SENIOR CITIZEN BUS DRIVERS

Collingsworth County has acquired a van to be used for senior citizens with a federal and state grant through the Governor's Committee on Aging. The van will be available to take senior citizens to doctors' offices, to buy groceries and other supplies and to take them on recreation and entertainment outings, including out-of-town trips. The van holds 15. Volunteer drivers, pictured with the van above, are, from left, Beverly Neeley with Vanya, Wanda Manuel, Chester Wadley, Delores Weatherly with Rodney, Willie B. Harwell and Jeanice Adams. Senior citizens who wish to request service or get more information on the van should call the RSVP office, 447-2935.

Hospital Bonds Pass By 9 to One Margin

Collingsworth citizens approved by a 9 to one vote Tuesday, October 17, the issuance of $150,000 in hospital bonds to update Collingsworth General Hospital and pay for work already done.

Approval for Proposition 1 was 970 with 100 voting against it. This calls for the issuance of $105,000 in hospital bonds.

The vote was 957 approval and 98 against Proposition 2, calling for the issuance of $45,000 in hospital refunding bonds.

The overwhelming margin by which the bond issue passed surprised even the strongest supporters.

"We certainly appreciate the vote, it means the hospital will stay open," said Otis Emmert, chairman of the hospital board. "The board will use the money to the best advantage we can."

The board will hold its regular meeting Monday night and at that time will begin its search for a new administrator, Emmert said. "We'll try to get one as soon as possible, then check our expenditures and try to cut every expense we can to the bone. We're going to try to make this thing work. We've got to," he said.

"This is a wonderful vote. It shows people are interested in keeping our hospital open. The board is tickled that the county is behind us."

He indicated that at an early date, the board will begin efforts to bring another doctor to Wellington.

Dr. Holcomb, hospital chief of staff, told The Wellington Leader:

"We can bow our necks and go to work. This hasn't solved all our problems, and it's going to require a lot of hard work now."

Other board members were as high in their praise of the mandate from the people to keep the hospital open.

"We can get things worked out now, with the people behind us," said Bill Janes.

"I want to compliment the judgement of the people of Collingsworth County in approving the bond issue," J.C. Howell, the Dodson member of the board, declared.

Lyman Daniel said: "I'm very pleased with the participation we had--the turnout. We're very pleased with the desire the people have shown toward keeping the hospital here in Collingsworth County."

Other board members were out of town or could not be reached.

Issuance of the $150,000 in bonds will raise the tax rate only 5 cents on the $100 valuation.

The entire bond issue will go for improvement and equipment required for the hospital to meet Medicare requirements.

The $45,000 hospital refunding bonds will be used to pay loans already made against equipment and building improvements which are

Festival of Arts Features Paintings of Area Artists

Between 400 and 500 paintings from area artists are expected for the out-door Festival of Arts Saturday, October 21, the first exhibit held here in recent years.

It is sponsored by Wellington State Bank and will be on the court house lawn from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Paintings should be brought in between 8:00 a.m. and 10:00 a.m., to be hung, said Billy Moseley, the bank's executive vice president.

"We encourage all artists to bring 5 or 6 paintings and these do not have to have been painted in the last year," he explained.

The paintings will not be judged, but everyone visiting the exhibit will have an opportunity to vote on the "People's Choice." The artist of that picture will receive a $75 savings account at Wellington State Bank.

The festival is open to any area artist or sculptor who would like to exhibit works. A children's section is planned.

"We believe this is an opportunity for our many, many talented artists to receive wider exposure of their works," said Moseley.

Letters have gone out to approximately 75 area artists, inviting them to participate in the festival and to urge their friends to participate.

Moseley emphasized, however, that this is not an invitation exhibit, and anyone wishing to exhibit is invited.

At the same time, he urged area residents to visit the festival and see the fine quality work that is being done in the area.

School organizations are invited to setup home made ice cream or other food booths.

This is for the Wellington area, which extends over into all the surrounding counties, Moseley declared.

The paintings may be in any medium--oils, water colors, acrylics, pastels, charcoal, pen and pencil or others.

Display facilities will circle the court house lawn. There will be no divisions and no classes. The paintings will be hung as they are brought in. Display space for sculptures will be provided.

Anyone having a question concerning the festival of arts should contact Moseley at the Wellington State Bank.

Should the weather be bad, the show will be postponed and a new date announced later.

Grant of $159,996 Approved for Jail Project

A grant of $159,996 to partially fund the jail proposed to serve Collingsworth and Hall counties was approved by the State Criminal Justice Advisory Board Friday, October 13.

The grant application now goes before Governor Dolph Briscoe for his signature, and there is nothing to indicate that he will not give his approval, said Bob Watson, 100th Judicial District probation officer and jail project director.

The grant will come from the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's office.

Watson, along with County Judge Lester Campbell and Sheriff Elmer Neel of Hall County, were present for the CJ advisory board meeting Friday.

Robert Flowers, director of the Criminal Justice Division, took a personal interest in the Collingsworth-Hall project, according to Watson. When the application went to the advisory board, Flowers' personal approval went with it.

Jack Corgan, the project architect-engineer, told Watson that Texas Commission on Jail Standards and the

Vote on School Petition Oct. 24

Collingsworth County School Board will vote Tuesday, October 24 on a petition to detach a large area of Quail Independent School District and attach that area to Wellington Independent School District.

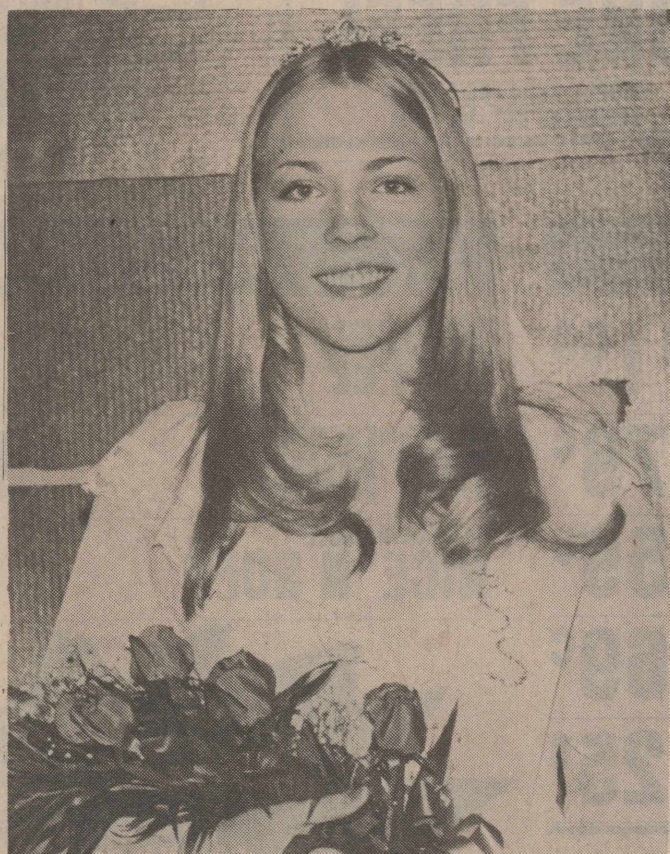

The board last Friday voted unanimously to set a hearing on that date at 1 p.m. in the district court room, Collingsworth County courthouse. The board has notified both the petitioners and Quail school representatives to be present to make their arguments on the matter.

The board has also notified Wellington school and adjacent school districts to be present if they want to make comments at the hearing. And the board has notified the Donley County school board of the hearing. A portion of Quail School District lies in Donley County, although none of that area is included in the petition.

In another area of the Quail school controversy, state District Judge Grainger W. McElhane of Wheeler will sit in 100th judicial district court Friday, October 20 to hear petitions for summary judgement on the contested Quail school bond election. The hearing is set for 2 p.m. in the district court room, Collingsworth County courthouse.

The $295,000 bond election passed 98-91 on October 11, 1977 and subsequently a group of taxpayers filed suit charging the election was illegal for a variety of reasons. Sale of the bonds has been held up for over a year because of the suit.

MISS SAMNORWOOD

Kim Peeples was crowned Miss Samnorwood Saturday, October 14, in a contest sponsored by Samnorwood Lions Club. A junior in high school, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Peeples.

Rockets Open District Play At Panhandle Friday Night

From now on, the Skyrockets will be playing for keeps.

Wellington opens its district 2-A schedule against Panhandle Friday, October 20, on the Panther's field. Game time will be 7:30 p.m., a half-hour earlier than the non-conference games.

Panhandle dropped from Class AA UIL classification this year and joined District 2-A, and this will be the first meeting of the two teams in a good many years.

Earlier, Panhandle was picked to win the district title. So far, the Panthers have not lost a game, while Wellington's record is tied with Memphis 3-2.

"This is what we've been looking for from the start of the season," declared Coach Williams. Those other games didn't mean a lot."

As quarterback, the Panthers have Truitt Chandler, Class AA 880 yard champion in the 1977 state track meet. In addition, he is the team leader and outstanding player for Panhandle.

They have good size, Coach Williams says, including a 216 pound tackle, another who weighs 195 pounds, and a backfield that comes in at around 170 pounds each, considered pretty good size for a Class A team.

Wellington has the edge on speed, insofar as coaches have been able to determine. In non-conference games, the Panthers haven't shown a great deal of speed, but they have been consistent in moving the ball and they play good defense.

Wellington goes into district play without serious injury.

"We can't determine yet about Charles McIntosh, but he is the kind of player if there's any way, he'll be ready to play Friday night," said Williams.

"Looking back, we played about four of the toughest teams around. Friday night, we'll find out if it helped us. We didn't win all our games but we performed real well and gave outstanding effort," Williams declared.

Standings of 2-A teams are: Panhandle 5-0; Wellington 3-2; Memphis 3-2; Clarendon 2-3; Shamrock 1-4; and White Deer 0-5.

City Approves Dog, Skunk Control

Live trapping of skunks and stray dogs within the city limits was approved by the city council Monday night, October 16, with the work to begin as soon as a representative of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department comes to set up the program.

Stray dogs, most without owners, have been an ongoing problem, but during the summer and fall, skunks have moved into town and there are frequent reports of their being seen in the residential areas.

The live trapping method is completely humane, City Manager Glen Taylor told the council. City employees will build the traps from scrap lumber and wire and handle the trapping.

When the program is set up, dog owners will be notified through the newspaper that they will have two weeks in which to have their pets vaccinated, tagged and registered at city hall, if this has not been done earlier. They will be told to keep their pets penned.

Dogs need rabies booster shots each year, it was pointed out.

The traps will be set at the end of the two weeks period, and skunks and untaged dogs will be destroyed.

Taylor said the procedure when a tagged dog is caught will be to notify the owner. If a second notice is required, the owner will have to pay to get his pet back.

If an untaged dog is picked up that is obviously a pet, he will be held and an attempt made to locate the owner.

The Texas P&WD is the authority authorized to handle the control of skunks and other wildlife. The representative will also instruct city employees in setting and baiting the traps, handling and disposing of trapped animals.

While town skunks are always a nuisance, concern here grew after a rabid skunk was located under a Dodson home in the summer.

Taylor told the council paving in the Flats is due to be finished at mid-week and he received approval to complete surfacing of 7th Street to give another east-west through street across town. Part of the stretch is now paved. Third Street also will be paved across town, from Highway 83 to Haskell Street, and Dalhart will be paved from 1st Street, the federal agency on jail standards, differ a little on their recommendations for the Collingsworth-Hall project, and these must be reconciled.

Corgan believes that within two or three weeks he will have final approval from both agencies. At that point, he will be ready to meet with the combined commissioners courts of both counties for their final approval.

A request for bids can then be issued.

The grant application for $159,996 was made with the hope this would cover half the cost of the proposed jail, which will have facilities for women and juveniles, both boys and girls, as well as men prisoners.

The total projected cost is around $320,000, but Watson said Monday that inflation would hike the cost to as much as $350,000.

Of the half not covered by the grant, Collingsworth County will pay 60 percent of the cost and Hall County 40 percent. Funds from the grant are given the project outright and are not repaid.

The Criminal Justice Division is funded through the LEAA (Law Enforcement Assistance Administration) at the north edge, to join the present pavement.

"We're going to stay after this paving," he declared. Taylor pointed out that the time-consuming part of surfacing a street is the dirt work.

Paving the Fred Cox addition depends on when the curb and gutter work can be finished. This is due to begin shortly.

The council quickly approved 8 ordinances drawn up to implement the city's participation in the mandatory retirement for state and municipal employees.

In the past, this was optional with the employees.

Two citizens met with the council, which in turn is funded by Congressional action.

The plan for the new jail drawn by Corgan Associates, Inc., calls for an addition designed around the existing building, leaving most of the existing bearing walls intact, altering the existing area, and only slightly modifying the existing detention area. The cost projected was $319,910, providing the project had been bid in July.

This will also be Sunday School Attendance Day, and it will mark the final service for the Rev. Jeff Messer as pastor of the Church. There will be a covered dish luncheon at noon.

Under his direction, members are completing paneling of the auditorium, a new ceiling and new light fixtures have been installed. The windows have been remodeled.

The church has acquired stained glass windows to replace those presently in the building.

Rev. Messer has resigned from his pastorate at Quail to become pastor of 11th Street Baptist Church in Shamrock and will begin his ministry there Sunday, Nov. 5.

He and Mrs. Messer came to Quail a year and a half ago from Fieldton Baptist Church, on the South Plains.

The $105,000 issue will be available for repairs and improvements on the building and purchase of equipment.

Absentee voting accounted for 132 of the votes cast.

Those voting in person formed a steady stream through Bura Handley Community Center, and for the first time in recent years, in any election, there was a waiting line much of the day.

Concern that the hospital remain open was noted when several persons who maintain legal residence here but live elsewhere returned to vote. Some within the farthest parts of the county made 80-mile round trips to cast their ballots.

John Hill is attacking State Budget waste . . .

"I've already started my search for waste in the state budget. I want to be ready to tackle overspending the minute I take office as Governor in January. My budget office already is paring down big state agency budget requests, to keep spending within available revenues. We'll have to live within our means, because I'll veto any new taxes."

The Wellington Skyrockets lost 19-14 to the Floydada Whirlwinds at Floydada Friday, Oct. 13 but not before they had given fans their most exciting performance of the season.

The Rocket defensive workmanship was exemplified by a series in which Floydada took possession on their own 45 yard line early in the second quarter. Robert Powell covered the pitch man and Erminio Nevarez sacked the quarterback for a three-yard loss on first down. On second down Danny Wischkaemper and Richard Garcia dropped the Whirlwinds for another 3 yard loss. And on third down Jon Sessions put in a fine effort at defensive right halfback to make a Vickers pass fall incomplete. It left Floydada looking at fourth and sixteen. A "roughing the kicker" penalty (and from our point of view one of the most questionable of the season) gave the Whirlwinds a fourth and one on the Rocket 45 and they went for it. But James Thomas dropped fullback Mac Collins for a five yard loss and the Rockets took possession at midfield.

Late in the third quarter, with the score still tied 7-7, James Thomas followed Tim Anderson and Ricky Jones blocks and broke three tackles on his own for a 17-yard gain to midfield. Next Kevin Hall put on a repeat performance of his run, leap and grab act to haul in Carl Taylor's pass. And then James Thomas turned the corner from the 28 and wound up 9 yards out.

On second down Thomas

On third down Vickers found Helms open again in the end zone and put the score at 14-13. Jon Sessions coverage forced an incomplete pass on

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, October 19, 1978

Texans will vote on nine proposed constitutional amendments in the general election on November 7.

Below is a continuation of a series of "pro" and "con" arguments on each of the proposed constitutional amendments. The arguments were prepared by the Texas

Legislative Council which is composed of 5 senators, 10 state representatives, the speaker of the house and the lieutenant governor.

The arguments on the "tax relief" amendment were presented in an earlier issue. Listed below are the arguments on amendments one through three.

AMENDMENT NO. 1—S.J.R. NO. 55

[Proposing an amendment to Article XVI, Section 21, of the Texas Constitution to exempt certain products manufactured by handicapped persons from the requirement that purchasing by state agencies be done by competitive bidding]

For:

1. The social and economic value of employing otherwise unemployable handicapped individuals far outweighs any value of competitive bidding on products and services that can be supplied by them. The taxpayers would not suffer any loss because the law requires that the items be purchased at a fair market price. If an apparent loss were suffered, it would be offset by the savings resulting from private employment of these individuals rather than their state-supported institutionalization.

2. The governor, the secretary of state, and the comptroller have many important duties and should not be burdened with the strictly storekeeping function of approving purchasing contracts. Approval of contracts by these officials has in actual practice become a mere formality and something of a nuisance. The "approval" is actually performed by ministerial subordinates, so that the requirement has in reality become so much "red tape."

Against:

1. Even though the legislature's policy of helping employ handicapped individuals is praiseworthy, the policy of competitive bidding established under Article XVI, Section 21, is also sound. Competitive bidding for these products and services insures that the state will receive the lowest possible price for what it purchases. The establishment of a "fair market price" under a statute is not assurance to the taxpayer that the government is operating in the least costly manner. This constitutional requirement is stronger than any statute enacted by the legislature since change requires an affirmative vote of the citizens. It is therefore the best protection of the taxpayer's dollar.

2. The action of the governor, the secretary of state, and the comptroller in approving purchasing contracts awarded by the board of control may be perfunctory, but nonetheless it serves as a check on those actually performing the function. Purchasing agents and officials exert more caution with knowledge that their actions are subject to review by high state officials. In addition, because the governor and the comptroller are elected officials, the voters have recourse if it becomes apparent that these contracts are being improperly awarded.

AMENDMENT NO. 2—S.J.R. NO. 55

[Proposing a constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to authorize political subdivisions to issue revenue bonds to develop employment opportunities]

For:

1. Experience in other states has shown the use of industrial development bonds to be a valuable means of attracting new business and thus improving local economies.

2. The availability of such programs in other states puts Texas communities at a competitive disadvantage in attracting new business and industry. Adoption of the proposed amendment would make our communities competitive with those in other states.

3. By insuring that facilities financed under the program will be subject to property taxes while used by private firms, the amendment would not diminish local tax bases and, in fact, could help spread the property tax burden among a greater number of taxpayers.

Against:

1. By almost any standard, the Texas economy and the business climate are among the best in the country. Unemployment in Texas has long been well below the national average. Our communities do not need programs such as this to attract new business.

2. The proposed amendment would involve local governments in financing private business ventures, usurping the role traditionally played by private investors and financial institutions. This is inconsistent with the free enterprise philosophy to which most Texans adhere.

3. There is sound policy behind the constitutional prohibitions against local governments lending credit and making grants to assist private entities. These prohibitions were inspired by such 19th century abuses as municipal grants to railroad corporations. Now, as much as then, public funds and public credit should be used only for public purposes; the proposed amendment would seriously undermine this policy.

AMENDMENT NO. 3—S.J.R. NO. 44

[Granting the legislature the power to authorize cities and towns to issue tax increment bonds to finance redevelopment of blighted areas]

For:

1. Authorization of tax increment financing will provide Texas municipalities greater flexibility in developing local solutions to the problem of urban deterioration.

2. The prohibition against using state tax revenue to repay redevelopment bonds will insure that local officials keep the cost of local redevelopment projects within the limits of local tax revenues.

Although local taxing entities other than the city or town will not benefit from increased tax collections in a redeveloped area until redevelopment bonds are repaid, once the bonds are repaid these local governments will have the benefit of a larger tax base. Even while the bonds are outstanding, the beneficial effects of redevelopment will likely spill over into adjoining areas, stabilizing or enhancing property values and producing a broader property tax base.

Against:

1. Permitting cities and towns to siphon off taxes that would otherwise go to school districts, counties, hospital districts, and other taxing entities is a bad precedent. If municipalities need increased taxing power, they should seek to raise constitutional tax limits. Taxes of other governmental units should be used only by those units.

2. Allowing cities and towns to administer property taxes of other governmental entities in a redeveloped area may result in inequitable appraisal practices. Municipal tax departments might tend to appraise property for taxation at a higher rate than would the other taxing units. Unsophisticated taxpayers may not realize that increased county and school district taxes are being used to repay municipal bonds instead of being used for county or school district purposes.

3. Texas municipalities already have broad powers to use their spending and borrowing powers for urban redevelopment. No need has been shown for granting them additional powers such as this amendment proposes to do.

Mrs. Georgia Owens Honored At Dinner on 85th Birthday

Mrs. Georgia Owens, a church leader in the Dodson area for 65 years, celebrated her 85th birthday Sunday, October 8.

The congregation of the Dodson Church of the Nazarene honored her at a dinner, held in the American Legion Hall. The Collegiate Quartet, guests at the church that day, sang "Happy Birthday."

On Saturday evening, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jarvis took her to Altus for dinner and presented gifts.

Mrs. Owens has served the Dodson Church of the Nazarene in many capacities. She was a member of the Church board for 50 years and served as secretary-treasurer 23 years. Once when the church was without a pastor for six months, Mrs. Owens fulfilled the pastor's duties.

She was a Sunday School teacher 45 years, and for many years a member of the Sunday School board. Former pupils returning to Dodson frequently visit her.

Frequently she and her husband, the late Charlie Owens, kept evangelists and missionaries in their home.

This couple began attending the Church of the Nazarene in Dodson in January 1913, upon the invitation of the late J.S. Driskill. The Rev. F. Walter Hall was the evangelist and the Rev. W.E. Ellis pastor.

Mrs. Owens is the former Georgia Luch, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G.H. Luck, and was born in Tuskegee,

MRS. GEORGIA OWENS

Alabama, October 8, 1893. When she was only six weeks old, the family moved to Waco, traveling by train, which was ferried across the Mississippi.

The Luck family farmed at Waco.

In 1900, they moved to Collingsworth County, this time traveling in a covered wagon, and on October 12, they reached Bittercreek, three miles southeast of Dodson.

She and Mr. Owens were married October 2, 1910, and they farmed all their married life. He died several years ago.

Mrs. Owens now lives in Dodson, and her only child, Mrs. Jarvis (Betty Jo) lives three miles east of that town. She still manages her own home, does yard work and is active in Sunday School, the Missionary Society and church.

People of the Dodson area agree that her influence in her church and community is great, and many people still depend on her for prayer and counseling.

They attended the Passion Play and a western musical show in Eureka Springs.

The four couples spent three days in the Branson, Missouri area. They attended a musical show "Shepherd of the Hills."

A Vote For Health Care

Collingsworth County voters told Collingsworth General Hospital Board by a 9 to 1 majority in Tuesday's $150,000 bond election that they want to keep the hospital alive and well. Now it is up to the board, the hospital staff and the medical community to get together and work towards the solutions of the problems that face the hospital.

Medical care in rural areas will continue to be a problem for the providers of the care and for those who need it. But we don't think there are any problems that cannot be met through some hard work and long-range planning.

If there are those in the community who are concerned about health care and desire to volunteer their services, now is the time to present yourself to the hospital board and offer your time and ideas.

Tuesday's vote was not a final solution and the hospital is a long way from being out of the woods. For instance, the long-range goal of bringing more physicians to practice here is one that must be met if the hospital is to survive. But the vote was a step in the right direction.

Splintering of America

America's dozens of minority groups, all of which are clamoring these days for pre-eminence, not simply recognition, in the classroom, the board room and caucus room can breathe easier now that there is an umbrella group devoted just to their goals.

It remained only for someone of ingenuity to bring the disparate groups, all of which clamor for the right to speak and learn their native languages, the right to go their separate ways, together for one cause—the true splintering of America.

That someone emerged on the West Texas State University campus last week, albeit anonymously. The following message appeared in red and black ink on a poster:

B.S. FOR THE U.S.!

Join the Balkanization Society

Our Aim:

12 OFFICIAL LANGUAGES

Avoid the terrible mistakes of these families:

*The Sakowitzes sell in English!

*The DePonts clip coupons in English!

*The Eisenhowers give commands in English!

Help us to bring to America the wonderful competition of Austria-Hungary!

Our first aim will be to officialize the speech of north-eastern Spain.

Our Slogan: 'Our Task is Basque.'

Cheerleaders Hold Big Bon Fire Thursday

Skyrocket Cheerleaders will sponsor a big bonfire Thursday, October 19, following the junior varsity game. This will be behind the field house, said Coach Debbie Chisum. There will be a short pep rally.

There is one purpose—to send spirits soaring for the opening of the District 2-A schedule when the Skyrockets and Panhandle Panthers meet. Cheerleaders are gathering wood for the fire—any place they can find it. They will accept donations of scrap lumber and will arrange for it to be picked up.

Cheerleaders are Vanessa Ingram, Jeanne Morris, Karen Goforth, Renessa Cardwell, Kathleen Reeves, and Liz Brewer.

Letters from the People

Dear Editor,

During the Democratic Primary this spring, I strongly supported Governor Dolph Briscoe because he best represented my conservative philosophy. In fact, I served as the Governor's regional coordinator in 32 counties, including your own. This fall, I am actively working for Bill Clements for Governor because he is the only candidate that represents the same conservative philosophy of the vast majority of Texans, people like Governor Briscoe and myself.

I can't speak for Governor Briscoe, but I can point out that his daughter and son-in-law have publicly endorsed Bill Clements, as have Red Nunley of Sabinal, the Governor's close friend and longtime business partner; Dr. Sterling Fly of Uvalde, a member of the University of Texas Board of Regents and the Governor's personal physician; Ross Watkins of Uvalde, a member of the Texas A&M Board of Regents and a close friend of the Governor; and Lewis Bracy of Uvalde, President of the Governor's bank and one of his close friends. The list of well-identified Briscoe backers now supporting Bill Clements goes on and on.

Mr. Hill knows he is distorting the truth when he claims that 95 percent of Briscoe leadership is behind him now. Six of Governor Briscoe's 12 regional coordinators, including myself, already have publicly endorsed Bill Clements, as have more than 70 county coordinators. In more than 170 counties, Briscoe regional or county coordinators are publicly supporting and working for Bill Clements.

We are supporting Bill Clements this year because the race for the Governor's office is not a case of Democrats versus Republicans, rather it is a case of conservatives versus liberals. Bill Clements is the conservative and John Hill is the liberal.

This is the first time Bill Clements has run for public office and he is doing so now because, like a lot of us, he wants less government and less federal interference in our lives. Bill Clements is a proven manager and administrator, a free enterpriser—not a professional politician like his opponent, who has been running for the office for the past 10 years.

Conservatives around the state know John Hill and they know they can't trust him. Mr. Hill engineered the liberal take-over of the State Democratic Party—the first time this has ever happened in Texas history—and he personally supported a McGovern campaign worker to be state party chairman.

Those of us supporting Bill Clements are doing so because we are committed to electing another conservative as governor. Thank you for hearing me out on this issue so vital to the future of our state.

Sincerely,

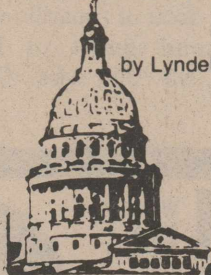

T.L. Roach

AUSTIN — Legislative Budget Board recommended abolishing two agencies and transferring their duties to other agencies.

The budget-writing arm of the legislature said the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs and the Texas Commission on Jail Standards should be wiped out.

At the same time, the budget board declined to act on proposed budgets of the Board of Pardons and Paroles and the Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies.

Board members expressed concern that it takes six to eight weeks to release a prisoner after he is paroled and called for a new budget of the private detective agency fitting its revenues.

GOMA's duties, the budget-writers said, should be transferred to the Texas Department of Community Affairs to avoid duplication of effort. An increase in staff of the Manpower Services Division of TDCA also was recommended to permit closer monitoring of government sub-contractors for training programs.

Commission on Jail Standards duties should go to an agency such as the Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education, the budget board suggested.

An LBB staff report said the commission relies too heavily on physical inspections of jails and provides too little technical assistance.

Bids Opened

The Department of Highways and Public Transportation opened bids this week on 51 highway projects with an estimated total cost of $59.8 million.

Projects in the October letting included an addition section of Houston's north-west freeway from east of Fairbanks-North Houston Road to east of Hollister Road.

Another important project is for improvement of a section of State Highway 111 in Jackson County.

The new highway will provide access to Palmetto Bend Dam.

The letting also included another section of Interstate Highway 37 between San Antonio and Corpus Christi in Atascosa County, and Spur 55 providing a new highway link from the Baytown area of Harris County to the industrialized areas across Cedar Bayou in Chambers County.

Veto Agreed

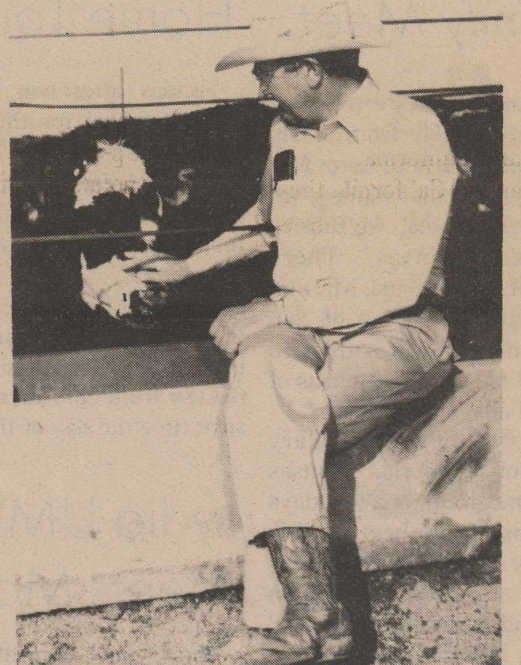

The federal government agreed to give Texas veto power over storage of nuclear wastes within the state.

Two Texas sites—one in Randall County of the Panhandle and the other in Anderson County in East Texas—are under consideration for designation as nuclear waste disposal areas.

Firecrackers Drop Game To Memphis

After a tough game, Wellington 8th grade Firecrackers lost their Thursday night encounter to Memphis 32-22.

The game standout was Wilbert Johnson, Memphis fullback who broke for four long runs against Wellington defense, the most in any game this year.

"We didn't play the best defensively," said Coach Jim Yarnell. "We scored 22 points and at one time pulled within four points of Memphis." He said the team did "pretty good" overall offensively.

The Recording Industry Association of America certified 195 Gold Records Awards in 1974, which was a record high at that time.

Energy Saving Tips on Electric Heating.

Check your thermostat setting. Recommended temperature setting for winter heating is 68°. Remember, the lower you set the thermostat in the winter the lower your energy cost.

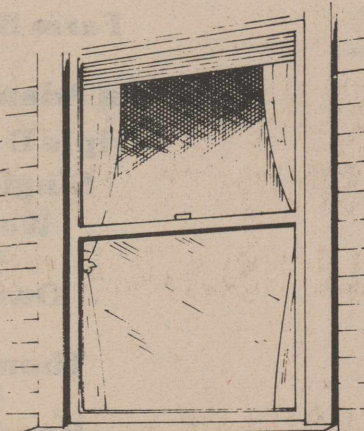

Have your heating system checked now! Proper servicing before the heating season begins is good preventive maintenance.

Keep filters clean. Check the filter every 30 days on forced-air systems. If filter is permanent, clean it by manufacturer's directions, if it's disposable, replace when dirty.

Have your home properly insulated! Adequate home insulation keeps the warmth in, cuts energy use... can pay for itself by lowering heating (and cooling) costs.

Use the warmth of the sunshine! On sunny days open the drapes. The sun shining through the glass will supply additional heat at no cost.

Remember, Reddy Supplies the Energy, only you can use it wisely!

OFFICERS

Farm Bureau Officers for 1979, elected Saturday, are Frankie Green, second vice president; Elmer Keller, first vice president; Ronnie Hartman, president, and Benton Wauer, secretary.

Farm Bureau Returns Hartman as President

After their traditional Willie Knoll barbecue, Farm Bureau members held their annual business meeting and elected a slate of officers and directors drawn largely from long-time workers in the county organization.

Efforts by an activist group to elect nominees placed from the floor failed to gain the support to elect more than two members to the board.

Ronnie Hartman was chosen president, the third time he has served in that office. He is also one of the youngest men to head the organization. Hartman succeeds Albert Fulcher, who completed his second consecutive year as president.

Elmer Keller was named first vice president, Frankie Green, second vice president and Benton Wauer, secretary. They have held offices previously.

Twelve directors were elected. Representing the north part of the county are Dee Coleman, Max Paschall and Mark Simpson; south: Harold Scott, Jerry Scott, and Ray Null; east side: Richard Fourmentin, Danny Watts and Lynn Emmert; west: Denzil Lacy, Jimmy Coleman and Andy Bell.

Fulcher was named director-at-large.

Jack Osborn of Pampa, District 1 Farm Bureau director, showed a film relating to the upcoming state amendment on taxation and urged members to vote for lower taxes. "This is the first time Farm Bureau has ever asked for a 'Yes' vote" he said.

Osborn reminded that after the 1980 reapportionment, rural areas will lose representation in the legislature. More than 40 percent of the population lives in the Fort Worth-Dallas-Houston areas, and if lower taxation is not achieved now, it will not be, he predicted.

Present for the meeting were Joe Lusk and Charles Scruggs, Farm Bureau field men.

Lowry Schaub, Samnorwood student who attended the youth seminar, thanked the organization for sending him.

Two new insurance agents were introduced, Charles Roberts of Dozier and Bruce Oney of Wellington.

Members next approved 19 resolutions with only one drawing more than casual discussion and that came over questions of parliamentary procedure.

On the state level, the county FB members asked that the requirement that the county queen candidates give contest speeches, be dropped.

On the national level, Collingsworth members opposed forced-unionization of federal, state and county, and municipal employees, next, opposed unionization of farm workers.

They recommended taxes be reduced by cutting the number of employees of such agencies as EPA, OSHA and HUD.

Approval was given the return of schools to local control and "that monies wasted by the government on education be returned to local use."

Members opposed the purchase of land by groups of aliens, individually or as members or trusts or corporations.

They condemned President Carter's signing the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which they believe would give the United Nations the right to abolish private property, then asked that the House committee on internal security be restored.

Next, FB members asked that the grade card on cotton showing weight, grade, and quality be permanently affixed to the compress ticket from the time the bale is sold by the producers until it is processed.

Monty Mitchell, resolutions

chairman, told the group that grade and micronaire will upgrade on cotton shipped to the coast, due to atmospheric conditions, so regrading at that point will let the owner realize more from the bale than the farmer who grew it.

The next three resolutions supported 100% parity with-out mandatory controls for: 1. all domestically produced or consumed agricultural products; 2. all agricultural products to be exported; and 3. all agricultural products contracted for national or international food reserves.

Farm Bureau is urged to support the creation of agricultural structure with inputs from farmers to handle the marketing of American agricultural products.

Stoppage was asked on all meat and livestock imports until 100% parity prices are reached and then only in case of national emergency.

Revision of the formula for figuring disaster payments to 50% of the target price times 100% of planted acres was asked.

Another resolution asked that the tariff on imported goods not be transferred to the treasury department, but placed in a credit or special drawing rights for the exporting nation to purchase U.S. agricultural goods at U.S. prices.

A land diversion program with per acre payments to accomplish crop reduction voluntarily was asked.

In the lone resolution introduced from the floor, members asked the Texas Farm Bureau to work for reinstatement of the haying and grazing provisions of the farm program.

Here I am with a newsletter after several weeks.

We have been so busy trying to tie all the loose ends together after a long hot summer.

We had our fifth year recognition on Sept. 23. We had about a hundred of our volunteers there. We are so proud of all of them, and they all looked so beautiful. We had 34 who had been with us throughout the 5 years. Everyone enjoyed the catered supper.

I was in Austin last week attending a business meeting. Mrs. Judith Rae Gates, of San Antonio, president of the International Trainers, Educators and Consultants, gave a workshop on professional and personal renewal. The topics were "Who Am I?", "Where do I want to Be?", and "How Do I get there?"

Those having birthdays in October are Mrs. Hugh Bledsoe, Mrs. John Coleman, Mrs. Charley Hill, Mrs. Earl Hunter, Mrs. W.E. Johnson, Henry Langford, Mrs. Eva Needham, Mrs. Grady Phillips, Mrs. Ruth Wyrick, Mrs.

Seventh Grade, And Memphis Tie 6 to 6

In a game between evenly matched teams, Wellington Junior High 7th grade tied Memphis 7th 6-6, with a score in the last minute and a half of play. The game was Thursday, October 12 at Powell Field.

Wellington trailed 6-0, then at the end of a long drive, fumbled the ball deep in Memphis territory and their opponents recovered.

The junior Firecrackers held and Memphis was forced to punt. The ball was dropped, hit the leg of a Memphis player inside their 15 yard line. Mark Hunnicutt made it to the Memphis one, and Lynn Bartlett carried the ball over to tie the score.

Wellington went for the two-point conversion and got in the end zone, but officials ruled that forward progress had been stopped outside the goal line.

"The defensive team and the team as a whole showed a lot of poise for young kids. They didn't have a whole lot of time to score, but they went ahead and scored anyway," said Coach Jimmy Chappell. Memphis only score came late in the third, on a 14-yard end run.

"We moved the ball pretty well, but couldn't get in to the end zone," said Coach Chappell. "We had a couple of real good drives that got stalled inside their 20 and we couldn't seem to punch them in."

Rocket JV Scores on First Possession to Down Memphis

A lucky toss of the coin opened the way for Wellington Skyrocket Junior Varsity to take the opening kickoff from Memphis Cyclone JV, Thursday evening, October 12. Kenneth Warren took the ball and ran 50 yards to set up good field position on the first possession.

Warren, Chris Lynch, and Jody Coleman drove to the one yard line, and Coleman took the ball over for the touchdown.

The cold front had come in by then and was blowing in the Rockets faces. They went for the fake on the extra point and missed.

That's all there was to the scoring for that game.

"There was good execution from the offensive line. Our blocking has improved a lot in the last couple of games," said Coach Robert Hicks.

"From then on, we were able to move the ball real well. We had three fumbles in the game that cost, but Memphis had four fumbles. We would have a drive going, either fumble or get costly penalties and that would stall the drive. Defensively, we stopped their attack."

Memphis did not cross the Wellington 30 yard line all night, but the Rocket JV had three penetrations, beside the touchdown, inside the Memphis 20.

"The defense as a whole unit, played real good," said Hicks. "They did gang tackling and had real good pursuit. They didn't (Memphis) get anything going offensively."

This victory ended the first half of the JV schedule.

Panhandle Due for Three Games Thurs.

The Skyrocket Junior Varsity, Firecrackers and Seventh grade begin the second half of their football schedule Thursday, October 19, playing Panhandle here.

The JV starts its second round of the District 2-A teams with a 2-2-1 record.

They took a forfeit from Shamrock early in the season, then lost to Panhandle 13-16 and Clarendon 20-0, and tied White Deer 13-13.

The JV came back Thursday, Oct. 12, to defeat Memphis 6-0.

"We're looking forward to game with Panhandle. We felt we gave them the first one on a fumbled punt which gave them the winning touchdown, and a few other mistakes," said Coach Robert Hicks. "We look forward to playing them here."

The Panther JV has good size and some quickness and speed.

"During the second half we will be playing each game on the night before the varsity meets the team from the same school," said Hicks. "That means everything for the varsity. It's just like starting the season over. Enthusiasm is high for the varsity as well as the JV. We want them to go all the way."

As for the Firecrackers, they look forward to playing a much better game defensively than they did on their first meeting with Panhandle.

"If we can show some improvement offensively, we ought to win the game," said Coach Jim Yarnell.

"Panhandle will be ready for them. The last time we scored twice in quick succession and took the spirit out of them. It will be closer this time," he predicted.

The seventh grade, fresh from their 6-6 tie with Memphis, also will meet Panhandle. With the poise and skill they are developing, Coach Jimmy Chappell's team gives every indication of a good second half.

Soil Conservation Essay, Poster Contest Announced

The 1979 Texas Conservation Awards program for boys and girls will be sponsored in Collingsworth County by Salt Fork Soil and Water Conservation District.

For the first time, both an essay contest and a poster contest will be held, according to Billy Moseley, secretary of the board of supervisors.

The subject for both contests is "Conservation Districts, Role in Tomorrow's Waters."

The winners in the two categories will receive plaques, from Salt Fork, SWCD District, which will be presented at the Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Three trophies will be given in each of the 5 state regions, Moseley said.

The essay contest will be similar in format to those of other years. It is open to any boy or girl 18 years and under and does not jeopardize Texas Interscholastic League eligibility, he emphasized.

All essays should be turned in to Moseley, executive vice president of Wellington State Bank, not later than December 15. They will be judged in the district and the Salt Fork District champion essay will be sent to Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board headquarters in Temple for selecting the regional champions.

The new poster contest is open to boys and girls 12 years of age and under, and this does not jeopardize Texas UIL eligibility.

The deadline for turning these in to Moseley is also December 15.

The posters will be judged in the district and each district champion poster will be sent to Temple for selecting the regional champions. Three trophies will be awarded in each of the 5 state regions.

All posters are to be on standard poster board, cut to half size of approximately 22" x 14".

Moseley is working with the three schools to create interest in the two contests, and anyone with questions should contact him.

Members of the board of supervisors, who are sponsoring the contest are John Carson of Quail, chairman; Earl Patterson, secretary; Dan Henard, Jr., John Brim, and Douglas Coleman of Dozier.

FIRE PREVENTION

Christopher Cantu, Henry Outley, Sallay Gonzales, Henry Lee De LaCruz, Steven Jarrell and Christopher Moore. The drivers were Delmar Turner and Jeff Langford.

Band in Marching Contest Tuesday

That Skyrocket Band will be attending UIL Marching contest in Canyon at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium on Tuesday, October 24.

Fifty three young musicians will march.

Contest numbers will include "Monahans Junior High Fanfare," "Three's Company," "Run Around Sue," and "Row, Row, Row."

Judges will be Harris Brinson of Angelo State University, Dr. Charles Trayler of Abilene Christian University, and Bill Spencer of Abilene High School.

That Skyrocket Band will march at 1:33 p.m. and will be the last band participating in 1-A classification.

Other schools competing in the same group will be White Deer, Panhandle, Shamrock, Stratford, Memphis, Vega, Stinnett, Gruver, Clarendon, Sunray, Sanford Fritch, and Phillips.

"We would like to invite everyone, especially parents, to attend the marching contest and support That Skyrocket Band," said Jamie Larson, band director.

Anyone wishing to go with the band should contact Larson by Monday, October 23. The bus will leave at 8: a.m. Tuesday. They will eat at 11:00 a.m. Conner Park in Canyon. The lunch will be catered.

"I am real proud of the band's progress this year," said Larson, "and I feel they should do real well."

The word "mister" comes from a latin word "magister" meaning commander.

Information Sought on Old Quail School Districts

A history of the consolidation of small rural schools into the big Quail Rural High School District in 1936, is being compiled by a life-long resident of that community, Mrs. G.T. Stephens.

She needs information about a number of these small rural schools. She is also hunting Quail School annuals for 6 years.

"So far I know there hasn't

Richard Cocke Dies Recently At Texas City

Richard Hundley Cocke III, prominent retired attorney of the Gulf Coast area, died Friday, Sept 29, in a Texas City Hospital. He was 69 years of age.

He first practiced law in Wellington with his father, the late R.H. Cocke, until he went to Austin in 1939 to serve as assistant attorney general under Gerald Mann.

He left this position to enter the U.S. Navy in World War II, in which he held the rank of lieutenant commander. After returning to Texas, he organized a law firm which expanded to have offices in Bryan, Dallas and Houston.

He retired from the private practice of law in 1972, after making his home in Houston a number of years.

Cocke owned a sea-going ship and lived aboard in the Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean much of the time. The ship was lost in a hurricane last year.

Born August 18, 1909, he was the son of the late Richard Hundley Cocke II and Stella Gribble Cocke. He was educated in the Wellington Schools, then attended Southern, Methodist University, Dallas, and completed his law studies at Cumberland Law School, Cumberland, Tenn.

He was married to Miss Okla Lucille Howard, who preceded him in death several years ago.

Burial services for Mr. Cocke were held October 1, at Galveston Memorial Park in Hitchcock, near Galveston.

Survivors include an adopted son, Richard Hundley Cocke IV of Arcadia and Galveston; two grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. P.W. (Pauline) Swift of Hobart, Okla.

Cousins in Wellington are Mrs. Clyde Drake and Harold Watkins.

been a history of this consolidation written," she said.

"I think now it should be written more than ever," she added, referring to the loss of the buildings in the May 16, 1977 tornado. Also, the district has now become an independent school district.

"These were the 7 districts to vote for the consolidation in 1936: Quail, Salt Fork, Lillie, King, Marella, Ring and Pleasant Hill.

"In 1948, Buck Creek, Cross Roads, Cottonwood and Swearing voted to be annexed to the district. In 1945, Bray and McKnight in Donley County joined the district.

"The completeness of the history will depend on the number of people who will send me any information that they have of interest on any of them," she continued.

Letters should be addressed to:

Mrs. G.T. Stephens
Box 77
Quail, Texas 79251

The school annuals she needs are for the years of 1937, 1938, 1943, 1944, 1945 and 1946. If someone has an annual that is no longer wanted, she would like to keep it. Otherwise, she would like to borrow a copy.

These may be sent to her or left at The Wellington Leader office.

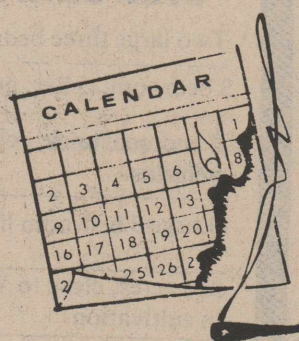

Mrs. Stephens is especially fitted to write the history of the Quail Rural High School. The former Bertha Guinn, she grew up at Quail and can remember the last of the cattle drives that came through that part of the county. Her mother was a Quail postmaster.

She attended Quail School and later taught there.

For many years, Mrs. Stephens was the Quail correspondent for The Wellington Leader and has written also for the Amarillo News.

Bloomers were not invented by Amelia Bloomer. They were created by Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, daughter of a New York congressman, and popularized by the famous feminist.

Had Enough? Give 'Em Hale For a Change!

Bill Hale for State Representative, 66th District

A Letter From the Candidate

To voters of the 66th District:
They've given away the Panama Canal, and now President Carter, Andrew Young and the State Department are doing their best to give Africa to the Communists. Cheap food policies are about to bankrupt the farmer, and they want to give Washington D.C.--a city populated mostly by bureaucrats--two Senators and a Representative.

If you've had enough of government being run by and for the bureaucrats and big labor, get involved. Start making your voice heard...vote for Bill Hale and talk up his candidacy among your friends.

One new State Representative with common sense ideas will not change the direction our state and country are headed, but it's a step--an important step--in the right direction.

We are all becoming increasingly aware that something is happening to our country, but we are not sure what it is. Inflation is eating up our paychecks, the dollar is being devalued on international money markets, our military superiority is rapidly decreasing and all we can do is wonder, "What can we do?"

I came to the conclusion more than a year ago that there was something that I could do. Right then I began to get involved in the political scene and learned to use my abilities and what influence I can obtain to help get Texas and America back on the track.

You may not think that a single State Representative would be able to get much accomplished. However, I don't believe this is necessarily true. The right man in this position can wield influence that will not only affect the Statehouse in Austin, but will also reach into the Congressional halls in Washington.

If you believe as I do--that it is time for a change--give 'em Hale for a change! Your influence as well as your vote is necessary. I need the 66th District solidly behind me to increase my effectiveness in carrying out your will.

Bill Hale

A Solid Background of Leadership

A lifelong resident of Floydada, Bill Hale has been active in the civic life of his community for some twenty-three years.

Bill served as vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce and was on its Board of Directors. He has been a Floydada City Councilman and School Trustee, as well as a member of the Housing Authority Board of Directors. Bill was a Little League baseball coach and served as League President.

According to Bill, his most interesting and satisfying civic contribution was the four years he spent as President of the Floydada Development Company. "During this time, Floydada was able to obtain a 42-unit labor housing facility, a 16-unit apartment complex, a Texas A&M vocational training center and an $80,000 industrial park," Bill states.

For these achievements and others, Bill was named Floydada's Citizen of the Year, and was recipient of the Rotary Community Service Award and the Lion's Club Certificate of Appreciation.

Bill believes his record of community service will be an asset when he puts his abilities to work on the state level.

Meet Bill, Carolyn and Their Family

Bill and his wife, the former Carolyn Haithcock, were married in June, 1952, following her graduation from Texas Tech. At that time Bill was in the Air Force, stationed at Wichita Falls. During his tour of duty he rose through the ranks from Private to Tech. Sergeant.

After his discharge, the Hales and their young son, Richard, moved to Lubbock, where Bill obtained his BBA in Personnel Management at Texas Tech. While Bill was working on his degree, he and Carolyn became parents of twin boys, Steven and Michael.

"We had a deep belief that small town West Texas was the very best place to raise our children," Bill says. "This was the primary reason we moved to Floydada." Bill became manager of his father's business, Hale's Department Store, and has since been active in the West Texas business community, as well as in civic affairs.

Bill and Carolyn Hale are proud of their sons. "It is our hope that they will be responsible citizens of Texas and the United States," Bill states. All three boys were active in school activities and sports, with Steve serving as student body president during his senior year of high school.

While Richard was attending McMurry College on a basketball scholarship, he met his future wife, Gail Burden of Garland. Both graduated from McMurry—they were married in 1976. Richard is now manager of the family department store, and Gail teaches in Floydada schools.

Steven, a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin, is a second year law student at Texas Tech School of Law. He married Gay Jones of El Campo last August. While Steve pursues his law degree, Gail is teaching in Abernathy, where they plan to settle.

After attending Dartmouth College for a year and a half on a football scholarship, Michael returned to Texas Tech, where he is working on a degree in architecture. He married Mitzi Reddy of Floydada in 1976. Mitzi received her degree from Tech in accounting and is currently employed in that field.

Bill is a member of the Church of Christ, while Carolyn and the boys attend the First Baptist Church.

Bill and son Steven are "trapped" into a bridge game against Bill's parents, Mr. & Mrs. Walton Hale. Looking on is Bill's sister, Floy Jean Adkisson, a teacher in DeSoto.

Another "family"—the personnel at Hale's Department Store. (Absent is Irene Irby).

Bill and son Richard talk over the family business.

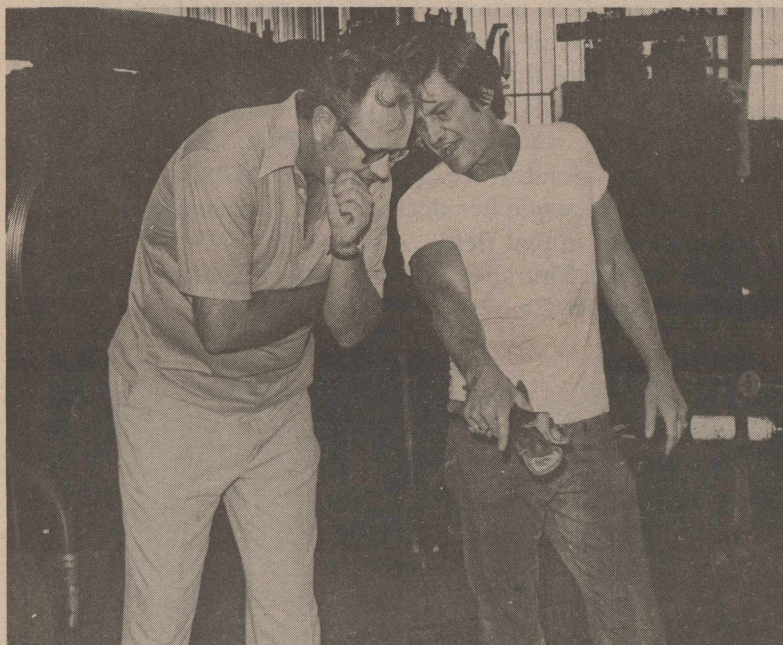

Bill Is Concerned About the Survival of Small Towns

The small towns of West Texas are becoming an endangered species. If Bill Hale is elected to represent the 66th District, they will have a strong advocate in the Legislature. Bill will see that the small towns and agricultural areas get their fair share of state expenditures.

With the population of Texas cities growing rapidly every year, and getting more representation in our state government, the rural districts must have representatives who are dedicated to the belief that our small towns must be kept alive and thriving. Bill Hale is on the side of the small towns, and he is intelligent and knowledgeable enough to fight the enactment of laws that favor urban areas.

This is not just "campaign talk." Bill served as President of the Floydada Board of Development for four years. During this period he learned a great deal about securing federal and state money for small towns. Bill also made many valuable contacts statewide—an asset that will help him in this primarily rural district.

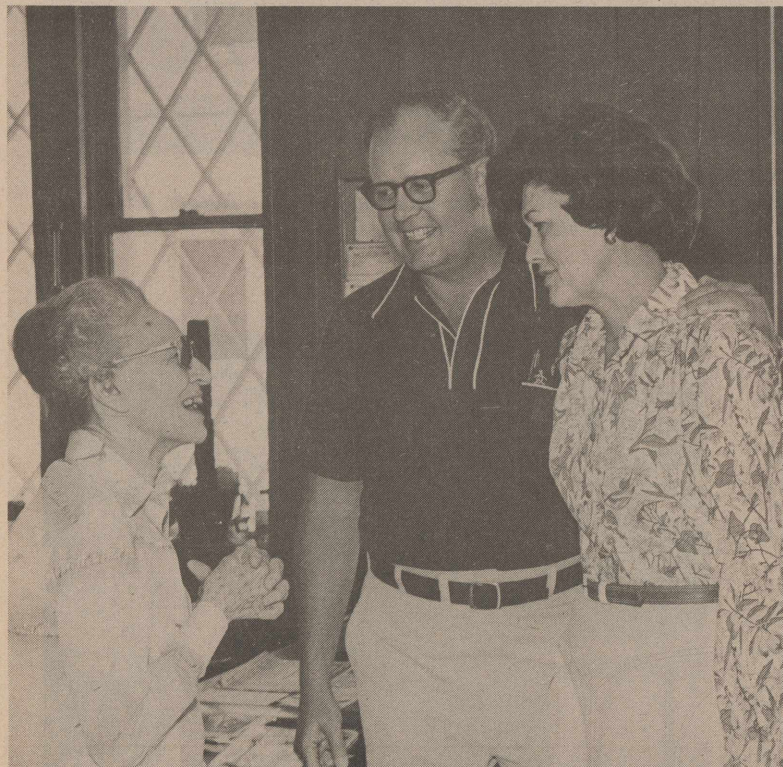

Bill and Carolyn Hale are small town West Texans who believe this is the best place to live and raise a family—where people know and care about others, and where the basic values of life are still respected.

Fletcher Hopper of Southwestern Rail Products points out a process in the manufacture of railroad spikes. Bill feels this plant in Wellington is typical of the kind needed to keep small towns alive.

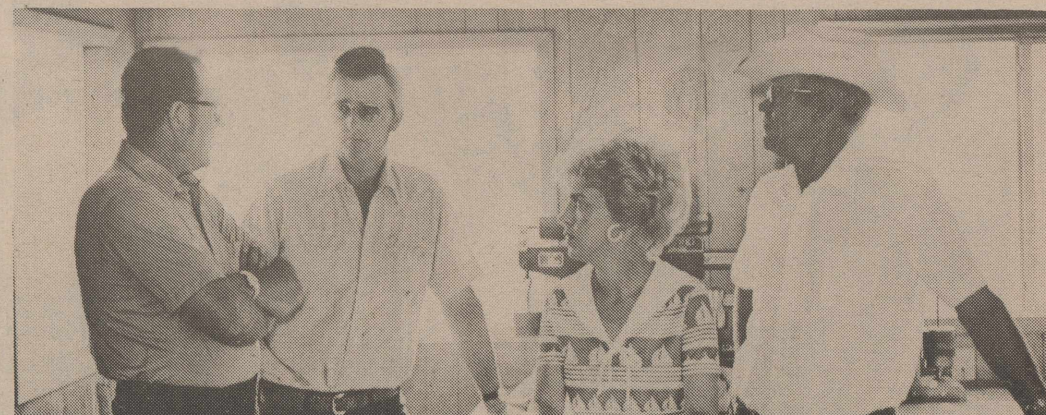

Bill stops at the home of Dr. & Mrs. Bob Jones. Dr. Jones is president of the Childress School Board.

Bill & Carolyn visit with Mrs. Arthur Barker of Lockney. Small town friendships are best of all, Bill thinks.

With Dr. Julian Key of Pampa...good medical care must be available to small town West Texans.

Small town economics are built around agriculture—it must remain healthy. Here Bill talks with Glenn Bowman, Estelline Farmer, gin manager Frank Hedrick and cotton buyer Linda Huddleston.

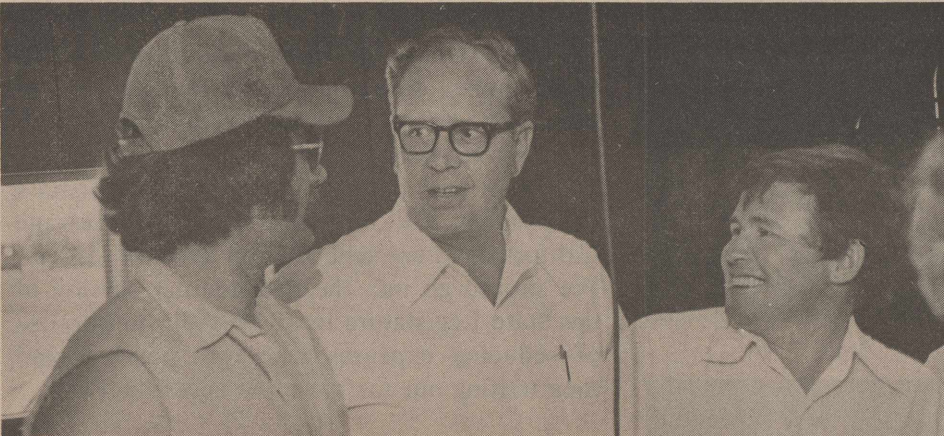

Agriculture Touches All of Our Lives

The Farmer's Union, Farm Bureau and the American Agriculture Movement are all working toward the same goal—improving the financial status of farmers and ranchers. Residents of the 66th Legislative District put equity for the farmer high on their list of priorities—agriculture is the backbone of the West Texas economy. Bill Hale will act on agriculture's behalf in the Texas Legislature.

"My personal philosophy is that we'll be much better off with less government intervention in our business," Bill says. "However, I realize with all the government programs that have been instituted in the last thirty or forty years, we cannot change at once to a program of government non-involvement. While I hope that we can gradually get the government out of our business, we must see that the government does not bankrupt farmers with its 'cheap food' policies in the interim.

"Government at the state level is not deeply involved with farm legislation. But in areas where it is involved, I assure you I will be the advocate of the West Texas farmer and rancher."

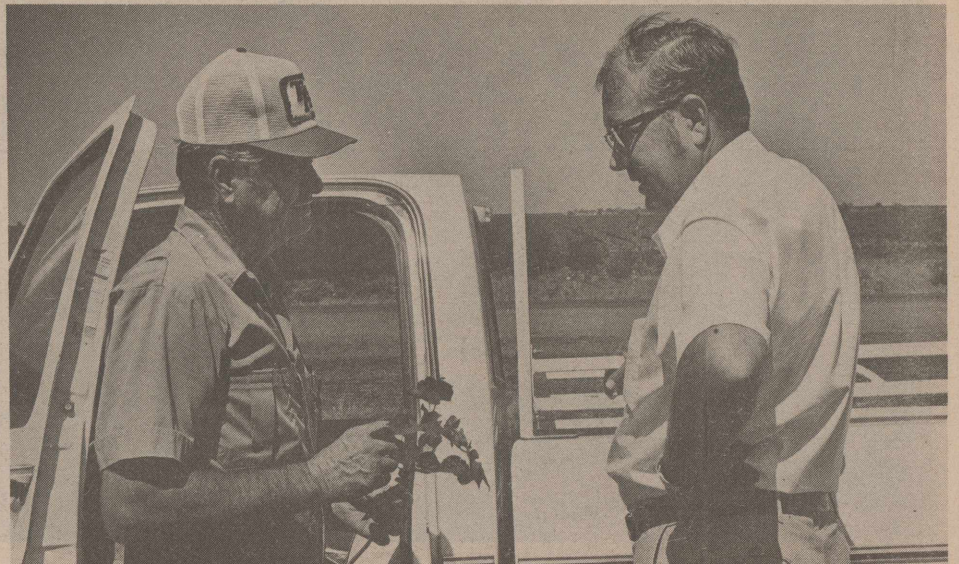

Bill jokes with Floydada farmers Ricky Biggs and Micky Dot Hammonds. Bill realizes, however, that problems facing farmers are not a laughing matter.

Bill Hale wants to sit down with farmers and discuss legislation affecting their lives.

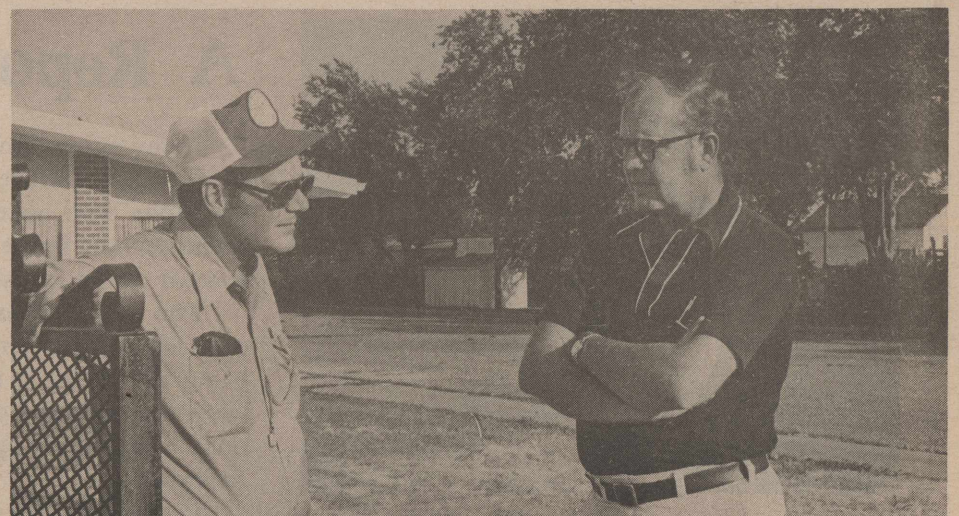

Looking over crop reports with Ray Gene Furgeson, manager of Floyd County Cooperative Gin, and Bill Cagle of Producers Cooperative Elevator of Floyd County.

J.S. Hale (no relation) explains the hazards farmers face getting their crops to maturity. Bill opposes government "cheap food" policies.

Vegetable packing is a big business in the South Plains. Bill's opinion is that the 66th District can't be strong unless its agribusiness is healthy.

Tom Christian, former State Legislator, and rancher and community leader in Claude, gives Bill the benefit of his experience regarding agricultural legislation in Austin.

Bill Talks About Taxes

"As Texans we are fortunate to live in a state rich in resources and healthy economically. We should be able to meet the needs of Texans without an oppressive tax burden.

"Unfortunately, property taxes have already risen too high, and those who pay these taxes are shouldering more than their fair share of the load. These taxes—especially at the school district level—must be reduced without delay.

"Cutting taxes is easy to talk about but difficult to do because tax revenues lost must be replaced from another source—in this case, most likely from the state treasury. There is a powerful element in our state government that will push for more state control over local school districts when the state furnishes a larger part of their financing. This element must be recognized and stopped—we must not lose any more control over our local schools to either state or federal governments.

"We now have a surplus in our state budget, but we must put a sharp pencil to our figures so we will know exactly how far this surplus will go in replacing lowered ad valorem tax revenues.

"Education is our most vital responsibility. More money does not necessarily buy a better education, but our school systems must have adequate financing to do their job properly.

"Let's not be panicked by California's Proposition 13, but let's heed the message California voters sent to their elected leaders. We should go into the next regular session of the State Legislature in 1979 with the purpose of reducing expenses wherever possible and then writing our tax schedule accordingly."

With longtime friend Charlie Berry. Excessive taxation hurts those on fixed incomes the worst.

Bill thinks our schools must be adequately funded without an excessive tax burden. He discusses the problem with Pampa school officials Paul Simmons, Bob Phillips and Bill Jones.

Bill doesn't want heavy taxes to cut deeply into workers' wages.

Discussing tax proposals with State Sen. Bob Price.

A Report on the Special Session

"In my opinion this year's special session of the Legislature was called by conservatives who hoped to put a lid on state spending now in the event that liberals gain control of the Legislature in 1979.

"The session was only moderately successful, and the lines are now being drawn for a really tough battle between the opposing conservative-liberal factions when the Legislature convenes next January.

"I visited Austin during the special session and conferred with many of our Representatives and Senators. They were unanimous in their opinion that lowering taxes will be a major goal of the next legislative session, and that a major battle may occur on the floor of both the House and Senate chambers."

With the 1979 session promising to be a significant one, the people of the 66th District need a thoughtful, conservative Representative to act on their behalf in Austin. Put Bill in the State Representative's seat and let him give 'em Hale!

Bill Hale Wants Local Control Over Our School Districts

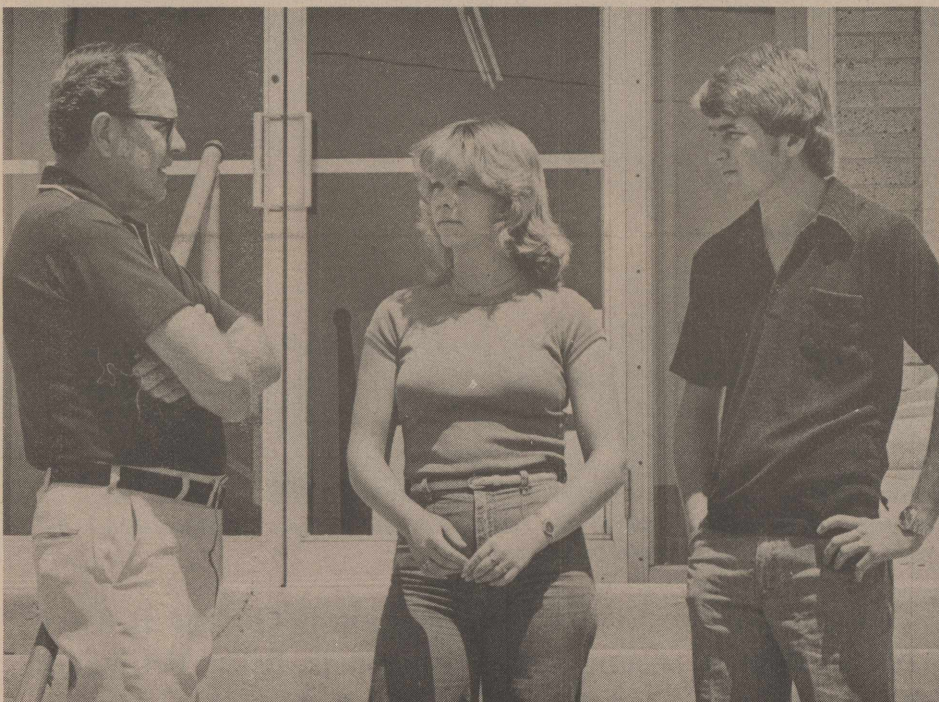

With over 50 percent of the Texas state budget devoted to education, it is fortunate that Bill Hale is not only extremely interested in the quality of education in this district, but is also very knowledgeable in the financial aspects of the state's education program.

"My four years on the school board provided me with useful insight into problems encountered by small school districts, like those in the 66th Legislative District. Fortunately, our area schools are blessed with talented administrators and a large number of dedicated career teachers. This has enabled us to maintain a good academic level in spite of some perplexing financial problems," Hale comments.

Bill thinks, however, that local districts are going to require more state assistance to keep up present educational standards and compensate for a reduction in ad valorem taxes.

"It will be difficult," Bill says, "to keep the liberals in our state government from taking more control over local school districts. We must keep this from happening. The balance of power in Austin between liberals and conservatives is becoming more even, and, with your help, the conservatives will retain control. This will enable West Texas' local school districts to continue to run their own show."

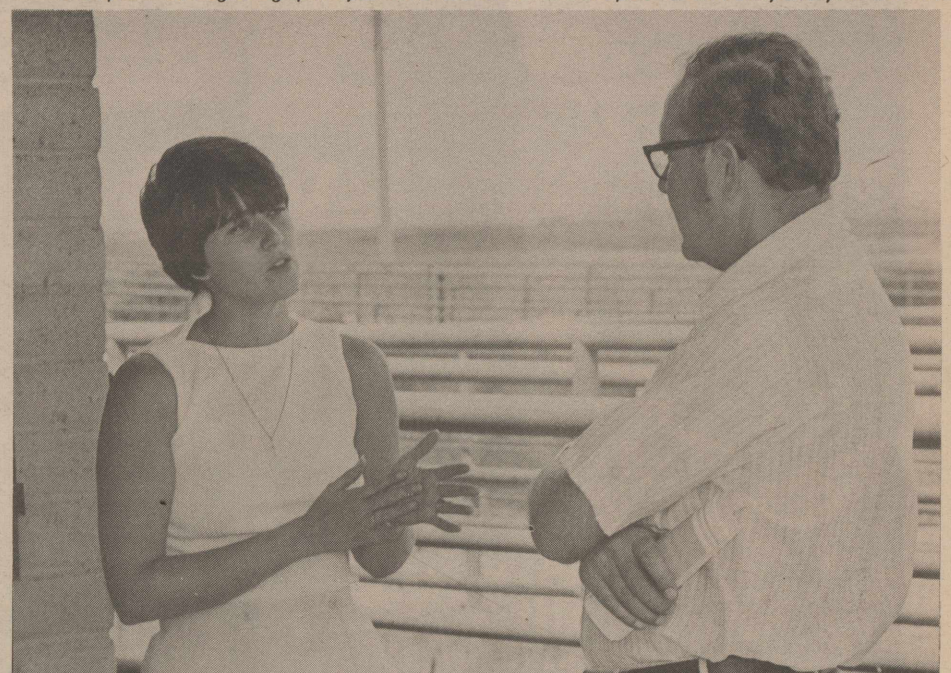

According to Bill, West Texas cannot prosper without quality education for our young people.

Bill has spent the last several months getting acquainted with the citizens of the 66th District. He found the problem of getting quality education for a reasonable price is on nearly everyone's mind.

Bill and Helena Stubbs of Lefors discuss the problems of a housewife raising school age children.

Whether our students enter the world of agriculture, business or science, a good education is a must. Bill wants to keep liberals from tampering with local school districts.
