A Little Bit Of Hart Found In Hong Kong

A bale of Hart grown cotton which found its way to Hong Kong has helped provide a bit of human interest fascinating enough for Ripley's Believe It Or Not.

Some four or five years ago Lynn Myers, who now lives in Lubbock, worked during the ginning season at Hart of the Plains Gin. During this time, he lost his billfold. Last week a letter arrived here with a return address which read, "U.S. Consulate, Hong Kong."

Lynn's father, Aubrey, opened the letter in order to see if it contained some message he should get to his son immediately. It contained a letter from a Chinese man who discovered Lynn's driver's license and 10 billfold pictures inside a bale of cotton at a manufacturing plant where he worked.

Myers says the letter was written in polite fashion of the Chinese people. "He wrote that he didn't want to bother anyone but that he felt that the young man would like to have his driver's license and photographs."

The letter was written by the finder's son and sent with the license and pictures to the U.S. Consulate where it was then sent on to Hart.

Myers said the letter did not say what sort of manufacturing plant it was where the Chinese man worked. He plans to write a letter to the man expressing his appreciation for his thoughtfulness and perhaps enclose a snapshot of the gin and a picture of a West Texas cotton field.

BANQUET HONORS - Outstanding athletes were honored last week at the annual banquet. Left to right, Daniel Higgins and Ricky Rowland, co-recipients of the Fighting Heart Award. Mrs. Douglas Carruth of Riverton, Wy. was "back home" last week. Growing up here, Mrs. Carruth is a 1963 graduate of Hart High School.

Visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Futrell, Carol was accompanied by her sons, Douglas "Chip", eight years old, and Jeffrey, five.

Carol and Douglas were married in February of 1967, a month after she earned her degree from Wayland Baptist College. Their first home was in Pueblo, Colo. and later in Colorado Springs. Five years ago, they were transferred to Riverton. Douglas is a salesman for mobile homes.

Douglas grew up in Plainview. His parents have since moved to Wyoming.

Carol's hobbies are tole painting, crewel embroidery and reading. She enjoys jogging. Playing piano and organ are two of her greatest joys. She has been playing piano since her third grade in school.

The Carruths are Baptists.

FRESH STRAWBERRY PIE

FILLING
1 qt washed and hulled strawberries
1 c water
1 c sugar
Pinch of salt
2 T Karo syrup (light)
1 T cornstarch
1 box strawberry Jello (3 oz size)

Combine water, sugar, salt, syrup and cornstarch in saucepan and cook until clear and thickened. Add strawberry Jello and set aside to cool. When cooled, add strawberries to this mixture and pour into a prepared crust and refrigerate until set. Cut in squares and top with Cool Whip or some kind of whipped topping.

CRUST

In a 9" square dish, combine the following:
1½ c flour
⅓ c vegetable oil
2 T sugar
3 T milk

Mix with a fork and then press to the bottom and up the sides of the pan. Bake at 400° until lightly browned.

CHOCOLATE-CARAMEL-PECAN SQUARES

1 can Crescent rolls
⅔ c butter or margarine
⅔ c brown sugar, packed
½ to 1 c nuts
1 c semi-sweet chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 375°. Open out the canned cresent rolls into a large rectangle. Place in the bottom of a 9 x 13 pan. Press the perforation together, sealing all openings.

Melt butter in a saucepan and add the brown sugar. Boil about 1 min. Pour this over the roll dough that is pressed in the pan. Sprinkle the nuts over this and bake at 375° for 14-18 min until golden brown.

Remove from oven and sprinkle the chocolate chips over it. Allow the chips to soften and melt a little, then run a knife over the chocolate, spreading a little. Leave some chocolate chips whole, spreading some others for a marble effect. Let cool, cut into squares to serve.

TRUE STORY: Mom Was Queen For A Day!

But This Week, She's Just . . .

—that gal around the house that picks up after Dad and the children; finds the socks, shoes and belts for all the family; cleans up the house; cooks the meals and washes the dishes..

But it doesn't hurt Mother's feelings just because you treat her like a queen once each year (on Mother's Day). She still loves you . . .

But you can make Mother mighty happy, make her feel like a queen each day during the coming years. Just open a checking account in her name and deposit a certain amount in it each pay day to cover grocery bills, the rent or house payments, and a little extra for her. It'll not only make her feel like a queen, but you'll find it solves a lot of your own personal financial problems, too.

Farmers State Bank

WE once knew a rising young businessman who gave his wife a wonderful Mother's Day present: breakfast in bed and the firm fatherly care of the youngsters all day.

We once knew a little girl who determined she'd give her mommy a scrumptious gift; she learned a poem!

Then there were the three married daughters who arrived at Mother's bright and early on Her Day and cleaned the house from top to bottom. One of them even darned grandpop's socks!

A busy executive found he wasn't too busy to write his mother a ten-page letter telling her everything he'd been doing.

A teen-age youngster swept out the garage, cut the grass, put up the screens and finished in a blaze of glory by making his own room ship-shape.

Another family took Mother on a picnic, and for once they let her pick out the spot at which she wanted to stop.

John flew home for a visit. Mary called from California. And these were the best presents ever!

Local Ladies & Lad Attend Prayer Day

Three local women and one third grade lad were part of the crowd of more than 10,000 persons who observed "America Under God," a National Prayer Day, May 1 in Washington, D.C.

Mmes. L.C.McLain, Tom McLain, Jerry Kittrell and John Daryl McLain with Mrs. Eddie Hooper of Nazareth joined 10 persons from Lubbock for the flight to the nation's capitol. Coordinator for the group was Mrs. Don Workman of Lubbock.

People of every faith from every state in the union gathered at the foot of the Washington Monument May 1 and then proceeded, 12 abreast, to walk down Constitution Avenue to the White House. When the first group arrived at the capitol building, the last ones were leaving the Monument site one mile away.

"The flow of traffic was backed up but there was no horn honking, no impatience," says Mrs. Laurence McLain. "You would expect some impatience from busy people but it was quite and impressive."

Some persons in the Agriculture Department took their lunch hour by joining in the parade. The assemblage remained at the Capitol steps some two to two and a half hours reading scriptures, uttering silent and vocal prayers and singing patriotic and religious songs.

"The Marine Band played patriotic songs. One spokesman said if the band should suddenly break into Hail to the Chief, we'd know the President had arrived," Mrs. McLain says.

"No personality's name was ever called, that way it was God who got the glory. Two Senators, one Senator Dornan of California, met with the group during the afternoon. Dornan is known for his Americanism, he has spoken out."

That evening the group gathered at the Lincoln Memorial for an hour of prayer and singing and a candlelight service which the local women found very impressive. In less than five minutes, more than 10,000 candles were lighted.

"It was really an inspiring sight," says Mrs. McLain. "It was the perfect culmination of a wonderful day. One felt God is still in His heaven and surely there's a reverse to things, that people are beginning to wake up and accept the fact that there is wrong in our Nation and to do something about it."

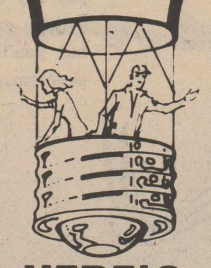

John Daryl was given a notebook for the trip by his mother who suggested he write down what he saw and heard. Exerpts from John's journal will be printed in next week's Hart Beat.

The Monday through Thursday visited in Washington was also crammed with much sight seeing including Christ Church, Smithsonian Institute, and an impressive visit to Arlington Cemetery.

"The ceremony at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier brought tears to my eyes," recalls Mrs. L.C. McLain.

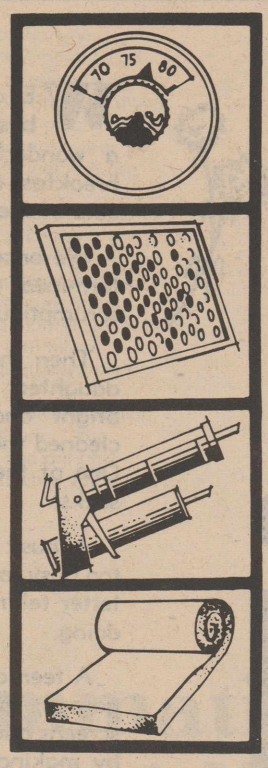

"I cried when I looked at the White House all a-light at night. We hear how we're headed for One-World Government - I looked at the White House and thought, 'I can't stand it'," said Mrs. Tom McLain.
