TOILS TIGHTENING ABOUT HAUPTMAN

Column Right

P. A. T.

Every panic brings its flock of prosperity quacks. But the craziest of all is the moron who advocates $200 a month as pension to the aged. The idea is o. k., but the amount is all haywire. Of course it would give ma and dad their place in the sun, and from liabilities (in many instances) they would become real assets. But wouldn't the ranks of unemployment swell! Wouldn't the second hand car dealers prosper, and wouldn't the tax payers get the jitters when the Ides of March bloom!

Scientists, to this day, have been unable to agree on what causes thunder. But we'll bet that the Del Rio editor who had a idea he'd attend the Governor's ball, and didn't tell his wife, can advance one theory as to the cause of thunder, and of lightning, too.

Another reason, besides crooners, why radios are a pest was proven in another town the other night. The neighbors passing a house heard a commotion, stopped and listened. It grew worse—murder was in the offing. Hurriedly calling reinforcements to rescue the wife from a murdering husband, they broke in the home, only to find husband on the bed, snoring in competition with the instrument, and wife sitting in front of the radio, enjoying one of the weekly blood-curdling serials.

Three men, jointly charged with murder, were recently sent to the Texas penitentiary. Recently one of them was pardoned, the reason given was that there was some doubt as to which one fired the shot. The other two evidently didn't have the jack.

Try saying this right fast "Rubber Buggy Bumpers."

Uvalde Man Is New Member of Fed. Land Bank

Appointment of Jake Schwartz of Uvalde, and reappointment of Judge S. A. Lindsey of Tyler, as directors of the Federal Land Bank of Houston, was announced on Jan. 9 by Governor W. I. Myers.

Both appointees will serve three-year terms which commenced Jan. 1, 1935. They will also serve during this period as directors of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, the Production Credit Corporation of Houston and the Houston Bank for Cooperatives.

Reports from the bedside of G. W. Carpenter who has been ill for several weeks with flu and complications are that he is able to sit up and hopes he soon will be able to be about town. His many friends are glad to learn that he is doing nicely.

Eagle Dribblers Schedule 2 Games Over Week-End

Two basketball games are on the Sanderson high school cage schedule for this week end. Tonight (Friday) they tangle with the McCamey Badgers, and Saturday night they journey to Fort Stockton for a return game with the Panther five.

According to the dope the Eagles should dispose of McCamey handily. With Fort Stockton they will have to put up a better game than the one played here January 3, when Sanderson nosed the Pecos county dribblers out by a scant margin of four points.

An effort is being made to bring the McCamey girls' team here Friday for a game with the Sanderson sextet, but arrangements were still pending Thursday evening.

Over $26,000 Taxes Are Paid to Date

Up to Wednesday of this week there had been collected from the 1934 tax rolls the sum of $26,006.63, according to a statement to the Times issued from the office of Lee A. Cook, tax assessor-collector. This sum represents the amount collected for January and it is estimated that by the end of the month between fifty and sixty thousand dollars in taxes will have been collected.

On Wednesday the T. & N. O. railroad taxes for 1934 in the sum of $18,109.93 was received and the 1933 taxes of the company are to be paid by the end of this month it was stated.

Taxpayers have until January 31 to pay poll taxes, and those who did not take advantage of the split payment of taxes have until that day to pay taxes for the year 1934 before they become delinquent and a penalty and interest added.

W. H. Doty Named Co. Health Officer

The regular meeting of the Commissioners' court was held on Monday of this week with all members of that body being present, as follows: Commissioners W. J. Banner, of precinct No. 1; Chester Smith of precinct No. 2; J. C. Mitchell of precinct No. 3, and Bustin Canon of precinct No. 4.

At this meeting the court agreed to a tax settlement with the T. & N. O. railway, with the understanding that the company would pay its taxes now.

The appointment of Dr. W. H. Doty as county health officer for the next two years was made at this time. Dr. Doty has held this office for the past year.

The court decided at this meeting that all county road machinery be brought to town, given an overhauling, and put in readiness, so that work could be done on the streets and county roads just as soon as the necessary funds were available for the purpose.

Current bills were presented, allowed and ordered paid.

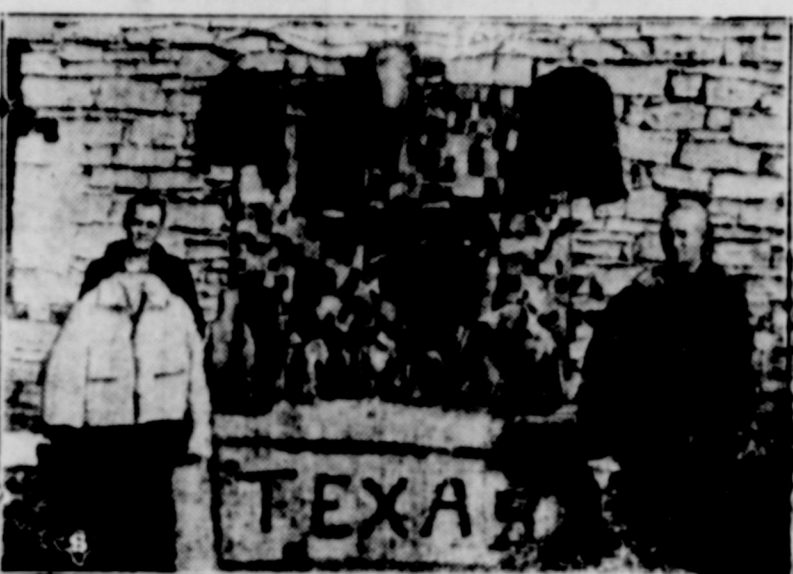

MARRIAGES-DIVORCES IN 1934

Twenty-six marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk during the year 1934, according to the records of that office.

In contrast to the number of marriage certificates issued, there were only two divorces granted in Terrell county during the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Grigsby and grandsons, Francis and Willie Grigsby, spent the week end in McCamey with their son, Lee Roy Grigsby, and family. They report that Lee Roy, who was ill here for more than a month, is doing fine and now is able to resume his duties with the Texaco company in that city.

Skins of Condemned Animals Useful

Tom Green county relief officials presented these San Angelo-manufactured sheep and goat skin products to state authorities at Austin recently. The skins came from condemned animals purchased by the government. At left is Max Feuge, San Angelo tanner, who supervised the work. At right is Andy Andrus, relief livestock supervisor. Jackets, quilts, and rugs from sheep pelts and goat skins comprised the exhibit.

President's Ball Is Set For January 30

In connection with the nation-wide celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday, January 30, Sanderson will have a dance on that date, sponsored by the Sanderson Rotary Club and the American Legion post.

All plans have been completed by these organizations and the dance will be held in the C. A. C. hall, the music to be furnished by Cuco and his Seven Aces. Admission for dancing will be $1.50 per couple. Admission to the hall for non-dancers, will be 25 cents.

In addition to the dances, which will take place in every community in the nation, there will be the largest nationwide hookup of broadcasting stations ever made on that night, to broadcast the program. It will begin at 10:30 central standard time and continue for two hours. President Roosevelt will address the nation at this time.

The entire proceeds of the Birthday balls will not be applied to the Warm Springs Foundation this year, as was the case last year, but on the recommendation of the President and the directors of the Foundation, 70 per cent of the money will remain in the district where it will be used to fight dreaded paralysis in each community. The other 30 per cent will go to support national research on the same subject.

State Builds A Strong Case Upon The Circumstances That Point to Carpenter As Person Guilty of Heinous Crime

Live Oak Leaves Is Proving Good Feed

Notwithstanding the decimation of flocks and herds in this section by reason of the government's purchasing program, the continued drought still presents a menace to ranchers, and many of them are having tough sledding to feed what remains thru the winter months.

Feeding is expensive and several ranchmen are using what Nature provides—cactus, sotol weeds, etc., as feeding the standard and balanced feeds are out of the question for the majority.

The latest in the way of a "natural" feed is on the Chandler ranch on Independence creek. Experiments with leaves from the numerous liveoak trees proved that sheep and goats did well. An analysis of the leaves developed the fact that they contained 14% protein, exactly the same as alfalfa.

Mr. Chandler informed the Times that the only expense incurred in feeding the leaves is a nominal wage for a small crew to shake the leaves and herd the flocks.

Many Local Flocks Being Drenched

Alfred H. Hill, who moved here from Junction, placed a notice in last week's Times, advertising a sheep and goat drench, which he manufactures, sells, and administers. Results were quick, and for the past week, he has been called into service by practically every rancher in this county.

The drench is for stomach and tape worms, and is guaranteed by Mr. Hill to do all that is claimed for it. Mr. Hill is located at the Kerr Hotel for the present.

SELLS 800 MUTTONS

Bustin Canon reports the sale of 800 mutton lambs this week to R. J. Ridley of Del Rio. The lambs were delivered at Dryden on Tuesday of this week and averaged 60 pounds, bringing 6 cents a pound.

Several lamb buyers were in this city Tuesday looking for lambs.

It is estimated that there are 13,000,000 fishermen and hunters in the United States.

JOINS THE NAVY

Andrew Henry left the latter part of last week for El Paso, and on Monday he passed the required examination for service in the navy. From El Paso he was sent to the U. S. Naval training station at San Diego, Calif.

$30 TO BE GIVEN AWAY AT PRINCESS THEATRE MONDAY

Thirty dollars awaits some one at the Princess theatre next Monday night—Money Night. On last Monday night O. J. James of Dryden was not present when his name was drawn to receive the $15 which was scheduled to be given away on that night.

Cattle Buying Program Already Felt In Increased Prices of Meats

Los Angeles, Jan. 17.—Effect of the sharply higher price schedule of meats, as a result of advancing livestock values, has been vastly different than many in the trade anticipated. As a matter of fact there seems to be a greater demand and less sales resistance to the higher price levels than when prices were extremely low. In discussing this matter with several packers, all told the same story. There is less quibbling on prices and less shopping around. The answer is that many retail meat dealers have found that the more they shopped around the more they were likely to be forced to pay for meat. A rising market is usually that way. People begin to anticipate their needs for fear that the next day may see still higher prices—and it has worked out that way every day for the past three or four weeks.

There is a vastly different under-tone in the livestock and dressed meat trade than there has been for several years. There is a real spirit of optimism among the livestock fraternity. Especially is that true in California where there is a happy combination of extremely excellent feed conditions and a very broad demand for livestock at the highest prices that have prevailed for nearly four years.

That there is a sound foundation for the higher price structure is beyond reasonable doubt. Our supplies of livestock in the country as a whole have been decimated by the drought, feed shortage and government efforts. In the opinion of many in the trade we have only begun to feel the effects of our generally admitted livestock shortage. There is no mistake but that 1934 witnessed a huge forced marketing of both cattle and hogs, this in addition to the millions of cattle that were purchased under the Federal Drought emergency relief program. This forced slaughter, brought on by the high price of feed and actual scarcity of these feeds, continued right up until the end of 1934. There is still more forced marketing of cattle from areas where feed is scarce and high-priced, but such movement has dwindled down to a volume that has little effect on the trade as a whole.

As far as California is concerned, the present splendid range and pasture feed prospects will prevent any heavy marketing of cattle from this state during the next year. While large numbers of cattle have been placed on California grass, a very large percentage are young stocker cattle that, with good feed conditions, would not be marketed until the summer of 1936. The trade generally does not anticipate a burdensome supply of California grass beef at any time in 1935, providing feed conditions continue to be as favorable as at present.

It is even predicted middle western feed lot operators will be ready buyers of short feed cattle to finish on grain now possible on account of the increased prices of livestock.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

FALLACIES SHRIVEL IN THE LIGHT

With improving business the popular fallacies of the past few years are fading into obscurity. Senator Elmer Thomas, who hates stable money, now admits that inflation will be postponed. Of course it will. The public is interested in other things. Inflation is yesterday's song.

We have had quite a crop of these economic fallacies and nostrums during recent years. Anyone with the faintest memory of the past might have anticipated the outbreak. We had similar attacks during the eighteen seventies and again in the eighteen nineties. Similar conditions breed similar follies.

In economic affairs, as in bodily disease, when doctors disagree, the cranks, patent medicine venders and other incompetents assemble their crowds and reap their harvests.

We have had a wide variety of delusions this time. First and most spectacular was the teaching of the technocrats. Seldom have half truths and quarter truths and downright fabrications had a swifter or more dramatic rise.

Technocracy was the old Frankenstein idea dressed up in modern statistics. Mary Shelley drew the Frankenstein picture in 1818, while Europe was recovering from the Napoleonic wars. The technocrats grabbed the idea and drew dreadful pictures of machinery and science inexorably destroying their inventors and users.

It was an exciting story while it lasted, which happily was not long. Under the cool winds of common sense and an actual consideration of the record, it was seen plainly that instead of destroying jobs machinery created new ones and that applied science was the instrument through which the standard of living had been raised and the earth rendered capable of supporting a vastly increased population.

California, which has contributed so much sanity to national discussion, was the point of origin of three of the most recent fallacies which found wide support. Most conspicuous, of course, was Upton Sinclair's EPIC, or End Poverty in California, campaign.

Mr. Sinclair was one of the first examples of an imaginative fiction writer in politics. He proposed to end poverty as a skillful mystery-story writer ends crime. He put on a good show. Neat little schemes for creating factories and markets overnight, for taking from the rich more than they possess, for exempting from taxation the great majority of taxpayers, and for performing numerous other economic miracles drew appreciative audiences and a bewildering support. Between the primary and the election, however, common sense prevailed and California is attacking its problems in calm American fashion and is not relying upon sleight of hand for salvation.

Dr. F. E. Townsend, a physician of Long Beach, Calif., took up the idea of old age pensions and attempted to do magic with the idea. Old-age pensions have been established in twenty-six states, among them California, which pays to a limited number of old people an average of $22 a month.

Dr. Townsend gayly proposed to pay everybody over 60 years a full $200 a month. To accomplish this he advocated a new kind of money, borrowing, possibly without realizing it, an idea suggested by a radical English economist. Dr. Townsend's new money was to be good for 30 days. He imagined that such quick and easy money would start an avalanche of buying. It might, but avalanches are not generally considered safe or comfortable vehicles of travel or transportation. Naturally, the faintest familiarity with arithmetic would show the utter absurdity of such generosity.

Akin to the Townsend idea, but made more elaborate by the trappings of a secret society and a picturesque ritual, is the Utopian plan. The Utopians were mixed up hopelessly with the Sinclairites. The Utopians, founded by a former investment banker, a promoter and a gasoline salesman, sought salvation by attacking the profit motive. Their organization spread with tremendous rapidity. Nothing comparable has been seen since the influenza epidemic of 1918.

Senator Huey Long of Louisiana is the last of these nostrum venders, with his "Share the Wealth" clubs. Senator Long is no economic crackpot. He is a very practical politician looking after Huey's interests. His "Share the Wealth" program, so far as it is a program at all, consists chiefly of high income and inheritance taxes. No changes or reforms are involved. Senator Long is a rabble-rouser of very large lung power and he does not bother with details when he is rabble-rousing.

In California and Colorado and other states which justly boast of benign climates, many of the relics of the fads and fallacies of other periods of political change and economic ferment may still be found. Old men and women now, they still talk fluently and a little wistfully of the ideas which they proclaimed in the days of the Populists and the Boy Orator of the Platte. They, too, had their days of popularity, and they, too, found obscurity and forgetfulness as economic health returned to the people.

We are solving our problems today in the only possible way, by hard work and common sense. This is the one road toward recovery and progress. Only by unremitting labor and thought are the answers found to any important human problems. Nobody has ever invented a machine or found a way of curing disease, or cultivated a farm or found the money to pay his taxes, by ranting or by listening to the rantings of advocates of half-baked ideas or of plain frauds and fallacies. Fortunately, solid achievement is not so cheaply won.

The fading of these preachers of fallacy marks another step on the road back to economic health.—Collier's Weekly.

CASE OF GENERAL MOTORS

Competition is the life of trade—that is when those in competition carry on their business open and above board. But this is not always the case. The Times has in mind the rumor recently circulated that General Motors, through which a sold many of today's automobiles, including Chevrolet. Through the Southwest a rumor was circulated to the effect that General Motors exported all mohair used in the upholstery of all its cars. While the Times holds no brief for this company or its products, we can readily see the harm such rumor can do. Millions of pounds of mohair are used yearly in accessories to the modern automobiles. The Southwest, especially Texas, raises most of the world output of this staple. Were the fact established that General Motors, or any other producer of automobiles, purchased their raw materials from foreign countries, product, naturally, would be boycotted by those who depend on mohair for a living. They would have just cause for such action. But, the fact develops that General Motors doesn't buy any mohair in the raw, but rather the finished materials, and this from one of the largest purchasers of mohair in the United States—Collins & Aikman. This corporation states that General Motors and Fisher Body Works buys their upholstery from them, they, in turn, state that during the past ten years their purchases of mohair from foreign countries was less than 5%. During 1934 the company did not purchase a pound of mohair in foreign markets. M. F. Schmitt who direct the merchandising service of Collins & Aikman, states that at the present time one and one-half million pounds of Texas mohair are being loaded, consigned to the mills of the corporation.

The letter, too long for publication here, is proof conclusive that there is not a scintilla of truth in the rumor that General Motors are purchasers, even indirectly, of foreign mohair.

TEXAS VIEWPOINT

Fourteen of the 23 assistants named by William McCraw to be assistant attorneys general of Texas are former students of the University of Texas. McCraw, starting as a printer's devil, graduated from the well known school of hard knocks via the U. S. wartime army. His appointments are in line with a rule that motivates many a chamber of commerce—patronize home industry. The University of Texas is equipped to give the legal training required for a successful career. There's little reason to go elsewhere for talent.

We need the Texas viewpoint in things legal as well as industrial.—San Angelo Standard-Times.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering impurities from the blood stream. But kidneys get functionally disturbed—lag in their work—fail to remove the poisonous body wastes.

Then you may suffer nagging headache, attacks of dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains, feel "all worn out."

Don't delay! For the quicker you get rid of these poisons, the better your chances of good health.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They tend to promote normal functioning of the kidneys; should help them pass off the irritating poisons. Doan's are recommended by users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

TEXAS HISTORY IN THE MAKING

The Battlefield of San Jacinto

Here is probably Texas' most hallowed ground—the Battlefield of San Jacinto, where the liberty of Texas was fought and won. San Jacinto is classed as one of the most decisive battles of the world. On April 21, 1836, General Sam Houston, with 783 men and two cannon donated by the citizens of Cincinnati, Ohio, suddenly attacked General Santa Anna and his force of 1500 Mexicans as they slept out their afternoon siesta. The battle lasted but eighteen minutes. Texas had two men killed and 23 wounded. The Mexicans had 630 killed, 208 wounded and 730 captured. Here the cry "Remember the Alamo! Remember Goliad!" was first used, to be carried on forever in the traditions of Texas. San Jacinto battlefield is located on Buffalo Bayou, a short distance from Houston.

New Setup of Texas Relief Commission Practically Eliminates Direct Relief

Austin.—The question of how serious removal of unemployable persons from federal relief rolls will be was being answered last week as county administrators completed an analysis of caseloads over the state. Results of the count were due in the state administrative office Jan. 10.

The following regulations were adopted for the guidance of administrators in determining classifications under the new federal order: Women eligible for mothers' aid under act of the 42nd legislature are not eligible for FERA relief.

Persons more than 65 years old are not eligible for federal relief excepting at the request of the client and then only after physical certification by a physician recommended by the county administrator and approved by the Texas Relief Commission.

Persons regardless of age, who as a result of an examination by a physician recommended by the administrator and approved by the Texas Relief commission are found incapable of performing a full day's work at their normal occupation or any other worthwhile work, are not eligible.

Persons receiving allowances under the pauper fund are not eligible to FERA relief, and FERA funds cannot be used to supplement relief given by the city, county or state.

Persons suffering from chronic illnesses who, as a result of examination by a physician recommended by the administrator and approved by the Texas Relief commission are declared able to perform a full day's work, are eligible for federal relief.

A temporarily disabled person who is otherwise normally employable shall be considered the responsibility of the FERA and shall receive direct relief from federal funds pending his recovery.

If within the household of an unemployed person eligible for federal relief there is an aged, infirm or otherwise unemployable person or any dependent who normally was supported by the wage earner, work certification should be sufficient to provide for such person's care.

Physical examinations were contemplated for only two groups as follows:

Persons more than 65 years old who have had continuous gainful employment record and who appear to be able to work.

Persons suffering from chronic illness but who appear to be able to work.

Administrators were cautioned that examinations should be sufficiently thorough to insure soundness of constitution so that FERA will not put persons more than 65 years old, or those suffering from chronic illness to work if work will jeopardize life or health.

Results of the analysis will show

The lectures will be supplemented with assigned readings in the library and occasional compositions. The course will also include at least two field trips to the W. J. McDonald Astronomical Observatory of the University of Texas, located on Mt. Locke, 40 miles from Alpine.—Alpine Avalanche.

Comedy Film at
Princess Theatre

The old saying "What's Sauce for the Goose is Sauce for the Gander" is said to be exemplified with interesting variations in the picture "By Your Leave." RKO-Radio's new romantic comedy featuring Frank Morgan, Genevieve Tobin and a fine supporting cast, which comes to the Princess Theatre Monday, Jan. 21, for one night.

A husband nearing that age when he fears that he is losing his attraction for women, proposes a marital holiday. He feels that he must have a last fling to restore his vanishing ego. It doesn't occur to him that his wife may take advantage of the holiday in similar fashion.

What doesn't prove sauce for the gander comes dangerously close being just that for the goose. The husband proves a dismal flop as a galavanting Romeo, but the wife meets a romantic young man who is all for taking her away with him.

Highlight is Morgan in tights and doublet trying to learn a hotcha dance step under the expert tutelage of Betty Grable, blonde screen actress.

Included in the supporting cast are Neil Hamilton, Marion Nixon, and others.

METHODIST CHURCH

"Horsepower and Manpower" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday morning. The horse has been largely supplanted by machinery, but the term horsepower is still used as a term for measuring power. The tragedy of our modern civilization is that we have made gigantic strides in mechanical powers and have not made corresponding development in human life. The machine like some mighty frankenstein threatens to devour us. Theoretically we have exalted man, but practically our disregard is shown by the suicides, murders, accidents and the toll of war.

The worship service of Sunday school will be conducted by the Young People's class, with Lucille Blount as leader. The back porch of the parsonage is being put into shape for use as Sunday school rooms and soon we shall have more room for our work.

Evening service at 7:30. The Epworth League hour at 6:30. Study class in worship at 7:30 Wednesday.

There will be several services held during the week by the auxiliary and other departments of the church.

The pastor will lead a foreign mission program at the church on Wednesday night, at 7:30. Special sermons will be preached on missions on the 20th and also on the 27th, and the Sunday school will have a missionary program on the 27th. Helpful Household Hints

By BETTY WEBSTER

January, unlike its sister, February, has a paucity of great men's birthdays. It has one, though, the 17th which makes up in greatness for the lack of others. This is the birthday of Benjamin Franklin, the discoverer of electricity, the writer of Poor Richard's Almanac, and the founder of the Saturday Evening Post.

Many of us like to celebrate the great man's memory for that reason alone, and others of us have birthdays of our own or near that date and like to use the "Franklin theme" in the parties.

The table may be decorated with zig-zag pieces of black paper, to represent lightning, laid over a white cloth or the "lightning" may be silver or yellow, and the cloth dark blue or gray. The decorations may be little electric lights—those used on the Christmas tree are the sort I mean—laid on the table. Place cards on which quotations from "Poor Richard" have been written are very clever.

Appropriate Refreshments

Of course the refreshments ought to be simple, in keeping with the ideas of Mr. Franklin. The sausage Fanchonettes with a simple salad, tea and gelatin dessert will make a substantial and nice luncheon. Also dishes of salted peanuts and spice drops may be on the table.

As for the entertainment: Games which are out of the ordinary are much fun. Sheets of paper headed with the name "Benjamin Franklin" may be passed to the guests and, in a given period, each one makes a list of all the words he can form by using just the letter in these two. A small dictionary makes a nice prize for the winner of the contest.

Another game might be the listing of various electrical devices. You will be surprised at the great number there really are and how few many of the contestants can name in a given time. A flashlight may be the trophy for the longest list.

Recipe for Pineapple Cream

Soak one-half box of unflavored gelatin in one-half cup of cold water. Add one-half cup of boiling water to dissolve it. Cook together for ten minutes, the following ingredients:

1 can of shredded pineapple.
1 cup of sugar.
½ cup cold water.

Add the dissolved gelatin. Before thoroughly cold, add one pint of whipped cream, mixing in lightly. Put in individual molds or in a loaf mold and let harden. Serve with whipped cream or plain, as desired. This will serve twelve.

"When a Man Sees
Red" Is Jones Film
At the Princess

Lovers of fast action stories of adventure laid in the rugged and picturesque settings of the far West will find this delightful combination in Universal's "When a Man Sees Red," which will be shown at the Princess Theatre tonight and Saturday night, with Buck Jones in the feature role.

This is the story of a rugged and clean-fighting western cowboy who saves a foolish and stubborn girl from her own folly and, single-handed, smashes a cattle rustling gang whose leader tries to point the finger of guilt at him. Buck Jones, a rugged portrayal of fast-action roles is the cowboy. The girl is Peggy Campbell, a newcomer to the screen and this is her first picture. She is said to be a real find.

Buck Jones always entertains because he has lived the life he portrays. Nineteen years ago he was a performer in the Julia Allen Wild West Show, where he married Miss Odelle Osborne, an equestrienne with the show. The wedding took place in the center of the circus ring with all parties on horseback, the first wedding of its type in history. Half the little town was excited over the affair, and the other half was scandalized.

Col. Coates, who ranches in the northeastern part of the county, was a business visitor in the city the fore part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Banner and son, from their ranch on the Pecos, were visitors in Sanderson for several days this week.

Law Regulating Lobbyists Before Solons at Austin

Austin.—Legislation on a score of subjects of vital public importance was started through the Texas legislature this week.

In the mass of proposals were bills to regulate lobbyists, declare a moratorium against forced sale of real estate, to sterilize mental defectives and criminals, to repeal state prohibition, to provide old age pensions, to relieve $3,000 of the assessed valuation of real estate from local ad valorem taxes, to prohibit deficiency judgments, and to regulate public utilities.

Strict supervision of lobbyists was a platform demand of Governor-elect James V. Allred, who vigorously attacked activities of corporation representatives in regard to legislation.

The bill by Rep. Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, would require lobbyists to register with the secretary of state, set out the corporations by whom they are employed and the legislation supported or opposed. The registry would be public. Employment on a contingent basis would be prohibited. Corporations also would be required to register.

Persons convicted of using improper influence on legislators would be subject to five years imprisonment.

Order Sweaters for Football Players

Those who contributed to the fund to procure sweaters for the high school football squad, in appreciation of the fine record for 1934, possibly have noticed a delay. In explanation is the following: Before the money was collected the squad selected their sweaters, and when all were agreed on style, lettering, etc., the catalog could not be found. An attempt was made to get the order filled, and after some delay the money was returned, and the letter, also, marked "Incomplete address." Efforts to locate a similar catalog were futile, and last week the matter was placed in the hands of the school coach, Duane Smith, and we have his assurance that the sweaters have been ordered from another reliable concern, and should be here before another football season is under way.

Fourteen regular sweaters and two reserve sweaters were ordered two weeks ago.

CONSTIPATION Can be Helped!

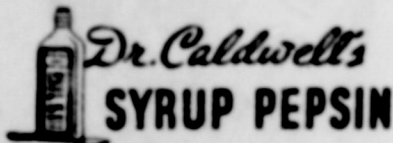

(Use what Doctors do)

Why do the bowels usually move regularly and thoroughly, long after a physician has given you treatment for constipation?

Because the doctor gives a liquid laxative that can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Your druggist has it; ask for—

MILD WEATHER PREVAILS

Judging from the weather that is now being enjoyed by Sanderson folks, evidently Mother Nature has forgotten the seasons of the year. For the past week or so spring-like weather has prevailed here with but very little cold weather being felt at night. A heavy fog hung over the city most of the day Monday and since then there has been cloudy weather, but not much chance of a rain.

Very little cold weather was experienced here during the month of December.

Funeral services were conducted from the home last Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Mrs. Clara Lacey Pauli, wife of Herman Pauli who died in a Del Rio hospital Thursday morning where she had been for two weeks for medical treatment.

Mrs. Pauli was born in Uvalde county on August 6, 1900, and had made her home in this city since 1928. On September 29, 1928, she was united in marriage to Herman Pauli. She was a member of the Church of Christ in this city.

Surviving are the husband, Herman Pauli, a son, Walter Herman Pauli, a daughter, Alma Marck, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Lacey of Rocksprings; two sisters, Mrs. C. H. English of Carnegie, Okla., and Miss Maude Lacey of Rocksprings; five brothers, J. D. Barney, Milton, Virgil and Herman Lacey of Rocksprings; two grandmothers, Mrs. J. A. Yancey, Uvalde, and Mrs. J. D. Lacey of Barksdale, as well as numerous other relatives in Uvalde, Del Rio, Barksdale, and Sonora.

Relatives who were here for the funeral were the parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Lacey and daughter, Miss Maude, and sons, J. D. Barney, Milton, Virgil and Herman, all of Rocksprings; Mrs. J. A. Yancey and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Habermacher of Uvalde; Mr. and Mrs. Donny Adair of Dryden, and Mrs. Brownie Locke of this city.

The active pall-bearers were W. A. Murrah, Austin Nance, John Whistler, Fred Yeates, P. J. Holman and W. E. Lea.

The floral offerings were very beautiful and attested the high esteem in which Mrs. Pauli was held.

Radio station XER is now free to open, according to a ruling handed down Tuesday by Federal Judge Machada in Piedras Negras, favorable to the owners of the station, the Del Rio Evening News states in its issue of Tuesday, the 15th.

Judge Machada ruled in a suit brought by the treasury department of Mexico, in which the latter demanded the payment of heavy fines asked by the Federal health department. The decision was read at the conclusion of the trial which began Saturday at noon.

This is the station formerly operated by Dr. Brinkley at Villa Acuna just across the Rio Grande from Del Rio. It is a 150,000 watt station, and has been shut down since June of last year.

Mrs. John Whistler and grandson, John Lewis Whistler, left Monday for Deming, New Mexico, where they will visit Mrs. Whistler's daughter, Mrs. Buster Edwards, and family.
