Uranium Sent Reds In 1945

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 — The United States shipped Russia a "significant" amount of uranium metal—the base stuff of atomic bombs—as late as 1945, Rep. McDowell (R-Pa.) told the House today. He said it followed up shipments of 2,270 pounds of uranium compounds in 1943, when Russia was asking for the rare material by the ton.

McDowell is a member of the House committee on Un-American Activities which has been conducting a series of sensational hearings into tales of Communist spying in wartime Washington.

Hearings Shut Down

The committee took a breather today. Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) said a picked group from the committee had been dispatched to a secret rendezvous with a mystery witness. The point of contact was not disclosed.

Senate investigators, who have been conducting a parallel inquiry into the alleged Red spy ring, shut down their hearings, too, after a brief morning session. Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) complained that an order from President Truman has caused the withholding of loyalty files they need to check on charges of Communist infiltration into the government.

McDowell first told the Un-American Activities committee about uranium shipments yesterday, saying that a total of 1,300 pounds of compounds of the radioactive element had been shipped to the Soviets in 1943.

Uranium Compound Shipped

In addition to the 1,300 pounds, he said, 200 pounds of uranium oxide and 220 pounds of uranium nitrate, furnished by the S. W. Shattuck Chemical Co. of Denver, were shipped by air from Great Falls, Mont., to Moscow. Also, McDowell reported, 500 pounds of uranium nitrate and 500 pounds of black uranium oxide were furnished by the Canadian Radium Uranuim corporation, transported to Great Falls, and sent from there to Moscow.

McDowell said shipments made in 1943 were sent to Col. A. N. Kotikov of the Soviet govern-

'Boss' Crump Is Defeated

(By The Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 6—The potent E. H. Crump political dynasty of Memphis and a lesser Democratic organization long allied with it in Tennessee went down in stunning defeat today as the final ballots were counted from yesterday's violence-punctuated elections.

While unofficial tabulations told a story of the Crump organization's thrashing in the statewide Democratic primary, the National Guard moved into Benton in southeast Tennessee to quell continuing election strife which has left two dead and five wounded following a Polk county general election.

Guardsmen Ordered In

And the bi-partisan good government league in Polk claimed a thumping victory, with the exception of three justice of the peace races, in its effort to unseat the Democratic organization of former Sheriff Burch Biggs, which has controlled Polk for 18 years. The Biggs organization frequently has co-operated with Crump in state primaries.

National guardsmen, aided by the state highway patrol, moved in on Polk county on instructions of Gov. Jim McCord to restore and maintain order threatened by gunplay incident to the final tabulation of ballots in the county election.

Motorcade Ambushed

Troopers—85 in number—arrived a few minutes after a second ambush shooting within 24 hours. The first ended in the death of one man and wounding of another. In subsequent gunplay another man was slain and four injured.

Today's ambush was aimed at a heavily-armed motorcade bringing in an election box from Copperhill over near the North Carolina and Georgia line, to the county seat. The driver was cut by flying glass from the single shot.

The landslide which engulfed the Crump forces was such as Crump himself had buried his opposition without setback in 20 years.

Crump's choice for the state's two top nominations—for U. S. senator and for governor—were soundly whipped.

Crump's choice for governor,

300 Gallons Of Liquor Seized

(Special To The Avalanche)

LITTLEFIELD, Aug. 6—A man, about 40-years-old, was being held in custody here tonight after Littlefield sheriff's and police officials made one of the biggest liquor hauls in the history of the South Plains, seizing more than 300 gallons of "corn likker" at a Littlefield residence.

Sheriff Hugh Rice of Lamb county and Police Chief J. L. Walraven of Littlefield, working with deputies and other policemen, made the haul after Chief Walraven had seized the suspect in the negro section of the town earlier in the night. The officers then went to the man's house in east Littlefield and brought the untaxed liquor, put up in quart fruit jars and kept in cardboard cartons, to the jail along with the suspect.

"It was the biggest haul we ever made," Sheriff Rice said. The suspect told the officers the whiskey had been hauled in by truck from Oklahoma. Investigation was to continue in the case today.

Allied Envoys To Hold More Russian Talks

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 6—U. S., British, and French envoys will hold more meetings with Russian officials before any final agreements materialize as a result of the current four-power talks, it was learned tonight.

A highly informed source said there may be another conference with the Russians tomorrow, but this is unlikely. A meeting Sunday seems more probable, the source said.

Today's conference with Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was described as "very thorough." It lasted three hours. Prime Minister Stalin was not present.

Talks Proceed Smoothly

At this meeting U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau, and Frank Roberts, special British envoy, visited the Kremlin for another try at solving East-West differences.

It appeared tonight that several more meetings may be in order before the current conversations come to an end. It was almost a certainty they would continue into next week.

Although the going may seem slow, it was learned on excellent authority that there is no need for pessimism. In fact, the opposite is true. It was learned that the western power negotiations with Molotov are proceeding smoothly.

The western envoys' conference with the Soviet foreign minister today lasted an hour longer than their meeting last Monday with Stalin. They emerged from it smiling but non-committal.

No Comment Given

"We met with Molotov. No comment," Smith told newspapermen.

Obviously in a hurry to confer with his colleagues, he shifted his bulging brief case from hand to hand.

Roberts, right behind Smith, replied to correspondents:

"You heard what he said didn't you—no comment."

Chataigneau was all smiles and said nothing.

All three went directly to the American embassy where they compared notes and ideas.

(London dispatches said diplomatic circles there believed the three western powers had submit-

FLIGHT ENDS

U. S. B-29s Hop All Over Globe

(By The Associated Press)

It was a busy day Friday for B-29's.

As dawn broke over Tucson, Ariz., two Superfortresses landed at the Davis-Monthan Air Force base.

Lt. Col. Richard W. Kline of Haskell, Tex., stepped out of the first one and remarked:

"Round-the-world flights can now be classified as routine stuff. It is no more dangerous flying around the world than it is over the U. S."

Others Start Flight

Fifteen days ago, three B-29's had set out from the Tucson base. One crashed off southern Arabia, killing 17 of its 18 crewmen.

But the 34 men who landed today in the other two were "a bit tired but in fine physical shape."

When they landed, eight of their sister B-29's were already three hours away on a 6,000-mile flight to England, with Goose Bay, Labrador, as the only stop scheduled before they landed in Lakenheath.

More Superforts were readied to take off for England tomorrow and Sunday for training sessions there. Still others now in England are to fly back to this country soon after their crews finish training.

Long Hops Completed

At Marshall Field near Fort Riley, Kas., a B-29 made an emergency landing because it was short of fuel. It was only 40 miles away from its goal, the Smoky Hill Air Force base at Salina, Kas.

But it was nearly 24 hours and 5,120 miles away from its take-off point — across the world in Furstenfeldbruck, Germany.

In Minneapolis another Superfortress ended another nonstop-from-Germany flight, also because its fuel ran low.

Bound also for Salina, it had travelled 4,500 miles from Munich. As it landed at Minneapolis' Wold-Chamberlain airport, an engine caught fire. Within a short time the engine had been repaired, the gas tanks filled and the plane was winging its way to its Kansas base.

In New York, six B-29's interrupted a short hop to give a brief show at the international air exposition over the International airport at Idlewild, Queens.

They rendezvoused with four jet fighters from the Andrews Air Force base at Washington, D. C. The jets' simulated attack on the Superforts was brief—the jets had to get back to Washington before they ran out of fuel.

But the B-29's leisurely turned around after the show —to finish a 13-hour, non-stop trip from their base at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth.

HST's Pleas Ignored By GOP Leaders

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 — Congress defied President Truman tonight by preparing to pass its own anti-inflation and housing bills tomorrow and then go home.

With GOP leaders in firm control, the legislature paid no attention to Mr. Truman's demand that it stop concocting "feeble compromises" and adopt his cost-of-living and housing programs.

The Senate passed a home-building bill minus the slum-clearance and low-rent housing subsidies the administration asked. Leaders expected House approval tomorrow.

To Vote Today

The Senate decided to vote at 2 p. m. CST tomorrow on the GOP anti-inflation bill, already passed by the House. It is designed to restore wartime curbs on installment buying, and to restrict bank credit.

Democrats, in a last-ditch and probably futile effort, will try to substitute the Truman program of rationing and wage-control powers.

If all goes according to GOP plan, the extra session the President called will be over late tomorrow afternoon, and the legislators wil be on their way home, probably to be followed by new denunciations from the White House.

Senate passage of the housing bill came after a fight which split Republican ranks.

T-E-W Bill Defeated

President Truman had asked for action on slum-clearance, public-owned low-rent homes, aid for rural homes.

These provisions are contained in the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) worked up a compromise bill that contained many of the provisions of the T-E-W bill, but ignored government subsidized projects.

Senator Taft, one of the authors of the T-E-W bill, advocated passage of the compromise, saying the other and more comprehensive measure could wait for the regular session in January.

The compromise bill would broaden government loan insurance aids on the building of houses costing $6,000 or less. It calls for a study to standardize building codes and measurements, and would

Situation In Jerusalem Becomes Grave

Arab Radio Rejects Israel's Peace Bid

(By International News Service)

TEL AVIV, Aug. 6—Arab radio broadcasts flatly rejected tonight Israel's bid for a peace conference on the Holy Land.

The situation in Jerusalem — where sniping and sporadic shelling have continued since the new truce began—appeared more grave and UN truce observers rushed to the scene.

In the first Arab reaction to the peace talks proposal made yesterday by Israel Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok, the Beirut radio declared:

Refugee Problem Urgent

"We don't recognize the existence of the Jewish state. We will not speak with terrorists. We decided in 1936 not to sit at a conference with Jews and there is no reason for a change today."

The Arab radio at Ramallah, 10 miles north of Jerusalem, also lashed out violently at the Jews in a broadcast turning down the peace bid.

King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, in commenting on the Jewish peace proposal, indicated that the refugee problem must be settled first before any possible negotiations could be undertaken.

Situation Tense

The problem of an estimated 300,000 refugees who fled from Jewish-held areas during the Palestine fighting continues to complicate peace negotiation efforts of Count Folke Bernadotte.

Shertok had agreed to consider the return of hardship Arab refugee cases but refused to consider the return of the full 300,000 until proposed peace talks are completed.

Two Held In Burglaries

TWO burglary charges were filed here Friday afternoon against Loyd Farmer, 18, of Paris, after Farmer and a 16-year-old Plainview youth had confessed to six area burglaries — including those here this week of Kuykendall Chevrolet company and Ameen and McCreary Supply company.

Non-negotiable bonds, including $168,500 worth from the Kuykendall establishment, were recovered, as was approximately $200 to $300 worth of clothing and other properties from the supply company. Additional bonds taken in a Plainview burglary also were recovered, Hale and Lubbock county and municipal officials said.

Bonds Are Set

Farmer was remanded to custody in lieu of bonds totaling $3,000 set by D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, in binding the defendant over to grand jury action Monday in the 72nd district court. A juvenile petition probably will be filed in Plainview against the minor.

Burglaries were committeed in Amarillo, Olton and Plainview (two), as well as in Lubbock, the two youths admitted in statements signed before 64th Judicial District Attorney Harold M. LaFont in Plainview.

He said signed statements admitted to:

Burglary a week or 10 days ago of Jarvis-Tull Machinery company in Plainview, when approximately $500 in bonds was taken;

Burglary a week ago of a grocery store at Olton, in which six cartons of cigarets were taken;

Cash Also Taken

Burglary Tuesday night of the Ford tractor house in Amarillo, where approximately $15 was taken;

Burglary Monday night of Ameen Supply company at 2113 Nineteenth in Lubbock, in which a large amount of clothing and other property was taken; and Burglary Wednesday night of Kuykendall Chevrolet company, at Nineteenth and Texas Ave. in Lubbock, when the registered bonds, two radio aerials and a 5-cent piece were taken.

In addition, the younger boy admitted that he bulgiarized the Jarvis-Tull company July 16, and took approximately $162 in cash, officials said.

Traveled In Style

The two youths said that they traveled in style from place to place. Once, they admitted, they took a 1947 light car from in front of the Hilton hotel in Plainview and drove it to a place they burglarized. The other times, they said, they drove to out of town places in a new Oldsmobile convertible. Each time, they admitted, they found keys in the cars. They said they replaced the cars where

Reds Hint Flights May Be Halted

BERLIN, Aug. 6 (AP)—The official Soviet news agency charged tonight that British and American airplanes violated flight regulations 62 times in five days and hinted that planes committing violations can be forced to land.

This was the first time since the start of the big Anglo-American aerial supply operation into Soviet-blockaded Berlin that the Russians have mentioned the possibility of forcing planes down.

Previously, the Russian-controlled press had talked of declaring closed one or two of the three air corridors to Berlin from western Germany.

Threat Is Made

The official Russian agency ANB said there are specific regulations for forcing down planes which fly over unauthorized areas.

The agency said the 62 violations occurred between July 31 and Aug. 4, and consisted of low-level flights over Soviet airports and towns.

Supply difficulties caused by the Russian blockade of Berlin prompted French authorities to announce today they were evacuating "as many French families as possible" from the city.

An official statement denied reports that French occupation troops or military government officials also were being withdrawn.

Mercury Hits 101 As Cool Front Vanishes

The mercury bounced higher than a hard hit tennis ball Friday afternoon as the South Plains' cool spell came to a sudden end. The temperature shot up to a 101 maximum about 4:30 p. m. Friday following a cool and partly cloudy morning. The early morning minimum was 67 degrees.

The 101 degrees was 12 degrees warmer than forecast Thursday night by the weatherman. The sudden rise in temperature was aided to a considerable degree by a rush of warm air from the south that whipped up a light "fog" of dust in the rural areas. The maximum Thursday was 85 degrees.

Saturday and Sunday probably will be partly cloudy with scattered showers in the afternoon and evening, the weather observer forecast, with little change in temperature.

Angry Man Nabs Hit-Run Driver

William O. Flynn, 37, of 2008 Twenty-seventh, "got his Irish up" Friday evening, and took the law into his own hands until the duly constituted authorities, in the form of three police patrolmen, arrived on the scene to take charge of affairs.

Flynn was sitting at home, reading the newspaper, when a passing automobile side-swiped his car parked in front of the house. The driver left for other parts in a hurry, reports indicated.

Man Gives Chase

Angered by the action of the hit-and-run, Flynn jumped into his car and gave chase, catching up with the culprit at Twenty-eighth and Avenue X.

When Patrolmen Hugh Hayes and Lynn Campbell arrived on the scene of the capture, the fugitive was being detained by "175 pounds of angry Irishman."

The other man, about 45, was in a drunken condition, police reports showed, and he was taken to the city jail under arrest. Charges of drunk driving will be filed against him this morning, police said.

Theft Is Reported

Kenneth Williams of Idalou route 1 reported to the sheriff's department that a starter and battery had been stolen from his irrigation well.

Police Friday were investigating two residential burglaries, in which an estimated $97 in money, a diamond ring and a $15 watch were reported missing.

Police Radio Patrolmen George Hall and Pete Hubbard said $66 in money and the ring, value of

Blind Fisherman Sits Helpless As His Bride Drowns

(By The Associated Press)

MAYO, Md., Aug. 6—There was a little splash and the towboat bobbed. Then the sound of bubbles.

Ben Naylor, 29-year-old negro crab fisherman, prodded the water with his oars.

"Audry! Audry!" he screamed it. Audry didn't answer. She hadn't said a word for five minutes, since Ben had asked her where they were.

"Just off the pier, Ben," she had said.

The boat finally drifted 30 yards to shore. Ben could feel grass pulling on the oars so he waded out and scrambled back to the one-room shack where he lived with his 26-year-old bride of two weeks.

Audry wasn't there.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," Ben said. "She was everywhere with me."

John M. Claffy, county medical examiner, issued a certificate of accidental drowning after the body was found.

"Pathetic," said Patrolman Robert N. Williams in filing his report. "Ben is totally blind."

Russia Asks Danube Conference To Brush Aside U.S. Proposals

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 6 (AP)—Russia asked the Danube conference today to brush aside American proposals and concentrate instead on a Soviet plan to place the river under the exclusive domination of eastern Europe's Communist states.

In making this move Soviet deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky also rejected a British proposal that the international court at the Hague be asked to determine the present validity of previous Danube agreements.

College Money To Go In Suspension Fund

AUSTIN, Aug. 6 (AP)—Collection of the five-cent state ad valorem tax voted for state college buildings and the holding of the tax revenue in a suspension fund until a legal dispute is settled was instructed by Attorney General Price Daniel today.

The instructions went to state Comptroller George H. Sheppard who asked the attorney general what procedure should be followed. The college building program is presently stalled by a court contest of the election at which the constitutional amendment authorizing the tax was adopted.

Should the amendment be declared invalid, Daniel said, the money could "readily be returned to the tax collector of each county for distribution to the taxpayers."

Kingsville Man Gets Tech Post

Texas Tech's new vice president will be Dr. Edward Newlon Jones, President of Texas College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville. The appointment was announced Friday from El Paso by President-elect D. M. Wiggins.

Dr. Jones, who will be a vice president in academic relations, will assume his new duties Sept. 1, at the same time Dr. Wiggins, former president of Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy, moves to Tech as successor to Dr. W. M. Whyburn.

Will Resign Today

The Kingsville man, who visited in Lubbock this week and was to resign from his position at the South Texas school Friday, will be the first vice president in the 23-year history of Tech, filling a post created by the college board of directors more than a year ago but which has gone unfilled until this week. He was one of the 12 men recently interviewed by the board in Fort Worth when Dr. Wiggins was selected as president.

"I am extremely happy and proud to have Dr. Jones associated with me at Tech," Dr. Wiggins said in a statement issued in conjunction with the announcement. "I have known him through the years and know him to be a fine educator, competent administrator and a credit to any college."

Native Of Kansas

Dr. Jones, 49, is a native of Downs, Kan., but has spent all of his professional life in Texas. He received his bachelor of science degree from Ottawa university in Kansas in 1921, his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Iowa in 1925 and an LL. D. degree from Ottawa in 1940. He held a fellowship in botany at the University of Iowa in 1924-25.

From 1925 to 1932, Dr. Jones was professor of botany and head of the department at Baylor university, Waco; from 1933 to 1942, he was professor of biology and head of the department at Baylor, also serving as dean of Arts and Sciences from 1935 to 1939 and dean of the university from 1939 to 1942. In the latter year, he went to Kingsville as president of Texas A. & I.

Plainview Man Death Victim From Accidental Gun Wounds

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 6 (AP)—Coroner J. W. Lewis today reconsidered an earlier verdict and ruled that W. E. Elstermier died of accidental bullet wounds.

Elstermier was found dead on the floor of the Plainview Hog Co. office yesterday. A .22 rifle lay near the body. He had been shot in the right temple.

Lewis' first verdict today was death by self-inflicted gunshot wounds.

Johnson Again Blasts Coke

(By The Associated Press)

CENTER, Aug. 6—U. S. Senatorial Candidate Lyndon Johnson formally opened his runoff campaign here tonight with a warning against trusting "a man who is afraid or ashamed to tell the world what he believes" on public questions.

In a speech delivered at a rally arranged by friends and supporters of unsuccesful candidate George Peddy in Peddy's home county, Johnson questioned:

"Now what does it mean when a candidate for public office doesn't want his public record brought out in the light of day? What are voters to think when a man refuses to answer plain simple questions? What does it mean when he replies 'mudslinging' to every public discussion? Does it mean he wants the voters to close their eyes to his public record, his public utterances and his evasions?"

Backed By Blalock

Johnson did not call opponent Coke Stevenson by name but he left no question that it was Stevenson at whom his criticism was directed.

The 10th district congressman received a wire from Myron G. Blalock of Marshall, former national Democratic committeeman, saying:

"Regret I cannot be with you tonight as you begin the run-off

Lubbock Resident Takes Lead In Attack On High Meat Prices

FRANK B. HUSTED got his dander up Friday.

The Husted family grocery bill had been climbing at an alarming rate recently, mostly because, Husted said, the price of meat was zooming like a runaway jet plane.

Husted, a Lubbock cement salesman, decided to do something about meat prices. His idea wasn't new, but he decided it would be effective. So he went to work.

The salesman sat down at his telephone and began to dial the first number in the left hand corner of each page, or if a firm number was listed there, to skip down to a residential number.

When the dialed number answered, Husted asked for the lady of the house. The cement salesman asked the housewife to join in a campaign against high meat prices by:

1. Refusing to buy meat to eat. The boycott of meat markets to start Monday morning and to continue until meat prices dropped to a reasonable level.

2. The housewife to call all other residential numbers on the page of the telephone book in which she was listed, and to enlist those housewives in the cam-

AWAIT MOMENT TO STRIKE

Communist Threat Over Nation Still Poses Major Problem

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Louis Budenz, telling of how U. S. Communists planned to start a civil war here during the period of Russian-German alliance in 1939, is not describing a situation that is past.

Right now there are Communist schools in the United States, practically branches of the great Moscow "university" where fifth columnists are trained. Men and women are being taught the techniques of sabotage, spying and civil war.

Seised Cities In Italy

During the war, since the war and probably right now, Russian agents, difficult for security authorities to "find" because they are American citizens, have swarmed around our atomic and other defense projects. The story now being told in Washington of their infiltration into the government also has its counterpart in industry.

We have had demonstrations, in Italy, Bogota, Columbia, and elsewhere, of how the Communists everywhere are organized for uprisings which can be set off whenever there is a focal point of turmoil. Italian leaders have just revealed within the past few days how the Communists actually seized cities and proclaimed revolt over the recent shooting of Palmiro Togliatti.

The shooting of a liberal leader in Bogota during the Pan-American conference was the excuse for the Communists to turn parts of that city into a shambles.

The Communist action committees marched from factories with arms into the streets of Prague. President Benes could not bring himself to throw the army into what he feared meant civil war, and Czechoslovakia capitulated to the Moscow fifth column.

Civil war is the chief weapon of Russian imperialism in China and Greece.

Budenz says that Eugene Dennis and William Z. Foster, now under indictment, spread the Moscow line here in 1939.

Dennis is quoted as telling a Chicago meeting "to be prepared, if the United States enters the war on the side of Great Britain, to turn the imperialist war into a civil war and to stand on the side of the Soviet Union." Foster is quoted as telling the editorial board of The New York Daily Worker, of which Budenz was formerly a member:

"Be on your toes for a situation where you might have to take a decided stand on behalf of Soviet Russia if the United States is involved in the war on the side of Great Britain."

You don't have to believe Budenz, even though his reports have not been successfully countered since he left the party to know that this is the line of international Communism. The Canadian espionage cases are an example of how, for every legitimate operation by her envoys abroad, Russia has a parallel, underground and illegal operation. Even Tito found that he could not put his own country first and retain the approval of the Communist international.

There is a point beyond which even the broadest interpretation of the American bill of rights will not stretch to cover such business, even though it masquerades under the guise of a reformist political party.

Lubbock Legion Meets Wichita Falls In Tournament Finals Tonight

Wichita Falls Team Pounds El Paso Legion For 2-1 Win

By JOE KELLEY
Avalanche Sports Editor

The Wichita Falls American Legion nine pounded its way into the West Texas Regional American Legion baseball finals with a narrow 2-1 victory over the El Paso Legion last night at Rosenthal Field.

Tonight at 7:30, the Wichita Falls nine will oppose the Lubbock Legion team, which is undefeated in the tournament so far. The visiting club has lost once, to Lubbock, dropping an eight-inning 3-2 defeat Thursday night. Winner of tonight's game will earn the right to attend the state tournament at Paris later this month.

Fast Clean Game

If Wichita Falls should win the first game tonight, the teams will rest a few minutes and then meet in another—and deciding game.

Last night's contest was one of the fastest and cleanest of the tournament, although four errors were chalked up. The Wichita nine lost little time in taking a lead that they held for three innings, shoving over a run in the second inning.

Wichita Takes Lead

Jim Riddle walked and stole second to lead off the frame, but was thrown out at third on a hit by Wendell McCulley that gave him life at first. He promptly stole second and was joined on base by Bobby Carter, who was hit. Dave Fleming, the winning hurler, beat out a hit to deep short to load the sacks and McCulley scored on Jack Scott's force of Fleming at second.

That lead was good until it was tied by El Paso in the fifth. Arnulfo Delgado walked to lead off the inning and was sacrificed to second by Merced Martinez. Paul Garcia popped to the pitcher, who threw wildly to second allowing Delgado to advance to third. He scored easily on Orlando Cervantes' clean single to centerfield.

Winning Run Scores

But Wichita walked off with the game in the sixth on two hits, the only time that either side put two safties together. Riddle led off with a Texas Leaguer behind second that no one could reach and promptly stole that base. McCulley leaped into a Manago pitch and drove it cleanly into right centerfield and Riddle scored easily with the winning run.

With two out in the seventh, El Paso threatened when Martinez singled down the third base line. But Maynes, a pinch hitter, fanned to end the game.

Clovis Noses Out Lamesa Team, 9-8

CLOVIS, Aug. 6 (Special)—Tootie Dobbs, Pioneer relief hurler, came on in relief in the ninth inning here tonight to pitch and bat his way to victory over the Lamesa Loboes, the Clovis club winning in the last inning, 9-8.

George Matthews weakened in the ninth to give up a walk to Walt Buckel, a single to Sam Malvica and a two-run double to I. B. Palmer to score what were the tying runs.

But Dobbs came on to put out the fire, striking out Jim Skidgel, Eddie Skrabacz and Al Lounsbury to escape damage. Then Dobbs, after Jess Jacinto had doubled to open the home half of the ninth, poked a single that drove in the winning run.

Neun Out; Walters Named Red Manager

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 6. (AP)—Johnny Neun, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, was released tonight and Bucky Walters, one-time pitching great, was named as leader for the remainder of the season.

Neun has been with the club for the past year and a half. The club recently has had a losing streak but defeated the league-leading Boston Braves three out of four games in a series that ended only last night.

It was at Walters own suggestion that his appointment be only for the remainder of the season.

Neun is the fourth National League manager to be dropped this year. On Friday, July 16, Ben Chapman was ousted at Philadelphia only a few hours after Mel Ott's release as boss of the New York Giants was announced.

Leo Durocher was shipped to the Giants by Brooklyn and Burt Shotton, was recalled from semi-retirement to direct the Dodgers.

The Reds have won 44 and lost 56 under Neun this season. Much was expected of them this year but the entire team showed the effects of an injury to Ewell Blackwell, generally rated the loop's best pitcher.

Syracuse's cross-country coach, Bob Grieve, was a former Western Conference sprint champion.

North High School Grid Stars Defeat South, 4-0

Larue Gains Fourth Triumph

Hubs Chalk Up 9-6 Win Over Gold Sox

AMARILLO, Aug. 6 (Special)—The Lubbock Hubbers handed Joe Budny his eighth defeat of the year with a terrific barrage of base hits, winning 9-6 over the Amarillo Gold Sox here tonight.

The Hubber hit parade was led by Virgil Richardson, Manager Jackie Sullivan and Gene Hixson, who collected 10 of the 14 Hubber hits and made them good for a total of 24 bases.

Real Murderer's Row

Sullivan, with four for four, and Richardson, with three for three, each had perfect nights at the plate, while Hixson had three for four. Sullivan had two singles, a double and home run; Richardson had two homers and a double; and Hixson had three doubles.

The Hubbers lost no time in getting a lead for Roy Larue tonight and holding it, presenting him with his fourth triumph against no defeats. Hixson doubled in the first, after Jackie Wilcox had gone out. Sullivan beat out an infield single and they came in ahead of Richardson's first circuit blow.

Score Runs Quickly

In the third Hixson led off with a double and scored on Sullivan's double. Richardson then brought the manager in with his second fourmaster.

Another run scored in the fifth when Sullivan singled, Richardson was walked intentionally and Floyd Walker slammed out a double, his only hit of the night.

Two more runs counted in the sixth when Hixson got his third double and Sullivan lifted the ball over the fence for his round tripper. There were two out at this point in the inning.

Larue Hits Trouble

It was the sixth that found Larue getting in trouble and getting another fine relief job from Royce Mills. Doug Lewis and Dom Elias both doubled, Larue gave up three walks and a single sent in a total of four runs. Mills took over to retire the side and coasted through the final three innings to save Larue's victory.

The Hubber-Gold Sox series will end here Saturday night, when Red Ramsey probably will hurl for the visitors against Jim Heller, who saw limited service tonight. The victory evened the current three-game set.

Giants Stave Off Rally To Edge Pirates, 7-6; Cubs Win

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—The New York Giants staved off a last-ditch rally to nose out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-6 today and end a three-game losing streak.

Ray Poat had the Pirates tamed on six hits and enjoyed a 7-3 lead going into the ninth inning when an error by Bill Rigney started the Pirates on a three-run rally.

Rigney booted Ralph Kiner's leadoff grounder. After Max West fouled out, Frankie Gustine and Danny Murtaugh singled to plate Kiner and drive Poat from the hill in favor of Sheldon Jones.

Jones got Clyde Kluttz to ground out with Gustine and Murtaugh advancing. Pinch-hitter Wally Westlake followed with a two-run single but Jones induced Stan Rojek to bounce out to end the game.

Sporting Club Signs Williams To Meet Flores In September

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—New York's boxing war flared again today.

The Twentieth Century Sporting club signed lightweight champion Ike Williams to defend his crown against Jesse Flores of Stockton, Calif., at the Yankee stadium, Sept. 22 as a counter attraction to the Tournament of Champions' Sept 23 title doubleheader at Ebbetts field.

Going through with its announced plans of lining up a Sept. 22 show, Mike Jacobs' organization, which virtually has run big time boxing for more than a decade. thus assured the new promoters of competition. It's quite possible that both shows may lose money.

WALKER FOUND DEAD

HACKENSACK, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP)—Cyril Walker, 75, one of the nation's leading golfers in the 1920's, was found dead today in a cell at police headquarters where he had been given a night's lodging. Walker, a native of England, won the U. S. Open golf championship in 1924, defeating Bobby Jones.

Perryton Player Scores Safeties

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche Sports Writer

ABILENE, Aug. 6—Third and fourth quarter safeties, engineered by hard-hitting Keith Flowers of Perryton, gave the North All-Stars a narrow 4-0 victory over the South in the 14th annual Texas coaching school grid classic here tonight.

The unheralded Flowers put the North eleven into the lead late in the third stanza, when he trapped Gilbert Bartosh, speedy backfield ace from Granger, behind the goal line. He added the final points in the final period when he downed burly Reed Quinn of Austin behind the goal as Quinn attempted to turn a fumble into an end sweep.

But it was the blazing speed and smashing power of Byron "Santone" Townsend that set up the winning plays for the North. Big Byron, All-State fullback from Odessa's Bronchos, sparked both of the North's drives toward the double stripe and personally chalked up 108 yards rushing. The piston-legged backfield ace was given spotty support by a sluggish backfield and a slow forward wall, but the big boy came through when the going was tough.

After the North failed to threaten during the first half, with Coach Bobby Dodds running so many substitutes into the game on every play that the quarterbacks never knew who was available, Townsend started the offensive machine up the field. Late in the quarter Quinn punted out on the North 25. Then, on the first play, Townsend streaked around left end for a 25-yard pick up.

Jerry Robertson, Highland Park passing artist, tossed an incomplete forward to Carl "Red" Mayes of Pampa, but Townsend blasted through center for eight yards. Robertson connected with End Bill Howton of Plainview for a first down on the 33-yard stripe. Then Townsend picked up three yards at left tackle.

Two incomplete tosses by Robertson forced Flowers to punt out on the South 11, ending the drive.

The South, in a moment of questionable strategy, sent Bartosh, one of the finest backs on the field tonight, around end on the first play. Bartosh's blocking failed to materialize and he was nailed back of the goal by the persistent Flowers and Howton. The two points on the safety put the North gridders into the lead for the first time of the tussle, a lead they never relinquished.

The North rolled right back up the field after Mayes took the South kick and made a brilliant return to the South 45-yard marker. Mayes hit center for a three-yard gain, then the irrepressible Townsend broke through right tackle and raced 22 yards downfield before he was blocked out of bounds by three South secondary men.

Bobby Hart of Levelland, who alternated with Robertson in the North quarterback slot on the T-formation, passed complete to End Don Surratt of El Paso on the South five-yard line. Mayes picked up three at right guard, then Hart carried to the one on a quarterback sneak.

The North signal caller decided to give Townsend the honor of carrying over for the touchdown—a sad mistake, since the entire South team guessed the decision and was waiting for Townsend when he hit the center of the line. The play was held for no gain and Robertson's last down pass, intended for Howton, fell wide to end the attack.

The South was still deep in a hole and a punt was called on the first play. But the center made a bad pass back to Quinn. The Austin star picked up the ball and headed for safe territory around right end, only to find Flowers waiting for him before he could cross the goal line. The second safety ran the tally to 4-0 and that was the ball game.

Little Glenn Lippman of El Campo turned in some of the best broken field running of the tilt, while Henry Stollenwerck of Waxahachie performed creditably. But the South couldn't make yardage when it counted.

Townsend was named as the outstanding back of the annual classic and Jerrell Price of Brownfield, a Texas Tech freshman, getting the outstanding lineman honor.

BARBER COLLEGE WINS

Lubbock Barber College defeated a hard fighting First Methodist squad in a Friday City League tilt. The winning pitcher, John Vandeventer, gave up only one hit.

SEVEN CHILDREN DIE

BERLIN, Aug. 6. (AP) — Seven German children, from two to 10 years old, perished at Cologne while playing with an old artillery shell they found, the British-licensed German press service said today.

Bob Mathias Captures Coveted Decathlon; Women Sweep Diving

LONDON, Aug. 6. (AP)—America furnished the 1948 Olympics its best all-around athlete—decathlon winner Bob Mathias of Tulare, Calif.—today and her gifted water starts splashed to three more championships in another glorious day for the Red, White and Blue.

The triumphs, coupled with a pair of sensational successes on the part of sturdy Europeans, headlined the seventh day of this international competition, staged in a cold drizzle.

Mathias, a 17-year-old high school lad who ripples with educated muscles, wound up a rigorous two-day, ten-sport grind with 7,139 points.

He started early in the morning with the 110-meter hurdles, followed with the discus and pole vault and finished the last two events—the javelin and 1500-meter run—in semi-darkness.

Dog-track lights had to be turned on for the decathlon hardies after their competition ran into the late evening. Yesterday's events were the 100-meter run, broadjump, shot put, high jump and 400-meter run.

Young Mathias' amazing proficiency in many athletic lines provided only one of the thrills for 55,000 fans who suffered through the dismal, drenching day at Wembley stadium.

The 30-year-old Dutch mother, Mrs. Fannie Blankers-Koen, made Olympic history by winning the 200-meter dash for her third championship of the games. Sweden's indefatiguable Henry Eriksson scored a smashing upset to prevail in the gruelling 1500-meter run.

Another housewife—pretty brunette Mrs. Victoria Manalo Draves of Pasadena, Calif.—also wrote a new chapter in the Olympic books when she won the women's high board diving competition and set off a fast string of American water triumphs.

This made an unprecedented women's diving sweep for the 23-year-old Californian of Filipino-English parentage, who earlier had taken top honors in the springboard. Patricia Ann Elsener, 18, of San Francisco was runnerup in the tower dive.

Allen Stack, Yale university's swim captain, captured the 100-meter backstroke. The U. S. team, anchored by blond Ann Curtis of San Francisco, won the 400-meter women's relay and stretched America's water victories to nine.

The men have won every event in which they've competed—six in a row—and the women have taken down three crowns.

Stack splashed the 100-meter backstroke in 1:06.4, beating out teammate Robert Cowell of Pittsburgh, a Navy ensign.

The 22-year-old Miss Curtis was the star in the 400-meter relay conquest as the Americans won the event in the Olympic record time of 4 minutes, 29.2 seconds.

There was no official timing of Miss Curtis' 100-meter closing drive but unofficial clockers set her time at 1:04.2 for the 100-meter leg, considerably below the women's world record.

Other members of the team are Marie Corridon of Norwalk, Conn., Thelma Kalama, a Hawaiian, and Brenda Helser of Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Lubbock Bids For Coaching School

ABILENE, Aug. 6. (AP)—A new method of selecting All-Star teams that appear in games at the Texas coaching school was worked out today by the board of directors of the Texas High School Coaches Association.

Winding up the eighteenth annual coaching school here, the directors devised these methods of picking the All-Star football and basketball squads:

Football—a four-man state committee to select the North squad and a four-man state committee to pick the south. All classes of football—city conference—class AA, class A and class B—will be represented on the committee. Each regional chairman will name a committee representing all the classes in his region and they will recommend players to him. He will in turn recommend to the state committee.

Basketball—there will be one man to pick the North squad and one to pick the South. Each will take six players from the state basketball tournament—two from class AA, two from class A, and two from class B. In addition there will be one selected from the city conference. Then there will be three players selected at large.

Paul Snow of North Side (Fort Worth) is chairman of the North committee in football and Grady Hester of Corpus Christi the South. Each will select three committee members. Milborn (Catfish) Smith of Mt. Vernon will select the North basketball squad and Weldon Phillips of Harlingen the South.

L. W. McConachie of El Paso was re-elected executive secretary of the coaches association.

Site of the next coaching school will be selected by the directors in December. Bidding for the meet are Mineral Wells, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Beaumont, San Antonio and Lubbock.

SENSELESS RULE

A Remedy Is Needed

MOST Texans are learning belatedly that Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, has undertaken to forbid by decree the use of margarine as a substitute for butter in the manufacture of ice cream.

Although the order was issued more than a month ago, it did not become a matter of general public knowledge until this week. Dr. Cox clearly did not exert himself to publicize it at the time of its issuance. It was not revealed until Attorney General Price Daniel rendered the opinion the other day that the State Board of Health lacks authority to rescind or interfere with the enforcement of the regulation ordered by Dr. Cox.

No justification appears for the order. Dr. Cox does not question the nutritive or sanitary qualities of margarines. They would not affect the taste of the ice cream. There would be no deception because using them would be required to state that fact on their label.

The order ignores the vast majority of people who don't give a whoop whether their ice cream contains margarine, or butter, as long as it is tasty, clean and nutritious. They might even prefer margarine if the result were cheaper ice cream and a more plentiful supply of butter. But Dr. Cox has ruled that this is not to be. If he has his way, every Texan will take butter in his ice cream, or go without.

Actually, the motive for the order is so obvious it is absurd to pretend any other. This is an attempt to perpetuate the high price of butter at the expense of a worthy competitor. Dr. Cox is dancing to the tune played by the butter lobby. This lobby, so powerful it throttled attempts in Congress to repeal discriminatory federal taxes on margarines, clearly has fastened its tentacles about the state health office.

The State Board of Health cannot be blamed for the condition. It tried to reverse Dr. Cox But attorney Daniel said the board lacked authority under existing state laws to do this.

If Mr. Daniel has interpreted the law correctly, then corrective action will be very much in order when the Legislature meets.

It is intolerable that any law could be retained, unchanged, through which any selfish lobby can levy tribute upon an entire state through the decrees of an official who acts wholly "on his own," ignoring the board which exists for the chief purpose of safeguarding public health in Texas.

A Fixed "Race"

THE Communists should be a cinch to win the "race" to provide a constitution for Eastern Germany before the Democracies enact one for their zones. The Reds won't waste time on the terms of a document they intend to ignore anyway. The goal of the Democracies is infinitely more difficult—to provide something which might work enduringly. This probably will deny them victory in the "race." But it might get magnificent results.

Bitter Reprieve

By DREXEL DRAKE, Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling has stolen his wife's diamond necklace and handed it over as security on a $10,000 gambling debt to racketeer Harry Bindle. To cover the theft, perpetrated while his wife slept, Sterling makes it appear a professional burglary. He then goes to Edgecraft Country Club to spend the night and establish an alibi. Along with the necklace, he has also taken a sealed packet from his wife's safe. This, Marcus discovers later, is $10,000 in cash which Miriam had withdrawn from the bank to give him.

Next morning, Police Lt. Talent arrives at the Sterling household. Sgt. Gable shows him over the disarranged library.

XII

TALENT noticed that a cluster of wall lights at one side of the arched doorway leading into the hall shone brightly.

"You put on those lights?" Talent asked Gable.

"No. They was on."

"Oh! Well, maybe the maid." Talent was cataloging the room. "Three of these chairs sat in since the cushions were straightened," he said. That seemed to be primarily for Ripley, whose pencil stub was busily engaged. Talent poked a long finger cautiously into the ashtray, heaped with cigaret butts, beside one of the chairs. "Whoever sat here must have been a chain smoker," he commented. "All Camels."

Talent crossed to the chair beside the low coffee-table, its cushions clearly showing the imprint of a recent occupant. Again the long finger probed the nearby ashtray. "Cigar smoker here," he said, "who stopped halfway through his cigar." Something among the small mounds of fine ash arrested his attention: a small, tightly pressed wad. Talent fished it out, smoothed out a crinkled red and gold cigar band, careful to avoid tearing it. He studied the flattened band briefly, then put it meticulously into a pocket of his vest. "Don't recognize the brand," he commented. He went to the third chair that interested him. "Whoever sat here didn't smoke," he said. "At least, the ashtray's clean. But there seems to have been a drink . . . ring on the side-table."

Mention of that item caused the lean detective to glance across at the bar. "Nice liquor supply," he said. "Used glasses. Well, Sergeant maybe your Stella Nelson will be able to give us a little help in here later. Where to now?"

Ben Gable's answer was delayed by a loud hubbub of noises from the front hall . . . a medley of voices. "Upstairs, Lieutenant," Gable said. "If the doc's out there, he's just in time. Sounds like the picture boys are here too."

TALENT, leading the way from the room, stooped and picked up a partly smoked cigaret that obviously had been crushed out under foot on the heavy rug just inside the doorway. "Let me have a sheet of that note paper, Gus," he said to Ripley. "This isn't a Camel. It's a Lucky, and it's got lipstick." He rolled the long butt in the piece of paper Ripley gave him and dropped it into a pocket.

Talent knew Dr. Hugh Walker. "We may as well head upstairs," he said to the medical examiner.

"I'll go along up with you," Gable volunteered. "Just gave it a quick once-over when I was up there before. Not pretty. Guess you'll want the camera boys to get busy down here, won't you?"

Hal Jordan, heading a contingent from the photo lab, looked up from a case he was unstrapping. "Yet, where do we start?" he asked.

"The library through there needs a thorough going-over," Talent said. "Then I imagine we'll need you upstairs."

A shaft of brilliant sunshine, split by branches of a tall evergreen, streamed through two windows at a low angle in Miriam Sterling's room.

The medical examiner moved around to the far side of the bed.

Talent looked on from where he stood in the doorway. His stomach wasn't too good for this sort of thing . . . not all at once.

"Plain, ain't it, Lieutenant?" Gable said in almost a whisper. "She heard the burglar working on that open wall safe, reached under her pillow for that little gun, he heard the move, flashed his light on her, picked up that heavy stand maybe from the little table there, and let her have it on the forehead."

COULD have been that way, Talent admitted to himself. He was watching Doc Walker, bent over the body, immune to the terrifying disfigurement of a once finely chiseled human face. A cruel jagged opening just above the bridge of the nose . . . a matting of brownish clotted blood spread over both eyes and across the nose and completely covering one cheek and down on the neck, spreading into dried rivulets toward a half-exposed breast . . .

The position of Miriam Sterling's body, twisted on its right side, bore mute evidence of her last moments of life. The coverlet had been folded back, down to her waistline, as if she had been preparing to get out of the bed, or had freed herself of the covering in the act of turning. Her right arm was crooked sharply at the elbow. Just beyond the rigid fingers of her right hand, as if it had slipped from their lifeless grasp, lay a small pearl-handled revolver. On the folds of the coverlet lay the heavy candlestick that had occupied a place on the teakwood stand beside the bed.

Lieutenant Talent was beside Walker when the medical man raised himself from his task.

"How long dead, doc?" Talent asked.

"Can't say too close. Six hours anyway. Maybe around seven."

Talent looked at his watch. Eight-forty. That would make it between 1:40 and 2:40, he calculated. That would fit in with the little electric clock downstairs . . . stopped at 1:31.

"Better allow leeway . . . could have been longer," Walker amended.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

AS far as I know, I hadn't done anything wrong, but I did notice that my wife wasn't her own sweet self (she is going to read this) at breakfast this morning.

It was nothing definite, but she seemed to be a little on the pouty side.

BRANDEIS

So finally I asked her what was wrong.

"Well, I spent more than three hours cleaning out the refrigerator," she replied. "And you haven't even noticed it."

You may now ask why she should expect me to know that she cleaned out the refrigerator, and haven't men other things to do besides noticing what their wives do in the kitchen?

The answer is yes and no.

If a man rushes off to work in the morning and doesn't come home until evening, he probably never goes near the kitchen unless his wife makes him help her with the dishes.

But among my acquaintances, there are many writers and artists who do their work at home and get much of their inspiration out of the icebox.

By the way, let me interject a little happening here.

Last Sunday one of my writer friends, who had just retired from a regular newspaper job, visited us with his little seven-year-old daughter.

"How does your wife like having you home all day?" I asked him.

"Oh, I guess all right," he replied. "She hasn't complained so far."

"She has too," cried little Jane. "I asked her the other day and she just hates it."

My friend blushed the color of a beet and I changed the subject.

NOW on with the story.

Like a lot of stay-at-home husbands, I manage to make pretty much of a nuisance of myself and usually select for my place to sit down the very spot where my wife is busy with the vacuum cleaner or the dustcloth.

But the favorite excursion is to our refrigerator.

Often I just open it and admire the scenery inside. I open and close those various containers that hold so many lovely things that I could eat if I had two stomachs or were not on a diet.

Our cleaning woman is away on vacation and even before she went, according to my wife, she avoided all work that was one inch out of her routine.

So, according to my wife, the refrigerator was full of icicles and barnacles and, inspecting it so often, I should have noticed the improvement, even in the taste of the food.

I tried to square myself and said "Of course, dear, I noticed the difference. This morning's toast tasted entirely different from the way the steak toasted before you cleaned the icebox."

My wife, having the usual feminine sense of humor, didn't get the joke—and now that I read it I don't get it either.

But everything is all right again.

WHILE PRICES SOAR

No Solution Offered

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Neither President Truman nor his Republican opponents on Capitol Hill have dared to attack the basic causes for the cancerous inflation now afflicting the United States for the simple reason that it might lose them votes in the November elections. This is the opinion of almost every recognized economist at Washington, and of numerous members of Congress who do not care to be quoted on this ticklish subject.

They concede off the record, of course, that the cost of living cannot be brought down, or another round of higher wage demands prevented, until the federal government withdraws the artificial supports which, under the old Roosevelt-Wallace theory, now maintain the cost of all food prices at an excessively high level.

TUCKER

Inasmuch as food accounts for from thirty to forty per cent of a family's weekly budget, and in view of the fact that the cost of rents, utilities, clothing and miscellaneous articles have shown a minimum increase, there can be no real reduction in the cost of living until a family's outlay for meat, bread, dairy products, vegetables and fruits is brought into a fairly reasonable relationship with wages.

It is the imbalance between the payments for eating and the income from working which, even more than terrific taxes, Marshall Plan money and rearmament outlays, accounts for the nation's domestic difficulties. Nevertheless, not a pertinent word on this problem has fallen from the lips of President Truman or the Taft-Millikin-Martin school of political economists.

BOOST: The latest figures from the Bureau of Labor Statstics reveal that farm and food prices have outstripped increases in the cost of every manufactured product from Maine to California. Moreover it is the steady boost in the level of agricultural income which has forced industry to raise wages and to pass that additional charge on to the customers, including farmers.

Farm products are now ninety-eight per cent above the 1926 average, according to B.L.S. indexes. Commodities other than agricultural crops, which include meat, have jumped only 50.4 per cent. The rise in the wholesale cost of manufactured goods alone has leaped upward by only 63.4 per cent.

The general increase in the cost of every item that enters into the family budget has been seventy-three per cent, or twenty-five per cent below the skyrocketing trend on the farm front.

DOWNWARD: Bumper wheat and corn crops here and abroad should hold out the hope that the level of meat prices will drop when animals fattened with cheap grains come to market some time next year. But even this providential dispensation of fine harvests will not lower living costs unless it is accompanied by an economic and political dispensation from the man in the White House and the men on Capitol Hill.

Beef cattle, hogs and lamb have been selling at abnormally high prices because the wheat and corn required to feed them have been bringing $3 and $2.50 respectively. Due to prospective harvests, the cost of wheat has dropped to approximately $2.25 a bushel and corn to less than two dollars. If allowed to fall in accord with the law of supply and demand, it should go even lower, and this decline should be reflected in the prices of meat.

The same consideration should hold true for several other major food crops, especially potatoes. Naturally, downward trends in these principal food products would eventually be reflected in almost every other dish that goes onto the consumers' table, especially in dairy products.

RESPONSIBILITY: But the federal government is committed to preventing the cost of wheat, corn, potatoes and numerous other basic food stuffs from reaching a normal and natural level. And the responsibility for this artificial situation rests upon both the Democrats and Republicans. They do not dare to oppose the powerful farm bloc in Congress, or to take a chance of losing the agricultural states in the November contest.

The government's average support price for wheat is $2 a bushel, and it is higher in some instances. For corn it approximates $1.50 a bushel. If the market price drops below those figures, a farmer may obtain those amounts on government loans, and his subsidized holdings are then stored. Should the price never return to those figures, Uncle Sam pockets the loss and charges the bill to the taxpayers.

But the important point is that, even with wheat selling at the government minimum figure of $2, and corn at $1.50 a bushel, it will not mean a serious drop in the cost of meat. Beef now selling for $1.05 a pound, for instance, would probably drop to about eighty cents a pound.

POTATOES: Many families are subsisting on potatoes these days, although their starchy content does not make for a balanced diet. However, they would be a cheap and filling food if it were not for the federal government's insistence on keeping up the price.

In 1947 Washington paid out forty million dollars for this purpose, and the 1948 bill will probably be seventy-five millions. And what does the government do with the spuds it buys?

It pours kerosene over them, and burns them. Or, after paying $2.75 for a hundred pounds, it sells them to farmers for feed at one cent a hundred pounds. Meanwhile, housewives living within a potato's throw of these farms pay fifty cents for a 10-pound bag. This happened on the Eastern shore of Maryland.

It is quite obvious that housewives will look in vain toward Capitol Hill for any relief from inflation.

Georgia's secretary of agriculture, Tom Linder, says the Millenium will begin in the year 2,007. We can hardly wait.

It's an odds-even bet as to which is most cluttered up: The family medicine cabinet, the glove compartment of a car, or a woman's handbag.

In the lively West a highwayman who held up a cub reporter was talked out of 50 cents.

Another thing we can't figure out is how Wallace manages to stay so high in the clouds without the aid of a pressurized suit.

Emily Post rules that it is OK to dunk a doughnut. To clear our record, we wish she'd make this ruling retroactive to 1910.

We poor downtrodden taxpaying voters rarely gain anything by throwing one bunch of officeholders out and installing a new set, but we have a lot of fun doing it.

"Not more than one person out of 100 knows what money is," says a financial expert. Or what to do with it.

It is strange that astronomers discovered on Mars quite a bit of moss but no Republicans.

No one is a more expert equilibrist than the average politician who stands on his record.

HOUSE GROUP BLOCKS ACTION

GOP Solons Clash On Housing

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — There is no better illustration of the quandary of the Republican party in the special session of Congress and the quandary it seems bound to face in the future if it wins the election than the division within its ranks over housing legislation.

For this is an index of basic differences in the party in its approach to social legislation of all sorts.

While this division is generally known by close observers it had been hoped to keep it out of sight of the public in this special session in a campaign year. Consequently, the Republican party leadership in Congress had agreed, for the sake of appearances, to patch up a measure that could be pointed to in the campaign as "a housing bill" but which would not include the public housing provisions of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner measure that are such a matter of controversy within the party. They wanted to keep this ghost locked up securely in the closet and, in order to prevent as little mention and notice as possible, the plan called for swift passage to make a record for campaign purposes.

STOKES

GOP Solons Rebel

Everything seemed fixed. Then, all of a sudden, two senators from the New England wing of the party, which looks at some of today's pressing problems a bit differently on occasion than the regular GOP stalwarts, kicked over the traces.

In a heated session of the Senate Banking committee, Senators Flanders (Vt.), a businessman with more modern ideas than some of his colleagues, and Tobey (N.H.), who is constantly a thorn in the flesh of the GOP regulars, joined with Democrats to substitute most of the T-E-W bill, including its slum clearance and public housing provisions, for the watered-down, campaign model version which already had passed the House. This House bill was chosen by party leaders as a vehicle because that would avoid a conflict with the House. Senate approval was all that would be necessary to get the business done and get this vexatious problem out of the way quickly.

The two New Englanders embarrassed Senator Taft of Ohio very much. The senator, as is well-known, is sponsor of the T-E-W bill which twice has passed the Senate. But he had dropped his own pet project for the special session because House leaders had made it very clear they would prevent action just as they did in the regular session when they buried the T-E-W bill in the House Rules committee where it still reposes. A public brawl just now between the two branches, both controlled by Republicans, would not look too nice.

The watered-down version which the Republican leadership had agreed upon for its campaign purposes was sponsored by Rep. Wolcott (R., Mich.), chairman of the House Banking committee and was rushed through the House at the tail-end of the regular session. Mr. Wolcott has been an adamant foe of public housing and has fought it vigorously with the backing of the like-minded House leadership and the powerful real estate lobby, though he voted for the housing bill in 1937 that established the principle of federal aid for housing.

House Blocks Action

There you have the Republican party quandary exposed by the two New England senators to the chargin of the party leadership. On the one hand there is the Senate wing of the party in which there is sufficient influence to put through such social measures as limited public housing, aid to education and health, and the very conservative House leadership which resists them bitterly and stopped all such measures of that sort in this 80th Republican Congress despite platform commitments both in 1944 and this year.

Governor Dewey, the presidential candidate and party leader, has kept out of this family feud publicly. That is undoubtedly the smartest course politically, even if it is not the bold sort of leadership that might be helpful at this time. But, if elected President, he must face this quandary if he intends to carry out the party's platform and what appear to be his own views on social legislation.

While the governor is not on record specifically on the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill, he nevertheless has carried forward a housing program in his own state which has won him acclaim and which indicates his views.

His running-mate, Governor Warren of California, is regarded as having similar views on this and other social welfare measures. The statement of their positions will be watched with interest in the campaign, as will the methods they adopt in handing the recalcitrant House leadership if they are elected.

SOME SKILLED CONSTRUCTION WORKERS
ARE GETTING THEIR PLANS FOR THE FUTURE INTO HIGH GEAR

HERE'S THE STORY

The high cost of living is putting a crimp into most everybody's hopes for the future. You can't save for that new house (or new anything) when it takes every penny to just get by. This is why many skilled construction workers are turning to overseas work to build a big enough stake to get out of the bind. Some figure to turn an 18-month hitch into a nice four-figure bank account.

NOT MANY OPENINGS

Middle-East, Inc. wants a limited number of responsible men for oil refinery and power house construction in Saudi Arabia, near the Persian Gulf. This company will pay top wages, monthly bonus, monthly vacation allowance and living expenses to those who can qualify.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS

You must know your trade from the ground up. You must also be 25 to 50 years of age, have proof of U. S. citizenship and be able to pass a physical exam.

Certain Trades Needed Most

PIPE WELDERS
PIPE FITTERS
CRANE OPERATORS
ELECTRICIANS
BOILERMAKERS
BRICKMASONS
CEMENT FINISHERS
PLUMBERS
IRON WORKERS
CARPENTERS

Welders must be certified by pipe test. All others must have plenty of industrial construction experience.

NO BED OF ROSES

This is not a travel for romance deal. It's an opportunity for far-sighted men. Good food and a fine clubhouse hardly make up for terrific heat and isolation. Think this over before inquiring

Lubbock Pianist And Baritone Present Concert At Tech

Approximately 600 people gathered on the Tech Administration building green last night to hear Gordon Gaines, baritone, and William Murphey, pianist, both of Lubbock who were presented in concert under the auspices of the Summer Recreation program at the college.

The audience, unusually large for a summer program of this nature, responded to the young artists from the beginning, and warmed to their talents even more as the program progressed. Murphey, who presented the first portion of the program displayed impressive technique and depth of feeling in his rendition of Beethoven's Sonata Op. 110 in A flat Major. In subsequent selections, Murphey's interpretation and technique manifested his innate skill as a pianist.

Listeners Amazed

Gaines, who graduated from Texas Tech, and who for the past several years has studied in New York City, amazed listeners who have heard him in previous concerts with his magnificent range and phrasing. It was the concensus among those present that his voice has developed to full maturity in the year since he last sang here.

Included on the baritone's program were selections by LaForge, Gershwin, Massenet, and Tsohaikowsky, as well as a number of English and American folk songs.

Gaine's pleasing stage presence was noticed most when he sang Gershwin's "It Ain't Necessarily So" and LaForge's "Song of Love." A number of people commented on his unusual ability to capture the flavor and character of the folk songs and project them to his listeners.

Tennessee Election

incumbent Jim McCord, seeking a third two-year term, carried only the tenth (Shelby county-Memphis) district and the first district in Republican east Tennessee.

His senatorial candidate, John A. Mitchell carried only his home district, tne fourth in middle Tennessee, and the tenth. The state has ten districts.

Victors in the senatorial and gubernatorial contests were Estes Kefauver, veteran of ten years in the lower house of Congress, and Gordon Browning.

Defeats Conceded

Kefauver was nominated to the Senate seat now held by Tom Stewart, who sought re-election. Browning was nominated for the governor's seat he won for one term in 1937.

Browning won his previous race with Crump support but broke with him and became his bitter political enemy. He pitched his campaign on a "down with one-man rule" slogan.

McCord conceded his defeat today as did Stewart. Crump made no statement. Stewart was another one-time ally of Crump but was dropped by the Memphis politico in this campaign.

Democratic nomination in Tennessee usually means election.

Acuff Nominated

But Roy Acuff, ballard singer nominated for governor in yesterday's Republican primary, and Carroll Reece, former GOP national chairman, nominated for the Senate, said they'd make it a contest in the November general election.

The unofficial count in 2,024 precincts of the state's approximately 2,300:

Kefauver 152,489, Mitchell 78,-596, Stewart 117,787.

In the governor's race the count from 1,974 precincts stood:

Browning 214,465, McCord 160,-142.

Newsmen Involved

The biggest surprise of yesterday's results was the vote piled up in Memphis by Kefauver. Heretofore a Crump opponent could count his vote there in the hundreds or low thousands.

Two news photographers and a reporter were involved in minor election incidents at Benton.

Associated Press correspondent James S. Callaway was arrested at the courthouse polling place on charges of disturbing the peace and violating the election law. He was freed on $500 bond.

Rudy Faircloth, AP photographer, reported an unidentified man slashed at him with a knife after warning him to get out of town. Faircloth was not hurt.

John Goforth, Chattanooga News-Free Press cameraman, said his camera was smashed when he attempted to take a picture of the counting of ballots at the courthouse here.

More Talks Planned

ted specific questions which they believed should be discussed at a new four-power conference on Berlin, Germany and perhaps Europe.

New Meeting Seen

(The dispatches said an announcement may be made this weekend of the time, place and scope of a new meeting of the foreign ministers council. State department spokesmen in Washington said no agreement on such a meeting has yet been reached.

(A meeting of Secretary of State George Marshall, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman might be preceded by a get-together of their deputies to lay the groundwork.

(The last two meetings of the foreign ministers council — in Moscow, March 10 to April 25, 1947, and in London, Nov. 25 to Dec. 15, 1947 — ended in a deadlock on peace treaties for Germany and Austria.)

Immediately after the three diplomats had reviewed what was said and agreed upon — if anything — at the Kremlin conference it was expected messages would start flying back to Washington.

Meat Boycott Urged

paign against high prices.

When some residents were informed of Mr. Husted's campaign, there was a query as to what Husted as a cement man was doing to help bring down the price of cement. (Cement prices recently have jumped considerably.)

Asked about this late last night, Husted said: "Well, the recent ruling (Supreme Court ruling) on cement costs and shipments has forced the recent increase." As far helping bring down the cost of cement himself, Husted explained that he only was the representative of his company and had no more to do with the price of cement than the butcher who sold meat did with the price of meat.

Late Friday night Husted had worked his way to Page 25 in the phone book and was still dialing. Since there are 85 pages in the phone book, Husted faced the task of contacting 63 more housewives and asking them to volunteer to carry on the drive.

Anxious To Cooperate

"The housewives I have called are all anxious to co-operate," Husted said, "they readily promised to call the other numbers on their phone book page, and also pledged not to buy meat after Monday."

Asked why he decided to start the one-man drive against high meat prices, Husted said, "I got good and mad about the present high prices of groceries, especially meat, and decided to do something about it. Someone has to make a start on these things and I was game to try. So I started in."

The salesman, who lives at 1510 Thirtieth, said he had found housewives incensed over their grocery bills and apparently waiting for someone to take the lead in launching a drive against prices.

Believes Plan Will Work

Husted was of the opinion that if "everyone" joined in the drive and refused to purchase meat, prices are bound to drop. He believed the telephone campaign that has been spreading over Texas probably will force meat prices down "probably within a week" if everyone really cooperates.

"I believe if we can get meat prices to skidding half the battle will be won, for people don't like to buy on a declining market. They think that perhaps tomorrow they can get the same commodity at even a lower price, and so they hold off on their buying or buy only enough to get by. That keeps piling up a surplus and keeps pressure on prices. It ought to work," he said.

Cliff Williams, spokesman for Piggly Wiggly stores here, said when informed of the plan last night:

"We haven't raised our prices at Piggly Wiggly stores in the past 90 days anyway. Other than that I have no comment."

Favors Lower Prices

Claude Keeton, owner of Keeton Packing company, which furnished meat wholesale to numerous independent stores in Lubbock and the surrounding territory said:

"Well, wholesale prices on the cheaper cattle have been about $5 under those of a month ago while those on the better grades average about $2 cheaper . . .

Mr. Keeton said that he thought meat prices would start coming down in the near future whether there was a meat buyers' strike or not because of the seasonal supply change.

"Personally, I would like to see lower prices," he added, "because we could sell two pounds of meat where we now sell one."

The owner of another large chain of food stores in Lubbock and over the area said that his firm had maintained prices at about the same level for the past several weeks.

the Hopi Hoop Dance.

Watkins then introduced the main speaker of the evening, Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal. Guy briefly reviewed the beginnings of the Boys' club. About ten years ago, he said, a group of local citizens got together for the purpose of building a boys' club. Their hearts were willing, he said, but their time was short and their muscles weak, and as a result, a half-completed shell of a club house, with more broken windows than boys on the membership roll, stood for several years.

Points To Growth

It looked like a "magnificent flop" from a civic standpoint, he continued, until the American Business club came into existence, and, in search of a worthy project, "adopted" the Boys' club.

Editor Guy called attention to the remarkable growth of the Boys' club under the sponsorship of the ABC, and predicted that in a few years, other boys' clubs will be in existence in other parts of the city. In closing, he recognized the invaluable assistance given the club by other civic organizations, and also by countless individuals.

A total of 1,594 boys have joined the club in the four years since its opening, with 64 joining on the day it opened, club staff members said Friday. There were a total of about 625 members in the club during the first year—1944-45; 792 in 1945-46; 894 in the year 1946-47; and 898 active members this year.

The program of activities carried on at the club is virtually the same as when it opened, except that the present program has been widely expanded. The club offers touch football, basketball, boxing, woodwork, library facilities, a game room, and Indian Lore classes. This last was offered for the first time in 1946.

A swimming pool was begun in March, and is about halfway completed. The pool will be enclosed, and will be in year-round use by the club's members.

John W. Wilson is manager of the Boys' club.

guarantee a return of 2¾ percent on equity investments in rental properties.

Time Payments To Be Curbed

The McCarthy bill also would increase by 25 per cent the secondary market for all veterans' guaranteed and FHA insured loans made after April 30, 1948, and make an additional $800,000,000 available for loans on rental housing.

The anti-inflation bill next on the Senate books calls for curbs on installment buying.

The House wanted to increase Federal Reserve banks reserve requirements by one and three percentage points respectively on time and demand deposits. The Senate committee today raised the figures to two and five percent.

President Truman had asked for 10 and four percent.

The Senate Banking committee went along with the House on its plan to bring back curbs on installment buying. However, it extended the effective date of the law to next June 30 instead of March 15, as suggested by the House.

Bill Claimed "Pitiful"

These curbs would require a substantial down payment, and a restricted number of months in which to pay the balance. The exact requirements have not been set, but the time payment curbs during the war years called for at least one-third down on such items as automobiles and refrigerators, with the balance paid in from 15 to 18 months.

Senator Tobey said the entire anti-inflation bill falls "pitifully short of being an effective program to control inflation."

However, Republican leaders expressed confidence the bill would do some good, and predicted its passage.

Speaker Martin said the way things looked now, Congress could adjourn by 4 p. m. CST Saturday.

The actual uranium metal went in 1945, he said, declaring it was sent to the Soviets "to appease them." He told reporters he "understands" the amount was some 25 pounds.

Secrecy Order Hit

McDowell heads a subcommittee which is centering its inquiry into Russian efforts to obtain atomic information from the United States.

In announcing the closing of the Senate hearings, Chairman Ferguson said the President's secrecy order concerning loyalty files had made it impossible for the committee to obtain the information it needs. He pledged, however, that the committee will keep on trying to get it "in any legal way" it finds open.

"Congress has appropriated $11,000,000 for a loyalty program," he said, "now it discovers that it is not entitled to ascertain in any way whatever how that loyalty program is operating."

Specifically, the committee had sought information about William W. Remington, a Commerce department official who has been suspended from his $9,975 a year position following testimony by Elizabeth T. Bentley that he furnished her information for a Communist spy ring. Remington denied the charge and said he never was a Communist.

Ferguson's committee was able to get only a stripped down version of Remington's employment file. All data concerning checks on his loyalty had been removed on orders from the White House.

campaign.

"Your frank and understanding discussion of our most pressing problems is worthy of the approval of our people.

"Welcome to East Texas and Best Wishes."

Johnson told Peddy neighbors that he had liked their native son and never said an unkind word about him in the first primary campaign.

Has Praise For Peddy

"I liked that man because he always took a forthright stand. He was always willing to stand up and be counted . . . Col. Peddy and I agreed on almost all of the issues in the race?" Johnson said.

Johnson had decided to tee off his second primary campaign here after a long list of Peddy's home county friends wired him the invitation and pledged to swing their support to Johnson.

Johnson criticized Stevenson's recent trip to Washington. "He would observe. He would find out all about the world," he said.

"He spent exactly 14 minutes with the undersecretary of state, Mr. Robert Lovett of Texas, and decided he was not an isolationist; and he's for the Marshall Plan . . .

Johnson was introduced by District Attorney Emmett Wilburn of Center, a former Peddy supporter. J. B. Peddy, farmer and brother of George Peddy, had dinner with Johnson, then sat on the speaker's platform. Another brother, Tom Peddy of Orange, drove in late. He shook hands with Johnson and told Johnson he was going to vote for him.

USDA Awards Are Presented To Conservation Officials

Walter L. Knapp and R. E. L. Pattillo of Lubbock, Soil Conservation work unit conservationists in the Lubbock Work group, received 20-year length-of-service awards from the U. S. Department of Agriculture this week. They received service pins and certificates.

Ten or more years of service with USDA is deemed to be meritorious service worthy of recognition by award of appropriate emblems. Bronze service pins received by the two area men are miniature shields with enameled panels of white—the white panel denoting 20 years of service. Their certificates were signed by former Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson.

Recognition was also given this week by USDA to four other Lubbock Work Group employes of Soil Conservation Service, who were presented length-of-service pins and certificates for 10 years of service. Also in the form of miniature bronze shields, pins received by these four men have green enameled panels, denoting 10 years of service with USDA.

Honored with the 10-year service awards were Marshall W. Howard of Lubbock, district conservationist; John J. Underwood of Lubbock, survey supervisor; John P. Davis of Crosbyton, agricultural engineer; Archie E. Ware of Tahoka, agricultural engineer.

Pastor Discusses Democracy At ABC Club Meeting Friday

Members of the American Business club meeting for luncheon Friday at the Hilton hotel were addresed by Rev. Travis White, First Christian church pastor, who told the group, "Democracy has always survived at a high cost; it cannot be gained cheaply nor sustained cheaply."

Speaking on the crack in the Liberty Bell, Rev. White declared "that crack in the Liberty Bell is a symbol. . . . Cracks are developing in our democracy which have the same potential of destroying us.

"We need a moral anchor in our democracy," he said, citing the various factors which tended to destroy the great Roman empire and which threaten our democracy today.

He said "exploitation of what we have, frequency of divorce, excessive taxation, cheapening of citizenship through the killing off of the best youth in multitudinous wars" as the factors which destroyed the great Roman empire.

Rev. White declared "America needs a reconsecreation of individual men" for mutual trust and confidence if our democracy is to survive.

"No military defense can protect us from ideas which bore from within," he declared.

Rev. White was introduced by Preston Johnson, program chairman. Paul Barclow of Dallas and Kilmer Corbin of Lamesa were out-of-town guests at the luncheon.
