N-Viets Step Up Attacks To Honor Ho's Birth

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops stepped up their attacks across South Vietnam sharply today in a new "highpoint" of activity apparently marking the 80th anniversary of the birth of Ho Chi Minh.

The Communist command's troops also threatened another Cambodian provincial capital in their efforts to keep open their supply lines through northern Cambodia and southern Laos.

The 35,000 American and South Vietnamese troops on the move against enemy base camps inside Cambodia reported only scattered action. But inside South Vietnam the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong shelled 61 allied positions, the heaviest attacks in 12 days.

In the northeastern part, Reds overran a government outpost and then slashed into a relief force that moved in. No further information was immediately available.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong ignored a 24-hour cease-fire which the Saigon government declared to mark the anniversary of Buddha's birth. The cease-fire, which ended at noon today, applied only to South Vietnamese and U.S. offensive operations in South Vietnam. There was no letup in the campaigns across the border in Cambodia or in air attacks on the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos.

A U.S. communique reported 166 enemy initiated actions of all types during the cease-fire and said 141 of the enemy were killed. It reported one American killed and 19 wounded, while the Saigon government said it had 10 killed and 73 wounded.

North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong told a meeting in Hanoi marking Ho's birthday anniversary that "no matter what difficulties and hardships lie ahead, our people are sure to win total victory ... The U.S. imperialists will have to pull out."

Viet Cong broadcasts earlier had called for an increase in attacks to celebrate the anniversary of the late Vietnamese Communist hero.

Informed sources said more than 60 U.S. B52 bombers battered North Vietnamese supply depots in Laos and Cambodia during the 24 hours of the cease-fire.

Officials in Vientiane, the Laotian capital, said North Vietnamese troops have begun moving north from Cambodia into the Bolovens plateau of the panhandle, a rice-growing area where the North Vietnamese may be trying to replenish their food supplies.

Some Laotian officials fear the allied campaign in Cambodia may trigger massive North Vietnamese retaliatory attacks in Laos.

June 13 Date Is Set For Junior College Tax Vote

Trustees of the Scurry County Junior College District last night officially called an election for June 13 to alter fiscal plans for the college.

There will be two proposals on the ballot. One is to issue 3¼ million in construction bonds, the same amount approved at the original election creating the district, but without the 6½ per cent interest limitation. The other is to separate the tax for retirement of bonds from that for maintenance and operation of the college and setting the maximum for bond retirement at a 50 cent rate.

This procedure was recommended by the college district's financial advisers, although the 50 per cent rate will not be needed to support the $3¼ million bond issue. Setting the maximum rate allowed at the state figure would enhance the rating of the bonds, which in turn could mean a better interest rate for the district when the bonds are ultimately sold, it was explained.

As the situation now stands, the financial advisers could see no market for the bonds within the 6½ per cent interest limitation set in the original election. High interest rates have plagued the bond market for several months and economists see no substantial changes in the near future, the college board has been informed.

Voting in the June 13 election will be conducted at all regular polling places in the county. Absentee voting will begin May 25 at the County Clerk's office. Beverly Ainsworth, County Clerk, will serve as the absentee voting clerk.

Meanwhile, the college district trustees conferred at length with architects and reached general agreement on offerings to be made for construction contracts, hopefully in late summer. The over-all objective is for Western Texas College to begin its first term in the fall of 1971.

If the financial issues involved in the June 13 election are approved by the voters, it is expected that the schedule can be maintained.

More Join In Industry Drive

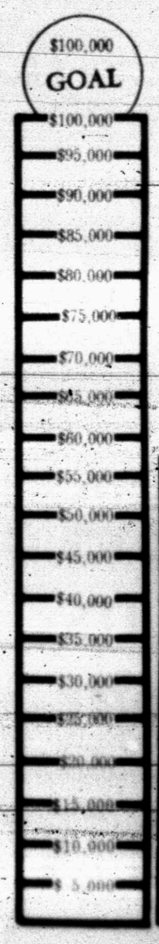

Contributions still are being received in the Scurry County Industrial Foundation's fund drive.

The organization set out several weeks ago in an effort to raise $100,000 for industrial development work here. The total now has reached $51,795.

There is not active solicitation work being done, although most business firms received letters outlining plans and objectives for the campaign, as well as follow up letters at the outset of the drive.

Contributions are being accepted at the Chamber of Commerce office, and those who wish to participate may make pledges and contribute half now and the other half after the first of the year.

Push Made On Census

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce is making an effort to see that everyone in the city and county is counted in the 1970 federal census.

Preliminary figures announced late last week were surprisingly low, although there had been indications that figures likely would be slightly lower than they were inn 1960. Trends as charted unofficially had shown evidence of yearly declines from 1960 until 1967, when a reversal of the trend was indicated.

Mickey Nunley, Chamber Manager, said that anyone who received census forms which have not been picked up, or who did not receive any forms and knows that he has not been counted, is urged to contact the Chamber of Commerce office at 573-3558.

The preliminary census report for Snyder showed 10,722 and for Scurry County it showed 15,115. At the time, district census officials said that for the entire Lubbock district, they believed that 95 per cent of the count had been tabulated.

Teamsters Accept Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters have accepted by a 7-5 margin what their leader, acting union president Frank E. Fitzsimmons, called the best national trucking contract in history.

But Teamsters in Chicago refused to go along with the national pact and have reaffirmed their intent to stick with a higher wage demand that some Chicago trucking firms have agreed to.

The national contract, affecting 425,000 drivers, provides for pay hikes of $1.10 an hour, improved pensions, health benefits, vacations, holidays and other benefits.

The Chicago Teamsters and the independent Chicago Truck Drivers Union "are solidly determined to get the $1.65 package on a 36-month, not a 39-month, contract as was approved nationally," said Louis F. Peick, secretary-treasurer of one local.

In Chicago, local carting companies make up the large percentage of those who have signed the higher hourly wage pact. An attorney for one of Chicago's main truck lines said the large, long-distance haulers couldn't afford the 55-cent-an-hour difference.

Approval of the contract came in a mail referendum, which was tallied by Teamsters under Labor Department supervision.

The national negotiations can be reopened if any signing company grants higher wage hikes to any Teamsters local. A union spokesman said that, if Chicago negotiates more, new negotiations will be opened.

Disaster Benefits Due Unemployed

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said today the Texas Unemployment Commission will pay disaster unemployment benefits up to $45 a week to persons who lost their jobs as a result of tornado damage May 11 to Lubbock and nine other Panhandle counties.

The SDN Column

There's going to be a "sidewalk sale" tomorrow in Snyder, and the last such event resulted literally in some wheeling and dealing.

The deals are made on the sidewalks, rather than in the stores, and the merchandise in many cases is wheeled out of the stores onto the sidewalks for display.

Merchants use these events to clear out current stocks and make room for new seasonal merchandise, and one local store manager remarked that it is surprising sometimes how much better some of the merchandise looks out in the sunshine than it did in the store. In other words, the better you see it, the better it looks.

Anyway, you can see at a glance what is offered in tomorrow's big sidewalk sale, and the big attraction, of course, is the marking down of prices.

Said one, "We've gotta mark 'em down, because they are out there for everybody to see, even our competitors."

Mickey Nunely, who lost one of the closer races for State Jaycee President, was in surprising good humor upon his return home from the state Jaycee convention in Fort Worth.

"They just out-politicked us," he grinned.

Although he offered no alibi, some of Nunley's colleagues reported that he might have lost the election by just one vote, rather than the 396-341 margin that was actually recorded, because the Corpus Christi Jaycees, a pivotal group as it turned out, endorsed the opposition by one vote.

This literally cooked Nunley's goose in the race because the West Texas area, where Nunley's strength was centered, was short of votes because of the Lubbock Tornado. Usually, there are about 180 or more delegates at the state convention from West Texas, but this time there were less than 125.

Finch Will Reschedule Meetings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch, whose unprecedented confrontation with critics within his own department was called off when he was suddenly hospitalized, plans to reschedule the mass meeting as soon as he is able.

Finch called the session for Monday to discuss charges from HEW employes that he has let important policy matters drift from his hands, particularly dealing with civil rights. But an hour-and-a-half before the afternoon meeting, Finch was rushed to Walter Reed Army Hospital with numbness in his left arm and hand.

HEW Undersecretary John G. Veneman told the department employes who filled an auditorium and several other rooms of Finch's ailment and said the secretary would reschedule the meeting at the earliest possible time. He then read the statement Finch had prepared for the meeting.

In that statement, Finch generally defended Nixon administration domestic and foreign policies, but conceded he and other top agency officials may have become isolated from dissenting opinion both within and without the department.

Finch appeared to take issue with President Nixon's plea for a lowering of voices, saying, "It is not sufficient simply to lower our voices. We must sincerely want to listen, and to understand what people really are trying to say to one another."

SALTers Meet

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators met for the ninth session of their strategic arms limitations talks today and the meeting was described as "Businesslike and free of any polemics."

The session at the Soviet Embassy lasted for an hour and 15 minutes. According to a conference source, there were the usual presentations of views and approaches followed by questions for specifics from the other side.

For the first time in five weeks of negotiations here, the Soviet delegation invited the 11 American negotiators to lunch at the Soviet Embassy shortly after the meeting.

Sidewalk Sale Set

Merchants throughout Snyder will stage a sidewalk sale tomorrow as they observe "Old Wild West Value Day."

The event, which was planned by the trade promotion committee of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, will be in progress throughout the day in the central business district and in shopping centers and outlying business areas.

Loren Sullivan, chairman of the chamber committee, said that most merchants in the city had indicated that they would participate. The participating merchants will display special sale merchandise on the sidewalks in front of their respective stores for the occasion.

Cambodia Funds Still Unsettled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and an expanded panel of congressional Republican leaders concentrated for more than an hour today at the White House on the Senate dispute over legislation to cut off appropriations for American operations in Cambodia. They came to no decision on a course of action.

The Senate GOP leader, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, said there was a general discussion of various amendments, centering on the proposal by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho. "The search continues for an acceptable solution," Scott said.

The Cooper-Church amendment, under fire from the White House as a restriction on presidential options and powers, would require pulling U.S. troops out of Cambodia by June 30 and bar additional American strikes into the country. It would allow air cover for South Vietnamese troops fighting North Vietnamese in Cambodia but no American military action in support of the Cambodian government.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler repeated the White House stand against the Cooper-Church formula and said, too, that the White House has not endorsed any alternative amendments. But he did not absolutely bar some modified proposal.

Indians Claim Rattlesnake Isle

CLEARLAKE OAKS, Calif. (AP) — A band of Pomo Indians has moved onto privately owned Rattlesnake Island in Clear Lake, claiming it has belonged to them for 1,000 years.

An Indian spokesman said it was the first time Indians had tried to take over private property. Previously they had claimed title to federal land, including Alcatraz Island in San Francisco Bay and Ft. Lawton, Wash.

The spokesman, Phillip White Eagle, said such activities result from a sudden realization that Indians have rights and "a broadening effort to call attention to that fact."

A spokesman for Boise-Cascade Corp., which owns the island and plans a recreational development on it, said public use of company land is welcome as long as it is not destructive.

The spokesman, Steven Moses, said the firm was willing to meet with Indian leaders to discuss ownership of the property.

Rattlesnake Island, one mile long and half a mile wide, is 116 miles north of San Francisco.

Irwen V. Morinda, leader of the group of 40 who moved to the island from a nearby reservation last Saturday, said the Indians can trace their ownership of Rattlesnake Island back 1,000 years. He said his ancestors were cheated out of the land. The property was a part of the mainland until the 1906 earthquake severed it and left it lying 100 yards off shore, Morinda said.

Capt. Howard Norton of the Lake County sheriff's department said no effort was planned to remove the Indians.

The Indians have erected a tent city and are working on more permanent buildings for what they have named El-Em Indian Colony. They have renamed the island Nu-Do-N, Indian for "Wooden Island."

Four Youths Face Charges

An altercation involving several local youths on the downtown square last Friday night resulted in the filing of aggravated assault charges against four of them yesterday in county court.

Charged were Danny Farmer, Juan Jimmie Mata, Eric David Clay and Melvin Cobb. Farmer and Clay pleaded innocent and were remanded to city jail in lieu of $750 bond each.

Mata pleaded guilty but judgment had not been entered. Cobb has not been apprehended.

Bobby Jack Ryan pleaded guilty in county court Thursday and received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 60-day jail term. However, the jail term was probated for one year. He was charged a day earlier with driving while intoxicated. He was apprehended by City Police.

Two Vehicles In Mishap Monday

Minor damage resulted from a two-car mishap on the East Highway at Avenue F at 2:50 p.m. yesterday.

Damage to the 1970 Model Chevrolet truck of A. D. Groseclose, Jr., 3308 Avenue A, was set at $25, and damage to the 1961 Model Ford of Edith Irene Simmons, Route 2, was placed at $175.

Taxable Base May Be Raised

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security tax, now levied on the first $7,800 of earnings, may ultimately be imposed on earned incomes as high as $25,000 if health costs continue to rise, Congress has been told.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, made the estimate in an appearance Monday before the House Rules Committee. The committee cleared for House debate Thursday a bill including a 5 per cent increase in Social Security benefits—and also a hike in the tax base from $7,800 to $9,000. The base increase was attributed mainly to the rising cost of the Medicare program.

Mills said that if health costs continue to rise successive increases in the tax base will be needed, up to perhaps $20,000 to $25,000 by the end of the century.

The Ways and Means Committee's report on the legislation said that the committee, in a departure from previous practice, is now assuming "the maximum taxable earnings base ... will be kept up to date, by periodic legislative revisions." On this basis, it expressed confidence that the Social Security funds will remain actuarially sound.

The committee held out some hope, however, that the sharp rise in hospital costs, which it estimated at 15 per cent in 1969 and 14 per cent this year, will slow down in coming years, so that the annual increase by 1978 would not be more than 4 per cent.

Integration Plan May Be Appealed

BEAUMONT (AP) — The revised integration plan for Longview public schools should be implemented, U.S. Dist. Judge Joe J. Fisher ruled orally Monday.

U.S. Atty. Roby Hadden said the government may consider an appeal in the case.

The new ruling would result in a 90 per cent Negro enrollment at four elementary schools rather than the 70 per cent proposed in an earlier plan.

Lawyers Henry Harbour and John Smith represented the district.

The school district is to prepare a written order on Fisher's ruling with the issue resolved within a few weeks, Hadden said.

Transmitter Is Well Protected

HOUSTON (AP) — The listener-sponsored Pacifica radio station, bombed off the air here May 12, has taken steps to see it won't happen again.

Investigators believe someone placed a dynamite bomb at their transmitter site and blew up the the radio equipment. Two other transmitters and a tower, on which the station, KPFT-FM, rents space, were not damaged.

The station hopes to be back on the air June 1 and they are building a concrete bunker to house their new transmitter. The bunker will be surrounded with a chain link fence topped by barbed wire.

The gate into the transmitter can only be opened by remote control from their downtown studios and anybody attempting to force entry will set off a giant air raid siren.

Pacifica went on the air here March 1. This station, and other Pacifica stations in Los Angeles, San Francisco, and New York have drawn fire from some persons because of the station policy of allowing all points of view to be broadcast.

Don Gardner, associate station manager, said subscriptions to the station have increased since the explosion that caused damages estimated at $25,000.

"A lot of people who had never considered us relevant or worthwhile before do now," Gardner said.

Four Texans On Casualty List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four soldiers from Texas were among 65 U.S. fighting men killed in action in Southeast Asia, the Defense Department reported Monday.

It listed them as Army Capt. Raymond R. Dulak Jr., whose parents live in Corpus Christi; 2nd Lt. Robert H. Johnson, husband of Sandra C. Johnson of College Station; Sgt. Albert Milburn, husband of Margaret A. Milburn of Houston, and Pvt. Ronald W. Holt, son of Clinton R. Holt of Dayton.

15 At Tops Convention

Fifteen Snyder women attended the Tops (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) Convention in Houston May 14, 15 and 16 and two of them received special recognition for having attained Kops (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly) status. The two are Jean Yearwood and Ethel York.

Both are members of the Snyder Toperettes Club. Other members of this club who attended are Thelma Swanson, Opal Forehand, Edna Holmes, Edna Lieb, Ruth Hardin, Darleen Butterfield, Betty Wooldridge, Peggy Vernon, Rozelle Martin, Olive Smith, Evelyn Diggs and Emma Huffman. Patsy Sitton, a member of Snyder Early Tops, also attended.

Darleen Butterfield was introduced as the Queen of the Snyder Toperettes Club.

Some 3,000 Tops Club members from over the nation and their guests attended the convention. The general session and most of the business meetings were held in the Astro Hall south of the Astrodome. A tornado was reported in the area Thursday morning during a thunderstorm while the women were in one of the business sessions, but fortunately it didn't strike the ground.

Esther S. Manz, organizer of Tops International, was presented a cactus plant from all of the Texas Chapters of Tops in which Snyder Toperettes and Snyder Early Tops were a part. A small portion of dirt was requested from each leader and combined to plant the cactus.

Dr. Ronald K. Kalkhoff, director deaconess of the Tops Obesity Treatment and Research program, was the featured speaker for the convention. Slides were shown of work being done at this hospital.

The International Queen is from Utah and she lost 166 pounds, from 422 to 256. The International King is from Minnesota, and he lost 172 pounds, from 455 to 283.

Texas did not hold a state convention this year, but there is a possibility that separate conventions for East Texas and West Texas will be held next year. Abilene has made a bid for the West Texas Convention. The next International Convention will be held July 6-8, 1971, in Washington, D. C.

Cash Wins Four British Awards

LONDON (AP) — Johnny Cash, the American country and folk singer, has won four of the annual awards by the British Country Music Association.

He was named Monday night as entertainer of the year and male singer of the year, and honored for the year's best long-playing record, "At San Quentin," and the best single, "A Boy Named Sue."

Women's Liberation Push Gets Broader

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The women's liberation movement is attracting a much wider cross-section of the nation's female population than just the militant bra burners and down-with-men types, according to one of the administration's highest ranking women.

The drive for better treatment of women is much broader based than many females, let alone males, realize, Elizabeth Koontz says, praising Jo lady lawyers and other women professionals as examples.

Mrs. Koontz, director of the Labor Department's Women's Bureau, told the Women's National Democratic Club Monday the realization of how the nation is deprived of female brainpower is causing fundamental changes in attitudes by women of all ages and areas of life.

Women lawyers have organized to seek out sex discrimination cases to get court rulings clearing the way for equal pay and opportunity, she said.

Other women, Mrs. Koontz added, are fighting the "SB" syndrome — the Southern Belle conditioning that has led us as women to be reared in a cocoon of thinking.

A "SB" is taught to praise Papa for being good to her and providing for her well-being, Mrs. Koontz said, in return for which she must kiss and flatter him and never question his judgments.

She carries this habit through courtship, Mrs. Koontz said, and ultimately is a full-fledged "SB"—dependent, nonaggressive, and rumored to be brainless.

Another target of women's liberation activities are school counselors "who keep on herding our women into those jobs" which pay poorly and are less than challenging, Mrs. Koontz said.

Mrs. Koontz said many women's liberation arguments must be directed against other women.

This is true in the case of domestic workers, she said, who most often are women employed by women.

We must upgrade the skills of the domestic worker and her wages, she said. "Many employers now say 'I wouldn't mind paying that money but I just don't get my money's worth.' Well, let her try to do the same work in the same amount of time."

Women's erroneous generalizations about others of their sex often damage the women's rights fight as much as anything done by men, Mrs. Koontz said.

Luddites Keeping EDP Managers On Guard

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There are a lot of Luddites around these days, said the data processing manager of a company whose production depends to a large extent on the healthy operation of its electronic computers.

It seems you can't tell a Luddite from any other worker, and so that makes them doubly difficult to defend against. Sometimes the only way you know they're even on the premises is to note a succession of suspicious computer snafus.

Are Luddites from another planet? Judging from the fear of them expressed by EDP managers you might believe they're like little green men. But they are terrestial, although their origins are in another continent.

The term is borrowed from the name given to a group of early 19th century English workmen who tried to delay the industrial revolution by smashing up the machines they believed were taking away their jobs.

Now, it is claimed, some workers want to do the same thing to the computer and the information revolution. How? One method is to hold an inexpensive magnet over the computer tapes, thus erasing the records thereon.

Modern tape reels may contain 100,000 records which one magnet can destroy in seconds. More than 900 reels were so destroyed by protestors angered by Dow Chemical Company's participation in the Vietnam war.

The ease with which such sabotage can be accomplished is making EDP managers increasingly concerned with the security of their computer operations, whose success or failure can mean the same thing for the entire company.

Sabotage, in fact, is only one of their worries. Fire, fraud, student uprisings, improper ventilation, smoke, power failures, earthquakes and, simply, employe accidents, pose constant threats.

At a recent seminar on catastrophe prevention, held by the American Management Association, a Bank of America official described how his computer facilities are surrounded by bullet proof glass.

Guards allow only one person at a time into the foyer. The person seeking entrance finds himself in a small "mantrap," with the door behind and the door ahead closed tight. While thus imprisoned, he is examined by a television camera.

Despite such precautions, some companies are finding that the damage often can be accomplished from within.

By ingeniously rigging a computer, five men stole more than $1 million from two New York banks. In another case, a programmer set up the computer to bypass his account when reporting overdrafts. He then cashed checks freely.

The possibility of power failures in wide areas of the nation this summer could cause damage not only to the machinery of computers but to the records stored in them, despite the growing use of backup power.

Such threats of absolute chaos to a company's operations are causing some EDP managers to be concerned enough to provide duplicate storage facilities in their own homes, where they feel they can personally keep an eye on them.

These measures do not, however, resolve the problem of computer protection in a society that many feel is growing more violent and destructive. The dupes can be rushed into service, true, but some damage already has been done.

Moreover, some EDP managers feel it will be a long, long time before they can relax. As one of them put it at the AMA conference: "The kids playing with drugs today will be your employes tomorrow."

Junior Editors Quiz on HUMMINGBIRDS

QUESTION: Is there a bird which can fly backwards?

ANSWER: Consider the tiny hummingbird. It is so small that an ordinary teaspoon will hold four newly hatched hummers, each the size of a bee. If you look closely at the bottom of the picture, you will see a hummingbird sitting on a sprig of smothy grass (1), proving how light it is. With all their lightness, however, hummingbirds are among the most remarkable fliers in the bird world. They not only hover in the air, but they can fly backwards (2), the only birds to do so. The familiar American hummingbird is the Ruby Throat. These jewel-like little creatures breed from Labrador to the Southern states. In autumn, they perform their greatest flying trick (3). Working down through the South to Florida, these mighty mites strike out boldly across the Gulf of Mexico. Without rest or food, they fly some 500 miles directly to Yucatan or South America. Then they travel to their winter homes, which are in various parts of Mexico or Central America. For such tiny birds to make a sustained 500-mile flight is truly astonishing.

Como Is Enjoying Acceptance

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Living is enjoying what you do," said Perry Como, the latest pilgrim to Las Vegas.

In his first night club appearance since he started at the Copacabana here in 1944, the singer will open a three-week engagement at the International Hotel in Nevada's gambling capital for a reported $75,000 a week.

[illegible] made at the Copacabana 26 years ago—but, of course, money isn't what it used to be. And it isn't just the money that is drawing Como back to a night club floor.

"To me life is fulfillment and acceptance," said Perry. "When you have been doing something for 30 or 35 years, it makes you feel good to find you're still accepted and welcomed at 58.

"In some careers, even bricklaying, you get too old.

"I like to work before a large live audience. I think it will be fun in Las Vegas. If not, I can always try the tables. If I gambled as much as I want to, I'd probably be the biggest bum in the world."

The greatest gamble Como ever made, however, was in 1933. He gave up a barbershop in Canonsburg, Pa., that was bringing him in $1 a week to become a singer for Tommy Carlone's band at $28 a week.

Over the years the easy-going singer won recognition as one of the best-liked performers in show business, a top star in radio, television and the recording field. Of the hundreds of records he made, a phenomenal 13 sold more than a million discs, including such hits as "Prisoner of Love," "Till the End of Time," "Sweet Sixteen," and "Ave Maria."

After 15 years of running his own television network variety shows, Perry wearied of the routine and the chore of running a production staff of 250 people. Now he picks his spots.

"I feel we had done just about everything," he explained. "Even when I cut my programs down to eight or 10 a year, I found that to get the kind of guests I wanted I had to make some trades—appear on their shows, too—that I was almost back on a weekly schedule.

"Getting the quality of guests I wanted just became too rough. If you want those people—the best you can get—you can't buy them. You have to do a trade with them.

"But I never did retire. I feel I'm too young to vegetate yet. Ideally, I'd like to do what I have been doing—do a couple of specials a year and a few guest spots and make more records."

Como sold his longtime home at suburban Sands Point and built a new one on the seashore a few miles from Palm Beach. He spends about 10 months a year there with his wife Roselle, fishing, playing golf and entertaining their six grandchildren.

Electrical Workers Talks Continue

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Negotiations were to continue here today between Gulf States Utilities Co. and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in an effort to settle a month long system-wide strike.

Union and company representatives met about five and a half hours Monday. Negotiators said they would hold daily sessions until settlement.

The strike began April 22 in Baton Rouge, La., and spread to Texas, affecting some 2,200 workers. Employes had been without a contract since last June.

Supervisors have been manning all stations in Louisiana and Texas since the strike started.

Rooney Sued For $7 Million

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Mickey Rooney is being sued for $7 million breach-of-contract damages by Universal Coverage Corp.

In the suit, filed Monday in Superior Court, the corporation contends it now holds rights to a contract Rooney once signed with Barbroo Enterprises Productions Inc., to render services from April 20, 1968, to Dec. 31, 1970.

The court also was asked to prevent Rooney from working for anyone else and to compel him to account for his earnings.

Braves Thump Memphis Twice

Texas League
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Shreveport didn't act like a cellar dweller should Monday night, and the suddenly wide-awake Braves tightened the Texas League's Eastern Division race with twin victories over Memphis.

The scores were 3-1 and 1-0 as Shreveport combined lusty hitting with masterful pitching performances from Dave Lobb and Stan Bell.

On other fronts, Dallas-Fort Worth tripped Amarillo 4-2, Arkansas whipped San Antonio 6-3 and Albuquerque mauled El Paso 18-3.

Memphis now leads San Antonio by only one and one-half games in the Eastern Division. Arkansas is two and one-half games back and Shreveport has climbed within three and one-half games of the lead.

Albuquerque paces the Western Division by three games over El Paso, with Dallas-Fort Worth five and one-half games behind and Amarillo eight lengths down.

Lobb and Bell both pitched brilliant four-hitters for Shreveport. Memphis' only run in the first inning of the opener was unearned.

Tonight the same teams play at Albuquerque, Amarillo, San Antonio and Shreveport.

Former Tiger Soars

John Schiebel, former Snyder High School track star, tied for third place in the high jump at the National Junior College track and field meet Saturday at Garden City, Kan.

Schiebel, representing Howard County Junior College of Big Spring, cleared 6-4 in the high jump. The event was won by Eugene Simien of Cobleskill AT&T of New York.

Star playmaker of Michigan State's 1969-70 basketball team was 5-foot-5 guard Gary Ganakas, son of the head Spartan coach, Gus Ganakas.

Michigan State's 1970 football team faces rugged assignments the first three Saturdays in October. The Spartans play Notre Dame, Ohio State and Michigan in succession.

Matadors Stand In Tigers' Title Path

What could be one of the most interesting baseball clashes of the season is expected to be unreeled in Towle Park this afternoon when Lubbock Estacado's Matadors invade the local diamond to stand in the title path of Snyder's Tigers.

A victory by Snyder would give the SHS team a clear-cut title in District 3-AAA. A loss would leave them tied with Levelland for the crown and a playoff would become necessary to determine the district champion.

"They don't have a thing to lose, so they should be relaxed and ready to play ball," declared Bengal mentor Speedy Moffett.

The veteran coach named a probable starting lineup, as follows: Stewart Sims 3b, Wesley Bishop 2b, Larry Wall c, Merce Hernandez p, Jim Patrick ss, Butch Buchanan 1b, David Thompson cf, Randy Levens rf, and Bobby Schrader lf.

The Matador coach was having difficulty rounding up all of his squad following the tornado which struck Lubbock early last week.

"They said they'd let us know if they can't be here," said local school officials.

Manager Bill Rigney of the Minnesota Twins was born in Alameda, Calif., on Jan. 29, 1918.

Manager John McNamara of the Oakland Athletics was born in Sacramento in 1932.

Manager James David Bristol of the Milwaukee Brewers was born at Macon, Ga., in 1933.

Ed Doherty, former executive assistant with the Washington Senators, now scouts for the Nats.

ANNUAL FETE — Members of the Snyder FFA, their parents and guests file through the serving line at the annual barbecue, held last night in the Towle Park barn. Serving up the delicious fare (center of line) are Billy Bob McMullan and Floyd Collins, instructors.

FFA Annual Barbecue Held

Several hundred persons were present for the annual Snyder FFA barbecue held last night in the Towle Park barn. The group included members, their parents and guests.

Bo Robinson was honored as the Star Chapter Farmer and Sidney Wall was recognized as the Star Green Hand during a program at the conclusion of the banquet.

Billy Bob McMullan, agriculture teacher at the high school, and Floyd Collins, agriculture teacher in the junior high schools, presented certificates of recognition to members who comprised the different teams who placed high at district, area and state contests.

Rusty Wilson, the chapter president, showed slides he took of scenes in England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales and other parts of Europe during his visit there last summer as a student.

Included among the guests were Bill Hood, superintendent of schools; Buford Browning, county school superintendent; and several members of the board of school trustees.

Antenna Film Dims Picture

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — It was so mysterious. Television pictures that were clear and sharp during the day faded or failed after sundown.

Why? No one could figure it. So townsfolk here and at nearby Port Hueneme asked the Pacific Missile Range headquarters for help.

The trouble: TV antennas were coated with a thin film of salt and dust. At night, moisture-laden sea air caused the layer to become a conductor of electricity, short-circuiting antennas and wires.

Hospital Urged To Hear Gripes

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Hospital officials should start listening to consumer complainst or face the fact they may lose some control of their hospitals, Robert M. Cunningham said Monday.

Cunningham, managing editor of "Modern Hospital" magazine of Chicago, spoke at the opening session of the 41st annual convention of the Texas Hospital Association.

The editor compared increasing gripes about health care to the rising protests among college students.

"Basically," he said, "the message is the same one the students are trying to get across to the universities...and that is the service isn't always relevent to the need."

But he said that many hospital administrators are ignoring the protest.

He urged administrators to start listening to the cries for comprehensive medical services which help the whole person, rather than just his surgical problem or his pneumonia.

He said every hospital today is caught between the rising costs caused by more extensive equipment and is also "expected to offer the same kind of loving personal attention to the care and comfort of its patients and their families...and also to expand and refurbish its physical plant, raise salaries and wages of employes at all levels of skill and compete with industry for personnel in short supply.

"Is it any wonder costs have skyrocketed?" he said.

Cunningham said if costs continue to rise, however, he sees more government controls.

"The one crisis in medical care the government is in earnest about is crisis in cost," he said.

Cunningham also predicted that if the squeeze for health care costs continues, it may not be long before a clamor for national health insurance becomes deafening.

The Texas Hospital Association will meet here through Wednesday. More than 5,000 health care personnel from the association and 14 related organizations which meet in conjunction with the hospital group are here.

University Behind On "Demands"

SEATTLE (AP) — Monday was a tough day for some administrators at the university of Washington here.

Classes had been dismissed in memory of two black students slain at Jackson State College in Mississippi when a group of students calling themselves the Conservative Coalition arrived at the administration building to present nine demands, including the resumption of classes and that students be repaid for lost time caused by unnecessary closure.

As the assistant to the UW President accepted the list of demands from the students, another school official commented: "We're still working on demands from last week."

Okinawa To Be Studied

TOKYO (AP) — The United States and Japan agreed today to begin studies which will lead to Japanese assumption of responsibility for the defense of Okinawa.

Okinawa is to be returned by the United States to Japan in 1972. Its defense now is in the hands of the American forces maintaining the big U.S. bases there.

The decision to begin joint studies on the question was reached by the Japan-U.S. Security Consultative Committee, meeting at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Japanese sources said the two sides exchanged views on the early return of more than 20 American bases in Japan and joint use of U.S. bases with the Japanese Self-Defense Force.

Team Adopts Filipino Girl

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Wake Forest's basketball players have adopted a 12-year-old Filipino girl, Esperanza Tolentino, and coach Jack McCloskey hopes the "foster child" program will spread to college athletes around the nation.

The players will pay $16 a month under a foster parents plan to help give Esperanza some fringe necessities she has lacked while living in the slums of Manila.

"I got the idea last year when the Wake Forest students assisted Biafra," said McCloskey.

"Jawboning" Prices Into Line Making Comeback

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The old tactic of "jawboning" wages and prices into line, ridiculed and discredited by the Nixon administration, seems to be making a comeback.

Carefully choosing their words, Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns and Housing Secretary George Romney both indicated Monday the government's current tools may not be enough to stop inflation without a long period of rising prices and failing production.

Burns talked in terms of a "incomes policy," a phrase that can mean anything from open wage-price controls to mild but formal government efforts to keep labor settlements and price increases within bounds.

Although he didn't spell it out, Burns told an American Bankers Association meeting in Hot Springs, Va., "we should not close our minds to the possibility" that such an income policy might play "a very modest role" in shortening the time necessary to bring prices under control.

Romney was considerably blunter, straying farther than ever off the reservation of conformity to try a little jawboning of his own. He spoke critically of the administration economists and spokesmen who so far hold sway in the White House.

"We have jawboning—but it has been jawboning against jawboning," Romney told a collective bargaining forum in New York. The administration has contended repeatedly that the method of informal but strong government pressure failed during President Johnson's years.

In Hot Springs with Burns, Budget Director Robert P. Mayo delivered another piece of news—federal budgets for this year and next will show slight deficits.

Romney called on President Nixon to name a "watchdog commission" to make public any price and wage changes "that are inconsistent with the general objective of speedy deceleration of the inflationary spiral."

"This will give public opinion and the underlying competitive forces in the marketplace the maximum opportunity to work the appropriate discipline."

However, such public scrutiny apparently was rejected by the administration last fall. Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers and a leading opponent of any controls, told Congress last September:

"The government, fortunately, has no monopoly in mobilizing public opinion, and it is doubtful that in any disputed case a strong force of opinion could be marshalled for or against any price or wage action."

In addition to the watchdog agency, Romney said "the time has come for the President to lay it on the line with labor and business about the need to bring wage and price actions back into line with productivity improvement by the earliest possible date."

The administration's current attempts to explain its economic policy came under attack Monday by congressional gadfly Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee.

The Texas Democrat issued a statement saying Nixon officials have fed Congress and the public "outlandish public relations propaganda about what is happening to the American economy."

Crackdown Set On Narcotics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign visitors and returning American tourists will have a tougher time clearing customs, especially on the East and Gulf coasts, when a new government crackdown on narcotics smuggling begins about June 1.

The Customs Bureau is beginning the new effort as part of its intensified campaign against heroin, drugs, mainly heroin and cocaine.

Details are still in the discussion stage, but Asst. Treasury Department Secretary Eugene T. Rossides confirmed Monday the plan will go into effect with an "increase in enforcement intensity throughout the nation, with emphasis on the Northeastern and Southeastern quadrants."

Coverage will extend as far west as New Orleans, he said, and presumably also will affect at least part of the Canadian border, although a Customs spokesman maintained it will be a uniform nationwide increase.

Treasury and Customs officials knew the program as "Operation Able" in its initial discussion stages, but Rossides is against such a name because it might be associated with Operation Intercept, the one-month effort to curtail marijuana smuggling across the Mexico border last fall.

Intercept was changed to Operation Cooperation after the Mexican government and border businessmen complained it was hurting their business and tourism. The Mexicans agreed, however, to take tougher actions against marijuana growers and some officials in Treasury say that was its major goal.

In contrast, Rossides said, the new program will be a "permanent upgrading of the enforcement," although there may occasionally be an extra-special increase in periods of rigorous "blitz" inspections lasting a few hours.

Stiffer customs inspections are only one part of the government's effort to curtail narcotics, which President Nixon made an objective of foreign policy last year.

Diplomats are trying to reach agreement with France and Turkey, where the government says 80 per cent of smuggled heroin comes from.

Nixon's staff report agreement with France, which has its own addiction problem to spur it along, and are optimistic about new controls on poppy growth in Turkey.

Cross Convicted

BEAUMONT (AP) — A jury convicted Jimmy Howard Cross, 28, today of murder for the shooting death of Marty Montgomery a year ago.

The verdict was followed by arguments by lawyers on the sentence, usually set by the jury in a second consultation.

Mrs. Montgomery was shot to death in a cafe in the predominantly Negro section of Beaumont.

Cross is one of five men charged in the slaying.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

• • •

Q — Will I get a reminder notice on my June estimated tax payment?

A — Yes, the IRS will send reminder notices on the second installment due June 15, to all those who received estimated income tax forms earlier this year. Anyone receiving a notice who is not required to make a payment should ignore it.

Use voucher number 2 to make the June payment. This voucher identifies the payment since it carries the taxpayer's name, address and Social Security number. For your convenience, envelopes addressed to the service center were provided in the 1040-ES package.

Q — Where should I write about a delayed refund?

A — If it has been ten weeks since you sent in your return and you have received no word about it, then write the IRS service center where you sent your return. IRS will need to know about when your return was mailed, your Social Security number, name and present address.

Q — I'm a teacher and plan to take some courses this summer. How can I find out whether these costs will be deductible?

A — Send a post card to your IRS district director and ask for a copy of Publication 508, "Tax Information on Educational Expenses." This booklet is free.

Generally, educational expenses are deductible if they are expressly required by your employer or if they are necessary to maintain or improve your skills in your present position. No deduction can be taken for courses needed to meet the minimum standards of employment or to obtain a new job.

Q — How much can someone earn and still be claimed as a dependent?

A — For 1970, a person must have gross income of less than $625 to meet the income test for dependents. The income level has been less than $600, but was changed by the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

The 1969 law raises the income test in steps just as the amount that may be claimed for a dependent is raised. For example, a taxpayer is entitled to a $625 allowance for each exemption on 1970 returns and the gross income test for dependents is less than $625. For 1971, a taxpayer is allowed $650 for each exemption, while the gross income test rises to less than $650.

Note that the income test does not apply to children of the taxpayer, if they are under 19 or are full-time students at least five months during the tax year.

Q — Can I deduct any of the closing costs I paid when I bought my house?

A — State and local taxes on real property and interest payments are deductible if you itemize. Keep a record of your closing costs so you have the information available when you file your return next year.

Many of the closing costs associated with the purchase of a home are not deductible since these are considered by law to be either personal or capital expenses. Your lawyer's fees, insurance on the home, title search and similar expenses are not deductible.

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

TREATMENT CENTER
CHILD CARE WORKERS

An interesting job (junior level) for which mature men, women and couples without a high school diploma may qualify is that of a child care worker (also called houseparent) at treatment centers and schools for emotionally disturbed adolescents.

Under supervision, the worker is responsible for the well-being of children in his care — from getting them up in the morning to preparing meals and helping with homework. Pay is low ($4800 to $5600 is typical) but may also include room and board. (A couple earning $10,000 plus room/board isn't bad.) Job is demanding; work day may be 7 a.m. — 10 p.m. (with time off during day). Rewards: veterans say working with problem-beset kids is addictive. Fund Asked To Clean Beaches

By GARY GARRISON
Associated Press Writer

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)— Legislators heard a suggestion Monday that the state set up a special fund to clean Texas beaches of gooey deposits attributed to spilled oil.

They also heard an appeal that access be assured to stretches of beach which are closed to vehicular traffic, and were told the attorney general's office intends to enforce the open beach statute.

John Shanahan, an aide to Gov. Preston Smith, recommended creation of the cleanup fund to the legislature's Interim Beach Study Committee.

Shanahan showed the lawmakers masses of a substance resembling tar and as big as baseballs which he said were collected in a survey of beach pollution. He also exhibited pictures taken last Saturday on Galveston Island.

This matter now is being taken out to sea by the tide and tests are being made in an effort to determine the source, Shanahan said.

He suggested the legislative committee consider some plan to tax petroleum and transportation companies, with the revenue going into a fund for beach cleanup work when the source of such pollution cannot be determined.

Sen. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur advanced an idea that some of the deposits possibly came from the hulls of ships sunk in the Gulf of Mexico during World War II, or possibly in seepage from a natural fault in the Gulf near Galveston.

Harlingen lawyer Jack Skaggs, an owner of South Padre Island property, told the committeemen about a five-mile stretch near the south tip of the island from which vehicles are barred. He urged that the state make sure that access to beaches is assured before strips of beach are closed in this fashion.

The public is denied access to the five-mile sector, Skaggs said, because there are no roads leading to the beach.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Ben Harrison told the committee his office expects to enforce the open beach law as a remedy for such situations.

Kleberg County Commissioner Bobby Cavazos asked that the state help his county pay about $20,000 a year required to clean Padre Island beaches between the Nueces County line and the Padres Island National Seashore.

Indians Begin Trip To Calgary

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Seven Indians and a white man are traveling by horseback to Calgary, Canada, hoping to instill new pride in the American Indian.

"The American Indian is desperately in need of young heroes," the white man, Brian King, 40, told a newsman before the band departed Monday. "Here are people who are doing something— something others can associate with competitively."

King said other riders will join them along the way and that they may have as many as 200 when they reach Calgary about July 9, in time for the Calgary Stampede.

Berlin Battle A Russian Memento

By HUBERT J. ERB
Associated Press Writer

BERLIN (AP) — On the streets, fur hatted and high booted Red Army men marched by in platoon formations, their arms swinging.

Big army trucks moved other men and material about. Russian women with children stopped to gossip as they went shopping.

A T34 tank, erected as a memorial to the fall of Berlin to the Red army a full quarter century ago, has two Russian words written on its side: "Mother Homeland."

The scene was the district of Berlin Karlshorst, the guarded Soviet enclave in Communist East Berlin where the Red army has established an elaborate museum dedicated to its victory in what is called "the great fatherland war."

Russian soldiers at street barriers guard access to the area. Entrance is gained only by special pass.

The museum is located in the same former German army officers' club where the Soviets staged what they call the "official" signing of an unconditional surrender statement by the German Wehrmacht. The signing hall is the last of 15 museum rooms and everything in it is the same as on May 8, 1945, when the surrender took place a day after a similar statement had been signed by the Germans in Reims, France.

The entire exhibit demonstrates that the Soviet attitude on Germany and Berlin remains punitive and unyielding in its pressure. Recollection of top Nazis are illustrations of a philosophy of an eye for an eye that continues to this day.

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel was hanged on Oct. 15, 1946, sentenced to death by the Nuernberg war crimes tribunal. Today a picture of Hitler's staff chief, just off the gallows, blood at his mouth and nose, hangs in the Berlin Karlshorst Museum.

There are 11 such grisly photographs, all on a single wall.

There also is a 12th spot on the wall waiting for a death mask of Martin Bormann, Hitler's alter ego, who mysteriously escaped as Berlin and the Fuehrer died.

There is much in this museum that is of particular interest: the beribboned tunic of Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the captor of Berlin, his map case, and Hitler's last map.

Ludmilla Golubkova, a museum guide from Rostock on the Don, declared: "Yes, this was Hitler's last map. But not of the world. Or Europe. Or even France or the Soviet Union. But a city map of Berlin. At the end, that is all he had left."

Maj. Ivan Kudinov, a tank officer and director of the museum, added his own comments on military aspects of the museum's exhibits.

He described an intricate terrain board as the one used by Red army commanders to brief their troops before the final assault on Berlin. The board included almost all of greater Berlin's 6,000 major buildings.

Another illustrated operational high point is a room-sized map of Berlin laid out as a table. The room is darkened. On the map, initial contact with German defenders is shown by blinking red lights. Breakthroughs are flashing red arrows. Major fire fights become red blotches. As Berlin falls, it appears everywhere on fire. Everywhere, it is red.

The last fighting, around the Reichstag which changed hands nine times, also is given special effects treatment. The viewer stands in a rounded room. A vast mural of the great stone German parliament building covers the walls. Smoke hangs in the air and Russian soldiers climb over destroyed German guns and trenches toward the building.

The foreground is littered with the rubble of war. A sound track provides commentary and the sounds of battle. As the battle progresses, the sound reaches a crescendo with hundreds of Russians shouting a final charge. It is said that the sounds were recorded during the actual fighting.

The Red army museum makes the claim that the battle for Berlin alone cost 308,000 Russian lives.

A commentator declares: "The fall of Berlin is the most important result of World War II."

Indeed, it is made very clear that the storming of Berlin by the Red army alone is the basis for compelling Soviet influence in the affairs of divided Berlin and Germany.

TWENTY-MILLIONTH COPY — Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, left, presents Mr. and Mrs. James Cash Penney the American Bible Society's symbolic 20 millionth copy of "Goof News for Modern Man," the New Testament in Today's English Version, in a ceremony at Bible House in New York City. The Penneys were cited for "their life and service in following the preceipts of the Book and their dedication to the Bible cause at home and abroad."

20-Millionth Copy Of 'Good News' To Penneys

NEW YORK — The symbolic 20 millionth copy of "Good News for Modern Man," the New Testament in Today's English Version, was presented by the American Bible Society to Mr and Mrs. James Cash Penny on May 1st in a ceremony at Bible House, 1865 Broadway, headquarters of the Society.

The Pennys were cited in an inscription in the volume for "their life and service in following the precepts of the Book and their dedication to the Bible cause at home and abroad."

In receiving the white leather bound volume, printed in extra large type, the 94-year-old founder of J. C. Penney Co., gave testimony to his reliance on the Scriptures when he said: "If it hadn't been for the training of my mother and father there would be no J. C. Penney Co. today."

His father, a Baptist preacher and farmer, "preached without pay," as was the cutson in his day. "He died as strongly in the faith as he lived," Penney said.

Calling his mother a "great mother," the famous merchant quoted a prayer she used to say, "'Lord, have mercy upon me, a sinner.'"

Then, asserting the presentation was "one of the greatest honors I have ever had paid to me and my wife," he expressed his desire to live to be 100. "In studying this Book with my devoted wife it will help me to be a better man," he added.

Mrs. Penney also said the volume will have a "great place in our lives" and told how copies of the TEV already are in "every important room" in their home. "We want our guests to read it," she declared.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, minister emeritus of Christ Church United Methodist, here, and a member of the Board of Managers of the Society, who made the presentation, said he had become "quite an authority on centennials" since he is called upon to give first-hand accounts of early days of century-old institutions. He then admitted he is preparing "quite an address" for Mr. Penney's centennial year, for the man who is a "symbol of the best in American business and American life."

Adding that "today's gift transcends the giver and the receiver," Dr. Sockman expressed his opinion that the fact the TEV New Testament outsells books by his "favorite authors," the two mystery giants, Erle Stanley Gardner and Agatha Christie, "makes me feel more strongly than ever that it's God's word. The fruits are what prove its worth," he continued.

States To Test New Network

By LARRY KURTZ
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — He's hairy in Michigan, bald in California, with a new name and driver's license everywhere he goes.

He's a career criminal, a fast-moving felon who keeps ahead of his record by jumping from state to state faster than paperwork can follow.

If he's arrested for a minor offense in Arizona, he may be long gone before word comes that he's wanted for armed robbery in Texas.

Authorities in 15 states are hoping a sophisticated communications network can help them put the arm on elusive characters like these.

Initially, seven of the states have banded together to test an instant-information system with the apt acronym of SEARCH. It stands for System for Electronic Analysis and Retrieval of Criminal Histories.

Some $2.5 million, including federal funds, is being spent on the project. A test is scheduled for July and August, with a four-month evaluation period to follow. The network involves computers, phototransmission, teletypes and television.

The central computer is at State Police headquarters in East Lansing.

This is how it works:

Michigan, Arizona, California, Florida, Maryland, Minnesota and New York are each busily putting 10,000 criminal records into shape for computer storage.

Each individual whose files are computerized will be identified by a code stored at the State Police computer center.

One state will tell the computer it wants to know which other states have records on a certain individual.

The computer will search the identification files and report the results.

The whole process would take only a few minutes, as opposed to the great delays now involved in thumbing through sheafs of papet and exchanging information by phone or mail.

Three states not involved in the computer connection system at this point—Connecticut, Texas and Washington—are nonetheless going through the complicated process of coding information into computer talk or participating in other segments of the demonstration.

Five other states—Colorado, Illinois, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania—are observing the system and may join in if it is judged to be successful.

Foreigners Confident Of America's Future

By CAROLE MARTIN
AP Business Writer

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — European and Canadian bankers say they are confident the United States will solve its economic problems, even though some Americans seem pessimistic.

"I often think I am far more confident about America's future than most of the people who live here," remarked John Young, chairman of Canada's Prices and Income Commission, during the American Bankers Association International Monetary Conference here Monday.

Allen T. Lambert, chairman of the Toronto Dominion Bank, put it this way:

"Your own people can contribute to a credibility gap which we don't feel. If you persist, then we must have doubts, but I think there is a little too much questioning of the sincerity of the people whom we feel are honestly trying to solve your problems."

Earlier, Dr. Peter B. Kenen, an economist and provost of Columbia University, had told conference participants he believed that the political effects of U.S. intervention in Cambodia would make the Nixon administration's attempt to curb inflation more difficult.

Kenen said he believed widening the war in Indochina would lessen Nixon's "moral capacity" to convince the country of a need to restrain wage and price increases.

A Viennese banker said he felt many Americans understimated their country's potential for doing good.

"The U.S. is one of the most vital, hard working countries in the world," said Paul Krebs, assistant general manager of Deustsche Bank in Frankfurt, Germany.

"We know the economic and political strengths of the United States," said Heinrich Treichl, a member of the managing board of Creditanstalt Dankervein in Vienna.

"The U.S. could easily combat inflation, unless hindered by internal politics. The U.S. is really not much involved in foreign trade in terms of its gross national product, so it might feel that it is all right to become isolationist, but it would diminish your people as world power No. 1."

Flood Damage Is Heavy

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — A flood damage estimate of $1.5 million was made here Monday by the Small Business Administration.

San Marcos was flooded Friday by heavy rains and two children drowned.

Damage to the Clearsprings Apartments was estimated at $400,000.

The SBA said eight homes were destroyed, and 400 buildings and 60 businesses suffered minor to major damage. Damage to the Aquarena Springs resort was set at between $300,000 and $500,000.

Don Russell, president of the resort, said the facilities would be ready for weekend patrons.

Two couples became the first to receive long-term 3 per cent loans Monday from the SBA.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustin Garcia received the first loan. They lost almost all of their personal property, an SBA spokesman said.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Troup received the second loan, also for loss of household goods.

The SBA declared Hays and adjacent counties a disaster area shortly after the flood.

Bears Please Tense Zookeeper

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight men armed with fire hoses and heavy iron rods stood by as keepers in Central Park Zoo opened a gate between two polar bear cages.

Then Scandy, a 5-year-old male walked cautiously into the quarter-acre compound of Snowball, a 6-year-old female.

"It was a mighty tense moment," zookeeper John Fitzgerald said Monday. "They could have killed each other right there.

"But instead they circled around and put their mouths together. I don't know what they were doing," he said. "Only two bears would know what that is, but it sure made us happy."

The zoo hopes the mating will produce some cubs for the species, which scientists have warned is in danger of extinction.

Liz Taylor Has Minor Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With husband Richard Burton at her bedside, actress Elizabeth Taylor was described as resting in good condition after undergoing "minor gynecological surgery."

The 38-year-old beauty, no stranger to illness, entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Sunday for the operation Monday by her long-time physician, Dr. Rex Kennamer of Beverly Hills. She is to be discharged Wednesday.

Miss Taylor and Burton came to Hollywood last week to appear on the Lucille Ball television show.

Black Art To Be Exhibited

BOSTON (AP) — The Museum of Fine Arts will join with the National Center of Afro American Artists in a program to collect and exhibit black art and educate the public about it.

The program was announced Monday as the museum opened a five week exhibit of work done since 1960 by black artists in the Boston and New York areas.

Wife stuck with 'his' brood

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I finally found the ideal husband: handsome, promising career and a position in society. The only thing wrong is that he has two children by a previous marriage.

Before we were married, I made up my mind to be a patient and understanding stepmother, because I realized his "ex" wasn't the world's greatest mother, and these children never got the supervision and attention they needed.

Believe me, Abby, I have tried, but these children are difficult! They are rude, selfish and ill-behaved.

My husband, wanting to be a "good" father, agreed to take the children on week-ends, so now I am the one who has to entertain them while their mother is free to enjoy herself every week-end. I love my husband, but I didn't wait until I was almost 30 to get married and babysit with somebody else's children. Any suggestions? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Yes. Get used to it, because that's part of the price you paid when you married their father. You may decide in time that the price was too high, in which case no one will have to tell you what to do. In the meantime, keep trying to be "a patient and understanding stepmother." You may be able to teach those unfortunate children more than their mother has.

DEAR ABBY: Just because 300 years ago someone decided that black was the thing to wear to a funeral, everyone has done just that.

When my beloved mother passed away, I wore a yellow suit because that was the color mom liked best on me. I wore it not because I thought I looked better, but because it made me feel better. [Yes, I was criticized later for it.]

When the minister performed the funeral service, he told us to remember all the good times we had together, and I found myself sitting there with a smile on my face, recalling all the wonderful times and the many laughs my mom and sisters and I had together. [I was criticized for that, too.]

Wearing a color and a smile on your face is not a sign of disrespect. LOVED MOM

DEAR LOVED: The manner in which one handles his grief is highly personal. I like yours. And I can't help but think your beloved mother liked it, too.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a bookstore and have on several occasions had young women ask me for books on "sex techniques," with their husbands standing right there. They say their husbands NEED them. I've even heard them quarreling with their husbands, insisting that they buy such a book, and of course, in so doing, they are putting down their husbands as lovers.

Abby, please tell these women that all the "book learned" techniques in the world won't help if their relationship lacks unselfishness, mutual respect and the deep down tenderness which is the foundation for all satisfying married love. Without these, sex is just a mechanical operation, leaving both parties unfulfilled. Tell them, Abby, that if each thinks primarily of pleasing the other, they'll need no marriage manuals to thrill each other.

JUST A CLERK

DEAR JUST: No one could have said it better. Thank you for writing.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Dead Student's Thesis Completed

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — A Utah State University professor is completing work on a dead student's thesis so that the student can receive a posthumous master's degree in June — five years after his death.

Roger Schmitke drowned in the North Sasatchewan river in Alberta, Canada, in June 1965. At the time of his death, he was doing research on muskrats, the subject of his thesis.

Schmitke had completed his data, prepared tables and graphs, but had not finished the actual writing of the paper.

The task was assumed by Dr. J.B. Low, Schmitke's major professor in the Department of Wildlife Resources and a close friend.

Low says there is little or no precedent for the granting of a posthumous degree.

It was possible in this case, he adds, because the research on the thesis was complete and the actual writing in progress.

Injunction Is Denied

ODESSAO Tex. (AP) — An injunction seeking to halt sale of restricted items at Cook's Discount Store was denied Monday by Dist. Judge C. J. Milburn.

A civil action filed by Ector County Atty. Bill McCoy claimed that Dallas-based Sundaco Inc., operator of Cook's on Sundays, was a "sham and subterfuge" to avoid the state's Sunday closing law.

Milburn said he had "no doubt that the formation of Sundaco is a device to get around the law but the evidence shows that Sundaco is a valid corporation."

A Sundaco stockholder, J. S. Fichtner, said the contract between the two firms provides that Cook's actually sell its inventory to Sundaco for a 24-hour period.

In return, he said, Sundaco pays Cook's 75 per cent of the gross sales for that day plus other expenses.

Fichtner said the two companies maintain separate records.

He said Sundaco has the option of not returning all of the inventory on Monday. In such an event, Sundaco would have to put up $50,000 and pay the balance when the inventory was determined.

Award Presented To Doolittle

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Jimmy Doolittle, whose leadership of the 1942 bombing raid on Tokyo was a high point of a long aviation career, has been awarded the Extraordinary Service Award of the Federal Aviation Administration.

The presentation was made Monday at a meeting of the Aviation Space Writers Association.

Doolittle, 73, retired from the U.S. Air Force as a lieutenant general at the end of World War II.

Poultry Proposal Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has postponed for another month action on a proposal aimed at wringing excess water from federally inspected poultry.

Officials announced Monday that a 60-day period for public comment on the proposal had been extended to 90 days. The comment period was to end today. The new deadline will be June 18.

The Consumer and Marketing Service, which administers meat and poultry inspection programs, said the extension was made because of requests for extra time" to make comments.

Officials first announced the proposal on March 17. It would give federal inspectors more enforcement muscle in seeing that chickens found to contain excess moisture were dried out before being passed on to consumers.

The proposal resulted from a report last fall by the General Accounting Office that found in surveys that poultry processors in 44 plants checked turned out too-wet poultry at least 20 per cent of the time.

Poultry carcasses pick up additional water during processing. Some of this is allowed to be retained under federal regulations. Frozen broilers, for example, are allowed to contain up to eight per cent additional water.
