Kennedy, Eisenhower, Truman Attend Final Rites For Rayburn

Speaker Buried In Rural Grave Near His Home

BONHAM, Tex. (UPI) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn was buried in a country cemetery Saturday after a simple funeral attended by the mightiest men in the nation and his hometown friends and neighbors.

President Kennedy, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, former Presidents Eisenhower and Truman and scores of senators and representatives put aside political rivalries to pay last respects to "Mr. Democrat".

The few remaining members of the once-large Rayburn family were joined at the rites by townspeople who had known him all their lives.

The funeral in the First Baptist Church of Bonham in the rolling plains of northeast Texas lasted 30 minutes. The heavy bronze coffin, colored gunmetal gray and trimmed with chrome, was carried down a dirt road to Willow Wild Cemetery under a gray and dismal sky.

A crowd estimated by the Texas Department of Public Safety at 15,000 filled the streets around the church to watch in silence as "Mr. Sam" started his last trip through the town he loved.

In the grassy 25-acre Willow Wild Cemetery, the coffin was slowly lowered into a grave dug next to that of his sister Lucinda, who was closest to him of all his 10 brothers and sisters. She died of cancer in 1954.

A simple $140 headstone will mark the grave of the man who served longer as congressman and as House speaker than any other man in history. It will say, "Sam Rayburn, Nov. 16, 1882—Nov. 16, 1961."

Rayburn died of cancer in the Risher Hospital at Bonham Thursday morning. He would have been 80 next January.

The body, dressed in a blue suit, white shirt and dark blue tie lay in state from Friday morning until Saturday. So great was the crush of the hundreds of people who wanted to pay their last respects that the doors of the Sam Rayburn Library were left open longer than planned so all could get in.

The coffin was moved directly from library to church. It was closed and a spray of red roses and fern placed on top of it.

President Kennedy, interrupting a Western speaking tour, flew into Perrin Air Force Base at nearby Denison and rode a helicopter to Bonham. He went directly to the church.

Former President Truman had arrived early and gone to see Rayburn's surviving brother and two sisters at the colonial mansion Rayburn built in 1914 after his first term as congressman.

Former President Eisenhower flew to Perrin and went to Bonham by helicopter.

At the church Truman nodded to Kennedy. Kennedy talked to (See RAYBURN, Page 3)

Air Service Plea Voiced By Pampan

City, county and federal aviation officials met at a dinner in Coronado Inn Friday night to discuss needs for improvement to Pampa's airport.

Rep. Walter Rogers, scheduled to meet with the tri-body group, was forced to cancel his appearance two hours before the meeting in order to make travel arrangements to be in Bonham for the funeral of House Speaker Sam Rayburn Saturday.

The congressman was advised if he didn't leave Friday afternoon, weather conditions might be such Saturday that he would not arrive in time for the funeral.

Out-of-town aviation authorities at the meeting included A. N. Zipp, FAA engineer at Fort Worth; Rollo Hill and Gus Risher, FAA Flight Service at Amarillo; Henry Wisener of the FAA Flight Safety Division, Amarillo, and Sam Brown, chief tower operator for the FAA in Amarillo.

County Judge William Craig, Robert Price, chairman of the Gray County Airport Board; City Manager John Koontz, E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber of commerce manager, and other members of the airport board were among those in attendance.

Richard Batson, attorney with the Cabot Corp., and an air enthusiast, replaced Rep. Rogers, and outlined the Pampa airport operation.

Ralph Prock, chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee, opened the meeting to questions and answers, following Batson's talk.

FAA Engineer Zipp said Pampa could receive federal aid for its airport for reconstructing runways and air strips. This would be on a 50-50 cost basis, he said.

Local officials at the meeting told the visiting FAA representatives Pampa is in need of an omnibus station to make it possible for instrument landings at the local airport.

The FAA officials also heard another plea for serious consideration of Pampa's application for commercial air service into Pampa and on to Dallas and Fort Worth and Southwest points.

This matter, Chamber Manager Wedgeworth said, is due to come up for hearing in Washington shortly after the first of the year.

A request was made Friday night to have the Gray County Commissioners' Court send one or two representatives with the delegation which goes to the nation's capital to make the plea in behalf of granting Pampa's application.

The Pampa airport is under direct supervision of the commissioners' court.

VFW Will End District Meet With Noon Banquet

A breakfast for past commanders at 8 o'clock this morning and a noonday banquet will be outstanding features of the final day of the two-day meeting of District 9 Veterans of Foreign Wars which opened in Pampa Saturday afternoon.

The breakfast this morning is scheduled in the Pampa Hotel Dining Room. The noonday banquet is set for the Pampa Hotel. Peter Stack of Austin, department commander for the State of Texas, will be the principal speaker at the banquet meeting.

Ladies of the VFW Auxiliary also are meeting here in conjunction with the veterans conference. A business meeting for the Auxiliary is scheduled at 10 a.m. in Lovett Memorial Library and the veterans will conduct a business session at the same hour in the VFW Hall, N. Russell and Foster Sts.

First delegates from 15 Panhandle counties in District 9 began arriving shortly after noon Saturday. A dance for veterans and their wives was held in the VFW Hall. Music was by Tommy Atkins orchestra.

Business sessions of the veterans today will be conducted by District Commander Henry Cassidy of Dalhart.

M. E. Mahan is commander of Pampa VFW Post 1857, host to the two-day conference.

Discussion of a district membership drive, status reports and future planning will highlight the business session today, District Commander Cassidy said.

Republican Wins Legislative Race

AMARILLO (Spl) — Kenneth Kohler, an announced Republican, won the Potter County election Saturday as representative to the Texas House to fill a vacancy created by the death of J. Edgar Wilson.

Kohler beat out Mrs. J. Edgar Wilson, widow of the legislator who had served from the 93rd district for four consecutive terms, and two other candidates for the post, James Lankford, a former precinct chairman for the Potter County Democratic Executive Committee, and Walter Knapp, who served as an assistant district attorney for one year.

The vote was: Kohler, 2286; Wilson, 1634; Knapp, 1117; Lankford, 74.

Kohler, Amarillo clothing merchant, will take office immediately and serve until January, 1963. The next regular session of the state legislature is not scheduled until Jan. 1, 1963 and Kohler will get a chance to vote only if Gov. Price Daniel calls a special session before then.

Adenauer Arrives Today To Discuss Berlin With JFK

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, beginning his fourth term at 85 years of age, rested Saturday before flying to Washington for critical Berlin talks with President Kennedy.

Adenauer's foreign minister, Gerhard Schroeder, spent the day in West Berlin in last minute consultation with city leaders and with Kennedy's personal representative, retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss returned from Oslo, where he was the target of noisy anti-German demonstrations.

Both Schroeder and Strauss are to accompany Adenauer to Washington Sunday. Clay also will be in Washington for the three days of Kennedy-Adenauer talks opening Monday morning.

Adenauer and Kennedy have exchanged at least three letters since they met in Washington last April, it was learned.

None of the letters have been published. But they are believed to concern ways of approaching the Berlin crisis without either pushing it to war or seriously weakening the Western position.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a press conference Friday that the United States and West German governments "are unified on our basic purposes."

Adenauer outlined some of these at a press conference two days ago. As non-negotiable elements of (See ADENAUER, Page 3)

Divorce Plans Stir Talk Of Rockefeller's Future

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said Saturday it was too early to know whether Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's prospective divorce had damaged the New Yorker's chance of winning the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

He told a reporter that the effect of divorce on Rockefeller's political future could not be assessed until after the 1962 election in which the New York Governor will be seeking a second term at Albany. He said the state election should indicate whether

McCormack Opposed For Rayburn's Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A predominantly Protestant group Saturday expressed "anxiety" over the expected election of Rep. John W. McCormack—a Catholic—as speaker to succeed Sam Rayburn.

Protestants and other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, said the basic fact of McCormack's religion was not at issue.

What was involved, it said in a statement, is that the Massachusetts Democrat has "been for many years the foremost champion on Capitol Hill of the Catholic bishops' position on church and state."

"No one questions the right of Mr. McCormack or any other congressman to be a sincere devotee of his faith," the group said, "but when he seeks political favors for his own church he must bear the responsibility."

The organization, which claims a national total of 100,000 supporters, has vigorously opposed federal aid to parochial schools.

It said in its statement Saturday that "while President Kennedy and the Supreme Court have sought to uphold and maintain church-state separation, Mr. McCormack has opposed them. Of course we are concerned about how he would use the greatly expanded powers of his prospective office."

General Democratic Party sentiment is that McCormack will have an easy victory when the House Democrats elect a speaker next January.

This also is the opinion of former House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, a Republican, who was interviewed here en route to Rayburn's funeral.

"In my judgment McCormack will have no difficulty in being elected," Martin said. "I can't see the Democrats setting him aside after so many years of faithful service (as party leader). I think he'll make a good speaker."

Two UN Officials Aboard Plane Missing In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — An Italian air force C119 Flying Boxcar with eight crewmen and two United Nations officials aboard was reported missing Saturday over the Congo on a flight from Pisa, Italy, to Leopoldville.

A U.N. spokesman said the plane which left Entebbe, Uganda, Friday, had been scheduled to bypass Kivu Province where the rebellious troops who killed 13 Italian airmen a week ago Saturday threatened to shoot down any U.N. or Air Congo plane they saw.

The plane was due in Leopoldville at 10:55 a.m. CST. The last radio report from the crew—part of the same group as the slain airmen—came at 3:40 a.m. CST. The United Nations immediately began searching airfields where it might have made a landing.

Central Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula left meanwhile for tense Luluabourg to try to calm restless troops there while other government officials attended a memorial service for the slain Italian airmen.

Informed sources said Congolese troops have prevented U.N. jets from leaving Luluabourg Airfield in Kasai Province to patrol the troubled Kasai-Katanga province border. Congolese surrounded the airfield Thursday, but Nigerian U.N. soldiers chased them off.

But a dispatch late Saturday said one of the jets based there had taken off to join nine other U.N. planes in the search for the missing Italian C119.

A U.N. DC4 took off from Leopoldville late Saturday for Albertville and was to fly along the C119's route in darkness towards Entebbe to look for signs of the missing plane.

A U.N. spokesman said Congolese troops at Goma, near Lake Kivu, tried to confiscate a U.N. plane but were "dissuaded by a deployment of U.N. troops."

The United Nations officially denied reports originating in Elisabethville that U.N. planes bombed and strafed three towns in Kivu Province Friday. Elisabethville reports said the planes "completely destroyed" the towns of Sambila, Pangani and Kobongo.

After the reports circulated, Colonel Pakassa, commander of the rebellious troops in Kivu, issued orders to his troops to fire on all planes that fly over the region. A U.N. spokesman said the Elisabethville bombing reports were as irresponsible as yelling fire in a crowded movie house.

Rayburn Gift Treasured By Pampa Man

One of the most treasured articles in the possession of Frank M. Carter, Pampa rancher, is a copy of the House Rules and Manual, signed and presented to him by his longtime friend, the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Carter showed the book to a newsman and photographer at his home north of the city Saturday as last rites for "Mr. Sam" were held in Bonham.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter were in Washington back in 1952 visiting with Rep. Walter Rogers and they later went to Mr. Rayburn's office in the House Building.

"After having talked for quite a while," Carter said, "Mr. Sam took the House Rules book in his hand and all of a sudden he said, 'here, I don't need this any more — I know them all by heart' — and he handed the book to me and said, 'you keep it.'"

Carter said he asked Mr. Rayburn if he would autograph the manual for him.

He wrote, as shown in the accompanying photograph, "Sam Rayburn, Speaker, January 16, 1952."

"Mr. Rayburn was a great man," Carter said. "If you knew him, you loved him. I learned that when I first came to know him many years ago."

Fund Drive Now At $51,161 Mark

Another $100 was added to Pampa's United Fund Saturday.

Contributions up to noon yesterday totaled $51,161.59 according to George Newberry, general chairman of the drive.

The Pampa-Lefors goal is $88,746.

Three Panhandle towns reported Saturday they had gone over the top in the UF campaigns. They were Dalhart, Dumas and Booker.

"We hope to increase our total appreciably with reports Monday and Tuesday of weekend collections and contributions," Newberry said.

Ranch Moisture Now Adequate, Agency Reports

COLLEGE STATION (UPI) — Though winter officially is still weeks away, farmers and ranchmen in western and northwestern areas of the state know it has arrived.

Lower temperatures and moisture in the form of rain, sleet, snow and drizzle covered most of Texas during the first half of the week and brought a halt to most outdoor activities, said the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, at midweek.

Snowfall was reported along the New Mexico-Texas border with the heaviest falls measured at El Paso and Mulshoe. Rains varied from showers and drizzle to heavy downpours with the larger amounts along the upper coast.

The service said that soil moisture was now adequate in all districts of the state, except in far South Texas, in counties west of the Pecos river and a few spots in eastern and northeastern counties.

Ranges and pastures were described as good in all except the drier areas as was the condition of livestock. Pastures in the salt water coastal counties are showing no vegetation regrowth and cattle are being fed in Atascosa and McMullen counties.

Stockmen in all sections are hoping that the colder weather will aid them in their fight against the screwworm.

Small grains are making good growth and more and more of the acreage is being utilized for grazing, the service said. Wheat grazing prospects in the Panhandle have improved with the additional moisture.

The cotton and grain sorghum harvests in western and High Plains counties have been delayed by the unfavorable weather conditions. Full scale mechanical harvesting of cotton will resume with favorable weather, the service said.

The soil is too dry in South Texas for oat and flax planting and the acreage is expected to be reduced. While to the north in south central counties it was too wet

Lone Male Student At Girls' School Lacks Time For Dates

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Music student Charles Schmitt wishes he had more time for dates.

Schmitt, 18, goes to morning classes at St. Louis University for the completion of the planting of these two crops.

The service said the quality of South Texas grapefruit was excellent and the market good. It was less favorable for oranges. The state's pecan crop is very spotted.

and attends afternoon class sessions at Webster College.

Webster College is a girls' school with an enrollment of 600. Schmitt is the only male student.

Schmitt, who plays guitar, clarinet and piano, wanted to study art and music at a Catholic college. The only Catholic college in St. Louis which offered the courses he wanted was Webster. He applied and was admitted.

Sister Marie Francis, dean at Webster, said Schmitt is a "guinea pig." If he works out, Webster hope to admit more males students next year.

Schmitt had a little trouble explaining it to his draft board. Some of his friends teased him. And a few of his Webster College classmates pinned the nickname "Charlene" on him. But most of the girls "made me feel at ease," he said.

His friends still joke about Schmitt's choice of a college, his mother, Mrs. Marie Schmitt, said, but "they know who to ask when they need to find a date."

Trouble is, with all those classes at two schools and Schmitt's two jobs, there just isn't enough time for dating. He helps his father give guitar lessons and he plays in a dance band evenings.

Still, he admits he has dated "two, or maybe three" of his Webster classmates.

Schmitt has made quite an impression on several of his classmates.

Sue Albietz, a pretty, blue-eyed voice major, said, "he's the type any girl would like to go out with."

Jeannette Stoughton, 18, a green-eyed blonde, said it will be all right if Webster goes coed if all the males admitted are "like Chuck."

Another girl sighed, "It's so nice to have a man around the school."

Girl Saved From Fire In Big Dallas Edifice

DALLAS (UPI) — Fire swept through the 28th floor of the Mercantile National Bank Building in downtown Dallas today. A 19-year-old elevator operator was trapped 2½ hours by the flames.

Smoke and water damaged two other floors.

Thousands of persons lined the streets, watching heavy smoke pour from the 35-story building. Police blocked off the area around the structure, snarling traffic for two hours.

The operator, Joyce Buckbee, a former polio victim, was rescued by firemen who lowered themselves on a rope in the elevator shaft and forced open the top of an emergency hatch.

The girl was not physically injured. She suffered severe shock, however, and was reported in fair condition in a hospital.

Firemen said the operator reported the fire over a telephone in the elevator cage. She started down, but the flames ate through control cables and stranded the cage between the 27th and 28th floors.

"Let me out!" "Save me!"

Russians Boast Of Superiority In Arms Power

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviets Saturday boasted of what they termed the "unquestionable" superiority of their arsenal of nuclear warheads and rockets. They said Russia had a far greater stockpile of nuclear bombs than the United States ever dreamed.

They claimed to have anti-missile missiles, nuclear warheads of up to 100 megatons, and the capability of delivering "any kind of charges" anywhere in the world.

The statements were made in articles by various Soviet officers published in the official Red Army newspaper "Red Star" on the eve of Soviet artillery day. "Red Star" devoted 1½ page of the 6-page issue to the unusual spread on the superiority of Soviet rocketry over the rest of the world.

The five articles were vague and wordy and offered little concrete data.

Col. Gen. of Artillery P. Kulshov repeated the Soviet claim to an anti-missile missile and scoffed at the American efforts to perfect such a weapon.

"The theory of American specialists that the Soviet Union can be destroyed in several hours is built on sand," Kulshov said.

He said anti-aircraft rockets "have been improved so much that the sorry fate of the U2 awaits any of the world's existing planes, no matter how high they fly."

Col. Gen. V. Tolubko, who is in charge of the strategic rocket force, said the Soviet Union has "much more powerful nuclear charges, up to 100 million tons (of TNT), and a much greater stockpile of warheads than taken into account by American specialists."

Icy Storm Damaged Many Video Antennas In Pampa

Tree limbs were not the only sufferers in last week's wind, snow and ice storm that descended on Pampa Wednesday.

Pampa, like any fringe area, has a forest of television antennas.

On Wednesday the snow and ice collected on the antennas. Wednesday night the wind whipped down at 30 to 40 miles per hour out of the north.

The ice, and crusted snow on the aerial teevee receivers made them just heavy enough to take a whipping from the wind. Many were broken off. Others were bent over and twisted out of direction.

As a result antenna repairs have been doing a land office business the past few days putting the aerials back in shape.

Some of the larger ones were blown down. Others went into a leaning tower stance.

New residents here who had not gone through a windstorm experience with their teevee antennas before thought there was something wrong with their sets when the picture went "snowy."

The female of the giant California condor lays only one egg at a time and does not lay every year.

and reception was on the bad side.

The teevee antenna men say many aerials that were not blown down were broken and twisted off channel waves for best reception.

So, if you still are having no luck with your reception, better have the aerial checked for true position.

Apoleton Rites Held Saturday

Funeral services for N. T. Apoleton, 87, who resided at 810 E. Scott, were held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home with the Rev. James E. Price, pastor of the Methodist Church in Canadian, officiating. Mr. Apoleton died at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the Worley Hospital after an extended illness.

He was born Oct. 12, 1874 in Marion County, Ark. and came to Pampa from Canadian in 1954. For many years he worked for the grain elevator and feed store in Canadian. He was a member of the Methodist Church in Canadian.

Survivors are two brothers, Marshall Apoleton of Pampa, and N. S. Apoleton of Huntsville, Ark.; one nephew, Claude Apoleton of Huntsville, Ark.; a niece, Mrs. Charles Coward of Tulsa, Okla.; and a cousin, Paul W. Apoleton of Pampa.

Interment was in the Canadian Cemetery.

Boat And Ski Club To Meet

President David Enloe announced today that the Pampa Boat and Ski Club will hold its regular meeting Friday night at 7:30 in the Knights of Pythias Hall.

This is a new meeting time and place for the organization. Purpose of the meeting will be to complete plans for the Christmas Banquet and to discuss the Santa Claus Day Parade float.

Lieutenant Bill Cooper, of the Pampa Army Reserve unit, will be the guest speaker at the session. His topic will be "Safety Measures." Refreshments will be served and games played. Every one is urged to attend.

Rayburn

Eisenhower in an anti-room before the service.

Organ music filled the modern, slope-roofed church of stone, glass and wood.

President Kennedy sat in a front pew on the aisle. In order, next to him, sat Vice President Johnson, the last administration official to see Rayburn alive, Eisenhower, Truman, Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona who is 84, and Maj. Gen. Chester Clifton, presidential military aide.

Friends and neighbors, white and Negro, sat in chairs and crowded into side rooms. Some 1,020 persons were in the church. Loudspeakers carried the rites into the side rooms and out to the thousands gathered in silence in the cold outside. Many were in tears.

The Rev. Bernard Braskamp, House chaplain, opened the service with the familiar 23rd Psalm, "The Lord is my shepherd. . . . 'Thy will be done,' he prayed. 'For Thou dost give and Thou dost take away.'"

Elder H. G. Ball of the Primitive Baptist Church at Tioga and the man who baptized Rayburn by immersion, preached a 15-minute sermon. His high, nasal voice rang through the church. Primitive Baptist Churches do not have Psalms.

"Such men are not born, they are made," Ball said of Rayburn, who had wielded power in Washington second only to the President.

He compared Mr. Sam to the Apostle Paul. There were no lofty phrases.

"He has been fair, he has been loyal, he has been just and . . . he has kept faith not only with the people of Fannin County and surrounding counties (of Texas) but with the nation."

He spoke for 22 minutes.

President Kennedy, sat with arms folded, staring at the preacher. Truman and Eisenhower sat with bowed heads.

Behind them were Rayburn's colleagues—Rep. Joe Martin Jr., of Massachusetts, who also had been a House Speaker, GOP House Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana, Texas Governor Price Daniel and Democratic Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

Present was Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who probably will succeed Rayburn as speaker next January.

The entire 21-member Texas congressional delegation was among the 150-odd national lawmakers who came to Bonham to say goodbye to the man who had guided—and often chided—them.

Although Kennedy was on a tight timetable, he decided to go to the cemetery to watch Mr.

Sam laid to rest. Truman and Eisenhower went, too.

The President was due in Los Angeles Saturday night to speak at a $100-a-plate Democratic fundraising dinner.

At the end of the service, the family left the church first. President Kennedy waited until they had left. Truman and Eisenhower followed the family from the church.

The heart of the church was a blaze of color from the flowers that flanked the coffin.

When he was told last September that he had cancer, Rayburn had one request: that flowers be withheld at his funeral and money sent instead to the foundation operating the Sam Rayburn Library that holds the mementoes of his 48-year congressional career.

The President, Vice President and all of Mr. Sam's House and Senate colleagues were honorary pallbearers. Actual pallbearers were H. G. Dulaney, a Rayburn aide, John Holton, another aide, attorney Robert Cole, Robert Moore and Choice West, old friends, and Dr. Joe Risser who had been Rayburn's physician.

The service was televised nationally.

President Kennedy rode through town in a closed limousine to the church. A crowd of 2,000 had cheered him when he arrived in Bonham. But that was virtually the only noise in the mourning town of 10,000 people.

Thousands more had poured into Bonham for the funeral.

This is farming country and many of the faces, under broad Texas hats, were seamed and lined by the sun and wind that weathers the sandy northeast Texas region.

Many wept for their friend.

The sun broke through the overcast slightly as the Rayburn family arrived at Willow Wild Cemetery.

Dwight Eisenhower noticed that some ladies were standing at the graveside and offered his seat to one. Seats were located for them and the former chief executive was ushered back to his seat. Kennedy and Truman also made moves to give up their seats, but it was not necessary.

Later, at the grave, the elder Ball offered a brief prayer, a hand outstretched over the coffin. A plane roared overhead.

Flowers were massed at the graveside, hiding the raw turned earth.

Not until the crowd had left was the coffin lowered into the grave that had been dug by two men who had known Rayburn all their lives. It took them four hours.

Over the eight other family graves, each with a flat headstone, stood a monument of Georgia granite to the memory of Rayburn dead.

Rubberneck Bus Tour Of The Two Berlins

By TOM A. CULLEN

BERLIN (NEA) — "Please have your passports ready," the guide announced. "And remember, you are not to point your cameras at military personnel!"

The rubberneck bus was half empty as we started from the Kurfurstendamm on our sightseeing tour of East Berlin. A handful of Americans, a Swiss couple, a few sightseers of undetermined nationality.

Hilda, the guide during half the journey, was not pretty. Indeed, her face had a disheveled appearance and was so pale that the freckles stood out.

But she had that mixture of arrogance and wit which sets Berliners apart. When we came to the Wilhelmstrasse, which was once the seat of the German government and is now overgrown with weeds, Hilda could not refrain from adding, "The seat of government, as you know, is now located in that obscure village on the Rhine known as Bonn."

TIRED, DREARY EAST BERLIN — Rebuilding a church near Stahloff Platz (right) cannot obscure the ruins that have been in disrepair since World War II.

part of Berlin which lies between the East and West sectors, and which is known as No Man's Land. During a single air raid in 1949, 15,000 people were killed and 53,000 houses were destroyed in this section. This gives some idea of how desolate No Man's Land is today.

We are now approaching the East sector of Berlin, the so-called Democratic sector," Hilda announced with heavy irony.

"While you are in the Democratic sector, you will have a different guide," she added, and with this she took a seat by herself midway in the bus.

We could see The Wall at a distance long before approaching "Check Point Charlie" in Friedrichstrasse. "The Chinese Wall," West Berliners call it. The Reds started to erect it during the night of Aug. 13, 1961, and nothing has been quite the same in Berlin, or indeed in the outside world, since.

The American military police who man "Check Point Charlie" on the Western side waved us on, but the moment the bus crossed the barbed wire barricades and entered East Berlin it was boarded by Vopos as the Communist police are called.

The Vopos checked our passports — that is they checked to see that the passport photos matched our faces — then handed them back.

The new guide we took aboard was a youth with a splotched complexion, a student I would judge, whose right trouser leg was torn — for one wild moment I imagined that he had torn it on barbed wire in trying to escape to freedom, but after hearing him talk, I discovered that this was not the case.

He also warned us not to take photographs of military personnel or military objects.

The bus took us to August Bebel Square near Unter den Linden where the State Opera and Humboldt University, with a 12,000 student enrollment, are located. Also, the East Germans are rebuilding the Royal Library and the Catholic Cathedral of Berlin.

When I asked the guide why the East German Reds were so slow in rebuilding churches, he told me that apartments had priority. "We are not against churches," he added hastily.

I had invited Hilda to join our American party in the back of the bus, but she had declined, saying that it would not do for her to be seen talking too much to us.

But I found out about Hilda when the other passengers climbed out of the bus to take snapshots. Her father is Belgian, so Hilda holds a Belgian passport, which is the reason she got the job working on the bus. (West Berliners are not allowed to go sightseeing in East Berlin. Let alone to conduct rubberneck tours.)

But Hilda was worried. "I do not know how much longer I

Japan Leading Foreign Buyer Of Farm Goods

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Japan, a small country with more than half as many people as the United States, was the leading foreign market for U.S. farm products during the 1950-59 decade.

The average annual value of U.S. farm exports to Japan was $391 million, compared with $383 million to Great Britain, the second leading market.

Agriculture Department economists have calculated that at the 1960-61 level the value of U.S. farm products to Japan amounted to nearly $150 per American farm. And with the lively Japanese economy expanding at about 8 per cent annually, the outlook for U.S. farm exports to Japan is promising.

Japanese farmers coax an output from their acres three to four times as high as most countries in the Far East. But even so, Japan can produce only 80 per cent of the country's food needs and only a fraction of agricultural raw material requirements.

Agricultural imports, vitally important to Japan, constitute about 40 per cent of all imports and are rather well distributed between foodstuffs — wheat, sugar, and soybeans — and agricultural industrial materials cotton, wool, rubber, tallow, and hides and skins.

In 1950, nine commodities — wheat, barley, corn, rice, soybeans, cotton, tobacco, tallow, and hides and skins — constituted the bulk of the U.S. agricultural exports to Japan. During the mid 1950s, soaring agricultural productivity reduced the need for rice, and by 1960 barley was no longer imported.

Despite the decline in the number of principal commodities being supplied by the United States and the general decline in prices, the level of exports to Japan moved steadily upward in 1960. In fiscal 1961 they appear to be headed for an all-time high of about $560 million.

Churchman Explains Campaign Statement

By CLARE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale has used thousands of case histories in illustrating his points about positive thinking and confident living. Now he is citing himself as an example of where a man can act unwisely.

Peale, in a new book titled "The Tough — Mindful Optimist," published by Prentice-Hall, gives for the first time his account of the part he played in the preparation of a controversial statement on religion that was issued by a group of clergymen in Washington during the 1960 presidential campaign.

That statement, prepared when John F. Kennedy was seeking to become the first Roman Catholic president, raised certain questions about the separation of church and state. The men connected with the statement came to be known as "the Peale group."

Peale has decided that he acted "unwisely" in attending the conference or in playing a part in it that led the public to believe he was a leader of it. He said what ensued was "one of the most upsetting experiences of my life," but it gave him an opportunity to grow.

"There are many things that can upset a person," he wrote. "Making a foolish mistake can be upsetting. Having your motives questioned or misinterpreted can be upsetting. Being criticized by your colleagues can be upsetting. Getting rattled can be upsetting. Questioning your own intelligence can be upsetting. All these things happened to me, and they all happened at once."

Peale said the first he knew of the Sept. 7 meeting was an invitation he received the preceding day. It was to be a conference on the separation of church and state, which he regarded as a question of historic significance, and he felt he should attend, along with the 149 other persons there.

"Some of these were old friends, who welcomed me," Peale said, "and I foolishly and thoughtlessly allowed myself to be pressed into service as chairman of the morning session, even though I then had scant knowledge of the agenda, and had scarcely collected my wits after my travels."

Because he does not enjoy sitting still for long periods at meetings, Peale left the conference for "an extended period" to make telephone calls and take a walk. Finally, he said, he reluctantly returned.

"Looking back," he said, "I am amazed at my own lack of perceptiveness relative to such a gathering as this, especially at such a time. I should have realized that reporters — ever alert for a big story — were going to pounce on anything that could possibly be related to politics. And I should have realized that, since I acted as chairman, even though for a short time, the meeting might be identified with me."

Peale said he saw the statement that had been prepared by leaders of the meeting but had no part in its writing. It seemed to

Rayburn's Death Raises Questions In State Circles

By PAT CONWAY

AUSTIN (UPI) — Political observers in Texas today pondered three important questions arising with the death of Sam Rayburn.

Who will be the new leader of the state's Democratic congressional delegation?

Who will be Mr. Sam's successor as congressman from the 4th District of Texas?

Will the state legislature finally enlarge the 4th District, one of the smallest in the nation, that sent Rayburn to Congress for almost half a century? The legislature kept hands off the district in years past because that's the way Rayburn wanted it.

The Texans in Washington are basically split into three distinct groups — liberals, conservatives and moderates.

Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco, a 15-year veteran in the House, is often mentioned as the man to replace Rayburn as the unifying force of the Texas Democratic delegation.

Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen will probably emerge as the conservative leader if he seeks re-election. Leadership of the liberal and moderate groups may fall to either Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth or Rep. Homer Thornberry of Austin.

Four politically prominent North Texans appear the strongest potential candidates to succeed Rayburn in the House.

They are:

State Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney. Roberts has announced he will not seek re-election to the Senate. He has been a political student of Rayburn's. Roberts is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and is regarded as a conservative on fiscal matters.

Texas House Speaker James A. Turman of Gober. Turman's political views are similar to the moderate slants Rayburn gave the issues. He is also considered as a candidate for lieutenant governor.

State Rep. Charles Hughes of Sherman. A veteran liberal leader in the state House of Representatives, Hughes has been mentioned as the man Mr. Sam wanted to succeed him.

Attorney Bob Slagle of Sherman. Slagle is Hughes' law partner and former state campaign manager for Sen. Ralph Yarborough. Slagle and Hughes will have to decide within their partnership who will be the congressional candidate. The one who draws the black bean will probably run for the state Senate to replace Roberts.

Greenville businessman Jack Finney has already announced his candidacy in the Democratic primary next spring. A leading conservative, Finney considered running against Rayburn in 1954. He will probably run in a special election to fill Rayburn's unexpired term.

Other potential candidates include Rockwall County Judge Ralph Hall, Sherman attorney David H. Brown, one-time young Democrat leader Roy Baker of Sherman, Sherman attorney Buster Cole, Fannin County Judge Choice Moore, former state Democratic committeeman Bill Parker of Greenville and state Rep. W. T. Dungan of McKinney.

Arkansas' Mississippi County grows more cotton than any other in the state.

ticing baseball, it is unlawful for anyone to pitch or throw a baseball across any street or alley in the business district of the city. Better watch-out come Spring training!

You can also be fined for whittling, cutting or defacing trees on or near streets within the city limits. If a patrolman should nab you it might cost you a fine of $10.

The above ordinances are law in the City of Pampa. Furthermore, these and others rather archaic, are enforceable should the city so choose.

Within the past few years, the city has simplified its records by modernizing the index system and revamping overlapping provisions.

There were many regulations approved by the council in the early years of the city such as ordinances pertaining to horse-vehicles.

Among the disturbing rules still legally in effect in Pampa, are these:

A 1916 ruling ordered that "no person or persons shall be allowed to pitch or throw a baseball or other missiles across any street or alley in the business district of the city." The penalty is a fine of no less than $1 or more than $50.

In 1916 the council decreed that the Panhandle and Santa Fe railway crossing located on Houston Street be closed.

An ordinance which is much the same in cities throughout the United States is that all carriages, wagons, or any other kind of vehicle shall drive to the curb or edge of the street when they hear a fire truck or ambulance approaching. Driving over a fire hose belonging to the city fire department while fighting a blaze will mean a fine not exceeding $100. The ordinance was passed in 1921.

Any person found drunk or in a state of intoxication on city streets or public property shall be fined $25 for each and every such offense, according to a 1912 ruling.

There are also some ordinances on the books that could well send a shiver down the backs of citizens today, and possibly the backs of some merchants.

For instance it is illegal for any person, or corporation to operate number wheels, doll racks or any mechanical contrivances or games of any sort where a prize is given for holders of lucky numbers.

Another ordinance states it is unlawful to hitch any mules, donkeys, horses, cows, oxen, jacks or jennies to any awning, telephone or telegraph post or to any private hitching post, trees or shrubs within the corporation city limits. If a team is left hitched or unhitched without being properly tethered for more than 15 minutes a fine shall be rendered not less than $1 or more than $10. It also states that any team or vehicle must not obstruct the sidewalks, streets, or alleys. This ordinance was passed in 1913.

Persons found guilty of whittling, cutting or defacing trees on or near streets or avenues within the city limits will be fined not more than $10 according to a 1925 ruling.

A 1913 law states a $250 reward may be given for information leading to the capture of person or persons who have committed the crime of arson and declaring an emergency within the city limits.

Ordinance 3 pertains to the problem of stock running at large within the city limits. It states it is unlawful to let any animal run at large in streets or alleys. Upon catching the animal it shall be the duty of the town marshal to keep and feed such livestock for 10 days. He must post a description of the animal in three public places within the city limits. If the animal is not claimed by the owner in the 10 days, it is sold at auction and the money, minus housing and feeding expenses is held for an additional 10 days for the owner. If he does not claim the money then it is given to a general fund used for city improvement.

This law does not relate to the present city law of cats and dogs found within the city limits.

On December 9, 1927, Pampa received its charter from the Austin Department of State. T. P. Reid was mayor at that time.

UN Has Become Museum Of Art

By GABE KAJMOWITZ
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA)
The United Nations headquarters quietly has blossomed into a museum of art in the 10 years of its existence overlooking the East River in New York.

Most nations and artists today are greatly honored when their artistic endeavors are accepted for display on the headquarters grounds. Even the Soviet Union of late has shown an interest in exhibiting its talents. A huge statue called "Let Us Beat Swords Into Plowshares" by Soviet sculptor Evgeniy Vechetich was unveiled in the north garden last year.

So now, when an important event such as the dedication of the three-story United Nations library building takes place, the headquarters can pick and choose from the world's great artists to commemorate the occasion.

For the dedication of the Dag Hammarskjöld Library on Nov. 16, Fritz Glarner, an American, and Bo Beskow, a Swedish artist and friend of the late secretary general, have been commissioned to paint murals. Beskow already is represented at the U.N. by a fresco painting which hangs in the Meditation Room of the General Assembly building.

Beskow's mural will be placed in the library penthouse lounge, Glarner's near the library entrance.

Murals and large tapestries have been favored at the headquarters, in keeping with the large rooms, vaulted ceilings and sweeping halls.

Abstract murals were painted on the east and west walls of the General Assembly by Bruce Gregory from sketches by French painter Fernand Leger. Arneberg of Norway designed the Security Council chamber around another mural conceived by fellow Scandinavian Per Krohg.

Outside the Trusteeship Council

"Let Us Beat Swords Into Plowshares."

chamber, "Destruction, Reconstruction and Resurrection," a mural 20 yards long and four yards high by Jose Vela Zanetti of the Dominican Republic, depicts mankind going through the agonies of war until the keystone of man's reconstruction, the U.N., is reached.

"Triumph of Peace," a 43½-foot by 28½-foot tapestry, the largest ever woven, was designed by Antwerp artist Peter Colfs and made under the direction of Gaspard de Wit at the Royal Belgian Factory. It hangs in the delegates lobby in the General Assembly building.

considerations sometimes come before artistic ideals. As a result, some works are displayed which otherwise would be returned or held in storage. Occasionally, however, the artistic purists win out and works already commissioned by someone for exhibit at the U.N. are rejected.

The U.N. generally succeeds in creating a tasteful atmosphere, representative of many nations, through a variety of art forms.

There are statues. "Mankind wood carving by Danish sculptor Henrike Starcke is displayed in the Trusteeship Council chamber. A cast of the statue of Zeus from Greece is in the public lobby in the General Assembly. Balinese wood "Prosperity," Balinese wood carvings donated by Indonesia, also grace the General Assembly interior. Outside, there is a granite statue on a marble base of a woman on horseback created by Yugoslav Anton Augustinac.

Pakistan and China contributed paintings. There are rugs from Afghanistan, Ecuador, India, Iran, Turkey; paneling from Australia, New Zealand, United Kingdom; ornate doors from Canada; a dangle Foucault Pendulum from the Netherlands; furniture from Thailand and Scandinavia; a Japanese pagoda and bell and Jerusalem stone from Israel.

Tunisia last year donated a 1,700-year-old mosaic panel, Peru, a mantle. Ghana recently gave a decorative cloth.

And the U.S. is represented, too, perhaps most significantly by a $50,000 fountain paid for by children throughout the U.S. and its territories. American sculptors Robert Cronbach, Jose de Rivera and Ezio Martinelli have works exhibited at the U.N. The Cronbach bronze and Rivera bronze bas-relief were presented to the U.N. by the Council for U.S. Art, Inc., last year. The Council gave the Martinelli gold and bronze-anodized aluminum abstract to the U.N. on Oct. 30.

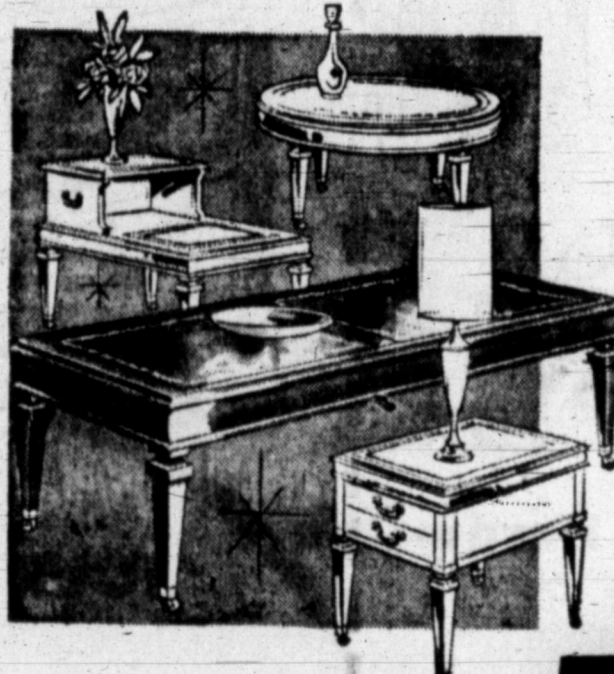

A thought for the day: English novelist Anthony Trollope said: "Always remember that when you go into an attorney's office door, you will have to pay for it, first or last."

For the enlightenment and good sense shown, particularly in the permanent selections during the last few years, and in the works taken out on loan, many persons at the U.N. are agreed that one man was responsible and that his contribution to U.N. art history will not soon be forgotten. The man was Dag Hammarskjöld.

Apples are said to have originated in the area between the Black and Caspian Seas.

Bing Likes Offer Of Priest's Role

LONDON (NEA) — It's only... days until "White Christmas" is dreamed time for Bing Crosby's seasonal song hit but here in London he's dreaming about something else — the role of the priest he has been offered in the film version of "The Devil's Advocate."

"May take it," he let us know here.

"Haven't read the script yet, and I'd like to see the film made in Italy. Hope it works out. I'd like to do it."

Six times a grandfather and now a new father again, Bing is cutting up with Bob Hope like a new-wave "anyone for a motorcycle race?" swinger in "The Road to Hong Kong." When the film winds up soon, he'll head back to Palm Springs and the Crosby tribe, then fly down to the Gulf of California for some marlin fishing aboard his big new 65-foot cruiser "True Love."

But when you have Bing's money: "We tow a 23-footer behind her and I fish from that."

He's down to 10-pound test line and almost set a new world record for light tackle last spring when he landed a 220 pounder. The fish was only 10 pounds under the record.

Janet Munro of Walt Disney's "Third Man on a Mountain" and "Swiss Family Robinson" will wed British actor Ian Hendry. He needs a divorce first. Virginia Mayo and husband Michael O'Shea say they'll settle down in London. There's a "For Sale" sign on their Hollywood home.

George Saunders of the sleek charm and bored expression is now in sausages. He's making Britain conscious of "Sausage" by posing for advertisements of his "hygienically packaged" product.

"I hope," he says, "that my sausages will prove more to the public taste than my film projects now sadly abandoned."

Sanders is now married to Ronald Colman's widow, who provided some of the financial stuffing for the sausage enterprise.

Sylvia Syms, the gal who lost Bill Holden to that Chinese cookie in "The World of Suzie Wong," pays the only feminine role in the film version of Brendan Behan's play, "The Quare Fellow." The plot is a preachment against capital punishment and will be filmed in a prison outside Dublin.

Sophia Loren will play the role of a nun in an Italian film, "La Monica di Monza" directed by Visconti. Says he about the film: "It's a terrible, terrible story of love and crime."

Gloria Swanson jetted in a and out of London after a four-month tour of the Continent to a London newspaper's editorial comment: "She still has the capacity to sweep into any old room and make it feel like the stage of La Scala."

So why all the panic button-pressing about nuclear bomb shelters in Southern California? We have the world's best hideout, you might say, in Disneyland. Russia wouldn't dare bomb it because, as you may recall, Khrushchev hasn't seen it yet!

Emperor Leun-Ho is said to have devised playing cards in 1120 for the amusement of his wives.

Bob Hope offers to share the last remaining chicken in a supermarket with Lana Turner in this scene from "Bachelor in Paradise," in which they co-star for the first time. Also playing leading roles in this CinemaScope-Color comedy are Janis Paige, Jim Hutton, Paula Prentiss, Don Porter, Virginia Grey and Agnes Moorehead. Scheduled to open Thursday at the Capri for a seven day engagement the picture is rated hilarious throughout.

Lavish Is The Word For Liberace's Home

By EDWARD F. O'CONNOR
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Liberace's 28-room mansion in the Hollywood Hills, overlooking the famed Sunset Strip, probably would have made even King Louis XIV envious.

Not that it's larger than that French monarch's famous palace at Versailles, but it's every bit as opulently furnished.

The maestro, who mined pure gold by tickling the ivories on TV, has proved in his palace that he's as handy with his hands when it comes to restoring antiques.

The two-story villa sprawls on 2 1/2 acres of choice hillside land above the strip.

"The real estate man said the house once belonged to Rudy Vallee and that actress Ann Harding also owned it at one time," said Liberace.

It is located on a bend in the narrow road. A lighted fountain sits midway up the huge driveway. Parked beside it is Liberace's white Cadillac.

Two gleaming gold coach lights illuminate either side of the front doorway and two golden awnings reflect the sun's rays during the day.

When visitors go through the front door, they enter another world — circa late 1700s, early 1800s.

Their feet sink into a gold and white rug that runs from the hallway into a huge sitting room.

Crystal chandeliers are everywhere and the gold and off-white French Provincial furniture would captivate an antique collector.

There is a huge staircase opposite the front door and the walls are covered with gold and white wallpaper.

Moving into the sitting room, guests are confronted by statuary, exquisite paintings and two alcoves.

One huge alcove contains a massive French Provincial piano in a stage setting. A white curtain serves as backdrop. Over the curtain is a golden drape with a cherub on either side. Each babe holds a small crystal chandelier.

Electric candelabra sit on the piano.

The other alcove — below the floor level — contains a huge French Provincial organ and a large gold and white fireplace. Resting in the middle of the alcove is a pouf (round Ottoman).

Back in the sitting room is a third piano, this one a baby. Beside the huge piano there is a spinet, also in French Provincial.

Crystal jars for cigarettes and candy are on a beautifully sculptured coffee table, surrounded by delicate sofas.

Some of the house's other features include a recording studio, a theater, stereophonic sound throughout the building, a gymnasium, rooms for formal dining and informal dining, an area to entertain business groups and ample room for business offices. "I decorated it myself," said Liberace, smiling proudly. "When I finish my tour I plan to convert the theater into a Cinemascope theater."

"The house has everything anyone in my position could want. It was the culmination of years of collecting antiques and mementos. But when I bought it it was considered to be something of a white elephant."

"I've tried to do as much as money would allow to fix it up, but every day something new comes up — particularly in the plumbing line."

Liberace turned to the furnishings.

"You know, I'm seriously thinking of opening an antique studio for decorating and restoring furniture and homes," he said. "That pouf from France," pointing to the sunken alcove, "I restored it myself."

What does he figure the house is worth, including furnishings? "A quarter-million dollars," he replied.

Distiller Sales Hiked, Earnings Increase Looms

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tax-paid withdrawals (consumption) of distilled spirits in the first eight months of the year were up 2.2 per cent from the like 1960 period, Clark, Dodge & Co. notes.

The brokerage house adds that distillers are now in their prime selling season and, with the economic climate much better, further increases in consumption over 1960 can be expected. Furthermore, it says, the outlook is for additional earnings gains next year.

Gersen of Wall Street says stocks will continue to rise to new heights between now and the end of the year since doubts about the strength of the business recovery are being rapidly dispelled. Many forecasters, Gersen claims, now expect 1962 to be one of the best business years in recent history.

Bache & Co. says Wednesday's action again highlighted the highly individualistic nature of the market which has developed over the past few sessions. It seems likely that action of this sort will continue over the near-term as stocks with impressive chart patterns continue to receive important support with many others remaining in a fairly narrow range.

Video To Recall Thanksgiving Day Of 19th Century

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I was 18 years old before I knew that a turkey had anything but a neck," said Eddie Foy Jr.

"That's an old joke. Older even than Currier and Ives. It's the kind of joke my old man used to tell, or a team like Harrigan and Hart. You know we're going to use Currier and Ives prints as backgrounds for the sketches and musical numbers in our Thanksgiving show."

"In those days, a team would sing a chorus of a song, and then one guy would say: 'We've got a goat at our house; he hasn't got any nose.'"

"The other would say: 'How does he smell?'"

"Terrible."

The show, produced by Saudek Associates on ABC-TV, will be aired from here on Tuesday, and most of it will be live (a medium in which Foy has had some considerable experience, since the age of 4). It will be a revue titled "Old Fashioned Thanksgiving" and stuffed with nostalgia of the 19th Century, which is about the best nostalgia you can get.

Foy can't remember having more than three or four Thanksgivings in the 18-room frame house in New Rochelle, N.Y., where the tribe of Foy's lived. When "Eddie Foy and the Seven Little Foy's" started in 1911, Eddie Jr. was 4, the youngest Foy in the act was 2 and the biggest little Foy was 13.

"We never had Thanksgiving at home when we were kids. We had a lot of Thanksgivings and Christmases on the train. We worked about 40 weeks out of the year. We'd get arrested every Monday for child labor law violation. I don't think we ever came to trial, though. They used to call Vaudeville 'The sweat shop.'"

"When the act first started, I sang a song called 'Oh, Mr. Moon' that was supposed to be a hit at that time; I don't even remember it now."

"The next to oldest, Charley, would imitate my father. The youngest, Irving, was brought out in a parcel post bag. My father used to name his kids after his friends. My middle name is Felix, after Felix Isman, a real estate man who owned the property the Palace theater was built on.

"We were a half-Irish, half-Italian family. My mother was Italian. I married a Jewish girl. My kid is pure Irish-Italian-Jewish, so he's all mixed up, this poor bum. What does he do? He's an assistant casting director. He gave up acting — too tough."

"Well, how about yourself?" "When you were young did you dream of growing up and being an actor?"

"No," said Eddie Jr., "I wanted to be a business man, or lawyer, or doctor, something like that. And I certainly never thought of movies or a thing like TV. Matter of fact, my oldest brother, Bryan, — he was named after William Jennings Bryan — advised me on TV when it first came in. 'It'll never go,' he said. 'Never go over.'"

Playwright Tells Area Folk About Palo Duro Park Theater Project

During the past week people of the Texas Panhandle had an opportunity to become acquainted with Paul Green, distinguished playwright, who is preparing the symphonic drama for the Panhandle, the great historical play with music and motion which is to be played in Palo Duro State Park up against a high bluff.

Green spoke to the first meeting of the Board of Directors of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc., the organization formed to put on the drama, and to the general meeting of the Foundation. He also addressed a coffee at the Amarillo Club on Wednesday, put on for the Amarillo members of the Foundation and for interested guests from Pampa and other areas, and at a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Amarillo organized by the Fine Arts Council.

At the luncheon, Green spent some time describing the play as it has already formed. He said, "I see people assembling, and watching the sunset in the Canyon, that great panorama of color which is more spectacular than anything that man can do. Then as darkness falls, I hear music, music based on the great folk melodies which our fathers knew and loved. This music will rise and swell until suddenly it will break and high on the cliff, outlined by light will be an Indian, wailing to his God. The light may switch to another pinnacle, where another Indian will answer. Then it may switch to a trail leading down from the plain and pick a covered wagon slowly lurching down. In this wagon will be a pioneer family, parents and children, and in their experiences in the play, we shall see what our Fathers did, and feel what they felt. Using sound and light, it will be possible, for us in the audience to experience the blizzards that they suffered, the sand storms that they faced, and the crashing terror and excitement of a buffalo stampede. They will live in a dug out or a log house and in their lives we will see the humor and love and endurance and religious devotion and stamina

Chapel Of All Faiths Product Of Prisoners

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This is the story of a church which was designed by an atheist, built by criminals and decorated by a murderer.

It stands just outside of Washington on the grounds of the District of Columbia Reformatory for Men at Lorton, Va. Its parishioners are 2,000 prisoners serving time in that institution.

The story begins in 1955. That was the year when Lorton's senior Catholic Chaplain, Fr. Carl J. Breitfeller, got tired of waiting for authorities to build a long-promised chapel for the inmates. With the help of the Rev. Knox Kreutzer, an Episcopal chaplain, he began to plot ways and means of pushing the project along.

One day while making his rounds in the cell block, Fr. Breitfeller met a talented young artist, Farmer C. Thomas, who had drawn a 17-year sentence for having employed his skill in the counterfeiting of $100 bills. Thomas, who was then 29, revealed that he had some experience in architectural engineering. Fr. Breitfeller asked him if he did like to design a chapel.

Thomas replied that he was a non-believer, and had never seen the inside of a church. But if the padre wanted such a man to draw plans for a church, Thomas was willing to give it a try.

With Fr. Breitfeller and the Rev. Mr. Kreutzer advising him on how a church should look, Thomas labored throughout the winter on his plans. By the spring of 1956, the blueprints were completed, and the chaplains undertook the harder task of obtaining a $200,000 appropriation to pay for the materials.

Thomas jokingly volunteered his help with this phase of the project, too. "Just get me some plates, Father," he said, "and I'll provide you with all the money you need." Fr. Breitfeller firmly declined this offer.

It took more than a year — and the active backing of high Protestant and Catholic church officials in Washington — to persuade the District of Columbia Commissioners and Congress to approve the appropriation.

The chaplains finally got the money by assuring Congress that the prisoners themselves would do the construction work.

Ground was broken on Aug. 15, 1958. Hundreds of prisoners helped to dig the foundations, pour the footings, and lay the bricks. The chapel was built to accommodate three simultaneous services of different faiths, with a seating capacity of 1,200. It is a capacious and beautiful structure, and realtors estimate it would have cost at least $1,000,000 to build under a regular commercial contract.

While the three-year construction job was in progress, Fr. Breitfeller enlisted the skills of Herbert Hall, a painter serving a life sentence for murder, and Williston Knoll, a sculptor convicted of robbery. Together they produced a life-sized crucifix for the altar of the Catholic portion of the chapel. It depicts "Christ the Prisoner" undergoing execution.

The chapel was formally dedicated recently and is now in regular use for Protestant, Catholic and Jewish worship services.

When Fr. Breitfeller says mass, one of his most faithful communicants is a young convert to Catholicism named Farmer C. Thomas, an ex-forgery who became a church architect.

Nickel plating is used principally to protect other metals from corrosion.

Lefors Teachers Attend Meeting

LEFORS (Sp.) The Gray-Roberts section of the Texas State Teachers Association held their first meeting of the year recently. The meeting was a banquet in the Pampa High School Cafeteria. A program followed the banquet with George Graham of Hardin-Simons University as the speaker of the evening.

Teachers attending from Lefors school were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Mounger, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. McCarty, Mrs. Dick Bull, Mrs. Ruth Natho, Mrs. Arthur Hammer, Mrs. Helen Lette, Miss Ardelle Briggs, Miss Norma Lantz, Miss Beryl Hixson, Mr. Warren Spalding, Keith Geisler, Paul Walden, L. H. Berryman, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clarke, and J. Weldon Moore.

which made possible the settlement of this hard land.

"In this drama that I am going to write for you people, there will be some violence. But opening this area of the country up for civilization, there was violence. I will record it because it was there, because the pioneers had to suffer the hardships, the deprivations and the violence because it was worth suffering for. Anything is worth suffering for if the ideal is strong enough.

"The settling of the Panhandle was a risk, but it is the nature of American people to gamble.

"Here in the Panhandle is exemplified the philosophy of America and the exemplification is vivid. The fact that there was nothing here that is spectacular in history, nothing here that was easy or comfortable, but plenty of sand storms, blizzards, live stock losses, cruel winds and loneliness, make the settling a dramatic as anything could ever be.

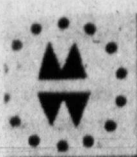

"I want to tell about your great Panhandle history. To commemorate the settlers of this area. There is a story to tell and if my drama doesn't stir you, then I have failed."

Last spring Green visited Canyon and Palo Duro State Park at the invitation of Mrs. Ples Harper and a group of Canyon citizens who were interested in the possibilities of a symphonic drama being produced in the canyon. After Green got here he went down into the Canyon only "to be amazed at this wonder of nature."

Green asked many questions, "Were there enough interested persons in the area? Could the weary tourist be deflected in his travels to drive down to the Canyon? Was there sufficient interest in drama in the region? And was there a strong enough department at your college?" To these inquiries, Green came up with affirmatives.

With his love and understanding for the American heritage, he is convinced that he can write a great drama from the material of Panhandle history.

Green has commented on his recent visit, "There is a greatness in America. That's why I believe that Americans should relate their heritage."

Borger Clinches Playoff Berth By Thumping Harvesters 41-0

By JOE LEE SMITH
Sports Editor

If Borger was in a good spot for an upset — as several observers had indicated — the Bulldogs didn't get the word.

Led by a hard-charging forward wall that smothered the Pampa offense and opened gaping holes for the Borger backs to run through, the Bulldogs clinched the 3-AAAA playoff spot with a sound 41-0 triumph over the Harvesters at Harvester Park Saturday afternoon before 2500 spectators.

Borger meets the state's top ranked team — Wichita Falls — Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. at Bulldog Stadium in Borger.

One of the spectators was Wichita Falls' grid coach Joe Golding.

And he saw Borger run up a 33-0 count in the third period before flooding the field with reserves.

Slashing runs by fullback Dave Hill and halfbacks J. P. and L. T. Tillman ripped the Pampa line to threads as the Bulldogs piled up 360 yards rushing and nine passing.

Pampa got the first break of the game but failed to cash in on the opportunity. Forced to punt after receiving the opening kickoff, the Harvesters' Carl Clark recovered a fumble by Jimmy Ramirez at the Borger 40.

The Harvesters marched to the 32 but Mike Stewart was stopped a yard shy of a first down on the next play.

It took the Bulldogs just four plays to light up the scoreboard.

L. T. Tillman broke off right tackle on the first play for 38 yards to the Pampa 31. J. P. Tillman got one on a dive and circled left end for 21 more to the nine. Hill slammed over right tackle on the next play to get the six points. Bert Barron kicked the extra-point with 8:57 left in the opening period.

Although Pampa couldn't move against the stingy Borger defense, the Harvesters kept the winners reeling until midway of the second quarter with a hard-nosed defense of their own.

Kenny Hebert punted for Pampa to the Borger 12 where scabbard Wayne Rape returned the boot 24 yards. Five plays later, the Bulldogs had a second touchdown.

L. T. Tillman burst around right end on a 26-yard jaunt to get the marker. His cousin, J. T., had an 18-yard dash in the 64-yard drive.

Borger stretched the count to 19-0 by halftime with a 64-yard drive late in the period. Hill turned in the second big play of the surge with a 36-yard scamper up the middle to the Pampa four. The score went to J. P. Tillman. The big play in the drive was a 15-yard penalty against the Harvesters for piling on when the Bulldogs would have had a third and nine situation.

Pampa took to the air in an effort to close the gap before halftime. Quarterback Butch Crossland completed three passes to Mike Stewart and Corky Godfrey to reach the Borger 31 where four aerials fell incomplete and the Bulldogs took over.

The Bulldogs scored quickly as the second half started. Hebert booted a 37-yard punt and L. T. Tillman returned it 31 yards to the Harvesters 24. Four plays later Rape scored on a keeper play from the six.

Joe Robinson intercepted a Crossland aerial near the end of the third period to set up the fifth Borger score. With the aid of a 15-yard penalty against Pampa, the Bulldogs churned 53 yards in three plays with a 33-yard jaunt by Hill setting up the score from the four. He went over from the one.

Rape passed to end Eugene Young to make it 33-0 as the quarter ended.

Pampa probably got in their best licks of the evening on that touchdown. For the Harvesters and the Bulldog gridders got into a short free-for-all which resulted in the banishment of Borger's J. P. Tillman and Robinson and the locals Jimmy Hoyle.

Borger rolled 51 yards for the final score. A. C. Tillman, another one of the cousins, set up the marker with a 21-yard dash. Fullback Lee Johnson plunged over from the one. Jerry Wilson flipped a pass to A. C. to wind up the scoring.

The Harvesters whipped up a drive of their own that carried to the Borger 12 where Barron intercepted a Crossland pass as the game ended. Hebert and Ralph Palmer sparked the goalward drive with runs of 19 and 10 yards respectively.

Eleven Pampa seniors played their last game with tackle James Webb, Godfrey and Hebert starring for the Harvesters.

Hebert was Pampa's top ground gainer with 62 yards on 12 carries. Hill picked up 154 in 18 tries for Borger.

TCU Tumbles Texas From Top Spot 6-0

Baylor Spanks AF 31-7

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Baylor's Ronnie Bull scored two touchdowns Saturday despite the back injury that has hampered him all season as the Bears whipped the Air Force Academy 31-7 before 22,000 fans.

Bull's touchdowns came on an eight-yard run and a 28-yard pass, after a holding penalty nullified his 75-yard run that was the most exciting play of the game. Bull gained 53 yards on three passes and 63 yards on 16 runs.

The Falcons took an early 7-0 lead through the passing of Bob McNaughton, but moved inconsistently the rest of the game against a rugged Bear line.

Don Trull threw the 28-yard scoring pass to Bull and Ronnie Stanley another 10-yard touchdown aerial to end. Claude Pearson, Bert Tate scored for Baylor on a five-yard run, and Carl Choate kicked a 32-yard field goal and all four extra points. Choate hasn't missed in 14 extra point tries this year.

The victory left Baylor with a 4-4 record and the Air Force at three wins and five defeats.

Quarterback McNaughton piloted the Air Force to a 6-yard touchdown drive after the opening kickoff, hitting three passes for 42 of the yards on key plays. McNaughton faked a third down pass and ran 11 yards to the Baylor seven to set up the score.

Fullback Nick Arshinkoff bulled over right tackle for the one-yard Falcon touchdown. Wilson Parma converted.

Baylor began its first touchdown march from its own 20 after a brilliant 48 yard quick-kick by Cadet Terry Isaacson. Tate gained 29 yards on a reverse and a piling-on penalty put the ball on the Air Force 21. Fullback Don Adams ran around left end 16 yards to the five, and Tate faked his way around left end for the touchdown.

Choate's 32 yard field goal was set up by a Bull-led march from the Bear 23 to the Air Force 15. Bull gained 20 yards on four runs and caught a 19 yard pass from Trull in the drive.

Another Isaacson quick kick was fumbled by Bull on the Bear 26 late in the first half, and the Falcons moved to the Baylor three on the ground before an Isaacson pass was intercepted by Bobby Norvell.

Bull scored the second Bear touchdown on an eighty-yard double-reverse after a 75-yard drive that began with the second-half kickoff.

An exchange of intercepted passes gave Baylor the ball on its own 35, and Stanley quarterbacked the Bears to a touchdown in six plays. The score came on a 10 yard pass from Stanley to Pearson on the goal line.

Arshinkoff rammed the Bear line effectively on a 50-yard Falcon drive in the last quarter that ended with a fumble by Isaacson on the Baylor 25. Then a 75-yard end run by Bull was wiped out by a holding penalty.

Bull got another scoring opportunity when a punt hit Falcon Darryl Bloodworth on the leg and tackle Pete Nicklas recovered on the Air Force 28. From there Trull found Bull alone in the end zone with a touchdown pass. Choate converted.

Unbeaten Alabama Raps Georgia Tech Gridders

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Second-ranked Alabama, coolly masterminded by quarterback Pat Trammell, broke up a defensive dogfight with two long scoring drives Saturday to topple Georgia Tech 10-0 before 53,000 fans.

With a post-season bowl bid virtually within its grasp, Alabama was stymied by a tough Engineer defense for only a period and a half before pounding to its ninth straight 1961 victory without a loss.

Alabama's victory, coupled with top-ranked Texas' 4-0 loss to Texas Christian, put the Tide in line for possible No. 1 ranking next week.

Alabama marched 58 yards in eight plays, capped by fullback Fracchia's 16-yard touchdown seep, and 32 yards to the Georgia Tech 16 from where specialist Tim Davis boomed a 32-yard field goal. Davis also added the extra point.

The bruising Southeastern Conference struggle, the biggest obstacle standing in Alabama's path to the first undefeated-untied season since 1945, found the Engineers tough on defense but unable to mount any offensive bid. Alabama's defense, best in the nation, never allowed Georgia Tech past the Tide's 35.

Darwin Holt, a 174-pound line-backer with the hitting power of a tank, fire plug-sized tackle Billy Neighbors, and a host of other stalwarts repeatedly threw back the Engineers' attempts to get an offensive drive moving.

Georgia Tech's only opportunity came in the first period when Trammell fumbled on Alabama's first play from scrimmage. Tech guard Dave Watson covered the ball on the Crimson Tide, 42. But three plays netted only seven yards. Billy Lothridge was forced to punt and that ended Tech's scoring chances for the day.

Trammell picked up his team early in the second half, carrying for six, then five yards and Alabama was on its way. At the Tech 16, Fracchia took Trammell's pitchout and, aided by a tremendous block by halfback Billy Richardson, swept left end for the touchdown.

Trammell launched the Crimson Tide again shortly after the second half got under way, and with Fracchia and Butch Wilson grinding out most of the yardage, guided Alabama to the Tech 12. Second-ranked Alabama, coolly masterminded by quarterback Pat Trammell, broke up a defensive dogfight with two long scoring drives Saturday to topple Georgia Tech 10-0 before 53,000 fans.

Alabama limited the Engineers to 30 yards rushing and 66 passing despite a desperation aerial flurry by Tech as the final period ran out.

Louisville Rips North Texas 20-0

DENTON, Tex. (UPI) — Louisville fullback Ernie Green scored on a 71-yard run and a 1-yard punge Saturday and his teammates held North Texas State to 126 yards total offense as the Cardinals scored a 20-0 intersectional football victory.

Green opened the scoring in the first quarter when he bolted 71 yards through the Eagle line. His other touchdown came in the second quarter after halfback Lee Calland returned a North Texas punt 80 yards to the Eagle 1.

Calland got the third Card touchdown in the third period when he broke into the clear and raced 40 yards into the end zone.

The big Louisville line, averaging 238 pounds from end to end, completely stymied the North Texas attack.

The Eagles made only six first downs, and the quarterbacks were rushed so hard they managed only three completions in 11 passing attempts while having four intercepted.

The score might have been even more one-sided if the Eagles' punting had been less effective. North Texas kicked nine times for a 40.7-yard average.

North Texas threatened twice in the game. In the first period the Eagles drove to the Louisville 14, where they lost the ball on a fumble. In the final period they reached the Card 11, where Green intercepted a pass.

JOFRE AGREES TO FIGHT

SÃO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — NBA world bantamweight champion Eder Jofre of Brazil Saturday agreed to defend his title against Johnny Caldwell of Scotland at São Paulo Jan. 18.

OH MY GOSH—That's probably what Pampa halfback Kenny Hebert (46) was thinking when he tried to turn the corner in the second period of the Borger game Saturday afternoon with three "Big Red" bruisers closing in for the tackle. Mike Stewart (21) is shown on the ground. John LaGrone (67) is a Borger tackle and (35) is J. P. Tillman. The other player is unidentifiable. Borger won the game 41-0. (Daily News Photo)

Arkansas Gains 21-7 Win Over SMU

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Arkansas struck for a 69-yard scoring pass on the game's opening play, then rode the flying heels of Lance Alworth to a hard-earned 21-7 victory over Southern Methodist and a share of the Southwest Conference lead with topped Texas.

Arkansas, which had been expecting a call from the Sugar Bowl if it had made an impressive showing Saturday, instead will now have to sweat out its own chances of returning to the conference-sponsored Cotton Bowl now that Texas was kayoed 6-0 by Texas Christian.

Alworth was on the receiving end of that opening aerial bomb from George McKinney and his running and pass receiving helped set up the next two Arkansas touchdowns, scored on a 28-yard sweep by Paul Dudley and a one-yard plunge by Billy Joe Moody.

Alworth got great gobs of help from the rollout running of McKinney and reserve quarterback Billy Moore to help offset a rash of fumbles and interceptions that blunted drive after drive mounted by the Razorbacks, who now have a chance to get at least a piece of their third consecutive conference crown.

Southern Methodist's defenders were due a tremendous amount of credit for forcing four ball-losing fumbles and three interceptions, two of them in the end zones.

The Methodists turned one of these fumbles into their only score in the opening period. John Ed Clarke dove the final yard at the tail end of a 44-yard drive ignited by the first of two fumble recoveries by 235-pound Bobby Hunt.

Moore, in addition to his running and passing, also gave SMU and its touted spread formation a bitter dose of pass stealing medicine by blocking off three Methodist aerials.

The quarterback rollouts kept SMU off balance much of the time as McKinney netted 50 yards and Moore 38 to go along with Alworth's 82 yards and halfback Paul Dudley's 46.

The Arkansas defense, which also stopped another SMU half drive on the one-yard line, let the SMU running game net but 22 yards and while it gave up 10 completions in 18 aerial tries, SMU netted but 98 yards by that route for a 120-yard total offense.

That compared with 233 yards rushing and 163 passing for the Razorbacks, who now need only to get by Texas Tech next week for a 6-1 conference mark and an 8-2 season that surely will lead them into some bowl.

If Texas defeats Texas A&M next Thursday, Texas still will get the Cotton Bowl bid because of its defeat of Arkansas, but an Arkansas win over Tech coupled with a Texas tie or loss against the Aggies would propel the Hogs back into the Cotton Bowl, where they lost 7-6 to Duke last New Year's.

WHARTON JC IN BOWL

GULFPORT, Miss. (UPI) — Wharton Junior College, with a 9-1 season record, has accepted a bid to face East Mississippi Junior College in the annual Hospitality Bowl football game in Gulfport, Thanksgiving Day.

through the entire Vol team for the score.

The Rebels had a 10-3 lead at the half, scoring on a 32-yard field goal the first time they got the ball and adding a touchdown on Billy Ray Adams' two-yard plunge 1:38 before the half.

The touchdown drive covered 68 yards with Elmore contributing 32 yards running and passing. Wes Sullivan, who kicked the field goal, converted after each Rebel touchdown.

Tennessee got its first score in the second period on Garry Cannon's 24-yard field goal. Mike Lucci set up the field goal by his one-handed interception of Elmore's pass on the Mississippi 43.

Lucci ran it back 12 yards to the 31 and on a fourth-and-one foot situation on the Ole Miss 10, fullback Bunny Orr dove over the line for three yards to the seven to keep the drive alive.

Two plays later, Woody Dabbs threw Orr for a 4-yard loss and Cannon then booted the field goal.

That was the end of Tennessee's scoring until Beard sprinted 56 yards with his interception with 3:18 left. Mallon Faircloth later hit Charles Wyrick on the goal line with a 29-pass, but a penalty nullified the score and moved the ball back to the 44.

Froggies Score On Gibbs' Pass To Jinx Steers

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Christian's spoiler Horned Frogs topped No. 1 ranked Texas 6-0 Saturday on a 50-yard touchdown pass by towering quarterback Sonny Gibbs to end Buddy Iles.

The upset ended Texas' victory string at eight games and put a big kink in the Longhorn's Cotton Bowl plans.

Gibbs connected for the touchdown in the second period after Texas had marched to the Horned Frog one yard line before a rugged TCU defense headed by Tommy Crutcher, Gary Thomas, Bill Phillips and Iles held on downs.

The TCU score was an 80-yard maneuver in eight plays. Gibbs deftly faked the Longhorns with a bogus line buck and found Iles all alone on the Texas 10. Theanky receiver skipped over untouched. Tommy Lucas blocked Jimmy McAttee's attempt to kick the point.

Texas put together a 52-yard sustained march in the second half that died on the TCU 10 when Crutcher nabbed Longhorn quarterback Mike Cotten for a two-yard loss on fourth down.

Two field goal attempts by Texas ended in dismal failure. In the second period, Duke Carlisle bobbled the ball on the tee on the TCU 13 before Eldon Moritz could get a boot at it. In the third period, Moritz tried a 31-yarder that fell far short.

The defeat threw Texas into a tie for the Southwest Conference lead with Arkansas. The Longhorns need a victory over Texas A&M on Thanksgiving to win the Cotton Bowl bid. Arkansas represented the conference in the bowl last season.

The hard-hitting Horned Frogs knocked Texas' All-America candidate James Saxton out of the game twice, but like a jack-in-the-box he kept popping up with 17 carries for 85 yards. Saxton also scooted 45-yards to the TCU 10 on a lob pass from Cotten in the first period to set-up Texas most dangerous threat.

TCU limited Texas to 138 yards on the ground to spoil the record of the nation's leading ground gainer. Texas picked up 62 more paces in the air. The Frogs ground out 132 yards on the ground and 76 in the air.

The victory maintained TCU's reputation as a spoiler. The Horned Frogs tied powerful Ohio State and nudged a strong Kansas team by one point earlier this season. It was also a repeat of a 1959 performance that knocked off a fourth-ranked undefeated Texas team.

Rice Win Scrambles Title Race

HOUSTON (UPI) — Quarterbacks Billy Cox and Randall Kerbow threw successive touchdown passes in the second period Saturday and Rice University held off stubbornly to upend Texas A&M 21-1 to scramble the Southwest Conference championship race.

Cox threw a 14-yard scoring pass to halfback Gary Poage to open the second period and less than four minutes later Kerbow threw another for 21 yards to end Gene Raesz to give the Owls a 14-0 half time lead.

The Aggies, re-charged during the halftime break, began hitting with more emphasis and caused Kerbow to fumble on a pass attempt on the Rice 13, with Aggie Wayne Freiling recovering. Quarterback Ronnie Rice lunged over left end from the two to score, and the Aggies were back in the game.

The Cadets had a good chance to tie it up midway in the fourth when they drove to the Rice 25 yard line. But halfback Jim Murphy slipped on a fourth-down try, and Rice took over.

The Owls scored again with only about a minute left in the game, when Aggie quarterback John Erickson tried to make it on a fourth down, failed and threw the ball into the air. A penalty was called and the Owls took over on the Aggie four-yard line, with fullback Mike Bowen going over for the score.

The victory left Rice in third place in the Southwest Conference with three wins and two losses.

Texas, which was undefeated at 8-0 before its loss to TCU Saturday, now is tied with Arkansas at the head of the conference.

Kerbow and Cox, who had depended very little on passing as an offensive weapon before Saturday, completed 11 out of 25 attempts in the air for a net of 135 yards. Rice allowed the Aggies to complete only four of 13 passes for a net gain of 24 yards.

Bearcats Defeat Lamar Tech, 9-7 For Loop Title

HUNTSVILLE (UPI) — Senior quarterback Calvin Pope kicked three field goals Saturday to give Sam Houston State a 9-7 victory over Lamar Tech and the Lone Star Conference championship.

The sure-footed senior from Dallas kicked a 36-yard field goal in the first quarter, a 33-yarder in the second period and added what proved to be the game-winning points when he kicked a 21-yard field goal in the third quarter. He missed a 14-yard attempt in the opening period.

Tech scored its only touchdown trailing 9-0 when the Cardinals drove 94 yards in 22 plays with fullback Ralph Stone going over from the 1. Walter Smith added the conversion.

The victory was the first for the Bearcats over Lamar Tech in four years, and Pope's three field goals gave him eight on the season. He also took the Lone Star Conference scoring championship with 58 points.

The field goals came after the recovery of two Cardinal fumbles on the Redbird 31 yard line and a 51-yard march that died on the Card 11.

Gruver Advances With 13-0 Win Over McLean

O'NEAL ON THE GO — Pampa halfback Harry O'Neal picks up a couple of yards Saturday afternoon against the Borger Bulldogs. But it wasn't very much help as the 'Dogs' walloped the Harvesters 41-0. Leading the way for O'Neal is James Webb (87) and Robbie Robison (35). Coming over to lend a helping hand is Carl Clark (66). (Daily News Photo)

OSU Posts Narrow 28-24 Grid Victory

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI). — Stillwater, Okla. (UPI). — Oklahoma State turned three Houston fumbles into touchdowns, but had to fight off a furious last half Cougar passing attack to eke out a 28-24 victory Saturday.

Oklahoma State, employing a bone-crushing defense sparked by tackle Frank Parker and end Leeland Slack, turned Houston's running game as cold as the 41-degree weather. But Houston quarterback Bill Roland found a weakness in the Cowboy pass defense and hurled two scoring aeri-als to end Milton Perkins to pull the Cougars back into the ball game after Oklahoma State had taken a 21-6 halftime lead.

Houston quarterback Don Sessions hit right half Bill McMillan with another touchdown pass with a little more than three minutes left and Houston was within four points of Oklahoma State. But Cowboy left half Jim Dillard took the kickoff and rambled 55 yards to the Houston 35 to preserve the margin.

Oklahoma State got a touchdown late in the first quarter when right halfback Tommy Jackson raced over from the 11. The Cowboys got two more in the second quarter, both coming after recovering Houston fumbles. Fullback Bill McFarland and quarterback Jim Elliott, the latter making his first star of the season, got the talls on short runs.

Ohio State Rolls Over Oregon

COLUMBUS (UPI). — Unbeaten Ohio State, still nursing faint Rose Bowl hopes, overpowered Oregon, 22-12, in an inter-sectional football game Saturday behind the running of All-American fullback Bob Ferguson.

The Buckeyes, who won their seventh consecutive game following an opening season tie with Texas Christian, struck for touchdowns in each of the first three periods with the 215-pound Ferguson, powering over for two of them.

Fleet halfback Bobby Klein sent ahead on the second play from scrimmage with a 72-yard scamper down the sidelines for a touchdown in the first 12 seconds. Ferguson plunged over for two points on the conversion to put Ohio ahead, 8-0.

Ferguson scored again at the beginning of the second period on a seven-yard smash through the middle that climaxed a 40-yard drive in six plays, all on the ground. Dick VanRaaphorst kicked the extra point.

Coyotes Share AAAA Spotlight

Wichita Falls and Corpus Christi Ray powered their way into the class AAAA state playoffs Friday night to head 10 champions named in Texas' largest schoolboy division Friday and Saturday.

Classes AA and A completed bi-district play this weekend with defending champions Denver City and Albany, respectively, posting victories.

Coach Joe Golding's mighty Wichita Falls Coyotes sewed up its sixth consecutive district 4-AAAA title by slamming challenging Grand Prairie 22-0.

The Coyotes, favorites to make it to the state finals for an unprecedented fourth straight time, meet Borger in the bi-district round Saturday. Borger whipped Pampa 41-0 to earn the berth although it was tied in district by Palo Duro.

Palo Duro nipped inspired Amarillo High 8-6 Saturday afternoon and Lubbock Monterey scored a first period touchdown to beat Lubbock High 8-0 in other 3-AAAA games Saturday. Tascosa blasted Plainview 63-0 Friday night.

Corpus Christi Ray chilled McAllen 30-0 to take the district 14-AAAA title and will play Austin High, a 27-0 winner over Austin McCallum.

Other teams gaining AAAA berths in the playoffs were: Ysleta High in 1; Woodrow Wilson, Dallas, in 6; Denison in 7; Texas A&M in 8; Port Neches in 11 and San Antonio Brackenridge in 12. They join San Angelo in 2; Fort Worth Paschal in 5; Houston Milby in 9; Houston Spring Branch in 10; Galena Park in 12 and San Antonio Jefferson in 15.

Defending AAA champion Brownwood failed to make it back to defend its title. The Lions were beaten on penetrations by Breckinridge after a scoreless tie. Breckinridge beat Graham 19-14 to nail down the playoff slot opposite Lake View.

Dumas looks like the best team in this division. The Demons, district 1 champions, whacked Phillips 37-14 in warming up for bi-district foe Seminole of 2-AAA.

Other winners in this division are: Carrollton in 5; Gainesville in 6; Corsicana in 7; Carthage in 8; Cleburne in 9; Nederland in 10; Bay City in 11; Angleton in 12; Austin Johnston in 13; SA Sam Houston in 14; San Benito in 16 and Port Lavaca in 15.

Pairings in AA for the regional games pit: Dalhart vs. Denver City-Crane winner; Quannah vs. Ballinger; Jacksboro vs. Plano; Hooks-Jefferson winner vs. Gilmer; Brady vs. Hearne; Columbus vs. Dayton; Sweeney vs. Gonzales and Devine vs. Donna.

Class A pairings pit: Gruver vs. Kress; Rotan vs. Wink; Albany vs. Crowell; Forney vs. Mt. Vernon; New London vs. Groveton; Waco Connally vs. Thorndale; Hull-Daisetta vs. Sealy and Three Rivers vs. Rio Hondo.

The top games in these two classes saw Quannah smash Hamline 43-6, Brady knock out unbeaten Hillsboro 26-8, and Gilmer swamp Terrell 32-6 in AA.

In class A games, Gruver stopped McLean 13-0; Wink kayoed perfect mark Sonora 33-0; Albany clobbered Mason 28-6; Mt. Vernon whipped Overton 35-6; New London trounced Brownboro 36-16 and Hull-Daisetta knocked out 1960 finalist Crosby 9-6.

Notre Dame Rally Nips Orangemen

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI). — Notre Dame's Joe Perkowski, who hardly ever plays football except to place kick, booted a 41-yard field goal after time had run out Saturday to beat Syracuse 17-15. The defeat probably knocked the Orangemen out of a bowl berth.

Pekowski had two chances to kick the game-winning three points. He missed the first time but made it on his second boot. He tried first from the Syracuse 46, with 3 seconds to play and was wild.

But a personal foul was called on Syracuse. It moved the ball 15 yards closer to the Syracuse goal. Even though the clock had run out, the Irish had time for one more play.

Passing was the key for both clubs and aerials almost—but not quite—won for the Orange. The Irish started fast, moving into a 14-0 lead on two scoring throws by sophomore quarterback Frank Budka. The first went to Angelo Dabiero and covered 41 yards.

The second, after a Syracuse fumble, gave Notre Dame the ball on the Orange 25, was to Les Traver.

Perkowski, awaiting his final heroics, placekicked both conversions. But Syracuse wasn't shaken. The crack quarterback of the Orange, Dave Sarette, failed to connect on his first eight passes. But then he began to hit his receivers. On a good gamble on fourth and one on the Orange 43, he threw a liner to end John Mackey for a touchdown.

Sarette then passed to Dick Easterly for a two-point conversion to give the Orange a chance to win with another touchdown. They got it.

Sarette skipped the drive for what could have been the winning score, but he wasn't around when it came. Instead he was knocked out on a four-yard run to the Irish 3, and his sophomore replacement, Bob Lelli, took over.

Lelli gambled, too. On another fourth and one to the goal, he rolled out to his right, then flipped a scoring pass to Easterly to tie the score.

Dick Ericson placekicked the conversion and the Orange had the lead with 10 minutes to play. They braced themselves then for the Notre Dame onslaught. And it came.

Kress To Play Greyhounds In Regional Game

By JOE LEE SMITH Sports Editor

BORGER — Undeclared Gruver scored two second half touchdowns to post their 11th straight win of the season Friday night over stubborn McLean 13-0 at Bulldog Stadium before a chilly audience of 1500 fans.

Coach Corky Chapman's Greyhounds will meet another perfect record eleven — Kress — in the regional round next week. Kress disposed of Idalou 22-15.

But the McLean Tigers, district 2-A kings, put up a stiff battle before dropping their second contest in 11 outings. Coach Derral Davis' gridders let it be known early they were to be reckoned with.

Halfback Jim Watson, who put on a dazzling running display for the losers, returned the opening kickoff 33 yards to the Tigers 41.

From this point, Watson, fullback Clyde Windom and halfback Dickie Crockett worked the ball downfield to the Gruver 8.

But on fourth and one, Watson slipped down on the gridiron — made slippery by snow — for a two yard loss on the 10.

Gruver came right back with a march of its own. Quarterback Roger Vernon rolled out on a keeper and scooted 20 yards to the 35.

Fullback Ronnie Riley and halfback Doyle Sturman collaborated to work their way to the Tiger 10 on short ground gains.

Sturman, however, lost three yards and Vernon's fourth down pass overshoot his intended receiver at the five to kill the threat.

The Greyhounds forced McLean to punt, but failed to move the ball. But the Bengals received a 15-yard penalty on the Gruver punt and the winners were awarded a first down on the Tigers 34.

Vernon gained two, halfback Francis Shapley zipped through the middle of the line for 17 yards to the 15. Riley, Sturman and Shapley worked the ball to the eight in three plays.

But big Bob Patton, the Tigers' standout tackle, met Riley on the line of scrimmage on fourth down and arrested him for no gain.

McLean quarterback Ken Willingham connected on two quick passes for 27 yards to reach the 44 as the half ended.

Then Gruver came alive. The Greyhounds took the second half kickoff and surged 63 yards in seven quick plays to take a 6-0 lead.

Riley picked up 18 yards and Shapley eight in four plays as the Greyhounds set up shop at McLean's 37. Then Sturman rapped through a big gap at left tackle to the 11.

Two plays later Riley slammed over from the one foot line. Vernon's pass for the extra points was knocked down by Watson with 8:35 remaining in the third period.

The Tigers roared back to the Gruver 33 as Willingham completed passes of seven, 14 and 16 yards to spark the march. But the Greyhound defense led by end Curtis Harris smothered the Tiger sharpshooter for two big losses to snuff out McLean's last serious venture into Gruver territory.

Gruver sacked up the triumph with 3:51 left in the game on a 58-yard scoring march in six plays following a McLean punt. Sturman ran for five and Shapley circled right end for another 26 to put the ball on the 33.

A Vernon sneaker gained five and McLean drew an offside penalty to the 23. Sturman drove to the 12 and then rambled around left end to get the clincher. He booted the extra point from the 10.

The running of Shapley, Riley and Sturman made the difference in the contest. Gruver racked up 18 first downs and 261 yards rushing while limiting McLean to nine firsts and 103 yards on the ground. Willingham gained 63 yards via the air route.

Windom, Watson and Patton all stood out for McLean on defense. Windom, a 189-pound middle guard, was in on almost all the Tiger's defensive plays.

Longhorns Floored By Shocking Defeat

AUSTIN (UPI). — Texas coach Darrell Royal's face was pale, his voice soft as he said, "I kept thinking we were going to get one (a touchdown) in there, somehow or other."

The "somehow or other" never came Saturday for the top-ranked Longhorns. Texas Christian's upstart Horned Frogs humbled Texas with a 6-0 defeat on a mighty 50-yard touchdown throw from quarterback Sonny Gibbs to end Buddy Iles.

The big blank on the score board was crushing for Texas. The powerful Longhorns had averaged better than four touchdowns a game while running up eight consecutive victories.

"The touchdown play was nothing net," Royal said. His team had practiced against it, but couldn't stop it. Gibbs just fooled them with a phony line buck and found Iles all alone.

"This was a lifetime opportunity and we didn't come through, but we've still got one to play," Texas All-American candidate James Saxton concluded. Texas goes against Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day in a season finale.

Texas Christian coach Abe Martin called the victory the "finest" of his career.

"Texas has a great team and deserved the number one in the nation billing," he said. "They may have let down some out there, and we took advantage of that."

Martin said he was afraid Saxton would break the game wide-open at any minute.

"Don't ever think he's not a great back," he said.

Saxton led the ground gainers with 85 yards on 17 carries despite being knocked out twice.

Elect Officers

The Pampa Women's Golf Association installed officers for the 1962 year in their last meeting of the current season Nov. 16.

New officers installed for the coming year were: Merdella Chapman, president; Dorothy Ellis, vice president; Ellen Campaign, secretary-treasurer; Ruby Husted, tournament chairman; Donna Frazer, Pannhandle delegate; Billy Don Watkins, handicap chairman.

Outgoing president, Mary Prichard, was presented with a rubber plant by the club members. Under her leadership, the club has grown to a paid membership of 77 and a ladies locker room has grown from a determined idea to a reality.

Golf balls were awarded to the following winners for this month's "Play for the Day." They are Ruby Husted, Donna Frazer, Merdella Chapman, Barbara Dobbin, Ellen Campaign, Margaret Neeley and Dorothy Ellis.

Texas Hunters Turn
To Waterfowl Areas

United Press International—Outdoorsmen were just one step away today from the full offerings of Texas major hunting seasons, as hunters turned to the waterfowl areas of the state for a duck season restricted to a three-day limit.

When quail season opens Dec. 1, the state will have goose, duck, deer, turkey, squirrel, quail and south zone dove seasons working at once.

Navy Nips Tough
Virginia Eleven

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Hall-back John Sai, from Oakdale, Calif., scored a pair of touchdowns Saturday to lead Navy to a 13-3 victory over a stubborn Virginia team.

Sai crashed across for scores in both the first and second periods to give the Middles their sixth win in nine games. The loss gave Virginia a 3-5 record.

Navy opened the scoring early in the first period on a six-yard run by Sai. End Greg Mather, the Middles' candidate for All-American honors, kicked his 21st consecutive conversion of the season to put the Tars ahead, 7-0, after less than five minutes of play.

Virginia came back with a strong running game that carried the Cavaliers from their own 46 to the Navy 5 in 12 plays. But the Navy defense tightened, threw Virginia back for two losses, blocked a pass and forced the Cavaliers to try for a field goal.

Bob Rowley kicked the goal from the 11 shortly before the first quarter ended.

Jayton Team Rolls
Over Miami 26-12

CHILDRESS (SpI) — Jayton's Jaybirds took advantage of the breaks here Friday night to chalk up a 26-12 victory over the Miami Warriors in an eight-man bi-district grid game.

The win was the 33rd in a row for the mighty Jaybirds and their 11th straight this season. Miami's defeat was its first of the campaign after eight victories. Jayton will meet the Threeway-Wellman-victor in regional. Coach-Bill Hines' Miami grid-ers struck first to take a 6-0 lead on a three-yard plunge by Tim Flowers. The try for extra points failed.

But Jayton tallied 20 points in the second quarter to tie the victory. The Jaybirds tied the count on a 17-yard aerial from quarter-back Harold Murrell to end Woody Byrd.

Murrell put the winners ahead for good moments later when he plunged over from the one after the Jaybirds had recovered a Miami fumble. His pass to Royce Stansland shoved the score to 14-6.

The third Jayton second period touchdown came on an 18-yard scamper by Cecil Hallum with an intercepted Miami pass.

Miami fumbled in their end zone in the third period and Scott Dunlap fell on the pigskin for the final Jayton score.

The Warriors, desperately trying to get back into the ball game, scored in the fourth quarter on a 15-yard pass from Scotty Daugherty to Mark Arrington.

For Miami it was only the Warriors fifth loss in 50 games and two have been to Jayton in the playoffs. Last year the Jaybirds pounded Miami 28-0 in the regional battle.

Colorado Nudges
Cornhuskers 7-0

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The Colorado Buffaloes, battling hard on a sloppy field to enhance their Orange Bowl chances, parlayed Nebraska's only lost fumble and a super-stingy defense into a 7-0 Big Eight victory Saturday.

Despite the single-touchdown margin, Colorado overwhelmed Nebraska. There wasn't even enough juice in the Nebraska attack to pick up a first down or complete a pass.

The Buffaloes made 20 first downs and quarterback Gale Weidner was clicking through the air lanes, but fumbles destroyed four Colorado threats. Three field goal attempts went awry.

The Colorado touchdown came in the third period after Claude Crabbs recovered the only fumble the Huskers lost on Nebraska's 11. Three plays and one penalty later Weidner wedged over from the one.

Quanah Smashes Hamlin
43-7 To Gain Regional

Potent Quanah, making a loud noise in the AA playoffs, advanced to the regional round of the state championship play Friday night with a smashing 43-6 triumph over the Hamlin Pied Pipers.

Coach Bill Davis' Indians, district 5-AA champs, will meet the Ballinger Bearcats, district 8-AA

Champs, in the regional contest. Ballinger upset previously unbeaten Hamlin 6-0 to gain the berth.

Quanah wasted little time in sewing up its 11th straight win, downs to assume a commanding 28-6 halftime margin.

The Indians drove 55 yards on the first series of downs in the contest to post a 7-0 lead. Quarterback Danny Scarbrough got the six points on a 19-yard scamper to paydirt. End Everett Kelly added the conversion point.

Hamlin immediately marched 58 yards for its lone score to cut the count to 7-6. Quarterback Stanley Austin flipped a 26-yard pass to end Jimmy Cooper for the touchdown.

But that was the end for the Pied Pipers, who had tied with Anson for the 6-AA title. For Quanah halfback Blackie Wade intercepted a Hamlin aerial in the second period and returned it to the losers 43. Three plays later, Scarbrough hit Kelley in the end zone on a 32-yard scoring pass. The rangy end again booted the point after.

The Pipers threatened again, reaching the Tribe 12 where Quanah recovered a fumble. The Indians covered the 88-yards in nine plays to take a 21-6 lead on a 16-yard run by Scarbrough.

Just before the half, reserve quarterback, Ridley-Gibson scooted 12 yards for the fourth Quanah tally and Kelley kicked the extra point.

Quanah scored quickly in the second half on a 62-yard pass to Wade from Scarbrough. The dandy Indian quarterback pitched another aerial to Bill Brazier for the two points.

Wade turned in the night's finest run — a 79-yard jaunt — for the final touchdown and Kelley added the extra point.

The shaken Army team never got inside the Oklahoma 35 the remainder of the first half, and, indicative of its play, punter Dick Peterson once punted for the loss of a yard and a second time for exactly no yardage.

Oklahoma, meanwhile, mounted two drives to the Army 22 and 19, but both times was halted by 15-yard penalties.

Oklahoma padded its edge with a 76-yard scoring drive in the third quarter, but this time was helped by a penalty. On Army's 21, a piling-on penalty gave Oklahoma a first down on the 11. Play twice was stopped because of the Cadet cheering section's noise. McClellan hit to the eight and then took a pass from Gary Wylie on the one. Army was offside twice before Page got the opportunity to sneak it over.

With five minutes left to play, Army finally rallied its forces and went 56 yards to score with the passes of Art Lewis sparking the attack. The Cadets crossed up the Oklahoma defense when Joe Blackgrove pitched from the five for Zmuida's touchdown. Lewis then tossed to Zmuida for the double extra-point.

Army's hopes of pulling it out were ended in the final moments when Phil Lohmann intercepted a Cadet pass in midfield and Oklahoma was on the Army 10 when the game ended.

Army Loses
To Sooners

NEW YORK (UPI) — Opportunistic Oklahoma shook sprinter Mike McClellan loose for a quick snap 75-yard touchdown run in the first five minutes Saturday and then rolled onward to a 14-8 victory over favored Army before 37,200 fans at Yankee Stadium.

Beaten in its first five games, Oklahoma polished off its third straight comeback triumph with quarterback Bob Page sneaking over from the one-foot line in the fourth quarter, while George Jarman booted both extra points.

Army finally got back into the game in the final five minutes when it drove 56 yards and Paul Zmuida took a five-yard touchdown pass as well as a two-point conversion aerial.

That quick-snap touchdown at the opening of the game on a play designed specially to take advantage of Army's slow defense huddle spelled the demoralizing difference. Army was barely up to the line of scrimmage when half-back Jimmy Carpenter took a no-count direct pass from center and flipped a long lateral to McClellan. The 9.6 sprinter rocketed down the sidelines, outstripped the Army secondary with a blinding burst of speed, and started Oklahoma on its way to an upset win.

Wolfpacks Clobber
South Carolina '11

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—Relentless Roman Gabriel sent his All-America stock soaring Saturday with a record four touchdown performance in a 38-14 North Carolina State rout of South Carolina.

Gabriel ran for two touchdowns, passed for two and scored a two-point conversion with a brilliant show in the final home game of his college career before 16,000 fans.

He became the most prolific touchdown maker in Atlantic Coast Conference history, with career credit for 34 passing and running, and established an all-time conference passing mark of 279 completions in three years, out of a total of 489 attempts. He completed 17 of 22 Saturday for 215 yards and added 40 yards rushing.

Fullback Jim D'Antonio scored two State touchdowns on bursts of one and 13 yards, and amassed 114 yards rushing, and sophomore halfback Joe Scarpati caught both Gabriel touchdown passes, one for 18 and one for 19 yards.

The Gamecocks, pre-game favorites in the morning homecoming contest, posted both their touchdowns in the first half.

Gabriel brought the Wolfpack from behind twice in the second period. With the Gamecocks ahead 7-0, he directed a 72-yard march, and climaxed it with a one-yard sneak.

South Carolina then turned a fumble recovery by tackle Joel Goodrich into a touchdown in seven plays from the 17, with fullback Carl Huggins crashing one yard on fourth down.

Soviet Dictator Follows Tactics Used By Hitler

NEW YORK (NEA) — Western experts on communism see a deadly parallel between Hitler's actions immediately before Munich and Premier Khrushchev's maneuvers for a Summit conference on Berlin.

Hitler sought to play on the hopes and fears of frightened statesmen and diplomats by alternating promises and threats and often combining both. He dangled before their eyes alluring offers of peace while he violated treaties and plotted aggression against Danzig, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Like Hitler, Nikita Khrushchev gambles on his opponents, especially the United States, being soft. I have found much uneasiness in Europe over the outcome of this deadly game.

The Soviet Premier, no doubt, wants to show his adversaries in the Red world, especially Red China's Mao Tse-tung, that he can browbeat the West into negotiating on his terms.

However, the fact is that even Khrushchev's new "soft sell" is part of his war of nerves. He has been blowing hot and cold for a long time. There is still a lot of hot air to be expelled from his lungs before a genuine Berlin settlement is negotiated.

Not since Hitler has the vicious diplomatic circle been so unscrupulously exploited.

First Khrushchev used threats to cook up the Berlin crisis. The "crisis" warranted further threats. Each turn of the screw supplied justification for the next.

What do the Russians hope to gain from all this?

When the Summit conference on Berlin is finally held Moscow will aim to reach three major goals: To "legalize" the division of Germany and Berlin.

To detach West Germany from the North Atlantic Alliance and thereby split or destroy NATO.

To throw the West into such panic that the Russians will receive hasty and ill-considered concessions without giving anything in return.

Khrushchev tried to "legalize" the division of Germany and gain Western recognition for Walter Ulbricht's East German Communist regime when he met with former President Eisenhower in Geneva in 1955.

He failed. But the Soviet Premier believes in the Russian proverb that "every season has its vegetable." He obviously hopes to get at a 1961 Summit meeting what he failed to gain at the Geneva conference.

Khrushchev is aware — even if some Western diplomats and commentators are not — that recognition by the West of the East German regime in any shape or form will seriously jeopardize NATO.

For the West to recognize Ulbricht means to violate the promise the U.S., Britain and France made to West German Chancellor Adenauer when they enrolled Germany into NATO in 1954.

The resulting disillusionment will be so great that West Germany might break away from NATO and seek a deal with Russia as the only way left of unifying the country.

These are facts of life which Khrushchev understands and calculates.

West Germany is a key power in the Atlantic alliance. As long as Chancellor Adenauer guided Bonn's destiny, West Germany's tie to NATO was firm. His setback in the recent elections has encouraged Erich Mende's Free Democrats who have long favored closer ties between West Germany and Russia.

Should Bonn's Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard eventually succeed Adenauer as chancellor, partisans of German "neutrality" — neutral on the side of Moscow — will gain an important victory.

PAMPA BECAME A City of Willow Trees this week when all species of trees, bent with their burden of ice, draped over to the ground in a Willow Tree effect. . . . and the Pampas plumes, which have been beauty to the eyes for the past several months, snapped off in the winds as they became encrusted with ice. . . . even though winter is still officially a month away, like the Grand Old Gal that she is, she gave us a taste of what it will be like when she makes her Grand Entrance in December.

We glean spiritual harvests from our own material losses. — Mary Baker Eddy.

ON THE PROWL. . . catching Pampans in the role of being themselves. . . Joe Tooley, on that icy Tuesday morning scraping a windshield free of ice from his car parked in front of his home, Tooley Town, on North Russell. . . George Newberry, arms akimbo surveying his new telephone office answering the question "When's Open House" with "Just as soon as a few details are taken care of." . . . Robin, Sam, Kelly Ogden bounding up the many steps of the First Methodist Church for Sunday services followed closely by their grandmother, Mrs. Ben F. Ogden with whom they are making their home for a few months while their mother recovers from illness in Abilene. . . the boys are making quite a few friends in Pampa and who could help but love them. . . well-mannered but with a lot of that "all-boy" enthusiasm just under the surface. . . Judy Robison scurrying to ninth grade class in Robert E. Lee Junior High, where she reigns as vice mayor. . . Louise Sewell, Lena Pearl Hobbs and Gertrude Barber, seated in the Coronado Inn lobby, waiting for luncheon friends. . . Nell Kelly lunching in the warm-hued decor of the Pampa Country Club Grill Groom beside floor to ceiling windows that look out over the patio and swimming pool now empty of water and swimmers and the golf course empty, too, of players on that rain-swept day. . . Bob Hale swinging in long-legged strides down the street, carrying a camera in one hand with complicated-looking camera equipment slung over the other shoulder. . . Grace Purviance, always gracious and a person you're always happy to see, walking along the Lovett Memorial Library walk to a social affair. . . Johnny Sybert browsing through books in the library with her children. . . Janie Kadingo parking her car in front of Girl Scout Little House. . . Leslie Watkins, Frances Holt and Julie Hofess walking arm and arm on a Sunday morning. . . Bill Roots, hands deep in the pockets of a sports coat, head buried in the collar, walking against the wind into the City Hall. . . oh, yes, the nicest times to see people are when they are being themselves.

A thankful heart is not only the greatest virtue but the parent of all other virtues. — Cicero.

EL PROGRESSO ELEGANCE. . . and that is the word that describes best the El Progreso Friendship Day held Tuesday in the library from all that we hear. . . elegance in the green and gold appointments of the refreshment table where Ethel Clay presided at the coffee service assisted by Ida Perkins. . . Josephine Lawson. . . and Elizabeth Wright. . . elegance in the costumes of the guests among them Carole Swanson. . . in the first of her outings since the birth of a son, Thomas Mark in September. . . Louise Dunn, who always adds a spark of fun wherever she goes. . . Becky Shuneman. . . Dorothy Crouch. . . Mary Boston. . . Madeline Lanehart and Carmon Hagaman, chic in smart black dresses, were among the El Progreso members dispensing hospitality to guests. . . and the pleasant afternoon extended from the refreshment hour into a most fascinating program presented by Icie Harroh, who shared with guests, the European tour she took this past spring. . . for those who had been there, Icie recalled pleasant memories traipsing around foreign soil and for those not so fortunate, she brought the color and excitement of foreign travel. . . she mixed a bit of intrigue into her travelogue, too, by recalling the evening she spent playing bridge with a world financier, who was a whizz, only to awaken the next morning and find his picture splashed all over the pages of an Italian paper with the headlines that he had been involved in a $20,000,000 swindle. . . Icie also had on display for her guests to see a collection of dolls, which she had collected from every country she visited. . . imagine that granddaughter, Leslie, who lives in Dallas, will have some happy Christmases in store, if Icie can bear to part with them. . . she also did some baby-sitting in foreign lands and brought back an adorable and colorful hand-made dress from Germany. . . a precious dirndl from Austria. . . and Leslie can be assured that she will have the only one such dress, sweater, and dirndl in her circle of little friends!

To turn events into ideas is the function of literature. — George Santayana.

Lois Boynton just back from Denver, Colo. where she became re-acquainted with a granddaughter, Hallie, and rocked in her arms a new grandson, just welcomed by daughter, Betty Jane and son-in-law, Frank Frandsen. . . proud parents, too, are Jackie and Joe Tynes, who are pleased with the addition to their son's family. . . new dental offices just opened in Beaumont. . . Jackie and Joe Sr. went down this week to look the place over. . . Dr. Joe, it is now, and his wife, Barbara, are being welcomed in the social circles of that city. . . its local newspaper was graced by a picture of Barbara recently on its society pages as a newcomer and a member of the wives dental auxiliary. . . Bob and Alleith Curry back all-oglow from a whirlwind weekend in Austin. . . where they attended the TU-Baylor football game, and snatched visits with freshman son, Don. . . Alleith is proudly telling friends of Don's election as vice chairman for the freshman student government council. . . two of the most reassuring remarks we've heard this week were those made by Major Alfred Barnes of the Amarillo Air Force Base during guest talks to various groups around town. . . "I feel very very comfortable being an American these days" and in answer to whether a family pondering whether to build an additional room into their home or build a bomb shelter. . . "Build the new room, by all means."

THERE WAS A GALA in town last night in the Pampa Country Club as a group of Lee Junior High girls entertained with a "thank you" party for members of the Rebel Football Team. . . maybe we can glean a few of the details for you next week taking a good, long look into the social future skipping over the happy events of Thanksgiving and Christmas and coming to a point in the latter weeks of January, 1962. . . we can forecast with measurable assurance that Jan. 19-20 and January 29 will have much to offer the local citizenry in the way of wonderful theater entertainment. . . Pampa Little Theatre will be offering "Arsenic and Old Lace" on the 19th and 20th in its premier debut since re-organization. . . rehearsals got underway this week and on the 29th the long-anticipated appearance of Fred Waring will be offered by the Community Concert Association. . . there will be a few weeks lull between New Years' and these two outstanding events for all to recover. . . on second thought, just take it easy during the holidays so you won't have to miss 'em. . . just an observation on that new dance craze that is sweeping the country. The gist of the Twist seems to be in the hips. . . Have a Happy Texas Thanksgiving, Peg.

Assurance Of United States Supremacy In Air Given By Altrusa Club Speaker

Major Alfred K. Barnes, Information Officer at Amarillo Air Force Base, was guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of Altrusa Club held Monday in the West Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Major Barnes, introduced by Mrs. Ray E. Wilson, Public Affairs chairman, discussed air force strategy as related to the immense net-work of radar screens which overlap and are constantly scanning the skies for unknown aircraft. He explained how detection, identification interception and destruction of an enemy object can take place in a manner of minutes.

"Americans may feel very confident about our aircraft. This missile age keeps us on our toes. If there ever was a missile gap, that no longer exists. We are in a good position, I believe, for we have weapons and ability to defend our continent. We must stand resolute together. We must understand the enemy, though. They do not speak our language; they have no sportsmanship, no honor and they have no qualms about doing the opposite of what they say they will do. Negotiate, if we can, but let's not back down from any part of our convictions."

In the business meeting, preceding the guest speaker, Mrs. L. L. Harkins, president read correspondence from the Altrusa Club of Galveston expressing appreciation to the local club for its donation of clothing sent to Carla Disaster victims.

Mrs. Harkins also read a letter

Provocative Topic Of 'Doors' CCC Program

"Opening Doors" was presented as the program for Civic Culture Club on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. J. Morris.

The program introduced by Mrs. Carl Axelson, was presented by Mrs. A. C. Houchin. "In Opening the door to achievement, you hold in your hand the camel's hair brush of life. You stand before the vast white canvas of time. The paints are your thoughts, emotions and acts," Mrs. Houchin said in her opening remarks.

She continued, "You select the colors of your thoughts, drab or light, weak or strong, good or bad."

"You select the color of your emotions, discordant or harmonious, harsh or quiet. Weak or strong, you select the colors of your acts; cold or warm, fearful or daring, small or large."

"You visualize yourself as the woman you want to be," Mrs. Houchin stated. You see yourself as a builder, making a creative contribution to the evolution of modern civilization. You strive to make the ideal in your mind become a reality on the canvas of time."

"You select and mix the positive colors of heart, mind and spirit into the qualities of effective living, patience, determination, endurance, self-discipline, work, love and faith."

"Often people say, I would like to do some good in the world, but with so many responsibilities at home and in business, my nose is always to the grindstone. I am sunk in my own affairs."

"From a feeling of embarrassment, we hesitate to approach a stranger. The fear of being repulsed is the cause of a great deal of coldness in the world. The adventuresome soul must break that barrier, resolving in advance not to mind a rebuff for we find that when we open ourselves, we open doors to others."

Mrs. Houchin spoke of Mrs. Robert Phillips, wife of a Phoenix physician, who opens the door of her heart to the Indian boys and girls. "The qualities of heart and mind, we can gain from the American Indians, are invaluable. They have something very special to contribute."

Mrs. Houchin used as an illustration the White Temple

Methodist Church of Miami, Fla., which opened the doors of its heart as well as the church building to the refugees of Cuba.

"Few things," she continued, "in our modern lives are so rich in tradition as Open Doors. Few are so often mentioned in facts and fable and perhaps even fewer are so much written about, yet almost nothing else is so casually taken for granted."

"Not too long ago, we sang of 'The Green Door' behind which lay who knew not what mystery. The Open Door Policy, though now perhaps merely a fragment, was once a matter of great concern to millions of people and who can forget the charming story of the man faced by two doors; behind one waited a tender and loving bride, behind the other, a man-eating tiger."

"A door commands a great respect. Few people enter the doors of even close friends without knocking first. A door, even a flimsy panel, commands privacy, protects secrets, provides shelter from weather," the speaker said in concluding remarks.

Oppulence Of 19th Century Louisiana Reviewed For Forum Club Members

Twentieth Century Forum Study Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. William T. Fraser.

A business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. William L. Ellis.

Mrs. Henry Rose presented a program on the state of Louisiana, based on the book, "Plantation Parade" by Harrett Kane.

The author presents a fascinating picture of the empire, which unfolded in the lush fertility of Louisiana in the 18th and 19th centuries. "Soon mansions rose amid the cotton and sugar cane fields and few kings could boast the retainers that clustered about the prince planters."

"The heart of the creole was La Nouvelle Orleans," Mrs. Rose said in continuing the review, "one of the world's great ports was a city of the world even before it became more than a village."

"This era had the magnificence that made the outsider start in surprise. There were houses with door knobs of silver or rare porcelain. The ultimate in plantation splendor was achieved when a master insisted on all buildings on his property be in the form of Greek Temples."

"Mr. Kane's book continues with the presentation of the story of Valcour Aime and the plantation empire he created in Louisiana in the nineteenth century and Oak Alley, another great plantation owned by Jacques Roman, brother of Valcour's wife."

"Some of the great mansions are still standing," Mrs. Rose reviewed. "Few have done so well as the present day Parlanes in maintaining the essentials of their house. Most rooms remain unchanged with the original and exquisite furnishings of the tenants and Parlanes. To visit Parlanes is to hear good talk, to enjoy well-prepared food on plates a century old. It may mean also the privilege of resting in that bed in which General Banks and Taylor slept. There one might muse and dream of the Lady of Parlanes, Virginia, who became in adversity a woman greater than ever, finding life when she thought it lost to her."

Traveler Shares European Tour

Mrs. Raymond Harrah shared her Spring European tour with members and guests of El Progreso Study Club at its Friendship Day Tea held Tuesday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library. During the afternoon, Mrs. Harrah gave highlights, sometimes amusing, always interesting, of her visit to England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Leichtenstine, Switzerland, Italy, France, Monaco, Spain, Portugal and Nova Scotia.

"One grey day, we visited the Tower of London, which has so much history of violence. You simply retreat from this world when you go in there. It is so big and overpowering. Construction began in 1078 and took 20 years to build. You could not go to London and not visit such a historic place."

"At the Tower of the Ravens, we saw the ravens. There is a superstition dating from Charles II's time that believes that if none are in residence, both the White Tower and the British Empire will collapse. The birds are kept in a cage at night, their wings are clipped and they are officially "on the strength" ration allowance, which has run into the millions of dollars."

"There are fiendish instruments of torture displayed. The scaffold site on Tower Green is now a small paved area, but the names of those who died on this spot are inscribed on a board behind the site. Some of the names on the board are Queen Anne Boleyn, Margaret, Countess of Salisbury, Queen Kathern Howard, Lady Jane Grey, Lord Hastenings and others."

"When you visit the tower, as well as many other places in London and Europe, you become accustomed to retreating from and returning to the 20th century. St. Paul's Cathedral has been a center of christian worship through the centuries and is one of the sacred sights of Britain. It has stood for 13 centuries and is London Cathedral. Its story began in 604 and its dome weighs 68,000 tons and stands 365 feet above the city of London. One of the interesting things about it is the Whispering Gallery, just under the dome, 100 feet above the floor. A person standing at the entrance can hear clearly what is said 107 feet away."

"Westminster Abby," Mrs. Harrah continued, "is an awesome place. Here the coronations of kings and queens and royal weddings are performed."

She described her trip to Shakespeare's country, Stratford - Upon-Avon, Warwick-Castle, where American movies are often made; and Oxford-University.

"In Brussels, Belgium, Mrs. Harrah was attracted to a doll and lace factory, where her party spent a half a day. Leaving Belgium, they traveled over Brenner Pass through the Black Forest into Germany and then sailed down the Rhine to Koblenz."

She spent two nights in Heidelberg and found that the cultural side of that city is better known than the business side. "It was here that German's oldest university was founded in 1386. We visited the Heidelberg Castle, whose amazing wine cellar has the famous Heidelberg Tun built in 1750, the marvel of its time, holds nearly 222,000 liters or 50,000 gallons. Heidelberg is a wonderful place to shop for toys, cameras, china, glasses, doll and clothes."

"Our next stop was Austria, which they call the little country that nobody appreciated until it no longer existed. You feel it, the people show their feelings. We stayed at Innsbrook and I loved the one hour we had to shop there. They are noted for woollens, wood-carving, jewelry leather goods, petit point, porcelain and fine ski equipment. The dirndls and dolls are pretty too. It is such a pretty country. Austria is a continuation of the Swiss Alps and Tyrolean mountains."

"From there we went to Liechtenstine, which nestles between Switzerland and Austria. It has become a popular corner of Europe for there is no poverty, no unemployment, no exchange control, no trade unions, no strikes and even the customs are handled by the Swiss."

"There has been no army since 1868 and the last soldier died at the age of 95, peacefully in his home in 1939. There are 14 men and one dog on the police force. They are concerned mainly with traffic problems as crimes are rare. They do have a jail, but it is seldom used. Sometimes tourists use it for shelter when all hotels are full in summer."

In describing her stay in Venice, she said "You would never believe that Venice was built by the same persons who built the rest of the world. It is all glitter. There is a law that keeps all automobiles out of Venice. Some say that it belongs to history and offers no opportunity for young people are leaving in droves every year. They want to erect office buildings all over town and encircle the whole lagoon with a motor road. They would also like to eliminate the gondolas and replace them with fast motor boats... which would be bad. But the Venician calls these people "municipal meddlers" that would make their city ugly. Why should their Old-World charm have to compete with gasoline stations and billboard advertising near buildings, where Wagner composed "Parsifal" and Verdi wrote "Rigoletto."

"Once when her glass-blowing industry was faced with ruin, the city hired assassins to stab the glassmakers of rival towns. The same Venice crowd is also hoping its enemies will get the point."

"Rome is, of course, the city of churches," Mrs. Harrah said, in touching on her trip to that city. "If you spent all of your time visiting them you could still see only a few of the hundreds. You could spend weeks in the Vatican alone. I'll never forget the Holy Door, which opens for a Holy Year... the great, bronze statue of St. Peter, his toe almost worn away by the kisses of countless millions of people."

She described her visit to Naples, Pompeii, Florence, Pisa, the Italian Riviera "ten years ago the world's most serene and exclusive playground... and elegant season resort for rich society of its day. Now it is to Europe what Florida is to New York, a great noisy drain-off of the urban population from north to south. The rush for the Riviera from June to September is a stampede."

After visiting in Cannes dining in Monte Carlo and on to Nice, "where it took all morning to have my hair done," the tour continued to Paris. "It was exciting to arrive in Paris," Mrs. Harrah said. "We stayed at the Claridge Hotel on the Champs Elysee and the Arc-de-Triomphe at sunset was delightful."

Mrs. Harrah concluded her afternoon's oral tour with sidelights of her visit to Spain, Lisbon, Portugal. "Which fairly flames at sunset."

"Then back to the land of do-it-yourself feeling that we had experienced a modern miracle. We felt that we had been away in time as well as in space, as indeed we had."

Signing the passengers' list for the delightful travelogue were Mmes. R. L. Curtis, Veri Hagaman, D. V. Burton, George Walstad, K. I. Dunn, A. A. Schuneman, Jess Clay, W. R. Ewing, Jim White, W. E. Why was a 50-word ad the only thing clipped from this 50,000-word newspaper?

The ad was where the hole is. Around it, and for page after page before and behind it, there was news... important, well-written news.

The ad contained news, too, but news of a different sort. It might have announced a new brand of clothes dryer, a neighborhood TV service, a business opportunity, or a new way to make biscuits. The subject doesn't matter.

The point is, this news was of immediate and personal importance to the person who clipped it. It flagged her attention because it dealt with her needs.

Ads provide this kind of news every day. News direct from our merchants and industries. News that hits home and invites our immediate action.

Take It From Kathy

... by kathy peterson

Q — I may sound ungrateful, but please understand: how can I be grateful for things I don't want? My mother missed the "better things" in life and wants me to have them all.

I'm almost 17, but I've never had a date because she doesn't think the boys who have asked are good enough for me. It's reaching the point that I don't know what to talk about in a group of girls, because while they're bowling, going to the movies and football games, I'm busy with dancing, music and drama lessons. I don't really have any friends because the other girls all think I'm "stuck-up."

I've tried to explain this to my mother, but she just gets upset and reminds me of all she has given up for me. I love her and I understand, but I'm miserable.

K. M. D.

A — I think you are grateful for the things your mother gives, but as any normal teen-ager would, you miss a social life so badly that you don't enjoy what should be privileges.

It's wonderful to have an opportunity to develop special talents, (the children who complain the loudest about taking piano lessons are often those who enjoy playing the most as adults). However, when it is necessary to eliminate all normal activity in order to learn, it's as bad as eating dessert all day and skipping meals. Teen social relationships are basic training for getting along well as an adult. In almost any career, they are essential for success.

Since it would give you a chance to display your talents, your mother would probably permit you to join the glee club or dramatic club at school. This would allow you to be with other teen-agers in a situation that's ready-made for sharing conversation and ideas. Try it.

The more you tell your mother about the people you meet, both boys and girls, the more she will feel she knows them. It might help to pave the way for a more extensive social life and perhaps even dates. I do understand.

Trip Abroad Within Everyone's Means
American Business Women Ass'n Told

The American Business Women's Association held its dinner meeting in Perkins' Cafe on Tuesday at 7 p.m. with Mrs. James Quarry, president presiding.

The speaker of the evening, Miss Mary Dean Dozier, Pampa High School English instructor, told of a trip she took to Europe this past summer, and showed scenes on slides she had made while abroad. Miss Dozier believes the average person is now able to manage a trip abroad if they are willing to sacrifice a few other luxuries, and she is of the opinion that it would be well worth their while.

The Christmas Party for members and their families to be held Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 7 p.m. in the City Club Room was discussed.

Mrs. Ed Wylie told of the highlights on her trip to the National Convention held in Memphis, Tenn. in October.

A new member, Mrs. John Killian was installed in a candlelight ceremony.

Members attending were Meses. James Quarry, Kenneth Butler, Charles Holloway, Ed Wylie, Wayne Neff, Eugene Franklin, H. F. Trimble, Clemon Herd, O. E. Payne, T. A. Mastin, Nerine Brown, Loyd Sumners, John Killian, H. L. Atkinson, A. L. Hill, Rex Barton, Miss Jeanne Casey, Miss Maxine Nabors, Miss Novis Parker, and Mrs. Billy Wright.

Guest attending were: Miss Mary Dean Dozier, Mrs. Barbara Scruggs, Mrs. Carrie LaMunyon, and Mrs. Rue Hestand.

America's 'Crown Jewels' Described By Speaker At Twentieth Century Meet

"Americanism for All Ages" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Tom Rose at Twentieth Century club's meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. E. McKernan, 1305 Charles. The introduction to the program was the reading of "The Credo of an American."

"Although we have no royal crown in America, or scepter or orb, and no throne or sword of state exists; nonetheless, I like to think that we do have crown jewels here in our country. The crown that they decorate is large and the light shed from these jewels is seen all over the world," stated Mrs. Rose.

She listed such crown jewels as Plymouth Rock, Valley Forge, the Alamo, the Flag, the Constitution, the Declaration of Independence. "Ever since man's first recognition of his obligation to develop to his fullest capacity as an individual, free societies have tried to spell out his rights and freedoms. These rights or privileges stated in our Constitution are the most valuable crown jewels."

"We have the elements for sound individual progress and therefore national progress. We have people, resources, climate and geography; our system was designed for freedom to work with incentive. Our problems are many and complex. They can be met and solved to our benefit only by responsible citizenship, good government and fiscal soundness. Let's keep ourselves well-informed and be diligent," concluded Mrs. Rose.

BOX LUNCH SHORTCUT
Prepare a batch of sandwiches at one time and freeze them for use in lunchboxes later on. You could do a week's supply of sandwiches, and they would be ready for quick insertion into both father's and the children's lunchboxes. Take them from the freezer in the early morning, and they'll be ready to eat by lunch time. Remember that hard cooked egg white, raw vegetables and mayonnaise do not freeze well.

Under Him Or Over Him
Texan's Always Texan

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm a college junior and my roommate is a guy from Texas. He keeps a shoe box filled with plain, ordinary dirt under his bed. Nobody is allowed to move it because it is TEXAS dirt. Do you think this guy is all there?

NOT FROM TEXAS
DEAR NOT: Of course he is. It doesn't matter if he's got dirt UNDER him or OVER him once a Texan — always a Texan.

DEAR ABBY: Every girl needs someone to talk to, but I am afraid I've been talking to the wrong person. She is my aunt. She is almost 50, and has never been married. She claims all men are no good, and has drummed that idea into my head ever since I can remember. I idolize my aunt, and have grown up believing everything she has told me. ## Narrow Angle Branching Causes Trees To Split

By R. L. STUDEBAKER

Horticulturist
Home owners should learn some facts about their notorious Chinese (Siberian) elms as the result of the recent ice storm. The obvious and correct conclusions are that these trees are very weak.

Most of the damage that occurred to trees over town was to this particular and inferior tree, the Chinese (Siberian) Elm. As a general rule of thumb, most fast-growing trees are weak trees and live a much shorter life than those that grow somewhat slower. There are, however, different trees that are exceptions to this rule.

A tree or woody plant can be better judged as to its strength by its growth habits. Contrary to architectural principles, branches forming narrow angles on plants are weak spots and are potential areas for breakage and splitting to occur.

As young branches grow from the trunk or from larger branches and form wide angle or right angle branches with the trunk, the growth of wood structure is able to grow on both sides of the limb. This growth on both sides of the limb are shoulders. Narrow angled crotches only allow wood structure to be attached to the lower union of branch and trunk. The upper portion or the top of the branch of a narrow crotched limb, really never becomes knitted to the trunk. The bark of the narrow crotched limb is pushed against the bark of the larger trunk, and as a result the wood tissues can not unite on the upper side of the trunk and limb.

When any pressure from heavy weight such as ice or a wet snow in early spring is applied to the total of many small branches of a narrow crotched limb, the upper portion between the trunk and limb opens since there is no wood union. If the pressure or the weight becomes heavy enough, the limb will snap.

Observing any of the many species of elms, one easily recognizes that this group of trees are distinctly characterized by their narrow angled branching limbs.

The beauty of the American Elm lies with the fact that the tree branches low to the ground and forms a vase-shaped tree. On the other hand, one rarely sees branches broken from coniferous evergreen such as pines, spruce, and fir. This fact may not be understood, since these evergreens catch much snow because of their close growing needles.

If one looks closely, they will see that these trees all have a most perfect right angle branches, and if the snow continues to pile up on these evergreen, the weight will cause the top — most branches to bend down and dump the excess weight on the next set of limbs. This starts, more or less, a chain reaction, and all the limbs will dump their loads of snow to the next set of lower limbs until the snow is finally on the ground.

Since the recent ice storm, you may have discovered some narrow crotches that are weak and need attending. To correct and strengthen this situation, the tree should be braced. Weak areas may be bolted by passing a bolt above the weak crotch and fastening it with nuts. As the tree's bark grows, eventually all signs of the bolt will be covered, but the grown over bolt will still strengthen the weak area.

Cable guy wires can be used when "screw eyes" are screwed into limbs for support. A natural brace can be grown by twisting and twining a young branch from the trunk around a young branch from the weak limb. After a few years, the two branches will have grown larger and will have grown together forming a living brace, known by its technical name as a bridge graft.

Check your woody plants now and see if they need proper bracing before its too late.

SCHOOL LUNCH, SANDWICH
Ideas for new sandwiches to put in school lunchboxes are always needed. Try combining 1 cup ground cooked ham, 1/2 cup grated raw carrots, 1/2 cup salad dressing, 1 1/2 teaspoon prepared horseradish, teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. This makes 1 1/3 cups sandwich filling. Be sure to keep it chilled, and it could be frozen.

Christmas Plans Made By Metanet

Mrs. W. D. McKendree was hostess to the Metanet Quilting Club on Monday in her home, 612 N. Lefors.

Mrs. George Phillips, president, presided at the business meeting held during the morning while members were quilting on a Dutch Girl patterned quilt.

Plans were made for members to bring a toy and food to the Christmas party to make up a basket for a deserving family at Christmas.

Mrs. Leslie Gillian was welcomed as a guest.

Luncheon was served during the noon hour by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Forrest Cloyd.

Door prize was won by Mrs. George Hamlin.

Mrs. Ethel Robinson will be hostess for the Nov. 27 meeting to be held at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Cloyd, 408 N. Dwight.

Members attending in addition to those previously mentioned were Mrs. Wayne Phillips, J. C. Longan, Earl O'Neal, J. B. Jones, J. T. Lambertson and Margie Hausman.

or family photographic greetings. Some stores offer discounts on early orders — a fact of importance if your list is long.

There's another reason for being aware, at least, that the holidays approach. This is the Christmas card list. The sensible, well-organized homemaker will have filed neatly in her desk her list with names and addresses of those to whom she sends cards.

The rest of us will have to dig out the list from return addresses torn from envelopes, from last year's cards, telephone books and memory. This takes longer and usually entails hasty post cards to scouts in distant cities asking for cousin Edith's address and to where did aunt Lucy move?

The sending and receiving of Christmas cards comes in for a good deal of discussion when we sit down to figure a list. Some families see little reason to send cards to the close friends and neighbors they'll be talking to often during the holidays. Others think the gay or beautiful greeting is a tangible expression of friendship as much appreciated by near friends as distant ones.

Whichever way you think, few cards are more appreciated by the friends and family whom you seldom see than those that contain a personal note and a picture of your brood. The note may be the briefest resume of your activities and the snapshot a casual record of how the children have grown in a year.

A more festive greeting and one more of us will try this year is the colored photograph taken in a holiday setting and printed on one of the standard cards. Bright red and green are wonderful colors photographically and traditionally.

Inexpensive props can get the greeting into the picture and set the holiday stage. You may already have a welcome mat with Merry Christmas on it. If not white felt or cardboard can be inscribed with bold letters with a colored marker.

A clever picture idea is a variation of the old amusement park photograph. A cardboard front, sketched to look like an angel, or a choir boy or a Santa's helper, over which a youngster's head smiles is easy and inexpensive.

To make an angel prop for example, the dress shape and wings are first sketched on the cardboard or heavy paper. Then metallic green Christmas plastic tape and holly design tape are stuck down along these sketched lines making a bold, clear outline. The halo for the angel is made from a paper plate banded in gold tape and held on the child's head with bobby pins.

I also like the idea for a tall Christmas tree shape made from two tall triangles of cardboard. One triangle is slit through the center halfway up from the bottom; the other halfway down from the top. Then you slide one over the other to make a free-standing "tree" which can be painted and decorated with gold, red, silver or white tape snowflakes or stars. Put the tree on the center of a Christmas rug and you'll still have room for two or three children around it.

Three Atmospheric American Cities Described By TC Culture Speakers

Twentieth Century Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. Michael Wilson on Tuesday afternoon for a program on "American Cities."

Mrs. Phil Gates, president, conducted a brief business meeting.

Mrs. N. Dudley Steele gave the romantic history of New Orleans, La. She mentioned that the city is one of the United States' oldest cities and was founded in 1718 by Jean Baptiste de Bienville and named for the Duke of Orleans.

Mrs. Steele described New Orleans under the French and Spanish; conditions during the war of 1812 and the civil war. She concluded with a description of the city as it is today with its romantic atmosphere; its flair for pageantry and its famous Mardi Gras celebration.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan's discussion was related to San Francisco and its fascinating origin. She said: "In 1848, the city was anonymous, but a year later the words 'San Francisco' and 'gold' had been hammered together, and we were known to every literate man and woman in the world and to most illiterates."

"San Francisco," she said, "did not grow nationally. It first exploded upon the world. It is many things to many people. It is fog, the Pacific Ocean, China Town, the home of the Giants, the water front and Fisherman's Wharf. It is as far west as you can go."

To conclude the program, Mrs. Rufe Jordan's discussion was related to San Francisco and its fascinating origin.

Pancake Supper Is Planned By WOM

Plans for a Pancake Supper to be held Nov. 28 were made at a meeting of Women of the Moose, Lodge No. 1163, held Monday night in the lodge rooms, 401 E. Brown. The supper will be served from 5:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. The menu will include pancakes, sausage and bacon, coffee. Tickets may be purchased at the door or at the lodge now. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. All members and guests are invited.

It was announced that a book had been donated to Mooseheart Library by the Library Committee chairman, Mrs. Delia McGonigal. Diaries, address books and an autograph book were also given by Mrs. Ray Cales, Mrs. B. W. Lard and Mrs. D. C. Reed. Door prize was won by Mrs. Tom Beard.

The auxiliary will have its next meeting on Dec. 12 at 8 p.m. in the lodge rooms.

Members attending, in addition

G. L. Craddock spoke on "San Antonio, the Alamo City of Texas" and the city that all Texans take pride in.

During her talk, Mrs. Craddock pointed out that "San Antonio has five old Spanish missions and five up-to-the-second military bases, ground-hugging adobe houses and cloud-bumping modern buildings. The city's unusual, Old World riches have flavored the area with a fabulous past, an exciting future."

Mrs. Craddock brought out that the picturesque and unusual makes San Antonio America's most different city.

To conclude the program, Mrs. Craddock said that "Will Rogers, the famous humorist once remarked that the four cities in the United States with the most atmosphere are New Orleans, San Francisco, San Antonio and Boston and you have heard about three of them today."

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Peace Partners Varietas Topic

Mrs. H. T. Hampton was hostess to the Varietas Study Club on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Joe Z. Weaver.

The Thought for the Day was given by Mrs. H. P. Dosier.

Mrs. T. A. Armstrong was welcomed as a new member of the club.

The program was directed by Mrs. Sherman White on the topic, "Partners in the Pursuit of Peace."

Following roll call on United Nations news, Mrs. White spoke of her recent trip to the U.N. Headquarters. She discussed the history, organization, and present activities of the U.N. She highlighted her talk with personal anecdotes and pictures of her visit.

Mrs. Dow King spoke on The Peace Corps, presenting the living conditions, health hazards, and psychological effects of the young Corpsmen. In conclusion she outlined several possible solutions for the many problems of the organization as it now functions.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the following members: Mrs. Cecil Dalton, H. P. Dosier, S. C. Evans, T. A. Armstrong, Mrs. Lovie Fry, Connie Lockhart, Bill Morse, Ralph West, Alvin Driggers and Truman Garrison.

Lamar To Host Last Study Session

Lamar PTA held its November meeting in the school auditorium with Mrs. B. T. Buck, unit president, in charge.

Cub Pack 111 presented the flag for honor. The Rev. Jack Riley, pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church, offered prayer.

Reports were given by Mrs. N. L. Nicholl, secretary; by Mrs. Roy Franke, treasurer; and by Mrs. Bill Prock, membership chairman.

Mrs. George Bernson announced that the final study course on Civil Defense, sponsored by the City Council PTA, will be held in Lamar on Tuesday, Nov. 21.

Mrs. Leon Richter reported on the new sound system, which has been bought and installed and which was the unit's project for the current year.

For the program, "What Makes A Strong Home" was discussed by panel members, Rev. Riley, Mrs. Ernest Pulse, L. M. Davis and John Arthur. Points brought out in their discussions for a strong home were 1) communication between parents and children 2) respect for each other; 3) assuming responsibility; 4) recreation and 5) religion. Each member of the family should have all five qualities and should work together for a strong home were the conclusions of the panel.

Following room count by Joe Page, school principal, it was announced that Mrs. G. M. Walls' second grade room had won the ice cream treat and attendance banner for the second time.

Which child do I love the most?
That isn't hard to tell;
The one who's gone
till he gets home,
Or sick till he gets well.

WRITE AD-RIMES $310 Cash Given FREE OUR THANKSGIVING WE EXTEND

Think up a line to rhyme with —>

HOW TO WIN AD-RIME PRIZES
The arrow points to the "Guide-1".

AD-RIME lines must tie in and rhyme with the Guideline. Your entry MUST carry the "Hidden Slogan." Find it among the ads — one word in each column starting at the left. You don't have to buy anything to win prizes but MUST find and write the Hidden Slogan. Preference is given to AD-RIME lines that tie in well and BOOST LOCAL TRADE. Get the swing — the two lines are a "jingle." One which can't win is "To each customer and friend." But you must write original ones. Good luck — and keep trying.

Read the Following Carefully for Good Rhyming Words

Thanks for your valued cooperation and patronage. These firms join with you in giving thanks for the privilege of being a part of this fine community—in free, peace-loving America.

Thanksgiving time let us extend —to every customer and friend, a hearty thankfulness, no end for use of things we do and vend.

A safe and ever-growing trend which we distinctly apprehend, is one that gets a stout commend:
"On Local Stores You DO DEPEND."

One of the principal speakers will be Harry J. Lambeth, staff attorney in the Labor Relations and Legal Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Washington, D.C. A lawyer - journalist, Lambeth serves as editor of the national chamber's monthly Labor Relations Letter and writes a monthly Washington labor column for trade journals and association magazines.
