Warnings Hoisted As Gulf Storm Moves Near Coastal Area

Spot Uncertain Freakish Blow Likely To Hit

Flags Hoisted From New Orleans To Florida And Ordered Down Along Texas Coastal Line

EXPECTED IN FEW HOURS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18. (Sunday) (AP) — Weather bureau officials said early today the disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico has not developed hurricane force and was expected within a few hours to touch the southeast Louisiana coast line at a point slightly west of Port Eads.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18. — The weather bureau tonight ordered southeast storm warnings hoisted east of New Orleans to Carrabelle, Fla., and warning flags lowered west of Morgan City, La., to Corpus Christi, Tex., as a moderate tropical disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico continued to move northeastward.

The weather bureau issued an advisory stating that the disturbance which formed early yesterday in the western Gulf of Mexico was central at 6 p. m. about 125 miles due south of New Orleans.

Predictions Are Difficult

Forecasters predicted it will move northeastward or possibly east northeastward attended by strong shifting winds to moderate gales and moderate to heavy local squalls within the next 24 hours along and off the Gulf coast from the mouth of the Mississippi to Carrabelle.

Breezy, showery weather has followed the disturbance in the southwest Gulf coast area.

Charting of the capricious storm was difficult, weather men said, due to it's slow motion and freakish shifting in the Gulf of Mexico between Louisiana and Texas.

Tech Showing At Tri-State Fair

Eighteen head of Texas Technological college dairy cattle, 11 Jerseys and 7 Holstein-Friesians, were sent to Amarillo Saturday to be exhibited at the Tri-State fair Monday through Saturday. Lee Rogers, dairy herdsman of the college, accompanied the cattle.

They will be judged Wednesday and Thursday, and will be returned to Lubbock for exhibit in the Panhandle South Plains fair here. Last year the Tech dairy cattle exhibit won first prize for attractiveness.

First Exhibit Since 1932

This is the first time since 1932 that Tech has exhibited dairy cattle at the Amarillo fair. That year they came away from the event with two championships, eight first prizes, 19 econd prizes, 13 third prizes, and 5 fourth prizes

Ray C. Mowery, Tech professor of animal husbandry, will judge hogs at the Tri-State fair Tuesday and Wednesday, and milking shorthorns will be judged by W. L. Stangel, head of the college animal husbandry department.

Bids To Be Advertised For On Caverns Route In New Mexico

CARLSBAD, N. M., Sept. 18. (AP) —L. R. Conarty, Democratic chairman for Eddy county, said today Gov. Clyde Tingley had telephoned him the state would advertise for bids Monday or Tuesday on an 18-mile paving project from Carlsbad to the Texas line on the route linking El Paso, Tex., and the Carlsbad Caverns.

Conarty quoted the governor as saying the project would complete the highway in New Mexico, would cost $400,000 and would be of the "highest type construction."

Legion Cannon's Fire Breaks Up Peace Picketing

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (AP)—That booming cannon brought to the American legion convention temporarily broke up a parade of anti-war pickets in front of the Japanese consul general's office here today.

Carrying placards protesting the Japanese invasion of China, the pickets were parading when a miniature French locomotive and box car piloted by the Detroit legion members halted for a red light on Fifth avenue. The door of the box car opened suddenly and a legionnaire inside shoved a small cannon to the door and fired it. With startled cries, the pickets fled into nearby doorways.

Special Session Important One For Solons

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. — In eight more days the legislature will resume an argument interrupted four months ago. It is of tremendous import in Texas.

In a special session called to begin Sept. 27, the lawmakers again will seek an answer to a question that plagued it in the regular meeting terminated in May:

Does the state need to bolster its financial house at this time, and, if so, where should the money come from?

Members Sharply Divided

It is a matter over which the membership apparently is sharply divided as ever.

With reference to whether additional revenue should be raised or things allowed to rock along until business conditions are better, Governor James V. Allred has taken the first view in decided manner.

He holds at least $15,000,000 new money is needed.

On the other hand, many members of the legislature have voiced opinions a huge deficit in the general revenue fund should be reduced by economies.

Collection Of Taxes Talked

There also has been heard a great deal about the collection of delinquent taxes and the possibility of meeting all financial demands from that source.

Despite this, however, members are known to be grooming new and old taxing proposals for introduction.

Of the score or more of tax propositions which already have been

FDR Turns To West With Fight In Eyes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP) — President Roosevelt faced westward tonight with fight in his eyes.

He prepared tentatively for at least one major speech on his journey across the continent, then packed his bags, arranging for a few days at his Hyde Park home before taking to the road.

A clear indication of what may be expected in the back platform appearances, the numerous short talks and the speech that mark his trail across the country had already been given in his Constitution day speech.

In that he had renewed his indictment of the Supreme court, urged that the country be loyal to the Constitution and "not to is misinterpreters," warned that danger of dictatorship walked arm in arm with laggard social reform.

Demand For Pickers Has Made WPA Rolls Lowest In History

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 18. (AP)—Demand of Texas farmers for cotton pickers has been the major factor in reducing current WPA employment to 45,000 workers, the lowest number in the history of the federal agency, it was announced today by Robert J. Smith, deputy state administrator.

Since September 1, thousands of workers have voluntarily left projects or have been released for agricultural employment, WPA records reveal.

CLUBS SELECT HOUSTON

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 18. (AP) — Houston was chosen as the next meeting plans of the Texas Exchange clubs when the 12th annual convention of the organization came to an end in the St. Anthony hotel today. Jeff J. Dickey, Dallas, was elected president of the state unit.

State Bar Head Criticizes FDR For Statement

D. A. Simmons Says President's Indictment Against Lawyers As A Class Was Wrong

By J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

DIGRESSING from his prepared address upon the work of the Texas Bar association, D. A. Simmons, Houston, president, Saturday night before the Lubbock bar association criticized a statement attributed to President Franklin D. Roosevelt in which he indicated lawyers for lack of progressiveness. The address was given at the annual banquet of the association in the Hotel Lubbock.

Explaining that during his return from California, on the train Saturday he read five newspaper accounts of the president's address on constitution day. Simmons said: "The newsparers quote the message of the president as levelling an indictment against lawyers as a class. I was sorry to read that. We have stood, we stand now and we will always stand in the future, for every progressive measure that he submits to congress.

Not Opposed As Class

"I do not think that lawyers, as a class, are opposed to progressive measures in government.

"It (referring to the president's address) said that the constitution is not a lawyer's document" it is a layman's compact of government. No lawyer's name was mentioned as having had anything to do with the writing of the Constitution of the United States.

"It is a great constitution and the lawyers did have something to do with it. They debated it, wrote it, signed it and then carried it back to the thirteen colonies to sell it to their own people.

Indictment For All Lawyers

"The message was probably meant as an indictment of a particular group of Eastern lawyers, but to the layman it seems to condemn all lawyers, as a group. But we are not a class as such, because lawyers come from the people and from every class, group, race and religion of the people, and hence, are the spokesmen for those groups in the legal and sometimes the economic affairs. But we have one thing in common, that is, we believe in the American form of government; that the people, through their representatives, make the laws, that the executive enforces the

Two Are Killed In Plane Crash

(By The Associated Press)

ODESSA, Sept. 18.—Lee R. Searcy, about 35, manager of the Odessa airport, and Don Bell, about 32, were killed late today in an airplane accident near here.

The two men were flying in a pusher type ship, used by Searcy as an instruction ship. Witnesses said the engine apparently stalled at altitude of approximately 1,000 feet. After the ship had dived rapidly the pilot seemed to regain control for a dead stick landing but it had fallen so near the earth it pancaked and was demolished.

Authorities tonight were seeking relatives of Searcy, who formerly resided in El Paso. Bell's wife resides here.

Bell, a contractor, was associated with the Fox Rig and Lumber company here.

The plane fell half a mile northwest of the Odessa airport. It did not catch fire. Bell, as well as Searcy, held a pilot's license.

European Powers Nearing Showdown In Mediterranean; League Faces Split

BY J. C. STARK
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 18. — European powers moved nearer a showdown in the Mediterranean crisis tonight as Italy received coldly a fresh invitation to join the "anti-piracy" patrol.

A new turn in the question of foreign intervention in the Spanish civil war was indicated by reports fresh Italian volunteers were being enrolled. European capitals saw increasing dangers to the general peace arising from that conflict.

Perils Illustrated Anew

Perils at sea were illustrated anew by the attempt of an unidentified airplane to bomb the British destroyer Fearless off Gijon, government port of northern Spain. The destroyer was not hit, and London officials said they believed the attack was due merely to mistaken identity. The plane might have belonged to either Spanish faction.

Admiralty officials scouted reports that a submarine had fired a torpedo at the British airplane carrier glorious.

Great Britain and France gave Italy another chance to join the nine-power patrol to crush attackers of merchant shipping in the Mediterranean. Again Rome indicated refusal.

Official circles in Rome expressed bitter resentment over the offer which would permit Italian ships to patrol only the waters surrounding the Italian coast. They insisted that Italy was entitled to share equally with France and Great Britain in the Mediterranean "pirate" hunt.

The new offer was regarded as the Nyon powers' last word unless Italy submits a definite proposal to join.

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Sept. 18. — The League of Nations assembly headed tonight toward a bitter division on charges of German and Italian "invasion" in Spain's civil war.

The Spanish government premier, Dr Juan Negrin, set the stage for an open airing of the controversy. He termed Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Adolf Hitler "international highwaymen" and demanded that the league force an end to their "intervention" on behalf of Spanish insurgents.

His resolution asking that the question be submitted to the league political committee paved the way for bringing the controversy to the assembly floor.

There Italy and Germany, although not represented themselves, will keep in touch with delegates sympathetic to insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco. Government Spain is certain of Soviet backing.

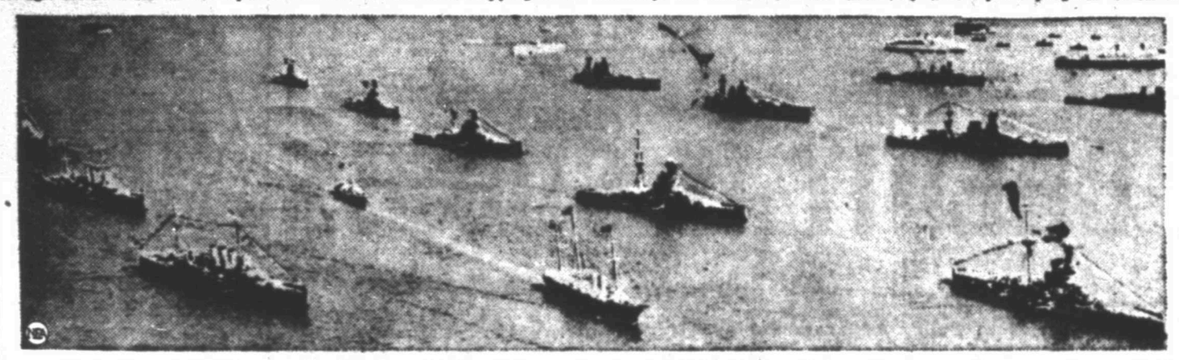

Russian Plans To Speak

Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff, whose government has accused Italy of "piracy" in the Mediterranean, announced his intention to speak on the issue.

Negrin placed before the assembly a five-point program which he asked the league to adopt. It demanded: that the league recognize "German-Italian" aggression against the Spanish government; that it "examine a means of putting an end to this aggression;" that foreign volunteers be withdrawn from the Spanish conflict; and that the Spanish government have the right to acquire freely necessary war materials.

The most important demand,

Vandenberg Urges Political Coalition

ARTHUR H. VANDENBERG

(By The Associated Press)

BAY CITY, Mich., Sept. 18.—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich) called tonight for "a union of hearts and hands regardless of previous party lines" as the only form for successful opposition to what he termed "the Roosevelt party."

In an address prepared for delivery at a statewide Republican rally here, Michigan's senior senator proposed, in effect, a coalition of anti-New Deal Democrats and Republicans.

Realignment Inevitable

"A realignment is inevitable," Senator Vandenberg said. "Indeed, it already obviously exists." Then he continued:

"Republicans and Democrats—in and out of congress—have been in repeated coalition against a new party (the Roosevelt-Farley-La-Follette party) for the preservation of great American fundamentals which transcend normal partisan division. Republicans and Democrats have closed ranks in common cause for the defense of American institutions."

Responsible For Court Defeat

Vandenberg said this coalition was responsible for the defeat of President Roosevelt's Supreme court reorganization bill.

"Our Republican task at the moment," Vandenberg said, "is to fearlessly assess national problems; to take frank counsel of our own error, as well as of our sterling achievements in the past; to win the renewed confidence of those citizens who, regardless of party, still think more of their country than of themselves; and to put republicanism in the strongest possible position to make maximum contribution in 1938 and 1940 to the

Thompson Says Oil Allowable Must Be Reduced In October

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP) — Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission and chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, said today Texas' allowable oil production for October must be reduced 70,000 barrels a day to bring the state within the U. S. bureau of mines' estimate of 1,430,300.

Thompson said the state had 74,911 producing wells, an all-time peak.

Week's Permits Set New Mark

Building permits for a week's period this year were broken with the authorization of new construction to cost a total of $81,941 during the six days ending Saturday, according to City Building Inspector D. J. Schlag.

The activity shoved totals for the year to $939,011, almost $400,000 ahead of the $563,000 to the same date last year. Totals for September were raised to $110,698, approximately $2,000 short for the whole of last September which was third highest among months of 1936.

Range From $60 To $30,000

An aggregate of 26 permits were issued the past week ranging from a $60 repair job to the authorization of a $30,000 two-story brick business building for Coca Cola Bottling company at 1611 Texas avenue for which Robert E. Maxey is contractor. Six new houses each costing $2,500 or more and several others for lesser amounts were included in the total.

Second largest of the permits of the week was to A. L. Harris, owner, and W. G. McMillan, contractor, for a one-story business building cost-

New Sixteen-Story Hotel To Be Built Soon In Corpus Christi

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 18. (AP) — Henry T. Phelps, architect, today announced bids for construction of the Driscoll hotel at Corpus Christi would be opened by him here Tuesday afternoon.

Construction will start in "two or three weeks,' he said. The hotel will be 16 stories high, have 400 rooms and a ground space of 140 by 200 feet. The architectural style will be Spanish.

OIL FIELD WORKER KILLED

COAHOMA, Sept. 18. (AP)—Donald Grisham, 35, Westbrook oil field worker, was killed late today when his automobile overturned six miles east of Coahoma. His neck was broken.

Witnesses said the machine rolled over five times, tumbling sidewise. Investigators believed the brakes had locked.

Charge Is Filed After Collision

Three persons were admitted to a hospital here, another suffered severe injuries, and a fifth was committed to Lubbock county jail to be held for Hale county authorities on a charge of road law violation as a result of a head-on automobile collision one and a half miles north of Abernathy about 4:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Injured were:

C. B. Burdine, about 54, farmer of Hereford, skull fracture, lacerations of ear and arm, and fractured pelvis. Condition serious but not critical.

Mrs. Burdine, about 47, wife of the Hereford man, numerous cuts and abrasions, lip laceration, and slight shock. Condition not serious.

Youth's Condition Serious

Clifford Golightly, about 21, of Floydada and who recently has been working at McLean, fracture of both bones of the right leg, laceration of scalp, and slight concussion. Condition serious.

J. L. Mann, about 20, of McLean, fractured right shoulder, comminuted fracture of the left clavicle, numerous contusions and abrasions. Condition serious.

All except Mrs. Burdine were admitted to West Texas hospital for treatment. She received emergency treatment there.

Driver Faces Charge

V. E. Johns, about 23, of McLean and driver of the automobile occupied by the three young men, suffered only minor bruises. He was charged in the justice court of B. F. Taylor at Abernathy with violation of the road law prohibiting passing of an automobile when meeting another. The complaint was sworn to by Weldon Lawson of the Texas Highway patrol, one of the investigating officers. He was as-

Fair Ticket Sale To Be Opened Monday

Sales campaign of season admission tickets to Panhandle-South Plains fair will start Monday under the direction of Parent-Teachers association council, of which Mrs. S. B. Haynes is president, according to announcement by association officials Saturday.

Ticket booths will be opened immediately at Post Office drug store, 1115 Avenue G, at Cammack's Drug store, 801 Broadway, and Austin's food store No. 3, Sixteenth street and Texas avenue. Others will be opened in various sections of the city later, the announcement said.

Season tickets for adults will be $2.50, for children $1 and for automobiles $1. They will make possible, it was explained, a large saving to those who may have occasion to visit the fair frequently. Single admissions to the grounds will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Reinforcements For Guards In Battle Zone

Detachment Brings Total Number Of U. S. Troops In Area To 2,700; Dodge Jap Shells

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 19, (Sunday)—The transport Chaumont arrived today off Woosung, in the Yangtze estuary above Shanghai, with 1,435 United States marines.

The marine detachment brought American forces in the Shanghai war sector to 2,700 men, and will reinforce United States guards who have patrolled a section of the International settlement without relief since the Sino-Japanese conflict broke out in Shanghai five weeks ago.

Sent From San Diego

The new reinforcements, members of the sixth regiment United States Marines, were dispatched from San Diego.

Convoyed by the light cruiser Marblehead, the transport passed safely through Sino-Japanese artillery and naval gun fire below Woosung in the early morning, unscathed by the spirited exchange of shells.

Flags Whip Her Masts

Huge American flags whipped from her masts as warning to both belligerents not to fire on the American craft as the Chaumont cautiously picked her precarious way up the warship-dotted river.

The United States minesweeper Finch, dispatched from Shanghai, hurriedly took 125 anti-aircraft fighters off the transport with their .50 caliber guns and proceeded immediately to Shanghai to land an American anti-aircraft company on Chinese soil for the first time in history.

Sticks Close To Ship

The Marblehead stuck close to the transport through a forest of Japanese warships until reaching Woosung where the ships parted and the Chaumont made her way unattended to Shanghai.

The early morning gunplay gave many of the marines their first baptism of fire for included in the reinforcements were 31 rookie second lieutenants too young to have served in the World war or the Nicaraguan campaign.

The Chaumont tied up between the French and Italian flagships while Japanese planes maneuvered above Pootung across the river.

Japan Is Riding For A Fall In Her War In China, Refugee Says; Coolies Are Menace

CARL CROW.

By NEA Service

SEATTLE, Sept. 18. — Japan is riding for a fall in her war with China, for the simple reason that the Chinese can wear out anybody if they set their minds to it.

This is according to Carl Crow, American advertising man who spent some 25 years in Shanghai and who learned at first hand just how wearing Chinese resistance can be. He summed up his acquisition of that knowledge in the recent best-seller, "Four Hundred Million Customers."

Arriving in Seattle on the liner President McKinley with other American war refugees, Crow remarked that the Chinese have been tremendously heartened by their success in holding Japan's highly mechanized army at bay for so long at Shanghai. Before long, he believes, the Chinese armies will fall back some 60 miles to Soochow and the Tai Hu lake region.

A Costly Blunder

There the Japanese, robbed of the support of their naval guns and forced to deal with problems of transport and bad terrain, would be at a disadvantage. Chinese leaders believe China can fight an effective defensive war for years.

The whole Shanghai attack looks to Crow like a costly blunder on Japan's part. Like other Americans in China, he believes it was largely due to Japanese naval officers' jealousy of the Japanese army's successes in north China.

Nobody in Shanghai took the new invasion seriously, he remarked, until Chinese aviators tried to bomb the Japanese warship Idzu-

Criminal Cases Start Monday

Fifteen criminal cases naming 14 persons are scheduled to be called in 99th district court at 10 o'clock Monday morning by Judge E. L. Pitts and be set for hearing.

There are two cases against W. E. (Bill) Earnest, charging murder when driving an automobile while intoxicated, and failure to stop and render aid.

Other Cases Listed

Other cases are: Alfredo Albidres, charged with murder; W. L. Bonham, disposing of mortgaged property; O. M. Iles, forgery; W. T. Nichols, jr., forgery; R. B. Bell, disposing of mortgaged property; M. F. Kennedy, failure to stop and render aid; R. L. Dishman and Peggy Weir, swindling over $50; Herbert Purcell, theft over $50; Gaston Cobb, burglary; Mrs. Oran Wilson, driving an automobile on a public highway when drunk; Nick Smith, the same; I. C. Green, burglary, two cases.

This week and that beginning Oct. 4 had been designated by the court for criminal actions. Any cases not tried this week will be called Oct. 4, said Judge Pitts. Case of State against Johnnie Brooks, a negro, on a charge of murder will be called Oct. 4, as will several cases resulting from 14 indictments returned Sept. 9 and the following Monday by a grand jury.

Civil Jury Cases

Monday will see initiated the September term of county court, said Judge J. J. Dillard. This week will present civil jury cases. The schedule for other weeks: Beginning Sept. 27, civil non jury week; Oct. 4, criminal jury; Oct. 11, criminal jury; Oct. 18, civil non-jury; Oct. 25, civil jury; Nov. 1, criminal jury, and Nov. 8, criminal jury.

Because of commissioners court sessions juries will report on Tuesdays, rather than on Mondays, the weeks beginning Oct. 11, Oct. 25 and Nov. 8, said Judge Dillard.

Livestock Entries Are Being Made

With several entries of livestock already made, this week will see the rush of producers to enter their stock for the 24th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair.

Charlie Franz, Canyon, manager of the Tierra Blanca farms of the McSpadden brothers, was the first to enter. Franz has sent word he will bring a car of hogs and two of cattle. There will be a car of registered Jerseys and one of Holsteins. The Tierra Blanca herds are well known over the southwest.

John Henry Dean of Lamesa, for the Dean ranch, has entered 12 registered Herefords.

Williams Duroc farm of Vega, Oldham county, has entered 18 registered Durocs. They have shown here for a number of years.

This week is expected to see a large number of exhibitors who are at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, send entries here. Some animals are expected to arrive the latter part of the week, with the cars from Amarillo arriving early Sunday, probably.

Italians Asked To Join Rebels

ROME, Sept. 18 (AP) — Italians related today that they, their relatives or friends had been asked within the past ten days to join new groups of volunteers in the Spanish insurgent army.

Officials denied that any large groups were getting ready to join Italian forces already in Spain, but foreign correspondents continue to contact individuals preparing to depart for the war front.

The repeated reports of new enrollments in the army which Premier Mussolini hopes will win out in Spain, and end what he considers the threat of a new communist state, came as Britain and France for the second time invited Italy to join in the war against piracy in the Mediterranean.

Given Minor Role

Premier Mussolini refused the first invitation, contending that Italy was given only a minor role in the British-French dominated anti-piracy patrol.

Officials denied the reports of volunteers, but foreign correspondents continued to contact Italians who said that relatives, friends, or they themselves, had been asked within the past ten days to go to Spain.

In recent months, small groups of specialists — aviators, tank operators, artillerymen, etc. — have been sent to the insurgent army.

Italian participation in Spanish insurgent capture of Santander is being displayed freely by news reels in some theaters.

Fred Hale Is Chosen As Judge At Fair

Fred Hale, with the state experiment service as swine specialist, and an outstanding authority on hogs, has been secured to judge the swine exhibit here.

Hale, who was reared in Swisher county on a ranch, has been with the experiment service for many years. He has visited Lubbock on numerous occasions and has also judged here as well as conducted experiments at the station east of town.

R. L. Pou, Dallas Jersey breeder and a former animal husbandry department leader at A. & M., will judge for the first time here. He will judge Jerseys.

PERFORMS CEREMONY

LITTLEFIELD, (Special) — Rev. A. A. Brian, district Baptist missionary, who was confined to a hospital on account of injuries received in a recent accident, performed the marriage ceremony for a couple from his hospital bed. They were: Miss Anna Faye Harwood and Mr. Lloyd Elbert Lambert. The minister later, after three weeks in the hospital, was able to be taken to his home in Plainview.

DICKENS P. T. A. MEETS

DICKENS, (Special)—Mrs. J. L. Koonsman was elected president of the Dickens P. T. A. at the annual election. Mrs. Alice Murphee was named secretary. The association will meet the first Thursday n each month, in the high school.

New Mexico To Vote On Amendments

Two Proposals Drawing Fire

(By The Associated Press)

SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 18. — New Mexico voters, experiencing an off-year election of unprecedented bitterness, vote next Tuesday on ratification of proposals which would perform a unique and major operation upon the body of the state constitution.

Two amendments — outstanding among the five to be voted upon—would abolish entirely the present constitutional two-term limitations upon state and county office holders.

Have Aroused Storm

The various implications of the proposal, supported by Gov. Clyde Tingley who is finishing his second and constitutionally final term of office, have aroused a storm which today had split the dominant Democratic party into warring camps and threatened a finish fight over party leadership.

The three other amendments provide a $1,250,000 institutional building bond issue, inclusion of the absentee ballot and an increase in the per diem of state legislators from $5 to $10. There has been no opposition to the absentee ballot proposal.

New Mexico's only constitutional checks on election of state and county elective officials lie in the two-term limitation. The state does not have the direct party primary, and opponents have asserted the so-called "third term" amendmetns would place arbitrary power upon nominating conventions and dominant party leadership.

One-Variety Cotton Plan Being Experimented With In Floyd

FLOYDADA, Sept. 18. (Special)—A one-variety cotton plan for local farmers, embracing two varieities is being experimented with by a number of farmers near here, including a 100-bale storage house that is being arranged for.

J. W. Lanier, local Farmers Co-op gin manager, is one of the leading directors in the movement. Production from about 2,400 acres of Acala will be ginned and the seed kept pure. There are also some 900 acres of Pepper cotton, developed by Anderson and Clayton.

Both acreages were contracted in the spring. The storage house is also under construction.

W. L. Stangel Will Speak Over KFYO Monday On Annual Fair

W. L. Stangel, professor and head of the department of animal husbandry of Texas Technological college, will broadcast the first of a series of addresses relative to the Panhandle-South Plains fair over station KFYO Monday night at 7 o'clock, according to announcement Saturday.

Other speakers will be on the air at various times during the remainder of the week. Stangel will be superintendent of the beef cattle department at the fair.

Late Registration Fee Of $2 To Go Into Effect Monday

A late registration fee of $2 will go into effect at noon Monday at Texas Technological college. All students paying registration fees after that time will have the $2 added to their regular fees.

At noon Saturday 3,120 students had paid fees. On the corresponding day last year the figure stood at 2,622.

ARMY ASSISTANT

LITTLEFIELD, (Special)—Cadent Reita Bridges, formerly of the Lubbock Salvation Army but recently of Tyler, has been sent here as assistant to Captain Trummell of the local corps.

Handling Of Traffic Still Big Problem

Handling of traffic on Avenue Q on intersections at Broadway and Sixteenth streets continued a problem for city officials Saturday when they discovered that two available traffic lights are not suitable for those crossings.

The lights until recently were in operation near Senior High school, but were removed and the suggestion then made that they be put on the Avenue Q crossings, which are among the most heavily traveled in the city.

It developed, however, that the yellow light operates on a 30-second basis between changes of red and green, and that readjustments cannot be made except at prohibitive expense, city officials said.

The problem at the two intersections, it was added, probably will be a subject for discussion at the semi-monthly meeting at City hall Thursday afternoon, officials said.

Uncertainty was expressed, as to whether the new city budget and tax rolls can be completed by that time so that a new tax rate can be set. Officials said Saturday that both are near completion, and that efforts will be made to have them ready.

Knapp To Speak At Convocation

A double period convocation has been called at Texas Technological college at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning for students and faculty.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the college, will deliver his annual address at that time. Dr. Knapp also will introduce a number of recently appointed faculty members at Tech, and deans of the divisions of the college likely will make short addresses.

At 11 o'clock members of the student council will take charge of the convocation and complete their organization. A representative from each class in each division will be elected to the council and class officers, a president, vice-president, and secretary also will be elected.

Miss Maxine Fry is president of the student body, Hugh McCullough is vice-president, and Mary Howell is secretary. The officers were elected by a general student vote last spring. Fred Byrd, representative to the student council from the athletic council, did not return to school and his place will be filled later by appointment, said Miss Fry.

Courts Of Honor Will Be Staged

Four courts of honor at which an aggregate of 350 boys will be up for advancement will feature Boy Scout activities of South Plains council this week, according to Earl M. McClure, executive.

McClure, who returned Saturday from three-days spent in southern portions of the council area, also announced the formation of new troops at Seagraves and at Hay Lake school north of Silverton in Briscoe county.

Trip To Caverns

Another activity for which preparations were completed Saturday will be a trip to Carlsbad cavern today by 10 members and four adult leaders of troop 6, sponsored by Cumberland Presbyterian church. Those scheduled to leave at 5 o'clock this morning were Scouts Joe Baldridge, John Byers, J. T. Martin, Douglas McSpadden, M. M. Page, jr., James Conley, Charles Ray Kuykendall, Frank Horn, Joe T. Jackson and Olin Monk; Scoutmaster Douglas Adams; and Leaders Dr. Frank Roberts, John Byers, sr., and A. C. Jackson.

Courts of honor are to be held at Lockney Methodist church Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock; at Post Methodist church Thursday night at 8 o'clock; and at Lubbock courthouse Friday night at 7:30. Approximately 75 boys are scheduled for advancement at both Lockney and Post, and 100 each at Crosbyton and Lubbock.

Hamilton To Officiate

H. H. Hamilton will officiate at Lockney, W. G. Barrett of Tahoka at Post, L. A. Wicker of Ralls at Crosbyton and George W. Dupree at Lubbock. Lockney court will be for troops at Lockney, Floydada and Matador; at Post for Tahoka, Post and Slaton; at Crosbyton for Lorenzo, Ralls, Crosbyton, Spur, McAdoo, Afton and Mt. Blanco; and at Lubbock for city troops.

Featuring the Lubbock court of honor, McClure said, will be the awarding of eagle rank to three scouts. They are Junior and James Moss, sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Moss of 1806 Sixteenth street, and Billy Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Tucker. All are members of troop 3, sponsored by First Baptist church.

Enthusiasm for scouting at Seagraves, McClure reported, indicates that it soon may have a higher proportion of available boys in the organization than any other town in the council. Sixty already have applied for membership as scouts and 49 as Scout cubs. McClure said that a second troop will be necessary there, but uncertainty was expressed as to when it and cub packs can be organized. Jimmy Sillman has ben named scoutmaster of the new troop, Joe Webb chairman of the troop committee and Rev. Cecil Fox neighborhood commissioner.

Eight boys have been enrolled in the new Hay Lake troop which is sponsored by the school there. J. L. Spencer is scoutmaster, H. P. Rampley assistant, and Jim Brooks, G. J. Netherland and M. B. Self members of the troop committee.

Tech To Send Team To Judging Contest

A team from Texas Technological college will compete with teams from approximately 25 agricultural schools at the National Dairy Products Judging contest in New Orleans, Oct. 25.

Nine seniors in dairy manufactures are preparing for the contest under direction of K. M. Renner, Mart G. Pederson, and L. G. Harmon, of the Tech dairy manufactures department.

Team for the New Orleans meet will consist of three members and an alternate. Those trying for a place on the team are Morris Hill, Lawrence Sides, James Lattimore, James Alexander, Jack Jacobs, Sam Hill, J. P. Kilgore, Foy Boone, and Bill Tinny.

This will be the first year Tech has entered the dairy products contest.

Ground Broken For Postoffice To Be Constructed At Lamesa

LAMESA, Sept. 18, (Special) — Ground was broken for the new Lamesa postoffice on Sept. 14 with W. L. Marr, mayor, presiding over the ceremony and W. V. P. Baker, oldest citizen, turning up the first shovel full of dirty.

Algernon Blair, Montgomery, Ala., is the contractor and he has 210 working days in which to complete the building without penalty. Contract price is $62,237. Mr. Dorden of Montgomery is superintendent.

Location is at North First and Houston streets, a short distance from the court house.

Another Praises The New Gly-Cas

Man Freed Of Stomach, Kidney Disorder By The New Herbal Remedy After All Else Had Failed In His Case

"Gly-Cas produces desired results," said Mr. R. Montalbano, 142 N. 17th St., Baton Rouge, Louisiana. "For years indigestion and gas formed so badly after eating I could hardly get my breath and my heart would palpitate. Foods soured in my stomach which I often spit up after eating. Constipation filled my system with poisons, kidneys were affected and a good night's sleep was impossible. I was tired and worn-out continually, felt sluggish and lacked the energy to get about at times. When I heard how so many people had received such remarkable results I decided to put Gly-Cas to the test and found it wonderful."

"I had thought my case was of such long duration I would never be in good health again—but Gly-Cas proved different," continued Mr. Montalbano. "My stomach and bowels were regulated almost at once, poisons eliminated from my system and my kidneys began to function properly. I now eat and sleep fine, freed of every ache and pain and get around with ease. It is easy to understand after taking this new remedy, why Gly-Cas receives so much praise—it deserves it all and more too."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

Second Pipe Line Outlet For Wasson Pool In Gaines County Is Announced

Two More Locations Are Said Staked In Yoakum Territory

BY JOHN B. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

The north part of the Permian Basin continued in the spotlight in West Texas this week with announced plans for a second pipe line outlet for the Wasson field in northwestern Gaines county and the Bennett pool in southeastern Yoakum and the staking of two more locations in southwestern Yoakum county, one spudding. New wells in Dawson, Hockley and Cochran counties promising extensions or new pools were testing after shooting or acidizing.

The search for Ordovicion production, so far obtained only in Reagan and Crane counties, was given impetus on the east side of the Basin by the staking of Humble No. 1 Lewis & Wardlaw in western Tom Green county, 15 miles west and slightly south of San Angelo. It will be 1,980 from the south, 660 feet from the east line of section 5-17-H&TC.

Another Is Planned

Following surveying and unloading of pipe by Humble at Hobbs, N. M., and Seagraves, Tex., for a scheduled 6-inch welded line from Hobbs to the Wasson pool in Gaines, thence northeast to the Bennett pool in Yoakum, it was reported that Continental plans to build a 6-inch line from the Bennett to the Wasson, thence westward to connect at Hobbs with one of three major pipe lines to the Gulf, probably Atlantic's. Continental has no pipe line system in New Mexico and West Texas. Later, it was rumored that laying of Continental's proposed line also was in doubt.

The Texas Co. No. 1 Walker, third southwestern Yoakum county wildcat bidding for production and the most southwesterly of four recently drilled, plugged back from 5,180 to 5,162 feet, bridged the hole at 5,097 and was shot with 200 quarts from 5,0117-97 feet. It had 400 feet of fluid in the hole, some of it water, after swabbing 32 barrels of oil in 12 hours. The first oil was logged from 5,078-81 feet and 27 barrels of oil were swabbed in 24 hours before a small amount of water was struck. Location is 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 794-D-John H. Gibson, three miles north of the Gaines county line and seven miles east of the New Mexico boundary.

Clawater Is Spudded

American Liberty spudded No. 1 Clawater 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 766-D-John H. Gibson, 1 1-4 miles northeast of Denver No. 1 Whittenberg, a producer only 6 1-4 miles northwest of the Wasson pool opener in Gaines county. It was announced that J. W. Murchison and others would drill a west offset to the Denver well, a location originally reported as Rapp Bros. No. 1 C. A. Elliott. Skelly and Sun staked No. 1 James Kiser 660 feet out of the northeast corner of section 640, one mile southwest of Bohago and Bond No. 1 J. L. West. The latter, 6 1-2 miles north and a quarter mile east of Denver No. 1 Whittenberg, was flowing 40 to 50 barrels of oil daily through a 17-64th-inch choke, bottomed at 5,255 feet.

P. N. Wiggins and others' No. 1 Carrie Slaughter Dean, new pool opener in southeastern Cochran county or a four-mile northwest extension from the Duggan pool, swabbed an estimated 8 to 10 barrels of oil hourly into the pits and headed twice after being treated with 1,500 gallons of acid. Retreatment with 3,000 gallons was scheduled. Total depth was 5,030 feet. Location is in the center of labor 26, league 92, Lipscomb county school land.

Stanolind No. 1 Slaughter, southwestern Hockley county's second producer, 2 1-2 miles southeast of The Texas Co.'s No. 1 Slaughter, the discovery, was cleaning out near the bottom following a 180-quart shot from 4,940-71 feet with oil within 400 feet of the top. The well earlier was treated with 5,000 gallons of acid. It is in the center of labor 73, league 37, Zavala county school land.

E. L. Wilson and others' No. 1 T. H. Scanlon, northwestern Dawson county wildcat, pumped 20 barrels of oil in 3½ hours at a plugged back depth of 4,933 feet after being treated with 5,000 gallons of acid. It is 660 feet out of the northwest corner of section 83-M-EL&RR, five miles west and one mile north of Ray Albaugh and others' No. 1 John Robinson, heretofore the only producer in the county.

Water Is Struck

Anthony & Rice and Illinois No. 1 Brownfield, southeastern Terry county wildcat struck water at 5,250 feet and had 3,000 feet of sulphur water in the hole when drilled to 5,325 feet in lime. It is in the center of the north half of section 54-Kpsl. R. L. Forse No. 1 Poole, northwestern Terry county wildcat, in the center of the northwest quarter of section 54-Dll-psl, had had no oil shows in drilling to 5,374 feet.

Phillips No. 1 Wasson, west offset to Carter-Continental No. 1 Wasson, opener of the Wasson pool in Gaines county and in the southeast corner of section 83-AX-psl, flowed 1,006 barrels of oil in 24 hours for completion at 4,980 feet. It was given a two-stage acid treatment of 5,000 gallons.

Phillips-ITIO No. 1 Brand, 1 3-4 miles northwest of the Wasson discovery and in the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of section 56-AX-psl, recovered 40 barrels of oil and seven barrels of sulphur water in seven hours, leaving 600 feet of fluid in the hole, most of it sulphur water. It was bottomed at 5,031 feet.

Amerada No. 1 Smith, one mile south of Amerada No. 1 R. A. Cox, recent half mile south extension to the Wasson field, was abandoned at 3,187 feet after topping the anhydrite low at 2,145 feet. It was in the northeast corner of section 382-G-CCSD&RGNG.

Recovers In Swabbing

Mid-Continent No. 1 Wanda Hinkle, 1 1-2 south of the east edge of the Foster pool in Ector county, recovered 26 barrels of oil in 24 hours in swabbing to the bottom of the casing and drilled ahead below 4,302 feet. It is 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 29-42-2s-T&P.

E. E. Fogelson No. 1-A University, extending the Penn pool in Ector county one-half mile sotuh and a location east, flowed 550 barrels of oil in 24 hours after being shot with 680 quarts from 3,430 to 3,622 feet, the total depth. It is in the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 4-35-U on a quarter section for which Fogelson paid a bonus of $32,000.

Elliott F. Cowden of Midland assigned to the Oilwell Drilling Co. of Dallas the northwest quarter of section 23-44-2s-T&P in Ector in consideration of the drilling of eight wells or as many more as needed to protect lease lines. Cowden gets a quarter overriding royalty until the cost of development has been paid, then will receive a one-half override. The lease is about one-half mile southeast of Amon G. Carter No. 1 Parker, which recently extended the Harper pool two miles, flowing 608 barrels of oil in 24 hours at 4,270 feet.

Two tests east and south of Gulf's two major Ordovician producers in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county were deepening, one below the producing horizon. Sinclair-Prairie No. 2 Tubb, in the southwest quarter of section 3-B27-psl, tested dry at 6,283 feet, showing no appreciable amount of sulphur water, and drilled ahead. Loffland Bros. No. 3 Tubb, in the northwest corner of section 9-B27-psl, had passed 5,958 feet. Some of its cores showed oil strains.

Producer Completed

John W. Emch of San Angelo completed his third producer in southwestern Upton county on the estate of the Rev. E. F. Lyon, for many years a Baptist pastor at San Angelo, later at Vernon. The well pumped 797 barrels of oil in 24 hours, bottomed at 2,248 feet, after being treated with 2,000 gallons of acid. It is 1,650 from the south, 330 feet from the west line of section 8-3 1-2 CCSD&RGNG.

Sam Murray of Dallas was scheduled to spud a proposed 3,200-foot test on R. G. Armor's land in Concho county five miles northeast of Eden, 1,315 feet from the south, 330 feet from the west line of section 105-T&NO.

Ingleright & Hults No. 1 Cochran, scheduled 4,000-foot test in south central Nolan county, in the northwest corner of section 113-IA-H&TC, had reached 1,000 feet in redrock. In Schleicher county, John M. Cooper's No. 2 Bert Page was hauling in 8 1-4-inch casing to be run to 4,550 feet in caving shale. It is in the southeast quarter of section 40-L-GH&SA, three-quarters of a mile southeast of N. 1 Page, a distilled producer. Tex-Tor No. 1 Judkins & Spencer, in the southwest quarter of section 33-A-A&B, was underreaming 8 1-4-inch casing with the total depth 3,133 feet in lime.

Locations were staked this week for 52 field tests in nine counties and for four wildcats in seven counties: three in Yoakum and one each in Coke, Concho, Tom Green and Ward. This was an increase of eight locations over the preceding week. Fifty-one oil producers were completed in 10 counties, 12 more than during the preceding week, four tests were abandoned dry—two in Gaines county and one each in Andrews and Mitchell counties—and four locations were abandoned, two in Upton county and one each in Fisher and Pecos counties.

Bits Of Gossip On The Ether . .

The "Phyl" Coe radio mysteries, with their $50,000 in cash prizes, are creating a great deal of interest with South Plains radio fans.

A total of $2,500 in cash prizes to 126 winners is distributed each week. Then at the end of the series all prize winners will be eligible to compete for the additional 51 grand prizes totalling $10,000 with the first grand prize $5,000.

The first announcement in Lubbock of the contest created immediate attention among radio and mystery fans. Crime detection clubs are springing up all over the country, organized to follow the series. In some cases they pool their efforts in the club and in other cases work together on the problems but submit individual answers.

The "Phyl" Coe radio mysteries are broadcast over KFYO every Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

A varsity show, featuring all-college talent, will be presented on Borden's Radio School of the Air from the stage of the Palace theater next Thursday night at 9 o'clock and broadcast over KFYO.

While Tech upperclassmen will be included on the show, freshmen and newcomers to the school are to be spotlighted. Dick Dickerson and his band will don collegiate attire for the occasion, and Arlie Crites, manager of the Palace theater, has arranged for special stage effects.

Failure To Heed Warnings Of Court Costly For Negro

A Slaton negro's failure to heed earlier admonitions of the court proved costly to him Saturday.

Ed Gammage was assessed an aggregate fine of $200, court costs of approximately $50 and an imprisonment term of 60 days in two cases charging beer sale. He pleaded guilty.

Sure, he remembered being assessed a light fine in a former case and of being warned to restrict his barbecue stand sales to barbecue, but:

"I didn't see no way of paying out my barbecue pit less I sold some beer with barbecue," he said.

Robert J. Allen, county attorney, recommended the punishment and Judge Dillard readily acted.

New Factory Is Measured In Acres; Production Soars

Homer Campbell, of Dallas, district representative of the Borge-Warner corporation, manufacturers of Norge electric refrigerators, washing machines and ranges was in Lubbock yesterday and announced completion of a new factory for his concern at Muskegon, Mich.

The factory covers 28 acres, he said, and has 721,295 square feet of floor space. With peak employment of 4,500, the new plant exceeds the normal Detroit production by more than 100 per cent. Outstanding in the new setup, he said, are warehouse facilities for 50,000 manufactured units; a conveyor system 17 miles in lenght; a gas-fired oven 108 feet long, and a porcelain plant capable of turning out 100,000 square feet of porcelain per day.

The improvmeents made at Muskegon, Campbell said, have stepped up capacity to 3,500 units of refrigerators, ranges and washing machines per day.

Blocked Punt Gives Tech 6-0 Victory Over Arizonans

Owens And Ramsey Steal Show From Backfield Aces

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Whatever, if any, aspirations the Texas Tech Red Raiders entertained to start their 1937 grid campaign, as well as their Border conference war, in an auspicious manner, hit the skids shortly after the opening whistle yesterday.

The Red Raiders, it appeared, had not "framed up" with the Arizonans so that the result would turn out nicely for the home club. The result was 6 to 0, favoring Texas Tech, but if it had been left up to the various Tech backfields the teams might have been going at it in a heated deadlock till yet.

When the Tech backs, two full sets of 'em plus a reasonable number of reserves, went for two whole innings without passing the opposition's 10-yard line, the Raider forward wall took it upon itself to do something about the scoring situation. So when Roger Hightower, nifty Lumberjack quarterback, pulled the string once too often—his third down, quick kick—it was the signal for the Tech line to charge. Pete Owens, versatile guard who wears no man's collar, was there first. The ball had barely left Hightower's toe, and he was five yards behind the line of scrimmage. The ball bounded back a yard or two, and here came Captain Red Ramsey who, as a captain should, took the situation into his own hands. He scooped up the loose ball on a dead run, and he was headed north. Thirty yards away was the goal line, and Ramsey ran as if the population of Flagstaff was after him with dove-shooting guns. As it happened, nobody was after him. It was a touchdown, good for 6 points.

And those were the only points scored in a game that lasted nearly 3 hours, played before about 4,200 patrons.

Baseball Weather

In baseball weather, two tough ball clubs matched pound for pound and scrap for battle at Tech Stadium yesterday. The boys from Arizona, looking very neat in their brilliant gold silk suits, constrasting beautifully with the Techs in their crimson satins, found the altitude and the humidity almost as tough as the Red Raiders. They called times out frqeuently to "blow" from their labors, but they never gave out. They fought to the last gong, passing, running and kicking in an effort to score the touchdown and add the point that would have given them a head start in the Border conference race.

Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith had no alibi, except inexperience, for their failure to run up several touchdowns against the Flagstaffers, who were not expected to offer serious trouble.

"Lack of prctice, more than anything else, kept us from that goal line," the coaches agreed last night. "The boys were somewhat surprised, too, and that counted. We (the coaches) hadn't told them much about Flagstaff, hoping they'd show the necessary stuff to carry on. But all of us were fooled. Coach Arbelbide put a well coached, well trained team on the field, a team that outweighed us, man for man, and a team that deserves plenty of compliments, and credit."

Fumbles Are Costly

Why didn't the Red Raiders score at least two more touchdowns, after they had driven to the shadows of the goal posts?

Over anxiety, for one thing, caused the fumbles, once when the Red Raiders, after driving nearly 60 yards, were stopped on the 12-yard line; again when they made the 5-yard line. Costly fumbles these, committed through error of carriers, with "help" from charging defensive men from Arizona.

The Raiders showed a desultory defense until they were pushed back to their own 5-yard line early in the game. There they held, for three downs, and batted down a pass on the fourth. They had been unable to gain on their own hook.

In the second chukker, with a new team on the field, the Raiders drove nearly 60 yards, but bogged on the 12-yard line. Gene Barnett, who almost stole the show with his spirited passing, running and blocking, was in there at the time, and so was Buzz Barnard, a nifty First American who is making a strong bid for varsity recognition after spending last season in the hospital and on the bench. "Mayor" Webb also was in there, playing end, and he caught a pass from Barnett for 21 yards. Unfortunate Barnard fumbled on the 12 to halt the drive.

Quick Kicks Fails

Early in the third, after being held for three downs by the invaders and after a good punt, the Raiders trapped the Lumberjacks deep in their own territory. Holding them for two downs, they rushed when Hightower took the ball for a quick kick. He had worked this trick well earlier. Owens fogged it down, Ramsey took it up, and it was touchdown. Tom Neeley went in to try for the extra point, but just to show they were still in the ball game, the Lumberjacks rushed, batted down the placement, and the score is still 6 to 0.

A 75-yard drive, aided by a 15-yard penalty, brought the Techs to Arizona's 16-yard line late in the period, but a fumble spoiled it all. In the fourth, Tech drove 65 yards, with Allen Plummer, Babe Curfman and Elmer Tarbox carrying the mail, but they were halted on the 5, with a first down. Two line plays lost two yards, and two passes, labeled touchdown, were incomplete.

Cawthon and Smith alternated two complete teams during the game, and made frequent individual replacements to keep the club as fresh as possible under the scorching sun. At that, even the Techs had a tough time and the Lumberjacks accepted 20 yards in penalties for too many times out.

Weber, Sheik In Main Attraction

It's another of those bargain attractions this week at the Auditorium. Sled Allen has lined up eight formidable rasslers to toss into the ring—two at a time—for four matches Wednesday night.

And in the feature Vic Weber will match grasps with Sheik Ali Mar Allah. The bewhiskered Persian is one of the tough boys of this give-and-take rassling game and capable of taking care of himself and his opponent, too, on occasion. Weber, a native Dutch son of New York, usually prefers to look after his own welfare.

John Nemanic, of the Colorado Nemanics, faces Don Ranier in the semi-headliner. Both are popular here.

Bill Cazzell, who used to fit into the ring only as a third man, has turned tinear himself and will meet the cookie of notorious appeal here, Buck Lipscomb. The Hoosier hotshot was kayoed in his bout with Sailor Tex Watkins last week.

Bob Cummings and Ace Abie Freeman come to grips in the opening event of the Wednesday evening card.

The matches follow the same added appeal as those put on by the Auditorium empresario during the past few weeks. Until recently only three matches were booked weekly. Now, however, the rule is for four.

Southwestern Boxing Meet Slated For San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 18. — October 4, 5 and 6 have been set as the dates for an elaborate Southwestern amateur boxing tournament to be held in the open air at Tech field, home of the San Antonio Texas league baseball club, under the auspices of The San Antonio Light chapter of the A. A. U.

The tournament winners will qualify for a Southern championship meet at Atlanta, Ga., December 6, and the winners there will go to the National Diamond Belt Championships in Boston on December 13 with all expenses paid.

There will be eight classes, the weight limits in which will be 112 pounds, 118 pounds, 126 pounds, 135 pounds, 147 pounds, 160 pounds, 175 pounds and heavyweights (unlimited).

There will be no entry fee. Boxers are invited to enter through the sports editor, San Antonio Light, San Antonio, Texas. Competitors are expected from all over Texas and from Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas and New Mexico.

U. S. Grant was regarded as a professional failure before the Civil war.

Ed Smith, With Too Much Help, Gains For Raiders

Here's pictorial action of yesterday's Texas Tech-Arizona State game at Tech Stadium—double action, if you please. Photographer Winston Reeves caught Ed Smith, Tech quarterback, racking up a long gain around Arizona's State's left end. He's No. 23, in the foreground, and it appears he is about to be tackled by Dutch Salzbrenner, the No. 45, on the right. But back of that is Royce Matthews, No. 67, Arizona State tackle, almost in the grips of a Texas Tech blocker. Only in this instance the blocker missed, and the picture was snapped just as he was about to let enthusiasm get the better of valor. He "held" Tackle Matthews. Referee Vic Payne, coming up behind, caught it, and Tech drew a 15-yard penalty. The picture, snapped in the fourth quarter, was made after Tech had gained a 6 to 0 advantage, which turned out to be the final score.

Tech Fish Squad Is Plenty Hefty

Pete Cawthon's Red Raiders are just another ball club to Burl Huffman's husky Fish out Tech way.

In intra-squad scrimmages, with the Picadors playing the role of cannon fodder, running Arizona State and Texas university plays against their big brothers, the first year lads more than held their own against the Raiders.

With a line which averages 198 pounds, and a backfield that runs an even 180, Burl Huffman's outfit looms as the best squad in Fish history.

Prince Scott, 177 pound terminal from Grapevine will line up at one end next Thursday, when the freshman aggregation takes on Nick Dobb's Wesley Junior college machine at Greenville, and Glen Jones, former Lubbock high ace, will handle the other picket position. E. J. McKnight, all-state end in 1935 from Mexia, and Ray Griffin, Sayre, Oklahoma, product, will be ready for alternate duty.

It's the tackles who stand three deep in Assistant Coach Broadway Browning's forward wall that may make the going smoother for the Fish. Durwood Herring, 206 pounder from Mineral Wells starts from the wrong side of the line, with J. B. Gilbert, Cameron Aggie transfer weighing 240, opening hostilities from the right tackle position. Uncle Sam contributed his share toward freshman football success in the form of 185 pound Gordon Miller, former United States Marine football standout. Hall Rowe, 175 pound Littlefield gridder, and massive Bob Bryant, heavyweight Olton prospect are other alternates.

Lonnie "Primo" McCurry, who once played football for the Westerners, and Irish Tom McQuillan, 183 pound San Antonio player, are due starter's positions at guard. They are reinforced by Cotton Davis, Denison gridder. Charley Mathis, another footballer from Sayre, Okla., and Tom Shanks, Monahans.

Rafe Nabors, 240 pound all-district guard for Lubbock high last fall, seems to have the pivot post well straddled. Wayne Hildreth, all-state center from Fairview, Okla., and Harry Francis, Chillicothe are still in the running for a starting berth.

That's the way the line stacks up, but it's the backs that bring most of Huffman's satisfied smiles. Walter Rankin, 185 pound blocker from Colorado is set for a starting position at the quarterback. Lanky C. L. Storrs, all-district Westerner fullback last fall, is a safe bet for the tailback position and signal chanting duties.

World Series Players Will Get No Rest

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (AP)—"Subway series" or not, there will be no day off for the weary athletes during the World Series this fall unless the weather man happens to provide one.

Based on the virtual certainty of another American league pennant for the New York Yankees, Commissioner K. M. Landis, the league presidents and representatives of the contending clubs, decreed today the first two games of the 1937 fall classic would be played in the Yankee Stadium Wednesday, Oct. 6, and Thursday, Oct. 7; the next three on the grounds of the National league pennant winners, either the New York Giants or Chicago Cubs, Oct. 8-9-10, and the last two, if necessary, in the Yankee Stadium Oct. 11-12.

If Bill Terry's Giants, now setting the National league pace, win the pennant, this daily World Series schedule will be normal procedure but it will establish a precedent if the Cubs happen to win. Heretofore one day off has been provided for traveling in such cases. Under present railway schedule arrangements, however, it was figured the jump to Chicago could be made in 16 1-2 hours and that a daily schedule of games could be set without working any particular hardship on the players.

Snead Maintains One Stroke Lead At Half Mark In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18. (AP) — "Slamming Sam" Snead, playing over the Canterbury course, maintained his lead in the 7th annual Western open golf championships by carding a 75 to go with his 68 of yesterday to total 142 for 36 holes.

A "pitcure shot" on the 15th "hill hole" gave Snead a one stroke edge over the field at the halfway mark.

Snead, whose clubs blew hot and cold all day, lost a stroke to par on the hill hole, which wrecked Denny Shute, two time P.G.A. champion, in this same tourney in 1932. Denny needed a seven, but Snead came out of it with a five, with a grand recovery from a three foot ditch after his attempt to clear a clump of trees failed, the ball faling into the rock-strewn ravine.

Horton Smith Has 143

On Snead's heels as the field of 68, composed of the 64 low scorers and ties, started the 36-hole stretch, was Horton Smith of Chicago, who turned in a 71 today for a 143 total. Smith's effort was the only one which bettered or matched par today, a heavy wind whipping across the course to send the scores soaring. Scores of 161 got into the finals.

Knotted at 145 were Ralph Guldahl, the defending Western open and National open champion, and Ky Laffoon, the Cherokee Indian, both from Chicago, both turned in scores of 73 today, after matching par with 72's in the first round.

Paul Runyan from White Plains, N. Y., and Dick Metz of Chicago, making his first start since automobile accident injuries put him on the shelf last spring, were tied at 146.

Four Loop Games In District 5B

District 5, Class B teams go into the second week of play Friday with four conference melees carded. Littlefield plays at Tahoka, Olton at Lamesa, Ralls at Brownfield, and PPost at Levelland.

Littlefield, defending champs of the league will be in action for the first time. Olton has been defeated in two starts already.

Levelland turned back the Mustangs Friday night in a game that turned up a neat passer in Bradley for the Loboes. The score was 19 to 0.

Pharr, Brownfield halfback, starred as the Cubs beat the Bulldogs, 19-0, at Tahoka. Post and Crosbyton played to a 6-6 tie, but the Chiefs were awarded the game on penetrations. They had 4 to Post's 2. A 30-yard pass from Nash to Newman gave Crosbyton the knotting score.

In non-conference games, Ralls defeated the Lubbock Cowhands, 13 to 8, and Lamesa took the measure of Anson. The Tornadoes triumphed 19 to 0. Slaton's B team dropped a 14-6 decision to Floydada.

Wilkins-Snodgrass Coached Eleven Is Tied At Dalhart

DALHART, Sept 18. (Special)—Spearman outplayed Dalhart here Friday but got no more than a scoreless tie.

Spearman rolled up 306 yards from scrimmage and earned 16 first downs, while holding Dalhart to 106 yards and four first-and-tenners. Captain Ooley of the visitors reeled off a 95-yard sprint but a penalty brought the play back.

Head Coach Wayne Wilkins and his assistant, Hugh Snodgrass, were popular Texas Tech athletes during the last three years.

Kitts Admits Rice Owls No Pushover For Southwests

HOUSTON, Sept. 18. (AP)—The Rice Owl, suspected of closing both eyes last year, is over its nap and ready to screech as loudly as it did in 1934.

Only three times did Rice, plagued by injuries and definitely on the outs with Dame Fortune, ring the bell in a ten-game schedule in '36. Nine months have passed, costly injured knees are bending again, potentially brilliant sophomores have arrived and genial Jimmie Kitts assures he has "a very, very tough squad."

"In fact," Kitts continued, "you may quote me as saying Rice will be hard to push around—which is more than most coaches admit at this time of the year."

Out trying, on ten successive Saturday afternoons, to "push around" a bulky Owl eleven, will be Oklahoma, Louisiana State, Tulsa, Texas, Auburn, Arkansas, Texas Aggies, Texas Christian, Baylor and Southern Methodist—all formidable a bunch of "push arounders" as any team in the Southwest will face.

That schedule, need of a broken field runner and reliance on green reserves in the line are practically the only worries Kitts has.

Material, most of it tried, is stacked all over the practice field. There's a fighting going on for each position and no one has a spot cinched—as witness the end situation, where two regulars off last year's squad are now laboring with the second stringers.

Yanks Pound Six Homers To Beat Chisox Twice

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. —The Yankees snapped out of their hitting slump today and swept a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox, largely through a barrage of six home runs.

Joe DiMaggio hit his 43rd as the Yanks won the nightcap 4 to 0 behind Ivy Andrews' five-hit pitching, after the New Yorkers had taken the opener, 12 to 8.

Athletics And Tigers Each Win Game In Doubleheader

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18. (AP) — Detroit and the Athletics divided a doubleheader today, the A's winning the second game, 5 to 4, when relief pitcher Ed Smith stopped a Detroit rally in the ninth. Detroit won the first game, 5 to 2, behind Tommy Bridge's effective pitching.

FIRST GAME

Jacobs To Stage Boxing Carnival

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (AP)—The nearest thing to a pugilistic "world war" since the gay nineties will be put on Thursday night at the Polo Grounds. Promoter Mike Jacobs will produce his "carnival of champions" as the climax event of the outdoor boxing season in New York.

Three world championships will be at stake on the same evening for the first time in fistic history. New Orleans furnished the nearest parallel, in 1892, when on successive nights Jack McAuliffe knocked out Billy Myer in defense of the lightweight title, and, as a grand climax, Jim Corbett knocked out John L. Sullivan in the first glove fight for the heavyweight championship.

Two survivors of that famous carnival, Skelly and McAuliffe, will be ringside guests at next week's all-star show to see Sixto Escobar, Lou Ambers and Barney Ross, respective holders of the world bantamweight, lightweight and welterweight crowns, meet the challenges of Harry Jeffa of Baltimore, Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico, and Ceferino Garcia of the Philippines.

A fourth major attraction involves Marcel Thil of France, holder of the European middleweight crown and claimant of the world title, versus Fred Apostoli of San Francisco. By official edict, however, this has been stripped of title significance. The recognized world 160-pound titleholder in this country is Freddie Steele of Tacoma, Wash. All four bouts will be over the championship distance of 15 rounds, and are expectd to draw a crowd of 50,000 and attract gross gate receipts of $250,000.

The eight principals have been guaranteed close to $200,000.

Albuquerque Invades Wink For Inter-Circuit Series

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 18. (AP)—The Albuquerque Cardinals, roosting comfortably on the championship perch of the Arizona-Texas league, prepared today for the invasion tomorrow of the Wink, Tex., champions of the West Texas-New Mexico league in an inter-league title series.

The Cardinals won the championship of the Cactus circuit last night by trouncing the El Paso Texans in the seventh and deciding game of the play-off series.

Wink won 66 and lost 51 games in the regular season and was the only team to finish above the .500 mark in the four club West Texas-New Mexico loop.

SOUTH CAROLINA WINS

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 18. (AP) — South Carolina's Gamecocks employing more than four complete teams, outmanned and crushed the Emory and Henry Wasps in the season's opener here today, 45 to 7, before 9,000 spectators.

Cubs Carve One Game From New York's Lead

(By The Associated Press)

Employes of the United States government number more than 800,000, of whom 700,000 are stationed outside of Washington.

Lubbock Baseball Season Continues; Hubbers Play Forsan Oilers Here Today

Southpaw Chunkers Due To Throw At Each Other This Afternoon

The same two baseball clubs which battled each other here two weeks ago clash again this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the local park. The teams—Jack Thompson's Lubbock Hubbers and Manager Forbes' Conoco Oilers of Forsan.

The baseball weather which has prevailed of late has had anything but a desultory effect upon the Hubbers, who turned out Friday for a good workout after thinking the season had ended. Most teams of the section have folded their wings for the winter, but the Forsans and Lubbocks have not. Any kind of weather is baseball weather to them, and they're back at it today with a vengeance.

Snipe Conley May Play

Particularly are the Forsan Oilers out with a vengeance. They want revenge for the 7-3 defeat plastered on them two weeks ago by the Hubbers, and they believe they can get it by sending in Lefty Beard to do the pitching.

Last night it was rumored that Snipe Conley, the former Texas League record breaker, will be with the Forsans today, and that is not altogether improbable. Old Snipe, who turned over the reins of the Texon team this season after several extraordinary semesters there, still loves to play baseball, and if he's here today, the fans will see one of the best ever produced by the Texas League. He still holds at least one pitching record in the league, and he'll never be forgotten.

Jerry Blanchard will be toeing the rubber again for the Hubbers today, and if he's right, the fans may expect a pitching performance deluxe. He'll be backed by the best players the Hubbers have had all season, plus a capable catcher and third baseman. The catcher, in all probability, will be Alex Blair, who caught for the Amerada Oilers of Hobbs this season and who is well respected hereabouts. A capable catcher, he is also a power at bat, which is something the Hubbers need.

Prather At Third

At third base will be an old Hubber, R. D. Prather, who also played for the Amerada crew this season. Nobody doubts his fielding ability, and his hitting is good enough to make him a valuable addition. There may be another change or two in the Hubber lineup, but Manager Jack Thompson made only those two definite announcements last night.

The game is at 3 o'clock, the price is 40 cents, and there, are plenty of seats. It may or may not be the last game of the season, but it'll be baseball. Lefty Beard, who held the Hubbers to two hits and no runs for the last four innings of the game two weeks ago, probably will start today, and if the Hubbers do as they usualy do against left handed pitchers, it'll be close.

Longhorns Need Only Speed In Line To Be Team To Beat In Southwest Conference; Play Texas Tech Saturday

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. — Football's resurrection is on at the University of Texas—new faces, new methods and new spirit welded into the revival of a Longhorn six times buried in 1936.

Tag Texas, winner of only two games last year, as the team to beat in the Southwestern conference and you can't be far wrong.

Talent clutters the practice field and there to direct it is a coaching staff unaccustomed to losing football games—Dana X. Bible, head coach, Blair Cherry, backfield coach, and Bully Gilstrap, line coach.

"Give us speed in the line and we'll do very well," said Bible. "Our backs are far above the average of any team in the country. I'm well pleased with them. But those linemen must hurry up on the offense. Their defensive play is excellent—but you know we must score also."

Bible was being modest about his supply of ball-carriers, passers, blockers and kickers. He has seven halfbacks as slick as his own bald pate. Three of them operate from the important left half, or tailback position.

Haas' Kicking Good

Two sophomores are likely starters in the Steer backfield and opposing coaches hate to think of them being around two rival seasons. B. F. (Beefus) Bryan and Charlie Haas, a couple of fleet youngsters who do everything, have veteran Jud Atchison, senior tenscond man, worried over the left half position.

Haas' great kicking foot may win him the spot, but Bible likes to rate all three on a par. The trio will be shuffled in an out of every game as constant, fresh touchdown threats.

Certain of a starting position is Lewis (Bullet) Gray, a former John Tarleton Junior college product who is 185 pounds of the smoothest fullback the Longhorns have owned in many seasons. To add to his running and defensive ability, Gray also is a sharpshooting passer. His scrimmage passing has been a revelation.

Shifted To Right Half

Long before these soph upstarts became varsity eligibles the Steer backfield boasted one of the nation's truly fine, big runners, Hugh Wolfe, now in his senior year. The burly fullback of last year, who drove through the Minnesota Gopher powerhouse last year almost when he pleased, has been shifted to right half and may call signals.

Temporarily injured but expected to be ready for the opening game against Texas Tech on Sept. 25 is Henry Mittermayer, another steady veteran who will share signal calling chores with Wolfe. Other backfielders due for heavy duty are Clyde Prestwood, 215-pound soph fullback; Bill Forney, veteran reserve quarterback of last year; Wesley Boyer, Ray Howard and David Kaine.

Solidly set at one end is John Peterson, junior. The other is still open with Joe Roach, 200-pound squadman, a trifle ahead of Lewis Ford, 205-pound soph and Ned McDonald, husky squadman.

Has Experienced Guards

Tackles will be manned from a veteran quartet of Ray Keeling, Nick Frankovic, Will Tullos and Bernie Esunas, Coach Bible has indicated. They have size and have improved their speed—an essential factor in the offensive setup which calls for tackle interference on unbalanced line formations.

Experienced are the guards, but again Bible could use speed in those spots. J. T. King, Howard Terry and Charles Naiser, all lettermen, have Jack Rhodes and Larry Rupel, squadmen, as their opposition.

If Bible gets speed from his line you won't find the Longhorns in the basement this year.

Horse Race Betting Will Have Official Death Next Friday

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—Legal horse race betting in Texas, dead to nearly all practical purposes the past three months, will have its official demise Friday.

Its doom was sealed on that day last June when Governor James V. Allred's "immortal 16" members of the senate succeeded by the barest possible margin in bringing a repeal bill to a vote.

The bill is not technically effective until Sept. 24, or 90 days after adjournment of the session, because it failed of a two-thirds vote in the upper chamber. The state's largest tracks, however held summer meets.

But Waggoner's Gone

The life of racing was a little more than four years. It became legal Sept. 1, 1933, through a rider to a biennial appropriation bill.

Operation of the tracks and the betting there were not altogether to blame for this brief span. Governor Allred, merchants and others claimed track betting had given rise to a gambling mania, particularly wagering at horse race bookie shops.

The return of racing to Texas after a 25-year absence was due in large measure to the efforts of the late W. T. Waggoner, then owner of Arlington Downs. Since the senate voted for repeal, Mr. Waggoner's sons have disposed of most of their race horses. They have given no indication they will seek to make the sport legal again.

Raymond Russell, chief owner of Alamo Downs, San Antonio, has estimated he may try to devise some form of wagering which would not be prohibited by the repeal law. Framers of the statute maintain, however, that it is airtight.

The Boston syndicate operating the Houston track has not disclosed its plans.

Texas Cattlemen Are Sitting 'On Top Of The World' First Time In Seven Years

Both Prices And Supplies High

By JACK B. KRUEGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 18.—The Texas cattle empire, from great rancher to small farmer, gleefully watched the market this week hit its highest level in 17 years and sensed that the dollar harvest they have long awaited was at hand.

These proprietors of the state's most romantic industry jubilantly anticipated the greatest flow of money into their bank accounts since the market went boom! seven years ago. Two factors contributed to their smiles:

Population Highest Since 1925

The nation's householders seemed willing to pay for meat the highest prices asked since depression made them think of their bankrolls as well as their appetites; this apparent affluence comes when Texas ranges have produced the third highest cattle population since 1925.

In the Chicago market this week buyers paid $19.10 per hundredweight for choice grain-fed steers. Such high prices held in the face of U. S. crop and livestock reporting board estimates the Texas cattle population this year was 7,547,000, a figure topped only in 1933 and 1934.

Ample Supplies And Prices

Fort Worth market experts, observers of one of the country's great cattle centers, said the Texas livestock producer was sitting "on top of the world" because of the ample supplies and high prices. Up to mid-September last year Fort Worth payments for cattle totaled $25,748,125. For the same period this year the total is $56,785,982, a gain of more than 112 per cent.

What looked like disaster when ranchers were obliged to carry over from 1936 large numbers of calves and lambs turned out to be a blessing. Copious rans fell last fall, bringing grass to scanty ranges.

Mild Winter Aid

A mild winter enabled raisers to carry through with light feeding. Grass and weeds started early in the spring, and Texas there upon had more fat cattle and sheep ready for early market than in many years.

Ranchers in the Dalhart cattle country, Fort Worth sources said, have cattle worth $1,100,000 ready to ship to markets in the next 90 days.

Twenty counties in the San Angelo area had perhaps 600,000 head of cattle in shape for this fall's market. The estimate on the value of the crop was $15,000,000. New animals have moved to market because buyers and growers have held back waiting for a general rain. The resurgence of the cattle industry in that region was reflected in the increase of herds by 40 per cent and 20 per cent in quality since 1934. Prices have kept pace by rising from $35 a depression cow and calf to $70 now. Such prices were a far cry from the $8 and $10 a head longhorns brought in the seventies.

Demand Greatest in 25 Years

The Amarillo country reported the greatest demand in 25 years and was set to ship its purebred animals to the Fort Worth, Kansas City and Denver markets.

The cattle barons won't get all the gravy. In the South Plains centering at Lubbock cattle raising has shifted from large ranches to small, medium-size farms employing several hundred cowboys and between 2,500 and 3,000 farmers. In addition, commercial feeders who take other people's cattle for conditioning, count on a share of the impending riches.

In South Texas much of the cattle shipments make their first stop in San Antonio, which reported a tremendous increase in receipts this week. The coastal country is a chief client of this market.

Seventeen counties around Abilene have 300,000 calves for sale at 8 and 9 cents a pound. There are enough yearling steers to satisfy the demand.

To lay any doubt the cattle men of Texas are doing quite well this season is this fact: rustlers are riding again. To combat this recurring menace producers organized the Dallas County-Wide Cattle Protective association at Irvin and offered $50 rewards for the apprehension of these thieves.

Polo Teams Of Lubbock And Plainview Play Here Today

Mallet squads of Lubbock and Plainview will meet on the polo field at the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds at 3:30 oclock this afternoon.

Lubbock last week defeated the Lamesa "B" squad, 10 to 8, and Lamesa "A' team won from Plainview, 14 to 7.

Riding for Lubbock will be Claude Hurlbut at No. 1, Bob Hester at No. 2, Murphy May at No. 3, and J. H. Cooper at No. 4. Guy Smith will alternate at No. 1.

For Plainview will be Blackie Norris at No. 1, Bradley at No. 2, Marvin Shurbert at No. 3, and Lloyd Phillips at No. 4.

Erie Barron of Lamesa and Julian Willamson will referee. Some of the finest polo mounts in West Texas will be in action, notably those ridden by Shurbert, Phillips, May and Hester.

Leaders All But Sew Up Batting Crowns

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (AP)—The Major league batting races appeared today to be all but over.

From the looks of things in either league during the past week, it seem all that's necessary to make it official is to crown Charley Gehringer, the strong silent man of the Tigers, in the American league, and Ducky Medwick, mauler of the Cardinals, in the National.

Although both lost ground during the seven-day span, Gehringer, with a .384 average, held a 31 point bulge on his nearest American league rival, Lou Gehrig, today, while Medwick, with .375, sported a 21 point edge over the deadlocked second-place pair, Paul Waner of the Pirates and Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs, in the National.

License Officials Are Stumped Here

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—This one stumped driver's license officials.

A negro applicant from Houston gave his height as eight feet 10 inches.

Thinking an error had been made, department officials wrote him.

His reply was: "Sorry to say but that's my mistake made in height. Should be nine feet, 10 inches."

Finalists For Texas League Title Will Be Determined In Play-Off Series Today

(By The Associated Press)

Knotted at two triumphs each for the four teams left scrapping in the Texas League's Shaughnessy playoff, finalists will be determined at Fort Worth and Oklahoma City Sunday afternoon.

Fort Worth tries to turn back Tulsa, last year's Dixie champions, and San Antonio makes its last effort to head off the full-season leaders, Oklahoma City Indians.

Ed (Bear Tracks) Greer, the gangling righthander who stopped Tulsa in the second game, probably will take the hill for the Panthers. Either Lahti or Irv Stein would be Manager Bruce Connatser's likely mound choice.

San Antonio probably will depend upon Kimberlin to put them into the titular playoff. Oklahoma City will ask workhorse Ash Hillin, the league's leading twirler with 32 triumphs, to turn back the erratic Missions.

The championship series is due to start Tuesday.

Longhorn Band May Have 250 Members For Tech Battle

AUSTIN, Sept. 18 (AP)—The University of Texas is aiming for the biggest band in college ranks this year.

Col. George Hurt, director, says between 200 and 250 men will be equipped and uniformed when the pigskin spins through the air for the kickoff in the Texas-Texas Tech football game Sept. 25.

He has invited nine bands to attend the Texas-Arkansas game here Oct. 16.

Dupre School Assembly Will Be Held At Senior High Thursday

At their first assembly program of the year Dupre children will meet W. B. Irvin, superintendent of schools, all the teachers in their school, and citizenship club presidents. The assembly will be held on Thursday afternoon at 1:45 in Senior High school auditorium, and all parents and friends of the children are invited to be present, Mrs. Guy L. Trow, principal, stated.

The assembly program will be opened with songs, led by Mrs. G. H. Willingham, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Jane McArthur. The Rev. W. R. Vivrett will lead the devotional, after which Mr. Irvin will be introduced and make a short talk to the children. The program will be closed by introduction of teachers and citizenship leaders.

Levelland Man Dies Saturday Of Heart Attack; Rites Monday

LEVELLAND, Sept. 18. (Special)—W. M. Johnson, 59, died suddenly this morning at 5 o'clock as the result of a heatr attack at his home. He had just finished his usual morning cup of coffee when he fell over in his chair.

Johnson for the past nine years had been caretaker of the Hockley County courthouse, built ten years ago. During the year he was not in charge of the building, he had been assistant caretaker. In addition to his work in that capacity, Johnson helped in the construction of the courthouse and had the contract for landscaping the grounds on the public square.

Survivors include his wife and seven children. Four of the children live in Hockley county. The other three live in Phoenix, Ariz., San Antonio, and in Bandera county.

Funeral services for Mr. Johnson are to be conducted on Monday. Offices in the county building were closed all day Saturday in respect to the man who was known to all Hockley county residents.

Leases On 450 Acres Of Land Are Filed Here On Saturday

Rights for exploration of oil and gas in Lubbock county on approximately 450 acres of land were conveyed by leases and assignments of leases filed Saturday at the office of Ed D. Allen, county clerk, to continue the indicated oil play in this area.

Leases and assignments on approximately another thousand acres have been placed at the clerk's office and will be filed immediately upon receipt of filing fees, members of the office indicated.

L. C. Ellis and wife conveyed to Chas. J. Wohlford by lease the southwest quarter of section 16, block D-6, AB & M survey. Wohlford, in turn, assigned the lease to Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation. P. H. Van Pelt obtained from J. W. Crawford and wife of Trenton rights on 285.994 acres, the land being described as all that certain tract or parcel of land out of the south half of section 3, block R-G, certificate 673, TT Railway company survey.

Leases and assignments already placed at the clerk's office and which probably will be filed early this week are:

Oil and gas lease assignment—John L. Baldridge to W. R. Chancellor, southeast quarter of section 3, block A, abstract 85, cert 430, TT Railway survey.

Oil and gas lease—T. B. Zellner and wife to Ohio Oil company, an Ohio corporation, north 107.38 acres of southeast quarter of section 17, block B and 48.47 acres of land out of southeast part of the southwest fourth of section 17, block B, a total of 155.85 acres.

Oil and gas lease—Clara May Glenn to Baldridge, northwest quarter of section 114, block 20, patent 450.

Oil and gas lease assignment—Baldridge to Chancellor, 306.65 acres of that 319-acre tract of land in west half of section 23, block A, abstract 49, certificate 225.

Oil and gas lease—Cecil Wayne Honey and wife to Fred Childers, east half of section 33, block 20, HE & WT Railway company survey, containing 320 acres.

Total acres of land on which rights were conveyed, including the leases not yet filed but at the clerk's office, amounted to 1,549 acres.

Youth Wanted In Jail Break Held

Everett Jones, about 19, wanted at Greenville on a charge of car theft and who broke jail there August 22, was arrested here Friday night by George Stringer, deputy sheriff and special officer for theaters, and will be transferred to Greenville today or tomorrow, by Hunt County Sheriff Frank Wolfe, according to Bill Mabray, police identifications officer.

Stringer arrested the man in the 1000-block Avenue J at 9:10 o'clock Friday night after he watched him get into two cars and attempt to start them, he said. When Jones got out of the second car, Stringer arrested him and took him to the city jail where he was booked for "investigation of attempted car theft."

Fingerprints Identical

Fingerprints taken Saturday by Bill Mabray, police identifications officer, proved identical with those of Jones sent out from the Public safety bureau at Austin, Mabray said. He had hidden them under an automobile there the night before, he said.

Jones at first gave a "phoney" name, but later admitted he was Jones, investigating officers said. He was questioned Saturday by Mabray, Lewis Kittrell, and other members of the police department. Mabray said he told him he and "two or three" other prisoners overpowered the guard at the Hunt county jail and escaped. He said the others already had been captured.

Papers Are Found

Jones Saturday took officers to a shed car lot in the 800-block of Thirteenth street and found papers there belonging to B. T. McCormick, resident of Lubbock, and which he said he took from McCormick's car Friday night when it was parked in the 900-block on Broadway, Mabray said.

McCormick told police he missed the papers Saturday. He is an agent for the United States Life Insurance company.

Jones was transferred to the county jail. Sheriff Wolfe, who communicated with Mabray Saturday, said he would start to Lubbock this morning for Jones.

A negro was committed to the county jail to be held for investigation, said Jailer "Big Jim" Robinson.

Ed Gammage, Slaton negro, was fined $100, thirty days in jail and court costs in each of two cases of liquor law violations by Judge J. J. Dillard of county court when the negro entered pleas of guilty, according to information from the office of the county attorney.

Sam Fort, of the Texas Liquor Control board swore to the complaints before Robert J. Allen, county attorney.

Police investigated an attempt to break into an automobile in the 1000-block Texas avenue Saturday night and police took fingerprints, but early today no arrests had been made, it was indicated.

Vandenberg's Speech

recapture of sound, solvent, truly liberal government, and to the restoration of effectual authority for law and order under an unbroken Constitution of the United States."

Outlining the path he believed his party should take, Vandenberg said it should veer neither to "the extreme right" of "blind and often suicidal conservatism" nor to "the extreme left" of "brooding revolutionaries, to frequently inspired by alien impulse and ideals," but straight down the middle of the road.

Vandenberg said "the first and most fundamental issue that confronts us is the maintenance of the American constitutional form of government," and added that "more laws have been found unconstitutional since March 4, 1933, than in half a century preceding."

On subject of labor relationships Vandenberg remarked that "the whole country knows that this administration at Washington winked at trespass and condoned lawlessness for many months" and that some of its spokesmen actually lent aid and comfort to this anarchy."

Act Should Be Expanded

"The Wagner act," he said, "should now be expanded to stop erring labor as it stops erring capital."

Vandenberg called his party's attention to need for sound governmental finances, based on economy.

"Pious, petty gestures toward economy," he said, "indicate that even the administration's realists are themselves beginning to get scared at their own improvidence. But the gestures are puny and pathetic in the face of the damning record. Santa Claus still moves merrily upon his way—just two jumps ahead of the referee in bankruptcy."

The Michigan senator said "the public credit can be saved, sound and dependable money can be restored, dread inflation can be stayed, if earnest, devoted men, conscious of those needs and armed with the courage of their convictions, shall address themselves to the insistent task that two and two shall again make four."

Scenes Reminiscent Of Early Days At Tech Found In Building Activities

BY EVA ROB WATKINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Tech students have gone into "wing formation" to attack the third floor of the administration building by way of stairways at each end of the corridors.

Huge tarps, long ladders, paint buckets, and falling blobs of paint have blocked their way up the main stairway in the center of the building.

Partitions Being Built

To accommodate the tide of incoming students, an increase over last year, partitions are being built in rooms and hammering and painting goes on in spite of classes.

With the smell of turpentine and paint in the halls, and tudents laughing about "painters' colic," faculty members, who came to Tech when it was opened in 1925, recall they climbed over scrap lumber, piles of bricks, sacks of cement, and steel beams for a long time to get into the unfinished administration building to classes. instructors lectured with concrete mixers for competition. "Enthusiasm compensated for all," they said.

Only Few Buildings

The only buildings that first year were the administration, the home economics and the textile buildings, the stock judging pavilion, and the cafeteria (the present book store). Classes were held in every conceivable place—English classes in the pavilion with cattle bawling outside.

Dr. A. W. Evans insists that he had the hardest class to teach—education in the cafeteria from 11 to 12 with only a thin partition between students and the kitchen. He had no chance to hold students' attention when they were so completely surrounded with odors of ham, sweet potatoes, and other food. In fact, he had to watch himself or he would stop in the middle of his lecture to sniff and identify a new aroma.

They Can Laugh Now

And when instructors groan about overcrowded conditions, those who were here in 1925 almost laugh.

Dr. Evans said there was some concern as to whether anyone would register for education; he had agreed to teach a class in government if he were needed, but he did place an order for 15 textbooks in the course. More than 100 signed up for the class. He didn't teach any government, and had to borrow a history instructor!

Even after school opened, (it was delayed until October 1 until the building could be finished for classes), the jackrabbits on that plot west of Lubbock had simply moved back out of the way of beams and concrete to sit and blink at building operation, and they loped along the trails with students who went to the library at night to study. There were no streets that first year, and "somebody was always getting a car bogged down in muddy weather".

Special Session

mentioned, interest seems to center on those which would levy on retail sales and natural resources. Many persons think between these lines the chief battle will occur.

Allred Against Sales Tax

Governor Allred has said he would veto a general retail sales tax, but some believe he might accept something not so sweeping, for example, a tax on "luxuries."

Those favoring higher taxes on natural resources may be expected to strike at crude oil, natural gas, sulphur, salt, fuller's earth and timber, and on most or all of these levies this group probably will have the support of the governor. At the last general session, the house of representatives voted to boost the tax on crude oil from 2 3-4 cents per barrel to six cents, on natural gas from three per cent of value to four and on sulphur from $1.08 to $1.28 but these measures met death in the senate.

Another proposal which found favor with the house at the session but died in the senate would have increased franchise taxes on corporations, and this again will be offered, perhaps in different form.

Although the governor's call definitely limited the session to consideration of revenue raising, many other matters will be pressing for attention with sponsors seeking special submissions.

They may include utility regulation, a cotton research laboratory, a conservation district for the lower Rio Grande area, land vacancy control, interstate cooperation on handling criminals, a state office building, departmental consolidation, remuneration of counties for the state's share of officials' salaries, a veneral disease clinic, rural aid law revisions and dove hunting regulations.

Riding For A Fall

"The bombs burst within 100 yards of my office in Jimkee road," he said. "Then we knew it was real war, although the night before nobody in Shanghai would have predicted it. In a few days I began to see that it would do me no good to stay. The war ruined my business and everyone was endangered by the falling shrapnel from anti-aircraft guns. I came away from Shanghai with the clothes I was wearing, one suitcase and an overcoat, leaving everything else behind.

"The worst thing about the battle was not the danger or the firing. It was the hordes upon hordes of Chinese coolies without food or shelter, maddened with fear. They seemed to run endlessly through the streets."

RECALL A PASTOR

ABERNATHY, (Special)—Friends of Rev. C. C. Griffith, former Baptist pastor here and now at Olton, have been advised he was called again by the Olton church for another year. He was here for seven years.

News Briefs

Earnest Bailey, former Tech student, who has been employed as seed inspector for the department of agriculture with headquarters in Austin the past summer, was visiting on the Tech campus Saturday.

Request for articles and pictures descriptive of Lubbock for publication in "The Street Cleaner," a company publication of the Elgin corporation, was received at the chamber of commerce Saturday. The city recently purchased two new-type garbage trucks from that company. The article, the letter explained, will stress particularly that Lubbock has won the capital award seven years consecutively offered for the Texas city with the best clean up campaign record.

Because forty students in Senior High school enrolled for the debate class, taught each year by J. W. Reid, two classes have been formed. Kline Nall, a new teacher in Senior High, is instructor for one of the classes and Mr. Reid for the other.

Thirteen members of the service department of Kuykendall Chevrolet company have completed a course in servicing of motorcars and repairing of automobile bodies and have been given diplomas from the Chevrolet factory, said H. S. Weiss, service manager. He and F. N. Cravens, J. F. Strickland, Louis Lee, Carl Gilliam, H. C. Kyle, L. L. Miller, John Duty, J. B. Calhoun, J. E. Ware, R. D. Blair, Bill Musgrove, and H. S. Reese received diplomas.

A small metal loving cup offered by a baking powder concern for the best plate of 10 biscuits made with that particular brand and exhibited at Panhandle-South Plains fair was received at the chamber of commerce Saturday. Rules of the competition require that a label from a can of the powder must be attached to the entry blank.

Miss Jewell Trott of Fort Worth has returned to her home after spending the summer in the home of her sister, Mrs. Carl Killman, 1918 Eighteenth street.

A trash fire at 602 East Broadway, near Behren's Wholesale Drug company, called out fire equipment just before noon Saturday.

Ed D. Allen, jr., employe of the general land office at Austin, Saturday visited his parents of 1653 Main street and saw the game at Tech field.

L. E. Grimes, Lubbock Oldsmobile dealer, has gone to Lansing, Mich., where he will attend a national meeting of company dealers and distributors. He will be gone for about 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. McKinstry and son, Lon, of Hagerman, N. M., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Denham, 3201 Nineteenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Chardo Pierce and two daughters of Midland, Calif., are visiting Mr. Pierce's father, Chas. A. Pierce here. The California man, reared in Lubbock, is associated with the United States Gypsum company, a position he took upon graduation at Texas A. & M. approximately 10 years ago.

C. F. Mappes, Amarillo representative of the Nelson W. Willard lands, was here Saturday on business. The concern is a subsidiary of the Santa Fe and controls lands along the company's right-of-way. There is considerable inquiry about land for sale, he said.

L. M. Hargraves, vocational agriculture teacher at Frenship; Lawrence Shipman, at New Deal and James W. Burroughs, a farmer living west of Lubbock, are leaving this morning for Amarillo with an exhibit for the Tri-State fair. The exhibit will be composed of agricultural products from Lubbock county and is the only official exhibit.

Lynn county cotton farmers are busy with gathering of their bumper crop, said W. S. (Skip) Taylor, Tahoka, district court clerk, yesterday afternoon while here. Much cotton is coming into town and there will be a steady increase this week.

Plans are complete for the annual Rotary inter-city meeting Wednesday night at Texas Tech. Acceptances from nearby towns are being received said Sam T. Davis, secretary.

Jack Van Bebber, who did graduate work in agricultural economics and who was wrestling coach at Tech in 1933, visited on the Tech campus Saturday. Before coming to Tech, Van Bebber was a champion wrestler in the 1932 Olympics held at Los Angeles. He is now with the Phillips Petroleum company at Kellerville.

Among spectators at the Arizona State-Texas Tech game Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Murray and daughter of Hobbs, N. M. They flew to Lubbock for the game. Mr. Murray is president of the Me-Tex company there and an influential supporter of Texas Tech.

A Canadian goose with a red band on one leg and which belongs to A. H. O'Kelly of 1919 Thirteenth street has been lost or has strayed, according to information Saturday from its owner. O'Kelly said he had kept the bird "six or seven" years. It was believed the goose strayed away Friday night. He asked that any person seeing the bird communicate with him.

Announcement was received Saturday by officials of the Panhandle-Plains Fair association that George P. Lillard of Arlington, well-known hog raiser, will enter 80 hogs in the contests in this year's fair. He will have entries in every division of the hog contests. A son, Lee Lillard, jr., will enter pigs in the contests for 4-H club boys. Lillard now has a herd of show hogs at Washington, fair officials said.

Late Saturday night no information had been received here relative to the school election held in four of the elementary school districts of the Cooper Rural High school district. Election was to determine whether trustees of the Cooper Rural High school district would be given authority to transfer elementary children of the Slide, Barton, New Hope, and Union districts to the Cooper high school and whether trustees would be given authority to tear down elementary school buildings and use materials in construction of a new elementary school building on the same campus with the Cooper Rural High school building.

Jesse Adams, 22, son of Mrs. W. F. Porter of 1414 Avenue E, died several hours after he was injured in an accident at a logging camp at Cortez, Colo., Friday afternoon, according to information received here Saturday night. The body will arrive here at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon for burial in Lubbock cemetery with Rix Funeral home in charge. Other funeral arrangements late Saturday night had not been announced, the funeral home reported. Other details of the accident were not known here.

Charge Echoes Crash

sisted in his investigation by W. E. Renfro, also of the patrol.

Members of the sheriff's department here said Johns would be transferred to Plainview today by Hale county authorities who were contacted Saturday night.

When the 1936 Ford coupe, driven by Johns and occupied by Golightly and Mann, and the light 1933 Chevrolet coach, driven by Burdine and occupied by his wife, crashed, all five persons were thrown from the cars. The young men were riding south and the Burdines north. Neither machine was overturned.

Johns said the vehicles crashed when he was attempting to pass a truck going south just ahead of him. He said he applied his brakes but could not stop before meeting the other automobile. The cars were "practically demolished."

Had Visited Son Here

The Burdines had been to Lubbock on business and to visit a son L. A. Burdine who is associated with Barrier-Durham dry goods company. They had started back to Hereford.

The McLean men were en route to Odessa.

After the wreck victims were taken to Abernathy for emergency treatment, they were transferred here to the West Texas hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Burdine were taken to the hospital here by Plainview residents who were among the first to arrive at the scene of the wreck. Golightly and Mann later were taken to the hospital and Johns arrived later. He was not given treatment at the hospital.

Persons involved in the mishap arrived here shortly before 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Johns said his two companions were thrown out and over the top of the automobile in which they were riding and that he also was thrown clear of the wreckage. He said Mrs. Burdine was thrown free of the automobiles and onto the pavement and that Burdine was found lying near his car with his feet on the running board.

Authorities believed the injuries would not prove fatal to any of the victims.

Slaton Woman Suffers Injury When Struck By Automobile

SLATON, Sept. 18. (Special) — Mrs. E. S. Richardson, about 50, suffered a leg fracture in two places and lacerations of the head when she was struck by an automobile driven by Calvin Klaus, 19, of Southland. The mishap was on a down-town street about 8 o'clock tonight.

Chief of Police R. L. Wicker, who investigated the accident, said witnesses told him it was unavoidable. The boy stopped to give assistance to Mrs. Richardson.

She was admitted to Mercy hospital here for treatment.

Girl Tells Story In Court Saturday; May Transfer Her Case

A 17-year-old girl, pallid from several months spent in Lubbock county jail and who told in 99th district court in a weak, restrained voice a story of having married a bigamist and engaged in a car swindling scheme, Saturday morning was ordered held pending transfer of her case to the juvenile docket.

Peggy Weir, daughter of a former Amarillo deputy sheriff who later worked as a Fort Worth policeman, told her story before Judge E. L. Pitts. She was jointly indicted with R. L. Dishman on a charge of swindling Beasley Motor compny of Lubbock. She also is under indictment charging a similar offense at Fort Worth, and assertedly was no-billed at Wichita Falls by a grand jury that investigated similar charges.

Gave Name Of R. L. Wilson

Dishman, who gave the name of R. L. Wilson when he married her last December, the girl said, is under indictment here and at Fort Worth on swindling charges, and at Forth Worth he is charged with being a bigamist. Assertedly, he has a wife and child living there. He recently was given two years in a swindle case at Wichita Falls, the court was told.

Peggy Weir, modishly dressed, said she did not know until reaching Lubbock she had engaged in nefarious undertakings, explaining "the man I thought I was married to" had not told her much about himself and what he was doing.

Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, told the court the man and the woman went to a Fort Worth automobile agency, took an automobile under pretense they were to decide whether to buy it, and left north Texas. They went to Wichita Falls, he said, and traded the car on another new machine and, when they reached Lubbock, perpetrated the same swindle, claiming the car being traded was one the woman had owned under her maiden name.

The two were arrested June 23 at Abilene and returned here.

laws and finally the courts, and especially the supreme court of the United States, have the last word and interpret the laws, to see that they conform to the people's will as expressed in the fundamental law —the constitution."

Klett Is Toastmaster

E. L. Klett presided as toastmaster. He was introduced by Anderson V. Weaver, jr., new president of the Lubbock County Bar association. Mrs. Lottie Boles Hilton sang two numbers, with Mrs. David S. Martin as her accompanist. Before the address of the evening Prof. Julien Paul Blitz, head of the department of music at Texas Technological college, played two numbers on the 'cello. Mrs. Blitz presided at the piano.

Toastmaster Klett called on out-of-town attorneys to introduce themselves or their delegations Amarillo, Dickens, Floydada, Slaton, Levelland, Lamesa, Midland, Muleshoe, Farwell, Clovis, Brownfield, Post, Seminole and Tahoka responded. W. D. Benson, jr., secretary, introduced the Lubbock lawyers and their ladies.

Pipkin Introduces Speaker

Herman C. Pipkin of Amarillo, a former president of the state bar, was introduced and he in turn presented the speaker of the evening. Pipkin praised the plan of the district association in meeting in the several large towns to get lawyers together. He thanked the court of civil appeals of the seventh judicial district, for attending the affair.

At the close of the president's address, Chief Justice M. J. R. Jackson of the Amarillo court and associate justices W. N. Stokes and A. J. Polley, spoke briefly. Toastmaster Klett also called on Dean W. A. Jackson of the graduate division of Tech, Judge Louis B. Reed, 110th district of Lamesa and Senator G. H. Nelson. Director James Kilpatrick also was introduced.

Pipkin in a few words, expressed the appreciation of the older lawyers of this section for the friendship and advice of the late Roscoe Wilson, and presented to Mrs. Wilson a bouquet of flowers.

After the meeting attorneys greeted the state president and thanked him for his visit to this section. He leaves for home this afternoon.

Littlefield Fair To Open Thursday

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 18.—Plans for the second annual Lamb County fair have been completed, it was announced by a committee who said Cong. George Mahon of Colorado would attend the opening Thursday.

The congressman is to cut the ribbons across the gates at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The big 3-day exposition will then be on.

A booster trip to neighboring towns was staged Friday and was a success. Huge crowds are expected as result of the visits.

A radio program is to be given over KFYO Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Miss Kathryn Darby of Spade, a singer, and Morgan Layfoeld, Littlefield High school faculty member, are on the program with others.

The fair association is sponsoring a dinner for Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McQuatters, farmers living six miles from here and who won a Progressive Farmer master farmer contest recently. Editor Eugene Butler is to present them with a plaque. Con. Mahon, K. J. Edwards, district agent leader, and others are to be guests.

Thursday s to be a free day for school children. Tickets to all school children in the county have been distributed.

A rodeo will be given daily in a field adjoining the park, with Curley Daughtery of Olton in charge.

ing the bund, Shanghai's famous waterfront thorofare, and were transported by motor truck to the new United States marine barracks overlooking the battle zone.

Meanwhile, Domei (Japanese) News agency dispatched reports that China's capital, Nanking, had been bombed by Japanese planes, apparently in reprisal for daring Chinese aerial attacks on Japan's warships near Shanghai last night. The reports were unconfirmed, however.

The American reinforcements reached the war torn metropolis after Japanese anti-aircraft shells fired at Chinese bombers, endangered the United States flagship Augusta and other foreign warships on Shanghai's waterfront during repeated Chinese air raids last night and early today.

Shrapnel burst over the International settlement, bringing new terror to Americans and other foreigners.

Jury Is Summoned For Civil Actions In Levelland Court

LEVELLAND, Sept. 18, (Special)—A jury has been summoned for 10 o'clock Monday morning to hear civil actions subject to call next week in 72nd district court by Judge Daniel A. Blair. Next week will close the three weeks' term of district court here.

Civil actions on next week's docket are: Verna G. Sullivan against W. B. Blankenship, suit for damages; H. A. Sullivan and wife against W. B. Blankenship, suit for damages; Pettit School district against H. E. Singley, tax suit; Silas Sheek and wife against R. H. Henry, trespass to try title; B. R. Onstott against C. L. Wynn and others; H. Women of the garden club are arranging for an exhibit. Mrs. B. K. Barker is chairman of the club's committee.

Examining Trial For Youth Has Been Set For Sept. 24

BRADY, Sept. 18 (AP)—Examining trial has been set for Sept. 24 for Stanley Anderson, 18, under appearance bond of $2,500 on a charge of "murder by killing persons while under the influence of intoxicating liquor."

Sheriff Love Kimbrough filed the complaint after a traffic accident yesterday that was fatal to three persons. The dead were Mrs. Dolores Garza, of San Antonio, her 10-year-old son, Barnard, and her 18-year-old daughter, Dolores.

Three others in their automobile were injured in a crash with another machine while they were stopping to repair a flat tire. They were en route to West Texas cotton fields.

Permanent State Commission On Buildings Considered

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—A permanent state commission to promulgate rules for safe construction of public buildings might emerge from the New London school explosion which took the lives of hundreds last March.

Rep. R. M. Leath of Henderson, chairman of a joint legislative committee to investigate the tragedy, said the group probably would make the recommendation in a special session of the legislature, starting Sept. 27.

NEW BAND UNIFORMS

LITTLEFIELD (Special) — Twenty-four complete new uniforms have ben ordered for the Littlefield high school band. Superintendent F. A. Hemphill announces. Morgan Layfield is director. There are 16 boys and eight girls in the band. Uniforms are of maroon coats with white trousers or skirts.

Joe Warren Dies Early Saturday

Joe Warren, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Warren of 3433 Nineteenth street, died at 3:05 o'clock Saturday morning after a four-weeks siege of an incurable malady.

He had been given treatment at a sanitarium and at the residence of his parents.

He was born in Munday April 13, 1921. He was classified as a senior in the science department of Lubbock High school and was a pledge of the Minotaur social club.

Active In Club Work

In the 1936-37 term of school, he was active in the Camera club and the Hi-Y club. He had been closely associated with Boy Scout work.

In early childhood he became affiliated with the church, joining the Church of Christ.

He is survived by his parents and a sister, Miss Wynefred Warren, student in Texas Technological college.

Funeral Services This Afternoon

Funeral rites will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Broadway Church of Christ, Elder John T. Smith, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Active bearers will be Henry Austin, Martin Kuykendall, jr., W. C. Estes, Bud Kennedy, Charles Hvass, and Edgar Shelton, jr., social club friends.

Honorary bearers will be Charles Craig, Stanley Young, Carey May, Albert Fortenberry, Marvin Hilburn, Garmer Shaffer, and Jimmie Kilpatrick.

New Secret Society Reported Uncovered

PARIS, Sept. 18 (AP) — A second outlaw secret society, described by the Surete Nationale as a revolutionary arms running ring, was reported uncovered today in connection with the investigation of "the Hooded Ones."

Four members of "the Hooded Ones" (Les Cagoulards), arrested in raids that turned up caches of machine guns, grenades and other munitions two days ago, were still under questioning in connection with their mysterious, anti-communist organization when the fresh disclosure was made.

Operated In South

The second group, known as "the Knights of the Sword" (Les Chevaliers Du Glaive), was said to have operated in southern France in conjunction with "the Hooded Ones" in Paris.

Detectives asserted both groups were engaged in shipping arms to secret branches in France "for ulterior use if the opportunity presented itself." Their ultimate purpose, the investigators said, probably was to assist any uprising against the French republican government.

Doughboys And Tars Are Still Trying To Name Commander

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—Doughboys who were doughboys all through the war and tars who got no further than swabbing decks still are waiting their chance to name one of their number as head man of the American Legion.

Since that winter day in Paris in 1919 when a small group of war-worn soldiers went to a dinner to celebrate a gay evening and came away inspired with the idea of an organization of veterans, 22 men have been honored as commanders of the legion. None has come from the ranks of the enlisted men.

Among the commanders have been Henry D. Lindsey of Dallas, Tex., now of New York, elected late in 1919; and Alvin Owsley of Denton, Texas.

LIVESTOCK

19—Livestock For Sale

We feel that our duty is to satisfy both buyer and consigner. To do this, we must get cattle in when the market is the hottest.

We expect to have the best sale Friday we have had. Last Tuesday, due to wet weather, we had only 300 head; but not a hoof was passed out, which shows that our market was good.

An unusual amount of inquiries from out-of-town buyers are coming in concerning our Sale Friday. If you have cattle we can assure you a nice profit on all that you consign for Friday's sale.

We expect best beef calves to bring from $8 up and good cows $7 up. Bring us your cattle. We can get them sold for as much or more than you expect.

LEGAL NOTICES

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas; County of Lubbock.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Dallas county, on the 24th day of August, 1937, by the Clerk of said Court for the sum of Two Thousand Eight Hundred, Thirty Four and 37-100 Dollars and cost of suit, under a judgement rendered in favor of The Calvert Mortgage Company, a corporation in a certain cause in said Court, No. 28765-F and styled The Calvert Mortgage Company, a corporation vs. C. W. Drake, et al., and placed in my hands for service, I, Tom Abel as Sheriff of Lubbock county, Texas, did on the 27th day of August, 1937, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Lubbock county, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

Lots (7) Seven and (8) Eight in Block Two Hundred Twenty-Four (224) Original town of Lubbock, Lubbock county, Texas, and levied upon as the property of C. W. Drake, Eva L. Drake, H. P. Drake, Albert Rex, a feme sole and The Murray Investment Company—a corporation— and that on the first Tuesday in October, 1937, the same being the 5th day of said month at the Court House door of Lubbock county, in the City of Lubbock, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale, I will sell said above described Real Estate at Public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said above mentioned defendants.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Avalanche-Journal, a newspaper published in Lubbock county.

Witness my hand, this 27th day of August, 1937.

TOM ABEL,
Sheriff Lubbock County, Texas.
By JAS. P. POSEY, Deputy.

(SEAL)
Certificate No. 3234, Company No. 3071
Board of Insurance Commissioners of the State of Texas. To whom it may concern: Austin, Texas, August 19, 1937.

This is to certify that Farmers Cooperative Insurance Company, Houston, Texas, has according to sworn statement complied with the laws of Texas as conditions precedent to its doing business in this state, and I have issued to said company a certificate of authority from this office entitling it to do business in this state for the year ending February 28, 1938.

Given under my hand and my seal of office at Austin, Texas, the date first above written.

R. L. DANIEL,
Chairman of the Board.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals addressed to the Board of Directors of the Texas Technological College of Texas for the construction of a Library Building for the Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas, in accordance with plans, specifications and contract documents prepared by Wyatt C. Hedrik, Architect and Engineer, Fort Worth, will be received in the office of Wyatt C. Hedrick, 1005 First National Bank Building, Fort Worth, Texas, until 10 a. m., October 16, 1937, and then publicly opened and read aloud. Any bid received after the closing time will be returned unopened.

Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of Wyatt C. Hedrick, Architect and Engineer, Fort Worth, Texas.

A deposit of $30.00 will be required on all plans and specifications, $15.00 of which will be retained as rental of plans and specifications, the balance being returned upon receipt of proper bid and return of plans and specifications.

A certified check or bidders' bond in the sum of 5% of the total amount of the bid must accompany each bid, payable to Mr. Clifford B. Jones, President, Board of Directors, Texas Technological College, as a guarantee of good faith without any qualifying endorsement.

The Board of Directors of the Texas Technological college reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any and all formalities. All bidders must comply with the State Labor Laws, including wage scales and hours as required by House Bill No. 54, Acts 43rd Legislature.

Cotton..

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18 (AP) Trading in cotton was limited to week-end evening up today and at the close prices were steady net 1 point higher to 3 lower.

Weather conditions were favorable and mostly dry except for the central Gulf region. The tropical storm off the Louisiana coast caused some anxiety and discouraged short selling while the continued war-like atmosphere in Europe kept investment buyers on the sidelines.

The weekly summary of the Texas crop by the Dallas News said dry, hot conditions speeded up the opening of new bolls which may contribute to the top crop should early frosts hold off. Weevil were reported to be taking most new fruit but leaving the more mature bolls undamaged.

The first sale in October, 1938, was made on the big board here today at 9.23.

Oct. (1931) closed at 8.83@8.84, Dec. at 8.84@8.85, Jan. at 8.89, March at 8.96, May at 9.06, July at 9.12 and Oct. (1938) at 8.24-bid. Spots were steady and unchanged with middling t 8.85. Sales totaled 1.084 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—Cotton fluctuated over a narrow range today with increased southern hedge selling again encountering fairly active trade demand and week-end covering. After December had eased from 8.76@8.71, it turned steadier to close at 8.74. Final prices were 1 point net higher to 1 lower.

The market opened unchanged to 2 points higher, but the easier tone of the stock market brought in some local selling and several deliveries registered further new lows for the movement. Continud foreign and domestic trade price-fixing, however, imparted considerable resistance. Toward the close, some covering developed on the outlook for showers or rains next week.

Next week's forecast was for rain in the eastern belt at the beginning of the week and showers in central and western sections, commencing along the Gulf coast and becoming more general toward the end of the week.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.70 cents a pound. average for the past thirty market days 9.38 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. (AP)—The "squeeze" in September corn collapsed today, threats of a "corner" evaporated, and the price fell precipitously as far as it could go in one session—3 cents a bushel.

The break came in the last 15 minutes when the price tumbled to $1.04¾, exactly 12 cents below the high reached yesterday.

Breaking of the deadlock between owners of corn, or "longs" and speculative sellers committed to deliver, or "shorts," was accompanied by a flood of gossip that a "compromise" between the two groups had been reached, either at the insistence of board of trade and commodity exchange officials or because of the willingness of "longs" to permit "shorts" to get out of the market at not too great loss. There were reports also that freer offerings of old corn from the country and possibly that some new corn may be available for delivery influenced longs to dump their holdings and take their profit.

Other pits in the exchange were quiet. Wheat started higher in sympathy with Liverpool strength but later eased to a lower close largely reflecting weakness in cornered scurities.

At the close corn was varying from unchanged to 8½ cents below Friday's close, September 1.04¾, December 62¾@62⅞, May 63¼@63⅜; wheat was ½ to ¾ lower, September 1.02¾, December 1.03¾@1.03⅞, May 1.05¾@1.05⅞; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, September 31¼; rye ½ to ¾ lower, September 80⅝; provisions unchanged to 38 cents higher.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 18. (AP)—Demand continued good to the week-end of the cash grain market here. Estimated receipts were: wheat 25 cars, corn 15, oats 1, and sorghums 5.

STOCKS TUMBLE AGAIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (AP)—Stocks tumbled through support levels in today's brief market many crashing to new post-depression bottoms for losses of 1 to 4 points generally.

Few issues escaped the selling that at one time put the ticker tape a minute or so behind floor transactions.

Steels were notably weak, along with coppers, farm implements and specialties. Rails showed some come-back near the close and utilities, on the whole, were only fractionally in arrears.

Opinion was mixed in the financial sector as to how much of the downturn was inspired by the president's constitution day speech.

It was pointed out by some, however, that the chief executive's remarks were hardly new or startling.

Most brokers thought the renewal of the downswing was due mainly to other influences, including business doubts, foreign war clouds and indications important stockholders have been getting "out from under" during the past several months.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.5 points to 57.7, equalling the low mark for this index since April 29 last year. Transfers totalled 703,370 shares compared with 1,404,120 last Saturday which was the largest two-hour volume since March 6.

Bids Sought On Parking Meters

Seven manufacturing concerns have been invited to submit bids on supplying Lubbock approximately 250 additional parking meters, according to information given at City hall Saturday.

Invitations to submit bids were sent in obedience to instructions given by the city commission which has been petitioned repeatedly by business men just outside the present metered zone to protect them from all-day parkers. Meters, in the opinion of members of the commission, will be a cheaper and more satisfactory solution of the parking problems there than police enforcement of a two-hour parking limit.

First In Competition

Lubbock, so far as city officials have been able to ascertain, is the first city to attempt to buy the meters on the competitive bidding basis and to seek the devices at a lesser price than the $58 which is quoted by all of the concerns. Not only is the price uniform among supposedly competiting companies, according to correspondence to city officials, but the terms of payment are virtually the same. In each case, the meter company is given 75 to 85 per cent of revenue from the meters until the full price is paid.

The $58 price already has come in for vigorous criticism among members of Lubbock city commission, some members of whom have made the suggestion that the city make its own meters unless devices can be obtained at a lower cost. The question of law on that point, however, is whether the city, in making meters for its own use, would conflict with patent rights.

Parking meters are of comparatively simple mechanical construcion, much less intricate than gas or electric meters which are considerably cheaper. In their discussions, city commissioners made clear that they do not object to a price which would yield a fair profit to the manufacturer and to the holder of the patent, but they voiced strenuous opposition to payment of $58 for meters which, they believe, could be marketed profitably at $10 to $15.

Conditional Contract

The 315 now installed were bought from Dual Parking Meter company on a conditional contract. If, at the end of a 120-day period which closes Nov. 26, the city commission does not believe the meters are wanted, they may be returned without obligation.

Members of the commission, however, are so firmly convinced that the devices are here to stay they now propose the unconditional purchase of about 250 more. If that should be done, it of course would be taking the chance that citizens of Lubbock might vote the devices out, which would mean that Lubbock would have 250 parking meters on its hands and no use for them. City commissioners announced, at the time present devices were installed, that if any doubt exists at the end of the trial period as to the attitude of the citizenship toward them, an election on the subject will be called.

Those who have been invited to submit bids on the additional devices are: Marlin Timing Device company, Springfield, Mass.; Mark-Time Parking Meter company, Miami, Fla.; M. H. Rhodes, inc., New York City; National Park-O-Graf corporation, Chicago; W. T. Keeling, Dallas; Standard Park Meter corporation, Hartford, Conn.; and Dual Parking Meter company of Oklahoma City.

Last Pet Raven Is Victim Of Traffic

Bill Lyle's last pet raven is dead, a victim of traffic.

The raven, a pet of the garage owner, strayed too far out into Texas avenue and Tenth street. A car came around the corner.

"It mashed him flat," Lyle said.

Lyle some months ago found six three-weeks old ravens in Yellowhouse canyon. He brought them to his garage, fed them until they were more than half grown and then gave four to friends. Two were kept at the garage and became pets.

The birds would eat almost anything, but especially delighted in their owner feeding them raw meat. They would not eat hamburger, however.

One of the birds crashed into a wall. He received injuries from which he could not recover.

The birds were favorites with patrons of the garage, who fed them, played with them and teased them.

Miss Wildring B Sherrod Weds Bryan Edwards

The Woman's Angle

by Margaret Turner

ONE of the most unusual news stories carried the past week concerned the decision of one Bette Cooper to turn her back on a screen test, a vaudeville tour, an expensive Persian lamb coat after winning a decided vote as "Miss America" of 1937. What gives the story more interest is that Miss Cooper's cherished dreams were to be on the stage, in the movies or on the radio.

The little 17-year-old girl went back home to continue her school work. It's our opinion that we'll hear more of her later. Here are the figures on the figure of the new "Miss America," who competed as Miss Bertrand Island, N. J.:

Height, 5 feet 6 1-2 inches; weight 120 pounds; neck, 12 1-2 inches; bust, 32 inches; waist, 26 inches; hips, 36 inches; thigh, 20 inches; calf, 13 inches; ankle, 8 1-2 inches; upper arm, 10 inches; lower arm, 9 inches; wrist, 6 inches. Why don't you get the tape measure out of the sewing kit and see how you measure up with the chosen beauty?

AFTER a season of watching young girls ape their older sisters in wearing their hair in waves and stiff curls, it's a refreshing picture to see so many adopting that age-old style of wearing their hair in little braids tied with small ribbons. PENCILED EYEBROWS TABOO

NO longer are eyebrows to be spectacular lines penciled across the forehead from nose to temple. It's farewell to the cubical parabola and hail to the horizontal parenthesis, Wally Westmore, chief of Paramount's makeup department, believes the return to natural arches is a healthy trend.

All the plucking and shaving of eyebrows that used to go on for the sake of glamor actually caused eyestrain, according to the make-up man. The eyebrow was meant to filter glare and dust. Now that it's coming back there should be fewer headaches.

FACT AND FICTION

A SURVEY shows that visitors to New York are wised up to the fiction of Chinatown, dope dens, tong wars, lofty pagodas and the sinister like. None knows better of their acquired sophistication than the sightseeing guides who can sell tourists all else except those squalid, narrow alleys in Little Shanghai.

Visitors to the metropolis also are off the Bowery, having heard that human driftwood floats on equally squalid surface everywhere else. Harlem is still the favorite destination of the transients. That is, after their glimpse of the Empire State building and Radio City. Tourist guides, incidentally, have agreed, by common consent, to cut out of their spiel the vital statistic that if stood up horizontally, the Normandie would reach the mooring mast of the Empire State. Too many people have wanted to know if the Normandie really could be tipped upright, from stem to stern.

The program will include two discussions, "Listen To Your Child's Voice", Mrs. Marlin R. Smith, jr., and "How Our Schools Are Run", Mrs. J. D. Hassell.

Series Of Rush Parties Ends On Saturday

LAS Amigas club, a society of junior high school girls, ended its series of week-end rush parties Saturday night with a dinner at the Aztec room of the Hilton hotel at which time pledges were presented. That afternoon members and rushees attended a progressive luncheon.

Cocktails were served at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Hugh Newton, 1916 Seventeenth street. From the Newton home the girls went to the C. S. Purcell residence, 2223 Sixteenth street, for the salad course. Margaret Purcell was hostess.

The main course was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jobson, 1918 Seventeenth street, with Mary Lou Jobson and Louise Burrus as hostesses.

Marianna Nail and Grace Halsell were hostesses for the dessert which was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kelley Nail, 3101 Twentieth street, and mints and nuts were served by Barbara Hale and Ruth Gray in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Hale, 2118 Seventeenth street.

Other club members attending were Mary Elizabeth Grimes, Betty Ann McAfee, Sylva Wheelock and Marjorie May.

Rushees were Francine Young, Virginia Forbes, Ruth Genelle Spikes, Mary Lee Jones, Doris Mae Levine, Grace Marion Griffith, Mary Louise Breedlove, Jackie Wise, Joyce Hackel, Carol Ann Krueger, Mary Jo Turner, Carlene York, Ellen Jean Henley, Dorothy Sue Standefer, Dolores Bizzell, Robin Leftwich and Nellie Jo Moore.

Friday night Sylva Wheelock and Marjorie May entertained for the group with a "kid" party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. May, 2121 Eighteenth street.

Colored lights and balloons were decorations. A refreshment plate was served after a series of games.

Club Is To Direct Flower Exhibits

Plans for conducting the division of plants and cut flowers for the third successive year in the 24th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair were completed at a meeting of the Lubbock Garden club Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. P. Clement, 2602 Twentieth street. The meeting opened the 1937-38 program for the club.

The president, Mrs. Clark A. Mullican, presided for routine reports then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Frank Winn, superintendent of the plants and cut flowers division in the fair, who named committees.

Helpers Monday, September 27, who will receive entries until 2 p. m. at the fairgrounds will be Mesdames L. S. Mast, M. C. Overton, W. P. Clement, Charles Adams, Mullican, George W. Dupree and Rufus Rush. Mrs. Winn will be assisted in the division the remainder of the week by the following committees:

Tuesday, Mrs. Clement, chairman, and Mesdames O. A. Terry and W. M. Pearce; Wednesday, Mrs. B. E. Needles, chairman, and Mesdames John Conner, Florence Hvass and John R. Hall; Thursday, Mrs. Mast, chairman, and Mesdames Adams, M. D. Temple and E. L. McBride; Friday, Mrs. Roy Riddel, chairman, committee to be named later; Saturday, Mrs. D. A. Forbess, chairman, and Mesdames J. C. Rigney and Joe Hess.

At the next meeting of the garden club, October 15, new colored slides showing "The Art of Table Arrangement" will be presented.

"Hill Billy" Dance Will Be Given For Assembly Club

The Assembly club will open the 1937-38 season with a "hill billy" dance Wednesday night at the Lubbock Country club. Ned Bradley's orchestra will play, beginning at 9:30 p. m.

Hosts will be Doctors and Mesdames J. H. Stiles, O. R. Hand and Arthur Jenkins and Messrs. and Mesdames T. B. Duggan, jr., Marion Sanford and Don Mitchell.

Reviews Listed By Auxiliary For Season

Five reviews, instead of the usual four, have been scheduled for the third annual series to be sponsored this season by the First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary. Reviews of the past two seasons have been met with such enthusiasm that the committee in charge of selecting the books decided to offer five for the same price in answer to numerous requests, the auxiliary president, Mrs. S. C. Wilson, said Friday.

Mrs. Alan L. Strout, whose reviews last year and the year before have drawn capacity audiences, will be the first on this year's program. She will discuss "Precious Bane" (Mary Webb) October 11 at the First Presbyterian church where all the reviews are to be given.

A Famous Story

A famous story, "Damean the Leper" by John Farrow, will be reviewed by the Rev. Gabriel Diamante of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church as his first appearance on the auxiliary series, November 1.

Charles Dickens' immortal "Christmas Carol" will be reviewed December 13 by Mrs. S. J. McFarland who is well-known for her ability as a story teller.

A favorite reviewer of the past two series, James G. Allen, Texas Technological college dean of men, will discuss the extremely popular 1937 novel, "And So — Victoria" (Vaughn Wilkins), January 11.

Professor To Speak

The final review, February 7, will be of "Northwest Passage" (Kenneth L. Roberts) by Dr. O. A. Kinchen, associate professor of history at Tech college.

Single admission fee of 35 cents will be charged for each review, or a ticket for the entire course may be bought for one dollar. Season tickets will be available from each member of the auxiliary.

The program was arranged by Mrs. R. A. Studhalter, committee chairman, and Miss Elizabeth Howard West and Mrs. J. Sam Lewis.

Merry Bidders Club Has Friday Party

Merry Bidders club was entertained Friday afternoon by Mesdames Norton Baker and W. C. Rylander at the home of Mrs. W. P. Garvin, 1711-A Fourteenth street.

Mrs. Maude Bradley made high score in forty-two games.

Other guests were Mesdames Tom Arnett, Willie Brown, K. Carter, A. W. Evans, J. O. Jones, J. B. McCauley, A. E. Miller, J. H. Moore, J. N. Nislar, R. E. Overstreet, J. C. Reynolds, H. W. Stanton, O. B. Trinkle, E. C. Young, T. E. Crites, Minnie Fickas, V. H. Moore and R. H. Tudor.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Q. Scott of Laredo are the guests of Mr. Scott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Scott, 2201 Thirteenth street.

Outfits To Make Autumn Leaves Envious

Elegance Is Noted In Color And Styles

Smart comfort at football games is afforded by this lovely polo-blue dress of rabbit's hair wool. Unusual seaming gives a broad shouldered effect to the three-quarters, semi-barrel sleeves. It has pleats at the sides of the skirts, and contrasting slide fastener closing.

In black it goes to town, in wine wool with black fur it goes to football games, weekends in the country and most occasions in town. Of rabbit's hair wool, it includes a trim, short-sleeved dress and a swagger coat, trimmed with flat bands of Indian kid fur.

BY MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—It's a season of elegance. Even clothes for autumn weekends in the country, football games or motor trips among flame-colored forests are casual in a sumptuously studied, well-bred kind of way.

You don't scurry around in just any old sweater and skirt this fall. Your sweaters will be heavenly cashmere ones with ribbon tape down the front and your skirts will be the sleekest, trimmest things you ever saw, fitted about the hips no matter how much their hemlines flare and swing.

You may wear one of the new horse-blanket plaid coats—a plaid so bright and gay that any respectable horse would snort and rear on his hind legs at the sight of it. If you're a young thing, consider a tweed dress with a butterscotch yellow or pale beige jacket of lambskin, lined to match the dress.

For "our betters"—the gals who go back to football games with old grads or live in a city near a campus, but not on a campus—costume suits are wonderful. Among the handsomest of these are: a wine wool dress with matching jacket trimmed with flat bands of Indian kid fur; a pencil-slim black tweed frock and a short boxy jacket of black Persian; a honey-beige dress and jacket lavishly finished with wide bands of beaver.

Wool frocks, like silk ones, are slim and seductive—slim below the waistline and seductive above. Gathers and tucks and folds and bias treatments accentuate the bosom and emphasize every curve of the figure. Almost none are finished with crazy little buttons, showy buckles, strange belts, weird clips or other fussy gadgets. The best designers have taken off rather than put on such gimcracks.

SLIDE fasteners are rampant. College shops report that their youthful customers won't buy frocks with snaps or hooks and eyes. Mature figures also are happier with dresses they can zip themselves into. Many models are trimmed as well as closed with slide fasteners, either matching or contrasting.

To save money, not to mention wear and tear on the nerves and disappointments later on, try to get a mental picture of the way you want to look in the country before you buy a single sports tog. Do you wish to appear roguishly young, slightly windblown? Then a tweed skirt and matching topcoat with enormous wolf collar and a gay cardigan, buttoned down the back and worn with a belt are items to keep in mind when shopping.

OR do you like an elegant front, no matter where you are? If so, how about a casual costume suit including one-piece frock and fur or fur-trimmed jacket, or a two-piece tweed suit with slim skirt and tailored jacket? If you decide what type of clothes best suits your type and have a fairly good vision of the way you want to appear, you'll end up your shopping tours with fewer of those fine little quick choices which are doomed to a life on a hanger in the closet.

Business Club Program To Be On Town's Business

To begin a year's program on "Our Town's Business", the Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club will have a costume party and program on "Our Town Thirty Years Ago" at 6:15 o'clock Wednesday night at the Hilton hotel.

Members will wear costumes in imitation of clothing worn 30 years ago. The program was arranged by the club research committee which consists of Mesdames Fred Higbee, Lottie Boles Hilton and Grace Moore.

COUPLE IS WED

The marriage of Miss Pauline Dew of this city and Wallace Deshazo of Los Angeles took place Thursday night at 6 o'clock at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. Floyd Dawson, 802 Avenue Q. The couple has gone to California to live.

Ring Service Is Read Saturday By J. T. Smith

THE marriage of Miss Wildring B Sherrod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Sherrod, 2105 Sixteenth street, and J. Bryan Edwards of this city, son of Mrs. Corra Edwards of Paris, took place Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents with John T. Smith of the Broadway Church of Christ reading a double ring ceremony.

The vows were exchanged as the couple stood before the fireplace which was flanked with palms and two large baskets of white gladioli. An arrangement of deep pink gladioli and tapers was placed on the mantle.

The bride wore a Wallis blue novelty crepe frock and her corsage was of Talisman roses and lilies of the valley.

Reception Is Held

After the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding cake was cut and served with coffee. The refreshment table was centered with gladioli and asters and these flowers were arranged on the buffet, carrying out an autumn motif.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 1611 Avenue Q. The bride's traveling costume was in black and gold.

Wedding guests were the bride's parents, her sister, Miss La Wan Sherrod, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Jewell Edwards of Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sherrod, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Stanley and daughter, Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Hildron Rogers, Mrs. E. L. Banks, Mrs. M. E. Sherrod, Mrs. J. T. Smith, Miss Mozelle Partain, Miss Anna Bass Arnett, W. B. Rushing and Louis Murfee, jr.

The bride attended Abilene Christian college, the University of Texas and Iowa State college after being graduated from Lubbock High school. She is a member of Phi Mu sorority.

The bridegroom, a former student at the University of Oklahoma at Norman, is employed at a local hardware store.

Memorial Class Sews For Presbyterian School

Stephens Memorial class members sewed for children at Pres-Mex school when they met with Mrs. V. L. Doughtie, 2619 Twenty-second street, Friday afternoon. Assistant hostesses were Mesdames Minerva Pollard, B. T. Hambright and Joe W. Boyd.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames B. B. Pullen, R. A. Woods, F. W. Newell, James M. Gordon, Ed Ainsworth, C. A. Bruner, Anderson Hunter, J. A. Pressley, G. W. AAUW Will Open Fall Work At Saturday Luncheon

The Lubbock branch of the American Association of University Women will have its first fall meeting at 3 p. m. Saturday in room 107 of the Texas Technological college home economics building, the president, Mrs. Mary W. Doak, has announced.

Miss Mackay Is To Wed Dallas Man

Miss Mary Margaret Mackay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Mackay of this city, will become the bride of Joe Crumpler, son of Mrs. Alto V. Crumpler of Dallas, at 9 o'clock this morning in the new Mackay home, 3120 Twentieth street. Dr. Jack M. Lewis of the First Presbyterian church will officiate with a single ring ceremony.

The bride will wear a Wallis blue rabbit's hair dress with brown accessories.

Wedding guests will be her parents and Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Stewart and Joe Philips of Dallas.

The couple will leave immediately on a wedding trip to East Texas and will be at home after September 26 in Dallas.

Miss Mackay is a graduate of Dallas High school and a former student of Southern Methodist university in that city. Since moving to Lubbock three and a half years ago she has been active in many young peoples circles, especially Girl Scout activities.

Mr. Crumpler also attended S. M. U.

The engagement was announced Friday afternoon when Mesdames Albert Symes and Ray Johnson entertained with a shower in the Johnson home, 2214 Broadway.

The gifts were presented at the close of a treasure hunt.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Robert Bean, B. Border, R. S. Wilkinson, John Howard, Gerald T. Nash, Clark Mullican, Elmo Wall, S. C. Wilson, L. C. Ellis, Ross Ayers, M. Holloway, Mackay, Hugh Newton, Wilbur Cooper, Hubert Wiley, Mart G. Pederson, George Germany, Eddie Henriksen, B. Deckleman, H. R. Objectives Are Outlined For Urban-Rural Co-Operation

AS state chairman of rural-urban co-operation in the Texas Federation of Women's club Mrs. H. F. Godeke has outlined suggested programs for the year's work and mailed them to district chairmen. The letters include summaries of three major objectives to conform to the plans of chairman of the committee in the General Federation and give other objectives to conform to the plans of the state chairman.

One of the major objectives is extending the work of the Federation into rural areas. As Mrs. Godeke points out although there are approximately 6,000,000 farm women in the United States, all rural women do not live on farms. The U. S. census bureau classifies as rural all persons living on farms and in communities of less than 2,500 inhabitants. This year an earnest effort will be made to get key women from rural sections in active membership in urban federated clubs.

Another objective is an increased appreciation of the moral and economic problems interdependent of urban and rural people. This will include a better understanding by urban women of rural economic prob-

Large Display Is Indicated For Women's Division At Fair

Leaders Stress Several Rules

Early indications point to the largest women's department this year in the history of the 24 annual Panhandle-South Plains fairs. Superintendents of the seven divisions, their helpers, and the general director, Miss Delia Wilkinson, have been swamped with inquiries for details. All working committees, including judges, have been appointed and, except for setting up booths and closing entry books, everything is in readiness for the opening day, September 27.

Mrs. Clark M. Mullican, who has worked with the women's department "ever since they've been having fair" is beginning her third year as superintendent of the textile division. She will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Winn, superintendent of the flower division, and Mrs. W. P. Clement, both oldtimers in fair work. Mrs. Robert Watson who helped in the division last year and Mesdames Jess Williams and O. A. Terry.

Mrs. Mullican is urging that South Plains women enter hooked and crocheted rugs, handmade bedspreads and knitted or crocheted three, two or one-piece dresses.

Expect Large Exhibit

"We are expecting to have the largest display of dresses in fair history this year", the superintendent said, "because, for one reason, a local knit shop has made it possible for a large number of women to have instruction in the art of knitting."

Mrs. W. A. Fix, who has lived in Lubbock less than three years, will serve for the second time as superintendent of the art department. She said Friday that five feet of wall space have been added to the space occupied by the department last year. One or two major changes have been made in the divisions and several classes have been added.

The painting on china class is entirely omitted this year because of lack of interest in past years. The omission has made it possible to raise prizes for first and second places in several classes, including professional and non-professional oil paintings, professional and non-professional water colors and professional and non-professional pastels.

Mrs. Fix announced addition of two classes, airplane models and Indian beadwork, to the children's division.

Invite Local Artists

All local artists are invited to help in the art division, Mrs. Fix said. Other helpers will be Mesdames Raymond Marshall, W. R. Vivrett, T. E. Hendrick and Mark Allen. Judges will be Mrs. Chester Hubbard, Miss Edna Houghton and R. I. Lockard.

Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, who has worked with the fair every year since moving to Lubbock in 1929, is beginning her fifth or sixth year, she doesn't remember which, as superintendent of the relics, antiques and curios division. Her helpers are Mrs. R. E. Garlin who has helped the past two years and Mrs. Ford Benham who helped last year.

Mrs. Cunningham requests that all persons entering articles in her division write in big letters on a card (omitting owner's name) the history of each entry submitted. If the owner knows the place and year of origin he is asked to enter that information on the card. "Do not merely say," she requests, "'My grandmother brought this from the east', say 'this ——— was brought in 1790 (or whatever year it was) from Boston to Estacado by ox team'".

The superintendent further suggests that exhibitors study the fair catalogue and enter articles listed for prizes.

Is Her First Year

Miss Clara Pratt, Lubbock county home demonstration agent, is serving her first year as superintendent of the women's home demonstration clubs division. She said Friday that 13 counties on the South Plains have indicated they will submit educational exhibits, showing at a glance the club work of the past year, for the second successive year.

Each exhibit will show a single phase of home demonstration work. The exhibits tentatively will be as follows:

Lamb, yard improvement, showing a front door with correct plantings around the door; Hale, light weight bed covering, showing woolen and feather comforts; Castro, bedroom improvement; Yoakum, clothing, showing various steps in making of foundation patterns; Parmer, refinishing furniture, showing step by step several methods; Kent, kitchen improvement; Hockley, meal planning from nutritional point of view, showing adequate supply and balance for farm family; Cochran, calcium content of milk, showing relation of milk to other foods in calcium content; Bailey, vegetable cookery, method of cooking strong and mild-flavored vegetables; Swisher, food preservation; Dickens, quick breads, tables showing uses of quick breads in a Boston supper, afternoon teas and other occasions; Lynn, butter cakes, showing equipment needed for baking butter cakes, steps in mixing and finished cake; Lubbock, cookies, showing various steps in cookie preparation and a display of gift packages of cookies.

The exhibits will be set up by exhibit committees appointed by home demonstration councils in the counties. The Lubbock committee consists of Mrs. C. R. Rogers, East Side club, chairman, and Mrs. J. H. Barnett, Broadview.

Serve As Hostesses

Three home demonstration club women will serve each day, one at a time, as hostesses to explain the educational exhibits and exhibits of the 4-H club girls.

Miss Gladys Sanders, assistant Lubbock county home demonstration agent, will serve her second time as superintendent of the girls' 4-H clubs division, which will feature exhibits in canned products, household linens and clothing. All Lubbock county club girls are planning to enter and girls from all other South Plains counties have indicated they will enter, the superintendent said.

Miss Lida Cooper of College Station, district home demonstration agent, will judge the girls' entries September 24.

Mrs. Elmo Wall, instead of Mrs. R. Q. Pierce as announced in the fair catalogue, will be superintendent of the culinary division. She is serving her first year as a superintendent although she has helped with the fair for many years. Her assistants will be Mesdames J. D. Rondeaux, Robert Bean, Charles Whitacre, A. Sansom, W. A. Dykes and Wylie Briscoe.

Entrants in the division are urged to study the catalogue and note, not only the variety of classes under which foods may be entered but the special commercial attractions for which awards will be given, the superintendent said.

Home demonstration club members will enter their foods in the culinary division as a similar department in the home demonstration division has been eliminated the past two years.

To Sponsor Division

The flower division is to be superintended for the third successive year by the Lubbock Garden club under the supervision of Mrs. Frank Winn, club vice-president who has served many years working in various divisions of the women's department.

Mrs. Winn has announced that entry is open to the general South Plains public, as has been the custom in past years. She is anticipating the largest variety and greatest quantity in history as about seven new classes have been added.

She is asking that local residents who have an abundance of flowers offer them to replace the displays throughout the week.

Helpers in the department are announced in the report of Friday's garden club meeting elsewhere in today's paper.

Assistant directors in the women's department are Mesdames Pierce, M. C. Overton, W. P. Clement, J. H. Hankins, W. W. Rix and W. O. Stevens.

Striped Zephyr Wool Is Smart

Striped knitted zephyr wool in black, gray, green and white makes a smart frock to wear now without a wrap and later under a coat. It is fastened with three metal clips. The star of the black suede accessories is a vizored cap with a white quill thrust through the crown.

School Head Facing Rigid Schedule In Giving Invitation

W. B. Irvin, new superintendent of Lubbock Public schools, has set a schedule for himself this week that will undoubtedly bring pleasure because of the contact with Lubbock's youth, but may make his a hand a bit sore before it is complete. From Monday through Friday he has asked that every student in Senior High school drop by his office and at least shake hands with him.

The superintendent extended the invitation when he appeared before the Senior High student body for the first time. Students are anxious for the chance to meet their new superintendent, and indications are that a good per cent of the approximately 1200 students in school will take advantage of the opportunity.

Pottery And Kitchen Gifts Are Presented To Bride

Mrs. Michael Bynum, who was Miss Marguerite Bates before her marriage September 5, was honored when Mrs. Paul Marshall, 2114 Nineteenth street, entertained with a pottery and kitchen shower Thursday afternoon. The hostess' mother, Mrs. Earl D. Allen, assisted.

Several amusing games were played, the climaxing game being a "numbered clothes pin contest" in which the honoree was judged winner. Her reward was a large basket of gifts.

Guests were Mrs. Chalma Abbott of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. A. W. Bates, mother of the honoree, Mrs. J. D. Bynum, the bridegroom's mother, Mesdames W. S. Moad, E. B. Varner, Muton Bynum, A. H. Fullington, jr., O. S. Howard, Jack Sims, Scott Poe and Gus Freeland and Misses Nell Burdette, Jeanette and Iva Leach Bynum, Louise Howard and the honoree.

Extension Course In Zoology Will Be Started Saturday

Students from as far away as Lamesa and Amherst have registered for an extension course, zoology 235, which was organized Saturday morning at Texas Technological college.

First class work will be done next Saturday by the students, several of whom are teachers in school systems in this area. Dr. Bessie League, associate professor of biology, will lecture two hours each Saturday morning, and students will work in the laboratory from 1 o'clock until 4 Saturday afternoons.

Mrs. Alta Mae Appling Is Complimented Friday

The Merry Circle surprised Mrs. Alta Mae Appling who is moving to Spur with a miscellaneous shower Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. O. B. Gee, 1513 Avenue E. Refreshments were served.

Attending were Mrs. M. G. Hartman, a guest, and Mesdames Emma Carmichael, Orville Click, Steve Jarvis, B. B. Gillean, W. H. Reese, H. H. Davis, Charles W. Graves and the honoree.

from Lou to Louella...

DEAR LOUELLA: I'm kinda behind on advance wedding news, if any, and I'm a little chagrined at having missed getting to announce to you Wildring B Sherrod's intentions of wedding Mr. J. Bryan Edwards. However, I am reliably informed, the wedding was almost as great a surprise to Wildring B and Bryan as it was to me.

You see they had been planning to get married for a long time but this summer had postponed the idea indefinitely. Then suddenly they said "Why not" and, a few days later, said "I will." I don't know the bridegroom, but I do know that he has a mighty fine bride.

Plenty Of Building

There's a lot of building of new homes news I should be writing you, but I hardly know where to begin. The city directory, almost a year old, is out of date on every page and the telephone directory, published in June, is almost as bad. No one lives where he used to, in other words.

The George R. Pierces are building a Cape Cod house, to be surrounded by typical picket fence, in the 3000 block on Twenty-first street. The Turner Adamses and C. D. McGehees are building cleverly planned little houses side by each in the 2600 block on Twenty-third street. On the corner of Twentieth and Adams street is almost completed a large rustic rock house which is as unique in appearance and history as any menage, new or old, in town. I haven't learned the owner's name although. I understand, he is a Tech professor.

EXTERIOR decoration of the fireplace on the front is an inlaid petrified tree which reaches from the foundation to the topmost point o fthe chimney. On either side of the fireplace is a glass brick effect achieved by the use of empty bottles.

If you were here, I'd take off a day and drive around to just a few of our new houses and, on the way, I'd take you by Dude Buster's home, 2218 Fourteenth street, and show you a most elegant parkantha bush loaded with bright red berries. It is beautiful. I'd also take you by some of the school buildings, any of them, and show you some lawns that look like public parks. The greatest improvement over last year, I think, may be seen in the K. Carter school lawn.

Fike Is Pianist

Charles Fike of Levelland, teacher this year at Central Ward school, has been made official school pianist. He is not exactly a newcomer as he attended Tech college several years and was graduated year before last. He is considered one of the most talented pianists that has ever been around Lubbock, and he is charming and gracious.

Padgett Maddox who is working in Hobbs spent the week-end with his parents and many friends here. Earlier last week he went to Dallas to visit his brother, Frank, jr.

SINCE I'm on the subject of young men, I'd like to hint at something I heard the other day about a graduate of Tech who is well known not only in Lubbock but all over the district. He is not as footloose and fancy free as some people think. Last Christmas he became engaged to the little girl in his home town and probably it won't be long until he and she will be marching to that famous aisle song. To be more explicit concerning his identity, he is secretary to an important man who spends a great deal of every year in Washington, D. C.

Ruth Ford's mother, Mrs. J. D. Ford, has been real sick with pneumonia. She is improving rapidly, though, Ruth said Friday.

Tech Co-eds Look Good

The Tech freshmen seem younger and prettier than ever. Among the prettiest are the Doss twins of Bonham who have enrolled in the home economics division. They are cousins of Mrs. Billy Crenshaw. By the way, Mrs. Crenshaw's mother, Mrs. Birdsong of Greenville, visited here last week.

I learned the other day there are two C. H. Hamiltons in Lubbock. They have mail trouble despite the fact that one is known almost exclusively as "Brownie."

I had occasion the other day to meet Mr. W. B. Irvin, the new superintendent of schools, and I found him quite charming. From all I can learn, he has overcome successfully all the handicaps attached to succeeding as fine a man as Dr. K. E. Oberholtzer.

Yours, Lou.

Club Bridge-Supper Is Given Friday

Miss Myrtle Ewell was hostess with a dinner and bridge party for members of the Triple Four club and two guests, Miss Dorothy Levey and Mrs. W. O. Harbison, Friday night. Dinner was served at the Mexican Inn. Afterward, the group played games at Miss Ewell's home, 1801 Main street.

Mexican food was served on colored pottery. The table was decorated with potted cacti and a large flat bowl of vari-colored dahlias. Red was the main color scheme.

High scores in the games were made by Miss Mary Lois Thompson and Mrs. Sherrill Boyd. Cut prizes went to Misses Levey and Emma Dean Hefner and Mrs. Boyd.

Others attending were Miss Marguerite Whipp and Mesdames J. D. Jenkins, J. B. Stevens, Lucile B. Smith, C. A. Gammill, jr., Vernice Ford and W. O. Harbison.

Arrangements Complete For Two Final Good Will Trips In Area

First Jaunt Is To Be Tuesday

Details of arrangements were completed Saturday for two remaining good will trips this week which will carry personal invitations of residents of 28 neighboring towns and cities to attend Panhandle-South Plains fair here Sept. 27 through Oct. 2, according to information given by Chas. A. Whitacre, chairman of the good neighbor committee of the chamber of commerce which has charge of preparations.

First of the trips is scheduled Tuesday, with Idalou the first stop, Matador the point for lunch and Abernathy the last before returning to Lubbock. Hurley Carpenter is chairman and A. R. Dalby subchairman of the committee on arrangements.

To Clovis Thursday

The trip Thursday will be to Clovis and intermediate points, with Ed D. Allen, county clerk, and J. H. Beasley, chairman and sub-chairman. The two trips will involve travel in chartered buses totaling 445 miles, according to Dick Shinkle, who will represent the fair association.

Approximately 25 reservations had been made Saturday for the first trip and almost as many for the second, Whitacre reported. He urged those planning to make either of the trips who have not made reservations to do so by calling the chamber of commerce, telephone 2083, by noon Monday.

A unit of 25 members of Senior High school band will make each trip in a chartered bus. H. A. Anderson, director, will accompany them.

Expectation is that one bus load of business men will comprise Tuesday's delegation and at least two that of Thursday, which will be the longest of the series in advance of the fair.

Itineraries Announced

Itineraries of the two trips will be:

Tuesday—Leave Lubbock City hall at 7:15 a. m.; Idalou, 7:30 to 7:45; Lorenzo, 8 to 8:15; Ralls, 8:30 to 8:45; Crosbyton, 9 to 9:15; Spur, 10 to 10:45; Dickens, 11 to 11:15; Roaring Springs, 11:45 to noon; Matador, 12:15 to 1:15 p. m., for lunch; Floydada, 2 to 2:30; Lockney, 3 to 3:20; Plainview, 3:50 to 4:35; Hale Center, 5 to 5:15; Abernathy, 5:45 to 5:55 and return to Lubbock at 6:15.

Thursday — Leave Lubbock City hall at 7:15 a. m.; Shallowater, 7:50 to 8:05; Anton, 8:30 to 8:50; Littlefield, 9:10 to 9:45; Amherst, 10 to 10:30; Sudan, 10:45 to 11:15; Muleshoe, 11:40 to 12:10; Farwell, 2:35 to 2:50; Clovis, 1 to 2 p. m. for lunch at Clovis hotel; Enochs, 3:10 to 3:25; Morton, 3:45 to 4; Levelland, 4:30 to 5; Smyer, 5:15 to 5:30; and return to Lubbock at 6 p. m.

Council Of Graduates Will Attend Saturday Lunch

The Texas Technological college Council of Women Graduates will open its 1937-38 season with a luncheon at 1 p. m. Saturday in the Hilton hotel Chimayo room. Programs for the year will be distributed, the president, Miss Jean Ayres, has announced.

Reservations should be made by Wednesday by telephoning Mrs. Mart G. Pederson.

LOW BID SUBMITTED

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—The highway department today announced that Cage Bros. of Bishop had submitted a low bid of $15,107 for a non-skid seal coating of highway 66 from Edinburg to Pharr. The bid was referred to the highway commission for probable action next week.

Miss Ernestine Johnson of Plainview, a former Lubbock resident, has enrolled in Texas Technological college. She is a resident of the woman's dormitory.

Quadruplet goats were born recently at the home of Bob Jones, near Enid, Okla.

All-Day Quilting Is Enjoyed By Loyalty Club Friday

An all-day quilting meeting in the home of Mrs. A. W. Wright, west of town, was attended Friday by 18 members of the Loyalty club and four guests. A covered dish lunch was served at noon.

"Bluebird" gifts were exchanged and a cake cutting game were part of the day's diversion. New "bluebird" names were drawn for a three-month period.

Mrs. Wright presided for business. Devotional was by Mrs. L. J. Akers and prayer was by Mrs. T. L. Johnson. A group song was included in the program.

The club prepared a "good cheer" box to be sent to Mrs. Jack Slover who is sick at her home near Lubbock. Mrs. Slover will be asked to draw a gift from the box each day while she is sick. Several members were honored with small showers at the meeting, which was closed with the club watchword.

Because the next meeting date falls during fair week, the club will meet, instead, at 2 p. m. Friday of this week in the home of Mrs. C. A. Rodgers, 1408 Avenue G, to quilt.

Hostess For Ace-Trey Club Is Honored With Shower

Mrs. Joe Pridmore was surprised with a shower when she entertained the Ace Trey club Friday afternoon at her home 1809 Avenue O.

Those who played forty-two were Mesdames T. H. St. Clair, J. B. Jones, Carl Killman, J. T. Langford, Edwin Heald, Stanton Rhea, Lewis Tatum, Oscar Burden, A. E. Nunn, Cliff Elliott, C. A. Henderson, M. D. Shepherd, John Spikes, H. F. Maner, Tom Turner, E. C. Kuykendall, Blake Hankins, H. L. Burgess, Bill Spikes, Jack Griggs, John Brown and Ed Terrell.

Tea guests were Mesdames J. F. Anthony, Bill McCarty, A. E. Conley, L. J. and Freeman Shell, Ray Allen, Sidney Claiborne, C. A. Snow, J. D. Jones, Elmer Reed, C. W. Ratcliff and Claude Keeton.

Mrs. A. R. Osborn, 1924 Fourteenth street, will entertain the club at 3 p. m. October 1.

"Family Style" Is Selected For Council Book Review

Mrs. Raymond Marshall will review a new Texas novel, "Family Style" (Karle Wilson Baker), at a monthly luncheon and book review meeting of the educational department of the First Christian Woman's council at 1 p. m. Monday in the church annex. Mrs. Joe Coursey is chairman of the luncheon committee. A program of music for the occasion is being arranged, Mrs. A. C. Jackson, department chairman, has announced.

The book, a Texas novel which is to be off the press the last of September, is the story of oil development around Nacogdoches. It embraces the social side of problems arising with oil development. Its author is head of the Nacogdoches High school English department. An advanced copy of the book was lent by a local book shop.

Mrs. Jackson said the novel was selected because it shows what Lubbock can expect if an oil boom develops here.

A. and M. college of Texas. Each girl must do her own work. All canned products, except jelly, must be put in either square or round glass jars. The jelly glass must be a tall 6 oz. glass with screw top No. 2891. All products must be labeled according to the directions of the agent."

Plans and cut flowers: "All potted plants must be entered not later than 1 p. m. Friday, September 24. Premiums on cut flowers will be awarded Monday, September 27. Flowers for such exhibits will be received until noon, September 27. Entries which have received a premium at any previous exhibition of the fair will not be permitted to compete for any premiums, but may be placed on exhibition. An exhibitor must be an amateur who raises and cultivates flowers purely for pleasure and ornament. The superintendent shall have the right to remove at any time any exhibit or part thereof which is unsightly. All entries under potted plants must be rooted. Exhibits cannot be entered under two classifications. Where the number of blooms is stated, this means the minimum number; more may be shown if desired. Prize-winners on cut flowers are requested to replenish exhibits as needed."

Art: "Entries close at 1 p. m., September 24. All exhibits in this class must have been made by the exhibitor and made within the past five years. Articles for this department which have received a premium at any previous exhibition of this fair will not be permitted to compete for any premiums, but may be placed on exhibition. Professional, within the meaning of this rule, is one who teaches or makes for sale articles mentioned in this division; non-professional is a student and one who has never taught or sold such articles. All pictures must be framed and wired for hanging."

Relics, antiques and curios: "No entries can be made later than 1 p. m. Friday, September 24. Judging will be that afternoon. Antiques must be 50 years old before they can compete for premiums in this department. Imported articles may be shown in this division. Articles which have received a premium at any previous exhibition of the fair will not be permitted to enter. Groups or articles may be arranged by the superintendent at her discretion."

CIRCLE WILL MEET

Open House For Studes Planned

Plans are under way at all Lubbock churches for annual open house activities for Texas Technological college students Friday night.

At First Methodist church the carnival theme will be carried out in a party. Invitations were mailed Saturday to approximately 1,000 students registered as Methodists at Tech. Hazel Louise Bryant is in charge of arrangements for the carnival.

"College Of Fun"

Presbyterian students will stage a "college of fun" party in the church basement which will be decorated with pennants. Philip Sterrett, Margaret Holloway, Betty Bizzell, and Frances Wilson are in charge of arrangements.

Each of the Sunday school classes and union groups at First Baptist church will stage stunts and contests on their open house program under the direction of Louise McCrummen.

Asbury Methodist church will hold a reception said Rev. A. M. Dupree, pastor.

Southwest Ward Club Meets For Lesson On Cookies

Cookie recipes were distributed at a meeting of the Southwest Ward Home Demonstration club with Mrs. J. D. Roberts Friday afternoon. The hostess talked on methods of making and serving cookies. Legion Veterans Will Find That It's "All Quiet" As They Invade Gotham

Big Convention Opens Monday

BY JACK STINNETT
AP Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—American Legion members on pleasure bent at the national convention here probably will discover the old home town on Saturday nights is more wide open than New York City.

Proprietors of Manhattan's night life spots are oiling the cash registers to garner their share of the $30,000,000 it is estimated the half-million visitors will bring with them. But there's been no hint, official or otherwise, that either legal vigilance or sniffing of the bluenoses will relax during the three days and nights of the convention, September 20 to 23.

There is not an all-night bar or taproom in Manhattan and woe to the incorrigible legionnaires (if any) who insist that the taverns stay open after the curfew. Police Commissioner Valentine didn't cancel all leaves of absence and vacations during the convention merely for the purpose of handling traffic.

No Lady Godivas

The same activities of the license commissioner which stripped burlesque of its strippers have caused the night clubs to drape their nudes. Fan dancers have donned Japanese kimonos; bubble dancers have traded their balloons for castinets and yards of Spanish ruffles; Lady Godivas have sold their horses to buy crinoline and flesh-tint tights.

DISILLUSION
New York's bright spots will provide an arena, of course, for Legionnaire revelry. But it will have to be restrained, controlled revelry—and must stop with the curfew.

Neither on Broadway nor its environs is there any legitimate drama which could be defined as risque or bawdy. The only two musicals which will be around when the convention crowds unpack their baggage are last spring's "Babes In Arms" and the recently launched "Virginia." Both are tuneful and charming, but innocuous.

ILLUSION
If it is entertainment like this which American Legionnaires are expecting New York to provide them, they are going to be disappointed.

Gambling? There's Pinball

Any gamblers in the gang will have to satisfy their love of chance by flipping odd-man for the Martinis, though it is barely possible they might find a compassionate drugstore owner who will dust off a discarded pinball game and set it up in the back room.

Add to this the backstair mutterings of the hotel men that they will brook no rough house in the city's inns.

All in all, a hundred thousand or so legionnaires probably will start for home with the knowledge that the neon and mazda lights of Times Square north and east through 52nd street's Swing Alley don't mean a thing. At heart, it's a 9 o'clock town.

The artificial ice industry's largest item of expense is neither labor nor materials, but the cost of the coal used to produce the steam that runs the compressor ice machine.

Music Instruction Is Being Extended

Instrumental musical instruction in Lubbock Public schools has been extended to include 300 children in elementary grades, according to an announcement made by W. B. Irvin, superintendent.

H. A. Anderson, band master, is to be in charge of instruction given these children, Irvin said, but he will be assisted by music teachers in the various schools. Anderson will devote one afternoon each week to a school, giving instruction between 3:15 and 4 o'clock, and teachers will work with the groups at other times during the week.

Instruments Purchased

These children who do not already have a band instrument are purchasing them through the school saxettes at a cost of $3. This instrument has been tried out in northern schools and has been found good as a starting instrument for children.

The purpose of this instruction, according to Irvin, is to give a background to build musical education and to feed the Junior and Senior High school bands. Both boys and girls are being allowed to join these bands, Irvin said. A child becomes a member of the musical group when the fee for his instrument is paid.

Anderson's schedule for these lessons is: Monday, Central Ward; Tuesday, K. Carter; Wednesday, Dupre; Thursday, Hunt and Friday, Sanders.

Central Language Arts Group To Hold Meeting On Tuesday

Beginning the work of the central language arts committee of Lubbock schools, Miss Dorothy Lomax, secondary curriculum supervisor, has called a meeting for Tuesday afternoon. At this meeting Miss Lomax will discuss with a newly appointed committee the problem of integrating subjects within the language arts department, as well as, with other departments in the secondary schools of Lubbock.

Committee members are: Senior High — Miss Velma McCandless, Spanish; John R. Freeman, Latin; Miss Alice Beckett, public speaking; Mrs. Ross Ayers, journalism; D. M. Howell and Mrs. Ada Wolfe, English; Junior High — Mrs. Neuel Bryan, Miss Rosalee Knox, and Mrs. C. E. Wiginton.

Principals will hold general faculty meetings during the year, assisted by Miss Lomax. Other meetings scheduled for September are a general meeting of the Junior High faculty on September 28, and a general meeting of the Senior High faculty on September 30.

Rural-Urban Plans

lems and conditions and a better understanding by rural women of the economic problems of manufacturer and city consumer and influence of urban-rural migration on the morale and ideals of both urban and rural groups.

The third major objective is electrification of rural America.

Mrs. Godeke's objectives include: One program a year in each club relating to measures being employed by federal and state governments to conserve and stabilize rural property; a helpful give and take interchange of ideas and experiences between urban and rural women looking toward a "democratic sisterhood of women"; a county federation in each county where possible, co-operating closely with home demonstration clubs and giving help to 4-H clubs, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts; a long time planning program to carry out worth while projects such as:

Develop a program of service to the community.

Co-operate will all forces working for the economic, social and moral uplift of the community.

Interest the community in electrification if no power line is already supplying electricity.

Enrich the cultural life of the community by sponsoring lending libraries, print exhibits, musical programs, lectures, home talent dramatics or group discussions.

Plant and care for small parks.

Provide opportunities for recreational and social activities where needed.

Promote interest in women's exhibits at the county fair.

Cooperate with and draw upon the resources of neighboring towns and cities.

The fifth objective is the sponsoring of a study of correct parliamentary procedure to give leaders poise and efficiency in conducting business meetings.

Hollywood On The Loose..

"Thrill Of A Lifetime" Has Greatly Eased The Burden Upon Ben Blue's Chest

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 18.—Short takes: Robert Benchley had spent a long, wilting day under the hot lights on the "Live, Love and Learn" set. He sighed, "Golly, it'll be nice to get out of this wet suit and into a dry Martini!"

You've heard of chest wigs being applied to smooth-torsoed hemen of the films. But censorship has changed all that. Ben Blue had to shave his chest to wear bathing trunks for a scene in "Thrill of a Lifetime."

And speaking of censorship, the script of Mae West's new picture—which may be called "Every Day's a Holiday"—has been provisionally approved. But almost as long as the story itself was a letter suggesting changes and deletions.

Charles Laughton just won't come to Hollywood for "Marie Antoinette," or for anything else. So Peter Lorre and Oscar Homolka are being tested for the role of "Louis XVI."

It will be an odd Sino-Japanese alliance if Paramount persuades Sessue Hayakawa to come here and appear with Anna May Wong in "East of Shanghai." Hayakawa, a silent-day star, has been acting in French pictures in recent years.

Garbo Conquest?

THOSE romance rumors about Leopold Stokowski and Greta Garbo can't be stilled. Also there's talk of another heart-attack for her—somebody in the east. She is said to have visited New York in disguise several times since her return from Europe.

Certainly her picture, "Conquest," has been delayed long enough to permit such trips. It was 10 weeks late in starting, was in active production for four months, and required an extra month for additional scenes and retakes. The cost will be about $2,000,000.

Punsters in the title departments are having fun with names such as "Love and Hises" and "Sheik-to-Sheik." Most inexplicable title is "The Four Marys," announced by Metro. There are only three women in the story and none of them is named Mary.

Sidney Solomon is here, in the last stronghold of suckerdom, looking for a location for a restaurant. Solomon is the former manager of the Central Park Casino, where if you said pretty-please you could get a ham sandwich for $1.50.

Seen: Simone Simon with Gene Markey, Helen Hayes with Alice Roosevelt Longworth, Herbert Marshall with Lee Russell, Wendy Barrie with a black eye.

Overheard: "He'd really be a good guy at heart—if he had a heart."

Wanted: A chess-playing valet for John Barrymore. He has hired and fired five within the past six months. The good valets couldn't play well enough, and the good players were poor valets.

Jane Boosts Income

DEPARTMENT of realism: Errol Flynn, playing "Robin Hood," is the despair of his archery teacher.

Somebody figured it would be a novel idea to have the Yacht Club Boys perform on a yacht in "Thrill of a Lifetime." They never were on a yacht before.

Most of the little girls in "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" wear wigs. That's because the casting office couldn't find enough Hollywood youngsters with long hair to be braided into pig-tails.

When Jane Withers isn't busy at the studio she likes to help out at the sidewalk pop stand run by some neighborhood pals. Sometimes she earns as much as 10 cents a day, supplementing her regular salary of $750 a week.

Don Ameche's brother Jimmy likely will get a contract at Warners. W. C. Fields is well enough to beat all callers at ping-pong. Clark Gable is conferring with architects, and in big figures. Joan Crawford is determined to try a Broadway play or two when her Metro contract expires next year. And she may never return to the screen.

Palace Brings Musical Hit, "Varsity Show," To Lubbock Screen Today

Broadway Gets Romeo, Juliet

PALACE—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Varsity Show" (Warner) Dick Powell, Fred Waring, Ted Healy, Rosemary Lane, Priscilla Lane, Walter Catlett, Johnny Davis.

A college club is planning to present the annual varsity show but members of the faculty decide to dictate what shall be produced. In desperation the students appeal to an alumnus who has become a Broadway producer. He comes to the school but the faculty interferes again and he agrees to leave. Then the students learn that he has become known as a flop and they take the entire cast to New York, seize a theater and stage the play and give him the credit. But not before the New York police and national guard have become involved.

BROADWAY—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Romeo and Juliet" with Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard.

Immortal love story as told by Shakespeare of the deadly break between two prominent families, and of the love of two members of the families for each other. The feud causes the young people to marry in secret and then leads to their deaths.

LINDSEY — Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Mountain Music" (Paramount). Bob Burns, Martha Raye, John Howard.

A young hill-billy forced into a marriage to end a mountain feud, escapes on his wedding day and disappears. While his brother is held for his murder he becomes involved in a series of apparently inextricable circumstances, aided and abetted by a girl he meets in the city. But he arrives on the scene in time to save his brother from hanging.

LYRIC—Sunday and Monday: "I Found Stella Parish" with Kay Francis and Ian Hunter.

A beautiful and talented actress is besieged by suitors but rejects them all. Publicity attending her success reaches the ears of her husband and father of her child who tries to blackmail her. She flees from London on the night of her greatest triumph and then the story of her past is revealed. The journalist who got the story then realizes he loves her and leaves no stone unturned to bring her back to the heights from which he helped drag her down.

LYRIC — Tuesday: "Dangerous Holiday" with Big Boy Williams.

TECH—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Love On The Run" (MGM). Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Franchot Tone, Reginald Owen.

An American heiress leaves a pompous nobleman at the altar and runs away. A newspaper correspondent agrees to help her and their mad dash over the map of Europe causes international complications.

TEXAN — Sunday and Monday: "I Met Him In Paris" (Paramount). Claudette Colbert, Robert Young, Melvyn Douglas, Mona Barrie.

An American girl flees to Paris for the good time she has always promised herself. There she meets a young playboy and they have a grand time. Later he is exposed as a married man. His buddy has always been their Nemesis when they sought to be alone and weeks later she finds that he is actually the one she loves.

PALACE — Wednesday and Thursday: "The Girl Said No" (Grand National). Irene Hervey, Robert Armstrong, Paula Stone, William Danforth.

A wise-guy bookie is rolled for his money by a hard-boiled taxi-dance hall girl. He plans revenge, telling her she has the makings of a great musical comedy star. She falls and backs the show. He rounds up a group of old-timers and when on opening night he realizes what a dirty trick he has pulled he steps out to denounce himself but the show goes on and is a great hit.

BROADWAY — Wednesday and Thursday: "Dr. Socrates" with Paul Muni and Ann Dvorak.

A young doctor whose nerves have been shattered by the death of his fiancee tries to bury himself in a small town. He is kidnaped by a gang and forced to help them. But he tricks them and effects their capture.

LINDSEY — Wednesday and Thursday: "Night Key" (Universal). Boris Karloff, Jean Rogers, Warren Hull, Hobart Cavanaugh.

An inventor is defrauded of his profits in a burglar alarm device. Angry he invents a neutralizer to make his first machine ineffective. He then becomes involved with a band of crooks and they kidnap his daughter in order to insure their own safety.

LYRIC — Wednesday and Thursday: "Racing Lady" with Ann Dvorak.

A girl horse trainer determines to carry on the tradition of her father's stables. When a wealthy young auto manufacturer claims her last horse she is forced to go to work for him. When her favorite horse is scratched in the big race she breaks with the man and plots to race the horse anyway.

TECH — Wednesday and Thursday: "The Petrified Forest" (Warner). Leslie Howard, Bette Davis, Genevieve Tobin, Humphrey Bogart.

An artist who is a failure in life seeks the reason why his life should go on. He meets a discontented girl on the edge of a desert who longs

Beauty Matched By Achievement When Stars Of The Sawdust Ring Perform

Five circus lassies are regaled by a clown's funny stories.

Pretty girls are expected in a circus quite as much as elephants, horses and clowns. Mere beauty, however, is least of the requirements for circus success, according to Fred Ledgett, equestrian director of Russell Bros. circus, which is notable for the youth and charm of its feminine personnel. Residents of this community will have a chance to observe for themselves when this show gives performances in Lubbock on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 27 and 28.

In the Russell circus, women share with men on a thoroughly equal basis the presentation of the various arenic, aerial and animal numbers that give the circus its kaleidoscopic appeal. Miss Aerialetta, the dainty aerial gymnast, offers a thrilling routine surpassed by few male performers. Frances Fisher is the only woman occupying the role of catcher in a flying return act. Florence Leland, as "understander" for the Six Lelands troupe of acrobats, demonstrates Amazonian strength as she catches on her shoulders a fellow performer hurtled somersaulting through the air from a teeterboard. Reckless Violetta derives that name from her "slide for life" down a steel cable while suspended by her teeth, her body spinning like a top.

Women Indispensable

Women are indispensable in the equestrian acts and often excel their men companions as riders. In the ranks of trainers, Hazel King is an outstanding authority on horses; Betty Willis demonstrates brains with beauty in her clever handling of her four-footed charges; and Irene Ledgett's reputation as "the best dressed woman in circusdom" is matched by the tempo and certainty with which she puts a herd of elephants through their paces.

Yes, even the business of clowning has been invaded by the fair sex. Though there are but a few women clowns, "Doodles" DeMarr of the Russell show is easily the most famous of the lot.

Fire Prevention To Be Planned

First meeting of the season of Lubbock fire prevention board will be held at the chamber of commerce Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock to plan observance of national fire prevention week Oct. 3 to 10, according to announcement Saturday by Guy L. McAfee, chairman.

The most elaborate program ever arranged for Lubbock is planned this year, McAfee added, in an effort to win for Lubbock the trophy offered by the national fire prevention committee each year for the city in each of several population groups making the best showing.

Last year, Lubbock placed second to Parkersburg, W. Va., among cities in the United States in the 20,000 to 50,000 population group. Only five cities in Texas were on the "honor" list of 11 cities chosen for each of six population classifications.

Lubbock will compete this year, members of the committee explained, under the handicap of having heavier fire loss than in the last several years. That has been due to the worst fire the city has had in years when a warehouse of Lubbock Sash and Door company, 1419 Avenue H, was destroyed several months ago. No official estimate of the loss there has been made public but unofficial estimates by company officials at the time said it would approximate $100,000.

In general outline, the program of activities will follow those of previous years. School children once more will be the key figures in the campaign, with Supt. W. B. Irvin directing activities among the pupils. The fire department likewise will play an active part and firemen, under the direction of Chief W. E. Twitty, will make extensive inspections and demonstrations of property in the business and residential districts.

Members of the fire prevention board, additional to McAfee, are, C. W. Ratliff, Chas. H. Read, Cecil Casey, Twitty and Irvin. Members of the fire prevention committee of Lubbock Insurance exchange, who have been invited to Monday's meeting, are McAfee, chairman, and L. E. Davis, Rufus Scarbrough and Marion Sanford.

Five Hundred Student Activity Tickets Sold At High School

With 500 student activity books already sold, the plan of all activities sold at a single price to Senior High students is proving successful again.

The plan allows students admittance to all home football and basketball games, five paid assemblies, the junior and senior plays, and gives them the school newspaper and year book for $5. If these things were bought separately they would cost each student $10.

The books are printed by the Athletic council and made possible because the council voted to allow admittance to home games at a low cost in order to secure more student cooperation.

Here are Fred Waring, Dick Powell and Priscilla Lane in a scene from "Varsity Show," which opens at the Palace today.

Robert Young and Melvyn Douglas are pals but rivals for the affections of Claudette Colbert in "I Met Him In Paris," current attraction at the Texan.

Here is beautiful Bette Davis as she appears as a gangster's widow in "That Certain Woman," to be shown at the Palace Friday and Saturday.

for the bright lights. Into this strange surrounding comes a gang of bandits to hold them prisoner. Through the daring of the artist they are brought to justice.

TEXAN — Tuesday and Wednesday: "We're On The Jury" (RKO-Radio). Helen Broderick, Victor Moore, Philip Huston, Louise Latimer.

A beautiful widow is charged in the death of her husband. The trial is held and the jury takes the case. On the first ballot a lone woman holds out against the others, believing in the widow's innocence. She finally proves this, but not without having practically run the judge, district attorney and everyone else insane.

TEXAN — Thursday: "Rose Bowl" (Paramount). Eleanore Whitney, Tom Brown, Larry Crabbe, William Frawley, Benny Baker.

Two great football players fight for grid honors at different colleges and for the attentions of a pretty girl. The old reliable of the school finally wins the girl and the game for his college in the Rose Bowl.

PALACE — Friday and Saturday: "That Certain Woman" (Warner). Bette Davis, Henry Fonda, Ian Hunter, Anita Louise, Donald Crisp.

A story of the experiences of a gangster's widow. She becomes the successful secretary of a business tycoon who falls in love with her. She loves a rich young wastrel and marries him. The marriage is annulled, a son is born, her ex-husband remarries and she gives up her child.

BROADWAY — Friday and Saturday: "Outcast" with Warren William and Karen Morley.

Story of a physician who takes refuge in a small town, seeking to escape from a woman who follows him everywhere to expose a shady past. Through her accusations a mob is lashed to fury and prepares to execute them both. A lawyer friend saves them. The girl then realizes the man's true worth.

LINDSEY — Friday and Saturday: "Yodelin' Kid From Pine Ridge" (Republic). Gene Autry, Betty Bronson, Smiley Burnette.

A youth quarrels with his father. He joins a traveling rodeo, becomes its star attraction and returns to his home town to bring cattle thieves to justice.

LYRIC — Friday and Saturday: "Idaho Kid" with Rex Bell.

TECH — Friday and Saturday: "A Woman Rebels" (RKO-Radio). Katharine Hepburn, Herbert Marshall, Elizabeth Allan, Donald Crisp.

The drama of a young romantic idealist in search of freedom and independence as against restricting influences of the era in which she had been born. The girl dares to demand that she be allowed to choose her own husband.

TEXAN — Friday and Saturday: "Hills Of Old Wyoming" (Paramount). William Boyd, George Hayes, Russell Haydon, Gail Sheridan.

Cattle rustlers are on the loose and they try to lay the blame on reservation Indians but their game is exposed by Hopalong Cassidy and his pal and they are finally rounded up.

A Step In The Right Direction

THE Southern Baptist convention's mission board performed a service to its country as well as to its church the other day when; meeting in Nashville, it voted to evacuate all of its 178 missionaries in China, "unless they think they can be of service and want to stay at their own risk."

As a result, no doubt the great majority of Baptist missionaries in the Far East war zone will move out of danger areas until hostilities have ceased.

Of course, we wish the board had voted to order all missionaries out, regardless of their individual views. That sort of a decision would have greatly helped to eliminate any chance of this country's being drawn into the Chinese-Japanese mess through the slaying of one of our nationals, and it would have been a fine example to other denominations with missionaries in the Oriental field. But since the Baptist board did not choose to go that far, the length it did go will at least be somewhat beneficial.

The Avalanche-Journal is definitely of the opinion that all Americans should be taken out of the danger zone and, if they do not come out of their own accord we think they should be forced to give up their citizenship in this country.

The important thing to 125,000,000 Americans—and the world as well—is to keep the Chinese-Japanese fracas from involving any other nation. To preserve peace may call for harsh decisions and here-to-fore unheard-of action, but whatever the case, the preservation of peace is the greatest need for all concerned.

The Fair Opens Next Week!

JUST one week from tomorrow gates of the 24th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair will swing open for a week's run.

With bountiful crops in all lines, with perhaps the most prosperous fall and winter in history beckoning to this vast territory, this year's fair should be the greatest of all time.

The eyes of all Texas are turned toward the South Plains as the word goes out that this section is progressing and growing by leaps and bounds and through the fair—"The Show Window of the Plains"—we have a remarkable opportunity to impress upon our own people that the story being told all over Texas is as true as it can be.

Let's go to the fair, not once but many times.

Let's "sell ourselves" all over again, not only on the present, but on the future of this great section.

It will be good for us and the country!

Politicians Look To New York

THE New York City mayoralty primaries, run last Thursday, resulted in New Dealer opposing New Dealer for the job of running the nation's largest city. Jeremiah Titus Mahoney, Democrat and Tammany foe, as well as a cheer leader for the Farley national machine, and Fiorello LaGuardia, swarthy present mayor, are the opposing figures.

Although Messrs. Roosevelt and Farley can take happiness from the fact that bumbling anti-New Dealer Royal Copeland was snowed under by the Big Town voters, they can't remain cheerful very long. Although Mahoney is a Democrat and LaGuardia is a Republican, it is well known to one and all that the LaGuardia brand of governmental principles is almost exactly that of Franklin Roosevelt and Jim Farley and that the New Deal machine in Washington would likely be better off with LaGuardia re-elected than it would be with Mahoney in the City Hall.

During the balance of the campaign Messrs. Roosevelt and Farley may render lip service to the Democratic candidate, or they may even remain silent. But those in the know insist that a LaGuardia victory would be much more pleasing to the Washingtonians and there will be considerable sleuthing in an effort to find high command Democrats lending aid to Republican LaGuardia between now and election time.

Should such sleuthing be successful, much testimony would be added to the oft-heard charge that Roosevelt-Farley and Co. are not Democrats at all; that they have merely absconded with the name of the one-time Jeffersonian organization and are busily engaged in building a party all their own.

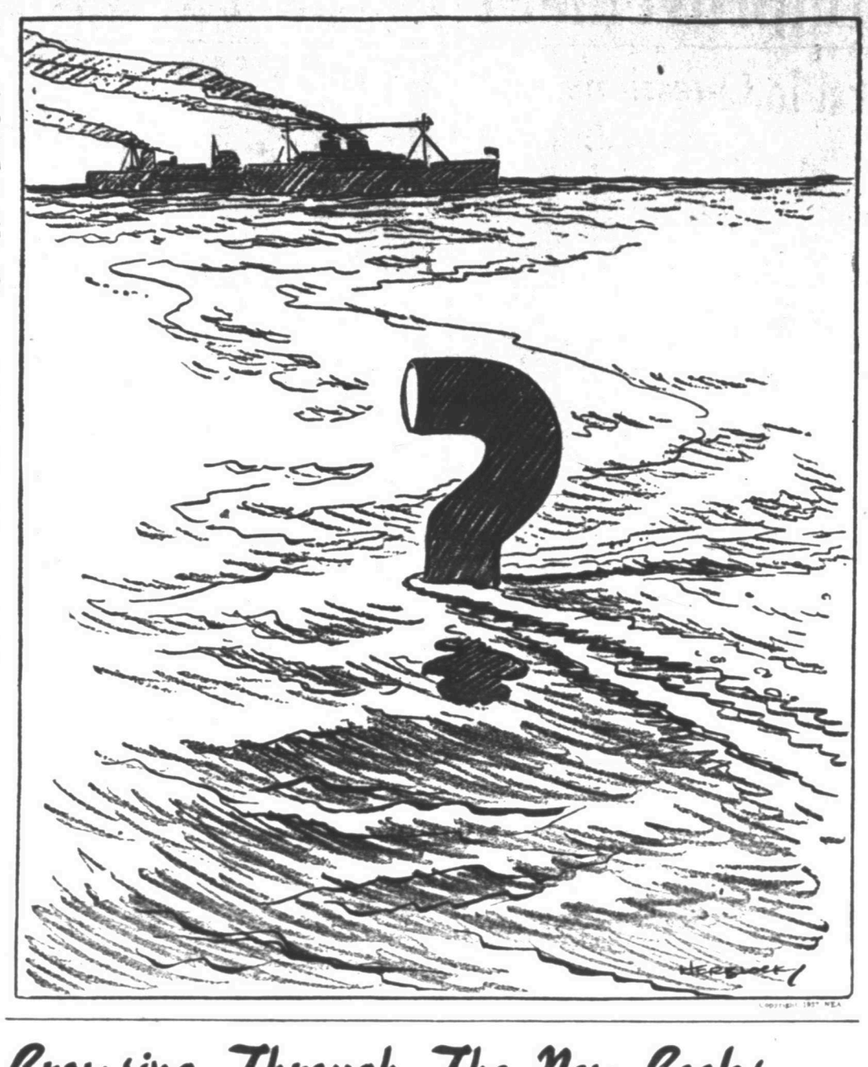

The situation will be interesting to watch.

The One-Minute Sermon

Therefore wait ye upon me, saith the Lord, until the day that I rise up to the prey: for my determination is to gather the nations, that I may assemble the kingdoms, to pour upon them mine indignation, even all my fierce anger: for all the earth shall be devoured with the fire of my jealousy.

For then will I turn to the people a pure language, that they may all call upon the name of the Lord, to serve him with one consent.—Haggaiel 111, 8 and 9.

G. B. Stern Writes Of French Riviera In Her Latest Book, "Oleander River," Which Presents Exploration Of Minds And Emotions Of Characters; Resort Life Now Rather Drab Existence

"OLEANDER RIVER," by G. B. Stern; (Macmillan, New York).

WE have the feeling that the quality of G. B. Stern's "Oleander River" cannot be expressed by "telling what it's about." At least not by synopsizing the story which, for once in a day, is not the most important thing in a novel by Miss Stern.

Miss Stern is the current novelist who captures best the incredibly numerous aspects of the French Riviera. She understands its hardness, which has its human reflection in the life of the casinos, now rather a drab life, since so many have decided it's more fun to get something for money than merely to throw it to the dogs.

Exists Simple Life

She understands also that above all this cloisonne hardness there exists a life as simple and as intelligent as the life anywhere, and that the people moving in this circle are much better worth study than the dull creatures E. Phillips Oppenheim writes about, and rewrites.

This "Oleander River" is a novel about the right people on the Riviera. It has a curious mystery in it as well, one that the reader will sense at the very start of the novel, and perhaps not understand fully until the end—the mystery of a man's soul.

Lives With Father

The Oleander River is in the Esterel, those hills where the soil and the rocks are frequently red, and the foliage a sharper green by contrast. Here Gillian lives with her author father, and here Piers comes. Piers has an experience at Cambridge which shows him that his feeling for Gillian is not one of companionship, but of love. The difficulty is that Gillian is not in love with Piers but with Dominic Rae, who is older than Piers a great deal, and is the man with the mystery in his soul.

The novel is an exploration of the minds and the emotions of these three, with fascinating side journeys into the minds of several others. It is possible to say that most of these characters, most of the situations and all of the setting are stock properties to be had on any shelf. This is true, but there is a difference nn puppeteers, you know—

With A Flavor Of Today

"FORTY YEARS OF AMERICAN LIFE," by Thomas Nichols; (Stackpole, N. Y.).

A 70-YEAR-OLD manuscript entitled "Forty Years of American Life" is being published for the first time today—in America, that is. The publishers even insist that the old book has a flavor of today, and, generally speaking, they are right. Author Thomas Nichols was a journalist, a reformer and a man of "principle." He also was less afflicted with the cliche virus than any other journalist of the pre-Civil war period this writer knows.

The book is a picture of the United States as they existed in Nichols' boyhood and young manhood. The picture is complete chiefly because it was not written for American readers, but for the English. For this reason we have such details as the New Hampshire auctions of school teachers and paupers—both were put on the block, and awarded to the family whose board bill was smallest. These would have been commonplace to American readers of the time.

Little Too Pretty

Nichols was a New Hampshire lad. His picture of the idyllic life led by New Hampshire lads is perhaps a little too pretty—it looked better from England's distance. But he was capable of independent action from college days on; he started college as a pre-medic, and having become a convert to Dr. Sylvester Graham's (he invented "Graham bread") food reform ideas, dropped his medical course and went into journalism.

He worked in New York and Buffalo, and being a Democrat he campaigned for Polk. He met and married a zealot much like himself, and combining her fads (one was hydropathy) with his own, the two eventually founded a curious colony a little like Oneida at Yellow Springs, O., while Horace Mann was president of Antioch college in the same village. There the Nichols pair and some others were converted to Catholicism, and after a period spent introducing their brand of hygiene to a group of converts retired to England, where they were safe from the Civil war.

Opposite Viewpoint

"HOW TO LOSE FRIENDS AND ALIENATE PEOPLE," by Irving Tressler; (Stackpole, N. Y.).

A TREATISE by Prof. Irving Tressler entitled "How To Lose Friends And Alienate People" is destined to be a balm to chafed souls who didn't go into exultations over the famous Dale Carnegie book.

That Mr. Carnegie's rehash of elementary phychological "principles" fills a want one may guess from the fact that by the time this is printed, the book will have sold 525,000 copies at least. We doubt that Mr. Tressler's book will sell 25,000, even though the publisher has humorously marked it down from $2 to $1.49. This, too, proves something about the American mentality which you'll have to put into words for yourself.

Shouldn't Be Read Through

Mr. Tressler's book is very funny. It must not, however, be read straight through. Patterns recur, and time out between chapters will keep these from seeming monotonous.

Mr. Tressler has even made the jacket of his book funny. He guarantees to "teach you how to antagonize anyone, anywhere, any time without the aid of bad breath or dandruff." He will "decrease your influence and enable you to get twice as much accomplished as before." He also can replace tit-tat-toe at lectures, and replace pains in your neck with aches in your side.

As Lowell Didn't Write

Or, as Thomas Lowell didn't write in a testimonial on the same jacket: "What I think of Irving D. Tressler couldn't be printed in anything but Braille—and then it would be too hot to touch. . . . The best teacher of how to make yourself disliked is the author of this book, a man who is more unpopular than a clean story at a theological seminary.

"He started out with just a course in tap dancing and hair waiving, but gradually the students demanded to be taught the secret of unpopularity. . . . He—" and so on "How to Make a Poor First Impression" is especially funny, and those who recall Mr. Carnegie's success at soothing the postal clerk will like it more than "just average."

The Brighter Side

WINTER'S not far off with what's left of the stove league already thumbng catalogs for base-burners that won't crack when they're spit on.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

LOUIS JOHNSON, slated for Secretary of War presently, is the perfect example of the soldier-politician. Big, breezy, weighing 240 pounds and standing six-feet-three in his stocking feet, he has climbed every ladder in sight with remarkable rapidity and agility.

At the University of Virginia he was departmental president for law in his class, winner of public speaking awards, boxing and wrestling champion; member of exclusive societies. Moving to Clarksburg, West Va., after graduation, he again cleaned up all honors within a few years as a member of the House of Delegates, where he was majority floor leader when he marched into an officers' training camp at the outbreak of the World war. He helped to organize the American Legion, and became national commander in 1932.

The secret of his success is simple. He likes people and they like him. He can't resist joining clubs, making speeches, doing favors. He's ambitious, vigorous and blessed with an iron constitution. He's the hardest working, most active assistant Secretary of War Washington has seen in many years. He is the "Jim" Farley of the law courts, politics, fraternal and military organizations, civic movements.

DYNAMO: When he breezes into a place—his law office, his high-ceilinged room in the ugly structure that houses the War department, a political convention — things and people begin to move as if propelled by hidden springs. He radiates activity and his restless energy is contagious.

As American Legion commander, he travelled 100,000 miles in a single year. He reaches his office before the charwomen have quit the building in the morning, and invariably works until 6 o'clock in the evening. Despite his size, he moves briskly, can't walk slowly. He shoots golf in the low 80's, and would better that score if he had more time to play. Luckily for him, his particular assignment gives room for application of his store of mental and physical force.

He has charge of procuring supplies for the army, and supervises the industrial mobilization program the strategists have framed for the next conflict—an extremely important job, but one which has often been performed in a humdrum, routine sort of way. For rest and relaxation he rushes to a violent extreme—he raises tropical fish and flowers.

EXPERT: The fascinating career of another New Dealer likewise headed for higher prizes William O. Douglas—presents a strikingly different sort of success story.

The prospective choice for S.E.C. chairman is not a compelling figure in action, appearance or manner. He is slim, disjointedly long-legged, pallid, reserved, thoughtful; his favorite posture is sitting with his shoes parked on his desk. He seems to move through life in leisurely, even indolent style. Actually he has progressed to the top at a more furious pace than the bustling West Virginian, although seven years younger. He is only 39.

Unlike Mr. Johnson, who enjoyed all the collegiate trimmings at the aristocratic University of Virginia, "Bill" Douglas got his education the hard way. The son of a Minnesota missionary who died when the youngster was only 6, he lived in a tent while attending college. He worked as a newsboy, farm hand, junk dealer, janitor. He rode from his home at Yakima, Wash., to New York in a freight car, and only six cents jingled in his pocket as he turned his steps toward Nicholas Murray Butler's Columbia university. He ought to be an expert on financial problems.

BASIC: President Roosevelt served notice on the politicos in characteristic fashion that he intends to trail along with the "brain trusters", despite the Congressional prejudice for their personalities and philosophies.

Hardly a politician was invited to Hyde Park during F.D.R.'s recent vacation. His yachting and house guests included three men who are generally credited with inspiring several measures which provoked the last session's rebellion—"Tommie" Corcoran, Harry Hopkins and Samuel I. Rosenman, Mr. Roosevelt's legal adviser when he was governor of New York.

"All three are Roosevelt New Dealers, not Democrats," said a politician rather ruefully as he scanned the presidential guest list. "And they're not my kind of people." The incident is chiefly significant because it reveals how deeply personalities are involved in present and prospective clashes between the White House and Capitol Hill—and the remoteness of any reconciliation.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

KEEN New York observers are keeping a watchful eye on Ohio political developments. The Buckeye state will be one of the most crucial battlegrounds in the war to preserve—or destroy—the New Deal in 1938 and 1940. Mr. Roosevelt and his aides recognize its importance and will spare no effort to win in next year's senatorial and gubernatorial elections.

There are four key figures in the Ohio Democratic political setup—Governor Martin L. Davey, Charles Sawyer, Senator Robert J. Bulkley and Charles West. Governor Davey does not stand well with the Democratic high command in Washington. A truce was patched up for the '36 election, but there has been renewed friction since. Moreover, Davey incurred the wrath of the C.I.O. during the Republic Steel strike. Word has gone out for his scalp. And that's where Charles Sawyer comes in.

SAWYER: Mr. Sawyer is Democratic National committeeman for Ohio. He has consistently played with Roosevelt and Farley against Davey behind the scenes. He is almost sure to be the New Deal's favored candidate for governor opposing Davey in next year's primary.

The odd angle is that few Democrats could be foun dwith a more deeply rooted conservative background. Mr. Sawyer is a partner of Dinsmore, Shohl, Sawyer and Dinsmore—one of the top-notch law firms of Cincinnati. The firm is general counsel for such distinguished corporate clients as Proctor & Gamble, Crosley Radio and the like. Mr. Sawyer also has Proctor & Gamble connections by marriage. This isn't exactly a typical New Deal portrait.

He was lieutenant-governor in 1933-34, but he had run once before against Mr. Davey in a gubernatorial primary—and lost. Astute analysts say the '38 contest will be a significant test of how much influence the New Deal still has with Ohio voters.

BULKLEY: Senator Robert J. Bulkley will run for reelection. The New Deal organization is practically certain to support him, although he might have opposition in the primary from the conservative side.

Mr. Bulkley has a unique personal tie with the President that few people know baout. He was in the class of 1902 at Harvard, two years ahead of F.D.R. The story runs that as editor of the Lampoon (Harvard comic magazine) he encouraged young Roosevelt's literary efforts—an act of friendship the President has never forgotten.

The Senator ran 40,000 votes behind President Roosevelt in 1932—squeezed in by rather narrow margin. New Yorkers who know their Ohio are doubtful whether he can win if the G.O.P. puts up a strong candidate.

WEST: That leaves Charles West—White House "contact man" with Congress—the enigma of Ohio politics. It's known that Mr. West aspirations. The trouble is that there doesn't seem to be any opening for him just now.

Mr. West is a professor of political science at Denison university. He has been an ardent New Dealer from the beginning—more on the intellectual than the practical side. Although he served two terms in Congress (1931-35), he hasn't much of a personal political following. Nevertheless he might go places with the New Deal machine behind him—and he certainly has a claim on its gratitude.

It is rated possible that Mr. West's ambitions might conceivably bust up some carefully prearranged 1938 pattern.

Health Authorities Fight Bubonic Plague

Western Part Of U. S. Breeding Ground For Dread Illness

1. The cloud of dust marks the spot where a prairie dog sat—a suspected carrier of plague-bearing fleas. The hunter is a trooper in the U. S. public health service's anti-plague force operating in 11 western states.

DENVER, Sept. 18 (AP)—Flea hunters of the United States public health service are investigating conditions in western states which they fear might lead to an outbreak of bubonic plague. This they say is the "black death" which, in the 14th century, wiped out one-fourth of the known world's population.

Plague Bearer

Dr. C. R. Eskey, senior surgeon in charge of plague suppressive measures, with headquarters in San Francisco, says wild rodents — chipmunks, ground squirrels and prairie dogs—have been found in seven states in the last three years carrying plague-bearing fleas.

The flea hunters, under his direction, have killed thousands of rodents in those and neighboring states this summer in an effort to determine areas infested with carriers of the disease.

Few Human Cases

"The incidence of human infection has been slight thus far," Dr. Eskey reports, "but the potential dangers are so great that the situation demands continued surveys for the discovery of foci of infection and further investigation of all the factors involved in the dissemination."

He urges eradication of infected rodents in certain danger zones.

In the last four years, he says, there have been only eight human cases of plague in the United States—five in California and one each in Oregon, Nevada and Utah. All victims recovered but one, a sheep herder in Lake county, Oregon, who died of plague in 1934.

"Apparently there is not nearly as much danger from human contact with plague-infected wild rodents," he says, "as there is with infected domestic rats."

Infection Spreads Inland

RODENT plague first was discovered in the United States among domestic rats of San Francisco in 1900. It was believed stamped out among the rats, Dr. Eskey says, but later was discovered in field rodents. The area of infection first was believed to be a limited one in California.

But in 1934—as plague-carrying fleas apparently spread inland from domestic rats in coastal ports to common field rodents—the plague was discovered among rodents in two interior counties of southern California, Dr. Eskey says, and in northeast California and southwest Oregon.

Found In Seven States

Since the public health service began its investigation, he reports, further evidence of the disease among rodents has been found in Nevada, Utah, Montana, Idaho and Washington.

No trace of the disease has been found in Wyoming, Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico where tests also were conducted. But Dr. Eskey adds: "The eastward progress of the infection will continue for an indefinite time."

This summer five rolling laboratories, manned by flea hunters, were put in the field.

Their job: To shoot thousands of rodents, to dissect them for evidence of the disease, to de-flea them and to send the fleas and dead tissue to the plague laboratory in San Francisco.

There guinea pigs are exposed to the tissues and fleas from the dead rodents as a final test to determine if plague is present.

2. The map shows approximately where Dr. C. R. Eskey of the health service reports rodents carrying plague-infested fleas have been found in the last three years.

3. Flea hunters bring in their kill—a shot-riddled prairie dog—and put the dead animal in a bag so that the fleas, if any, cannot escape pending examination.

4. To make the fleas easier to handle, Bacteriologist A. D. Davison pours a few drops of chloroform into the bag containing the dead prairie dog.

5. In one of five field laboratories the chloroformed fleas are knocked from the dead prairie dog and sent, with tissue from the animal, to the plague laboratory in San Francisco.

Concerted Action For Cotton Seed Improvement To Be Talked Here Tuesday

Extension Group To Urge Action

FARMERS, ginners, land owners, cotton buyers, oil mill men, compress men, bankers, vocational agriculture teachers and others interested in the cotton industry are expected to attend a meeting at Hotel Lubbock Tuesday morning to discuss improvement of cotton seed for next year's planting.

The meeting is one of a group being held over the South Plains this week, in which experts of the extension service will talk to farmers and others on how to better their seed.

Seriousness Of Situation Cited

Seriousness of the situation is seen in the heavy percentage of undesirable cotton offered last year, as well as the same condition appearing as the 1937 crop begins to come on the market, said C. C. Jobson, county agent. Farmer's incomes are affected seriously by the short staple grown, losing $5 to $10 a bale as a penalty for failure to plant longer staple cotton.

"We would like every farmer who grows cotton to attend and hear these men," Jobson said. "We believe the situation warrants attention being paid at this time to the need of better seed. Just a lot of farmers are losing money."

Agronomist To Speak

E. A. Miller, extension agronomist, is to be one of the speakers. He is one of the best posted men on cotton seed in Texas and the South. E. Lichte, gin specialist, also will talk. Lichte is known to many farmers and ginners, he having frequently made this county for years.

Roy F. Sanders, with the bureau of plant industry, U. S. department of agriculture is another speaker. D. F. Killough, another Extension cotton man, may attend.

The Lubbock meeting is to begin at 9:30 o'clock. K. J. Edwards, district agent leader, who is with the party, will preside. Don L. Jones, experiment station superintendent; Dean A. H. Leidigh of Texas Tech and Dr. A. W. Young, agronomist and plant industry department head and others are expected to talk.

Other Meetings Scheduled

Monday morning the same group will speak to Lynn county farmers at Tahoka; Monday afternoon to Terry county farmers at Brownfield; Tuesday afternoon to Hockley county farmers at Levelland; Wednesday morning to Cochran county farmers at Morton; that afternoon to Bailey county farmers at Muleshoe; Thursday morning to Lamb county farmers at Amherst; that afternoon to Hale county farmers at Plainview; Friday morning to Briscoe county farmers at Silverton and in the afternoon to Floyd county farmers at Floydada. Saturday morning the meeting will be to Crosby county farmers at Crosbyton.

Morning meetings are to be at 9:30 and afternoon at 2 p. m.

E. Rigler's Jersey Herd Is Leader Of Contest In August

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 18 (Special) — J. E. Rigler's pure bred Jersey herd of 32 head led the Central Plains Dairy Herd improvement association contest in August, said J. W. Davis, official tester.

The animals averaged 37.4 pounds of butterfat each, testing 5.22 per cent. Milk averaged 717 pounds.

Herds of other members in the large herd class included: A. B. Buchanan, Roy Wardlow, Joe W. Vaughn and F. Burgess.

In the group with 10 cows or less, Dennis and Clyde Wilkins of Tulia averaged 42.3 for eight cows, seven in milk. I. C. Sprague, Warren Orr, M. O. Elliott and S. P. Atchley ranked next.

The association led the state's 11 testing groups in August averages. It was the third month of operation. Increase over July was five per cent, Davis said.

The first grains of wheat grew wild on the steppes of Asia, thousands of years ago.

Lots Of Ears To Be Available For Huskers

Champion corn huskers will find plenty of ears to work on when they go to the national corn shucking contest at Marshall, Mo., Nov. 4. Jake Weber, on whose farm the contest will be held, exhibits a sample ear. The corn runs about 75 bushels to the acre.

Two Brothers Who Bought Wind-Damaged Farm Near Lamesa Rejuvenate It Through Adoption Of Soil Conservation Methods

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LAMESA, Aug. 18. — When Boyd and Carson Echols bought a 320-acre farm eight miles east of Lamesa last November some of their neighbors shook their heads and commented that the youthful brothers certainly had "cut out a task for themselves."

This apprehension was well justified. The farm probably was in just about the worst condition of any tract of land in the Soil Conservation service camp area at Lamesa. The sandy land, having a slope of four to five per cent, is at the head of a drainage area. The field had been washed down to the subsoil in many spots, and deep gullies were being cut by the run-off water.

The western half of the farm had been planted to cotton for 12 years. Since cotton provides little cover during the blowing season, this part of the field had been damaged severely by wind erosion. The eastern half had been damaged to such an extent by wind and water erosion that it had failed to produce a crop for five years and had been idle for the last three years.

This farm not only was non-productive, but stood as a menace to the surrounding land. Located at the head of the drainageway, the unprotected field allowed water to sweep down upon a large ranch, creating gullies, and resulting in valuable range land being flooded. During the blowing season, soil from the barren field was carried over a large area to damage productive farms.

Adopted Soil Program

Since the Echols family owns two full sections of land immediately adjoining, the brothers were especially interested in doing something to control the field that was menacing hundreds of acres of surrounding farms and ranches.

When the Echols brothers purchased the 320 acres, they knew exactly what they wanted to do. They became cooperators with the Soil Conservation service camp at Lamesa and adopted a program of soil and moisture conservation.

Nine terraces were constructed on half of the field before planting time. Sudan grass was planted on the terraces, and strip-cropping plan was adopted, grain sorghums and cotton being seeded in strips of equal width.

Terraces Holding Water

Despite the severely eroded condition of the land, moisture conservation resulted in being obtained except in a few spots where all the top-soil had been lost. The entire field is being cultivated on the contour and has been stabilized against blowing. The terraces are holding the water on the field where it falls and damage to land farther down the drainageway is being eliminated.

The young farmers estimate they will harvest a ton of grain sorghums to the acre, and at least a half bale of cotton. Such a yield will be more than the land has produced in the previous six years, they say.

This fall, they plan to terrace the remainder of the field and to strengthen the structures built last winter. The crop strips will be rotated next season to furnish additional residue for the soil.

"I am greatly pleased with the crops this year, but best results cannot be expected for a year or two when full benefits of terracing will be realized," says Boyd Echols. "Just to prove how well pleased I am, I have just refused an offer of $5 an acre profit for the 320 acres," he adds.

Lamb Auction To Be Wednesday

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 18 — Lambs will go under the auctioneer's hammer to the highest bidder for the first time in West Texas history at Eldorado south of here on September 22.

Some 10,000 head have been consigned to the sale which is attracting wide interest among feeders and lamb buyers generally. The sale is being arranged by a group of Schleicher county citizens for the purpose of simplifying lamb buying procedure. Heretofore, buyers have had to make individual contacts with growers which involved lots of travelling. Under the auction sale method a large number of lambs will be concentrated at one point so that buyers may have their choice of as many a type as they wish and can make their bids accordingly. If the move proves popular with buyers and growers it will become an annual feature.

Nearly Half Already Moved

Nearly half of this area's estimated 2,500,000 lamb crop has already moved to market which opened around August 1 this year, at least 30 to 60 days earlier than ever before. More than a million head have already gone to feeders in a score of states in the movement which is due to close October 15, and which may terminate somewhat earlier. Texas feeders are also represented, with lambs going to the Panhandle-Plains area as well as around Sherman. Heretofore, the lamb movement has hit its stride about October 1, but this year most of the lambs will be getting their finishing touches in the wheat and corn country by that time. Total value of the West Texas lamb crop is estimated at some $13,000,000 with lambs bringing around $4.80 a head. This compares with 1936 prices of 5 1-2 to 6 1-2 cents with 1937 seeing a peak of 8 1-2 cents being paid.

Questions And Answers On Details Of New Cotton Loan And Adjustment Payments

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Farmers interested in the government cotton loan or in the bonus or adjustment payments, have had little accurate information as to details of the plan. So far the government has issued few notes on the plan.

Copies of a letter or rather two letters from A. B. Emmert, general manager of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, have been received here, giving some information as to the loans.

The letters were a series of questions and answers, to answer problems of producers. As far as is known here, they are the best and most authentic so far sent out.

Questions and answers on the loan, designed to answer farmers' question about it, are as follows:

Q. Who is eligible to borrow?

A. Any farmer who produced cotton this season, who will obligate himself to comply with the adjustment program for 1938 as may hereafter be formulated.

Q—What cotton is eligible for the loan?

A. Any cotton produced from the 1937 crop by or for the applicant which classes 13-16 inch in staple length and middling or better in grade, or which classes 7-8 inch or better as to staple and low middling and better as to grade.

Q. At what rate per pound will loans be made?

A. Middling or better in grade 7-8 inch or better in staple, 9 cents; middling or better in grade 13-16 in staple, 8 cents; under middling, not below middling, 7-8 inch in staple, 7 3-4 cents.

Q. By whom will the class of the cotton upon which loans are to be made be determined?

A. The applicant for the loan will state in his loan papers that the cotton is equal to or better than the class required to justify a loan at the rate per pound shown therein. The warehouseman with whom the cotton is stored will furnish a certificate guaranteeing the class of the cotton to be represented in the loan papers.

Q. What rate of interest will be charged and when will the notes mature?

A. The rate of interest will be 4 per cent per annum and the notes will mature July 31, 1938.

Q. How are these loans made?

A. The procedure for obtaining these loans will be identical with the procedure applicable to loans made against the crop of 1935.

Q. May a producer place his cotton in the loan and thereafter receive the benefit of the "adjustment payment" to be made by the secretary of agriculture?

A. A producer may place his cotton in the loan and thereafter withdraw his cotton by paying off the loan, and may then sell his cotton and, if otherwise eligible, receive the benefit of "adjustment payments" provided the cotton is withdrawn and actually sold prior to July 1, 1938.

Q. Will the Texas Cotton Cooperative association make these loans?

A. Yes. The association representatives in the interior will furnish the producer a detail class on his cotton, place a market value thereon, prepare the loan papers, and pay him the loan value at that time, for which a charge of 50 cents per bale will be made.

Information on "adjustment payments" are as follows:

Q. Who are eligible for these adjustment payments?

A. Only those persons who having produced and sold cotton from the 1937 crop, and who shall engage in the production of cotton in 1938 in accordance and in compliance with the 1938 adjustment program.

Q. What is the rate per pound of the adjustment payment?

A. The rate of the adjustment payments will be the difference between the average of the 10 spot markets on the date the producer makes a bona fide sale of his cotton and 12 cents, but not to exceed three cents per pound.

Q. Upon what part of the 1937 crop will adjustment payments be made?

A. These payments will be made to those producers complying in the 1938 program and upon not less than 65 per centum of the base production from the 1937 crop as that base production of each producer was determined, or may hereafter be determined in accordance with the regulations applicable to the 1937 soil conservation program. (Those who participated in the 1937 program know just what their base acreage and normal production figures are. Those who have not cooperated under the 1937 soil conservation program may obtain their designated base acreage and normal production by application to the county agricultural extension agent, or to the chairman of the county committee administering the soil conservation program.)

Q. During what period of time must the producer sell his cotton in order to become entitled to the adjustment payments?

A. His cotton must be sold on or before June 30, 1938. Cotton that was sold before the formulation of this program shall be eligible for adjustment payments to the same extent as that selling thereafter.

Q. When will adjustment payments be made?

A. The date payment actually will be made is problematical. Payments will be made only to those producers who comply with and cooperate in the application of such agricultural program as may hereafter be formulated by the United States department of agriculture under authority of legislation hereafter to be enacted by the congress. You see from this that payments will not be made on a promise to comply with a program but upon proof that the 1938 agricultural program has been complied with. Therefore, it would appear that payment will not be made earlier than July or August, 1938.

The representatives of cotton cooperative associations will maintain a record of the cotton handled through the association and can furnish the necessary information so that at the proper time documents may be filed with the county agricultural extension agent for the adjustment payments.

Drouth's Result Shown In Yield

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 18 — When the average yield of lint cotton for a county is less than 100 pounds an acre the responsibility is attributable to drouth in the growing season or the rainfall has been such as to stimulate insect activity with resultant severe damage.

This is the diagnosis of F. L. Thomas, chief of the division of entomology at the Texas Agricultural experiment station here, in a statement upon "effects of rainfall and insect damage on cotton yields."

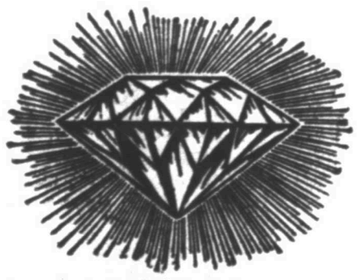

Whenever average yield for one or more counties has been higher than 200 pounds of lint an acre, he says, the average rainfall in the area has been approximately 7 1-2 to 12 1-2 inches in May, June and July. In other words, his statement continues, in order to have optimum conditions for the growth of cotton it is necessary to have sufficient rainfall to produce a considerable degree of insect damage. With too much rainfall, however, the insect damage overbalances the good effects of the moisture and low yields result.

A study of 1919 and 1934, and 1928-34, inclusive, for which reports of average acre yields by counties are available, when applied to insect damage and rainfall noted in 1937 in the various districts of the state, suggest a relation of these records to probable yields this season.

TARZAN'S QUEST, No. 61

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Gupingu, the witch-doctor, whispered to Udalo, and the chief called down: "Tarzan is not here. If you do not believe me, your warriors may come in and see." Muviro did not believe him. Had not Tarzan's friend Nkima led them urgently to this village.

Muviro thought to gain more information by questioning the chief intimately; so when Udalo made the sign of peace, he led his band forward. Udalo trembled at close sight of these stalwart Waziri, but Gupingo said slyly: "My magic will overwhelm them!"

As they entered the village street, the Waziri were surrounded by fighting men and conducted to the chief's hut. There began one of those long palavers so dear to the hearts of African natives. But Udalo continued to deny knowledge of Tarzan's whereabouts.

Meanwhile, Gupingo busied himself in his hut, secretly boiling strange herbs. Finally he poured the potent brew into a small gourd and made his way stealthily toward the woman who was preparing native beer to be served the visitors at the feast.
