Guides To Desegregate Spelled Out

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — New guidelines which "require actual desegregation" in the staffs of public schools which have had dual school systems were announced by the government today.

The new guidelines also, in the words of Harold Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, "spell out that the intent of freedom of choice plans is to break down a dual system of schools and establish a single system of schools for all students in a community without regard to race, color, or national origins."

Another new requirement is that school authorities make progress in closing of small, inadequate schools established for Negro students or other minority groups.

Simplified procedures require periodic reports from school districts to measure progress in carrying out desegregation plans.

"It is the responsibility of the school system," Howe said in a statement, "to insure that any freedom of choice plan adopted by a district accomplishes the breakdown of any dual school system."

Simultaneously, Surgeon General William H. Stewart of the Public Health Service announced specific steps to assure compliance in the health and medical fields with the antidiscrimination provision of Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Cartoonist Dies

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Russell C. Westover, 79, creator of the comic strip, "Tillie the Toiler," died Saturday. Westover originated the "Tillie" strip for King Features Syndicate in 1921. The feature was discontinued in 1956.

Voting Rights Act Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today key sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

The high tribunal upheld the power of Congress under the Constitution's 15th Amendment to suspend state literacy tests and similar voting qualifications, and to authorize the attorney general to appoint federal examiners to register qualified voters in various sections of the country.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, in the majority opinion, dismissed a Deep South attack on constitutionality of the act.

"We hold," Warren said, "that the sections of the act which are properly before us are an appropriate means for carrying out Congress' constitutional responsibilities and are consonant with all other provisions of the constitution."

Justice Hugo L. Black wrote a separate opinion concurring in part and dissenting in part.

Warren's opinion declared:

"Hopefully, millions of nonwhite Americans will now be able to participate for the first time on an equal basis in the government under which they live. We may finally look forward to the day when truly 'the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.'"

Warren's quotation was of the Constitution's 15th Amendment.

Joining in the Warren opinion were Justices William O. Douglas, Tom C. Clark, John M. Harlan, William J. Brennan, Potter Stewart, Byron White and Abe Fortas.

South Carolina, joined by Virginia, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi had attacked the new law as violative of the Constitution. The federal government defended the law and was joined by 20 states.

Warren's opinion said two points "emerge vividly" from the legislative history of the act. First, that Congress felt itself "confronted by an insidious and pervasive evil which had been perpetuated in certain parts of our country by unremitting and ingenious defiance of the Constitution."

Second, he said, Congress concluded that the unsuccessful remedies which it had prescribed in the past would have to be replaced by "sterner and more elaborate measures."

Jury Finds For Candace, Powers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Blonde Candace Mossler set out today, as she put it, to mother a brood of adored children and to "pick up the pieces" of a $33-million business.

She was asked in the presence of her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, following their acquittal Sunday in the 1964 slaying of her multimillionaire husband:

"Mrs. Mossler, will you and Mel Powers be married?"

In a little girl voice, normal for her but tinged it seemed with a trace of vexation, Mrs. Mossler with her children behind her, replied at a news conference:

"We don't have any intentions in that direction."

Union between aunt and nephew is generally forbidden by American law, although it would be possible outside the United States. Florida law prohibits marriage between blood aunt and nephew.

Less than three hours earlier, Mrs. Mossler and Powers had been acquitted by an all-male jury of the brutal slaying of her husband, Jacques Mossler, 69.

He was gray, slender, and, in the words of the state, stood in the way of an incestuous love affair between his wife and her nephew. The defendants, if convicted, could have gone to the electric chair.

Behind Mrs. Mossler and Powers at the unusual news conference in a downtown Miami hotel were Mrs. Mossler's two blonde grown children by her first marriage, and the four attractive youngsters she and Jacques Mossler adopted during their marriage.

Most of them figured in the eventual disposal of Mossler's $33-million banking and loan business.

"By July the entire estate should be distributed," said Mrs. Mossler's chief attorney, Clyde Woody.

Mrs. Mossler, sensitive about her age, places it at 40. Powers is 29.

"I just want to thank everybody," Powers said at the news conference. He said he would go back to Houston, Tex., in a few days to "pick up where I left off."

Raise Asked For Federal Employes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today to approve an average pay increase of 3.2 per cent, including fringe benefits, for federal civilian employes.

In a message to Congress, Johnson said direct salary increases will average 2.8 per cent. The remainder would be for fringe benefits.

Johnson estimated the cost of the pay increases, to become effective next Jan. 1, at $485 million a year.

With the increases he recommended, Johnson said, nearly one million of the 1.8 million employes affected would achieve pay on a par with private enterprise. These employes include about 88 per cent of all postal workers and more than 470,000 civil service employes in the lower grades.

Johnson proposed that employes contribute 7 per cent of their pay toward retirement annuities instead of the present 6½ per cent.

Employe leaders and many congressmen are unhappy at the size of the increase, out with the Viet Nam war, dangers of inflation and Johnson's insistence that private industry adhere to the guidelines, there is apparently no inclination to tackle him on the issue.

Teddy Agrees On Viet View

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has called for direct negotiations with the Viet Cong in an effort to end the war in Viet Nam.

Appearing on NBC's television-radio program "Meet the Press" Sunday, the Massachusetts Democrat said he agrees with his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who has advocated that the United States give the Viet Cong assurances this country would not bar them from participation in a South Vietnamese government.

The Johnson administration has said the Viet Cong should not be treated as a separate entity because they are the creation of and an arm of the North Vietnamese government.

Williams Quits Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Mennen Williams resigned today as assistant secretary of state for African affairs to run for the Senate from Michigan.

Williams' resignation will become effective March 23.

In accepting Williams' resignation in a "Dear 'Soapy' " letter President Johnson said:

"Despite the fact that your decision rests upon your reasonable and understandable desire to serve the public in elective office once more, I am nevertheless deeply regretful that we will not have your fine and steadying hand in critical assignments which you have discharged so well and faithfully, under the leadership of both President Kennedy and myself."

Community Action Group Will Meet

An important session has been scheduled Tuesday afternoon for the local Community Action Program committee.

The session will be held at 2 p.m. at Lamar Junior High School.

Buford Browning, temporary chairman, said the group hoped for a good turnout at the session. The major item of business will be the election of a permanent Community Action Council.

Relief Trickles To Storm Victims

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Road-plowing crews and rescue missions began bringing relief today to blizzard-battered parts of the Dakotas and Minnesota.

The toll of deaths stood at 16.

Ranchers were counting up a heavy loss of livestock, especially in South Dakota.

Helicopters and airplanes, bulldozers and plows worked to relieve thousands stranded in what has been termed the Dakotas' worst such storm in decades.

Travelers who had taken refuge in stores, cafes, service stations, or homes continued their journeys.

Stories of human kindness and heroic effort came out of the chill, snow-swept land.

Like the North Dakota farm boy, Orien Auck, of rural Sterling, who scanned the whitened countryside and got worried when he didn't see smoke coming out of a neighbor's chimney.

The 12-year-old boy put on his coat and overshoes and trudged through deep snowdrifts to the farm of Lowell Brown, who lived alone. There, he found the 65-year-old farmer dead, his body draped over a windmill brace in the yard — a victim of the blizzard which lashed the Dakotas three days last week.

Vignettes like this were commonplace as rural and city folk alike fought for survival against the storm.

Six of the storm deaths occurred in South Dakota and five each in North Dakota and Minnesota.

There was a staggering loss in cattle and sheep — perhaps running in the millions of dollars.

One rancher, Frank Maciejewsky Sr. of Timber Lake, S.D., estimated his at $100,000. "I had 400 to 500 cattle and the same number of sheep," he said. "The cattle bunched up next to a shed in a feedlot and smothered. The sheep got smothered, too, in those deep drifts.

"One of my neighbors lost 150 cows in a corral and another lost 100. A couple of barns collapsed under the snow on other ranches and killed some cows."

A spokesman in Civil Defense headquarters at Pierre, S.D., said the livestock losses were staggering. North Dakota ranchers weren't hit as hard.

Marines, South Viets Shatter Cong Regiment

Red Losses Said Heavy

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Marines brought their first year in Viet Nam to a thunderous finish today by joining with crack South Vietnamese troops to shatter a 2,000 - man North Vietnamese regiment.

Nearly 1,000 Communists were said to have fallen before the combined air-ground assault by 6,000 Leathernecks, government paratroopers and rangers in three days of blistering fighting, that the Marines called their roughest action—and best showing—of the war.

The fierce battle tapered off into a mop-up operation today, with the Marines and Vietnamese troops in pursuit of small bands of Red survivors. Prisoners said the regiment had been in South Viet Nam only a month since it filtered down from the North by the jungled Ho Chi Minh Trail, Allied spokesmen reported.

But the victory was costly for the Allies. Marine officers told correspondents at the battle scene along the central coast that the Marines took their heaviest losses of any single battle in Viet Nam, although over-all Marine casualties were described as light. The toll came in the initial assault on Friday.

Eleven helicopters were hit by the Communists and two knocked down. The withering Red fire also forced down a Marine phantom jet. The two crewmen ejected safely offshore.

The intelligence information that enabled the Allied force to trap the Red regiment was provided by two North Vietnamese soldiers captured by government troops at the beginning of the month. They disclosed that the North Vietnamesse regiment's mission was to cut Route 1, the strategic coastal highway, by mining it and blowing up a bridge.

The Marines launched Operation Utah with their Vietnamese allies Friday. Some troops dropped into the valley by helicopter, others pushed in by road. Artillery and air strikes softened up the enemy.

At times the firing came so close Allied units had to check

Air Disaster Probe Begins

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS

TOKYO (AP) — Aviation experts from four nations began intensive investigations today in the wake of three successive airline disasters in the Tokyo area that killed 321 persons.

Japanese officials also launched urgent studies of aviation safety in Japan and renewed calls for a new airport.

Two crashes Saturday and Sunday killed 98 Americans, including 75 in a tour group aboard a British Overseas Airways Corp. Boeing 707 bound for Hong Kong.

Heavy rains on the lower slopes of Mt. Fuji, site of the BOAC crash Saturday that killed all 124 aboard, hampered studies being made of the twisted wreckage.

Photographs of the BOAC jet which spun out of a clear sky showed the plane began disintegrating while falling. Smoke trailed from the full length of both wings.

Pieces of the Canadian Pacific Airlines Douglas DC8 jet that crashed Friday in a fog at the Tokyo airport were being picked over by more experts. That crash killed 64 of the 72 persons aboard.

On Feb. 4 a Boeing 727 jet operated by All Nippon Airways crashed in Tokyo harbor and killed all 133 persons aboard. It was the worst crash involving a single plane.

Among the investigators arriving from the United States, Britain and Canada was John G. Adams, a member of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board. He said he would study all three crashes, all of which involved American-made jets.

Identification of the BOAC victims continued in the small city of Gotemba, at the foot of Mt. Fuji. Workers said the task was extremely difficult because the bodies were badly mungled.

Identification of the bodies in the Canadian Pacific crash also has not been completed. Most of them were badly burned.

Bodies of the American victims were being taken to the Tachikawa U.S. Air Force base outside Tokyo.

Most of the Americans aboard the BOAC plane were on an Asian tour sponsored by the Thermo King Corp. of Minneapolis, Minn., a refrigeration equipment firm.

Sir Giles Guthrie, board chairman of BOAC, and R. B. Philips, vice president of Canadian Pacific, arrived for the investigations. As the foreign teams studied the wreckage, Japanese authorities started hearings on the disasters.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Am I losing my mind? Please tell me what a "good-by gift" is. I always thought a "good-by gift" was a present given to someone who was leaving. Well, listen to this: My husband is leaving Portland. His firm is transferring him to San Francisco, so HE bought his secretary a pair of antique andirons as a "good-by" gift. Why should he give her a "good-by" gift? SHE isn't going away, he is. Please straighten this out for me.

PLENTY MAD

DEAR PLENTY: The departing one usually receives the "good-by" gift from one he leaves behind. Your husband's gesture was more like a "severance" or "appreciation" gift. (Maybe he wants to be sure she'll keep the home fires burning.)

• • •

DEAR ABBY: What can (or should) a father do in the following situation? My son is 29. His wife is 27. They are both been married five years. No children. Yesterday my son gave me the shocking news that he and his wife are getting a divorce. He says they are "pals" not lovers, whatever that means.

They live 1,500 miles from us, but we see them three or four times a year. They seemed very compatible. Never any quarreling or bickering. My son says they are "bored with each other and are mutually agreeable to ending the marriage on friendly terms.

I advised him to consult his clergyman or a marriage counselor to see if something can't be worked out. He said, 'What for? We both know what we want out of a marriage and we aren't getting it, so we might as well go our separate ways while there are no children to consider." Somehow, Abby, I just cannot condone ending a marriage because of "boredom". Am I right?

NEW ENGLANDER

DEAR NEW ENGLANDER: Perhaps there is more to it than they care to tell. In any case, no one can "save" a marriage neither party thinks is worth saving. Your son did not ask your advice. He merely informed you of his intentions.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: What makes men customers want to pull a waitress' apron strings? We have our aprons tied in a neat bow, and after it has been pulled by five or six wise guys it looks all limp and ragged.

I've had to swat several men on the hands with my order pad to keep them from pulling at my apron strings. Every waitress I know who wears an apron with a bow in the back has the same trouble. Why? A woman would never untie another woman's bow.

UNTIED

DEAR UNTIED: It's the little boy in some men that prompts them to be impish. They think it's cute. They're only trying to call attention to themselves. Some women use the same childish technique when they see a man with a bow tie.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LIKES TO SWING": If you're trying to pull the wool over her eyes, better try another yarn.

President Johnson Returns From Ranch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returned to Washington today after enjoying what an aide described as "considerable relaxation and rest" at his Texas ranch.

Deputy press secretary Robert H. Fleming said the chief executive was weary when he flew to Texas Friday night. He said Mrs. Johnson had encouraged him to get a change of scenery.

"I think he's gotten considerable relaxation and rest down here," said Fleming.

The press aide said Johnson planned to spend a normal week at his White House desk, possibly sending Congress one or more special messages covering new legislative proposals.

with each other before every new barrage.

The Marines brought the weekend fighting in a coastal valley 335 miles northeast of Saigon to a roaring climax Sunday night by storming the North Vietnamese 21st Regiment's command post, capturing 95 weapons and seizing a store of enemy records.

A total of 533 enemy bodies were counted, but Col. Bruce Jones of McLean, Va., adviser to the Vietnamese 2nd Regiment, said: "There is evidence we killed or wounded as many more." Only half the enemy force remained alive, he said.

Another participant in the battle as an adviser to a Vietnamese battalion was Army Capt. Peter Dawkins, the former West Point football All-America and Rhodes Scholar.

While the fighting raged on the ground, U.S. spokesmen said two American jets were lost over North Viet Nam in raids Saturday. An A1H Skyraider jet from the carrier Hancock went down 40 miles southeast of Vinh and the pilot was presumed lost. An Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down 45 miles south of the city by groundfire but the pilot was rescued, a spokesman said.

The Communists sent up at least eight surface-to-air missiles against American aircraft attacking North Viet Nam Saturday and Sunday, but none of the Soviet-made SAMs hit their mark.

U.S. pilots sighted six missiles in flight over the North Sunday but none came much closer than a quarter of a mile. On Saturday, two SAMs exploded 40 miles northeast of Thanh Hoa without hitting anything.

While part of the American air arm pounded Communist supply lines again, other planes dropped 4.7 million leaflets on the North, urging Communist soldiers to reject their regime's attempt to put them to war in the South, the spokesman said.

On the ground, the U.S. 1st Infantry Division also reported a major success 35 miles north of Saigon. Troops of the Big Red One claimed they killed 188 Communists in fighting over the weekend.

In front of one infantry battalion's positions alone, 97 enemy dead were counted, a spokesman said. The GIs also captured four 50-caliber machine guns, an important weapon in the Communist arsenal.

The Communists made their ill-fated stand against the Marines and Vietnamese troops around the well-fortified village of Chu Ngai, seven miles north of the provincial capital of Quang Ngai. They fought from caves, trenches and holes. The enemy troops were "well disciplined and well armed," an American spokesman said.

No More Perfect Records Are Left

And then there were none.

Like the gold nickel cigar, songs that rhyme moon and June, and Edsel autos, college basketball's last two undefeated teams faded quietly away over the weekend.

But Adolph Rupp and Don Haskins expect to have Kentucky and Texas Western back making plenty of noise in the NCAA playoffs which open tonight.

Both the Wildcats, ranked No. 1, and the second-rated Miners had 23 - game winning streaks snapped Saturday and both Rupp and Haskins, while disappointed, hoped the defeats would teach their teams lessons.

Kentucky backed into Rupp's 22nd Southeastern Conference crown when Vanderbilt dropped a 92-90 decision to Mississippi State while the Wildcats were being upset by Tennessee 69-62.

Kentucky completes its regular schedule with a meaningless SEC game against Tulane tonight. Then Rupp has until Friday to repair his club's confidence for the Wildcats' NCAA playoff debut against the winner of tonight's Dayton-Miami of Ohio battle—one of two Mideast Regionals scheduled for Kent, Ohio. Chicago Loyola takes on Western Kentucky in the other.

Haskins had less time to regroup Texas Western. The Miners dropped a 74-72 decision at Seattle Saturday night and come right back tonight against Oklahoma City in the Midwest Regional at Wichita. Houston plays Colorado State in the other Midwest game.

In tonight's other NCAA playoff doubleheader, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia takes on Providence and Davidson meets Rhode Island in the Eastern Regionals at Blacksburg, Va.

Meanwhile, the nation's other big post-season tournament, New York's National Invitational, completed its 14-team field with the addition of New York University, San Francisco, Villanova and Wichita. The NIT opens Thursday.

In other weekend action, Duke captured the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament, overcoming North Carolina's freeze to win 21-20 Friday night and then whipping North Carolina State 71-66. The Blue Devils take on tonight's St. Joseph's-Providence winner Friday.

Michigan clinched its third straight Big Ten crown by downing Northwestern 105-92 behind Cazzie Russell's 48 points. The Wolverines, who reached the NCAA finals last season, open their tournament play against the Chicago Loyola-Western Kentucky winner.

Kansas clinched a tie for the Big Eight title by whipping Kansas State 68-55 and can wrap up the conference crown and an NCAA berth against Southern Methodist next Friday by defeating Colorado tonight.

NYU and Villanova earned their NIT berths by beating St. John's of New York and DePaul, both of whom had already accepted bids. The Violets whipped the Redmen 67-58 for a 15-9 season's record. Villanova won its 10th in the last 11 by nipping DePaul 76-73.

San Francisco finished with a 91-65 victory over Pepperdine and a 21-5 record for second place in the West Coast Athletic Conference. Wichita, an 81-79 double overtime winner over Tulsa, finished tied for second with Bradley in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Army Agrees To Operate

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP)—A young soldier's parents wept in relief when they learned that Army doctors would operate on him to remove a cancerous tumor in the bladder.

Vincent P. Gulardo, 19, of Clifton, N.J., had been inducted into the Army Feb. 23.

When the Army learned he needed an immediate operation, it planned to give him a medical discharge because the condition existed prior to his service.

But the draftee's father, a veteran of World War II, said he had lost both his job and hospitalization benefits.

A spokesman at Ft. Dix said Sunday the Army would perform the operation early this week.

Various Activities Set For Texas B&PW Observance

The Business and Professional Clubs throughout the state have invited other womens and mens organizations to help them turn the spotlight on all business and professional women during this week—their annual salute to working women — "Texas Business Women's Week."

The local B&PW Club is sponsoring many activities for the week. Highlights of the weekly activities are a breakfast to be held Saturday morning March 12 at 8 p.m. at Sallie's Cafeteria. Following the breakfast all new and prospective members will be honored. Also, beginning at 9 o'clock members are holding their semi-annual hat sale at the Snyder Savings and Loan. The women of the area are cordially invited to attend, have a cup of coffee and try on a hat. A variety of beautiful spring hats will be on display. From over a selection of 300, they are at the low price of $3.98.

This special week has been authorized by Governor John Conally and by our local Mayor, M. L. Broman, under the auspices of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Inc. Its purpose is to focus attention upon the business and professional women of the state, and to better acquaint the public with the achievements and objectives of the B&PW Clubs.

The Texas Federation of B&PW Clubs was organized in Dallas, Texas on July 12, 1919, and today has a membership in the excess of 8,250 business and professional women. Comprising 15 districts, divided into 294 clubs located in all parts of Texas, it is one of the 53 state federations affiliated with the 185,000 member National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

B&PW Clubs are composed of women actively engaged in business or in the professions; they are non-partisan, non-sectarian, self-supporting and self-governing. The primary objective of the organization is to promote the interests of business and professional women, but its many varied activities go far beyond to encompass community service, youth projects, educational programs, studies of legislature problems, and a working interest in world affairs.

The celebration marks the 37th year in which Business Women's Week has been observed by the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women.

Critics Of Viet Nam Policy Remain Hazy On Solutions

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright is a kind of classic example of all those critical about the war in Viet Nam but snagged on the dilemma of how to end it.

They have ideas on what to do or not to do — as some showed before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which Fulbright is chairman — but are hazy on solutions.

Two speeches by Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat, one last June 15 and one March 1, and a statement Sunday night show the dilemma of the critics of the Johnson administration, which is in a bit of a dilemma itself.

President Johnson tried to get the Communists to negotiate. Having failed, he must continue the war, he feels, without stepping it up to such a degree that Red China might feel impelled to jump in.

In June, Fulbright said complete victory would be too costly but unconditional withdrawal from Viet Nam is unthinkable because of the disastrous results.

Withdrawal, he felt, would betray this country's obligations to people we have promised to defend and weaken their belief in U.S. guarantees.

At the same time he was against stepping up the war, although how else the Communists can be convinced to quit fighting is difficult to imagine.

He suggested negotiations to end the war, with major concessions by both sides, although admitting Johnson's efforts to get the Communists to negotiate wound up nowhere.

Nevertheless, Fulbright envisioned a compromised peace and after that, he proposed, the United States should join with others in a large program for the social and economic development of Southeast Asia.

(Johnson had proposed just such a program weeks before Fulbright did.)

Almost a month before Fulbright's June 15 talk Johnson said the Red Chinese are bent on dominating all Asia but on March 1 Fulbright came up with another speech, this one proposing how to deal with Red China.

He suggested an agreement with Red China to neutralize all of Southeast Asia although there was nothing to indicate Red China would ever consider such an agreement.

Once such an agreement was made, Fulbright said, the United States and China should pull back all their forces. But Red China does not have forces on the soil of other nations.

How such an agreement could be policed to prevent Red Chinese cheating would be monumental in itself. Fulbright did not go into details on that.

Fulbright announced Sunday night that his Foreign Relations Committee will open hearings Tuesday aimed at increasing public knowledge about Red China. He said there is a real danger that the "open-ended" Viet Nam conflict will lead to war between the United States and Communist China.

Americans should be "open-minded and inquisitive" and try to learn all they can about the Chinese, he said.

Last Thursday, two days after Fulbright proposed his neutralization idea, Red China linked Johnson and his critics together as "fools" and said there was no fundamental difference between them about continuing the Viet Nam war.

Before World War II Indonesia had 42,000 acres planted in cinchona trees. These produced 85 to 90 per cent of the world's supply of quinine. The groves were neglected during the Japanese occupation and Indonesia's struggle for independence. By 1959 only 16,000 acres were productive.

Junior Editors Quiz on BLUE RIDGE MTS.

QUESTION: Why can seashells be found on top of the Blue Ridge Mountains?

ANSWER: The Blue Ridge Mountains, covering parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina and Georgia, belong to the Appalachian Mountain System, part of which is shown on our map. Looking at their towering splendor, it is hard to realize that this land was once under water. The impress of a seashell on a Blue Ridge rock is not an actual shell; it is the trace of an extremely ancient animal who once lived under sea water.

The Appalachian Mountains arose somewhere about 200 million years ago. The dotted lines in our map show land and water as it appeared in one of the periods before the Appalachians had arisen: the Ordovician Period. Then, huge inland seas covered much of what is now land; the dotted lines show where the land was. At some time in that distant past a little seashell animal was trapped in the mud which turned to rock. Then the Blue Ridge Mountains rose up and hoisted the rock into the air. Now, Jerry is examining the trace of that ancient animal, still clearly visible after hundreds of millions of years.

Mail Brings Little Gems Of Knowledge

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It doesn't pay to hitch your wagon to a snail. Someone has figured it takes 2½ million snails to equal the pulling power of one horse.

Glove talk: If she draws her glove halfway onto the left hand, it means, "I am indifferent;" if she holds the tips of her glove downward — "I wish to get acquainted;" if she puts on her left glove and leaves the thumb uncovered — "Do you love me?" And if she puts on her right glove and leaves the thumb uncovered, she's saying, "Kiss me."

While there is a knowledge explosion going on, there is also a knowledge lapse. For example, the American Dental Association reports that about 90 per cent of the American people still don't brush their teeth properly.

Quotable notables: "Some folks can look so busy doing nothing that they seem indispensable" — Kin Hubbard.

Beating the teen-age drinker: Kids in many states alter the birth date on their driver's license to prove they are old enough to buy liquor. Kansas stops that by issuing red license cards to drivers under 21.

Sometimes the official mind acts in mysterious ways: An amendment to the British post office guide prohibits sending chewing gum to the Soviet Union.

George Washington was better at betting at the card table than the racetrack. But he did come out ahead when his famous stallion, Magnolia, lost to a racer owned by Thomas Jefferson. Washington recouped by trading the stallion to Gen. Light Horse Harry Lee for 5,000 acres of Kentucky land.

A reader reports: "In sorting through a collection of books left by a grandfather, I came across a dictionary printed in 1901. Leafing through it, I saw 'uranium' defined as 'a worthless metal, not found in the U.S.'"

Worth remembering: "Be friendly with the folks you know. If it weren't for them, you'd be a total stranger."

Said Dead Second Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Miss Henrietta Landau, 71, pronounced dead Friday night and later found to be alive, died Sunday in Roosevelt Hospital.

An autopsy was scheduled for today.

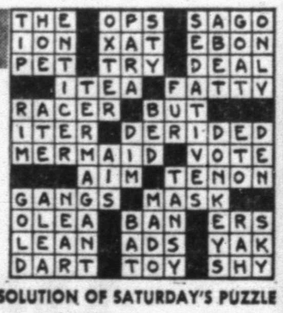

Miss Landau, a retired nurse, suffered a heart attack Friday at her home. She was pronounced dead by Dr. Samuel Gaines, who had been treating her for Parkinson's disease and heart trouble.

The body was taken to a funeral home where, several hours later, a mortician heard a moan from the woman. She was rushed to the hospital.

Dr. Gaines has refused to discuss the case.

Houston's prize rookie second baseman, Joe Morgan, waited out National League pitchers for 97 base on balls in 1965 to lead the league.

Tigers Take Top Canyon Reef Trophy

Snyder High School's track team upset favored Carver of Amarillo in a close battle that wasn't decided until the final event of the 14th annual Canyon Reef Relays here Saturday.

Coach Jim (Dutch) Stehley's boys won the team trophy with 119⅛ points while Carver came in second with 114¾. Points of other teams in the AAA division: Breckenridge 90, Vernon 35⅞, Littlefield 43, Hirschi 28 ⅜, Dumas 24¾, Lake View 17⅞, Ft. Stockton 14, Tulia 6, Graham 1.

The Tigers held an eight point lead going into the final event—the pole vault—and preserved the victory placing two although Carver's Thornton won with a 12-6 effort. Jackie Rice, who cleared 13 feet last year but who has devoted most of his attention to running this season, finished third at 11-6 behind Koontz of Littlefield who went 12-0. Curtis Clay took fourth place, clearing 11-0.

It was a great team effort that propelled the Tigers to victory over a team that generally was conceded a good chance to win every running event. The Bengals copped several second places and gained valuable points with 3rd through 6th place finishes. Also, the sprint and mile relays teams came through better than many persons had expected they would.

Steve McMahan, a tall senior, captured the only first place ribbon for Snyder, clearing 6-1 for the blue ribbon in the high jump. He also placed fourth in the broad jump with a leap of 19-9.

Four lads garnered points for the Black and Gold in that event. M. C. Powell was second with a distance of 21-6¼—only 3½ inches off the winning pace set by Gunlock of Breckenridge. Jackie Rice took fifth at 19-7¼, and Vernon Clay sixth at 17-5.

Rocky Woods of Lake View, who has sailed over 6-5 in the high jump, didn't make the trip. Littlefield was the closest District 3-AAA team to the Bengals—but they were about 80 points behind.

Breckenridge's determined mile relay team (Toliver, Stephens, Mitchell and Wilkerson) spurted ahead of Carver on the last lap for a first place trophy with a 3:32.6 timing. Carver was second in 3:33.1 with Snyder third at 3:33.8.

Leon Riggins, M. C. Powell, Curtis Clay and Teddy Brown each ran one leg of the mile relay. Clay kept Snyder in the running with a fast clocking on the third leg.

The 440 relay team (Ronnie Hardwick, Jackie Rice, Teddy Brown and Curtis Clay) finished a step behind Carver. The winning time was 44.0. The Snyder boys were timed at 44.7, and Littlefield was a close third at 44.8.

Teddy Brown gave Littlefield's Larry Schovajsa plenty of competition in the 440 yard dash, finishing in second place with 52.7. The Wildcat speedster raced around the oval in 50.6.

Ronnie Hardwicke copped a second place ribbon in the 100 yard dash with 10.4. Jackie Rice came in third with the same time. Both were one-tenth of a second behind Vernon's Bruce King.

Leon Riggins scooted to a 20.0 clocking in the 180 low hurdles—good for a second place. Robert Patterson, Carver's fine runner, won the event in 19.4 seconds. Steve McMahan placed 5th with 21.0.

McMahan also took third in the high hurdles, and Riggins placed 4th. Both were timed at 16.1. Patterson's 15.2 clocking won the blue ribbon in this event.

Lonnie Gilstrap came in 5th and Ken Neeper 6th in one heat of the 880 yard run, although Carver's James Irving had the best time with a 2:03.5 effort.

Roy Taylor claimed a 4th place and Jerry Simons a 5th place in the discus, which was taken by Charles Pennington of Carver with a distance of 158-3½. Simons also heaved the shot 48 feet, 4¾ inches for a 5th place in that event.

Curtis Clay won a third place ribbon in the 220 yard dash, running his heat in 22.8. Jackson of Carver was first with 22.3. Rudy Benitez turned in a 4:56.9 in the mile run for a 6th place.

As expected, Permian of Odessa dominated the AAAA division with 116¾ points. Midland Lee was a poor second with 56¾ points. Other scores: Amarillo Palo Duro 52, Lubbock Monterey 51, Big Spring 49¾, Wichita Falls 38, Odessa 36, Midland 24, Borger 22¾, Pampa 22, Plainview 13, Lubbock 10, Cooper "B" 1.

Although no records were broken, Big Spring's Joe Jaure came closest with a 19.1 in the 180 low hurdles. He was high point man of the meet, scoring 36 points. The lithe Negro won the century and came in second in the 220 yard dash and the broad jump as well as running legs on the relays teams.

David May of Palo beat Jaure in the broad jump, but he said he was disappointed with the winning distance of 21-9½. May finished 4th at the state track meet last year and has his sights set on 24-0 in the broad jump this season. He has been clocked at 9.8 in the 100 yard dash, although he did not enter the event here.

Competition was close in the Class B division. Hobbs won it with 102 points. Klondike was second with 92 and Ira third with 881-6. Other scores: Loraine 631-3, Fluvanna 48, Blackwell 40, Highland 351-6, Hermleigh 18, and Divide 6 1-6.

Suit In Second Week

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Trial of Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball headed into its second week today with lawyers warned to speed up proceedings or face possible night and weekend courtroom sessions.

Circuit Court Judge Elmer W. Roller said he would hold the attorneys overtime in the courtroom if necessary to complete the trial by the start of baseball season, only five weeks away.

Wisconsin, seeking to prove that organized baseball operates as an illegal monopoly, hoped to finish its presentation of evidence this week.

SPORTS

Bengals Blast Coronado Twice

LUBBOCK — The Snyder High School Tiger baseball team spoiled Lubbock Coronado's debut into varsity competition in Hodges Park Saturday by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader, 4-3 and 3-1.

Left fielder Lloyd Potts was the man of the hour in the first tilt, collecting four hits in four trips. He singled in second-baseman Mac Galyean in the first.

David Cadena, centerfielder, also had a great day at the plate. He went 3 for 4 in the opener, scoring the second Tiger run in the 3rd on another single by Potts. Catcher Roy Kizer, who hit 2 for 4, lined in Cadena in the 4th, and Potts drove him in with another one-baser in the 6th for the winning run.

Galyean also notched two hits in the first game, getting 2 for 4. In all, the Tigers rapped 14 hits. Freddie Benitez, the winning pitcher, allowed only 5 hits in going the distance. Jones was tagged for the loss. Coronado scored one run each in the 1st, 3rd, and 5th frames. A home run by shortstop M. Riddle, a double in the 3rd by Jones and two safeties in the 5th accounted for the Coronado scores.

It was a tight pitcher's duel between Bobby Clardy for Snyder and Sparks of Coronado in the second clash. Bobby, the winner, gave up only four hits in 7 innings while Snyder tagged Sparks for 12 hits over the route.

Potts and Cadena each socked 3 for 4 and right fielder Dink Foree came through with 2 for 3. Kizer also slammed two hits — in four trips.

Galyean opened the contest with a single and scored as Potts, Kizer and third baseman David Holt also singled. Cadena doubled in the 5th and came home on a two - baser by Kizer. Potts doubled Cadena in with the final run in the 7th after the speedy little centerfielder singled to get on.

Coronado's sole run came in the 6th when Hillard walked, moved to second on a sacrifice, and scored on a double by first sacker Beauchany.

TALENTED EMPLOYES — Operators in the eight booths at Elite Beauty Salon on the south side of the square are particularly adept at hair styling. All of the operators are congenial. They recently completed a "brush up" course in all phases of beauty salon work. (Staff Photo).

Elite Beauty Salon Marks It's First Anniversary Here

Elite Beauty Salon, 1804 Twenty-sixth Street, on the South side of the square, recently observed its first anniversary. Operation of the firm is in the capable hands of Bess Fish, a native-born Snyder woman who has over 20 years experience in the business.

Located in the Manhattan Building, Elite Beauty Salon has spacious, comfortable surroundings. The firm employes many really talented hair stylists. The operators, all Snyder residents, include Frances Roberson, LaWanna Vincent, Goldie Cox, Barbara Adams, Carole Adams and Frances Harty. All are friendly and courteous.

"All of our operators have recently completed a 'brush up' course in all phases of beauty techniques," explained Mrs. Fish. "They are real good at hair styling," she added.

Hair styling is just one of the many services offered by Elite Beauty Salon. Included among other services are permanent waving, hair tinting, hot oil treatments, frosting and bleaching of all types, manicuring, and scalp treatments.

Elite Beauty Salon has the latest equipment with which to help improve their customers looks. The firm recently installed a new booth—bringing to six the total number now available to patrons. No matter how busy the operators are, customers seldom have to wait to get their hair dried since there are eight dryers.

The firm has many longtime, satisfied customers, although, of course, the firm makes new patrons feel welcome.

Bess is married to Walla D. Fish. They have one son, 12-year-old David, a student at West Elementary. The family resides at 3110 Avenue U and attends services at the First Baptist Church.

Losses Small In Market Averages

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — How badly were stocks mauled in the last five days of a frenzied up and down market? They looked bad in the headlines — but for most blue chips individual losses gave no incentive for jumping out of windows.

In trading volume, March came in like a lion, with 50,406,720 shares changing hands, against 32,647,546 in the week before when the market was more orderly. But the final score for the week for the 30 blue chips on the Dow-Jones industrial index were more lamb-like.

At Friday's close that index was 20.66 points lower than the previous Friday, February 25. And the fluctuations of the index captured the headlines.

But on average the 30 stocks lost just $1.50. And three of them had managed to gain a bit. A fourth was unchanged for all the week's turmoil.

Here are the figures: February 25 the Dow-Jones industrial index closed at 953.00. Friday, March 4 the closing was 932.34.

But take the closing price on each of the 30 stocks on the index and the total value February 25 was $2,139.36. Divide by 30 and you get an average price of $71.31. At the following Friday's close, March 4, the market price of one each of the 30 was $2,094, for an average price of $69.80. The average loss thus is $1.51.

The reason the average actual price is so much lower than the Dow-Jones index is that the index has been adjusted many times over the years to allow for stock splits, stock dividends and the like. So today the total of the closing prices of the 30 blue chips is divided by 2.245, instead of by 30.

Individually the losses for the week ranged from $4.75 for United Aircraft to 12 cents for American Tobacco. Gaining on the week were Allied Chemical, up $1.75; Alcoa, up $1; Union Carbide up 62 cents. American Can was unchanged.

Other of the larger losses were: Johns Manville at $3.62, Swift and Ananconda at $3.25 each and Texaco at $3.

None of the losses are welcomed by the holders of these shares. Nor is the effect of the wide swings in the popular averages, either on other stocks or on public psychology, good news on Wall Street.

But the public, reading only about the averages, may think that the stock price drop is much worse than it really is.

The averages serve a purpose in showing how the market is behaving — and furnishing an historical background. A Dow-Jones industrial index 932.34 looks bad when compared to its record of 995.15 early this year. But it looks good if compared with around 480 some 10 years ago.

Most stockholders have learned long ago that what matters isn't what happens to some market index. What matters is what happens to the stock you own. It could be that you own some that were among those that actually made gains last week while the headlines were at their scariest.

Misses First Crash; Killed In Second

TORONTO (AP) — Mrs. Theodor Vaskevitch of Toronto telephoned her husband in Tokyo after she heard a Canadian Pacific jetliner crashed there Friday.

He told her he had decided to stay for another day and would take a British Overseas Airways Corp. flight to Hong Kong Saturday.

Saturday she received a telephone call telling her the BOAC flight had crashed and her 53-year-old husband was dead.

Cites Need To Perfect Space Rescue

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Man must learn how to rescue orbiting astronauts stranded in a disabled spaceship because "it is a problem we all know will one day confront us," a recovery force expert said today.

"Space rescue is entirely feasible and well within the known state of the art," said Col. Emil G. Beaudry, vice commander of the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service at Orlando, Fla.

In a technical paper presented during the opening day of the Third Annual Space Congress, Beaudry said one analyst concluded there is a 62 per cent probability of at least seven emergency situations in space involving 22 men in the next 20 years and a 58 per cent probability of two or three emergencies within 10 years.

He observed the vast amount of effort project officials now take to insure astronauts' safety before they are launched and said "rescue in space is but the logical extension of this traditional humanitarian role.

"There is no reason today — or certainly in the reasonably near future — why an operational rescue spacecraft could not be ready and standing by in the event of distress or tragedy during manned flights," Beaudry said.

"For example, a launch vehicle such as the Titan 3 with its great weight-lifting capability and mission versatility could easily carry a rescue crew, medical facilities and technicians aloft to assist in any way required."

In a related paper, an engineer said the ability to rendezvous with another object in space — as astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott plan to do March 15 — "opens up a myriad of possibilities," including rescue.

Brazil Holds Texans For Smuggling

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) —Two Texans and three American companions remain in jail today as judge studied four volumes of a police investigation into alleged mineral smuggling.

"Charges of contraband" were filed against the Americans last weekend, federal police said.

The five, held since Feb. 18, are Joseph A. Truehill, 47, Dallas; Darwin C. Mandell, 36, Crystal City, Tex.; Sam Sexton Jr., 31, Fort Smith, Ark.; Ralph Emerson Dial, 47, Oklahoma City, Okla.; and Joseph H. McCutcheon, 34, Fort Smith.

Also detained is a Brazilian woman, Wilma Kossetisine, identified as Dial's secretary.

Judge Juscelino Jose Rebeiro of the 1st Criminal Court said he would take no action in the case at least before today. Under Brazilian law he can release any one or all of the defendants if he rules the charges are unfounded.

A U. S. consulate official said Sunday the Americans are "very discouraged. . . because they feel they are innocent."

Police said members of the group allegedly admitted shipping tantalite ore to a Muskogee, Okla., plant of Fansteel Metallurgical Corp. The ore is used to strengthen certain steels.

An agreement to export the tantalite had been made with Dial by Sexton and other Fort Smith investors, counsel for the Americans said.

The anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth on Feb. 12, 1809, recalls one of the world's most erroneous prophecies. Shortly after his birth, a 9-year-old cousin had a peek at the new addition to the family. Gazing on the wrinkled infant Abraham, the cousin exclaimed, or so it was later recalled, "He'll never come to much!"

Robbery Suspects Are Taken

FORDLAND, Mo. (AP) — Wounded, cold and injured, Charles Bell stepped out of the bushes to flag down a truck on U.S. 60 Sunday, but he didn't see the highway patrol car behind the truck.

Patrolman Geln Wilson and Deputy Sheriff Robert Clark stopped and arrested Bell, 44, of Dallas, Tex., five miles west of Fordland.

In a barn nearby, other officers found Maynard Hollandsworth, 51, formerly of Radford, Va., and Lincoln A. DeVaughn, 31, Chicago. All three surrendered without resistance. They were wanted for the holdup of the bank of Fordland Friday.

Deputy Sheriff Ron Ginn said about $5,600 was found on the three men, which was $600 more than reported stolen in the holdup.

Officers of several counties had been searching for the trio since Friday in freezing weather, using bloodhounds.

Two men robbed the bank and exchanged shots with Patrolman Norman Tahlor during a fast chase. The bandits blocked the road with their car and fled in another car driven by a third man as Taylor emptied his gun at them. The second car also was abandoned. It had six bullet holes and blood smears in it.

Bell, with buckshot wounds in the upper lip, chin and right arm, was taken to the U.S. Medical Center at Springfield, Hollandsworth and DeVaughn were put in jail at Springfield.

The FBI said Hollandsworth was wanted for violating a parole from a 20-year bank robbery sentence in Kentucky.

Velvet-Gloved Irish Solon Calms Senate's Viet Critics

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quiet Irishman with a velvet glove has helped calm some of the Senate criticism of President Johnson's course in Viet Nam.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, has demonstrated in the week since he returned from a recuperative vacation in Florida that soft words diminish wrath, if they do not always turn it away.

The second day after the tall, lean Montana senator climbed back in the leadership saddle, the Senate passed overwhelmingly a $4.8-billion military authorization bill that had been before it since Feb. 14 while members wrangled over Viet Nam.

Mansfield, with characteristic modesty, takes no personal credit for this. He says the members were just tired of squabbling and ready to act.

Within hours after his return, the Democratic leader helped extricate Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey from a sticky situation brought about by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's invitation for him to testify before it on his nine-nation tour of Asia.

No vice president can afford to let a committee order him around, and Humphrey was determined not to be put on the stand at a public hearing.

Acting Democratic Leader Russell B. Long of Louisiana already had traded verbal blows with Chairman J. W. Fulbright in the Foreign Relations Committee's televised hearings. Relations between them were strained.

But Mansfield prevailed on Fulbright to join with him in inviting Humphrey to sit down with senators and talk informally with them. The session turned out to be a friendly one, with nobody going away mad.

Now Mansfield is drawing on his seemingly inexhaustable supply of patience to move the Senate toward a vote on a $415-million foreign aid authorization which includes $275 million in economic aid for Viet Nam.

The Democratic leader occupies a unique position in standing apart from the noisy Senate uproar over Viet Nam. Quietly, he had opposed the resumption of North Viet Nam bombing, thus siding with Fulbright.

For all their recent chatting at a White House party, the President and Fulbright are not what could be called chummy at this point.

In contrast, Johnson and Mansfield continue to maintain close relations. Mansfield had his reservations about steps Johnson has taken and communicated them to Johnson. But his attitude has been that "we're in this thing too deep" to carp at the President publicly.

Unique Camp Offers Taste Of Torture

By CLARKE STALLWORTH
The Columbus Ledger

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — It's called Camp Happiness, but there are no happy campers — not when the games end in torture and legs are twisted until the pain is unbearable.

Spawned by effective brainwashing techniques inaugurated by the Chinese Communists in the Korean conflict, Camp Happiness is designed to prepare soldiers for possible enemy treatment in Viet Nam.

The camp, a prison mock-up at Ft. Benning near here, is not escaped via death, or defection, although the soldier-students sometimes think that might be the only way out.

"All of them are learning," said Lt. Col. Fred Cleary, a veteran of Viet Nam fighting. "Later on, if they are captured, they'll know how to keep from being brainwashed."

Officer candidates nearing graduation after 23 weeks of training quickly learn Camp Happiness will etch into their minds indelible memories of genuine pain.

This was demonstrated to the latest "prisoners" when one spoke out of turn as the "comrade commander" was giving the new inmates his usual propaganda speech.

"Nobody wants to see your ugly face," said the prisoner.

The comrade commander, Capt. J. C. Reid of Richburg, S.C., showed the prisoner that Camp Happiness is not a pleasant place.

"Put this man on the pole," Reid ordered. Guards grabbed the prisoner, twisted his legs around a pole, bent one foot painfully underneath him and then pushed him backwards.

"Insolent capitalist pig," growled one guard as the prisoner writhed in pain.

The other prisoners watched silently as the tortured prisoner groaned "Okay, I'll apologize."

In Korea, American prisoners sometime cracked under the strain of Communist mental torture techniques. Some even defected.

The government decided that American soldiers had been poorly prepared. Camp Happiness was set up as one means of teaching soldiers what was expected of them.

Although they spend only one day behind the barbed wire, the officer candidates receive a first-hand idea of the sort of treatment they can expect if captured.

They experience the methods used to try to demoralize prisoners — weariness, hunger, continuous beating down of the will to resist, and even torture.

"Of course, they will be treated worse than this by the enemy," said Cleary. "But at least they get the idea."

This Eraser Detail Won't Be Erased

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The eraser-dusting assignment will remain in effect at Public School 84 because the Parent-Teacher Association decided $80 was too much to spend for an electric duster.

Principal Charles Delaporte said the PTA had considered erasing the dusting detail when first told the mechanical device would cost $37.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

MEXICO CITY — Well, today we should dedicate the whole column to Tacoma, Washington, since we have a good batch of mail from readers of the Tacoma News Tribune and they want to know all sorts of things.

So if the Chamber of Commerce up there will excuse the letters asking about retirement and trailer travel to Mexico, we will get under way.

I'm not positive but I think we should deal first with the fellow who asks, "Would like information on Mexico in regards to trailer courts and on divorce proceedings there. . ." What in the world do you suppose this gentleman has in mind?

First things first, there is no organized information on trailer courts and their locations but you will bump into them on most main highways here. My suggestion is to get in your trailer and fear no evil. Everywhere you drive, you see trailers. Sometimes whole caravans of anywhere from ten to a hundred strung out down the road. They just find likely spots by highways and spend the night with gas instead of electricity and everyone seems to make out fine. As to water, you might bring along a few bottles of halizone tablets to drop in your tank in case you have to load up in a village or from a stream. From the numbers of trailers I see constantly in all parts of the country, I would say you will have no serious problems.

About the divorce proceedings, they vary from state to state like up home. The best thing to do is come down and consult an attorney who can steer you to the quickest and safest place.

* * *

Can a couple live on $200 a month in Mexico?

You can but it would be rough going in the city. Best thing is to nose around some small places like Chapala or Ajijic (near Guadalajara on Lake Chapala) and look for the bargains. Provincial living is good and far cheaper than city life. Rents for a two bedroom house can't be nailed down because houses vary and so do the various parts of the country. You may find one in a small place for as little as $50 a month, that would suit you fine. Possibly even cheaper. Food bills depend largely on what you eat. Vegetables and inexpensive meat cuts shouldn't run a couple more than $15 a week in a small town. And gasoline. Mexico is now putting out 100 octane gas (started the first of the year) which runs you approximately 38 cents per gallon and is good gas. For economy living, I'd suggest sticking to small towns in warm sections of the country.

* * *

Places to visit and things to do on a ten day visit to Mexico.

In Mexico City you have Chapultepec Castle, the National University, several museums and a host of markets that are worth seeing. For side trips you can run out to the Pyramids of Teotihuacan, visit the Toluca market on Fridays or drive down to Cuernavaca and Taxco. Travel agencies here offer city sight seeing tours that cover about everything and are inexpensive. Worth taking if you haven't seen the sights.

* * *

Can a U.S. citizen buy land in Mexico?

Yes sir. There is a procedure and the best thing is to check with a law firm to get all the details of how and where. We reportedly have about 100,000 Americans living all over Mexico and most of them own property.

(Questions on Mexico? Write John Abney, Damas 106, Mexico City 19, Mexico.)

Ambitious Plans Replace Dallas-Fort Worth Rivalry

Editor's Note: Few intercity rivalries in America could equal the fussing and feuding of Fort Worth and Dallas. Now in a complete about-face and in an experiment that may be of nationwide significance, the two cities and many more in North Texas are launching a Council of Governments to blueprint their growth as a region and not as competing cities and towns.

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The fast crumbling Dallas-Fort Worth battle line — one of Texas' most rugged frontiers — is being replaced by an ambitious plan that would bury the civic and economic tomahawks and have the two cities working as a team for regional development.

Back of the plan is the new North Central Texas Council of Governments, a confederation of city and county governments and school districts in a 10-county area with a population of more than 2 million.

Headquarters for the new organization that has brought the longtime foes together at the conference table is Arlington, 10 miles east of Fort Worth and 20 miles west of Dallas. Thus it is in neutral territory.

The council emphasized its regional image and avoided showing any preference between Dallas and Fort Worth by electing as its president Arlington Mayor, Tom Vandergriff, a longtime advocate of inter-city cooperation.

The slate of officers was nicely balanced by electing Fort Worth Mayor Willard Barr as vice president and Dallas City Councilman W. H. Roberts as secretary-treasurer.

The board is composed of a director for each governmental unit joining the council. There are now 60 directors. The council hopes for double that number.

"We believe the formation of the council marks the beginning of an exciting new era," says Vandergriff. "By recognizing that we are no longer isolated communities, that we are interdependent, and that cooperation will be of mutual benefit, we gain a new perspective."

"There are many problems that can no longer be solved by the individual communities—they must be solved on a regional basis," he says.

"Water supplies, waste disposal, river and air pollution, transportation, education, recreation, health and welfare and land use are among the top-priority problems he lists.

Vandergriff points out that the council has no governmental power. Its first project is to create a commission to study the region, blueprint the solution of problems, and project the area's growth and development.

The commission is also expected to draft recommendations for legislation that would give the appropriate governmental agencies authority to implement the long-range plans.

Ever since the mid-1800s when Fort Worth was a frontier military post and Dallas was founded by a small colony of artists, musicians and artisans who prided themselves on culture, the two cities have been fierce rivals.

Unable to agree on a joint airport, each developed multi-million dollar airports just 11 miles apart. Airliners to both cities spent more time taxiing, taking off and landing than they did in the air on Fort Worth-Dallas flights.

Finally the Civil Aeronautics Board delivered an ultimatum. It would give recognition to only one regional airport for North Texas. So then the two cities got together and agreed last year on a site for a common airport.

"In all honesty, it would have been very difficult to have started the North Texas Council of governments if Dallas and Fort Worth had not solved the airport controversy," Vandergriff says.

The settlement of the airport war was the first big breakthrough in the old feud. It was followed by North Texas cities getting together to present a joint application for the giant atomic reactor to be built by the federal government.

"Even if we don't get the reactor, it was a good demonstration of inter-city cooperation and of thinking in terms of a region rather than an individual city," Vadergriff says.

Vandergriff divides his time between his auto agency, Arlington city affairs and work on the new council. He points out that Fort Worth and Dallas have cooperated in helping develop Arlington State College and that colleges and universities in the triangle bounded by Dallas, Fort Worth and Denton are working in unison.

A teletype circuit connects their libraries and the schools are participating in joint graduate programs in conjunction with the Graduate Research Center of the Southwest.

Vandergriff also likes to stress that the need for regional approach to problems is emphasized by the disappearance of the countryside.

"Cities are now living back-to-back," he said.

For a large segment of the population the day is past when they lived and worked in the same town; they are now commuters, living in the suburbs and working in the metropolitan areas. Their interests and their welfare are no longer confined to just one city, Vandergriff says.

So far, the North Texas Council of Governments has no imposing edifice to use as a symbol of unity, but Vandergriff points to a recently completed structure—a sparkling baseball park just outside Arlington as a major step toward unified action.

For years Fort Worth and Dallas were bitter rivals in the Texas Baseball League. Now on Arlington's new stadium hangs a sign: "Home of the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs."

Vandergriff says that is a harbinger of even greater unity in the future.

READ THESE FACTS ABOUT MEDICARE!

There are two parts to Medicare; note details carefully in Column 1 below. Part "A" provides mainly hospital services (beginning July 1, 1966) and nursing home services (beginning January 1, 1967); and some home health calls (visiting nurse, physical therapist, etc.) are available following a hospital illness. Part "A" provides nothing for doctor bills.

Part "A" is automatic for those now receiving Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits. Others must apply to Social Security, giving proof of age.

Part "B" is mainly to help pay doctor bills and other medical services. To qualify for this, everyone must enroll at his or her nearest Social Security office. The cost is $3 per month; Social Security will instruct you how to pay. The deadline is March 31st for those now 65.

Caution: unless you are enrolled under both parts of Medicare, you will of course have to provide those benefits yourself, since Senior Texan Companion Service begins where Medicare leaves off. It is plainly to your advantage to enroll for Medicare, both Parts "A" and "B."
