Rusk Urges Prevention Of Buffer Zone Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk called today for strengthening the International Control Commission staff in Viet Nam to prevent violations of the embattled buffer zone between North and South and to protect Cambodia.

Rusk also denied at a news conference that any U.S. warplanes striking military targets near Haiphong, North Viet Nam, had attacked Soviet shipping.

Russia charged the United States with attacking its shipping in a note delivered in Moscow today but the note was refused. Rusk said it was returned because it was 'abusive."

In response to a question, Rusk said the United States has not wanted to invade the demilitarized Vietnamese buffer zone —but he also warned that a local commander "has to do those things which are necessary for the security of his own forces."

"The whole area can be secure if it is respected," Rusk said.

Over and over, Rusk made appeals for peace talks to settle the Vietnamese issue and declared his regret that the Soviet Union, as a cochairman with Britain of earlier Geneva talks, "has not been willing to take an active role" in getting negotiations.

India, chairman of the three-nation control commission, has proposed that the staff be expanded to deal with the developing crisis of the Vietnamese war.

One relatively new aspect of this crisis is the passage of North Vietnamese forces into or through the buffer zone and U.S. counterstrikes by air against Communist positions in the zone.

Rusk said of the Indian proposition: "We'd be very much in favor of a strengthening of the commission to do any of the jobs that are its responsibility, including to insure that the demilitarized zone is indeed demilitarized in fact.

"Also the commission could ensure the territorial integrity and neutrality of Cambodia as Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, has suggested."

The two members of the control commission along with India are Canada and Poland.

Rusk was asked about reports that the Poles, allied with the Soviet Union, are resisting proposals to strengthen the commission.

He said he did not have precise information but added that South Viet Nam has repeatedly charged violations of the demilitarized zone and now North Viet Nam has protested against alleged U.S. violations.

"All right now," Rusk said, "let's do something about it."

Rusk blamed North Viet Nam for escalating the war. He said U.S. moves have been responsive to moves from Hanoi.

In the case of the demilitarized zone, he said, a full North Vietnamese division (the 324th) had moved into South Viet Nam through the zone before the United States started air strikes against military targets there.

"The other side knows perfectly well we're prepared to go into a conference," Rusk continued, "or to have other kinds of contacts private and discreet . . .but they keep coming down . . .they keep coming and the United States and its allies can't accept that."

HAPPY DAY — Members of Midwest Cooperative, Inc. and their families enjoyed an annual barbecue at the Rodeo Grounds in Roby Thursday. Some 3,500 persons filed through 10 serving lines to eat barbecue and listen to country music. Two directors were re-elected at the business session. Main speaker for the occasion was the Rev. Leon Hill of Amarillo.

Youth Held In Crime Spree

Quick work and close cooperation by Snyder Police, the Scurry County Sheriff's Department and area law enforcement officers led to the solution of an armed robbery here and a killing in Roscoe with the suspect surrendering to Ft. Worth Police last night.

The suspect—15-year-old Mark Richard Harris of Irving—was being hunted in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area at the time of his surrender. He is suspected of robbing Henry Whitehurst, owner of the Big Dipper Donut Shop on the East Highway, at gunpoint early Thursday morning. The gun and knife used in the robbery were found near the body of Lewis Thomas Snyder, 65, Roscoe city night watchman. The discovery implicated the youth in the muder of Snyder. Snyder was slain about 4 a.m. Thursday on a street in Roscoe. His body was discovered by a passing trucker, Mullin McDonald of Plainview.

Harris reportedly told Ft. Worth officers he wanted "to have fun like the guys in Chicago and Austin who had fun killing people." He apparently referred to the recent mass-slaying of eight nurses in Chicago and the mass murder of several people in Austin by a deranged sniper shooting from the Library tower at the University of Texas.

Whitehurst, the owner of the doughnut shop, identifed a picture of Harris Thursday afternoon in Sweetwater. The youth had been reported as a runaway from the home of his grandparents there. He also is suspected in the theft of a pickup from Forrest Chevrolet Co. of Sweetwater. It was found abandoned at Key Implement Co. in Snyder near the doughnut shop. A 1964 Model Ford owned by A. G. Johnston, a night clerk at the TraveLodge on the East Highway here, was stolen from the motel early Thursday morning.

The youth drove the car to Grandview where he left a gun taken from the slain man with his girl friend. The Itasca girl turned the weapon over to the sheriff from Cleburne along with three spent cartridges from the weapon, according to local officers.

They said Harris was further implicated in the robbery when the theft of a .45 caliber pistol and a long knife from Rigsby's Travel Inn Motel on the East Highway was reported at 11 a.m. Thursday. These weapons, which later were recovered at the scene of the murder, were believed to have been used in the holdup.

Harris abandoned the stolen car near Mary's Creek on the western edge of Ft. Worth Thursday night. He went to a nearby farmhouse, according to officers, and called Ft. Worth Police and told them he was the suspect they were seeking.

"He can't be tried on a murder charge until he is 17," said Snyder Police Chief Chester Simons, "but he'll probably be returned to Sweetwater for trial on charges of auto theft and armed robbery."

Also stolen was a coin box believed to have been taken from a car wash firm in Roscoe near where Snyder's body was discovered crumpled in the Street. The nightwatchman died from slug in the head and two slugs in the back.

A description of the runaway youth in Sweetwater matched a description of the bandit in the armed robbery. Only $2 was taken in the holdup and $1 of this amount was found behind the doughnut shop.

Funeral for Snyder was to be held at 3 p.m. today in the Church of Christ in Roscoe. He is survived by his wife; five daughters, Mrs. Wilda Mae Dixon and Mrs. Edna Kinnard, both of Pecos, Mrs. Martha Rae Kidd, Hobbs, N.M., Mrs. Melba Boyd, Hurst, and Mrs. Ethyl Champion, Roscoe; one son, Durwood Snyder, Roscoe; three brothers, Joe Snyder, Crane, David Snyder, Sweetwater, and Otho Snyder, Loraine; two sisters, Mrs. Tom Turk, Sweetwater, and Mrs. Inez Britton, Sachse; and 10 grandchildren.

Carr Brings His Campaign To Snyder

Waggoner Carr brought his campaign for a seat in the U.S. Senate to Snyder this morning, pointing out "his roots" in West Texas and calling upon West Texas to help win him and the Democratic Party a victory in the Nov. 8 general election.

The Texas Attorney General took several shots at the opposition, claiming that incumbent Rep. Senator John Tower has the backing of big money.

"In Washington, D.C.," said the former County Attorney of Lubbock, "They say this race is the most important in the nation to the Republicans."

Carr said backers of Tower already have spent "$90,000 less than $2 million. . . before getting into radio and television." He pointed out that the Republicans "are bringing in" Barry Goldwater and other top GOP leaders in the attempt to win re-election for Tower.

Carr praised the leadership West Texas and the Snyder area is providing in Congress and said "we have the same chance in the senate." He reminded some 40 local supporters who turned out for the rally that he was the first West Texan elected Speaker of the House and the first attorney general from West Texas.

The attorney general praised the record of economy and accomplishment made in Texas under Democratic leadership. He claimed a victory in Federal court when the FBI came to Texas to make a surveillance of voter registration procedures.

Carr said the Federal (head-

Slayer Of Coed Hunted

MANASQUAN, N.J. (AP) — Detectives searched today for a killer who left a coed brutally beaten and nude on a lonely bridle path.

Donna DeRier, 19, was the fourth young girl slain in the Jersey shore resort area within a year. Authorities have established no definite link between the murders, although all victims were killed by repeated blows to the head. Detectives have talked to almost 500 persons in the latest case.

All of the murders are unsolved.

Policemen on a patrol found the victim with her clothes scattered nearby. There was no evidence of a sexual assault.

She had been beaten over the head, face and chest with a four-foot wooden plank found near the body.

The pretty blue-eyed brunette was a science student at Montclair State College.

HUNTER, Kan. (AP)—Four persons were killed in the crash of a light plane early today near this west central Kansas town.

The bodies were badly burned and there was no identification at once.

Co-Op's Annual Meeting Attracts 3,500 Members

ROBY—"Do what you ought to do in the place you are in."

Thus Rev. Leon Hill of Amarillo, main speaker for the annual Midwest Electric Cooperative, Inc., barbecue at the Rodeo Grounds in Roby Thursday night, gave his formula for achieving true greatness.

Rev. Hill told the 3,500 members and their families present for the event that "we are living in the greatest period in the history of the world."

He praised Johnnie Ammons, manager of Midwest, and other officers of the company for the progress they have made. "They wear seven-league boots and stand 10 feet tall," he said.

"I am a firm believer in cooperation," Rev. Hill stated, "and (the history of) Midwest shows what can be accomplished through cooperative effort."

The North Carolina native interspersed his serious remarks with jokes and anecdotes about his early life in the "backwoods" of North Carolina and about his life as a preacher.

"I was raised at a little town called Fishhook," he said, "—it was at the end of the line."

"The preachers in Amarillo have formed a bowling club—they call themselves the 'Holy Rollers.'"

The minister told of a man who lived in Los Angeles who wanted to practice driving on the freeway when there was a minimum of traffic.

"He went out on Sunday morning. All of the Protestants were asleep, all of the Catholics were at Mass So he got hit by a Seventh Day Adventist."

Underwoods of Abilene catered the huge barbecue. The thousands of persons present filed through 10 serving lines after registering for the barbecue. Ammons served as master of ceremonies, and music was provided by the UCI's from Abilene under the direction of Harlan (Cowboy) Blair, manager of Radio Station KNIT in Abilene.

Dinah Lovett of Roby, winner of a rural electric speech contest, told of her trip to Washington, D. C. and urged all of the young people in the area "to try to win the trip next year."

Members re-elected Glenn Tate of Hermleigh and J. A. Murff of Roby to the board of directors. Holdover directors include Charley Bley, Fluvanna; H. H. Cary, Ira; Dwight Nowlin, and J. L. McArthur, both of Rotan, and Ted Marchant, Sweetwater.

Other officials present were Dan Cotton, attorney for Midwest, and Don Waddell, member service director.

Ammons, the manager, told the members of his trip to Viet Nam and efforts of the Vietnamese to establish a rural electrification program.

The Lions Club of Roby operated a "Coke" booth to raise funds for club projects. Several prizes were awarded to members whose names were drawn from a hat.

A business statement given at the barbecue indicates that total assets of the cooperative are $5,145,776.12 with a net utility plant value of $4,164,396.18.

No College Draft Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Selective Service spokesman said today the big draft call for October is not expected generally to affect college students.

The spokesman said some local draft boards, because of local situations, may be faced with calling college students but the indications are this will not generally be the case.

He also said that, even though the October call is for 46,200, the largest number since the Korean War, it is not expected that men over 26 who are still liable because of prior deferment will be affected.

It was pointed out that by now most local boards should have, or soon will receive, data on registrants who are college students or intend to enter college this year, showing their relative class standing last year and their grades on the Selective Service qualification test if they took it.

Local boards may consider this supplementary data in classifying registrants, as well as evidence on whether they are maintaining satisfactory standing as full-time students.

Pair On Tower Sure They Are 'Lucky To Be Alive'

AUSTIN (AP)—Police said today a young couple who saw Charles J. Whitman just after he apparently had killed his first victim "are just lucky to be alive."

Lt. Merle Wells said police had checked the stories told late Thursday by Don Walden, 22, University of Texas student from San Antonio, and Miss Cheryl Botts, 18, of Rockdale.

"There is no doubt they saw and talked with the killer," Wells said today. "Apparently Whitman had just knocked the receptionist in the head and was hiding her body back of a couch when they saw him."

Walden, who is working in a bus station this summer, told the Austin American he and Miss Botts went to the top of the university tower about 11 a.m. Monday. He wanted to show her the view from the 307-foot observation platform.

Miss Botts told the American they were going to wait until noon to leave so they could hear the chimes again, but decided to leave about 11:50 a.m. Don said they left about 11:40 a.m.

The first report of the sniper shootings was received by university police at 11:48 a.m.

Both Walden and Miss Botts agree that when they entered the foyer that is the entrance to the tower deck, they noticed the receptionist who had greeted them up on their arrival was not at her desk.

Walden said he noticed a blond man bending over a couch over near the wall.

Just then Cheryl called Walden's attention to a 'dark stain" smeared across the floor near the empty receptionist's desk. She warned him not to step in the "stuff" and gingerly stepped across it.

Walden told the American the blond man picked up two rifles and turned toward the young couple.

"We smiled and said 'Hello,' " Cheryl said. "He smiled back real big and said 'Hi, how are you' to us."

Walden said he knows little about guns but thought it strange a man was carrying two weapons. He said he almost asked him if he planned to shoot pigeons, but did not.

The couple turned their backs to the blond man and went down the stairs. At the top of the stairs they found an overturned chair almost blocking their way but stepped around it.

Walden said they didn't think any more about the big blond man—for a little while.

They stopped in the academic center just west of the tower for a few minutes and when they came out they noticed a man lying in the grass and a group of people crouching under a tree.

Someone yelled:

"A guy's shooting from the tower."

Seeks Price Spiral Cause

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has ordered the Federal Trade Commission to determine just where between the farm and the grocery the cause of spiraling food prices lies.

Freeman told of the investigation Thursday after testifying before a New York City Council committee looking into retail price increases in household staples.

The secretary said the blame for the price spiral could be found between the farm and the retail outlets. But he wouldn't say middlemen were at fault.

The nationwide FTC probe will come against a background of recent farm price increases, hikes Freeman termed 'badly needed."

He quoted studies showing profit increases of 21 per cent over a year ago among 12 unnamed grocery chains and said one food products company's earnings were up 16.5 per cent.

House Debating 'Open Housing'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House came to grips today with the controversial open housing provision—a cornerstone of the new Civil Rights Bill.

House leaders appeared confident they could count on a small but firm majority to stand by the provision that would open large apartments and newly built tract homes to anyone who can afford them.

The measure still would be subject to final approval when the entire bill is put to a roll call on final passage.

After the housing section is finished, titles dealing with school desegregation and anti-violence laws remain to be considered.

The House made two changes in the open housing section Thursday. One, adopted amid boisterous laughter, would prevent discrimination against families with children in the sale or rental of housing.

It was offered by Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., and supported by Rep. Hugh Carey, D-N.Y. Between them, they are the leading fathers in the House. Carey has 14 and Casey 10 children.

Supporters of the bill fought it but were outnumbered, 99 to 50 by Southern Democrats and Republicans.

Also approved by voice vote was an amendment that would prohibit the practice known as "blockbusting" by real estate agents.

Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y., who proposed it, described blockbusting as "scaring property owners into selling their homes below the proper value by telling them Negroes are moving into the neighborhood, then selling the house at an unconscionable markup to a Negro family."

Drafters of the bill said it already outlawed such practices but yielded to the insistence of other members that the amendment be included.

Buffer Zone Hit For Fourth Time

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52s bombed the demilitarized zone for the fourth time in a week today, the flights pounded two North Vietnamese positions close to the Cambodian border.

The bombers struck before dawn at North Vietnamese infiltration routes, supply dumps and gun positions in the buffer zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

In two more raids only 2½ miles apart, other B52s hammered at the Chu Pong Mountain lair of North Vietnamese regulars four miles east of the Cambodian frontier.

The latter attacks apparently were intended to block the North Vietnamese from pulling back into Cambodian sanctuary.

A force of North Vietnamese army regulars had engaged U.S. infantrymen and cavalrymen in this central plateau area in a series of short intense fights earlier this week.

The U.S. command said the enemy broke contact with 10,000 men of the U.S. 25th Infantry and 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Divisions 25 miles southwest of Pleiku City Thursday.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, there was only scattered, minor ground action.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, U. S. pilots flew 83 weather-hampered missions Thursday including a raid on the northeast regional military headquarters 24 miles northeast of Haiphong.

Navy pilots from the aircraft carrier Constellation attacked the headquarters complex with rockets and 500- and 1,000-pound bombs. They reported destroying four large buildings and damaging seven others.

The Navy pilots sighted three surface-to-air missiles within 10 miles of Haiphong but all three missed, a U.S. spokesman said. No American planes were reported lost Thursday.

Other targets included nine oil installations. Pilots said they damaged or destroyed 59 barges, 38 storage buildings, nine bridges and 20 trucks.

North Viet Nam noted the second anniversary today of the first American air attack on it with a vow to defeat "U.S. aggression" and to drive the Americans deeper into an "endless tunnel." The declaration in the North Vietnamese Communist party newspaper Nhan Dan was broadcast by Radio Hanoi to mark the raid by U.S. planes on North Vietnamese naval installations Aug. 5, 1964, after clashes between Communist PT boats and U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

In South Viet Nam, U.S. pilots reported destroying or damaging 607 enemy huts, 21 bunkers, and 20 sanpans in a total of 455 sorties Thursday. South Vietnamese fliers added 260 more single-plane strikes.

A NEW TWIST — Fourteen-year-old Judy Reeve of Weymouth, Mass., finds herself twisted into a knot and apparently can see no way out as she has a go at a game called, appropriately enought, "Twister". The object of the game is to place hands and feet on different colored dots after a wheel is spun and keep your balance. The action took place at a teen-age fair in Boston. (AP Wirephoto)

Salt Water Pollution Session On

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP) — A legislative committee continued a hearing today into problems of inland salt water pollution after being warned Thursday that water supplies are in danger throughout Central Texas oil field areas.

The House Inland Salt Water Pollution Control Committee, headed by Rep. Renald Rosson of Snyder, heard 10 witnesses Thursday and was expected to complete its Big Spring hearing today in a packed meeting room.

Martin Cleveland, assistant manager of the Central Texas Municipal Water District, told the committee his district spent $270,000 in plugging 45 oil wells.

He said water quality in the Hubbard Creek Reservoir is being threatened by about 15,000 shallow oil wells.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said his agency has spent thousands of dollars to eliminate pollution on watersheds of its reservoirs.

He complained of open brine pits, unplugged or partially plugged oil wells and dumping of salt water along roadsides.

Ivie urged the Texas Railroad Commission to enforce more stringently laws against dumping brine and to work more actively to secure proper plugging of wells.

Runnels County Agent C. T. Parker said fresh water supplies in his county are in a "Critical situation." He said there was only haphazard plugging of wells until five years ago.

Two oil industry representatives, James K. Anderson, a Midland independent oil operator, and J. F. Stromberg of Phillips Petroleum Co., said they believed most pollution problems could be solved by proper policing on the part of the Railroad Commission.

Coahoma mayor Ralph White told the committee there are some contamination problems in East Howard County. Fears that there may be contamination unless action is taken came from M. R. Stewart of Lamesa and John Kendrick of Brownfield.

Steel Firms Appear To Be Winners

WASHINGTON (AP) — A united steel industry appeared to have emerged the victor today in a war of nerves to raise prices on some of its products in the face of White House pressure to hold the price line.

The $2-and $3-per-ton increases in the price of steel sheet and strip — the kind used in automobiles and other consumer goods — were called modest and inconsequential by the industry but denounced by the Johnson administration as irresponsible and inflationary.

Through Thursday night, however, 11 companies — including the giants of the industry — had announced price increases effective next Wednesday on about 30 per cent of their output.

The Washington Post reported that Johnson definitely has decided to let the steel price hike stand. The Post said that the President, without anger or emotion, decided there was nothing he could do to force a price roll back.

If the increases stick, as now appears likely, it will mark the second major economic defeat for the Johnson administration within a week.

Only last weekend, striking airline machinists overwhelmingly rejected a contract agreement worked out under White House auspices which called for a 6 to 7 per cent increase in wages and other benefits, well beyond the administration's 3.2 per cent wage-price guidelines.

Those same guidelines call for relative price stability.

President Johnson withheld direct comment on the steel price increases which snowballed Thursday with announcements by eight companies. Three others had announced hikes earlier, beginning with Inland Steel on Tuesday night.

Chamber's Agriculture Panel Meets

Snyder's Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee held its first meeting Thursday in the City Hall council room and discussed the program of work objectives for the coming year.

The meeting was geared to inform members of work ahead in the field of agriculture and plans were begun to lay down thorough information programs to business people to show the need of agriculture to the economy.

The group also discussed plans for an agriculture - businessman tour of the agriculture development. This tour will be in conjunction with the county agent's office and the ASC.

Members of a steering committee to plan the tour were announced. They are Roy Hanson, Billy Roach, Joe Box, John Wright and Jim Heath.

The tour will involve an inspection of the entire county, and a luncheon that will be announced at a later date. Tickets for the tour will be on sale shortly and interested persons should contact the Chamber of Commerce office as soon as possible.

The committee also discussed the upcoming county fair, and approved the idea of awarding $100 to the farmer that turns in the first bale of cotton this year.

Also discussed were the possibilities of obtaining industry for Snyder which would relate to the field of agriculture.

Areas involving grain production and beef productions in the Snyder area were related as a potential base from which the Chamber of Commerce will investigate industrial prospects.

The committee set the next meeting in two weeks. Lindy Clark is the chairman of the agriculture committee.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a young unmarried police officer. I direct traffic at a busy intersection every morning in Boston. A very pretty blond girl passes me every morning at the same time in a tan '62 Chevy.

She always smiles and waves, and I smile and wave back. I would like to meet her and get to know her better. How do I go about it!

INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: Tell her she is much too pretty to be driving around Boston without police protection. And if that doesn't open the door, you can cite her for resisting an officer.

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister who is 24, beautiful and very well built. After she graduated from high school (with high honors) she went to modeling school. She has modeled dresses, coats, cosmetics, lingerie, and bathing apparel. She was asked to pose for an artist who specializes in nudes. She did. Then was hired by a sculptor who did several statues of her. Then a photographer hired her for a series of pictures.

My question: Why was the work of the photographer considered pornography, and the artist's and sculptor's considered "art?" She posed in the nude, in practically the same position for all three.

HER BROTHER

DEAR BROTHER: All photographs of nudes are not regarded as pornography, just as all efforts of artists and sculptors are not considered "art." But an unprincipled jerk with a camera is more likely to try to pass off pornography as art—at considerable profit to himself. Who, in this case decided the photography was "pornographic?"

DEAR ABBY: I am a bachelor, now divorced, after having been married for two years. During my marriage ason was born. The boy is now four years old. He and I have always been very close because my ex-wife allowed generous visiting privileges. Now my "ex" has remarried and she has instructed my son to call her new husband "Daddy ___" (the man's first name.)

When the boy is with me he calls me "daddy," as he always has. But he seems somewhat confused having two "daddies." I am concerned about what this confusion will do to the boy. Can you advise me as to an angle to convince my ex-wife that this boy is being raised in an environment that is not wholly real?"

FRUSTRATED DADDY

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Your signature is the most honest part of your letter. It is YOU who are frustrated. You don't like the idea of your son calling another man "daddy."

But since your "ex" has remarried, another man is playing the role of your son's daddy, and he is entitled to the name. Too bad, but that is one of the realities of divorce where there are children.

start) program for pre-school age children was patterned after a "400 words of English" program begun in Texas under Democratic auspices.

He said the program in 10 years has enabled thousands of Latin American children to obtain the education they need that will teach them responsibility. "They will pay taxes like the rest of us," he added.

In conclusion, the attorney general claimed a 2-1 lead over Towns at this stage of the race, but told his audience the Democrats will have to be careful since the opposition has $2,000,000 to spend—"Much of it from the outside."

Carr said he would begin an intensive campaign for 60 days beginning on Labor Day. During the next 30 days, he will hold what he termed a "West Texas wide rally."

Carr spoke in the community room of the Snyder Savings and Loan Association. His party was late in arriving since they had to change planes at Midland. The group was to travel from here to Stamford, Seymour, Vernon and Amarillo today.

FRESH PARTLETT PEARS make a delightful pie that boasts a Coconut Streusel topping.

Pear Pie Hits The Spot

By CECILY BORWNSTONE
Assocated Press Food Editor

CONFIRMED PIE fanciers owe themselves one of summer's fresh delights — Bartlett pear pie. So let's go.

The following recipe differs from the usual two-crust pear pie. This dessert is made with a pastry shell, a filling of the pears and a streusel topping that includes coconut. If you try this rule, please remember that the pie is at its best when it is freshly baked and served warm.

STREUSEL PEAR PIE

5 or 6 Bartlett pears
1-3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablesppons flour
Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell with high fluted rim
Coconut Streusel

Pare, halve and core the pears; cut each pear half into 4 lengthwise slices—there should be 6 cups. Into a large skillet about 10 inches) turn the pears, sugar, lemon juice, butter and salt. Cover and cook over moderate heat for 8 minutes. Remove from heat.

With a slotted or perforated spoon, remove the pear slices allowing the syrup to drain back into the skillet; reserve pears. Stir a little of the pear syrup from the skillet into the flour; return to remaining pear syrup in skillet; over low heat cook and stir constantly until thickened and bubbly.

Place reserved pears in unbaked pastry shell; pour the thickened pear syrup over the pears. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 15 minutes. Sprinkle the top with the Coconut Strusel. Continue baking in the 425-degree oven for 10 minutes. Place on wire rack to cool somewhat, but serve warm.

COCONUT STREUSEL

1-3 cup sugar
1-3 cup unsifted regular flour
3 tablespoons butter
2-3 cup flaked coconut

In a small bowl, stir together the sugar and flour; with a fork, cut in the butter. Use as directed in Streusel Pear Pie recipe.

Serve Cheese Often

American blue cheese, which is produced in the heart of our country's dairyland, should always be served at room temperature so that the flavor and texture of the cheese will be at its very best.

Bake brownies in a square 8-inch foil pan and store, in the pan, in the freezer.

Who's Giving Party For Bride-Groom?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

IT'S CONFETTI time. Wedding bells will be ringing out all over. Parties for the bride and groom are here.

But those parties have changed from the days when a hostess dreaded entertaining because preparations had to be elaborate. Informality is definitely the keynote.

You don't have to get out the punch bowl—or borrow one. A pitcher (or pitchers) of iced tea — spiked if you like—given fresh flavor with lemon, lime and orange will be enjoyed by everyone. Dips and spreads and crackers, olives and nuts and other snacks can accompany the tea.

For a snack you may not have thought of, here's stuffed celery. The filling is made with the peanut butter that's different—the sort that is embellished with smoky-flavor crisp little nuggets. If you own an epergne, you might use it for the celery and fill the top tier with strawberries or cherries.

CRUNCHY STUFFED CELERY

1-3 cup peanut butter with smoky crisps
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon pickle relish
8 (each about 4 inches long) celery pieces

In a small bowl, thoroughly mix together the peanut butter, mayonnaise and pickle relish. Stuff into celery pieces. Cover and chill until serving time.

Creamy Stuffed Celery — Follow recipe for Crunchy Stuffed Celery, substituting 3 tablespoons commercial sour cream for the mayonnaise and pickle relish.

Spicy Stuffed Celery—Follow recipe for Crunchy Stuffed Celery, substituting 2 tablespoons cream cheese and 2 tablespoons hot catchup for the mayonnaise and pickle relish.

Note: If the celery needs crisping, throw it into salted ice water and let it stand for 15 minutes or so. Then drain and dry thoroughly before stuffing. White celery is best for stuffing; and for a pretty effect, wherever possible, leave some of the leaves on one end of the pieces.

Welcome Summer

Summertime is always welcome, not only for pleasant weather and outdoor activities, but for all the fresh foods and vegetables that are so abundant this time of year. After the long winter of hot house vegetables, nothing seems quite so appealing to salad lovers as the crisp, tender vegetables picked fresh from the garden.

Some "vegetarians" say greens should never be cut with a knife. Others say they should never be torn. All agree, however, that salad greens must be crisp.

They also agree that a salad is only good as its crowning glory, the dressing. Here is a dressing that is sure to be a hit with male and female salad boosters. It combines smooth sour cream with tangy vinegar and zesty American blue cheese. Celery seed is blended throughout for an additional accent.

Blue Cheese Celery Seed Dressing is an economical dressing that will grace almost any crisp green salad. A bonus feature is that the dressing will store well in the refrigerator.

BLUE CHEESE CELERY SEED DRESSING

2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
dash of pepper
dash of paprika
¼ teaspoon mustard
½ teaspoon celery seed
1 cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)

Add seasonings to sour cream and blend. Add celery seed; mix well. Stir in blue cheese. Chill until ready to use. Makes 1½ cups.

Outlaw Side Of Art

THE ART STEALERS. By Milton Esterow.

Here we have a collection of inside-the-news stories for art lovers, crime fans and many others, combining the tales of some classic cases of art theft with some recent examples.

The author's most detailed account is concerned with the notorious act of an Italian workman in 1911, who hoisted the "Mona Lisa" from the Louvre. Esterow maintains a fine balance of fiction that encumbered facts in this episode. Another Louvre case was the temporary loss of a Watteau in 1939.

Then there is a case that lasted for a quarter of a century (1876 - 1901), finally ending with the recovery of Gainsborough's "Duchess of Devonshire" by a Pinkerton official after delicate negotiations.

The author uses the example of the world's most stolen masterpiece (not criminal theft, but military), the van Eyck altarpiece, to point up a tale of Nazi looting in World War II, which ends with the discovery of a fabulous cache in an Austrian salt mine — a real detective story.

The more recent events include a series of raids in 1960-1961 on the Riviera, where $8 million worth of French art disappeared for a time.

He tells how the nuts and cranks usually give up their stolen prizes, even though they have damaged them; he tells how unfeeling thugs usually find their merchandise is too hot for sale, although occasionally they can extract a ransom for them.

Esterow's book is a lively account, full of details and anecdotes, about the outlaw side of art.

Maybe Work Practice Is Backwards

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Many a man hates the idea of compulsory retirement at the age of 65.

"It's unfair," he says. "Work is the only thing left that I really enjoy. Why should it be taken away from me?"

On the other hand, many a young college graduate at 21 or 22 hates the idea of having to settle down to the responsibility of a job.

"It's unfair," he says. "I want to live a little, see the world. Why should I have to spend nearly 45 years on a treadmill before I can get a pension? It looks like I'll be forever in Dullsville."

Well, perhaps these complaining old men and young men have a point. Maybe we ought to reverse present practices and let the young work less and the old men work longer.

It could be worked out somewhat as follows:

Carrying his ink-wet sheepskin in hand, Ned Bumble, just turned 22, creeps in fearfully for his first day on his new job.

"Glad to have you with us, Ned," says the personnel executive. "We've decided to start you at a pension of $10,000 annually for the first three years. You've earned a good rest, so enjoy it.

"Come back to see me on your 25th birthday, and we'll begin putting your nose to the grindstone."

Ned, happily worn out from traveling the world and chasing the girls, returns three years later and buckles down at $20,000 a year.

These are his orders:

"Just show up on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, and drop in Fridays to pick up your check. Don't bother to come in on Mondays at all. No fellow your age is really strong enough to face work on Mondays. Nataurally, we're giving you six weeks of vacation."

Well, Ned marries, has some kids, buys a house, and slowly begins settling into life's routine.

At 35, he is patted on the back by the personnel executive and informed:

"You're doing fine, Ned. As a reward, we're cutting your pay to $10,000 and your vacation to four weeks. And by the way, from now on you can come in on Mondays, too — if you really want to."

Cheered by this, Ned, who is now slowly getting over his playboy habits, looks forward to more promotions in the future.

They come steadily. At 45 his salary is trimmed to $7,500 and his vacation to three weeks. At 55 he is cut to $5,000 his vacation to two weeks.

"And if you want to take some extra work home to do it there at nights, it's okay with us," adds the personnel executive generously. Ned is so grateful at this sign of appreciation he doesn't know how to thank him.

At 65, his children long flown and no longer having any desire himself to see Tahiti or raise vegetables in a backyard garden, Ned is desperately afraid he'll be forcibly retired.

Ah, but no. Managements are no longer that unkind.

"Ned, as a special recognition of your years of devoted service we are going to let you stay on the job as long as you want to for nothing a year," he is told.

"You can come in on Saturdays and Sundays, too, if you wish, and as a special concession the board has decided to let you have a cot and sleep in the office — if you pay for the cot."

At 82 Ned expires happily at his desk, the only one in the office not taking a coffee break at the time. He has lived a wonderful life, and if he had a final regret it was only that he had frittered away those three empty years of his youth on a pension.

But at least they let him work when he wanted to — when he was old and there was nothing else he could think of worth doing.

Both Business And Labor Indicate 'Spell' Is Broken

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In one week's time President Johnson has suffered two of the most jolting defeats to hit him since he entered the White House.

Both business and labor, by smashing his efforts to limit wage and prices increases, served notice any magic spell he might have had over them is broken.

Last Friday he intervened personally in the machinist union's strike against five airlines, going on since July 8, and blessed the settlement agreed to by the companies and union negotiators as "noninflationary."

This statement has been questioned. Then on Sunday the union's members around the country voted to reject the agreed-on wage boost as not enough.

Thursday the steel industry kicked over the traces.

Last Tuesday one steel company, Inland Steel, boosted prices. The White House jumped in, tried to persuade the rest of the industry not to follow suit. Johnson was ignored. By Thursday 11 companies had raised prices.

The White House called the action irresponsible and inflationary. And Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said, "This is not an hour in which this business leadership of America can take pride."

Living costs have been rising steadily. In June they went up three-tenths of 1 per cent, rounding out the biggest six months of rising prices in eight years. The rise meant it took $11.29 in June to buy typical consumer items which cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

For four years the White House has been trying to keep business and labor within what the Johnson administration tagged a "guideline" which called for increases of no more than 3.2 per cent in wages.

This is the guideline theory: Productivity — the amount of goods a worker produces an hour — has been rising 3.2 per cent a year. By this reasoning industry could grant that much increase in wages without raising prices.

For many months business and labor have been chafing under this guideline. Bit by bit it has been pierced. Although Johnson called the airline settlement, which the union rejected, noninflationary, it has been estimated that the wage increase actually came to 6 to 7 per cent.

What business did Thursday, therefore, seemed inevitable. Although its relations with Johnson were smoother than they had been with President John F. Kennedy, business was getting restless with Johnson's restraints.

And labor, which gave strong backing to Johnson in 1964, was becoming discontented in more fields than wages. For example, it felt Johnson had not pushed hard enough to get what it wanted from Congress.

Many months ago George L. Meany, president of the 13-million member AFL-CIO, warned labor would accept no federal controls on wages unless they were equally applied to prices and profits.

Business soured on Kennedy in 1962 when, after telling him it was going to raise prices, he denounced the steel industry. He applied other pressures. So did Congress. The steel industry backd down.

Johnson was more adroit. Late last year both the aluminum and copper industries began raising prices. Johnson said nothing. But his administration warned it would dump hundreds of thousands of tons of aluminum and copper from government stockpiles on the market.

The two industries backed down.

Last fall Johnson headed off a nationwide steel strige when, after many fruitless months of dickering by union and industry negotiators, he called both sides to Washington and pressured them.

They reached a settlement which the administration figured was within the guideline of 3.2 per cent although not everyone agreed this was right.

Then at year's end the steel industry announced it would raise prices $5 a ton. The administration couldn't stop this increase altogether but got the industry to boost prices no more than $2.75 a ton.

How come? Didn't this break the guideline? The administration had a handy answer:

Steel was entitled to raise prices a bit because it had granted a 3.2 per cent wage increase while steel productivity was going up only 3 per cent while aluminum productivity was rising at the yearly rate of 6 per cent, thus making an aluminum price boost unnecessary.

Then this week the President got it from both sides.

Polio Hits South Texas

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center says an intensified vaccination program has been launched in South Texas counties where Spanish-speaking residents have suffered an outbreak of paralytic poliomyelitis.

Two deaths have been reported among the 33 cases of polio recorded in Texas this year, the CDC's "morbidity and mortality" report said Thursday—a boy, 8, and a girl, 3.

The CDC said 15 cases have been reported since July 2 and the onset of illness in 28 of the 33 cases occurred after May 1.

Cases were reported in 14 counties, mostly in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The CDC said seven of the 33 patients had received either inactivataed or oral vaccine. A 10-month-old child had received two or three doses of inactivated vaccine and one 3-year-old child had taken a dose of Type 1 oral vaccine.

The other five had received only one dose of inactivated vaccine or a dose of trivalent vaccine.

Both Texas Senators Vote With Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' senators voted with the majority Thursday when the Senate approved a resolution which would give Congress authority to order striking airlines mechanics back to work for 30 days.

Sens. Ralph Yarborough, Democrat, and John Tower, Republican, were on the prevailing side of a 51-36 vote to adopt the compromise plan and also on a 54-33 vote to send the proposal to the House.

Junior Editors Quiz on ENGINES

QUESTION: How does an internal combustion engine work?

ANSWER: In a steam engine, fuel is burned outside the engine, producing steam, which is led inside the engine to work it. With internal combustion, the fuel burns explosively, inside the engine. Diesel engines burn fuel oil. The oil is injected inside the cylinders and ignites because the air inside is highly compressed and very hot. Gasoline is the fuel for the engines most cars use; our pictures give a simplified view of how these engines work. In (1) the piston is at bottom of cylinder; mixed air and gasoline has been drawn in from the top. In (2) the piston moves up, compressing the fuel. (3) With piston at top, an electric spark from the spark plug sets off the fuel. (4) The burned gases expand violently and force the piston down. In (5) the piston moves up, pushing out exhaust gases from a valve in the top. As the piston comes down again, this valve will have closed and another opened, which will allow the fuel mixture to rush in. The cycle is about to start over again.

FOR YOU TO DO: Where do the electric sparks which ignite the fuel in your family car come from? See if you can find out. 8-5

North Tips South With Huddle Play

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

HOUSTON (AP)—A 73-yard pass play made up in the huddle with only 2:03 left on the clock gave the North a come-from-behind 7-3 victory over the South in the all-star football game of the Texas Coaching School Thursday.

It was thrown by Joe Norwood of Texarkana and caught by James Haywood of Clinton. It brought joy to Texas and Navarro Junior College respectively. That's where the clutch men of all-star football are going.

The electrifying pass came after a 28-yard field goal 52 seconds earlier from the toe of Dickie Phillips of Galena Park North Shore, the state's premier vaulter in track, and the South led 3-0 with 2:55 to go.

The crowd of 21,000 figured that was it, but the fans hadn't checked with the inimitable Norwood and the fleet Haywood.

For all except three minutes, the crowd had watched an exhibition that appeared destined to go down as the dullest in 32 years of all-star football.

A record for penalties had been set, with 207 yards on both sides and with each team drawing five 15-yard assessments. Four of them were for personal fouls against the South in one of the roughest engagements of all-star history.

Also, a boy had been put out for unsportsman-like conduct for the first time in the all-star series. Joe Swint of Muleshoe was the boy sent to the sidelines for driving into another player too many times.

"We made up that play in the huddle," said Haywood with a wide grin.

"I'll never forget these boys," said Doc Orr of Denver City, coach of the North.

His team had just won its fifth straight game in the series, running its standing to 19-10-3. The South last won in 1961. The North has won 11 of the last 13 games. One was a tie.

Norwood was picked as the outstanding back with 15 votes to six each for Barney Harris of San Antonio MacArthur and Phillips, both South players.

Outstanding lineman honors went to the South's Bobby Wuensch of Houston Jones, with 12 votes to 9 for North's Glen Halsell of Odessa Permian.

LONDON TAKES THE KIDS TO SCHOOL — British heavyweight Brian London started off the day by taking his children, Jack and Melanie, to school at Blackpool, Lancashire, England. Then he resumed his training for the 15-round title bout against champion Cassius Clay in London next Saturday. (AP Wirephoto via cable from London)

Cassius Clay Taunts London

LONDON (AP) — Champion Cassius Clay taunted Britain's challenger, Brian London, today on the eve of their world heavyweight championship fight Saturday night.

"Put your wife and children in the ringside," the 24-year-old champ from Louisville advised the 32-year-old English challenger. "Remember that you're fighting for them. Then, if you hit the champ and he don't fall, run."

The modest London, who like Clay has finished training for the scheduled 15-rounder, reported: "I don't take much notice of what Clay says.

"It's going to be a tough, hard fight. I feel fit. I have everything to gain and nothing to lose. My ambition is to make as much money for my wife and children as I can. I am always a trier."

London, noted for strength rather than finesse, said he aims for a knockout. He admits he's unlikely to outpoint the fleet-footed champion.

"I'm going to have a good bash," he said.

The manner in which Clay has been training indicates he's planning a similar fate for the Briton.

Clay hasn't done much sparring — only 26 rounds — but he's devoted a lot of time to punishing the heavy bag, hitting it with a venom he's rarely displayed before.

Throughout his training sessions Clay has worn an indolent air for the newsmen, moaning that old age is catching up with him and that a champion carries a big burden on his back.

But at a trim 205 pounds his sharp appearance tends to belie it all.

London, who will weigh in at around 198 pounds, looks stronger and fitter than when he failed to take the world title from Floyd Patterson at Indianapolis in 199.

The fight at the 18,000-capacity Earls Court indoor stadium looks like it will be a sellout.

The fight will be carried live on TV to the United States via the Early Bird satellite on ABC's Wide World of Sports at 5 p.m., EDT.

$4 Million Worth Of Beef Challenge Packers Tonight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — More than $4 million worth of pro football rookies — known as the College All-Star squad — try to prove they can prospect for more than gilt-edge contracts tonight against the Green Bay Packers.

The game in Soldier Field, 33rd in the All-Star series sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities Inc., will be unique because of the dollar value involved.

The 46 collegians already have signed pro pacts, some at fantastic amounts in a battle of dollars now apparently ended with the merger of the National Football League and the American Football League.

"This squad is the last of the big spenders," jokes All-Star Coach John Sauer. 'But seriously, these boys came to play and if they lose it won't be from lack of effort."

The classic, which has the NFL champions holding a 21-9-2 edge, will be televised by ABC starting at 10 p.m., EDT, with a record 210-station outlet. A crowd of about 65,000 is expected to watch in perfect weather in the huge lakefront arena.

The NFL champion Packers rate a 13 to 15 points favorite. Both squads are without injury, and are at an early peak physically and mentally.

The last All-Star victory was in 1963 by 20-17 over the Packers.

Perhaps one of the greatest four-man shows in the series history may be anticipated. That would combine the performances by Packers backs Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung and All-Star backs Jim Grabowski of Illinois and Donny Anderson of Texas Tech.

Grabowski and Anderson, signed by Green Bay for a reported $375,000 and $575,000, respectively, are earmarked to take the jobs from Taylor and Hornung.

The Packer veterans must demonstrate they are not ready for replacement.

Undoubtedly, with all the money on the hoof, this game will keep fingers crossed as never before by NFL and AFL officialdom. Injury could shelve a $500,000 investment for the season.

Among other well-heeled rookies going against the Packers are linebacker Tommy Nobis of Texas, $550,000 signee of the Atlanta Falcons; linebacker Frank Emanuel of Tennessee, $350,000, Miami Dolphins, and halfback Mike Garrett, Southern California Heisman Trophy winner, $325,000, Kansas City Chiefs.

Standing Room Only In Astro-Dodger Tilt

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Three standing room only crowds will fill the Astrodome this weekend when the Houston Astros return home for a series with Los Angeles.

The baseball club announced Thursday that all seats had been sold for all three games, but that 10,000 standing room tickets for each game would go on sale today.

Club officials expect the weekend crowds to break the existing attendance record for a three-game series of 130,822 set against the Dodgers July 2-4 last year.

Whitworth Likes Shortened Golf Course

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — A shortened course received favorable comment from pre-tourney favorite Kathy Whitworth after her tune-up for the $15,000 Lady Carling Open Golf Tournament at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

A field of 46 teed off today in the first round of the 54-hole tourney being played at Pleasant Valley for the fourth time.

This year the course has been shortened 200 yards to 6,280 yards.

"I think the course will be more fair for more girls," said Miss Whitworth after she finished a round but failed to turn in an official card.

Miss Whitworth, the leading money winner on the ladies PGA tour with earnings of more than $20,000, also predicted some low scoring.

"I think four or five below par will win the tourney," she said.

Par for the 54-hole event will be 222.

Travelers Have Solid TL Lead

By The Associated Press

The Arkansas Travelers continue to hold a solid four-game lead in the Texas League, but it wouldn't even be a close race but for Albuquerque.

The Dodgers won their seventh straight game from the first place Travelers 4-2 Thursday night, and took a 16-8 season edge.

Second place Amarillo dropped a 6-4 decision to Austin and Dallas-Fort Worth squeezed by El Paso 2-1.

Albuquerque handed Wayne Granger, the league's leading pitcher, his first defeat of the season after seven victories. He hurled only three innings but gave up three runs, one unearned, on three hits.

With the score tied 2-2 in the top of the eighth inning, Cleo James singled and scored what proved the winning run as Mel Corvo bounced a 390-foot double off the centerfield fence. Corvo moved to third on a ground-out and scored on a fly when his feet-first slide knocked the ball out of Arkansas catcher Mark Zeller's nands.

A bank night crowd of 11,018, largest in the history of Travelers Field, watched Arkansas lose its fourth straight game.

Amarillo threw three pitchers into the fray with Austin and the Braves responded with 14 hits, an error, a walk and a hit batsman.

Amarillo almost matched the Braves in hits with 12 but Frank Funk, who pitched the last six innings for Austin, scattered six hits and allowed only one run, Le Posada's homer in the seventh.

Dallas-Fort Worth put together four singles in the seventh inning for the Spurs' victory over El Paso and thus kept from slipping back into a cellar tie with the Sun Kings.

Sterling Slaughter tossed a five-hitter for the Spurs. The only run scored in the ninth with the aid of a throwing error by Jesse White.

They play at the same stands tonight.

Competition Begins In British Games

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Competition began today in eighth British Empire and Commonwealth Games.

The Games, with a total of 1,500 athletes from 35 countries competing, officially opened Thursday night and will continue until Aug. 13.

Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II of England, participated in the official opening before a crowd of 30,000.

Nine sports will be contested during the Games. They are swimming, track and field, boxing, weight lifting, wrestling, badminton, fencing, cycling and shooting.

Swoboda Leads Flashy Mets To Narrow Victory Over SF

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ron Swoboda, unlike lightning, has struck twice in the same place, and Bill Henry has been left smoking.

Just two weeks ago, Swoboda flashed off the New York Mets' bench and jolted fireman Henry by slamming the veteran reliever for a ninth-inning homer that gave the Mets a 3-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Thursday, the 22-year-old right-handed hitter reduced lefty Henry to ashes, again coming off the bench in the ninth with a crackling three-run clout that carried the Mets to an 8-6 triumph over the Giants.

"It was just like a fairy tale," said Swoboda, relegated to pinch hitting this season when the opposition starts a right-hander.

"I couldn't help thinking about the earlier homer when I went to the plate."

"I certainly did think about it," said Mets' manager Wes Westrum. "I was hoping history would repeat itself."

The earlier belt kept the Giants out of a virtual tie for first place in the National League. This one dropped them into second place, two percentage points behind Pittsburgh, which hammered Los Angeles 8-1.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati continued their push toward the top as the Phillies trounced Houston 12-2 for their seventh straight triumph and the Reds won their fifth in a row, beating St. Louis 7-1.

Chicago tripped Atlanta 5-2 in the other NL game on Ernie Banks' three-run homer.

Cleveland whipped first-place Baltimore 3-1, Minnesota nipped Boston 2-1, California outslugged the New York Yankees 11-7 and Kansas City nudged Washington 4-3 in the only American League games scheduled.

The Mets trailed 6-4 entering the ninth when Ken Boyer started the Mets' thunder with a homer off Juan Marichal, seeking his 18th victory. Lindy McDaniel, who took the loss, relieved and gave up singles to Ed Bressoud and John Stephenson. Then Henry entered and moments later Swoboda struck.

Willie McCovey, Jim Hart and Tom Haller homered for Giants and Johnny Stephenson also connected for the Mets.

The Pirates had little trouble as they dropped the third-place Dodgers two games back with a games. Cincinnati climbed within a half-game of the fifth-place Cardinals, who have dropped five in a row.

Banks' seventh homer, in the 16-hit attack, most against Los Angeles pitching this season.

Manny Mota led the onslaught with two triples, two runs batted in and three runs scored.

Vern Law scattered six hits for his first complete game since July 8 and seventh triumph in 12 decisions.

The Phils crept within 4½ games of Pittsburgh as they bombed Dave Giusti and relievers for five runs in the third inning and six in the fifth to give Jim Bunning his 12th victory against seven setbacks.

Cookie Rojas belted a three-run homer and Johnny Briggs drove in four runs with a homer and double.

A revived Sam Ellis, who has won three straight and is now 8-14, gave the Reds their 10th success in 11 games and 15th in 18 as they swept their four-game set with the Cardinals.

Dick Simpson opened the Reds' scoring with his third home run and Tommy Haper extended his hitting streak to 20 first inning, overcame a 2-0 Atlanta lead and gave Dick Ellsworth, a 17-game loser, his fifth victory. Randy Hundley homered in the second off loser Denny Lemaster.

Football Debuts Set For Weekend

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

A prestige test for an established team and the game baptism of a fledgling one are the highlights as the professional football exhibition season gets under way in earnest this weekend.

Placing their pride on the line will be the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League, who play the College All-Stars tonight in the 33rd annual charity game at Soldier Field in Chicago.

Making their debut will be the new Miami Dolphins of the American Football League, who play the Chargers in San Diego Saturday night.

In other Saturday games involving NFL teams, the New York Giants meet Pittsburgh at Ithaca, N.Y., in the afternoon, while Atlanta is at St. Louis, Cleveland is at Los Angeles, Chicago clashes with Philadelphia at Memphis, Tenn., and Minnesota takes on Detroit at New Orleans, La., in night games.

Another AFL game Saturday night will have Kansas City at Denver.

Sunday, Dallas plays at San Francisco in an NFL exhibition and Buffalo is at Boston in an AFL preview.

The Packers are two-touchdown favorites to give the pros their 22nd victory over the All-Stars, who have won nine and tied two.

Dick Wood, a four-year AFL veteran who was drafted from Oakland, will start at quarterback for the Dolphins against San Diego, the defending Western Division champion.

Peanut Butter Bet Proves Too Much!

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—A graduate student at Texas A&M gagged halfway through his bet to eat 25 pounds of peanut butter in a month.

Frank Truesdale, graduate fisheries major from Atlantic Heights, N. J., said he still likes peanut butter "but I just got tired of it with about 10 days to go" on his dare.

He said a friend is going to make peanut butter cookies with the remainder—but he was not guaranteeing to eat any.

Ulysses S. Grant was probably the only United States President ever arrested for speeding. Grant was whisking down a street near the White House when a policeman apprehended him, and took the horse and rig to the station. The surprised Chief of State had to walk back to the Executive Mansion.

One Brady Escapee Is Nabbed Thursday

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — One of two men who escaped from the McCullough County jail at Brady on July 28 was recaptured in Brownwood Thursday by an investigator for the West Texas Cattle Raisers Association.

Bobby Roberts, 33, of Brady was apprehended by cattle inspector Hatton M. Moore Jr., of Brady.

Officers took Roberts, who, when he escaped was being held on charges of forgery and passing, before a judge in Brownwood and filed jail break charges against him.

The second prisoner who escaped with Roberts was Lonnie Teague, 27, who was held on a charge of destruction of private property.

Attorney Fears Cage Is Kidnaped

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A one-time lawyer for BenJack Cage says he fears that the former Texas insurance company official may have been kidnaped or gone into hiding.

Laercio Pellegrino said Cage "has many enemies in Brazil."

Cage, who fled to this country after drawing a 10-year-prison sentence in Texas for embezzling $100,000 from insurance companies that went bankrupt, has disappeared from Rio de Janeiro.

Pellegrino said he had not been able to find any trace of the former Texan during the past month.

Texas officials have tried without success since 1957 to extradite Cage from Brazil.

The Brazilian government recently has been investigating Cage's naturalizataion as a Brazilian citizen.

The Texas promoter claimed he was a farmer in order to sidestep the usual five-year residence requirement and was able to obtain citizenship after only three years.

Brazilian law prohibits the expulsion any citizen who is the parent of a Brazilian-born child.

Authorities are investigating charages brought against Cage that a child reportedly born to him and his wife actually was the son of a Brazilian woman who turned the baby over to Cage for $50.

If it was found that the child is not actually the Cages' natural born son, another obstacle to Cage's extradition to Texas would be cleared.

The Dallas Morning News said today it was told by Mrs. Cage, who is visiting friends near Kerrville, Tex., that she has not been in contact with her husband for several weeks.

She said she knew nothing about reports that Cage may be tried in Brazil for the embezzlement.

Mrs. Cage declined to comment on whether she would prefer that her husband return to Texas and serve his prison sentence, the News reported.

The newspaper quoted Dallas friends of Cage as saying they heard from him by telephone Wednesday and that he was hiding in Brazil under an assumed name.

According to the friends, Cage may soon try to return to Texas, since they say he would prefer serving a prison term in Texas to one in Brazil.

Worm Diggers Win Their Price Hike

WISCASSET, Maine (AP) — Wiscasset's worm diggers strike is over. The worm diggers won a 25-cent-per-100-worms price hike from the worm dealers.

The dispute concerned blood worms, prized by sports fishermen for bait. They are shipped all over the East Coast.

Some 300 men make a living digging the blood worms along the shore of this old seaport, famed in clipper ship days as the home of wealthy captains in the China trade.

Digger Darrell Russell observed: 'We even dig during the winter, sometimes at 10 degrees below zero. Of course we deserve a raise."

OH, how important they are! No music would be sweet without them. No life can mean much until it first suffers them.

It takes discords to prove the true beauty of the finer harmonies. Without discords we have stagnation... no opportunity for comparison.

One must see them, concords and discords, alongside each other if one is to have the full picture. Compare the selfish with the unselfish; the cactus with the rose; the christian life with the life of the wayward. Compare the touch of the beginner with that of the concert pianist.

Ah, there it is. Now you understand. God put His church right in the middle of all this and furnished it with a pew and an altar where men might pray.

He offers His grace to sustain us in our darkest hour — when discords disrupt and darkness dulls our way. The doors of His church are ajar and He invites all men; even men of disrepute — men who still question His authority. Won't you come to church?

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.
