Two Killed, Four Injured In Sundown Tornado; Downpour Floods Lubbock

TORNADO WRECKAGE—A mass of tangled wreckage, smashed furniture, and fences marked almost three blocks of Sundown's north side after a tornado whipped through the town shortly after 6 p.m. Friday. Top photo shows the home of Bruce Burney, Sundown contractor, battered and torn by the storm but a part of the residence withstood the blast of wind. To the left of the Burney home is wreckage from the Church of Christ and the church parsonage which whipped into the Burney home. In the left background is shown a part of the church building which housed the altar. (Staff Photo by Bill Hams.)

A torrential downpour which hit Lubbock about 7:35 o'clock last night, soaked the city with 3.71 inches of rain in a period of four and one-half hours, tying up local traffic and blocking highways leading from the city.

Water flowed over street curbings in many downtown areas as motorists plowed through one of the heaviest night long rains ever to strike the area. Pedestrians removed their shoes and waded through knee-deep water.

Underpasses on Ave. H and East Broadway were impassable, and

SHOWERS TO CONTINUE

The Lubbock Weather station said early today that showers and thunderstorms probably would continue today and tonight, with relatively cool temperatures. Skies will be mostly cloudy.

"I believe the worst is over for this spell," the weatherman said. "But there is some thunderstorms and showers left from last night's storm to continue today."

the State Highway patrol reported a number of abandoned cars on the Plainview highway.

Entire Area Hit

The heavy downpour struck out of a thunderstorm area which covered an arc from near the Sundown section and on toward the New Mexico line southwest of Lubbock toward Morton and Amarillo in the northwest section of the Panhandle-South Plains.

Downpours estimated at from one inch to approximately four inches fell over the entire area in the Lubbock to Sundown to Morton triangle. Other points north and northeast of Lubbock reported heavy showers. The rain was comparatively light to the south and southeast of the city.

At 3 a. m. today another heavy thunderstorm was bearing down on the city from the southwest.

Transportation Is Snarled

Commercial transportation was disrupted as cabs bogged down and buses failed to meet schedules. The Lubbock Bus company shortened routes into the Arnett-Benson subdivision in an effort to avoid certain breakdowns on the flooded dirt roads. The East Broadway bus was forced to detour around the underpass.

Homes in the Cain Terrace addition in west Lubbock and other areas on the Levelland highway were flooded and isolated as water practically covered the entire area. This morning at 1 o'clock, a steady stream of water was pouring across the highway to add to the flood.

Nineteenth street was a virtual river and cars were stalled along the street from the Brownfield highway intersection to College avenue, where at one time there were more than a dozen cars stalled.

All through the night, The Avalanche-Journal received reports of flooded homes and stores in the low sections of southwest Lubbock.

At midnight, the Ave. H underpass was practically level with the railroad tracks and the east Broadway underpass was about half full.

The warehouse section of east Lubbock was from two to three

Homes, Church Are Leveled As Savage Winds Rip Town's Edge

Bill M. Scott, Minister, And Daughter Death Victims; Buildings In Three-Block Area Smashed; Damage Heavy

By CHAS. C. WATSON and BILL HAMS

SUNDOWN, Hockley County, May 7.—(Saturday)—At least two persons were killed, four were injured and property damage soared into the thousands when a "double-header" tornado smashed into the northern edge of this oil town at 6 p.m., Friday.

Dead are Bill M. Scott, 21, Church of Christ minister and his 4-year-old daughter, Pamela, killed when the savage wind reduced their parsonage home to kindling.

Injured were Mr. Scott's wife, Wanda, 22; their seven months old son, Randy; Mrs. B. L. Simpson, wife of an oilfield worker; and a Mrs. Edwards, as yet not further identified.

A heavy hail and rain storm which accompanied the tornado, described as a huge, dark bluish green cloud, battered the entire town of Sundown, smashed out practically every business window in five blocks of the business district of Sundown and damaged many homes in the main part of the city. No definite estimate of damages were available, but it was believed it would be heavy.

Mr. Scott died of electrocution, doctors said at Phillips-Dupre hospital in Levelland, where the family was rushed. Mr. Scott apparently came in contact with one of the many power lines which were blown down in the area when the winds ripped the area.

The tornado which struck Sundown was born in a huge thunderstorm arc which covered a wide area from near the New Mexico line to the Amarillo area.

Torrential rains swamped the entire southwest, west and northwest South Plains area and dumped 3.71 inches of rain on Lubbock in less than four hours. The entire area from Lubbock to the New Mexico line was described as "almost a lake of water."

Rescue workers were working in darkness to restore power to the battered community early today. All power lines and phone communications were out, torn down by the winds. Workers hoped to have power restored by sometime early this morning.

Streets Are Flooded

Striking about 6 p.m., the tornado roared into a three-block area in the northern edge of Sundown, demolished the Church of Christ, ripped the small parsonage just south of the church to kindling wood, smashed several more buildings, including seven or eight homes into debris and skipped off in an easterly direction.

For a while, there were indications the storm might move toward Lubbock. The thunderstorm activity in which the storm started later did hit the city, flooding streets with one of the heaviest downpours in the city's history. Damage was expected to be heavy in Lubbock.

An "off-shoot" of the tornado apparently struck near Morton in Cochran county, about 60 miles northwest of Lubbock, at 5:50 p.m.

Houses Hit Near Bledsoe

Hazel Hancock, constable there, said that at least two homes near Bledsoe were blown away by tornadic winds in that vicinity. One of the homes was demolished but a farm family living there was not injured, Hancock reported. The Jerry Wheeler home, a four-room house on the Sutton place, also was reported heavily damaged. Rain in that section was estimated at one to three inches.

All available ambulances from Levelland and Brownfield were rushed to the scene. Aid also was rushed by Red Cross units from Lubbock and Levelland and Brownfield. Hundreds of persons in nearby communities also rushed to the aid of the stricken community.

Two ambulances were dispatched from Plains Funeral home to the scene.

The bodies of Mr. Scott, his daughter, Pamela, and his wife and daughter were found 300 feet from the splintered parsonage.

The Scotts were found by Bert O'Donovan, captain of the Sun-

Storm Briefs

AMARILLO HARD HIT

Amarillo also was hard hit by rainfall Friday. The Amarillo Globe News reported about midnight that more than 3 inches had blanketed the city in the past 24 hours. More than 500 window panes in the helium plant west of the city were reported knocked out.

RED CROSS ON JOB

The Lubbock Red Cross was on the job in a matter of minutes after reports of the Sundown storm.

Ernest St. Clair, chairman of the Lubbock county Red Cross chapter, said at least three cars were rushed to the scene. One of the cars was forced to turn back. In the cars were Glenn Woody, Mrs. Woody, a nurse, Bobby Edwards, a laboratory technician, Mrs. J. Tanner, a nurse, and L. B. Holly.

GUARD IS MOBILIZED

The 132nd National Guard unit of Lubbock was also on the job in a hurry when called last night to aid in the storm area.

Lubbock Residents Injured At Sundown

SUNDOWN, May 6 (Special) — Two Lubbock residents were injured tonight, neither critically, when the car in which they were riding crashed into a heavy oil truck at the east city limits of Sundown.

The injured were Miss Mary Stout, 17, and Robert E. Lee, 38, driver of the car.

Miss Stout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stout of 2206 First and a senior student in Lubbock Senior High school, suffered a severe cut on the forehead.

Injured Brought Here

Lee's most serious injury was thought to be a crushed knee cap. He resides at 2404 Twenty-second.

Also in the car at the time of the collision were Mrs. Billie Lee, Lee's former wife, and Miss Mary Hickman, of 1911 Ninth. Both escaped serious injury, although Miss Hickman was shaken up in the crash.

Harold Mitchell, of Sundown, driver of the truck, also was unhurt.

The accident occurred at about 10:30 p. m. The 1947 Pontiac sedan driven by Lee was going east when it smashed into the truck, which was preparing to pull another car from the ditch.

The entire right front section of the Pontiac was crushed by the impact.

Miss Stout was a former resident of Sundown, and it was thought that the group in the Pontiac had come here after hearing of the tornado which struck north Sundown earlier in the evening.

The injured were given emergency treatment at Phillips-Dupre hospital in Levelland. Later, both were taken by ambulance to Lubbock for further treatment.

Reds Launch Heavy Attacks

By JOHN RICH
INS Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, May 6. (Censored).

The Chinese government admitted today the Communists have launched large scale attacks at both ends of the defense lines protecting Shanghai.

A garrison communique indicated that the heaviest fighting is raging at Kashing, 60 miles southwest of Shanghai on the Shanghai-Hangchow railroad, and at Taichong, 30 miles northwest of Shanghai.

(The Communist radio, heard in Tokyo, reported the occupation of mineral-rich Shansi province was completed with the fall of Tatung, a rail center.

Attack Beaten Off

(The Peiping report said 13,000 Nationalist troops were captured after several futile attempts to break through the Communist siege.)

The government communique admitted the loss of three more towns on the vital Chekiang-Kiangsi railroad putting the Communists ever closer to Nanchang and, farther to the south, Canton and Hong Kong.

These towns were identified as Changshan, Yshan and Shangjoa.

The communique said the attack on Taichong was especially fierce, but was beaten off. The Communist thrust at Kashing was reported aimed at a government airfield located there.

Government forces, bolstered by newly-arrived U.S.-trained troops from Taiwan island, are said to be holding their ground at both points despite increased Communist pressure.

Government forces reportedly repulsed Communists attempting a landing at Liuho, 10 miles east of Taichong.

CHURCH ALTAR STANDS—Despite the terrific velocity of the winds the altar of the Church of Christ at Sundown remained standing. Only a portion of the church building remained standing to shelter the altar, the remainder of the structure was demolished. A few chairs and other furnishings were also left standing near the altar by the tornado. (Staff Photo By Bill Hams.)

SMASHED AUTO—The wreckage of an automobile caught in the Sundown tornado early Friday night is shown above being examined by Morton Sheriff H. D. Crockett who rushed to the stricken area as soon as he was informed of the tornado. The auto, along with another heavy car, a pickup truck and a six wheel tanker truck, were blown from the old Levelland highway on the north edge of Sundown into a freshly plowed field. The pickup was carried almost 200 yards, the cars 150 yards, and the heavy truck over 100 feet. All were either demolished or badly damaged. (Staff Photo By Bill Hams.)

Storm's Fury Shown By Freak Mishaps

By CHOC HUTCHESON

SUNDOWN, May 6.—When I arrived at 9 o'clock tonight in this oil field community, three hours after twin tornadoes had chewed off a section of the north end of the town, there was ample evidence of the fury of the brief, devastating storm.

To properly picture the situation, one must first draw in his mind an imaginary map of Sundown. It is a town of perhaps 2,500 population, built chiefly along one main north-south highway.

Today's twisters, one approaching from the southwest and the other from the northwest, ripped across the narrow northern edge of the community, a short distance inside the city limits.

Trucks Carried 100 Yards

At least 10 full-size buildings, all within the limited area in which the tornadoes took their big bite, were demolished or badly damaged.

Hardest hit were the Church of Christ church and parsonage, and the office-shop of Bruce Burney Oil Hauling company, both on the west side of the highway. All were completely flattened.

Bits of lumber from the buildings were scattered over a wide area. To the east, almost 100 yards from their positions when the storm struck, were a giant oil hauling truck and a pickup truck, the latter overturned.

At the edge of the highway were several heavy steel sections of a short wave radio tower, which prior to the storm had been stacked across the highway in the truck yard of Burney's establishment. Atop the sections, looking into the sky, lay an elk's head, which formerly had decorated a wall of Burney's office.

Where the Burney office had stood, only a debris-littered floor remained. Leaning crazily across one corner of the floor was a blue Buick sedan, badly crushed in the storm. At another corner was a section of a small steel road grader.

AGRICULTURE SECRETARY BRANNAN TOPS PROGRAM HERE TONIGHT

Stage Set For Democratic Barbecue

THE stage was all set last night for West Texas' biggest political show in years — a $10-a-plate Democratic barbecue to be held this afternoon at 6 o'clock in Texas Tech's gymnasium.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan is to make the principal address at the barbecue, Texas' Democrats' third fund-raising dinner of the year.

The weather man threatened to disrupt plans for the barbecue completely last night but everyone was hoping that today would be clear so that the affair can be held as scheduled.

The crowd may number more than 1,500 people, and included in the group will be the greatest galaxy of political stars ever assembled in Lubbock. Congressmen, high government officials, state party leaders and Democrats of lesser lights are coming here for the event in great numbers.

"We may have 2,000 persons at the barbecue; we just can't say how many tickets have been sold, for there have been at least 50 persons selling tickets for the affair," said Wesley Read, Lubbock insurance man who is co-chairman with Arch Underwood on the barbecue.

Read said the Lubbock Lions club, which will serve the barbecue, had been instructed to prepare for 2,000 persons.

Included in the audience will be at least six Congressmen, who are accompanying Sec. Brannan on his two-day visit to Texas. They visited Waco Friday and attended a farm meeting at McGregor, arranged by Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco.

Other Congressmen in the party are: Rep. Geo. Mahon of Colorado City, who will introduce Brannan at the barbecue to the home folks of the 19th district; Omar Burleson of Anson, Clark Fisher of San Angelo, Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls, Eugene Worley of Shamrock and Antonio R. Fernandez of Santa Fe, N. M.

SEC. BRANNAN

Accompanying them will be several high government officials including Ralph Trigg, director of the Production and Marketing Association; William S. Neal, assistant chief of the Rural Electrification administration; Harrington Wimberly, vice chairman of the Federal Power administration; Judge Marvin Jones of the U. S. Court of Claims and Judge Luther Johnson of the U. S. Tax Court.

Early arrivals of party leaders last night included John C. Calhoun, Corsicana, chairman of the State Democratic executive committee and Raymond Buck, Fort Worth attorney, who is to be master of ceremonies at this afternoon's affair.

Expected in early are: Mr. and Mrs. Wright Morrow, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Peddy, all of Houston, and Byron Skelton, Temple attorney. Morrow is national committeeman from Texas and will respond to the address of welcome at the barbecue given by Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech.

Skelton was leader of the Truman supporters in the state Democratic convention last year and has been prominently mentioned as successor to Morrow.

The barbecue's reservation list reads like a roll of the Democratic party of old as many of the men who have been at the helm of things in the past have purchased tickets.

Former Gov. James V. Allred of Houston, former State Senator Woodville Rogers, San Antonio; Olin Culberson, Austin, railroad commissioner who is contemplating the race for governor next year; C. C. McDonald, Wichita Falls, long-time party worker; W. T. (Bill) Knight, Wichita Falls; E. G. Loyd, Alice; Judge E. L. Pitts, member of the court of civil appeals at Amarillo; French Robertson, member of the state executive committee from Abilene; Fagan Dickson, former assistant attorney general, Austin, who is contemplating the race for attorney general next year; Geo. Parr, San Diego, Duval county, E. G. Loyd, Alice and Warren Phillips, prominent Corpus Christi party leaders; State Senator Kilmer B. Corbin of Lamesa and State Rep.

STUDENTS STAY AWAY FROM CLASSES

Two Teachers Resign As Result Of Dispute At Sulphur Springs

SULPHUR SPRINGS, May 6 (AP)—The Sulphur Springs school board announced resignations of two teachers today. Shortly afterward a leader of striking high school students said they would go back to classes Monday.

John M. Sheffield, chariman of the board, said it had received and accepted resignations of high school Superintendent Ercell Brooks and Principal H. Clay Cheek, effective at the end of this school year.

About half the high school students—100 to 150—walked out of classes shortly before noon yesterday, demanding that the school board drop reported plans to dismiss Cheek.

Co-operation Is Asked

They said Superintendent Brooks was behind a decision not to renew the principal's contract.

Sheffield said the two schoolmen felt that for the good of students, the school, and the town they should willingly tender their resignations.

"I sincerely hope that all students will cooperate with us in returning to classes Monday morning," Sheffield said.

Billy Wayne Harry, senior class president, said that after the announcement students decided to end the strike.

He estimated that ranks of striking students had grown today "to 350 to 425," including some junior high school students.

"It's up to Mr. Cheek now—whether he stays," Harry said. "We don't think we will do him any good now to stay out of school."

Requests Are Ignored

He said an "informal meeting of the general public" scheduled tonight in the district court room, was retained as a meeting to "protect student's grades—to see that their grades are not hurt because of this."

Earlier today the students had ignored two requests that they return to school.

The first came from Cheek. Student council President Lee Hammond sent the second from San Antonio, where he is taking West Point examination.

Both requests were delivered to the students as they gathered today on the schoolhouse lawn carrying signs reading "We want action."

Cheek, a mild-mannered little man with graying hair, did not address the students. Through newsmen he told them he appreciated their loyalty but felt they should return to their classes. Hammond's telegram was read to the assembled students by an upperclassman.

Meanwhile the be-spectacled Cheek, a veteran educator here who began as a teacher, kept to his principal's duties. School officials claimed attendance today was about 50 per cent and that classes were being held as usual, but the crowds of striking students appeared larger than yesterday.

Sheffield said both Brooks and Cheek felt that since the situation had grown to such proportions it would be for the good of the school and the town for them to resign.

FORT DAVIS, Tex., May 6 (AP)—What may be a previously unreported satellite of the planet Neptune has been noted by McDonald observatory, Director Gerard P. Kuiper reported today.

Although unable to confirm his discovery immediately, Dr. Kuiper said he has reported the findings to Harvard observatory to establish McDonald observatory's prior claim in case future observations bear out his belief. He believed two more weeks of observations will be needed to confirm the observation.

Military Personnel Restricted In Atlantic Pact Discussions

BY ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 6—The Defense department revealed today that military personnel have been forbidden to discuss publicly the Atlantic pact.

The announcement was made in a letter from William Frye, head of the Office of Public Information for the National Military Establishment.

The letter was addressed to Adm. A. M. Pride, head of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics.

Restrictions Maintained

Pride asked Frye if it were necessary for him to submit notes for a speech to be made May 26 at Williamsburg, Va., to the Defense department for clearance.

Frye answered that under consolidated directive No. 1, in which new Defense Secretary Louis Johnson outlined operation and restraints on the Office of Public Information, no restriction was placed that did not exist when each military service operated its own public relations section.

Frye said that the directive only required that matters subject to review be passed by the defense secretary's office rather than the Army, Navy or Air Force.

Pact Talk Banned

At the same time Frye pointed out that several things were specifically forbidden in public discussion or in articles by military officers. He referred to a memorandum he sent to the secretaries of Army, Navy and Air Force, on April 14, which said:

"Pending final ratification of the North Atlantic pact, it is improper for military personnel to discuss this matter publicly except under the most unusual circumstances and then only after explicit policy clearance.

"It is requested that all personnel under your jurisdiction refrain from public speeches or writings on the North Atlantic pact without specific clearance in each instance by this office."

Review Regulations

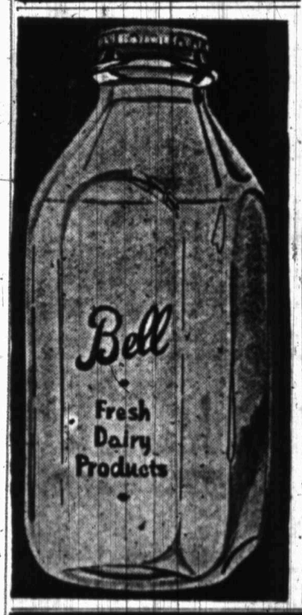

Frye also called Pride's attention to earlier directives which prohibited writing or speaking "on a controversial subject" or divulging any information "relating to performance or capabilities of new weapons or new equipment of any type."

Frye said that his staff was reviewing the regulations and directives affecting Army, Navy and Air Force and that he hoped to recommend common security rereview standards for all departments.

He pointed out that Navy regulations governing submission of material for clearance differed from those of the Army and Air Force.

Army and Air Force officers have had to submit speeches, statements and articles for clearance for several years while the Navy simply holds each officer responsible for the propriety of his remarks.

Hollywood Track Hit By $6,000,000 Fire

INGLEWOOD, Calif., May 6. (INS) A multi-million dollar loss was totaled up today at Hollywood park in the wake of a spectacular fire which razed the grandstand—largest of any race track in the world—but spared 600 thoroughbreds awaiting the opening of the spring meeting.

As estimates of the damage ranged from upwards of $6,000,000 firemen and Inglewood police poked through the desolate ruins for clues to the possibility that the fire may have been touched off by an arsonist.

Even while the ruins still smouldered the California horse racing board approved transfer of the meet to Santa Anita. However, opening day was postponed a week to May 24.

The incendiarism angle stemmed from the speed with which the blaze swept through the quarter-mile-long building which houses the grandstand, clubhouse and turf club building.

Bond Set In Dallas For Two Men Held In Narcotics Probe

DALLAS, May 6 (AP)—Bonds of $1,000 each were set today for Fred Renden and Billy F. Stone in connection with operations of an alleged narcotics ring.

Maddox Hill, government witnesses told how a man named Eduardo Zar of San Antonio was arrested by government agents and a bag containing the marijuana was confiscated when officials stopped a Dallas bound bus south of San Antonio last week. Stone was arrested in Dallas with the baggage check which matched the claim on the marijuana bag, the witnesses said.

JOLIET, Ill., May 6. (INS)—A 13-year-old tomboyish schoolgirl was charged with murder today in Joliet in the "violet-picking" drowning of a 7-year-old boy playmate.

Texas Solon Denies Tidelands Plan Would Hurt State's Claims

WASHINGTON, May 6. (AP)—Rep. Lyle (D-Tex) said today no legislation he proposes to settle the tidelands ownership dispute would compromise Texas' claim to her 10½ nautical miles of tidelands.

He wrote Governor Beauford Jester that he will continue to urge the state's "paramount right to title and control" of the oil-rich area.

Lyle told a reporter his letter was in reply to a telegram from the governor, Texas Attorney General Price Daniel and land Commissioner Bascom Giles urging that no compromise bill be introduced.

Solution Proposed

Last week Lyle disclosed his plan for resolving the long-standing differences between the states and the federal government on offshore mineral rights.

He proposed that Texas, which claims title to land 10½ miles seaward, give the government one-half of the royalties on oil produced in that area.

On the other hand, the government would give Texas 50 percent of the proceeds from oil in the area between the 10½ mile line and the limit of the continental shelf, a distance of about 180 miles.

Under Lyle's proposal, other states' jurisdiction would extend only three miles seaward from their coast lines. Texas' position is different because of terms under which it joined the union.

Court Decision Cited

Lyle wrote Jester that it doesn't appear likely that legislation quit-claiming the federal government's claim to the tidelands can be passed during the current session of Congress.

"On the other hand," he added, "we seem to be losing ground legally."

He mentioned the Supreme court's decision on California and a petition of the federal government now before the high court affecting Louisiana and Texas. The latter is scheduled to come up for hearing Monday.

"Texas needs the revenues; the nation needs the oil—neither appear to be forthcoming under the cloud of conflicting claims," Lyle wrote. "I therefore propose that we resolve those differences by legislation."

"In this regard, I would like to point out that no proposal made would compromise Texas' title to her 10½ nautical miles of tidelands."

Probation Of Lamesa Youth Revoked In 106th District Court

LAMESA, May 6. (Special)—Probation of Edward Quinn, 17-year-old Lamesa youth who was one of the persons involved in the ill-fated jail break here Thursday morning, was revoked Thursday in 106th District court by Judge Louis B. Reed.

Quinn, who was convicted of burglary on Feb. 11 and placed on probation, has admitted taking part in the burglary of a cafe in Roswell, N. M., April 7.

Judge Reed sentenced Quinn to serve two to four years in the pententiary. Quinn's participation in the jail break was not considered in the case, Reed stated. The district judge said he had already reached a decision in the case and was arranging for a hearing and sentencing before the jail break took place.

Quinn was placed on probation under the adult probation act passed by the 50th Legislature, and he is one of four men placed on probation here since Jan. 1 whose probation has been revoked, Judge Reed reported.

Records Fall In State Meet

Sandies Qualify For Five Events

AUSTIN, May 6 (AP)—Four records fell and another was tied today as the Texas Interscholastic League track and field meet went through a mixture of perliminaries and finals.

The three-way cinder path carnival got eight events out of the way and in the finals held Austin and Alice took the lead in Class AA points with 10 each; Brady jumped out in front in Class A with 17 and Humble held first in Class B with 14.

However, those were not indications of how the restrictive divisions will end up possibly in the case of Brady, which not only scored in three finals today but qualified for four spots in other finals to be held tomorrow.

Close Battle Seen

In Class AA a close battle for the championship was indicated between Corpus Christi and Amarillo. Corpus Christi counted six points in today's finals and has qualified for seven places in tomorrow's finals in addition to having outstanding men in some events in which preliminaries were not held. Amarillo made four points today and qualified for five spots in tomorrow's finals with some good men in events for which prelims were not held.

In Class B it looks like White Oak should win the championship without too much trouble. White Oak got 10 points out of finals held today and qualified for seven places in tomorrow's finals.

All records set today were division marks.

In Class AA, John Cavileer of Austin wiped out the broad jump record set at 21 feet 6 inches last year by Jim Nash of Corsicana by leaping 22 feet 6½ inches.

Barfield Breaks Own Mark

In Class A Melvin Barfield of Athens broke his own co-record in the pole vault of 11 feet 3 inches, set last year, by soaring 11 feet 11 inches. Bobby Crooks of Memphis hung up a record in the 440-yard dash of 51.0 seconds. There was no former record, the winner last year, when the division was inaugurated, being disqualified and no time being allowed. Bobby Joe Harding of McGregor tied the record in the 220-yard dash of 22.2. The mark was set last year by T. J. O'Neill of Cameron.

In Class B William Collier of Woodhouse set a new record in the broad jump by leaping 22 feet 4 inches. It was a foot and five inches better than what Bobby Weldig of Deep Park did in setting the mark in 1948.

Harding Outstanding

Preliminaries were scheduled today in the 880-yard run but were waived because there were not enough entries. Prelims in the Class AA 220-yard dash also were passed.

Five hundred and thirty-three contestants came here for the three-class meet which will be finished tomorrow afternoon starting at 1:30 o'clock.

Two outstanding performers went out through disqualifications today. One was Jim Petterson, Odessa hurdler, and the other was Billy Ed Daniels of Kerrville, 100-yard dash man. Both jumped the gun twice and were thumbed out.

The outstanding individual appears likely to be Bobby Joe Harding of McGregor, who qualified in the 120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash.

DECKER, WILLIAMS ADVANCE TO FINALS IN STATE MEET

Donald Decker and Charlie Williams of Lubbock advanced to the finals in the State Track meet yesterday at Memorial stadium in Austin, but the other entrants in Friday's preliminaries did not fare so well.

Decker failed to qualify in the 100-yard dash, but Williams did. In the 200-yard low hurdles Decker posted the best qualifying time of 22.9. Williams was scheduled to enter the broad jump Friday, failing to place, and Alfred Adair did not reach the qualifying height in the high jump.

But Adair will see action in the pole vault, and Williams, Malcolm Young, and possibly Decker may run in the 220-yard dash.

The Westerners 440-yard relay team did not place in Friday's preliminaries. Composing the team are Decker, Young, Williams, and Wayne Stroud. The best qualifying time was 43.5 by Corpus Christi.

In the tennis singles matches David Clark of Lubbock was eliminated by Walton Miller of Highland Park, Dallas, 6-2, 6-2.

Kennedy Hurls Giants To 3-0 Shutout Victory Over Cards

Cub Nine Defeats Brooklyn, 4 To 2

NEW YORK, May 6. (AP)—Montia Kennedy throttled the St. Louis Cardinals' lefthanded power today, pitching a 3-0 shutout to give the New York Giants their fourth straight victory.

Bobby Thomson's double off the left field wall, following singles by Whitey Lockman and Johnny Mize produced the first run off Jim Hearn in the first inning.

Hearn matched Kennedy in a tight duel until the sixth when he lost control and hit Sid Gordon in the back with a pitched ball. Mize followed with his fourth homer, a drive into the lower right field stands to end the scoring.

The Exporters never saw second base against the forty year old right hander.

The Eagles garnered 11 hits off two Exporter pitchers, Blankenship and Prospt, including Witte's home run with ont on in the fourth inning.

Texas And Texas A & M Keep Pace In SWC Baseball Race

(By The Associated Press)

Texas and Texas A. and M. kept pace in the tight Southwest Conference baseball race yesterday. The third team in the running, Baylor, gets a chance today against Rice.

The Longhorns of Texas blanked Southern Methodist, 9-0, and A. and M. squeezed by Texas Christian 2-1, in eleven innings.

These teams meet again today.

Sunbeamers Play Today

Lubbock's Bluebonnet-Sunbeamer softball team will travel to Fort Stockton today for a double-header against the strong Fort Stockton entry in the Texas Softball league.

Each team opened the season last Saturday night with victories, Lubbock taking a pair of games from the Maurice Shop of San Angelo and Fort Stockton winning two from Crane. The two teams share the lead and a double victory for either would put the winning nine well out in front in the pennant race.

Fort Stockton is expected to pitch Guy Watts and Billy Middlebrooks at the Lubbock nine and the two hurlers could make it a rough night for the defending champions. Watts won 11 and lost six with the Monahans team last year, while Middlebrooks had a five and eight record for the same team.

The usually dependable Warren "Stringbean" Pope and G. W. Warden will do the mound duties for the Lubbock team and both will be seeking their second victories of the season.

Fort Stockton has a powerful team this year, getting a large part of the players from the defunct Monahans entry. Monahans finished in a tie for second place last year and three of the players were on the all-star team.

Lubbock's nine is about the same as last year, with a few changes. Pope replaces Jackie Neel on the mound staff, but the majority of the other positions are being filled by veterans.

Abilene Drops Hubs

Blue Sox Capture 13 To 12 Victory

ABILENE, May 6. (AP)—The fightin' Cubans of Abilene came from behind twice tonight—once by the long-inning route, to defeat Lubbock 13-12 in a WT-NM league series opener here.

Each side used four pitchers in a game which was fast and close for four innings. Lubbock had scored in the first on a homer by Nelson Davis and the Blue Sox tied the count in the third with two singles and a wild pitch.

Each team scored thrice in the fifth, Lubbock on consecutive hits by Charley Willis, Joe Wisniewski, pitcher Billy Russell and Buddy McCallum.

Abilene batted around, knocked Russell out and continued to work on Royce Mills for three, largely accountable to doubles by Stubby Greer and Bobby Fernandez plus a single by Joe Nakamura, starting pitcher.

Consecutive singles by manager Jackie Sullivan, Al Durate and Jim Prince knocked the first Abilene relief pitcher, Rolly Viadora, out in the seventh, then Willis got a homer inside the park to drive in three runs for a total of four that frame.

Abilene worked on Mills for two runs in the seventh, drove him out in the hectic eighth when eleven men batted against three pitchers scoring seven runs. The drive was featured by the first home team home run of the season here, by relief catcher Hank Galban, with a mate aboard off Don Hensiek. Grafton later replaced Hensiek to put out the fire.

Lubbock's skipper, Sullivan lashed a homer over the left field wall in the ninth with none aboard, but Charles Parren Abilene's fourth pitcher, retired the next three men.

WINNING TALLIES COME IN SIXTH

Loboes Batter Five Pitchers To Down Pampa's Oilers, 11-9

LAMESA, Mal 6 (Special)—Pampa's Oilers went down to their seventh consecutive licking here tonight as the Lamesa Loboes battered five opposing pitchers for 15 hits and an 11 to 9 victory.

Pampa opened the scoring in the first with two runs, but the Loboes came back to dent the rubber four times. They added another tally in the third to make it 5-2 and seemed headed for a comparatively easy victory.

But the visitors tied it up in the fourth with three runs, two of which came on a home run by Dave Teyema.

Undaunted, the Loboes pushed over three runs in the fifth for a secure lead and won the game with a pair of runs in the sixth. An unnecessary run in the eighth completed the scoring.

The winning runs in the sixth came on a walk to Jay Haney, a single by Glenn Selbo and a double steal, Haney scoring when Mike Feduniak threw the ball into leftfield. Selbo scored on Eddie Mellilo's fly to centerfield. In the eighth, Frank Calo, who had a perfect night at the plate, tripled and scored on Walt Buckel's double.

Saturday night Selbo will pitch for Lamesa and bat in the cleanup spot, while Merlin Hubbard goes for the visitors. Game time will be 8:15 p. m.

Chicago's White Sox Defeat Loop Leading Yankees, 6 To 2

Athletics Defeat Detroit Tigers

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP) — Lefty Bill Wight, who used to belong to the New York Yankees, pitched a seven-hitter for the Chicago White Sox today to stop his old mates, 6-2. The result pulled the Sox out of a three-game losing spin and snapped a three-game Yankee win streak.

Wight, an .082 hitter in 1948, knocked in three runs with a double off Frank Shea in the second inning.

Shea, making his first start after two relief appearances, lasted only five innings, giving up all six runs on six hits and five walks during his stay.

Wight held the Yanks hitless until the fifth when Jack Phillips led off with a single.

A ground rules double by Cliff Mapes and an infield out scored Phillips. Gerry Coleman's single to left drove home Mapes.

WASHINGTON NOSES OUT BROWNIE NINE, 8 TO 7

ST. LOUIS, May 6 (AP)—Those slug-happy Washington Senators went on another rampage tonight and handed the St. Louis Browns their seventh straight defeat, 8 to 7. A two-run triple by Al Evans in the eighth inning was the payoff wallop. It was the Senators' fourth straight win on their western trip.

Rain Forecast For Derby Race

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6 (AP)—The weather man jumped squarely into the Kentucky Derby picture with both muddy feet today. In a matter of minutes the entire complexion of tomorrow's three-year-old classic at Churchill Downs was altered.

With a confident prediction that scattered showers and thunderstorms will break a three-day heat spell and soak the historic strip during the next 24 hours, the forecaster abruptly made a horse race out of what had threatened to be a $91,600 romp for the "Big" horse, Fred Hooper's Olympia.

As it is strongly suspected that the favorite does not like heavy going, the experts quickly revised their estimates and decided it will be a "wide-open" race. Four or five horses moved up as potential challengers to the Hooper speedster in the mile and a quarter run for the roses.

Probably happiest at the prospect of a sloppy track were the backers of the second favorite, Isidor Bieber's Palestinian, which almost nipped Olympia in the rainy Wood Memorial two weeks ago and apparently failed to do so only because he jumped a puddle just before the finish.

New York Officials Reinstate Graziano

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — Rocky Graziano, Peck's Bad Boy of boxing, was restored to good standing by the New York State Commission today, 27 months after it had revoked his license for failure to report an alleged bribe offer involving a fight that never was held.

The former world's middleweight champion, contrite and chastened, sat silently with head bowed while Commissioner Eddie Eagan read a prepared statement.

Action by the New York Commission clears the way for a series of profitable matches for Graziano, now training for a comeback at Greenwood Lake, N. Y.

Teams Go Up In 5-B Meet

Threatening skies failed to halt the first day of playoffs in the District 5-B baseball tournament, and three teams advanced to the semi-finals, scheduled today at Rosenthal field but likely to be rained out.

New Home went into today's game without playing as Ropesville forfeited.

Idalou turned on the power to take Robertson in a one-sided tilt, 22-2, with Seale getting credit for the victory.

In a close, high-scoring battle Rector pitched Lorenzo to a 13-11 win over Frenship. Edwards was charged with the loss.

In the final game Shallowater edged Roosevelt school, 3-2, to go to the semi-finals.

The 5-B tournament has been held at Rosenthal field the past three years. The district winner then plays the winner of 6-B for the bi-district championship. Class B schools advance no further than the bi-district.

Games scheduled today are Idalou and Lorenzo at 1 p.m. and Shallowater and New Home at 3 p.m.

Morton Wins Title In 4-A Baseball Play

MORTON, May 6. (Special) — The north half championship in District 4-A baseball was won today by Morton with a 5-3 victory over Levelland in a game played at Sundown. The Morton team will meet Post, winner of the south half, for the district title in a two out of three series.

Bill McDaniel set the Levelland team down with three hits while his teammates were collecting seven to take the decision. Two Lobo errors aided Morton.

Leading the hitting for Morton were Fred Stockdale with two singles and Vaugn Killian with a single and triple.

Morton jumped into a 2-0 lead in the second inning, but Levelland scored in the second and third to knot the count. Morton scored in the fourth and Levelland tied the game at 3-3 in the fifth. But in the seventh Morton pushed across two runs to ice the game.

Texas Longhorns Knock Off Southern Methodist, 12 To 5

AUSTIN, May 6. (AP)—The University of Texas Longhorns today knocked off Southern Methodist 12-5, to sweep a two-game series and remain at the top of the Southwest Conference baseball heap.

The Steers won yesterday's game, 9-0.

Lefty Charlie Gorin, who relieved Jim Ehler after two innings, got credit for the victory. Lee Weber, who allowed 11 of the Longhorns' 12 hits and 10 of their runs, was debited with the loss.

He departed after 4 and a third innings in favor of Sam Wood. Wood toiled two and two-thirds frames, Hardy Johnson finishing up.

Two Killed, Four Injured When Tornado Smashes Into Sundown

down fire department, and R. E. Horne, manager of the Yoakum County Gas company in Sundown.

Mr. Scott and his daughter were pronounced dead upon arrival at Phillips-Dupre hospital in Levelland. Mr. Scott had been electrocuted by a power line which had been blown down, doctors said.

Mrs. Scott was seriously injured and was still in Phillips-Dupre hospital early today. Her injuries were described as being internal. Randy, the Scott's seven-month-old son, suffered a broken right arm, lacerations on the face and body and internal injuries. All had been severely battered by the terrific winds.

It was not known how Mrs. Simpson or Mrs. Edwards sustained their injuries, exactly, but it was presumed they lived in the tornado area.

Two Hurt In Wreck

Two more persons both Lubbock residents, were injured in a wreck about 10:30 p.m. at the east city limits of Sundown, as a direct result of the storm damage.

Robert E. Lee, 38, of 2404 Twenty-second street in Lubbock, suffered a crushed knee cap in the accident. Miss Mary Stout, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stout 2206 First street, an occupant of the car which Lee was driving, suffered a head injury. Lee's car rammed the back of a truck which was attempting to pull another car out of a ditch. Miss Stout is a former Sundown resident.

The tornado was typical of other such storms which have battered Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Kansas this spring.

Pulpit Left Standing

Several water logged, dead chickens were lying about debris filled church yard.

Telephone lines, power lines and branches of trees were blown helter skelter in nightmarish fashion.

An odd freak of the storm was the fact that the pulpit and back portion of the Church of Christ Altar were left standing almost ghost-like in the eerie darkness.

Cars, spotlights, flashlights and lanterns were used by residents searching through the wreckage for victims.

Furniture was pummeled into bits. Most of it was unrecognizable as furniture.

Autos Almost Demolished

The sign at the front of the church was still standing.

Rescue workers who rushed from a dozen or more different communities over the South Plains searched the wreckage while wind and rain continued to lash about them.

Eight or ten buildings were destroyed by the tornado.

One of the buildings heavily hit was the Bruce Burney Trucking company in the three block area hardest hit. An office building belonging to the company was destroyed. A nearby garage was heavily damaged.

One six-wheeled tanker type truck, one pickup truck, and what appeared to be at least two passenger automobiles were almost demolished by the winds. The tanker was blown about 100 yards off the highway, the pickup about 150 yards away from its original site, and the passenger cars approximately 200 yards off the highway.

"All that was left was tangled balls of metal," observers commented.

Two Clouds Hit

A. W. Whitaker, owner of the Driller's Cafe in Sundown, said he was standing in front of his cafe when he saw the tornado approaching.

"I watched the storm cloud coming up," he said.

"There definitely were two funnels or storm clouds," he added. "The cloud seemed to merge just over the area hit and then dip to the ground," Witaker said.

Power lines in a 200-yard area northeast of Sundown were demolished when the tornado dipped down again.

The low loss of life and injuries was considered miraculous.

Lightning from one of the thunderstorms that have been playing over West Texas for two days knocked out the automatic dial system at Sudan.

Communications to several other towns in the area were still out late last night.

Phone lines in Lubbock were put temporarily out of order in spots by the heavy downpour.

Sundown Marshal Woody Sullivan said a good many persons saw the storm coming, jumped into automobiles, and raced the storm out of town.

The Texas Highway patrol rushed units to the scene.

At 3 a.m. this morning everything was reported under control by authorities in charge.

It was the most deadly of two storms which the Panhandle has had in two days.

The Dalhart area was lashed by a tornado about midnight Thursday night. The tornado, traveling northeast, first struck the Everett McIntyre farm, damaging every building, tearing doors open, and causing other damage. Heavy rain stalled cars in Dalhart.

Heavy clouds were reported piling up over much of the state. No other reports of storm damage was received.

AID IS RUSHED

had authorized the guard to go to the Sundown area, Lieut. Col. Ross Ayers of Lubbock had a call for emergency mobilization issued here. In less than an hour, by 9:45 p. m. 125 men had mobilized at four pickup points. However, the men were notified at that time by the Texas Highway patrol that they would not be needed. However, it was still a commendable job, and represented what could be done in an emergency.

SUDAN OFFICE HIT

G. D. Shelley, district supervisor of the Southwestern Associated Telephone company, said last night from Littlefield, where he was surveying storm damage, that the Sudan dial system had been knocked out when lightning struck the building.

Telephone circuits in the area were blown down by the storm, and many were not repaired early this morning.

MAKE FIRERUN

City firemen made a run about 11 o'clock last night to the residence of H. L. (Pat) Jones at 2611 Twenty-seventh. It was reported that the fire possibly was started in the vicinity of a floor lamp. Firemen said that one room in the house was badly damaged, and the rest of the house smoke damaged.

STRANDED AT CLUB

More than 20 persons were temporarily stranded at Lubbock Country club early today by high water over the highway toward Lubbock.

Bill Overton, club manager, reported at 2 a. m. that about one dozen persons were still there but expected to leave momentarily. The water was over the bridge at the Country club grounds for awhile, just east of the club, but some cars left and were able to negotiate the bridge.

LINEMEN RUSH TO AREA

Linemen of the Southwestern Public Service company and Southwestern Bell Telephone company were rolling trucks toward the storm-stricken area late last night and repair work was scheduled to start early today.

'HAD BEEN FORECAST'

One of the unusual angles of the tornado which hit Sundown was that for two days the Lubbock Weather bureau had been warning that severe thunderstorm activity would hit the area.

Strong southerly winds had swept the South Plains and Panhandle the past two days and night. A cold front, also borne on strong winds, was headed into the area.

When they hit, the severe windstorm was the result.

Ceremonies Shortened

Boy Scout advancement ceremonies, held last night before a large glowing eagle of live coals at the fairgrounds, were shortened somewhat by the news of the impending storm which struck Lubbock about 8 o'clock.

W. G. McMillan, jr., of troop 3, received the Eagle Award in the ceremony which was curtailed from the expected 45 minutes to 25 minutes. Dan Williams of Explorer, Post 10, and Pierce Bruckner of troop 5, received Life Scout badges; and Roy Faubion of troop 5, Sammy Scott of troop 5, Tom Lane of troop 7, and George Hollman of troop 7, received Star Scout badges.

The scouts had arranged to pitch their camp at the fairgrounds instead of Mackenzie State park in order that buildings would be available in case of an unexpected rain.

Following a short meeting of troop leaders after the ceremonies, it was decided that the aproaching storm warranted calling off the camporee which was scheduled to last during the night.

Tents were taken down, belongings packed and the camp evacuated before the rain struck Lubbock, scout officials said.

Because it takes such an excellent polish, wild cherry timber is in great demand by cabinetmakers.

Capacity Crowd Hears Symphony

Playing last night to a capacity audience in Lubbock Senior High school auditorium, Amparo Iturbi, world-famous pianist, and the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra teamed together to present a brilliant concert which was eminently fitted to be the closing event of a successful Symphony season.

The same program will be presented again at 8:15 o'clock tonight.

Miss Iturbi, whose charming stage presence won the warm response of her audience immediately, played Liszt's "Concerto No. 1 in E Flat" with the orchestra with the same brilliance and technical perfection that won her high praise when she played it in the Hollywood Bowl. The orchestral parts of the Concerto were equally well interpreted.

Pianist Applauded

The pianist drew lengthy applause from the audience for her interpretation of "Maleguena" and Chopin's much-loved "Polonaise in A Flat." Her phrasing of the soulful and introspective "Polonaise" was especially pleasing. In addition, she played two Sonatas by Scarlatti and the lively "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn. She presented Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" as an encore.

The orchestra's presentation of Sibelius' "Valse Triste," with its theme of melancholy and death, was exceptionally pleasing for its delicate shadings and phrasings. The livelier "Egmont" Overture by Beethoven and "Capriccio Espagnol," by Rimsky-Korsakov, also were well received, as was the ever-popular "In the Still of the Night," by Cole Porter.

ABILENE BARBER CONVICTED

ABILENE, May 6 (AP)—John Thomas Williams, 50, a barber, was convicted today of murdering Jeanenne Paschall and sentenced to five years in prison by Judge Owen Thomas.

The jury returned its verdict after two and one half hours deliberations. When the sentence was announced Williams smiled. His 10-year-old daughter, Shirley Jen, grasped his hand and wept bitterly.

Miss Paschall, 19, was killed by pistol shots Oct. 17 last year as she, Williams' divorced wife, and a niece, cowered in a tourist cabin bathroom.

Williams testified he shot the wrong person. He said he fired into the bathroom thinking he was shooting at Weldon Coalson, whom he claimed had broken up his home. He said he feared Coalson would come out shooting at him.

MURDER CASE TO JURY

BEAUMONT, May 6 (AP)—A Jefferson county jury tonight was considering a murder charge against William Earle Pelham, 23, of Houston, in the shooting March 25 of Elbert Langston, another Houstonian, in a rice field near Nome, Texas.

Highlights of the closing session of the trial was the testimony of Pelham and Henry Robert Giles, jr., 30, of Houston, found guilty earlier in the week of shooting Langston. Giles was given a life sentence.

Police Kept Busy Aiding Motorists

Severe thunderstorms, lightning and a downpour of rain practically eliminated the crime problem for police last night, but they remained busy answering calls from citizens stranded in drowned out cars and with other troubles due to the rain.

A few offenses had been reported earlier in the day, but investigations were halted temporarily while officers wrestled with more immediate problems of the weather.

Two cameras valued at $189.50 were reported stolen from the 1611 Broadway residence of Dr. Horace A. Emery, police reports showed. One was a magazine type 8 millimeter movie camera and the other was a No. 626 camera.

Dog Is Stolen

C. G. Morton told the sheriff's office that a greyhound he had once refused to sell for $125 was stolen from his farm on Shallowater highway.

Lawrence Chester Manette, 27, and Hubert Gerald Hayes, 19, both of Shallowater, were fined $5 and costs in county court and sentenced by Judge Walter Davies to spend one day in jail after they pleaded guilty to charges of theft over $5.

They were arrested by a nightwatchman for Lubbock Sash and Door company after he observed them load several used tires from the B. E. Needles and Son service station at 1502 Ave. H into their car, police said.

Perry Craddock was fined $5 and county court costs Friday on a plea of guilty of a charge of check law violation.

A box containing legal papers, insurance policies and other papers was stolen from a barber shop at 1501 Ave. H, E. S. Blair told police.

Brannan Speaks

Preston E. Smith of Lubbock will be among those coming here for the event.

Reservations have also been made for L. B. Glidden, Dallas, head of the Texas loan section for the Reconstruction Finance corporation; Smood Schmidt, Dallas, chairman of the state board of pardons and paroles; and Lamar Fleming, president of Anderron, Clayton Cotton company, Houston.

Tech Band To Play

Texas Tech's band will furnish music during the barbecue.

Following Sec. Brannan's talk, all employes of the Agriculture department attending the affair, will meet informally with the secretary for a brief period.

As many women are coming here for the barbecue, a reception and tea has been scheduled for 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Hilton hotel. Mrs. J. W. Walker, Plainview, district committeewoman, will be official hostess at the reception.

A press conference is also planned at the Hilton with visiting newspapermen conferring with Sec. Brannon prior to his talk Saturday night.

Members of the South Plains Press association, who will close their first annual convention at Hotel Lubbock Saturday noon, will be invited to this press conference.

Homes, Business Houses Flooded

feet deep and water was running into stores and business houses in the area.

In the vicinity of Central Fire station on Ave. J, water was level with the curb from gutter to gutter and at the corner of Tenth and Ave. J, water was from two to four inches deep in business houses.

The downpour was so heavy that storm sewers could not carry off the water fast enough and everywhere the streets were flooded.

Water Fills Streets

Water was more than hip deep in the low sector of Ave. Q between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-seventh streets and cars were drowned out along the route during the storm. The street was still under water from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-seventh at 2 a. m. Torrents were curb wide on Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets from College Avenue to the Ave. Q lake.

At one time at the height of the storm, visibility was cut to less than a half block in the downtown section.

N. A. Berry, night dispatcher for Yellow Cab, said at 11:30 p.m. that six of his cabs were drowned out in the southwest part of town. A wrecker sent to the aid of a cab in the 1600 block on third street was also stuck. Berry said the taxi driver had reported water was running over his feet in the automobile.

The fire department answered a call from a residence at 2611 27th street, where slight damage was reported to one room of the dwelling. The department received numerous calls from homes and business places where water was running into cellars.

Many Phones Knocked Out

Southwestern Bell Telephone company reported from two to three hundred Lubbock phones out of order at midnight. Southwestern Associated Telephone company had service trouble in the vicinity of Brownfield and Levelland.

On the outer edges of the city, many residential areas were inundated. In the downtown area, water flowed into several store buildings. The Sports Center at 1612 13th reported nearly two inches of water covering the floor.

Hundreds of cars were stalled—drowned out—and streets in many residential sections were impassable.

In the 2200 block on Sixth street, water flowed across low porches. Water stood three feet deep between Adams and Jefferson on Twenty-Ninth street. One motorist said his car was covered above the floorboards.

Water Enters Homes

The intersection at 19th and College streets was a veritable lake shortly before 1:30 o'clock this morning, but traffic was moving after total stoppage earlier in the evening.

C. R. Dale, manager of the Plaza theater in Green Acres, said at 11:40 p.m., that water was running over the curbing in front of the theater. He said a large number of cars were stalled on Twenty-Seventh street and that several houses with low windows, "were being flooded with water."

The three-bedroom home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Friedman at 2623 Twenty-Seventh had six to eight inches of water over the carpeted floors at 11:20 p. m. Water started coming in about an hour earlier, "just like a river," Mrs. Friedman said. Water was an estimated three feet deep in the area near Green Acres shopping center.

G. M. Blackwell, owner of the Blackwell Mattress factory at 2610 Texas Ave., said at midnight that he had at least six inches of water standing in his building. He said he had been in the location for 10 years and this was the first time the drainage system had failed to carry off water completely.

Observers of the storm who were here in 1941 declared the downpour was heavier than any of the big rains during that year when the total rainfall for the area was more than 40 inches.

MULESHOE — R. J. Crump, mayor, no wind—1.28 inches rain—no hail.

SUDAN—Circuits down.

MORTON — Hazel Handcock, constable, from 1 to 3 inches rain—some wind—little hail—says he is in contact with highway patrol and several sheriffs of surrounding area. Apparently storm gathered around Tatum, N. M., passed there into Texas about five miles south of Oasis—2½ miles north of Bledsoe. Two houses severely damaged near Bledsoe. One demolished. Mexican family in it not hurt. Windmills and outhouses blown away. Storm passed through thinly populated area, ranch land, from Bledsoe to Sundown. Appeared to be heading northeast after leaving Sundown.

DENVER CITY—C. L. Hollar, city marshal, been raining hard since 7:30 p. m.—lots of hail—pretty big wind—no damage.

SEAGRAVES—Mrs. Van Zandt, wife of paper editor, little wind—threatening clouds for about two hours before it started raining at 6 p. m. Raining now, looks as if it will keep on. No damage. No hail.

LAMESA—Luke Standefer, fire marshal, no change in weather—no rain—no hail—no more than ordinary wind.

ANTON—H. G. Richards, editor—.35 inch rain—no hail—wind fairly strong—no damage.

LITTLEFIELD — Joe Hutchinson, superintendent schools—small showers—no wind—sprinkle rain at 11 p. m. Clouds to south. No hail.

FLOYDADA—Bob Crowell, city employe, started raining hard at 8 p. m. Still raining hard. Little more than one inch to 10:30 p. m. Small amount of hail—little wind out of northwest.

LEVELLAND—1 to 3 hour delay in getting through.

WHITEFACE—No circuits.

MATADOR—Approximately 1¼ inches, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

SPUR—One inch, which started falling at 10:30 p.m.

DICKENS—Heavy electrical display and downpour hit at 11 p.m.; approximately one inch had fallen at 12:30 a.m.

ABERNATHY—Strong winds, hail, and 1.01 inches of rain between 7 and 10 p.m., measured by M. O. Hood.

PLAINVIEW—Two inch downpour, beginning at 6:30 and lasting until after 10 p.m.

POST—Rain started falling at 11:30 p.m., continuing at midnight with more than half-inch.

TAHOKA—Light showers.

O'DONNELL—No rain reported at 1 a.m.

Full Coverage Is Given Disaster In Sundown Section

FULL COVERAGE!

First information reaching Lubbock about the tornado at Sundown came by way of a telephone call by Roy Collier, Brownfield mortician, to the Rix Funeral home here.

Wallace W. Rix immediately alerted The Avalanche-Journal and all staffmen except those on essential beats were thrown onto the storm story.

Within a matter of minutes, Reporter - Cameramen Bill Hams and Choc Hutcheson were en route to the storm center through driving rain and battering hail which made driving all but impossible.

Minutes later Chas. C. Watson, jr., and Ed Welsh, two other staff writers, jumped into a second automobile and left for Sundown.

With Hams, Hutcheson, Watson and Welsh scouring the smashed areas of Sundown and reporting periodically by telephone, Night Managing Editor Jay Harris put other staffers on telephones, checking rain, hail and other freak weather in all sections of the South Plains. Still others went to points in Lubbock where cars were stalled, streets were waterlogged and water damage to homes was reported.

In all, 10 Avalanche-Journal staff men worked on the storm story. The Avalanche Journal was the only outside newspaper whose representatives reached the storm scene.

The paper also covered the storm story for the Associated Press, International News Service and United Press, as well as numerous other papers and radio stations over the state who called in.

Hoover Commission Report Given Backing By Majority Of Voters

BY GEORGE GALLUP,
DIRECTOR
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 6 — Voters who know about the Hoover Commission Report for streamlining the Executive branch of the government are overwhelmingly in favor of putting the recomendations into effect.

Among those familiar with the recommendations, sentiment in favor of adopting them runs 20-to-1.

As of mid-April, with the campaign to publicize the Report just getting underway, 41 per cent of voters polled by the American Institute of Public Opinion said they had heard about the Report and 28 per cent had a correct understanding of its goal—to prevent waste, reduce cost and streamline the operations of the Executive branch of the Federal government.

The poll results follow:

"Have you heard or read anything about the Herbert Hoover Commission Reports?"

The national result and the results by education level follow:

	Yes	No
National	41%	59%
College	76	24
High School	45	55
Grade School	27	73

"What is your understanding, in general, of the purpose of the Hoover Commission?"

The replies show that some of the people who say they have heard of the Commission are unable to explain the purpose of it. The vote falls into three categories as follows:

Correct Understanding (Cut costs, prevent waste, etc.)	28%
Incorrect	3
Don't know	10
	41%
Haven't heard about Commission	59%

The 3 per cent "incorrect" have the mistaken idea that the Commission deals with European food relief (Mr. Hoover's work on the food problem in the two World Wars earned him lasting fame).

The 28 per cent who were familiar with the Report were asked:

"Would you like to see Congress carry out the main suggestions of the Hoover Commission's Report, or not?"

The vote:

Yes	23%
No	1
No opinion	4
	28%

Educational Campaign

In his series of radio broadcasts last week about the Report, Mr. Hoover declared that the initiative to put through the reforms recommended must come from the people.

Judging by today's survey, the main problem is one of public education. Once people know about the Report, they favor it, as the figures clearly show.

A campaign of public education has been launched under the direction of Robert Johnson, president of Temple University.

VA Plans To Slash Number Of Workers

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The Veterans administration announced today that it will send dismissal notices to 8,000 employes on Monday for budget reasons.

The agency said the dismissals are necessary to bring its personnel within limits set in President Truman's budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, jr., said the cuts will not affect the hospital or medical programs but will result in the closing of 42 small offices in 23 states.

As of April 1, VA had 200,141 employes. The Budget bureau recommended that VA be given $5,654,182,000 for fiscal year 1950. The House, however, cut this recommended figure by $508,750,060.

The reduction is being made nationally. Dismissal notices will be in the hands of all employes as of May 9, which will permit the customary 30-day notice prior to separation.

The offices to be closed, most of them one or two-man operations, include:

Arkansas: Arkadelphia, Fayetteville, Helena, Hot Springs, Russellville. Kansas: Dodge City, Salina, Lawrence. Missouri: Kennett. Oklahoma: Vinita. Texas: Bryan and Port Arthur.

NO MAJOR CHANGES SEEN IN LUBBOCK VA OFFICE

Friday's announced reduction of Veterans administration personnel will have "very little" effect on the staff of the Lubbock regional VA office, Regional Manager Robert W. Sisson said Friday afternoon.

"Our natural employment turnover should take care of the necessary adjustment except for possibly 10 cases," Sisson said.

He added that employes who are to be discharged under the new personnel slash will be notified next week.

The Lubbock regional office serves 79 West Texas counties.

Trial Involving Former High Jap Officials To Open Today

TOKYO, May 6 (AP)—A scandal that collapsed a Japanese cabinet moves into the courts Saturday.

The first of six groups of defendants in the Showa Denko case will go on trial in Tokyo District court.

The Showa Denko company makes fertilizer. Company officers and several former high government officials among 38 defendants accused of giving or accepting bribes in obtaining government loans.

The scandal resluting from the charges led to the collapse of the Hitoshi Ashida cabinet last October.

Former Premier Ashida, former Finance Minister Takeo Kurusu and former Deputy Premier Suehiro Nishio are among the defendants, although not in the group to be tried Saturday.

Army Arranges Purchase Of U.S. Cotton For Shipment To Japan

WASHINGTON, May 6. (AP)—The Army announced today it has arranged for purchase of about $30,000,000 worth of American raw cotton—about 165,000 bales—for shipment to Japan.

It is the first transaction under the $150,000,000 natural fibers revolving fund program. That fund was set up by the last Congress and is for the procurement of fibers in the United States for shipment to American-occupied areas.

Rescue Crew Finds Bodies Of Four Men In Pennsylvania Mine

GIRARDVILLE, Pa., May 6 (AP)—A heartsick rescue crew today found the bodies of four miners who gambled their lives in an attempt to break from a fiery anthracite mine. They lost by one minute.

The discovery of the bodies ended a 50-hour battle against deadly carbon monoxide gas, smoke and fire to reach the men caught in the mine late Tuesday night.

The miners were overcome by the fumes just 300 feet from the mine shaft entrance and safety.

"If they'd held out just one minute longer, they could have made it," said Elmer Christ, who supervised the rescue work against overwhelming odds at the No. 5 colliery of the Gilberton Coal company.

Christ said the four apparently died shortly after the fire broke out late Tuesday night. Their bodies were found strung out along a passageway on the second level, where the mine shaft opens upward to the surface 500 feet above.

Labor Party Solon Saves Truman Bloc In House Bill Vote

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 6—It was an outsider who bailed the Truman administration out of a bad jam.

He's Rep. Vito Marcantonio. He's the only member in Congress from the American Labor party.

He bailed out the Trumanites when they were on the edge of a great defeat.

Short, dark, 46, and a lawyer with a fast mind, Marcantonio always votes on the side of labor. In this he is in tune with President Truman.

Bill Passes First Vote

He's a shrewd master of parliamentary tricks.

With that equipment, even though he stands alone, he has blocked doings he didn't like.

On Tuesday around 7 p.m. Marcantonio was very much present when it came time for a vote on a new labor bill.

The Truman Democrats had wanted to wipe out the Taft-Hartley labor act and replace it with a bill to labor's liking.

But Southern Democrats and the Republicans had teamed up to push along the bill that kept much of the Taft-Hartley act.

Came the vote. It was 217 to 203 for the bill the Trumanites and Marcantonio didn't want.

Special Rule Invoked

Because of a special rule of the House, it had to vote all over again. This second vote would be final.

And it seemed certain that if the vote came right away the result would be the same.

But Marcantonio waved his arms for attention, got it, and said:

Before the final vote, he wanted an "engrossed copy of the bill" on which the House was going to vote.

Nobody in the house needed to see a copy of the bill. Everyone knew what he was voting on, including Marcantonio. But—

Action Delays Vote

When any member asks for an engrossed copy of a bill no vote can be taken until the copy has been made by the government printer and presented to the House.

An "engrossed copy" takes hours to print. It was already 7 p.m. so the final vote couldn't be taken that night.

Couldn't the other House members have voted down Marcantonio's request? No.

This gave the Trumanites and labor union leaders a chance to try to swing to their side some of the congressmen who had voted against them.

Next day the House came back and voted 212 to 209 to shelve the bill the Trumanites didn't want.

Many Western Officials Believe Ministers Conference Will Fail

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

PARIS, May 7—Western diplomatic spokesmen are convinced that failure of a new Big Four conference on Germany would intensify congressional support of the Western European re-armament program and assure ratification of the North Atlantic pact.

Some high diplomatic officials in Paris hold the opinion today that anticipation of such a development is a main reason why the western governments are prepared to agree to the Soviet request for such a conference in return for lifting the Berlin blockade.

Diplomats Foresee Failure

This coldly realistic outlook is based on the conviction of many western officials that there can be no genuine understanding with Russia about Germany as long as Communist world domination remains the ultimate objective of Soviet foreign policy.

Since the leading western statesmen do not believe the Kremlin's leaders are prepared to abandon that policy, it is feared that another meeting of the council of foreign ministers on Germany can only result again in failure.

Also, the western diplomats generally believe the Soviet government is fully aware that there is little prospect of reaching a settlement of the German problem as a whole with the western powers at another big four conference.

Face-Saving Device

These diplomats think Russia views the conference as a face-saving device for lifting the Berlin blockade.

Psychologically, it has also proved a boomerang in the cold war because the success of the airlift has greatly increased the prestige of the western powers in Germany.

Thus, it is doubted that Russia will re-impose the blockade even if another Big Four meeting on Germany collapses.

Other Aims Seen

While settling the blockade problem is considered to be the minimum Soviet objective, it is believed the Soviets also hope that a Big Four conference might enable them to achieve these additional aims:

1. Delay plans for establishment of the West German state.

2. Strengthen congressional opposition to the Western European rearmament program by creating the impression that there is no longer any danger of war between Russia and the West.

3. Weaken support of countries like France and Italy for ratification of the North Atlantic security pact.

Western officials believe that the Kremlin's only hope of achieving these objectives would be to accept unconditionally whatever proposals the western powers make for the political and economic unification and future treatment of Germany.

Germany May Be Aim

There are some officials, like General Lucius D. Clay, retiring U. S. military governor of Germany, who fear that the Soviets might say yes to almost every proposal the western powers make in the hope of getting an agreement for a unified Germany which would enable the Communists eventually to gain control of the country, or at least wreck the plans for the West German state.

Most western diplomats, however, doubt that the Soviet negotiators will prove that clever. They believe the conference will end in failure, except for a possible understanding concerning Berlin which will avert re-imposition of the blockade.

It is this school of thought which believes that the American government will delay any final congressional vote on the proposed western European re-armament program until after the foreign minister's council meeting.

Defense Attorneys Freed From Jail, Liquor Trial Continued

The case of Sidney Hall, a negro charged with liquor law violation, was continued Friday by County Judge Walter Davies.

The motion was made by Burton S. Burks, defense counsel. It was not contested by Waggoner Carr, county attorney.

Burks and his partner, Buck W. McNeil, were adjudged in contempt of court Thursday morning by Judge Davies and ordered to county jail for one day or until further order of the court.

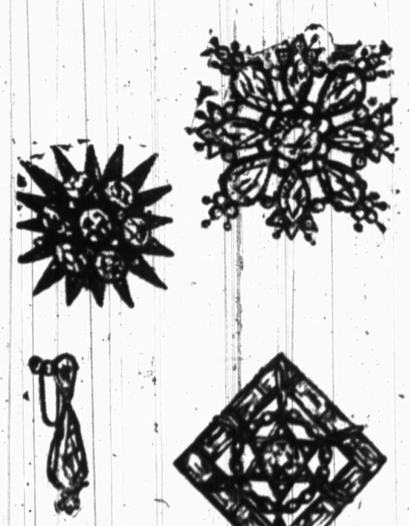

Judge Davies, less than four hours later, acceded to recommendations of members of Lubbock County Bar association who had talked with principals involved, and ordered Burks and McNeil released.

Crosby Beer Election To Be Held Today

Heavy Turnout, Close Vote Seen

(Special To The Avalanche)

CROSBYTON, May 6—Crosby county voters will go to the polls Saturday approximately 1,800 strong to approve or reject the proposed legalized sale of four percent beer in the county.

Polling places have been set up over most of the county, with one polling place to each town and city. Seventeen boxes in all will be in operation, County Judge Emzy Pieratt said tonight.

Observers say a close contest is indicated.

1,800 Votes Expected

About 2,000 poll tax holders are registered in the county, with an additional 500 poll tax exempt persons bringing the maximum voting strength to about 2,500. However, observers expect about 1,800 votes in all to be cast.

Interest in the election has been widespread over the county since Ernest Joiner, editor and publisher of The Ralls Banner, sponsored petitions calling for the election.

Editor Seeks 'Showdown'

Joiner, who has been an outspoken foe of bootlegging in Crosby county, said he wanted to bring a legal showdown on the issue of drink.

Interest increased in the last week after liquor raids brought the arrest of seven men and the filing of 28 charges of liquor law violation against them.

The raids and the filing of charges brought consternation to the ranks of the county's "dry" faction, who have pointed out in past weeks that bootlegging does not constitute a serious problem.

Murder Charges Filed In Axe Slaying Of Bee County Rancher

BEEVILLE, May 6 (AP)—Murder charges were filed today against Mack Monroe Steel, 52, accused of killing Bee county rancher Glenn W. Clare, 66, yesterday with an axe.

Steel had been employed on Clare's ranch eight miles southeast of here three years. He waived examining trial. Justice Fred Malone ruled it is not a bondable case.

Highway Patrolman R. F. Kirkpatrick, who arrested Steel two hours after the slaying, said Steel related in a signed statement the two men were repairing a leaky cistern, that Clare complained of his work, and that he struck the rancher along the left side of his head, splitting it.

Steel suffered a superficial wound in the left arm when Julian Longoria, another employe of the ranch, shot him as he attempted to flee, Kirkpatrick said. Funeral services for Clare will be held here tomorrow.

PIANIST EMPHASIZES FEMININITY

Madame Iturbi Relaxes Between Many Concerts To Enjoy Hobbies

By ELLEN MILLER
Avalanche Staff Writer

Amparo Iturbi, guest artist with the Lubbock Symphony orchestra, is an outstanding pianist. But primarily and above all, she is an outstanding woman with a woman's heart.

In music, or in any of the arts, critics are inclined to be more severe with women than with men, Madame Iturbi said in a brief interview last night. The pianist expressed her opinion that women are seldom able to play with the strength of a man, and said women who emphasized femininity in their music are most likely to excell.

Pianist Collects Antiques

Madame Iturbi finds time to indulge in a number of hobbies, despite her busy working schedule. She collects antique laces, perfumes and handsomely bound books.

Her principal interest, however, is her home and her Paris-born, 18-year-old daughter, currently attending school at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios and studying drama with Lillian Burns. Marriage had brought no happiness to the gifted Madame Iturbi, so with her mother and daughter she came to the United States in 1938.

Biggest plans the pianist is laying for the future are for a trip she and her daughter are planning to Spain in June. Although the daughter's parents are both natives of Valencia, the child has not been in Spain since she was four and a half years old.

A dark skinned, dark eyed beauty with softly curled short black hair, Madame Iturbi last night was wearing a snow white eyelet evening dress, cut with a low oval neck, tightly fitted bodice and very full skirt. Her necklace was of heavy pearls, with three immense diamonds set in a silvery star-shaped pendant.

Oklahoma Man Kidnap Victim

WICHITA FALLS, May 6 (AP)—A grocery store clerk from Enid, Okla., found unconscious here today, told police he had been kidnaped, robbed and slugged by bandits.

Before dawn today, police found John Winford Cline slumped over the wheel of his automobile in the warehouse district. He had been seriously hurt and was suffering a skull injury and brain concussion. When he recovered consciousness, he told this story:

Description Is Given

While he was working at the Safeway store in Enid last night, he went to a rear storage room and was accosted by two armed men. One was short, stocky, and dressed in an Army uniform. The other was tall, masked, and wore civilian clothing.

Both carried pistols. "Put up your hands and don't scream or I'll kill you," one told Cline.

He convinced them he didn't know the combination to the safe. But they took the keys to his automobile, forced him to accompany them to his car, and made him take the wheel. They drove around the square a few minutes. Then the masked man got out, and did not return. But in a few minutes a different man got into the car.

Cline was ordered to head south.

Search Is Underway

At Wichita Falls, Cline was ordered to park the car. The bandit who wore the soldier's uniform got out of the automobile and pointed his pistol at Cline's face.

Cline begged for his life, and the bandit remarked: "Well, I hate to do this."

That was the last Cline remembered. Something hit him on the back of the head.

He was found by City Policemen Jimmie Stovall and C. C. Schmitt. About $40 had been taken from his wallet.

Officers are searching a wide area for the bandits.

Former District Judge Dies Of Gunshot Wounds In Floresville

FLORESVILLE, May 6 (AP)—Former District Judge S. B. Carr, 62, died today two hours after being found at home with a rifle wound in his forehead.

Justice of the Peace B. A. Jimenez ruled death resulted from a self inflicted wound.

Carr graduated from the University of Texas law school in 1913. He was a World War 1 veteran. For many years, he was president of the Floresville school board.

Funeral arrangements are pending. Survivors include his widow; two daughters, Mrs. E. E. Ranson, jr., of Houston and Mrs. John R. Day, jr., of Abilene; and three sons, Joe Carr of Floresville, Lt. S. B. Carr, jr., of the U. S. Army in Japan; and John D. Carr, at the University of Texas.

Missing Morton Man Located Unharmed

MORTON, May 6 (Special)—Roy Hickman, Morton resident reported missing since Monday, arrived at the home of a brother, B. B. Hickman, in Rising Star, at 3 p. m. today, Constable Hazel Hancock of Morton reported.

Hickman indicated that he had been in Tulsa, and had not been victim of foul play as had been feared, Hancock said.

On hearing Hickman's voice over the telephone, Mrs. Roy Hickman fainted and was taken to a hospital. Hancock said tonight her condition could not be ascertained because telephone lines were knocked out by the winds in this area.

Hickman had been the object of a widespread search involving state and local police, and even an airplane brought in by Sheriff H. D. Crockett of Cochran county.

It had been feared that Hickman's habit of picking up hitchhikers had led to foul play, or that he had been robbed, since he was known to carry large sums of money frequently.

Editors In Convention Here

South Plains Press To Name Officers, 1950 Site Today

South Plains newspaper people today will continue their first annual convention with a business session, awards luncheon, annual election of officers and selection of a 1950 meeting place.

Approximately 50 persons attended opening sessions of the convention Friday and heard H. Merle Woods, publisher of the El Reno, Okla., American, one of the nation's outstanding weekly newspapers; and John Ben Shepperd, Gladewater, immediate past president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, in excellent talks at Friday's luncheon and last night's banquet.

Other speakers during the day included: Miss Earlyne Davis, society editor of the Lamesa Daily Reporter; Miss Vicki Martin, woman's editor of the Southwestern Crop and Stock, local farm magazine; A. M. Jackson, publisher of the Slaton Slatonite and Neil C. Vanzant, publisher of the Gaines County News, Seagraves.

Strong America Urged

In his talk last night, Shepperd urged a strong America, better dissemination of U. S. propaganda, full support of the Atlantic pact and fuller support of the Economic Co-operation administration.

"I would like to see citizens of every town in Texas send 25 subscriptions of their home town newspaper to Europeans, which can be done through American embassies and the ECA," Shepperd said.

"Russia is afraid of our story and she will adopt any means to see that her own people and those under her control do not hear it," Shepperd, who recently returned from a month's trip to Europe, declared. "Russia is using 18 transmitters in an attempt to jam "The Voice of America" at a cost of over $9,000,000, which is virtually as much as we spend in that field."

Wants "Minds Fed"

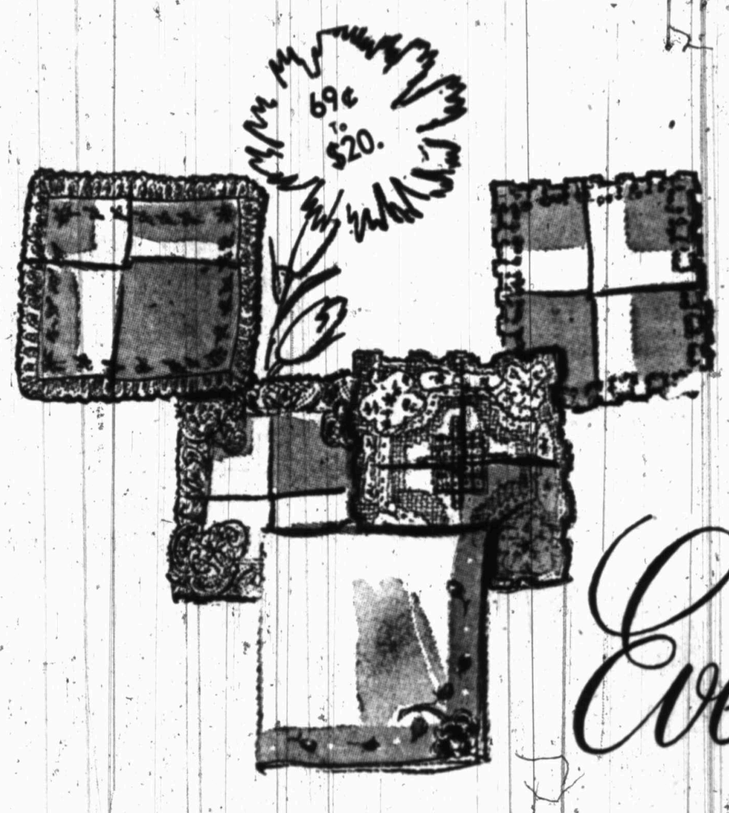

"While the term 'propaganda' as such is repulsive to Americans, I cannot help but feel that we are feeding their minds. People generally know ECA is helping their countries but not where or how much," Shepperd said.

A group of Texas Tech students presented entertainment during last night's banquet, presented as a courtesy of the Avalanche-Journal. Mrs. William Douglas Moore introduced the students.

Weekly newspapers must become more interpretive of the news, both nationally and locally, if they are to survive from encroachment in the weekly field by other agencies, Woods told his listeners at the noon luncheon.

Hope For Full Agreement Among Big Four At Paris Is Remote

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

If Russia adheres to a German policy like the one ascribed to her by the Red army newspaper in Berlin, there will be no four-power agreement at the Paris conference.

The paper says the Soviets will demand a peace treaty which would:

1—Exclude Germany from the new council of Europe and the Atlantic Pact. So far as the pact is concerned, nobody intends to include her as an armed participant, although her defense is envisioned. But that Germany must eventually become a member of the European family of nations is accepted as fundamental to European peace. It is a prime allied objective, not subject to change.

No Change in Power

2—Discard the Allied control statute for the Ruhr and admit Russian interest. A bare possibility, but only under air tight safeguards against Russian obstructionism, without the veto power which Moscow always demands to prevent being outvoted in any international organization. Russia herself would probably refuse to meet the requirements.

3—Discard Allied policies (including plans for a federal government) which have been adopted since Russia withdrew from four-power control of Germany. The Allies have said flatly that they will do no such thing.

4—Establish a government of all Germany which will follow the lines laid down in the Soviet zone for "peoples' Democracy." This is a try for Communism and Soviet control following the pattern of eastern Europe, and is utterly impossible of acceptance. Every western statesman has emphasized Allied determination on true personal freedom and Democratic political institutions. And the memory of Yalta is still fresh.

Red Threat Seen

5—End the military occupation of Germany in one year. Which, of course, would permit the highly organized Communist cadres, the Russian-picked German police of the East and perhaps even a Von Paulus army (which has been reported but not verified as organizing under Russian auspices) to begin using the tactics which conquered eastern Europe. And which would violate every Frenchman's sense of safety, even possibly bringing on a "preventive" war. No soap.

The Russian army paper, of course, may not be correctly presenting the Kremlin's views, knowing that it will not get into trouble by advance toughness which would permit Soviet diplomats to appear milder when they get to Paris. Or these could be extreme demands, put forward for the purpose of horse trading.

Whatever the purpose of this publication, few students of Russian tactics are expecting the lifting of the Berlin blockade to be anything more than a Russian withdrawal in one sector in order to press her fight for control of Germany on other fronts.

Lamesa Woman Aids In Store, Paints During Spare Time

LAMESA, May 6 (Special)—Mrs. George Hart loves to paint and has found time for her hobby while raising three robust sons and being a business helpmate to her husband.

Since 1944, Mrs. Hart has painted 30 portraits, landscapes and still lifes, although since that time she also has helped her husband operate a combination grocery and school supply store and filling station business in Lamesa and in Seagraves.

Started Painting At 16

She has been painting since she received her first art lessons at age of 16 and estimates her total output at about 200 paintings.

Most of her paintings have been done in oils or pastels, but she has done an occasional water color. In recent years, she has done several works with the palette knife.

Two of her sons, George B., 19, and Bill, 17, both of whom have been star pitchers for the high school baseball team, are, her strictest critics, she says. Both boys also paint.

Paintings Are Displayed

Several of Mrs. Hart's paintings are displayed in the grocery store and filling station, across the street from the high school building. An easel stands near the rear of the store and Mrs. Hart dashes off a few strokes between tasks of balancing books, mailing statements or waiting on groups of students during the noon rush.

Several of her paintings have drawn top prizes in Dawson and Gaines county fairs. A picture of a severe West Texas duster, "The Sandstorm," was exhibited in Lubbock in 1930 and attracted favorable comment.

Portrait work has included paintings of her three sons, George B., Bill and Deral Wood, 11; V. Z. Rogers, long-time Lamesa superintendent of schools; Bob Harris, announcer at Radio Station KPET, and Onita Esmond, former high school drum majorette. The painting of Rogers hangs in a high school hall.

She completed the portraits of her three sons in about two months. She says her husband thus far has refused to sit for his portrait.

Barn Paint Was Used

Her first painting was a copy of the "Lone Wolf," which was highly popular. She worked partly with barn paint on that painting. Nearly all of her paintings since that time have been original, with snapshots and sketches for patterns. She also has painted animals, including her pet prairie dogs.

Mrs. Hart, an ardent sports fan, is a native Texan and has lived in Lamesa most of the time since 1913, when her family moved here from Terrell county.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. (Babe) Simpson, have operated a hotel in Seagraves many years.

ABC Discusses Plans For Boys' Club Rodeo

Preliminary reports on the progress of the Boys' Club Rodeo, scheduled for June 8, 9, 10 and 11, were made to the American Business Club at the regular meeting in the Hilton hotel Friday.

President George Hale announced that advanced ticket sales were encouraging but told members that they would have to make a greater effort if the rodeo is to be a success.

A check for $120 was turned over to the ABC to add to the Boys' Club fund. It was presented as a gift from the Blue Bonnet soft-ball team and represented 20 per cent of the proceeds from their opening ball game.

Glen Woody, a member of the Exchange Club, spoke briefly on the forthcoming "Soap Box Derby" and asked for sponsors to back some of the entrants in the race. Several ABC members volunteered.

President Hale also announced that the ABC would make their contribution to the clean-up drive Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Twelve trucks and twenty-five workers were pledged to work for the drive on that day.

U.S. Housing Expediter Orders End To Amarillo Rent Controls

WASHINGTON, May 6. (AP)—Housing Expediter Tighe Woods today ordered rent controls removed in Amarillo, and the remainder of Potter county.

The action, Woods said, followed receipt of a resolution from the governing body of Amarillo, approved by the governor of Texas, for decontrol of the municipality under terms of the 1949 rent law.

Since Amarillo is the chief population center of Potter county, Woods said he removed controls throughout the county in accordance with the act.

Wichita Falls Police Chief Wins Round In Battle Over Job

WICHITA FALLS, May 6 (AP)—Wichita Falls police chief Chris Jenson won a legal round today in his battle to hold on to his job.

When the New Wichita Falls city council came into power last week, it asked for Jensen's resignation. But the chief refused.

Today District Judge Frank Ikard ruled that the chief of police does come within the scope of the Civil Service act and cannot be discharged without due procedure.

The judge issued a temporary injunction that forbids the Wichita Falls city council or any city official from discharging the chief of police by any means other than the articles of the Civil Service act.

In a petition to the court, Jensen alleged that the attempted firing by the city council was unlawful and political.

EYES ON LUBBOCK

Welcome, Gentlemen

THE barbecue at which Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan will head a distinguished list of honor guests here today has assumed much greater importance than anyone anticipated when the event first was suggested several weeks ago.

The original planning contemplated only a run-of-the-mill political rally seeking, primarily, to promote the restoration of unity and harmony among the Democrats of Texas — or, more specifically, West Texas. Expectation was that interest in it would be confined largely to this area.

But recent events in Washington have insured that the rally here will be in the national spotlight. Ranking figures in the major political parties, in many departments of government, of farm interests and organizations, and many others will have their eyes on Lubbock today.

This national—even international—interest arises from the farm-consumer aid program submitted to Congress recently by Secretary Brannan. It was one of the most far-reaching legislative proposals of its kind ever made. Secretary Brannan contends it would accomplish the two-fold purpose of insuring a reasonably profitable price to the farmer for his products and lower prices and more abundant supplies to the consumer. Few legislative proposals have stirred greater controversy.

WE DO not know whether Secretary Brannan will discuss his proposed program in Lubbock. If he should discuss it, it is questionable whether he will go further than to reiterate previous explanations and arguments which have been publicized internationally.

But the possibility that he might deem this heart of a great farm and ranch region a desirable place to elaborate further upon his program—particularly his conception of its probable costs—insures that his talk will be awaited with national interest. It could be a speech which would "make the headlines" throughout the United States. Probably it won't be of that importance, but it might be.

IF SECRETARY Brannan should deem this the opportune time and place for a major policy pronouncement, ample precedent will justify his course. In the recent Presidential campaign, as one example, President Truman's most important declarations concerning his farm policies were made in the Midwest. Franklin D. Roosevelt frequently selected localities distant from Washington for some of his most important and most widely publicized declarations.

But, regardless of what he may have to say, Lubbock and the South Plains are honored by the presence of Secretary Brannan and the other distinguished visitors here today. The appreciation of their visit is intensified by the realization that recent and occurring events in the national Capital have made it exceedingly difficult to leave Washington.

The hope and reasonable expectation of Lubbock as host is that the guests will deem the time spent in this area well worthwhile, despite demands upon them elsewhere. If they are half as happy to be here as their hosts are to welcome and entertain them, their visit will be one they will long remember with a great deal of pleasure.

Island Of Escape

By HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON
Disributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Henry Gough Harding, wealthy and middle-aged, has sought refuge from the world on Speare Island. He is to select a bride from four lonely women, Bea Cosgrove, Mabel Jones, Agnes Firth and Lilly Warren, who are his guests. Fishermen appear on the island demanding water which Harding has agreed to give them, but Harding breaks the jaw of one man who lights his pipe—fire and smoking is forbidden. Then Miss Firth, while tending sheep, discovers four fresh graves and runs screaming to the house.)

"I'M a patient man," Harding said irritably, "but I detest hysterics. You women are all old enough to think for a moment before you indulge yourselves that way."

"But the graves." Agnes repeated.

"I told you there were large building operations here. There was much blasting necessary. Four workmen were killed, and buried."

"But the flowers? There are fresh flowers on one grave."

"Flowers? Oh. The fishermen of course. They're ignorant and superstitious. I even had a little trouble with them after the premature blast killed the men. Something about wanting a priest and hallowed ground. But it doesn't pay to pamper. . . But we're getting away from the point. There is no room or reason for fear here. There must be a mutual trust. One of you may join with me in beginning the Speare Island dynasty."

Agnes Firth drew herself up stiffly. "You've pointed out how old we are. Have you thought it might be a trifle late for us to help you in that project?"

Harding looked blank.

"Speak for yourself, honey," Lilly Warren said. "Just speak for yourself."

Agnes wilted. "I'd best get back to the sheep. I—I'm sorry I was so silly."

"Very well," Harding said. "And don't worry too much about the sheep. They know their way around."

"I'll do the best I can." Miss Firth mumbled. She stumbled away.

Lilly Warren laughed. "What a gal. Can't make up her mind whether to be glad, sad or mad."

DURING the next days, life on Speare Island began to assume form without yet attaining a routine. There were some jolts in the shaking down process.

Lilly Warren, in the course of her duties, found underwear, night clothes, shoes and stockings among the supplies handed them out according to her own ideas. Bea had no reason for complaint. Agnes accepted hers without question. Mabel Jones looked at hers and took them to Harding.

"Mrs. Warren's a poor judge of size," she said. "Couldn't I have some that fit?"

"Of course," he said. "There's a wide choice in the storeroom."

"Mrs. Warren's choice isn't mine," Mabel said.

"Perhaps I'd better give her a little more personal supervision," Harding said.

"That'll be wonderful," Lilly said. She smiled sweetly at him, and let the smile curdle at the edges when she looked at Mabel Jones.

Bea noticed Harding did spend more and more time with Lilly. She noticed, too, her roommate talked less and less at night.

Agnes Firth tended her sheep with an attention and grim determination which left her exhausted at the end of each day. At dinner one night she said, "I can't understand. I find the sheep the best grass. I drive them there. Then they won't eat, but wander away and start eating somewhere else."

She was so serious about it, Bea Cosgrove tried to inject levity. "You should be used to that sort of thing from your former work."

"What do you mean?"

"Well," Bea said lightly, "a social service worker should be accustomed to the lack of interest her flock finds in the greener pastures she picks out for them."

HENRY Harding thought that funny, but one glance at Miss Firth's stricken face made Bea sorry for her words. Agnes left the table abruptly, rushed from the room.

Mabel Jones worked hard in the garden, proved the truth of her statement about her green thumb. Under her interest and care the vegetables appeared to grow and fatten overnight.

Every morning Harding went to a small stone outbuilding, unlocked it, and turned the valve which sent the stream of water flowing through the pipe to the fisherman's camp. That accomplished to accurate timing, a further adjustment of valves sent water flowing through the intricate system of irrigation ditches in the fields.

Mabel Jones volunteered to take over the duty of tending the valves.

"No," Harding snapped. "I will tell you your duties. The water is mine to give as I see fit."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

PROFESSOR Baboo and Prince Ali Sadhoo beg to announce that they have moved from the Holy Temple of Knowledge to a Harlem jail cell and that, until further notice, they will discontinue the practice of fortune-telling and selling their "holy oil of India" at the special bargain price of $25 a bottle.

BRANDEIS

By strange coincidence Professor Baboo and the prince, who proclaimed to all and sundry that they were imbued with strange powers of foreseeing the future and of curing most human ills, did not know that Dorothy Jackson was a policewoman.

Nor did they know, in spite of their mystic powers, that a few minutes after they had told Dorothy all about what was going to happen to her, they themselves would land in jail.

It doesn't matter for the particular story that Professor Baboo, an eighty-year old Puerto Rican, is really plain Reggie Wilson and the prince, a sixty-nine-year old Hindu, was only an errand boy.

Nor does it matter that the "Holy Temple of Knowledge" was nothing but a broken-down store on upper Third Avenue in one of New York's slum districts.

What does matter is that many people went to their "Temple," had their fortunes told, bought their "holy oil" and believed implicitly in all the mumbo-jumbo these two dished out.

It also matters that all over this country thousands and thousands of so-called intelligent women and men go to fortunetellers and other individuals who claim to be possessed with mystic and magical powers. They pay them their good money and think that they can thus steal a march on time and meet that dark-eyed, six-foot millionaire who will bring them fame and happiness, or close that big deal on which they have been working.

One of the strange phenomena of human nature is that all these gullible believers in the mystic arts don't seem to wonder why so many fortune-tellers operate in shacks and hovels, dress in rags and, as I experienced when I investigated these dealers-in-tomorrow, smell as if they had missed their bathtub by many a Saturday.

Wouldn't you think that a fortune-teller would tell his own fortune? Wouldn't it seem logical that if the crystal ball or the palm or a deck of cards really pointed the way to a million, the prognosticator would go and get that fortune for himself rather than let you have it?

WHAT a dreary life this would be if we knew what was going to happen tomorrow!

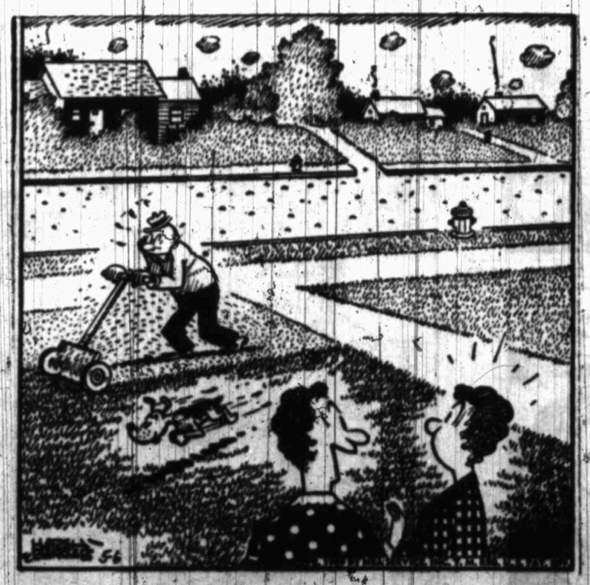

Somewhere—I forget the source—it is written that you should live each day as if it were going to be your last.

In the same place it says that everything you do should be done as if you would never have a chance to redeem your errors or to right a wrong.

A play, a novel a movie, loses it interest when the element of suspense is eliminated.

Life, being a play, would be terribly monotonous if you could anticipate the ending or even what the next act was going to bring.

DESPITE COMPROMISES

Demos To Hail Laws

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The Taft-Hartley Act will eventually emerge after House-Senate revision some time in late May as the Thomas-Lesinski Law, but there will be no fundamental change in its basic revisions.

President Truman's aides have finally persuaded him that outright repeal and substitution of the Old Wagner setup is a legislative impossibility.

Nevertheless, whatever measure Congress sends to his desk will be hailed by President Truman not only as a victory over the "forces of reaction," but also as fulfillment of his campaign promises to labor.

Under a sort of gentleman's agreement, Congress will write a new title, retain most of the original statute, and everybody will be happy.

STRATEGY: It is the same strategy which was adopted with respect to enactment of a new rent control measure, and it will be applied to every problem now before Congress.

Although the rent control bill enacted a few weeks ago transformed the system into a "local option" thing, enabling Mayors and Governors to bypass or evade federal ceilings, it was acclaimed by Mr. Truman when he signed it.

With the same tongue-in-cheek and pen-in-hand gesture, he is expected to approve the Thomas-Lesinski Bill, even though its final form will be only a caricature of the revised labor law he advocated during last fall's campaign.

COMPROMISE: It will be the same with action on Civil Rights. There is still a chance that Congress may make a pious declaration against the poll tax and the evil of lynching. Southern members denounce those discriminations as violently and as honestly as their Northern brethern.

But there will be no law against anti-segregation and no measure for equal opportunity of employment. Should the White House renew its drive for those objectives, it will jeopardize the slight racial gains which are obtainable.

Thus, whereas the 80th Congress was the "second worst in history," according to Mr. Truman, the 81st will be the most compromising on record. And he will be a willing partner in the compromise.

WISE: Labor leaders like William Green of the American Federation of Labor and Philip Murray of the CIO are wise to this slick strategy. But they will string along with the White House in accepting and praising the final legislation simply because of the change in name. In fact, they would hail any new labor law if it bore the title of "Stalin-Molotov" instead of "Taft-Hartley."

Professional labor bosses, as well as their business agents and walking delegates in the industrial cities, spent millions and turned out thousands of votes for reelection of Mr. Truman and for repeal of the "Taft-Hartley slave labor bill." It is doubtful if many of them ever read or understood its provisions. Certainly the ordinary factory worker has not.

POISON: Many union spokesmen have testified on and off Capitol Hill that wages, hours and working conditions have improved during the period when the T-H Act was on the books. Labor Department statistics bear witness to that fact. But union members were so worked up over the law by their paid professional hierarchy that it is poison to them under its present name.

However, when President Truman, "Bill" Green and "Phil" Murray join in celebrating only nominal repeal, and count it a triumph for righteousness, the millions of working men and women who know the score will be entitled to a snicker at the expense of their leaders and champions.

ARGUMENTS: Louis A. Johnson gave a soft answer to John W. Sullivan's bitter letter of resignation as Navy Secretary but his friends retort with a sharp, sarcastic reply in off-the-record discussions of the scrapping of the supercarrier, the United States. They insist that the retiring Cabinet member hit below the belt. Here are the Johnsonian arguments:

(1). They say that Mr. Sullivan knew, despite former Secretary James V. Forrestal's tolerance, that construction of the 65,000-ton vessel would never be approved in a showdown. Therefore, there was no intended or actual insult to him when he was not given prior, formal notice of cancellation.

(2). They charge Mr. Sullivan with off-side tactics in publicizing the plan to do away with Marine aviation, or perhaps the Marine Corps itself. There is a Pentagon belief that there is no need for this famous fighting outfit in modern warfare, for every soldier in an amphibious operation must have "Marine" training.

But "The Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli" organization has such a sentimental and historical background that the program for its eventual elimination or amalgamation was to have been developed slowly and cautiously. Now, Mr. Sullivan has spilled these important beans prematurely, to say the least.

ANSWER: In answer to the Navy's argument that supercarriers will be needed for discharge of planes carrying atom bombs if Western allies cannot obtain and hold land bases in Europe and the Middle East in a war with Russia, the Johnson faction replies:

"We don't need bases in those areas. We can bomb Russia effectively and devastatingly from airfields in Alaska, Greenland, Iceland and Japan. With the guided missiles, planes and weapons we will have by the time the United States would be completed—four or five years from now—such a supercarrier would be as obsolete as a 1905-model automobile."

"Police Round Up Fortune Tellers; Place 18 in Jail."—Headline. That's the way it goes—the shoemaker goes virtually barefoot, and the fortune-teller neglects to read his own fortune.

We hope the many are mistaken who are predicting an early end of the world. We are of the nervous type and doubt if we could live through so exciting an event.

Sad commentary on the alleged intelligence of the human race: All the powerful nations are feverishly preparing for a war that none of them wants.

The Commerce department reports that the national income totalled 197 billion dollars in 1947. That's a lot of money not to have much to show for.

A philosopher submits 16 "proofs" that life isn't worth living. Well, maybe it isn't, but there doesn't seem to be anything else we can do with it.

It is no wonder that the consumption of whiskey is decreasing rapidly. One can get a hangover now just from reading the news of the day.

One big reason our taxes are so high is that so many people demand (and get) so many things from the Government besides government.

Say all you choose about the average Russian being like us, wanting only peace and a fair share of the world's goods, etc., etc. But don't forget that the average Russian hasn't any more to say about his government than you have and that it is to the 13 Men of the Kremlin we must look, not the Man on Moscow's Main Stem.

This is the time for all Americans to listen to people like former Under-Secretary of State Bob Lovett, ex-Ambassador to Russia W. B. It definitely is not the time to lend credence to the ideas of such characters as Senators Taylor and Pepper, Rep. Vito Marcantonio, or other admirers of the Russian system.

It's just like Russia to extend to us a European olive branch with one hand, while hiding a hatchet in the form of aggression elsewhere behind her back.

BILL Blakeney, of Abilene, district manager for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., was in the other day, shaking his head.

"We thought," he said, "that we'd be able to catch up on Lubbock's telephone needs within the next two years. Fact is, we thought we were just about at the point where we could soon see daylight.

"Now Lubbock Air Force Base is going to be reactivated; Lubbock's population is going to jump all over again—and we're going to lose ground in our never-ceasing fight to catch up with the city. Whoops!"

Currently, Bell has 2,305 applications "stacked up" here in Lubbock, of which more than 1,700 cannot be cared for until all plant enlargements, now under way or planned, are completed. Cecil Cale, the company's manager for Lubbock, Slaton and Spur, and his commercial department are being pushed out of the telephone building on Broadway to make room for more boards and lines. Soon, the company's commercial department will be housed on the corner of Thirteenth and Avenue O, in a building now being readied for that use.

Lubbock, with approximately 19,850 telephones as of this moment, will see its 20,000th installation around June 1. To give you an idea of how fast phones are being put in, 407 were hooked up during the month of April, alone. Mr. Cale expects to put in another 800 between now and September 1 about twice that many from October 1 until January 1.

Along about September 1, Lubbock still will have "stacked up" about 1,800 requests for telephone service—mostly those which cannot immediately be filled because of the need for more lines and plant equipment. This figure will grow to about 3,500 by January 1, 1950, according to Mr. Cale's figures.

LAFB and connected population increases here in the city will continue to intensify the demand.

LUBBOCK will be well on its way to 25,000 telephones by January 1, 1950—which means that the Bell boys will be looking down the line to the 30,000 mark which will call for a second exchange.

Thus, we may expect work to start on a second exchange in Lubbock by 1952 or 1953.

Using the latest available figures for all three cities (those of March 25 of this year) here's the way the West Texas telephone picture is looking:

Abilene, 15,105 connections; 921 applications.

Lubbock, 19,390 connections, 2,305 applications.

Amarillo, 27,397 connections; 3,322 applications.

When Lubbock's plant needs are brought up with the demand here, we should have about 25,000 connections against Amarillo's 29,000. There's no way to estimate how applications may or may not be stacking up then in the two cities.

GEORGE Reynolds, general manager of the Santa Fe New Mexican, was in Washington the other day and, flanked by New Mexico's two senators, was escorted to the White House.

There, Mr. Reynolds invited President Truman to be on hand in Santa Fe this Summer for an observation of the 100th anniversary of that newspaper.

The President didn't say yes and he didn't say no. But the incident lends some credence to a story that has been bandied about in Southwestern newspaper circles ever since last December when the New Mexican was sold by Frank C. Rand multi-millionaire heir to a shoe fortune, to Robert McKinney and others.

According to the story, the prime factor in the purchase of the New Mexican—at a whacking price—was to give the Truman wing of the Democratic party a louder voice than it had before in the rough-and-tumble of New Mexico politics.

Whether this story is true, or not, we wouldn't know. We do know, however, that it has been told when Southwestern newspapermen's shop talk got around to the New Mexican's change in ownership.

Scurry Well Is New Producer

The Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian flowed oil to open a new producing area in North-Central Scurry County, immediately east of the North Snyder field Canyon-Pennsylvanian production.

The strike was J. L. Collins, et al, No. 1 G. E. Parks, wildcat eight miles north of the town of Snyder and 1,980 feet from north, 330 feet from west lines of section 442, block 97, H&TC survey.

This venture had a change of formation shown in samples around 7,215 feet. Some observers think this is the top of the Strawn.

Drillstem Test Run

A drillstem test was run in the Strawn at 7,308-22 feet, showing gas in two and one-half minutes and oil in 24 hours. The well flowed one hour, making an estimated 25 to 50 barrels of oil. On last report, the test was still underway.

Top of pay was picked at 7,312 feet. Unofficial sources say the development is about 150 feet high on the to pof the Strawn to Placid Oil Company No. 1 Early, recently completed discovery from that horizon.

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware is starting at onceon a 8,500-foot rotary tool wildcat in South-Central Borden County as its No. 1 Jerry G. Clayton.

The drillsite is 662.5 feet from east and 660.3 feet from south lines of the southwest quarter of section 47, block 32, T-4-N, TP survey. That puts it about six miles northeast of the town of Vealmoor.

Extension Completed

An extension to the North Riley field of West-Central Gaines County has been completed by Christensen & Mathews of Houston at No. 1 T. Riley estate, 660 feet fro msouth an deast lines of section 356, block G, CCSF&RGNG survey.

Flowing 24 hours through a one-quarter-inch choke, the well was finished for 115 barrels of oil, with gas-bil ratio of 480-1. Gravity of the oil was 32 degrees. Total fluid developed on the test was cut with five per cent water.

The initial production test followed a 11,000-gallon acid treatment through perforations at 6,400-6,420 feet, 6,820-6,850 feet and a 6,930-6,970 feet. Total depth is 7,100 feet. Top of pay was 7,095 feet.

Test Is Underway

A drillstem test was underway at Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 18-B Cowden, discovery from the Clear Fork-Permian, Devonian and the current unidentified formation two miles southeast of the Dollarhide in Southwest Andrews County.

Bottomed on 11,085 feet, operator was testing with packer at 11,035 feet.

The present horizon, which has made oil in commercial amounts, is thought by some observers to be Silurian.

Location is 660 feet from north an deast lines of section 12, block A-55, psl survey.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company was preparing to drillstem test a deep, unidentified lime formation with its No. 15 American warehouse deep wildcat in the Cedar Lake area of Northeast Gaines county.

Total depth was 13,055 feet. The test was to be with packer set at 13,010 feet.

This prospector is 1,650 feet from South and east lines of section 5, block H, D&W survey.

LOOT TOO OBVIOUS

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.)—The thief was easy to spot when police got a report that a 9x12 foot linoleum rug had been stolen from the parked car of Mrs. R. H. Bates. The culprit was laboriously lugging it down the street when officers closed in.

The number of species of living birds has been computed at from 10,000 to 20,0000, with the order of percing and song bird the most numerous.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular in quiet trading today with the market under moderate liquidation. Trade demand was indifferent.

Early firmness was prompted by new ECA cotton export credits to foreign countries for the second and third quarters, but rallying tendencies were reversed on more liberal offerings from spot firms.

Private advices said that mill buying of spot cotton was small during the week. Most of the unsold cotton was said to be in government loan.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale higher to 5 cents lower than the previous close.

MARKET AGAIN SLUMPS

NEW YORK, May 6. (AP)—Demand for stocks went down while the mercury rose today.

The market closed with a clean majority of losses running to around a point. Some shares established new lows for the year.

Business was slow throughout. Turnover amounted to only 780,000 shares, which compared with 930,000 Thursday.

The declines—most were in fractions—resulted more from half-hearted buying interest rather than any pronounced selling pressure, the hottest May 6 on record did not do much toward stimulating demand.

The shot-in-the-arm given the market Wednesday by news of a favorable turn in our relations with Russia appeared to have worn off entirely.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .2 of one point to 63.5. The industrial group showed the largest decline, while the rail section held unchanged and utilities moved only a trifle lower. At the start of Wednesday's sprint, the 60-stock average stood at 63.2.

Public Servcie Electric and Gas moved against the trend for a gain of ⅛ at 226 coincident with news the company had filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission for $75,000,000 of 30-year bonds.

Columbia Gas remained at 11 following a report the company had registered with the S.E.C. an offering to stockholders of 1,365,300 shares of common stock on a one-for-ten basis.

Rubber stocks were apparently helped by news that Seiberling rubber had signed a contract with the United Rubber, Workers (CIO) providing for no changes in the wage scale. Firestone gained ½ at 48⅛, and Goodrich inched up ⅛ to 62¼. U. S. Rubber held at 37 and Goodyear dipped ⅛ to 42⅛.

Lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone (A bit up from the lowest since 1943), Western Union, General Electric, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, J. C. Penney, Radio Corp., Great Northern Preferred, Skelly Oil, Standard Oil (NJ), Richfield Oil, and United Air Lines.

Improving a bit were Dow Chemical, Packard, Southern California Edison, Westinghouse Electric, Mission Corp., and Amerada Petroleum.

Lower in the curb were McCord Corp., Pioneer Gold, Pittsburgh Metallurgical, United Gas, Creole Petroleum, Cities Service, and American Gas and Electric. Niagara Hudson power leased with New Mexico and Arizona Land, Kaiser-Fraser, Domestic Credit, and Humble Oil. Sales of 200,000 shares compared with 340,000 yesterday.

Tech Dairy Manufacturers Club Banquet Is Conducted In City

The Texas Tech Dairy Manufacturers club banquet Friday evening in the Hilton hotel was attended by over 130 members and guests.

Guest speaker was Bryan Blalock, Borden public relations director, who spoke on the role of dairy manufacturers in American economy. He was made an honorary lifetime member of the club.

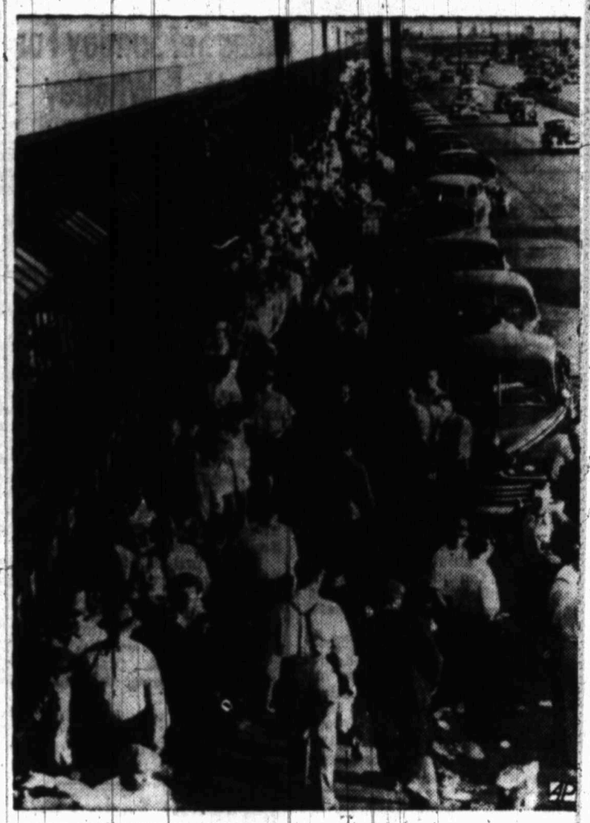

All Lubbock creameries and dairy product industries were represented at the banquet, as well as many from other West Texas towns, M. L. Peeples of the club reported.

Durward Vickers of Gouldbusk, William H. Plummer of Muilin, Milton L. Peeples of Sweetwater, and Henry Sproule of Lubbock, all members of the Texas Tech dairy products judging team, were awarded medals at the banquet.

TOO MANY GRASSHOPPERS

MINNEAPOLIS (U.P.) — T. L. Aamodt, state entomologist, said a survey indicates the grasshopper populations had built up in Minnesota to a comparison with 1929 and 1930, just prior to the largest outbreak of grasshoppers in the history of the state.

BRITON OUTPOINTS GROMYKO

McNeil, British Diplomat, Top Drawing Card In UN Assembly

BY PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 7 —Western delegations at the United Nations consider themselves fortunate to have on their side the Rt. Hon. Hector McNeil.

This 39-year-old diplomat from Scotland is British minister of state and as such is second to Foreign Secretary Bevin in the conduct of his majesty's foreign affairs office.

"Hector" is the young man (as top diplomats go) who edged out the young Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as number one drawing-card at the UN General Assembly.

Out Punches Gromyko

The Scotsman also out-thundered Gromyko at the Assembly and the political committee. But McNeil's more effective method (and he admitted to me in a carefully studied-out method) in pulling the rug from under Gromyko is that of the humorous and tolerant approach, transformed into incisive ridicule at the proper moment.

Thus "Hector" — addressed in this familiar term by correspondents and acquaintances alike—touched off the "delicatessen store" battle. This came recently during debate over the North Atlantic pact when he told Gromyko and his aides to heave themselves out of their "luxurious and well-guarded Long Island mansions and "Park Avenue apartments" and see American life from the viewpoint of the delicatessen store.

"Go on and take a ride on the subway, buy your lunch in a few delicatessen stores and listen to what the Americans really have to say about Russia," McNeil said.

Ridicules Soviet Statement

Gromyko's sarcastic come-back that McNeil evidently was learning all about how the poor live in the "plush delicatessen store of the Waldorf-Astoria" didn't phase our Hector one bit. A few days later he was harpooning Gromyko once again by chiding the Soviet government for not allowing Soviet wives of foreigners to leave Russia with their husbands.

The Russians had made the mistake of arguing that Russian women must be kept at home because abroad they could be subjected to drudgery and exploitation as "kitchen slaves."

"Kitchen slave!" Hector groaned in feigned astonishment. "Why, any married man of humble origin like myself falls into that category. Is it exclusively a western fault or crime that we poor husbands must furn an appeasing hand to the kitchen sink and wash a few dishes?

"Furthermore, Mr. Gromyko, I pride myself on being quite capable of cooking a tasty meal when I am put to it by force of circumstances. What is so wrong about that? If a Russian woman who marries one of us feels that such 'kitchen slaving' is below her dignity, she can always freely go back home to Russia."

Worked on Newspaper

That is Hector at his best. In the eagerness to trounce the opponent or drive home a point, McNeil is apt to stammer and stutter a bit and thicken the Scottish brogue. But the king's English was never used with greater finesse and incisiveness than by his majesty's youngest high-ranking spokesman in defending the cause of western democracies.

His friends say that McNeil was born with the blood of the politician in him and with the heart of a newspaperman. Hector admits to both points. He grew up in Glasgow running errands for local politicians and selling newspapers on the streets.

In 1935, when he was in his early twenties, Hector almost got himself elected to parliament. He lacked a handful of votes to beat an old timer of the landed aristocracy and former member of the cabinet. That decided Hector that a career in politics was the stuff for him. But the problem of earning a living came first and in 1939 he found himself hard at work in London's Fleet street. There he was the ace political writer for Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express.

"Poor Man's Eden"

"I am one politician," Hector likes to say, "who can go back to his old boss and get back his job."

In London and in New York Hector takes no offense when the newspaper crowd dubs him "the poor man's Eden." He puts on no airs and never wears spats or silk toppers. In Paris during the Assembly I found him wandering around the busy restaurant of the Chaillot palace looking for something to eat. All the waiters were tired and busy. I called the headwaiter and pointed out Hector.

"A British minister of state," I said. "In France they usually greet them with trumpets, eh?" The headwaiter looked dubious. "Monsieur," he replied; "this Mr. McNeil is perhaps a minister of state, yes. But he is only the cabinet minister in a Labor government. Mon Dieu, what does he expect?"

azines, radio and other agencies are encroaching on the weekly newspaper field and have been doing it for the past two decades, yet the number, prestige and esteem of weeklies have steadily increased," Woods said. In Texas alone there are 585 weekly newspapers, he said.

Must Be Prepared

"But if we are to continue, we must be prepared to compete with these outside agencies knocking at our door . . . If we will present comprehensive news coverage in a well-printed newspaper, we won't have much to fear from these outside agencies."

Woods, who publishes a prize-winning weekly paper at El Reno, told the approximately 40 persons attending the convention that no longer is the town's editor considered a necessary nuisance and the fourth estate now enjoys the distinction of equal basis with law, medicine and the other professions.

Harley Sadler Speaks

Woods was introduced by Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Avalanche-Journal with whom he worked on the El Reno paper 27 years ago. Prior to Woods talk, Harley Sadler of Abilene, pioneer West Texas showman and former state representative, spoke briefly.

Woods' talk highlighted the opening session of the two-day convention, which got under way shortly after 11 o'clock. President E. I. Hill, editor of the Lynn County News, made a brief address at the opening of the contion after a welcome by Homer D. Grant, president of the Lubbock chamber of commerce, and response by Ernest Joiner, editor of the Ralls Banner.

A mechanical conference, with Allen Hodges, publisher of the County-Wide News, Littlefield presiding, was conducted Friday afternoon.

This morning's session will feature Mrs. William Douglas Moore, photography instructor at Texas Tech; Frank Junnell, administrative assistant at Tech; and short talks and roundtable discussion presided over by C. W. Roberts, editor of the Andrews County News, Andrews.

Awarding of prizes in newspaper contests, election of officers and directors and selection of the 1950 convention site will feature a luncheon program Saturday. C. W. Ratliff, managing editor of the Avalanche-Journal, will preside.

The Plainsman, Lubbock quartet of the SPEBSQSA composed of Bob Dennis, Bob Hufstedler, R. S. Roberson and Jack Hall, will sing at Saturday's luncheon.

Visiting newspaper editors will be guests at the Democratic barbecue at Texas Tech Saturday night.

H. G. Richards, Anton, is first vice-president of the association; C. W. Roberts, Andrews, second vice president and Lois H. Vestal, Levelland, secretary-treasurer.

Strike-Paralyzed Ford Motor Company Fires 14 UAW Members

DETROIT, May 6 (AP)—The Ford Motor company, shut down by a strike of its 60,000 production workers, announced today the firing of 14 unionists.

Sound trucks carried news of the discharges to sweltering pickets at the plant gates.

Meantime, Dearborn city officials turned down a Ford request for more police protection at the plant gates. The company protested pickets were massing there.

The firings stemmed from wildcat walkouts preceding the general strike yesterday and included four CIO United Auto Workers committeemen.

Pickets Parade Peacefully

Among them was Chairman Mike Donnelly of the union's unit in the "B" building, center of the "speed-up" dispute.

An estimated 5,000 pickets paraded peacefully around the plant's 10 gates. There was no immediate comment from the union.

Ford attributed 11 of the dismissals, including Donnelly's, to a brief stoppage at the plant last Friday. The walkout began as a special international union committee arrived to investigate UAW local 600's charge of speed-up on the assembly lines.

As a result, the top-level union committee was forced to postpone its investigation to Monday and Ford sent 1,500 workers home.

In contrast with the only other big Ford strike in 1941, everything was peaceful.

106,000 May Be Idle

About 62,000 of the 65,000 strikers walked out of the sprawling Rouge plant at noon yesterday. The others left their posts simultaneously at the company's Lincoln-Mercury plant.

Ford has said that virtually all its 106,000 production workers would be idled within two to nine days.

Picket captains meanwhile sought to organize their forces for a possible long strike.

Neither Ford nor the union has made a move yet to renew peace talks, broken off within minutes after the walkout.

Presumably, the speed-up dispute will have to be settled by direct negotiations.

Union president Walter Reuther charged that Ford, seeking a competitive advantage, has forced workers to step up production to make up for any lost time caused by mechanical failures or temporary supply lags.

Ford denied that employes are required to work too hard.

Ex-Dallas Policeman Faces Bribe Charge

FORT WORTH, May 6 (AP) — A charge of attempting to bribe City Councilman M. M. McKnight into opening Fort Worth to a big-time New York gambling syndicate was lodged in Peace Justice Frank Hurley's court this afternoon against Norman D. Bailey, 52, former Dallas police captain.

District Attorney Stewart Hellman, who filed the charges, recommended bond of $5,000.

The charge followed a spectacular arrest today noon in a downtown hotel rendezvous, where inspectors R. R. Howerton and Clay Bishop posed as councilmen with McKnight to learn of a $500-a-week deal "if they followed the rules."

'Instructions' Issued

Instructions were issued them in the form of a two-page printed memorandum detailing precedures for ousting the present police chief, creating a "friendly" vice squad and coercing the city manager by threats.

After his arrest, Bailey was grilled for three hours in Police Chief Bob Dysart's office by the district attorney, three of his assistants, and police officers.

At 4 p.m. Hellman gave up, stating Bailey "has a convenient memory and isn't admitting anything." Thirty minutes later, Bailey was transferred to county jail and the complaint was filed.

A contact man, apprehended in McKnight's office shortly after Bailey's capture, was released from city jail after questioning. The man, who said he was a business agent for a Dallas labor union, professed to know nothing of Bailey's activities further than "he wanted me to introduce him to McKnight."

SECRETARY SPEAKS AT WACO

Brannan Denies Threat Of Farm 'Regimentation' Under New Plan

WACO, May 6. (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan said here today the administration's new farm program doesn't threaten regimentation of farmers.

"No suggestion to give the secretary of agriculture any further powers is contained in the plan," Brannan told an audience of 2,800 in Waco hall at Baylor university.

"And there is nothing in the law or in the new plan to provide any powers over farmers not now written into law."

Proposal Criticized

Brannan's afternoon Baylor speech was his second of the day. Earlier he had told 200 research and farm leaders at McGregor that letting agricultural research lag would have the same effect on farmers as not caring for the armed forces would have on national security.

He spoke at the Bluebonnet farm —huge Texas A. and M. agricultural research center at McGregor —and toured that installation before going to Baylor.

Farm organization leaders have asserted that the administration's new plan goes too far. Critics have said it would mean more control of the farmer. Brannan—here, as he has said elsewhere, declared it wouldn't.

Plans Are Similar

The secretary told his audience at Baylor that the new plan as it affects cotton, wheat, corn, and tobacco, would operate the same as the plan now in effect.

Under the proposal, perishable products — such as meat, eggs, dairy products, and some kinds of vegetables—would have a different sort of support.

There would be a standard price, and farmers would get "production payments" when market prices failed to give them that return.

"Instead of removing from the markets these commodities so that prices will be held up, the new plan will let the price seek its level in the supply and demand market," Brannan said.

Egg Program Cited

Brannan declared that the plan is needed now; that today the people of the world can take care of themselves so far as production of food is concerned.

He said the farm products that the government purchases have no markets. As an example he cited the egg support program. He said the money spent in taking eggs off the market and the eggs that were themselves taken off would be lost.

The secretary believes his plan would tend to discourage surpluses in such heretofore troublesome crops as cotton, wheat, and tobacco. It would offer relatively higher price guarantees for meat animals, milk, and poultry, than on these cash crops.

Hence, Brannan has said, there would be a tendency for farmers to divert excess acreages of the cash crop to grass, pastures, and feed grains. That would mean more meat, milk, and poultry.

Need For Research Stressed

Brannan said his recommendations couldn't be construed to mean they are final:

"These are only recommendations, and they are subject to change," he said.

Brannan, with a number of congressmen and government officials arrived here about noon from Mississippi in the four-engine "Sacred Cow."

At McGregor he told the farm and ranch leaders that agriculture and the country would be hard hit if research were not continued.

He said that for example there must be continued research in cotton — against insects, toward improving strains, and toward lowering production costs.

He paid tribute to Judge Marvin Jones of Amarillo, former chairman of the House Agriculture committee, as one responsible for much of the research work under way in Texas.

Livestock Emphasized

Brannan and his party fly tomorrow morning to Lubbock. He is the principal speaker for a West Texas Democratic fund raising barbecue. He is expected to discuss the farm plan again at Lubbock.

He said that it was not the work of just a few personnel in the department of agriculture; that he was asked by the House Agriculture committee to present proposals.

Brannan said there was a level below which it wasn't in the interest of the nation to let farm income fall.

Under the support price formula in his proposal for 1950, said Brannan, the total farm income was set at $26,000,000.

Emphasis was put on livestock for two reasons, said the secretary: 1—there is a need for more meat; 2 — supplying that need would mean converting the nation to a grass economy, which in turn means building up the land—or soil conservation.

Cost Undetermined

He said production payments would be applied so that consumers would get meat at a reasonable price.

The secretary said also that he feels the parity system now in effect is outmoded because it is tied to farm prices in 1910-1914; That the system should be "brought up to modern times," and that the new administration plan would accomplish that.

He said the plan should move forward with the years, rather than be tied to the 1939-48 average, which was used in determining the price support formula in the plan.

At a press conference after his speech he said a question as to how much the plan would cost was a "political question."

Mexico's Health Department is training many new technicians for its increasing sanitary brigades.

Services Set Today For W. E. Trammel

Funeral services for William Elmer Trammel, 59, retired Lubbock businessman, will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday in the Broadway Church of Christ with M. Norvel Young officiating.

Trammel died of a heart attack at St. Mary hospital shortly before 2 p. m. Friday. He had lived in Lubbock for 21 years. Until recently, Trammel had owned and operated a service station and restaurant.

'PASSENGER'

Racoon Beds Down Under Car's Hood

C. G. Spurlock, of 3014 Thirty-first, drove his automobile into J&K Service station, Seventeenth and Ave. H, shortly before noon Friday to get gas and oil.

While a station attendant filled the gas tank, Spurlock opened the hood to check the oil supply.

As he lifted the hood, out jumped a full-grown, 15-pound raccoon.

The coon shuffled into the station, where, after putting up fierce resistance, it was captured by onlookers.

The amazed Spurlock thought the coon was one belonging to one of his neighbors, but had no idea as to how the animal had gotten beneath the hood of his car.

He called the neighbor, to check on the coon's ownership.

The neighbor, unidentified, said that whether it was the right coon or not, it was no longer wanted, as yesterday it had bitten a child.

So early this afternoon David L. Jones, owner of the station, was looking for someone who wanted a coon.
