Civil Rights Fight By Dems Expected

By CARTER BRADLEY

OKLAHOMA CITY — UP — A strong battle over civil rights took shape Friday as delegates to the national convention of Young Democratic Clubs of America prepared to hear an address by presidential hopeful Adlai E. Stevenson.

A civil rights resolution commending states which comply with desegregation rulings barely won approval by a resolution committee vote of 9-8.

Most southern delegates on the committee, and a few northerners, fought the resolution for fear that it would hurt the Democrats in the South. However, a "no compromise" argument advanced by California delegates barely won out.

Fight on Floor

The issue possibly will be fought out on the convention floor Saturday.

Stevenson was due to arrive in Oklahoma City Friday afternoon for his speech at 3:30 p.m. and for a reception. The speech will be delivered at Municipal Auditorium and the public was invited.

Friday morning's program featured Congresswoman Coya Knutson of Minnesota, who spoke at a Democratic women's breakfast. Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Oklahoma Sen. Mike Monroney were other morning speakers.

At 2 p.m., a panel discussion was to feature Gov. Jim Folsom of Alabama, Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas, Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White and Pennsylvania internal affairs secretary Genevieve Blatt.

The civil rights argument Thursday night followed a keynote address by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) attacking the administration's foreign policy.

To Make Decision

Kefauver, who is expected to decide soon whether he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination, charged that Republican conduct of foreign policy will be a major issue in the 1955 elections.

"We will point to the lack of imagination, the lack of resourcefulness, in meeting new conditions in world affairs," he said. "We will point to the bumbling, the vagueness, the indecision and in many cases the sterile inflexibility which has come to characterize the conduct of our foreign affairs.

"There have been some recent pious expressions of hope by Republican leaders that foreign policy will not be an issue in the current campaign," Kefauver said.

"But I agree with Sen (Walter) George (D-Ga.) that constructive discussion of foreign policy is as necessary as it will be inevitable."

Birmingham Newspaper Is Purchased

BIRMINGHAM—UP—The Birmingham News, one of the South's largest dailies, was under the ownership of a northern newspaper group.

The News and affiliated interests were sold to the Samuel I. Newhouse group for $16.5 million, the highest price Newhouse ever paid for a newspaper to expand his fast-growing chain that now numbers 13.

Newhouse bought the News from the Victor H. Hanson trust, taking the 190,000 circulation paper out of family control for the first time in 45 years.

Included in the purchase were Birmingham radio stations WAPI, Birmingham television station WABT, the Huntsville (Ala.) Times and its affiliate, WHBS, all part of the Hanson trust.

Announcement of the sale was made in the News' fourth edition Trursday afternoon. In addition to the purchase price, Newhouse agreed to take on $2.2 million long-term obligations incurred by the News, it was announced.

The paper promised its employes that the new owner would order no personnel changes. It added the News and editorial policies would go unchanged.

To insure this, the announcement said, publisher Clarence Hanson Jr. will remain "in the position of top secutive of the property until 1973."

UF Clean-Up Drive Slated

The Board of Directors of Pampa's United Fund met Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Cabot Conference Room to rework the cards of people who have not been contacted in the campaign drive.

Methods of closing out the drive as quickly as possible were discussed. The campaign total of over $43,587.20 is ahead of the total at this same time last year.

C. P. Buckler was appointed to head a Nominating Committee to select five new members to replace members on the board whose terms will expire in January. These five members will take office at the annual meeting of the United Fund slated for sometime in January. The nominating Committee will be made up of seven members, two from participating agencies, three from the board of directors, and two others to be selected.

About twelve members were present, including E. O. Wedgeworth, publicity co-chairman, Charley Cook, campaign co-chairman, Mrs. Emmett Gee, secretary, and Mrs. Rufe Jordan, secretary of the board.

Pancake Feed To Follow Santa Parade

The JayCees Pancake Supper will be held from 5-8 p.m. today in the high school cafeteria, following Santa Day parade festivities.

In a meeting of committee chairmen yesterday noon at Poole's Drive Inn, a final check was made to see that everything was ready for the big affair.

Johnny Campbell, co-chairman, indicated that about 1000 tickets have been sold. "This is your big chance to come on out and take the family to eat economically," Campbell said. All the Junior Chamber of Commerce members will have a full day today preparing for final details.

Participating in the Santa Day parade, they will have a large float set up for Aunt Jemima, who will arrive in town this afternoon, and for Seven-Eleven and Esquire Club members. Bob Carmichael, president, will be at the microphone plugging the supper over a loud speaker set up on the truck.

Chefs, making up the cooking committee, will be preparing hot cakes tonight to serve to an estimated crowd of over 1,500. Dressed in chef hats and aprons and serving pancakes will be: Dr. Harold Meador, chairman, Don Thompson, Don Taylor, Carl Hills, Lelmond Hall, Don Thompson and Dick Stowers.

All ticket holders are requested to put their name and address on the back of their tickets in order to identify the winners in the drawing for door prizes. The four door prizes will be delivered to the lucky winners Sunday.

Adlai's Strategy Is Shaky

Early Program Nearly Backfires

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON —UP— The first maneuvers in Adlai E. Stevenson's formal pre-convention campaign for next year's Democratic presidential nomination did not quite backfire, but almost.

Stevenson's strategy, as outlined prior to last month's announcement of his candidacy, was to develop an early and overwhelming show of strength. Such a showing of early foot is essential for a front runner in any kind of contest.

But, instead of scaring off his Democratic opposition, Stevenson's announcement incited them to hoofs of criticism and new enthusiasm to challenge his nomination. The No. 1 immediate development was announcement by Carmine de Sapio that Gov. Averell Harriman of New York would be placed in nomination for President at next summer's Democratic national convention to be held in Chicago.

Heads Tammany Hall

De Sapio is the soft-spoken leader of hte New York County Democratic Organization, better known as Tammany Hall. He is New York's Democratic national committeeman and secretary of state in Harriman's cabinet. De Sapio almost invented Harriman as a national political figure.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. was moving to kidnap the 1954 Democratic nomination for governor in New York when De Sapio interfered. He and others stopped Roosevelt, nominated Harriman, instead. More amazing, they elected Harriman against a standout Republican vote-getter—Sen. Irving M. Ives.

De Sapio's response to Stevenson's bid was to put Harriman in the contest without qualification. The governor, however, describes himself as a non-active candidate. There is nothing non-active about De Sapio. He is shopping for delegates, but has decided to keep his man out of the numerous presidential preference primaries.

No Worse Than Second Hoots

Harriman was almost first up last year with a plug for Stevenson's nomination for President in 1956. Last month he was no worse than second hoots against Stevenson's political compass course for 1956. Stevenson announced his candidacy in a speech which proposed a "moderate" approach to national issues.

'RED FLANNELS' PAINTED ON BIRMINGHAM IRON STATUE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — UP — A giant iron statue of Vulcan, god of fire, which stands atop Red Mountain, has been wearing "red flannels" during the recent cold wave.

City officials said Thursday a dispute with a painters' union has been settled, and the painters who walked out leaving the statue painted red from neck to knees, will finish their job.

US Safety Experts Unhappy Over Day

By UNITED PRESS

Safety experts expressed frank disappointment Friday over the nation's poor showing on Safe Driving Day.

The 24-hour period ending Thursday midnight had been expected to show a drastic drop in fatal traffic accidents.

But a United Press count showed that 66 persons had died on the streets and highways.

The figure represented a sharp drop from the 81 persons killed on the comparable Thursday last year, Dec. 2. But it was well above the 51 persons killed in the first S-D Day on Dec. 15 last year.

In addition, it was feared that late fatality reports might push the final toll close to the 69 killed in traffic accidents two weeks ago on Nov. 17, when no special effort was made to cut down the death rate.

President Eisenhower's committee on traffic safety had tried to demonstrate for the second year in a row that the nation's motorists could make a dramatic cut in traffic accidents if they really wanted to.

Adm. H. B. Miller, the committee director, admitted the final results were disheartening.

"The fact that the S-D Day toll has exceeded the one last year naturally is a disappointment to the thousands of people and scores of organizations who worked so hard to make this day a demonstration that team work on the highway could bring about a drastic saving in human life," he said.

California had the worst record with nine traffic fatalities. There were eight in Ohio, six in Tennessee, four in both New York and Pennsylvania, and three in each in Missouri, Michigan, and Washington, which usually posts a top safety record.

Across the nation, there were fatal traffic accidents in 21 states, while death took a holiday in the 27 others and the District of Columbia.

Expert Says Installment Buying In Line

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK —UP— Installment buying is one of the things that makes the American economy run—healthy and strong—and there is no sign that credit sales of merchandise are getting out of hand.

That's the opinion of Walter Hoving, a practicing merchandising expert for many years who takes no stock in the opinions of some economists that the credit-buying public now may be living beyond its means.

Hoving now is chairman of Tiffany's and president of Bonwit Teller, prestige merchandising firms which have no installment purchasing. But in past years he dealt with such buying as an executive at Montgomery Ward, and elsewhere.

"The boys get overly worked up about this every once in a while—it gets to be sort of a fad with some economists and professors," Hoving said in an interview. "There may be a ceiling, of course—some place that's the top—but we're not anywhere near there yet.

"There is no sign that merchandise installment buying is getting out of hand, and there's no reason to build up a lot of bugaboos.

"Credit men who are operating under the free enterprise system are adequately ample to handle the situation. They'd be the first to see if it was getting out of hand. It's the kind of thing that private enterprise can handle—and is handling—well. I see no reason for government control or arbitrary regulations."

Hoving termed installment buying "one of the great new facts in the American economy—it's one of the methods by which we do business; it makes for a great deal more business.

"Some people," he continued, "want to give the impression that it's a sinful thing. It's no more sinful than paying by check, or using the 30-day charge account. In Russia people don't use bank checks. They don't have installment selling and the 30-day charge account—nor do they in most of the rest of Europe. In France, how does even a wealthy man pay? He sends a man around with the cash.

"These are typically American things: Installment buying, the check, the charge account. They're what make the American economy run at high speed."

Two Deaths Mar Texas' S-D Effort

By UNITED PRESS

A rash of traffic accidents and injuries and at least two deaths marred Safe Driving Day Thursday in Texas.

Houston, the state's biggest city, was far ahead of any other city in the state in the number of accidents and injuries. But the two fatalities were recorded in El Paso and at Silsbee, in Hardin county.

At the latest count, Houston reported 103 accidents with at least 16 injuries. Dallas had 53 accidents with two injuries and Fort Worth was next with 31 and one.

The day got off to a poor start Thursday when the state's first traffic accident was recorded in Houston before the day was two minutes old.

Two Texas cities—Austin and El Paso—competed in a "dented fender" contest with Phoenix, Ariz., and Sacramento, Calif. Phoenix apparently won out with a total of 20 accidents at the latest report.

Austin, which won the award last year with 18 accidents, reported the same number this year, as did Sacramento. El Paso had 13 accidents.

The fatalities included Claude Lee Roberson, 46, Negro laborer of Silsbee, and Mrs. Mary Pauleen Rosell, 19, of El Paso.

Mrs. Rosell died at 6:30 p.m. when the car in which she and her husband, Glenn Rosell, 18, were riding collided with a train. Police said Rosell, a soldier at Fort Bliss, pulled out of a line of cars and ran into the path of the train.

Roberson died at 8:45 p.m. in a Beaumont hospital from injuries suffered at 4 p.m. in a two-car collision just north of Silsbee on U.S. 96.

Over the remainder of the state, meanwhile, the situation ranged from good to fair as the day began in many cities with one strike against it because of rainy weather and slick streets.

Conference Urges More School Funds

By BETTY PRYOR

WASHINGTON—UP—The White House conference on education advised President Eisenhower Friday that the nation must "spend more of our wealth" on schools.

The advice was contained in a formal report telling the President that the 1,800 delegates favored more federal money for public schools by a better than 2-to-1 margin.

The pro-aid stand, indicated by the delegates earlier, was confirmed Thursday night at the final session of the historic four-day conference. President Eisenhower called the meeting to advise him on how to cope with urgent problems facing the nation's schools.

Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education, and welfare responded to the conference's more-aid plea with a "confident" prediction that the administration will submit to congress next year a "broadened and improved" program of federal help for building schools.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.), an observer at the conference, said "confident" probability that congress "confident" probability that congrss will approve a school aid bill. McNamara is a member of the Senate Labor and Education committee.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, ranking Republican on the same committee, said he already is working on an aid bill with committee Chairman Lister Hill (D-Ala.).

Federal aid was the most controversial issue before the conference in its discussion of how to meet a current shortage of 203,450 classrooms and 141,000 qualified teachers and other school problems.

The delegates' answer made it clear that the states and local communities, too, must do more for the schools.

TB Seal Sales Bring $1,003

Christmas Seal sales amounted to $1,003 this morning, according to Bert R. Nuckols, treasurer of Gray County TB Association. This figure represents an increase over the same period last year.

"It seems to be going very satisfactorily," Nuckols said," and it seems to be running better than last year." He urged everyone to get their contributions in as quickly as possible.

A total of $137 in returns yesterday brought the total up from $866 reported within the first 10 days.

Hagler Denies Murdering Unknown Oklahoma Victim

SULPHUR, Okla. — UP — David Fred Hagler Jr., Oklahoma torch murder suspect from Fort Worth was released from the Murray county jail early Friday on $15,000 bond.

Hagler was granted his freedom on bond pending preliminary hearing on a year - old murder Thursday, but his attorneys spent several hours locating Peace Justice V. N. Hodges in order to get the bond approved.

Dave Tant, Oklahoma City attorney said Hodges was found late Thursday and approved the bail. Hagler went free at shortly before 1 a.m., Tant said.

In Thursday's daylong hearing, Hagler denied murdering an unidentified man whose body was found near here in a station wagon owned by the former Texas asphalt company executive Oct. 10, 1954.

The decision handed down Thursday by District Judge William J. Monroe meant Hagler would be free for the first time since Nov. 22, when he first was placed in an Oklahoma jail.

Hagler had been free on $15,000 bond for 13 months during litigation in Texas courts over his extradition to Oklahoma.

He was the only witness in the habeas corpus proceedings Thursday before a courtroom jammed with 175 spectators.

He denied any part of an alleged insurance fraud conspiracy preceding the mysterious fire-death on a country road not far from the asphalt mine in which his family owned an interest.

Judge Monroe ordered Hagler released with the comment, "There's been no proog at this hearing that anybody had killed anybody, so far as I know."

Monroe ordered Hagler to report Dec. 14 preliminary hearing.

Although the state had seven witnesses sworn in, indicating the hearing might cover many new facets of the year-long murder investigation, none was called.

When Hagler's cross - examination was finished at 3:15 p.m., the defense rested its case and Owen J. Watts, assistant Oklahoma attorney general, immediately rested for the state.

Watts said later he conferred with the defense about the possibility of waiving preliminary hearing in peace justice court and taking Hagler's case directly into district court for trial in January. Watts said defense attorneys indicated they might be willing to go along later.

Watts indicated the state was more interested in getting Hagler to talk under oath rather than keeping him from geing granted bail.

WALTER ROGERS
... API speaker

Rep. Rogers To Address API Members

Congressman Walter Rogers will be the principal speaker at the annual election of officers banquet of the American Petroleum Institute, division of production, Panhandle Chapter, which will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Bunavista Cafeteria in Borger.

Rogers, who represents the 18th Congressional district, has recently made a trip to Russia and will give some up-to-the minute news on what is happening behind the Iron Curtain. He has also promised to give the latest Washington views on current legislation concerning the oil and gas industry. However, it will not all be serious as he has promised to fill in the gaps with some of his favorite stories.

The tickets this year will be $4 per plate if purchased before arrival. Tickets purchased at the door will be $5 each.

A report by members of the group as to ticket sales should be made to Martin Ludeman, Pampa, phone 4-7457, or to Gilbert Hollingsworth, Gulf Oil Corporation, Borger, phone BR-3-7551, so provisions can be made to take care of everyone.

L. L. Milliron will be in charge of the banquet and Fred J. Neslage will be master of ceremonies.

A capacity crowd is epected for the event.

Faure Kills Assembly, Hits Critics

By WILBUR G. LANDREY

PARIS —UP— Premier Edgar Faure dissolved the French national assembly Friday and then hotly rejected accussations that he had violated the constitution.

The assembly ceased to exist at 7 a.m. (Thursday midnight est) with publication of a decree in the "Journal Officiel" and France prepared for its first winter elections since February, 1876.

Faure went before a press conference to launch his vigorous electoral campaign for the elections expected to be held on New Year's Day, a national holiday.

He said he would reject the resignation of five Radical Socialist ministers and stick to his job to "defend French interests" in the interim period before elections.

Faure fought back at his principal political opponent, Pierre Mendes-France, and said the constitution gave him full power to take any decision confronting the nation before the new chamber is elected.

But he said he would try to limit his decisions to the most urgent questions and not take any sensational initiative.

"In dissolving the chamber I was far from the idea of taking a fighting position," he said. "The government's chief target was to give France a new chamber capable of facing most urgent problems which will arise beginning in January."

He listed these as home-rule for Tunisia, a new deal for embattled Algeria, and the future links between France and a Morocco that is reaching "independence."

Chinese Food Can Be Found In Nearly Any Large City

By GLORIA SWANSON
Written for United Press

ROME —UP— On Via Borgognona, the neon sign read "Chop Suey." Had it been on "our" Broadway or in "our" Chinatown, it would have looked natural. But in a little narrow street of Rome it seemed so isolated and detached.

I am now conviced that Chinese food can be found in any sizeable city in the whole world, just as our hot dog has been universalized by our GIs.

A single American probably did not know what he was doing when he stuck a chocolate coated ice cream bar on a stick. If he has lived to find out and is wise enough to have a patent, he should be a multi-billionaire for I have seen this "morsel on a stick" wherever I have traveled, stuck in the mouths of otherwise distinguished looking ladies and gents, in formal dress, in the theaters of London, Paris and Rome. An incongruous sight to behold!

Variety in a Meal

Speaking of incongruities, my last meal in Amsterdam was in one of at least 100 Balinese restaurants throughout Holland. If you haven't had a Balinese meal, I can tell you that it is 18 different varieties of a bit of this and that, sweet and sour, plain and spiced.

My Dutch hosts were only too happy to have a change of food for they, too, were probably at this point sick of raw herring!

The German pretzel certainly has traveled far, wide and handsome, too. As for the French fried potato, large, small and shoestring, they, like the Italian spaghetti, have become universal despite the fact that, in all languages, diet books list them verboten.

An Experience With Corn

I can remember very clearly when ears of corn, unknown to the cuisine of France, were sent to me from England in 1925. At that time, I was filming "Madame Sans Gene" just outside Paris.

The hotel chef was instructed in how to cook the cobs of corn. It was therefore only natural that he, the kitchen personnel and waiters, to say nothing of the guests, would be interested to see how the crazy Americans ate such a monster.

So, there they all stood watching. And a rather embarrassing experience it was for it is not exactly my favorite dish "in public."

When I asked my husband, the Marquis de la Falaise, why the curiosity, he exclaimed:

"They have only seen pigs eat corn!"

Tulsa May Get 'Jitney Service'

TULSA —UP— With threat of a city bus strike hanging over Tulsa, Mayor L. C. Clark Wednesday ordered the city commission to adopt an ordinance Wednesday afternoon that would authorize "jitney service" in the event a strike develops.

Clark is attending a mayors convention in Miami, Fla., and is not scheduled to return here until Dec. 6. He telephoned his office Wednesday morning with the order to prepare for a bus strike.

The contract between Tulsa City Lines and the AFL Motor Coach Employes Union expired Nov. 15, but was extended until midnight Thursday. The union has indicated it would not agree to another extension.

The union is seeking to reduce the work week from 48 to 40 hours without a cut in take-home pay.

Mayor Clark's jitney service ordinance would authorize the city to set up a system whereby regular bus customers would be serviced by persons driving private cars.

Robbery Suspects Await Trial

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —UP— Two men charged with the daring $47,500 burglary of a Sandia base branch bank here awaited trial Wednesday after a series of motions aimed at their freedom were denied.

The two, Joseph Gullahorn and Robert Sanders, won only lowered bond. U.S. District Judge Waldo Rogers cut it from $50,000 to $30,000 each.

Sanders and Gullahorn had charged that the FBI entered their Phoenix home without search warrants to arrest them and search the premises. On arraignment, they pleaded innocent to the burglary, and Judge Rogers set the trial for January.

Mrs. Gullahorn, the key witness for the defense, testified on her husband's behalf that the agents making the arrest "broke into our home and knocked me down." She said they had no warrants.

But D. A. Bryce, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, and Agent Francis E. Crosby told the court they obtained warrants about 3:30 a.m. on Nov. 9, about three hours before Gullahorn and Sanders were arrested.

Bryce said that Mrs. Gullahorn was intoxicated when the FBI entered the Gullahorn home, allegedly purchased with the loot from the branch, part of the Bank of New Mexico.

The hearing shed light on only one aspect of the case which had not been revealed earlier. Bryce said the FBI had recovered approximately $5,000 of the stolen money.

Another Cold Front Heads For Panhandle

By UNITED PRESS

A thick fog cover mixed with a light drizzle over most of East Texas Friday as another cold front headed for the Texas Panhandle.

The drizzle was what was left of Thursday's rains, which began moving eastward on out of the state. The fog cover began lifting, although some cloudiness remained in parts of East Texas.

The latest front—from the Pacific—was expected to move into the Panhandle by Friday night, spreading southeastward over the state Saturday. Forecasters said temperatures would warm up during the day, but the front would drop them over the state during the weekend.

Another front, this one from the Arctic, was headed in the general direction of Texas, but still was in the Dakotas and Montana. If it reaches the state at all, it likely will be sometime during the weekend, forecasters reported.

As the rains moved out of the state, Beaumont reported the heaviest amount with 2.41 inches for the past 24 hours. Galveston received .94 of an inch, Houston .88, Texarkana .65, and Victoria .05.

Fog and drizzle, in some cases, were reported early Friday at Beaumont, Lufkin, Palacios, Corpus Christi, Laredo, Cotulla, Austin, San Antonio, College Station, Waco, Fort Worth and Dallas.

High readings Thursday ranged from 68 at Childress to 43 at Dallas.

Low overnight reading in the state was Marfa with 31 degrees. Brownsville had the highest overnight reading of 52 degrees.

Kiwanis Club Has Musical Banquet Show

An all-musical program climaxed the annual Pampa Kiwanis Club banquet last night in Pampa High School cafeteria where W. Ralph McKinney was installed as the new president of the organization.

Jim Hudson, of Amarillo, Lt. Governor of Kiwanis International installed McKinney along with Frank Fata, immediate past president, Warren Hasse, first vice president; Ken Meaders, second vice president; and Malcolm Hinkle, secretary. Aubrey Jones, new treasurer of the club was unable to attend the banquet.

"Romance in Music Through the Ages" was the theme of the musical program arranged by Mack Hiatt Jr. The program featured solo numbers by Joe Whitten, Miss Betty Lou Hogsett, Dr. N. J. Ellis, and Mrs. Mack Hiatt Jr. Violin selections were played by Lawrence Jarrett.

A duet by Dr. Ellis and Mrs. Hiatt completed the program.

The performers were accompanied by Mrs. John M. Gill and Miss Ramona Hudgins.

Pampa Girl Injured In Auto Mishap

Both Chief of Police Jim Conner and Sheriff Rufe Jordan issued S-D Day statements this morning.

Conner was disappointed because the day was marred with the accident of a little girl, Nelda Price, 14, who was injured in an automobile accident yesterday afternoon at 5:15. She was riding on the fender of a '49 Ford belonging to Raul Hernandez Ramirez of 320 W. Atchison, when she lost her balance and hit the pavement in front of the car. The automobile stopped in time to avoid hitting her, however, but she suffered a gash on her head and minor arm bruises. Nelda was admitted to Highland General Hospital yesterday, she will receive X-rays and be kept under observation.

Another minor car collision, amounting to damages under $25, took place yesterday at 4:27 p.m. at the intersection of Cuyler and Atchison.

An accident here last year on S-D Day (Dec. 15) also marred the special day between 4-5 p.m. Conner remarked he noticed that the Chief of Police at Houston had labeled it "Smash and Destruction Day." Over 65 fatal accidents had been reported occurring over the nation, at last report according to Conner.

Sheriff Jordan said, "It seems to me that everything is quieting down, we've only had four or five fatalities in the county this year." He commended drivers on showing improvement in traffic conditions and stated that a lot more people are becoming safety conscious-minded.

"I've noticed a lot of improvement in kids and young drivers," Jordan said adding, "They've done an excellent job in cooperating with traffic officers."

With the coming of the Christmas Holidays, he urged drivers to give more thought to safe and sane practices. "We could eliminate a lot of accidents during the Holiday period by being more courteous to others," he concluded.

Building Permits Total $238,650

Building permits for the month of November totaled $238,650 according to the monthly report. Sixteen new residences accounted for a total value of $181,100, and 33 permits were issued in all.

Permits were issued for two new businesses with a total value of $29,000. One permit was issued for the Humble Bulk Station on S. West St., south of Oiler Park, the other was issued for Duncan-Parker Welding Works located on Huff Road.

A total of five residents were remodeled at a value of $14,000, one business was remodeled ($2,500), and two new garages were constructed ($800).

Area Bond Sales Heavy

According to a report by Jesse L. Adams, area sales manager, Savings Bond division, U. S. Treasury Department, Savings Bond sales in Gray County reached 95 per cent of the 1955 quota by Nov. 1.

$664,733 in Savings Bonds have been purchased by Gray County citizens toward a quota of $700,000. George Cree Jr. is county Savings Bond chairman.

Sales for District number 2, of which Gray County is a part, have totalled $1,844,901, or 91 per cent of the year's total. L. Green is the district chairman of Bond sales.

Results from neighboring counties show: Ochiltree County, $275,693 or 78 per cent of quota; Roberts County, $12,776 or 18 per cent of quota; Hemphill County, $139,192 or 96 per cent of quota; Wheeler County, $223,266 or 101 per cent of quota; and Carson County, $366,630 or 122 per cent of quota.

Bridge Work Set For Gray County

The Gray County Commissioners yesterday accepted the bid of John F. Buckner and Sons, Cleburne, for construction work on three bridges in the county. Buckner and Sons bid came to $45,647.37.

The construction will be on bridges at the Plum Creek, Grapevine Creek and Wheatley crossings. A total of six firms bid on the construction work.

The commissioners also accepted a bid of the Motorola Company for five 2-way radio units for sheriff's department cars. The Motorola Company was the only bidder. Gray County's part of the cost will come to approximately $1,385. The Federal government pays a part of the cost for such radios.

In other action, the commissioners approved a minimum wage scale for the work scheduled on Highland General Hospital and heard the monthly treasurer's report from County Treasurer Ola Gregory.

County Judge Bruce Parker signed the contract for Cantrell and Company, Architects, Inc., to supervise the work on the addition to Highland General Hospital.

Stages Of Socialism

Rogers C. Dunn, who heads a survey team in the New England area, has revealed some rather self-evident if appalling facts on political conditions as he finds them now. His conclusions were published recently in the Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Dunn, a political researcher of note, claims that the United States has now entered the fourth and final stage of socialism. He outlines the stages to this collectivized state as follows:

STAGE ONE: The exciting days of the 1930's, when the New Deal was ushering in a whole series of ideas that were foreign to the American scene. Government, instead of remaining a passive judicial force, became an active participant in the personal life of every human being here. Thus the seeds of socialism were planted.

STAGE TWO: This was the "me too" period of national politics beginning around 1940. The natural opposition to socialist inroads ceased to oppose. Instead, the Republican party, as that opposition, accepted the bulk of socialism as part of the American ideology. It was conceded that so long as the people had the chance to vote for socialism, when they got it, it wasn't socialism but rather democracy in action. This "me too" stage failed to swing support behind what could still have become opposition to socialism.

STAGE THREE: This phase began with the Republican inauguration in 1953. Here the GOP had the opportunity of reversing the entire socialist development. Instead the Republican administration put the stamp of approval on the vast bureaucracy built up by the New Deal. Minor tremors shook the framework of the socialist structure within the government. But the basic convictions of socialism were so closely related to the pillars holding up the federal edifice, that no appreciable damage occured as a result of these minor shiftings. Instead, the government solidified into a gigantic monolithic structure, virtually impervious to the desires of the people.

Now, the FOURTH and final stage is being characterized by what is occurring within both major parties as they prepare for next year's election. Both parties openly compete in sponsoring or extending socialism. The voters are given a choice of socialist plan "A" or socialist plan "B." Either that or they can stay home. Further, the movement toward more and varied socialism does not originate with the people. It finds its origin in the government itself where the politicians caused its advent back in the early 30's.

A few pressure groups in opposition are apparently powerless to thwart the plans of the socialists, since socialist pressure groups are aided and abetted by the desires and wealth of the politicians in both parties who are in power.

We are grateful to Mr. Dunn. He has briefly and scientifically charted the manner in which we abandoned government of, by and for the people, for government of, by and for the government.

Although Mr. Dunn doesn't say so, the final stage of socialism has been clearly seen as the full bloom of communism. George Orwell, who wrote the terrifying book "1984," foresaw the inevitable result of the socialistic sproutings. All we need now is the threat of perpetual war from some gigantic competitor (Russia?) and we can be docilely placed under the heel of "big brother" for our own protection. Freedom, individualism, self-determination, self-responsibility, will thus be relegated to the past "for our own protection."

We are sorry we must agree with the Dunn findings. But those whom the gods destroy they first make dependent upon their government.

Here's Confidential Story On Rabbit-Hater's Speech

By HENRY McLEMORE

You read, of course, how the Marquess of Cholmondeley finally broke thirty-two years of silence in the House of Lords with a stirring speech urging the passage of legislation which would outlaw and exterminate the rabbit in England.

The Marquess took his seat among the peers when he was a brisk, handsome man of forty, but it was not until he was seventy-two that Parliament debated a subject which he thought warranted his opinion. Hitler stood on the edge of the Channel and he kept mum. The Empire melted away and he nodded on his cane. A king abdicated and he didn't so much as cheep.

What brought about this momentous decision of the Marquess to make a speech? What caused this titled Sphinx to stir in the legislative sands and give voice? No one would ever know had it not been for the foresightedness of this column. On a hunch, we planted a spy in the country home of the Marquess the night before the speech. Hidden in a suit of armor that stands on a stairway, the spy saw and heard all that took place. Here is his report, just as it was scribbled down while inside the armor:

"Kind of stuffy in here...Wish man who owned it had been a bit fatter...The Marquess has just entered the drawing room...He's limping, and his right foot is heavily bandaged...Gout...He is tapping on the floor with his stick ...Here comes the Marchioness...A pouter pigeon with pincenez...She is talking to the Marquess...

" 'What's eating you, Cholmondeley? Benson'll be here with your port in a moment. I sent him to the vicar's in the dog-cart for some more shells for the guns. Benson says the rabbits are gathering for a frontal attack on the house, and that they might try to pull it off tonight under the cover of darkness. Will you be able to use a gun?"

"The Marquess snorts... 'With this dratted foot? Curse the day I ever bought Robin that pair of Belgian hares! They have overrun my property. Eaten everything. Now they're after us. But don't worry about me, Hand me the poker, dear. I'm crippled but I'll sell my life dearly if they force the house. I'm not a Cholmondeley for nothing.'

"Benson comes in...He is covered with rabbit fur. 'The rabbits ambushed me near the gatehouse, sir. Hundreds of them. Barely got away. Fiercer than Huns, they are, sir. They're sure to attack tonight, sir, seeing as it is cook's night out and they know we're under-staffed.'

"A rabbit has just poked his head from behind a bookcase...I can see him plainly...He is creeping toward the Marquess's sore foot...He is going to jump on it...There he goes! ...The Marquess is howling with pain...In whacking at the rabbit he brought the poker down on his gouty foot...The rabbits are coming down the chimney and pouring out the fireplace...They are bounding through an open French door.

"Benson is opening the front door, and is knee deep in rabbits... He is calling for the Marquess and Marchioness to escape while they can — telling them that they can get away in the dog-cart.

"The Marquess is looking at an ancestor on the wall...Tears are in his eyes...'Forgive me,' he says to the picture and hobbles toward the door...Benson slams it, and I hear the sound of wheels on the gravelled driveway...I think they got away...I don't know how I am to get out...Rabbits are stacked up nearly to the visor of this suit, I'm in, and thumping it with their hind feet until sounds like a biler factory in here..."

Later, our spy reported that the Marquess made it to his club safely and, after a port or two, spent the remainder of the night writ" practicing his speech bits.

The American Crime Of Crimes

Having the youth of the land read what is called history books in government schools that confuse them into believing that there are no eternal principles that govern human relations and that the state has the right to do things that no individual has the right to do, is the crime of crimes in America.

That is what is happening when the youth of the land is obliged to study such a book as "A History of Our Country" by Muzzey. In the last issue I commented and quoted on this book. I want to continue to do the same.

Never Quotes Real Liberals

On Page 83 he quotes Herbert Hoover, implying that he was a man who believed in the ideologies of liberty and implying that he was opposed to legalized robbery as complaining "that our liberty was being threatened and that the "Timbers of the Constitution were cracking' under the strain."

But President Hoover was a man who seemed to believe, judging from what he advocated, that collective bargaining that took away from an individual the right to make an individual bargain was not depriving the individual of liberty, and that the government had a moral right to do things that no individual had a moral right to do.

Thus Hoover could not rationally explain the blessing of liberty or even define liberty.

Then he quotes President Roosevelt as believing the special privilege laws that he advocated would "free the energies of the American people by distributing the country's wealth more fairly" and, thus, "the Constitution was being used as never before to secure one of the objects for which it was framed — 'to promote the general welfare.' "

I never found one single statement by any individual that really believed in the ideologies as set forth in the Declaration of Independence being quoted to defend these ideologies. He always quotes some pseudo - American as being a liberal but never a real American liberal.

Important Documents In Appendix

This book, called "A History of Our Country", puts the two great documents that are really the most important of our history in the appendix. It devotes about 25 words in the text of the book commenting on the Declaration of Independence. It evidently regards as more important than the Declaration of Independence the kind of guns used in Colonial times as compared with the semi-automatic rifle we use today. It uses a page of pictures and a good part of a page to describe these while it uses about 25 words to gloss over the ideologies of the Declaration of Independence.

Naturally the youth of the land think that things back in the appendix that are not worth the space in the text are of little importance. It is doubtful if many of them read it.

There seems to be no particular test or emphasis on the youth understanding how different our government was intended to be from any other government in the world. They fail to explain that the Declaration of Independence is really the spirit of the Constitution. It is the foundation on which the individual attempted to retain his liberty from the tyranny of big government.

Just think of the youth of the land being lead to believe that he is studying history when old relic guns are regarded as more important than the ideologies of the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights.

Author's Confusion

Think of the following paragraph written by a man that is supposed to be intelligent enough to help direct the education of our youth. Under the subhead of "Big Business" and how it had grown after the Civil War, he makes this statement:

"Then, too, a vast amount of capital had been created by the government during the war by its issue of over two billion dollars' worth of bonds, most of which were in the hands of the bankers, who were permitted by law to use them as a basis for loans to the manufacturers, the railroad-builders, the oil - refiners and the other 'captains of industry.' "

How can the youth of the land be expected to understand what capital is when such an editor as Muzzey contends that bonds are capital. He doesn't seem to understand that bonds, private or public, or borrowed money does not add one iota to the capital or wealth of the world. It just gives those borrowing the right to buy capital or attempt to create it and reduces the amount of wealth those people can buy with their own savings in the form of money or credit.

Former Reporter Recalls Lusitania Sinking Aftermath

By RAY TUCKER

Editor Note:

(Ray Tucker has returned from his vacation and will write a column for tomorrow. He will resume his regular schedule on Monday. This final guest column was contributed by Mordaunt Hall, long a New York newspaperman.)

Recent reviews of Walter Lord's book, "A Night to Remember," the story of the sinking of the Titanic on her maiden voyage, brought to the mind of this former New York Herald reporter an experience he had in New York the day following the torpedoing of the Cunarder Lusitania, May 8, 1915, three years after the Titanic disaster.

Seven or eight reporters were at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, hoping to get an interview with Count Johann von Bernstorff, then German Ambassador to the United States. He had had the temerity to advertise in newspapers warning Americans not to sail on the Lusitania and therefore had much to explain to the press. Most of the waiting reporters had been assigned to interview the Ambassador on other occasions, but on that day he denied himself to all, even the representatives of the German journals.

It was plain that if the reporters did manage to catch Von Bernstorff he would have a tough time, but he counted on escaping from them by slipping out of a side door. Albert Keller, general manager of the hotel, said that he did not know when the Count would leave the Ritz. However, as time went on he finally told two reporters that the Ambassador had decided to leave for Washington on a 5 p.m. train. Another reporter and myself quickly engaged a taxicab to be ready to give chase to Von Bernstorff's vehicle, which also was to be a public conveyance.

Half an hour after Keller had told us when the Count intended to leave, the Ambassador appeared at a side door, having walked down one flight of stairs to try to avoid an elevator encounter with the journalists. The instant he was out of the hotel, he was pounced upon by reporters, one of them standing with his head in the Count's taxi window. The driver, thinking he was a friend of the German's, did not start for his destination, until Von Bernstorff shrieked, "Get off, get away!"

When the Count's taxi did speed off, we were in one that kept close behind, so that when we reached the Pennsylvania Station, I was able to address the Ambassador as he was paying his fare. Just before he entered the gate for his train, I told him he was a murderer and then said: "What do you imagine the American people are going to think?"

"Let them think!" he ejaculated.

Incidentally, one morning newspaper the next day carried an editorial headed "Does the German Ambassador Lisp?"

Count von Bernstorff then hastened to the train, but it happened that he entered a day-coach and that offered me further opportunity to cause him discomfort, for he had to make his way through it to the drawing room he had reserved on a Pullman. I then banged on the coach windows, entered the corridor and shouted to the surprised passengers, "Ladies and gentlemen, German Ambassador," hoping that perhaps somebody would at least slap the Count's face. But they were probably too surprised.

I repeated the banging on the window of the next coach through which he had to pass, but this time, after I introduced him in the same loud tone to the passengers, he sought refuge in the men's washroom, into which he was swiftly followed by the correspondent of a German newspaper, who had a breathless interview there with the Count.

For years it had been an iron-clad rule on The Herald that foreign ambassadors under most circumstances were to be treated with kid gloves. That came from the owner, James Gordon Bennett. Hence, when I was writing my story of "interviewing" the German Ambassador, the City Editor, Frank Pierson, came up behind me and said:

"Young man, remember he's an ambassador!"

I looked over my shoulder at the City Editor. It seemed to me that his grimace suggested a Bronx cheer of that day. We all knew that Bennett was heart and soul with the Allies.

FOR REFLECTION

TRADEMARK COPYR. 1954

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN President, Spiritual Mobilization

"More Bibles were produced in the last 10 years than in the preceding 40 years," said Journeyman Barber recently.

As I read that, I felt a thrill of encouragement. Surely, with that many Bibles being produced, the world is bound to get better, I thought.

But then I came across this statement by Henry G. Weston in Moody Monthly: "There is nothing in the Bible that benefits you unless it is transmuted into life, unless it becomes a part of yourself, just like your food. Unless you assimilate it and it becomes body and bone and muscle, it does you no good."

And I was considerably sobered. How many of us, I reflected, who have had a Bible at hand all our lives have very much of it in our heads — to say nothing of our hearts?

Jesus' parable of the great supper is still applicable. We are so busy attending to what we think are more important matters that we excuse ourselves from partaking of the feast laid for us. Is it any wonder that we seem to lack the spiritual strength needed for meeting the fateful issues of our day?

West Germany Strongest Nation In West Europe

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

West Germany is the strongest nation in western Europe, muscular, hard at work, still proud and destined some day, somehow, to reunion with the eastern zone which Truman and Eisenhower abandoned to Soviet Russia. Evolution and destiny needn't hurry.

The West German capital of Bonn is a dull little tank-town on the Rhine. The Germans have no idea that it is to remain their capital. One day, somehow, the government will go back to Berlin and the government buildings in Bonn which now house the legislature and a bulging bureaucracy, comparable to our own in Washington, will become hospitals or university departments.

Our own high commission in 1952 published a tract entitled "Bonn the national village" which kids the rompers off Bonn. The author was Robert P. Ball, press-officer of the Bonn-Petersburg public relations division of the high commission. In those days, the high commission lived lordly in the Petersburg hotel where recently I too lived high on the hog, but not at public expense, in premises once occupied by Haile Selassie and Neville Chamberlain, the wretched, sick British Prime Minster who caught the blame for Hitler's war though he was no more at fault than you were.

Mr. Ball, whoever he may be, shared the belief of the Germans that Bonn is only a tenting-ground for the new federal government of the west. He wrote that "with all the bustle that accompanies the transition of Beethoven's birthplace to the federal capital is mixed a reminder that the adjective 'provisional' precedes the new title." He might have added that this drowsy inadequate town on the Rhine was the old home of Konrad Adenauer, the chancellor, who has an inveterate politican's sense of prerogative. It would have been little less ridiculous to move our capital to Hyde Park, as in fact sometimes Roosevelt did in fact mers, just because he felt at home there.

"With the hectic construction work," Mr. Ball continued, "is combined a sense of impermanency, as when roustabouts put up a circus tent. The headquarters of the Social Democratic Party is fixed together with bolts so it can be dismantled and shipped to Berlin. The headquarters of the U.S. high commissioner has been specially constructed to be turned into a hospital later."

That construction is such, in fact, that the main buildings of seven stories is sagging apart and shows evidence of mending with putty and kalsomine. The federal government is just now finishing a vast, eight-story honeycomb for a propaganda bureau.

The choice of Bonn offended not only common sense but the civic pride of Frankfurt, a real city which had gone so far as to put up some buildings to signify its aspirations. However, even Frankfurt was uppity in this, because in the hearts of Germans Berlin is the capital of Germany.

The Germans of the west are the most patriotic people in Europe, except, perhaps the Swiss, whose patriotism, however, is more practical and profitable than passionate. They love liberty and "democracy" and they do their military duty, but thus far in the two horrible holocausts they have never had a lip split. They are rich, comfortable and smug. They think they could hold out forever in war although two weeks would be about enough for a big, rough enemy to cure them of their delusion.

The Germans of the Soviet eastern zone, about 18 million at the time Truman and Eisenhower abandoned them to slavery seem also to be ardent racial and national patriots. To some extent the Russians have rotted these traits in ten years of occupation. The East Germans must still be strong spiritually, however, because about two million have ducked out to join their racial kinfolk in the west. This imposes great risk of persecution on relatives left behind, but still they go over the hill.

It is quasi-criminal contempt of the United Nations to express respect for pride of race and homeland. Ludendorff preached that a spiritual gas or fog arising from the sacred German soil imbued the true German with power. These people have crawled out of their ruins, buried millions on millions of their dead and today are the only western European nation with the entity, the racial cohesion to love their own people and their homeland.

France is a political spastic.

Italy wouldn't last a month. The miscellaneous little countries are timed and apathetic. And in the Great British Royal Navy, within the last five months, there have been at least three incidents which would have shocked the English to their very marrows 25 years ago. Three enlisted blue-jackets took punches at officers, one of them an admiral of a big command. There have been sad symptoms of sloppy spirit in other armed outfits. And recently a crew of 100 stewards and cooks on a British passenger ship fought a gang battle lasting several hours as the liner approached Scotland. British labor is lazy, sullen, inefficient and beset by rotten unionism.

Germany unified would doubt Europe. There is reasonable doubt that Britain or, for that matter, our own country, wants reunion, which was one of our expressed desires at summit and Big Four.

These people would accept diluted "Communism" as the price of reunion. We all have some degree of Communism, now, and the Germans have had important elements of Marx in their affairs ever since Bismarck.

THE NATION'S PRESS

RUSSIAN COMMUNIST MIND

The Daily Oklahoman

The Molotov incident may bring startling results by way of his liquidation. Or it may be that nothing will happen, so far as the outside world knows.

The mind of the typical Russian communist leader is so devious—so surcharged with warped ideology — that it is hopeless for an outsider to predict what it will bring forth. In fact the opportunism that is wound up in the convolutions of the Soviet leaders' brains is so predominant that they probably don't know themselves, from day to day, what will be written on their blackboard next day.

Judging from precedents, however, Mr. Molotov might well feel perturbed.

His elaborate "confession" as to his wrong statement in a speech is puzzling to the western mind, accustomed to realities and a reasonable amount of frankness. Boiled down, his original statement presumably should have said that socialism is solidly established in Russia, whereas he actually said that good beginnings for socialism had been made. So he admits a sin that is invisible and irrelevant to the believers in western free democracy. It's all Tweedledee and Tweedledum.

One essential in the process of eliminating a Soviet leader is to establish the proposition that he has been wrong about something, therefore he must go. Infallibility is the only thing that is putatively justified. However it isn't enough that the other leaders should consider him wrong, because they don't want to martyrize him in the eyes of the people.

Actually the other leaders don't care a whoop what the people think. They ride rough-shod over what the people think, all the time. But an elaborate fiction must be preserved—something like the celebrated "face-saving" of the Orient. The culprit must have committed a crime against "the people." And then he must confess to that crime, so "the people" won't think there's anything wrong about the supreme body or committee that judges him. So they make this phony confession a "must" in their procedure. The record must be clear, so there won't be any disagreeable aftermath.

All this folderol sounds pretty trivial and absurd to the western mind, but it is always followed when the dictators want to get rid of somebody, wherefore you must not be surprised if Molotov resigns, then disappears from view.

If he survives, it will mean that the leaders will have executed another hocus-pocus in which black will be white and some opportunistic consideration will bob up in timely fashion and the social error will be somehow forgiven.

In any event, don't pay the slightest attention to the alleged mistake made by Molotov. The only mistake he has made, if any, is to fail to set up the proper machinery to keep him in power the rest of his natural (or unnatural) life.

Christmas Tea Set By Catholic Ladies

Holy Souls' Parish Council of Catholic Women will hold its annual Christmas tea at 3 p.m. Sunday in Parish Hall.

Theme for the program and the tea will be the Yuletide season in other nations. For the program, under the direction of Mrs. R. A. Chisholm, women will be dressed in the costumes of ten different nations and will sing the different carols of these 10 nations.

Mrs. Fred Neslage is in charge of the tea. Refreshments will include a dish or item from each of the 10 nations represented in the program.

It's best to buy pears when they are slightly green. As soon as pears ripen, they begin to do triorate.

Pampa KKI Group Given Book Review At Guest-Day Meet

Mrs. Luther Roberts of Borger reviewed the book, "Domestic Manners of the Americans" by Frances Trollope, at the recent guest-day meeting of Kappa Kappa Iota in City Club Room.

The author was an English woman who came to America in 1827 for a three-years' visit, Mrs. Roberts told the women. Her book is an account of her efforts to establish a business in Cincinnati, Ohio. Following the failure of this effort, she visited various cities, taking copious notes on her impressions of the American way of life in contrast to that across the Atlantic.

"Although Mrs. Trollope was not favorably impressed with Americans, she was given us a very realistic and humorous account of customs and manners of the American people from all phases of society during this period of the establishment of our democracy," Mrs. Roberts stated.

Hostesses for the event were Miss Oleta Marlin and Mmes. John Evans, Don Swadley, A. R. Nooncaster and B. R. Nuckols. Background piano music was provided by Mrs. Faye Dellis Adams.

Guests from Pampa were Mmes. John Woods, June Story and Arthur Crow; and Misses Exie Eeright and Jean Galloway. Guests from Borger were Mmes. Luther Roberts, James Shaffer, J. M. Cooper, Harold McGrath.

Members present, other than the hostesses, were Mmes. Charles Meech, L. S. Riley, Charles Stowell, Floyd Smith, Lois Morrison, Espar A. Stover, Herbert Coker, W. L. Parker and Joe Page.

THE "SOMETHING NEW" the holiday bride will wear to the altar is a bouquet of COLOR, as modern as a Modigliani rose. Introduced for the holidays by the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association are bouquet arrangements sounding these fresh color notes: yellow button pompons; roses as yellow as THAT rose of Texas; lavender or lime-colored Fujimums; purple-hearted orchids.

NOTING THIS development with a trained color eye, Max Factor Jr. suggests these lipstick matchmates for the bride's brighter bouquet:

Suppose, your flowers are lime-colored Fujimums — Japanese beauties as shaggy as your pet Kerry Blue — your best choice of lipstick shade is a rich ruby red.

If the Fujimums are lavender, or your bouquet is a snowfall of purplehearted orchids, wear a true party pink shade of lipstick. Color-keyed to either the pale lavender flowers or to the hearts of orchids, it will make as sensational a match at the altar, says Factor, as yours and the groom's!

If your bouquet is a round nosegay of yellow button pompons or a spray of yellow roses, wear a golden flame shade of lipstick.

For pink roses, of course, a match between bouquet and lipstick shade can be made that looks as though cosmetician and florist had turned match-maker. Or you can make your mouth more of a magnet than your flowers by wearing a deeper lipstick shade, say, a crushed rose pink.

Before your lipstick goes on, of course, Factor suggests using a make-up foundation in what he calls a "pick-up pink shade", meaning a pink that accentuates your own flesh tones. A foundation, he says, will do for your make-up that's to come what a primer does for a painting.

Make-up that's to come? Lipstick, of course. Also eyeshadow in a nice clear shade, such as blue or green. Also eyelash make-up. It can be used freely for a winter wedding when it's dark in the daytime or the church is dimly-lit. In applying lash make-up, see that every lash does its bit to make you a starryeyed bride!

Here are more tips to girls for whom the Big Day will fall furing the holiday:

If your wedding gown is petticoated in ice blue, flesh pink or pale yellow, choose a colored bouquet to accent that under-layer hint of color.

Keep your bouquet small. A wedding gown is much to pretty to play second fiddle to a big mass of flowers.

Remember that the design of your bouquet must conform to the style of your gown. No matter how chic a modern arrangement looks, if your gown is a "Gone-With-the-Wind" style, it'll demand — and should get — an old-fashioned, lace-frilled nosegay.

WANT TO LOOK like a precious gem bedded down in jeweler's cotton when you wear your white fur—a little or a lot, real or make-believe?

Here's what Max Factor Jr., says you'll need for white mink, ermine, swansdown, rabbit, plush, alpaca, dynel or what-have-you in hat, coat or neckpiece.

For either one, the Hollywood expert sums up your needs in four simple rules:

1. Put make-up on a skin clean-scrubbed as a first-day kindergartner's.

2. For the almost "unearthly light" furry whiteness casts on the face, wear a natural shade of make-up which veers more to the light than the dark side. DON'T TAMPER with your own skin shade, which will look obvious, harsh, or heaven-forbid, not too clean, compared with the blinding whiteness of white fur, the expert warns.

3. Using the white bunny as one charmer, safe to emulate, accent the pink on your cheeks and lips. Lipstick shades in any color-fast pink or crushed rose shade will fill the bill, unless, of course, you're wearing your white fur with a red gown. In that case, the lipstick shade takes its cues from your dress.

4. Eyes? Make 'em look bluer or greener, like a white pussy's, using eyeshadow as your tool. To make upper eyelashes look as long and sweeping as a Victorian vamp's, draw a pencil line straight across the roots at the edge of the lid.

Bazaar Scheduled By Lutheran Circle

The Dorcas Circle of Zion Lutheran Church will sponsor a luncheon and bazaar from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday in the church's Parish Hall, Pennsylvania and Duncan streets.

Bazaar items, made by the women, will include Christmas tree skirts, basket magazine holders, decorated Christmas candles and decorated Christmas trees, all types of linens, as well as Dresden figurines and Dresden lamps.

BRAND-NEW ADVENTURE for your taste buds is offered by a cake flavored with grated fresh apples.

COOK'S NOOK

Grated Apple Is Ingredient For A Novel Holiday Cake

By GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Picture this after Christmas dinner — a moist flavorful grated fresh apple cake topped with either ice cream and caramel sauce, or lemon sauce and whipped cream. The recipe comes from Mrs. John M. Slocom of Yakima, Washington. She is the wife of a prominent apple and pear grower, a sportsman and a terrific cook, according to her husband. These recipes prove he is right.

GRATED FRESH APPLE CAKE
(Yield: 8 servings)

Two cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1¼ cups light brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg, ½ cup shortening, 1½ cups coarsely grated raw apples, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 eggs.

Sift the first six ingredients into a mixing bowl. Add shortening, grated apple and milk. Mix just enough to dampen the ingredients. Then, beat 2 minutes by hand or with an electric beater at low speed. Add eggs. Beat 2 more minutes at low speed. Pour batter into a well-greased, lightly floured, 6-cup ring mold. Bake 50 minutes, or until done, in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Or, if desired, bake in a well-greased, lightly floured 9-inch square pan for 45 minutes. Turn out on a wire rack. Serve cold with ice cream and caramel sauce or top with lemon sauce and whipped cream.

MASHED CARROTS AND
Potatoes (Yield: 6 servings)

One pound (about 11 medium) fresh carrots, ½ pound (2 medium) potatoes, 1-inch boiling water in saucepan, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 uncooked carrot, grated.

Pare carrots and potatoes and cut each into quarters. Place in a saucepan along with one-inch boiling water and salt. Cover. Boil until tender, 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from heat and mash until fluffy. Beat in the next three ingredients. Garnish with grated uncooked carrot.

Mid-Lows Are New In Men's Footwear

The men's shoe industry, once staid and never-changing, is now turning out new models as fast as the automobile plants. Latest version to come off the production line is the "Mid-Low" for the man who wants a compromise between the new low-cut styles and the higher conventional models.

A completely new style group, the mid-lows are an American adaptation of the low-cut European-inspired designs which have resulted in a sharp change in men's shoe buying habits recently.

A typical "mid-low" comes in a three-eyelet model - in both casual and dress shoes. It provides added support and comfort for the man who wants to get the lightness and foot-freedom of the new low cuts, but who doesn't feel comfortable in a one or two-eyelet model which is cut way under his ankle.

A favorite "mid-low" is the three-eyelet blucher in a crushed grain leather. For dress wear, wing and plain tips in a polished aniline leather or with a subtle grain are the most popular. Leather soles are generally very slim and lightweight.

Black smooth and grain leather are also style leaders in "mid-low" wing-tip moccasins and slip-on styles, designed along tailored lines. Small-pattern grains are more in evidence in dress shoes, while the bolder grains are favored for sports and casual footwear.

2 Pampans At Youth Meeting

Margie McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert McKee, 815 N. Frost, a student at West Texas State College; and Douglas Randolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Randolph, a student of McMurry College, attended the Texas Methodist Student Movement conference in Abilene Nov. 25-27.

Theology professors from Dallas and Boston delivered the major addresses at the TMSM conference, theme of which was "Christ and the Silent Generation."

Dr. Harold Ehrensperger, professor of religion and the arts at Boston University School of Theology; and the Rev. Joseph Mathews, assistant professor of Christian ethics at Perkins School of Theology, Dallas, were the featured speakers.

Both of the speakers are Methodist ministers and both have traveled extensively throughout the world.

Other adult directors of the conference were Dorothy Nyland and Lee Cooper of New York City, and Harvey Brown and Larry Eisenberg of Nashville, Tenn. Student leaders were Orlie White of Perkins School of Theology, TMSM president; Elizabeth Nielsen of the University of Texas, secretary; Henry Holloway, Perkins School of Theology, song leader; and Don Boyd of McMurry College, organist.

Delegates to the conference were housed in McMurry College dormitories and took their meals at the college dining hall. The Rev. Robert Cooper of Denton was dean of the conference. Handling administrative duties was the Rev. Bob Breihan of Austin, state TMSM director.

Norway's retail sales value in the first half of 1955 was six per cent higher than in the corresponding period of 1954.

Skellytown Revival On

The Skellytown Assembly of God Church is now in a revival meeting, being conducted by Evangelist Russell Herndon of Tulsa, Oklahoma. The revival is scheduled to continue through Dec. 4.

In conjunction with the series of revival services a sunday school enlargement campaign has been launched. The whole school has been divided into two teams, the Reds and the Blues. Captains have been appointed to spearhead the teams. Anna Marie Kramer has been appointed captain of the Reds, Jerline Harris captain of the Blues. Each team will be working to bring the most visitors to sunday school on the next two sundays. The captain whose team brings the most visitors will receive a sunday school award at the conclusion of the campaign. The one who personally brings the most visitors will receive a similiar award.

December 4 is being called "NO EXCUSE DAY". An attendance goal of 75 has been set.

The last sunday of the attendance drive, Dec. 11, is to be called "KINSFOLK DAY". The attendance goal is 100.

During each night of the two weeks revival, prayer meeting will began at 7 p.m: The regular revival services will start at 7:30 p.m. There will be no services saturday night. Reverend Logan Harper is pastor of the Skellytown Assembly of God Church.

TOMATO TOPPER — Lynn Fleenor is mighty proud of his tomato plant. The Bristol, Tenn., home gardener has reason to be, for the plant is 16 feet high. It's produced several two-pound tomatoes measuring about 17 inches in circumference.

Church News

Rev. Edwin L. Hall will speak from the pulpit of St. Paul Methodist Church for the first time in eight weeks Sunday. He has been recuperating from a neck injury and a mild concussion.

Fred Cary, Pampa District Charge Lay Leader, will bring the evening message with his topic, "Highway of Life."

Speakers, in the absence of Rev. Hall, pastor, have been: Dr. Irwin Kirby, Rev. Carlton Thomas, Dr. Nickolson of Wheeler, Fred Cary, Rev. Jimmy Harrel, Rev. Ed Jentzen, Rev. Uel D. Crosbyton of Amarillo, and Tom Britt of Wheeler.

The Finance Commission met Tuesday evening of this week to discuss the financial program of the church. Elton Coe was elected chairman of this commission to fill the remainder of the conference year. He is to name an Associate Chairman.

A total of $7,284.61 has been raised and expended, to date, out of the church budget of $19,550. This leaves $12,287.98 to be raised in the remainder of the Conference Year.

Rev. James E. Harrell, pastor of the HARRAH METHODIST CHURCH, will have as his sermon topic Sunday morning, "The Lord's Supper." oly Communion will be administered by the pastor using the text: "Are Ye able to drink of the Cup that I shall drink of? And they said unto Him, we are able." (Matt. 20:22).

"Stolen Gods" will be the pastor's sermon topic for the evening services beginning at 7 p.m. Text for the message will be Judges 18:-24: "Ye have taken my Gods. . . and what have I more?"

The completeness and integrity of God's creation including spiritual man will be brought out at CHRISTIAN SCIENCE services this Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Only Cause and Creator" will include the following verse from the King James Version of the Bible (Matt.7:18): "A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit."

Among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following (539:19-22): "It is false to say that Truth and error commingle in creation. In parable and argument, this falsity is exposed by our Master as self-evidently wrong."

The Golden Text is from Isaiah (45:18): "Thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else."

The EVANGELCAL METHODIST CHURCH will celebrate their first anniversary this Sunday, Dec. 4. The entire service will be built around this anniversary with special singing and appropriate songs.

Rev. Paul Fitch, pastor, will preach on the subject, "Go on Growing." A special invitation is extended to all who wish to attend these services.

Thoughts

Hearing of they love and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all saints. — Philemon 1:5.

All the strength and force of man comes from his faith in things unseen. He who believes is strong; he who doubts is weak. Strong convictions precede great actions. — Clarke.

But thou, O Lord, be merciful unto me, and raise me up, that I may requite them. Psalms 41:10.

As freely as the firmament embraces the world, so mercy must encircle friend and foe. The sun pours forth impartially his beams through all the regions of infinity; heaven bestows the dew equally on every thirsty plant. — Schiller.

And the people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did. — Acts 8:6.

We must not sit down, and look for miracles. Up, and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee. Prayer and pains, through faith in Christ Jesus, will do anything. — Eliot.

Like a crane or swallow so did I chatter: I did mourn as a dove: mine eyes fail with looking upward: O Lord, I am oppressed; undertake for me. — Isaiah 38:14.

I never could believe that Providence had sent a few men into this world ready booted and spurred to ride, and millions ready saddled and bridled to be ridden. — Rumbold.

Then Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord; and they prepared them. —II Chron. 31:11.

Obedience sums up our entire duty. — Hosea Ballou.

Now are we sure that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should ask thee: by this we believe that thou camest forth from God. — John 16:30.

Yet through all, we know this tangled skein is in the hands of One who sees the end from the beginning; He shall yet unravel all. — Alexander Smith.

But he himself turned again from the quarries that were by Gilgal, and said, I have a secret errand unto thee, O king: who said, Keep silence. And all that stood by him went out from him. — Judges 3:19.

Silence! coeval with eternity! thou wert ere Nature's self began to be; thine was the sway ere heaven was formed on earth, ere fruitful thought conceived creation's birth. — Pope.

CME Bishop Due Here Sunday

Rev. H. P. Porter, bishop of the second Episcopal District of the C.M.E. Church will visit St. Mark's Methodist Church Sunday at services beginning at 8:15 p.m.

Jonah Parker, minister of the church said the church is inviting all pastors, church members and their friends to worship with the St. Mark's congregation at this meeting.

Charles E. Duryea claimed he operated the first successful American automobile in Springfield, Mass., April 19, 1892.

Women In The Church

A little-publicized but round-the-year regular activity of United Church Women of St. Louis, Mo., is "home hospitality for international visitors," reports that city's Metropolitan Church Federation. In recent weeks the families of St. Louis church women have entertained in their homes, among others, for several days each: a German church worker, a home economics teacher from the United Kingdom, a graduate engineering student from New Zealand, 14 students from Belgium, six students from Europe, a professor and Lutheran bishop from Germany, a general who is police commissioner on the Island of Formosa, two business groups from Germany and one from Spain. This entertainment has helped promote "understanding of others."

"In a world where more than half the people are hungry, we in America have an average daily calorie count per person of 3,250," comments Mrs. H. H. Kodani of Pacific Palisades, California, World Community Day chairman. She adds: "We can truly say to ourselves, 'If one member suffers, all suffer together.' In order to carry out our three-point program of prayer, action and study, our study teams across the country have learned world needs through a look at what FAO is doing. Now we want to help build life, friendship and peace through our understanding and our gifts for our own world-wide projects.

Mrs. Kodani cited the large-scale feeding projects going on in French West Africa through FAO; the campaign to save cattle from the inroads of rinderpest in Ethiopia, the battle to rid the Middle East of the locust armies that devastate life-giving crops. Liberians have learned how to grow rice on dry land and to plant bananas, cocoa, peanuts, citrus fruits and other diversified brops, thanks to FAO's cooperation with their own government. In Saudi Arabia, water control works are being established in the gullies of that dry, wind-scoured waste. In Chile, protein-rich fish flour is being mixed in the ordinary bread to help fight protein malnutrition, prevalent in great sections of the world's surface; likewise, animal and soy milk and peanut preparations are being added to the diets of literally millions of people in lands where it is feasible to grow these goods.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

CLAUDE H. HARRIS, Pastor
Hobart Street Baptist Church

PRAYER

Prayer . . . the most direct expression of the religious nature in its communion with God. From earliest times man has prayed and the race has never outgrown it. Prayer expresses the innate conviction of the soul. It is instinctive with man, but rationally grounded in the Word of God. God has enabled man to commune with his Maker through the medium called prayer. The Master of the universe invites man to pray. "Call unto Me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not." Jeremiah 33:3. "Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be white as snow though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." Isaiah 1:18. "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened." Matthew 7:7,8. "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." Romans 10:13. Jesus gives us a Biblical example of a sincere heart in prayer as follows: "The publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner." Luke 18:13. Jesus said: "I tell you, this man went down to his house justified." Luke 18:14. We have a comforting experience recorded in God's word showing the Lord's willingness to hear and answer prayer. Note the thief in the anguish of death as he prayed: "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom." Luke 23:42. Immediately we note the ready response: "And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise." Luke 23:43. Whatever the need of our hearts, or the nature of our need, we can feel free to call upon our Creator. It is wonderful to be on speaking terms with God.

WASHING MACHINE MERRY-GO-ROUND—Put together an old washing machine and some Yankee ingenuity and you get a real, working merry-go-round. That's what veteran railroad brakeman James McKeag of Monroeville, Pa., got. He built a metal cylinder with a plywood bottom, and into it he inserted the washing machine motor and a large pulley wheel to slow down its speed. The plywood top, connected to the motor shaft, revolves on casters placed on uprights. These support the cylinder. Two brightly painted plywood horses, a chair and a colorful umbrella attract neighborhood youngsters to McKeag's three-passenger merry-go-round. He sits in a garden chair holding the electric extension and switch which controls the ride while his 2½-year-old grandson, Chucky Stultz, and his playmate, Larry Wilcox, go round and round.

Conservative Dem Group Not Seated

OKLAHOMA CITY —UP— The credentials committee of the League of Young Democrats' national convention Wednesday rejected the conservative wing of Texas Young Democrats in favor of the liberal group for the second consecutive year.

The liberal group, represented at the hearing by R. J. Carpenter of Fort Worth, Tex., was armed with endorsements from House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Texas Sen. Lyndon Johnson and other Texas party leaders.

The conservative group had "no credentials and no certification by any person in Texas, responsible or otherwise," said Committee Chairman Oscar Marzy of Dallas.

Shivers 'Otherwise'

He said he placed Texas Gov. Allan Shivers, who has backed the conservatives, in the "otherwise" group. The 15-member committee voted to give the conservative group a hearing at the next national committee meeting of Young Democrats. That meeting has not yet been set.

At the 1954 convention, Young Democrats seated the liberal group instead of conservatives because the conservatives sided with Shivers in supporting President Eisenhower.

Marzy said Wednesday's action indicated "the animal known as the Shivercrat has died a natural death and cannot be revived."

'Reflects Feelings'

He said the action reflected "the feeling of Texas Democrats and those of the rest of the nation."

Carpenter said the liberal group was not supporting any particular candidate for the 1956 party presidential nomination. He said the group would "support the nominee, whoever he is."

The conservative group's attempt at formal recognition took the form of a petition filed by Hall Timanus of Houston, chairman of the state group's executive committee. The petition was aimed at revoking the charter presently held by the liberal group.

$100,000 Question To Be On Hill Country Folk Songs

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK —UP— The channel swim...

A tip to Mrs. Ethel Richardson who will shoot for $100,000 on NBC-TV's "The Big Surprise" Saturday: Your question will be based on folk songs of the Kentucky-Tennessee hill country.

Are Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds expecting? Eddie, who helps pick the songs for his Mutual radio show, asked to sing "Rockabye My Baby" and "Born in a Trunk" on his Dec. 6 show and "Naughty Lady of Shady Lane" on his Dec. 8 program.

Jack Barry had three cysts removed in a New York hospital this week... Ed Sullivan is planning an entire show around opera star Lily Pons... Desi Arnaz wanted "I Love Lucy" to expand to a full hour, but CBS execs nixed the idea.

Hal March says he'll marry Candy Toxton around Feb. 11. Candy goes to Las Vegas this month to file for divorce against singer Mel Torme.

ZIV, the syndicated film outfit that makes "Highway Patrol," tried to force their star, Brod Crawford, into installing a governor on his red Jaguar to keep him from flying low. But Brod turned the suggestion down cold.

Ham will out: Sid Miller, director of many of the "Damon Runyon Theatre" epics, is having himself written into several upcoming shows. You may remember Miller as Donald O'Connor's sidekick on TV.

Jackie Gleason and Director Elia Kazan couldn't see eye-to-eye on the filming of the movie, "Arkansas Traveler," so Jackie pulled out. Right now, Gleason is considering a movie based on his "Studio One" starrer, "Uncle Ed and Circumstance."

Jack Benny, who'll be guest soloist with the Philadelphia symphony Saturday told a friend: "My being the violin soloist with the Philadelphia orchestra is like making Abe Lyman the narrator for 'Omnibus.'"

And a joke from Bob Hope who heard that President Eisenhower may have been attended by a Democratic nurse during his hospital stay. "Ike began to suspect her," says Hope, "because every time she came in to make the bed, she would say—'It's time for a change.'"

Girl, 18, Held 'Love Captive'

NESS CITY, Kan. —UP— An 18-year-old girl was kidnaped and raped every night for four nights by a former convict who said he was "in love" with her, Sheriff Martin Rothe disclosed.

Rothe said federal authorities will file a kidnaping charge against William John Gibson, 27, who was held in the Ness county jail.

Miss Delores M. McClaskey said she was held a "love captive" in a motel in Ness City for four days and nights. Every night, she said, he raped her.

Rothe said the girl was hysterical when police found the couple. Gibson threatened her constantly with a .32-calibre pistol, he said, and she was apparently too frightened to attempt to escape.

Gibson served a term in an Illinois prison for armed robbery, Rothe said.

She told the sheriff that Gibson kidnaped her at gunpoint in Peoria, Ill., Nov. 21 and forced her to accompany him to Ness City.

Johnson Calls For 2-Party Policy

LOS ANGELES—UP—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), majority leader of the Senate, appealed to both political parties Friday to "be big enough" to maintain a bipartisan foreign policy.

Johnson told the American Hotel Association convention Thursday there could be no disagreement on the basic premise that this country had as its objective the stemming of the Communist tide.

He urged agreement on the foreign policy "among men who are seeking success for their country and not just success for a political party." He said "the nation must come first!"

The Senate Democratic leader added he was "proud" of the fact that the Democratic party in Congress had completely disavowed partisanship in the field of foreign policy. However, he emphasized that this did not mean there could be no disagreement on methods nor did it mean an end to discussion of foreign policy."

MEET "EUGENIE"—She's a 180-pound dugong, considered by marine biologists to be among the rarest of sea-going mammals. Eugenie was rushed to the Steinhart Aquarium in San Francisco, Calif., after being caught in the western Pacific. The dugong, known popularly as a "seacow," is the catch of Dr. Robert Harry, Stanford University marine biologist. Dr. Harry is shown introducing Eugenie to newsmen.

The tiger snake of Australia and the island viper of Brazil are considered the most poisonous snakes in the world.

The experts acclaim LINCOLN

NEWSWEEK . . . "The 1956 Lincoln is a completely revamped car . . . longer, lower, and wider . . . with 285 horsepower and styling patterned after the experimental 'Lincoln Futura.' Biggest innovations are safety features, developed after years of crash-testing . . . a safety-flex steering wheel, spring-resistant door locks, optional safety belts."

WALL STREET JOURNAL . . . "The new 1956 Lincolns meet a smash response . . . Completely restyled, longer and more powerful . . . one of the few makes to feature a major re-do in looks for 1956. Head lamps are hooded. Larger taillights slash forward . . . 'Jet-pod' bumper guards house oval-shaped exhausts on both sides."

COLLIER'S . . . "Lincoln's attempt to penetrate the big-car market more deeply is based on more than prestige. Lincoln is a big car, yet . . . it conveys an impression of small-car maneuverability . . . barely five feet high, it has a ground-hugging appearance. Horsepower boosted to 285, and there are new safety devices."

VOGUE . . . "Fashion news arriving by car: the Lincoln's body is new, its engine is new, its safety wheel is new, and so are the airplane-type toggle switches. With the exception of airport limousines and the like, this is one of the longest cars in America. Handsome accessory to fashion, too, as it happens."

. . . and the public agrees!

LINCOLN FOR 1956

Fine car buyers are so enthusiastic about this new Lincoln that there has been, literally, a waiting list for these cars since announcement day. And the demand is still mounting. To be sure of driving the Lincoln of your choice at an early date, come in soon.

Another Lincoln "First" . . . The Robot-Top . . . The 1956 Lincoln Convertible has the first completely automatic self-locking top—for the quickest, easiest "top-up, top-down" converting ever. No handles or levers to struggle with . . . nothing to touch but the control.

BIG LIFT FOR LUMBER—Logman's prayer answered is this Goliath on wheels. Shown lifting 40,000 pounds of iron-wood logs, it's capable of unloading a 50,000-pound truckload with one bite. The huge machine merely inserts its 10-foot wedges beneath the load on the truck, then clamps two tremendous tusks over the top. This is a far cry from the old method of dumping the load then lifting a few logs at a time for stacking. Engine and generator at rear power the lifting mechanism and electric motor in each wheel. Gams Can Be Sheathed In Even Sheerer Stuff Now

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK —UP— A week in Manhattan:

Women already cover their legs in cold weather with wispy weaves of nylon so sheer every goose pimple shows. Now they can reveal even more, if it's possible.

New stockings made of perlon, a synthetic yarn closely akin to nylon, arrived this week from abroad. They are 90 gauge, seven and one-half denier, which, in simple language means they are almost invisible.

(Denier refers to the thickness of the thread. We started out wearing 40 denier nylon stockings in 1940 and recently have worn as low as 10 denier. Gauge refers to the closeness of the weave. A 90-gauge stocking uses 90 needles for each one and one-half inches of stocking. The thinner the thread, or lower the denier number, the higher the gauge, since the stockings must have enough elasticity to wear a little while, at least.)

Plant to Be in New Jersey

Hans Thierfelder, president of the Arwa Corp. of Germany, arrived along with the first shipment of the new perlon stockings. Thierfelder came directly from Parys (pronounced paris), South Africa, where he has a plant. He said the American stockings would be made in a new plant in Berlin. He meant, as it turned out, Berlin, N.J.

Sheerness doesn't come cheap. The perlon wisps will cost $10 for two pairs. You can't buy just one pair, for a reason Theirfelder did not make clear.

An American company (Dexdale) has been making 75 gauge, seven denier stockings on a strictly experimental basis since last summer for $4.95 per pair, but has sold them only in one exclusive Fifth Avenue store. The perlon stockings will be sold nationally.

Started by Argument

An argument with his wife started the 1955 male crochet champion on his hobby 11 years ago.

"She complained she was tired when I got home from work one night," Joseph Dolinaj, a railroad signal tower operator from Dunellen, N.J., said. "I said I didn't see how she could be tired when all she did was sit there and crochet all day.

"One word led to another, and she bet me $5 I couldn't crochet."

Dolinaj took the bet, bought a 10-cent book of instructions and went to work. A year later his wife paid the $5 and gave up crocheting in the face of her husband's competition.

The 210-pound male crochet champion won $100 in the national contest for a filet-crochet tablecloth he designed and made.

"My daughter has her hope chest stuffed full of things I chocheted," Dolinaj said proudly. "The fellows at work used to tease me, but now they keep urging me to enter more contests."

Bigger Tips From Women

Women are getting to be bigger tippers than men! That's what Frank Garlasco, owner of Daniel's Restaurant on east side Manhattan, insists.

"They learn quick, Garlasco said. "Women eat as much as men most of the time too. I'd rather have women as lunch customers than men. Men drink more and sit around talking business over cigars."

(Garlasco said 15 per cent of the check is an adequate tip, though some of his women customers leave 20 per cent.)

Race Protest Made In Grid Bowl Contest

ATLANTA —UP— The original organizers of the States Rights Council of Georgia, Inc., protested to Football Coach Bobby Dodd at the prospect of the Georgia Tech team playing against a Negro in the Sugar Bowl game with Pittsburgh next Jan. 2.

Tech last Saturday accepted the Sugar Bowl invitation to meet Pitt, which has a third-string Negro fullback.

Hugh Grant, one of the original organizers of the States Rights Council of Georgia, said he sent a telegram to Dodd Tuesday urging his "active co-operation in preventing any breakdown of our laws, customs and traditions of racial segregation."

He said a requested reply from Dodd had not been received so far.

Dodd replied only "no comment" to questions about the telegram and whether he had answered it.

Pitt's traveling squad includes one Negro — Bobby Grier, fullback who is used extensively.

Louisiana law and custom frowns on mixed-race athletic events, but New Orleans sources said it would be up to Pitt whether the Negro squad member would play in the bowl classic.

No Negro has ever played in a Sugar Bowl game. There was a Negro player on the Boston College squad which met Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl game in 1941 but he did not get into the game.

QUOTES IN THE NEWS

By UNITED PRESS

NEW YORK—Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, before leaving for Buenos Aires to resume ownership of the newspaper La Prensa, confiscated four and one-half years ago by deposed dictator Juan D. Peron:

"I never lost faith that it would be returned to me. My friends, associates and the Argentine people never lost faith, and I think it is a wonderful encouragement to the people of the Iron Curtain countries."

CALCUTTA, India — Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev, speaking at a banquet attended by Prime Minister Jawharlal Nehru of India:

"India and Russia have joined hands to rid the world of colonialism."

CALCUTTA, India — Prime Minister Nehru speaking at the same banquet after Khrushchev finished an attack on Western disarmament plans:

"I also am opposed to armament, but I have no right to criticize others if they follow their own way. We only want to stay away from them."

NEW YORK — Television and concert singer Elaine Malbin, complaining that only "millionaires old enough to be my father" try to date her:

"I'm lonesome. Young men are afraid of me."

WASHINGTON — Tammany Hall Democratic Leader Carmine De Sapio, in announcing that New York delegates to the 1956 Democratic national convention will place the name of Gov. Averell Harriman in nomination:

"It is foolhardy to try to guess what the people will think or want in the way of a candidate more than eight months from now."

CHICAGO —President Eisenhower's message to the Republican national committee meeting to draft plans for the 1956 GOP nominating convention:

"I shall do everything in my power next year to help you report the record accurately and fully to the country.

TOKYO — Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu in a policy statement at the opening session of the diet:

"Let me say that Japan has maintained and will continue to maintain close contact with the United States and will co-operate on all problems of mutual concern."

BUENOS AIRES — Dr. Alberto Gainza Pas on his return to Argentina to take back his confiscated newspaper La Prensa:

"I am returning to this country to meet my friends, relatives and countrymen after an exile of four years brought on by the terrible dictatorship (of ex-president Juan D. Peron)."

LOS ANGELES — Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) in a plea to both parties to be "big enough" to maintain a bipartisan foreign policy:

"I have faith in the ability of America to maintain a common front against danger. There will be strains and stresses that imperil our unity. But the people have wisdom and the people have strength and together we will remain united in our determination to preserve our freedoms."

ST. LOIS — T. Lamar Caudle, head of the Justice Department tax division until he was fired in 1951, after his indictment Thursday on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government:

"Why am I used as a scapegoat and offered to public sacrifice? I've done nothing wrong. I've done only good."

Calves usually are the least risk for feeding, as they grow and fatten at the same time.

Employment Increase Seen

WASHINGTON—UP—The Labor Department Thursday predicted a further slight increase in employment through the end of the year. It reported a tightening of the labor supply in many industrial centers. The department said, however, that "normal winter curtailments in construction and other outdoor activities may interrupt, at least temporarily, the employment uptrend after the turn of the year."

Egyptian Forces Repulsed

TEL AVIV, Israel —UP— Israeli forces repulsed Egyptian attacks in the Kissufim area near the Gaza border strip Wednesday, the official Israeli military spokesman announced Thursday.

Yarborough Hits Lack Of Parole Officers

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. —UP— Austin attorney Ralph Yarborough charged Wednesday "bickering of politicians" has blocked enactment of a system of paid parole officers to supervise youthful offenders in Texas.

Yarborough, who has twice unsuccessfully sought the office of governor, is considered a potential candidate for a third try in next year's Democratic primary.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a Rotary Club luncheon, the former Travis county district judge said, "Texas needs leadership of dignity and dedication, a leadership more concerned with human welfare than with personal or party politics."

No Paid Probation Officers

He said Texas is "one of only two states in the union that have no paid state probation and parole officers to supervise youthful offenders and prevent them from becoming hardened criminals."

"It costs the state $1,000 a year to guard and support a man or boy in the penitentiary or the Gatesville school (for boys), but it costs only $50 per year to properly supervise a youthful offender if we had properly trained and paid state probation and parole officers," Yarborough said.

"Texas has one of the most modern prison plants in the nation for imprisoning men, but the most backward rehabilitation system in the nation," he added.

Would Save Tax Money

A system of paid supervisors would save "nearly $3 million per year of tax money, and an incalculable savings in prevented property damage and saved lives....."

"It is a program with a heart. It is a program of common sense," he said.

"In the name of justice we should have it, and the continued bickering of politicians should not deny our people this boon of good government," he continued.

Harvester Cagers At Vernon Tonight

The Pampa Harvesters' second game of the season will be against the Vernon Lions tonight in Vernon. The Lions, who seem to have a jinx on the Harvester footballers, will be out to do the same to the cage athletes tonight at 8.

The Shockers, coached by Terry Culley, will be out for their second victory this season since they took a 62-29 victory over the Tulia Hornet B team Tuesday night.

The B team which is made up of sophomores should give the Harvesters a boost next year or the year after. The Harvesters will be getting into the season this year with one victory already behind them but won't have a long winning streak to keep unbroken. Last year the pressure was on them each game until they finally gave up that winning streak on the 73rd game with Portales, N.M.

This season the Green and Golders will have only a "Home Court" winning streak to keep going. They haven't lost a game on their home court since back in February of 52 when Borger defeated them in their first game in the new Fieldhouse.

Going for the Green and Golders tonight will be Gene Brown, Jimmy Enloe, Dickie Mauldin, Buddy Sharp, and Tommy Gindorf. Others who will be in the thick of the action are Carroll Cole, Gerald Clark, Jerry Gee, Jerry Pope, Sam Condo, Bennie Sparks and Tom Murray.

The Harvesters will be in Quanah Saturday night and will return to Harvester field house for their first home game of the season with the Tulia Hornets Tuesday December 6th.

Season Tickets are still on sale at the School Business office. These tickets may be purchased at a liberal savings to you fans who plan to see the Green and Golders when they play at home. The book contains 11 tickets and will cost $10.

Defending Champs Favored In High School Grid Games

By UNITED PRESS

Breckenridge, last year's Class AAA champ now competing in Class AA, was expected to lead the way for Texas schoolboy football's playoff survivors into another round of action Friday as the Bucks meet Crane in the only afternoon contest on the schedule.

The Bucks, beaten twice this year by Class AAAA clubs for their only losses, figure to move into the AA quarterfinals against the winner of Saturday's Phillips-Stamford game at Childress.

While the bulk of the weekend schedule comes off Friday night, the top contests are reserved for Saturday afternoon action when Tyler and Corpus Christi Miller match unbeaten records in the AAAA feature, defending AAAA champ Abilene goes against El Paso high and favored Garland plays once-beaten Snyder in the AAA highlight.

Activity in All Divisions

There'll be activity in all divisions Friday night as the AAAA and AAA field take their first steps to trim the surviving list to semifinalists and the AA and A elevens lock horns in second play.

In AAAA, the field will be cut in half as Dallas Sunset plays Fort Worth Paschal at Fort Worth and Houston Reagan invades Baytown Friday night.

Only one of four Class AAA games is set Friday night as undefeated Alice plays Victoria at Victoria.

Sunset, Baytown and Alice are favorites to advance into next week's semifinals.

In Class AA, Terrell will be favored over Olney at Denton, New London over DeKalb at Longview, Killeen over Hillsboro at Killeen, Lockhart over Georgetown at Austin, Nederland over Refugio at Nederland and Weslaco over Floresville at Weslaco in other games tonight.

Other Favorites

In Class A Friday night, Stinnett is mildly favored over Hale Center at Borger, Chillicothe over Rockwall at Wichita Falls, Leveretts Chapel over Van Alstyne at Sulphur Springs, Crosby over Alto at Livingston, Luling over Franklin at Luling, defending state champ Deer Park over Vanderbilt at Houston and Hondo over Hebbronville at Falfurrias.

Saturday, Abilene and Tyler rate the favorite's roles in AAAA, while Garland is favored over Snyder, Texarkana over Gainesville at Texarkana and Port Neches over Temple at Port Neches in AAA.

Phillips also is the choice over Stamford in AA and Ranger over McCamey at Ranger in A games tomorrow.

Southwest Circuit Starts Slate, Wins 4

By UNITED PRESS

The Southwest Conference opened the 1955-56 basketball campaign on a winning note Thursday night, but just barely. All seven conference teams were in action against outside foes and the result was four victories against three defeats.

No games are scheduled Friday night, but every team sees action Saturday night except Baylor. Texas A&M plays Vanderbilt at Nashville; Arkansas meets Tulsa at Fayetteville; Rice hosts Abilene Christian College at Houston; SMU entertains Austin College in Dallas; TCU goes against Texas Tech in Fort Worth; and Texas plays Oklahoma A&M at Stillwater.

Defending champion Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Texas and Rice came out on top, but Texas A&M, Baylor and Arkansas took losses.

The quality of the opposition might have had something to do with the setbacks, however.

Close Ones

The Aggies, under new Coach Ken Loeffler from LaSalle, went under in the last few minutes to Tulsa University 48 to 43. Arkansas dropped a narrow 65 to 64 contest to Southeastern Oklahoma State and Howard Payne beat Baylor on a last-second field goal 51 to 49.

On the credit side of the ledger, Texas subdued West Texas State 85 to 73; TCU defeated Austin College 91 to 79; SMU downed North Texas State 82 to 67; and Rice whipped St. Mary's of San Antonio 83 to 53.

Dandy Dick O'Neal, TCU's prize 6-foot-7-inch center, set the pace with 32 points in the Horned Frogs win over Austin College. The Sherman quintet was paced by Jim Deatheridge, who scored 28 points.

Temple Tucker, the Bowie product regarded as a possible all-American at Rice Institute, made his varsity debut in good style as he dumped in 19 points against St. Mary's. Rice survived a close first half to win going away.

Tulsa had a bad first half against Texas A&M as the Hurricane hit only seven of 37 field shots. However, the Missouri Valley squad spurted in the second half behind Jerry Evans, who scored 18 points, to come out with 19 field goals in 60 attempts for the entire contest.

Two Share Honors

Guard Roger Harvey and center George Mehaffey led A&M with eight points each.

Raymond Downs of Texas picked up where he left off last season as he counted 31 points to lead the Longhorns over West Texas. Ray Burrus paced the losers with 24 points.

British Runner Hurts Heel

LONDON —UP— Gordon Pirie, Britain's versatile runner, will be unable to participate in the New Year's Eve race at Sao Paulo, Brazil, because of an injured Achilles tendon. Doctors have ordered Pirie, who sustained the injury when he tried for the 20-mile record at Walton Surrey last month, to "do no running for at least a month."

Read The News Classified Ads

SMU led North Texas the entire game, but the Ponies couldn't mount a safe lead until about the fourth quarter. Fred Hopkins, North Texas center, was the game's high scorer with 19 points while guard Bobby Mills led the Mustangs with 15.

A last-minute field goal by Stanley Owen netted Howard Payne its narrow 51 to 49 win over Baylor. The lead see-sawed through the final 10 minutes, and Baylor tied the score at 49-all with 10 seconds to play.

Gerald Barnett led Arkansas' scoring with 18 points while center James Spivey paced the Oklahomans with 22.

Cassady Called 'The Best Ever' In College Play

By JOE SARGIS

NEW YORK —UP— Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, two-time All-America halfback who has been called "the best ever" by his coach, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Friday was named college football's back of the year by the United Press.

The 172-pound Cassady, who "runs, blocks, defends and thinks with the best," according to Hayes, received the most votes in the balloting for the annual All-America team this year and picked up 155 votes out of a possible 306 cast in the back of the year balloting. In addition, he also was chosen this week to receive the Heisman and Maxwell awards as the "outstanding college football player" of 1955.

"You can compare this kid to the greatest ever and you wouldn't be over-estimating," Hayes said at a luncheon this week. "He's a great blocker, too, and on defense you just don't throw the ball unless you want him to intercept it."

Cassady's nearest rival for back of the year honors was All-America halfback Jim Swink of Texas Christian University with 65 votes, while Notre Dame quarterback Paul Hornung was third with 19.

Earl Morrall, Michigan State quarterback, finished fourth in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters with 16. Halfback Tom McDonald of unbeaten-untied Oklahoma and quarterback George Welsh of Navy were tied for fifth with 12 votes each. Halfback Jon Arnett, All-America from Southern California, received 11 votes and halfback Ed Vereb of unbeaten-untied Maryland drew six.

In all, the brilliant, all-around Cassady, who has been drafted by the Detroit Lions of the national football league, scored 90 points this past season on 15 touchdowns. He gained 958 yards on 161 trys for a six yard average. During his entire collegiate career Cassady scored 222 points and 37 touchdowns.

Other backs who received more than one vote were Bob Davenport, UCLA, five; Don Schaeffer, Notre Dame, four; Sam Brown, UCLA, and Jimmy Brown, Syracuse, three each; Bob James and Joe Childress, both of Auburn and Gerald Planutis, Michigan State, two each.

Optimists Boxers Host Guymon Sat.

The Pampa Optimist Club Boxers will present an all-star card for the boxing fans Saturday night at the Community Barn at Recreation Park.

The card will probably be one of the best of the season and will include several regional champions in the high school division and some open division regional champions.

The first intra-city matches of the 1955-56 season will include some of the better boys from the Oklahoma Panhandle. The Guymon club, which always comes up with several good boys, will take on the Pampa club at 8 Saturday night.

The entire card will include approximately 12 bouts with only three matches below the 100 pound weight.

Bobby Wilhelm will be able to fight this week since he go the "OK" from his coach in Wisconsin. He will be matched against Johnny Vineyard in the 147 pound class. Wilhelm, several times winner of the highschool regional championship, was a member of the freshman boxing team at Wisconsin University. He has been working with the boys as coach of the Pampa Daily News team and is in good shape.

Jesse Ring will be matched against Guymon's best boxer, Darrell Bledsoe, in the 145 pound class. Ring has been boxing since he was 13 and has a very good record. He relies on his counterpunching and his speed but is very agressive when he wants to be. He has an unusual style and always gives it everything he has from the first bell to the last punch.

Ring has his work cut out for him come Saturday night with the Guymon Boxer, Bledsoe is one of the best boys ever to come from Guymon and has been ably coached by Bill Beeman. He has the best record of any boy coached by the Guymon trainers.

Kenneth Woods and Scooter Darden will tangle in what should be one of the best fights on the card. Woods was Regional Champion in 1954 and lost the best fights in the state finals. Darden won the regional championship last year at Amarillo and has knocked out most of his opponents in the first or second round.

Gary Wilhelm, probably one of the best developed boxers his age, will fight Gerald Fister, of West Texas State. Wilhelm won the district and regional championships last year in 126 weight division and is a strong contender for the crown this year.

Other bouts scheduled are Bill Snaps and Charles Snider in the 125 lb. class and Terry Timmens vs. Jerry Mallard in the 118 pound division. Jerry Lamar will tangle wit hBill Bledsoe in the 125 pound class and Gary Green, a knockout specialist, will try his luck with Wayne Sanford in the 135 pound division.

The Optimist will hold inter-team matches tonight at the community barn and will match some of the smaller boys in what should be some good fights.

The admission prices for the matches with Guymon will be $1 and 50 cents but the inter-team match admission will be 50 cents for all persons above the age of 12 and 25 cents for children.

Bob Pettit Bids For Top Spot

NEW YORK — UP—Lanky Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, playing only his second year in the pro ranks, is bidding to take over as the National Basketball Association's dominant player as the top scorer and rebounder.

Pettit, six-foot, nine-inch former Louisiana State star, is firing points through the hoop at the rate of 23.6 per game to pace all other shooters, weekly NBA statistics disclosed Tuesday.

And big Bob took over as the top rebound ace with a total of 167 rebounds to 163 for huge Clyde Lovellette of the Minneapolis Lakers, although Lovellette has played in three more games.

Lovellette, thanks to those extra games the Lakers have played, remains the league's leading scorer for the third straight week on a basis of total points with 246. He's followed by Paul Arizin of Philadelphia with 233, defending scoring champ Neil Johnston of Philadelphia with 219, Pettit with 212, and George Yardley of Fort Wayne with 203.

Pittsburgh Selected The 'Eastern Grid Champion'

NEW YORK —UP— The Sugar Bowl game, which will match Pittsburgh against Georgia Tech, took on added lustre Friday with the announcement that Pitt has won the Lambert Trophy as the "eastern football champion" of 1955.

Pittsburgh, which closed with a rush to post a final season record of seven wins and three losses, received the first-place votes of 11 members of the 24-man board of selectors.

Navy would have won the trophy if it had beat Army, many of the selectors admitted. Until upset by Army 14-6 last Saturday, the Middies figured to be a near-unanimous choice for the award.

Navy wound up second in the final balloting with eight first-place votes, followed by Army with four and Syracuse with one. Others receiving votes were in order: Yale, Colgate, Penn State, Princeton, Boston College, and Trinity, with honorable mention to Rhode Island, Holy Cross, Delaware, Cornell, Lafayette, and Juniata.

Navy whipped Pittsburgh 21-0 during the season but several of the selectors believe the Middies couldn't do it again.

"Pittsburgh really came into its own after the Navy defeat and, if they played now, I think Pittsburgh would win," said one selector.

The committee voting the award was made up of eight coaches, eight newspapermen, and eight radio-TV commentators. Pitt received the first-place votes of five coaches, three newspapermen, and three commentators. Navy got the votes of two coaches, two newspapermen, and four commentators.

Dodgers To Play Home Tilts In Jersey City In Year 1958

JERSEY CITY, N.J. —UP— The Brooklyn Dodgers may play all their home games of the 1958 season in Jersey City but club President Walter F. O'Malley insisted Friday the Dodgers don't want to make the shift "permanent."

O'Malley made this revelation after the Dodgers signed Thursday to play eight home games per season here in 1956, 1957, and 1958 at Roosevelt Stadium.

O'Malley was emphatic that the Dodgers must leave Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, after the 1957 season. And, with the troubles the team has had finding a new home in Brooklyn, he now thinks it's "unlikely" that "a new Brooklyn stadium will be available for 1958."

That's why he insists he regards the Dodgers' deal with Jersey City as "a guarantee to continue to operate our franchise at the nearest possible point to Brooklyn during the period when the new stadium might be under construction."

This arrangement, O'Malley indicated, could mean that the Dodgers will play all 77 of their 1958 home games at Roosevelt Stadium. But it would be just an emergency home.

"The Dodgers have no present intention of ultimately transferring the Brooklyn franchise to Jersey City," O'Malley declared.

However, the Dodgers as yet have been unable to secure the site they want in downtown Brooklyn for a new super-stadium. New York has approved a budget and appointed a committee to investigate the site, but there are many difficulties to be overcome. O'Malley praised city officials for their "fine co-operation."

McMurry Leads All-Conference

ABILENE, Tex. —UP— Champion McMurry won eight berths on the 12-player All-Texas Conference football team announced Thursday.

Howard Payne, dethroned champion and runner-up, placed four men and the loop's third member, Eastern New Mexico, failed to place a man.

Jerry Millsaps, Howard Payne quarterback, was the only unanimous choice of the 12 ballots cast by press, radio, publicity and athletic departments in the member cities.

McMurry placed end Tommy Watkins, tackles Charles Mote and Grant Teaff, guard Bob Harden and David Sullivan, center Bill Houston, halfback Weldon Brevard and fullback Elroy Payne. Howard Payne had Millsaps, end Louis Holt, halfback Dave Smith and the "12th man," guard Leland Maples.

Record Number Of Countries Enter 1956 Winter Olympics

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy—UP—The organizing committee of the winter Olympic games said Friday a record 32 countries had sent in entries before the midnight deadline Thursday night, but added that late arriving cables will be considered provided they were transmitted on time.

The 1956 total tops the previous high of 30 countries which participated in the 192 games at Oslo, Norway.

Thirty countries have entered the ski events, 13 the bobsledding, 17 the speed skating, 15 the figure skating and 10 the ice hockey tournament. The largest team entered is Germany with 94 athletes, the maximum figure permitted, while the smallest is from Bolivia which will consist of one skier. Russia, which made a fine showing in the 1952 summer games, will be competing in the winter games for the first time.

The 32 countries are: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, Czechoslovakia, Finland, France Germany Great Britain, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Iran, Italy, Japan, Lebanon, Liechtenstein, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Romania, South Korea, Spain, Sweden Switzerland, Turkey, United States, USSR and Yugoslavia.

Round Basketball Bounces Like Egg-Shaped Football

By UNITED PRESS

A round basketball can take bounces just as funny as an egg - shaped football, and so the college basketball season started with Notre Dame, Wisconsin, and Fordham suffering upsets that should be a warning to national champion San Francisco.

These were the "shockers" as the Dec. 1 curtain went up on the court season Thursday night: Detroit dumping Notre Dame 77-71, Butler nipping Wisconsin 67-63, and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia drubbing Fordham 89-71.

San Francisco, NCAA champ which lost only one game last year, opens its title defense Friday night with what figures to be an "easy" game against Chico State. But it's obviously as dangerous as playing with a loaded gun to call games "easy" because:

Detroit, which hadn't beaten Notre Dame in 24 straight meetings, led almost all the way in whipping Notre Dame as forward Bill Ebben poured in 13 baskets and six free throws for 32 points.

Last Minute Win

Butler, which had a 10-14 record last season, tallied five points in the last minute to beat Wisconsin on the losers' court.

Fordham, ranked 13th nationally in pre-season ratings by the United Press Board of Coaches, found its soph-loaded lineup collapse under pressure.

North Carolina State (No. 4 nationally) and Dayton (No. 6) scored easy wins as their giant All-America candidates tested out the new rule that widened the free throw lanes to 12 feet this season.

North Carolina State cruised to an 88-63 decision over Florida State. Wolfpack star Ronnie Shavlik, six-eight, seemed bothered by the wide lanes on offense and tallied only 10 points, half his usual total.

Other Games

In other leading games on opening night: Alabama, ranked No. 15 nationally, tuned up with a 95-55 rout of Jacksonville State; Southern Methodist, No. 18 nationally, also breezed in an 82-67 win over North Texas State; Ron Sobieszczk scored 29 points to lead DePaul to its 107th straight home court win, 84-66 over Illinois Wesleyan; La Salle, under new Coach Jim Pollard but minus graduated Tom Gola, whipped Millersville State 88-70, as the losers' John Parker scored 24; Temple downed Albright 87-56, despite 28 by George Conrad; soph Pete Brennan's second-half spark led North Carolina to 91-72 win over the McCrary Eagles; Missouri downed South Dakota 71-46; Niagara beat Buffalo State 77-51; Seton Hall crushed Toronto 93-60; South Carolina drubbed Citadel 80-50; and Tulsa downed Texas A&M 48-43.

Besides San Francisco, five other high-ranked teams will open their season Friday night. UCLA (No. 7) plays Brigham Young, George Washington (No. 10) faces Wake Forest, Marquette (No. 12) plays St. Norbert, and Washington (No. 14) plays a Pacific Coast Conference game against Stanford.

Any way you look at it —

Most Power—up to 44% more usable power (net horsepower) than any other pickup! Fastest getaway. Most power for passing . . . smooth, flexible power for easier, safer maneuvering in traffic. You have a choice of engines—167-h.p. Y-8 or 133-h.p. Six. Only Ford offers modern Short Stroke power in every engine at no extra cost. (Work-saving Fordomatic, optional.)

Most Capacity—new 8-ft. Express body gives you biggest loadspace of any half-tonner—65.4 cu. ft. (up to 19 more cu. ft. than other pickups). Low loading height saves time and effort. Reinforced box corners give extra strength; slanting flareboards mean extra loadspace; exclusive toggle-type latches provide easy operation of tailgate. (8-ft. box available at low extra cost.)

The new FORD gives you the most Pickup for your money

Most Safety Features—with safety design found in no other truck. Only in a '56 Ford will you find such safety features as the new Lifeguard steering wheel that helps protect driver from steering post in case of an accident; and Lifeguard door latches that help keep doors from jarring open in the event of collision. Also biggest brakes in the ½-ton field. Safer tubeless tires are now standard on all Ford Trucks, at no extra cost. See your Ford Dealer for a "prove-it-yourself ride" today.

LUCIANO, 1955 — Almost never photographed these days, former U.S. vice czar Lucky Luciano appears conservatively dressed in this new picture, taken recently in Naples, Italy, where he now operates an electrical-medical appliances shop. Luciano, deported by the U.S. in 1946 for his activities as "vice czar" of New York, claims he is going "straight" in Naples.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids addressed to the Mayor and the City Commission of the City of Pampa, Pampa, Texas, will be received at the office of the City Secretary, City Hall, Pampa, Texas, until 10:00 a.m. Tuesday, December 20, 1955 and then publicly opened and read for furnishing all plant, labor, material and equipment and performing all work required for the construction of Two Water Wells.

All proposals shall be accompanied by a Cashier's or certified check upon a national or state bank in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total maximum bid price payable without recourse to the City of Pampa or a bid bond in the same amount from a reliable surety company, as a guarantee that bidder will enter into a Contract and execute a performance bond within ten (10) days after notice of award of Contract to him. The notice of award of Contract shall be given by the owner within 30 days following the opening of bids. The bid security must be enclosed in the envelope with the bid. Bids without check or bid bond will not be considered.

The successful bidder must furnish the performance bond upon the form which is attached hereto in the amount of 100% of the contract price from an approved surety company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as surety, or other surety or sureties acceptable to the owner.

The right is reserved, as the interest of the City may require, to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informality in bids received, and to accept the bid which in its opinion is the most advantageous to the city.

Plans, specifications and bidding documents may be secured from the office of the City Engineer, City of Pampa, Texas.

City of Pampa (owner),

A Resume Of The Good And Bad News Of The Week

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

GOOD NEWS

1. France resumed its place in the United Nations Assembly after a boycott which started on Sept. 20. The French delegation had walked out because the Assembly voted to debate the demand of nationalists in French Algeria for independence. Algeria politically is not a colony but a part of France itself. The return came when the Assembly reversed its stand. It was a victory not only for France but for other Western countries which hold that the UN is endangering its future by trying to meddle in the internal problems of its member nations.

2. Argentina's provisional government returned the great independent newspaper La Prensa to its owners. It also dissolved the Peronist political party which enabled dictator Juan D. Peron to keep himself in power until his overthrow by the army. Peron had seized La Prensa and made it a propaganda organ. Its restoration to its rightful owners was a victory for the free press of the world.

3. Restored Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef named Independent Nationalist Si Bekkai to form French Morocco's first representative government. The two leaders hope to end soon the terrorism which still plagues the protectorate.

BAD NEWS

1. France's politicians maneuvered themselves into the country's most tangled cabinet crisis in nearly 80 years. The enemies of Premier Edgar Faure, including members of his own party, defeated him on a vote of confidence on his plan to call an early parliamentary election. But they overreached themselves. They piled up against him an absolute majority of votes in the National Assembly. That enabled Faure to dissolve parliament and call an election anyway. Infuriated, the opposition sought to force Faure out by a vote of censure. But it was too late to stop the election.

2. Soviet Russia raised the threat of a serious new situation in Berlin. The Russian commandant announced that East Berlin, which is the Communist sector of the city, is no longer occupied territory but is the capital of a "sovereign" East German government. His implication was that Russia intended to nullify the agreements under which Berlin is under joint occupation by the Big Four powers, belonging neither to Communist East Germany nor to free West Germany. The United States, Great Britain and France protested to Moscow. They feared a new Soviet blockade of West Berlin.

3. Nationalist China threatened to veto the admission of Outer Mongolia to the United Nations. Russia announced that unless that satellite area is admitted, it will kill the proposed "package" deal under which 18 countries would be given membership. It was disclosed that President Eisenhower had appealed personally to Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to reverse his stand. But dispatches from Taipei, Chiang's capital on the island of Formosa, said he was unlikely to do so.

Probation System Hit

DALLAS —UP— A New York judge told a newly organized group of Texas citizens Wednesday that Texas was paying "a high price" for lagging in its probation system for first offenders.

The newly formed group is known as the Texas Citizens Committee of the National Probation and Parole Association. It is headed by Maj. Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas.

Chief Justice Irving Ben Cooper of the Court of Special Sessions in New York, explained to the group that his court deals primarily with youthful first offenders.

Cooper said that "the easiest thing for a judge to do is to hand down a sentence." He added that "it is high time we got wise to our duty."

He said that qualified probation men should study the complete background of first offenders in order to provide judges with enough information on which to base a sentence. Otherwise, he said, there is little hope for rehabilitation of offenders.

GI Loans Hit Record

WASHINGTON —UP— The Veterans Administration said Thursday it guaranteed a record 64,497 GI home loans totaling $717,334,355 during October. The figure sets a record for the 11-year history of the program.

Actress Is Looking For Husband

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK —UP— Elaine Malbin, a pretty, brown-eyed brunette who earns $70,000 a year as a TV and concert singer, asked that the following want ad be inserted in this column:

"Wanted: A young man, must enjoy home cooking, music, conversation and have the right chemicals. Profession unimportant, but must be successful at it, Object: Marriage."

"I'm lonesome," complained the 24-year-old Miss Malbin. "Young men are afraid of me. And it's not just my problem, it's the same with every successful young actress and singer—young men think we won't go out with them and so, they never ask us.

"I'm lucky if I have two dates a week. The whole situation is revolting."

Miss Malbin, who'll play the lead this Sunday in NBC-TV's "Madame Butterfly," confessed that her love life was almost as melancholy as that of the ill-fated Japanese maid's.

"The only men who ever ask me out are millionaires old enough to be my father," she said. "It's not so much that they like me, it's just that they enjoy being seen around town with a girl who is known and accomplished.

"Not only that, they have ulterior motives," she added with a delicate shudder, "all of them, regardless of what they say."

What Miss Malbin is searching for is a young man with marriage-type love on his mind and hunger-type pains in his stomach.

"I love to cook. It would help if he liked to wash dishes. I'm very simple, the quiet type. I don't like doing the town. A glamorous night of night-clubbing isn't my idea of a good time. I'd rather listen to music, dance and make conversation.

Thus far, the solution to her romantic woes has eluded Miss Malbin. "Some opera singers marry a kind of nothing-man who becomes their flunky. Some take a lover and I'm beginning to understand why."

Government Employment Drops

WASHINGTON — UP — Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said Thursday total civilian employment in the government during October totaled 2,365,206, a drop of 863 from the previous month. Civilian employment in civilian agencies stood at 1,183,818, a decrease of 1,952 over September.
