of the Air," will be presented at 7:15 a. m. today over station KFYO by Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, who will discuss "Using fruits in the diet." The program is sponsored by the offices of the county farm and home demonstration agents.

Funeral services for Mrs. L. B. Frizzell, 72, mother of Mrs. Elmer Potts of 1915 Twenty-second, who died Sunday of a heart ailment at her home in Mineral Wells, will be conducted at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday at the Baum and Carlock Funeral home in Mineral Wells. Mr. and Mrs. Potts will attend the services. Other survivors are her husband; five sons, Harvey of Lodi, Calif.; Marion of Louisiana, Jason of Fort Worth, Greer who is in the Navy stationed in California, Woodrow of Fort Worth; four daughters, Mrs. Ivy Lambert of Stratford, Okla., Mrs. Addie Baker of Stratford, Okla., Mrs. Roxie Griffith of Mineral Wells, and Mrs. Nettie Baker of California.

Farm Meeting Planned Here

A program and round-table discussion open to anyone interested in agriculture will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the second-floor courtroom at the courthouse, it was announced Monday by Jason O. Gordon, Lubbock county farm agent.

Representatives of the various agricultural agencies operating in the county, civic leaders, and farm men and women are specifically invited to the meeting.

Gordon said the conclave is designed to familiarize each agency with the work of other agencies and to give the public knowledge of their programs. "A representative of each government farm agency will outline his agency's work program for 1945," Gordon explained. "The meeting should provide a foundation for an overall agricultural program."

Harrison To Speak

A talk by M. B. Harrison, associate professor of agricultural economics at Texas Technological college, will feature the program, Gordon said. Harrison will discuss various types of rental agreements. His talk will bear on proper division of crops, financial responsibilities of the landlord and tenant and other landloard-tenant relations.

Others who will appear on the program are Earl Fine, county supervisor for the Farm Security administration; W. O. Perkins, secretary of the board of supervisors of the Lubbock County Soil Conservation district; Lee York, secretary-treasurer of the Lubbock Production Credit association; Walter Y. Wells, administrative officer for the AAA; L. M. Hargrove, vocational agriculture teacher at Wolfforth, and Gordon.

Third Message From Prisoner Received

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Darden of 2003 Broadway received a card Monday from their son, Cpl. O. L. Darden, jr., who is a prisoner of the Japanese in Thailand.

Cpl. Darden, who has been a prisoner since the fall of Java, said he was in good health and working for a wage. He sent his regards to the family, friends and his two nephews, Tom and Mack Hord, of Brownfield.

The message is the third the parents have received, the other two having been last August and in January of 1944.

SPAAF Five Nips LAAF, 63 To 50

South Plains Army Air Field's Winged Commandos turned on the heat only when necessary last night to roll over Lubbock Army Air Field's Fliers for a decisive 63 to 50 triumph and add the finishing touches to a somewhat short but sensational cage season before a full house at the SPAAF Recreation Hall.

The Commandos, hitting the nets with regularity when pushed, thus brought the curtain down on their portion of the local hardwood season with another high scoring performance to maintain their impressive per game average of more than 62 points a tussle.

McCloud Chalks Up 28

Leason "Pete" McCloud, SPAAF's All American ace and easily one of the outstanding cage stars in the nation today, again took scoring honors for the night with 28 points, although not playing the final three minutes of the game. McCloud's performance was somewhat off from previous scoring sprees he has turned in racking up 36 points and 34 points against Amarillo Army Air Field and Carlsbad Army Air Field.

However, the former Colorado ace had to share a portion of the spotlight with LAAF's ace performer, Bruce Prior who came up with second high point honors for the night with 19. Little Roy Cox, SPAAF's 5 foot, 6 inch ace, and captain of the University of Texas team last season, pushed Prior for honors, however, with 18 points, all scored with an uncanny one-handed push shot that baffles his would be guards.

Both Teams Start Slow

The game was not in the same class with recent contests at the SPAAF gym, being considerably slowed up by too many fouls on the part of both teams. SPAAF had 1 fouls, LAAF 17 for the night.

Starting slow, both teams played erratic ball throughout the contest. Neither club was able to hit the net for about two minutes of the first period. Then Coach Ray Cagni's scarlet clad lads drew first blood when McCloud started the ball rolling by swishing one through from about five yards out. McCloud followed up and Ed Kalfain and Bob Edwards came through with more of the same to give the Commandos an 8 to 0 lead before Prior managed to shove in two free tosses to open LAAF's scoring.

Prior Paces Fliers

The Commandos started off to the races again, however, and with 12 minutes of play gone in the initial half had amassed an impressive 20 to 9 lead. Prior then got hot and brought the Fliers back into a fighting chance as the count stood 23 to 17 with about four minutes of the first half to go. But McCloud and Cox opened up again to shove the Commandos into a comfortable 35 to 21 margin at the halftime intermission.

Commandos Finish Fast

But Cox, with a two pointer, and McCloud with two beautiful one handed shots that sizzled through the nets, sent the Commandos back into a substantial 56 to 44 lead with about three minutes to play.

Prior, MacDonald and Kramer then teamed to pull their LAAF mates to within six points for a 56 to 50 count with two minutes to go and again the SPAAF squad was on the spot.

But as was the case throughout the game, the Commandos got hot again and promptly counted seven points while holding their guests scorless. And that ended the contest and a friendly feud which not only has furnished entertainment and relaxation for military personnel at Lubbock's two air bases but has given Lubbock fans an opportunity to see some of the best cage stars in the Southwest in action.

The box score:

Lobos Roll Over Raiders, 47-39

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 22.—The New Mexico university Lobos rolled over the Texas Tech Red Raiders from Lubbock here tonight, winning the series opener from the Texans, 47 to 39.

The Lobos, rated as one of the best basketball clubs in the Southwest, were hard pressed to beat Coach Polk Robison's kids, and the final outcome of the game was in doubt until the final few minutes.

Arkansas, Rice Set For Crucial Series

(By The United Press)

This is the big week as far as the Southwest Conference basketball race is concerned with the title more than likely to be decided in a two-game series at Fayetteville, Ark., Friday and Saturday nights.

It will be then that the co-favorites, Rice's undefeated Owls and Arkansas' once-beaten Razorbacks, tankle in the feature games of a five-game schedule.

The two clubs had been expected to reach that series without a mar on either record, but Texas' hustling Longhorns tossed a wrench into the plans last Friday night by upsetting Arkansas 49-40.

Arkansas bounced back into the running Saturday night, however, as the Hogs turned on the heat to walk off with a 74-38 contest.

Rice, meanwhile, won its only conference appearance of the week by trouncing Texas A. and M. at Houston Saturday night 68-25, and added to its prestige by handing the Waco Army Air field cagers their first defeat of the season in a charity contest early in the week.

Bill Henry's 26 points, scored in 29 minutes of playing time, was enough to beat the Aggies, and it gave the gangling center 104 points for the season as the individual scoring leader.

Southern Methodist, which meets Baylor at Waco Wednesday night, kept within the championship possibility braket by dropping Baylor 56-34 at Dallas Saturday night.

Texas and TCU, now crippled by the loss of their scoring ace, Gene Schmidt — who is leaving school to enter the services — round out the week's schedule with a game at Austin Saturday night.

George Kok, Arkansas' tall center, pulled into second place in the individual scoring race with 42 points in two games to run his total to 73, two more than SMU's Kelley Avery. Dennis Haden of SMU was in fourth spot with 66 points.

Hunter Cops Singles Title In Keg Meet

PARIS, Tex., Jan. 22 (AP)—Last of 250 men to roll, Pfc. Orville Hunter of Prisoner of War Camp, Tonkawa, Okla., won the singles championship of the Eighth Service command bowling tournament with a total of 715.

He nosed out by two pins, Sgt. Wilford E. Butler of P.O.W. camp, Ruston, La., who took the all-events crown with 2,066. Others to finish among the first five were:

Pvt. Chester L. Dombrowski, P.O.W. camp, Mexia, 684; Sgt. John Erichison, Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Ark., 683, and Pvt. John L. Jimp, Fort Sill, Okla., 675.

Fifty teams from five states comprising the service command participated in the four-ray tournament. The team championship went to Camp Maxey with a total of 3,168. Regional hospital of Camp Barkley was second and Transportation Corps school of New Orleans was third.

Schoolboys Set For Cage Year

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Texas schoolboy basketball field, 10,000 players strong, starts the stretch drive this week with district championships in all divisions to be determned in a little more than a month.

There are 951 teams battling for spots in the state tournament scheduled at Austin March 8, 9 and 10.

As the teams roll toward the first elimination step, at least two defending champions appear capable of returning to last year's high places—Nocona, kingpin of Class A, and Prairie Lea, champion of Class B.

Sunset Less Potent

Prospects are none too bright for Sunset of Dallas, the Class AA titlist, to again reach the state tournament. The Bisons do not appear anywhere near as strong as last year and besides they will meet one of the top outfits of the year in the bi-district play-offs should they win the Dallas pennant.

Fort Worth Paschal has won 13 straight games and averaged around 50 points per contest. In the drive to the state tournament Sunset will have to meet the Fort Worth district winner.

Nocona, which defeated Mount Pleasant for the Class A title at Austin last season, is considered about as good this year. Nocona is sweeping through its district as it did in 1944.

Prairie Lea returns wth vrtually the same team that beat Blossom for the Class B championship. Blossom is back with a strong quintet, one that already holds a decision over Mount Pleasant.

Mount Pleasant's hopes of returning to the state tournament will be determined Tuesday when this team plays Mount Vernon, an outfit that is unbeaten this season.

Childress Not So Strong

Childress, which proved the sensation of Class AA ranks at Austin last year to knock down the favored teams before losing in the finals to Sunset, does not rate so high this season.

Milby of Houston has won 20 straight and is considered a strong contender for the Class AA title. Goose Creek also has an outstanding team.

In schoolboy basketball the Class AA teams determine bi-district champions to send eight representatives to the state tournament. There are 104 teams in this division.

In Class A, which has 275 quintets, and Class B, with 572 teams, places in the state tournament are decided by regional tournaments with eight schools from each class going to Austin.

District championships must be determined by Feb. 24, regional championships in Class A and Class B and bi-district championships in Class AA by March 3.

NOBODY TO FIGHT

MARYSVILLE, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP)—Al Hart, 225 pounder from Camp Ross, was Ninth Service Command heavyweight boxing champion today, though he didn't put on a glove in the three days of intercamp fights. He was awarded the title after all opposition withdrew.

Fast Battles Feature First Night Of Tahoka Ring Show

TAHOKA, Jan. 22 (Special) — Plenty of action, and many good fights opened the leather pushing season on the South Plains here tonight with a 15-fight boxing card that launched the annual Tahoka Invitation tournament which will close Tuesday night with the semi-finals and finals in all divisions.

Included on the Monday card were 9 championship fights with fighters from Petersburg, Lubbock, Littlefield and Tahoka matching blows that made the large turnout of fans very noisy in their cheering for their favorites and gave the boxing season a rousing send off.

McCarty Wins Final

Headlining the card tonight was W. D. McCarty, veteran Littlefield bantamweight scrapper, and 1943 Golden Glove champion at Lubbock, who showed he still packed the wallop that carried him so far in this area.

McCarty came out fast in his main event appearance, and landed a knockout punch on Tahoka's Glen Newton in the second round of a fight that lived up to the expectations.

The battle was a fast one, with Newton making a great showing until he ran into the clincher in the second round.

Another Littlefield scrapper came through in the semi-final of the card, as A. A. Sedwick of Littlefield won a fast three round decision from Procter Burnett of Texas Tech in a light heavyweight battle that gave the fans plenty of excitement.

Other bantamweight battles on the opening card found two Tahoka boys and one from Petersburg moving into the semi-final rounds with McCarty as Jackie Driver of Tahoka punched out a three round decision over Coyt Thompson of Petersburg in the opening battle.

Stanton, McMillan Win

Frankie Stanton, the Petersburg lad who stole much of the show last year at the Lubbock Golden Gloves, punched his way to a three round decision over Tahoka's Billy Joe Stephens in a fast battle that was one of the best of the night. H. L. McMillan, the rugged little Tahoka star battler, landed a technical knockout victory over Royal Blessingame of Petersburg in the second round.

In the only featherweight battle on the card, Dwayne Vaughn of Tahoka turned dentist in knocking loose one tooth from Junior McClintock in landing a second round kayo on his fellow townsman.

Three lightweight battles rounded out the opening program with Lubbock, Petersburg and Tahoka boys taking off the honors. Lonnie Balch of Lubbock won the nod over M. Young of Petersburg after a rugged three round battle. Hollis Black, hard punching Petersburg lad, landed a kayo on the chin of Kenneth Hanes of Tahoka in the third round. Buddy Bragg of Tahoka gained a decision over his fellow townsman, Dwayne Fleming.

Six exhibitions launched the card tonight, and provided plenty of thrills for the fans with Thurman Crossan winning by a technical knockout over Alma Crotwell in the best of the fights.

Texas Open Carded For This Weekend

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 22 (AP)—The golf trail leads to San Antonio this week-end for the granddaddy of big money tournaments—the Texas Open.

Back in the early twenties this city posted $5,000 for a golf meet—the first in history to reach that figure and the one that set the pace for the trail of gold followed by the nation's top professionals today.

A field of 160 is expected to tee off for the nineteenth Texas Open Friday, Saturday and Sunday with Byron Nelson, as usual, the title favorite.

Nelson, golf's greatest money winner last year, will be one of at least three former champions to compete here. He won the title in 1940; E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, winner in 1939, and Johnny Revolta, who captured first money last year, are coming with the field of approximately 50 professionals now following the winter circuit.

Ray Mangrum, who took the title of the Tucson Open Sunday, will not be here and neither will Sam Snead, who had grabbed three titles this season. Mangrum, the transplanted Texan, said he would return to Los Angeles. Snead is quitting the tour because of a back injury.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, who holds the Brackenridge course record with a 63—eight under par—is picked as the man for Nelson to beat.

A pro-amateur event is scheduled Thursday. Eighteen holes of the 72-hole championship round are set for Friday, 18 holes Saturday and 36 holes Sunday.

Westerners To Play Secton C

Seven schoolboy basketball teams will wear the Lubbock colors into action tonight on three basketball floors over this area, with the high school furnishing six teams and the junior high furnishing one.

The Lubbock Westerners will face the toughest test tonight at the Lubbock High school gym, where they tangle with the high stepping Section C Hanger team from Lubbock Army Air field in both an A and B game.

The Cowhands Gold will take an A and B team to Idalou, while the Cowhand Blacks will take an A and B team and the Cowhands Blue to Shallowater for three games.

The Westerners booked another foe for a game here Saturday night, playing the high scoring Slaton High school clubs in an A and B game, E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey announced Monday night.

The soldier five has compiled one of the best records in this section of the state, and have beaten most of the top schoolboy teams they have faced. They were upset last weekend in the Levelland tourney by Sudan in their only tournament appearance.

Coach White announced that he would start his regulars against the soldiers, sending R. W. Moyers and Gerald Davis to forwards, Verdeyy Turner to center, George Brewer and Charles Pressley to guard.

The Section C starting lineup will include Cpl. Harris, who played at West Texas State Teachers college, Burl Brewer, an outstanding schoolboy performer from Tennessee, Jack Smith, a Texas boy, T/Sgt. Huey and Lambert, it was announced Monday night.

The Section C Hanger five are undefeated in the second half play of the LAAF Squadron league.

Houston Golden Glove Entry List Runs High

HOUSTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—One of the largest entry lists in tourney history was expected for the eighth annual Houston Post Golden Gloves which opens here tomorrow and continues through Thursday night.

Exactly 87 boys had been listed with Director Jimmy Delmar late today and it was probable that a half dozen well known amateurs who failed to register would be on hand to weigh in tomorrow.

A hot scrap for the team championship loomed between Todd-Houston shipyards, the defending titlists, and Rice Institute. Each has entered between 15 and 20 boys.

Woman To Be Coach Of Beaumont Glovers

BEAUMONT, Tex., Jan. 22 (AP)—A woman will coach the Beaumont Golden Gloves squad this year.

Mrs. Nedia Morgan will succeed her husband, Buddy Morgan, as Gloves mentor during the remaining two weeks of the training season before the local tournament Feb. 5-8.

Morgan recently was recalled by the United States Maritime service.

Mrs. Morgan, 28, is experienced in training routine, having bossed her husband's road and gym work for a half-dozen years when he campaigned as a pro boxer.

Readjusting School Aid

Selfishness Likely Will Prevail

SEN. PAT BULLOCK, of Colorado City, is on firm ground in his legislative proposal that the people of Texac be permitted to vote on a constitutional amendment calling for state school aid's being based upon daily attendance figures of each individual school district, instead of on the basis of scholastic enrollment.

Such an amendment should be offered to the voters of Texas and it should be overwhelmingly adopted. But knowing Texas politics, it is our guess that no such amendment will be offered any time soon and, if it is, it will be defeated upon the altar of selfishness.

Older sections of Texas always get more than their share of state school aid than newer sections, including the South Plains, because such aid is based upon the number of children of school age residing in those older sections, rather than upon the number which actually go to school. In ratio, many more children residing in this area actually go to school than is the case in those areas heavily populated by negroes and people of Mexican descent. Then, too, Texas has such a large migratory population that school systems which actually educate thousands of students do not receive the aid for those students, the financial apportionment going, instead, to the school district in which they are counted as residents but in which they spend only half, or less, of each school year.

Senator Bullock's idea is not a new one. The justice of it is privately admitted everywhere in this state.

But until human nature changes, and legislators and voters in the older sections of the state treat the subject fairly and honestly, the same old system will continue in vogue.

It's simply another case in which principle is subjugated to "expediency."

Old Yarn With New Twists

AN old story with a new twist to fit the times has to do with the office boy who, on opening day of the baseball season, goes to his boss and says:

"I'd like the afternoon off, please sir. You see, my grandmother—"

"Yes," replies the boss, "I know. Your grandmother is 'dead,' and you want to attend her 'funeral'—at the ball park."

"No, sir," the boy further explains. "My grandmother isn't dead. Shes playing right field!"

Come to think of it, if everything we're hearing now about the manpower shortage is true, there won't be any more office boys, or grandmothers either 'dying,' or playing right field.

They'll all be operating cranes, riveting machines, lathes and pneumatic hammers.

That is, all of them not working for government bureaus!

Pay Your Poll Tax Anyway!

IT is true that 1945 is an "off year," politically speaking, here in Texas.

But it also is true that occasionally on "off year" brings out some form of special election more important, in many respects, than regular "political years" bring.

Therefore, the wise citizen will pay his poll tax this year, just as he paid it last year when he had, in Lubbock, a city election, a school board election, two Democratic primaries and a general election in November —the "jackpot" as far as voting goes.

It is entirely possible, if not probable, that something in addition to the regular school board elections will crop up in Lubbock, or in any South Plains city or county, this year. Careful citizens will want to be prepared to express their opinions at the polls.

So pay your poll tax by the January 31 deadline. Even if you don't use your right to vote on anything except school elections, the money—half of which goes to public education in Texas—will be well spent.

In the first decade of the current century, during extreme shifts in milady's waistline, there were seasons when a woman's waistline was lower than the hem of the currently styled skirt.

"Hitler has been heartbroken since the bomb attempt on his lie in July," says a Nazi official. If so, this was the first explosion on record that blew a man's pants off and broke his heart.

Another explanation for the fat woman wearing slacks in public is that her mirror isn't large enough for her to see what she looks like in slacks.

Did anyone ever see a child laugh while reading a funny paper?

XII

Seeing that Walt's spirit of adventure had died a borning, Mrs. Drummond lost interest in him. She had none to lose in his wife. As soon as she could break free, she set out for the pool.

Walt hung back, waiting for Margaret's abuse. Instead, she stared at him as if she were aghast with fear.

"Go on," she muttered. "Go on, take your swim."

"I'd rather be with you, honey. I'll get back into my other clothes. You wait for me."

"Go on and have your swim, I tell you!" She seemed to scream it in a whisper. But he insisted:

"Wait for me."

He hurried back to the locker room, undressed, and redressed as fast as he could. When he returned he could not find her anywhere. He saw Mrs. Drummond climb out of the pool and stand on the ledge. In her glistening wet bathing suit she looked from a distance to be a masterpiece of naked sculpture.

Jennifer came to him running and more than ever like the Margaret he had known in the days when they had gone swimming together. Jennifer was panting with terror:

"What's happened to mother?"

"I can't find her."

"I saw you with her and Mrs. Drummond on the steps. Then you left her and she stood there till a taxicab brought somebody to the club. Then she got in it and it drove away. She acted as if she were trying to keep from—from crying."

"Home, of course. Where else?"

He hurried to his car and drove as fast as he dared. When he reached the house he braced himself for the blare of the radio. The place was silent as a tomb. Margaret was not to be seen. He ran upstairs, his heart bursting with the dread that she had done something desperate.

He found her in her room, in front of her tall mirror! She was striking attitudes, and comparing herself with what was apparently a photograph in her hand!

He was about to turn away in disgust with himself and her when she caught sight of him in the looking glass. She whirled, called his name in a strange voice out of the old time.

"Walter! Walter!"

Her eyes were pools of tears. She flung her arms about him as if she were drowning, and hid her face from him by holding him close—as close as she could nowadays.And she poured out her heart in a panic of fear that made her young again as only fear can.

"This afternoon when I was standing there on one side of you, and that woman—that beautiful Mrs. Drummond—was on the other side of you, it was like I'd been struck by lightning. She's had three children and she looks like she might be one of mine. She was so trim and smart and carried herself so well and knew what to say and—oh, I understand why she's taken you away from me."

She smothered his answer with her fat arm about his neck and across his mouth.

"I'm not blaming you. I wonder you've stood me as long as you have. I haven't been the wife I promised to be. It's too late to get back; but I'm going to try to get back to myself. It will take a long time; but I'm going to starve my body and feed my mind. You take your Mrs. Drummond and forget me. I'll go away somewhere where I won't be a dead weight on you.

"That Mrs. Drummond gave me such a scare I came home to see just what I really looked like. In the mirror I saw myself just now as what I am.

"I remembered that photograph you've always kept and what I wrote on it, 'To By Beloved, from his faithful wife.' But I haven't been faithful. What happened to what I was, Walt? Where did I go? I feel as if I had been asleep for years, and just woke up. No wonder you stopped loying me. Poor Walter! Poor me!"

Unbelieving, he held her away so that he could look into her eyes. She was so ashamed of her face, all blubbered and briny, that she tried to hide it again. But he found in her terror and her helplessness something that he had looked for long in vain. In his heart the old love welled up again. He was pleading with her now:

"I haven't stopped loving you, honey. Mrs. Drummond's pretty; she's smart. What of it? So are millions of others. But you're mine, and I'm yours, and we're ours, now and forever, one and inseparable."

She laughed hysterically. "That last was by Noah Webster, wasn't it? Or was it in the Constitution?

"Oh, dear, I used to read and study and talk to you. Do you suppose—Oh, Walter, Walter, help me! Wait for me. Find me some primes about What Every Old Wife Ought to Know. Do you suppose I could some day go round the links again with you? And—and—oh, my beloved!"

Suddenly the whole world was a new place. His bride was struggling to throw off the spell the old witch of time had cast upon her. She was already returning to him to redeem her life and his own.

Promises that are broken may be redeemed, and hearts that are broken can grow together again.

Margaret had thought she was scared to death. But she had been scared back to life.

Before long she was smiling again and that was better than laughing. A little later she was saying:

"We owe the Beckleys a dinner. I'm afraid they got the impression that we didn't love each other. I'd like to have them over some night soon and show them that they don't know what marriage really means."

THE END

War Correspondents Are Praised By AP

DALLAS, Jan. 22. (AP) — Associated Press war correspondents drew warm praise from the Texas Associated Press association here yesterday at its annual meeting.

In a one-day gathering the association changed its name from Texas Associated Press Managing Editors' association, re-elected officers, and voted to support the world free-press campaign led by Kent Cooper, executive director of the A. P.

Bethea Is Guest

Honor guest at the meeting was Brig. Gen. James A. Bethea, commanding general at McCloskey General hospital, Temple, Gen. Bethea paid tribute to the Texas press in its support of McCloskey hospital.

Capt. F. J. Moss, public relations officer at McCloskey, reviewed some of the general hospital's functions, and said not one of an estimated 20,000 men released from the hospital has left without the offer of a "bona fide" job.

James R. Record, managing editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, is chairman of the group and Dean Chenoweth, managing editor of the San Angelo Standard Times, secretary.

Bear-baiting, once a popular English sport, was prohibited by Parliament in 1835.

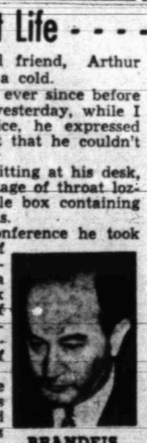

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

MY very good friend, Arthur Croft, has a cold.

He has had it ever since before Christmas and yesterday, while I was in my office, he expressed his astonishment that he couldn't get rid of it.

While I was sitting at his desk, I noticed a package of throat lozenges and a little box containing some brown pills.

During the conference he took a teaspoonful of some green liquid out of a bottle and drank a half a glass of water with a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda in it.

BRANDEIS

Between the medicines he was sneezing and coughing and his eyes were running and the telephone was ringing and people came in and out and there was the general turmoil of what is usually called a successful business.

When it finally became a little quiet, Art said to me:

"Do you know, Erich, what I am going to do if this cold doesn't get any better soon?"

"No, what?" I said and acted as if I expected something very wise and scientific.

"I am going home and go to bed for at least three days. And I am going to take a briefcase full of work home with me and do my work right in bed. Betty (that's his secretary) can come out and take my dictation and the telephone calls can be switched to the house. I got a phone right alongside of my bed."

So there you are.

Art's going to take it easy, with a briefcase full of work and telephones ringing all day and a secretary to take dictation.

And if Art doesn't look out there will a little notice in the papers one of these days, saying that Arthur Croft, president of the National Foremen's Institute, died from a nervous breakdown, that he was 50 years old, is survived by a widow and a son in the armed forces, that the funeral will be private and please omit flowers.

Quite a few people will say "Oh, isn't that too bad, he shouldn't have worked so hard," and a year or so Art will have been forgotten by most people and the world will go on just the same.

WHY on earth do we all have to take ourselves so seriously?

Why can't we learn to relax and to play and go to bed when we have colds and leave the darn briefcases and the telephone calls and the secretaries at the office where they belong?

The only thing I ever use a briefcase for is for my pajamas and shaving kit when I go to town.

When I am home — unless I write my column like I do right now — I forget all about the great burden I carry on my shoulders.

May be that is why I walk pretty straight at my age when others I know are stoop-shouldered and gray-haired.

May be that's why I have very few colds and why so many people say I'm just a lazy good-for-nothing, who tells other people what to do and doesn't do it himself.

May be you think it's all wrong. But I like it and I bet I get a lot more out of life than Art Croft with all his money and all his pills.

GOP Split Healed

Axis Disarmament Favored

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE Vandenberg-Austin demand for immediate American commitment in favor of permanent Axis disarmament appears to have allayed factional differences which threatened to disrupt the Republican party inside and outside the Senate. Before Mr. Vandenberg advanced his historic declaration, the GOP was split to smithereens on this grave international issue.

In the Senate the isolationist group was represented by men like Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, where Wendell Willkie was so badly defeated in the presidential primary last year, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Senator Hugh Butler of Nebraska, chief opponent of our "Good Neighbor" policy in South America.

TUCKER

Senators Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Chan Gurney of South Dakota stood at the other extreme as advocates of international cooperation, although the New Englander had grown critical of the Administration's policies in recent months.

HOT: The minority recognized the existence of these disagreements in naming two men to fill vacancies on the Foreign Relations committee. It picked Mr. Bridges to represent the cooperative crowd and Mr. Wiley as a spokesman for the antis. It sidetracked Mr. Gurney for the Wisconsin man, although the former had a prior claim on the basis of seniority.

Senator Vandenberg's bold demand, however, has united the contrary groups, at least temporarily. They can, and probably will, abstain from violent censure of FDR's foreign policy until after his February conference with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Josef Stalin.

Then, if the American President does not submit the Michigan member's demand to his United Nations partners, or if they reject it, the GOP believes it will be justified in delivering an all-out assault on alleged "secret" White House negotiations with our Allies.

It is not generally realized, but the Grand Rapids man has put the "Big Three" on a hot spot. How they react to his proposal, provided that the President delivers this ultimatum, will disclose whether they intend to abide by the general principles of the Atlantic Charter.

SACRIFICES: Army-Navy officers in charge of over-all war strategy welcomed James F. Byrnes' orders requiring greater conservation of manpower, materials and fuel to permit more intensive prosecution of the struggle in its most grueling stages.

They have presented these requests to the administration for more than a year, but it was obviously difficult to impose the new restrictions before the presidential election.

The high command, however, does not believe that the hard-boiled director of war mobilization and reconversion went far enough. Its private program for summoning the nation to complete mobilization contemplates far greater sacrifices until Germany is conquered and we can devote all our energies to the crushing of Japan.

BANNED: Here, in brief, is what the generals want:

Transportation: All railroad travel except that connected with prosecution of the war or production of weapons should be strictly banned, with prospective voyagers required to obtain "passports" from the Office of Defense Transportation. Gasoline allowances should be reduced by a flat twenty per cent.

Food: Rationing of edibles, especially meat and canned goods, should be made more strict. The cut proposed is twenty per cent. If some military planners had their way, production of beer would be banned for the duration. Manufacture of whisky would be curtailed, and only one quart a week would be allowed to a purchaser.

Amusements: Serving time for cocktail rooms, night clubs, hotels and restaurants would be sharply restricted, possibly to the hours from six to ten. Lavish entertainments at "hot spots" would be stopped. It is figured that thousands of men and women in the entertainment trade could be utilized in a 4-F capacity.

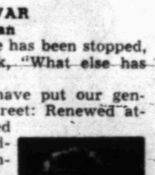

Note: In view of advertisements begging people not to use the long-distance phone for unimportant calls, the all-out-for-war advocates ask why, until recently, Frank Sinatra was permitted to pay a weekly toll bill of more than four thousand dollars to transmit his crooning over the radio. And this is only one of the holes in the national defense line which escaped the notice of War Mobilizer Byrnes!

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

EVEN though the Nazi offensive has been stopped, our high command must ask, "What else has Hitler on the docket?"

Two dangerous possibilities have put our generals and admirals on uneasy street: Renewed attacks by Berlin's three hundred U-boats and another von Rundstedt surprise blow from a concealed jumping-off place.

LEMAN

Very few submarine depredations have occurred since last spring. Our defensive system proved too much for the tin fish and they were withdrawn to the safety of the Baltic. But the Germans do not permit fighting equipment to lie idle.

Sporadic forays have been reported lately. Naval experts think that something far more serious may be in the offing—not merely robot bombs dropped on Washington or New York as propaganda but an attempt to sink our convoys before they have sailed from American harbors.

ROBOTS: Behind such reasoning is that, when Anglo-American fliers strafed Reich industries, Berlin did not abandon making weapons. Blitzed cities carried on as best they could while the government revolutionized the production system.

Factories were transferred to central Germany. Thousands of small shops and homes all over the Reich manufactured parts piecemeal. In target zones industries burrowed underground. An example is the recently discovered airplane plant with modern machinery that was set up in a Paris subway by the Nazis.

BOMBS: Navy men suspecting parallel activities in the submarine field. They think that the time out may have been caused by a shift in plans and, during the lull, the underwater craft may possibly have been remodeled to carry robot bombs to the North American coast.

And instead of U-boats preying on freighters and troop ships in European waters or under the watchful eyes of escort ships and planes in mid-Atlantic, that Admiral Karl Doenitz may play a new trick:

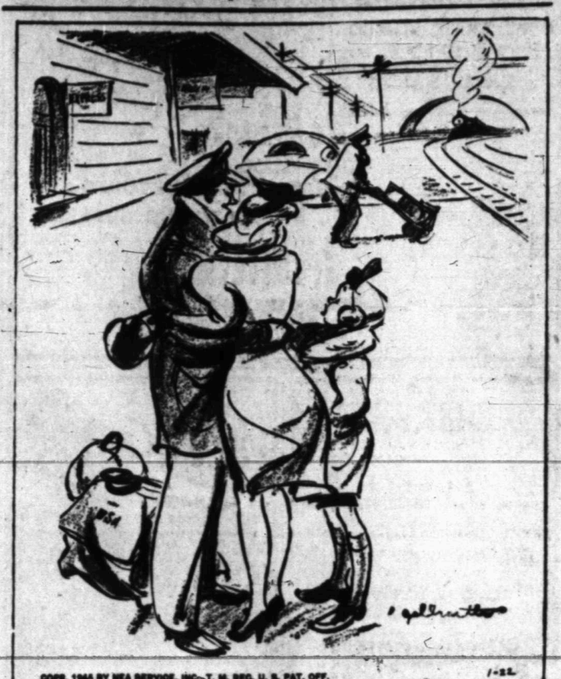

A wolf pack may suddenly surface miles offshore—anywhere from Halifax to Norfolk—and by split-second timing hurl projectiles simultaneously into a mass of transports, tankers or ammunition ships riding at anchor or tied up at docks. Regardless of the erattic behavior of rocket bombs, such a concentration of fire undoubtedly would score bull's-eyes. Shots that missed vessels might explode in the city.

Immediately after the volley the raiders would dive and scatter before our avenging fliers and sailors could blow them to bits.

It is reported that German scientists have invented "an extensible air intake and exhaust machinery" which permits U-boats to remain submerged for a long period and thus removes the necessity of promptly resurfacing at night to recharge batteries. Gyroscopes might be employed to stabilize deck launching platforms.

Such an onset would be for practical military purposes and would be more damaging to us than a propaganda missile dropped in the Times Square theater district. If successful, it would give Goebbels something to crow over.

Texans In Washington

Rubber Experiment A Failure

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON.—A recent trip to Haiti by the House Special Rubber Investigating committee furnished much proof that the cryptistegia plant holds out little prospect as an economic source of natural rubber.

There have been some test planting in the Rio Grande Valley, but in the Caribbean republic the United States in the last three years has spent $7,000,000 to put 43,000 acres into cultivation.

Headed by Rep. W. R. Poage, of Waco, the congressional committee last fall toured guayule-producing areas in California and Texas and recommended that so long as the Japanese hold the big hevea tree plantations in the Dutch East Indies there should be no curtailment in the 30,000 acres devoted to guayule. Then the group turned to cryptostegia, a bush-like plant with long latex-bearing shoots.

It found that during the past year all but 400 of the 43,000 acres planted in Haiti had been turned back to their original use. Much of the land was semi-arid, overgrown with a tree kin to the mesquite, some was in mango and coconut palm while a few thousand acres was in cultivation.

A Costly Proposition

All to be shown for the expenditure of the seven million American dollars, put out through the Rubber Development corporation, was a few hundred tons of rubber. Still maintained by the RDC is an experimental test station on 400 acres, with its two American research workers and their Haitian native assistants. The station costs the U. S. $80,000 a year. Whether it will be continued beyond the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, is a question to be decided.

AT prsent latex is gathered by the slow process of grasping several of the shoots together, cutting off their tips, and letting the milk-like fluid drip into a cup. The primary justification in continuing the experiment station, in the opinion of its director, is to see whether the trunk of the cryptostegia might at its mature age of about four years, when irrigated, reach sufficient size to be tapped as are hevea trees. It then would have to be determined whether the quantity of latex taken would be sufficient to make it a paying undertaking, even in Haiti with 30 cents a day labor.

Texans Are Everywhere

The trip to Port au Prince, Haiti's capital, was made in a naval air transport service plane, via Miami and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

During a stopover in Miami, Poage met a fellow Wacoan, a naval lieutenant by the name of McGlasson. At Port au Prince it developed that the owner of the hotel was formerly from Tyler and Marshall. She was Mrs. Elizabeth Moore Roy, wife of the head of the Haitian air force.

After the death of her father, Dr. J. Frank Moore of Marshall, when she was a small girl, Mrs. Roy went to New York and five years ago settled in Haiti after a sightseeing tour there as an artist. Her hotel is on a mountainside overlooking the harbor.

AROUND the Capital: A recent caller on Rep. Gene Worley was his fellow townsman, Technical Sergeant John Hays of Shamrock. Hays, who spent 33 months in China and India with the army air forces, now has been assigned to duty in Lubbock.

At lunch with Speaker Sam Rayburn and their congressman, Ed Gossett, in the House dining room were Mayor W. B. Hamilton, Newspaper Publisher Rhea Howard, Dick Knight and Joe B. Carrigan, all of Wichita Falls. They were here urging that Wichita Falls be made a stop on an Oklahoma City-El Paso air route.

Connally Breaks Precedent

The withdrawal of a treaty from the Senate, as in the case of the Anglo-American oil pact recently, seldom occurs. Since the beginning of this government some 1,100 treaties have been sent by the President to the Senate for ratification, and only 11 have been withdrawn for revision or outright cancellation. The opposition of Texas' Tom Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, to the oil treaty is considered the reason for its withdrawal.

A RECEPTIONIST and aide in the outer office of J. Edgar Hoover at FBI headquarters here is Miss Irene Cariker of Rusk. The housing problem in Washington isn't a myth, says Corpus Christi's new Congressman John E. Lyle. He and his wife and daughter, Wanda, 14, found a house in nearby Arlington on a temporary basis, but are searching high and low for a place.

East Texas Congressman Tom Pickett found an apartment for his family, also in Arlington. They are neighbors to and old friend, Naval Lieutenant and Mrs. Stephen Kerr of Nacogdoches and Jacksonville.

Congressman Combs of Beaumont, whose wife remained behind in Texas until he finds a permanent place, lived for a week at the Statler hotel and then had to move out under a 7-day limit in force there. He is staying presently at the Dodge hotel, not far from the capitol.

INSIDE JOB

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (U.P.) — Mrs. Charles Mitten found a perfect egg within an egg recently. The only thing wrong with the "inside one," which even had a hard shell, was that it was about one-fourth the size of an ordinary egg.

Hitch In Water Treaty Feared

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—Belief that Mexico would not agree to separate treaties dealing with the Colorado and Rio Grande rivers was expressed today by a member of the United States section of the International Boundary comission.

The official, L. M. Lawson, was questioned on this point by Senator Downey (D-Calif) at Senate Foreign Relations committee hearings on the proposed Colorado river-Rio Grande river treaty between Mexico and the United States.

Previous to Lawson's appearance, Undersecretary of State Joseph C. Grew read the committee a statement from Secretary of State Stettinius urging ratification of the treaty.

Agreement Doubted

Downey, an opponent of the treaty, interrupted Lawson's statement to ask if he thought Mexico might agree to separate river treates.

"It is my opinion that Mexico would not," Lawson replied.

Pressed by Downey on the point, Lawson said that Mexico had not refused "in so many words" to treat the rivers as separate problems, but that from her acts one could conclude the opinion she would take that position.

Senator Hayden (D-Ariz) then remarked that the Colorado and Rio Grande have been regarded as related problems since the passage of the Boulder Dam act. Texas congressmen supported that legislation with the "assurance," said Hayden, that Texas would benefit from the dam by being allowed to take more water from the Rio Grande. He did not elaborate on what "assurance" had been given the Texans.

Stettinius said in his statement that equitable division of the waters of the Colorado, the Rio Grande and the Tijuana rivers between this country and Mexico is one of the few matters of major importance still pending between the two countries.

"Well-Nigh Intolerable"

"So long has settlement of this problem been delayed that there has come into existence a well-night intolerable situation, which the completion of the Boulder dam on the Colorado river early in 1935 has aggravated rather than relieved," he said.

The foreign relations committee disclosed today that representatives of Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Utah and Wyoming will appear in behalf of the treaty before the hearings are concluded. California officials are opposing the pact.

The treaty would in effect divide the waters of the Rio Grande below Fort Quitman, Tex., about equally between the United States and Mexico and guarantee Mexico at least 1,500,000 acre feet of water annually from the Colorado. It also would provide for an investigation and allocation of waters of the Tijuana river.

Lawson testified that 70 per cent of the water that flows down the lower Rio Grande originates in Mexico, which brought the comment from Downey:

"So the state of Texas by this treaty would obtain about 800,000 acre-feet of water more than is contributed by the United States."

Lawson answered that without a treaty authorizing dams on the international stream, this country can not fully utilize all the water that it does contribute.

In answer to further questioning by Senator Millikin (R-Colo), Lawson said that Colorado contributes about 70 per cent of the water in the Colorado river, and that California contributes the least amount of any state in the basin.

Lawson will resume testimony tomorrow.

IMPROVED TONE REFLECTED

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Stocks rallied selectively today but the market, on average, reflected the greatly improved tone of the war news by registering its fourth successive decline.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .2 of a point at 58.1, bringing the loss since last Wednesday to 1.7 points. The market was broad, 950 issues appearing. Of these, 465 were down, 261 up and 224 unchanged.

Bonds were irregularly lower, some rails steadying at the last.

In the curb Pantepec and Lake Shore moved into the plus column. On the downside were Consolidated Steel, Electric Bond and Share, Republic Aviation and Solar Aircraft. Turnover here was 407,455 shares versus 446,885 in the previous 5-hour session.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular today with near months steady on light mill buying, while distant months were moderately under the previous close reflecting uncertainty over the war developments and their effect on the cotton industry next season.

In early trading the market sold off as much as 65 cents a bale on nervous liquidation and hedging but values recovered partially when selling abated.

Futures closed 5 to 20 cents a bale higher.

Bowen Drivers Take Case To Attorneys

DALLAS, Jan. 22. (AP)—Bowen Motor coach drivers and maintenance men in Texas who went on a strike Jan. 15 after becoming impatient over receipt of retroactive pay had their checks today but were referring further dissatisfaction to their attorneys.

Bert Wayne of Fort Worth, secretary of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, AFL, which represents the workers, was quoted by the Times Herald as saying Christmas 1943 bonuses to the men were deducted from the checks which were to have been calculated on their work hours since the pay hike was granted.

Bonus Amounts Sought

The 1943 bonus was paid to the men as a gift from R. C. Bowen, then owner of the company, Wayne declared. M. E. Moore, president, bought controlling stock from Bowen on Jan. 16, 1944. Employes did not receive a 1944 Christmas bonus, Wayne said.

"Steps will be taken to recover the bonus amounts," Wayne added.

He also said that while Dallas and Fort Worth drivers had received checks, those at Victoria, Palacios and other South Texas points still did not have theirs today.

The Times Herald quoted M. S. Maloney, vice-president of the company, as saying at Fort Worth no complaints over the checks had been received by the company.

He declined comment on the 1943 bonus matter.

House Committee Chairmanships Go, In Main, To Veteran Members

AUSTIN, Jan. 22. (AP)—Appointment today of permanent house committees virtually completed organization of the 49th Legislature which faces a big agenda, much of it controversial.

Speaker Claud Gilmer's announcement of committee assignments clears the way for committee work on bills.

The Senate, its standing committees already at work, adjourned after a brief session and Chairman H. L. Winfield of the committee on governor's nominations announced that group would meet tomorrow.

Presumably the committee will map a slate of hearings on appointees of the governor, including nominees to the board of regents of the University of Texas, a subject which is expanding in its controversial aspects.

Prinicpal House committee chairmanships went to veteran members.

Part Of List Given

Some of the top assignments included the following chairmanships. M. B. Morgan of Denison, appropriations; Joe C. Humphrey of Abilene, congressional and legislative districts; Frank B. Voight of New Braunfels, common carriers; Donald M. Markle of Galveston, constitutional amendments; Otts E. Lock of Zavalla, education; Harry J. Jordan of Waco, federal relations; Harry L. Davis of Boerne, game and fisheries; S. J. Isaacks, judiciary and uniform state laws; Durwood Manford of Gonzales, highway and roads; W. W. Bridgers of El Paso, labor; Harley Sadler of Sweetwater, livestock; Sam Hanna of Dallas, liquor; Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba, military affairs; G. H. Little of Amarillo, motor traffic; Charles V. Lansberry of Georgetown, oil, gas and mining; George Parkhouse of Dallas, penitentiaries; Will L. Smith of Beaumont, privileges, suffrage and elections; W. A. Williamson of San Antonio, public health; Obel McAllister of Fort Worth, state affairs; W. R. Chambers of May, revenue and taxation.

Committees Study Bills

Committees are key organizations within the legislature since those in either branch first study and make alterations upon bills before they are sent to the floor for consideration.

The public's opportunity to speak its mind about proposed bills comes before committees which orders public hearings on most measures, particularly those of controversial nature.

Changes In Social Security Asked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP) — The Social Security board today asked Congress to "correct defects" in the Social Security act to make it "an even stronger bulwark of social stability, economic progress and free enterprise."

Topping the board's recommendations was an extension of the unemployment insurance system to 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 presently excluded workers, and of the old-age and survivors insurance progrom to 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 additional employes and self-employed persons.

The board also asked for the setting up of a system of disability and sickness insurance.

In addition to extending coverage to persons employed by small firms, farm workers, employes of state and local governments and others not now included, the board's recommendations included:

Increase duration of benefits to 26 weeks.

Increase in maximum weekly benefits to $25, including dependents' allowances.

The board renewed previous recomendations for a system of insurance for medical and hospital care.

(Doc) Mooney, district price executive of the Office of Price Administration, at regular luncheon meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday noon in Hilton hotel. Jeff Steel, Carl Sutton and Fred Norman were named to sell tickets for the President's birthday ball to be held Jan. 30 at the Hilton hotel and the Cotton club, by Cliff Cummings, president, who presided. A work conference scheduled Feb. 10-11 has been indifenitely postponed, Cummings announced. Virgil Rowland was program chairman and out-of-town guest was Guy Davis of Fort Worth.

After serving 34 months as a machine gunner in an airborne anti-aircraft unit in the China-Burma-India theatre, Pfc. Joe Ed Wright is home on a 21-day furlough. He is visiting his wife and daughter, Charlotte Ann, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wright at their home, 1420 Ave. E. At the end of his furlough, Pfc. Wright will report to Hot Springs, Ark., for rest and reassignment. He will be accompanied by his wife.

Roy Brandon Welch, son of Mrs. Ola Mae Welch of Lubbock, is missing in action, the Eighth Naval district announced. Welch, aviation machinist's mate third class, is the husband of Mrs. Mary Ruth Welch of Ballinger.

The body of Seaman 2/c Farris Tomlinson of Ropesville was to arrive in Lubbock at midnight Monday and the body of his wife is to arrive tonight, Plains Funeral home announced. Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson were killed in an automobile accident Jan. 14 near Sacramento, Calif.

Funeral services for J. J. Meacham, 28, who died Saturday night in a Lubbock hospital after an illness of two years, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Central Baptist church with the pastor, Rev. Jeff D. Welch, officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Mrs. Ernest D. Hedrick left Monday to spend 10 days in New York with her husband who is a Navy sea-rescue pilot. Ensign Hedrick is stationed on an island in the Atlantic.

Theft of a camera from his car "sometime in the last two weeks" was reported to police Monday afternoon by J. D. Treadgill, 2705 Twenty-eighth.

Norfolk Conditions Are Said 'Alarming'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (U.P.)—Sen. James M. Mead, (D.-N. Y.), told the Senate today that at the Norfolk Navy yard—said to be short 4,000 essential workers—a war investigating committee last week found "excess manpower, wasted labor, hoarded labor and enforced loafing."

Mead, chairman of the committee, said it was his "painful duty to reveal to the Senate an alarming condition."

Although the armed services paint a "gloomy picture of their labor needs" and put the ship repair program on their "must list," Mead said, "what we learned in Norfolk is deeply disturbing and significant."

Norfolk Navy yard both builds and repairs ships and employs more than 38,000 persons, he said.

Mead told the Senate that committee members checked several large shops and went through several ships "and here is what we found":

"Each of the members of our subcommittee personally saw idleness and loafing on a big scale.

"Men stood and sat around in groups smoking and talking right on the decks of vital fighting ships. Their bosses were not to be seen."

The men themselves "think there are too many of them on the job."

"They say they are unable to do an honest day's work."

Japan Expects To Carry Out Exchange

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Japanese government has advised Washington that it expects to be able to carry out an exchange of interned citizens of the two countries some time this year.

The State department today made public a note sent from Tokyo late last year through Spanish diplomatic channels giving the enemy's official reaction to insistent American proposals that a third exchange be arranged as soon as possible.

The Japanese said that they are particularly interested in repatriating nationals held at the Tule Lake, Calif., segregation center.

Prisoners Of War Cards Are Received

More prisoner of war cards were received here yesterday from members of the 131st Field artillary who were taken prisoner by the Japs in February, 1942, on Java.

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Morris, 1320 Tewtny-eighth, had their second card in a week from their son, Pfc. James R. Morris. The one received Monday was dated May 20, 1944, and the one received last week was over a year old. Both were from the same camp.

Mrs. Dora Breedlove of Lubbock route 2 also had a card from her son, Pvt. Dan F. Barnes, the first communication from him since December, 1943.

The cards were dated in ink by the prisoners and signed by them. All were from Thai War Prisoner's camp No. 3, Nike, Thailand.

Others known to have been heard from during the past few days are Buster Holton, Jack Cellum, Huddleston Wright, Glen Self, Henry C. Drake, Weldon S. Hudnall and Lt. Llo B. Hard.

Teacher College War Aid Asked

AUSTIN, Jan. 22. (AP) — Vocational shop facilities of Sam Houston State Teachers college at Huntsville would be used in the manufacture and assembly of aerial bomb fin units under the terms of a bill offered by Senator Roger A. Knight of Madisonville.

Knight's measure would authorize the board of regents of state teacher colleges to execute contracts with the "federal government or sub-contracts with firms or individuals for the manufacture and delivery of munitions during the present emergency."

A bulletin recently issued by the college points out that vocational shop facilities, particularly in the sheet metal and machine shop departments, which were augmented by receipt of National Youth Administration equipment, could be easily converted to assembly producton for essential war goods.

Funeral At O'Donnell Today For Wm. Eaker

Funeral services for William A. Eaker, 74, who died at his home at O'Donnell Sunday afternoon, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the O'Donnell First Baptist church, it was reported.

Rev. J. M. Hale, pastor of the church, will officiate.

Eaker, who was born in 1870 in Llano county, witnessed the funeral of the notorious outlaw, "Billy the Kid," at Sumner, N. M., when he was only 12 years old. A short time later Eaker's family moved back to Llano county, where he lived for many years. He had farmed at O'Donnell for the last 13 years.

Eaker was also a first cousin of Gen. Ira Eaker, who has played a prominent role in this war.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Annie Eaker of O'Donnell; six sons, J. T., Arch, Melvin, Joe and Holly, all of O'Donnell, Mike of Seminole; seven daughters, Mrs. Lilly Page and Mrs. Erma Sherrold, both of O'Donnell, Mrs. Myrtle Kelly of La Fry, Mrs. Willie Dillard and Mrs. Holly Davis, both of Spanish Fort, Mrs. Linnie Davis of Houston and Mrs. Gertrude Raines of Tahoka.

Retired General Is Dead At Age Of 75

LEE'S SUMMIT, Mo., Jan. 22. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Andrew Vance Adams, retired, who for 23 years served as property and disbursing officer of the Missouri National guard at Jefferson City, died at his home here last night. He was 75.

Following retirement at the age of 64, Adams moved to Harlingen, Tex., where he lived until two years ago, when returned to Missouri. He was a native of Butler, Mo.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Life Returns To French Capital

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
(Substituting for Kennet L. Dixon)

PARIS, Jan. 20. (Delayed) (AP)—Returning to Paris and seeing its famed boulevards teeming again with military vehicles is a case of experiencing history in reverse to those few foreign correspondents who, like the writer, drove in German trucks into the fallen French capital June 14, 1940.

But what a difference! Then the streets and avenues were empty; now they teem with life.

Then I counted exactly 11 persons at Paris' busiest spot, the famed Place Concord. Normal life is in evidence there now except that there are only a few private cars and no taxis.

Then 75 per cent of the inhabitants had fled before the blitzing enemy. Now they are back in their homes, even though hot water is rationed and electric current fails occasionally.

Parisans Are Happier

I seldom saw a sadder sight than Parisians kneeling in tears at the Unknown Soldier's tomb, fearing that the sacrifices of 1914-18 had been in vain. Now Frenchmen and foreigners again come to pay homage at the tomb, but it is with new hope in their hearts for a lasting peace.

By an ironic twist of fate, Allied war correspondents live at the same hotel where the Nazis billeted us in 1940, but again, what a change! Then surly French waiters served on command. White linens had disappeared. Food was cooked by indifferent, if not hostile chefs. Now we enjoy excellent meals brought by smiling waiters as we sit at tables where the linen is changed after each customer.

I again hear the familiar peacetime cries of newsboys selling some 20-odd dailies. These are mere tabloids, one-sheet affairs, but at least they express diverging views from the Communist to the conservative. Back in 1940 only collaborationist organs were tolerated by the Gestapo.

London Bad By Comparison

The outward picture of Paris differs favorably from London since only a relatively few bullet holes in some public buildings indicate that fighting took place in the French capital. Paris remains one of the world's most beautiful cities even though its buildings need repairs, cleaning and painting. London, on the other hand, bears testimony at almost every step to the terrible toll of destruction exacted by air attacks.

In one alarming respect, however, the Paris of 1945 differs unfavorably from the Paris of 1940. The population distinctly bears the earmarks of malnutrition, of economic worry and of nervous disorders occasioned by the war.

New Naval Casualty List Names Texan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—The Navy department today announced the names of 296 casualties of the U. S. Naval forces not heretofore released on Navy department casualty lists, including the following from Texas:

J. Arville Page, machinist's mate second class, U. S. Naval Reserve. Dead. (Previously reported missing on report of naval casulties for Oct. 26, 1944). Wife, Mrs. Dorothy Ellen Page, Abilene.

Eric Johnston Toys With Movie Offer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said today he was considering accepting a position in the movie industry but not until nearer the end of the year.

"I have been approached by the leaders of the movie industry to accept a place with them," Johnston said in response to injuiries, "and there have been discussions along that line with no conclusions reached."
