Bargain Rates Offer Every Family The Opportunity Of Becoming Courier Readers

Concentrating its efforts toward the goal of "Every Family Becoming A Courier Reader," the Dawson County Courier Office has so reduced its subscription prices that it is possible for every family to join the circle of Courier subscribers and to become a regular Courier reader. The regular one year subscription price has been slashed in half, thereby offering the residents of this trade territory for a limited time a one year subscription to the Courier for the bargain rate of $1.50, and a two year subscription for the phenomenal price of $3.00.

The bargain rates have been in effect for only a few days, but the Courier is happy to announce that already the response accorded this subscription drive has been so great that the goal of "Every Family Becoming A Courier Reader" is now a distinct possibility. Hundreds of people have already poured into the Courier office subscribing for the paper for one year and two year periods at the new reduced bargain rates, and the Courier reader circle continues to enlarge by the hour.

With the new bargain rates in effect, residents throughout Dawson, Gaines, Borden, Terry, Martin, Lynn, and Howard Counties, can now subscribe for the paper for a one year period for $1.50, or for two years for $3.00. Previously the prices have been $3.00 per year, with $5.00 being charged for two year subscriptions in this trade territory. The bargain rates are being offered for a limited time only.

Out of trade territory residents can still subscribe to the paper for $4.00 per year, and men and women of the Armed Forces can get their paper for $3.00 per year.

Still another aim of the Courier is to increase the papers circulation throughout the surrounding counties, thereby making Lamesa headquarters for shoppers in a surrounding radius of 40 miles or more. Consequently, the bargain rates are in effect in the counties of Gaines, Borden, Terry, Martin, Lynn, and Howard in addition to Dawson County.

Lamesa has often proved its many definite advantages to shoppers over the trade territory. The local businesses offer the quantity and quality of merchandise that is preferred by the trade territory residents, thereby making Lamesa the great shopping center of this wide awake district. By subscribing for the Courier, trade territory residents will realize savings greatly surpassing the price of a subscription. The Courier carries regularly advertisements of merchandise and services of interest and importance for every reader in every family. It guides and instructs you when you are shopping, and you will want to continue the practice of shopping the Courier way each week.

Remember that the 2 year subscription bargain rate of $3.00 is a double savings, whereby you can obtain the paper for a two year period twice each week for an amazingly low price. Regular Courier subscribers are taking advantage of the bargain rates, and are stream-

First 1945 Bale Of Cotton Sold To W. B. Collins Here

Dawson County's first bale of 1945 cotton was auctioned at the courthouse lawn Saturday morning, September 1, to the highest bidder. The bale sold to W. B. Collins, local merchant, for 23 cents per pound.

The bale, which was auctioned by Col. Houston Glasson, weighed 495 pounds. It was grown by Archie Moore on the M. Q. Martin farm, located 5 miles southwest of town, and it is reported that Moore picked from 12 1-2 to 15 acres to get the bale of cotton.

The cotton was ginned Monday afternoon, August 27, between 3:30 and 4:00 p. m., by the Lamesa Co-Operative Gin, and was placed on the courthouse lawn shortly thereafter for inspection.

MYRTLE DICKIE NEGY County Home Demonstration Agent CANNING BAKED PORK AND BEANS

Requests for canning baked pork and beans have been received at this office recently. This is the best recipe we know. We think any family would enjoy a couple of dozen cans of good home prepared pork and beans.

Also, home canned pork and beans seem to be a popular item among the foods sent overseas to boys last year. We suggested that you try canning 2 cans of these and 2 cans of steamed cornbread and see what kind of letters those boys will write to thank you.

The recipe follows:
Pick over dried beans. Navy or pinto beans may be used. Wash and soak for 12 to 16 hours. Use soft water for soaking. Rinse soaked beans. Cover with fresh boiling water. Boil 3 minutes then drain. Place several small pieces of salt pork in a bean pot or other container for baking. Add beans. Cover with tomato sauce (recipe given below). Cover pot and bake beans in a slow oven (about 250 degrees F.) for 1 1/2 hours. Stir well. Heat to boiling. Pack while boiling hot into clean cans or clean hot jars. Add 1 small piece of pork to each can. Cover with hot tomato sauce. Seal at once. Process at 10 pounds pressure. Number 1 cans should be processed for 65 minutes; number 2 cans and pints should be processed for 80 minutes and number 3 cans and quarts should be processed for 95 minutes.

Tomato Sauce Recipe

For 1 pound soaked dried beans:
4 cups tomatoes
2 teaspoons salt
2 to 4 tablespoons molasses
1 small chopped onion or garlic
1-4 cup vinegar.
1-4 to 1-2 teaspoon whole cloves
1-4 to 1-2 teaspoon whole cinnamon
1-4 to 1-2 teaspoon whole all spice
1-4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 bay leaf.
Wash, core and skin tomatoes. Chop or grind fine. Add salt, molasses and onion. Boil 20 minutes. Tie spices in bag. Place in tomato mixture. Add vinegar. Simmer 20 or 30 minutes.
If fresh beans are used instead of dried beans, omit the soaking. Also the processing time would be 10 minutes less for each size container.

Pea Pickers Are Needed Now In Dawson County

County Agent T. A. Barfield reports that pea pickers are needed in this county now. He states that approximately 20,000 acres of peas have been planted here, and that several loads of the vegetables have already been sold to canneries in East Texas.

County Agent Barfield states, "A number of buyers are due to arrive here next week, and local farmers could use 400 pickers during the early part of this week. By the end of the week from 600 to 1000 workers will be needed in the county to pick green peas."

He continued, "The crops look good this year. Munger Community has an especially good crop."
"Good pea pickers can pick from 600 to 1000 pounds of peas per day and workers are being paid $1.00 per 100 pounds this year. For picking and hauling, $1.25 is being paid.

Ways To Preserve Fruit Without Sugar Are Given

"How to preserve the plentiful apples and pears with little or no sugar" is the question most folks are asking themselves now," says Mrs. Winifred J. Leverenz, specialist in food preservation for the A. and M. College Extension Service. Both apples and pears may be kept several months in the natural state if they are in good condition to start with. They should be gathered when mature but hard, and stored in a cold, moist place. Usually the cellar is ideal. If each fruit is wrapped separately in paper, such as newspaper or tissue paper, it will keep longer.

Apples and pears may be dried very successfully and they may be canned without sugar. If no sugar is available, just use plain water in which to can the fruit. A small amount of honey or corn syrup may be used instead of sugar to make the syrup for canning these fruits.

APPLE SAUCE

- 1 gallon sliced apples
  - 1 cup boiling water
  - 1 cup sugar (1 cup honey or two cups corn syrup may be used)
  - 1-2 cup lemon juice if desired.
- Good cooking apples with slightly tart flavor make the best sauce or butter. Wash apples thoroughly. Cut into small pieces without removing peelings and cores, provided a good sieve is available; otherwise remove peelings and core. Cut into small pieces and in this way it is not necessary to press through a sieve. Add boiling water. Cover utensil. Cook until tender, (about 20 minutes). Press apples with peelings and cores through the sieve. Add sugar. Pack while hot in hot, clean jars and process in a water bath 10 minutes.

APPLE CARROT-CONSERVE

- (Pears may be used instead of apples for this)
  - 2 cups chopped peeled and cored apples
  - 2 cups grated or ground carrots
  - 1 lemon sliced thin or ground
  - 1 orange sliced thin or ground
  - 2 2-3 cups sugar or 3 cups syrup or 2 cups honey and no water
  - 1-2 teaspoon salt
  - 1-2 cup water.
- Cook all together until the fruit is transparent and has a transparent syrup (about 45 minutes). Pour into hot, clean jars. Seal and process in water bath 10 minutes.
- NOTE: If pears are used they should be cooked with water or syrup 20 minutes before adding other ingredients.

No Relief Is In Sight For The Sugar Shortage

Today the United States has the least sugar she's had since the last war. Our sugar reserves probably can't be rebuilt until 1947.

As you probably know . . . only about one-fourth of our sugar is grown in the 48 states. So when the war started our sugar troubles began, too. Not only the United States, but our allies were cut off from sugar in the Pacific areas . . . except from Hawaii. And likely many more months will pass before most of the Pacific producers will ship sugar to us again . . . even from the Philippines.

In the meantime, our allies who were formerly dependent on home grown sugar and on sugar from the Pacific have had to obtain some of their sugar from the Caribbean area . . . That means less sugar for the United States. With less sugar to buy on the world market and more people to buy it, our national supplies have gradually dwindled.

In the face of that, we used 450,000 tons more sugar for home canning purposes last summer than we actually needed for the food we put up. With the money to buy it and the appetites to eat it, we probably used some of that canning sugar for cookies, lemonade and the like.

Now we have practically no reserve stocks of sugar to fall back on. Unfortunately Cuba has suffered from the worst drought in 87 years . . . The sugar crop in Cuba was 900,000 tons short of expectations.

Fortunately, more sugar beets were planted in the United States this year . . . but not enough to balance other shortages and we can't expect much improvement in supply for many months.

More Laundry Type Soap To Be Available Soon

American housewives are going to have 10 per cent more "heavy duty" laundry type soaps.

According to a statement from the U.S. Department of Agriculture received by the A and M. College Extension Service, Secretary Clinton P. Anderson had made possible the increase by an order requiring manufacturer to use additional quantities of water-softening "builder" materials in their products. The order becomes effective on August 7.

At the same time the Department announced that army requirements for soap will be lower during the next six months. This will make it unnecessary to reduce further the quotas of fat available for the manufacture of civilian soaps, the statement said. It quotes the secretary that the quota of fat assigned to soap manufacture for civilians in 1945 is more than the quantity of fat consumed in the manufacture of soap for civilians in this country before the outbreak of war in Europe.

20,000 AT AIR FORCE ANNIVERSARY — A crowd estimated by Public Relations officials at 20,000 turned out at San Angela Wednesday as the San Angelo air field and Goodfellow field staged a show honoring the 38th anniversary of the Army Air Force. An open house was held. The Norden Bomb Sight was unveiled to the public eye, and the air show included precision formation bombing, single and formation bombing, and skip bombing.

In announcing the order, Secretary Anderson put a quietus on rumors that soap may be rationed. "If we were to have soap rationing," he explained, "it would be necessary for me as Secretary of Agriculture to authorize it. I do not plan to issue such authorization. Operating a soap rationing program is just too great a problem to undertake now."

It would be a little easier on all of us, he went on, "if people would buy sensibly, buying what is needed, instead of starting a run on scarce stocks. Supplies will continue to flow to retail outlets, so let's buy what we want when we need it."

By increasing the use of water softening "builder" in their products, the statement explained, manufacturers will be able to increase the total quantity of these types of soap available to civilians by more than 100,000,000 pounds during a 12 months period without requiring the use of additional fats and oils. It explained further that the added use of "builders" would not decrease the cleansing qualities of these types of soap, nor does the order change in any way the present formulas used in bar soaps nor fine fabric granulated or flake soaps.

Civil Service Arranges New Employment Plan

Hubert Nelson of this city has received from the United States Civil Service Commission details of a comprehensive program designed to provide returning war veterans and displaced federal workers with the maximum possible opportunity for future employment in the Federal Service.

The principal points in the commission's program are:

Applications for employment from disabled veterans of World War I and II and from non-disabled veterans of World War II who file within one year of their discharge from active service or from hospitalization, will be received at any time.

Except where needs of the service absolutely require it, no further application will be received from other persons who are not now a part of the Federal Service.

Where Federal employees are scheduled for discharge, arrangements will be made immediately for representatives of other agencies that are hiring new personnel to interview those about to be discharged.

When present Federal employees are not hired by another agency prior to their discharge, they may file, within 60 days, an application for re-employment in the Federal Service.

All vacancies in positions subject to the civil service act will be filled by qualified veterans for whom examinations were re-opened federal workers who have qualified for re-appointment, and persons whose applications were received prior to the decision to stop receiving applications.

Further details of the program can be obtained by contacting Hubert Nelson in this city.

Even her initial practice voyage at sea, she ran out of fresh food and her men ate field rations and rice. There was not chance to overhaul her engines, so desperately did the Navy need her services.

Even her initial practice voyage that gives all hands critically needed experience in the handling of their ship was foregone. Her training cruise took place in the freezing Atlantic, with Nazi U-boats as instructors.

'Don't Give Me That Old Line'

By HAL R. COOPER
AP Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON — When I was in the Army it used to make us very bitter to hear the civilians complaining about their hard lot.

Even in the Air Force, where life is easy, we would read the outcries about the meat shortage and snarl, "Well, they're not getting shot at, are they?"

Once in a while a more thoughtful head (not us, of course) would remark:

"You guys never had it so good. Wait'll you get out of the Army and see how YOU like it." Truer words were never spoken.

Things not only are hard it not impossible to get, but — the supreme insult after all those Army queues—I have to stand in line to get them.

The butcher suggested I have my red stamps changed into red tokens. "With tokens," he said, "you could play tiddledywinks. What can you do with stamps when you always get in line so late?" My butcher is a card. I wish they'd draft him.

As for civilians not getting shot at and making more money than they used to, the boys in the Army were right. I'll hasten to add that with living costs and taxes the way they are, however, the holes shot in those fat pay checks would look better on a Japanese admiral.

After three years in the Army I'd forgotten that civilians have to kiddy out cash money for their clothes, shoes, food, medical and dental treatment, transportation and lodging. I remember now. It also occurs to me who was footing the bill for the same items for us in the Army—the same civilians.

When I had dry cleaning in the Air Force I would drain a bucket of gasoline out of a B-17 dunk my woollens in it, work them over lightly with a brush and do my own pressing. If a footsore automobile owner caught me using gas for that purpose in this town it would take the police reserves to get me out of his clutches alive.

When my shirts, socks, pants, shoes and blouses came apart at the seams I used to turn them in to the supply sergeant and get new ones, sometimes with hardly any argument. Now I will add up my debts and taxes, subtract from the amount of my income, and decide those gabardine slacks will look sporty with a patch on the seat.

Still, I don't want to talk my Army friends out of taking their discharges and having a fling at life on the outside.

I just want them to know that civilian life these days is more uncertain and a greater adventure than aerial combat. One never knows what one will be short of next.

These Women:— She Angles... For Fish

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Ramble down Willowmac River in New York and you may meet the only woman in the United States who is president of a fly fishers club.

She is Mrs. B. Tappen Fairchild, of Cold Springs Harbor, New York. Pause to watch as she stands hip-deep in waders and you may get a few casting points, as her line cuts the air with a swish, and her fly (hand-tied by her husband) drops on icy bubbles at the spot where she last saw a rise. Watch a few minutes longer and you may see her net a trout. One season she netted 199 salmon in four weeks (though she returned most of them to the water).

Mrs. Fairchild, member of a well known New York family, wife of a sportsman and mother of two servicemen, began to fish twenty-five years ago when her husband came home from World War I. Few women fished in those days.

A decade later she helped found the Woman Flyfishers Club, believed to be the only organization of its kind in the country. Today the club numbers 60 women and has its own clubhouse on the Willowmac. Husbands may go on their fishing outings, but they can't fish.

"Few women are dyed-in-the-wool fishermen," she said with a smile. "Most women fish because they want to go along with their men. That's why I think more women will fish after the war when many men now in service will want to do more hunting and fishing."

Mrs. Fairchild thinks women make first class fishermen.

"They have delicacy of touch and patience," she said. "And both those qualities are important. Incidentally, fishing is a wonderful fatigue antidote for business women."

Right now the Fairchild family interest in sports is playing second fiddle to work in behalf of service men. Mrs. Fairchild is active in several committees which arrange for entertainment of convalescent service men from Santini Hospital, Sea Gate Naval Hospital and Mason General Hospital. About twenty-five of the men spend Sunday as lunch and dinner guests of Cold Spring Harbor families, who arrange golf, swims, country club dances and box suppers for them. During the week Mrs. Fairchild entertains hospitalized soldiers with a musical program in which she whistles like a bird to her own accompaniment. Mr. Fairchild teaches flying at Mason General Hospital.

Mrs. Fairchild is a member of the Planning Board of Huntington Township and an ardent stamp collector.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gill of Fort Worth spent a few days in this city last week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warren.

Group Heard An Interesting War Fund Program

J. R. (Dutch) Leuenberger, county chairman for the October United War Fund drive, M. C. Lindsey, J. P. White, and Mrs. Matt McCall attended a regional conference of that organization which was held in Lubbock Friday, August 31.

Wayland D. Towner discussed the need for the United War Fund drive this year, a USO entertainer spoke, and Captain Muselmon, a former Japanese prisoner and survivor of the "death march," gave a discussion.

Capt. Muselmon reported that he had been in the same prison camp with Major John Bennett, former Lamesan, until the latter part of 1945, and stated that at that time he was well and doing fine.

Following these interesting talks the group was served luncheon at the Lubbock Air Base, after which a tour of the field was enjoyed.

The local group reported that the meeting was most enthusiastic and interesting.

Cattle Slaughter Percentage Has Been Increased

A substantial increase in class 2 (non-federally inspected) slaughter percentages for cattle, calves and hogs for quota periods beginning on or after August 26, was announced this week by the District Office of Price Administration.

The slaughter percentage for cattle was increased from last month's 100 per cent to 125 per cent; the percentage for calves from 75 per cent to 100 per cent; and for hogs, from 50 per cent to 65 per cent.

The slaughter percentage for sheep and lambs remains unchanged at 110 per cent.

Class 2 slaughterers apply the percentage to their quota bases to determine the live weight of each species they may slaughter during a quota period. This increase in slaughter percentages was made to provide for the slaughter of more livestock by non-federally inspected slaughterers.

Sgt. O. Weeks Tells Of His Experiences On Island In Pacific

WITH THE 40TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN THE PHILIPPINES

—Enjoying a few beers with his buddies to celebrate Japan's surrender, Sgt. Orville N. Weeks, Lamesa, squad leader in the 108th Infantry, recalled another day, during combat, when some Jap beer tasted mighty good.

The infantrymen had encountered few Japs as they overran Del Monte airstrip on Mindanao's north coast.

Instead, they found plenty of something more delightful and refreshing—45 cases of cool beer, two cases of saki and 10 cases of soft drinks. Also uncovered were several cartons of chewing gum and a quantity of writing material.

The Japanese had abandoned these morale supplies in a cave before fleeing into neighboring hills in face of the 40th division rifle-men's invasion at Macajalar bay.

Sgt. Weeks and the doughboys consumed the beverages during a break, pocketed the gum and writing paper for later use.

Buckling field packs and slinging rifles, the Yanks then flanked Del Monte airstrip to dig the Japs out of the high country.

Capt. Walter Champagne, Jr., whose home is in Leonville, Louisiana, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCoy and family. Capt. Champagne has been with the 69th Tactical Ren. Group

Scare Household Items Are To Be Available Soon

Chester Bowles has told consumers that household washing machines, ironers and aluminum kitchenware will be back on the stores this fall at 1942 prices, the District Office of Price Administration has announced.

The Office of Economic Stabilization approved extension of the price program for consumer durable goods to the entire reconversion. In outline, the program is to grant increases at the production level to compensate for cost increases since 1941, when necessary to assure maximum production. Wholesalers and retailers, not the consumer, will absorb a substantial amount of these increases where their margins reasonably permit them to do this.

Price Administrator Bowles told housewives this is what they can expect in the durable goods field during the next few months.

The output of household washing machines should reach pre-war levels this fall and shoppers should be able to find them in the stores in quantity by the end of the year.

The picture is pretty much the same for aluminum kitchenware. Of course, shoppers should remember that washing machines and cooking utensils have been out of stock for some time and probably will be bought up very quickly.

Lt. Col. Britt Is Given Command Of Bomb Group

A NINTH AIR FORCE BOMBER BASE, France—Lt. Col. Jimmie W. Britt, of Odessa and Lamesa, has just been given command of the 397th Bombardment Group, famed as the "Bridge Busters," according to an announcement from Ninth Air Force headquarters. His wife, Mrs. Roberta Britt, lives in Odessa, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Britt, live in Lamesa.

Formerly the group deputy commander, the 30 year old flying colonel flew 18 combat missions in the war against Germany. He holds the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, and received the Distinguished Flying Cross for a courageous achievement. Unable to bomb the target on the first run, Col. Britt coolly led his flight over a second time during a vital mission on December 26, 1944, despite a withering storm of anti-aircraft fire. With his plane severely crippled by flak, he nevertheless succeeded in dropping his explosives on the objective and greatly aided the advance of the ground forces in a critical phase of an enemy counterattack.

Before joining the "Bridge Busters" in June, 1945, Col. Britt was group deputy commander of the 323rd Bombardment Group, one of the oldest B-26 Marauder groups in the European Theatre of Operations. As group commander of the 397th he relieves another Texan Col. Coiner Jr., of San Antonio, who has returned to the States.

Col. Britt entered the service in December, 1939, and arrived overseas in August, 1944. He holds the ratings of pilot and bombardier. Before coming overseas he was director of flying for the Bombardier Training School in Midland. In civilian life, Col. Britt was in his fourth year of study at the University of Texas, where he played forward on the varsity basketball team. Previously he graduated from Lamesa High School.

Latin Wolf Code: American Whistle, No, But A Discreet Pinch Yes

By ALLAN STEWART
AP Newsfeatures

CARACAS, Venezuela — Venezuelan drug store cowboys have adopted the American two-tone whistle of admiration with disastrous effects.

In a police roundup recently more than 100 whistlers were thrown in jail.

The young ladies of Caracas, and very attractive they are, do not like this form of adulation. Instead of the birdcall which starts on E and ends on A, the girls prefer the time-honored custom of receiving murmured compliments as they pass a gallant.

In Venezuela as in most Latin countries these passing remarks achieve descriptive artistry worthy of a poet, depending, of course, on the subject treated.

Here are some of the more inspired protestations of admiration obtained from a limited number of Venezuelan Don Juans:

"Me tienes el corazon como sapo pisado por carreta." "You have broken my heart like a frog run over by a cart."

When a luscious beauty passes by: "Que mango tan sabroso!" "What a luscious mango!"

When a hip-switcher undulates down the street:

"Como se menea el mundo, y no se cae!" "How the world quivers, and still doesn't fall."

Another general expression: "Esta es la clase de medicina que me receto al medico." "That's the kind of medicine the doctor prescribed for me."

There are less inspired remarks such as:

"Dios te guarde, hermosa." "May God watch over you, beautiful."

In the southern South American countries the young men, not content with a flowery verbal tribute will sometimes add a discreet pinch for good measure, but the new American salute, picked up from the movies, apparently is doomed to failure.

Ninety-nine of the 100 men arrested for whistling at girls were held overnight and released with a warning. The hundredth, an unfortunate gentleman who had been married only four days, was released immediately. The police figured he'd get his punishment when he got home.

Mariachis On The March; Latin Tempos Overseas

AP Newsfeatures
NOGALES, Ariz — Soldiers of Latin extraction scattered over the Pacific battlefronts will get a touch of home this summer when nine Mexican Mariachis tour that area with the USO.

The current Mariachis, who in medieval times were the court serenaders, were recruited from six states on the Mexican west coast. The troupe was organized by Carl (Zeke) Curlee, secretary of the Nogales Chamber of Commerce, and has already been acclaimed by a GI audience at nearby Davis-Monthan Army Air Base.

The Mariachi ensemble consists of a singer, seven stringed instruments—three violins and four guitars—an a trumpet. Mariachi music is provincial, sentimental, gay and reckless. It is said Mariachi music will wake the dead, if the dead be from Jalisco state where it originated.

Curlee conceived the tour idea soon after Mexico's 201st Fighter Squadron shipped to the Philippines. Since Mexican consular records showed almost 12,000 Mexican nationals in the U. S. armed forces, while thousands of American GIs are of Mexican descent, Curlee convinced the businessmen of Nogales, Ariz., and Nogales, Mex., that they should partly finance the tour of the Mariachis.

Curlee had some trouble selling the idea to the Mariachis. Traditionally home folk like all Latins, they responded slowly to the offer, then jumped into it with typical Mexican gusto:

"The war is no longer the impersonal thing it once appeared to us," they said. "We have brothers and cousins over there. This is the very least we can do."

County Voters Reject Three Amendments Sat.

In a special election held in Dawson County and over the State Saturday, August 25, local residents approved one of the proposed amendments to the State Constitution and rejected three.

The report on the votes which was tabulated and submitted by M. Q. Martin, showed that 288 local voters approved the amendment permitting service people to vote without payment of poll tax under certain wartime conditions, with 126 voting against the amendment.

Defeated in this county was the proposal to pay members of the legislature $10 daily throughout their terms of office with 337 voting against the amendment and 71 approving it.

Also defeated in this county was an amendment increasing the membership of the State Supreme court from three elected members to nine. Tabulations show that 263 here rejected the amendment with 160 approving it.

The amendment liberalizing social security in Texas but placing a $35,000,000 annual "ceiling" on such expenditures was defeated here. Two hundred sixteen cast votes against this amendment, with 205 supporting the amendment.

Although local residents showed their disapproval of three of the amendments the final reports of

$5.00 Cash To Be Offered Some Courier Reader Each Week For Best Letter; Every One Is Eligible To Enter Contest

Beginning this week the Courier is inaugurating a weekly cash prize feature entitled: "I Like To Trade With Lamesa Merchants and Use The Dawson County Courier As My Shopping Guide Because." Every Courier reader will be eligible to participate in this new feature regardless of whether you are a subscriber or not.

A cash prize of $5.00 will be awarded by the judges each week for the best letter submitted. The winning letter will be published in the Courier and all other letters submitted will become the property of the Courier to be used in the future for advertising purposes. No letters will be returned to the sender.

All letters will be limited to 100 words or less, and neatness and originality of thought will be considered as essential by the judges.

It is possible for more than one member of a family to enter the contest. If they so desire, each member of a family may enter. Just write your letters entitled: "I Like To Trade With Lamesa Merchants and Use The Dawson County Courier As My Shopping Guide Because," limiting each letter to 100 words or less and mail or bring to the Courier office where each letter will be given careful consideration by the judges.

Remember $5.00 in cash will be awarded each week to the owner of the winning letter. If you do not win the first week, do not become discouraged because you may be a winner the next.

Get out that pencil and paper and write your letter today. Five dollars in cash is awaiting you if your letter is declared a winner. Remember that every Courier reader is eligible. You do not even have to be a subscriber.

Each letter must start with the word: "I Like To Trade With Lamesa Merchants and Use The Dawson County Courier As My Shopping Guide Because."

Write name and address plainly on your letter and mail or bring to the Courier office.
