Michigan's Chief Executive Has Call Issued For Conference To Iron Out Difficulties In Chrysler, Other Plants

General Motors And Workers Union Officials To Gather Today To Write Finis Into Record Of Difficulties

(By The Associated Press)

GOV. FRANK MURPHY stepped into Michigan's growing strike crisis last night.

Almost as the governor summoned United Automobile Workers Union leaders to his hotel, it was announced that final agreement in the General Motors dispute had been reached.

Murphy's call to the UAW representatives came on the eve of a conference in Detroit to study the labor situation with a view to "preserving the law and order and of avoiding suspension of the institutions of democratic government."

Conference Is Scheduled

The governor, at the suggestion of Harvey Campbell, secretary of the Detroit Board of Commerce, decided to confer today with representatives of employers and of the public "who labor."

Another meeting in Detroit today was called to complete the union's assent to the General Motors agreement which had been the subject of conferences for nearly a month. President Homer Martin of the UAW summoned about 200 delegates of local bodies.

Wyndham Mortimer, UAW vice president, said the uniform national minimum wage rate asked by the union had been found "impossible due to the variety of businesses and conditions."

Without Time Limit

The agreement was without time limit, termination to be by 60-day written notice.

Martin announced he had called

Two Killed In Ranch Battle

Mrs. Mary Bell, 71, And Son, Wiley, 46, Are Dead; Two Other Sons Wounded In Early Morning Shooting

(By The Associated Press)

RANKIN, March 12. — Officers were questioning two survivors late today in connection with an early-morning shooting that took the lives of Mrs. Mary Bell, 71, and her son, Wiley Bell, 46. Cody Bell, 42, of Cristoval, and Russell Bell, 39, of Fort Worth, were in hospitals with bullet wounds.

The shooting took place at the Bell ranch home 12 miles northwest of here about 1:30 a. m. today.

Faced Prison Term

Russell Bell, who was found critically wounded, faced a four-year prison term after the court of criminal appeals yesterday had denied a rehearing of his case. He was convicted on an indictment charging swindling of Mrs. Isaac Dolen of $2,347.80.

Cody Bell had been at liberty on bond in a sheep theft case. He was indicted in Upton county, but his case had never been called for trial. The Bells have lived in Upton county more than 25 years.

Two pistols, a shotgun and a rifle were found at the ranch. Sheriff Fowler said he believed all the guns with the exception of the rifle had been used in the shooting.

FDR Is Quoted As Opposing Increase In Federal Judges

Senator Wheeler Adroitly Reads To Senate From Book Written By President In 1933

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) confronted the supporters of the Roosevelt court bill today with a quotation from the president opposing a general increase in the number of federal judges as likely to "contribute to the confusion."

Adroitly staging his presentation, the Montanan, a foe of the president's measure, read to the senate a lengthy excerpt from the chief executive's book "Looking Forward"—without first revealing the identity of the author.

Quoted "Great Authority"

First smiling, and then with a grim expression, he announced only that he would quote "a great authority" on the subject. The senate which has just listened to an analysis of the problem of the judiciary from Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), responded with alert attention, eager for more on Washington's great dispute.

With emphasis, Wheeler read:

"The only way to attack the problem is by vigorous application of judicial efficiency. In the face of this congestion the remedy commonly proposed is to add new judges or new courts but it will readily be seen that if the problem is what I have stated it to be such a so-called remedy would merely aggravate the complaint.

Would Add To Ravages

"There are of course, legitimate demands for additional judicial manpower in sections where the population has grown rapidly. But it is easy to see that to apply this remedy to all cases is to add to the ravages of the disease, to contribute to the confusion, and, what is profoundly important at this time, to burden still further an already seriously embarrassed taxpayer'."

Wheeler slammed the volume down upon this desk and faced the senate.

"I am not simply quoting from some man who is a candidate for office," he said. "I am quoting from 'Looking Forward', written by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933."

Senate Visibly Stirred

The senate was visibly stirred. The Montanan continued:

"Because some of us disagree with the president's methods now and agree with what he said in 1933, we're thought to be just 'defeatist lawyers' (He referred to an assertion by the president in a recent speech) or something of that kind.

"I am just agreeing with what he said in 1933 that to increase the courts would only add to the ravages of the disease.

No Assurance Of Correction

"I am not defending the Supreme court. I have said repeatedly that the Supreme court is frequently wrong in passing on economic and social problems and I say it now. I say and I have said that if you add six more men to the Supreme court there is no assurance that that will

ONE MOTHER AMBITIOUS

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—One ambitious mother already is trying to get her son appointed to the Supreme court under President Roosevelt's proposal for injecting "new blood" into the judiciary.

To help her, she chose Senator Borah (R-Idaho), one of the leading opponents of the bill.

The woman walked into Borah's office and stated frankly what she wanted.

Miss Cora Rubin, the senator's secretary, told her that Senator Borah had no influence with the Democratic administration in obtaining appointments.

Racing Repeal Action Again Meets Delay

Effort Friday In Senate Is Unavailing And Hearing For Bills Carried Over; Pink Boll Worm Measure Passed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 12.—An effort to bring about an early hearing of bills proposing repeal of the horse race betting law proved unavailing today in the senate.

After a flurry of debate, Sen. Grady Woodruff of Decatur laid aside until next week a resolution under which the senate would go into committee of the whole Tuesday to consider repeal. He acted after Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston, temporarily in the chair, indicated he would sustain a point of order the resolution could not be considered immediately.

Homestead Bill Killed

The house killed, 82 to 24, a constitutional amendment by Rep. Jasper N. Reed of Texarkana to exempt homesteads up to $3,000 assessed value from all local taxes except school district levies. Reed had sought to keep it alive despite an 8-6 unfavorable report from committee.

The senate passed to the governor a bill to appropriate $12,000 for pink boll worm eradication in the lower Rio Grande valley and a section of West Texas. It cut in half a house appropriation of $12,000 for Mexican fruit fly extermination in the valley.

Vigorous Protest Made To Germans

BERLIN, March 12. (AP)—In vigorous and pointed words, United States Ambassador William E. Dodd made representations to the German foreign office today on German press attacks that followed a recent anti-Hitler speech by New York's Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia.

For 30 minutes the American envoy talked with Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath and called attention to the newspaper remarks, which he regarded as "beclouding German-American relations."

The substance of the ambassador's "oral representations," a highly informed source said, was that his government was unable to account for the newspaper statements regarded as vituperative and unfounded, and as attacks upon American womanhood and American institutions."

Further, this reliable informant asserted, the ambassador indicated his government felt that the language of the German press "was probably unparalleled in its coarse and indecent character and was staggering and shocking to all decent minds; that there was no provocation which would justify it."

Merton Harris Resigns Post To Enter Race For Congress

Strange Trance Envelops California Woman And Justice Is Stymied Again

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—Helen Wills Love lay in a strange trance today and the orderly processes of justice under which she was convicted of second degree murder were stymied by the phenomenon.

Thus, the bizarre case of the woman charged with shooting to death the man she claimed was her secret husband continued on its eerie way.

Earlier this week, a woman juror deliberating the case after hearing the state demand the gallows for the defendant, was jailed for contempt of court for being so intoxicated she could not discharged her jury duty.

Helen Love was scheduled to appear in court for sentencing today. She faced a prison sentence of from seven years to life.

But when the time came for her appearance she remained in her county jail cell, in a comatose condition.

Superior Judge Frank M. Smith postponed sentencing

President Turns Chauffeur And Farmer; Visits His Farm

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 12. (AP)—President Roosevelt dropped the heavy cares of office today and turned chauffeur and farmer.

Less than an hour after his arrival here from Washington he changed his business suit for a "roughing" outfit and got reacquainted with his little white cottage among the evergreens on the Pine mountain.

Aged Recluse Is Murdered

Mrs. W. H. Knox, 93-Year-Old Dallas Woman, Is Slain By Robber; Kept Large Sums Of Money, Neighbors Said

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 12.—Mrs. W. H. Knox, wealthy 93-year-old recluse, was found dead in her home late today, her head brutally crushed and an apron tied tightly about her neck.

Police believed robbery was the motive for the slaying. Mrs. Knox, neighbors said, kept large sums of money about the house. Officers found more than $11,000 worth of bonds and securities hidden in a grip, together with a cashier's check for $1,600.

The aged woman probably was killed early today, police said.

Friend Discovers Body

A life-long friend, Mrs. Frank Rutherford, discovered Mrs. Konx's body, sprawled on the front room floor of her home. Mrs. Rutherford and Mrs. Hugo Boedeker, another neighbor, investigated when they noted no signs of life about Mrs. Knox's home.

Doctors said they had not determined whether the victim died from strangulation or a fractured skull.

Pensions Head Given 30 Days

Elderly Physician Gets Lightest Possible Sentence For His Contempt Charge; Fine Of $100 Is Assessed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Dr. F. E. Townsend received the lightest possible sentence today for walking out on the congressional committee which investigated his old age pension movement last summer.

Federal Judge Peyton Gordon fixed the penalty at 30 days in jail and a $100 fine.

The judge refused a prosecution demand that the frosty-haired California physician be denied bond and committed immediately to jail. Townsend went free under $1,000 bond pending an appeal.

Statement Issued Later

The elderly pension leader later issued through a publicity man a long statement on behalf of his proposal for pensions of not more than $200 a month to everyone past 60.

"Try as they can to imprison me, they can't imprison that idea," he said.

More than 300 improvements have been made in the pension proposal since it first was presented to congress, Townsend added.

Through counsel, he gave notice that he would fight to the supreme court if necessary against his "unconstitutional persecution" by the house committee which he defied.

H. C. Maddux Is Victim Of Road Accident

Two Others, W. C. Harden And Ernest Currey Are Injured In Crash Friday Night On Shallowater-Anton Road

Skull Injury Fatal

Both Trucks Were En Route To Lubbock When Crash Occurs; Lights Caused Driver Of Machine To Slow Up

H. C. MADDUX, about 40, of Lubbock was fatally injured and two other persons were treated in Lubbock hospitals Friday night after a collision of two trucks three miles northwest of Shallowater at 8:45 o'clock.

Maddux, who lives at 620 Broadway, died of a skull injury. He also suffered compound fractures of both legs.

Others injured were: W. C. Harden, about 26, whose mother lives at Ralls, and Ernest Currey, 21, of Wilson.

Father Not Injured

J. T. Currey father of Ernest Currey, was not injured.

R. W. Rutherford and Payne Wood, respectively associated with a drug goods company and a feed store at Littlefield, arrived at the scene of the collision in time to take Currey to West Texas hospital. The other two victims were taken to Lubbock sanitarium.

Rutherford and Wood said the two trucks were being driven toward Lubbock and that the one in front was loaded with household effects. The rear truck was loaded with fruit.

Slowed By Glare Of Lights

The front truck, driven by young Currey, apparently was slowed because of glare from an approaching vehicle, the Littlefield men said, just before the collision.

Both trucks were "telescoped" and went into the borrow ditch to the right.

Crowbars were found necessary to extricate the men in the cab of the back truck. Maddux and Harden, said Rix ambulance drivers.

Slump Hits Bonds Market On Friday

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP) — In the heaviest trading in nearly 17 years the bond market had a wide break today, led by U. S. government loans.

Losses in the United States issues ranged from 7-32 of a point to 25-32 (or from roughly $2.50 to $7.50 per $1,000 bond) while corporate issues had losses ranging to $20 per $1,000 bond.

Bond men said several factors played a part in the decline, including reports some new security offerings had been accepted reluctantly by the market and the fact banks were said to be selling in preparation for higher reserve requirements to become effective May 1.

Turnover of all bonds was only a shade under $35,000,000 face value, of which more than $23,000,000 was in the U. S. government group. Neither total had been exceeded since 1920.

Quick Death Lurks At Hidden Door Of Late Prospector's Secret Gold Mine

(By The Associated Press)

LA VETA, Colo., March 12.—Quick death lurks at the hidden door of Alex Kalobetzki's secret gold mine on Silver mountain, where he mined nuggets for 40 years, neighbors said today.

Frankly, they said, they are afraid to go near the claim that Kalobetzki guarded with a rifle during his life and which he said, before his death last week, no other man ever will possess.

As far as is known, only one living man except Kalobetzki ever has seen the door that led to his hidden riches.

Dynamite, steel traps, concealed pitfalls and other devices of death may wait for the man who attempts to enter the secret mine, neighbors said.

The one living man who has been inside the mine is Theodore C. Gibbons of Grand Valley, Colo., a farmer.

"It was 30 years ago," said Gibbons. "I was a boy of 14 and was with my brother, E. C.

Then all you need to do is to pinch the recipe card in place and it is ready for use.

BEDROOM LIGHT

CONNECT a light to the underneath side of the bed instead of the head. Then you can turn it on at any time during the night without blinding yourself or awakening your room mate. You can forget all about window-shades, too, and tramp around partially dressed, because the light shines only on the floor. It will save you from stubbing your toes against the furniture, too.

CAN YOUR WORRIES

ARE you can shy? Do you secretly fear poisoning from canned foods? Lots of otherwise modern housewives still cherish this old-fashioned dread. But it isn't true anymore, according to scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture. No, it really isn't necessary to empty the contents of a can the moment it is opened. The government scientists state that harmful changes in the food cannot result merely from leaving food in the can after opening.

Consumers have only two dangers to fear from canned food. One is the case, very rare nowadays, when the food was not correctly sterilized and packed in an airtight tin in the first place or when the container has developed a leak through damage in handling. So don't buy cans that are bent, bulging or leaking. And if when you open them, the food looks queer or abnormal don't use it or even taste it.

The other danger lies in the housewife forgetting that canned food, like any other perishable food, must be protected from contamination and spoilage after it is opened. Whether you keep it in the refrigerator in or out of the can makes no difference in the safety of the food. It must be kept in perfect condition—just as perfect as food that is not canned.

YOU ARE PROTECTED

DO you know what cans are made of? Of thin steel sheets plated with tin. Experiments demonstrate, so the Department of Agriculture reports, that any amount of tin which might be found in food from a tin container would not be injurious to health. Acid fruits and vegetables packed in uncoated tin—not the usual methods, however—may acquire a metallic taste. This is objectionable to some but not harmful to health.

THERE are things worse than having your brothers dabble in your cosmetics; it is having your young daughter wear your best clothes, your "Sunday" hose or your best blouse. This is the belief of the mother of a young daughter. She called us about it Friday morning and we had fun discussing it.

Recently the mother dressed for a luncheon, intending to wear a new spring blouse. A search revealed the hanger bare and when the young daughter returned from school she was wearing the blouse. The same fate was meted to the hose and the party hanky went into the heel of a shoe to keep her foot from slipping.

Maybe we're fortunate in having skinny sisters who would be swallowed in our clothes.

Seven Groups Are Announced

Four Scout Troops And Three —Brownie Packs Are Active At Present; Exhibit Shown In Downtown Window

Local observance of National Girl Scout Week marks the fifth year of the organization in Lubbock. Twenty-five years ago Mrs. Juliette Lowe, an American woman, began an organization that was the forerunner of one of the outstanding character building societies for young girls, the Girl Scouts.

Lubbock has four scout troops composed of 150 girls from the ages of 10 to 18, and three Brownie Packs of girls between the ages of 7 and 10 years. Mrs. C. C. Mansell is leader of Troop 1, with Miss Mary Anne Davis as lieutenant; Mrs. S. C. Newman is leader of Troop 2, with Miss Tina Mae Wright as lieutenant; Miss Doris Hopping is captain of troop 3 with Miss Juanita Price as lieutenant. Troop 4 is composed of Mexican children under the supervision of two Catholic catechists. They also direct a Brownie Pack and Miss Mary Margaret Carter and Mrs. I. F. Kennedy are leaders of two other such groups.

Council And Board

A council of adults governs the Girl Scout organizations, which is under an advisory board. Both are chosen from civic, welfare, educational and church interests in the community.

In observance of National Girl Scout week, March 8-14, the local troops have placed an exhibit in Levine's window with a miniature setting of a Girl Scout camp. A rally has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the American Legion hall with Mrs. Newman's troop in charge. Each girl is to bring a book to establish a bookshelf.

The activity of the year centers around a day camping project to be held during the summer in a city park under trained leaders. There also will be a week of camping, probably at Palo Duro canyon.

On The Council

Council members are Mrs. H. F. Godeke, commissioner, and Mesdames W. D. Wilson, A. B. Cunningham, M. C. Overton, George Finberg, Dan A. Blair, Albert Barnett, N. H. Holt, T. C. Delaney, R. F. Hinchey, R. S. Rodgers, T. W. Whigham, Kennedy and G. O. Walker and Miss Margaret Weeks.

The advisory board is made up of Mesdames Godeke, Ethel Terrell, Mary W. Doak, Miss Weeks, Miss Agnes True, Doctors Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, Bradford Knapp, Overton, F. B. Malone, R. S. Underwood, the Rev. J. Hodge Alves, A. I. Glassman, A. B. Davis, J. A. Williams, Hinchey, W. H. Rodgers, Finberg, Walker and Carroll Thompson.

The Scouts will attend the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning in a body. They will wear their uniforms.

Flowers Are Seen In New Materials

Manufacturers of women's apparel are saying it with flowers this spring.

Dresses of flowered materials fill the racks in wholesalers' rooms at the Wes-Tex New-Mex Wholesale Clothing market.

"No woman's wardrobe is complete without a spring dress," stylists have said.

Madame Public will not have difficulty in finding solid colors, however to fill the remainder of her wardrobe.

Sheer dark dresses, with corsages and feminine touches of white material, and scores of dresses in gay solid colored spring materials are being shown to retail merchants of this section when they visit the market.

Outstanding Shades

Red Earth, honey, gold, chartreuse, thistle powder blue, biege, grey and coronation blue are among shades expected to entice the feminine buyer.

Thistle, a new spring shade, is expected to be extremely popular. The Romans might have a substitute name for it, but wholesalers admit they don't. It's "between a wine and orchid color," a "rose shade," was one description.

Polka dots of white may be seen on black, navy, red, green, and brown, and shirtwaist is a popular pattern. "Pin dots" may be seen.

Black Also Popular

A large number of black and navy dresses is being shown.

"Marquisette will be the rage," opined wholesalers. Silk marquisettes in afternoon and evening dresses, and cotton marquisette in popular priced sport dresses are being displayed. Nets, crepes, and chiffons are popular. Wholesalers are showing chiffons with woven dots.

"Topper" coats, which are short with loose backs, predominate in coats and offer that swing style popular in dresses.

"Swishing, swirling styles" for the young miss are featured by one wholesaler. Princess and shirtwaist styles predominate. They are ankle length and are shown in white, pink, blue, maize, nile, peach and orchid.

The masculine buyer may express the spring mood in plaids, said one wholesaler. Sun-ray backs, "not quite so fancy as those shown last year," and minus yokes in the back were seen.

Los Angeles Gals Now Stay Young

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles housewives are staying young, keeping their figures and having lots of fun on the city's 50 playgrounds, City Superintendent Minnette B. Spector reports unprecedented numbers of women recently have gone in for volley ball, tennis, archery, dancing, swimming and other sports. The majority, she finds, choose games that make for grace, poise, suppleness, dexterity, alertness and wholesome beauty. Some start out with the idea of reducing and continue for the sheer fun of it. "Women aren't old any more," says Mrs. Spector. "Why we have mothers in our clogging classes who are past 60 and several in old-fashioned dancing are in their 70's—grandmothers, in fact."

Oil Storage Holds Prices

Constantly Increasing Of Oil Storage Is Retarding Boosts In Prices, Chas. F. Roeser Says In Tulsa Parley

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 12.—Charles F. Roeser, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, declared today constantly increasing storage of oil throughout the United States is retarding boosts in the price of crude.

His statement came as association committeemen from ten states gathered here for an executive session.

"A fair price for average 36-gravity crude in the Mid-continent, is $1.60 a barrel," Roeser said. "We have to have that price to insure a profitable operation of all the type wells we have in this district. We can get the price only by keeping a strict balance between supply and demand.

Cites Contributing Factors

"Over-production, increase in stocks of all kinds, and over-drilling in some of the fields are contributing factors to delaying higher prices."

Roeser said refiners and crude purchases alike were increasing their stocks. He said largest increases were in Texas, where the allowable has been increased over the bureau of mines estimate for the last few months.

"It is possible," Roeser said, "Refiners are increasing stocks because of fear of a sit-down strike should labor trouble develop. But suppose we don't have a sit-down strike. Then we have the huge stocks, and the only way to get the situation back in line would be to curtail production.

"That would be opposed by the producers of the oil and we would be back just where we were before the NRA code was adopted."

Barker Funeral To Be Held Saturday

Funeral services will be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon at Sanders chapel for S. H. Barker, 88, of 611 Avenue N, who died unexpectedly at the home of a son, A. B. Barker, Thursday night.

Rev. A. M. Dupree of Asbury Methodist church, is in charge of the services. Burial will be in a local cemetery with Sanders Funeral home in charge.

Members of the A. B. Barker family, having last talked to him at 11 o'clock Thursday night, found him dead in his bed Friday morning.

A resident of Lubbock since 1918, he was in the Texas Rangers service during the last year of the Civil war.

He was survived by five sons, J. A. B. and C. N. Barker, all of Lubbock, W. T. Barker of Caddo, Okla., and W. R. Barker of Jacksonville; and two daughters, Mrs. E. Freeman of Caddo, Okla., and Mrs. Lillian Cropp of Spur.

Drainage Work On Highway To Be Completed During April

Drainage structures on highway 8 from Tulia west to the Castro county line will be complete by April 7, according to Ben Jordan and W. C. Burke, of the district Works Progress administration office here. The men made an inspection trip to that and other projects in Hale, Lamb, Castro, and Swisher counties yesterday.

Laborers, furnished by the federal agency, probably will complete drainage structures and grading by the latter part of April. With completion of the project, highway 86 will afford a cross-county road east and west through Swisher county.

Other projects visited by the WPA supervisors were farm-to-market roads in Lamb and Castro county and street paving projects in Plainview.

Oil Exploration In River Is Said Destructive To Seafood

BILOXI, Miss., March 12. (AP)—The proposal of the Federal Royalty Co., Houston, Tex., to lease Mississippi sound water bottoms in quest of oil and gas, has caused considerable apprehension in the state's seafood industry, packers said today.

Senator Jules Fisher of Louisiana said that three months ago before drilling started in Barataria, La., waters shrimp was very plentiful but now there is none. He said also that dynamiting by oil companies was destructive to the oyster reefs.

Nation's Youngest Federal Judge, Age 33, Takes His Oath Of Office Friday

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 12.—The nation's youngest federal Judge Alfred P. Murrah, 33, takes his oath of office today—and he said he'll be ready to quit when he is 70.

"I'll have 37 years on the bench," he said, "and by that time I'll be ready to retire."

He was confirmed recently to a roving assignment as the state's fourth federal district judge.

Ten Years Out Of School

Ten years out of law school, Murrah first estalished himself as a lawyer in oil-booming Seminole, Okla., and later here before he was nominated to the $10,000-a-year federal judgeship by President Roosevelt.

Senator Josh Lee (D-Okla) introduced Murrah to the president when Murrah, among others, was being considered for the place on the bench.

The president turned to Lee, Murrah said, and declared:

"He's young enough. Is he liberal enough?

"Does he recognize the rights of the man in the street as well as the man in the skyscraper?"

Murrah did not disclose Lee's reply.

More Junk Is Being Shipped

Increase In Shipments From Area "For Export" Is Noted By Dealers, Railroad Men; Germany Heavy Buyer

Increase in the shipment of junk from the South Plains, mostly automobiles, to Texas ports for export, is reported by local dealers and railroad men.

Most of the shipments are consigned to a Houston broker, marked "for export," but railroad men state they do not know just to which nations the metals are sent. It is believed, however, Germany is receiving the major part.

EMBARGO EXTENDED

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—The Association of American Railroads extended today its general embargo against carload shipments of scrap iron and other scrap metal to Houston, Tex.

Association officials said the action was taken to conserve railroads' open top cars to meet regular demands for coal, steel, steel products, sand and gravel.

Today's action places a general embargo on such shipments at all major ports between Portland, Me., and Houston, Tex.

Embargo On At Port

Texas City has an embargo on shipments there, due to congested yards. It is reported hundreds of cars of junk are in the yards, with loading of vessels delayed.

All kinds of metals are being purchased and shipped, steel, aluminum and other metals used in car construction. Heavy pieces are cut up, as a rule, into smaller sections. Engine blocks, frames and other heavy pieces comprise most of the shipments. No car bodies are used.

Several hundred cars wee shipped from this section last year, it is estimated. Only a comparatively small proportion went to Colorado, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New England points, to be melted up. Foreign competition has almost shut down shipment to American furnaces.

ARMY ORDERS

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Army orders today included:

Majors: John S. Gibson, inf., Shreveport, La., to Philippine department; Albert Lobitz, QMC, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., to Barksdale Field, La.

Westerners Cop Honors In Track Meet Here; Four-Ball Tourney Deadlocked

Amherst Team Is Second And Abernathy 3rd

Ingley Noses Out Houpt By Half Point For Individual Honors In First Meet Of Season At Tech Field

Although the stop-watches ran overtime and the tape lines unrolled rather slightly, coaches of track and field teams of Lubbock, Abernathy and Amherst foresaw possibilities of winning several points each in district interscholastic league competition this season when their athletes competed in a triangular meet at the Texas Tech field yesterday.

Three other invited teams, Lamesa, Anton and Muleshoe, failed to show up, although they had indicated they would be present. No excuse was forthcoming from Anton and Muleshoe. Lamesa athletes competed in a meet at O'Donnell yesterday.

Ingley Is First

The Lubbock Westerners triumphed, as a team and as individuals, in the meet yesterday, conducted on a rather slow track and in a high wind. The total points were: Lubbock 92 1-2; Amherst, second with 31; points; Abernathy third with 27.

Harold Ingley, hold-over speed merchant from last year's Lubbock team, beat out Speedy Houpt of Abernathy by half a point for individual honors, the Westerner making 15 1-2 points to an even 15 for Houpt. Henry Ford of Lubbock was third with a dozen points. Jarvis Wright of Lubbock was fourth with 11 1-4, and Stephens of Amherst next with 9 1-2. Simmons, Castle and Simms of Lubbock took the next three places, with Coffer of Amherst following with 6.

Houpt Cops Two Firsts

Ingley won first in the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash, taking second in the high hurdles, won by Houpt, and tied for second and third in the broad jump with Stephens of Amherst.

Houpt, besides winning the high hurdles, took first place in the shot put, second in the discus and third in the low hurdles.

Other first places were divided between Richerson of Abernathy, first in the mile; Sessums of Lubbock, Stephens of Amherst, Weight of Lubbock, Ford, Simmons and Simms of Lubbock and Coffer of Amherst.

The summaries, with times, heights and distances, follow:

Texas Aggies Open Baseball Season; Beat Austin, 10-2

COLLEGE STATION, March 12. (AP)—The Texas Aggies rapped four pitchers for 14 hits to open their baseball season today with a 10 to 2 victory over Austin's Seven Up team. Jess Landrum, Aggie second sacker, was the standout batter with four hits, two of them homers.

Aubrey Graham, second baseman, scored both Austin runs. He hit twice in five attempts. Austin erred seven times.

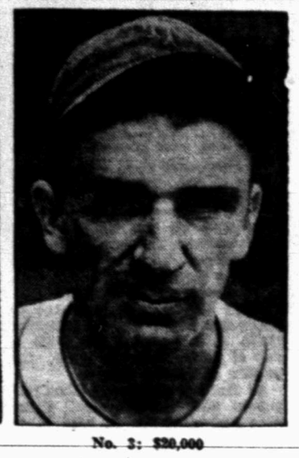

Who Is This Dizzy Dean? Dabblers In Arithmetic Figure Him Number Four

No. 1: $22,500

No. 2: $20,000

No. 3: $20,000

No. 4: $22,500

DIZZY DEAN says he is worth $50,000 to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1937—about twice the stipend of any big league twirler, past or contemporary. Nobody thinks Diz will get the 50 G's. Diz proclaims himself the best pitcher in baseball so often, however, that some persons believe he really is. He may be—but the statisticians have something to say, too. Here behold three tossers who are placed above Dean in the ranking of contemporary moundsmen by the arithmetic experts, and Dizzy himself. The numbers show the rating accorded each hurler, based on each one's best 5-year percentage, and the highest salary for one year each has received. No. 1 is Bob (Lefty) Grove, of the Philadelphia Athletics in his best years, now of the Boston Red Sox; No. 2 is Vernon (also Lefty) Gomez of the New York Yankees; No. 3 is Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants. No. 4 is Dizzy himself. The last picture is unusual because, taken before the statisticians got busy, it shows Jerome Herman exactly as he will look when he reads this article announcing he is U. S. Pitcher No. 4—registering disgust.

DiMaggio Gets On Dotted Line

Sensational Rookie Slugger Accepts $15,000 Contract From Yanks; Gehrig, Red Ruffing Still "Out"

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, holdout New York Yankee outfielder, today agreed to accept a $15,000 contract for the 1937 season.

DiMaggio, sensational rookie last year, had been demanding $17,500, but settled for $15,000, which is $6,500 more than he received last year. These figures were verified by Owner Jacob Ruppert.

First Baseman Lou Gehrig and Pitcher Charley (Red) Ruffing now are the team's only holdouts. Ruffing is demanding $18,000, which is $3,000 more than the club's offer. Gehrig wants $40,000 and a two-year contract. The Yankees have told him $36,000 for one year is their best and final offer.

Flies To Camp

Ed Barrow, Yankee business manager, said DiMaggio will leave his home in San Francisco tomorrow by airplane for the Yankee training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Col. Ruppert also will leave for the camp from New York tomorrow. The Colonel plans to stay in St. Petersburg until the team breaks camp there April 1. He has announced he will not discuss terms with holdouts down there.

Further negotiations with Gehrig and Ruffing probably will be carried on by Barrow, who is staying in New York to supervise the building of an addition to the right field grandstand in Yankee Stadium.

Both Barrow and Ruppert have insisted, however, that Ruffing will sign for $15,000 and Gehrig for $36,000 or they won't play ball for the Yanks.

Earl Averill To Sign Indian Contract Today

CLEVELAND, March 12. (AP)—Earl Averill, Cleveland Indians' outfielder, announced tonight that he would sign tomorrow one of two 1937 contracts offered him by Alva Bradley, club president, and will leave Sunday for the Tribe's New Orleans training camp.

The hard-hitting centerfielder said his holdout controversy ended when Bradley informed him he could take his choice between a straight $16,000 salary and a $15,000 contract with a $2,000 bonus clause.

DODGER HOLDOUT SIGNS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 12 (AP)—The last of the Brooklyn Dodger holdouts came to terms today. First Baseman Buddy Hassett, one of the large number of rookie "sensations" of 1936, signed a contract after a conference with Brooklyn Business Manager John Gorman.

SUGAR CAIN SIGNS

CARROLLTON, Ga., March 12. (AP) Merritt (Sugar) Cain, righthanded hurler, said he reached terms today with the Chicago White Sox, thus ending the holdout troubles of the American League club.

Jackfish And Tarpon Running Off Texas Coast; Season Open

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 12. (AP) The game fish season was definitely opened at Port Aransas today when large numbers of jackfish were found off the jetties there. Jackfish are the forerunners of other game fish and tarpon are reported running in the Gulf off Padre Island.

First jackfish of the year—an 18 pounder—was caught by Howard B. Houseman of Chicago.

OILERS WORKOUT

SEGUIN, March 12. (AP) — Stan Schino's clouting and George Janco's fielding featured the Tulsa Oilers' workout here today.

The Oilers continued their long drills in batting as they round out their first week of training tomorrow.

Charley English, a former sparkling second sacker in the Texas League, worked out with the Oilers today. He will play with Kansas City this coming season.

Dizzy Trout To Be Dizzy Dean Of Junior Loop

By PAUL MICKELSON

LAKELAND, Fla., March 12. (AP) Dizzy Trout, rookie right hander with the Detroit Tigers, is no sucker.

Diz's idea is the American League is starving for a guy like the one and only Dizzy Dean, who creates a big fuss and lots of publicity by popping off, and Dizzy Trout is out to see that no league famishes from lack of oratorical cereal.

"I'm here and the American League can rest assured that I'll make more noise than Dean," said the 21-year-old rookie from Terre Haute by way of Indianapolis. "Right off, I can tell you, son, that the folks in Detroit haven't seen a fast ball yet till they see Dizzy Trout flag one over that rubber."

Scribe Can't Trip Him

W. W. Edgar of the Detroit Free Press, who served as the Boswell for brown bomber Joe Louis until Max Schmeling came along that night, has been trying to trap Dizzy ever since he came into camp but Dizzy's still surprising the no longer suspicious journalist.

"The guy brags a lot but dogone if I don't believe he's got something," says Edgar. "Why the other afternoon I took him for a sightseeing ride. Enroute we saw some fellows pitching horse shoes in a tournament. Dizzy watched them awhile and hooted at 'em. Well, just as they were getting sore, Dizzy got a chance by invitation to show them how to throw those shoes if he was so good. And he knocked everybody for a loop by throwing four straight ringers. The pitchers were tongue tied as Dizzy finished with another ringer and told them to call him up sometime when they wanted some lessons."

German Promoter Hopeful Of Title Battle In Berlin

BERLIN, March 12. (AP) — Walter Rothenburg, who hopes to promote a Jim Braddock-Max Schmeling heavyweight title bout in Berlin this spring, insisted yesterday Germany's foreign exchange restrictions won't hinder staging the bout.

"The minute Braddock signs on the dotted line for the fight," Rothenburg said, "permission to deposit $250,000 abroad will be okayed."

Schmeling, now in New York, has offered Braddock $250,000 and American radio and motion picture rights for the fight. Braddock's manager, Joe Gould, wants $400,000.

Rothenburg, who is backed by a financial group, intimated his proposition has been discussed with "competent persons."

German sports circles generally expressed confidence the fight would materialize. Germans figure the Paris world exposition and the London coronation will help boost gate receipts.

Last Of Cub Holdouts Are In When Frank Demaree Signs Up

AVALON, Calif., March 12. (AP) — The last of the Chicago Cub holdouts fell into line today with the signing of Frank Demaree, hard hitting outfielder.

Charles Drake of the Wrigley interests announced that Demaree, a Los Angeles product, had come to terms with P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, via a long distance telephone confab. Wrigley is in Chicago, Demaree in Los Angeles.

No salary terms were revealed, but it was reported to be around the $13,500 amount.

WARNEKE, DEAN, GET NOD

MIAMI, Fla., March 12. (AP)—Lon Warneke and Paul Dean will be the Cardinals opening pitchers against the New York Giants in exhibition games at Havana tomorrow and Sunday.

Think Up A New Answer, Diz; You're 12th In 20th Century

For Five-Year Span, Lefty Grove And Two Others Better Than Old Dizzy; Considering The Old Timers, He Is Worse Off, So Where Does He Get That $50,000 Stuff?

By ALAN GOULD
Copyright, 1937 AP Feature Service

NEW YORK, March 12.—Jerome Herman Dean points with precocious pride to his 5-year record of 120 victories, as against 65 defeats, in demanding about twice the salary ever paid a big league pitcher, past or present.

Baseball experts not only feel certain the dizzy right-hander of the St. Louis Cardinals will settle for much less than the $50,000 he has been shouting for, but point out that Dean still has a long way to go before touching the best pitching performances on record.

The succulent statistics reveal that three southpaw contemporaries, Bob Grove, Lefty Gomez and Carl Hubbell, all rank ahead of Dean on percentage, at least, in a compilation of the best consecutive 5-year pitching records.

Grove, the highest paid flinger in the American league, stands at the head of the 5-year class with the amazingly high percentage of .795 for his record of 128 victories and only 33 defeats in 1929-33 with the Philadelphia A's.

This excels even the marvelous performances of Mordecai (Three-fingered) Brown, Christy Mathewson, Grover Alexander, Walter Johnson, and Cy Young, whose flinging feats otherwise overshadow those of the post-war pitching group.

Twelve Ahead Of Dean

All told in the accompanying tabulation of Who's Who among pitching greats, Dean trails an even dozen performers, on percentage.

Our research is confined to tollers of the twentieth century, except that for purposes of comparison with older times, Cy Young's greatest 5-year streak, during which he compiled 169 victories from 1892 to 1896, is included. Young then twirled for the Cleveland Nationals. With the Boston Red Sox after the turn of the century he had another 5-year run of 135 triumphs.

No pitcher has averaged 30 victories per season in so-called modern major league history, but up to the time of the World war that was the mark the big shots aimed at. Johnson came closest, with a total of 148 triumphs during 1912-16, with a club that was pennantless. Mathewson, with a stronger outfit, aggregated 147 for his best 5-year stretch.

Grove and Brown, with the best 5-year records of the post-war and pre-war groups, enjoyed powerful support. The Athletics won three pennants, the Chicago Cubs four, during their best years.

Then There Were Others

The 5-year list, of course, does not take into account a number of exceptional performances. Smoky Joe Wood, for instance, compiled the remarkable record of 34 victories against only five setbacks in 1912 with the Red Sox, but he tapered off so rapidly that his 5-year total reached only 91 wins. Rube Marquard had a brilliant 3-year stretch with the Giants, accumulating 73 triumphs from 1911 to 1913, but then skidded. Chief Bender of the Athletics, a wonderful "spot" pitcher, registered over 20 victories in only one season, 1910.

Grove, Dean and Sergeant Jim Bagby, former Cleveland right-hander, are the only pitchers since the war to register as many as 30 victories a season. Bagby collected 31 in 1920. Grove the same in 1931, and Dean 30 in 1934.

Here are comparative records showing the best consecutive 5-year performances of outstanding major league pitchers:

Forty-Seven Teams Entered In National AAU Cage Tournament, Starts Sunday

DENVER, March 12. (AP) — With the golden words, "national champion," as the lure, basketball's big rush to the foot of the Rockies is on for the third consecutive year.

From all parts of the country crack teams are arriving for the 30th National A. A. U. tournament, starting Sunday.

The entry list stood at 47 teams. The Seattle A. A. U. team and Provo, Utah, entry applications were received just before the St. Louis Foods team, with the veteran Ad Dietzel at center, took the place of the New Orleans champion, which decided not to attend.

Since both of the top Louisiana teams, Monroe and the Bogalusa Gaylords, competed in a district tournament at Dallas and were defeated, Louisiana officials decided not to enter a quintet.

The addition of Adams State Normal of Alamosa, Colo., taking the place reserved for the Northern Colorado champions, increase to 15 the number of college teams entered.

Among the strongest looking of the collegiate outfits are Long Island university, West Texas Teachers, Southern Oregon Normal, Oklahoma City university, and Stephen F. Austin.

Cavalcade, 3-year-old champion of 1934, was unplaced but six times in his 22 starts over a 4-year period. He won a total of $127,165.

Wanta Outfit A Ball Club? Buy All But Brogans

By DILLON GRAHAM

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP) — Can you imagine someone outfitting a man in new clothes from head to anskles and then saying: "Now go buy your own shoes?"

That's what baseball club owners do.

Players must buy their own brogans, and several pairs a season, too. The shoes are of bench-made kangaroo and are built for speed rather than long wear. Most players pay $16.50 a pair for them.

"No one seems to know just why clubs won't buy shoes," Angus MacDonald, representative of a sporting goods house observed today; "It's just a custom, I guess."

MacDonald figured baseball's major league haberdashery bill at about $50,000 a season.

The Price List

Each of the 16 major league clubs buy two home and two road uniforms for every player, the suits—cap, shirt, belt and pants — cost $23.75.

The socks cost $3 and every club requires about 50 pairs. The price of jackets, for cold or wet weather, is around $12.50.

Players must also furnish their own gloves, sliding pads, sweat shirts and underwear.

Bats go for $24 a dozen. Some players use only a few while others break ten or a dozen a year. The clubs furnish the catchers equipment—mask $9; protectors $6; and shin guard $9.

Team Honors Are Sought In IC-4A Tourney Tonight

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP) ... team rather than the indiv... will be paramount tomorrow ... when upwards of 300 picked ... letes from 26 Eastern colleges compete in the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. indoor track and field championship at Madison Square Garden.

The 12 individual varsity events promise interesting and possibly record-smashing competition but athletes and their supporters will watch the outcome of each with an eye to their effect on the team point score.

Columbia, headed by its negro sprinter and broad jumper, Ben Johnson, is favored to dethrone Manhattan's Jaspers, who established an intercollegiate record by winning the team trophy three straight years.

Brownie Big-Wigs To Confer With Players At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, March 12. (AP) — President Don Barnes and General Manager Bill DeWitt are expected to join the St. Louis Browns here tomorrow with a view to ending the holdout of Beau Bell and of greeting the club's absentees, Harold Clift, Tommy Carey and Harry Davis. The latter three were not ordered to report until tomorrow.

TO TRADE BERGER?

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12 (AP)—A hint that the Boston Bees might be considering a trade involving Wally Berger, slugging centerfielder, was given today when after a long batting drill Manager Bill McKechnie announced his starting lineup for tomorrow's opening "grapefruit" clash against the world championship Yankees.

Gene Moore was given the nod to start for Berger in the outfield that will also include Deb Garms in left and Jim Mosolf in right.

Ex-Irish Grid Ace Is Killed

Special Memorial Services To Be Held At Notre Dame For "One-Play" O'Brien, Fatally Injured In Car Wreck

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 12. (AP) A special service in memory of John J. O'Brien, assistant football and track coach at Notre Dame, will be held tomorrow afternoon during the running of the central intercollegiate track meet here.

John O'Brien

In addition, solemn requiem mass will be sung in Sacred Heart church on the campus at 6:25 a. m. with the Rev. John O'Hara president of the university, as celebrant.

The body will be taken to Los Angeles, Calif., for burial. The widow, three children and a representative of Notre Dame athletic association will accompany the body.

O'Brien was killed when his automobile hit a railway viaduct pillar in Chicago early today.

Coached In Texas

He was graduated from Notre Dame in 1931, after competing in track and football for three years. In 1928, during a football game with the Army, he earned his nickname of "one play" by catching a 40-yard touchdown pass on his first play, to upset the Cadets, 12 to 7.

O'Brien served as assistant football coach at Annapolis for two years and was head football coach at St. Edwards college at Austin, Tex., before joining the Irish staff.

O'Donnell Wins Invitation Meet

O'Donnell made 65 points. Lamesa was second with 50, Draw next with 28 and T-Bar fourth with 10.

A press dispatch from Conway, Ark., indicated Murff would come here.

Lawson Little And Manero To Enter Playoff

Challengers Overtake Champs And Prolong Final Session Of International Matches; To Play It Off Today

MIAMI, Fla., March 12. (AP)—A 36-foot putt by Lawson Little for an eagle three on the 36th hole today gave Little and Tony Manero a tie with Johnny Revolta, of Evanston, Ill., and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., in the international four-ball golf tournament sending the four into an 18-hole playoff tomorrow.

Picard and Revolta, seeking their third successive victory in the rich tournament, will play Little, former British and American amateur champion from San Francisco, and Manero, for the top prize of $2,000. The runners up will receive $500 each, while all four will share in the gallery receipts.

Tomorrow's playoff will be the fourth in the event's 14-year history.

Good And Bad Golf

Today's match was a curious mixture of superb and mediocre golf. Manero, National Open champion whose club is in Salem, Mass., scored a fine four-under-par 34 on the opening nine to give his side a two-hole lead.

Little, Canadian Open champion, and Manero held that advantage until lunch-time, through an outburst of golfing pyrotechnics that produced four eagles on three holes.

Revolta and Picard, playing steady golf as ever, then took command, as their foes blew several short putts, and themselves had a two up lead at the 27th hole turn.

Armstrong Kayoes Belloise In 4th

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP) — Henry Armstrong, 128 1-2, California's claimant to the featherweight championship tonight knocked out Mike Belloise, 130 1-2, of New York, in the fourth round of their bout at Madison Square Garden.

Belloise, pounded unmercifully around the ring all during the fourth, was floored with a left to the stomach and a right to the chin. The bell ended the round at the count of seven, but Belloise was still out when the gong sounded for the fifth.

Billy Beauhuld, 142, of Jersey City and St. Louis thrashed George Zengaras, 134 1-2, of New York in the semi-final eight round bout.

Results of other bouts: Pete Cara, 140 1-2, Brooklyn, stopped Joe Pannino, 146, Brooklyn, one minute 4 seconds first round.

Ed McGever, 138 1-2, Scranton, Pa., outpointed Bobby Britton, Yonkers, N. Y. (six).

Max Farber, 133, New York, stopped Andy Zazzarino, 133, Jersey City, 2 minutes, 39 seconds, second round.

Trainer, Jockey, 6 Horses Suspended At Epsom Downs Following 'Form Reversal'

HOUSTON, March 12. (AP)—Stewards at Epsom Downs today suspended a trainer, a jockey, and six horses under the care of the trainer, for a reversal of form by Fast Move, six-year-old gelding which won the sixth race from a good grade of claiming horses yesterday.

The trainer, Tom Dehl of Panhandle, Texas, all six horses in his care, and the jockey who rode Fast Move the last time out, S. Snodgrass, were suspended for the balance of the meet.

The stewards also recommended to the Texas Racing commission that the suspension be extended 30 days after the end of the meet, March 27.

Fast Move ran Tuesday, with Jockey Snodgrass in the saddle, and finished fifth in a field of $2,000 horses. Run back Thursday with in at from $2500 and $3000 the gelding won by two lengths from Whisking. Jockey R. L. Vedder was up on Fast Move Thursday.

FDR Is Quoted Against Idea

Senator Wheeler Reads From "Looking Forward," Written By President In '33 In Which He Opposes New Judges

correct the situation.

"I arose simply to call attention to the fact that Mr. Roosevelt, since he has become president, has opposed adding to the Supreme court to correct evils which he says and which I agree do exist."

Black Reads Page

Senator Black (D-Ala.), a champion of the president's proposal, had meanwhile picked up the book from Wheeler's desk. He opened it to the page from which Wheeler had head. As soon as the Montanan had finished Black called his attention to something in the book, but made no remarks to the senate.

In addition to Wheeler's speech, and the Norris address examining the various methods, both legislatives and by constitutional amendment, of treating what he called a serious problem in the courts, the day produced further testimony before the senate judiciary committee. John P. Devaney, president of the National Lawyers Guild, spoke vigorously in support of the president's proposal to add one new justice to the Supreme court for each justice past 70 who fails to retire.

Norris Criticism Unsparing

Norris, whom many regard as in an admirable position to bring about a compromise in the court conflict, because of his close friendship with the president, his popularity with his colleagues and his assertion of only conditional support for the bill —was unsparing in his criticism of the courts.

"We must no forget," he said, "that any tribunal, whether judicial or legislative, is composed of men with all the imperfections attributable to humanity. No organization, either of judges or of legislators, is perfect, and the human element must, in the end, enter largely into the decision, whether made by a court or by a legislature.

But almost imperative

"It would seem, therefore, not only reasonable but almost imperative that when the Supreme court is passing upon the constitutionality of an act of congress, it should not be permitted to nullify such act of congress by a bare majority of one.

"It does not seem logical, it does not seem fair, that a law passed by congress, composed of more than five hundred men, the representatives of the people, and approved by the president, elected by all the people, should be set aside by a bare majority of one, in a court holding unlimited power for life and not responsible in any way directly or indirectly to the people of the country."

Case Decision Is In Abeyance

Judge Daniel A. Blair Takes Pope Pool's Injunction Application Until Hearings On Other Cases Are Held

Judge Daniel A. Blair Friday held in abeyance until three other such hearings are conducted his decision in a hearing of Pope Pool's prayer for a temporary injunction restraining the Texas Liquor Control board from interfering with his board-granted permit to dispense liquor for medicinal purposes.

The hearing was conducted Friday afternoon in 72nd district court.

Judge Blair overruled a motion for an instructed verdict for applicant.

Hinges On Definition

Mullican's contentions in the hearing hinged on what he defined as no provision in the law to require a druggist dispensing medicinal liquor to issue a prescription before a sale; but simply sets out a prescription must be issued.

He said Pope Pool was not charged with infraction of his contract with the board, but that an employe of Pool's was cited in testimony as having been placed in that position—which would mean agency had entered. He said applicant's day in court had not been allowed; that the applicant was seeking civil remedy in a case which had developed from "criminal prosecution."

Blanks Not "Sworn To"

His submission of prescription blanks as evidence was objected to by M. C. Martin, assistant attorney general, here to conduct the defense, as not having been "sworn to."

Throughout the hearing ran an undercurrent, which often found expression in words interpreting a need for a new bill that would clarify moot provisions and set up limits for problems not touched, directed at existing laws.

In reply to the agency reference of Mullican, Martin, recognized as a brilliant young attorney, cited a "case in principle" as a precedent. The case showed where a dealer in liquor was "responsible" for the acts of his employes and agents.

Hasn't Had Day In Court

Mullican said Pool never had his day in court, had not properly been convicted of selling liquor without prescription since there had been no judge or jury, and that defendants must plead agency if allegations were to reflect on applicant.

He insisted he had asked and received a temporary restraining order and that "now" he was asking a temporary injunction until such time as the case could be set for trial on its merits. "The law says such a trial could not be until the next term of court, when we could ask for a permanent injunction," he said. "What we ask would not deprive these gentlemen of continued supervision," he said. "We just don't want enforcement of a permit cancellation until there is a jury in that box. We thin Pool not only is about to be deprived, but already has been deprieved of his rights as a citizen.

Judge Blair said he knew the complaint "wouldn't stand up in a criminal case," but that "good or bad" as the law might be "the board has power under the statutes to cancel" liquor permits.

Hearings of Lawrence H. Redwine, Oran Wilson, and F. E. Carter and Oran Wilson jointly were set for today. Originally those applicants were to have been heard Monday, but counsel for plaintiffs is a member of he legislature and requested changed settings. Temporary relief for those applicants had been denied by Judge Blair.

Labor Situation

a meeting of the UAW national executive board at Cleveland Monday to discuss a "national campaign and consolidate and extend the gains made during 1937 since the General Motors strike." He also announced opening of new or additional union offices in seven cities.

Into More Definite Channels

Labor's differences with labor — the contest for membership between the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization — settled into more definite channels.

William Green, AFL president, said the federation would expel any central labor body or state federation which fell into control of the CIO, headed by John L. Lewis. Green's statement was in effect a reply to the CIO's recent announcement it would issue charters to such groups.

Except for the General Motors agreement, the automobile strike situation was unchanged. Negotiations in the huge Chrysler corporation "sitdown" were adjourned until Monday.

Issue In Courts Today

The issue will be in the courts today, when strikers have been ordered to show cause why they should not be enjoined from occupying the corporation's nine plants in Detroit. Some 5,000 Chrysler employes are idle in Detroit, and about 6,000 in other cities.

Negotiations were at a standstill in the Hudson Motor Car Co., and Reo Motor Car Co. strikes, the latter at Lansing, Mich.

Strike leaders keeping 11,500 idle at the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. plants in Akron, O., planned a seven-man board of strategy to push the fight for recognition of the union as the sole bargaining agency.

The merchants' ball followed the revue as soon as seats were removed from the ballroom. Retail merchants of ready-to-wear, clothing, and accessories of Lubbock, and West Texas and New Mexico attended the event despite threatening weather conditions.

Mannequins for the revenue were trained in several rehearsals by Miss Tyson, professional model and make-up artist.

The four-day market event closes Sunday. Wholesale merchants from several states have merchandise on display on the second, third and fourth floors of the Lubbock hotel and are expecting busy days today and tomorrow filling orders of retail merchants who are completing their pre-Easter buying.

tract with superintendents and teachers for two years instead of one was approved by the house.

The house state affairs committee favorably reported, 9 to 1, another old age pension liberalization bill. It acted two days after the house by a close vote had postponed until April 6 consideration of a liberalization proposal by Rep. Clarence E. Farmer of Fort Worth.

Would Pension 150,000

The new proposal would provide a slightly more liberal pension statute than was in effect prior to legislative action last fall. Legislators estimated it would permit more than 150,000 persons to qualify for aid. It contained no revenue-raising provisions.

The house voted overwhelmingly to postpone until next week consideration of a resolution which would endorse President Roosevelt's program without specifically mentioning his Supreme court proposal.

A bill authorizing street car companies to operate buses was sent to a conference committee after the senate refused to concur in house amendments

Rep. Mainor N. Westbrook of Geneva sent up a resolution to request the state tax commission to make a survey of natural resource taxes in all other states. The legislature would use the information to determine taxes to be imposed on Texas natural resources.

Legislators Leave On Widely Scattered Junkets

AUSTIN, March 12. (AP) — Two groups of legislators left today on trips to widely separated parts of the state.

The senate and house appropriations committees departed for South Texas. They will inspect the College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville and visit the famous King ranch tomorrow, then tour cities in the lower Rio Grande valley Sunday.

More than a dozen lawmakers, headed by Rep. Albert Cauthorn of Del Rio, went to the far West Texas section adjoining the Big Bend of the Rio Grande. A State appropriation of $2,000,000 for an international park there has been proposed.

Some members of the legislature planned to go to Gonzales Sunday for the dedication of the monument to the first shot of the Texas revolution.

Thrown Into Nearby Field

Currey said he scarcely realized there had been a collision. After it he said he seemed to doze off and when he awakened he was "picking cotton." he was believed to have been thrown into a nearby field.

His father said he must have been thrown into the field, too. The floor of the truck had been knocked out, he said. He explained he ran back to the other truck but failed to extricate Harden and Maddux immediately. Eventually, he said, he was able with help to get one of them free.

The elder Currey was taken to the hospital by Weldon K. Cogdell, he said. He was found to have scratches only. Body of Maddux, who is survived by his widow and eight children whose names were not available early today, was taken by Rix Funeral home. Funeral arrangements had not been announced.

Maddux operated a fruit stand at his residence address.

Rutherford and Wood said when they approached the scene someone who had driven a pickup truck into the trailer wreckage had got out of his machine and was stopping all trafic by waving warnings with a flashlight.

"We didn't get his name, but he probably prevented other people from being injured," said Wood. "It was raining and visibility was only a few yards. The confusion there was dangerous."

They said the two trucks were damaged "as bad as anything we ever saw."

Passing Of An Oracle

PEOPLE who have been acclaiming Postmaster General James A. Farley's uncanny skill as a political prophet might give a thought to the coming resignation of Emil Hurja, for years Farley's right-hand man.

Mr. Hurja has announced that he will presently leave politics to return to private business, and it is quite possible that this may have an effect on Mr. Farley's gifts as a prognosticator.

For it was Hurja, by all accounts, who collected the statistics and erected the graphs on which the postmaster general based his forecasts. Hurja knew politics as few men know it. For years, Washington correspondents have marked him down as a man who had an uncanny way of telling just how the cat was going to jump, come election day.

It will be interesting to see how the rare Farley gift survives the loss of this talented lieutenant.

NATURE WAKING UP

All nature is striving now to show forth its beauty as warm winds sweep over this area, bringing to life long dormant trees, shrubs and grass. Now is the time of the year for green to be the predominating color of the earth, as the dull shades of dirt and dead vegetation give way to live colors.

The grass on lawns is rapidly showing a green color; fruit tree buds are bursting into rich tints of pink and red; the tan colored buds on shade trees are swelling and tiny green tips are to be seen; tulips and other bulbs have sprung up and glorious yellow and white blooms of flowers brighten up the landscape.

Day by day one can almost see nature grow. It will not be long until the whole creation is flowering and growing like the famed "Green Bay Tree."

Lubbock should be one beauty spot this year, if one may judge from the amount of yard work done, trees, shrubs and flowers planted and hedges and borders set out. Drive out through the residential sections and see for yourself, what your neighbors and friends are doing. Lawns have been cut down, reseeded, beds for roses and other flowers set out. Local nurseries are busy day and night.

Not only in Lubbock, but in every other town on the South Plains may be seen like conditions. In those towns where there is a garden club, or a woman's club, the poor tired business man when he gets home at night, has to help finish what a hired man had started in the day time.

But here is the good part, yard and home improvement is not confined to cities and towns. Farmers, especially the women, have gotten the idea through home demonstration clubs. One might say, thousands of farms will be beautified and improved by planting of hedges, windbreaks, flower and rose gardens, and even lawns.

WITH OUR CONTEMPORARIES

"I'm all set to dish out a long-winded column this week," Old Archibald himself and in person, says in the Hale Center American. "Got lots to talk about—but like BFD in the Abernathy Review, it will probably be 'all about nothing'! Anyway, it's new stuff."

"A bill has been introduced in the legislature, which, if enacted into law, will do away with all tax equalization boards, and place that authority and duty solely in the hands of the county court of each county in the state," John A. Price observes in the Amherst Argus.

"The difference between President Roosevelt and the Supreme court seems to be this: the Supreme court holds that New Deal measures conform to the constitution; Mr. Roosevelt contends that the constitution must be bent to conform to the New Deal," E. I. Hill says in the Lynn County News.

"Some times our old friend Charley Guy writes as if he expects some good G. O. P. President to give him a job on the Supreme court bench, about the time he is 75 or 80," Andy Jack (Grandpop) Stricklin writes in the Terry County Herald. "It appears that he and friend E. I. Hill of the Tahoka News, expect their intellects to be wound up to the very highest pitch about the time they are 80 years of age."

Today's One-Minute Sermon

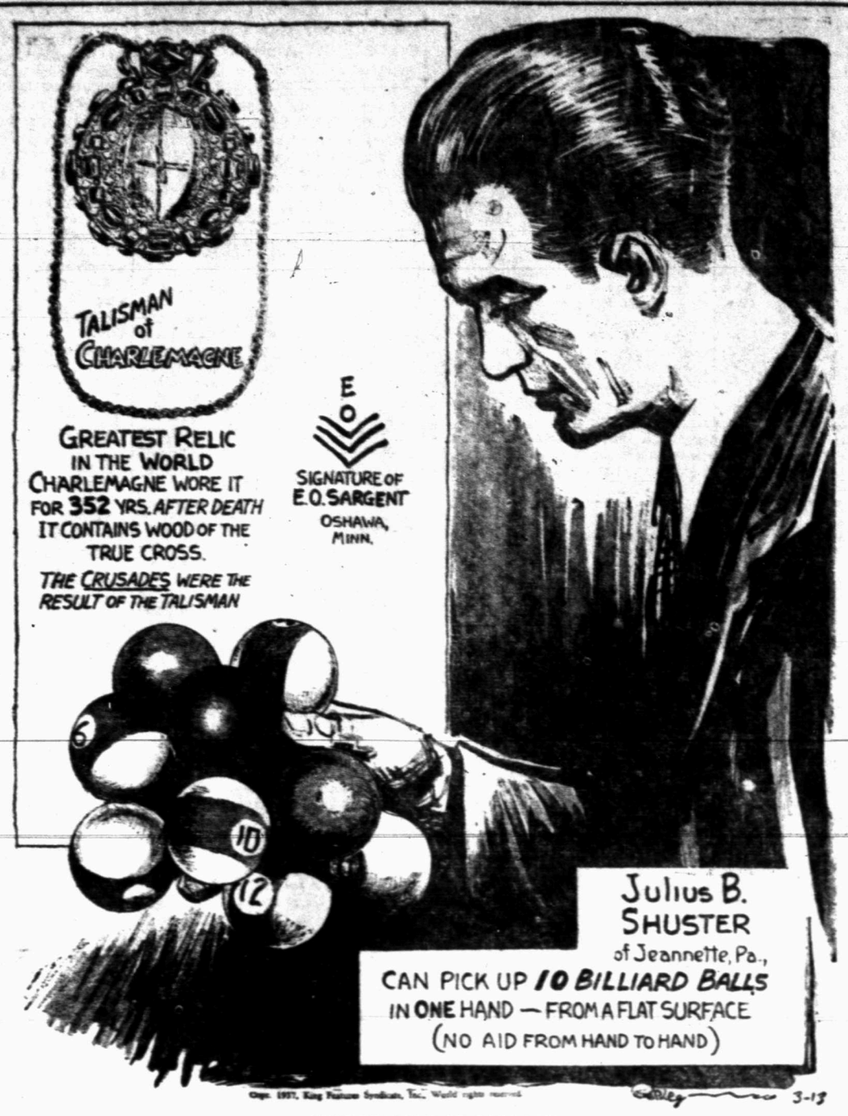

Better is a dry morsel, and quietness therewith, than a house full of sacrifices with strife.

A wise servant shall have rule over a son that causeth shame, and shall have part of the inheritance among the brethren.

The fining pot is for silver, and the furnace for gold: but the Lord trieth the hearts. Proverbs, XV11: 1-3.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE TALISMAN OF CHARLEMAGNE

This relic consists of a large sapphire inclosing a little cross made from the wood of the True Cross. It was a gift from Harun al Raschid (of the Arabian Nights) to Charlemagne, Emperor of the West. The latter wore it in every battle and ordered it interred with him when he died in 814.

352 years later, Emperor Otto entered Charles' tomb in Aix and found the mummy of the occupant sitting on his throne and wearing the talisman around his neck. The discovery of the talisman led to the outbreak of the Crusades, because the Frankish Emperors based their claim to the Holy Land upon its ownership.

It was presented to Napoleon I, from whom it passed to Napoleon III. The German Kaiser offered fantastic sums for its purchase, but Napoleon III's widow preferred to leave it to the Cathedral of Rheims where it is today.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAPHNE BRETT, charming young New York advertising executive, rents her deceased father's Connecticut estate to LARRY SMITH, attractive young bachelor architect, and promptly likes him tremendously. Daphne has one sister, six years younger, JENNIFER, just out of college and at her first job.

Jennifer resents Daphne's attempts to guide her and proceeds to date TUCKER AINSLEY, wealthy playboy. Next she meets Larry and, finding he is not married, makes a play for his attentions. This develops a struggle between the sisters for the same man.

One night Larry dates Daphne. At the same time Jennifer, against Daphne's orders, dates one of Tuck's set and comes home at dawn inebriated. The sisters come to a showdown, conciliate, but Daphne, it is clear, is bound to live her own life, marry Tuck Ainsley. She had set her heart on a rich husband from the beginning.

Meanwhile Larry proposes to Daphne—over the telephone. She falls asleep that night, deliriously happy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

"Hurry up, Jennifer. Your breakfast is ready."

"I've loads of time." Jennifer, with her hat and coat on, stood in the doorway to the small kitchen. "Neat trick of yours, Miss Brett, setting the clock ahead." She pulled a chair up to the table of the cabinet which served as their morning breakfast table.

"Well, you don't want to lose your job, do you?" Daphne poured cocoa into two cups and snapped off the switch on the toaster.

"I don't care much if I do."

"Oh, Jennifer, please don't! Thirty-five a week is the best you've done and we're getting along so nicely."

"There isn't much future in being a model," Jennifer went on hopefully.

"There might be. Some day you might get to be a photographer's model and, who knows, maybe the movies will be next."

"Daphne! Wouldn't that be wonderful?"

Daphne buttered the toast. "Yes, it would, but I wouldn't entertain the idea. Tell me about last night. Your girl friends usually have a lot of news." Daphne was playing for time. She didn't want Jennifer to ask her what Larry had said.

Jennifer looked at her sister under lowered lids and said casually, "I suppose you heard that Jerry and Peg were married at Armonk on Wednesday."

"No! They eloped? I think that was a shabby thing to do."

Jennifer put her cup down very carefully. "Why was it? They are both of age and they knew what they wanted. It wasn't anyone else's business if they wanted to."

"It was shabby, Jennifer. Peggy is only 18 and girls that age don't know their own minds. Besides Peg's parents should have been shown more consideration. They wanted Peg to have a good education and see a few more people before she settled down. I don't think that as very considerate of her. I imagine her people will be up in arms."

Jennifer touched a napkin to her pretty mouth. "Well, they'll have to like it now. And you're quite wrong about girls 18 not knowing their own minds. I think Peg is well off. Jerry has a little money and they'll have a ducky time. Everyone will be giving parties for them and she won't have to worry about a job. I'm all for matrimony. I'm sick of working."

"Lots of us are," Daphne admitted. "but getting married just because you're sick of working seems like a pretty poor reason to me. Marrying because you love a man makes it the best thing in the world but any other way, is my idea of no-go."

Jennifer laughed. "Grandmaw Brett! Lavender and old lace and love! I suppose you think a bride sits home of evenings and darns her husband's sox while he reads the market reports. Well, I don't."

"Don't you?" Daphne asked and saw a vision of herself sitting at Larrys side while he read her architectural reports. It was a lovely vision. A wistful vision.

"I do not." Jennifer continued. "I think it is cute to find someone you like, someone who has the same idea of fun you have and take your chance. Also, I think just getting into a car and going off somewhere to be married and coming back and telling everyone is fun. It's adventurous."

"Jennifer Brett! It's twenty of nine! You'll have to catch a cab. Here's your purse. Darling, I'm going shopping this afternoon and I won't be home much before five. What time are you coming?"

"I never make plans for Saturday afternoon," Jennifer called back over her shoulder, "but don't worry about me."

"Miss Brett, you're just the type but you're so restless!" Ann Cockerell squinted her eyes, rubbed her hands on her smock and picked up her charcoal pencil. "Nevertheless, you're a lamb, Daphne, to help me out on your one afternoon off. Just hold it a minute until I fix up the shoulder line and I'll let you off."

Daphne sat motionless on the dais in silence that was unbroken for another 10 minutes.

"There, now, I think that will do. Come and tell me what you think of it."

Daphne relaxed and stretched her cramped muscles. Then she stepped off the dais and walked over to the drawing-board.

"It's grand," she said. "What time is it? I ought to go."

"Your date isn't until seven and it isn't five yet, so sit down and stop looking like Cornell in one of her tragic moments. Anyone would think you were about to make a mess of your life. Stop dramatizing yourself."

"Please, Anne! Am I really doing that?" Daphne asked surprised.

"Of course you are." Ann pasted a tissue cover over her drawing. "It's not like you to do that and I think you ought to snap out of it. Get a new focus on the situation. I admit that you are right but that doesn't make it hopeless or give you any right to feel like a queen of tragedy."

"Maybe you're right. Nevertheless I can't help feeling . . . dramatic. Isn't it dramatic to have to say 'No' to the man you love when you can't tell him your reason?"

"But you're not going to say 'No.' You're going to tell him that you do love him, that you do want to marry him but you believe that you should both wait a little longer. Tell him you think it is only fair to him, that you can't leave your job at once, that you know he has work which should—oh, for goodness sake, darling, you'll know what to say."

"That's just it, I don't. It would be lying. It would be stringing him along and Larry is too fine to get that kind of treatment."

Anne sat down abruptly, giving Daphne a hopeless glance. "Then, since he is so fine and since you feel that he is part of you why not let him share your trouble? Why not come out flatly and tell him that the reason you won't marry him is because you feel that you've got to take care of Jennifer, that you won't marry him until you have a sum of money in the bank to take care of her independent of his help?"

"I wouldn't do that to him for anything in the world."

"No, you wouldn't. Well, then, why not do something about Jennifer?"

"What can I do about her?" Daphne said wearily.

Anne didn't know any answer to that one.

"I've done everything I know of. She's earning a good salary now but I don't know how long it will last. She's only 18 you know and I can't expect much from her but if I had a couple of thousand dollars to hang onto until she finds the thing she wants to do or marries some nice boy, I could tell Larry that we could be engaged. But where can I get $2000?"

"I have it!" Anne said. "It will take a lot of determination on your part but you can do it. Tell Jennifer

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A DISCORDANT note hitherto missing from the voice of his fiercest opposition has crept into the outcry against President Roosevelt's demand for Supreme court reform. First heard in the cloakrooms, it will soon resound on the floor and radio.

It reflects a deep personal resentment against F.D.R. and a groundswell suspicion that he has treated his strongest backers rather shabbily. Senators who persuaded him to promise nothing more revolutionary than a "constitutional amendment" in the 1936 platform feel that they have been betrayed—sunk without a trace. Certain oldsters are sore because they were not forwarned by being taken into his confidence. They are forced to swallow specific campaign pledges.

Two other elements friendly to him—organized labor and the press—have cooled slightly in their attitude. The A. F. of L.-ers feel that he is giving too much aid and comfort to C.I.O. rebels. Newspaper correspondents staged their first serious brush with him over "exclusive" interview he gave to a New York reporter on the court issue—a violation of his 1933 ruling against such tete-a-tetes. It's a unique experience for F.D.R.

ABANDONED: Unofficial American observers have forwarded to Washington friends confidential reports on the recent espionage trials at Moscow. It is the first neutral information to reach official circles here since the indictment and execution of "Old Bolsheviks" startled the world.

Most astonishing piece of news is that the defendants appeared to be telling the truth when they pleaded guilty to participating in a Trotsky plot designed to assassinate Stalin, destroy the existing regime and conspire with Japan and Germany. Whether prison pressure or threats against their families had been applied could not be ascertained by the American scouts. But on the basis of courtroom performance, the latter accepted the testimony as accurate and voluntary.

Official and unofficial attempts to obtain clemency for still untried conspirators have been abandoned as a result. The Stalin government dropped hints that it would resent such a move, and is determined to carry out its program of uprooting the Trotsky faction—even at the cost of antagonizing well-wishers among New Deal liberals.

"TAPS": Washington was recently treated to an orgy of wire-tapping which may produce sensational results. It has provoked demands for a senatorial investigation into alleged "gay-pay-oo" practices by some of Uncle Sam's sleuths.

Racing news from outside the capital is furnished by a general news service which purchases it under a contract with operators of the racetracks. An outlaw information bureau is charged with stealing racetrack odds and results for book-making purposes. The theft was perpetrated by tapping the telephone wires which brought the news to the more or less legitimate service.

In an effort to break up the system, U. S. Disthict Attorney Garnett's agents in turn tapped the wires of the outlaw agency over a period of five months to obtain evidence for conviction. When Mr. Garnett discovered that the telephone company was examining its lines in a search for "taps," he feared exposure of his own "tap" and ordered an immediate raid on the alleged book-making crowd. It was that premature coup which may have uncovered an official attempt to check up on illegal wire-tapping throughout the capital.

SHAKEUP: High officials' suspicions that overzealous subordinates indulge in espionage and listening-in were confirmed some time ago. Examination of the telephones in a certain executive department revealed that the phones of the secretary himself, two assistant secretaries and a White House aide had been systematically tapped for months.

Several important personages formerly skeptical of "gay-pay-oo" rumors were startled at the disclosure. Further inquiry revealed that these alien ideas emanated from a certain sleuth already suspect for his under-cover activities against hostile politicos and officials. It was his telephone magician who helped to install the "taps" on the cabinet member and his executive family.

The higher-ups are understood to have acted at once by ordering a private examination of all telephones leading to the offices of important figures in the administration. That is supposed to explain the telephone company's present survey of its lines, including "taps" on racing news. There will be a roof-to-cellar shakeup of federal detective bureaus if this—or a senatorial—inquiry produces the goods.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

IT WAS no chance coincident that Senator Burton K. Wheeler drew the honor of first radio reply to F.D.R.'s latest "fireside chat." The conservative opposition to the President's Supreme Court proposal—directed largely from New York—is teaming up neatly behind the scenes with the leftist leader from Montana.

Wheeler is to be made the spearhead of the entire attack on the Supreme court program. The amendment to the constitution which he offers as an alternative is to be given a big play—largely tongue-in-cheek. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan was only the first of a number of "safe-and-sane" senators of both parties who are scheduled to find merit in the constitutional change sponsored by radicals Wheeler and Bone.

A principal function of the right wing high command will be to help the Montanan catch headlines.

STRATEGY: Conservative energies and resources will be freely devoted to the proposed build-up for Wheeler. Two important tactical considerations are involved.

One is that the spotlighting of Wheeler makes it hard for Mr. Roosevelt to pin the onus of opposition on "economic royalists," as he has undoubtedly hoped and planned.

The other is that conservatives of all parties are already opposed to the President's program automatically. They don't need to be sold. Sound strategy demands the splitting of F.D.R.'s normal support as the primary objective. That's why the Montanan will keep pounding away at the theme that the President's program is a feeble subterfuge which evades the true liberal issue of broadening the federal government's powers.

BREAKS: John Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization focused its activities in Detroit for the General Motors debate. Then its leading strategists moved to New York as the true capital of the steel industry. The next stop will probably be Philadelphia, as the nerve center of the textile industry. The United Textile Workers are strong there, and so are the two powerful unions that are likely to be valuable allies in the U.T.W. drive—Sidney Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers and David Dubinsky's International Ladies Garment Workers.

Hillman and Dubinsky are expected to take active charge of the C.I.O. textile organization campaign. Their two unions could turn on the heat very effectively by refusing to handle textiles from non-union mills. The Clothing Workers and Garment Workers are also wealthy enough to give the textile unionizers a big hand financially.

Another reason for concentrating on Philadelphia is that political conditions there are almost ideal for labor union activities. Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania is consistently and outspokenly pro-labor in word and deed. Mayor S. Davis Wilson is sympathetic too. Labor organizers will get in Philly all the breaks they could find anywhere in the nation.

GRATEFUL: New York critics caustically remark that President Roosevelt's fire was misdirected when he blamed the Supreme court for not telling the federal government more clearly just what constitutional powers the Tennessee Valley authority possesses.

They point out that the issue was deliberately narrowed to exclude the T.V.A. power program by the government's own lawyers, and that the New Deal's judicial victory in this case was credited chiefly to their cautious strategy.

Comment runs that F.D.R. really should be more grateful to the court for one of the few breaks it ever gave him.

TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS, No. 48

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Now the Indians broke into a weird and dismal chant: "From death, life arises. From decay springs growth. To live, the Great Destroyer kills and devours. Long life to the Great Destroyer, the god of death." Then two of the savages seized Ula Dale's arms.

"Don't be scared," George advised confidently; "nothing can really happen to you; I'm squeezing the rabbit's foot." And now, while the attention of the Indians was concentrated on the captive, a little monkey slipped quietly away and leaped into the trees.

In a great frenzy, Nkima hurried in search of Tarzan. He did not know just what was happening, but even his small brain could discern that the ape-man's friends were in hostile hands, and that it was now his duty to bring the powerful Tarzan to their aid.

But even if Tarzan had arrived at this moment, what could he have done? Ula seemed now beyond human aid. Her two guards halted. Then, taking the greatest care to avoid the fronds themselves, they hurled the girl into the leafy tentacles of the man-eating plant!

Co-Op Agency Recommended

Presidential Commission In Favor Of Establishment Of Government Unit To Aid Co-Operatives In U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—A presidential commission which studied the cooperatives offering Europeans everything from food to funerals has recommended establishments of a government agency to give information and advice to such organizations in this country.

Some members of the commission warned, however, "high pressure" promotion of the movement would lead to graft and failure.

The six members, who traveled through Europe last summer studying mass buying groups in which the customer is part owner or shares in profits, differed widely on the possibility of adapting the idea to the United States.

Should Be Given Facilities

They agreed, however, consumer groups should be given the same credit facilities as farmers' cooperatives and private business.

They recommended a government survey of consumer and service cooperatives in this country.

All members agreed that European cooperatives were "big business" in many countries. Their 731-page report, made public last night, detailed cooperative experience in retail stores, manufacturing, and medical, laundry, housing, electric, credit and banking services.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—Late recoveries helped to propagate a wavering stock market today although declines of fractions to or more points were in the majority at the close.

Despite the deadlock in automotive strike negotiations, leaders in this group rallied as Wall Street saw signs of nearby settlements.

Trading forces were sobered, however, by the heaviest selling of U. S. government securities in many years. The downfall in the federal list was attributed largely to adjustments of bank portfolios to meet increased reserve requirements and to liquidations for income tax funds.

There was a turnover of nearly $35,000,000 in all bonds of which governments accounted for more than $1,000,000. It was the greatest volume of both government and corporates since 1930.

In addition to the bond break, stock trading circles had to consider nervous trends in recently soaring commodities and indications the administration, becoming concerned over possibility of an inflationary boom, may take steps to prevent such a development by the use of powers it already possesses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .4 of a point at 74.1. Transfers totaled 2,289,840 shares compared with 2,234,160 yesterday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 12. (AP)—Cotton paused in its upward surge today and after trading over a comparatively wide range finished 3 points lower to 6 points higher.

The market was divided between the old and new crop months with the former able to make a little progress on the upside while the latter sustained minor losses.

March finished at 14.13 bid, May at 13.80, July at 13.80 and December at 13.16. Spot cotton was higher with middling up 5 points at New Orleans at 14.20 cents a pound.

Pressure was exerted against prices from the opening bell when a lower Liverpool market induced selling at the start of dealings on domestic exchanges. Losses ranged from 5 to 11 points at the first call, but as the day wore on an increase in trade buying in the nears lifted them across the previous closing levels.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP) — Cotton moved irregularly today with trade buying meeting realizing and liquidation. May rallied from 13.74@13.94 and closed at 13.87 with final prices 2 points net higher to 6 lower.

The market opened 4 to 16 points lower in response to easier Liverpool cables and under an accumulation of overnight selling orders.

Reactionary sentiment was more pronounced but when early losses were extended a few points further, renewed trade price-fixing in old crop positions was encountered and foreign interests, which had sold on the opening, turned to the buying side.

Toward the close, declines were partly recovered on renewed mill buying.

Week-end statistics made a favorable showing.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, March 12. (AP) — The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 14.15 cents a pound; average past thirty days, 13.23 cents a pound.

General Almazon, Mexico War Hero, Seeks A New Conquest

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—General Juan Andreu Almazan, once in charge of Mexican communications, public works and national railways and hero of some of he bloodiest battles of Mexico's revolutionary history, arrived in New York today seeking a new conquest.

He is trying to overcome ailments that have set in since 1929, when he directed the forces that routed one of the strangest rebel movements ever organized from Mexican towns, cities, and country-side.

The road recently placed an order for fifty-two stainless steel streamlined diners, lounge and club baggage cars.

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—Phillips Petroleum co. profits for 1936 were the largest since 1926, the company disclosed today in a statement showing net amounting $17,875,489, or $4.22 a share of capital stock.

Warning Against Schools Is Issued By Social Security

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 12. (AP)—The Social Security board today issued a warning against lavish promises made by self-styled "social security correspondence schools" and mail-order "training courses which prepare you for Social Security jobs."

Oscar M. Powell, regional director of the board, said such courses are being offered by mail and personal solicitation, in some cases by salesmen posing as government representatives.

A Cracking Job
Air Has Rusted Safe's Doors

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP) It looks as if they will need a safe cracker up on Capitol Hill in 1976.

It probably will be an acetylene torch job, because the outdoor air of a half century has rusted tight the doors of the capitol's not-to-be-opened-for-a hundred-years repository.

The door was closed in 1879 on an album of photographs and autographs, a collection of coins and other memorabilia of the 1876 Philadelphia Centennial exposition.

Quite possibly nobody will remember to open the safe when the great day comes. Few capitol attendants ever heard of it, stowed in an abandoned doorway under the east portico.

It would be easy to steal any dark night—if you brought along a five-ton derrick.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 12. (AP)—Pulled down by reports of rain, sleet and snow in Kansas and Nebraska, wheat prices fell 2¼ cents a bushel maximum today.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1¼ to 1⅝ under yesterday's finish, May $1.38¾@1.38⅞, July $1.18⅛@1.19, Sept. $1.16¾@1.17, corn ⅝ to 2⅛ down, May $1.07⅞, July 1.03⅞, Sept. 98⅝, oats ⅝ to 1 cent off, May 46⅞@47, and rye showing ⅜ to 1¼ setback. Provisions results varied from 17 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

The Chicago cash corn market was finally quoted today as one cent to four cents a bushel lower. Larger receipts, totaling 379,000 bushels at primary markets, were apparently too much for the demand. Rye and oats gave way with wheat and corn.

Provisions average lower, influence by grains espite hog market upturns.

Telephonitis

An incurable malady has all Hollywood in its grip—telephonitis. Although they take all manner of precautions to keep persons from calling them, once the stars are near a phone their dialing finger gets an uncontrollable itch—and many of them average an hour and a half a day on the line. For example:

JAMES STEWART . . .

. . . can't overcome telephonitis event when at lunch. An attendant plugs in the phone at his table and he's off.

JOAN CRAWFORD . . .

. . . does everything from shopping to contacting husband, Franchot Tone, on the phone in her portable dressing room.

MICKEY ROONEY . . .

. . . shows that even the young luminaries are not immune as he shouts into the wall phone at his studio.

ELISSA LANDI . . .

. . . another victim of the dialing disease, gets a far-away look in her eyes as she glues her ear to the receiver.

CLARK GABLE . . .

. . . has it bad, too, but instead of a dressing room phone he uses an extension set—with a 50-foot cord.

Question Answered
FDR Can Milk Cow, Youths Learn

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP) —James Roosevelt, son of the president, held his first press conference as a member of the White House staff today.

He announced his father had cleared up a dispute between two New York youths over whether the chief executive could milk a cow.

The answer? He can.

The Irish potato is really an Indian potato. It was first discovered growing in America and gets its name from the fact that it became popular when introduced into Ireland.

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson For March 14
By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D., Editor Of Advance

THIS lesson on Jesus praying for His disciples recalls the words of Jesus to Peter at the Last Supper, "Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat; but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not." Essentially, this was the prayer of Jesus for His disciples, that their faith should not fail, and that they should be equal to the burdens and responsibilities that they had accepted in becoming His disciples.

The love of Jesus for His disciples and His deep concern for them was, if anything, intensified by His realization that some would leave them. He knew they would miss His supporting presence, and the inspiration of His own example of faith and courage.

Consequently He assured them that He would send them the Comforter, the Holy Spirit, whose presence would sustain them and who would bring to them all that His own early living presence had meant.

IN the presence of some, at least, who remembered and recorded His words, He prayed to the Father for the disciples, whom He was leaving. He realized that they would be in a hostile world where men would hate them. Yet His prayer was not that they would be taken from the world, but that in this world of evil, they should be kept from evil. His earnest yearning was that they should be sanctified in the truth. Jesus was sending them into the world in the same spirit and with the same purpose that the Father had sent the Son into the world. Supremely He had devoted Himself to them, and it was His earnest prayer that the same sanctification might be theirs.

Nor was He praying for only the immediate circle of disciples. He perceived that there would be the disciples of days to come, then men and women who would see the truth, and accept it as it was proclaimed by those whom He was sending forth.

For these disciples the earnest prayer was that they might be strengthened in the unity of love. His one great purpose was that the love that the Father had for the world might become the love dominating every relationship among the disciples themselves, and every purpose and activity of the fellowship of disciples in the midst of the world that they would redeem, through the power of the Gospel, from its evil.

WHAT a deep and wonderful conception we have of the nature of discipleship and of what the fellowship of disciples in the church might be if churches everywhere were marked by this unity of spirit and purpose, and if they fulfilled in every respect the reality of the Master's prayer!

What strength and inspiration it should give to us individually to know that Jesus prays for each of us as He prayed for Peter, and that we have an eternal intercessor who would put all the forces of God behind us to keep us strong, and true, and faithful!

The measure also levies taxes upon metals, potash, lumber and similar natural resources exploited commercially.

Monument To Man Dedicated

William E. Evans, Only Man From Hockley County To Die In World War, Is Honored In Stone At Courthouse

(Special To The Avalanche)

LEVELLAND, March 12 — A monument in honor of the only World War soldier from Hockley county killed in action in France, was dedicated yesterday afternoon on the court house square here in memory of William E. Evans. Lubbock American Legion members assisted Hockley county Legionnaires in dedicating the monument to the man for whom the Levelland Post was named.

Jack Thomman, Levelland, commander of the fifth division of the Legion, gave the welcome address. Response was by W. O. (Dan) Daniels, post commander of Allen Bros., Lubbock.

Schools Dismissed

Music was by the Levelland High school band, the schools being dismissed for the occasion. Boy Scouts gave a pledge of allegiance to the flag. The band played the Star Spangled Banner.

Rev. Jeff D. Welch, Lubbock, chaplain of the Lubbock post, made the principal address in dedication to the monument.

After the program, which began at 3 o'clock, light refreshments were served. From Lubbock were two former post commanders, Charles Whitacre and George S. Berry, and Mrs. Berry, besides the speakers.

Elliott Roosevelt Is Behind Movement To Get Housing For Students At Texas A. & M.

FORT WORTH, March 12. (AP)—If Young Elliott Roosevelt has his way the Texas legislature will provide money for housing at Texas A. and M. college.

The president's Texas-residing son, a new member of the A. and M. board of directors, last night told the Fort Worth A. and M. club:

"The legislature doesn't seem to think it costs anything to educate a boy down there, but must be brought to see it as an emergency more important than old age security.

"With some 4,200 to 4,500 students enrolled, only 2,700 are housed on the campus. They must have proper housing and that's the state's duty."

ON APPROVED LIST

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—The Public Works administration said today a new dormitory, sought by Elliott Roosevelt as a director of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, is already on the PWA approved list.

The son of President Roosevelt said last night at Fort Worth he had asked his mother "to see what dad could do about it."

PWA files showed a grant of $253,227 has been approved by all PWA divisions and the project is awaiting final action when and if the money is available. The grant was asked for a dormitory estimated to cost a total of $562,727.

Bus Driver Saves Passengers When Flames Destroy Machine

SALIDA, Colo., March 12. (AP)—A bus driver, who smashed windows to reach them, saved passengers from a fire which destroyed a Denver-Salt Lake City bus last night near Cotopaxi, in western Colorado.

One woman, tentatively identified as Mrs. Quilfoyle of Colorado Springs, Colo., was in the Salida hospital today for treatment. The other 10 passengers and the driver, Chet Thingely of Denver, were brought to the hospital for examination but were released.

First Installment Of French Defense Loan Oversubscribed

PARIS, March 12. (AP)—The office of Premier Leon Blum announced today the first installment of the defense loan — 5,000,000,000 francs (about $225,000,000)—had been oversubscribed.

Subscription lists were immediately closed.

Today's subscription represents approximately half of the total loan of 10,500,000 francs ($459,850,000) approved by parliament.

Funeral Services For Woman Today

Funeral rites for Mrs. Rosetta Howard, 70, resident of Lubbock for about 14 years, will be read at the Central Baptist church at 3 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. J. D. Welch, pastor.

Mrs. Howard died at a local sanitarium about 1:30 o'clock Friday morning. She had been in the sanitarium since Feb. 6 when she fell and broke a hip.

Rev. C. H. McCarty, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, will assist with services. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery with Sanders Funeral home in charge.

She was survived by two sons, W. N. Howard of 1815 Avenue F, manager of Howard's Garage, and J. W. Howard of Sherman, former resident of Lubbock. She also was survived by a brother and sister of Bell.

German Ambassador Surprises Diplomats By Shaking Hands

LONDON, March 12. (AP)—Joachim von Ribbentrop, German envoy to London, amazed his fellow ambassadors Thursday by shaking hand with King George VI.

The other diplomats at a Buckingham palace tea party had expected von Ribbentrop to do like he has done on his two previous appearances at Buckingham palace—give the Nazi salute.

Instead, he and Frau von Ribbentrop emulated the other ambassadors, stood in line, shook hands with both the king and queen, and stayed for tea.

CLAIMS LOT STOLEN

DALLAS, March 12. (AP)—David Bernbaum complained to city officials today that a lot he owns had been "stolen." He owns a lot, he said, which was once terraced three feet above street level, but when he inspected it today, he found it was now two feet below.

War Masks Grim Product Of New British Industry

It might be churn dashers or boxes of chocolate drops the girls are making in the British factory scene shown above. In reality, it's gas masks; 500,000 of them are turned out weekly in His Majesty's first government factory to manufacture the masks. The girl workers are applying special gas-resisting paint to the gas mask canisters at Blackburn, England.

Then, the extra $50 you got in your raise—and you can save that—will come to around $600. In one year you can save $1100. A year passes quickly and by that time, Jennifer will have undoubtedly settled down to something. Don't you see?"

Color came into Daphne's face. "Of course I do! Oh, Anne, it seems so simple now. And I have a hunch that Jennifer will take care of this job because she loves the money. Darling, I can ask Larry to wait, can't I?"

Jennifer came in at six. "Well," she said, "that's that. I am again one of the great army of unemployed and I can't say I'm sorry after the passes Mandlebaum made at me before he fired me today."

Big Income Tax Payers Use "Easy Payment Plan" More

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Big income taxpayers use Uncle Sam's "easy payment plan" more than the little ones.

Under the law, taxes can be paid either in one lump by the deadline next Monday or spread over four quarterly payments.

Internal revenue books showed today about 73 per cent of the taxpayers with incomes under $5,000 pay the full amount at once, compared with 58 per cent of those having incomes over that figure.

Officials explained that tax payments in the lower bracket average only $25 o $30.

Tax payments on incomes over $5,000 average between $1,200 and $1,300, with some running into the hundreds of thousands.

Social Security Board Pays First Eight Of 1937 Claims

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—The Social Security board has paid the first eight of 314,000 claims it expects this year in connection with the federal old age benefit program.

Seven of these claims came from wage earners who reached the retirement age of 65 this year after one per cent of their pay had been deducted for the pension fund.

The eighth came from the estate of a wage earner who died after his payment was made. All involved only a few dollars.

INSTRUCTED TO FILE SUIT

ST. LOUIS, March 12. (AP)—U. S. District Judge George H. Moore today ordered Guy A. Thompson, trustee of the Missouri Pacific railroad, to file suit against the O. P. Van Sweringen estate and four directors of the railroad to recover "large losses" in the railroad's purchase of its own stock through a subsidiary several years ago.

Two Dutch Naval Officers And A Danish Colonel Appointed To Run International Ban On Volunteers To Spain

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 12.—Two Dutch naval officers and a Danish colonel were named today to run the international non-intervention committee's blockade against foreign volunteers and munitions shipments into Spain.

Admiral M. H. Van Dulm of the Netherlands was placed in charge of the entire neutrality project.

The committee members decided upon Admiral J. S. C. Oliver of the Netherlands to direct the naval patrol and selected Danish colonel Lunn to supervise the work of frontier agents along the Franco-Spanish border.

The naval patrol, in which British, French, German and Italian warships will participate, will begin tomorrow. The land blockade is not expected to start until about the end of March.

Stunt Flier Plans To Carry Along Peaches In Crack-Up Of House Near Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 12. (AP)—County commissioners today were drawn into the dispute over plans to fly Peaches, young mountain lion, as a passenger when Rex Murphy crashes his plane into a house near here a week from Sunday.

The commissioners and the commander of the American Legion post sponsoring the stunt, however, found the flier just as incorrigible as the yearling cougar had been in his two weeks sitdownunder the home of his former owner.

City officials have banned the act, but Murphy moved Peaches outside the city.

"It is my plane, my lion and it is also my show," retorted the flier. "I promised newsreel men the cat will be on the ship. And it will."

Food Soured! Stomach Was Full Of Gas!

Texas Lady Victim of Awful Indigestion; Weak Kidneys Caused Night Rising; Ankles, Feet Swelled Up; But Now Van-Tage Has Relieved Her!

Some of the Leading Druggists in Lubbock, and through-out this section now frankly say they have never seen anything like the way Widely-Known Local Residents continue to come forward day after day and publicly endorse the "Amazing New Medicine," known as VAN-TAGE, which is now being introduced to the public daily at Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, at Lubbock. These are all truthful, sincere testimonials, given by men and women who wish to help others who are suffering as they used to. For instance, just recently, Mrs. M. L. Moses, of 2924½ South Blvd., Dallas, Tex., endorsed Van-Tage. This Prominent Lady says:

MRS. M. L. MOSES

Stomach Sour and Gassy! Kidneys Sluggish

"My stomach was all upset and my food would turn sour inside of me and I would fill with gas. I also had weak, sluggish kidneys and had to keep rising with them at night; and I had sharp pains in my back over my kidneys. My feet and ankles swelled up from the contamination in my system and the pains I had in my feet and ankles were just terrible. Nothing helped me. So I was badly discouraged. Then, recently, I found Van-Tage. And it began to drive the poisons from my body and every day I felt better. Now my gassy, sour stomach is relieved. I can go to bed and sleep. My pains are relieved and I just feel like a new woman. I can't say enough for Van-Tage."

Acts On Bowels, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys

VAN-TAGE invigorates bowels, stomach, liver and kidney action. Its 21 Great Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Agents (over 30 Ingredients in all) have a surprising effect on suffering people. Another thing—due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Van-Tage is reasonable. So, don't hesitate. Get it—TODAY—at Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, Lubbock, Texas. Adv.

Flow Of Volunteers, Arms And Ammunition Into War-Torn Republic To Be Halted By New International Move

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 14. (Sunday)—Warships of four nations drew a net about war-torn Spain early today as the international sea patrol for supervising traffic to her ports went into effect at midnight.

Observers here emphasized that although Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy now technically are insuring that no more foreign volunteers or war materials enter Spain, the start of the naval patrol was but the first step in putting the complicated non-intervention machinery into action.

May Take Weeks

They pointed out that closing the last loopholes may be impossible for some weeks as each country yet must pass legislation ordering its ships to comply with the patrol's orders.

Hours before midnight last night there was activity at the French base at Brest as the destroyer Fantasque sailed to take up its police duties along the Spanish coast.

Six torpedo boats raised steam to follow.

Berlin reported a flotilla or armed fishing trawlers was formed to assist the German fleet to play its part in the supervision scheme.

Safe-Cracking Reported Here

Success Causes Yegg To Cry, Not Failure To Break Into Safe; $23.50 Taken; Tear Gas Protects Big Amount

Police Saturday were seeking a red-eyed knob-knocker—a burglar who cried not because he failed to open a safe, but because his "jimmying" was successful.

A tear-gas bomb in the Kuykendall Chevrolet cmpany safe saved several hundred dollars in cash and checks Friday night when knob of the vault was chiseled off.

Only $23.50 Taken

Only $23.50 in cash was taken, said George P. Kuykendall.

The burglar entered the building after Friday night's rain and before 12:30 o'clock Saturday morning, Kuykendall explained. Tear gas fumes were in the building at 12:30 o'clock when a wrecking crew was in the building to place there a demolished truck, but the safe-cracking, in the office, was not discovered until office hours yesterday morning

Tear-gas remained in the offices, and fans were required to remove

The two boys were alone in the Martin home when the accident occurred. They were playing with an accumulation of firearms Martin collected during his tenure of ten years as sheriff of Parmer county, Texas.

Father Of Burns Kittrell Issues Appeal To Missing Son Through Newspapers

Message Is Sent Saturday Through 3 News Services Asking Youth To Return Home

By R. C. HANKINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

"SON, your father is not well and your mother is frail. If you read this why don't you come straight home to your family—or give yourself up to the first peace officer you see—and let's get this all straightened out. If you are in the wrong it would be better to come and admit it. If you did nothing wrong, your friends are here."

Walter E. Kittrell, retired farmer of 912 Avenue N, invoked aid of the press Saturday in an effort to convey that message to his missing son, 25-year-old Burns Kittrell, bookkeeper of Lubbock National bank.

Reflects Family's Attitude

The message was made available to all Texas and Southwestern newspapers, through agency of three news services, and was interpreted as reflecting the law-enforcement attitude of the entire Kittrell family here.

Young Kittrell disappeared Sunday morning. Bank officials Monday morning disclosed $11,000 in currency was missing from a vault of that institution.

Wandering, Apparently Dazed

"The boy (Kittrell fondly refers to Burns that way) is not acting like a felon," the father said. "He apparently is not running or dodging. He was in Amarillo Sunday night, and was seen there next morning. He ate breakfast with an acquaintance there and said he was going to Fort Worth. The trail apparently led to Fort Worth.

"He is wandering, apparently, as though dazed.

"People from all over this section have come to me and expressed their belief the boy did not consciously do wrong and to say they not only sympathize with my family, but maintain their belief in the boy."

Discusses Possibilities

Kittrell did not spare himself. He discussed with a reporter possibilities and clues in the case. Admittedly worried at what his son might do "when he recovers his normal mind," he said neither he nor Mrs. Kittrell, Burns' mother, were well.

"Mrs. Kittrell is maintaining her composure better than I expected, however," he said. "She is frail, though, and this thing has been a blow to her."

"Burns always was a good boy to his family, and considerate," he said. He told of an instance when

Miss Earhart Plans To Take Off On Flight

Low Pressure Area Out Over Pacific Fails To Prevent Woman Flier From Making Plans For Takeoff

(By The Associated Press)

OAKLAND, Calif., March 13—In the face of near storm conditions over the Pacific, Amelia Earhart today declared her intention of starting her world flight tomorrow. She made two test flights and arranged all but final details for the 27,000-mile adventure.

A low pressure area 400 miles out was moving toward the California coast. United States Meteorologist E. H. Bowie said it would cause unfavorable flying conditions between here and Honolulu until Monday noon.

Brisk Headwinds Seen

Bowie said the prospects were for brisk headwinds along 1,500 miles of the course to Honolulu.

The forecast daunted neither Miss Earhart who planned to leave around 5 p. m. (pst) tomorrow nor Pan-American Airways, whose Hawaii Clipper departed for Honolulu with two passengers for this afternoon.

On her first test flight of the day Miss Earhart ventured out the Golden Gate and maneuvered her $80,000 "Flying Laboratory" offshore for a tryout of compass and radio equipment.

Returned After 45 Minutes

She returned after 45 minutes. Shortly thereafter she took off again with her navigator, Captain Harry Manning, her technical advisor, Paul Mantz, and Fred J. Noonan, former Pan-American Airways pilots, on what was described as the final test flight.

The plane carried a near capacity load of fuel on the second flight. Fully fueled, it has a range of 4,000 miles. The distance to Honolulu is 2,400 miles.

Million Or More Will Be Sought Under New Campaign

(By The Associated Press)

THE Committee for Industrial Organization thrust another iron into the blazing labor fire yesterday—aiming at unionization of the million or more workers in the electrical manufacturing and communication fields.

The executive board of the United Electrical and Radio Workers of America, C. I. O. affiliate, prepared to open collective bargaining conferences with the General Electric Co., at New York tomorrow and planned to seek similar parleys with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., and the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. General Electric employes 60,000; Westinghouse 45,000. Looking beyond these "big three," William Mitchell, national representative of the union, asserted:

To Organize Them All

"We are going to organize them all. We have organizers all over the country."

The C. I. O. is pressing concurrent drives in the huge steel and automotive industries; dickering for new contracts for 450,000 soft coal miners; girding for campaigns among the 2,225,000 on the payrolls of the oil and textile firms.

Detroit witnessed a mass scale demonstration by C. I. O. followers. Marching to the blare of a 12-piece band, thousands of members of the United Automobile Workers union formed two endless chains and, moving in opposite directions, gyrated about the Wayne county courthouse. Inside, Judge Allan Campbell deferred until tomorrow decision on the Chrysler Motor company's petition for an injunction to evict strikers holding eight of its plants. The union demands exclusive bargaining rights for 60,000 Chrysler employes.

Simultaneously, some 200 delegates from U. A. W. A. locals considered ratification of an agreement

Ill-Fated Order 102 Years Ago Was Impetus To Independence Of Texas

(By The Associated Press)

GONZALES, March 13. — On an October day 102 years ago, Colonel Domingo de Ugartechea, in command of the Mexican garrison at San Antonio, sent a company of soldiers to Gonzales to take possession of a cannon.

That order was the spark which set off the Texas revolution and brought to Gonzales its undying recognition as the "Lexington of Texas."

The colonists, incensed by what they considered a long series of injustices, attacked and defeated Ugartechea and started the campaign which freed Texas.

To Gonzales tomorrow will come Gov. James V. Allred and other state officials and visitors to dedicate a $10,000 monument to the "First Shot of the Texas Revolution."

They also will visit the location of the proposed Texas "Warm Springs" for crippled children.

The afternoon ceremonies will be held on the Gonzales

Hearings May Be Extended On Court Plan

Administration Leaders Still Doubtful Of Ability To Get Favorable Vote From Senate Judiciary Committee

Argument Lulled

Saturday Is Quiet Day In Row Over President's Proposal; Governors Of Seven States May Give Testimony

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Administration leaders, still doubtful of their ability to get a favorable vote from the senate judiciary committee on the Roosevelt court legislation, hinted today that the hearings might continue for more than a month.

Although some committee members were already showing impatience at what they called repetitious testimony, Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz) said the hearings might be permitted to run until the latter part of April.

Committee Is Divided

Asserting that the division within the 18-man committee is now about 9 to 9, Ashurst said he might by "stymied" in trying to get the bill out to the senate. He expressed the belief that the longer the measure is delayed the better its prospects.

The schedule for next week's hearings was suddenly changed today when opposition leaders notified Ashurst they would not be ready to open with testimony by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) as planned.

Resume Hearings Tuesday

The committee chairman announced the hearings would not be resumed until Tuesday, and that the administration would continue to present favorable testimony throughout next week.

The followng week will be turned over to the opposition, he said.

Three-Year-Old Child Struck By Truck Said Not Critical

Richard Marvin, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marvin of 2317 Fourteenth street, suffered a broken left leg and lacerations of the face when struck by a delivery truck shortly before 6:30 o'clock Saturday night.

The truck, driven by V. C. Vermillion of 1906 Sixteenth street, an employe of a tailoring company at Lubbock, hit the child when he ran into the street from behind a car, the driver said. The truck was going east on Fourteenth street near the home of the child's parents. The boy was playing with neighbor's children.

Marvin is proprietor of a service station at 1219 Main street.

The boy was taken for treatment to West Texas hospital where authorities said his condition was not critical.

Police said Vermillion's statement absolved him of blame.

Texas Solons Will Consider Various Bills

Proposals To Consider Legalized Wagering, New Levies And Old Age Assistance To Engage Attention

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 13.—Interest in the legislature next week probably will concentrate on proposals to abolish legalized wagering on horse racing, levy new taxes and alter the constitutional provision for old age assistance.

Determined efforts unquestionably will be made in the senate to have an early public hearing on several betting repeal measures, possibly before a committee of the whole, although a preliminary move in that direction failed.

A bill passed by the house, a similar one which originated in the senate and another approved by the upper legislative chamber and then re-committed now rest in the committee on criminal jurisprudence, which has not set a hearing date.

To Consider Motions

Speaker Robert W. Calvert has announced he would consider on Monday only motions to take up tax bills in order to expedite action on revenue raising measure and give the senate some idea as to what the house might do in that connection.

The house passed a bill some time ago greatly increasing the levy on oil production while committees have reported favorably others to increase taxes on sulphur, corporation franchises and natural gas.

Reports were that the senate was loath to take positive action on the oil tax bill, hearing on which has been set for next Thursday, until the revenue program of the house was bared. All tax measures must originate in the house.

LOS ANGELES, March 13. (AP)—Some strange form of coma, possibly resulting from self-induced hypnosis, bound Helen Wills Love, 31-year-old brunette, today to her cot in the county jail where she is awaiting sentence of seven years to life imprisonment for second degree murder.

She lapsed into the trance-like condition about 9:30 p. m., Thursday after she told jail matron Vada Sullivan:

Asked today if she would die, Jail Physician Benjamin Blank said: "not a chance."

Since Thursday night, Mrs. Love had taken no nourishment or drink except a few spoons of water.

Florida Anglers And Credulity Are Challenged By Galveston Fishermen

(By The Associated Press)

GALVESTON, March 13. — Fears expressed Friday by a Florida newspaper, the Fort Meyers News-Press, that any tarpon it might provide the Texas coast in anticipation of the visit of President Roosevelt here in April might "streak for home" when released found support in Galveston fishing circles today.

"Texas tarpon are so big and vicious that Florida tarpon wouldn't last five minutes in local waters," said Connie Constable, veteran island angler, whose offer to "plant" some tarpon for the president prompted the Florida statement. "Even Florida tarpon are smart enough to know that. But we're grateful for the Florida offer. We could probably use a few of their tarpon for bait. It would be fun to watch them streak for home when a gang of Texas tarpon takes after them. Our mackerel and red fish could probably take care of the job themselves."

Drouth Fight Being Mapped

Administration Leaders Hope For Creation Of An Agency To Deal With The Plagues Of Drouth Zone

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This final article of a series on the administration's farm program discusses proposals for rehabilitating the drouth area).

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON Mar. 13.—Administration agricultural leaders hope for creation of an agency soon to deal with the plagues of drouth, dust storms and destitution on the great plains.

Officials said today the controversy over President Roosevelt's court measure has crowded the proposal from immediate attention by congress. If congress fails to act, they predicted the president would set up a temporary agency by executive order.

Nature Is Fickle

The great plains are a strip of prairie land stretching from Canada nearly to the Mexican border. Half of the 4,500,000 inhabitants live on farms.

Nature is fickle in the region. There may be no rain for weeks; then may come a cloudburst. The temperature ranges from below zero to above 100 degrees. The steady winds are stronger than anywhere else in the inland United States.

When the weather is just right, wheat farmers make thousands of dollars in a single season. Other years their seed and labor are lost.

The "black blizzards" of dust come from millions of acres where plows have cut loose great swaths of soil and where livestock have cropped off the grass covering.

May Become Desert

The president's great plains committee reported most of the area, covering nearly one fifth of continental United States, may become an "economic desert" unless sweeping changes are made.

To end the confusion of 50 federal agencies operating in the region, the president proposed a federal coordinating agency to direct reclamation.

First, it would determine what land now under the plow should be regrassed, what grassland can be plowed safely, and what grassland should keep its natural cover. The committee said 24,000,000 acres of eroded land should be taken by the government for regrassing, and then used for restricted grazing.

The report said a permanent scientific resettlement program must be developed. It urged construction of reservoirs, small dams and wells.

The ravages of grasshoppers and other pests would be met by a joint federal-state campaign of eradication and control.

WEATHER OUTLOOK

Southern plains and west gulf states: Considerable cloudiness first part of week with rain in coast sections at beginning and in most portions in latter part of week.

Temperatures below normal at beginning and rising thereafter.

Geological Formations Are Studied By Troop Of Girls

EDITOR'S NOTE

This is another in a series of nature studies written by members of Elwood Girl Scout Troop.

In studying the geology of the high plains and the Llano Estacado we find various interesting rocks and soils as well as geological formations.

Caliche, our most prevalent rock formation in this locality, is a soft limestone formed by the evaporation of waters carrying calcium carbonite. These waters rise through pores of the soil by capillary action and upon reaching the surface are evaporated and leave their mineral matter as a precipitate which serves to cement together into soil material The "cap rock" is one of these caliche deposites but many others occur in West Texas. The "cap rock" limestone or caliche is more resistant to force of erosion than the underlying beds, and forms an abrupt, precipitous and nearly horizontal rim.

Palo Duro canyon consists chiefly of white chalky strata of the tertiary. The massive sandstones and clays of the triassic and the red clays of the permian. The water in the main streams, after reaching the red clays of the permian a few mies below the head of the canyon, becomes highly charged with salts, so that it is very unpalatable and at low stage cannot be used.

Bits Of Gossip On Air Waves

With the coming of spring each year, feverish gardening activity begins in the little town of Monticello, Illinois. This year activity is greater than ever because the Party Line radio program is now heard all over America coast to coast.

This year, through The Party Line program, the Busy Bee Garden club offers free flower seeds to "Party Liners" and thousands upon thousands of requests for free flower seeds are coming in from all parts of the country. Hundreds of requests from South Plains listeners have already been received at station KFYO. Eight large, full-sized, packages of selected seeds and three model garden plans in full color are offered to listeners writing in.

Full details are announced on "The Party Line" heard over station KFYO from 10:15 to 10:30 every week day morning.

PROGRAM CHANGED

A time change, effective Monday, March 15, has been announced for the "Morning Devotional Program," over station KFYO. The program formerly heard at 9 o'clock, will be broadcast daily at 10:45 o'clock.

NEW FEATURE STARTED

A new feature that promises to be very popular with radio listeners was inaugurated by the Piggly Wiggly stores in their new program, "The Woman's Hour," heard daily over KFYO at 9 o'clock every morning.

Upon request, the stores will give listeners a "Menu Memorandum Pad," made especially for taking down radio specials.

Under Pauline Gwenn's direction, recipes, menus, and household hints are aired on "The Woman's Hour."

NEW TUNES ADDED

Latest additions to KFYO's Standard Library includes a group of brand new, up to the minute tunes by "The Playboys."

This new novelty unit is a group of four fellows who play more instruments than an ordinary gang of dance musicians, and they sing a mighty fine vocal chorus or two. "The Playboys," they are also known as "Eeny Meeny Meeny Meiny and Mo," and you've probably heard them with the old maestro, Ben Bernie, on his regular once a week transcontinental for the American Can Co.

"The Playboys" are featured in 12 new tunes . . . and all special arrangements.

Oratorio Will Be Broadcast

Third Annual Presentation Of The "Seven Last Words Of Christ" Will Be Offered Over KFYO March 23

The third annual presentation of the "Seven Last Words of Christ," oratorio by the French composer, Theodore Dubois, will be broadcast by the college chorus of Texas Tech, over KFYO, March 23, at 8 o'clock, according to Julien Paul Blitz, head of the department of music at Texas Tech.

The presentation, this year, is being broadcast to enable the people of surrounding towns, as well as those living in Lubbock, to hear the program. The broadcast, made possible through the efforts of Mr. Blitz, will be the first of its kind ever attempted on the South Plains.

Those On Program

During the first presentation in 1935, the soloists were, Mrs. Carl Scoggin, soprano, Miss Marion James, soprano, and Messrs. Hillard Moore, tenor; Clarence Whiteside, tenor, George Dale, baritone, and Gordon Gaines baritone. For 1936 the soloists included, Mrs. Scoggin, soprano, Miss Christia Cowan, soprano, and Messrs. Moore, tenor, Elton Plowman, tenor, R. Q. Dyess, baritone, and Gordon Gaines baritone.

This year, solo parts have been restricted to students of the voice department of Texas Tech. Students in featured roles include, Miss Cowan, soprano, Mr. Plowman, tenor, and Mr. Gaines baritone.

In 1935 at the first annual presentation, there were 65 students enrolled in the chorus for credit, not including visitors. In 1936, the number of students had increased to 99, and this year the chorus will be composed of 153 members, Mr. Blitz, the director, attributes this growth not only to the increased enrollment in the college, but also to the good will and enthusiasm of the deans in recommending the department of music. The chorus will be principally supported by Mrs. Julien Paul Blitz at the piano.

Special broadcast facilities are being constructed in the Presbyterian church, where the program will take place.

Extensive Repairs For Church Voted

Extension repairs of the First Christian church property Friday night were authorized by the church's board of elders and deacons, J. O. Jones, chairman, presided.

It was decided additional pews would be installed in the church auditorium, aisles carpeted and a new roof be built. External and internal painting and refinishing would be done.

Roof of the church annex would be repaired and the exterior painted. Interior and exterior painting of parsonage and servant quarters, and redecoration, were authorized.

Rearrangement of heating plant in the church was planned, and new facilities for heating baptistry water were approved.

Approximately $2,500 will be spent, a substantial amount of which was raised at the board meeting. Improvements will be directed by two committees working jointly, the property and finance groups, K. M. Renner and J. E. Hartley, respectively, are chairmen.

Announcement was made a two-weeks revival will be conducted at the church beginning April 11, by Rev. F. M. Warren, pastor of the First Christian church of Abilene.

Upward Movement Features Nation's Business, Industry During Past Week

Retail Buying Moves Higher

New Recovery For Steel Output, Sporadic Strikes, Higher Raw Material And Retail Prices Also Noted

(By The Associated Press)

A NEW recovery high for steel output, sporadic strikes, higher raw material and retail prices and expanding consumer demand were entered on the nation's business ledger last week.

Although an abrupt drop in motor production owing to strikes put a drag on industry's progress, the Associated Press index of industrial activity advanced to 105.7, highest since November, 1929. A week ago it was 105.1, a year ago 71.6.

Buyers Crowd District

"Throngs of Easter and spring shoppers crowded retail districts throughout the country, sending the volume of trade to higher levels than the previous week an the corresponding period last year," the department of commerce said in its survey of 37 cities.

"Wholesale lines were likewise buoyant."

Steel production rose to 87.3 per cent of capacity, highest since 1929. This rate, estimated by the American Iron & Steel institute compared with 85.8 a week ago and 55.8 in the like week last year.

The spot-light of steel circles was trained on higher wages, estimated to cost the industry an additional $200,000,000 a year; price upturns to meet this bill; and predictions of leaders in the industry output would hold ground gained.

Lubbock Students Winners At Spur

Five first places went to Lubbock High school contestants in an invitation speech tournament at Spur Saturday.

Both boys' and girls' senior debate teams won first in the meet. W. C. Estes jr. placed first in boys' extemporaneous speaking and Clyde Bonnette won the senior boys' declamation contests. The debate teams are composed of J. W. Gamble, Wilson Dickson, Shirley Bass and Evelyn Patty.

Other Lubbock entrants in the Spur meet were; John D. Smith, who won second in senior boys' declamations; Marain Turner, third place winner in girls' extemporaneous speaking; and Grace Ann Fletcher and Evelyn Keller, girl declaimers.

Last week-end the debate teams won five of seven contests in a similar tournament at Abilene. Approximately nine teams entered the Saturday meet, said J. W. Reid, Lubbock High school teacher.

composing strike differences with the General Motors corporation. The pact did not include the 30-hour week and national minimum hourly wage clauses requested by the union but did provide seniority rights and machinery for settlement of grievances designed to prevent future walkouts.

While Michigan strikes kept nearly 70,000 idle in Chrysler, Hudson and Reo automobile plants and left other thousands on the jobless sidelines in other industries, Gov. Frank Murphy took a long stride in the direction of peace.

Meeting Is Called

He called representatives of the general public, employers and employes to a meeting next Wednesday to envolve a program for dealing with pending or threatened labor controversies.

Indications of an early understanding on wages and hours between miners and Appalachian area operators were manifest at New York.

At Pittsburgh, Lewis lieutenants gathered to complete details of their first agreement with "big steel."

The United Electrical and Radio workers union rejected the Westinghouse company's offer of a 58-cent-minimum wage and threatened a strike at the east Pittsburgh works, employing 8,000.

Chicago Has 18 Strikes

Illinois counted approximately 10,500 jobless in labor disputes. In Chicago, 18 strikes were in progress, including the eight-day walkout of cab drivers.

Police armed with sub-machine guns guarded the strike-bound Furniture Manufacturing Co., at Memphis, Tenn. Two hundred and fifty girl strikers danced in the Standard Cigar Co. factory at Pittsburgh. A "sit down" de luxe found 30 lounging in beach chairs at the Roberts Dress shop in Baltimore. Forty blind strikers solicited funds with tin cups on Pittsburgh's streets. Garbage and ash wagon drivers were out in Philadelphia. "Sit downers" closed a five and ten store in New York and another in Brooklyn and moved to extend the movement to nearly a score of others.

Strikes ended at the Michigan Malleable Iron Co., Detroit and the Perennial Dye and Print Works, West Warwick, R. I. Printers returned to their duties at the Miami, Fla., Daily News.

Notre Dame Athletes Retain Indoor Track Championships

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 13. (AP)—Accompanied by flurried selling, wheat slid downhill today, suffering a maximum drop of 2¼ cents a bushel.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅞ to 1⅜ cents lower compared with yesterday's finish, May $1.34¼@1.34⅜, July $1.17⅜@1.18, Sept. 1.15⅞@1.16, corn ⅛ to 1⅜ up, May $1.08⅜@1.08½, July $1.04⅜@1.04½, Sept. 98¾, oats ⅛ to ¾ off, May 46⅜@46¾, and rye ⅛ to ¾ down, May $1.07⅛. The outcome in provisions was unchanged to 12 cents dearer.

In striking contrast with wheat, the corn showed an upward price tendency. Receipts of corn in Chicago were smaller, 76 cars today, and for the week shipments exceeded arrivals. Oats and rye took their cue from wheat rather than for corn.

Provisions sympathized with corn market action.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—Stocks had few friends in today's market and, after a rather lively opening leading issues drifted downward on comparatively light volume.

While news stimulation apparently was lacking, brokers found little in overnight developments to disturb buying sentiment unduly.

Trading forces seemingly were still a bit subdued because of the recent suggestion the administration at Washington be concerned over mounting prices of raw materials and the thought steps might be taken to prevent any drastic inflationary boom in either staples or stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 2 of a point at 73.9. Transfers totalled 1,129,070 shares compared with last Saturday's exceptional turnover of 1,767,100.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 13. (AP)—Helped by favorable trade news, cotton ended the week on the upgrade today with prices showing net gains of 1 to 7 points.

The price range was the narrowest of the week, never exceeding 50 cents a bale.

Reports of a huge business in cotton cloths, an increase in sales of loan cotton and a very favorable consumption report for February were received during the day.

There was the customary week-end liquidation and realizing sales by longs who did not wish to hold cotton until Monday, but selling of this nature was readily taken by the ring crowd and trade interests.

At the end of dealings March was quoted at 14.20 bid, May at 13.87, July at 13.65 and Dec. at 13.17. Spots were up 7 points with middling at 14.27 at New Orleans.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP) — Large February domestic consumption figures brought in a steady trade demand for cotton today.

May sold up from 13.87@13.96 and closed at 13.94. Final prices were 6 to 8 points net higher.

In partial response to steadier Liverpool cables, the market opened unchanged to 6 points higher. February consumption in the United States of 664,439 bales was somewhat above expectations and was believed to represent a new high total for the month. The figure compared with 678,064 bales consumed in January and 515,977 in February last year. Trade price-fixing in old crop positions and a scattering demand easily absorbed week-end liquidation. Offerings otherwise were limited and the undertone held steady throughout the session.

AVERAGE PRICE

FARMER ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Gonzales was first to receive news of the fall of the Alamo, following which the settlers here burned their homes and joined the forces of Gen. Sam Houston.

Son Of Archduke Is Ordered To Pay An Illegitimate Son

VIENNA, March 13. (AP)—Archduke Maximilian von Hohenberg, son of the assassinated Franz Ferdinand, was ordered by a court today to pay 320 schillings (about $50) a month to Franz Ferdinand Hahn, who says he is an illegitimate son of the slain archduke.

Franz Ferdinand's assassination at Sarajevo on June 28, 1914, was the spark which set off the World war.

Hahn, who lived for a number of years in the United States, had asked the court for 1,000 schillings a month. He is entirely lame.

Cotton Swindle Charge Revived

One Indicted For Forgery; One Recently Charged With Passing; Three Men Bound Over To Await Action

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

OLTON, March 13.—A 64th district grand jury that reported eight felony and two misdemeanor indictments redirected attention to one of the greatest swindles ever perpetrated in this section of West Texas.

B. H. Arnold, taken into custody at Fort Worth by Ranger A. L. Barr and now held in the Littlefield jail, was indicted for forgery of one cotton warehouse receipt dated Dec. 11, 1935, said District Attorney Charles Dean of Plainview.

Earlier, Luke Tipton of Bailey county had been indicted in two cases of passing forged receipts to Bill Pass of Littlefield. Date alleged was Dec. 31 1935. His case was called in the January term of court here, Judge A. S. Moss of the 100th judicial district exchanging cases with Judge C. D. Russell of Plainview, but the case was passed for the term.

Three Bound Over

No indictments were voted against R. N. McCallon, W. H. Newton and one other man who had been charged by complaint with passing of forged instruments in connection with the case, but the body recommended the three bound over to await action of the next term's grand jury. Their bonds will remain intact.

The bills reflect the March, 1935, burglary at Littlefield of Union Compress and Warehouse company of approximately 330 receipts. Arson had been attempted.

Approximately 71 forged receipts showed up in about 10 days of December, after a dormant period in which no disclosures had been made toward disposition. Forty receipts were passed to Pass Cotton company Dec. 31, involving a sum of approximately $1,766. The other series of 11 and 20 receipts were passed to separate firms.

Certificates Said Forged

At the time, it was necessary that Bankhead certificates should accompany the receipts when conveying title to cotton. Authorities indicated those certificates used in transactions had been forged.

Barr's investigations in connection with the swindle was praised highly.

District Attorney Dean said none of the bills voted were for capital offenses.

The five-weeks term was concluded today.

nounced, it was said that James M. Landis, chairman of the Securities commission, would be the next administration witness. But this arrangement was cancelled later and Ashurst said he did not know who would go on.

To Put On Governors

The committee chairman said that the administration probably would put on seven state governors to testify for the Roosevelt proposal, which calls for the appointment of one new federal judge for each jurist over 70 who declines to retire.

While Ashurst was not ready to announce the governors' names, other legislators indicated the list would include:

Governors Olin D. Johnston, of South Carolina; George H. Earle, of Pennsylvania; Leslie Jensen, of South Dakota; and Henry Horner, of Illinois. It was said that Governors Frank Murphy, of Michigan; Philip F. La Follette, of Wisconsin; and A. B. Chandler, of Kentucky, might round out the list of seven.

First Lull Occurs

With the hearings in recess over the week-end, today brought the first real lull in a nation-wide debate that has lasted for more than a month. No major speeches were scheduled for tonight.

But both sides intend to continue their intensive campaigns for public support. A radio speech by Senator Glass (D-Va) against the bill is scheduled for March 29.

An announcement of this speech said it would be the second major address ever made by the Virginia senator over the radio. The first was during the 1932 campaign when Glass, supporting Mr. Roosevelt for president, replied to an attack by Ogden Mills, then secretary of the treasury.

Pittman Has Suggestion

The only new move today from Senator Pittman (D-Nev), one of the committee members committed to the Roosevelt bill. He suggested that the legislation be changed to make addition of six new members to the Supreme court mandatory instead of conditional.

The president proposed that the court be increased only if those justices over 70 years of age do not retire. Pittman said he would offer an amendment to provide for the increase regardless of retirements.

If this should be approved, he said, he would offer a constitutional amendment to prevent a further increase in the court's size.

Operation Of Two Highway Projects Of This District Showing Progress

Operation of two highway improvement and beautification NYA projects in Hall and Lubbock counties since August, 1936, is showing rapid progress, according to reports prepared yesterday at the District National Youth administration office.

Planting, trimming and cultivating shrubs and trees have been completed on 45 miles of the state highway right-of-way in Lubbock county. NYA laborers also constructed and cleaned 9 miles of drainage ditches. Four miles of slopes have been sodded and widening of side road approaches on 395 cubic yards has been finished. Graveling mail box turnouts and shoulders on 666 cubic yards has been accomplished by the youths.

Covers 36 Miles

In Hall county the cleaning and draining ditches unit of the improvement project covers 36 miles. Trees and shrubs have been planted, trimmed and cultivated on 13 miles of highway right-of-way. Other accomplishments of laborers in that county are: graveling and widening side road approaches, 136 cubic yards; graveling mail box turnouts and shoulders, 40 cubic yards; and flattening slopes and filling ditches, 14 miles.

Projects in both counties are sponsored by the Texas Highway department and all work is done on highway right-of-ways.

An average of 20 boys are working in Hall county and 30 in Lubbock county. Youths work only part time and the next shift in Lubbock county will start April 8, said Jim Bray, Lubbock county highway foreman.

Bray also expressed the opinion the boys were doing "good work" and said they compared favorably with laborers not associated with government agencies.

D. R. Doshier, highway section foreman of Hall county said he was "very well pleased." He has three boys under his supervison whom he intends to take off NYA rolls and put on regular employment as soon as there are vacancies, he indicated. In Hall county National Youth administration boys have been given extra work by the highway department when they were needed, Doshier said.

Rain, Sleet And Snow Sweep Across New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 13. (AP)—Rain, sleet and snow swept across northern New Mexico tonight, bringing much-needed moisture to the dust bowl area of the southwest.

The storm, a continuation of one which spread over the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles, southern Colorado and southwestern Kansas, probably will continue Sunday, the U. S. Weather bureau here said.

Temperatures Drop

General light rains from Albuquerque north ushered in the welcome precipitation, but temperatures dropped rapidly and soon snow and sleet were falling at many points.

Eastbound airplane travel was halted at Albuquerque and southbound planes were grounded at Pueblo, Colo.

Snow fell on the parched east side from Clayton to south of Tucumcari, brightening crop prospects greatly and giving rise to a belief the dust problem this spring may be minimized.

Father's Message

his son went to a football game at Tech field and, because he had accepted an alcoholic drink or two more than he was accustomed to taking, asked a friend to invite him to the friend's residence for the night.

"Next morning he came home and explained to us all about it," said the father. "He said he was ashamed, but had not wanted to come home smelling of liquor."

"Just Can't Understand"

The father said Burns probably had not spent more than six nights away from home in his life.

"I just can't understand," he said. "The principal thing I want is for the boy to give himself up and hurry home. If there's anything he's done he should explain it as soon as possible. If there was foul play —well, that would come out too. The immediate necessity is to find him. The family would be grateful to anyone who could assist in his location."

His statement to the press was authorized in the presence of Police Chief H. L. Johnston.

USS Louisville Saves Eight From Mid Pacific Disaster

HONOLULU, March 13. (AP)—A burning freighter and a fast moving man-o'-war furnished the mid-Pacific with a maritime drama today when the cruiser Louisville ran more than 350 miles in less than 12 hours and rescued eight passengers adrift in lifeboats from the British ship Silverlarch.

The Louisville took aboard four women and four men passengers while the Silverlarch's crew of 40 battled on against the flames in her hold and decided to risk getting their ship to Honolulu, 400 miles away.

Transfer of the passengers was completed within half an hour of the Louisville's arrival at the scene at 1:46 p. m. (pst).

The passengers had been adrift less than three hours.

The insurgents launched a fierce onslaught against government positions in the valley below Madrid with combined cavalry and artillery forces, despite drenching rains which turned the battlefield into a mire.

Government commanders said they believed the renewed activities in the Jarama sector were intended to determine if Madrid's defenses were weakened by the withdrawal of seasoned troops to bolster defensive positions in Guadalajara province, to the northeast.

Eisenhut said the covers probably will be broken up and sold to some small town junk dealer.

Judge Denies Two Petitions

Applications For Injunctions Against Liquor Control Body Are Denied; Appeal Notices Are To Be Entered

Judge Daniel A. Blair of 72nd district court Saturday night dissolved Pope Pool's order restraining the Texas Liquor Control board from interfering with Pool's permit to dispense liquor for medicinal purposes; decided for the board, and ordered Pool's permit cancelled.

He also ordered cancellation of the permit of Oran Wilson, another druggist. Notice of appeal in both cases was given. The law apparently is not specific as to whether there is any appeal from that court, counsel in hearings conducted Friday and Saturday had said.

Other Cases Not To Be Tried

Two pending cases, applicants being F. E. Carter and Oran Wilson, jointly, and Lawrence H. Redwine, will not be tried, Fred Harris of Austin, counsel, announced.

Former Judge Clark M. Mullican represented Pool, whose temporary relief had been granted March 6, by Judge C. D. Russell of Plainview, and Harris, a legislator, represented Wilson.

M. C. Martin, assistant attorney-general, conducted the defense for the liquor board.

Income Taxes

to save interest on their money, many individuals with high incomes, also wait until March 15 for the same reason.

If the usual trend is maintained, most lower-bracket income taxes will be paid in full by the Monday deadline, while many upperbracket individuals and corporations will take advantages of the government's "installment plan." This permits them to remit in four quarterly payments.

In recent years, about 73 per cent of taxpayers with incomes or less than $5,000 have paid in full by March 15, while only 58 per cent of those with incomes in excess of $5,000 have paid in one lump sum.

Grocery Slips To Be Studied In Unique Research On Families' Health Status

(By The Associated Press)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 13.—The weekly grocery slips of 100 families are being used at Pennsylvania State college to compile the first "who's who" of groceries.

The study will rate grocries by their health effects, and is intended to find out whether the present method of selecting food more or less "by ear" is reliable.

Expects To Find Clue

Pauline Beery Mach, professor of chemistry and director of home economic research, is not studying for sick people. She is trying to do something for those who consider themselves "well." The grocery slips, she believes, will represent some clue as to why some persons feel better than others.

Some children grow better than others—and the grocery slips may have the answer to this.

The 100 families are representative. Their incomes range from $15,000 a year to government relief, and their status covers farm, industry and professions.

Domestic Consumption Of Cotton At New High

Consumption Thus Far Larger By Near Million Bales Than Last Season; Exports Show Slight Decrease

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 13. — The census bureau reported today that domestic consumption of 664,439 bales of lint cotton in February had established a new high for the month. The previous peak was 595,000 bales in February, 1929.

December and January also sent new consumption records and the bureau said cotton consumed the first seven months of this season was nearly a million bales ahead of last season. The seven-month domestic total was 4,512,634 bales compared with 3,530,358 bales last season.

Exports Show Decline

Part of this increased domestic consumption was offset by smaller sales of American cotton abroad. The bureau reported exports of 3,897,599 bales this season compared with 4,409,619 bales last season, a decline of 512,020 bales.

The commerce department said February exports were valued at $31,719,000, compared with $36,581,000 in January and $25,920,000 in February last year.

Cotton spindles active during February numbered 24,536,254 compared with 24,364,802 in January this year, and 23,347,850 February last year.

Federal Aid Will Be Problem For 10 Years–LaGuardia

PHILADELPHIA, March 13. (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, of New York, told a regional conference of 30 mayors today that the nation faces a problem of federal aid for ten years to come.

LaGuardia, president of the U. S. Conference of Mayors, said "we must seek uniformity of administration in the various states and cities.

"Industry and business are improving. We are not far away from normal but with improved methods of production we cannot possibly absorb all the men available in industry and agriculture.

"One heartening ray of hope is the recently established social security program. This will take care of a part of the load but it will still leave us to solve the problem of the unemployed. I don't know what would have become of this country without federal aid."

Study Of Netherlands Being Staged By Local Children

Kites and spring flowers will not be accomplices of spring fever to lure children in Mrs. D. Jarrett's room at Guadalupe school from the classroom. These children have just begun a study of the Netherlands which involve a study of types of kites and beautiful flowers as well as the geography of Holland and the picturesque costumes of the people.

Margaret Ann Garlin daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Garlin, assisted in thrilling the Guadaupe children in their new study when she visited their school Wednesday afternoon, clad in a complete costume of the Netherlands. Margaret Ann's costume was fashioned after that of her doll, brought to her recently from Holland. Her wooden are also of Holland.

A Dutch corner is already started in Mrs. Jarrett's room, with wind mills and fields of tulips fashioned by the students. Scenes on the board are also of Holand.

Mrs. Jarrett's pupils decided they wished to base their study on this subject when they became interested in the wooden shoes worn by Dutch children during a study of footwear of the nations. The study of footwear was an outgrowth of a study of various modes of transportation.

New Paper Is Filed By State

Attorney General McCraw Has Inheritance Schedule Indicating Taxes Could Exceed Total Value Of Green Estate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Texas filed a proposed inheritance schedule in the Supreme court Friday indicating that possible levies against the $42,348,500 estate of Colonel Edward H. R. Green by federal and state governments could exceed the estate's value by $2,069,089.

Attorney General William McCraw of the Lone Star state submitted an amended motion to have the Supreme court determine Green's docicile at the time of his death last June. The Texas request may be acted upon Monday.

Original Motion Denied

The high court denied the state's original motion this week on the ground it failed to show that Texas would have to go outside the state to obtain the taxes it claims. Florida, Massachusetts and New York also claim Green, son of the wealthy Hetty Green, as a legal resident.

The new petition by Texas indicated that while Green's tangible property in Texas was valued at only $6,000 the state's share of inheritance taxes would be $5,326,544.

The taxation summary showed the net estate, before taxes, totalled $42,348,500. Federal taxes would be $20,812,905; New York state tax $7,132,989; Florida tax $5,335,985; Massachusetts tax $5,809,155.

Should all the claiming states prove Green to be a resident, the estate would fall short of the total taxes by $2,069,089.

Higher Wages Spur Workers

Chicago Stockyards Humming To Tune Of Economic Recovery; But New Problems Are Being Presented

CHICAGO, March 13 (AP)—Chicago's stockyards hummed the tune of economic recovery today while grappling with new problems born of a period of adversity.

High wages and livestock prices brightened the picture in the bustling yards.

Pay Highest Wages

Packers are paying the highest wages in history to more than 120,000 employes throughout the country, the result of a 7 per cent wage increase last October and 9 cents an hour boost this week.

In the checkerboard of pens which are meat animals' first and almost last stop in Chicago, buyers are offering $10 per hundredweight for hogs, $15 for steers and $12 for lambs, in contrast to corresponding prices of $7 and $6 which prevailed in 1932.

Although out of depression, with sales running once more around three billion dollars annually compared with less than two billion in 1932 and 1933, and ledgers again blackened with profits compared with net losses in 1931 and 1932, the packing industry is in a period of adjustment to new conditions.

Task Complicated

The old task, packers said, of paying farmers for livestock and delivering meat to housewives under satisfactory conditions to both has been complicated.

The trend toward decentralization is a fundamental change. Packers, in effect, have gone even closer to the supply of meat. One large concern, for example, now has 26 domestic slaughtering plants through the country compared with 18 two years ago.

Abnormally light supplies of hogs in the last two years have presented another problem.

Van Baumann Exploring Party To Aid In Search For Redfern, Missing Flier

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Van Baumann left today on the Grace liner Santa Barbara for a six months exploration in Ecuador, announcing they would aid in the search for Paul Redfern, the American aviator who was lost in the Brazilian jungle in 1927.

Van Beaumann—who, before his marriage three months ago, once said he would never take a woman on an exploration—said he conferred yesterday with Theodore Waldeck and agreed to give Waldeck what aid he could while in the jungle east of the Andes mountains.

Waldeck will leave for Rio de Janeiro within a few weeks, entering the Brazilian jungle from the east.

Mrs. Van Baumann—the former Helen E. Smith, of Munday, Texas,—prominent society girl in the Southwest—said she realized "my presence will increase the danger on the exploration trip. I'm not foolhardy enough not to realize that."

When asked why he had changed his mind about taking a woman on such a trip, Van Baumann said:

"Well I wasn't in love then. Anyway I still think anyone who does it is nuts."

County Agent Returns From Trip To Old Mexico; Visited Former Lubbock Man; Experiences Are Being Related

Records Clear Him

Bernhoff Biddenkapp, Galveston sailor shown above, has been released from charges of armed robbery of a Galveston union. Arrested at Lubbock and taken to the seacoast town, he protested Salvation Army records here would show he was in Lubbock Feb. 12, when he had been charged with holding up seven men and taking $500. Capt. John G. Churchill, commander of the Army corps here, exhibited customers invoices showing the man was here. Biddenkapp had been identified as the bandit by fingerprints and photographs.

Back from a trip to Old Mexico, the land where natives would rather "put off until tomorrow what they do not want to do today," County Agent C. C. Jobson arrived early Saturday after traveling about 4,000 miles by car, train, airplane and burro.

While about 400 miles west of Mexico City, he visited Charles A. King, jr., former assistant county agent here, and his father and brother. The three white men are working on a mining claim that is almost within sight of the Pacific ocean.

Tumlinson On Trip

O. G. Tumlinson, district county agent leader, made the trip with Mr. Jobson, leaving him Friday at Austin and going on to College Station.

"We were in camp only about two days and a half," Mr. Jobson said in discussing events on the trip. "We had to lay over five days. One day, we were taken by a man out to his place, with the assurance he would start us out early the next morning. Instead, we did not leave until late in the afternoon. They would rather put off something until tomorrow than do it today."

Most of the trip from Laredo to Mexico City was on a paved road, although there was some construction work going on. The roads were all passable, even when detours around concrete culverts being built were made. West of Mexico City there was even more road work, he added.

Install Stamp Mill

The Kings are installing a stamp mill and will crush ore for gold. They have the mill building well under way, with a series of troughs to carry water from a dam down to the mill. The dam will give a good supply of water.

"Progress is slow," Mr. Jobson said. "They are employing an average of six Mexicans all the time. The Indians do not seem to want to work much; when they get a few pesos ahead, they lay off and there is nothing done until they have to get more money to live on."

Travel time is generally considered in hours instead of miles. Asked the distance to a given point, one is told, "half a day's journey" or how long it actually takes, mostly by burro. Off the main highways there are not many good roads, although states are doing some building, as well as the national government.

Thousands Dead In Drouth Area

CHUNGKING, Szechuen Province, China, March 13 (AP)—An unprecedented drouth reducing two thirds of the inhabitants of Szechuen province to the verge of starvation, has killed 3,000 persons since Jan. 1, it was estimated today.

As in Honan province, where widespread death and suffering have been reported, thousands were believed to have died of hunger and cold in the last sixty days, despite the relief efforts of American and Canadian missionaries.

Parts of the afflicted areas have been without rain for seven months, reducing "China's Garden of Eden" to hard, grassless clay.

One local flour mill announced free distribution of bran flour to the poor, and five were trampled to death in the huge crowds that responded.

Basketball's "World Series" Begins Today At Denver; Slaton Team To Play

Oilers Combat Denver Outfit In First Game

National A. A. U. Cage Tourney To See New Champion Assume U. S. Basketball Tilte; 46 Teams To Compete

By LOUDON KELLY

DENVER, March 13. (AP)—Basketball's biggest show is ready for its opening cue.

Forty-six teams from 23 states will battle in the 30th annual National A. A. U. tournament, opening at 2 p. m., tomorrow in the Denver auditorium. One defeat means elimination.

Eight games are scheduled for tomorrow's opening program.

From Monday through Wednesday tournament games will begin in the morning about the time the average businessman is shaving for his office day and continue until close to midnight.

Eight Teams Seeded

These games will clear the way for the meet's "bargain night" Thursday night when the eight teams still left in the running will tangle in the quarter finals.

Eight teams are seeded, two of them college outfits—Long Island university and the Central Missouri Teachers, winners of a college tournament at Kansas City this week.

The seeded independent clubs include the four outstanding favorites, the Bartlesville Oilers, Hollywood Stars, Denver Safeways and Kansas City Trails, as well as the Colorado Springs Antlers and Oakland, Calif., Golden State.

Slaton Plays At 9

The national championship is vacant, as the McPherson Refiners, 1936 winners, did not enter.

Tomorrow's round will present such reportedly strong teams as the Amsterdam, N. Y., Mohawks, South Bend, Ind., Brakes, Slaton Texas Oilers, Southern Oregon Normal and West Texas Teachers, billed as the tallest college team in the nation.

Opening day games include: (Times are mountain standard).

5 p. m. Adams State Teachers, Alamosa, Colo., vs. West Texas Teachers, Canyon, Tex.

9 p. m. Slaton Oilers, Slaton, Tex., vs. New York Furniture of Denver.

Browns Play Minneapolis In First Exhibition Go Today

SAN ANTONIO, March 13. (AP)—A rookie and a second-year man are slated to divide pitching duties as the St. Louis Browns go against the Minneapolis Millers of the American Association in their opening spring training game at New Braunfels tomorrow.

Julio Bonetta of Des Moines and Slim Kimberlin, who was with the Browns last season, both right handers, will do the hurling, Manager Rogers Hornsby said tonight. They will be backed up by Jim Bottomley at first, Gerry Lipscomb at second, Bill Knickerbocker at short stop and Hornsby at third, with Joe Vosmik in left field, Mel Mazzera in center and Ethan Allen in right. Benny Huffman will be the starting catcher.

Earl Averill And Indians Come To Salary Agreement

CLEVELAND, March 13. (AP)—Earl Averill, the Cleveland Indians clouting outfielder, and President Alva Bradley announced today they had reached an agreement on Averill's 1937 contract.

Terms of the agreement were not announced but it was believed Averill was given his choice of a $16,000 salary or a $15,000 contract with a $2,000 bonus.

Picard And Revolta Take International 'Four-Ball' Title Third Year In Row

Champions Beat Lawson Little And Manero 4 And 3 In Play-Off At Miami Course

MIAMI, Fla., March 13. (AP)—Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta won the international four-ball golf tournament today for the third consecutive year by defeating Lawson Little and Tony Manero 4 and 3 in an 18-hole playoff.

Picard closed out the match in spectacular fashion with a birdie two on the green where both Manero and Little took bogey fours. The candy kid from Hershey, Pa., sent his tee shot dead on the pin all the way, and the ball stopped a scant two feet short of the cup.

After the two-time winners had rounded the turn with a three hole advantage Revolta put them further in front with a birdie three on the twelfth. Little delayed defeat by winning the fourteenth by sinking a six footer for a birdie three but Picard's final shot was too much for the challengers.

Revolta and Picard each collected $1,000 of the $4,000 prize money, with the runners-up earning $500 each. The four finalists also shared in the gallery receipts. About 2,500 persons saw the play-off.

Hornsby Isn't Having Some Of Either But He'd Pay Gehrig, Let Dizzy Work On Farm; No Pitcher Worth 50 Grand

SAN ANTONIO, March 13. (AP)—Rogers Hornsby isn't the man with the checkbook in either case but, if he were, Lou Gehrig would get $50,000 a year and Dizzy Dean would not.

"No pitcher is worth $50,000 to my way of thinking," the St. Louis Browns' manager bluntly explained today in discussing the salary demand of Dean, the St. Louis Cardinals' obdurate ace.

As for the holdout first-baseman of the New York Yankees, Hornsby declared, "if there's one guy in baseball that is entitled to such a salary, it's Gehrig."

Hornsby himself during his days as one of the leading batsmen in the National League, made $40,000 and more a year with the Cardinals, the New York Giants, the Boston Braves and the Chicago Cubs. He now gets $18,000 a year as the Browns' manager.

The Rajah took his stand against Dizzy's "fifty grand" demand "because Dean figures in fewer than one-fourth of the games and for three-fourths of the season somebody else must be out there on the hill winning games before the club can cop the flag."

Houston YMCA Wins Texas Volleyball Title Tourney

HOUSTON, March 13. (AP)—The state championship Y.M.C.A. volley ball tournament scheduled here today proved short and snappy.

Only two teams competed and the Houston Y trimmed the San Antonio Y in three straight games to annex the Texas title for the fifth consecutive year. The scores were 15-3, 15-13, and 15-9.

RUDY YORK STARS

LAKELAND, Fla., March 13. (AP)—Rudy York, hard-hitting recruit infielder, drove in three runs today enabling Manager Mickey Cochrane's team to beat Cy Perkins' team 4 to 2 in an intra-club game at the Detroit Tiger training camp.

Moran Tangles With Yaqui Joe

Wicked Sailor From Arkansas Comes Back; So Does Fair Haired George Bennett, To Meet Nick Bozinis

Sailor Moran, the punching, choking redhead from Arkansas, moves back into the Auditorium arena Wednesday night and does main event battle with Yaqui Joe, the leg-man from Mexico.

It's a case of one sailor moving out and another coming in, as Sailor Tex Watkins has pulled out after an all-victorious session during the past six weeks at the Auditorium. Moran, who couldn't top the other sailor in a wild main go here but who has beaten nearly everybody else with his wicked punch to the heart region, rules a slight favorite to take the nifty Indian, but if the old man of the Sonora mountains can get his drop toe-hold working, it may mean sad business for the Arkansas hillbilly.

One of Lubbock's favorite grapplers returns to the local ring this week. George Bennett, the Oklahoma speedster with the curly locks, meets Nick Bozinis, cruel Greek from New York, in the semi-final.

Rod Fenton, beaten by Watkins in the main go last week, is relegated to the curtain raiser Wednesday night. He meets Ace Freeman, the new handy man from New York state who defeated the other newcomer, Larry Schaff, in the prelim last week. Freeman showed a lot of stuff in his debut, and pinned Schaff in convincing style.

Petrali Rides Motorcycle To World Record

Milwaukee Champion Reaches 136 Miles Per Hour; Sets Two Straightaway Records On Daytona Beach Track

(By The Associated Press)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 13.—Joe Petrali, Milwaukee motorcycle racing champion, streaked over the smooth beach here today at the highest speed ever attained by man on two wheels—136.18 an hour.

Two world straightaway records fell beneath his assault, made on the long strip of packed white sand where Sir Malcolm Campbell once wrote automobile racing history.

Petrali rode a large streamlined motorcycle with a piston displacement of 61 cubic inches both ways over the measured mile for the 136.18 mile average.

On Smaller Motor

The best previous mark for these—the largest motorcycles—was 132 miles an hour set here by John Seymour in 1926.

The cool-headed rider then straddled a smaller mount, with a 45 cubic displacement, and roared over the course at 102.04 miles an hour. Jesse James held the former record—101 miles an hour made here in 1935.

Assured he had bettered both marks, Petrali abandoned plans for another run tomorrow afternoon.

Julio Chiaramonte Goes On Winning Fights On Pacfic Coast: Cops College Crown

ROSWELL, N. M., March 13.—Julio Chiaramonte of Gallup, N. M., former ace boxer at New Mexico Military Institute, recently won the inter-collegiate boxing championship of the Pacific Coast in the 165-pound class. He is a student at Santa Clara and played center on the powerful Santa Clara football squad last fall.

Chiaramonte was one of the most outstanding athletes who ever attended N. M. M. I. He was conceded to be the leading college boxer of the Southwest and he never lost a match during his several years as a cadet until he was defeated in the semi-final Olympic trials last year at Chicago after winning the championship of his class in the sectional trials at New Orleans. He was captain of both the football and boxing teams in his last year as a cadet, 1935-36.

Another Colored Champ Seen As Armstrong KO's Belloise

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—Even if New York's State athletic commission still refuses to see the light, clouting Henry Armstrong appeared capable today of bossing the featherweight division with or without recognition.

The negro walloper from California whipped the New York commission's 126-pound champion, Mike Belloise, last fall over the ten-round route, but was refused recognition here. By way of removing all doubt, he flattened Belloise in four rounds at Madison Square Garden last night.

Bill Terry To Cut Himself From Active Duty, May 15

HAVANA, March 13. (AP)—Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants is retiring from player duty again.

After making several threatening gestures last year toward benching himself permanently, and then appearing on the active player list this spring, Bill announced today he will hang up his first baseman's mitt for good on May 15, the date on which all major league player rosters must be down to 23 names.

'Old Man Of The Maples' Returns For More AAU Play; Hyatt's Club Favored

DENVER, March 13. (AP)—If it is true any sport is as colorful as its heroes, the 30th National A. A. U. basketball tournament here March 14-20 should offer many kaleidoscopic spectacles.

Athletes whose names shine as brightly up in the hardwood world as those of Lou Gehrig and Lefty Grove in baseball and Dutch Clark and Bronko Nagurski in pro football will cavort in the rarefied air of Denver's mile-high city auditorium.

"Chipper Charley" Hyatt, once a flash at the University of Pittsburgh, will return to the national championship wars at the head of the Bartlesville, Okla., team which has captured the Missouri Valley A. A. U. title this season.

Hyatt is no old-timer as years go, but already they're calling him "the old man of basketball." He's been competing with first class independent teams for a long string of seasons, now, but he looks as good as ever.

At least four of the athletes who represented the United States in the Olympic basketball contests appear certain to play in this year's tourney—all in new regimentals.

Joe Fortenberry, the skyscraping center, is with Bartlesville. Francis Johnson and Willard Schmidt are with Colorado Springs. Bill Wheatley, stellar guard, wears the colors of a Denver insurance club.

All four played last season with the McPherson, Kas., Refiners, who captured the national championship after winning the Missouri valley league title.

Perhaps an unknown will flash to the front, just as Omar (Bud) Browning did in 1935. Browning, Oklahoma university star, was named to the all-America team that year and repeated in '36.

Other all-Americas last year were Carl Knowles, then with Universal Pictures; Fortenberry, Wheatey and Jay Wallenstrom, now with Bartlesville. All are to compete in the 1937 tournament.

'CHIPPER CHARLEY'

Jo Jo Passante Wins From Wallace In Ft. Worth Tilt; Joe Elder, Son Smyer Win

FORT WORTH, March 13. (AP)—Jo Jo Passante, flashy Houston lightweight, scored a technical knockout over Frankie Wallace of New Orleans in the main event of a boxing card here last night. The end came in the ninth round. Wallace was floored eight times. Passante weighed 131 1-2, Wallace 131.

Other results:

Earl Crowe, 162, Austin, outpointed Billy Parks, 158, Fort Worth (6).

Joe Elder 140, Fort Worth, stopped Peachy Bertilino, 137, Galveston (technical knockout).

Sonny Smyer, Lubbock, and Bob Kirkland, 146, Waco, drew (6).

Lee Stanfield 165 Fort Worth, and Red Crisp, Ponca City Okla., 162, drew (4).

HOGANS BEAT CHAPMANS

ORLANDA, Fla., March 13. (AP)—A six inning regulation game today between two teams from the Washington Senators' squad resulted in a 6 to 1 victory for the aggregation headed by Frank Hogan over that of Ben Chapman.

Champion Boxers Of Lubbock High Named In Finals

Champion boxers in nine divisions were declared Friday when the boxing tournament being conducted in boys physical education classes by Coach Ross Ayers was brought to a close. Final matches were held during the noon period in the gymnasium so that the student body could see the fights.

Winners were: Paperweight, Wayne Lacy; flyweight, Jack Flake; featherweight, Horace Humphries; lightweight, Jack Loving; bantamweight, Jack Coursey; welterweight, Marvin McLarty; middleweight, Thomas Ackerman; light heavyweight, Murray Venable; heavyweight, Carl Hervey.

To attain the champion titles these boys defeated, weights mentioned in the same order, the following: Garrett Fox, J. A. Hall, Gordon Lovell, Joy Threadgill, Ramon Tapp, Curtis Pruitt, Wilburn Piercy, Raymond Fletcher and Walter Sullivan.

One hundred and fifty-five boys took part in the tournament, and 141 bouts were fought in regular class sessions before champions of each of the ten classes were selected.

If Papa Is Willing, Give The Gal A Chance! 16-Year Old Wants Cage Team Trial

CHICOPEE, Mass., March 13. (AP)—The father of 16-year-old Elizabeth "Babe" Lasocki threatened today to bring before Chicopee's school board the unorthodox question, should "Babe" be permitted to try out for the high school basketball team?

Principal Christopher A. Fitzgerald says no, but father William L. Lasocki himself a Chicopee athlete, says yes. And Elizabeth, in the boys' clothes she likes to wear outside classes, frets and pouts that she's been playing basketball with boys' teams ever since she was 12. Not only that, but she plays nearly all other boys' games well.

"The least they might do, she pouts, "is to see if I can make the team. If I thought that my playing would hinder them from winning games I wouldn't have to be told to get off the team."

CROSLEY WATCHES REDS

TAMPA, Fla., March 13. (AP)—With President Powel Crosley, jr., on the field, the Cincinnati Reds staged their second intra-club training game today, the "Kelleys" winning from the "Sheehans" 13 to 1 in six innings.

Columbia Cops Intercollegiate Track Tourney

Ben Johnson, Negro Sprint Star, Leads Columbians To Victory As Records Go By Boards In 3 Events

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—Outscoring all rivals by a lop-sided margin, Columbia university's track and field team captured its first Intercollegiate A.A.A.A. indoor title tonight before a cheering crowd of 12,000 fans in Madison Square Garden.

Led by the slim negro ace, Ben Johnson, who set new meet marks as he captured the 60-yard dash in 6.3 seconds and the broad jump at 24 feet, 1-8 inch, the Columbians rolled up a victorious total of 34 5-14 points.

Princeton Is Second

Princeton squeezed into second place by a fractional margin by amassing 19 16-21 points. Manhattan college, champions for the past three years, finished third with 19 3-7 points.

Johnson, the only double winner, contributed 10 points to the new champions' total but Columbia took four individual titles outright and shared a fifth as Danny Taylor tied Dimmy Zaitz of Boston college at the new record shot put distance of 50 feet, 9 5-8 in.

Dizzy And Waner Steal Show With Boston Red Hose

SARASOTA, Fla., March 13. (AP)—Dizzy Dean and Paul Waner, National League holdouts, stole the show away from Manager Joe Cronin and his Boton Red Sox during today's practice session. Cronin gave both permission to work out with his players and Dean was so ambitious he pitched to several of the American Leaguers during batting drill.

The Cardinals' star fooled Rick Ferrell with two of his hooks and used so much smoke that the left-handed batters had to hit to left field. Waner chased a few flies and took a couple of turns at bat.

Princeton Captain Will Be Ready For Football; Finds Wrestling Is Much Tougher

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 13. (AP)—In the next 48 hours colossal Charley Toll will swap his wrestling togs for more familiar football harness and the captain-elect of the 1937 Princeton gridiron team is eagerly looking forward to the change.

Finishing his first season as a wrestler, the 240-pound tackle has decided football is a less rigorous sport than the mat game.

Charley wound up his first wrestling campaign in the 33rd Eastern intercollegiate championships in Lehigh's gymnasium, losing a quarter-final decision to burly Joe O'Dowd of Penn State, who in turn was upset in the next round by Myron Sterngold, Lehigh junior.

"There's more tension in wrestling than there is in football, even more than in the exciting game we played last fall against Yale," said Toll. "Wrestling requires finer condition and steadier nerves than football and I'll even go so far as to say that an average championship bout takes more out of you than a hard football game."

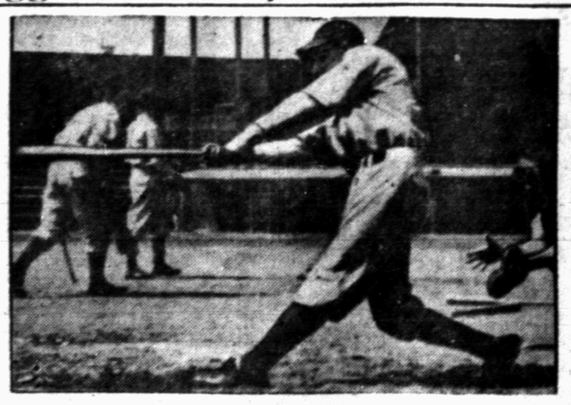

Ernie Nevers Considers Job As Assistant At U. Of Iowa

EASTON, Pa., March 13. (AP)—Ernie Nevers head football coach at Lafayette college, last night said he had received an offer to be assistant coach at Iowa university, and "was considering the proposition."

Look Out For Vince DiMaggio! He May Show Brother Joe Up; Here's How He Poles One Into Florida Bay

Eyes On The Ball . . .

Hickory On The Ball . . .

End Of The Swing . . .

The Ball's In The Bay!

By CHARLES GRUMICH
AP Feature Service Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. March 13.—The trim young man who looked to be a middleweight but turned out to be a 180-pounder had just slugged the old apple into the bay skirting Boston's springtime Bee-hive . . . the swing was familiar.

It was Vincent Di Maggio, 24-year-old rookie and elder brother of the New York Yankees' famous Outfielder Joe, the freshman sensation of the majors last season.

Like Paul Dean in the St. Louis Cardinal camp, Vince has to answer a lot of questions about his light bat. Vince is out to show that better-known brother before the conversation takes a turn around to settle on himself.

But Manager Bill McKechnie tells you Brother Vince is bringing more than a newly familiar name to the majors. Billed as a great outfielding prospect with a he can outdo the younger brother (22 years old) who preceded him to the big show on impetus imparted by Vince himself. It was like this:

"Joe was only 17 or 18 years old when the (San Francisco) Seals didn't have a shortstop for the double header closing the season. I told our manager I could bring Joe out and he got two hits—one in each game.

"Joe wasn't much of a shortstop—too strong in the arm. Maybe it was a good thing he was wild that day because if he'd thrown straight he'd have knocked the first-baseman out of the ball park.

"They wanted to pay Joe for those two hits. He wouldn't take any money because he wanted to go on playing amateur ball. But he signed up next year when I was released, going first to Tucson, then to Hollywood (now the San Diego Padres, from whom the Bostons acquired Rookie Vince).

"I had hurt my arm in 1932 and couldn't stay with the Seals, Joe, though, went on with them."

There is still the possibility that the majors may some day see a third Di Maggio—19-year-old Dominic, who worked with the Seals this spring. He plays shortstop and wears thick glasses that don't bother him a bit, Vince claims.

But of all the ball-playing Di Maggios, Vince tells you:

"Those who saw all of us play say Tom (now around 31 years old) was the best. He got hurt by falling on a rockpile or something, but before that he really could slug."

Tom and Brother Mike (there are five boys and four girls) are the fishermen and Tom looks after the Di Maggio contractual business with the ball clubs that employ his younger brothers.

District A. A. U. Boxing Tournament Features Sports Bill Here This Week

Letter Men Of Texas Tech To Sponsor Event

Amateur Boxers From All Parts Of This Section Invited To Compete; Winners To Box In State Go At Houston

Headlining the week's sports attractions in Lubbock is the district Amateur Athletic union boxing tournament scheduled for Thursday and Friday nights at the Texas Tech gymnasium.

The events, sponsored by the association of Texas Tech letter men and under the promotion of Milt Coffey and Bill Holcomb, promise to exceed in entries and interest the district Golden Gloves tournament here which produced two state champions

All Amateurs Invited

Boxers anywhere in this section of West Texas, including Plainview on the north, Clovis, N. M., on the west and undetermined points south and east, who can qualify as amateurs are invited to register for the tournament, which is the first step toward state and sectional and national A. A. U. tournaments.

Winners here in light weight divisions will go to Houston next week to compete in the state A. A. U., which is sanctioned by the Gulf A. A. U., ruling body in this section of the country. A junior national tournament awaits the state winners, this to be held in St. Louis, and from there the winners go to Boston for the senior nationals.

An even forty had registered for the district tournament at last count yesterday. Entries will be accepted up to Wednesday of this week. Many of those entered competed in the Golden Gloves tournament here, including the two state champions, Heavyweight Babe Ritchie and Flyweight Lewis Terrell. HILLSBORO, March 13. (AP)—The Emory High sextette, coached by Mrs. Sam Braziel, defeated Celeste, 24 to 21, here tonight to win the state A. A. U. girls' basketball championship.

Emory entered the final by beating Allison, 30 to 29, and Celeste by defeating Bullard, 44 to 42, in afternoon games.

Plainview won the championship last year.

Ruppert Goes South; Leaves Gehrig Headache To Barrow

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—Jacob Ruppert turned over the Lou Gehrig head-ache to his business manager, Ed Barrow, today, and shoved off for a three weeks vacation in St. Petersburg, Fla., where the New York Yankees are preparing to defend their American League championship.

Ruppert said he had not heard from Gehrig since their conference the other day when the iron-man first baseman demanded $45,000 for 1937 or a two year contract at $40,000 annually for the next two seasons.

SPORTOGRAMS by COLLIER PARRIS

Copyright, 1937

OFFICIAL BULLETIN from Texas Tech athletic department informs that "official spring football practice will start Friday, March 19, at 5:15 p. m. Daily practice will start after 5 o'clock 'labs' are out."

One word in the above bulletin lends the element of "news" to the broadcast, and except for that word—"official"—it is like the head of a wealthy house telling the family that "we'll have three square meals per day this year, I hope." That might be an exaggeration, however, because the footballers do usually get off a few days at Christmas time, on Sundays and for a week or two between summer and fall semesters.

There's more to the "bulletin" than the mere announcement, a follow-up that somewhat intriguing. It says:

"Invitation is extended to all students interested in learning something about football. . . . RECRUITS ARE NEEDED. If you played in high school, come out this spring."

WE believe they have something there. Strange as it may seem, here's a college athletic department indicating its willingness and desire to recruit FROM ITS OWN CAMPUS! We'll betcha that almost sets a precedent for modern college football departments. For that tough of originality this dept. extends a Tech silver plated pump handle.

Who knows? Right here in our own enrollment of 3,000 students there may be lying dormant a heap of football potentiality of which all-Americans are made!

Tech not only extends cordial invitation to all football-minded students to turn out for spring training, but offers a come-on in the form of credits in physical education, and will excuse boys from physical training classes who report daily for football. No more of that daily drudgery of 30-minute volleyball games, setting up exercises, tag football, softball, marbles and ping-pong, for the underclassman who turns to football. What a break!

But there's another bonus offered the student rookie. "Easter vacation will be allowed football players," reads the bulletin. That, together with the Christmas vacation, should attract a lot of rookies. Easter comes on Sunday this year, but maybe the boys'll get the preceding Saturday afternoon and the following Monday morning off.

THE bulletin, if copies of it are forwarded to each male student in the institution, virtually defeats its own purpose by submitting "Tech's Toughest Schedule." As the would-be trible-threater gets to that division of the bulletin he may lose hope. For a truth, it's a right fair schedule Tech has doped out for the 1937 season, starting April 30 against the Texas College of Mines and ending Nov. 25 with Creighton university. It is doubtful that Tech will win more than eleven of the twelve games. That Loyola of the South is a pretty tough opponent, Arizona State of Flagstaff and Creighton may be rough, too. They won about two games each last year, as did University of New Mexico.

Of course there are University of Texas, University of Montana, University of Detroit, University of Arizona, the Oklahoma Aggies, Duquesne university and Centenary college on the list. Just gentle breezes.

Seriously, the athletic department is to be commended for inviting recruits from the student body. It's a fine idea, and one that should be encouraged. We know of another local institution that should do the same. Lubbock High has a wealth of big, brawny boys who ought to be kicked in the slats for not "coming out" for football.

SHORT, SHORT STORIES: Dutchy Smith has worked out a table showing the number of miles to be covered in the Tech grid schedule . . . Not including the spring trip the Texas Miners will make here, the total mileage involved is 19,430 . . . Tech's team will travel 7,740 miles on its five trips . . . Tech may have gotten its idea of "recruiting at home" from listening to the bear stories told by other coaches and scouts . . . A gent who lines up athletes for one of the large universities recently told a reporter that high school lads are really getting tough . . . One demanded the scout guarantee he'd play in the Rose Bowl . . . Another wanted the school to pay his way, take his family along and get them on relief . . . And another asked for a scholarship for himself and one for his sister, too . . .

Telegram from Joe Pate, the West Texas League organizer, inviting us to attend today's meeting at Midland . . . Offers to buy dinner for Sled Allen and your reporter . . . We'll take the dollar and stay home, Joe, if it's okay by you . . . We're going to have a hot baseball season here at home without joining a league . . . Letter from Putsy Gentry of the Big Lake team of Texon wishes the Lubbock nine would get busy and fix up a season's schedule, including Texon for several series. . . . "Tap" Tapley at Amherst indicates the same in a letter received recently . . . They're working out at Levelland, too . . . and getting ready for a big season . . .

Card from Walter Stratton, the strong man wrestler . . . Doing his stuff in the Abilene league now . . . says he's getting stronger every day . . . He'll be a man yet if he keeps growing . . . Ruffing Satisfied With Salary, But Wants That Bonus

CHICAGO, March 13. (AP)—Big Charles (Red) Ruffing, one-half of the New York Yankees' holdout problem, is perfectly satisfied with the salary offered for his pitching services—but he insists his pinch-hitting bat is worth an additional $1,000 to Col. Jacob Ruppert.

Ruffing, whose right arm contributed 20 victories to the Yanks' rollicking rush to the American League and world championship last season, set his jaw today and said he wouldn't sign a contract unless he gets paid for a .292 batting average, a good part of which was acquired in hitting for others.

Ruffing modestly admitted the Yanks probably could get along without him, but he was positive they couldn't do without his holdout colleague, Lou Gehrig.

Syracuse Keglers Take Lead In American Bowling Joust

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—Syracuse bowlers took virtually complete command of the American Bowling congress today as scores skyrocketed to threaten records in all divisions.

New leaders cropped up in every sector, with the Pastime Athletic club team from Syracuse taking over the five-man pace with a smashing 3,045 total. Syracuse bowlers took five leading places in the singles division, with Jimmy Reinsmith setting the pace; two top berths in the all-events, and third and fifth in doubles.

Cincy Reds To Be Rough;—If Gardeners Hit

More Powerful Hitters From Outfield Sought By Chas. Dressen; Will Take Chance With Hustling Youngsters

(By The Associated Press)

TAMPA, Fla., March 13. — The training season is only two weeks old, but already the major problems of the Cincinnati Reds have been reduced to one—power.

If Manager Charlie Dressen can just get a little added outfield punch to offset a weak hitting infield, he'll ask no quarter for his hustling young Redlegs in the coming campaign.

"We may not win the pennant," said Dressen, as he watched more than 50 athletes—largest squad in the majors—go through their paces at Plant Field today, "but we'll have plenty to say about who does."

Weintraub May Be One

Phil Weintraub, one-time Giant outfielder, may be the man with the punch Dressen has been looking for. He is up for his second major league trial after whanging the agate at a .371 clip for Rochester in 1936.

The other two starting patrol posts are sure to go to Ival Goodman and 38-year-old Hazen Cuyler, spark plug of last year's crew.

Physical Training Experts To Offer Opinions At Rice

HOUSTON, March 13. (AP)—Problems peculiar to inter-collegiate athletics, physical education, minor and intramural sports will be discussed by experts at the Southern district convention of the American Physical Education association, meeting here Wednesday through Saturday.

Matty Bell, Southern Methodist football coach; Jimmie Kitts, Rice institute's grid mentor; Berry Whitaker, director of intramural athletics at the University of Texas; C. H. Winston, coach of the Houston Y.M.C.A. national and international volleyball champions and Joe Lagow, coach and head of the physical education department at Conroe High school, will speak.

Kitts said he expected an attendance of close to 1,000 from 13 Southern states.

Puerto Rico Lightweight Is Winner Over Nick Pastore

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—Pedro Monntanez, lightweight title contender from Puerto Rico, knocked out Nick Pastore of New York in seven rounds tonight in a tune-up match for his overweight go with Champion Lou Ambers on April 2.

Montanez, scaling 138, spotted his opponent 2 1-4 pounds.

In six round preliminaries, Young Chapple, 131, Albany, N. Y., outpointed Johnny Miribella 129 1-4, Brooklyn and Izg Redman, 146 3-4, New York, and Mickey Salem, 148, Passaic N. J. drew.

Rookie Jeff Heath Displays Power At Bat For Cleveland

NEW ORLEANS, March 13. (AP)—Jeff Heath, 21 year old outfielder, made a strong bid for a regular place in the Cleveland Indians' lineup today when he knocked out a home run, a double and a single in three times at bat to lead the Indians to a 10 to 8 victory over the New Orleans Pelicans.

JACKSONVILLE WINS

VICTORIA, March 13. (AP)—Jacksonville Junior college won the Texas Junior college conference championship tonight, defeating Victoria's cagers 46 to 27.

Georgia Governor Signs Resolution Condemning Southeastern Conference For Discrimination In 'Bowl' Games

ATLANTA, Ga., March 13. (AP)—Governor E. D. Rivers today signed—"with pleasure"—a resolution adopted by the Georgia legislature condemning as "discriminatory" a new Southeastern conference rule forbidding members to play in any "Bowl" game except the "Rose Bowl" and Sugar Bowl" events.

"The Southeastern conference should abolish all post-season games or else amend its rule to permit any institution that desires to play in Atlanta or other conference cities to play such a game," the governor said

Introduction of the resolution in the Georgia legislature brought to light plans for a New Year's Day game here featuring Georgia or Georgia Tech against an outstanding opponent.

"Under the new rule," Governor Rivers said, "teams cannot accept an invitation to play in Atlanta although they may accept an invitation to play in New Orleans or Los Angeles, Calif.

"The plea of some people that we are 'cluttered up' with post-season games does not hold true as regards Atlanta. The nearest of the so-called bowl games is that played in New Orleans, more than 500 miles from Atlanta."

Yanks Open Grapefruit Race By Beating Boston, 13 To 4

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13. (AP)—The New York Yankees, opening their "grapefruit" season competition, picked up today where they left off in the 1936 World Series and hammered Boston Bees' pitching for 18 hits and a 13 to 4 victory.

While a trio of rookies, Steve Sundra, Kemp Wicker and Jim Tobin were letting the Bees down with nine hits, Frank Crosetti with a homer and two singles and George Selkirk with four singles led the attack on the Boston hurlers.

Cards—Without Dizzy—Beat Giants 4-3 In Havana Scrap

HAVANA, March 13. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals got to Clyde Castleman for a pair of runs in the seventh inning to nose out the New York Giants 4 to 3 in the first "grapefruit league" battle between these National League rivals.

Eleven thousand fans turned out in Tropical Stadium to see the Gas House gang come from behind after Hal Schumacher and Cliff Melton had held them in check from the second inning through the sixth. They had worked Schumacher for their first two runs in the opening frame.

Cunningham Shows Heels For Second Mile Victory In Row

Ex-Kansas Miler Beats Daly And McCluskey In Feature Of Highlander Meet; Runs Distance In 4:19.3

HAMILTON, Ont., March 13. (AP)—Glenn Cunningham turned in his second one-mile foot-racing victory in as many nights by romping to an easy win tonight in the feature of the 91st Highlander track and field meet in the slow time of 4 minutes, 19.3 seconds.

With his standout opponents of the season missing, the burly-chested Kansan, now running in the colors of the New York curb exchange had little difficulty finishing in front of Bill Daly of Detroit and the New York veteran, Joe McCluskey, in that order.

Daly, finishing fast, hit the tape four feet back of Cunningham, but was not threatening at any time. Cunningham led throughout, and was never extended.

Cunningham whipped the same pair in identical order in the Maple Leaf games at Toronto last night.

Ward Lambert, dean and most successful of Big Ten basketball mentors, is coaching his 20th team at Purdue.

Chock Sportsman To Referee Southwestern Track Tourney

FORT WORTH, March 13. (AP)—C. C. (Chock) Sportsman, coach of the North Texas Teachers college Eagles, has been named referee for the fifteenth annual Southwestern exposition track and field meet here next Friday and Saturday. A corps of 150 officials has been named to assist him.

The meet will be run in six divisions, university, college, junior college, prep school (including all freshman teams), high school and municipal pentathlon.

Although entry lists are not due until Monday, more than a score of schools from all sections of the Southwest have already posted their lists.

Charles Fenske Upsets Don Lash In Big Ten Mile Final

CHICAGO, March 13. (AP) — Charles Fenske, powerful Wisconsin junior, raced to an upset triumph over his famous Indiana rival, slender Don Lash, in the one mile final of the 27th annual Western conference indoor championship track meet tonight in the University of Chicago field house, winning in 4 minutes, 12.9 seconds, after a thrilling struggle.

One-Eighth Of Cars Licensed

Only 1,193 Vehicles Registered Up To Saturday Night And Only Two Weeks Remain Until April 1 Deadline

With an estimated 8,500 passenger automobiles and commercial vehicles to be registered in Lubbock county by April 1, only 1,193 had been registered by Saturday night, according to figures released by Deputy Tax Assessor-Collector H. B. Bryan.

Last night license tags had been purchased for 1,080 passenger automobiles and 113 commercial vehicles.

Heavy Rush Is Seen

Unless automobile owners start obtaining licenses soon, there will be an unusually large rush during the last few days, indicated Bryan. If registrations were divided equally among the sixteen days remaining for payment, they would amount to approximately 470 daily, members of the tax office force pointed out.

The tax office in the courthouse here now is remaining open during the noon hour and is open until 6 o'clock every afternoon to accomodate automobile owners who are unable to go to the office during regular working hours.

Office Opened At Slaton

An office for payment of automobile licenses has been opened at Slaton to accomodate car owners of that section. R. W. Ragsdale is in charge of the Slaton office. It will remain open until end of the license-paying period April 1. It is in the Slaton City hall.

Automobile owners of the county are warned by tax officers they should make automobile registrations soon as possible to avoid a late rush.

"Big Day" For Market Seen

Atmosphere Of Spring Lacking Saturday But Wholesalers In Hope Of Continued Easter Buying Today

Prospects of a "big day" today rallied hopes of wholesale merchants and their representatives with merchandise on display on second, third, and fourth floors of the Hotel Lubbock.

Although the atmosphere of spring definitely was lacking yesterday because of a brisk norther, wholesalers predicted today would be the busiest of the four-day event held semi-annually by the Wes-Tex New-Mex Wholesale Clothing Market association.

Always Busiest Day

Wholesale merchants, from manufacturing centers of several states as far away as New York and California, indicated Sunday always was the busiest day of the wholesale market weeks. Retail merchants are free from their businesses on that day, they said. A trip to Lubbock to see displays also affords recreation for out-of-town merchants of this territory.

Opening their display rooms Thursday morning, representatives from wholesalers here are predicting the pre-Easter purchasing climax today.

Style Revue, Dance Held

Featuring the event was a style revue and stage show held in the east ballroom of the hotel Friday night. Immediately following the revue approximately 400 retail merchants, their buyers, and their parties attended the merchants' ball with music by Larrymore and his orchestra.

J. H. Brock is director of the show. Amusement and entertainment at the Spring Fashion picture was by Larrymore school of dance.

Raises A Question

Nationality Of Girl Undecided

MANILA, March 13. (AP)—Birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Burton Harrison today raised a unique question as to the girl's nationality.

Harrison, former governor general of the islands and for many years United States congressman from New York, was the first person to become a naturalized Filipino.

He said he presumed his daughter was a citizen of the Philippines because of her birthplace. Some confusion arose from the fact Mrs. Harrison is an American and the United States still maintains jurisdiction over international affairs of the commonwealth.

Easter, 1937, Will Be Gay

SUITS AND REDINGOTES
A "flower basket toque" of dark blue straw topped with bright blooms adds a gay note to the Easter costume of dark blue silk crepe on the left. It combines a hip-length cape and a wide-skirted frock trimmed with a white organdy bow. The next costume is a redingote ensemble of silk crepe uniting a black coat peppered with yellow dots and a yellow frock splashed with white dots. The black straw hat is trimmed with yellow feather flowers, the fur scarf is baum marten and the handled bag black calf. The girl on the right wears a trim suit of black silk and wool bengaline with a pink mousseline blouse having a frilly jabot and a black straw pancake beret rimmed with a veil. She carries a silver fox scarf. Pin-striped, oxford gray worsted makes the man's double-breasted suit, which is worn with a black Homburg hat.

ACCENT IN ACCESSORIES
Accessories add to the smartness of these trim spring costumes assembled by a New York department store (Bonwit Teller) for Easter. The girl on the left wears a three piece suit (jacket, skirt and short coat) of blue-mist homespun with a hat of the same color and orchids on her shoulder. Her quilted kid bag, gloves and shoes are navy blue. The girl in the center wears her navy blue suit with twin jeweled clips on the lapel, a cherry red scarf and a dark blue pillbox hat tipped with a red feather. She carries tawny yellow orchids flecked with red. A beige wool jacket makes a smart contrast to the black skirt worn by the girl on the right. A bag of black patent leather with chamois ends, beige felt hat and baum marten stole are her accessories. The man wears a double-breasted suit of dark blue wool with a gray felt hat.

The Woman's Angle

by Margaret Turner

MORNING thought: Many a worker is in a small job because he will not accept responsibility for the welfare of others. As Shakespeare said, "The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves, that we are underlings."

WELL DIRECTED CHARITY

THOSE who have had experience in dispensing local charity know that on many occasions, especially at Thanksgiving or Christmas, there have been duplications, whereupon some families have been literally loaded down with food, much of it perishable, and others have been missed entirely. It is for this reason that we are so thoroughly in accord with the plan of the Junior Welfare League to establish a charity case clearing house, an explanation of which appears in this section of the paper.

The League does not wish to take cases away from the churches or other institutions helping the needy. It will not work in opposition with the Salvation Army or any other such agency. Helping needy families, that is investigating them and recommending that they be helped and, when they are able to do so, taking them foods, medicine, clothing and the like, is one of the main projects of the Junior Welfare League. Each member devotes at least 56 hours each year to this phase of the work, for which she gets no remuneration, just credit for the hours spent and the satisfaction that comes from helping "one of the least of these."

Don't feel so bad about the branches of gorgeous fruit blossoms people are filling their homes with these days. Too many pre-Easter freezes have killed blooms for long time residents to believe they'll ever pick fruit from their yards.

THERE is a saying that the Bluebonnet, Texas' state flower, is a home loving plant, and never crosses the state line. The likeness of George was struck from blocks made from artists' engravings, from a photograph in Edward's case.

TO HAVE FUN

THE newest parlor game has the advantage of never growing old, for the publishers plan to issue new series of fresh material. Called "Jury Box," by Roy Post, ace criminologist, each series offers evidence for six murder thrillers with photographs of suspects, scenes of the crimes, ballots for jurors and sealed verdicts.

Court records of the crimes are read aloud to the group. Each player is given a chance to examine the various exhibits and finally to name the mythical character whom he believes to be guilty. After all ballots have been cast, the sealed verdict is opened.

Era In Homebuilding Is Begun Here; Contrast In Individuality Is Shown

Types Of Residences Range From Spanish To Colonial, Early American, Modern

BY MAXINE FRY

A NEW era in homebuilding has begun in Lubbock.

Not a trend toward mere houses, not toward impressive monstrosities, but plans for real homes to live in, suited to individual family needs.

Compactness, practicability, and simplicity rule with a shrewd combination of beauty and the latest of modern conveniences.

Types of the dozen of new homes being built range from colonial and early American to unique Spanish types and on to the ultra-modern "push-button" classes. Each is different with a startling individuality.

Paper Goes "Blonde"

Light paper, usually white with the simplest of designs, or plaster walls in living and dining rooms are found in a majority of the new homes. Bright colors, especially red, are found in nearly every kitchen; quaint designs on the walls—four-leaf clover, ships, stars and bubbles—are seen in bathrooms which are not tiled.

"Large closets, lots of them, and at least one cedar closet, are a necessity."

"Illimitable built-in drawers of every size and shape are indispensable."

"Desks, folding in walls in kitchens, halls, bedrooms, and dens are the handiest things yet."

Such are phrases from new home owners visited last week.

Have Simple Gadgets

Simple gadgets, such as tiny spice cabinets, laundry bins that may be rolled all over the house, and concealed lights around mirrors are not merely "new-fangled ideas" but actually solve mettlesome problems of home makers. Tiny powder rooms for women guests, wash rooms for men, and guest coat closets, just inside entrances are time and energy savers for the busy entertainer.

Architectural and engineering skill is demonstrated further in large recreation rooms, countless windows, indirect lighting, air conditioning, and room proportionment.

Specially broken colored tile adds a dash of color and individuality to the entrance way and hearth of the new light brick home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Galbraith at 2811 Twenty-third street.

The T. R. Prideaux home, 3123 Nineteenth street, is especially unique in its Monterrey style of architecture. Especially interesting are the three fireplaces, designed by Mrs. Prideaux, which include the more formal Spanish colonial in the living room, Ysleta pueblo fireplace in the Indian room, and the true Mexican type in the master bedroom. All windows and bookcases are recessed in the 10-inch walls, and lights set in hammered iron brackets are copies of the old Spanish lighthouses.

A Colonial Cottage

Careful plans for landscaping promise to add even more to the new colonial cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Gus W. McCleary at 2216 Fourteenth street. Special cabinet arrangement in the dining room has been made by Mrs. McCleary for her many antiques and early American glassware.

Arrangements of this kind have also been made in a special antique room by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Clement at their new colonial home at 2606 Twentieth street. A bronze tile fireplace is the main feature of their large white living room.

Among the quaintest of homes in Lubbock is the white Dutch colonial of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dunlop at 2712 Twentieth street. The house is done entirely in natural knotty pine, with unique "bunks" in the guest room and a real early Dutch vent over the stove in the kitchen.

The ultra-modern, supposedly the only one of its kind in Texas, is

Spring Days Are Inspiration For Folk To Plant Grass And Gardens

BY PAULINE PHILLIPS

This past week of beautiful and sunshiny days has created a desire for planting lawns and flower gardens among the beauty loving citizens of Lubbock. All along the streets housewives, who have left their duties inside, are seen on their knees in smocks and sun hats in the flower bed or by the lily pool vigorously weeding or digging. Husbands, having taken a day off from the office industriously saw and hammer on quaint and inviting bird houses.

The birds are in store for a treat this spring for Jack Clifford, 2604 Twenty-second street, is building several attractive houses of the English type with long, sloping roofs. They are quite a feat of architecture. There is also a picturesque bird house made of rough pine slabs decorating a fence of a Nineteenth street home that these first early robins will welcome.

Tiny blades of green grass are beginning to peep through the raked and levelled sod and the fruit trees are beginning to blossom. The apricot trees in the yards of Mrs. J. D. Lindsey, 1520 Avenue M, and Alex McDonald, 1120 Fourteenth street, are filled with rosy buds that are almost bursting. Looking greener than ever are the bluegrass lawns found at the homes of Miss Lulu Seaton, 1908 Tenth street, and J. C. Davis, 2107 Twenty-first street, where all through the winter months a bit of summer seemed to reign.

Mrs. W. A. Jackson, 2515 Twenty-second street, is working her flower gardens over entirely, transplanting her perennials and planting additional shrubs. She plans to take some of the perennials to the Lubbock Garden club exchange next Friday. Dividing the front and back yards, she plans a realistic hedge in flowering shrubs and when it grows enough, a naturalistic one. She also has reset pink and yellow flowering lilies in her lily pool which should make a lovely combination with the shimmering goldfish.

Out on the Tahoka road at the former J. A. Stinson home, Mrs. H. D. Phillips is having many delightful days planning how to beautify her two acres of lawn and flower gardens. She has just planted about two dozen new rose bushes in her rose garden where last year blossomed almost any color of which one could think. Her fish pond is filled with water lilies that will blossom out in bright red, yellow, and pink and white, along with swaying cat tails. An oblong bed near the winding bridal path shows hundreds of bright green tulip sprouts which will be a little late for Easter this year.

These fortunate people who have just moved into new homes are busy landscaping and planting. The Sidney Claibornes, 2210 Fourteenth street, who are proudly pleased with their new air-conditioned home, are collecting stones from over Texas and Mexico to build a rock garden. Only Friday they brought home a number of sand stones from below the caprock. Column cedars, a pine tree and nandina plants have been set in the front yard and branching junipers are at the sides.

from Lou to Louella...

DEAR Louella: I just got a letter from a Lubbock gal who's teaching somewhere else. She said she and a Lubbock boy who is in school somewhere else were to be married about June 3 but that I shouldn't say anything about it yet because "a lot of things can happen".

They're going to Mexico for a month or six weeks on a honeymoon and they want the boy friend and me to go along. I'm afraid we wont be able to accept. A double honeymoon would be nice, and they say Mexico is so full of romance! Dear me, I must pull myself together and write of other things.

Really, I haven't been able to do anything but day dream, these past several gorgeous days. Spring clothes in all the windows, and on people, too (I saw two pairs of white shoes walking along the street Friday), parties for brides-elect, fruit blossoms in bloom and warm weather. Do you suppose I've gone balmy?

Hutchinsons Are Gone

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson are vacationing in sunny Florida. They were in Tampa Friday. I don't know where they were going from there. I suppose they will be home in about a week.

The O. D. Hargises are scheduled to return from Central America about April 1. They've been gone all winter, you know. I wanted to write her a letter the other day but when I inquired at their home for the address I learned that they left Panama February 20 and are traveling now. I think they are making some motion pictures.

A. T. Cocanougher is taking in the fat stock show this week-end, sans the missus, with four women from the First Baptist church. Mrs. Cocanougher couldn't go. I asked her if she were not afraid to let her husband go away with all those women, and she said "No, I know my husband". That's the way marriage ought to be.

I KNOW a good yarn about an absent minded Tech professor but I'm almost afraid to tell it. I think I will though, naming one professor but withholding the name of the one who pulled the stunt. After all, I may want to go to college again some day and I'd hate to flunk before I enroll.

The professor walked into a downtown drug store and, seeing Jimmy Allen standing beside a counter, said to him "Give me a 29 cent bottle of dandruff remover", without recognizing Jimmy as a cohort. Now, I didn't get that story from Jimmy and, what's more, he doesn't know I heard it.

Mr. and Mrs. George Langford were hosts with a cleverly appointed supper Wednesday night of last week for members of a Tech club, Las Chaparritas. I saw the invitations and they were real cute.

In my next letter, if I have time and room, I'm going to write you my impressions of the word "cute". Meanwhile, I'll explain that in my opinion it, with one exception, is the only word in the language which adequately describes any given object or situation. So What?

I Was Surprised

I guess I was the only person in town surprised when Dorothy Rushing's engagement to George Walton was announced yesterday. I knew, of course, that their courtship was getting serious but I accepted it without ever realizing that an announcement was to be made before summer.

The sit down strike craze finally has reached Lubbock. The matrons dancing class sat down the other day in protest to the tapping instructor's difficult steps. They said they were taking the course to reduce, not to learn fancy tricks. I failed to learn how long they sat or if they lost any pounds while sitting.

I saw Fannie Sue Mast for the first time Friday since she and Leland returned from Madison, Wis. She looked so rested and well. She spoke as though she and Leland were glad to be home among "our kind of people", although she thoroughly enjoyed those few months in the north.

Mrs. A. J. Holtkort, bride of a Tech student who is teaching at Buford, is here this week-end. She was buying furniture Saturday for the "doll house" his father gave them as a wedding gift. They will be at home in it this summer.

I started to write you about a dance some high school youngsters had Friday night, but I guess I'd better not mention it. Those youngsters haven't had their annual persecution this year and far be it from me to start it. They are a good bunch of youngsters.

More About Frank

LUBBOCK has been getting some excellent publicity at the hands of Frank Tolbert, Wichita Falls sports columnist. He has written a series of column articles praising sporting activities of Tech and the Lubbock public schools. He paid a nice tribute to Doctor Oberholtzer and Coach Chapman, speaking of them both as "scholarly". His mother, Mrs. Frances Lee Tolbert, says reading his columns every day is like getting a personal letter from him, they are so like Frank.

W. G. McMillan made some excellent motion pictures of the Tech beauties. Expecting them to have a "home talent look", I surely was surprised when I saw them at a special showing in the college engineering auditorium the other day. Even Billy Rose will admit that Tech has some gorgeous coeds, I believe. If it wouldn't bring a storm down on my head, I'd tell you the eight who will be selected by Mr. Rose.

Yours, Lou.

A Retired Texas Police And Peace Officer Now Endorses The Van-Tage

Mr. James E. Tull, Who Served 27 Years As A Texas Deputy Sheriff And Police Officer, Gives His Remarkable Statement Praising The Van-Tage Medicine — Awful Stomach Gas And Bloat And Weak Kidneys Relieved Quick

MR. JAMES E. TULL, Prominent Retired Texas Police Officer and Deputy Sheriff, Whose Remarkable Statement, Endorsing VAN-TAGE, is Published in This Announcement.

Another Life-Long Texas Citizen—Mr. James E. Tull, Sr., of 2012 Gentry St., Houston—is now praising and endorsing the "Amazing New Medicine," known as VAN-TAGE, which is now being introduced in this city at Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, Lubbock. Mr. Tull is one of those Old-Time Texans who have made history in this vicinity and who have always stood for—and fought for!—the general welfare of this Great State. During the war he was a member of Co. E, First Texas Infantry. And he also served for 27 years as a Texas Deputy Sheriff and Police officer. Now Mr. Tull is Retired and one of the Best-Known Men of this section. We are, indeed, Proud to Publish his Remarkable Statement about Van-Tage, as follows:

Had Gassy Bloat Misery And Weak Kidneys

"All my life I had been an active man and had always enjoyed my full share of health and strength up until a few years ago, but at that time I seemed to break down," said Mr. Tull. "I began to have trouble with an upset stomach and was always bloated badly and couldn't digest my food right, also began to suffer with weakened kidneys and got nervous as a result of this misery, but finally I found Van-Tage and I am Really Proud to add my name to the long list of Our Texas People who are publicly endorsing it. I have improved by leaps and bounds since I took Van-Tage and I give it my hearty thanks and I recommend it to others who suffer as I did."

Over 30 Ingredients In This Great Compound

VAN-TAGE contains over 20 Ingredients (including 21 Great Herbs) which help cleanse bowels, bring loads of gas from the stomach and invigorate liver and kidney action. People declare It has made them feel like different men and women. Another thing—due to large sales, the price of Van-Tage is reasonable. Get it—TODAY—at Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, Lubbock. (Adv.)

Homebuilding

represented in the nearly finished home of r. and Mrs. O. R. Walker in the 2000-block on Seventeenth street, which was designed by the owner who is an architect of Lubbock. The compact white brick and glass house is truly built to last forever. It is fire-proof, sand-proof, insect and rodent-proof; it has black slate window sills and aluminum finished windows; it is air conditioned, equipped with auxiliary heating units, and the most modern of indirect lighting effects.

"It took months of planning to gain even a slight degree of perfection," Walker stated. "Every arrangement in the house, even down to the least detail, has a definite purpose. It was built to last, and to supply every need of my family."

Stately, yet comfortable to the smallest detail, is the two-story colonial home of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Goodwin at 2809 Twentieth street. Large and well proportioned, the house represents one of the finest in Lubbock. Especially interesting is the natural wood den and library of Dr. Goodwin, who made and stained the furniture and built-in desks it contains.

Another of this early American type is the E. L. McBride home at 2626 Twenty-second street. Beauty combined with simplicity gives this two-story brick a mark of distinction. The recreation or so-called "rumpus" room, the tiny powder room, and a small balcony from an upper bedroom show the "comfort plus convenience" trend so prominent in new homes of Lubbock.

Colorado has more peaks over 14,000 feet high than any other state or any other country or territory on the North American continent.

Gly-Cas Made His Life Worth Living Again

Neuritis Had Crippled Mr. Bright's Arm Until He Could Hardly Use It; Indigestion And Bloating Made Him More Miserable Before He Began Gly-Cas

"I knew from the first few doses of Gly-Cas that I had found the very medicine I had been searching for," said Mr. James Bright, Trent, Texas (near Abilene). "For fifty years my stomach had been an almost constant source of distress. Attacks of indigestion followed many meals I ate, gas would form in abundance, and extreme bloating was entirely too frequent. I would often become so short of breath after eating that I could hardly breathe and my stomach would feel like a rock. About the only foods that agreed with me were oatmeal, rice and milk and even they often caused me severe suffering. I finally lost my appetite entirely, foods held no temptation for me at all. Then rheumatism settled over my body and neuritis settled in my arms and shoulders and what I endured then cannot be described in words. At one time I could not raise my arm it was so crippled with neuritis and my entire system was simply full of aches and pains. I became so nervous, couldn't sleep at night and in spite of all the medicine I tried I could not find anything to help me—until I was finally persuaded to give this new Gly-Cas a trial—so many said it was the medicine that was different, and I found it JUST THAT."

MR. JAMES BRIGHT

"Gly-Cas is a medicine of outstanding merit beyond all doubt," he continued, "it is almost unbelieveable the remarkable change this new remedy has brought about in my case. I now eat and enjoy the foods I want without any suffering afterwards. That dreadful rheumatism and neuritis has been eliminated, my nerves are quieted and I can sleep fine the entire night through now. I feel life is worth living again since my health has been restored by Gly-Cas—it is one medicine that is worth a fair trial by everyone."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns. (Adv.)

German Foreign Minister Says No Insult To The American Government Was Intended In Press Articles

BERLIN, Mar. 13. (AP)—Foreign Minister Konstantin Von Neurath, sources close to the Wilhelmstrasse said today, has answered United States Ambassador William E. Dodd's representations against German press attacks with the explanation they were not intended to offend.

Von Neurath, they said, pointed out the strictures of Mayor LaGuardia of New York against the German regime and said they created "understandable" indignation throughout the reich.

Caused By Excitement

If some German newspapers exceeded proper bounds in their comments, the foreign minister was said to have asserted, it was because of their excitement over the La Guardia remarks.

Baron Von Neurath assured the United States ambassador no insult to the United States nation was intended, these circles said.

He also called attention, they said, to what he termed spiteful, untruthful representations of German problems in sections of the American press.

Incident Is Closed

The foreign office said no public announcement would be made here, however, of the conversations yesterday between Mr. Dodd and Von Neurath. Insofar as the German government is concerned, informed quarters said, the incident is closed.

Ambassador Dodd's representations, calling attention to newspaper remarks he regarded as "beclouding German-American relations," did not require a formal diplomatic reply.

A well-informed source said the envoy's statements to Von Neurath was that the American government "was unable to account for the newspaper statement regarded as vituperative and unfounded, and as attacks on American womanhood and American institutions."

Distribution Of Trees For Windbreaks Is Being Halted

Closing out of the distribution of trees for windbreaks on the South Plains, by the state experiment sub-station here, was announced Saturday by U. A. Randolph, a state forester associated with the station.

The Lubbock station distributed about 60,000 to 75,000 Chinese elm seedlings, grown here, in addition to a number of the hardwood trees, such as red cedars, etc.

"Because some of the elms were not as large as we thought they should be we decided not to distribute the smaller ones," he explained. "We are holding them back until next year, when they will be much better."

Seedlings will be distributed also in 1938, the seeds to be planted this spring. A larger variety of hardwoods is being sought.

Federal and state services are cooperating with the state experiment sub-station here in the handling of the tree growing work. Mr. Randolph has been assigned to this station.

Demonstration Is Set For Monday

A wind-break demonstration at which approximately 200 trees will be planted will be held at the model farm about two miles west of Slide from 2 o'clock until night Monday, according to Miss Norfleet Grimes, county home demonstration agent.

U. A. Randolph of the experiment station will be in charge of the experiment at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Copeland. In the demonstration Homer Thompson, assistant county agent, and Mrs. Copeland and their helpers will assist.

Others Have Been Held

Similar demonstrations have been held in several counties in this district of the extension service.

The 18 home demonstration clubs of Lubbock county have been invited to attend the demonstration. Four or five representatives from each club are expected.

Three rows of trees will form the wind break. Two rows of cedars with a row of Chinese elms between them will be planted, Miss Grimes said.

The wind break will protect the yard, poultry house, barns and residence. It will lessen amount of stock feed needed and will add warmth in the winter, the home demonstration agent pointed out.

The demonstration is for all persons of the county, she said. Trees are being furnished by the experiment station. Don L. Jones is superintendent of the plant.

Amelia Earhart Is Taking Hop Because She Wants To

OAKLAND, Calif., March 13. (AP)—Amelia Earhart says the question she is asked oftenest about her round-the-equator flight is: What is the purpose of it?

George Palmer Putnam is used to it, too, and answered it for his wife in an interview here.

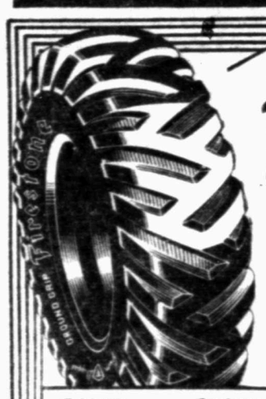

"Because she wants to," said he.

The nonchalant young woman showed not a vestige of nervousness as she discussed the 27,000-mile flight in which she will blaze a trail as sole pilot of her twin-motored, 8-ton land plane. She plans to start Sunday or Monday.

League Against Taylor Now Is Latest Suggestion Of A Suffering Husband

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 13.—As a husband trembling with the constant self-consciousness of glaring physical defects, I strongly recommend to other similarly suffering husbands the immediate formation of a League Against Taylor.

He's too darn handsome.

Robert Taylor is the handsomest specimen that has checked in at the Culver City factory in a long time.

Robert Taylor

When M. G. M. recently ended the employment of Casting Director Billy Grady, the wits of Hollywood had it that he lost his job because he failed to find a leading lady who was prettier than Taylor. It must be a tough assignment to find an actress to play opposite Beautiful Bob . . .

What It Takes

WORD is getting around that Joan Fontaine has more of what it takes than her slightly older sister, Olivia de Havilland. It is in her contract that she is not to be publicized as Olivia's sister, but RKO never fails to mention it.

JOAN FONTAINE

Olivia has said nix to "these kiss stories," leg art, and other stimulants the Warner crowd has been puting over to try to put her over as a sexy lass. She wants her ability to speak for itself. The studio said okay. We'll see what happens.

Not Interested

GINGER Rogers, reading a magazine article about Robert Taylor. . . . "Are you interested?" asks her director, Mark Sandrich. . . . "Naw!" says Ginger. . . "Oh, yeah?" asks Mark. . . .

Overheard on the R. K. O. lot: "Ma Grable's pushing that connection." . . . Reference was to the Betty Grable - Jack Coogan marriage . . . Betty is serious about a singer in Flo Rita's band, investigation reveals. . . . Although publicized like an Elks' convention, you can get odds that the Grable-Coogan romance won't culminate in Yuma or anywhere else. . . Showmen say now that all that court room publicity did hurt Mary Astor . . . The Goldwyn office produced evidence, for the "Dodsworth" campaign, that it did NOT. . . .

BETTY GRABLE

Stealing Contemptible

"SCENE-stealing," said the champion scene thief of 1936 "is contemptible."

And Gale Sondergaard, Hollywood's unmelancholy Dane, meant that heartily.

She could say it with sincerity, for the type of histrionics robbery to which she referred was not her type, which Hollywood admires.

GALE SONDERGAARD

The actor who strives by trickery to crowd out a fellow player in a sequence gets short shrift the actor who plays his own role convincingly, without other mesmerism than acting art, gets plaudits. Miss Sondergaard's achievment in "Anthony Adverse," in which her character of Faith shone clear of its surroundings, human and scenic, belongs in the latter group.

Mrs. Rose Caroline Straub of Troy is the only woman county commissioner in Kansas.

RICHMOND, Va., March 13 (AP)—An early-rising young student from Hartford, Conn., is "waking" his way through college here.

He is "Gilman, the slumber snapper," as he modestly proclaims himself in his neatly-typed campus notices — otherwise Bernard Gilman.

For 20 cents a week, as self-appointed official "eye-opener" for the University of Richmond, Gilman guarantees he will arouse any student from slumber, gently but firmly, and send him on his way to dining hall or classroom.

"It's good work if you can get it," he said, "and I'm getting plenty."

Gilman expects to average about $32 a month from a clientele of 40 students — all he can handle alone.

Indians Laugh As Whites Cry

Government Learns That What Brings Tears To Eyes Of White Men Brings Laughter To Stolid Redskins

BY EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13. (AP)—The government learned today that what brings tears to white men's eyes may make Indians laugh.

A few whites and children of a southwestern tribe had gathered for a free showing of a widely publicized film at an Indian reservation.

An infuriated penniless man made his way into the mansion of a millionaire.

Sinks To Floor

His hands trembling, the poor intruder related years of standing in breadlines. Just as he was about to pull the trigger, he suddenly sank to the floor in tears.

"The whites were visibly affected," said the office of Indian education in a field letter, "and more than one eye was moist."

But what about the rest of the audience?

"From the Indian children," the letter continued, "there arose a spontaneous roar of laughter when the accusing avenger weakly collapsed and wept."

"With the sanction of their own training," the experts summed up, "the children accepted the climax for comedy and laughed."

Lloyd George Backs Former King

War-Time Prime Minister Says To Cut Former King Off The List Without Cent Would Be The Height Of Meanness

LONDON, March 13 (AP)—David Lloyd George, Britain's World war prime minister, championed the Duke of Windsor's financial future today with the assertion that cutting him off from the royal purse would be "the height of meanness."

The News Chronicle said the elder statesman would protest to the committee compiling the king's civil list, an outline of prospective financial outlays, against any lack of provision for the abdicated monarch.

Exiled In Austria

The duke is in Enzesfeld, Austria, self-exiled and awaiting the day when Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson will be free to marry him.

Lloyd George, said "it is scandalous if the ex-king is left out," adding:

"All the members of the royal family have been provided for except the ex-king, who it is generally admitted, behaved very decently.

"He abdicated in order to make no difficulty for the reigning king; if there is made no provision of any sort for him—well, it is the height of meanness. There is a touch of vindictiveness about it."

Property Owners Are Asked To Gather Here On March 19

Property owners of state senatorial district No. 30 are being asked to meet in Lubbock Friday night, March 19, in the district courtroom at 8:30 o'clock to hear J. C. Mytinger, Wichita Falls, discuss the Texas Property Owners association. He is president of the group.

The meeting has been arranged by R. C. Hopping, a vice-president of the association and R. A. McKinney, president of the Lubbock Real Estate board. It is being held in connection with the meeting of West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"We would like every property owner in the district to attend and hear Mr. Mytinger," Mr. McKinney said. "It is important to all property owners that they know more about the situation in Texas and I know of no better man to talk on that subject than Mr. Mytinger."

Noted Inventor Taken By Death

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., March 13 (AP)—Dr. Elihu Thomson, 83, of the General Electric company, inventor of electric arc welding and contemporary of the late Thomas A. Edison, died today at his home. He had been seriously ill since January.

The famous inventor, who received his first patent on electric welding in 1886, would have been 84 March 29.

At his bedside when he died was his widow and his three sons. Roland O. Thomson of Schenectady; Malcolm Thomson of Swampscott and Donald T. Thomson of Rye, N. Y.

Last fall engineers gathered in Detroit and Lynn to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Dr. Thomson's discovery of electric welding. At that time he exchanged greetings over a special wire with the two celebrations. It was his last public activity.

FINDS 10 OYSTER PEARLS

TOLEDO, O., (AP)—William R. Neale, member of the Chamber of Commerce staff, says he found ten pearls in a plate of oysters he ordered at the chamber's dining room. The oysters had been cooked, however, and all the pearls were blackened and valueless. They ranged in size from that of a green pea to birdshot.

Girl Walks Unwaveringly To Her Death

HOUSTON, March 13 (AP)—Miss Ann Kastner, student nurse, unwaveringly walked down a railroad track squarely into a speeding passenger train to her death last night.

Engineer C. B. Peters of the Southern Pacific's crack Sunbeam said he saw the girl coming straight toward the train, as though she were out for a stroll. The train was moving about 40 miles an hour, he said.

The pretty, brown haired girl seemed not to hear when he pulled the whistle and bell cords and set the brakes. Her head was held high an instant before the engine struck her, he said.

At an undertaker's Mrs. Magdalena Sanders identified the girl as her sister, who had left a note which said:

"Perhaps you will never see me again. I hope you will be repaid in some way for all the things you have done for me."

CORN POPS YELLOW

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A new popcorn that pops up yellow instead of white is being studied at the University of California. Dr. W. W. Mackie, agronomist, says its superior flavor and vitamin content will make it a favorite over the white variety.

This Year No Exception

EVERY two years, members of the state legislature gather at Austin for three months of dilly-dallying and a week or so of real work. This year is no exception.

More than half of the present session has gone by and nothing of much particular importance has been accomplished yet. The passage of an oil tax bill to raise an additional $15,000,000 yearly has been the only major work of the house with the senate yet to act on the measure and more than likely defeat it.

Week after week of deliberation on this and that measure, resolution or proposal has been for naught and in the end the usual final days of the session will mark the only real accomplishments and these passed in railroading methods.

The house, disregarding Gov. Allred's plea for additional $13,000,000 in revenue to meet the ever-mounting deficit, Thursday passed a bill remitting ad valorem taxes for general revenue purposes to the counties. If this measure is given approval by the senate, the governor's figure will be raised to $21,500,000 as the remission act deprives the state of $8,500,000 yearly.

Sulphur and corporation tax increases are on the calendar but if they are passed, it is doubtful that sufficient revenues will be raised to meet the governor's figure.

This latest act on the part of the house points to but only one thing—a general sales tax proposal. And that's what the wrangling will be about in the ebbing days of the session. Opposition will be so great that no measure will be passed and the governor, as usual, will be forced to call an extra session and then another before the state's financial difficulties are anyways near met.

The "special interests" have such an organized lobby at the state capital that it has become difficult to secure any sort of reasonable taxation on them. Oil, sulphur and larger corporation interests maintain regular lobbying staffs and they manage to "get the job done."

And that's where the sales tax comes in. Although a general voice is raised against it every session, it has been evident for several years that Texas would have to institute one in order to get "her affairs" in order. Constant depletion of the state treasury is leading to it.

"Special interests" would like to see a sales tax passed. It would relieve some of the constant pressure from them and shift the burden of state taxation to the little man who would have to "pay through the nose." No organized lobby of smaller interests which would be more vitally affected by the sales tax is strong enough to compete with the veterans of that art in the state capital.

Deliberations thus far lead to pessimism on the tax program. Proposals for taxes, of course, do not mean that levies will be made. But the demands for revenue are always several jumps ahead of the available funds. Increases in expenditures seem to be of no limit in variety and in persistence.

NIGHT ON THE ROAD

Further evidence that the nation's campaign against traffic deaths and injuries must aim its biggest guns at the problem of night accidents is revealed in a study by R. E. Simpson, illuminating engineer of a large insurance company. In preparing a report of his findings, Mr. Simpson describes an inordinately high ratio of accidents during the hours of darkness.

While giving due weight to speed and intoxication as contributing factors, Mr. Simpson states that the great majority of night accidents is caused by poor visibility. Confirmation, he explains, is found in the results of a three years' survey of traffic flow, traffic accidents and street lighting in American cities. In all, 60 cities, having approximately one-fourth of the nation's population, were included in this survey. It was found that on main thoroughfares with street lighting equal to or better than that required by the Illuminating Engineering Society's street-lighting code, the ratio of day fatalities to night fatalities is one to six. This means that with the same amount of traffic exposure there are six fatalities by night for one by day. With lighting 25 per cent below requirements, the ratio is one to ten; with a drop to 50 per cent below requirements, the ratio increases to one to fifteen.

In contrast, the study shows that on a few main thoroughfares where the level of illumination has been brought up to a point comparable with their importance as traffic arteries, the night fatality rate compares favorably with the day rates.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

A fool despiseth his father's instruction: but he that regardeth reproof is prudent.

In the house of the righteous is much treasure: but in the revenues of the wicked is trouble.

The lips of the wise disperse knowledge: but the heart of the foolish doeth not so. Proverbs, XV1: 5-7.

Some Reasons Why State Rights May Be Lost!

THE NEW BOOKS

"Something Of Myself: For My Friends Known And Unknown" Is Rudyard Kipling's Last Literary Offering; W. Somerset Maugham Writes Another 'Cracking Good' Novel

"SOMETHING OF MYSELF: FOR MY FRIENDS KNOWN AND UNKNOWN," by Rudyard Kipling. (Doubleday, Doran, New York).

KIPLING'S autobiography—if it can be called that, was written at seventy when he decided to record what he remembered readily. He called the product "Something of Myself: For My Friends Known and Unknown." That is what it is.

As the autobiography of a very famous literary man it is pitifully inadequate. Names are lacking, dates are used rather reticently, matters of great comparative importance are ignored completely or mentioned merely in passing. The only sections which seemed vivid enough to be Kipling were (for this reader) those on the awful female and her awful son with whom Kipling boarded as a boy in England, and the section on Kipling's years in the United States.

Came To America

As a child he was sent by his parents to England, but not before he had stored away a few serviceable impressions. He remained in England for about 10 years, returned to India and newspaper work, as a young man left again and, excepting for the American sojourn and his service as war correspondent in South Africa, lived in England. At this distance and particularly considering the experience Kipling had in India and in South Africa, it seems almost unbelievable that he could have come to maturity with the opinions he held—but he did.

Learned From Living

There is an autumnal glow about this last book. But under the glow there is the true Kiplingesque pose as the voice of Empire. There is no use pretending that he had learned from living. He had learned what to do while living but the underlying opinions and prejudices were granitic, remained so. Considering the fury with which he once viewed the Americans who pirated his books, his estimate of this country is reasonable. He missed most of the underlying qualities of the country, as is obvious, but he retained some colorful impressions. He could speak with appreciation of a doctor friend, and within a few pages declare that he had come to the conclusion that Abraham Lincoln had killed off too many autochthonous Americans "for the benefit of their hastily imported Continental supplanters." Which as an historical estimate is almost an all-time low.

A Cross To Bear

"THEATRE," by W. Somerset Maugham. (Doubleday, Doran).

POOR Somerset Maugham, for all his success, has a cross to bear. The poor lamb (you see, already we are slipping into the Maughamish dialect!) simply can't write anything that isn't compared with "Of Human Bondage." He has written a new novel called "Theatre," and by jove, the jacket says this: "As profound as 'Of Human Bondage,' 'Theatre' ranks with that book as one of Maugham's greatest novels."

Which is tush, perhaps even pish tush. "Theatre" is a cracking good novel, an almost perfect study of an actress who also is a woman—but an actress who never stopped acting for more than a half-minute at a time. It shows profound knowledge of the theater, of acting, and in a sense, of women. But when Maugham wrote "Of Human Bondage" he was transmuting himself into an archtype of aching boyhood and youth and young manhood—and so on. But Mr. Maugham never has been an actress and he simply can't duplicate the earlier proceeding.

Makes Her A Genius

Why should he? Julia Lambert is enough for any novelist. He makes her a woman of good enough blood, even if her father was a vet, an occupation which in England seems vaguely beyond the pale. He makes her a genius, and he makes the reader understand without ever giving actual proof that she really was a genius. He gives her a succession of triumphs without letting the telling be a bore.

His actress has a husband who was a good sort, an ordinary actor but a first rate manager. She has a son by him, rather a dull one. She has a long and platonic affair, and a shorter but far from platonic affair. The first is with a gentleman; the last at a time when she is getting along but still has all her beauty, is with an over-sexed boy who is remarkable in no way whatever except in potency.

This is the outline of Maugham's latest, believe it or not. It merely is a long character study of one woman, reflected occasionally in the eyes of other features of a group of men. It is shrewd and delightful, and a reader must be very insensitive to literary virtuosity not to enjoy every page of the book. There is suave dialogue, vivid background which does not blind the eye, a set of minor characterizations near to perfection.

Never A Dull Moment

"THE UNFINISHED CLUE," by Georgette Heyer. (Crime Club).

"THE Unfinished Clue" by Georgette Heyer is another topnotch yarn by the author of those enthralling volumes, "Merely Murder," "Behold Here's Poison," etc. No one surpasses Miss Heyer in sketching character through witty dialogue, and in bringing together between the covers of a book some of the most charmingly audacious people in modern fiction. There never is a dull moment in this one.

A Paradise

"ESCAPE TO THE TROPICS," by Desmond Holdridge. (Harcourt, Brace, N. Y.).

DESMOND Holdridge, young New York writing man, decided a couple of years ago that life in New York was both too hectic and too expensive. So he and his wife decided to get away from it all by hunting up some tropic island where they could sit down and enjoy life.

The experiment is recorded by Mr. Holdridge in his new book, "Escape to the Tropics". And it must be said that the experiment worked so well, and Mr. Holdridge wrote such an engaging book about it, that "Escape to the Tropics" is a powerfully unsettling thing to read. It fills you with a mighty urge to go and do likewise.

Found Cheap Spot

The Holdridges were far from rich. To make a go of their plan, they had to find some spot where life was not only pleasant but cheap. They found it, on one of the Virgin Islands.

There they took a pleasant little house on a tropic hill overlooking a blue bay. Servants were plentiful, food was good, the bathing and the fishing were excellent, the weather was never bad, the scenery was grand, and the whole business seems to have been a little like a slice out of the Garden of Eden. And it all cost about $60 a month for the two of them.

Cruised Over Caribbean

Eventually they bought a small boat and cruised all about the Caribbean.

All this he has woven into a highly fascinating story, one that gives the full flavor of a gay experiment in living, makes you acquainted with two charming people—and is apt to fill you with impatience to be off on a hunt for an island paradise of your own.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Roosevelt has been informed by close advisers that he can win a really sensational victory in his court fight if he will give them the nod for a compromise. So far he refuses to okay suggestions that he yield an inch to go forward a mile.

Conscientious canvasses disclose that almost nobody on Capitol Hill defends the court—a great advance along the line of Roosevelt strategy. Hard-shelled G. O. P.-ers, with a few exceptions, concede the need of some reform. They will vote in favor of a two-man expansion, thereby granting F. D. R.'s basic premise. They will support provisions for a 7-2 or 6-3 lineup in holding a law unconstitutional. Their preference is a change under which Congress could override the court on constitutional problems.

Neither personal nor political appeals seem to budge the President. He smiles at arguments that in either event—victory or defeat he will rob himself of a high place in history. He does not share growing fears that his move will split the party in 1940. He wants what he wants—"now".

UNITE: The politicos' excitement over the court controversy has furnished National Chairman John Hamilton a welcome "breathing spell" for straightening out an internal party row.

For four years the Republicans on Capitol Hill maintained their own political headquarters and agency—the Joint Congressional committee. Friction sometimes crept into the relations between the Congressional and national branches; they squabbled over raising money, issues and headlines. In the election of a new chairman forced by the defeat of the joint committee's "angels"—Daniel Hastings of Delaware and Chester C. Bolton of Ohio—Mr. Hamilton seized control.

It's supposed to have been only a friendly rivalry, but Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, Landon's eastern campaign manager and strategist at Cleveland, was elected chairman over the more logical candidate—Rep. Robert Low Bacon of New York. The latter then quit the committee entirely. Mr. Hamilton plans to unite the two agencies so as to eliminate conflicts of effort and purpose.

ESCAPE: America's smartest shipping men have tipped off high-up New Dealers that their program to build up a merchant marine will drive the stars-and-stripes off the seven seas unless it is modified drastically.

Firms which accept construction loans under the new maritime act must submit to government regulation of crews' hours and wages—a Walsh-Healey act afloat. Most of them would prefer to transfer their ships to foreign registry, and have passed that information privately to the White House. The proposed neutrality act may also intensify the movement to seek refuge under the union jack or the flags of South American countries.

Both the Pittman and McReynolds bills provide that in time of war belligerents must come and get American products—if the President so determines—and ship them in foreign bottoms. That would mean stagnation and terrific losses for competing U. S. lines. The obvious escape is to change registry, and it's one which some of the largest firms are contemplating.

REROUTED: The White House is missing no tricks that will promote its war on the Supreme Court. Secretary "Steve" Early recently rearranged the exit of several influential delegations so as to obtain favorable publicity for F. D. R.

When the President receives visitors in the White House proper rather than the executive offices, the latter ordinarily enter through the main portico and depart the same way. Inquiring reporters must lounge on the doorstep if they wish to buttonhole the departing conferees. It would be embarrassing to ask the strangers to walk through the White House cellar so that news-hawks could grab them in the executive office anterooms. More often than not, visitors are asked to show up at the White House so that the press won't be able to question them.

But when two groups—labor and farm—recently saw F. D. R. to offer their support in the court controversy, they were carefully rerouted so that they would parade by the press room. And they were quietly informed that there would be no official objection if they told all—for the front pages.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE Norris-Rankin resolution for an appropriation of $150,000 to enable the Federal Trade commission to investigate propaganda against public ownership of electric power facilities will galvanize utility chiefs into their first aggressive reaction in many months. No Gandhi tactics this time.

The Committee of Public Utility executives—headed by Philip H. Gadsden of United Gas Improvement—will speak for the industry in the matter if present plans are carried out. It was chosen rather than the Edison Electric institute because it is less vulnerable to counter-attack.

There will be nothing surreptitious about utility lobbying in this instance. Representatives of the industry will appear at public hearings of congressional committees and demand as a matter of common fairness that the inquiry be extended to include propaganda expenditures on behalf of public ownership. They will probably admit openly in advance that the utilities have spent plenty of money to fight public ownership as a matter of elemental self-preservation, in order to strengthen their claim that the investigation as planned is completely one-sided.

ALLIES: There are ironic personal angles in the set-up, described yesterday in this column, whereby conservative financial sources are collaborating to make Senator Burton K. Wheeler the outstanding leader—in the public eye—of the fight against President Roosevelt's Supreme court plan.

The Montanan is the Senate's outstanding Wall Street-baiter. Of late he has been busy trying to make such high-and-mighty New Yorkers as Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., W. C. Potter of the Guaranty Trust, ex-president of the Stock Exchange Richard Whitney, and others of their ilk squirm in the witness chair. Normally he is about as popular in the metropolis as a good-stiff dose of poison ivy.

Yet the very circles who detest him will be helping him backstage to get maximum publicity for his Supreme court views. He is frankly regarded in private as the most useful weapon that can be mobilized against Roosevelt at this juncture. But when the Supreme Court battle is over, he can go jump off a mountain for all his current sub rosa allies will care.

MANNA: From Wheeler's slant also the marriage is one of the temporary convenience. The situation is manna from heaven to his 1940 aspirations—which had been withering for lack of publicity nourishment.

He can be counted upon to make the most of the golden opportunity to discredit Roosevelt and establish himself as the nation's true "liberal" leader. If his natural worst enemies want to give him a hand, what could be sweeter? He is definitely not agreeing to go easy on them in future, or giving them any other quid pro quo than his attacks on the court plan.

COAL: There will be a lot of jockeying around for the public's benefit between the United Mine Workers and the soft coal operators before the end of March. Both sides will probably wave their arms and talk of the impossibility of granting the other's absurd demands. A strike may appear to threaten. But behind all this talk, an agreement in principle has already been reached.

Barring unforeseen complications in the motor or steel industries which might lead to a corollary closing of coal mines, there will be no soft coal strike. The union is privately prepared to sacrifice its demands for a 30-hour week and a guarantee of 200 work days a year, and to accept as satisfactory a wage increase of 50 per cent or 10 per cent instead. The operators will give up their idea of extending the work week to 40 hours—but that was never intended to be anything more than a bargaining point.

It seems to be a tradition in soft coal labor parleys that negotiations are carried on first by many representatives from both sides, then by committees of successively smaller and smaller membership, until at last there is only one negotiator left on each side. Then an agreement is reached.

How Britain Manages High Courts

Final Appeals To Law Lords; Do Not Pass On Acts

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 13—In his advocacy of old age pensions, child labor amendment, and in his proposal for a widely extended civil service, President Roosevelt can find precedent and parallels in Great Britain.

But when it comes to his latest proposal—that regarding a complete overhaul of the federal judiciary — there is no precedent in England.

The English make very little, if any, complaint about their judges. At the same time there is considerable similarity between the English judiciary and the American federal judiciary.

In the United States, federal judges are named by the president with the approval of the Senate.

Lord Chief Justice Hewart, 65, shown here attired for a formal state event, is president of the King's Bench division of England's High Court. He was indignant when his retirement was rumored.

In Britain the Law Lords and the Lords Justice of Appeal are named by the king, upon the advice of the prime minister. And the advice of the prime minister always goes.

The judges of the High Courts, as they are called, and many lesser judges and magistrates are named by the king upon the advice of the Lord High Chancellor, whose advice likewise always goes.

Big Salary And Pension

IN America, federal judges hold their jobs for life.

In Britain, judges hold their jobs for life — except the highest of all the judiciary — the Lord High Chancellor.

He is named by the king upon the advice of the prime minister. He is a member of the premier's cabinet. He sits as member of some of the highest courts. He acts as speaker of the House of Lords and reads the king's speech if the king himself does not do so. He takes rank above all dukes, except those of roval blood.

But when the cabinet goes out of office, he also goes out. As by long precedent, he is not supposed ever to engage again in the private practice of law, the job is made financially worth his while.

He is much the highest paid member of the cabinet, getting $50,000 a year. When he goes out of office, he draws a pension for life of $20,000 per annum.

In America a judge can not be forced to retire and can be ousted from his job only by impeachment.

In England a judge can be removed only if a resolution to that effect passes both houses of Parliament. This would be done only for very grave reasons and has not occurred in recent times at all.

In America federal judges frequently keep to their jobs until they are very old men.

In England this is even more so. Recently Lord Chief Justice Hewart, who is 65, was indignant over the rumor he was going to retire. Justice Avory recently died in harness at 85.

Ages In Chief Courts

NOW let's take a look at the chief courts of England and the ages of the men who do the judicial work. Skipping the lowest courts, the High Court of Justice is split into three divisions — the Chancery with the Lord High Chancellor as president, the King's Bench under the Lord Chief Justice, and the Probate Divorce and Admiralty Division under a president.

The Chancery division is presided over by Lord Hailsham, the Lord High Chancellor, who is 65. The other members of the bench are Justice Eve, 80; Justice Clauson, 66; Justice Luxmoore, 60; Justice Farwell, 57; Justice Bennett, 59; and Justice Crossman, 66.

The King's Bench division is presided over by Lord Chief Justice Hewart, 65. The others are Justice Horridge, 79; Justice Swift, 62; Justice Branson, 65; Justice Talbot, 75; Justice MacKinnon, 66; Justice Finlay, 61; Justice Hawke, 67; Justice Charles, 65; Justice Humphreys, 69; Justice du Pareq, 56; Justice Macnaghten, 67; Justice Goddard, 59; Justice Lawrence, 56; Justice Atkinson, 62; Justice Singleton, 51; Justice Porter, 55; Justice Lord, 58; Justice Hilbery 63; and Justice Poyer-Lewis, 55.

The Probate, Divorce and Admiralty division is presided over by Justice Merriman, 55. The other justices are Langton, who is 56 and Bucknall, who is 57.

Appeals To Law Lords

THE Court of Appeal is composed of the Lord High Chancellor, the Lord Chief Justice, the Master of the Rolls and the President of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty divisions, all acting ex-officio.

England's only law lord more than 70 years old is Lord Blanesburgh, 75, shown here in wig and robes. He and his associates are Great Britain's supreme judicial authority, the nearest approach to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Master of the Rolls is Baron Wright, 68. The regular Lords Justice of the Court of Appeal are Sir Arthur Greer, 72; Sir Henry Slesser, 53; Sir Mark Romer, 70; Sir Wilfrid Greene, 53, and Sir Leslie Scott, 67.

From this court the final appeal is to the House of Lords, the supreme judicial authority of Great Britain. Actually, appeals to the

Chess And Checkers Players' Corner

Problems And News Concerning Those Old Favorites

WIDESPREAD interest in checkers and chess over the South Plains area has prompted this "corner" of the Sunday Avalanche-Journal's editorial page. Several score persons are actively engaged in chess play and chess clubs; several hundred belong to checkers clubs and play that grand old favorite.

Here is the latest checkers and chess news, along with problems and comment.

The Checker Board

The Texas Plains Checker association will hold its spring tourney at the Hilton, Sunday, April 11. A large number of entrants is expected, including both beginners and experts. Some good games will likely be played at the spring meet, for everyone seems in fine fettle.

An encouraging thing has been happening lately—the players who solve our weekly problems are asking for harder ones. In addition to the solutions being sent in, we know of a number who try the solving just for the fun of it. They, too, are clamoring for deeper stuff in the problems. All of which is very gratifying. We hereby drop a promise—from now on the solvers are due heavy diet and will have to earn their gravy before getting the solution.

If any player or reader of this column has knowledge concerning some one with a short wave broadcasting set, we'd appreciate it if you would communicate with us. John Mason, Centralia, Ill., has accepted the bargain to play a local player a match by radio. He has arranged to have his moves broadcast from Centralia, and all we're waiting on is to locate a short wave set here we might use. It is hoped that Vinson Stanphill will be the one to oppose him if the match should materialize.

Winning moves to last problem came again from Vernice Ryan, Lubbock, and H. R. Kimbrough, Ralls. Both requested problems calling for sterner exercise of grey matter. Here's the position and their moves: Black men on 2, 4, kings on 14, 19; White men on 10, 11, 13, king on 8. White draws by 10-6, 2-9, 13-6, 14-10, 6-2, 10-7, 8-12, 7-16, 2-7 drawn.

As promised the prize for today's problem is a copy of 'Standard Positions' by Joe Duffy, and is a present from Duffy himself. We will mail the book to the person sending the shortest solution forcing a win in this setting: Black men on 8, 11, 12, 14; White men on 19, 20, 25, 31. White to move, and who wins? Prize awarded to solution showing a forced win for either side in the shortest number of moves. You won't get this in a few minutes, but remember — no more easy ones.

The Chess Board

Regular meeting of Lubbock Chess club will be conducted in Hilton hotel at 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

A plan, to permit all members of the club to play simultaneous matches, has been approved informally.

Five cents will be charged for each person taking a board against the simultaneous player.

Dr. Alan L. Strout last week set a precedent which will mean additional funds for Texas Chess association tournament sponsored by the club here next September.

The former city champion not only played a simultaneous match, but he also contributed 5 cents for each game he played. His contest thereby contributed 70 cents, instead of 35 cents, to the tournament fund.

Playing hurriedly, Doctor Strout won one game, drew one, and lost five.

G. V. Pardue has challenged the club members for a simultaneous match at the meeting Monday night, March 22.

J. W. Stapp and J. M. Irvine were to meet last week to determine the City of Dallas chess championship.

In the semi-final rounds Stapp defeated Huntley Meredith, and Irvine defeated J. C. Thompson. Meredith and Thompson were to meet to decide third and fourth places.

New Deal High School Future Farmer Boys Kill 3,536 Pests In Contest In Recent Weeks; Chapter Is Active Unit

New Deal High school Future Farmers of America killed 3,536 farm pests in a recent pest control contest within the chapter. Rats, mice, sparrows, chicken hawks, rabbits, ground squirrels, and prairie dogs were included on the rating card, said Lawrence Shipman, teacher of vocational agriculture and sponsor of the chapter.

Henry Black won a Springfield rifle in the contest by killing 665 sparrows, 438 mice, 51 rabbits, 7 chicken hawks, and 3 rats. Other activities of the chapter this year include: livestock and poultry judging, proposed fishing trip to Del Rio, a father-son banquet in early May, prizes to outstanding students in vocational agriculture, chapter-conducting contests, preparation of a chapter scrapbook, and individual achievement of the Lone Star farmer degree.

Second At Amarillo

Members of the New Deal livestock judging team are Philom Cox, William Turpen, J. T. Singleton, and John Nell Harrell. The team placed second in high school stock judging contests at the Amarillo Fat Stock show last week. The poultry judging team, composed of Olin Reed, Lowell Paden, and Roy and Troy Gilmore, has won two firsts, a second a third and a fourth places in contests this year.

Qualifications of the Lone Star farmer, for which 16 New Deal boys are working, are: completion of two years in vocational agriculture and membership in FFA; earning and depositing or investing productively $200; familiarity with parliamentary procedure; and attainment in scholarship. Candidates for the degree are: Black, Cox, G. W. Elliott, Jed Forgey, Warren Haddock, Harrell, Willis and Macon James, Cleo Paden, Reed, J. B. and Sidney Sebastian, Singleton, Turpen, Paul Watkin, and Douglas Stokes.

Harrell is district president of the organization. The New Deal chapter has paid fully its membership dues, and its members staged a boxing and wrestling exhibition last fall to earn additional funds. Judging teams are to enter the Texas Technological college high school contests in April, Shipman said.

Several hundred farmers, directors and stockholders of cooperative gins on the South Plains, are expected here Tuesday, March 16, for a regional meeting of the Texas Cooperative Ginners association, at the Hotel Lubbock. There are in this territory, from Lamesa north to Plainview, about 50 gins, cooperatively owned and managed.

Chattanooga Editor Predicts Death Of "King Cotton" Or Southern Agriculture

(By The Associated Press)

STATESBORO, Ga., Mar. 13.—George Fort Milton, editor of the Chattanooga, Tenn., News, predicted the death of either "King Cotton" or Southern agriculture in an address at the South Georgia Teachers college here last night.

Urging diversification of crops, a shake-up in the credit system, more education and a lower birthrate, the speaker said his remarks applied to Georgia and the "whole South."

"Nearly every major Southern problem stems from the condition of Southern agriculture," he said.

"Potentially the South is a garden spot of the world, a fact which makes all the more outrageous the further fact that today it has the lowest income of all regions of America, its people are the most poorly fed, its educational facilities the most inadequate and its social satisfactions the most dwarfed. . . .

"The basic difficulty is the system, a vicious circle of tenant, landlord, merchant, banker all in the clutch of the cruel cash-crop agriculture that is crucifying rural Georgia and the agrarian South," Milton said.

LOTS OF CORN SHUCKS

WHITEFACE, (Special) — There are at least 3,500 bales of corn shucks baled here and ready for sale to farmers and feeders. The bales bring $4.25 per ton. The shucks came from corn that was shelled here and shipped. Movement of corn is about completed for the season.

DRILLING AT ANTON

ANTON, (Special)—Two more irrigation wells are being drilled in this section of Hockley county. Several more are expected to be completed by the time planting starts. There is more interest this year in irrigation than ever before.

WHEAT LOOKS GOOD

O'DONNELL, (Special)—The several thousand acres of wheat sown here last fall looks good, farmers state. Many farmers have a small acreage for pasture and most of it may be left to harvest if the price remains good.

Early Spring Lamb Crop Will Be 10 Per Cent Smaller, Says Bureau Of Economics Estimate

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13. (AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics estimated today the early spring lambs crop will be at least 10 per cent smaller than last year.

It said condition of the 1937 lambs at the start of this month was lower than a year ago and considerably below average.

A wide variation among areas was reported between this and last year's.

Both weather and feed conditions were much better this year in southeastern states and Texas was favored both years, the bureau said. It predicted marketings from nearly all areas will be somewhat later than average and the supply before June 1 smaller than usual. The bureau said heavy marketings of grass fat yearlings from Texas in April and May would more than offset smaller supplies of spring lambs.

HEARING IS SCHEDULED

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13. (AP)—The Agricultural Adjustment administration announced today a public hearing on a proposed federal marketing plan for tomatoes grown in Cameron, Hidalgo and Willacy counties in Texas. The hearing will be March 23 at Mercedes, Texas.

NEW LAMESA GIN

LAMESA, (Special)—W. C. McBride, local ginner, is reported planning erection of a gin located on highway 9 south of town. Construction is expected to start soon. McDonald Bros. gin, already under construction, is making good progress.

Avalanche-Journal Man Gives Results Of Seven Years Of Study Of Cattle Feeding In West Texas Today Article

In "Plainsmen Feed Them Through—Corn Belt No Longer Takes 'Velvet' on Last Few Hundred Pounds of Fat," J. Sam Lewis, staff writer of Avalanche-Journal publications, discusses a subject he has studied seven years. The article is carried in the March issue of West Texas Today, official publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The point in the article is the fact that thousands of cattle may be fed in the open on the South Plains by merely moving them, so to speak, from an adjoining pasture into a small wire enclosure, whereas the corn belt and northern farmer has a tremendous investment in barns, water, heating plants, and must hold his cattle on light feed from the time he purchases them. The Texas grower has his cattle on native grass only until they are ready for the feed lots.

Lewis offered a conservative estimate of the number of cattle on full feed over the South Plains, indicating nearly 75,000 head being fed by commercial and more than 15,000 by farmer feeders. He had visited numerous pens where cattle were being fed, farmer feeders and had kept in touch with extension service and experiment station tests and records. Those are reflected in his article.

Total Of 181,800 Acres Surveyed In Terracing Plans

COLLEGE STATION, Mar. 13. (AP)—Terrace lines have been surveyed and staked off on 181,800 acres in sixty-eight Texas counties the past four months under a cooperative arrangement between the National Youth administration and the Extension Service, says Roy W. Snyder, supervisor of Extension specialists, who administered the program. The NYA furnished crews made up of farm boys and the Extension Service contributed the technical aid of county agricultural agents and instrument men who also acted as supervisors.

The cost of running terrace lines averages 12 cents an acre, considered by M. R. Bentley, Extension agricultural engineer, a reasonable figure. Bentley estimates that terracing adds $8 an acre to the value of the average Texas farm.

Cost an acre to the NYA for administrative expenses and for employment of the rural youths averaged 6 1-2 cents, L. B. Griffith, state supervisor of work projects, says.

The project is to run until March 31. Since most of the farmers build terraces between crops with the regular farm equipment, the winter months were considered more favorable for this type of work. Farmers have been so eager to avail themselves of the services of the surveying crews that Griffith believes the project may be extended.

ST. PETER'S 'THORN' PASSING

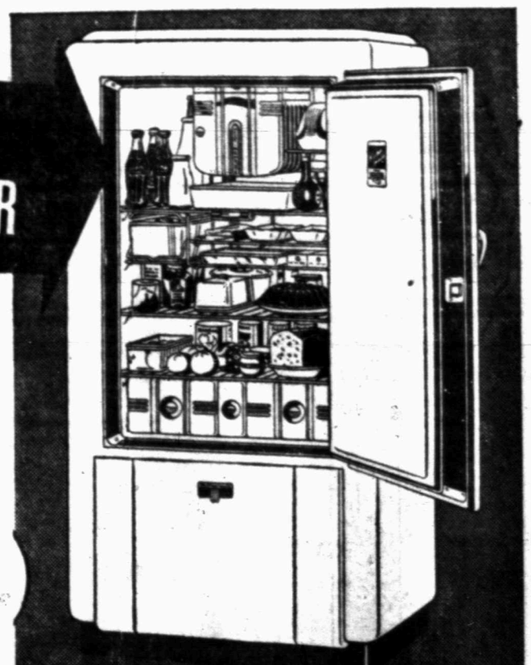

ROME (AP)—Rome is holding its breath to see what St. Peter's will look like when the "spina" (thorn), comprising three blocks of houses between the Tiber and St. Peter's square, is razed.

TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS, No. 49

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The cruel, exultant eyes of the Indians followed Ula Dale as two of their number hurled her against the dreadful man-eating plant. The short, supersensitive leaves at the base of the growth snapped around the lower part of her body and held her in a solid grip.

Then the upper fronds, swaying and dipping like some conscious, animate thing, began gradually to enfold the terror-stricken girl. The Indians broke into a mystic chant as the chief intoned: "The Great Destroyer is pleased. His gnawing hunger will be appeased."

George stood by helplessly, unable to understand why his constant pressure on the rabbit's foot did not effect some miracle to free the girl. "Must be the wrong kind of rabbit's foot for this crazy jungle," he muttered ruefully; "oh, I wish Mr. Tarzan was here!"

Nkima, in truth, had already found Tarzan. "She! Danger!" he screamed. The bewildered monkey was somewhat vague, however, about this new menace; so Tarzan sped away like the wind, unaware that he must face a formidable combination of cruel men and unfeeling Nature.

Conference Of Rotarians Set

More Than 500 Club Members Are Expected To Gather In Childress April 25-27 For Annual Conference

CHILDRESS, March 13 (Special)—Preliminary preparations for entertainment of more than 500 Rotarians from the 41st district who are expected in Childress for the annual conference April 25-27 have already been started under the direction of Jerry W. Debenport, general chairman of the conference arrangements.

Although the conference will be the largest of its type ever held in Childress, adequate facilities are available for the accommodation of all Rotarians who will be here. One of the largest and best hotels between Amarillo and Wichita Falls is in Childress, and with other smaller hotels will accommodate all of the visitors expected here.

Plans Are Outlined

An outline of plans for the conference was made recently when the district governor, Fred Wemple of Midland, met with members of the Childress club.

Committees named by the general chairman to handle the conference are:

Attendance, promotion and publicity: Morris Highley, chairman, Dwight Buchanan and Casey Dugan.

Entertainment: H. H. Monk, chairman, Elven Watkins and Dr. T. L. Lewis.

Halls and meeting places: Rufus Layton, chairman, Carl Allmond and Jess Hammock.

Decorations: C. E. Johnson, chairman, John O. McMinn and B. E. Ferguson.

Housing: E. B. Abington, chairman, Dr. J. H. Jernigan and H. S. Black.

Registration: McHenry Crawford, chairman, Presley Wright and Rev. James Daly.

Reception: J. Ross Bell, chairman, Rev. E. A. Maness, J. M. Crawford, Herman Alexander and A. G. Hargrave.

Transportation: J. D. Michie, jr., chairman, Herman Smith and J. M. Preston.

Banquets and luncheons: James C. Mahan, chairman, A. W. Adams, Dr. S. H. Townsend, Dr. G. C. Fox and Ray Green.

Boy Scouts: Dr. F. A. White, chairman, Kenneth Fink and Roy Villyard.

Coronation Aid

Rev. James de Wolfe Perry, jr., of Norfolk, Va., looks most youthful in this new portrait for one accorded the honor of representing the Episcopal Church of the United States at the coronation of King George VI. He will be one of two clergymen to preside at the crowning. Young Rev. Perry is son of Bishop Perry of Rhode Island, head of the Episcopal Church in America.

British Courts

House of Lords are not heard by its hundreds of peers, but by the so-called Law Lords.

The Lord High Chancellor presides. Sitting with him are Lord Blanesburgh, 75; Lord Atkin, 69; Lord Thankerton, 63; Lord Russell, 69; Lord Macmillan, 63; Lord Maugham, 70; and Lord Roche, 66. These judges form the nearest thing to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Authority For Empire

THE supreme judicial authority for the British Empire is the Judicial Committee of the King's Privy Council.

To this committee go appeals from the decisions of the highest courts of India and all the British dominions.

On this committee are the Lord High Chancellor, the Law Lords and such other members of the Privy Council as have held very high judicial office.

Among these are Lord Sankey, 71; Lord Merrivale, 82, and Lord Alness, 69. Just as the U. S. Supreme Court knocked out much of the Roosevelt New Deal by its decisions, so the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council recently knocked out much of the new deal inaugurated in Canada by former Premier Bennett, Canada, like the United States, has a written constitution. The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council found that the new deal legislation of Canada violated its constitution.

One point more to complete the picture.

In the United States, the U. S. Supreme Court can hold that an act passed by Congress and approved by the president, is unconstitutional and that kills it.

In Great Britain there is no court which can declare illegal any act passed by parliament and signed by the king. Parliament is the supreme boss.

Imaginary Trip To Washington By Air Being Planned By Boy Scouts

"Off to Washington by air" will be the slogan of Boy Scout troops of the South Plains area when they embark upon imaginary airplane rides to the nation's capital.

According to plans worked out by council officers, each troop will take the form of an airplane and this morning will take off from Lubbock Municipal airport. Deadline for arrival at Washington is May 22.

In the contest, designed to promote registration of membership for summer camps, troop overnight camps, and hikes, registration of new scouts and participation in camporals, miles instead of points will be given troops for meeting certain requirements.

The fictitious 2,000-mile journey will be made to the site of the National Jamboree with scoutmasters as pilots, assistant masters as co-pilots, and all scouts as passengers.

Miles will be awarded as follows: scout registered for summer camp, 60 miles; scout registered for National Jamboree, 100 miles; new 12-year-old boy registered, 50 miles; new boy 13 years old or over, 25 miles; troop participating in district camporal, 150 miles; troop participating in council camporal, 200 miles; troop overnight camp with 60 per cent or more of its membership present, 100 miles; troop hike with 60 per cent or more present, 60 miles; troop reaching summer camp quota, 300 miles; and each flight report turned in on time, 35 miles.

First prize, going to the troop arriving first, will be an airplane ride for all members. W. C. Breedlove, manager of the airport, is to be in charge of the rides. Other prizes are $1 credit for each scout going to summer camps; 50 cents credit for scouts going to council summer camp; $5 preliminary jamboree fee for one of delegates or $5 applied on registration fees of troop to summer camp; and choice of a new regulation troop flag or first aid kit.

Prizes will be awarded at camp or district courts of honor. All troops completing the trip within the time limit will receive a President F. B. Malone troop streamer.

Planes will leave at 8 o'clock this morning and each will be given 25 miles to get into the air.

Itinerary includes Amarillo, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Columbus, Pittsburgh and Washington.

ENVIES WELL-FED APES

LONDON (AP)—Professor Julian Huxley, biologist and secretary of London's Zoological Society, would like to see all children enjoy food as good as "their ape cousin" in the London Zoo. The year's diet-sheet at the zoo includes 270 tons of meat, 145 tons of hay, 140 tons of clover, three tons of monkey nuts, 200,000 bananas, 21 tons of biscuits and six hundred-weights of dried flies.

Bishop Of Leavenworth Is Claimed By Death In Denver

DENVER, March 13. (AP) — The Most Rev. Francis Johannes, D.D., bishop of Leavenworth, died shortly before 8 a. m., today in a Denver hospital.

Bishop Johannes had been ill with asthma and heart disease since September, 1936. He came here in January and his condition steadily became worse. He suffered a serious relapse earlier this week.

PLOWING RAW LAND

BLEDSOE (Special)—A considerable amount of new land is being plowed under in western Cochran county for planting this year. There will be several thousand acres at least. Corn acreage for 1937 will be double that of last year. Prospects are said to be good for a big crop, with good underground season.

BANK ASSETS INCREASE

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Deposits in Cheyenne's two national banks, catering to a large area of cattle country, have increased more than $2,500,000 and assets $2,564,797 in the last 10 months.

Not A Surprise

It was no surprise at all that Madeleine Carroll was one of the loveliest guests at a recent Los Angeles "surprise" party, where the above picture of her was taken. Peggy Shannon gave the filmland party.

OVERALLS—IF PAY'S CUT

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — It'll be overalls for Representative Frank J. Iffrig if the Missouri Assembly gets on a dollar-a-day basis.

Worrying about the period beyond 70 days, when pay of the assembly drops from $5 a day to $1, Iffrig declared:

"I think I'll wear overalls. Being here on a dollar a day is just plain work, and a fellow ought to wear work clothes. Besides, that's all he can afford."

Plans have been approved for the $100,000 mausoleum to contain the body of M. Frank Yount, Spindletop, Tex., oil millionaire who died two years ago. It will be built in a park near Houston, Tex.
