FORMER WICHITANS JAILED FOR TORCH MURDER

Salvation Army Resumes Community Chest Membership On Eve Of Campaign

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Talker is glad to see the interest shown by Wichita Falls in the Wichita county fair which opens at Iowa Park today. The purpose of the fair is to encourage agricultural advancement and certainly Wichita Falls is deeply interested in that, and it is a neighborly thing for Wichita Falls to cooperate with Iowa Park and the other towns of the county in such an enterprise.

Wichita Falls attempted a regional fair several years ago on a much larger scale than the Wichita county fair at Iowa Park. The Wichita Falls fair failed to find the support its scale made necessary and it was discontinued. Very wisely, it seems to this talker, the scope of the Wichita county fair has been limited and over-expansion is being guarded against.

Iowa Park very rightfully claims to hold open a gate to the irrigated valley. Many of the exhibits at the Wichita county fair will come from that valley. When much of the surrounding territory has been dried brown it will be interesting to see some of the best of the products that have been grown under irrigation.

Talker hopes that solicitors for the community chest will be met when they start their canvass this morning in the spirit in which they are going out to raise the $65,995 for the 12 months' work of the chest. For weeks a board has been at work making up the budget of the various organizations included in the chest and the organization for the campaign has taken other weeks of time and many meetings. All connected with the chest have given freely of their time and effort and it can also be said that every solicitor who goes out this morning or any other time has given a subscription himself or herself that is as large or larger than the average.

Provision for the community chest must be made. It's a necessity that cannot be avoided. Every citizen of Wichita Falls must do his part.

When school children have to be kept indoors to protect them from attacks of dogs which roam school grounds its time something was being done about it. The wonder of it is that we don't have more reports of children being attacked by dogs judging from the number of police, bull and dogs of other breeds which roam the streets and trespass upon private property seemingly without let or hindrance.

Wichita Falls needs a number of good dog catchers but more than that it needs a better sense of responsibility on the part of the owners of dogs.

Talker isn't a dog hater but when its a question of the dogs or children using the streets and playgrounds he's for the children.

It seems to Talker that if there ever was a time when patrolmen were needed on the highways it is now, for this is the season when cotton pickers are traveling the highways and endangering their own lives and the lives of others with their worn out cars. A good many of them fail to realize that the highways are a dangerous place—dangerous not only to themselves but others—for the repair of broken down cars or punctured tires. And especially do they make night traveling dangerous at this season of the year. A patrol could not eliminate this danger entirely but it could help a lot and prevent at least some of the accident reports which this newspaper is likely to print within the next 30 days.

J. R. Ogle mails Talker a copy of "The Chaser," publication of the Texas state tubercular sanatorium, showing a picture of the children's hospital to be opened at that institution on Oct. 1. The children's hospital cost $250,000 and will have 161 beds. In it will be treated children suffering from childhood type of tuberculosis.

The new hospital will make more complete one of the best tubercular sanatoriums in the country. The sanatorium is maintained by the state of Texas which now has an investment of $1,700,000 in the institution.

This sanatorium does not often get into the news but it has restored to health and usefulness hundreds and even thousands of men and women and children who would otherwise have succumbed. It is pleasing to know that the state of Texas has provided so well for this humanitarian enterprise.

200 WORKERS OPEN ANNUAL DRIVE TODAY

Harmony Restored to Chest Groups at Meeting Here Wednesday

BUDGET ACCEPTED

'Early Bird' Breakfast For Sales Force to Launch Welfare Plea

Complete harmony which has prevailed among all charitable and character-building organizations here in 10 years of community chest history will support the 1930 drive which begins Thursday morning, following a good-will meeting between the budget committee of the chest and officials of the Salvation Army Wednesday afternoon in which all administrative differences were amicably dispelled.

Brought about through the efforts of former members of the local Salvation Army advisory committee, the meeting held Wednesday afternoon in the office of John F. O'Donohoe, community chest president, brought together Col. David Mains of Dallas, state commander of the Salvation Army, Ensign A. Schultz, in charge of the citadel here, and members of the budget committee. At its conclusion, the Salvation Army was restored to the list of local organizations who will receive their donations from this community through the offices of the community chest.

Budget Retained

Allotment of funds for the ensuing year upon which the agreement was reached is that proposed by the budget committee of the community chest in its final recommendations about two weeks ago. By its provisions, the Salvation Army will receive from the chest $8,295. In addition to this amount, the organization expects to receive about $1,705 from citizens of this community through special donations at various times in the year, according to its own stated budget. The two amounts total $10,000, the sum estimated by the Salvation Army in recent statements as covering the work outlined for the coming 12 months.

Extreme satisfaction was voiced by both parties to the conference Wednesday afternoon at the harmonious culmination of a slight misunderstanding which occurred several days ago, and which occasioned the announcement from Salvation Army state headquarters at Dallas that the Wichita Falls citadel had withdrawn from the community chest here, and would stage its own campaign for $10,000.

"We are pleased beyond expression to have these little differences ironed out," declared Albert E. Kelly, vice chairman of the budget committee who presided in the absence of Chairman Walter D. Cline. "We have always pulled together here in Wichita Falls, and have always felt that the very greatest good could be done for the community by all these organizations working together. We appreciate

Slain Rail President To Be Buried Today

BALTIMORE, Sept. 24. (AP)—Official investigations at an end, the body of Maxwell C. Byers, president of the Western Maryland railway, slain yesterday in his locked office by Dudley G. Gray, the traffic vice president, who then took his own life, was borne on a special train tonight to his old home at Point Pleasant, W. Va. There the funeral will be held tomorrow.

Gray's body was scheduled to leave in a private car for Columbus, Ohio, where his funeral will be held Friday morning.

Testimony Completed In Steel Company Suit

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 24. (US)—Testimony in the suit of Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, to block the Youngstown Sheet & Tube-Bethlehem Steel corporation merger was completed today.

Dry League Reverses Wet Edict

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 24. (AP)—The Anti-Saloon league tonight presented an unyielding front to the wet forces of the Republican party in the face of predictions from wet leaders that they were confident of an ample majority of votes to be used in the Republican state convention opening here tomorrow.

Fred A. Victor, state superintendent of the anti-saloon league, declared tonight the supporters of prohibition would withhold support from any candidate running on a platform calling for repeal of the 18th amendment.

Mr. Victor's statement apparently was the opposite of what he had said 24 hours earlier. Yesterday he had announced that United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, who has advocated repeal of the 18th amendment, deserved the "enthusiastic support of all right minded citizens," if he would "respect, obey enforce and defend the constitution." This had been taken to mean that the anti-saloon league would support Mr. Tuttle if he pledged himself to enforce the dry law while it was on the statute books.

Former United States Senator James W. Wadsworth asserted he was assured of support for the wet cause.

RITES TODAY FOR PIONEER

Four Pastors to Pay Tribute To J. A. Deaton

In tribute to one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Wichita Falls, four ministers of the Methodist church will participate in the funeral services for J. A. Deaton, 77, who died at his home, 1611 Eleventh street, early Wednesday morning.

Services will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the First Methodist church, with Dr. S. A. Barnes of Dallas, Dr. S. S. McKenney, Dr. Claude M. Simpson and the Rev. John Daniel Barron, officiating. The Merkle Undertaking company is in charge of arrangements. Burial will be in Riverside.

Mr. Deaton, who had been ill for several months before his death, celebrated his 77th birthday May 11. With their children and grandchildren, a month later, Mr. and Mrs. Deaton celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Deaton, a native of Virginia, came to Texas in 1879, settling south of Dallas, and came to Wichita county in December, 1889, living in the Allendale community. In 1900 he came to Wichita Falls to make his home and since that time had been actively engaged in the business life of the city. He was a member of the firm of Deaton

Record News Correspondent

IOWA PARK, Texas, Sept. 24.—Waving pennants, bunting, flags, and rodeo banners announce the readiness of Iowa Park for the Wichita County Fair.

The third annual fair will open Thursday at 10 o'clock with a parade which will form on Cash street opposite the W. F. George High school building, and proceed from the school through the business district to the fair grounds. Fair officials, school children, mayors of Wichita Falls, Electra, Burkburnett and Iowa Park, rodeo performers, decorated floats, and private decorated cars will participate in the parade, which will be led by the Triangle band.

C.-C. GIVES $250 TO FAIR FUND

As its contribution to making the Wichita County fair possible, the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce Wednesday mailed its check for $250 to fair officials at Iowa Park, according to John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce here.

Numerous improvements have been made this year, among which is a broadened driveway extending from Cash street, a free parking space, to the left as the fair ground is entered, where cars may be left in systematic order under the care of competent persons. This space was cleared by the combined efforts of the four county commissioners and greatly facilitates the movement of the crowds.

Farm Exhibits

The agricultural exhibits are under a large tent at the entrance. Both dry land and irrigated products are grouped for display, and Will Heisermann, superintendent of this department, states that a great surprise awaits those who are interested in these exhibits. The drouth has cut some products short but a creditable showing, of which Wichita county may be proud, has been made.

Alongside the agricultural tent is placed a 20-foot mortar trench cannon, and an airplane.

The educatinoal building has been enlarged by a large addition. This space will accommodate schools which were almost crowded out last year. In a recent visit to rural schools, made by Dr. Gordon Clark, president of the Iowa Park Cham-

Dent, 40, El Paso, business man, won the title and a $20 gold piece as a prize in a contest with 31 others at a cafe in Juarez, Mexico, just across the border, the other day, by gulping a half gallon of beer in 22 3-5 seconds. P. B. Bradley, El Paso, was second, his time being 38 4-5 seconds, and won a $10 hat, while Mrs. May Armstrong, only woman contestant, was leading, but was disqualified by the judges for spilling beer. Here you see the start of the race, Dent being on the left and Bradley on the right with Mrs. Dent, his "trainer," between them. Above at the right, Dent is shown in action and, below, at the finish—got his own, but that of the race.

SOVIET UNION EXECUTES 48

Counter-Revolutionists Die For Destroying Food

MOSCOW, Sept. 24. (AP)—All members of a secret counter-revolutionary society, numbering 48, who were found guilty of seeking to starve the population of the Soviet union by destroying the food reserves of the country, were shot today by the ogpu as "unreconciliable enemies of the Soviet government and active counter-revolutionists."

Professor Alexander Ryazantsev and Eugene Karatyguin headed the list of executed government officials as the initiators and organizers of the society.

On Sept. 22 the Soviet government announced the disclosure of a powerful counter-revolutionary society embracing organizations of the meat, fish, vegetable and other food industries as well as the commissariat of trade and state planning institutions.

The ogpu (secret police) charged the society with striving to create a food panic throughout the country, thus exciting the resentment of the population and preparing the ground for overthrow of the proletarian dictatorship. The authorities said it was the purpose to establish a Bourgeois democracy.

The society was stated to be headed by Prof. Alexander Ryazantsev, chairman of the meats products department of the commissariat, formerly a rich landowner and a general in the czarist army. The society included high officials in all branches of the Soviet food producing and distributing institutions. Most of the members were former noblemen, czarist officers, manufacturers and property owners.

Wild Shots Of Eccentric Widow In Court May Cost U. S. Commissioner's Life

ENID, Okla., Sept. 24. (AP)—Angered by an unfavorable court decision Mrs. Dolly Douthitt, capricious 60-year-old widow, probably fatally wounded H. Z. Wedgwood, United States commissioner, and fired a wild shot at District Judge Arthur Sutton of Alva, today in the Garfield county district courtroom here.

Mrs. Douthitt, acquitted 26 years ago of the murder of her husband, W. T. Douthitt, snatched a revolver from her clothing just after Judge Sutton had announced a decision in favor of Wedgwood, whom she had accused in a lawsuit of "persecuting" her and fired.

Shot Misses Judge

The first bullet struck the commissioner, wounding him in the abdomen. The next missed the presiding judge, Roy Elam, young attorney, overpowered and disarmed the woman, with the help of court attaches, as she attempted to shoot him.

The courthouse was thrown into an uproar. About 30 persons were in the courtroom and panic prevailed there. In other parts of the building, the shots were heard and it was believed prisoners in the county jail atop the building were attempting to escape.

Mrs. Douthitt was placed in jail and the filing of charges awaited the outcome of Wedgwood's injuries.

Police Still Doubting Child Slaying 'Confession'

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 24. (AP)—Police today indicated they were less skeptical of the confession of the killing of 8-year-old Marverine Appel, said to have been given early Tuesday by George Myers, a former convict.

Since making the confession Myers is reported to have repudiated it and to have declared that he was forced to make it by threats of being turned over to a mob.

"I don't know what to say," Chief of Police S. J. Lenon, said when asked about the confession after returning from the prison. "Still I am not convinced that Myers is the killer. He says one thing one minute and another the next."

HUGH BUTLER AND H. STANLEY TO FACE TRIAL

Suspects in Hawthorne Killing Figured In Cases Here

STATEMENT GIVEN

Former Manager of Chain Store Gives Details Of Slaying

Two former Wichita Falls men, both of whom figured here in court proceedings last year, are in custody of Texas officers in connection with the torch murder of Roy Hawthorne of Fort Worth on July 26.

Herbert A. (Hub) Stanley, a principal in an alleged shooting at a house on Taylor street last year, was returned Wednesday to Fort Worth from Van Buren, Ark., to face a murder charge, and Hugh D. Butler, tried here for burglary and theft of Silver's store also indicted in the torch slaying, is detained in Van Buren in connection with a bank robbery there with which the two were also charged.

Butler Acquitted Here

Butler, acquitted here in 1929 on the two charges against him, is said to have made a statement to Fort Worth officers denying participation in the crime, but admitting that he was a witness to the killing and giving the details. At the time of Hawthorne's death, Butler was on a furlough from the state penitentiary.

Stanley, in the Tarrant county jail at Fort Worth, Wednesday night also made a statement to officers recounting the details of the torch slaying, but denying striking the blow which caused Hawthorne's death, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Joins Others

Assistant District Attorney Walter Morris of Fort Worth obtained the statement which he said was signed by Butler.

The statement said he (Butler) was in Fort Worth on the afternoon of July 26, having arrived from Amarillo that morning. He said he went to the Lee avenue address where several men were drinking beer and eating. He joined them, the statement read, then left the room to play the radio and went upstairs to sleep.

Butler said he didn't know how long he slept but was awakened by a commotion downstairs, and going to the foot of the staircase, he looked down the hall and saw several men scuffling. He said he saw one of the men strike another, who later proved to be Hawthorne.

A third man cried, "Don't do that," said the statement, and the first said, "He's the man who railroaded my old man." Then both began slugging Hawthorne with pistols, the statement said, while one said repeatedly: "Now you know you're going to die," and the victim cried out several times.

Machine Gun Used

A fourth man was in the room, said Butler's statement, and when Hawthorne fell the three dragged his body into the bathroom and closed the door. One man came out, got a machine gun and returned to the bathroom and another produced a shotgun, Butler stated, and added that he (Butler) got some blood on his socks when he attempted to pull one of the men away from Hawthorne. Later, he said, one of the men picked up a green beer bottle and went into the bathroom. Butler told the officers he heard several blows and then breaking glass. The three men went into the bathroom several times after that, he stated. Finally one brought a sheet and some clothing and blankets, the body was

German Fascist on Trial For Treason May Tell Court Views

LEIPSIC, Germany, Sept. 24. (AP)—Adolph Hitler, head of the German National Socialist (Fascist) party, may get an opportunity tomorrow to express his views and plans regarding Germany's political condition before the court which is trying three Reichswehr lieutenants on charges of high treason in connection with Fascist activities.

Today's session in the trial of Lieutenants Richard Scheringer, Hans Ludien and Hans Friedrich Wendt proceeded quietly. There was an exciting interlude, however. Captain von Pfeffer, a Fascist, who had been summoned as a witness, failed to appear when his name was called in court. He later was brought in forcibly under police escort.

Another witness, Captain Wagner described himself as "chief of staff of the Fascist storm troops." The three lieutenants were accused of having had dealings with him.

"The time now has come for us to take over the army," Captain Wagner asserted in court. "We have 107 members of parliament. When we get into power we shall lay down two conditions—namely, new elections for the Prussian diet and the taking over of the Reichswehr ministry by us." Several fellow officers of Scheringer described him and Ludien as rather muddle-headed idealists.

The Reichswehr ministry's order forbidding officers to have anything to do with subversive movements was produced in court. The three defendants admitted they knew the contents of the order.

Roosevelt Leaves Philippine Post Taken Under Fire for New Ministry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Nicholas Roosevelt, New York editorial writer, about whose head a storm of protest raged several months ago when he was named vice governor of the Philippines, resigned from that post today and was appointed by President Hoover as minister to Hungary.

He will succeed J. Butler Wright, former secretary of state, who is being transferred from Budapest to serve as minister to Uruguay. The post at Montevideo was left open by the resignation of Lelan D. Harrison announced today at the White House.

Roosevelt's resignation and new appointment came even before he had departed for his Philippine assignment.

His nomination as assistant to Governor General Davis was sent to the senate last July, a few days before the session closed. Immediately protests against confirmation flooded the senate territories committee. They came from Philippine independence leaders both in the islands and the United States and objected principally to Roosevelt's writings on the independence movement.

Chairman Bingham of the territories committee said hearings on the nomination would have been necessary and postponed efforts to obtain confirmation until the next session.

ber of Commerce, and W. R. Bradford, superintendent of Iowa Park schools, much interest was found, and it is expected that almost every school in the county will be represented in this exhibit.

Merchant Displays Beautiful

The merchant's exhibit hall presents a scene of beautifully decorated booths and a well furnished rest room. Every available space was rented and firms from Wichita Falls and other cities are represented, among which are several manufacturing firms.

The woman's building, with a 20 by 30 foot extension is filled with interesting exhibits. This department includes the antiques, aged ladies' work, juvenile exhibits, art, domestic science, cut and pot flowers, and the butter and cheese displays under the supervision of Miss Ethel Louise Webb, county demonstration ogent. Also, entries by the 4-H clubs of the county, under the care of Miss Webb, are on display.

Livestock Entered

An interesting feature of the livestock exhibit is a carload of fat cows raised by Tom L. Burnett on his Triangle ranch near Iowa Park. Mr. Burnett also entered a handsome sorrel Arabian stallion. The new livestock building, 60 by 200 feet, contains 150 registered cows. Most of these are Jerseys, however, three herds of Gurneseys were entered by Wichita Falls owners. W. J. Ridgeway of Fort Worth, formerly head of A. & M. college will judge the cattle. In judging, he will explain to owners the good and the weak points and will state why he made awards. It is thought that this information will rank high among other educational features of the fair.

Rabbit Department

Frank Wolf of Wichita Falls, has charge of the rabbit department. Many more entries are listed than formerly. Every standard breed is eligible. New Zealand reds and whites, Chinchillas, Flemish giants are among the exhibits. Prizes, on a percentage basis, are offered, also several specials. Fine individuals are for sale at reasonable prices and Mr. Wolf states that no better time to increase one's stock can be found than at this exhibit. Judging in this department will start at 1 p. m. Thursday and the standard for the American Rabbit and Cavey Breeding association will be the requirements.

W. R. Davis, of Iowa Park, superintendent of the sheep entries, states that 40 head are on exhibit, including Oxford Down, Hampshire Rambolett. This is a considerable increase over the exhibits in this department last year, and cash prizes and ribbons are offered for the three best entries in each class.

Baby Clinic

Winners of loving cups awarded to babies selected at the baby clinic Friday will be announced from the bandstand Friday afternoon. These cups will be received by the most perfect baby in the classes from birth to six months, six months to one year, and one to two years. Physical beauty will not be considered. Head, chest, abdominal measurements and good health will be the criterion. Dr. Wallis Masters of Wichita Falls, assisted by Mrs. Claude Reaves, superintendent of this department, will conduct the examinations. Rest rooms are arranged for mothers, and registration will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning and continue until noon.

Band concerts Friday and Saturday, rodeo performances daily, from 2:30 in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock at night, an old fiddlers and harmonica contest Thursday, and carnival attractions by the T. J. Tidwell shows offer varied amusements.

Used Car Purchaser Files Suit Against Company

Efforts to divorce himself from a used car purchased recently occasioned the filing of a suit in district court here Wednesday by A. B. Tarr against a local automobile company.

In his petition, the plaintiff alleges misrepresentation of the condition of the car which he purchased through manipulation of the speedometer, and through "plugging" various parts of its machinery with heavy oil. He seeks the recovery of $475, charging fraud in the sale of the automobile.

war he has devoted a large part of his time to activities of former service men. As census supervisor for this district he chose nearly all of his personnel from the ranks of the veterans. He is commander of the Dallas post of the American Legion.

Colonel Talbot has been active in politics for many years. He was the first state director of organization for the Republican party and founded the state headquarters here. In 1924, he managed the campaign of Doctor Butte against Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the Democratic nominee for governor, in which Doctor Butte came closer to victory than any Republican candidate for governor in recent years.

For Coolidge

The Dallas man was credited with being one of the original Coolidge men in Texas in 1924 and one of the early leaders of the movement which gave the Texas Republican delegation to Herbert Hoover in 1928.

Doctor Butte, special assistant to the solicitor general at Washington, resigned because he said he thought he was not now the logical candidate. Members of the committee said the group today received a communication from Doctor Butte expressing his enthusiastic endorsement of Colonel Talbot's candidacy.

Republican leaders said the new nominee would be given "rather a free hand" in the selection of a campaign committee. The committee is expected to be named and the nomination formally made at another meeting of the executive committee here Saturday.

Salvation Army Returns To Organization

your coming up here so that the slight differences of opinion which arose recently might be erased completely in presenting a united front Thursday morning, when the drive begins."

Mains Pledges Support

"We have found here what we hoped to attain," said Colonel Mains. "Harmony, peace, and good will. What little friction appeared to exist between our organization here and the community chest during the past three years is entirely forgotten, so far as we are concerned. We shall do our part to carry out the will of your budget committee. Ensign Schultz, the local commander, will work in complete harmony with your purposes, and will do his best to make the money which you have allotted us do the greatest possible good in this city."

It was intimated by Colonel Mains that some slight inconvenience and difficulties had been occasioned during the past year for those in charge of the Salvation Army work by the fact that funds for the monthly bills were furnished at the end of the month, rather than at the beginning. Receipt of explanation of a situation here which made any other program impossible eliminated any possible contention over that matter, he declared.

Those present at Wednesday's meeting agreed that in case any emergency relief funds should be raised during the ensuing year for the benefit of the Salvation Army, as was done by officials of the community chest, no portion of such funds should be used in any other community other than Wichita Falls. A small part of the general budget for the year is used to make fixed contributions to state work of the organization.

Unable to attend the conference Wednesday, Walter D. Cline, chairman of the budget committee, expressed his satisfaction at having all agencies for charitable relief in the city again united under one organization.

Solicitation Today

"We are all working to one end, each of us trying to accomplish that object in the way that seemed best to him, and we just needed to get together to find out our ways are parallel," he said. "As in former years, the city is now united solidly on this drive, and a united citizenship here means that its projects go over the top. With the Salvation Army aligned with the chest as usual, we are in position to begin work Thursday morning."

After expressing his pleasure at the decision of the Salvation Army to continue as a member-organization in the community chest, Mr. O'Donohoe voiced his thanks to W. M. Priddy, J. H. Allison, and Wiley Robertson for their activity in bringing about the good will conference Wednesday, and the resulting harmony. Those present at the meeting were Mr. Kelly, Mr. O'Donohoe, Joe Art, Lester Jones, W. E. McBroom, Mrs. J. O. Bentley, executive secretary, Miss Maude Thomas, Colonel Mains, W. M. Priddy, and Ensign A. Schultz.

The community chest's total budget for the coming year, it was said, will be $69,600, and the Salvation Army will stage no separate campaign in this city.

Final instructions and admonitions to about 200 workers will be given by leaders of the annual campaign at an "early bird" breakfast to be held at the Wichita club at 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning, it was announced. Solicitation of pledges for the unsubscribed portion of the budget will begin immediately after this breakfast meeting.

Grain Board Buying Little Wheat for Feed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Samuel R. McKelvie, grain member of the farm board, said today the Grain Stabilization corporation was buying relatively small amounts of wheat to be sold later for livestock feed.

The purchases, he emphasized were not being made in any sense as a stabilization operation for the 1930 crop.

WIDOW SHOOTS COURT CHIEF

Burst of Firing Puts End To Legal Hearing

cuted Mrs. Douthitt for the slaying of her husband in 1904, said Douthitt was shot as he started out the door of his farm house to milk his cows. The Douthitt farm since has been engulfed by the growing city of Enid and Mrs. Douthitt has become a wealthy property owner. The farm house, made unhabitable by fire, was shunned by the young and superstitious as "haunted" until it was torn down about a year ago.

Mrs. Douthitt has engaged in numerous lawsuits and of late years has acted as her own attorney. She was sitting at the counsel table today.

Judge Sutton was especially assigned to hear seven cases in which she was a litigant because she charged the judges here were prejudiced. Judge O. C. Wybrant, one of the regular jurists, was a defendant in one of the suits.

"I am a volcano by temperament. They hounded me until there was an explosion" Mrs. Douthitt told an interviewer.

Lying on a cot in her jail cell she discussed the shooting calmly. She is a trim, neatly dressed woman, appearing younger than her three score years. She complained of a severe nervous headache.

"They tortured me into it; they hounded me into it," she said, referring to a group of men she has insisted are persecuting her. "For months they have been after my money. I have $35,000 or $40,000 they are trying to get.

"I don't know why I did it. I did not sleep at all last night. Yet they forced me into court this morning. I have had that gun for years and have it under my pillow every night.

"When everything went against me in court today, something inside of me snapped. It was the only way out. I don't know why I did it.

"I am not a criminal at heart. I am a Christian. I will not even kill a chicken; I always hire some one to do that.

"I don't feel like a criminal. I don't feel like I have committed any crime. I am positive I have not. They harassed me until it broke my health and they forced me into court when I was too sick to come.

"I am not through with them yet. I will get out warrants for them and fight them to the last ditch. Yet I don't know why I wanted to kill. I don't know why I did it."

PARIS, Sept. 24. (AP)—Emile Moreau, governor of the Bank of France has resigned.

Rumors that this was imminent were confirmed in official circles today where it was said that his successor has not yet been chosen.

One of the governor's first official acts, it was said in financial circles, would be to meet the governor of the Bank of England, and the governor of the German Reichsbank in New York, for the purpose of discussing with American financiers ways and means of remedying the present depression in world business.

Bolivia will hold its presidential election early in January.

U. S. LABOR FOR PROJECTS PLEA

Solon Asks Americans Be Used in Building

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—A recommendation that government construction contracts carry a stipulation that preference be given American citizens and former service men in employment of labor has been made to President Hoover by Representative Bacon, Republican, New York.

"It creates great social discontent," he wrote, "when ex-service men and other American citizens are willing to work and have that work refused them because aliens may be obtained at less than the prevailing scale of wages."

In a separate communication to Secretary Mellon, Bacon said he had heard of instances in the Middle West, Pennsylvania, and on Long Island where contractors recruited labor from remote points for work on postoffices and veterans hospitals, bringing it to "an already demoralized labor market and leaving the local labor supply in the rather sorry position of spectators."

"Even in the erection of a veterans' bureau hospital," he added, an ex-service man cannot today get a job if the contractor wills that cheap aliens should fill his rolls."

Bacon said the United States was faced with unemployment and the government had put in motion a vast building program to help relieve the situation, yet it had "permitted itself to become a partner in approving a policy as to labor on government works that it is countenanced by many of our states and by some foreign countries, of permitting the employment of aliens in preference to citizens."

George Russell in America to Urge 'Back to Farm' Move as Race Saver

Present Cotton Holding To Be Kept Over Season

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (INS)—The present holding of the Cotton Stabilization corporation, amounting to 1,300,000 bales, will be maintained throughout the present cotton season ending July 31, 1931, unless the price in the meantime advances to or above the purchase price, E. F. Creekmore, president and general manager of the corporation, said today in a statement issued through the federal farm board.

"If any part of these holdings is sold in order to meet special requirements of mills or for other sufficient reasons, the quantity thus sold will be replaced immediately by the purchase of an equal number of bales so that the total holdings will remain unchanged," Creekmore said.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 24.—Applications for seed wheat for about 150 farmers have been approved by the local relief committee and these applications have been forwarded to the farmers seed loan officer, Washington, D. C. From 25 to 75 bushels of wheat have been asked.

Quanah to Open Bids On School for Negroes

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Sept. 24.—The city school board will open bids Sept. 30 for the erection of the new school for negroes which is to be erected on a block of ground recently acquired from Tom Johnson in the northwest part of Quanah.

This building is to be a two-room frame structure, up to date in every respect.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (UP)—George Russell, tawny-bearded sage of Irish art and letters, has come to the United States, a nation where the trend is to the cities, to preach the importance of agriculture.

Russell, famed under his pen name, "Ae," will spend the next six months giving lectures in which he will advocate adherence to the soil.

His theory of agriculture concerns not so much statistics, production, consumption and such scientific terms used by "experts," but is more interested in the philosophical aspect.

"Open Air" Advocate

"After three and four generations in cities the population tends to deteriorate and there is a retrocession to animan functions alone," the philosopher said in his soft and beautiful Irish accent. "People who live in the open air get an original rude strength which is impossible in cities."

Russell will address rural groups in various parts of the country in the hope of keeping them away from cities and slums, "where the devil dwells in a dark room," to stay on their farms and provide strength needed by the race.

"Like Adam"

"Agricultural labor brings out the best in man, mentally and physically," the sage continued. "Not so long ago I saw a laborer in Ireland breaking stone along the roadside. He was like the figure of Adam in Michelangelo's Fresco in the Sistine chapel in Rome. A few days later I saw in Lancashire people with sunken cheeks and hollow eyes—nice people, but entirely out of the circle of natural living.

"We are a dying fire, you are a beginning. It is to the interest of a nation to preserve its agricultural life at or above 20 per cent. If you have a country 90 per cent urban and 10 per cent on the farms you are going to have trouble."

ISMET PASHA TO QUIT POST

Turkish Premier to Force New Alignment

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 24. (AP)—Ismet Pasha, President Kemal's iron-handed right-handed man, will resign the premiership tomorrow, at an extraordinary session of parliament.

Ismet thus will force Kemal to clarify his ambiguous position as the head of the Peoples party and at the same time the underground sponsor of a new opposition party led by the Liberal, Fethi Bey. Unless the expectation of political seers are greatly upset the president probably will re-appoint Ismet as premier and make some minor changes in the cabinet.

Creation of an opposition party in parliament is expected to be the outcome. It is Kemal's purpose to make possible free discussion of legislation in a parliament that heretofore has had only a single voice.

Newspapers which have been criticizing the government today published an attack on Premier Ismet, saying he drove hundreds of women workers from the Broussa silk factories to the polls yesterday and attempted to have them whipped into voting for the Peoples' party municipal candidates. It is reported the women shouted "We earn only 15 cents a day and your taxes gobble half of that! We won't vote!"

And it is authoritatively reported that the women did not vote, despite the attempts made to show them the glamor of their first opportunity to participate in an election.

Mr. Bellinger, who was graduated from the Military academy at West Point in 1918, is a New York lawyer.

Unspotted Sun Cause Of Drouth

MONTGOMERY CITY, Mo., Sept. 24. (INS)—Rapid decrease of sun spots in May and June today had been blamed for this summer's drouth.

Captain T. J. See, the well known astronomer who spent his boyhood days in this city but who has held a government astronomical post at Mare Island, Calif., for the past 26 years explained his sun spot theory here last night at a meeting under the auspices of the Montgomery Business Men's association.

"The cause of the drouth," See stated, "was the rapid decrease of the sun spots in the months of May and June which increased the heat radiated upon the earth to an appalling extent and forced the currents of cold air above us up to so great a height that for months no clouds could form except thin wispy cirrus at an elevation of nine miles. Thus for fully two months the larger part of the United States sweltered under a daily temperature of 100 degrees or higher and even now the drouth has not been entirely broken."

Captain See predicted another drouth to be expected about 1940.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

At a party Tuesday night, a little girl of about 4 made her appearance just in time to see a young man of approximately 7 "doing his stuff" in chinning a limb. She stood dumfounded. "Look at the little boy," she exclaimed admiringly.

The little boy went on nonchalantly showing his gymnastic prowess and the little girl went on admiring. Finally he condescended to get on his feet and, finding a board with a nice nail in, decided it would be a chivalric thing to do to play with her and began to chase her with the board.

The little girl called everyone "honey." She had wooingly addressed her dad, "Honey, give me a cigaret," and marking the nail in her ideal's board, she turned and called his attention to it, addressing him as "honey."

That finished it. With a "humph" of disgust, the boy went back to his solitary games and the small lady was left to languish.

We wondered Wednesday when we saw a permanent wave being given to a lassie aged about five, if this sophisticated blandishment would have helped snare the scornful youth. At any rate they are having it done more all the time. We know some half dozen who are less than eight years who are as particular about their permanents as their mothers. And we know one little girl whose lovely curls have every appearance of being natural, who wanted ice cream in a drug store and on being denied, asserted emphatically that if she didn't get ice cream, she'd tell all her mother's friends how she was carried to the beauty parlor every week to have her hair taken care of. She got the cream, and we suspect she got something else when she reached home.

If a permanent doesn't injure a child's hair, it's a blessing to a straight-haired youngster. And of course, it is an extra expense. But it's more of a blessing to the woman who has been afflicted with scolding locks. No hairpin was ever invented that would keep those loose straight hairs in place. The injustice of it is that they were called scolding locks when a woman had straight hair and when the hair was curly, they were merely added beauty.

Speaking of hairpins, we wonder where they go. Even in this day of "invisibles," they disappear. Hairpins and pins and needles are three of women's possessions that get lost in the house and are forever lost.

Men's pipes and collar buttons get lost, but women find them. What woman that hasn't gotten down on her hands and knees and chased an elusive collar button to its lair right next to the foot of a dresser? Catch a man looking for hairpins or needles—though to do men justice, we have known men to keep pins under their coat lapels.

With 133 members of the Parent-Teacher association attending the opening social meeting at the Benjamin Franklin school Wednesday, the school staff and officers felt that an auspicious year was begun. Intense interest was shown in the introductory talks and in the improvements in the school.

Mrs. M. T. Clements, the new president called the meeting to order with a greeting to the mothers and made an interesting short talk on "The Child in Our Midst."

In an original and clever manner, Miss Kate Burgess, principal, introduced the teachers for the year 1930-31, including Misses Erma Pearce, Norma Rollins, Elizabeth Keller, Eunice Eley, Elizabeth Latimer, Marjorie Patrick, Ray Rackley, Bettye Tribble, Lillie Karney, Laura Simer, Florence Cullin, Mesdames W. E. Young and Grace Pickens.

The new officers were introduced with a charming personal touch by the president, Mrs. Clements, as follows: Principal, Miss Kate Burgess; first vice president, Mrs. John Martin; second vice president; Mrs. Skeen Staley; third vice president, Mrs. C. C. Myers; secretary, Miss Irma Pearce; treasurer, Mrs. D. L. Hill; publicity chairman, Mrs. C. D. Whitley and parliamentarian, Mrs. A. W. Burnside. Delegates to the P.-T. A. council are Mesdames Frank Parsons and J. B. Stokes. Mrs. Clements also spoke of the new Ben Franklin yearbooks which were designed by Miss Bettye Tribble and, made by her and children of the fifth and sixth grades. The attractive books, carrying out the colors of Benjamin Franklin in blue and gold, were distributed to the members and a vote of thanks extended to the makers.

Sponsors Introduced

Mrs. Skeen Staley, membership chairman, introduced the sponsors as follows: Mesdames C. Buddress, W. R. McClendon, J. H. Milliken, W. L. Parker, B. S. Long, A. E. Kelly, Shudde, Roy Hammond, T. L. Burns, Marshall Perry, A. A. Spencer, McCullough and J. L. Foshee.

Additions to the school were inspected, including the small auditorium which will seat 200 comfortably, the new class rooms and the modern kitchen. The big stove, the electric mixer, the potato peeler all came in for their share of praise as they make it possible for the cafeteria staff to easily wait on the more than 150 pupils filing by the serving table each school day. It was announced that a five cent plate lunch will be served and the cafeteria staff, including Mesdames W. E. Fuller and J. E. Braddock will help children choose a balanced ration.

Large Attendance Registered

Following the pleasant social hour, punch and cake were served to Mesdames H. C. Jasper, C. C. Myers, J. F. Coffman, J. L. Fooshee, Skeen Staley, W. C. Martin, G. D. Anderson, F. A. Alamo Board Members Guests at Luncheon

Members of the executive board of Alamo school were entertained Wednesday at a lovely luncheon at the home of the P.-T. A. president, Mrs. C. A. Morris, on McGregor street. A bowl of autumn roses in the center of the Madeira covered table made a simple and lovely decoration.

During the delicious luncheon, plans to submit to the first regular session of Alamo P.-T. A. were discussed.

Guests present were Mesdames D. L. Fritz, H. S. Gray, Howard Renfro, Gerald Pond, C. H. Clark, J. C. Martin, the hostess, Mrs. Morris, and J. E. Parks, principal of Alamo.

Crust of Dandruff quickly dissolved!

It's so Easy! Make Scalp Healthy; Give Hair New Lustre and Vigor!

One after another a million men and women have made this discovery for themselves; that this simple method does dissolve the crust of dandruff, put the scalp back into the pink of condition; make the hair soft, lustrous, thick and vigorous.

Why experiment? The example of this great multitude of people points the way to the quick, sure way to be rid of dandruff and the many hair worries it causes!

Get a bottle of Danderine from your drug or toilet counter today. Put a little on your brush each time you dress your hair. Penetrating to the head, its soothing aid soon has an itching, feverish scalp cool, comfortable, healthy. The crust of dandruff simply melts away.

Dandruff is unsightly; and it is the proven cause of premature grayness; baldness; dry, brittle, dull hair. When the scalp is free from this irritating scurf, Danderine soon has the hair back in condition; soft, glossy, thick and abundant.

Start on Danderine today and end hair worries. A 35 cent bottle is enough to demonstrate its remarkable merit!—Adv.

Many Honors Paid Supreme Queen Daughters Of Nile

One of the most beautiful settings ever used at Maskat Temple was the oriental background when Mrs. Katherine Rintz, supreme queen of Daughters of the Nile was honoree at a lovely seated tea. Mrs. H. D. Wolff, chairman, with Mesdames E. J. Tschabold, Walter Hugh Caldwell and Ray Wilhite were the committee of arrangements who made the beautiful party possible. Oriental rugs, incense burners and colored candles added to the rich coloring and green, gold and white were flowers marking Daughters of the Nile colors frozen in the block of ice that made a punch bowl.

The receiving line with the supreme queen, was composed of the elective officers, Mrs. J. S. Pitman, queen; Mrs. C. C. Kirby, Princess Royal; Mrs H. D. Wolff, Princess Tirzah; Mrs. F. E. Shoop, Princess Badoura; Mrs. W. H. Ruggles, Princess Marshall; Mrs. H. O. Rupnow, Princess Banker; Mrs. V. E. Stampfli, Princess Chaplain.

Ushers were the five waiting ladies, Mesodames W. S. Parrish, W. V. Haney, L. W. Litchfield, O. N. Mann and L. D. Bartlett.

In the delightful program, Mrs. Earl Nutter with Miss Thelma Adams at the piano, sang "One Fine Day" from Madame Butterfly. Walter Nelson gave a welcome address to the supreme queen and she responded most graciously, expressing the principles and ideals of the Daughters of the Nile. Mrs. J. S. Pitman gave a Texas reading, "Laska," and Dr. O. T. Kimbrough gave a group of songs, accompanied by J. S. Pitman.

A plate of rolled sandwiches, carrying out the temple colors, mints and Nile green punch was served to more than 200 who called during the afternoon.

Other Honors for Supreme Queen

Mrs. L. E. Litchfield entertained Mrs. Rintz at a delightful four-course breakfast Wednesday morning and read as a compliment to the supreme queen, a lovely poem of her own composition. Favors were hand painted bluebonnet plaques shaped like the map of Texas. Mr. Rintz was the guest of Mrs. M. A. Rutis at luncheon at the Wichita club. Wednesday night reserved seats were held at the Majestic theater, where Daughters of the Nile entertained in her honor at a picture show party. A song of welcome was sung and flashed on the screen honoring the supreme queen.

Cheap coffees are pouring into America, but you needn't care

... for you can buy MAXWELL HOUSE at the LOWEST PRICE* in YEARS

A PRODUCT OF GENERAL FOODS CORPORATION

THE coffee plantations of South America have suffered from over-production; the coffee crop has backed up until prices broke.

Now, coffees of all grades are at the lowest prices in years, and new low-priced brands, strange to you, are crowding onto the market.

You have no way of recognizing these coffees—until the sorry moment when you taste them.

They appear to the eye much the same as any fine blended coffee, and their prices are temptingly low.

But they dismally lack that rich mellowness of flavor, that honey-like smoothness, that cordial and satisfying authority, which have made fine coffee—Maxwell House Coffee—America's favorite brew.

Now of all times you will find it wise to insist upon Maxwell House.

It will enable you to avoid coffee disappointment—and it has never been so good as now.

It is waiting for you in the friendly blue tin at your grocer's, and because of the general coffee situation, priced at the lowest point in years.

Both purse and palate recommend Maxwell House now more than ever before.

"GOOD to the LAST DROP"

Since July 1, 1929, Maxwell House Coffee has been reduced 11¢ a pound to the wholesale trade. This reduction parallels the reduction of high grade green coffee prices

SOVIET GRAIN COUP FOUGHT

Congress May Be Asked To Outlaw Speculation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (INS)—The present controversy over the activities of Soviet Russia in the Chicago grain market, it appeared today, will result in determined efforts in the next congress to outlaw all grain speculation and to place embargoes on certain Russian imports to America.

The action of a Soviet agency in selling American wheat "short" in the Chicago market will be used, first, to spur enactment of the Caraway bill, prohibiting short sales in grains. Leaders of the western "farm bloc" feel the Soviet incident gave impetus to their campaign for enactment of this legislation.

On the other hand, Senator Oddie, Republican of Nevada, has announced he will offer a bill, placing an embargo on imports of Russian maganese, coal, lumber, woodpulp, gelatin, glue and wheat. He added that he would favor a provision, if it were deemed necessary, forbidding the Soviet government from dealing directly or indirectly in any of the grain exchanges in this country.

The pending inquiry by the house anti-Red committee may lead to further legislation. Thus far, Representative Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican of New York, its chairman, has not indicated what legislative steps will be recommended to the house as a result of that inquiry into Communist activities in America.

The committee report will not be drawn until after the inquiry is concluded into the Soviet wheat transactions.

Ford Buys Ancient Germany Model

MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 24. (AP)—Henry Ford, after examining with great interest the first automobile built in Germany in 1885, which is displayed at the Deutsches museum, has bought one almost as old for his own museum.

It is an 1888 model Benz, a product of Karl Benz, who had designed the three-wheeler, chain driven vehicle which Ford had seen in the museum.

There was an amusing incident connected with the delivery of the relic. Mr. Ford made a casual call for his car to pick him up at his hotel this morning, and as he emerged from the door he found the wheezing 1888 model waiting for him at the curb.

"GREAT HELP IN RAISING FAMILY"

That's What a Texas Lady Says About Black-Draught After Years of Use

Austin, Texas.—An interesting story of how Thedford's Black-Draught has proved valuable in her home life was related here recently by Mrs. T. C. Laws, of 1704 Willow street. She wrote:

"During my childhood, my mother used Thedford's Black-Draught in our home frequently. She gave it to us children for little spells of sickness. Whenever we would complain of not feeling well, she would give us a course of Black-Draught which straightened us right out.

"Since I have been married, I have found Black-Draught to be a great help in raising my family. It is a handy medicine to keep in the house. I give it to my children and I take it myself. It is splendid to treat constipation and colds with. I also use it when I have spells of indigestion.

"Sometimes I suffer with bad, sick headaches and gas pains. Black-Draught always gives me relief, and after I have taken it I feel fresh and energetic.

"I give it to the children in form of a tea. They do not object to taking it."

Turkey Egg Hatches at Snyder Without Hen on Nest

SNYDER, Texas, Sept. 24.—Page Bob Ripley.

Eggs have been hatched without a hen on the nest.

Fred Austin, who lives near Jonesville, avers that one of his turkey hens, during the recent hot spell, left her nest on account of the intense heat. She had been on a setting of eggs.

Ten days later, with the hen still absent, one baby turkey came out of its egg. The thermometer had been around 90 and above all of the time.

As far as Mr. Austin is aware, the turkey is normal.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (INS)—Olive Belle Hamon, 20, known professionally as Loma Worth, returned to Chicago today after a stage engagement in St. Louis and announced she has definitely renounced marriage—at least for a little while.

She said she was only "playing" when she went with a suitor, Roy David Gatewood, to get a marriage license at Kansas City, Mo., last week.

DRY 'POLITICAL TOLL' MOUNTS

Dyer Says 'Best Minds' Defeated by Issue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (INS)—The prohibition issue already has claimed the political lives of some of the "best minds" of congress and the people will suffer from less efficient government unless the fight is settled, Representative L. C. Dyer, Republican of Missouri, veteran member of the house, declared today.

The quarrel over prohibition has grown so intense in many sections of the country, according to Dyer, that the ablest men in congress face defeat unless they read the minds of their constituents on this one question.

Having no opposition in his own district for re-election, Dyer viewed the difficulties of many of his colleagues in the primaries and the election from a detached position. Although a wet, he praised the ability of some of the defeated drys.

"In the recent primaries some of our ablest and best men have been defeated," he said. "The list is growing and unless we modify the Volstead act, more able men will be sacrificed.

"While the men who succeed these legislators may be able, every member of congress knows that experience is a valuable asset.

"There is no doubt but that efficiency of government will suffer from this issue, with tried and brilliant men turned out of office regardless of their abilities."

Negro Minister 'Taken for Ride'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (INS)—Prince Bullamo Getwayo, negro, who says he is the grandson of the noted Zulu chief, Checka, and a class-mate of King George of England at Eaton college, was "taken for a ride" last night by a score of angered Virginia citizens—but was unharmed.

The negro cleric aroused the wrath of the residents of Herndon, in nearby Virginia, when he is said to have told white pupils at Herndon High school during the course of a lecture yesterday that it was now opportune for Africa to send missionaries to the United States, instead of the United States sending missionaries to Africa.

FASCIST CHIEF RESIGNS POST

Il Duce's Possible Successor Quits as Secretary

ROME, Sept. 24. (AP)—Augusto Truati, secretary of the Fascist party whose position made him the second most important secular man in Italy, has resigned.

His successor is Giovanni Battista Giuriati, president of the chamber of deputies.

The reason for the resignation was expected to appear later in Foglio D' Ordini, the Fascist order sheet.

So powerful in the councils of Fascism was Turati felt that his name was given as the answer to the repeated question: "Who will take charge if Mussolini leaves office?" Although not one of the leaders of the march on Rome, he was among the first chieftains of Fascism organizing Fascist groups in Brescia.

The delicate, mellow fragrance of those choice sun-ripened tobaccos is something that anybody can appreciate. Camels are naturally smooth and mild—never parched nor insipid.

The Lack of Bread
Its Force Is Felt
Red Ribbon Racket
Shooting the Candidate

By EMILE GAUVREAU

What is happening in Germany politically, whether a triumph for radicalism or conservatism, is a direct result of the financial distress which that country is suffering. It is not a theory of government that makes people renounce a regime. It is the lack of bread. Business is hard hit in Germany and 3,000,000 men are out of work.

The overthrow of all existing governments that provide no relief for unemployment in times like these is not an altogether fantastic supposition. The strongest subversive force in the world is hunger. As far back as 1381 this force caused the great revolt in England. At the end of the 18th century it brought on the French revolution. It wiped out czarism in Russia. Today it is creating disturbances in Mexico, China, India, Nicaragua, Argentine and Brazil.

Communism always has a chance when monarchy, republicanism or democracy fails to insure the bare necessities of life. That is why Communism holds out so well in Russia, where 90 per cent of the peasantry are practically starving. Prosperity always favors a conservative regime. Penury, on the contrary, having nothing to lose, invites chaos and revolution.

"Many American newspaper men have been caught by the little red ribbon of the Legion of Honor," says William Randolph Hearst. "France has tried persistently to seduce the American press, and this has been her most effective means."

Anyone who knows something about human vanity will know that Mr. Hearst is right. His suggestion that congress forbid the wearing of foreign decorations by American citizens, except military decorations honorably won in war, is patriotic and justified. Honors have been bestowed by France and other countries for money, or at the suggestion of some bribed official, rather than for achievement.

It is nothing more or less than another racket. Exposing it will make the unworthy recipients of decorations dress more modestly.

You have a taste of pistol politics in Brooklyn. Mr. Agulmeck, a Republican candidate for the nomination to the state senate, is shot while he is hanging up one of his own posters. Five men drive up to him in an automobile and fire six shots at him. Do not let this surprise you. That is what politics is coming to in New York. The wrong candidate can be "put on the spot."

Kidnaping and blackmail have been added to the other alleged motives for the disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Crater. A ransom of $20,000 is demanded for his release by the writer of an anonymous letter. Although the police discredit the authenticity of the demand, they are trailing the source of it.

It is over a month now since the New York judge vanished. All things point to his being the victim of a sinister ring that is no more afraid of putting a judge "on the spot" than it is of being found out later. The citizen who has been following the papers will not wonder at this brazenness and contempt for justice.

RETURNS CATHEDRAL

MEXICO CITY—The Catholic church has regained one of its oldest "new continent" churches in the historic Cathedral of Mexico City, which dates back to the 16th century. It was restored by an order of President Rubio. The edifice was closed in 1926 when the clergy walked out as a result of alleged persecution on the part of the government.

Abe Martin

(Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

Speakin' o' Latin American revolutions, wouldn' it be a novel sight to see one of our statesmen fleein' from an office. An optimist is a pickpocket at a state fair.

Chicago is now investigating the tombstone racket, reputed to be controlled by Al Capone. This, undoubtedly, is another manifestation of the bier business.

Blind Man's Bluff

IN a local court there is now being tried a heavy damage suit in which the crux of the whole matter seems to be whether or not an automobile was on a public highway after dark without lights burning.

Regardless of the outcome of that suit, it does serve to remind one forcibly of the public danger created by driving or parking on or along the highway without showing front and rear lights as required by our laws. The reminder is not of an abstract principle, but of an actual situation which is constant. Only a blind man could ride through this city, or on highways in this area, at night without observing numerous cars running without headlights, without taillights, or with the exasperating "one-eyed" front illumination.

It would be almost entirely fallacious to blame traffic officers for the presence of such offending cars in public traffic. The small number of officers maintained for such service precludes such a possibility. But it might reasonably be expected that intelligent citizens would cherish their own safety and that of others enough to keep all lights in working condition or stay off the road.

The excuse given in 90 per cent of such cases, if an officer happens to stop them, is that "they didn't know the light had gone off." Occasionally, that is true, but only occasionally. We believe that most of such offenders neglect their lights in confidence that such an excuse will clear them in case of being accosted. One who has driven recently behind a dark car, with bright lights approaching from the opposite direction, remembers vividly that the vehicle without taillight was almost completely invisible. Almost as dangerous and annoying is the game of facing a one-eyed automobile, trying to determine just what is behind the one light. There is acute need for greater highway courtesy and a little more conscience.

Dr. Butte's Withdrawal

DR. GEORGE C. BUTTE'S withdrawal as Republican candidate for governor of Texas confirms a suspicion that has been rather general since Aug. 23—that Texas' gubernatorial election was decided in the second Democratic primary.

In addition to being a gentleman of scholarly attainments and considerable executive ability, Dr. Butte is possessed of more political acumen than is usually found among those who come from college faculties. He came nearer to giving Texas a Republican governor in 1924 than has any other man since the days of reconstruction. A race in 1930 against the Democratic nominee would add nothing to his political prestige, and might even make the good doctor appear somewhat ridiculous. Even if favored with the same or similar issues as in 1924, it is doubtful if Dr. Butte would have been as acceptable to Texas Democrats after six years at the Republican plum tree as he was in 1924 fresh from the faculty of the University of Texas. He very wisely bows himself out of the picture in favor of some "more logical" candidate.

The hopes of the Republican party for a governor of Texas did not pass with Dr. Butte, but rather with the issues that were disposed of in the general election of 1924 and in the second primary of 1930. He was as well qualified for the governor's post as many of those who have sought the office, and perhaps better than some. But his strength was not of his qualifications, but of the issues which harassed the ranks of the Democratic party. What Texas Republicans need, it seems, is not a Moses to lead them to the governor's chair, but more Democrats of the type to be trusted to do the "wrong thing at the wrong time."

The Lion and the Mouse

IN CHICAGO recently the president of a national credit men's association told its members that this country will witness losses of approximately $1,000,000,000 during 1930 as a result of bankruptcy cases.

In Wichita Falls Tuesday a working man, desperate and despondent through his inability to secure work during the past several weeks, attempted to commit suicide, his life barely being saved through the efforts of a courageous wife.

Placed alongside of each other, these two news items point, by the attention which they receive, one of the most hopeful elements in human nature. A passing interest will be taken by a few readers in the temporary economic condition reflected by the bankruptcy report. But a sincere, sympathetic and active interest will be taken by thousands in the situation which exists in this Wichita Falls home.

One concerns the ebb and flow of monetary values—of wealth; the other concerns the sacrificial devotion of an individual human being—a father—to the task of providing food and shelter for his own wife and children.

The majority of readers will feel keenly the weight of circumstances which drove the father to the depths of discouragement. To the best of their ability, they would so alter conditions as to prevent such tragedies. In that personal response to the needs of another individual lies humanity's capacity for working out its own salvation.

The Fair at Iowa Park

TO IOWA PARK and the officials of its county fair, The Record News offers its congratulations on the opening of its annual display and its best wishes for the continued success of the enterprise.

The obstacles which the town has faced in continuing its exposition are such that many communities of less determination and confidence would have long since abandoned the project. It has not been so with Iowa Park, and apparently the display which opens today will be in traditional fashion "bigger and better" than its predecessors. Certainly there are few community projects which surpass it in excellence.

While the county fair does not compare in scale with the one-time Texas-Oklahoma exposition, it does serve to call to our attention at least once each year the variety and quality of products which may be found in Wichita county. If for no other reason, the Wichita County fair deserves the support of every citizen in the county. We ought to have something that would call our attention to such things every day in the year.

On Broadway

(Copyright, 1930, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

The oaken hearts on Broadway outnumber the broken lights, is right. . . . But his heart isn't loaded with pain because of sour professional breaks. . . . He is one of the town's funniest clowns. . . . And probably the only miserable one. . . . And the old lump comes to the larnyx every time I think about him and his sorrow. . . . One philosopher says: "One becomes creative if he has the gift of pain" . . . "Out of our great sorrows and aches we make our little songs." . . . But his aches came after he crashed the Broadway heavens, and he was starred. . . . A highly paid one. . . . I saw him weeping in a dark corner of a speakeasy the other night . . . After he had left his audience in spasms from laughter. . . . No one asks him why he cries. . . . That is, those of us who know him. . . . We know why . . . Because his pretty wife, who struggled with him for years to achieve what he now has, is now an incurable. . . . She cannot share or enjoy that which they worked so hard for. . . . He has many thousands of dollars. . . . Meaning nothing to him. . . . Because it cannot save her. . . . Or help her to recognize him when he visits the sick-room. . . . To appreciate heaven we must first go through hell.

Broadway certainly has changed in the last six months. . . . I mean the night life vogue. . . . Since the advent of the Club Abbey and Jean Mallin, whose sissy songs appear to entice capacity trade. . . . Now the Club Calais on 51st street has followed the pattern. . . . With an eye-filling group of undraped cuties, led by effeminate comedians. . . . "Rosebud" officiates as music cue interrupter and is very amusing. . . . But his second choruses, announced as "French," do not contain one French word. . . . The spectators applaud boisterously, however. . . . The best femme pretender seen in an age, though, is a 19 year old lad named Jackie May, whose sopranoing is first rate. . . . Many a gal would like to look like him. . . . What is the Street coming to?

Jack (Legs) Diamond, who abhors the nickname, and who is a pretty sick guy, will feel a lot better. . . . If his intimates show him what the N. Y. World just printed about him. . . . All the innuendoes will be forgotten—as will the rebuffs and rebukes he experienced in the old countries which banished him. . . . He will forget all that—if he sees the item. . . . He is as susceptible to compliments as the rest of us. . . . The paper said in part that he proved to be a third-rate marksman during clay-pigeon shooting aboard the Belgenland, but that "the passengers all testified Diamond had good manners." . . . He will save that slipping. . . . Diamond is fussy about his appearance and his manners. . . . Throughout his career he has been convicted but once. . . . When he was 14. . . . "They blame me for everything now," he said, after the papers screamed "Diamond Wanted" . . . "Why don't you go and see the Commissioner and see what they want?" we asked him. . . . "I think I will," Diamond answered; "I'm not afraid of anything, except a rookie cop who might see me on the street, and get so scared himself he will shoot me before I have a chance of saying: 'I surrender.'" . . . They call Diamond "the gem of the ocean."

I was going to say that La Guinan is now on a newspaper, doing a column like Coolidge's. . . . But she might wonder if I were giving her a compliment or a dirty dig. . . . That Joe Whitehead-Annette Bracy breach of promise suit will get exciting soon. . . . He said he could name eight men, which was why he didn't marry her. . . . She dared him to name them. . . . Now she is going to counter with four affidavits from as many people who will say that they heard the Coca-Colotharlo propose marriage to Annette at least four times, as late as last February. . . . Some of the producers even matters with critics who blackball their attractions. . . . The "Hot Rhythm" troupe advertises that one of us said it was "A Very Green Pastures" . . . What the critic meant when he said that about the all-colored show was that it was "very green"—not ripe—not digestible—not good.

Talk about dirty digs, I wonder if this one was aimed at me. . . . When they announced that I was going to resume broadcasting, the various railroads advertised a $10 excursion to Montreal! . . . They tell me that along his one-night stand tour Master Vallee was billed as "The Sensation of the Decade" . . . The pronunciation is yours. . . . The next time I see George Dewey Washington (who hasn't replied to the invitation to discuss the controversy) over Art Landry's usage of the curtain speech: "Thanks for your applause, which, we assure you, goes to our hearts and not to our heads," I'll tell him Robert Bruce, a Scot, said that. . . . According to a book published in 1854. . . . When Billy Rose was casting his revue he seriously considered engaging Lou Holtz. . . . "I'd like to have you, Lou," said Rose, "but you look too Jewish!" . . . So Rose hired George Jessel. . . . My old chum, John P. Medbury quotes Ben Lyon, the movie star, as saying: "Give a man an inch and he'll build a miniature golf course!" . . . And they call elevators—lifts! . . . They keep writing and asking me why I dislike Rudy . . . I do not dislike Rudy. . . . I never said I disliked Rudy. . . . I dislike people who dislike my printing gags about Rudy. . . . One of the out-of-town rags quotes Vallee as saying: "There are men in New York who would stop at nothing to drag down one who has achieved fame" . . . For instance? . . . I'm his severest friend and best critic.

Wonder how I can reach Frances White, who just got into that jam over a cab fare? . . . A lad sent me a check for her and doesn't want his tax printed . . . That's the second time he's done that to people in distress, which Frances says she isn't. . . . Incidentally, without revealing his identity the other night, Nick, the Greek, the guy who has won and lost millions across the dice tables, gave those two kids $15 to pay their hotel bill . . . A minute later he was on his paws and kneecaps in Dave's Blue Room frantically searching for something, he had dropped . . . "What did you lose, Nick?" I asked him . . . "I got it! I got it!" he cried as he pocketed the recovered treasure . . . It was a dime.

The AGE of YOUTH

A New Serial by ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE

Illustrated by Jay Hyde Barnum — Copyrighted by Public Ledger

As they rose to dance, a man stopped beside them. It was Frank Gardner. "Why, it's old Ran Granby," he exclaimed. "Ran Granby and the li'l girl he's keeping."

THE STORY THUS FAR

Hopeless because of her failure to make a decent living in New York City, pretty Donna Raynor writes to Randolph Granby, a wealthy bachelor: "I could get a rich husband if I had the proper setting. It would cost a thousand a month and I'd need two years to get the proper man. Will you give it to me?"

Intrigued by the girl's personality and her unconventional ideas, Granby accepts her proposal. Through his brokers Donna receives $35,000; Granby prepares to sail for France, and Donna leaves her shabby hotel for a more fash-ifities.

Shortly after she retires, a handsome young man, intoxicated, enters Donna's apartment. "Believe I'll marry you," says the youthful visitor, who, Donna learns, is none other than Frank Gardner, wealthiest and most sought-after bachelor in America.

Next morning Gardner sends orchids. Donna refuses to speak with him. She arranges to take singing lessons from Mademoiselle Galere, whose pupils include most of the Junior League.

In a few weeks she is in the midst of the social swim. At the Fairleigh home she meets Granby again, also Frank Gardner, who asks: "How would you like another proposal from me?"

Gardner displays jealousy. Granby, quietly is evidently more than ever in love with Donna. The situation is tense.

Then the bubble bursts. At Mme. Galere's Donna picks up the paper. In the society gossip column is an unmistakable reference to her—with the insinuation that Donna confides her troubles to Mme. Galere. Others in the "set" remain loyal to her.

Now Continue the Story

Another Attack

Donna had, in the interests of economy, abandoned too-frequent luncheing at expensive restaurants. For she was exceeding, by a considerable margin, the thousand-a-month allowance which Ran Granby had given her. She had spent, at the outset of her new career, a large amount for clothing, telling herself that it was a wise investment to draw upon her capital at the outset, rather than acquire a wardrobe piecemeal. And paying her rent a year in advance could not be considered extravagant, either.

Only the monthly, weekly, even daily cost of living was greater than she had anticipated. She had spent within a fortnight after receiving the money from Granby, via his lawyers and her brokers, some $8,000. But, with her clothing bought in advance and her rent paid for a year, this did not seem too reckless. Allowing $12,000 a year, she had $6,000 more to spend in 12 months; $500 a month. But her maid cost a hundred; Mme. Galere's singing lessons were $60 a month; the daily luncheons at smart restaurants and taxicabs used up $5 a day, or $120 a month; facials, manicures, stockings here, theater tickets there, a hat here, a too-tempting frock or another pair of shoes.

If Sue took her to luncheon, she could take Sue without exceeding her average allowance for restaurants. Only—perhaps Sue would have three friends with her; true, they would, in turn, take her, but somehow it all didn't balance. In the first five months of her new freedom from financial worry she acquired new monetary burdens. She had spent, of the $6,000 remaining after what she termed her investments in clothing and rent, more than $4,000 in five months. Of course, she had slightly more than 12 more in the bank, but that sum was to last her through a second 12-month, and could not be drawn upon in advance.

This was a matter that had not seriously assailed her feeling of security as yet, but it had begun to hover in the background of her thoughts, and, unless she had an engagement, she lunched inexpensively.

But today she felt it advisable to make a public appearance. It was no time to hide. It was a time to act in a perfectly unconscious fashion, to appear, if possible, utterly unaware of any whispered attack upon her. So she called up Sue Philemon.

"Lunch with me today?" she asked.

"Love to. Where?" asked Sue.

"Anywhere. Colony?"

"One-thirty. Fine. And did you see the ducky photo of us in the Blade?" inquired Sue.

"I thought it was pretty good of you—not so crazy about the picture of me, though," replied Donna.

"Why, it's old Ran Granby," he exclaimed. "Ran Granby and the li'l girl he's keeping."

"It wasn't so good," Sue admitted. "But did you read the column on the same page?"

Courage came suddenly to Donna. "I certainly did," she said. "And I recognized myself—except for one thing: that hint that some man—Sue, do you honestly think I've enough charm and beauty and all that sort of thing to lead a successful double life?"

Sue laughed gayly.

"Certainly not," she stated.

"Is that kindly?" asked Donna.

"Of course it is," replied Sue. "I've lived 23 years, and no man has made an indecent advance to me, and I'm not going to let you show off and brag and pretend that you have more 'it' than I have. One-thirty, eh?"

Donna hung up and walked from the drug store where she had been talking.

Perhaps this wasn't such a rotten world after all. Perhaps people weren't so eager to suspect the worst as she had imagined. Instead of weeping, she should be prepared to laugh. Sue had given her a cue, the correct cue.

She killed time before luncheon by dropping in at a shoe store, looking at some new lingerie at Black's, getting a haircut, buying some scent . . . She spent exactly $119 in an hour and a half.

She was appalled as she mentally added the various sums. And this on top of a comparatively recent determination to retrench. She hated herself for the sudden appearance in her thoughts of the good-natured visage of Randolph Granby. That way, she told herself, lay utter dissolution of character.

What she had already done was bad enough. But to contemplate accepting more from the man . . . She knew she never would, and the sudden knowledge buoyed her up. She would never, never, never be a kept woman as the term is usually understood.

Sue greeted her in the anteroom of the restaurant, and they went gayly into the dining room. Donna had prepared herself for a battery of curious glances, for furtive whisperings and shruggings, and none of these things eventuated.

Mrs. Fred Fairleigh, looking very pretty and much younger than her 54 years, stopped her as they passed by.

"Telephoned you this morning but you were out. Want you for dinner and bridge—home evening. Can you

COTTON CO-OP DEFENDS ACTS

Letter by New Orleans Firm Receives Reply

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24. (AP)—Senator Norris C. Williamson, president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers association and a director in the American Cotton Cooperative association here today described as "unfair" a letter sent by a cotton firm in New Orleans to certain banks warning them against shipment of cotton to the cooperative association for the stated reason that deductions would be made for losses incurred last year by the federal farm board when it loaned 16 cents a pound on cotton.

Senator Williamson said that the statement was misleading, that the cooperatives are lending 90 per cent on cotton and will make no deduction for losses of last season.

"The cotton growers are now fighting for their lives," Mr. Williamson said. "The price is below cost of production, and we cannot live at present sale values. We are no longer going to apologize for attempting to get more nearly the sale value of our cotton by going direct to the mill through our own salesmen, but we are going to make aggressive fight for the cotton trade in this and foreign markets. If some middleman is eliminated by this process of marketing, it is because he is not necessary to the new and more modern methods of marketing, and he will have to adjust himself to new conditions."

Banker Embezzling Bonds 'Tired of Seeing Bills'

HOUSTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Mainly because he "got tired" of "seeing the same old bills every month—the same old debts—" J. H. Branard, former registrar-custodian of securities for the federal land bank, intermediate credit bank and four joint stock land banks of Texas, converted bonds on the joint stock bank at Dallas to his own use.

He gave that explanation today to reporters. He was charged yesterday with embezzling nineteen $1,000 coupon bonds.

"But understand, please," Mr. Branard said today, "that they have their bonds back and that several Houston banks which had loaned me between $2,000 and $3,000 on 12 of these bonds, will get their money eventually."

"I guess it started because it looked easy," he added. "There was no real reason or pressure for finances back of the action.

"Maybe a fellow gets tired sometimes of seeing the same old bills every month, the same old debts, not debts of extravagances or dissipation or the like, just plain debts for little things, necessities of life we call them in this age we live."

Murder Charge Among Counts Against Robbers

HOUSTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Indictments charging J. J. Maple with murder and Maple and E. F. Grimes with three robberies and an assault to murder were returned by the grand jury today.

Maple was charged with killing Motorcycle Officer E. D. Fitzgerald—the crime which he confessed climaxed a robbing career which he and Grimes had undertaken together.

Fitzgerald was killed in a gun battle with Maple Saturday night. Fitzgerald's partner, Motorcycle Officer W. B. Phares, was wounded seriously. The shooting took place when the officers approached an automobile which had figured in a hijacking an hour before.

Maple confessed killing Fitzgerald and wounding Phares. No indictment was returned against Maple in connection with the Phare's case. It was said the grand jury would await the outcome of Phares' injury before taking action. Attendants at the hospital said his condition is grave.

'See America First' Cuts European Trade

PARIS, Sept. 24. (UP)—Prevailing business depression and the growth of the "See America First" movement have resulted in 30 per cent less American tourists in France this summer, making it the worst tourist season since the war, government officials said today.

An official of the national tourist office estimated that 200,000 Americans visited France this year.

Wife Dies in Hospital Where Husband Is Ill

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 24. (AP)—When an ambulance driver called at a house boat here yesterday to take Mrs. Louise Jones, 40, to a hospital to attend the bedside of her husband, she was found unconscious and died shortly after in the hospital where her husband is ill.

'Hard Times' Bandits Loot Bank At Neches; Posses Search Bottoms

Trio Kidnaps Cashier and Takes $3,000, Explaining Crop Loss Causes Need for Money

NECHES, Texas, Sept. 24. (UP)—Posses hunted through the river bottoms east of here tonight for three bandits who robbed the Neches State bank of $3,000 today, "to get back some of the money they lost trying to raise cotton," according to a remark made by one of them, a bare-headed youth of 22.

The robbers kidnaped H. M. Brock, cashier of the bank, and fled from town behind a volley of shots. They released Brock 10 miles east of town and told him to "keep on going and don't look back."

Brock's request that the robbers return to him a sack of antique coins, left in the bank by Mrs. Mattie Scruggs, was granted, after one of them opened the sack to see wether it contained gold.

Heirlooms Returned

The coins were heirlooms of the Scruggs family and had been left in care of the bank. "Take them back to her," one of the bands said. "We don't want to cause any hardship on anyone and we're not going to hurt anyone unless we have to."

During the 10-mile ride Brock said the youthful member of the trio bewailed the "hard times" and said he had raised a crop of cotton this year which didn't bring more than 10 cents a pound and "he had to get his money back someway." The youth was bare-headed and wore a mustache.

The bandits were armed with four revolvers, a sawed-off shotgun and two rifles, Brock said.

Money Taken

Brock was alone in the bank today when a robber entered. Another of the trio held up J. W. Valentine, manager of a store in the same building with the bank and prevented his sounding an alarm while the third remained in the car.

The bandit scooped up all the money in sight and forced Brock to accompany him. He was shoved into the rumble seat of the bandit car, a small roadster, and ordered to "keep quiet and don't move."

With a yell and discharging their guns into the air, the three men sped off with their loot and Brock.

Posses were organized hastily here and at Palestine, the county seat, 10 miles away.

Trail of the automobile was lost after it passed Slocum, but officers believed it had turned towards Lufkin.

Australia expects large grain crops this year.

Damage Suit Against Frank Norris Dropped

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24. (UP)—A damage suit for $150,000 filed by Daugherty Elliot Chipps, 18, against Rev. J. Frank Norris, for the killing of his father, D. E. Chipps, was dismissed by Judge Hal Lattimore in 96th district court today.

The dismissal was made because no effort had been made to prosecute the case, the judge said. The case had been set for trial eight times since it was filed, Nov. 8, 1926.

Boy Killed in Crash At Eastland Crossing

EASTLAND, Texas, Sept. 23. (UP)—Gordon Phillips, 16, Pleasant Grove school boy, was killed today when an eastbound Texas and Pacific freight train struck the car he was driving. It was the fifth fatality from crossing accidents near here in the past 36 hours.

Texas Mother Knew Best

WISE mothers find the things that keep children contented, happy, well. Most of them have learned they can depend on one thing to restore a youngster's good nature when he's cross, fretful, upset.

The experience of Mrs. T. C. Smith, Mesquite, Dallas County, Texas, is a typical one. She says: "I have used California Fig Syrup with my two girls since they were just tiny babies. Whenever they're the least bit constipated or restless I give them a little. It has them comfortable, happy, well in a jiffy. Their splendid condition proves I knew best when I decided to use this wonderful preparation with them."

Physicians endorse the use of pure vegetable California Fig Syrup when bad breath, coated tongue, dullness, feverishness, listlessness, etc., show a child's bowels are in need of help. Weak stomach and bowels are toned by its gentle aid; appetite is increased; digestion and assimilation are so assisted that weak, undernourished children quickly improve in weight, strength and energy.

The genuine always bears the word California. So look for that when buying. All drugstores have it.

FLIER EXPLAINS MYSTERY PLANE

Student Pilot Lands in Pasture to Save Fees

SHAWNEE, Okla., Sept. 24. (AP)—George P. Hazleton of Tulsa, young aviation student, was released today from the Pottawatomie county jail after explaining to department of commerce officials why he had been using a pasture near Earlsboro for a landing field—an explanation he had refused to make to deputy sheriffs after his arrest Monday night.

The explanation was that Hazelton could not afford to pay transportation from the Shawnee or Seminole airports to Earlsboro, where he is employed. Hazelton was arrested when county authorities became suspicious of the use of the plane. A $25 fine for carrying concealed weapons was paid yesterday by an uncle.

After his release today, Hazelton was given a test for a pilot's license by the department of commerce officials and permitted to return to his work at Earlsboro.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 24. (UP)—Physicians at Johns Hopkins hospital issued a bulletin today announcing the condition of Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas as "improving."

Walters to Manufacture Own Electric Current

Special to The Record News

WALTERS, Okla., Sept. 24.—Concrete foundations for two large Diesel engines which are to be installed in the city power plant within the next few weeks was poured this week. Installation of the new equipment will be completed by the middle of October, according to Bob Lines, city manager of Walters, and the city will again begin the manufacture of electric current here.

Although the city owns its own distribution system in the city and at one time did manufacture current in the local plant, the Southwestern Light and Power company, of Lawton, has been supplying current to the city by highline during the past six years. The new equipment is being installed because the city commission believes a saving in cost of current will be effected thereby.

HOW WHITE IS WHITE?

WE USUALLY think of newly laundered things as pure white. But the truth is that most of the time they are not white at all. Sometimes they are gray, sometimes they are yellow, and sometimes they are even blue. It all depends on the soap.

White things will emerge from washing absolutely white if they are washed with a soap that is absolutely pure. And White King Granulated Soap is pure. No "filler" or foreign matter—nothing but the finest vegetable and nut oils, good enough to eat!

It's economical too! Because White King is condensed, a little of it goes a long way. One teaspoonful in a wash basin, one cupful in the washing machine—plenty, even in hard or lukewarm water. Safe and swift for blankets . . . dishes . . . delicate colored fabrics. Your grocer has it.

No Matter How Many 'Brands' You Have Tried

. . . . You Have Tasted No Coffee Like This

For a Real Change, Try The Rare Flavor of Coffees From The West Coast of Central America. Different in Quality and Taste From Any Other Coffee in The World, Experts Say.

(EWING GALLOWAY)

HOW many times have you changed brands of coffee—and still noticed scarcely any difference in the coffee you make?

The reason is really simple. It's because over 70 per cent of all coffee that enters the United States—according to government figures—is the same tasting kind All grown in one country. All having the same common characteristics.

That's why you'll find Folger's different. Because you taste coffees from an entirely different coffee producing country.

From The West Coast of Central America

From certain tiny mountain districts along the West Coast of Central America we procure coffees utterly different in flavor and quality from any you have ever tasted before.

Less than one pound in twenty of the world's coffee is grown in this famous region. A country that, experts concede, produces a rare tang and full-bodied flavor not duplicated anywhere else in the world.

If you have never tasted these rare Central American mountain grown coffees, you'll find them a revelation.

(EWING GALLOWAY)

Central American Coffees Leave Mountain Plantations on Mules and Burros—The richest flavored coffees grow at from 3500 to 5500 feet altitude. The first stage of their journey to Folger and your breakfast table is over rough precipitous mountain trails by "mule express." Here you see some choice Antigua coffee about to start on its travels. This is one of the rare varieties used by Folger.

Antigua Coffee Berries—When red-ripe they are picked by hand like cherries. Then double-washed to remove the outer pulp. No coffee in the world is more carefully handled in every stage of growing, picking, and roasting.

We don't want to tell you how good they are. To settle any doubts in the fairest way, we simply invite you to try them and see for yourself.

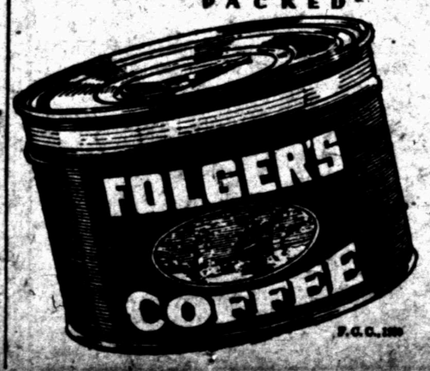

A 1-Pound Test—At Our Risk

Just go to your grocer and buy a pound of Folger's. Drink it tomorrow morning. Next morning serve the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them.

If for any reason you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. And you will have a pound of coffee without cost. But if you do as 8 out of 10 do, you'll never be satisfied to return to less flavorful coffees. And you'll become a regular customer of ours. That's why we can afford to make this offer. Try it. You'll be glad you did.

Result—Coffee like you never tasted before!

HOME DECORATION TALKS—NO. 4

by Fay Fraser

BRIGHTENING UP THE BATHROOM

I had an interesting experience the other day. A friend of mine, Mrs. Wilcox in Tulsa, had just found an adorable little house. She liked it all except the bathroom which was old fashioned, white and plain. I suggested that she redecorate the bath. She said that she could not afford a painter and she did not know how to paint. I told her about that wonderful new color coating, Flex. This is neither an enamel nor a lacquer, but something absolutely new which combines the best features of both. It comes in many beautiful colors. The great feature of Flex is that it not only dries in a lustrous, hard, flexible finish, but any amateur can use it.

Flex flows almost like water. It will not "pile up" on the brush nor become "tacky." Brush marks and lap marks disappear automatically. Flex dries in a few hours in a hard, beautiful, porcelain-like finish. There is really nothing that can equal it in my experience.

I suggested to Mrs. Wilcox that she redecorate her bathroom with Apple Green Flex and trim the cabinet and wood-work with the subtle gleam of darker Forest Green Flex. Mrs. Wilcox took her house and tried Flex. She is so enthusiastic about it that she is now planning to redecorate her kitchen.

Flex is not only long-wearing, easy to apply, but exceedingly economical to use because it covers more surface. I understand that it is now sold at all good paint and hardware stores.

Word has been received by W. S. Abbott, city treasurer, from the state comptroller's office in Austin that $604,000 of Wichita Falls' water works bonds bearing 5 per cent interest have been canceled and that $302,000 worth of 4½ per cent bonds and $302,000 worth of 4¾ per cent bonds have been issued instead.

This action was taken as a result of a contract made with a bond house in Oklahoma City recently to refund all 5 per cent water works bonds and replace them with 4½ per cent and 4¾ per cent securities.

Vernon Boy, 7, Gives Inspiration To Mother in Marathon Dance

Little Kenneth Deemer is only a spectator at the marathon dance contest being held at Lake Wichita park, but he is playing a big part in keeping one couple from giving up the monotonous and fatiguing grind, according to King Brady, master of ceremonies.

Kenneth is seven years old and is the son of Winnie Deemer of Vernon who started the marathon with H. J. Yorke as couple No. 20. Every time his mother passes, Kenneth smiles and gives her some word of encouragement. He doesn't know just exactly what it is all about, but whatever it is, Kenneth wants his mother to win.

With the duration of contest approaching a week, eight couples and one "solo" girl, representing Wichita Falls, Olney, Vernon and Holliday, are still doggedly plodding, determined to carry away the "pot of gold." In spite of the growing sleepiness and fatigue which finally will claim all of the contestants except two.

Miss Reed, the girl who is soloing has until 11 o'clock Thursday morning to secure another dancing partner, promoters said. At this time her allotted 48 hours of soloing will come to an end and unless a partner is secured by that time, she will be disqualified.

France Blames Italy For Failure of Treaty

GENEVA, Sept. 24. (INS)—Naval disarmament negotiations between France and Italy have broken down completely, it was announced in a communique issued by the French delegation today.

The communique placed the blame on Italy's refusal to accept propositions by France made as a substitute for Italy's demands for parity.

The negotiations began two weeks ago with indications they would be successful. They were begun in an effort to bring about an agreement which would permit full French and Italian cooperation in the London naval treaty.

WATER SALES SET RECORD

City Delivery Increases 29 Million Gallons

The city of Wichita Falls sold approximately 37,590,000 more gallons of water during the months of June, July and August in 1930 than for the same months in 1929, according to an estimate made Wednesday by Dr. A. H. Douglass, superintendent of the water department.

The figures for this summer reached 515,060,000 gallons while a total of 477,470,000 gallons were sold during the summer of 1929. The highest pumpage for any one day this month reached the 5,000,000 mark while the pumpage for several days during July in 1929 were around 7,000,000 Doctor Douglas said.

Doctor Douglass accredited the increase of water sales and pumpage to the drouth and prolonged heat wave experienced this summer.

HUGH BUTLER IN STATEMENT

Two Former Wichitans Held In Torch Murder

brought out and tied into a bundle, said the statement, and two of the men put it into a coupe and drove away.

Killing Planned

Butler said he and the third man discussed the murder and the latter said: "I'm sorry this had to happen while you were here on a furlough." Butler quoted the man as saying they had been planning to kill Hawthorne for some time.

The statement said that the two men returned about 45 minutes or an hour later and that the three of them, Butler included, left that afternoon for San Antonio. They took the machine gun with them, said the statement. Butler declared that after the second day the two men jokingly told him how they carried the body of Hawthorne to a field near Lake Worth, took gasoline from the automobile to pour over the body and then set it afire.

"I never did touch Hawthorne or have anything to do with the killing," Butler wrote in his statement. He said he had been afraid not to accompany the two men out of town for fear they would shoot him.

Stanley's Statement

Stanley made a written confession of his part in the slaying Wednesday night to Assistant District Attorney Morris, Sheriff Wright and D. S. Rains, jailer, the Associated Press reported.

Stanley is under indictment for the murder of Hawthorne along with the elder Stanley, "Speck" Castevens and Butler.

"I only struck Hawthorne with my fist," Stanley declared. "I did not intend to kill him."

After Hawthorne had been "knocked out" in a fight at the Stanley home, Stanley said he took the victim into the bath room and washed the blood from his face.

Man Had Hammer

"I tried to talk to him and told him I believed he was going to die," Stanley declared. "I asked him if there was anything he wanted me to tell his family. He said something to me but I could not understand what he said.

"At that time another man came into the bath room with a hammer in his hands."

"Let me show you where to hit a man to kill him," Stanley quoted the man as saying.

Stanley said the man immediately pulled Hawthorne's ear forward, and struck a blow with the hammer behind his ear at the base of the skull. Hawthorne tumbled from a stool to the floor and landed partially under the bath tub.

Stanley said he and another man then picked Hawthorne up and sat him on the edge of the bath tub while the victim continued to mumble meaningless sounds. At that time Stanley continued, the man with the hammer made another lunge at Hawthorne.

Fell in Bathtub

"We turned Hawthorne loose and he fell into the bathtub," Stanley asserted.

Warning the other men they ought to get a doctor or take Hawthorne to a hospital, Stanley said he left the house, went after his car and backed it up to the rear of the house. He said when he went back into the house he found the other men had tied up Hawthorne's body in a bundle.

"He is dead," Stanley said one of the men told him. Stanley said some one suggested the body be buried. A search was made for a shovel or spade and after one could not be found it was agreed to take the body out and hide it.

Pair Here in July

According to Earl Kuntz, Butler's lawyer during his trial here, both Butler and Stanley were in Wichita Falls on July 5 of the past summer, and went from here to Amarillo. Butler was tried here for the alleged theft of $700 from Silver's store where he was employed as assistant manager.

He and Stanley were both arrested at Breckenridge, officers seeking Stanley's car for his participation in the shooting before they were aware of the Silver burglary, which took place on a Sunday afternoon. About $60 in small change was said to have been found in the car, and about $50 on each of the men.

Evidence against Stanley in the shooting was insufficient to bring him to trial. Following Butler's acquittal for theft and burglary, he was returned to Hillsboro to face trial in connection with the killing of two men at Groesbeck prior to coming to Wichita Falls, the local attorney said.

He was given a two-year sentence in the Hillsboro case, and received a furlough early the past summer.

King and Queen of Young County Fair Take Thrones in Ceremony

Colorful Pageant Marks Opening of Graham Exhibit; Good Crowds Attend Opening Day of Exposition

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, Sept. 24.—B. W. King of Graham and Miss Nelle Claire Holloway of Ellasville were crowned king and queen of the Young county fair in an elaborate and colorful ceremony and pageant at the fair grounds here tonight as the climax of the first day of the annual exposition.

The coronation was followed by the royal ball at the Graham auditorium in honor of the king and queen and the court of the fair. The fair grounds were crowded almost to capacity tonight for the coronation, and good crowds have thronged the exhibits since the formal opening of the displays Wednesday morning. The fair will continue through Saturday.

Six numbers given by students of the Knickerbocker studios of Wichita Falls featured the coronation ceremonies. Those taking part in the symbolic dances included Anna Marie Menke, Betty Jo Wright, Faith Galmiche, Ruth Ferguson, Margaret Spangle, Virginia Hampson and Helen Peters.

The queen was attended by a score or more of beautifully gowned duchesses representing the various towns and communities of this territory. Among them were Miss Leta Stephens, Flint Creek; Miss Adelle Danley, Murray; Miss Ireta Jones, Loving; Miss Mildred Miller, Wichita Falls, and Maid Jeanette Moore of Wichita Falls; Miss Grace Abbott, Jean; Miss Gladys Foley, South Bend; Miss Pauline Brigham, Red Top; Miss Donna Wilmeth, Newcastle; Miss Audine Pruitt, Breckenridge; Miss Leo Rose Choate, Ronk Valley; Miss Avis Calvin, Lions club, Graham; Miss Louise Hanking, Ingleside.

Wednesday, the first day of the fair, was Ellasville day, the formal opening being preceded by a street parade. The prize for the best float in the parade went to the Royal Neighbors lodge, while second prize was won by the Lions club. Thursday will be Olney-Newcastle day, and large delegations are expected to attend from these towns. A rodeo, baby show and battle royal are among the entertainment features on the program for the second day.

Exhibits on display here are among the best ever shown in this section, visitors at the fair have declared.

LAKE LEVEL DROPS 4 FEET

Douglass Gives Figures On Decline at Wichita

A drop of four feet in Lake Wichita, covering a period of five months, has been recorded in the office of Dr. A. H. Douglass, superintendent of the water department.

The lake now stands at its average height, 18½ feet and will probably remain there for the remainder of the autumn months, due to the flow of the waste irrigation waters which maintains the level, Dr. Douglass said.

When full, the lake stands at 17 feet and the highest mark it has ever reached was 19½ feet which occurred early in the spring during heavy rains, Dr. Douglass pointed out. The lowest mark ever recorded was 14 feet. This record was made in August, 1929.

While the demand for water has been greater this year than for several previous years, no water has been used without having been filtered, Dr. Douglass said.

She is survived by four sisters, Misses Winnifred and Lucille Robey of Chicago, Ill., and Miss Roberta Robey of Santa Fe, N. M., and Mrs. John F. Harris, of Honolulu and two brothers, B. Robey of Frederick, Okla., and Grover Robey of Plainview, Texas. Burial will be in Frederick, Okla.

C.-C. CARAVAN TO IOWA PARK

Junior Division to Give Fair Program

A caravan of Wichita Falls automobiles will assemble on Scott avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets at the Lightsey garage at 7 o'clock Friday evening to visit in a body the Wichita county fair and to take part in the Wichita Falls day program there Sept. 26, according to Milburn Nutt, fair committee chairman of the Junior chamber of commerce.

A large number of cars is expected to compose the caravan to Iowa Park and will be led by Jerry Vinson, president of the Wichita Falls Junior chamber of commerce, which is sponsoring Wichita Falls day at the fair and is furnishing entertainment during the entire day.

A special program for Friday evening will be given, including several vaudeville stars as well as some of Wichita Falls' most popular talent. A rehearsal of the program is called for Thursday night at 6 o'clock and 907 Indiana avenue, according to Milton Nutt, in charge of the entertainment. Also included in the entertainment for Wichita Falls day will be a band concert, it was announced.

Veteran Okla. Official Held Post By 'Building Road for Every Farm'

Tom G. Sappington of Cloudchief, Okla., who has a fair claim to the endurance record as a county commissioner was a visitor in Wichita Falls Wednesday. He and B. A. Morris, also of Cloudchief, were seeking cotton pickers. While at the chamber of commerce offices, they took advantage of the opportunity to discuss proposed improvements of highways from Wichita Falls to Washita county.

Mr. Sappington has been commissioner of precinct one in Washita county since 1907, before Oklahoma became a state. When asked how he had retained the office so long, he replied that he had "built a good road in front of every farm in his precinct."

The veteran commissioner went to Oklahoma in 1892 with the intention of filing on land. He lacked six months of being of age and was forced to wait until he became 21 before he was permitted to file. He finally received title to a choice section of farm land and has farmed it since that time. He is now eligible for membership in any "old timers" association in Oklahoma, as well as having a marathon office holding record.

Reduction in Rates On Casinghead Gas

A five-cent reduction in the freight rate on casinghead gasoline from Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, Gainesville, Pueblo and Ringgold to Fort Worth via the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, has been ordered by the state railroad commission, according to an Associated Press dispatch received here.

The commission fixes a rate of 20 cents per 100 pounds on casinghead gasoline from these points, superseding the rate of 25 cents per 100 pounds in effect heretofore.

Austria may establish a grain and flour monopoly.

Credit Grantors To Meet Thursday Night

The Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantors association will hold its regular weekly meeting at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the Kemp hotel, according to A. T. Dickson, president of the association. Accounts falling under the head of "C" will be discussed.

Pickers Make Use Of C.-C. Truck To Wichita Fields

About 35 cotton pickers took advantage of the free transportation to and from the fields Wednesday, according to John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce, which is sponsoring the move in conjunction with the Family Relief association.

The pickers met at the corner of Seventh street and Indiana avenue Wednesday morning and although the city had offered the use of a truck in transporting the workers it was not needed as many farmers on being advised that the assembly was to made, appeared at the meeting place early Wednesday morning and provided the conveyance to the fields.

The plan of furnishing conveyance to the pickers will be continued, Mr. Boswell said, requesting that every one desiring work to be at the corner of Seventh street and Indiana avenue or at 416 Flood street at 6:30 o'clock in the morning.

J. A. West was nominated to fill the place on the board of trustees being vacated by L. M. C. Blakeley.

Eczema Curable by Dieting

Eczema is one of the more common skin disorders, and it does not seem to be a respecter of age, for it may occur with babies or at any other age, up to extreme old age. In some people the disease may last a lifetime because in most cases it does not seem to respond to skin applications.

There is strong evidence that the Greek word, "eczema," meaning "to bubble out," is very nearly a true description. It seems that the small blisters formed during this disease are caused by toxic impurities from a disordered blood stream being thrown out by the skin. This is the reason why any treatment which only treats the outside is not usually successful in clearing up the condition. Usually a quick and permanent cure results when the blood stream is cleansed of toxic substances and the eczema does not recur as long as the patient continues to follow good habits of eating and living.

In an attack of eczema, which is also called "tetter," "weeping eczema" and "salt rheum," the skin first becomes red and swollen, with itching, burning, local heat, then small blisters form which enlarge and break, and a clear sticky fluid oozes out which stiffens clothing. This is the fluid which gives the disease the name of weeping eczema. As the eczema seems to dry up in one place, it will form yellow crusts or flakes, while breaking out on the nearby skin.

Eczema may vary greatly in its characteristics, sometimes scaling or not, showing pus or not. In some cases the skin is thickened and in some not.

Eczema of the skin somewhat resembles a catarrhal inflammation of the mucus membranes of the body. Where the blood is in such a toxic condition, eczema may follow friction or rubbing on the surface of the body, such as from woolen underwear, but the breaking out often results from no apparent skin irritation. There are some trade eczemas, such as affect chocolate dippers, painters, dyers, etc., but I am sure that the original toxic causes must first exist. Eczema is not contagious. It is not restricted to any age.

The crust which appears on infants' scalps is a mild form of this trouble. Many young children suffer from this trouble, but it must come from wrong feeding, as these cases are quickly cured by putting the child on the right diet. In case of infants, the milk formula must be corrected; if the baby is breast fed, then the diet of the mother should be corrected.

With the adult the cure is noticeably slower, but depends upon the correct diet treatment. Even in case of the trade eczemas where there is an outside irritation of the skin, the main object is to cleanse the blood stream of toxins induced by wrong feeding.

The best way to cleanse the blood stream quickly is to use an acid fruit juice fast similar to the directions which I gave in my recent cleansing diet course. The fast should be continued until the skin shows indications of clearing. It may then be followed by a diet of cooked and raw non-starchy vegetables and some protein, but no sugar should be used at this time, neither should starches, such as potatoes, porridge, bread, etc. Sunbaths may be especially recommended, also local treatments of the affected part with the actinic light.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sleeplessness

Question: Mrs. M. B. writes—"I have suffered with nerves through worry, and it has left me with insomnia. This has lasted nearly a year."

Answer—One of the best ways to cure insomnia is to take plenty of physical culture exercises and also take long walks each day between the hours of three and five in the afternoon. Start walking one mile daily, and gradually increase the distance until you walk four or five miles. Your muscles will temporarily be relaxed after this walk and you will be able to sleep without any difficulty. However, you should also avoid any food which produces an excessive amount of stomach or intestinal gas, as this gas pressure will often distress you enough to keep you from sleeping.

Cheese

Question: Mrs. W. B. asks—"With what other foods may cheese be combined, and what particular kind of cheese do you think best, if any?"

Answer—The best way to use cheese is to make it the "meat" part of a meal, serving with it plenty of green vegetables, both in the cooked and raw form. It combines well, as a lunch, with any of the raw acid fruits, particularly pineapple. No starches should be included with these combinations. Fresh cottage cheese is the most wholesome.

Yellow Eyeballs

Question: B. S. asks—"Will you please tell me how to rid my eyeballs of a yellow color? Have tried a fruit fast for three days and felt very bilious and depressed. I am bothered also with a gaseous stomach, and am very much under weight."

Answer—A three-day fast is just enough to stir you up and make you feel more bilious and depressed. Keep up a fruit fast for at least 10 days if you want to get rid of the jaundice which is causing your eyeballs to become yellow. The tendency to a gaseous stomach will disappear after such a fast if you will afterwards use the proper foods in correct combination.

School Enrollment at Walters Sets Record

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Sept. 24.—Despite predictions that hard times and dry weather would materially reduce the enrollment in Walters High school, the number of students who have begun their studies this year is greater than for any year in the past, according to A. L. Hunt, superintendent of the school.

Hunt believes that all students who contemplate attending the school this year will have been enrolled by the end of this week and that enrollment then will reach approximately 100 more than registered last year. Eighty-nine students have been enrolled in the freshman class up to this time, the largest class ever to enter the high school.

VON ELM LOSES SPECTACULAR 28-HOLE MATCH TO YOUNGSTER

M'CARTHY WINS TENSE BATTLE

Bobby Jones Only 'Seeded' Veteran Surviving

By ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

MERION CRICKET CLUB, ARDmore, Pa., Sept. 24.—The shades of night again were falling rapidly over the bunkered battleground this evening when George von Elm of Los Angeles, last survivor of the entire set of "seeded" favorites save only Bobby Jones, lost to Maurice J. McCarthy Jr., of New York, in a spectacular battle that went 10 extra holes to the 28th, and shattered all endurance records for the American amateur golf championship.

Tied after the first nine holes of their second round match, all square again at the 18th, Von Elm and McCarthy, weary but still game went to the 10th extra hole still dead-locked.

48 Holes in Day

It was the 48th hole of the day for the bronzed, stocky McCarthy, who had been forced to play one extra play-off this morning to qualify, then go to the 19th in the first round to eliminate Watts Gunn, of Pittsburgh.

Von Elm had swept through the first round easily, whipping Chuck Hunter by 6 to 5, and stood out as one of the few remaining favorites until he caught the tartar who fought him to a standstill and finally to defeat.

There was every element of dramatic suspense as these two, blond George and dark, pugilistic-looking Maurice, stepped up to the 28th tee and whaled out long drives aimed to give them easy approaches to this dog-leg, 335-year layout, uphill.

McCarthy Drives Better

McCarthy had the longer drive and after Von Elm had pitched well on, the New York youth played a pitch and ran read to the cup. The ball stopped barely eight inches from the hole and Von Elm was left with a 12-footer to sink if he hoped to continue the fight. He missed by a narrow margin and conceded the putt, the hole and the match to McCarthy.

Reversing the situation of a year ago, at Pebble Beach, where the great Jones was the principal victim of an upset, Bobby came through with flying colors today to win both his 18-hole contests and enter the third round while all seven of the remaining "seeded" contestants were handed knockout wallops.

Jones, brilliant in the first round but extremely erratic in the afternoon, conquered the two Canadian contenders, C. Ross Somerville and Fred G. Hoblitzel, by the same margin, 5 and 4. Somerville, the Dominion champion, was buried under a barrage of birdies in the first round. Hoblitzel beat himself by the poorest kind of golf in the second round as Jones, out in an approximate 42—his worst golf of the tournament—played in spots like a duffer.

Seven Survivors

Surviving the battle of "black Wednesday" with Jones were Jess Sweetzer of New York, a former champion, forced to go 19 holes to whip a rank outsider, Jack Ahearn of Hamburg, N. Y., in the second round, and a group of six younger stars making up the quarter-final bracket of eight contestants.

In the manner in which they will meet tomorrow, at 36 holes, the quarter finalists present this line-up:

Gene Homans of Englewood, N. J., former Princeton star, versus John Lehman, of Chicago, the western amateur champion and former Big Ten titleholder.

Charles Seaver, 19-year-old Los Angeles youth, a qualifier in the tournament for the first time, versus William F. (Billy) McPhail, Boston star and ex-caddy.

Maurice McCarthy Jr., the "dawn to dusk" champion and metropolitan titleholder, versus Jess W. Sweetzer, ex-British as well as American champion.

Bobby Jones versus Fay Coleman, 25-year-old sharpshooter from Los Angeles.

Behind the blazing paths of these golfers were the blasted hopes of such stars as George Voigt of New York; Johnny Goodman of Omaha, the 1929 conqueror of Jones; Dr. Oscar F. Willing of Portland, Ore., in the 1929 runner-up; T. Philip Perkins of New York, the former British champion; Francis Ouimet of Boston, veteran former amateur and open titleholder; and George T. Dunlap Jr., of New York, the national intercollegiate king.

Two Rice Mainstays To Be Out of Kats Battle

HOUSTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Ralph Jones, big back, and Lou Hassell, 185-pound sophomore tackle, in all likelihood will be on the sidelines when the Rice Owls here battle Coach Jim Jones' Sam Houston Teachers college Bearkats Saturday, Coach Jack Meagher of Rice said today.

The Rice mentor quite frankly is worried over Saturday's game. "If we can win Saturday, I feel we'll make a strong showing in all the other games that are to come," Meagher said.

Last season the Owls defeated the Bearkats 7 to 2. This year Coach Jones has available 19 letter men and 40 other candidates, many of them brilliant performers.

Houston Athlete Pilots Aggies as Quarterback

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Sept. 24. (AP)—Bob Harling, formerly of the Milby high school of Houston will pilot the Texas Aggies as quarterback in the opening game of their season with the Southwestern university Pirates at Kyle field Saturday, Matty Bell, head coach of the Aggies, announced today.

Harling, who is a product of intramural football at A. & M., has been running the team from quarterback in practice sessions this week and in scrimmage last Saturday led the reserve squad to victory over the veterans of last year. He is an excellent passer and ball carrier and a fair punter as well as a heady field general.

SELMA WINS FLAG

SELMA, Ala., Sept. 24 (AP)—The Selma Leafs won the class B baseball championship of the South by defeating the Greenville club, South Atlantic league pennant bearers, 5 to 0. The game gave the Leafs four games in the series and the Spinners one.

Rajah Becomes Man of Mystery After Accepting Cub Leadership

Hornsby Hints at Some Big Changes and Declares His Friendship for Joe McCarthy

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (AP)—Rogers Hornsby was more of a man of mystery today than ever as he prepared to take over the mangerial reins of the Cubs and start a rebuilding process, if necessary, to develop them into a world's championship team.

The "Rajah" was formally offered Manager McCarthy's job today, accepted it, and then lapsed into a mental solitude.

Wholesale Changes

One thing was certain, however, and that was that Hornsby intended some wholesale changes in the club for 1931. Even Hack Wilson, the new home run king of the majors, was reported to be on the trading block along with Captain and First Baseman Charlie Grimm, Outfielder Riggs Stephenson, Pitcher Pat Malone and others.

If one or all of them are traded, there would be no great surprise to those close to the "Rajah." He never permits his heart to run away with his baseball judgment and if he could get the players he wants from the Giants, Cardinals and Boston Braves, he would trade for them.

In his association with the Cardinals, Giants and Braves, Hornsby long ago made up his mind as to certain players he would have on a baseball club. But now he remains silent.

Denies Reports

"All I can say at this time is that I am happy to get a chance to manage the Cubs and to deny silly reports that I caused embarrassment to Manager McCarthy," he said. "Mr. Wrigley and Mr. Veeck have asked me to manage the club and I have accepted and will do everything I can to give Chicago a winning baseball club.

"Of course, I plan some some changes in the interests of the club for 1931, but nothing is definite yet."

"And, say," he shouted as a parting shot, "if there are any rumors about the Cubs of any kind, any reports of any kind, just ask me. I'll tell you what I can. I do not intend to hold out on any news."

Manager Joe McCarthy came back tonight after a brief visit to his home in Buffalo, N. Y. He had nothing to say except that he had been "treated fairly" and that he and Hornsby were the best of friends.

Hornsby is expected to start his managership in the city championship series with the White Sox, which is scheduled to open next Wednesday.

Longhorn Frosh Given 'Double O' By Texas Coaches

AUSTIN, Sept. 24. (AP)—Varsity football players in the making were looked over today by University of Texas coaches when between 150 and 200 freshmen reported for try outs for the first year eleven. C. J. "Shorty" Alderson, freshman coach, put the hopefuls through a light limbering up drill and gave them a short talk on fundamentals.

Heavy practice sessions were scheduled to start later in the week with the frosh expected to take up their tasks against the varsity in the near future.

Alderson will be assisted in coaching the frosh by Mac Burnett and Jim Beard, former Longhorn stars. The freshmen were given exceptionally close scrutiny this year because the team that will represent Texas in a hard schedule in 1931 will be composed mainly of sophomores and juniors, only two seniors being available next year.

Among the most promising first year men reporting were Bofn Hillyard, backfield ace at Schreiner institute for the past two years; William Russel, a back from Hereford who set a new interscholastic record in the 100-yard dash at the state track meet last year; Bill Taylor from Gonzales, back; Red Fagan from Terrell prep school; "Jolly" Dabbs, from Schreiner and Hall, from Temple Junior college.

The line strength of the frosh probably will be centered around "Bull" Katrola, from Granger; Projean, from Orange; Munn and Wallace, Junction; Boyd, from Abilene; Bill Smith, from Cisco; and Garrett, from the valley. The latter also is regarded as somewhat of a bearcat on the diamond and is one of Coach Billy Disch's most promising prospects.

Although interest of the coaches centered around these stars, the entire squad was given the "double O, to see that no bets were overlooked."

Pirates Trim Reds In Final Game at Home

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 24. (AP)—Pittsburgh closed its home season today by defeating Cincinnati 5 to 1 in a game that was called in the sixth because of rain. Larry French gave the Reds only five hits while the Pirates bunched seven off Owen Carroll. Traynor hit a home run in the first with one on. Score:

Indians Go to Amarillo Sept. 26 for Second Game

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Sept. 24.—The Quanah Indians will go against the Amarillo Sandies at Amarillo, Saturday, Sept. 26, in the second conference game of the season for the Indians, and the first for the Sandies in district 1.

Coach Stallworth, who was formerly coach at Waco, is turning loose a whole bagful of tricks with the local team, and 1930 will probably bring the team "out of the cellar" where they have been for several years.

A large delegation of fans will accompany the boys to Amarillo.

S. M. U. AWAITS HOWARD PAYNE

Mustangs Prime for Tilt With Yellow Jackets

DALLAS, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Southern Methodist university Mustangs were sand-papering the rough edges of their football machine today preparatory to meeting the strong Howard Payne Yellow Jackets tomorrow.

Eleven veterans will start against the Jackets, nine having been regulars of last year, however, it was likely the first-line Mustang eleven will see little action. Coach Ray Morrison hoped to work in most of his reserve strength against the Jackets, but to start the tilt most of the stalwarts of last season who came through undefeated will be on deck.

Old Backfield

The same old backfield of Gilbert, quarterback; Mason and Kattman, halfbacks, and Hopper, fullback, will take up where it left off last season. Only in the line will 1929 stars be missing. Butler, who will replace Hammon at tackle, and Tarrance, who will take Saunders' place at guard, are not exactly inexperienced hands, at that.

Announcement today that Weldon (Speedy) Mason, star halfback and "mystery man" of the Southwest conference, had safely passed a set of special examinations and been declared eligible to play assured the Mustangs of their strongest line-up for their battle tomorrow.

Passes Tests

Injured during the 1929 campaign Mason was unable to complete his studies last spring and the special tests were necessary to establish his eligibility. He passed them, according to reports, with flying colors, and will start at a halfback post tomorrow.

Snyder Resignation Rumors Denied

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24. (AP)—Rumors that Frank Snyder, manager of the Fort Worth club of the Texas league and Dixie champions for 1930 had resigned were denied here tonight by Ted Robinson, president of the club.

Robinson stated nothing of this nature had been discussed between him and Snyder. He stated Snyder was present Tuesday at the distribution of money received by the players in the Dixie series and added that Snyder invited him to see the world's series with him. Snyder left Fort Worth Tuesday night stating he was going to attend the series.

Reagan Trounces Coyote Reserves

In a fast game held Wednesday afternoon on the Brook and Speedway field, the Reagan junior high school eleven decisively defeated Barry Holton's ninth grade Coyote team, 24-0.

Coach Beck put his Reagan team on the field minus four leter men, having cut them Tuesday as ineligibles.

Thirty men are working out every day, he said, and promise to make a fine showing in a good schedule which has been arranged. The Reagan team is slated to play Archer City here next Wednesday.

215 Pounder Returns To Horned Frog Team

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24. (AP)—Return of Lon Evans to the first squad was the big item of football practice at T. C. U. today, a 215-pound item.

Evans was injured in the North Texas Teachers game Friday and remained away from practice until physicians examined him thoroughly. He is the heaviest man out for tackle.

The Frogs are taking stiff drills each day in preparation for their Saturday encounter with the Austin college Kangaroos to be played here.

Oct. 11 the Christians will meet Arkansas in a game which will open the new athletic plant of T. C. U.

Childress Loses Star End in Quanah Game

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Sept. 24.—The first conference game of the season played here Saturday between the Childress Bobcats and Quanah Indians took heavy toll from the Childress team when their star end for last two seasons, Vernon Johnson, went out in the early stages of the game with a broken arm. He will be out of the lineup for the balance of the season.

The Bobcats won the game, however, with a score of 23 to 12.

BIFF PATRONS END SLUMBERS

Sharkey-Campolo Bout May Drag $150,00

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—The semi-privacy in which Jack Sharkey and Victoria Campolo seemed doomed to battle Thursday night for the "what of it" honors of the heavyweight division was broken somewhat today by inquisitive customers approaching the Madison Square box offices with cash in hand.

The outbreak of interest, mild though it was, sent optimism soaring at the battle palace and brought out predictions that the lackadaisical sailor and the big disappointment from the Argentine will duel before $150,000 worth of patrons in final fight rally of the open air season at the Yankee stadium. The struggle is scheduled for 15 rounds.

Financial optimism is based on the belief that the customers, having held out so long, are bound to weaken tomorrow and rush for places in the reviewing stands. The suspicion has arisen that Campolo, clumsy and slow but a belter with his right hand, may tag Sharkey squarely during the proceedings, and many of the faithful, having waited long to see the Boston sailor beaten, feel they cannot take chances by staying home tomorrow night. If the patrons maintain their aloofness, a gate of less than $100,000, the amount guaranteed Sharkey alone for this match, is in dismal prospect for the garden.

Sharkey has worked none too well in training, appears overweight and sluggish, and lacks fire.

Campolo is in fine condition at about 220 pounds and has labored long to perfect a semblance of a smart left hand to go with his heavy right.

Despite Sharkey's failure to impress in training and Campolo's great advantage in height, reach and weight, the Boston sailor man is a 2 to 1 favorite.

Phillies Send Robins Down to Fourth Place

PHILDELPHIA, Sept. 24. (AP)—The Phillies closed their home season today by defeating Brooklyn, 6 to 3, and sending the Robins down to fourth place in the National league standing. The Phils clinched the game in the first inning as successive home runs by Chuck Klein and Don Hurst overcame a two-run Brooklyn lead. Both wallops were off the pitching of Ray Moss and traveled over the right field wall. It was Klein's 40th homer of the season. Score:

St. Louisians Greet Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24. (AP)—Gabby Street and his Cardinals came home from the East tonight and were greeted at Union station by several thousand cheering fans.

The Cardinals, leading the Chicago Cubs by three games in the National league pennant race, open a four-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates here tomorrow, their final series of the season.

Many of the fans who made the trip to Union station to see the fast-flying Red Birds, were disappointed. The train arrived 15 minutes ahead of the announced time and was shunted onto a west track, the players leaving through a west gate, whereas most of the crowd waited in the midway.

A few minutes after their arrival, most of the Cardinals were on the way to their homes. Battery of newspaper camera men, however, managed to line up the players before they departed.

"Now for Pittsburgh," was Street's first comment, and apparently all he wanted to say. But Jack Grosse, the city greeter, was there and pressed Gabby for details of the Red Birds' sensational drive through the East.

"We beat out those other clubs because every man on the team was hustling and giving his best," he remarked. "It was team play and the fighting spirit of one of the gamest clubs I ever saw."

Burk and Henrietta First Clash Friday

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Sept. 24.—The Henrietta High and the Burkburnett High will clash in their first conference game Friday on the local athletic field.

Little is known of the Henrietta team, but the Burk. Bulldogs are expecting a good fight.

The Burk team is crippled badly over the two games with Grandfield in which they faced two defeats. Preston, tackle, and last year's letter man, is out with a fractured arm. He will probably be out for two or three games. Smith, center, has a injured leg but will play some of the game Friday. The Burk team is light, averaging about 140 pounds and is inexperienced, but a good fight is expected from it.

Texans Star in Polo Tourney Semi-Finals

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 24. (AP)—Roslyn, playing the two Texans, Cecil Smith and Rube Williams overcame Sands Point, 12 to 9, in the first semi-final of the Monty Waterbury high goal polo tournament at Meadowbrook today. Sands Point, which had Young Earle Hopping, American internationalist, at No. 2 was spotted three goals on the handicap. Roslyn meets the winner of tomorrow's old Aiken-Green Tree match in the finals Saturday.

Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago will not pick an all-star football team, because he says it is unfair to all players.

Red Sox Defeat Senators By 6 to 3

BOSTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—The Red Sox opened their final home stand of the year by gaining a 6 to 3 victory over the second place Washington Senators. One big inning, the fifth, gave Boston the victory in a duel between "General" Al Crowder and Hod Lisenbee. The Senators opened up with considerable fire, getting to Lisenbee for three runs in the second and third innings, but Hod settled down and allowed but five scattered hits in the last six innings. Brilliant Boston fielding aided in the triumph, as Warstler, Reeves and Todt put over three double plays. Score:

Bobcats Groomed For Tilt With Sweetwater

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Sept. 24.—In preparation for the first class A game of the season for San Angelo High school against Sweetwater Friday, Coaches Bill Bissett and Bill Wright are concentrating upon their offense and in imbuing their charges with more fire and aggressiveness. The Bobcats' attack was spasmodic and they played sluggishly in defeating Ballinger, 20-0, here last Saturday, achieving the victory largely by taking advantage of the breaks of the game.

The week before, San Angelo trounced Big Lake here 33-0. Friday's battle also will be the first for Sweetwater's Mustangs. Coaches Henning and Lowe's men will be outweighed by San Angelo but they are reported to be fast and tricky. About 25 Bobcats will make the trip. San Angelo's starting line-up likely will be: Brothers (captain) and Haley, ends; E. Gregg and T. Jones, tackles; Crotty and B. Jones, guards; Simpson, center; Strickland, quarterback; Rosson and Colton, halfbacks, and Harris, fullback.

Razorbacks Open Season Against Mountaineers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 24. (AP)—Working formations against a freshmen eleven schooled in College of the Ozarks' tricks, the University of Arkansas Razorbacks paced through their final scrimmage session today before opening the season Saturday with the College of the Ozarks Mountaineers.

LOUISVILLE IN FIRST VICTORY

Colonels Grab Little World Series Opener

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 24. (AP)—One big inning in which they scored six times was sufficient to give the Louisville Colonels, American association flag winners, a 7 to 3 victory over the Rochester Red Wings, International league champions, here today, in the first game of the 1930 little world series. The inning was the fourth. Through two wide breaches in the home club defense, the Kentuckians poured four hits and two walks for their winning margin.

Rochester's vaunted attack netted them 11 clean hits, two more than their rivals were able to amass, but they were unable to connect with the offerings of Phil Weinert, rugged Louisville lefthander in the pinches. Weinert pitched a cool, heady game.

Louisville	000 600 010—7	9	2
Rochester	001 000 101—3	11	2

Eczema Curable by Dieting

Eczema is one of the more common skin disorders, and it does not seem to be a respecter of age, for it may occur with babies or at any other age, up to extreme old age. In some people the disease may last a lifetime because in most cases it does not seem to respond to skin applications.

There is strong evidence that the Greek word, "eczema," meaning "to bubble out," is very nearly a true description. It seems that the small blisters formed during this disease are caused by toxic impurities from a disordered blood stream being thrown out by the skin. This is the reason why any treatment which only treats the outside is not usually successful in clearing up the condition. Usually a quick and permanent cure results when the blood stream is cleansed of toxic substances and the eczema does not recur as long as the patient continues to follow good habits of eating and living.

In an attack of eczema, which is also called "tetter," "weeping eczema" and "salt rheum," the skin first becomes red and swollen, with itching, burning, local heat, then small blisters form which enlarge and break, and a clear sticky fluid oozes out which stiffens clothing. This is the fluid which gives the disease the name of weeping eczema. As the eczema seems to dry up in one place, it will form yellow crusts or flakes, while breaking out on the nearby skin.

Eczema may vary greatly in its characteristics, sometimes scaling or not, showing pus or not. In some cases the skin is thickened and in some not.

Eczema of the skin somewhat resembles a catarrhal inflammation of the mucus membranes of the body. Where the blood is in such a toxic condition, eczema may follow friction or rubbing on the surface of the body, such as from woolen underwear, but the breaking out often results from no apparent skin irritation. There are some trade eczemas, such as affect chocolate dippers, painters, dyers, etc., but I am sure that the original toxic causes must first exist. Eczema is not contagious. It is not restricted to any age.

The crust which appears on infants' scalps is a mild form of this trouble. Many young children suffer from this trouble, but it must come from wrong feeding, as these cases are quickly cured by putting the child on the right diet. In case of infants, the milk formula must be corrected; if the baby is breast fed, then the diet of the mother should be corrected.

With the adult the cure is noticeably slower, but depends upon the correct diet treatment. Even in case of the trade eczemas where there is an outside irritation of the skin, the main object is to cleanse the blood stream of toxins induced by wrong feeding.

The best way to cleanse the blood stream quickly is to use an acid fruit juice fast similar to the directions which I gave in my recent cleansing diet course. The fast should be continued until the skin shows indications of clearing. It may then be followed by a diet of cooked and raw non-starchy vegetables and some protein, but no sugar should be used at this time, neither should starches, such as potatoes, porridge, bread, etc. Sunbaths may be especially recommended, also local treatments of the affected part with the actinic light.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sleeplessness

Question: Mrs. M. B. writes—"I have suffered with nerves through worry, and it has left me with insomnia. This has lasted nearly a year."

Answer—One of the best ways to cure insomnia is to take plenty of physical culture exercises and also take long walks each day between the hours of three and five in the afternoon. Start walking one mile daily, and gradually increase the distance until you walk four or five miles. Your muscles will temporarily be relaxed after this walk and you will be able to sleep without any difficulty. However, you should also avoid any food which produces an excessive amount of stomach or intestinal gas, as this gas pressure will often distress you enough to keep you from sleeping.

Cheese

Question: Mrs. W. B. asks—"With what other foods may cheese be combined, and what particular kind of cheese do you think best, if any?"

Answer—The best way to use cheese is to make it the "meat" part of a meal, serving with it plenty of green vegetables, both in the cooked and raw form. It combines well, as a lunch, with any of the raw acid fruits, particularly pineapple. No starches should be included with these combinations. Fresh cottage cheese is the most wholesome.

Yellow Eyeballs

Question: B. S. asks—"Will you please tell me how to rid my eyeballs of a yellow color? Have tried a fruit fast for three days and felt very bilious and depressed. I am bothered also with a gaseous stomach, and am very much underweight."

Answer—A three-day fast is just enough to stir you up and make you feel more bilious and depressed. Keep up a fruit fast for at least 10 days if you want to get rid of the jaundice which is causing your eyeballs to become yellow. The tendency to a gaseous stomach will disappear after such a fast if you will afterwards use the proper foods in correct combination.

School Enrollment at Walters Sets Record

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Sept. 24.—Despite predictions that hard times and dry weather would materially reduce the enrollment in Walters High school, the number of students who have begun their studies this year is greater than for any year in the past, according to A. L. Hunt, superintendent of the school.

Hunt believes that all students who contemplate attending the school this year will have been enrolled by the end of this week and that enrollment then will reach approximately 100 more than registered last year. Eighty-nine students have been enrolled in the freshman class up to this time, the largest class ever to enter the high school.

VON ELM LOSES SPECTACULAR 28-HOLE MATCH TO YOUNGSTER

M'CARTHY WINS TENSE BATTLE

Bobby Jones Only 'Seeded' Veteran Surviving

By ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

MERION CRICKET CLUB, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 24.—The shades of night again were falling rapidly over the bunkered battleground this evening when George von Elm of Los Angeles, last survivor of the entire set of "seeded" favorites save only Bobby Jones, lost to Maurice J. McCarthy Jr., of New York, in a spectacular battle that went 10 extra holes to the 28th, and shattered all endurance records for the American amateur golf championship.

Tied after the first nine holes of their second round match, all square again at the 18th, Von Elm and McCarthy, weary but still game went to the 10th extra hole still dead-locked.

48 Holes in Day

It was the 48th hole of the day for the bronzed, stocky McCarthy, who had been forced to play one extra play-off this morning to qualify, then go to the 19th in the first round to eliminate Watts Gunn, of Pittsburgh.

Von Elm had swept through the first round easily, whipping Chuck Hunter by 6 to 5, and stood out as one of the few remaining favorites until he caught the tartar who fought him to a standstill and finally to defeat.

There was every element of dramatic suspense as these two, blond George and dark, pugilistic-looking Maurice, stepped up to the 28th tee and whaled out long drives aimed to give them easy approaches to this dog-leg, 335-year layout, uphill.

McCarthy Drives Better

McCarthy had the longer drive and after Von Elm had pitched well on, the New York youth played a pitch and ran read to the cup. The ball stopped barely eight inches from the hole and Von Elm was left with a 12-footer to sink if he hoped to continue the fight. He missed by a narrow margin and conceded the putt, the hole and the match to McCarthy.

Reversing the situation of a year ago, at Pebble Beach, where the great Jones was the principal victim of an upset, Bobby came through with flying colors today to win both his 18-hole contests and enter the third round while all seven of the remaining "seeded" contestants were handed knockout wallops.

Jones, brilliant in the first round but extremely erratic in the afternoon, conquered the two Canadian contenders, C. Ross Somerville and Fred G. Hoblitzel, by the same margin, 5 and 4. Somerville, the Dominion champion, was buried under a barrage of birdies in the first round. Hoblitzel beat himself by the poorest kind of golf in the second round as Jones, out in an approximate 42—his worst golf of the tournament—played in spots like a duffer.

Seven Survivors

Surviving the battle of "black Wednesday" with Jones were Jess Sweetser of New York, a former champion, forced to go 19 holes to whip a rank outsider, Jack Ahearn of Hamburg, N. Y., in the second round, and a group of six younger stars making up the quarter-final bracket of eight contestants.

In the manner in which they will meet tomorrow, at 36 holes, the quarter finalists present this line-up:

Gene Homans of Englewood, N. J., former Princeton star, versus John Lehman, of Chicago, the western amateur champion and former Big Ten titleholder.

Charles Seaver, 19-year-old Los Angeles youth, a qualifier in the tournament for the first time, versus William F. (Billy) McPhail, Boston star and ex-caddy.

Maurice McCarthy Jr., the "dawn to dusk" champion and metropolitan titleholder, versus Jess W. Sweetser, ex-British as well as American champion.

Bobby Jones versus Fay Coleman, 25-year-old sharpshooter from Los Angeles.

Behind the blazing paths of these golfers were the blasted hopes of such stars as George Voigt of New York; Johnny Goodman of Omaha, the 1929 conqueror of Jones; Dr. Oscar F. Willing of Portland, Ore., in the 1929 runner-up; T. Philip Perkins of New York, the former British champion; Francis Ouimet of Boston, veteran former amateur and open titleholder; and George T. Dunlap Jr., of New York, the national intercollegiate king.

Two Rice Mainstays To Be Out of Kats Battle

HOUSTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Ralph Jones, big back, and Lou Hassell, 195-pound sophomore tackle, in all likelihood will be on the sidelines when the Rice Owls here battle Coach Jim Jones' Sam Houston Teachers college Bearkats Saturday, Coach Jack Meagher of Rice said today.

The Rice mentor quite frankly is worried over Saturday's game. "If we can win Saturday, I feel we'll make a strong showing in all the other games that are to come," Meagher said.

Last season the Owls defeated the Bearkats 7 to 2. This year Coach Jones has available 19 letter men and 40 other candidates, many of them brilliant performers.

Houston Athlete Pilots Aggies as Quarterback

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Sept. 24. (AP)—Bob Harling, formerly of the Milby high school of Houston will pilot the Texas Aggies as quarterback in the opening game of their season with the Southwestern university Pirates at Kyle field Saturday, Matty Bell, head coach of the Aggies, announced today.

Harling, who is a product of intramural football at A. & M., has been running the team from quarterback in practice sessions this week and in scrimmage last Saturday led the reserve squad to victory over the veterans of last year. He is an excellent passer and ball carrier and a fair punter as well as a heady field general.

SELMA WINS FLAG

SELMA, Ala., Sept. 24 (AP)—The Selma Leafs won the class B baseball championship of the South by defeating the Greenville club, South Atlantic league pennant bearers, 5 to 0. The game gave the Leafs four games in the series and the Spinners one.

Rajah Becomes Man of Mystery After Accepting Cub Leadership

Hornsby Hints at Some Big Changes and Declares His Friendship for Joe McCarthy

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (AP)—Rogers Hornsby was more of a man of mystery today than ever as he prepared to take over the mangerial reins of the Cubs and start a rebuilding process, if necessary, to develop them into a world's championship team.

The "Rajah" was formally offered Manager McCarthy's job today, accepted it, and then lapsed into a mental solitude.

Wholesale Changes

One thing was certain, however, and that was that Hornsby intended some wholesale changes in the club for 1931. Even Hack Wilson, the new home run king of the majors, was reported to be on the trading block along with Captain and First Baseman Charlie Grimm, Outfielder Riggs Stephenson, Pitcher Pat Malone and others.

If one or all of them are traded, there would be no great surprise to those close to the "Rajah." He never permits his heart to run away with his baseball judgment and if he could get the players he wants from the Giants, Cardinals and Boston Braves, he would trade for them.

In his association with the Cardinals, Giants and Braves, Hornsby long ago made up his mind as to certain players he would have on a baseball club. But now he remains silent.

Denies Reports

"All I can say at this time is that I am happy to get a chance to manage the Cubs and to deny silly reports that I caused embarrassment to Manager McCarthy," he said. "Mr. Wrigley and Mr. Veeck have asked me to manage the club and I have accepted and will do everything I can to give Chicago a winning baseball club.

"Of course, I plan some some changes in the interests of the club for 1931, but nothing is definite yet."

"And, say," he shouted as a parting shot, "if there are any rumors about the Cubs of any kind, any reports of any kind, just ask me. I'll tell you what I can. I do not intend to hold out on any news."

Manager Joe McCarthy came back tonight after a brief visit to his home in Buffalo, N. Y. He had nothing to say except that he had been "treated fairly" and that he and Hornsby were the best of friends.

Hornsby is expected to start his managership in the city championship series with the White Sox, which is scheduled to open next Wednesday.

League Secretary Gives Corrected Figures On Series

Correcting earlier reports on attendance figures of the Dixie series, Milton Price, secretary of the Texas league Wednesday gave out the following figures:

Total atendance, 36,590; total receipts, $66,902.50; both leagues' share, $13,376.50; clubs' share, $23,689.12; players' share, $29,816.88.

The players' share was divided as follows: Fort Worth, $11,026.75; Wichita Falls, $3,578.03; Houston, $2,385.35; Memphis, $7,156.05; New Orleans, $2,981.69; Birmingham, $1,789.01.

Longhorn Frosh Given 'Double O' By Texas Coaches

AUSTIN, Sept. 24. (AP)—Varsity football players in the making were looked over today by University of Texas coaches when between 150 and 200 freshmen reported for try outs for the first year eleven. C. J. "Shorty" Alderson, freshman coach, put the hopefuls through a light limbering up drill and gave them a short talk on fundamentals.

Heavy practice sessions were scheduled to start later in the week with the frosh expected to take up their tasks against the varsity in the near future.

Alderson will be assisted in coaching the frosh by Mac Burnett and Jim Beard, former Longhorn stars. The freshmen were given exceptionally close scrutiny this year because the team that will represent Texas in a hard schedule in 1931 will be composed mainly of sophomores and juniors, only two seniors being available next year.

Among the most promising first year men reporting were Bojn Hillyard, backfield ace at Schreiner institute for the past two years; William Russel, a back from Hereford who set a new interscholastic record in the 100-yard dash at the state track meet last year; Bill Taylor from Gonzales, back; Red Fagan from Terrell prep school; "Jolly" Dabbs, from Schreiner and Hall, from Temple Junior college.

The line strength of the frosh probably will be centered around "Bull" Katrola, from Granger; Projean, from Orange; Munn and Wallace, Junction; Boyd, from Abilene; Bill Smith, from Cisco; and Garrett, from the valley. The latter also is regarded as somewhat of a bearcat on the diamond and is one of Coach Billy Disch's most promising prospects.

Although interest of the coaches centered around these stars, the entire squad was given the "double O, to see that no bets were overlooked."

Pirates Trim Reds In Final Game at Home

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 24. (AP)—Pittsburgh closed its home season today by defeating Cincinnati 5 to 1 in a game that was called in the sixth because of rain. Indians Go to Amarillo Sept. 26 for Second Game

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Sept. 24.—The Quanah Indians will go against the Amarillo Sandies at Amarillo, Saturday, Sept. 26, in the second conference game of the season for the Indians, and the first for the Sandies in district 1.

Coach Stallworth, who was formerly coach at Waco, is turning loose a whole bagful of tricks with the local team, and 1930 will probably bring the team "out of the cellar" where they have been for several years.

A large delegation of fans will accompany the boys to Amarillo.

Mustangs Prime for Tilt With Yellow Jackets

DALLAS, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Southern Methodist university Mustangs were sand-papering the rough edges of their football machine today preparatory to meeting the strong Howard Payne Yellow Jackets tomorrow.

Eleven veterans will start against the Jackets, nine having been regulars of last year, however, it was likely the first-line Mustang eleven will see little action. Coach Ray Morrison hoped to work in most of his reserve strength against the Jackets, but to start the tilt most of the stalwarts of last season who came through undefeated will be on deck.

Old Backfield

The same old backfield of Gilbert, quarterback; Mason and Kattman, halfbacks, and Hopper, fullback, will take up where it left off last season. Only in the line will 1929 stars be missing. Butler, who will replace Hammon at tackle, and Tarrance, who will take Saunders' place at guard, are not exactly inexperienced hands, at that.

Announcement today that Weldon (Speedy) Mason, star halfback and "mystery man" of the Southwest conference, had safely passed a set of special examinations and been declared eligible to play assured the Mustangs of their strongest line-up for their battle tomorrow.

Passes Tests

Injured during the 1929 campaign Mason was unable to complete his studies last spring and the special tests were necessary to establish his eligibility. He passed them, according to reports, with flying colors, and will start at a halfback post tomorrow.

Snyder Resignation Rumors Denied

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24. (AP)—Rumors that Frank Snyder, manager of the Fort Worth club of the Texas league and Dixie champions for 1930 had resigned were denied here tonight by Ted Robinson, president of the club.

Robinson stated nothing of this nature had been discussed between him and Snyder. He stated Snyder was present Tuesday at the distribution of money received by the players in the Dixie series and added that Snyder invited him to see the world's series with him. Snyder left Fort Worth Tuesday night stating he was going to attend the series.

Reagan Trounces Coyote Reserves

In a fast game held Wednesday afternoon on the Brook and Speedway field, the Reagan junior high school eleven decisively defeated Barry Holton's ninth grade Coyote team, 24-0.

Coach Beck put his Reagan team on the field minus four leter men, having cut them Tuesday as ineligibles.

Thirty men are working out every day, he said, and promise to make a fine showing in a good schedule which has been arranged. The Reagan team is slated to play Archer City here next Wednesday.

215 Pounder Returns To Horned Frog Team

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24. (AP)—Return of Lon Evans to the first squad was the big item of football practice at T. C. U. today, a 215-pound item.

Evans was injured in the North Texas Teachers game Friday and remained away from practice until physicians examined him thoroughly. He is the heaviest man out for tackle.

The Frogs are taking stiff drills each day in preparation for their Saturday encounter with the Austin college Kangaroos to be played here.

Oct. 11 the Christians will meet Arkansas in a game which will open the new athletic plant of T. C. U.

Childress Loses Star End in Quanah Game

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Sept. 24.—The first conference game of the season played here Saturday between the Childress Bobcats and Quanah Indians took heavy toll from the Childress team when their star end for last two seasons, Vernon Johnson, went out in the early stages of the game with a broken arm. He will be out of the line-up for the balance of the season.

The Bobcats won the game, however, with a score of 28 to 12.

BIFF PATRONS END SLUMBERS

Sharkey-Campolo Bout May Drag $150,00

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—The semi-privacy in which Jack Sharkey and Victoria Campolo seemed doomed to battle Thursday night for the "what of it" honors of the heavyweight division was broken somewhat today by inquisitive customers approaching the Madison Square box offices with cash in hand.

The outbreak of interest, mild though it was, sent optimism soaring at the battle palace and brought out predictions that the lackadaisical sailor and the big disappointment from the Argentine will duel before $150,000 worth of patrons in final fight rally of the open air season at the Yankee stadium. The struggle is scheduled for 15 rounds.

Financial optimism is based on the belief that the customers, having held out so long, are bound to weaken tomorrow and rush for places in the reviewing stands. The suspicion has arisen that Campolo, clumsy and slow but a belter with his right hand, may tag Sharkey squarely during the proceedings, and many of the faithful, having waited long to see the Boston sailor beaten, feel they cannot take chances by staying home tomorrow night. If the patrons maintain their aloofness, a gate of less than $100,000, the amount guaranteed Sharkey alone for this match, is in dismal prospect for the garden.

Sharkey has worked none too well in training, appears overweight and sluggish, and lacks fire.

Campolo is in fine condition at about 220 pounds and has labored long to perfect a semblance of a smart left hand to go with his heavy right.

Despite Sharkey's failure to impress in training and Campolo's great advantage in height, reach and weight, the Boston sailor man is a 2 to 1 favorite.

Phillies Send Robins Down to Fourth Place

PHILDELPHIA, Sept. 24. (AP)—The Phillies closed their home season today by defeating Brooklyn, 6 to 3, and sending the Robins down to fourth place in the National league standing. The Phils clinched the game in the first inning as successive home runs by Chuck Klein and Don Hurst overcame a two-run Brooklyn lead. Both wallops were off the pitching of Ray Moss and traveled over the right field wall. It was Klein's 40th homer of the season. Score:

St. Louisians Greet Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24. (AP)—Gabby Street and his Cardinals came home from the East tonight and were greeted at Union station by several thousand cheering fans.

The Cardinals, leading the Chicago Cubs by three games in the National league pennant race, open a four-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates here tomorrow, their final series of the season.

Many of the fans who made the trip to Union station to see the fast-flying Red Birds, were disappointed. The train arrived 15 minutes ahead of the announced time and was shunted onto a west track, the players leaving through a west gate, whereas most of the crowd waited in the midway.

A few minutes after their arrival, most of the Cardinals were on the way to their homes. Battery of newspaper camera men, however, managed to line up the players before they departed.

"Now for Pittsburgh," was Street's first comment, and apparently all he wanted to say. But Jack Grosse, the city greeter, was there and pressed Gabby for details of the Red Birds' sensational drive through the East.

"We beat out those other clubs because every man on the team was hustling and giving his best," he remarked. "It was team play and the fighting spirit of one of the gamest clubs I ever saw."

Burk and Henrietta First Clash Friday

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Sept. 24.—The Henrietta High and the Burkburnett High will clash in their first conference game Friday on the local athletic field.

Little is known of the Henrietta team, but the Burk Bulldogs are expecting a good fight.

The Burk team is crippled badly over the two games with Grandfield in which they faced two defeats. Preston, tackle, and last year's letter man, is out with a fractured arm. He will probably be out for two or three games. Smith, center, has a injured leg but will play some of the game Friday. The Burk team is light, averaging about 140 pounds and is inexperienced, but a good fight is expected from it.

Texans Star in Polo Tourney Semi-Finals

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 24. (AP)—Roslyn, playing the two Texans, Cecil Smith and Rube Williams overcame Sands Point, 12 to 9, in the first semi-final of the Monty Waterbury high goal polo tournament at Meadowbrook today. Sands Point, which had Young Earle Hopping, American internationalist, at No. 2 was spotted three goals on the handicap. Roslyn meets the winner of tomorrow's old Aiken-Green Tree match in the finals Saturday.

Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago will not pick an all-star football team, because he says it is unfair to all players.

Red Sox Defeat Senators By 6 to 3

BOSTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—The Red Sox opened their final home stand of the year by gaining a 6 to 3 victory over the second place Washington Senators. One big inning, the fifth, gave Boston the victory in a duel between "General" Al Crowder and Hod Lisenbee. The Senators opened up with considerable fire, getting to Lisenbee for three runs in the second and third innings, but Hod settled down and allowed but five scattered hits in the last six innings. Brilliant Boston fielding aided in the triumph, as Warstler, Reeves and Todt put over three double plays. Score:

Bobcats Groomed For Tilt With Sweetwater

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Sept. 24.—In preparation for the first class A game of the season for San Angelo High school against Sweetwater Friday, Coaches Bill Bissett and Bill Wright are concentrating upon their offense and in imbuing their charges with more fire and aggressiveness. The Bobcats' attack was spasmodic and they played sluggishly in defeating Ballinger, 20-0, here last Saturday, achieving the victory largely by taking advantage of the breaks of the game.

The week before, San Angelo trounced Big Lake here 33-0. Friday's battle also will be the first for Sweetwater's Mustangs. Coaches Henning and Lowe's men will be outweighed by San Angelo but they are reported to be fast and tricky. About 25 Bobcats will make the trip. San Angelo's starting line-up likely will be: Brothers (captain) and Haley, ends; E. Gregg and T. Jones, tackles; Crotty and B. Jones, guards; Simpson, center; Strickland, quarterback; Rosson and Colton, halfbacks, and Harris, fullback.

Razorbacks Open Season Against Mountaineers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 24. (AP)—Working formations against a freshmen eleven schooled in College of the Ozarks' tricks, the University of Arkansas Razorbacks paced through their final scrimmage session today before opening the season Saturday with the College of the Ozarks Mountaineers.

LOUISVILLE IN FIRST VICTORY

Colonels Grab Little World Series Opener

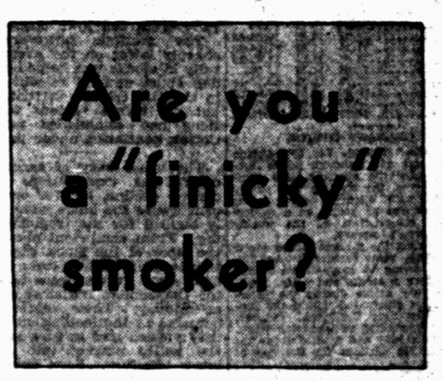

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 24. (AP)—One big inning in which they scored six times was sufficient to give the Louisville Colonels, American association flag winners, a 7 to 3 victory over the Rochester Red Wings, International league champions, here today, in the first game of the 1930 little world series. The inning was the fourth. Through two wide breaches in the home club defense, the Kentuckians poured four hits and two walks for their winning margin.

Rochester's vaunted attack netted them 11 clean hits, two more than their rivals were able to amass, but they were unable to connect with the offerings of Phil Weinert, rugged Louisville lefthander in the pinches. Weinert pitched a cool, heady game.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—Cotton prices moved in a rather feverish and irregular manner over a comparatively narrow range today largely as a result of October liquidation for over the first notice day tomorrow. A good part of the day's business was in the form of exchanging of interests from October to the later position with leading spot houses on the buying side of October at widening discounts as the day progressed.

The South sold less vigorously during the day and at one time the market displayed considerable stability, the new December position advancing to 10.87 a gain of 10 points from the previous close, but later this advance was lost. December closing at 10.77 a decline of 2 points while the general market closed steady 8 points lower to 3 points net higher.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 2 points and after a slight hesitation advanced on a continuation of the recent buying movement by the trade which was said to include the placing of contracts ahead by some spinners in some cases as much as one to two years probably attracted by prevailing price levels.

The weekly weather and crop bulletin was about in line with expectations and had no noticeable influence on prices. Press reports from Washington quoting E. F. Creekmore, president of the Cotton Stabilization corporation as saying holdings of the corporation would not be dumped on the market and reports that federal intermediate credit banks are ready to make available their facilities for financing farmers notes secured by properly stored cotton came in for considerable discussion during the day and brought out some favorable comment.

Liverpool cabled that local buying was absorbing local and continental liquidation in that market. Exports today 20,339, making 967,203 so far this season. Port receipts 49,716. U. S. port stocks, 2,411,329.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24. (AP)—Cotton was active today and although prices fluctuated frequently the changes were comparatively narrow. the opening was steady in sympathy with slightly better cables and later advanced 13 points on a moderately bullish construction of the weekly weather and crop summary.

Near midsession the market turned easier on hedge selling, some further October liquidation and owing to sympathetic selling due to weakness in stocks and grain. Trading became very active during the afternoon and prices fluctuated within the previous range but near the lows. October, owing to the impending notices, was weak. The close was steady and a little above the lows showing net declines for the day of 1 to 5 points.

Liverpool came in 1 point worse to 1 better than due and first trades here showed 1 point down to 1 point up. After fluctuating narrowly during the first hour the market rallied on the weather report and October traded up to 10.68 and December to 10.88, or 8 to 10 points above the previous close.

After midsession prices turned easier and October dropped to 10.55 and December to 10.75, new lows, 13 points below the highs of the morning.

Prices fluctuated within the previous range in the late trading with a heavy business. October was relatively weak and made a new low at 10.53 and closed at the bottom while later months closed a few points above the lows. October closed 5 points net down and December 2 down.

Port receipts 49,715, for week 242,098, for season 1,908,809, last season 1,464,065. Exports 20,339, for week 104,672, for season 845,894, last season 739,339. New Wave of Selling Bumps Stocks Just as Signs Promise Recovery

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (US)—Another wave of selling completely engulfed the stock market today just when, from all outward appearances, it had entered into a new area of relative stability. If, as charged by many of the market's few remaining ardent friends, the selling primarily on its early stages represented a concerted "bear raid," the attack was elaborately staged and particularly well-timed.

During the morning, the rally in prices experienced in the previous day's trading had carried along to some extent and considerable dependence for its continuation was placed upon the weekly steel review due after the noon hour. The steel reviews were fully up to the most optimistic expectations, but with their publication tremendous selling broke out in all pivotal issues.

The pressure brought to bear against quotations was the most severe since the June collapse of prices. Hardly an issue of prominence stood up against the concentrated selling which developed and before long the entire market entered into a vicious slide. At the bottom levels of the day numerous stocks had suffered losses of close to 10 points and in a few speculative issues even large declines were expereinced. The selling movement was the most disastrous, from the price standpoint, in several months. The market was thrown almost into a demoralized state until, almost as suddenly as it commenced, the weakness terminated and a brisk rally from the lows ensued.

The market, however, closed sharply lower on the average. The rally in stocks was helped by a sudden spurt upward in wheat prices in the late trading in that market, but not before various wheat options had established new lows. Cotton continued under pressure.

The usual bevy of excuses were offered as explanations for the drastic decline, but for once in recent weeks the bears were rightfully blamed for the tremendous selling. From competent observers on the floor of the stock exchange, it was learned that at least two powerful bear groups were responsible for the sudden outburst of selling at midday. Their representatives pounded at the leading stocks until they yielded and in turn influenced the entire market into decidedly lower territory. Soon outright liquidation appeared from all parts of the country, nervous holders letting go their securities in the fear that the decline would assume proportions of last year's panic day. This selling provided the very opportunity which the bears seemingly sought. It was short covering which principally brought about the late rally in the market.

At the very bottom of today's market average prices of leading stocks were still somewhat above the absolute lows of the August decline, objective apparently of the bear forces. The margin between today's lowest average quotations and the lowest level of August amounts to a little over three points.

American Can provided the strongest performance of the leading industrials; as a matter of fact it held above its previous day's low point throughout the sharp setback in the entire market. Its performance indicates quite plainly that this issue at least met strong support from more important interests than the bears. From all indications attempt will be made to maintain Can as a potential leader when a new upturn develops. Both Can and Steil closed off equal amounts, 1⅛ points net. Steel, however, broke into new low ground on the current setback, notwithstanding the Iron Age's more encouraging survey, stating that operations have been stepped up 3 per cent the past week and that more active inquiry has developed for future steel purchases.

What this column has repeatedly emphasized as the most drastic threat to the market found ample confirmation in today's session. This refers to the severely weakened position of various pools in speculative issues. It was pointed out here several times that selling from the pools and syndicates themselves constituted the most dangerous element in recent weakness and today various pools were forced to surrender.

No more vivid reflection of this was furnished than in Vanadium, which collapsed to the tune of 14 points to its lowest price. This stock was selected by this column as the outstanding example of manipulation and frequent warning was issued against potential calamity for holders of the stock. It closed down 10 points for the day.

The same condition apparently was prevalent in United Aircraft, which broke five points at the low, and in Westinghouse. The latter has been a particular target for bears, and in this General Electric was not exempt, breaking several points.

Selling which took place in American Smelting, the origin of which was interpreted here some weeks ago as very significant, was more impressive than the bear raiding which may have been in great part responsible for weakness in more speculative stocks. The entire Copper group weakened on this selling and talk was heard of Copper under 10 cents per pound.

Out of the deluge of selling, a few bright spots were discernible, for varying reasons. Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit achieved a net advance on the day despite the general weakness, as continued buying was encouraged by its favorable statement and prospects for unification of facilities in New York City. International Combustion issues were also strong on unfounded report the Foster-Wheeler company had made a new offer to absorb the company on favorable terms to Combustion, particularly the latter's preferred.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (AP)—Grain prices rebounded excitedly in last minutes of trading today after having smashed low price records because of wild selling to stop losses of holders. The sudden final upward jerk of the wheat market was due to a buying stampede which accompanied reports that Russia had been repurchasing millions of bushels of wheat future deliveries that she had recently sold here. There were also late reports current that United States government agencies were buying December delivery of wheat at Minneapolis.

Wheat closed stormy and irregular, ranging from ⅛c lower than yesterday's finish to ⅝c net advance. Corn closed ⅛@⅝c up oats ⅛c off to ⅛c gain, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 25c.

In the feverish trading which preceded the abrupt late upward rush of the wheat market here, prices made a maximum jump of 2⅞c a bushel. The close was at virtually the day's top level, whereas only a few moments previously the market had plunged down to the bottommost point reached since January 1907, and had eclipsed the memorable collapse of values in July 1914 which immediately preceded wartime advances to the peak of $2.49¾. Today's tumble of wheat prices dragged rye and oats down to new low record levels, and also brought about acute temporary weakness of corn.

Corn and oats prices displayed independent strength at times owing a good deal to likelihood of frost tonight in Nebraska and elsewhere, where injury to the corn crop is still feared.

Provisions were responsive to declines in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—December 81⅝@81½c, 85¾@85⅞c; March 84⅛c, 88⅞c; May 87⅝c, 91⅝@91⅞.

Corn—September, offers, 88½c. December 81⅛@81¼c, 84⅛@84½c; March 82c, 85½c; May 83⅝c, 86⅞@87c.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 24. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Hog trade around the 11-market circuit was slow with prices unevenly 10@35c lower. Medium weight and heavy butchers commanded an appreciable premium over weight averages 200 pounds and down. The day's practical top of $10.60 was paid in Chicago for choice 240-275-pound butchers. Offerings were around 67,100.

Fat lambs were tendered another price decline of 25c and current rates are the lowest of the season. Most points also reported a similar loss on matured classes of sheep. A few choice native lambs in Chicago brought $8.25 while best rangers landed at $8.15. The supply approximated 121,500.

Arrivals of cattle were estimated at 42,400. There was a fairly broad demand for the better grades of light weight steers and yearlings at firm to 25c higher prices and some strength developed on highly finished matured steers. "Eight, then," said Mrs. Fairleigh.

She paid a compliment to Sue, smiled at Donna and that was that. Had she seen Mr. Manhattan's column? Donna wondered about this as she sat down at the table that the headwaiter, with much ceremony, allotted to them. But Janey Canfield waved galy to her, and Don Blaisdell's sister paused a moment at their table to exchange idle chatter.

Had they seen, or hadn't they suspected? But Sue brought the matter up as soon as the waiter, their orders taken, left them.

"You conceited thing," she charged.

"Why?" asked Donna.

"To think that paragraph meant you? Mysterious beauty who sways men to her will. That's what you think you are."

ment."

"Well," said Donna, bewildered, "I did rent Libby Prentiss' apart-

"Yes, and Pandora Penlevon rented Marjorie White's apartment. Pandora Penlevon! Don't you love it? Where on earth did she dig up that name? Every one knows all about Pandora."

"Does she—does she go everywhere?" asked Donna.

Sue laughed merrily.

"Certainly not. But for the purpose of a newspaper paragraph—who cares? And you, you vain thing thought you could pass off as not being perfectable respectable. Well, my dear, there's no hope for you. You might as well resign yourself to a respectable marriage, respectable children and a respectable life."

"Who—you say every one knows about—Pandora? Who—who pays her bills?"

"Ah," said Sue roguishly. "You wouldn't like to hear about him."

"Why not?" asked Donna in surprise.

"Well, last night he seemed quite devoted, and according to Mrs. Freddie he's phoned already this morning—"

"You mean Mr. Granby?" inquired Donna.

"Well, rumor had it that he and La Penlevon were fond friends last year," said Sue.

Unaccountable rage possessed Donna. So—that was the sort Ran Granby was. Well, what else did she suppose him to be? A bachelor, of enormous means, footloose—and not too fancy-free, eh?

"I don't believe it," she heard herself saying.

But why didn't she believe it? What was unbelievable about it? Ran Granby was not immune to feminine approach, was he? But—he seemed so—well, nice.

"Don't believe it?" Sue was gently mocking. "What an impression dear old Ran must have made last night. At that, though," she went on. But every one will think so. It doesn't matter much, either way, does it?"

"Of court not," said Donna.

Sue daintily attacked her melon.

"Donna, you liked Ran last night, didn't you?"

"Why—I suppose so," Donna replied with the exact shade of carelessness she felt the answer required. "Why?"

"I've watched the dear old thing at work," smiled Sue. "Immediate interest, a tremendous rush, and then—he's wary. He—oh, I could tell it just by looking at him last night—was bowled over. But it doesn't mean a thing with Ran Granby, dear. Just keep that in your head all the time."

"I wouldn't have considered him a devastaing heart-wrecker," laughed Donna.

"N-no, not in the ordinary sense," admitted Sue. "But—when a man has his money and all that—lots of girls would have taken him, would still take him."

"Well, he didn't arouse me to that extent," said Donna.

"I didn't think so, but—you're no one at all until Ran Granby has rushed you, but—don't take the rush seriously."

"I won't" promised Donna.

And the subject was dropped. Nor was the matter of the paragraph alluded to again. Donna wondered at this. She gave her companion rather less credit than she deserved. After all, Donna, in Sue's estimation, was nice and charming and well-bred. What did Sue care about her antecedents? The age of youth takes care of itself. Their parents may ask pertinent questions, but youth—of both sexes—find its own companionship where it chooses. Donna had nothing to fear—though she didn't know it as yet—from girls like Sue. It was from the older women that danger would come, if it came at all, and Mme Galere had been shrewd enough to recognize this.

Luncheon ended. Sue had some engagement or other, and dropped Donna at the corner of Park avenue and 57th street, whence Donna walked leisurely to her little apartment.

Ran Granby called at a quarter before 8. Donna, ravishing in blue, curtsied before him as he entered her tiny drawing room.

"Do you approve?" she asked.

He gasped at sight of her, and his utterances was the least bit thick for a moment.

"You're too lovely," he said.

She curtsied again, not wholly unaware that the movement revealed her grace compellingly.

"Your investment is—worth while then?" she asked.

He sat abruptly down.

"Miss Raynor—you saw the morning paper!"

"I did. At first I thought it meant me. Then I was told that a certain Miss Pandora Penlevon had been the—er—recipient of attentions from you and that she was meant."

"I hope people think so," said Granby. "But as for Miss Penlevon—that was one of the usual rumors about me that had no foundation. I barely know the woman. My child, I'm afraid that newspaperman meant you. Jenlevon has little to lose and much to gain—in the way of advertisement." For a moment his worried eyes twinkled. "But you—I'd cut off my hand before I'd let a soul suspect—"

She interrupted him.

"After all, this was one of the risks I must take, Mr. Granby. And—it would be too unreasonable to expect that I could do—what I intend to do, without arousing an occasional whisper of gossip."

He became admiring.

"You can meet any situation, can't you?"

"I can try to," she said.

He had that air of lingering, of being in no hurry, which always presages flirtatious or romantic moods. Donna became very businesslike. She gave him a wrap to carry, a vanity bag to hold. She got him out of the house without his realizing at all that she was urging him.

She had him, she realized, at a disadvantage. She should have been the one to show signs of embarrassment, and therefore she must never show any such signs at all to him. Now, because he was, consciously or unconsciously mattered little, sentimentally inclined toward her, the embarrassment must be his. Wherefore she could steer the conversationalist craft whither she willed, and she willed that its direction be anywhere but in that of their relation to each other. So she kept it away from Miss Penlevon, from anything that would inevitably remind them both that she was the recipient of his unconventional charity. Even the expression of gratitude would be dangerous, therefore she would not express it.

Her summer . . . her singing . . . the races yesterday . . . the dance last night . . . her friends . . . they were discussing the charm of Sue Philemon when they reached the Farleighs'. And if Ran Granby vaguely felt that something had been deftly evaded, he wasn't conscious exactly what it was. If he felt that Donna was elusive, he did not quite know what it was that she eluded. He could only have told an inquirer that he was very happy to be with her.

His happiness lasted through the bridge game. Donna had taken a dozen lessons from Brenz, the great contract teacher, and while her game lacked brilliance, it was sound and dependable. She and Ran won, at a penny, $33 apiece, and left amid pretended lamentations from their host and hostess.

"Darned attractive girl," said Fairleigh to his wife.

"Very," agreed Mrs. Freddie. "Wonder who her people are."

"Who cares?" asked her husband.

But Mrs. Fairleigh didn't answer this. She was not a man but a woman, and women quite often do care.

It was only midnight when Donna and Granby reached their taxi.

"Seems a shame to go to bed so early," lamented Granby. "You wouldn't care to drop in somewhere for a bit to eat and dance?"

The idea sounded attractive.

"Where?" asked Donna.

"The Embassy?"

"Sounds delightful," said Donna.

So Granby directed the taximan to take them to East Fiftyseventh street. The club was filled with the after-theater crowd as they entered, but a tiny table was found for them not too far from the dancing space. A dozen people waved greetings to Granby. Donna was to discover that her benefactor was rather popular. Several people bowed to Donna. She felt languid, happy, at ease, the furor of the morning forgotten.

Then, as they rose to dance, a man stopped beside them. It was Frank Gardner, and his face was flushed. He was not intoxicated but it was obvious that he had been drinking heavily.

"Why, it's old Ran Granby," he exclaimed. "Ran Granby and the li'l girl he's keeping."

His voice, thick with liquor, nevertheless was loud. Also it was distinct. A dozen people heard—and understood.

Grand Jury Probes Bail Bond Concern

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (INS)—Action was begun on another important front in Chicago's war against crime today when the federal grand jury, according to reliable reports, opened an investigation into alleged connections of Al Capone gangsters with the John T. Lynn agency, a bail-bond concern.

When asked about the investigation District Attorney Johnson stated:

"This is not a hearing in which indictments will be sought. It is to determine whether Ralph Capone has a financial interest in the agency controlled by Lynn. If such is the case the matter will be called to the attention of the federal judges with the view of having no more bonds accepted from the Grand Central Surety company."

Amarillo Chosen For 1931 Tax Convention

DALLAS, Sept. 24. (AP)—Amarillo was chosen for the 1931 convention of the Texas Tax Collectors' association at the closing session of the annual meeting here today. Roy Law of Cameron was elected president to succeed Neil Campbell of San Antonio.

The members engaged in a long discussion of the fee bill, placing a maximum limit on earnings of county officers, which goes into effect next January.

Court Non-Suits Damage Action of James Kin

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24. (INS)—Actions charging breach of contract brought against the estate of the late Fred C. Thompson, film star, and Paramount-Famous-Lasky corporation by Jesse James Jr., and Jessie Estelle James, descendants of Jesse James, the famous outlaw, today had been non-suited by the court. The son of the outlaw sought $9,400 damages, while his granddaughter asked for $55,000.

LIONS ENDORSE ROAD PATROL

County Urged to Retain Motorcycle Officers

Members of the Lions club Wednesday noon went on record as favoring the retention of county Motorcycle Officers Jess Leverett and C. L. Bradford, named by the county commissioners 10 days ago for dismissal on Oct. 15, as a measure of public safety.

James W. Lyle, head of the Wichita Falls Safety council, spoke in commendation of the work which the two officers have done in making the highways safer for motorists. A resolution opposing the abandonment of the highway patrol and urging the court to reconsider its recent order was proposed by Dr. R. H. Graham, district governor, and seconded by Roy E. Carter, formerly police commissioner.

Conditions which will bring heavy demands upon the community chest during the ensuing year were discussed briefly by Frank Jaynes, educational director of the drive for funds which starts Thursday morning.

Announcement of the fourth annual Atwater Kent radio audition to be held at radio station KGKO next Monday night, Sept. 29, was made by Erwin F. Bohmfalk.

Facts relative to the Wichita county fair which opens at Iowa Park Thursday were given by Frank Cripliver, president.

STATE: "The Silent Enemy," saga of the struggles of the American Indian against starvation. Comedy and sound news.

STRAND: Nancy Carroll and Buddy Rogers, helped quite a lot by Zelma O'Neal, in "Follow Thru." Comedy, screen song and sound news.

GEM: "Men Without Women" with all-star cast. Comedy.

MAJESTIC: George O'Brien in "The Last of the Duanes." Comedy, cartoon and sound news.

Remarkable close shots of a fight between a mountain lion and a bear that make the audience cringe in their seats; beautiful panoramic view of a magnificent herd of caribou sweeping down over the plains; majestic organ music composed from original Ojibway melodies—all these help to make "The Silent Enemy" one of the greatest of epic spectacles—the living record of a dying race. "The Silent Enemy," just released after its $2 Broadway run of over a year, starts Thursday for a three-day run at the State.

Chief Yellow Robe of the Ojibways, who plays an important role in the picture, says of it: "This is the story of my people.

"Now the white man has come; his civilization has destroyed my people. Soon we would have been forgotten.

"But now this same civilization has preserved our traditions before it was too late; now you will know us as we really are. Everything that you will see here is real; everything as it always has been; our buck-skin clothes, our birch-bark canoes, our wigwams, and our bows and arrows; all were made by my people just as they always have done."

The vivid animal shots are not trick photography but were actual photographs, in some cases the cause of injury to cameramen. Two years were required to make it, the producers, director, scenarist, technician and cameramen going into the primitive Ontario regions of Canada and building a simple story around the actual lives of the Ojibways.

"The Silent Enemy" will afford many of us a last look at a vanished race, whose importance and excellence cannot be appreciated at the close range of modern times.

Meanwhile, small boys throng the Majestic to see George O'Brien, the big cloppety-clop and bang-bang man, do "The Last of the Duanes" by Zane Grey. The picture has beautiful settings.

American soda fountains are being installed in France.
