Who has the authority to set an alternate day for "trick or treat" operatives when Halloween falls on Sunday?

That is an important question today.

There have been a number of inquiries, because next Sunday will be Oct. 31. Logic says that it should be changed to Saturday, Oct. 30, this year. When one of the major holidays falls on Sunday, such as Christmas or July 4, an alternate date for business firms to close is established.

But nobody seems to know exactly who has the authority to change Halloween for the youngsters, unless it is Congress. If that is the case, then someone in Washington has flubbed, because so far as we could learn, nobody has even introduced a bill on this subject.

Now Veterans Day is another story. It used to be observed on Nov. 11, a day that had been celebrated as Armistice Day prior to World War II because that was the date in 1918 that the armistice was signed to end World War I. Congress changed Veterans Day easily. It also changed Columbus Day and a bunch more holidays. But it has either overlooked or shirked its duty in the case of Halloween.

Oct. 31, one week from today, could be circled on the calendar for yet another reason. That is the day this year that we get back that hour we lost last spring when Daylight Saving Time began. Standard Time will be resumed for its six-months term at 2 a.m. next Sunday.

Some interesting figures on two subjects have come in from as many sources.

The League of Women Voters is circulating a leaflet carrying results of a survey it made concerning the welfare program. Among other things, it says the average family on welfare has two or three children and in spite of increasing welfare rolls, the illegitimacy rate among welfare families has not risen in 10 years. Moreover, it says that six out of every 10 people now on welfare are getting benefits for the first time, and that the typical family stays on welfare less than two years.

The Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department reports on an Opinion Research poll, which indicated that only one person in four knows that the highway system is financed by gasoline and other highway use taxes. Also, only half of the people polled would even hazard a guess on how much they pay toward highway construction and maintenance. The average motorist pays $138 per year, the department says.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, Oct. 24, the 297th day of 1971. There are 68 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the United Nations charter went into force as the Soviet Union became the 29th nation to ratify it.

On this date:

In 1603, James I was proclaimed king of England, Scotland, France and Ireland.

In 1948, in the Peace of Westphalia, European nations recognized the independence of the Netherlands.

In 1861, the first telegrams were sent across the United States.

In 1929, prices collapsed on the New York Stock Exchange.

In 1952, presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower said he would go to Korea to try to end the war there if elected.

In 1963, Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson was roughed up by right-wing demonstrators after making a U. N. Day speech in Dallas, Tex.

Ten years ago: There were protests at the United Nations after the Soviet Union exploded the largest nuclear bomb ever tested.

Five years ago: The British government ordered a major inquiry into the security of the nation's prisons after the escape of George Blake, a convicted spy.

One year ago: President Nixon discussed world issues at a White House meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Labor Members Miss First Board Meeting

By JERRY BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two boards responsible for setting wage and price guidelines for Phase 2 of the Nixon administration anti-inflation fight have held their first meetings, minus the services of three members representing organized labor.

A three-judge panel, meanwhile, ruled Friday that the 90-day wage-price-rent freeze imposed as part of Phase 1 is legal.

And government reports on two major economic indicators, the Gross National Product and the Consumer Price Index, brought bad news as well as good for the administration.

The ruling upholding the freeze came several hours after the White House announced the membership of the Pay Board and Price Commission that will set Phase 2 guidelines.

The judges said the freeze was "in conformance" with the legislation under which President Nixon imposed it on Aug. 15.

The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and the Butcher Workmen of North America, AFL-CIO, had sought an injunction against the freeze.

Labor leaders, including AFL-CIO President George Meany had expressed unhappiness with the freeze, but Meany agreed to serve on the Pay Board after extended consultations with the White House.

However, Meany and two other AFL-CIO officials were absent when the Pay Board held its first meeting Friday.

A spokesman said the time of the meeting had been changed too often and the AFL-CIO officials "just couldn't change their schedules again."

The others who stayed away were Presidents Floyd Smith of the International Association of Machinists and I.W. Abel of the United Steelworkers.

President Leonard Woodcock of the United Auto Workers and President Frank E. Fitzsimmons of the Teamsters were present. The UAW and the Teamsters are the nation's two largest independent unions.

The Pay Board will be headed by U.S. District Judge George H. Boldt of Seattle, one of five public members on the board. The remaining five members are representatives of business.

President Nixon named Dean C. Jackson Grayson Jr. of Southern Methodist University's busiess school to head the seven-member Price Commission.

In a meeting with the panels, Nixon did not say whether he wants specific percentage guidelines for wage and price increases after the freeze expires Nov. 13, aides said. They said Nixon stressed instead that "the post-freeze system requires individuals and decisions that are fair and just and will invoke public support."

College Night Set At SHS

A "College Night" program has been scheduled at Snyder High School Monday.

Under the sponsorship of the SHS guidance department, the program will get underway at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

Senior and junior students and their parents are invited to attend. Students and parents from area schools have been invited, also.

Thirty colleges will be represented. They include Abilene Christian College, Angelo State University, Austin College, Baylor University, Dallas Baptist College, East Texas State University, Hardin-Simmons University, Hendrick School of Nursing, Howard County Junior College, Howard Payne College, Lubbock Christian College, McMurry College, North Texas State University, South Plains College, Southern Methodist University, Southwest Texas State University, Stephen F. Austin State University, Sul Ross State University, Tarleton State University, Texas A & M University, Texas Christian University, Texas State Technical Institute, Texas Tech University, Texas Woman's University, Trinity University, University of Texas at Arlington, University of Texas at Austin, Western Texas College, West Texas State University and the United States Air Force Academy.

The program will begin with a general assembly in the auditorium at 7:30, followed by two 30-minute discussion periods. Each student and parent will have an opportunity to attend two sessions to obtain information about two colleges in which they are interested.

Talks Reopened On Coal Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negotiations have reopened in the crippling 23-day coal strike and the man who was instrumental in getting bargainers back together says a break in the dispute is possible by the end of next week.

"We have 90 per cent of a coal contract in our pocket essentially," West Virginia Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. said Friday after top labor and management negotiators met with him in Charleston. Talks had broken off Wednesday.

Some 100,000 miners have been on strike since Oct. 1. Elsewhere, West Coast ports were threatened with another tieup as specialized longshoremen at Los Angeles and Long Beach balked Friday at resuming full-time work. Dockworkers at most East and Gulf Coast ports also remained on strike at 22nd day.

Moore, whose state is the nation's largest coal producer and has 39,000 striking miners, invited United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle and top Bituminous Coal Operators Association negotiators to the meeting at his office.

The negotiators eluded newsmen at the end of the three-hour conference, but Moore said "hard bargaining" on matters still in disagreement will resume in Washington Monday afternoon.

"We could have a coal contract by the end of next week," Moore said. He did not elaborate.

The strike, the longest against the industry since 1949, has been marked by layoffs by railroads serving the coalfields and mine equipment suppliers, a financial drain on the industry and affected states, and sporadic picketing against non-union mines that has included some violence and arson.

The UMW is demanding a $13 wage increase to $50 a day, larger management contributions to pension and welfare funds and other benefits.

The West Coast threat developed when equipment operators refused to work except on ration basis in the Los Angeles and Long Beach ports.

The Pacific Maritime Association, which operates the ports, was described by a shipping company lawyer as prepared to stage ahlockout unless "the situation improves."

Other West Coast longshoremen remained on the job. A three-month strike at Pacific Coast ports was broken earlier this month when President Nixon imposed Taft-Hartley legislation.

Nixon Addresses Nation Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is scheduled to address the nation over radio at 7:30 p.m. EDT Sunday in commoration of Veterans Day.

The White House said Friday the address will be broadcast live from Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland, where Nixon plans to spend the weekend.

Planned Enemy Attacks Crushed

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops and U.S. air power have crushed a planned three-month offensive along the Cambodian border and dealt North Vietnamese units a six-month setback, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh claimed today.

Minh, commander of South Vietnamese forces in the region around Saigon, said in an interview that the North Vietnamese 7th Division, which threw 4,000 to 5,000 men into the four-week campaign, lost 2,200 killed and had been forced to retreat.

"I don't believe they'll come back," Minh said. "If they want to do something, it will take them six more months."

Minh said enemy orders captured on the battlefield indicated that the North Vietnamese high command called for a three-month offensive on the frontier 60 to 90 miles northwest of Saigon. It began Sept. 26, but tapered off less than three weeks later.

Two of the three regiments in the North Vietnamese 7th Division cut short their operation along Route 22 in South Viet-Nam and retreated deep into Cambodia, while South Vietnamese forces are pursuing the third toward the border, Minh said.

He also said that 2,000 troops of the North Vietnamese 5th Division, committed to a push around Krek inside Cambodia, withdrew about 15 miles eastward several days ago.

Minh added that "in the last 24 hours there have been no mortar fire or rockets on Route 22," the key supply route for South Vietnamese troops operating in Cambodia.

The route, cut during the early part of the enemy offensive, has been secured, Minh said. But he said it would take about a week to repair the roadway so that convoys could travel the last five miles up to the border.

The 24-hour period ending at daybreak today was the first time in the last 29 days that no enemy shells hit Fire Base Pace, just south of the border. Two hundred American infantrymen and artillerymen, the only U.S. ground troops in the border fighting, were pulled out of Pace on Friday.

Meanwhile, a South Vietnamese military spokesman said Saigon troops had made two contacts in a 3,000-man pursuit of the enemy's 33rd Regiment about 40 miles east of the capital.

Five green troops of the mixed Viet Cong-North Vietnamese unit, ages 15 to 17, were reported killed in the first contact Friday. South Vietnamese losses were put at three killed.

Events For Veterans Monday

Veterans of Foreign Wars of Scurry County Memorial Post No. 8231 will welcome all members and families, along with American Legion members and families at Veterans Day events Monday.

There will be a flag ceremony at the post home at 9 a.m. Monday. The public is invited to attend this event.

The post will open at 1 p.m. and the evening meal will be served from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. There will be entertainment at the post.

Earlier, the American Legion Post had announced that breakfast would be served at the Legion hall to all veterans on Monday morning. The serving hours will be from 6 a.m. until time for the flag ceremony at the VFW post.

Veterans Day is now observed on the fourth Monday of October under terms of the Monday Holiday Bill passed by Congress.

Formerly, Veterans Day was celebrated on Nov. 11, which had been the date of the Armistice ending World War I. Its designation was changed from Armistice Day to Veterans Day following World War II.

Edinburg Receives Award

HOUSTON (AP) — Edinburg is one of five cities in the United States to receive the 1971 Sports Foundation Gold Medal Award.

The awards were presented Friday night at the close of the 1971 Congress for Recreation and Parks. The Congress attracted more than 5,000 delegates.

The Sports Foundation Inc., awards are made in recognition of park department programs showing improvement, service, continuing development and participant acceptance as determined by local needs.

The entries are judged in five categories, relating to population figures with Edinburg receiving its award in the Class V division.

The Lower Rio Grande Valley city was cited for its unique and exemplary method of community involvment.

"With one-fourth of the population migrant farm workers, it was necessary to conduct people-to-people campaigns to convince them of the need for park construction," the foundation said in presenting the award to Edinburg.

"Edinburg combined effectively maximum use of federal funding and citizen cooperation and labor to clear land, construct stands and help build its new youth center. Among the noteworthy ideas were a bilingual day care center and a teenage advisory council."

The Sports Foundation Inc., which makes the awards each year, is a non-profit membership organization founded in 1965 by leaders in the sporting goods industry to encourage interest and participation in sports and development of recreational programs.

State Traffic Accidents Rise

AUSTIN (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 2,749 persons in Texas this year, or 4 per cent more than the 2,651 fatalities by this time in 1970, the Department of Public Safety said Saturday.

Rosson Studies A New District

(See other stories on page 3, this section).

Scurry County's new legislative district, No. 63, may not be exactly ideal, but it could have been far less attractive.

That was the gist of a cautious appraisal by Rep. Renal B. Rosson of Snyder after the redistricting board announced its decision on new boundaries for the house of representatives districts in the state.

The new district cuts down on the number of counties—from nine to six—but it turns it around, putting Scurry County at the northeast corner of the new district. It was on the south boundary of the old district. In fact, Scurry and Borden Counties are the only two from Rosson's old district that are included in the new District 63.

The line-up now is Borden, Coke, Dawson, Howard, Scurry, and Sterling Counties. Rosson is losing Garza, Crosby, Kent, King, Fisher, Stonewall and Haskell Counties.

However, it appears that no other present member of the House of Representatives will be involved in the 1972 election. Rep. Dee John Davis of Big Spring indicated some time ago that he did not intend to run.

Rosson said Saturday that he was not ready to announce—yet. However, he indicated that he planned to "visit around" in some of the new counties in the near future and that he would make up his mind on a 1972 race before long. And he hinted that unless something occurs to discourage him within the next few weeks, he will be a candidate to represent the new District 63.

Rosson had no harsh criticism for the redistricting board. He could have mapped out a district himself that would have suited him better, he said, but he reminded that "they had to do some changing around."

Agnew Returns To Washington

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew flew to Washington Saturday ending a week-long sentimental pilgrimage to the land of his ancestors with assurances from the Greek government that it will maintain its responsibilities to the Western alliance.

Premier George Papadopoulos told the vice president at the Athens airport that his visit was a "landmark in the relations between the United States and Greece."

He said that Greeks believe strongly in the principles of the alliance and "any struggle will be waged willingly in defense of it by the Greek people."

Papadopoulos praised the United States by saying it was created on principles which we are trying to implement for the creation of a democracy."

He added: "Let the people of the United States shut their ears to the foreign anarchists because we are making a workable democracy with the help of our alliance."

Agnew, in reply, said that he found in Greece "a spirit of patriotism and unity," and in the Athens government a commitment to its alliance with the United States.

Good Adverse Neutral

This prayer rings a bell

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Enclosed is a "prayer" I found taped inside the kitchen cupboard door in a house we recently moved into. I thought maybe you would like to share it with your readers. Sincerely yours,

THE SEVENS, GREENVILLE, ME.

DEAR SEVENS: Thank you, but I've already "shared" it with my readers. [I wrote it.] However, I think it's worth repeating: And here it is:

A PARENT'S PRAYER

Oh, heavenly Father, make me a better parent. Teach me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say, and to answer all their questions kindly. Keep me from interrupting them or contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Forbid that I should ever laugh at their mistakes, or resort to shame or ridicule when they displease me. May I never punish them for my own selfish satisfaction or to show my power.

Let me not tempt my child to lie or steal. And guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness.

Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. And when I am out of sorts, help me, Oh Lord, to hold my tongue.

May I ever be mindful that my children are children and I should not expect of them the judgment of adults.

Let me not rob them of the opportunity to wait on themselves and to make decisions.

Bless me with the bigness to grant them all their reasonable requests, and the courage to deny them privileges I know will do them harm.

Make me fair and just and kind. And fit me, Oh Lord, to be loved and respected and imitated by my children.

Amen

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a young boy sleeping with his grandmother?

We don't want to hurt Grandma's feelings, but my husband said he heard it's "unhealthy" for a child to sleep with a real old person.

Personally, I think that's a lot of bunk. What is your opinion?

GRANDMA TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: At what age do you consider a boy "young"? And how old is "real" old.

DEAR ABBY: My husband grew up fatherless during the depression. Now, at age 50, his net worth is around the half-million dollar mark. He is a professor with tenure, and has an excellent retirement and insurance program. Yet he buys second-hand clothes, day-old bread and refuses to spend any money on a decent car, vacations or travel.

The reason? He wants to be sure he has enough money for his old age. What could be the matter with him?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Lots of things. It's not uncommon for a man who has known hunger in his youth to be overly conservative, but your husband has gone off the deep end. Since he probably won't spend the money for one, give him a gift certificate which will entitle him to a free physical checkup.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Carter Speaks To Governors

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Jimmy Carter says school board members who are more loyal to private schools have "almost destroyed the public education system in several counties."

Such officials, he said Thursday, should be removed from school boards.

"We cannot have people serving on public education boards who have the objective of driving white children from public school systems," Carter told about 1,000 persons attending the Governor's Conference on Goals for Education and Intellectual Enrichment.

4 Injured In Area Mishaps

One person sustained injuries in a car wreck early Saturday morning on the Roby Highway, and three persons were injured in a truck collision on the Texaco lease north of town about 12:15 p.m. Friday.

Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service about 1:45 a.m. Saturday was Ricardo Garcia, 23, of Rotan. Investigating officers said he apparently lost control of his 1976 Model Mercury while traveling west on U.S. 180 towards Snyder. The car ran off the road and plunged into a canyon. It was demolished. Hospital authorities said Garcia is being held for observation and X-rays. His condition is good.

Injured in a truck collision at the Texaco lease were Donald Deck, Midland; Morris Orr, 39, Route 1, Sweetwater; and Frank Beights, 30, 205 Thirty-fifth Street. The three were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service.

Deck was transferred to a hospital in Midland for treatment of a fractured leg. Orr was treated for minor injuries. Beights was dismissed.

Highway Patrolmen who answered the call to the scene did not get any details on the mishap since it occurred on private property. However, they did say that Deck was operating a Texaco truck that was involved in a collision with a truck that was occupied by the other two men.

Half-Ton Of Drugs Confiscated

ROME (AP) — Police have confiscated more than half a ton of drugs and arrested more than 1,000 persons on drug charges during the first eight months of the year, the Italian Interior Ministry announced.

The confiscated drugs included 822 pounds of hashish and marijuana, 231 pounds of morphine, 167 pounds of opium, 30 pounds of cocaine, 5,000 doses of LSD and 57 of heroin.

A&M To Use NASA Device

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M University scientists—planning to study the phenomenon known as clear air turbulence—will employ a device used by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The device was used by NASA to study the atmosphere in which launch rockets fly.

Clear-air turbulence can be one of the most terrifying and surprising experiences pilots and their passengers can face in which invisible, treacherous areas of highly turbulent air are entered at clear, high altitudes.

The device that may make this phenomenon better understood, and thereby predictable, is called a rawinsonde—a coined word.

"Our rawinsonde will be used to measure wind and such thermodynamics variables and pressure, moisture and temperature," Dr. James R. Scoggins, professor of meteorology and assistant dean of the College of Geosciences for Operations, said recently.

These measurements, day after day, are fed automatically into a computer connected to the $150,000 device.

Scoggins, who worked for NASA for several years, said the device will be placed at the 12th floor level of A&M's new Meteorology - Oceanography Building. The building is expected to be completed by next spring.

The A&M Rawinsonde, which was used at Cape Kennedy, looks like a radar dish. In operation, it will track the flight of a weather balloon. The balloon will carry an instrument package that will beam measurements to the device.

As the balloon rises, wind velocity, temperature, air pressure and relative humidity will be measured as a function of altitude, Scoggins said.

The weather scientists hope they can learn more about changes in the various measurements at given times and altitudes.

"What we are particularly interested in is principles that can be applied anywhere in the world when the mechanics of these changes are well enough understood," Scoggins said.

He said the studies could be applied to aircraft flight.

BILL SIKES

Bill Sikes Promoted By SS&L

Gene Best, president of the Snyder Savings and Loan Association, has announced that William D. (Bill) Sikes has been elected executive vice president of the association by the board of directors in their regular monthly meeting.

Sikes will assume a broader scope of functions as well as increased operational responsibilities, Best said.

Sikes, 38, has been a vice president of the association since February, 1963. He is married to the former Miss Rona Bley and they have two sons, 14 and 11, and reside in the Ennis Creek Community. Sikes spent two years in the U.S. Navy and was previously associated with banking interests in Brownwood, was associated with oil field interests for some four years, coming to Snyder Savings and Loan after being employed by Texas Electric Service Co. for four years.

He is currently president of the Snyder Lions Club, is finance chairman of the First United Methodist Church, is president of the American Little League Baseball organization here, and is involved in various other community activities.

Sisters Killed By British Troops

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Two sisters, aged 19 and 30, were shot and killed by British troops in Belfast early today. The army said the women were dressed in men's clothing and had fired at the soldiers from a speeding car.

An army spokesman said the troops returned the fire and the car crashed into a wall. He added that a third woman in the car was injured by flying glass and that a fourth woman was taken to a hospital with bullet wounds in her leg, but it was not clear whether she had been in the car.

However, Gerard Meehan, father-in-law of the elder sister, said: "The army's description of what happened is absolutely ridiculous."

He denied the women were dressed as men, saying his daughter-in-law, Mary Ellen, was wearing white slacks and a blouse. He said her 19-year-old sister, Dorothy Maguire, also was wearing slacks.

He said they had heard there was some trouble in the area and drove down to investigate.

"As they turned a corner an armored car cut across their path and a shout rang out, 'Stop that car.' A volley of shots rang out and both of them had the backs of their heads blown off," Meehan said.

Gerry Fitt, a republican Labor member of both the British and Ulster parliaments, also disputed the army version saying:

"Eyewitnesses of the incident claimed that no shots were fired from the car at troops. What I am told is the army told the car to stop. When it didn't do so immediately, they just opened up on it. The people inside the car didn't have a chance."

The army gave this account of the incident:

A nail bomb and two shots were aimed at soldiers from a car in Cape Street at 4:25 a.m.

"Accurate fire was returned and a 'man' in the back was believed hit," the spokesman said. "The car continued for a short while then crashed into a wall."

Civilians surrounded the vehicle and refused to allow the soldiers near it. After five minutes, the car was handed over to the patrol.

"Inside were three people," said the spokesman. "Two were dead, in the back. All were women. The two in the back wore jeans, boots and men's jackets."

The two in the back had been shot dead, the army said.

The shooting brought Northern Ireland's official death toll in two years of bloodshed to 129.

The army said it was believed the first time that British troops had shot a woman dead in the fighting.

Joe Cahill, commander of the Belfast wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, said in a newspaper interview two weeks ago that women were carrying bombs for the IRA and were demanding to be employed as snipers. Twenty-nine British soldiers have been killed by snipers in the fighting in Northern Ireland so far.

Pictures of Belfast IRA women training with pistols and sub machine guns have appeared in newspapers.

Recess Called In Henderson Trial

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — A two-week recess has been called in the court-martial of Col. Oran K. Henderson, accused of concealing the My Lai massacre.

The prosecution rested Wednesday after the seven-officer jury finished reading the transcripts of testimony Henderson gave at pretrial hearings and in an Army investigation.

Court will reopen Nov. 4 for two days of arguments on motions for dismissal the defense is expected to file.

Front Touches Off Showers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another batch of cool air was expected to finish its push across Texas toward the southeast today without exerting much effect.

A few scattered showers fell along the front this morning as the latest front eased through Central and East Texas and skies cleared in its wake.

Mostly fair weather and no big changes in temperature were promised all sections of the state Sunday.

The cool front generated turbulence in some areas as it wheeled through, causing a severe thunderstorm warning until midnight Friday for residents of Shackelford, Callahan and Eastland counties. No damage was reported.

Temperatures dipped early today to 39 degrees at Dalhart and 44 at Amarillo in the Panhandle. Other readings were mostly in the 50s and 60s, with Galveston staying a comparatively warm 69.

India Mobilizes Military Reserves

By MYRON L. BELKIND
Associated Press Writer

NEW DELHI (AP) — India mobilized its military reserves today to increase its strength along its borders with Pakistan, where both countries have massed troops in a show of force.

An Indian Defense Ministry spokesman said all army reservists, and navy and air force reservists with special skills, were being called to active duty.

The spokesman said he did not know the strength of the reserves, which were last activated in the 1965 war with Pakistan. The word to report for active duty, he added, went out in the past 24 hours or so.

At least one border skirmish involving tanks flared last week and increasing troop buildups have been reported in recent days.

The quarrel between the two countries has intensified since last spring when Pakistan's military government sent troops into East Pakistan to crush a rebellion of Bengalis seeking greater autonomy from West Pakistan. The fighting, which continues, has driven about nine million refugees into Indian territory and placed a severe strain on India's welfare system.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi scheduled a nationwide broadcast tonight in which she was expected to outline India's latest position on the crisis with Pakistan.

The broadcast will come 12 hours before the prime minister leaves on a three-week trip to Western Europe and the United States.

The Defense Ministry spokesman made no formal announcement of the reserve call-up, and instead merely confirmed a report circulated Friday night by United News of India.

Normally, Indian reserve call-ups are not acknowledged publicly. The fact that it was this time indicated that the move was based on psychological motives, designed to demonstrate to Pakistan President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan that India was prepared to go to war if necessary provided the present crisis with Pakistan deteriorates further.

Authoritive sources said that the Defense Ministry has also canceled all leaves of armed forces personnel and ordered them to return to duty at once.

A ministry spokesman said Wednesday that India "reserves the right to take any action" it feels necessary to insure the early return of the East Pakistani refugees to their homes.

"India can't tolerate for long the presence of 9½ million refugees," he said.

According to the Indian Defense Ministry's 1970-71 annual report, the army has been maintained at its authorized strength of 828,000.

The total strength of India's armed forces, including naval and air force units, is estimated at 930,000 by the authoritative Institute of Strategic Studies in London.

Mutscher, Mauzy Oppose House Reapportionment

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Conservative House Speaker Gus Mutscher and liberal Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas don't have much in common but can get together on one thing.

Neither likes the House reapportionment plan approved 4-1 by the Legislative Redistricting Board Friday with Mutscher the lone dissenter.

Mauzy says he will fight the plan in federal court because it did not provide 150 single-member districts for state representatives.

Mutscher angrily denounced the plan—in part because it threw some of his staunchest supporters into situations where they face a good chance of being voted out of the legislature by their realigned districts.

The plan enacted into law by the board gave Texas' four most populous counties a total of nine additional representatives at the expense of rural areas in line with the populaion shifts shown by the 1970 census.

Harris County (Houston) was cut into 23 single-member districts as requested by a majority of the county's present 19-member House delegation. Early analysis indicated the districts included five that probably would elect blacks. Houston has only one Negro representative now. The redistricting probably will give the Republican Party seven safe districts, compared with six GOP Representatives now elected from Houston.

Dallas County's representation will increase from 15 to 18 members, Tarrant (Fort Worth) County's from 8 to 9 and Bexar (San Antonio) County's from 10 to 11. All three counties will continue to elect all their representatives at large, instead of by individual districts as in Houston.

The districts drawn by the board vary from 5.8 per cent over to 4.1 per cent under the ideal population of 74,645.

If all incumbent representatives seek re-election in 1972, 15 from rural and small city areas won't be coming back because they were paired with other House members.

The paired members included Mutscher backers and members of the anti-Mutscher "Dirty 30" coalition.

Harris County's single-member set-up paired incumbents Bill Blythe and Will Lee, both Republicans; Lindon Williams and Rex Braun; Bob Gammage and Lauro Cruz; and Sid Bowers and Walter Mengden, Republicans. Bowers said he would move to a district containing the home of Democrat Jack Ogg, who plans to run for the Senate.

Lee, Gammage and Braun all have indicated interest in running for the senate next year.

"I sincerely feel this measure does not carry out the wishes or the will of the people of Texas," Mutscher said.

"Paired" members generally were from Mutscher's rural conservative power base and included some of his key lieutenants.

"I doubt if any member of the board presiding over the House could get more than 30 votes for this measure," Mutscher said.

He said House members had prepared 11 different plans, but the board had only seen a few of them. "We have had no committee meetings and no joint work sessions. There have been no open presentations or debate on any of the board's proposals," he said. Several house members prepared an "amendment" to the board plan, he said moving to delay action until Saturday so the board could view the proposal. But he was outvoted, 4-1.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, board chairman, said that he had never been subjected to such intense pressure as he had received because of his role in redistricting the House.

"I have been threatened. I have been tried to be intimidated. I've had people grab hold of my lapels and try to tear them off. I've even had 'em cry," he said of his contacts with House members.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who appeared the central figure in drawing new House district boundaries, said the final map was "as free of political considerations as we could possibly make it."

He said he personally believed Texas should have single-member districts, at least in urban areas.

"But the establishment of political units within county lines is a policy decision that should be made by the legislature."

Martin said his legal staff had checked it out, and "I can testify it is a legal plan."

"Paired" members are:

Tom Christian of Claude (Republican) and Phil Cates of Lefors; Delwin Jones of Lubbock and Ralph Wayne of Plainview; Renal Rosson of Snyder and Dee Jon Davis of Big Spring; George Baker of Fort Stockton and Dick Slack of Pecos: John Poerner of Hondo and Gerhardt Schulle of San Marcos; Charles Patterson of Taylor and Dan Kubiak of Rockdale; Bob Salter of Gatesville and Ubrey Moore of Hillsboro; Tom Holmes of Granbury and J. E. Ward of Glen Rose; and Bill Bass of Ben Wheeler and Gayle Ingram of Quitman; Jack Hawkins of Groesbeck and James L. Lovell of Crockett; Fred Head of Henderson and Ben Z. Grant of Marshall.

Reps. Vernon Stewart and Dave Allred of Wichita Falls were placed in a single district, but one reportedly will move into a new district that includes part of Wichita County and all of Clay, Young and Archer counties. The one who moves probably will face Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday.

Jefferson, Nueces and Hidalgo Counties each lost a representative, setting up potential pairings there.

Mutscher engineered a House redistricting plan during the regular session this year which would have eliminated a number of his most severe critics through pairings.

Rep. Jones was chairman of the House Redistricting Committee that wrote that plan. Slack was Mutscher's choice for vice-chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

The Mutscher engineered redistricting bill was nullified by the Texas Supreme Court in September on grounds that it unconstitutionally divided counties. The high court told the redistricting board to come up with a new plan.

Mutscher currently faces bribery charges growing out of the Texas stock scandal.

MOVING AND MOWING IN ALL DIRECTIONS — In the never-ending battle to keep grass clipped on a slope in a Reading, Pa., park, these youths push mowers in relays up the side of a former reservoir. Although there's no attempt to pull rank, Caretaker Joe Gallagher mans the top mower while John McFadden, Mike Bennett and Kirk Yeager, Neighborhood Youth Corps workers, guide the other machines. Plum Island's Gates Opened

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Writer

PLUM ISLAND, N.Y. (AP) — This is a forbidden island, jutting into the Atlantic, it stands aloof from the mainland, separated by the riled, ripping waters of Plum Gut, a channel so contrary when wind and tide argue it can swamp a sizable sailboat.

On the island's shore, signs warn against all trespassers. Twenty-four hours a day guards patrol the lonely beaches.

But this week for the first time in 15 years, the gates to Plum Island opened briefly to let the world see the potential havoc inside.

For this island in Long Island Sound the site of a U.S. Department of Agriculture laboratory for infectious animal diseases, some so virulent that if they should jump the mile-wide water gap they could devastate U.S. livestock.

The precautions that are routine speak for the pestilence the Plum Island harbors.

Scientists arriving on the island must shed their own clothing and don special laboratory wear. The same goes for the handful of newsmen who toured the laboratory Thursday.

Each time a man leaves one laboratory for another he must shower with germicidal soap, scrub his fingernails with a brush and be rinsed down with high pressure sprays. Then he dons fresh clothing again. All personal accoutrements such as rings and watches must be left behind at the gate. Notes and notebooks are sterilized in a hot box before they can be taken to the mainland.

Behind the red-painted doors are cattle, swine, sheep deliberately infected with bacteria and viruses that plague so many countries in the world—foot and mouth disease, Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis and African swine fever, to mention only a few.

The aim on Plum Island is better means of diagnosis, and hopefully, effective vaccines. State and federal officials are trained here in techniques of disease control and detection.

All who visit the island do so under one more proscription. They must stay away from all animal repositories such as farms or zoos for at least seven days after leaving the island. For those who work with the diseased animals and live on the mainland it means constant quarantine from such places.

Only one species evades the quarantine—seagulls and other birds which find their way to the island and then depart again. The danger of their acting as disease carriers is slight since the animals are condemned to isolation within the laboratory. Besides, said one official, how can you bar the seagull from landing?

Synod Boosts Women's Lib

By PATRICK O'KEEFE
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP)-An American prelate and other high-ranking churchmen have boosted the women's liberation movement at the World Synod of Bishops.

Bishop Leo Byrne of Minneapolis-St. Paul stated Friday that the Vatican should set up studies to see if women could be ordained priests, or serve in other ministerial capacities.

Canada's George Bernard Cardinal Flahiff made a similar proposal earlier in the synod.

"No argument should be used to exclude women from any service to the Church," Bishop Byrne said, "if it stems from male prejudice, blind adherence to merely human traditions that may have been rooted in the social position of women in other times or questionable interpretations of scripture."

The Minnesota prelate heads a newly-formed U.S. committee to study women's roles in the Church.

Shortly after the synod assembly heard Bishop Byrne, his Beatitude Maximus V. Hakim, Melchite patriarch from Syria, rose to say:

"Coming from a region where the great monotheistic religions, Christianity, Islam and Judaism, all held women in inferiority, I would like to ask that in the Church of today, we might be less unjust toward women.

"Let us not forget that half the faithful are women," he said.

"We who have given over more than half our synod to priests," the patriarch said, referring to two weeks of debate on the priesthood, "should not forget that religious women are 10 times the number of priests.

"If they have created 10 times less the problems, should we continue to neglect them?"

British economist Barbara Ward has been the only one of four women advisers on social justice to address the synod so far. She keynoted debate on the topic by warning that rising population and pollution and shrinking natural resources posed grave threats to life on earth. She did not mention women's rights.

Kermit Couple Found Dead

Justice of Peace C. O. Jones said a pistol lay near the bodies on a back porch. He withheld an inquest verdict.

Catholics Charge Interference

MOSCOW (AP) — Roman Catholics in Lithuania are charging official Soviet interference in their right to freedom of worship.

Dissident sources report that 1,190 Catholics from the district of Alitussky signed a protest statement to the Communist party chief, Leonid Brezhnev.

Earlier, some 2,000 Catholics from the Prenaisky district complained to the Communist party's General Committee that they are denied freedom to practice their faith.

Although the Catholics deny that they want to form an organized movement—illegal under Soviet law—it appeared that a protest movement similar to the Jewish one has been developing.

Many in the Jewish community in various parts of the Soviet Union allege interference in synagogue affairs, and complain that those wanting to immigrate to Israel cannot do so. The Catholics have expressed no desire to leave the Soviet Union, so far as is known.

Lithuania, on the Baltic Sea, was incorporated into the Soviet Union in 1940. The United States has never recognized Moscow's right to the area.

In 1940, about 80 per cent of Lithuania's 2.9 million population was Catholic. No current figures are available.

The Lithuanians appealed to Brezhnev to secure the release of the Rev. Youzas Zdebskis, a priest reportedly arrested Aug. 26 for teaching catechism to children. The Lithuanians said, "If his action is a crime, then it only remains for us to dream of the freedom of religion and conscience."

Tour Halted To Report Angler

LEWISTON, Calif. (AP) — The angler was happily filling his basket with salmon on an isolated part of the Trinity River when up rolled two big buses jammed with people.

They were the entire California Board of Forestry, its top aides and an employe of the state Department of Fish and Game.

They said Thursday they took a brief break in their tour of the Trinity River watershed to take down the man's name for the local game warden to write up a citation for illegally fishing in a spawning area. They withheld his name from newsmen.

Training Is Put On Line

GEORGETOWN, Tex. (AP) — Beginning in January, students at Southwestern University will have a chance to put their classroom training on the line.

The Academic Affairs Council has approved a program to place students in various situations apply their education to daily living.

Students interns may work in hospitals, ghetto community centers or store-front law offices under the supervision of a professional for three hours of academic credit.

Program Director Benjamin T. Jordan, who came to Southwestern this year from Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., said he expects 15-20 internships to be available.

Man Killed On Motorcycle

SANAUGUSTINE, Tex. (AP) — A car struck and killed Stephen Basco, 18, of Natchitoches, La., Friday evening as he rode a motorcycle seven miles south of here in East Texas. The accident happened at the intersection of Texas 103 and Farm 1751.

Clarification Asked On Austin Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A clarification of the Nixon Administration's attitude toward an Austin, Tex. school desegregation case is being sought here by the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

The court has asked U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell to expand on administration policy toward busing to achieve racial balances in schools at a hearing scheduled here Oct. 28.

Representing the government at the hearing will be David L. Norman, chief of the Justice Department's civil rights division.

In a letter dated Oct. 8, the court's clerk said the court "desires to have the attorney general or his authorized representative appear, participate in the oral argument and state the position of the government on the issues involved in this litigation."

Albert W. Alschuler, a University of Texas law prosessor who had filed a brief in the case, said he read considerable significance into the court request.

"To me, that indicates the court is not satisfied with the government's position as stated in its brief," he said. "Apparently, the court felt the need for this very special sort of letter saying 'get somebody down here to explain your position'".

The Austin case is the first in which the government has sought busing to achieve school racial balances. It resulted in a federal court order imposing only limited busing of elementary school pupils.

President Nixon has said he wanted busing held to the minimum required by law, declaring he opposed busing children simply for the sake of busing.

When U.S. Dist. Court Judge Jack Roberts ordered only limited busing of elementary school children in Austin, the Justice Department appealed the decision to the chagrin of many prominent Texas Republicans who said they were confused by the president's busing policies.

Two Nuns Join Military

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two Massachusetts nuns, fresh from Air Force basic training, see nothing odd about their decision to join the military.

"It is not unusual to see men of theology in the military as they service the spiritual needs of our men in uniform," said Sister Judith Rosenthal.

"I am a practical nurse," she added, "and I felt I could administer to the medical needs of our men in service."

Sister Judith, of North Hampton, Mass., and Sister Sheila McGuirk, of Grafton, Mass., are the first nuns ever to enlist in the Air National Guard. They completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base here last week.

Sister Judith said she found Air Force basic training "more demanding" than novitiate training, or basic training for nuns.

"In basic, there are set rules for group living. Be at a certain place at a certain time and so forth," she said.

The nuns, members of the Sisters of St. Joseph in Holyoke, Mass., now are receiving on-the-job training as medical specialists at Barnes AFB, Mass.

Before joining the Massachusetts Air National Guard, they worked in geriatrics, which deals with the elderly.

"We felt our enlisting in the Air National Guard would give us experience in general medicine and this, along with our knowledge of geriatrics, would make us a more valuable asset to our church and state," Sister Judith said.

She said that while they are giving their knowledge and kill to helping others, they are receiving a far greater gift—"the opportunity to serve our neighbor."

Aides Polled Lawyers On Nixon's Choices

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within minutes of President Nixon's announcement of his two Supreme Court nominees White House aides were on the phone polling lawyers around the country for their opinions of the choices, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist, according to an informed source.

The lawyers were asked to relay their assessments of the Richmond, Va., attorney and the Assistant Attorney General back to the White House by 10:00 p.m. EDT that Thursday night, said the source, a prominent attorney who asked those names not be used.

A White House spokesman said there would be no comment on the report.

Nixon had announced his decision to name Powell and Rehnquist in a national radio and television broadcast that ended at 7:45 p.m. EDT.

Qualified legal and congressional sources said the President was intent on naming Herschel H. Friday and Mildred L. Lillie to the court until an adverse American Bar Association report forced a last-minute switch.

Although there was no word on the lawyers' assessments, comment did come from other points, notably Capitol Hill.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., indicated at a news conference there will be a close look taken at Rehnquist. Bayh said he already had had the opportunity to work with Powell and was impressed with "his intellect and his dedication."

Bayh said Rehnquist had testified before a subcommittee that he would oppose legislation that would hamper the government's domestic intelligence gathering activities.

Bayh said he was concerned what Rehnquist's attitude on the subject was now that he is headed for the Supreme Court.

President Nixon made it a point Friday to tell women's groups, who lobbied for a female nominee, the door was open for a woman Supreme Court justice.

"I know a great number in this audience," Nixon said before the National Federation of Republican Women, "including my wife, felt very strongly that not only should a woman be considered but that a woman should be appointed. Let me say at least we have had a beginning and there will be a woman on the Supreme Court."

The indication was that Powell and Rehnquist came to the top of the selection list very quickly, after Friday and Lillie were said to be unqualified by the ABA.

The administration expressed concern about the leaking to the press of both the initial selection list and the later ABA disapproval.

Bernard G. Segal, a Philadelphia lawyer and a former president of the ABA, said that not once in the 18 years since President Dwight D. Eisenhower began the practice of submitting names of prospective Supreme Court nominations to the association "has there ever been even an intimation or a suggestion that the committee's findings were leaked by the committee."

Lt. Gen. Chaisson Issues Warning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Marine Corps chief of staff says he fears America's approach to sea power may result in trading a soft voice and a big stick for loud talk and a small stick.

Speaking Friday at a Navy Day luncheon, Lt. Gen. John R. Chaisson warned of what he called the growing strength of the Soviet navy, and proposals for cutting back the U.S. Navy.

"Now I hear guys who want us to talk loudly, but want to give us only a real soft pussy willow switch," Chaisson said.

Kennedy Defends Suggestion

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has defended his suggestion that British troops be withdrawn from Northern Ireland.

"I feel the United States has a responsibility and my expression is a continuing concern for oppression whether it exists in this state, this country or in Northern Ireland," he said Friday in an interview.

The London Sunday Times has backed Kennedy's position, but other British newspapers accused him of trying to win presidential votes among Irish-Americans.

About 60 Conservative members of the British Parliament signed a statement criticizing him, and Northern Ireland's prime minister, Brian Faulkner, accused Kennedy of playing "American politics with Ulster lives."

Three Die In Plane Crash

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — Three persons were killed when a plane which had taken them to Dallas for a birthday observance of former baseball player Mickey Mantle crashed on the return flight to Oklahoma City.

Mantle had flown to Dallas with the three.

The victims were Billy Grossman, Dallas businessman; Amos Bouse, a construction company executive; and a woman believed to be a Delta Airlines stewardess.

The twin-engine private plane crashed and burned in a pasture near Springer late Thursday.

The plane had reportedly taken Mantle to Dallas after he had played golf in Oklahoma City.

Mantle deplaned at Dallas and the three other persons left Love Field for Oklahoma City. The plane crashed late Thursday night, trapping its occupants inside as the aircraft exploded into flames.

The charred remains were flown to Oklahoma City for positive identification.

A Bouse family spokesman said he was "99 per cent sure" he was one of the victims.

Bouse was formerly a top executive with the now-defunct Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America Inc.

Amarillo Girl Named Miss WTSU

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — Linda Adams, 19, a stunning sophomore from Amarillo, was named Miss West Texas State University Friday night.

Runnerup was Harletta Capps, 21, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Capps of Vernon.

Associates Praise Boldt's Selection

By ELIAS CASTILLO
Associated Press Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — For three weeks, U.S. District Court Judge George H. Boldt presided at the tumultuous trial of the Seattle 7, accused of conspiracy to damage the federal courthouse and federal buildings during a demonstration.

Then Boldt declared a mistrial on ground the defendants' actions so prejudiced the jury that a fair trial was impossible, and he found the seven in contempt of court, handing out jail sentences of six months to a year.

After the action last Dec. 10, the judge who was selected Friday to head the nation's Pay Board said:

"I believe Divine Providence may have given this court and others guidance to an effective solution of disruption of trials. I pray this may be so."

President Nixon's selection of the 67-year-old judge for the Pay Board was widely praised by his associates.

"It will be the same thing as putting Eisenhower in charge of the European allies—he'll keep them from fighting among themselves," said Judge William T. Beeks, who succeeds Boldt as chief judge for Western Washington State.

Boldt will have the task of seeking agreement among the 15 business, labor and academic leaders on the board which will review wage increases during Phase 2 of Nixon's economic program.

The balding, bespectacled judge is about 5-foot-8 and weighs 160 pounds.

In 1955 Fortune magazine named him as one of the nation's top six federal jury district judges.

Mrs. Boldt, whom the judge married 43 years ago, describes him as "a man not afraid to take a hard task. He believes this will be the hardest assignment he's ever taken."

They met at Missoula, Mont., in the 1920's where she was a coed and Boldt did odd jobs earning money to stay in the University of Montana's law school.

After graduating from Montana, Boldt established practice in Seattle. He enlisted during World War II, served in China-Burma theater with the Office of Strategic Services (OSS), and was discharged as a lieutenant colonel.

He returned to Tacoma where he was member of a law firm when he was named to the federal judgeship in 1963 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In addition to the Seattle 7 trial, Judge Boldt has presided at the income tax evasion trials of labor chief Dave Beck and Mickey Cohen.

He also issued an arrest warrant for Leslie Bacon, a young antiwar activist wanted in connection with east Coast bombings.

Elective Body Governs Navajos

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) The Navajo tribe, largest in the United States, is governed by an elective body consisting of a chairman, vice chairman and 74 council members.

They are elected to four-year terms in reservation-wide elections in which paper ballots are used.

The last election was in mid-November, 1970, when Peter MacDonald was elected tribal chairman and Wilson Skeet, vice chairman.

Navajos have been voting in county, state, and federal elections since 1924.

Hungary Steers

FORESTBURG, Tex. (AP) — Postmaster Rex Anderson lost part of the tail of his airplane to hungry steers after parking his four-seater in a pasture.

Much of the fuselage was made of linen treated with banana oil. Anderson believes the banana oil attracted six steers who were munching on the fuselage. Repairs cost $150.

Quints Born In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — A woman who had been taking fertility pills gave birth to quintuplets today. She was in her seventh month of pregnancy and the delivery was by caesarean section.

The mother, 27, and babies—three girls and two boys—were doing well, first reports said.

The quints ranged in weight from one pound eight ounces to two pounds 14 ounces.

The father, Yitzhak Berman, 24, has a small shop in Jerusalem where he makes flags.

Malraux Asks For Citizenship

NICE, France (AP) — Andre Malraux, writer-soldier and former French minister of culture, proposed today that he be made an honorary citizen of India so he could argue the case for East Bengal before the United Nations.

First, he said, he would actively fight for East Bengal, and that would give him the right to talk about it. However, "right now the mood seems to be for negotiation," he said.

Malraux, who will be 70 Nov. 3, volunteered last month to serve aboard a tank fighting for East Bengal. An answer to the offer is expected early next month. He made today's comments to newsmen after coming ashore from a 13-day Mediterranean cruise.

Arkansas Attorney Turns To Housing

By DALA MCKINSEY
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK, Ar. (AP) — Now that racially indentifiable schools have been removed from Little Rock, a civil rights attorney wants the courts to end racially identifiable neighborhoods.

"The real problem is that we live apart—not only black from white, but rich from middle class, middle class from poor," John Walker said.

"It is necessary to reunite the city, just as the schools were reunited. I think that the same devices used to unify the schools can be used to unify us," he said.

Walker, 34, and his firm were primary forces in court cases which led to busing students to achieve racial balance in schools.

"Housing integration is the answer to elimination of busing," he said. Walker described busing as an "artificial tool at best."

The schools cases took years and Walker said he expected an equally long fight to end neighborhood segregation.

Walker said the first step his firm will take will be to file suit to enjoin the city—through urban planning, real estate agents and neighborhood development—from "operating racially identifiable projects."

The second step, Walker says, will be to legally force the Department of Housing and Urban Development to place its projects in all neighborhoods, not just the central city.

He said HUD has the power to locate throughout the city.

"We have to attack HUD because it is the greatest segregator of them all," he said.

Walker says good precedents have been set in Chicago and Bogalusa, La., where federal judges held that the Model Cities programs were at fault for failure to make construction site choices for their projects in white neighborhoods.

"The premise is that the housing authority has pursued policies and practices of discrimination," he said.

Walker, who is black, lives with his wife and five children in a white neighborhood. Their fence was burned shortly after they moved in, but there has been no other harassment.

He said last year he was denied the right to buy a house in Pleasant Valley, an exclusive neighborhood west of Little Rock, but that he still intended to live there one day.

Institute Examines Coast

HOUSTON (AP) — Land and water use along the Texas Gulf Coast will be examined by a new legal research institute that has been established at Bates College of Law at the University of Houston.

The Texas Law Institute on Coastal and Marine Resources will sponsor studies by some 35 faculty members representing all Texas law schools.

Marine resource investigators will focus on shipping, harbors, fisheries, offshore drilling and municipal and agricultural water supplies.

Much of the coastal research will involve questions concerning a coastal zone agency, wildlife preserves, zoning and model city programs.

Dr. Gerald Hopkins, principal associate of the institute, said the studies would be used to expand the knowledge of the legal community in these areas and to provide new data for the law school's sea law program.

He said legislation could result from some of the studies.

The institute is being funded with a three-year $150,000 grant from the National Science Foundation. The state is providing matching funds.

Freeze Extension Is Possible

DALLAS (AP) — The nation's wage-prize freeze could extend past its scheduled Nov. 13 thaw if the new Pay Board and Price Commission don't come up with Phase 2 plans for the economy, presidential counsellor Donald Rumsfeld said Friday.

"It's important to appreciate that this freeze is on until it's altered," he told a reporter.

Rumsfeld expressed hope that the Phase 2 plans can be drafted and made public by Nov. 15.

He suggested that President Nixon's Cost of Living Council might introduce plans of its own if the pay-price panels lag or simply leave the freeze in effect a bit longer.

DYESS GAINS—Snyder running back Jimmy Dyess (27) plows ahead for an 8-yard gain against the Dunbar Panthers here Friday night. He netted 22 yards on two carries. Making the tackle is Dunbar end Thomas Howard (87). Coming up to lend assistance are backs Larry Rollison (20) and Jerry Williams (23). The Panthers won 22-14.

Powerful Dunbar Rips Snyder Tigers, 22-14

The story of the Snyder Tigers' 22-14 loss to Lubbock Dunbar's Panthers here Friday night is the rags to riches story in reverse.

The Tigers struck for two quick touchdowns early in the first quarter. Then Dunbar cranked up its powerful offense, scoring in every period, to take command of the game. The main cog in the Panther machine is Kenneth Burrow, a 190-pound junior tailback. He flailed the Tigers with power sweeps, scoring three touchdowns and gaining 251 yards on 38 carries. The Tigers simply could not stop him.

Snyder kicked off, held Dunbar, and took over on the Panther 38 following a short punt. They spanned the distance to the goal in six plays. Mike Glasscock, big Tiger fullback, carried the first three downs, gaining 12 yards to the 26. After Travis Bunch lost one to the 27, Sammie Harrison gained eight to the 19. Then Bunch took a pitch out and went around right end. Only one man separated him from the goal at about the nine. Bunch stopped on a dime, the safety missed him, and the little back scooted on into the end zone. Sandy Land's kick made it 7-0 with 7:23 remaining in the period.

Following the kickoff, Dunbar fumbled the ball on the first play from scrimmage and The Tigers took over at the Panther 41. On the first play, quarterback Butch Buchanan dropped back and lofted a long aerial to swing man Gary Patterson, who made the catch behind the safety at the 10 yard line. He easily slipped on into the end zone. Land's kick made it 14-0 with 7:05 remaining.

At this point, it looked like the Tigers would sweep their opponent off the field.

But Dunbar settled down, took the ensuing kickoff, and marched 56 yards to a touchdown in eight plays. Burrow carried the ball seven times. He set up the tally with a 21 yard run from the 31 to the 10, and he swept right end from that point for the six points. Robert Avery's kick was wide, leaving the Tigers ahead 14-6 with 3:42 remaining.

Dunbar drove down to the 20 on its next possession, but a fumble stopped them early in the second quarter. Following a short Tiger punt, the Panthers penetrated the 10-yard line, but a 15-yard penalty moved them back to the 24. On third and 21 from the 24, halfback Henry Robinson completed a 12-yard aerial to right end George Smith. Then, on fourth down, Avery kicked a 21 yard field goal to narrow the count to 14-9 with 6:41 remaining in the half.

The Tigers took the kickoff and drove past midfield with Jimmy Dyess contributing 8 and 14 yard runs, but they couldn't sustain the march.

Dunbar also drove past midfield before the half ended, but the Tigers held.

The Tigers took the kickoff opening the second half and drove from their 22 to the Dunbar 48 with Bunch turning in 23 and 6 yard runs. But the Panthers held.

Dunbar couldn't move the ball, but the Tigers fumbled on the first play following a long Panther punt. The visitors' tackle, Ronald Davis, recovered on the Snyder 19. Although a 15-yard penalty slowed the drive, the Panthers managed to cover the distance in nine plays. Burrow carried six times, and he got the TD on a fourth down sweep of left end from the four. He also tried to skirt the other end for bonus points, but was stopped short, leaving Dunbar in command 15-14. There was 4:59 remaining in the quarter.

Snyder couldn't move the ball, and the Panthers launched a drive from their 44 in the third quarter that culminated in the fourth quarter with Burrow going two yards around right end for the touchdown. Avery's kick made it 22-14 in favor of the Panthers.

Burrow carried seven times in this march, and he gained 17 yards on one run and 16 on another, going up the middle this time.

It could have been worse. Snyder fumbled the kickoff, and Dunbar's Jerry Williams recovered on the Tiger 10. A strong defensive effort by the Tigers prevented the Panthers from scoring a touchdown. They gained only four yards in three plays. On fourth down, they tried a field goal from the 13, but Avery's kick was wide.

Mistakes were costly to the Tigers. Not only did a fumble set up Dunbar's go-ahead touchdown, but another bobble stopped a Tiger drive at the Dunbar 28 with time becoming crucial in the fourth quarter.

On this last Tiger drive, which began at the Tiger 39, Harrison contributed a 12-yard run, and Buchanan hit Patterson with a quick pass for a 15-yard gain.

Bunch was Snyder's leading ground gainer. He netted 48 yards on 15 carries. Harrison got 18 paces on seven runs while Dyess contributed 22 yards on two efforts. Glasscock gained 18 yards on five carries.

The fact that the Tigers made a determined goal line stand in the fourth quarter while trailing by eight points indicates the desire the local lads had. They fought back with determination, but Dunbar simply had too much Burrow for them to contend with.

Estacado now leads District 3-AAA with a 2-0 record (they were to play Lakeview Saturday night) while Snyder, Dunbar and Lamesa are in second place with 2-1 loop records.

The Tigers are still in contention for the crown.

Elsewhere in the league Friday night, Lamesa blanked Colorado City 17-0, and Sweetwater pounded Brownfield 34-18.

Abilene Cooper Upsets Permian

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Abilene Cooper knocked off third-ranked Odessa Permian 9-7 in Class AAA and Richardson Berkner upset fifth-ranked McKinney 7-0 in Class AAA to set the schoolboy football pace Friday night.

In Class AA, Diboll upset No. 9 San Augustin 20-8.

In Class AAAA, No. 1 Port Arthur Jefferson rolled over Vidor 47-6 while Wichita Falls clobbered Mineral Wells 55-0. Galveston Ball, No. 4, defeated Angleton 14-7 and fifth-ranked Dallas Carter took Dallas Pinkston 33-7.

Hurst Bell, No. 6 this week, won over Arlington Sam Houston 35-27 and seventh-ranked Arlington had no trouble with Irving, winning 34-6. Port Arthur Lincoln, No. 8, rolled over Nederland 47-14 and San Antonio Churchill, in ninth place, got by San Antonio Jefferson 23-14.

In a Thursday night game, Dallas South Oak Cliff, tied for 10th with Houston Westchester, defeated Dallas Sunset 20-7. Westchester plays Cypress-Fairbanks Saturday night.

In Class AAA, Gregory Portland, No. 2, defeated Sinton 37-21 and third-ranked Brownwood whipped Graham 43-8.

Silsbee, ranked No. 1, will play Crosby in Baytown Saturday night.

Fourth-placed Brenham stomped A&M Consolidated 34-6 and sixth-ranked Cuero shut out Pleasanton 46-0. Ennis, in the seventh spot, bested Marlin 29-7 and No. 8 Uvalde won over Del Rio 33-0. Former state champion Iowa Park now No. 10, defeated Stephenville 36-6. Ninth-ranked Lubbock Estacado will tangle with Lakeview Saturday night.

Eastland looks like it will stay No. 1 next week in Class AA, as it soundly rapped Hamilton 59-0. Likewise, it was no contest between Refugio and Goliad, with No. 2 Refugio taking it 49-7. Third ranked Jacksboro defeated Henrietta 34-7.

Fifth ranked Kirbyville beat Woodville 39-13 and No. 6 Hondo rolled over Carrizo Springs 35-6. Woodsboro, in the No. 7 seat, could manage only a 14-14 tie with Rockport. Tomball, No. 8, whipped Sealy 34-0.

Sonora also looks like a choice to stay No. 1 in Class A, as it thrashed Bangs 63-0. No. 2 Holliday took Archer City 15-0 and third place White Oak defeated New Diana 35-8.

Albany, in the fifth spot, edged Roscoe 7-0 and No. 6 Framersville fought Wylie to a 0-0 tie. Crowley, No. 8, defeated Kennedale 34-0 and Mason, ninth, rolled over Menard 45-0. Forney ranked 10th, trounced Cedar Hill 34-6.

Undefeated Redskins Face Powerful Chiefs

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you happen to hear a loud crunching noise and feel the earth shaking next Monday night, don't call the police. Just turn on your television.

There you'll see a brick wall facing a slab of cement—and a lot of men bashing their heads trying to dent them.

In other words, you'll see the Baltimore Colts and the Minnesota Vikings in the nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EDT), National Football League game of the week.

Sunday's premier attraction, to be viewed by most of the nation CBS, 4 p.m. EDT, sends Washington's unbeaten Redskins in quest of their sixth victory against the powerful Chiefs in Kansas City.

In a rare Saturday night game on the West Coast, the Buffalo Bills played the San Diego Chargers.

The clash pitting Baltimore, the American Conference East leader, and Minnesota, battling for the top spot in the National Conference's Central Division, promises to be a brutal defensive struggle. The teams, with identical 4-1 records, are 1-2 in yielding the fewest points in the league.

Len Dawson of the Chiefs surpassed the 200-touchdown mark last Monday night with three against Pittsburgh but now he'll be going against the "Over-the-Hill Gang," Washington's finely tuned defensive unit. The Skins are two victories shy of their seven in a row at the start of the 1940 season, when they made it to the NFL championship game.

The Lions, tied with the Vikings, will be without cornerback Lem Barney, sidelined with a groin injury, but will have top NFL quarterback Greg Landry while the injury-riddled Bears must go with third-string passer Bobby Douglass and Don Shy in place of running back Gale Sayers.

The Raiders' Daryle Lamonica, who missed the first half of last Sunday's game against Philadelphia, is due to start against the Bengals but wide receiver Eldridge Dickey may take over for Rod Sherman. Virgil Carter is still out for Cincinnati.

The Dolphins will be out to avenge their 14-10 loss to the Jets in Miami earlier this season. New York's No. 3 quarterback, Bob Davis, will make his second start after a successful debut against Buffalo.

Defensive end Deacon Jones is due to return to the lineup for the Rams, atop the NFL West and aiming for their fourth straight victory. The Packers are trying to scramble out of the Central Division cellar.

The Broncos say quarterback Don Horn, with a thigh injury, and running back Floyd Little, with a bad shoulder, are likely starters. They notched their first victory last Sunday after 13 winless contests. The Browns have a solid lead in the AFC's Central Division.

The 49ers have the No. 1 offense in the NFL and will probably go with wide receiver Gene Washington and running back Ken Willard, each of whom has a charley horse. The Cardinals seek to rebound from their shutout by Washington.

Dick Shiner is expected to start in place of Falcons quarterback Bob Berry, with a hamstring pull, as Atlanta tries to overcome a number of injuries. Hoyle Granger may have to take over for Saints running back Tony Baker, who caught a touchdown pass against Dallas last week but has a bad knee.

Roger Staubach will start at quarterback for the Cowboys, who will open their new home, Texas Stadium, in hopes of rebounding from their upset at New Orleans. But they'll again be without Calvin Hill. The Patriots hope Jim Plunkett can recover from his poor showing against Miami, who bombed them 41-3.

Houston running back Woody Campbell is due to return after missing last Sunday's action with a groin injury. A victory would be the Oilers' first of the year. The Steelers are trying to even their record and stay within catching distance of Cleveland.

The Eagles are also looking for victory No. 1 and, for the first time this season, are playing someone other than a 1970 division winner. A Giants' griumph would even their record and keep them at least third in the NFC East.

Hobbs Rally Pays Off

BLACKWELL—Hobbs' Panthers rallied in the second half to take a 30-24 decision over Blackwell here Friday night in a District 3-B Six-Man football encounter.

The host Hornets held a 16-6 lead after two quarters of play but the visitors rallied with 24 points in the second half to gain the victory.

Tom Bledsoe scored on a two-yard run, and Bob Watts kicked for two extra points as Blackwell took an 8-0 lead.

Hobbs cut the margin to 8-6 on a seven yard touchdown pass from Jim Dooley to Mike Hunt.

Zane McNeill tallied on a three-yard run for Blackwell, and Watts kicked for two more points as the first half closed.

McNeill tallied on a five-yard run in the third quarter, and Watts' kick made it 24-6.

Hobbs cut the margin to 24-18 on touchdown runs of three yards by John Aguilar and two yards by Robert Molano.

In the fourth period, David Martinez tied the game up on a two-yard touchdown run, and the visitors went ahead on a 60-yard touchdown pass from Dooley to Mike Hull.

Coyotes Clobber Cougars, 44-0

GAIL—The host Borden County Coyotes blanked Klondike's Cougars 44-0 in a District 2-B Eight-Man football game played here Friday night in front of a Homecoming crowd.

Randy Hensley and Charles Billeck sparked the Coyote attack. Billeck took three touchdown passes of 52, 23 and 30 yards from Randy Crittenden, and he scored on a 43 yard run.

Hensley scored on a 46 yard run, but he set up several other touchdowns by gaining 174 yards on 18 carries.

Crittenden also hit Ken Don Jones with a seven yard scoring pass, and he added two extra points on a run.

Monty Smith added the other Gail touchdown on a short run.

Pacers Set ABA Pace

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It appears that nobody in the American Basketball Association can keep pace with the Indiana Pacers.

The Pacers, defending Western Division champions, became the ABA's only undefeated team Friday night, edging the previously unbeaten Kentucky Colonels 105-102 for their fifth victory.

Meanwhile, the New York Nets climbed into first place in the Eastern Division, rallying for a 111-100 victory over the Utah Stars for their third triumph in four games.

Elsewhere in the ABA, Pittsburgh outlasted the Floridians 124-123 in overtime, Dallas trounced Virginia 123-108, Carolina downed Memphis 108-102.

In the Natioal Basketball Association, it was: Boston 115, Atlanta 108, New York 110, Baltimore 87; Milwaukee 124, Buffalo 105; Chicago 113, Los Angeles 106, Seattle 110, Houston 91 and Detroit 116, Phoenix 109.

Indiana stormed back from a 52-45 halftime deficit against Kentucky on the shooting of Roger Brown and Bob Netolicky, each of whom scored 12 points in the third period. Brown led all scorers with 32 points, while Netolicky finished with 24.

Dan Issel, last season's ABA scoring champion, and Darel Carrier, topped the Colonels with 25 points apiece.

Rookie John Roche sparked a New York comeback that saw the Nets erase a 64-46 Utah leat. Roche scored eight of his 25 points early in the fourth quarter when the Nets outscored the Stars 17-2 and surged ahead 90-80.

Bill Melchionni's 34 points led the Nets, who played without injured Rick Barry, former ABA acoring champion. Glen Combs was high for Utah with 20 points.

Pittsburgh's John Brisker, who netted 30 points, hit a jump up with 24 seconds remaining in overtime, lifting the Condors past the Floridians.

Ira Whips Cards 56-6

IRA—Ira's Bulldogs flailed Hermleigh 56-6 in a District 3-B Six-Man football game here Friday night.

Ricky Cox, Dale Wiggins and Richard Daves led the Bulldogs, scoring all of the Ira points. Ira scored in every period.

Richard Daves turned in a 20 yard touchdown run early in the first quarter, and Cox kicked a two-pointer.

Cox then scored on a 20 yard run and kicked perfectly from placement again.

The final touchdown in the first quarter was a 40 yard run by Daves. The extra point try was unsuccessful, leaving the hosts ahead 22-0.

Wiggins tallied on a 50 yard run early in the second period.

Hermleigh cut the margin to 28-6, when Tommy Vineyard threw a two-yard touchdown pass to Charles Kuss.

Cox then scored on a 15-yard touchdown run, and he added two points to boost the margin to 36-6 at halftime.

Cox turned in a five yard touchdown run, and he kicked for two more points in the third quarter.

Wiggins scored on runs of 50 and 60 yards in the last quarter.

Injuries Strike NBA Cage Teams

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Bing...Jerry West...Gus Johnson...Wes Unseld...Pete Maravich.

No, that's not a prediction of which players will make this seasons National Basetball Association All-Star team.

Austin Carr...Ken Durrentt...Howard Porter.

And that's not a forecast of who will be the league's top rookies.

Each is only a partial list of veterans and rookies who have been struck by an unusually heavy wave of injuries and illnesses that have plagued NBA teams early in the season.

Bing, twice a member of the All-League team and fourth in the NBA in scoring last season with a 27-point average for Detroit, appears to be the most seriously injured. The Pistons' star guard underwent surgery Oct. 15 on his right eye to repair a detached retina.

He will be sidelined at least six to eight weeks; doctors said. "It may be months before we know what Bing's residual vision will be in the eye," said Dr. Morton S. Cox, University of Michigan eye surgeon.

"Even though the rattachment was successful, some irreversible tissue damage occurs on injury."

West, the other guard on last season's All-Star team with Bing and the league's scoring champion two seasons ago, will be lost to the Los Angeles Lakers for two to three weeks with a severe sprain of the left ankle.

Johnson, Baltimore's powerful forward and a four-time member of the All-League second team, has been slow recovering from off-season surgery on his right knee. On the injured list since Oct. 13, Johnson has been working out at a slow pace and his return is uncertain.

Unseld, the Bullets' center and the league's Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player during the 1968-69 campaign, has been hampered by tendonitis of the heel.

Maravich, the all-time leading scorer in major college history and a member of the NBA's All-Rookie team last season, was expected to miss at least Atlanta's first five games because of infectious mononucelosis, suffered Oct. 5.

Portland's Geoff Petrie, who shared Rookie of the Year honors with Boston's Dave Cowens last season, also was scheduled to be sidelined at least five regular season games. He suffered damaged cartilage in his right knee during a practice session Aug. 12.

Other veterans who have been hit by the injury jinx include: forward-guard Keith Erickson of Los Angeles, out six to eight weeks after undergoing surgery for tendonitis of the right knee; Laker forward Happy Hairston, with an injured right ankle; New York's Mike Riordan, sidelined at least eight weeks after breaking his left wrist in a practice session, and Knicks' forward Bill Bradley, slowed by tendonitis of the right knee.

Also, player-coach Al Attles of the Golden State Warriors, hampered by a muscle pull in his right thigh, and guard Archie Clark, who was recently traded from Philadelphia to Baltimore. Clark has been out with a pulled hamstring muscle.

Carr, last season's Player of the Year in college basketball and the nation's leading scorer while playing for Notre Dame, is not slated to make his first appearance for Cleveland until mid-November. Carr, the Cavaliers' first draft choice, twice fractured his right foot during the summer.

Durrett, Cincinnati's No. 1 draft pick after an outstanding career at LaSalle, was slow rounding into form after popping a knee during a pre-season practice session.

And Porter, a star for Villanova last season, has not played yet for the Chicago Bulls because of an infection in his right eye.

Bullets Lose Players

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Shortly before the Baltimore Bullets hosted the New York Knickerbockers in a National Basketball Association contest Friday night veteran guards Earl "The Pearl" Monroe and Archie Clark walked off the team. Then the Knicks walked all over the Bullets.

Monroe had expressed unhappiness at playing in Baltimore and team officials have been trying to trade the player, who is in the final year of a three-year pact.

Clark had been acquired from Philadelphia earlier this week and, together with Monroe, had participated in Thursday's workout. Coach Gene Shue reported neither player had offered any indication during practice that they would abandon the team. Both were suspended by the Bullets without pay.

The Bullets tossed together a makeshift starting lineup and were thrashed 110-87 by the Knicks, playing without standout Walt Frazier who was sidelined with a stomach disorder. Frazier's replacement, rookie Dean Meminger, easily filled the gap caused by the ailing guard's absence and bucketed 25 points to lead all scorers.

In other NBA action, the Boston Celtics downed the Atlanta Hawks 115-108, the Milwaukee Bucks pasted the Buffalo Braves 124-105, the Chicago Bulls dumped the Los Angeles Lakers 113-106, the Seattle SuperSonics defeated the Houston Rockets 110-91 and the Detroit Pistons beat the Phoenix Suns 116-109.

In the American Basketball Association, Pittsburgh edged the Floridians 124-123 in overtime.

Energy Developments Require Higher Prices

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The chief executive officer of Sun Oil Co. says effective stimulation of the development of domestic energy resources requires that oil and gas prices be permitted to respond to market forces.

"I am well aware this is a bitter pill to swallow, for higher energy prices have serious implications for current public efforts to achieve other priority goals," says Robert G. Dunlop.

The Philadelphia executive acknowledges there is no question but that higher oil and gas prices will make the control of inflation much more difficult in the short run.

"But in the long run there is literally no alternative, if we are serious about the goal of maintaining domestic energy supplies sufficient to meet essential needs in emergencies," Dunlop said.

He added that although higher prices are not a complete solution the real price of crude oil has been declining since 1948 in the face of sharply rising costs.

"Expressed in 1958 dollars, the price was down from $3.27 a barrel in 1948 to $2.35 last year, a reduction of 28 per cent," Dunlop said.

He added that the nation's failure to recognize that capital and cost considerations are at the base of the energy supply problem has led to some very damaging public decision making in the past and could lead to even more harmful decision in the future.

He said federal efforts since 1954 to control interstate natural gas sale prices are an outstanding example of counterproductive interference with the market.

"The substitution of administrative regulation for market forces in gas pricing has severely curtailed the development of new reserves and has led to a grim supply outlook for the future," he said.

National Petroleum Council studies have indicated potential gas demand will rise to 38.9 trillion cubic feet in 1985 while supply declines to 21.5 trillion, leaving a deficit of 17.4 trillion cubic feet.

Dunlop expressed hope future actions by the price commission being established under Phase II of President Nixon's economic program will not negate affirmative decisions for price increases reached by existing regulatory agencies.

"If so, the criticality of the shortage will be further intensified," he said.

Meeting energy needs effectively, he said, is going to require paying the price which the future demands.

"A part of that price for America is the acceptance of higher energy costs, a part is commitment to conservation in energy use, and a part is recognition of environmental needs and achievement of environmental goals as they relate to energy production and use," he said.

"And for our industry a part of the price is a deeper involvement in public policy formulation and a focusing of that involvement broadly on long-range national energy needs and goals rather than narrowly on the individual issues most directly facing us."

Favor Refunded

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Gov. Marvin Mandel says his son, Gary, a Baltimore attorney, plans to refund a state scholarship granted him when he attended a private military school in 1959.

The scholarship was awarded while the elder Mandel was serving as speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates.

Landry, Harris To Be Honored

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Dallas Cowboy coach Tom Landry and Wichita Falls banker Dick Harris are among six former Texas Longhorn players who will be inducted into the Longhorn Hall of Honor Nov. 12.

Landry was a backfield mainstay on two bowl teams, helping Texas beat Alabama in the 1948 Sugar Bowl game. He contributed to the 1949 Orange Bowl victory over Georgia.

After getting a business degree, Landry was a player and defensive assistant for the pro New York Giants before becoming the first coach of the Cowboys in 1960.

Harris was named an All-American tackle in 1947.

NO NEED TO PANIC — This is not a crash landing scene but a promotional stunt by a Nationalist Chinese businessman in effort to attract more customers to his amusement center building in Tokyo's Shinjuku area. He had an airliner hoisted to roof of his building and it will be converted into a coffee shop. (AP Wirephoto)

Kay Shouse Donates Pipe Organ To Center

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Not content with giving the capital and the nation a performing arts park costing millions of dollars, Catherine Filene Shouse is making another donation: what promises to be one of the country's great pipe organs.

Its formal dedication will be in November in the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, on whose board of trustees Mrs. Shouse has served since its inception in 1958.

"Stone has copied the Boston Symphony hall and that hall would be lost without an organ," she said of architect Edward-Durell Stone and the Kennedy Center's concert hall.

"So I went to the Filene Foundation and got the money for it. My sister and I are trustees, so that wasn't too difficult."

The cost, approximately $200,000, is only the latest in a long series of financial and personal contributions to the arts and philanthropies of the nation's capital by Mrs. Jouett Shouse—it rhymes with house.

The most generous of these has been Wolf Trap Farm Park, dominated by a $3-million open-sided amphiteater with seats for 3,500 plus accommodations on the lawn outside for 3,000 others.

To Kay Shouse, who recently turned 75, it was the culmination of a long dream and a lot of determined work.

"It's embarrassing when I go to the Kennedy Center—I've been a trustee there 13 or 14 years—and people come up to me and say, 'I like Wolf Trap better,' or tell me how often they've been there," she said in an interview.

Aside from the amphitheater, she gave the federal government 117 acres of unspoiled Virginia countryside in an area 17 miles from the capital where developed building lots are selling for as much as $15,000.

Despite Wolf Trap and the Kennedy Center organ, Mrs. Shouse said she has not reduced her support for such things as the National Symphony Orchestra or the Opera Society of Washington.

She began to entertain groups of children at her Wolf Trap Farm home 20 years ago, and learned that many of them raised in Washington—and not just deprived children—had never seen a cow.

"The shock of that made me want to leave Wolf Trap for the people, so they can feel the grass under their feet and walk under trees and along streams," she said.

At Wolf Trap, a company of 60 young people brought here on fellowships study for six weeks and stage a musical theater revue at the park's Filene Center.

There are plans to expand the company next year to 100 and to have them here all summer studying under professionals.

And when the 1972 season opens, Mrs. Shouse said, the first of three promised cottages should be completed—this one a gift of Edward Carr, a northern Virginia builder.

The cottages will serve as residences for composers and writers who want to get away from their routines to work.

Mrs. Shouse herself has three residences: one at Wolf Trap, a townhouse a few blocks from the White House, and another at Blue Hill, Maine. She makes frequent trips to Europe.

Born in Boston, she attended Vassar and earned her bachelor's degree at Wheaton College in Massachusetts, later getting a master's in education from Harvard—the first woman to do so.

In 1932, she married Jouett Shouse, about 15 years her senior. A former representative from Kansas and a onetime assistant secretary of the Treasury, he practiced law here until his death June 2, 1968, at age 88.

Mrs. Shouse became interested in the National Symphony about 1934 when "I learned that symphony men were getting $19 a week." She started giving benefit recitals at her home, and went on the board in 1949.

When the symphony was in deep financial trouble in the early 1950s, "I gave up my trip to Europe to help raise money." She recalled one benefit raffle for which someone had given a pony as a prize. She kept the pony at her farm, and when the time came to give it away the truck got stuck in Washington traffic.

"So we put the pony in the back seat—we had a Cadillac then—and I held him against the back of the chauffeur's seat while we took him to the raffle."

Grayson Said To Be Dedicated

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dr. C. Jackson Grayson, top man in the Phase II Price Commission, "is a man dedicated to every task he undertakes," Dallas associates say.

The boyish Grayson, dead of the Southern Methodist University school of business, will direct the new Price Commission, one of two post-freeze economic-control bodies.

Grayson, a former newspaperman, FBI agent, is 48 years old and looks 35. He is married, has three children and, friends say, "never stops going."

When he left Dallas for Washington on Wednesday, he told newsmen, "I haven't been advised yet why I was chose. All I know is that I got the call and decided it was an assignment I couldn't turn down."

Bob Lyle, assistant dean of the SMU business school, describes the new price chief as "one of the most dynamic and innovative persons I've ever known.

"Dr. Grayson is a man dedicated to every task he undertakes. He is a fair man and has the highest integrity," Lyle will be acting dean at SMU while Grayson is on the Price Commission.

The Pay Board and the Price Commission will determine how much wages, salaries, prices and rents can go up after Nixon's wage-price freeze expires at midnight on Nov. 13.

Before coming to Dallas and SMU in 1968, Grayson was dean of Tulane University's school of business in New Orleans. He received his bachelor's degree in business at Tulane, followed up with a master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania and took his doctorate at Harvard Business School.

He was a professor for awhile at the Management Development Institute of Switzerland and a visiting professor at Stanford University.

Since he has been at SMU, he has become known as an innovator in teaching techniques. He abolished specific courses as requirements for business degrees at the Methodist school, making SMU the first business school in the United States to give students such freedom.

But not all his experience has been academic.

A native of Fort Necessity, La., he worked for a time as a reporter for the New Orleans Item. He wrote frelance articles and at least one book.

He served as director of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and spent some time as a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

He also was a partner in an import-export business and developed special executive seminars for such corporations as International Business Machines, Sun Oil Co. and Motorola.

Mick Jagger Becomes Father

Booths Destroyed

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — An average of 90 public telephone booths are destroyed every day in the Irish Republic, according to an official report. Young vandals were blamed.

Loans Costly

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two of Maryland's largest banks have filed court briefs asking to be allowed to charge three times the current interest on small loans.

The banks contend they cannot make a profit on loans under $300 at the 12 per cent limit imposed by law.

The banks claimed they should be entitled to charge 36 per cent interest on loans under $300—the same rate allowed for small loan companies.

APPEAR HERE THURSDAY — This is the American Brass Quintet which will appear Thursday night in the Snyder High School Auditorium in the first Scurry Concert Association presentation in its 1971-72 series. Admission will be by membership card only. Memberships will be made available for the last time for this series prior to the 8 o'clock program Thursday evening.

Brass Quintet To Open Series Here

Opening concert of the season for the Scurry Concert Association will be held Thursday night in the Snyder High School Auditorium.

Featured artists will be the American Brass Quintet, an ensemble of virtuosos consisting of two trumpets, two trombones and a French horn.

Their musical bridge spans five centuries and between its 15th and 20th century bulwarks are studded the works of Renaissance, Baroque, Romantic and Contemporary composers.

Members of the quintet are Robert Biddleston, (bass trombone), Edward Birdwell (French horn), Douglas Edelman (tenor trombone), Louis Ranger and Gerard Schqarz (trumpets).

In the summer of 1970, they began their three years at the prestigious Aspen Music Festival as artists-in-residence. Activities included participation in weekly performances of chamber music and giving individual and master class instruction for the festival's teacher institute.

A continuing activity in connection with education includes the quintet's showcase for young audiences. Through this nation-wide organization, the ensemble has been heard in schools throughout the United States.

Recordings have been a major factor in establishing a devoted following. Their music can be found on five labels: C. R. I., Folkways, Nonesuch, Desto and Serenus.

Other artists to be heard this season in the Scurry Concert series are the Rondoliers, a male trio of outstanding youth solo artists who combine their talents in a varied program of art songs, operatic selections, show tunes, folk songs and Negro spirituals; and the duo-piano team of Yarbrough and Cowan, young husband and wife who are attracting international acclaim for their virtuosity and artistic musicianship.

A minimum of three other performing groups from Texas colleges will be announced in The Snyder Daily News prior to their respective concerts.

Admission to these concerts is by membership only. These may be purchased at the auditorium prior to the 8 o'clock program Thursday, or by filling in the form on this page and mailing it along with your check to Mrs. J. O. Morrison Jr., 2302 Sunset, prior to Oct. 28.

Man Charged In Theft Of 'Secrets'

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A 29-year-old electronics whiz, Hugh Jeffrey Ward, has been ordered to stand trial on charges of stealing industrial secrets by telephone from a computer memory bank.

Citing a four-year-old state law against theft of trade secrets, Municipal Court Judge William R. Levins certified the case to Superior Court Friday for trial on grand theft charges.

Ward was ordered to appear in court Nov. 22. He remains free on his own recognizance.

A staff member of University Computing Co. of Palo Alto, Calif., Ward is accused of using a special code and account number to obtain a computer program worth $25,000 from a competing firm.

The prosecution said Ward telephone Information Systems Design, Inc., of Oakland last Jan. 19 and attempted to "pirate the program from ISD."

Information Systems sells its computer services on a time basis to other firms. Cusomers can use the telephone to gain access to the memory banks by identifying themselves with special codes and billing numbers.

The Oakland firm discovered the alleged theft after a customer received some unrequested information and the Univac began spewing data cards for no apparent reason.

Police armed with a search warrant said they found evidence in Ward's office Feb. 15 which corresponded with the stolen program.

Ward, the only firm member charged, surrendered last Feb. 25.

During Friday's hearing, defense counsel Spencer Strellis contended that the program was not a trade secret because its code was printed in a newsletter sent to ISD's customers.

"They could have kept it stored in several ways to make it safe," Strellis argued.

The Oakland firm could have placed a high price on use of the program, "making it economically unfeasible for others to use it," he said.

Judge Levins supported the prosecution's contention that a legitimate trade secret was involved. "ISD regarded the program as secret and the selling of the printout service made available by the program," he declared. "They were not selling the program."

The program in question was to print readouts for Aerojet General Corp. of Sacramento, Calif.

John J. Ford Jr., ISD executive vice president, testified earlier that his company was the main supplier of computer services to Aerojet and that Ward's firm was a backup source.

The specific nature of the program was not disclosed.

Graves Files Suit On Redistricting

HOUSTON (AP) — State Rep. Curtis Graves of Houston filed a federal court suit Friday seeking to overturn redistricting of the state Senate on the grounds of racial bias.

Graves said the new redistricting splits Harris county's Negro residential areas so it would be impossible for a Negro to be elected.

Houston currently has one black state senator, Barbara Jordan, but she plans to run for Congress next year.

The new boundaries were drawn by a special redistricting board after the legislature failed to redistrict the Senate this year.

Graves said the redistricting was done deliberately to dilute black voting and prevent the election of a black senator.

He asked U. S. District Court Judge Carl Bue to throw out the redistricting and to redraw the senatorial districts.

TESCO Sets EmployeEvent

Employes of Texas Electric Service Company in this area will honor members of the company's Quarter Century Club during a meeting at 7 p.m. Monday at the Civic House in Colorado City.

L. T. Keller of the Snyder service center, who completed 25 years of continuous service with the company in January, will be welcomed into the club at the meeting. Mrs. Dorris Shillingburg of the Sweetwater office also is a new member from this area.

The two will be presented club award watches by Burl B. Hulsey Jr., company president. B. L. Brown, division manager, will be the master of ceremonies.

Other members of the company's Quarter Century Club from Snyder are J. E. Blakey and L. H. Hardy.

Safeway Is Remodeling

Safeway, Inc., 1507 Twenty-fifth Street, is busy with a remodelling project.

Tommy Strickland, store manager for the past three months, said the food store will put in a new frozen meat counter and a new fresh meat counter.

Three long counters in the main room will be taken out and replaced with two short cross counters to provide more room for shoppers. Also improvements include a paint job for the interior and higher shelves in the main room.

Strickland came here from Brady where he was employed in a similar capacity. Safeway, Inc. has 16 employes here.

Bates Free From Jail

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — State. Rep. Jim Bates of Edinburg is free without bond today after pleading innocent to an indictment accusing him of harboring stolen property.

Trial was set by District Court Judge Vernon D. Harville for Jan. 17 in 105th District Court.

A grand jury indicted Bates on complaints of receiving a stolen diamond.

Bates was not processed through the sheriff's office when indicted but on a motion Friday by Dist. Atty. William B. Mobley Bates was taken to jail where he was photographed and fingerprinted then released without posting bond.

Defense lawyer Frank Maloney of Austin pressed for a speedy trial but the judge said his docket was filled through most of December.

Much Of Nation Wet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wet weather dampened much of the nation Saturday as rain soaked an area extending from the Carolinas and Middle Atlantic states, across the Ohio Valley and into northeastern Illinois. Heavy fog accompanied the showers in some areas.

Severe thunderstorms persisted in the South, drenching the Southern Plains and the lower Mississippi Valley. A flash-flood watch was posted for sections of eastern North Carolina.

Rain also sprinkled northern California and portions of the Pacific Northwest.

Elsewhere across the nation, fair weather prevailed.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 27 at Flagstaff, Ariz., to 80 at Key West, Fla.

Companies Announce Merger

DALLAS (AP) — Officers of Omega-Alpha, Inc., and Trans-Continental Investing Corp. announced Friday an agreement to merge.

The transaction will involve about $55 million in Omega-Alpha [illegible] stock.

The combined companies would have assets totaling approximately $320 million and sales in the $350 million to $400 million range.

The boards of Omega-Alpha and Transcontinental have approved a merger agreement with Omega-Alpha to be the surviving company, and with James J. Ling as chairman and chief executive officer.

As the initial step in the transaction, Omega-Alpha purchased approximately seven per cent of the outstanding common stock and approximately 51 per cent of the outstanding convertible preference stock of Transcontinental from certain principal shareholders of Transcontinental, including Robert Lifton, chairman.

Ling and Lifton stated that "the agreement is, of course, subject to approval by the stockholders of the respective companies and subject to compliance with certain legal requirements, and any requisite consents of lenders. We ... expect to close the transaction by year end."

Transcontinental is principally engaged in distribution and merchandising of phonograph records and tapes and real estate and finance, including the origination and acquisition of mortgage loans the development and sale of recreational and residential home sites. Transcontinental also owns 44 per cent of the outstanding shares of beneficial interest in Security Mortgage Investors, a real estate investment trust, and 97 per cent of the American Bank of Commerce of Akron, Ohio, which is expected to be exchanged in the near future for preferred stock convertible into approximately 285,000 shares of the common stock of CNB Bancorp, a multi-bank holding company which also controls the Central National Bank of Cleveland, the third largest bank in Ohio.

Omega-Alpha is principally engaged in manufacturing and selling wire and cable products and soft floor covering products.

US Is Confident Of UN Seat For Taiwan

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After weeks of studiously avoiding a prediction of success in the effort to keep Taiwan in the United Nations, the Nixon administration now says it is confident of victory.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and U.N. Ambassador George W. Bush met with President Nixon Friday and told him the United States now appears to have the votes to keep Taiwan from being expelled.

Until Friday, Rogers and other U.S. officials had said only that the vote on China representation would be "very, very, very close" and the United States "hoped it would be able to keep a U.N. seat" for the Taiwan government.

The crucial vote is expected Tuesday when the United States will seek to have an Albanian resolution seeking to expell the Nationalists considered as an "important question," requiring a two-thirds majority.

The American move needs only a simple majority to be successful and that is what Rogers and Bush told Nixon they were confident would be achieved.

The Albanian resolution also calls for seating the mainland Chinese in the U.N., a goal shared by the United States, which has introduced its own resolution to that effect.

If Rogers and Bush are right and the Nationalists keep their seat while the mainland government is brought in as well, it will mark a major comeback for the United States in the representation fight.

Until last week, many diplomats here and at the United Nations expressed strong doubts about the chances for Taiwan. This was reflected by U.S. difficulties in obtaining major cosponsors for its resolutions.

Some sources even said at one early moment they doubted the United States was even fighting very hard for the Taiwan government.

These doubts were replaced late last month by charges by some U.N. representatives that the United States had resorted to strong-arm tactics in order to overcome such sentiments.

As evidence, they claimed Rogers had purposefully overplayed sentiment by some members of Congress that the United States should reconsider its financial support of the U.N. if the Nationalist government were expelled.

But in the last two weeks the American delegation worked hard to convince U.N. members they did not support such sentiment. Instead of threats, the U.S. officials turned to what has become their most telling argument—Taiwan has been a faithful member of the U.N. and its expulsion would be a dangerous precedent.

According to administration sources and foreign diplomats, this has been the turn-about argument that resulted in the new American confidence.

Cleveland To Stay On Route

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Amtrak passenger trains will continue to use Cleveland as a stopping point on their New York-Chicago route after a six-month trial period ends Nov. 11.

An Amtrak spokesman said Thursday that the government has no plans to drop Cleveland from the route, even though the states of Ohio and New York have not come through on their promise to subsidize two-thirds of the losses, expected to be about $1.5 million a year.

A Crusade Workshop for the Western section of District 16, Texas Division of the American Cancer Society was held in Sweetwater Oct. 18 at the First Christian Church. The participating counties were Scurry, Mitchell, Fisher, Nolan and Taylor. Robert Polk of Abilene, Field Representative for the district, coordinated the workshop.

The special meeting had a two fold purpose. A workshop of campaign procedures and professional education, which included distribution of education material. This was the only workshop to promote ACS educational programs held in the state.

The delegates assembled into two groups according to interests. W. R. Rice of Sweetwater, District Campaign Chairman presided at the campaign session. Ways and means for consolidating and extending various areas in campaign procedures were discussed and evaluated. Mrs. Wraymond Sims, local Unit Campaign Chairman and Mrs. Merle Newton, local House to House Chairman for Scurry County attended this session.

Mrs. Travis Rhoades, local Unit President, attended the public education session. This group was chaired by Mrs. Bill Echols of Caddo, District Director.

Various methods of placing ACS educational materials in each county was discussed at great lengths, this applied to schools, business organizations, study-groups and church organizations.

The workshop was held as an educational preparation for a general Crusade Workshop to be held in January of 1972.

The local delegates reported the workshop to be informative, interesting and challenging.

Halloween Is Fun, But Make It Safe

By AP-NEWSFEATURES

Halloween traditions have been around for centuries. While the name Halloween, or Allhallows' Eve is taken from a great Christian feast, most of the Halloween customs came from the Druids, nature worshippers, who, during their new year festival on October 31, tried to placate the lord of death.

The Druids believed that all the spirits of those who had died in the last year were allowed to spend a few hours at their homes on this night. But it was also the night of the full moon and evil spirits also were supposed to be abroad.

Because those evil spirits had their fun by frightening and playing tricks on humans, the mortals would offer them things they liked—dainty foods or sweets. Or a human might dress like a witch or spirit and roam undetected. In this way the tradition of "trick or treat" has been handed down.

But just as Halloween was a dangerous night for the Druids in ancient England, it can also be dangerous to little trick or treaters today, according to the National Safety Council. The major dangers are from falls, fires and pedestrian-car accidents.

Careful selection of Halloween costumes will prevent many accidents, the Council suggests that costumes should be light in color so they can be seen in the dark by motorists. If they are dark, costumes should be decorated with reflective tape or bands.

The costume should be short enough to prevent a child from tripping on it and falling. It should be loose enough to allow a child to wear a sweater or jacket underneath if the weather is cold.

Costumes should be made of a fabric that is not highly flammable or has been treated with flame retardant chemicals. And the little jack o'lanterns that children carry should not have candles in them. Instead, use small flashlights. Trick or treaters should carry flashlights so they can see where they are going.

Since masks can obstruct a child's vision, it is recommended that makeup be used instead. If a little cold cream is applied before the makeup it can be easily removed.

And just before the kids leave home, they should be briefed on the pedestrian safety rules. Young children, however, should always be accompanied by an adult.

In addition to the usual hazards, in the last few years Halloween fun has been marred for many children by sadistic adults who put razor blades in apples, give away laxatives instead of candy or devise other ways of hurting the children. Therefore it is a good idea for children to go only to homes where they are known.

YAMS CREOLE

Looks inviting and tastes good.

6 medium yams, peeled (about 3 pounds)
3 cups water
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 container (8 ounces) heavy cream
Lemon wedges

Cut yams into ¼ by ¼ by 1½-inch strips. Bring water, sugar and salt to a boil in large heavy saucepan or Dutch oven; add yams. Boil for 15 to 20 minutes, stirring often, or until yams are tender. With a slotted spoon remove yams to warm serving dish; keep warm. Stir cream into syrup; boil, stirring often, for 7 to 10 minutes or until mixture is reduced by about half and is thickened. (Mixture will be foamy until removed from heat.) Pour over yams. Garnish each portion with a lemon wedge to be squeezed over yams. Makes 10 servings.

Fall Best Time To Refinish Furniture

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Wirter

Fall is furniture refinishing time for antique buffs and garage sale enthusiasts. The air is dry and cloudy finishes will not result from refinishing a piece in hot, humid weather if you work outdoors.

There are many methods for achieving results whether you antique the piece or paint it, but the most important factors are time and patience. A refinishing program might even extend through the winter whether you are refinishing a good piece or a junk piece. A junk piece can become a thing of beauty if the refinishing program is well-organized.

Here are some ideas:

...Decide whether you are going to use quick methods that are now possible with the number of paint removers and wood refinishing kits available or whether you are going to use the old-fashioned methods. Many people prefer the time-tried techniques because they feel surer of the finish. It is important to assemble everything you are going to use before you begin the project.

...Resolve not to remove the marks of normal usage—slight scratches or even chisel marks that are made in the construction of an old piece. Some semblance of old paint can give a piece character. It is difficult to remove some old paints anyway—buttermilk and red paint mixtures that were used on some old pine pieces is one example—a little of the paint color left when you refinish the piece is another sign of antiquity.

...Pieces in bad condition may need glueing and clamping, and even tourniquets of cord to provide pressure necessary to hold the piece together while loose joints or breaks bond. It takes time and this phase of a project seems unrewarding, but you don't want the piece to fall apart after it is refinished.

...The mat finish which lacks histre has replaced the high glosses once popular as finishes for antiques. A fine finish on an old piece may be little more than stripping it of an existing finish, making repairs, cleaning and waxing it to a lovely light sheen.

...Fill holes or gauges with wood putties or stick shellacs or some of the other available fillers. Purists like to make their own fillers, and these maybe made with silica combined with 2 parts of Japan drier, 2 parts of turpentine and 5 parts of linseed oil tinted with oil color to match the piece. Some people use their own or prepared fillers with a finish of the shellac sticks which come in colors to match the wood. Slight dents may be removed by covering the dents with wool and steam-ironing the area. This should swell the wood and raise the dimple.

...To remove varnish or paint completely from legs, you may make a sandpaper shiner—a long strip of sandpaper cut from the larger piece—using it shoeshine fashion around the leg, exerting pressure.

...If you plan to give a piece of furniture an antique paint finish, it is good to visit museums or antiques shops where painted pieces might be seen for ideas. For example, handsome shadings may be done by feathering in oil colors at the end of flat pieces, bureaus or table tops. You apply the shadings along the edge of the piece, and then you rub it in working from the inside to the outer edge. This is a lovely effect, but you should see it before you do it. Some paint combinations include greyed white backgrounds with feathery maroon or bluish green tinges. One girl used gray and white to get some lovely French grey effects for bedroom furniture.

Exquisite paint techniques can turn some old-fashioned furniture into choice pieces. The wood frames of Victorian and Empire furniture can be painted to match upholstery. Experienced painters can reproduce lattice effects on headboards. And many decorators paint old pieces in dark colors and spackle them. For example, yellow spackling on navy blue or white on black or red on blue or black.

Prepared formulas for painted furniture are available and these offer professional advice. It is a good idea to try any new technique on something expendable, if you are unsure of it.

Before beginning a project, ask youself: Is this piece worth the trouble? If the wood is not worth refinishing to reveal its true grain, painting it may be the answer. Many have proceeded on the theory that the wood is good and after giving the piece seven sandings and seven shellackings to achieve a glossy look, they discover it wasn't worth the effort. In the library there are books illustrating woods and grains. You can sandpaper a section of your piece and study the grain, and decide whether it is worth refinishing the wood or whether it should be painted.

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"It's not a beauty pageant. It's a scholarship for young women." — Miss America, Laurie Lea Schaefer.

"I wish I could put some weight on actually, but I can't. I'm just built thin, and you know, I just don't put on weight." — Model and actress Twiggy.

"No family realizes the emotional strain of that last week before a wedding, unless they're right in the middle of it."—Ellen Proxmire, wife of the senator from Wisconsin and one of the founders of Wonderful Weddings, Inc.

"I don't categorize myself, and I don't like to be categorized by anyone else. I simply sing to the listening ear." — Singer Dionne Warwicke.

"I like the competition. I like it not only in motor racing but also in the other things I like to do. I also like the gamble. For me it's not work. It's a pleasure." — Louis Roberg, 27, mother of three and a professional formula car driver.

"How are you going to catch a stray cat? You going to hire a cat catcher? Ridiculous!" — Mrs. Carlos Luis, housewife commenting on a proposed town referendum that would require leashing of cats in Shakopee, Minn.

Novel Of Veteran Who Finds Violence At Home

FOXWAY. By Richard Jessup. Little, Brown. $6.95.

Terry Foxway, as a very young soldier in Vietnam, had become the coolest, most fearless killer in his outfit. He had based his whole concept of living on one word—"survival."

And coming back to America, returning to school, he followed the same pattern. It was the pragmatic approach: hope and ideals don't count; a man can have his principles and follow them if he wants to, but it doesn't matter very much because events either will happen or not happen. Kismet—fate—in other words.

Then Terry and a girl named Nina fell in love, and Nina is always a little afraid and worried about that cold streak in Terry. Rightly so, for Terry finds there is violence in America too, and reacts to it.

When an envious, unbalanced teacher frames Terry on a trumped up charge of possessing a wisp of marijuana, he is thrown in jail. There he is brutalized by several inmates and a prison guard—and Terry kills the guard with his bare hands. That results, of course, in a murder charge, leading to execution. The plot comes to a very explosive climax, so deeply violent that it strains credulity.

The author is a good writer, as demonstrated previously in "The Cincinnati Kid" and "A Quiet Voyage Home." But he tends to overdraw, and in this novel he has laid it on a bit thick.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

A new indoor plant grower with automatic watering system and light control has been devised to help school children and amateur gardeners grow many types of ornamental plants—and even some vegetables.

The "Cornell Hortarium" developed by Cornell University researchers is intended to make plant growing easy all year, particularly in schools. It also could be used readily in the home and in commercial flower shops.

The floriculture and agricultural engineering experts at Cornell's New York State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences say the planter employs modern techniques of growth chambers used in plant research.

"With this automated setup, anyone with little or no technical knowledge about growing plants can achieve excellent results," says Prof. Robert W. Langhans. He explains that many of the commercial planters already on the market do not provide as high light intensity as Cornell's and the watering systems are not as foolproof.

Cornell's planter resembles a bookcase with three built-in plant trays, two of them equipped with automatic watering systems and filled with sand. Plants, growing in pots, are placed in the wet sand and draw water from it. This system, known as capillary watering, eliminates need for daily watering.

The automatic light control has a time clock. Light is supplied with a series of fluorescent lamps above each plant tray. The lighting fixture may be raised or lowered to favor plant growth.

An artificial soil now available to gardeners is the recommended growing medium. A special fertilizer capsule that dissolves slowly in the soil feeds plants, so no fertilization is required during an entire growing season.

The planter will fit into almost any classroom. It has three vertical gardening areas, one for starting plants from seed or by vegetative propagation, one for growing, and the third a "hardening section" to acclimate plants for a week before they are taken home from school.

Flowering plants, vines and foliage plants of many kinds, lettuce, tomatoes, peppers, radishes and parsley grow well in the planter.

Cornell hopes commercial firms will make available in kit form the expendable materials, such as seeds, fertilizer, pots and growing medium. As a companion unit, a potting bench has been designed—with work and storage areas.

The planter is not available commercially but it can be built in school shops for $60 to $90, depending on size and materials. Plans are available from Lyle L. Wicks, Extension specialist, N.Y. State Department of Education, Albany, or Cornell's Department of Agricultural Engineering, Ithaca, N.Y., 14850.

Leisure Time On The Increase

COLLEGE STATION — Leisure time totaling about 50 hours a year. That's the amount workers have gained since 1960, reports Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

The information results from a U.S. Labor Department study, she explains.

On the average, about 30 hours come from shorter work-weeks, 15 hours from added vacation time and 4 hours from increased holidays.

Vacations have increased from an average 1.8 weeks in 1960 for full-time employees to about 2.2 weeks in 1969, Mrs. Myers continues. And by May 1970, the average work week had declined from 41.5 hours to 39.6 hours.

Labor Department researchers also found the trend toward more overtime work, along with moonlighting, limited use of leisure time. Workers now prefer their leisure in lumps — longer periods at a time — rather than piecemeal bits of extra time added to each day.

DOWN TO THE SEA in clipper ships out of Gloucester and New Bedford went generous supplies of fresh cranberries on trips to the Seven Seas. Seafarers of New England, the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association tells us, realized the benefit of cranberries without knowing that the high vitamin "C" content contributed to their health.

Story Of Love Of Land Over Economic Gain

A TIMELESS PLACE. By Ellen Bromfield Geld. Doubleday. $5.95.

The element of conflict in this novel is between those who want to preserve a fine, unspoiled rural valley in Ohio, and some high pressure real estate promoters who want to carve it up with roads, to build tourist-catching resort spots and to give it the whole "neon light bit."

At the center of this conflict is the big farm of the late Thomas Barr, a famous novelist who also was a strong advocate of soil conservation and wise land use.

After Barr's death his daughter Cass and her husband Dan Fagan, who fortunately has a natural talent for farming, had brought their family to the Barr place and had started an uphill fight to make it a paying proposition.

There are sub-plots involving young Steve Fagan, who worried his parents by enlisting to fight in Vietnam, and young Leah Fagan, who became entangled with a school dropout who was a draft dodger. For comic relief there are a dotty old aunt of the Barr tribe and the bossy wife of one of the promoters.

Some readers will remember that Mrs. Geld is the daughter of the late Louis Bromfield, who like the fictional Thomas Barr was a famous novelist and an early conservationist. Mrs. Geld grew up at Bromfield's renowned Malabar Farm in an Ohio valley.

The author is a good storyteller and she also has a message: that love of the land is far greater than economic gain.

BUD BIGGS

Biggs To Judge Art Exhibition Here

The Snyder Palette Club will host an Art Exhibition October 30 and 31 at the Scurry County Coliseum. The juror for the show will be Mr. Bud Biggs of Richardson, Texas.

Mr. Biggs, a native Dallasite, received his education at the Southern Methodist University and the St. Louis School of Fine Arts. Embarking on his career as an advertising artist in 1930, he still maintains his own advertising art studio from which his love of watercolors is revealed in his illustrations of annual reports, booklets and brochures.

Having studied with some of the foremost watercolorists of America and Europe, Mr. Biggs commissions have taken him over much of the United States, Panama, the Yucatan Peninsula, Mexico, Baja, Calif. and Canada. His paintings have received awards in many watercolor competitions and hung in galleries and private collections, including that of President Lyndon B. Johnson. He also has his works displayed in such business institutions as the Dow Chemical Co. of Freeport, the John E. Mitchell Co., Texas Utilities, Southwestern Airmotive Corp. and many others. He is now executing a commission for the Dallas Federal Savings and Loan Association of the old landmarks of Dallas. Mr. Biggs has recently completed 18 'on the spot' watercolors for the Dresser Industries Corp. 1970 annual report which has been sent to stockholders and subsidiary companies all over the world.

During the past years Mr. Biggs has had his own School and his instructions to beginners and advance students on basic watercolor techniques have been most gratifying to recipients in the Dallas and Richardson areas. Holding frequent workshops in the Southwest and the teaching of watercolors in the Ramon Froman School of Art in Cloudcroft, N. M. for the past four years are just two of Mr. Biggs' achievements. He is a member and past president of the Southwestern Watercolor Society.

In 1967 and 1968 Mr. Biggs traveled in Europe conducting groups of artists and art patrons through the interesting picturesque areas of England and the continent. In 1969 he guided his painters through the exciting places of the Orient, and in 1970 he took his artists into the paintable, unique places of Old Mexico. This summer of 1971 Mr. Biggs escorted painters and non-painters to London, Amsterdam and Dordrecht, Holland, Burges and Brussels, Belgium and to Paris, France.

Recently mail exonerated him.

The bank got a letter dated June 21,1970, and enclosed was a $40 check dated the same day. It apparently had been mailed a year and four months earlier — by the man who lived 12 blocks from the bank.

New Products Now On The Market

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

What's new on the market?

THE PRODUCT—An automatic glue gun with a hot-melt adhesive that achieves a bond in only 30 seconds.

Manufacturer's claim—That the kit which contains the gun also includes glue sticks, caulk sticks, a portable bench stand, reversible storage tray, carrying case and instruction booklet ... that the glue sets by cooling rather than drying and makes a firm bond without clamping or waiting ... that the storage tray provides a place to put the gun while you are working and a place to leave the gun while it cools ... that other advantages are a combination work light-indicator light and automatic glue feed and flow control ... that the glue is strong, flexible and waterproof when used on wood, glass, plastics, porcelain, pottery, ivory, linoleum, fiberglass and concrete.

THE PRODUCT—A rust inhibitor that covers every pit and void in metal as well as its surface.

Manufacturer's claim—That the metal conditioner is effective against rust when used on any metal exposed to corrosive conditions and most acids ... that it elastically stays with the metal through expansion and contraction without chipping or cracking ... that the protective film can be bent and twisted without harm ... that after the metal has been brushed and cleaned in the usual way preparatory to painting, the creeping action of the conditioner will lift most of the remaining specks of rust, scale, dirt and loose paint ... and that the further growth of rust will be prevented.

THE PRODUCT—A new, self-sticking carpet tape.

Manufacturer's claim—That no adhesives, carpet tacks or tacking strips are necessary when the tape is used ... that the tape is laid on the floor in the desired position and that, after the protective liner is removed, the carpet is pressed onto the tape . . that the tape also can be used for holding down runners and tile ... that it can be applied indoors or outdoors at temperatures above 50 degrees Fahrenheit ... and that it can be purchased in 4-yard and 14-yard rolls.

Manufacturer's claim—That the roller tip allows you to make a mistake in measuring and still have the shade fit ... that the tip can be twisted counter-clockwide to add three-quarters of an inch to the roller's length, more than ample to correct most measuring errors ... that a wide range of plastics were tested for the adjustable tip before a special acetal copolymer was chosen ... that the plastic retains critical dimensions under adverse temperatures and humidity conditions, an important requirement because ceiling temperatures in warmer climates sometimes rise to more than 165 degrees.

(Details on how to make 35 household repairs are given in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," which can be obtained by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT — Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Cook of Rosston, Okla. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Wanda Joanne, to H. G. Adams IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Adams III of the XI Ranch, Plains, Kansas. Vows will be exchanged in Laverne, Okla. Dec. 20. The bride-elect is a sophomore majoring in business administration at Northwestern State College, Alva, Okla. The prospective groom is a senior majoring in science and a three year letterman on the Ranger football team at Northwestern State College. Kell is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Keller of Snyder.

Restaurant Has A Breton Flair

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

"In the old days the wealthy made up most of the clientele of the better restaurants around New York," said Andrew Le Moal, as he greeted me in the restaurant his family has run for 35 years.

"But today," he went on, "it's an expense account society, young executives with a down to earth approach. They want food that is simple but good."

And since 1936, the restaurant which bears the Le Moal family name, has been serving just that kind of food, after the style of old Brittany. Run by Madame Rosine and her sons, Andrew and Robert, Le Moal is as warm as it is unpretentious. And I found the food not only inexpensive by today's standards, but very tasty.

Le Moal has two dining rooms—the main one on the ground floor and the attractive Breton Room upstairs. The decor consists of Breton wood carvings and heavy painted china.

Chef Oscar Caucci turns out Breton specialties that are both imaginative and authentic. There is a wide variety of French provincial dishes from mussels mariniere to scallops a la Le Moal and a tripe a la mode de. Caen which won a prize in a national chef contest.

"Today the accent seems to be on fish for lunch, possibly because most diners are watching their waistlines," said Andrew. "There are not as many fancy entrees as there were in the old days."

But there still are a few, such as Le Moal's Poulet Archduc, or chicken sauteed, then blazed with Cognac and simmered in cream. But don't forget that the restaurant serves dinner as well and that's when patrons expand a little.

Here is the restaurant's recipe for scallops as they cook them in Nantes.

SCALLOPS A LA "LE MOAL"

1½ pounds bay scallops
2 chopped onions
pinch of thyme
pinch of tarragon
2 tablespoons fresh chopped parsley
1 clove garlic slivered
2 cups dry white wine
1 cup bread crumbs
1½ cups butter
salt and pepper to taste

Saute onions in half the butter. Add apices and garlic and simmer 15 minutes. Poach scallops in the wine for 5 minutes and add to onions. Cook 10 minutes more. Remove from fire, add breadcrumbs, butter and parsley. Place mix in a casserole and brown in a 450-degree oven about 5 minutes. Serves 6 persons. Good with a chilled white Graves.

Unusual Proposal

The friend wasn't there, but a small plane flew past trailing a 155-foot sign: "Wendy Folliot, will you marry me? Love, Tom."

Wendy, 24, was speechless. She thrust out her left hand, and Tom put an engagement ring on her finger.

New Course

AUSTIN (AP) — The way in which Mexican-Americans fit in the political system—how they participate and behave politically, and how the larger community has reacted to them—is the subject of a new course at the University of Texas.

"Mexican - American Politics," an undergraduate course proposed by the UT Center for Mexican - American studies, is being taught in the government department.

Prof. Clifton McCleskey selected Armando Gutierrez, a doctoral student who is a teaching assistant in the government department, to conduct the two classes sections in which 130 are enrolled.

Q.—Our house has stucco walls. Within the past year, cracks have started to develop around several of the windows. Please tell me how these cracks can be patched?

A.—Before making any repairs, you must first make certain that the cracks are not gradually getting longer. If they are, your repair job won't last too long. Using a chalk or pencil that will not be washed away by rain, make small marks at the ends of the cracks. Keep an eye on them for a week or two. When the cracks have not lengthened beyond the marks, you can be reasonably sure they will not get any longer.

Make each crack wider than it is, undercutting the edges so that the gap is wider at the bottom than the top. This will permit the patching material to hold in place. Use one of the ready-mixed combinations of cement and sand, adding water to make the mixture workable. Wet the crack thoroughly, then pack in the mixture with a trowel, smoothing it out on the surface. Wet the crack at least once a day for several days. If you wish to make your own mixture, use one part of cement to three parts of sand.

Q.—One night when we were having company, my wife put a hot dish on our dining room table. But first she put a sheet of newspaper under it. When the dish was removed, the paper was stuck solidly to the table, which has a wooden top, probably varnished. We've washed it several times with soap and water, but can't get it all off and we are afraid to use any chemical for fear of damaging the table. Is there some way the paper can be removed safely?

A.—Try saturating the paper with olive oil. Let it sink in for several minutes, then rub vigorously with a clean cloth. You may have to repeat the treatment several times.

Q.—We had a blacktop driveway put down at the beginning of the summer. It is still in good condition, but I have been told that it will be damaged considerably during the winter when moisture gets into it and freezes. Is there any way to prevent this?

A.—The information you got is generally correct. It does not always happen, but it occurs frequently enough to make it worthwhile to take steps to prevent it. Buy a can of blacktop sealer and spread it on the blacktop with a long-handled brush. Do it when the driveway will not be in use for at least 24 hours, preferably 48. Take a rough measurement of how much blacktop must be sealed, then ask your dealer to give you a sufficient amount to cover it.

Crocodile Eggs Found In Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — A clutch of 52 crocodile eggs, believed to be the largest found in Ceylon, has been reported by the Game Ranger of Ruhunu National Park, the sprawling wild life reserve in the south of the Island.

The nest was a 2½-foot high mound of logs, sticks, dry leaves and grass.

The crocodile is not generally hunted in Ceylon, despite the value of its skin, but authorities here believe it is not multiplying as fast as it might.

THROUGH THE GRAPEVINE comes the message from the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association that quality in grapes is indicated by well-formed clusters and good color. When ripe, darker varieties should be free of green tinge; whiter grapes show a slight amber blush. Enjoy the fine grapes in season now.

Chocolate Caramels

CHOCOLATE CARAMELS

Soft and not overly sweet.

1 can (14 to 15 ounces) sweetened condensed milk
1 cup light corn syrup
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 squares (each 1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate
1 teaspoon vanilla

Grease 8 by 8 by 2 inch cake pan. In a heavy 2-quart saucepan mix together 1-3rd cup of the condensed milk, corn syrup, sugar, butter and salt. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, to 235 degrees on a candy thermometer or until syrup, when dropped into very cold water, forms a soft ball that flattens on removal from water. Stir in remaining condensed milk slowly enough to keep mixture boiling. Stir in chocolate, 1 square at a time. Continue boiling mixture until temperature again reaches 235 degrees. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Pour into prepared pan. Cool. Turn out. Cut into 1-inch squares with a sharp knife. Wrap each piece in plastic wrap. Makes 64.

Witch Seats

ST. PETER PORT, Guernsey (AP) — Those stone blocks sticking out of the walls of some of the old houses in Guernsey are not evidence of faulty workmanship—they're witches seats.

The old folk on this British Channel Island off the coast of France knew that witches got tired on their flights around the island and needed somewhere to rest.

Householders who did not provide these handy seats were likely to incur the witches' anger. If they found nowhere to perch when they were weary, the witches would go into the houses and create havoc.

Twiggy Makes Debut

By AP Newsfeatures

It used to be just Twiggy the skinny model, but now, that same Twiggy is an actress too. In the film version of the play, "The Boyfriend," Twiggy makes her acting debut. She both sings and dances in the movie, although she had no prior training in either.

While making "The Boyfriend," Twiggy had a chance to speak her mind on a number of subjects. Following are some of her statements:

On London—"We've been to most big cities around the world, and to me London is the greatest place in the world. I hate it when they say 'swinging London' and all that. That was just a terrible name it was given."

On her slender figure—"I wish I could put some weight on actually, but I can't. I'm just built thin, and you know, I just don't put on weight."

Oh clothes of today, compared to those of the 20's, when "The Boyfriend" is set—"You can't get fabrics today like they made then. You don't get the same workmanship. Most of the beautiful stuff then was hand made and all hand printed and it was fantastic."

On the 20's—"It happens to be my favorite period. If I could have lived any time and been very rich, I'd have loved to have lived in the '20's."

On her role in "The Boyfriend"—"It's the girl—the lead girl who's at a finishing school in the South of France."

Achievements in her life—"The main thing in anything is being happy, really happy. Because to me, you can have so much ambition, but what good is that if you're not happy?"

Methadone Used To Block 'Heroin Hunger'

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A widespread, almost unprecedented drug industry-government research quest may take shape to find safer, non-addicting and more long-lasting substitutes for the controversial drug methadone in the war against herion addiction.

Two-pronged goal of the proposed venture is to:

—Develop "heroin antagonists" that would thwart heroin addiction for anywhere from a week to more than a month with a single dose, compared with once-a-day requirements for methadone.

—Possibly even develop a "vaccine" for more or less permanent protection against heroin addiction.

Methadone is the narcotic drug already being given to about 30,000 of the nation's 250,000 to 315,000 heroin addicts to block their "heroin hunger."

The White House, among others, has called lately for a major but strictly controlled expansion of methadone's use.

Like heroin itself, methadone is highly addictive and is vulnerable to illicit traffic. It, too, can be a killer if improperly used.

A new variety of methadone has been developed—rated as effective for up to 72 hours, compared with 24 hours for the present form. But it is still in relatively short supply and has the same potential dangers as conventional methadone.

The idea to join forces for a new anti-heroin weapon came from the drug industry, which proposed pooling research skills and facilities by 123 of the country's fiercely competitive pharmaceutical manufacturing firms.

The government has been invited but has made no commitment.

Antitrust laws would have to be eased to get the heroin research started. The White House and other proponents are working to remove roadblocks and drug industry leaders say they are confident the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission will give their okay.

Meanwhile, although strongly backing the proposed new research venture to find substitutes for methadone, the White House's new Special Action Office for Drug Abuse Prevention—created by President Nixon by executive order—is pushing for expanded use of methadone.

The head of the office, Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe, concedes that methadone in any form is by no means the perfect answer. But Jaffe and his aides say they hope to have new treatment and rehabilitation facilities reach up to 100,000 heroin addicts over the next three years—with methadone playing a large role.

The ultimate goal is to reach at least 150,000 to 175,000 addicts—two-thirds of the total—and others who might develop the habit during coming years.

Jaffe said in an interview that, for the lack of something better, "we're surviving with methadone—and it's useful."

He said his office believes that methadone-maintenance, used as an adjunct to psychiatric and other drug-free methods, is better than anti-heroin programs employing drug-free methods alone.

Estimates are that it costs a heroin addict $10,000 yearly to finance his craving—and that he must steal up to $50,000 in jewels and other goods to get that kind of money from a "fence," unless he steals it in cash, or, in the case of a prostitute, makes it on her job.

It costs about $1,000 yearly to maintain an addict on methadone.

Methadone is a synthetic opiate developed by German scientists during World War II, and uncovered by an Allies, scientific team during the initial occupation of conquered Germany.

It was designed originally as a new form of analgesic—a pain-killer—but, in the mid-1960s, it was also found capable of blocking a given heroin addict's craving for the drug, and his ability to get "high" on it.

Dr. Vincent P. Dole of Rockefeller University, New York, and Dr. Marie Nyswander, his wife, pioneered the clinical use of the drug as a heroin-blocker in 1964. They have remained among its most outspoken proponents, claiming a high percentage of success in getting hard-core addicts to kick or reduce their habit, and return to jobs or school.

But, until recently at least, the drug has had a stormy history, with some doctors arguing that its use merely means substituting one addictive narcotic for another.

Other opponents have said that addicts chosen from the still-experimental program are so carefully screened, and so highly motivated, that it would be hard not to succeed. They say psychological, drug-free treatment methods alone could succeed with such people.

Despite criticism, however, investigational use of methadone as a heroin blocker has steadily expanded since 1964 in government supported or private programs. Today there are about 300 projects throughout the country—serving an estimated 30,000 heroin addicts.

President Nixon asked for expansion of the methadone-management program recently in asking Congress for $155 million more in the current fiscal year for treatment and prevention of drug abuse.

His request would raise to $370 million the government's proposed fiscal 1972 spending on anti-drug plans. The President has also urged that legislative status be given to his newly created special action committee aimed at preventing drug abuse.

So far, methadone has been permitted only experimentally, but Dr. Elther A. Gardner of the Bureau of Drugs in the Food and Drug Administration said in an interview the FDA may change this "relatively soon ... possibly within the next several months."

Feedlot Cattle Up Two Percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of cattle and calves being fattened for slaughter as of Oct. 1 totaled 10,661,000 head in 23 major producing states, up two per cent from a year earlier, says the Agriculture Department.

Placements of cattle in feedlots during the July-September quarter totaled 6,327,000 head, three per cent more than the year-earlier rate, the Crop Reporting Board said.

Officials said feeders expect to sell for slaughter from Oct. 1 inventories an estimated 5,866,000 head during the October-December quarter, down one per cent from the period last year.

The report showed Texas as the leading cattle feeder, continuing a trend started earlier this year, with 1.6 million head on fed as of Oct. 1, up 13 per cent from a year earlier.

Junior Editors Quiz on SODA

QUESTION: Why does soda fizz?

ANSWER: When soda comes out of the tap at the soda fountain it is effervescent or bubbling water. The same is true of soda water contained in a bottle. The reason for the activity of soda water is the fact that it is composed of carbon dioxide gas which has been compressed into a liquid. The name soda water is used because at one time bicarbonate of soda was used in manufacturing the carbon dioxide gas.

Carbon dioxide is a colorless and odorless gas so called because each molecule of the gas is made up of one atom of carbon joined with two atoms of oxygen. This gas is found in such rocks as limestone and marble. Carbon dioxide seems to be ever present in nature. It is found in the atmosphere, humans breathe out carbon dioxide and plants give off some at night. When coal, wood or gasoline burns, carbon dioxide is formed. When animal or vegetable matter decays, carbon dioxide is created.

The reason for the fizz of soda when ice is added is the fact that the water content of the ice combines with the carbon dioxide, there is a chemical reaction. If one adds water to a soda, it starts to fizz.

Health Field Is Changing

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I was wondering if you could send me a list of, and information on many different paramedical careers – which ones there are, and what is required to enter each. I'm a high school senior and anxious to obtain this information. Thank you. – I.K.,, Camden, N.J.

Health is a fluid, rapidly changing field with new job areas constantly being created. Prospects in allied health careers are good now. But the passage of a much discussed national health insurance program (any version . . . when and if it happens) could make this field "take off" as did engineering after Sputnik in the late '50s.

And health jobs, unlike government-related engineering jobs, are not seriously affected by the ups and downs of defense or exploration spending. More on health careers in future columns. Right now . . .

YOU'RE IN LUCK! The National Health Council has just revised its leaflet: "Where To Get Health Career Information." This lists quite a few of the many allied health career fields you may want to explore, and includes names and addresses of organizations where you can write for information.

Educational requirements for the careers listed range from a few months of on-the-job training following high school graduation to several years of college and/or specialized training.

This leaflet is just coming off the presses now, and, as soon as it's available, a single free copy will be sent to readers who send me a long white, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address your request to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper, and write "Health Careers" on your outside envelope. Sorry, if you forget the return envelope, I can't send you the leaflet.

Space prevents a complete listing of all 200-300 health careers. (The count is not precise because new specializations are being added, and because of classification variances.) Not all these occupations will be included in the new National Health Council leaflet but here is a selected list, grouped by function:

ASSISTANT and technical work: dental assistant, dental hygienist, dental laboratory technician, electrocardiograph (EKG) technician, electroencephalograph (EEG) technician, laboratory assistant, medical assisiant, radiologic (X ray) technologist.

FINE ARTS and photography: graphic arts specialist, medical illustrator, medical photographer, dance therapist, music therapist.

ADMINISTRATION and business: comprehensive health analyst and planner, hospital accountant, hospital administrator, hospital purchasing agent, hospital unit manager, health administrator, medical record librarian, medical group manager.

CLERICAL and secretarial work: hospital office worker, admitting clerk, insurance clerk, ward clerk/ward secretary.

EDUCATION and communications: health educator, peripatologist (mobility instructor), health information specialist, hospital librarian, hospital public relations director, medical librarian, science writer, technical writer.

What job fields interest you most? Where can you write to find out about various careers or small business opportunities? For answers to questions affecting YOUR future, send career topic suggestions to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper. The most interesting and frequently asked questions will be printed as space permits. Mrs. Kennedy regrets that the volume of mail makes personal replies impossible.

TO PERFORM HERE OCT. 30 — The Cowsills, well-known singing group, will present a program here Saturday evening, Oct. 30, under sponsorship of the Snyder High School Choirs. The program is set for 6:30 p.m. in the SHS Auditorium.

Vietnamese Is Texas Student

By RICHARD BEENE
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Just a year ago, a petite young lady from Saigon was sighting down an M16 rifle as she trained in the South Vietnamese Air Force. Today she has her sights set on a nursing career.

"When I went to training camp, everyone asked me why I joined the Air Force. I was so young to join the Air Force," Miss Nguyen Thi Thanh Binh said with a shy smile.

"I told them, 'Because I would like to be a nurse.'"

Miss Binh was only 19 then.

Now a warrant officer at the age of 20, she is enrolled in a four-year nursing program at Incarnate Word College here under the sponsorship of the U.S. Air Force.

She and four other Vietnamese women arrived here in August, joining 12 who began the program a year ago.

When she receives her degree, she will return to her homeland as a nurse in the South Vietnamese Air Force. After military service, she hopes to work in a civilian hospital.

Why did she choose a nursing career?

"I think being a nurse is suitable to my characteristics, my manner. Because I like to take care of others."

She paused. "And I think a nurse would be a very good housewife."

Like thousands of other college freshmen, Miss Binh confessed she's homesick. She said it will be at least two years, perhaps longer, before she can return home for a visit.

She has a Vietnamese roommate and has met some of the South Vietnamese students at the English language school here at Lackland Air Force Base.

She's run into a few problems, just as any foreign tourist would, like mastering U.S. currency.

But one of the most perplexing problems is finding Vietnamese food. She and the other girls have had to settle for a nearby Chinese restaurant.

Miss Binh, who learned English in high school and speaks it quite well, says English is still her hardest subject here—even more difficult than her chemistry and biology courses.

Miss Binh was born in North Vietnam but her family migrated to the south in 1954.

Baptists Meeting In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal aid to Baptist institutions is expected to be a main topic of messengers (delegates) to the 1.9 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas this week.

Messengers also will consider at the three-day meeting beginning Tuesday a record budget of $15,250,000 for the cooperative program, Baptists' major channel of support for worldwide missions causes.

On Wednesday night, messengers will take time out from debating to join five other conventions in what is billed as a "spiritual spectacular" in the Astrodome.

The Rev. Jimmy Allen of San Antonio, convention president, said indications are that the Astrodome may be filled to its 50,000 capacity for the joint evangelistic meeting.

Most of the other conventions will be holding sessions in Houston before and after the joint Astrodome meeting.

The six conventions include nearly 2.5 million black, Spanish-speaking and Anglo Baptists in Texas.

In addition to the Baptist General Convention of Texas, the other five conventions are the Baptist Progressive State Convention with 37,000 members, mostly black; Mexican Baptist Convention, 45,000; Missionary Baptist General Convention of Texas, 180,000, mostly black; and Baptist Missionary and Education Convention, 110,000, mostly black.

The Baptist General Convention of Texas executive board approved federal loans and grants for its nine hospitals by a narrow margin at its September meeting, but the final decision belongs to messengers at the convention here.

Also coming before the messengers will be requests by the University of Corpus Christi and Memorial Baptist Hospital System of Houston for release from convention control. The primary issue with the Houston hospital, said its administrator Wilson Turner, is having non-Baptist trustees on its board.

Turner said the hospital needs a complete new plant, with the first phase costing $40 million.

"We feel we can get $15 million from the community if we have non-Baptist board members," he said.

The executive board approved government grants and loans at its last meeting, but rejected non-Baptist trustees for its institutions as well as a proposed plan for separating hospitals from the convention under emergency conditions.

The Cowsills To Appear At SHS

The Cowsills, well-known singing group, will appear here for a program next Saturday evening, Oct. 30, under sponsorship of the Snyder High School Choirs.

The group will stop off here just long enough to put on the program from 6:30 p.m. to 7:45 p.m.

Tickets are priced at $2 each and they may be purchased from Snyder High School Choir members, or they may be purchased at the door on the night of the performance.

The Cowsills, who have appeared on many television shows, also have appeared at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas and at the San Remo Music Festival in Italy. They are equally well-known for some of the television commercials in which they have appeared.

Their TV appearances have included all of the night talk shows.

Known as one of the most unique entertaining groups in the country, they began their career at home as a family amusement and nothing more. Like the seven dwarfs, they whistled while they worked. They all worked while the father, Bud Cowsill, was away from home serving in the U. S. Navy, finally retiring after his 20-year hitch.

The mother, Barbara, had her hands full with her seven children to raise, but all pitched in and helped.

Bob and Bill started the musical ball rolling by taking up the guitar at an early age. Harry soon joined them on drums, later switching to the bass guitar when John became the drummer. The quartet performed for many functions, but in 1967 they decided they needed a female voice in the group, turning immediately to Mother Barbara. Next to join the group was young Susan Cowsill, and then finally, Paul Cowsill who had been working behind the scenes. Bill recently left the group to produce records and continue his career as a single act, and Dick, Bob's twin, has never been a member of the singing group, and has lived in Newport, R. I., since his return from Vietnam.

New Sonic Drive-In To Open Tuesday

Sonic Drive-In, 4100 College Avenue, is Snyder's newest business. It will be operating at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Owner of the firm is Dick Moles, who moved here from Weatherford where he was assistant manager of a similar business.

The Sonic Drive-In will have a 24-car electronic ordering system. You can sit in your car and place your order. The parking spaces also are covered with a canopy to shield the customers from the sun and rain.

"Primarily, we'll sell hamburgers, steaks, fish sandwiches and hot dogs," said Moles. He pointed out the Sonic Drive-In makes its own French fries and onion rings.

The drive in will be open from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. on weekdays and from 10 a.m. until midnight on Fridays and Saturdays.

Moles and his wife, Twilla, are parents of two children: Chuck, 9, and Jo Beth 3. The family resides at the College Park Apartments. They are Baptists. Dick's wife will manage the Drive-in during the day.

Rookie outfielder Willie Montanez of the Philadelphia Phillies played eight games with the California Angels at age 18 in 1966.

Cullar To Give Program Here

C. Warren Cullar, assistant professor of art at Western Texas College will present a program for the Snyder Chapter of the South Plains Archaeological Society at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 28, in the basement of the Snyder Savings and Loan Association.

Prof. and Mrs. Cullar will present a program on the Chupicuaro culture of Mexico. They will exhibit part of their collection of pottery, projectiles, tools and personal adornment objects. They will also show slides of the area in Mexico where the Chupicuaros lived, and the Cullars will show a film they made this past summer of a family group making baskets.

The Cullars lived in Mexico on three different occasions. They both received their Master of Fine Arts degrees from the Instituto Allende, San Miguel de Allende, Guanajuato, Mexico.

Higher Farm Subsidies Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's plan to cut back on feed-grain production next year could mean a record high for total government farm payments under the various commodity and conservation programs operated by the Agriculture Department.

Unofficial estimates put the 1972 cost total for all programs at nearly $3.9 billion, compared with around $3.3 billion this year and $3.7 billion in 1970.

The main factor in the expected rise next year is the 1972 feed-grain plan, estimated to cost a maximum of $2 billion.

Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin, announcing the 1972 feed program last week, said the goal is to spend less, around $1.8 billion for getting more land out of production of corn, sorghum and barley.

But Hardin conceded under questioning that the program costs might be more if officials decided early next year more land needs to be diverted from production.

This year the feed program is expected to cost $1.2 billion or less, depending on final payments to farmers for complying with 1971 provisions.

The other major programs are for cotton and wheat, which got $825 million and $872 million, respectively, this year. For 1972 cotton payments are expected to be at the same level, but wheat is expected to run $899 million.

Thus, the three commodities in 1972 are estimated to cost a total of $3.5 billion, compared with less than $2.9 billion for 1971.

In addition, the USDA makes payments under a variety of other programs, including the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (formerly the Agricultural Conservation Program) the Wool Act and the Sugar Act.

Those currently are running at a yearly rate of about $370 million in payments to participating farmers.

The feed-grain program for 1972 is designed to curb production and help maintain farm income. Hardin said the goal is for a corn output next year of 4.5 billion bushels, compared with the record 5.4 billion estimated for 1971.

To get the reduction, Hardin says farmers will have to retire 38 million acres from production next year, compared with 18.2 million set aside in 1971.

If the plan works, officials think the corn surplus at the beginning of the new feed marketing year on Oct. 1, 1972 will be about 1.3 billion bushels.

Total 1971-72 corn use is estimated at 4.8 billion bushels or 400 million more than last season.

The administration, counting on the increased use, also is counting heavily on farmers using the government's price support appratus for removing corn from cash market competition.

Hardin pointed out that recently USDA approved extended farm storage of corn under loan for the past three crops, 1969 through 1971, until May 31, 1973.

In effect, that will lock from the market some 600 million bushels of corn during the next 17 months. As a result of the storage, the higher feeding use and the cutback for 1972, Hardin thinks farmers can expect improved corn prices for next fall's harvest.

The 1972 feed program is aimed also at improving the Republicans' image in next year's presidential election among farm-belt voters.

"Do you think this package will result in a better election prospect for the Republicans near year?" Hardin was asked.

"I would hope so," he replied.

FALLING LEAVES

Falling leaves—aimlessly they drift to earth as they usher in the season of Thanksgiving and winter. They descend and die. Left to the mercy of the elements, they disintegrate and go back to earth. Unforgetable in life but they are wasted away in death.

Godless lives are much the same. For they too, drift without direction. They look without finding, strive without succeeding, reach without grasping, exist without knowing why. They are alive but not living...wasted in life and forgotten in death.

In Isaiah, Chapter 35, we can learn more of this mirage, this rendezvous with death. As leaves must cling to the tree to survive, so must lives cling to God. Falling leaves have lived and died. Godless lives have died.

US Flag Ships Having Trouble Signing Crews

By JIM BARLOW
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — American flag ships which dock at Texas ports defying the International Longshoreman's Association strike can't get crews to sail, a Lykes Bros. Steamship Co. executive said Friday.

R. E. Berkfeld, vice president for the West Gulf of the firm, said members of the Masters, Mates and Pilots Union have been ordered by their union not to sign on ships for foreign voyages.

"The mates don't want to strike. They want to sail. But they get their orders from New York and New York is threatening their pension rights if they don't go along," Berkfeld charged.

R. N. Polumbo, representative of the deck officers union here, which represents most deck officers on American ships, would only say that the union "has made its feelings known to the shipowners."

The deck officers union is currently in the process of merging with the ILA. The Longshoreman's union has struck Atlantic and Gulf ports since Oct. 1.

All Texas ports, with the exception of Beaumont, and the port of Lake Charles, La., have refused to go along with the strike, despite three strike orders from Gleason.

Berkfeld said he asked the deck officers why they refused to sign for voyages and he was told it was because of "instructions from their union in New York. There's no work grievance. The longshoreman's boss is mad at the boys down here."

The Lykes official said the national deck officers union had been asking their members not to sign on for about a week but had only succeeded Wednesday when the S. S. Joseph Lykes docked here.

One member of the officers union who asked that his name not be used said the local representative approached him last week but that he refused until he was given a letter from the union telling him not to sign on.

The member said letters were given to the officers on the Joseph Lykes.

"Most of the officers here don't agree with the shutdown," the member said. "I feel like we're cutting our own throats. The foreign ships are still running."

Berkfeld said the refusal by U.S. deck officers "just means that American ships are knocked out of the ballpark and cargo is going to foreign flag ships."

Port Houston officials said only about one-sixth of the ships which call at this port—the nation's third-largest—are American ships.

The Houston pilots, who guide ships in and out of port, are not members of the union.

Census Stirs Up Storm In Italy

By DAVID MAZZARELLA
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — The government is conducting the first national head count in 10 years but some Italians are protesting that the census taker also is after information about extramarital sex and tax dodging.

One question on the 18-page form asks whether each member of the family was at home between Oct. 23 and 24, or "temporarily absent." It asks further whether any person not living at the address was "temporarily present" on the same night.

"This question can be embarrassing in not a few cases," complained il Messaggero of Rome. Thomas Bucciarelli of Rome, head of the Rights Commission of the International Union of Lawyers, said the question should be eliminated. The census, he said, "violates... the last frontier of private life."

Giuseppe De Meo, 65, president of the government statistics institute that is conducting the census, replied that the question was to find out exactly how many Italians there were on a certain date and to avoid double counting.

"When a group of people wants to be photographed it has to come together and keep still for an instant," he said.

He said a recent census in Holland asked explicitly about sex habits. "What would Italians have said to that?"

If there is anything an Italian treats with as much reserve as his sex life, it is his tax status. In this area the questionnaire ran into more criticism.

Detailed questions about the size and quality of living quarters and about employment brought fears, as the left-wing Rome paper Paese Sera said, "that the computer of the census takers is a buddy of the one of the tax collector."

Italians notoriously evade taxes, a portion of which are levied according to living style.

The Finance Ministry on Friday pronounced itself "deeply indignant" over insinuations that it would use the census for tax information. The census results, it said, will be treated with "the most absolute secrecy."

The statistics instituted agreed. "What the citizen declares," it said, "cannot be released even to the president of the republic, not to speak of the Finance Ministry."

Institute President De Meo said the state simply wanted to find out what Italians do for a living, how educated they are, how many live in substandard quarters, and how they commute to work.

All very well, said Milan's Corriere Della Sera, but for the poor and uneducated, the questions are "humiliating."

Floating Rate Breaks Old Banking Tradition

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — One of American banking's most formidable policies—the fixed prime lending rate—came under assault within banker's own ranks this past week.

First National City Bank, biggest bank in New York and second largest in the nation, broke with a 37-year tradition and adopted a so-called floating interest rate on loans to its biggest and best corporate borrowers.

Prime rate developments had monopolized prime time all week on the intricate economic network that links banks, industry, government and just plain people.

Since banks started setting the prime rate by agreement in 1934, this interest charge has been of great concern to the government because of its close relationship to the ups and downs of the economy. It has dictated, to some extent, how much interest you pay when you buy a house or a car.

First National City's top executives disclosed on Monday at the American Bankers Association convention in San Francisco that they were seriously considering shifting from the fixed prime rate to a floating rate in order to achieve flexibility in the open market.

There was conditional support from such leading bankers as A.W. Clausen, president of San Francisco's Bank of America, and Hulbert S. Aldrich, vice chairman of New York's Chemical Bank.

On Wednesday, Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York initiated a cut in the prime rate to 5¾ per cent from 6 per cent because demand for loans was slack. Many major banks across the country went along with identical reductions.

On Thursday, First National City announced it was abandoning the fixed rate in favor of a rate pegged to interest charges on short-term corporate borrowings on the open market.

First National City said that, effective Monday, Oct. 25, it would adopt a base rate of 5¾ per cent which would be reviewed weekly and adjusted to reflect money market rates prevailing for the five previous business days.

President Nixon this past week sent to Congress legislation designed to implement Phase 2 of his inflation-fighting economic policy, but details of restraints this country will live under are yet to be made known.

Nixon asked Congress to give him authority to control interest rates and corporate dividends in addition to wages and prices.

Phase 2 is scheduled to go into effect Nov. 13 upon expiration of the President's original 90-day wage-price freeze.

Among economic developments this past week were government reports that industrial production rose in September for the first time since last May, and that housing starts in September declined from the record level that prevailed through the summer.

UT Regents Approve Projects

AUSTIN (AP) — Two major building projects totaling $24.5 million at the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston have been approved by the UT-System Board of regents.

The regents also approved at a Friday meeting $3 million projects at each of three schools: UT-Dallas, UT-San Antonio and the UT Marine Science Institute at Port Aransas.

The medical school projects are a six-floor addition to the John Sealy Hospital, $14.5 million, and a children's hospital, $10 million.

The UT-Dallas expenditure will raise the total estimated cost for construction and site development at the new school to $25,042,000. The regents said $1,010,000 was earmarked to cover escalating building costs and $1,990,000 provides for the "reallocation of funds previously committee to the project from other sources."

The $3 million for UT-San Antonio is to cover an expansion "in laboratory facilities, moveable equipment, fixed equipment bookstore facilities, additional student recreational facilities and physicals education facilities."

The additional cost raises the total estimated construction and site development cost of the new school to $36,522,000.

The facilities of the marine institute will be doubled by the extra $3 million approved for that school.

Wells Logged

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission reported Saturday that 75 oil wells and 12 gas wells were completed during the past week in Texas.

That raised the total oil well completions for the year to 3,467 compared with 3,698 a year ago, and gas well completions to 881 compared with 1,129 at this time in 1970.

The commission said 190 wells were plugged, including 54 dry holes.

Three wildcat oil wells were drilled—one each in San Antonio District No. 1, the Houston District and the San Angelo District. One wildcat gas well was drilled, in the Kilgore District.

UT Grads Are Honored

AUSTIN (AP) — Four graduates of the University of Texas who went on to notable achievements were honored Friday night at the distinguished alumnus awards ceremony.

Man Charged In Heroin Overdose

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — A man has been charged with murder in the death earlier this month of a 17-year-old girl from an overdose of heroin, Dist. Atty. Elbert Watrous said Tuesday.

Watrous said the indictment handed down by a county grand jury against Clifford Johnson, 34, was first in the state in connection with a heroin overdose.

Johnson had been charged Thursday with second-degree sale of a dangerous drug—a felony—to the girl, Debra LaLonzo. Her body was found Oct. 8 in a parking lot behind a laundry, police said.

North Texas Eligible For Disaster Relief

DALLAS (AP)—Recent heavy rains in parts of North Texas have made Dallas, Tarrant and adjacent counties eligible for federal disaster relief funds, a government official said Friday. Loans become available today in Fort Worth.

Fred Newman, regional administrator of the Small Business Administration, said the designation as a disaster area will make available money to homeowners and business firms to restore personal, home or business property to as close to pre-disaster condition as possible.

Loans on homes up to $50,000 will be available in addition to $10,000 on personal property and furnishings with a maximum loan to one victim to be no more than $55,000.

Businesses, he said, may borrow up to $500,000 under the plan.

The SBA will begin processing the loans today in Fort Worth with loans being available Tuesday in Dallas.

PRESENTS SCHOLARSHIP — Mrs. Jessie White (center), president of the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association, Division 50, presents a check for $125 scholarship to Gene Robertson, director of occupational and technical education at Western Texas College. Also present is Mrs. Charles Tyer, treasurer of the Association. The scholarship will be for the nursing program at the college.

Scholarship Presented To WTC By LVN Assn.

The Licensed Vocational Nursing Association of Snyder, Division 50, has presented a $125 scholarship to the Licensed Vocational Nursing Program at Western Texas College, Gene Robertson, WTC director of occupational and technical education, has announced.

Mrs. Jessie White, president of the Snyder LVN Association, and Mrs. Charles Tyer, treasurer, presented the scholarship to Robertson in a brief ceremony at the college. The local LVN Association served in an advisory capacity when WTC was seeking to establish the LVN degree program.

Mrs. Tyer, who is also LVN State Education Committee representative for Division 50, expressed pleasure at the progress WTC is making toward establishing its LVN program and told Robertson that the week of Oct. 25-30 has been proclaimed State LVN week by Governor Preston Smith. The local LVN Association will attend the LVN convention in Galveston, Oct. 28-30.
