Hirohito Ousts Army, Navy Chiefs Of Staff After Heavy Setback

Japs Lose Five Islands, Scores Of Ships, Hundreds Of Planes In Disastrous Week; Yank Invaders Closing In On Eniwetok

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

Lightning blows by American land, sea and air forces which cost the enemy 19 to 26 ships and 201 planes in the Truk assault alone, brought a shakeup in the Japanese high command today.

Emperor Hirohito relieved the chiefs of the army and navy general staffs of their commands, radio Tokyo announced, following Japan's most disastrous week of the war she started at Pearl Harbor 26 months ago.

The Japanese, in those seven explosive days, not only lost five islands — the South Pacific Green group; scores of ships and hundreds of planes, but learned the Allies could hit out with multiple strikes simultaneously at key Nipponese bases from Rabaul to the Marshalls.

Carrying forward the successive offensive in the Central Pacific, American fighting men closed in on Eniwetok, westernmost of the Marshall islands in a swiftly-executed invasion thrust. Capture of Engebi island, with its strategic air field only 750 miles from Truk, left only half of Eniwetok island and nearby Parry island to assure U. S. capture of the second Marshalls base.

Week-Long Bombardment

In other announcements, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz told of week-long naval shelling and air bombardment of Japanese territory in the Marshalls, and attacks on Ponape, 400 miles west of Truk, and Kusaie, 330 miles southeast of Ponape.

General Douglas MacArthur reported from the Southwest Pacific the first shelling of Rabaul, Japan's once mighty fortress, and adjacent Kavieng, New Ireland Friday a few hours before Allied planes slashed at Rabaul in three-heavy strikes that neutralized one of its airdromes, at least temporarily.

In a communique disclosing the results of the two-day attack on the Japanese naval bastion in the central Carolines Feb. 16 and 17, Admiral Nimitz announced that the Pacific fleet has returned at Truk the visit made by the Japanese fleet at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, and effected a partial settlement of the debt."

19 Ships Definitely Sunk

The Navy listed 19 enemy ships as definitely sunk, including two light cruisers, three destroyers, one ammunition ship, one seaplane tender, two oilers, two gunboats and eight cargo ships. Nine more

Truk Through As Naval Base

Area Made Unsafe For Major Fleet

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. — Truk, Japan's "Pearl Harbor," is through as a naval base.

This was the opinion of naval authorities today after appraising results of the U. S. Pacific fleet's historic two-day air attack on that enemy bastion—a base once thought to be so powerfully defended as to be unapproachable.

Admiral Raymond A. Spruance's highly mobile, hard-hittnig aircraft carrier task forces, which sank 19 and perhaps as many as 26 enemy vessels in addition to destroying 201 planes, have demonstrated that Truk is now unsafe for basing a major fleet.

Japs Of Same Opinion

The Japanese evidently were of the same opinion. Heavy fleet units, including aircraft carriers, which were detected at Truk a little over two weeks ago, were not there when Spurance's airmen struck.

With the remaining islands in the nearby Marshalls — fortified by Japan as defense outposts for Truk — gradually falling into American hands, prospects are that enemy's naval base is due for more frequent visits. This does not mean, however, that the United States will attempt actually to occupy Truk. Expert opinion is that U. S. strategy will be sufficiently fulfilled if that base is neutralized.

But denial of Truk's use to the Japanese places their fleet in a difficult position. Naval authorities believe the Japanese now may have to establish a base or a series of small bases to the west, either in the eastern part of the Dutch East Indies or in the southern Philippines.

Rabaul Also Neutralized

The changed situation at Truk is further aggravated by the fact that American power has made Rabaul, on the northern end of New Britain island, untenable as a naval base. The Japanese had been working assiduously to de-

Air Might Of Navy Effective

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—The spread and power of the aerial slugging handed Japan's outer strongholds in the last week may concern the enemy as much for its evidence of America's naval air might as for the actual damage caused.

In the first 11 months of war the United States lost four of its seven pre-Pearl Harbor aircraft carriers. One of three remaining afloat was kept in the Atlantic, and the Navy operated in the Pacific with two carriers, sometimes with one.

Navy Striking Power

In the past year the Navy has accumulated enough flat-top strength for a bold and devastating two-day assault on the mighty Truk bastion along with simultaneous blows at Japanese held islands hundreds of miles away in the Marshalls and Carolines.

The Imperial Navy has not dared to come out with its carriers as the United States fleet has done.

The reason appear to be these:

1. A rapid recovery in carrier strength from the low reached in late 1942 and early 1943.

2. The development of new carrier-based planes, three types of which—Corsair, Hellcat and Helldiver—went into action last year.

3. Deterioration of Japanese air

Rayburn Says Tax Bill Veto Due Tuesday

Speaker Asserts Congress Will Sustain Veto

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), said today President Roosevelt would send to Congress tomorrow a message vetoing the $2,315,000,000 new tax bill. The veto will be be sustained, Rayburn asserted.

The speaker expressed what he called his opinion to newspapermen after a conference at the White House attended by congressional Democratic leaders.

Some of the leaders urged the President not to veto the tax bill.

However, Mr. Roosevelt has termed the new revenue measure "unrealistic." It provides for about one-fifth the $10,500,000,000 asked by the administration.

Congress To Act Wednesday

Congressional action on the anticipated veto will be put off until Wednesday. House leaders of both parties have an agreement to put aside controversial questions until then because some influential members have engagements away from the capital for Washington birthday observances.

The White House attitued toward the tax bill was echoed as the House opened its session today. Rep. Gore (D-Tenn) declared the measure "is not worthy of Congress," that it "opens loopholes for wartime profiteering."

Republican members of the House ways and means committee expected to confer informally today or tomorrow on the problems which a veto would bring up.

In the Senate, acting Minority Leader White (R-Maine) said he thought a veto would be "a serious mistake" on the part of the President.

May Mean No Tax Bill

"It probably will mean no tax legislation in this session and the failure to make available to the

Second Poison Victim Dies

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 21 (U.P.)—Two persons were dead and two others seriously ill today from effects of what was believed to have been accidental arsenic poisoning of food eaten Friday night.

Alice McCracken, 11, died today as a result of the poisoning. Her step-mother, Mrs. Anna Belle McCracken, 38, died Saturday. The girl's father, Forrest McCracken, 42, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ellen McCracken, 60, were reported seriously ill.

All of those stricken ate together at the grandmother's residence Friday night, police reported.

An analysis of contents of the victims' stomachs by the state police laboratory in Austin revealed arsenic, police here said, but they were at a loss to explain how the poisoning occurred.

Double funeral services were to be read at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum at the First Methodist church, and burial will be here.

Efforts to determine how the victims obtained the poison continued slow investigation. Deputy Sheriff Monroe Telford said a tube of paste with a label describing it as rat poison had been found, "but the amount of the chemical missing from the tube doesn't appear to be sufficient to have caused all this tragedy," he said. Officials theorized on possibilities that a chicken the four

FDR And Congress Headed For Collision

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — President Roosevelt and Congress today appeared pointed toward a head-on collision over a series of home front policy issues that almost inevitably will reverberate in the political campaign.

Many Republican and some Democratic legislators say there is evidence that preliminary efforts already are being made to blame Congress for any domestic breakdowns that may be subjected to political attack in the presidential campaign, if Mr. Roosevelt seeks reelection.

While administration supporters deny there is any such intent, the facts are that the President and many members of both major parties in Congress are at odds on such explosive questions as food price subsidies, the method by which service personnel shall vote in the election, taxes, and, probably, the method by which demobilization shall be accomplished.

Lonergan Trial Is Slated Wednesday

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (AP) — Wayne Lonergan must face trial Wednesday, as scheduled, for first degree murder in the slaying of his wife, general sessions Judge John J. Freschi ruled today.

Judge Freschi denied a formal motion in court for another adjournment of the trial, already twice postponed, and then again rejected the application at a private conference in chambers.

Defense Attorney Edward V. Broderick said he would renew his application in a formal motion Wednesday.

San Antonio Juke Joints Are Raided

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 21 (AP)—A second week-end drive by detectives here to clean up "juke joints," beer taverns and pool halls frequented by minors resulted in more than 100 arrests of minors Saturday night and Sunday. Ten of the arrested youths were held for further investigation on charges of frequenting pool halls.

Two men who admitted being deserters from the Army at Wichita Falls and New Orleans were held for investigation by the FBI, and the other youths were released with a warning that if they were found in such places again they would face charges.

The raids were made as a sequel to raids a week ago when 75 youths were arrested. All but 12 were later released.

Lower Draft Age Is Opposed By Solons

Use Of Non-Fathers 38-45 Is Suggested

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Flatly rejecting suggestions that the draft age be lowered from 18 to 17, members of the House military committee called today for better utilization of existing manpower resources before considering any changes in the selective service act.

As an alternative to dropping the age to 17 should some new action become necessary, Chairman May (D-Ky) said he believed it would be better to raise it "and take in some of the non-fathers between 38 and 45 who are now classified as over-age."

"It would be better to use these men than to take fathers in their late thirties," he declared. "No new legislation would be necessary because present law permits the induction of men up to 45. The armed services just are not taking men over 38."

Opposed To Lower Age

Both May and Rep. Harness of Indiana, a high ranking Republican member of the committee, said they could see no reason to drop the minimum induction age below 18, as has been suggested recently in some quarters.

Harness claimed the war department alone has admitted it has about 100,000 draft eligible men, many of them pre-war fathers, on its civilian payroll and has not asked for their deferment.

"If there are that many men in a single government agency then our manpower situation isn't so bad; it just isn't being handled properly," he added.

May said he knew of nothing that would "convince me it would be right to draft 17 year old boys even if the armed forces agreed to keep them out of combat until they are 18.'

"They are just too young and that is all there is to it," he declared.

Allies Repulse Supreme Nazi Push At Anzio

All Elements Of Allied Power Are Called Into Play

BY KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, Feb. 21 — American and British forces have stopped a supreme effort by densely-packed German troops to wipe out the Anzio bridgehead and have thrown the enemy back two miles toward Carroceto, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Nazi steamroller advance, aimed down the Anziate highway last Wednesday morning toward Anzio, the core of Allied beachhead, was halted only after all elements of Allied power were called into play during 48 hours of the most intense period of the fighting.

"Our effort was very greatly assisted by magnificent support given by Allied naval units, Allied air formations and both British and American artillery," the communique said.

Reached Peak Saturday

The German offensive reached its peak before dawn Saturday. Then American tanks and infantry, under the cover of a heavy artillery barrage, began smashing forward at 6:30 a. m. and were still rolling ahead yesterday.

The intensity of the enemy efforts was demonstrated by the appearance of elements of five regiments within one 1,000-yard area. Six enemy divisions threw their entire strength into the assault. Three others were held in reserve.

An Allied spokesman announced the Germans, steadily swelling their armies in Italy, now have 18 divisions involved in the Italian actions, nine facing the beachhead.

The bulk of the remaining divisions stand on the main Fifth army front behind the Cassino defenses.

Mighty Southward Stab

Throwing everything they could muster into a mighty southward stab to split the Allied beachhead forces, the Germans had managed to punch some 3,000 yards below Carroceto before their advance was hurled back.

Their casualties were heavy, the dead piling up in great numbers, hundreds being wounded and at least 700 falling prisoner.

Some of those captured said one German regiment alone had lost 60 per cent of its strength.

U. S. Soldier Helps Germans To Escape

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 21. (AP) — A Harvard-educated American soldier and two German prisoners of war whom he allegedly helped to escape from Camp Hale, Colo., faced further questioning today by federal agents in an attempt to learn where funds were obtained for a flight which ended just across the Mexican border.

The soldier, Pfc. Dale H. Maple, 23, of Middletown, R. I., who FBI Agent D. A. Bryce said has openly admitted Nazi sympathies and professed admiration of the German government, was held in lieu of $100,000 bond on a federal charge of treason.

His two companions, Henrich Kikillus, 32, and Erhard Schwichtenberg, 24, remained in custody here as witnesses. U. S. Dist. Atty. Howard Houk said the case would be presented to a federal grand jury convening March 6 at Santa Fe.

Fourth Big Blow In 36 Hours Is Landed Today

Sunday Attack Is Greatest Daylight Air Operation In History; Stuttgart Rocked By Heavy RAF Armada; 126 Nazis Downed

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 21. — U. S. Fortresses and Liberators dealt the Nazi homefront its fourth great aerial blow in 36 hours by bombarding northwest Germany today a few hours after the RAF had hammered Stuttgart on the southwest border.

Today's American force was officially announced as "approximating" the size of the record 2,000-plane armada which struck Leipzig and other key German centers Sunday, attesting the U. S. Air force's growing strength. The bomber section probably again approached the 1,000-plane figure, with an additional thousand escorting fighters—presumably the Eighth Air force's impressive array of Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustangs, backed up by RAF Spitfires.

The exact target was not announced immediately.

At the same time U. S. Marauder bombers hit the Coxyde air base in Belgium.

Fighter Production Cut

Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of Army Air forces, declared a fourth of German fighter production was knocked out in the Sunday attack, officially described as the greatest daylight operation in history. A count today showed 126 enemy planes were shot down yesterday.

JIMMY STEWART LEADS UNIT

LONDON, Feb. 21 (U.P.) — Maj. Jimmy Stewart, former motion picture actor, led his Liberator squadron in yesterday's American daylight raid over Germany. He said on his return that there was nothing on the mission worthy of reporting.

The latest announcement said only that "military installations" were hit in northwest Germany.

The Marauders and RAF Mosquitos jabbed into northern France and Belgium without loss.

"Major damage" was done yesterday to important Nazi fighter plants at Leipzig, Brunswick, and Bernberg, the Air force announced after a study of reconnaissance photographs.

Two Assembly Buildings Hit

The two main Messerschmitt 109 fighter assembly buildings at Leipzig-Mockau were severely damaged by direct hits.

"These two Leipzig factories are the essential part of a production complex that produced more than half of Germany's Messerschmitt 109s since the two principal ME-109 production centers at Regensburg and Wiener Nuestadt were attacked by American Air forces bombers," the announcement said.

The tremendous American fleets, including 1,000 or more Flying Fortresses and Liberators plus fighter support, hit at seven German aircraft center cities, and struck also at military installations in Rostock, on Germany's Baltic coast in a deep westward plunge.

Sixty-five Nazi fighters were downed by gunners aboard the four-engined bombers, and 61 fell to escorting fighters, for a total bag of 136 Nazi planes downed, a U. S. headquarters communique declared today.

24 U. S. Planes Lost

American losses were 21 bombers and three fighters, two under the first announced casualties of 22 bombers and four escorts, the bulletin added.

The Hilversum radio in Holland went off the air today, indicating a daylight renewal of the air offensive.

The American bombers also were reported to have hit Posen in Poland, site of a Focke-Wulf 190 parts plant, in the Sunday offensive, but U. S. headquarters declined comment. A blow at Posen wouldd represent a 1,500-

Reds Driving Toward Pskov

New Push Opened In White Russia

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 21 — The Russians continued to roll over frozen ground toward the Baltic gateway of Pskov today while far to the south, a Berlin broadcast said, the Red army had thrown 100,000 more men into a powerful new push toward Minsk in White Russia.

A Soviet communique announced that 114 villages were captured in the drive for Pskov yesterday, with more than 2,200 Germans killed in advances of two to 12 miles through swirling snowstorms.

The Red army units nearest to Pskov were last reported 28 miles to the north after battling down the east shores of Lake Peipus and Lake Pskov, but Moscow announcements have not mentioned their progress in several days.

Heavy Drive In Ukraine

A Berlin broadcast also asserted that Russian forces in the Ukraine had launched a furious assault toward Krivoi Rog, last big ore city held by the Germans in the Dnieper bend.

Ernst von Hammer, DNB military commentator, said the Russians had made "local penetrations" southeast and northeast of Krivoi Rog, but declared that "the majority of these were closed in counter-attacks. The rest were effectively sealed."

Berlin broadcasts still maintained that Nazi troops which were encircled at Korsun, 25 miles below the middle Dnieper river, had escaped the death trap through the aid of German armor and infantry attacking east of Zashkov, 55 miles west of Korsun. The Russians have announced the erasure of the trap, with 83,200 Germans declared killed or captured.

OPA To Release 450 Farm Vehicle Tires

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—Immediate release of 450 farm implement tires for distribution in Texas has been ordered by the Office of Price administration, Representative Mahon (D-Tex) announced today.

Mahon said he was informed that the Dallas office of the OPA would release the tires and that orders for the additional 1,000 might be issued in the next few days.

Maohn said he had received numerous requests from the Lubbock and Levelland areas of West Texas and most of the tires would probably go to that section where 90 per cent of the farm operations are motorized.

No Compromise Likely For Federal Ballot

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — Senate and House conferees returned to their unpromising search for a service vote compromise today—but both sides admitted privately they're just going through the motions.

Advocates of state-controlled voting appeared more determined than ever to reject the administration's federal ballot proposal, even in its new role as a modest little brother to state absentee ballots. The administrationists offered over the week-end to make the federal ballot a "supplement" for use only by those who swear they can't get a state ballot.

"If they'd done something like that in the beginning we might have gotten somewhere," said a leader of the Senate's southern "states rights" Democrats who insist on military balloting under state law.

"But the thing comes a little late now."

Senator Green (D-RI), co-luthor of the federal ballot bill and chairman of the Senate conferees, said today if an agreement isn't reached soon he believes the conferees should "agree to disagree."

Braniff Hearing Is Set For March 10

March 10 has been set as date for a hearing on the application of Braniff Airways, inc., to establish airline service through Lubbock, Rep. George Mahon told chamber of commerce officials in a long distance telephone conversation this morning.

Braniff seeks permission from the Civil Aeronautics board to make Lubbock an intermediate stop between Wichita Falls and Amarillo on its Dallas-Denver line. Officials of the airline have advised that they will be prepared to inaugurate service immediately after approval.

The congressman reported that the application is not opposed and that indications are encouraging that no opposition will appear.

Key Air Strip Of Eniwetok Atoll Conquered In Six Hours For Quickest Victory In Pacific

BY RICHARD W. JOHNSTON
United Press War Writer

ABOARD EXPEDITIONARY FORCE FLAGSHIP off Eniwetok Atoll, Feb. 19—(Delayed)—United States Marines, attacking under cover of a devastating naval and aerial bombardment, today conquered Engebi island, key air strip of Eniwetok Atoll, in six hours and five minutes.

The quickest victory of the Pacific war over a defended Japanese bastion came less than 30 hours after the arrival of the task force and only 19 days after the opening of the Marshall islands offensive at Kwajalein. Conquest of Engebi followed by less than 60 hours the smashing carrier-based raid against Truk, in the Caroline islands, just 600 miles to the west.

Heavy Bombardment

Col. John T. Walker's 22nd Marines swept ashore in the wake of a naval bombardment and dive-bomber battering in which more than 1,000 tons of explosives were concentrated on the tiny triangular island. Its Japanese defenders were wiped out; Marine losses were light.

The assault followed occupation of 10 small flanking islands yesterday without the loss of a single life. The attack against this westernmost Marshalls base, 300 miles beyond Kwajalein, was unchallenged from sea or air.

Victory on Engebi secured the northern tip of Eniwetok Atoll and freed units for assault on islands miles to the south end of the atoll.

Inexpensive Success

The swift, inexpensive success was made possible by complete immunity from air attacks as a result of the unceasing carrier-based thrusts of the past week against Eniwetok, Ponape and Wake and by the attack against Truk, Japan's "Pearl Harbor" on Feb. 17.

I went ashore with Brig. Gen. Thomas E. Watson of Washington, D. C., commanding both the Marine and Army forces, and watched his Marines sweep across a leveled desolation which was an island city a month ago—Japan's most vital mid-Pacific staging area and a powerful air base.

From beach to beach, Engebi was a scene of incredible destruction equalling and even surpassing the devastation on Kwajalein. Not a single building was left standing and even the skeletons of buildings were hammered down.

velop Rabaul as a naval base second in importance only to Truk. They had been forced to abandon the idea.

Reports from Australia indicate that as a result of Rabaul's neutralization, Japan is seeking to convert Halmahera, in the eastern part of the Netherlands East Indies into a first rate base. Halmahera, which has ample harbor facilities, once served as a secondary fleet base for the Dutch. It already has been raided by Allied planes and these aerial assaults are now expected to be stepped up sharply.

Hailed As Great Victory

Navy men here, though somewhat disappointed because major elements of Japan's fleet escaped the destructive raid on Truk, nevertheless hailed the great carrier-borne assault as one of the great American air-sea victories of the Pacific war. They shared the feeling of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz that the Pacific fleet had "effected a partial settlement of the debt" owed the Japanese for their Dec. 7, 1941 attack on Pearl Harbor.

At Truk, American airmen destroyed 201 Japanese planes; at Pearl Harbor the enemy got 117. At Truk, 26 Japanese surface vessels were sunk or probably sunk; at Pearl Harbor, 19 American ships were sunk or damaged, but numbers do not tell the whole story of the American losses in this category since eight of these were battleships. No Japanese battleship was hit at Truk.

Numerically, the latest American victory ranked third behind the November, 1942 battle of Guadalcanal which cost the Japanese 28 ships sunk, and the March, 1943 Bismarck sea battle in which American air power alone sank an entire convoy of 22 enemy ships.

vesels were accounted probably sent to the bottom of Truk's big lagoon.

Of the 201 planes destroyed by the several hundred attacking carrier aircraft, 127 were shot down in combat the first day and 74 were smashed on the ground. In addition, more than 50 other parked planes were damaged. Nimitz said the initial approach of the task force was undetected, and that the enemy offered no air opposition on the second day.

The Japanese acknowledged the loss of two cruisers, three destroyers, 13 transports and 120 planes, claiming they had shot down 54 American planes, sunk two cruisers and damaged two warships. The American communique placed our losses at 17 planes and moderate damage to one surface ship.

Five warships were sunk and 12 others damaged and 177 planes destroyed by the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor. Since then, an Associated Press compilation based on communiques and unofficial figures shows the enemy has lost 306 naval ships against 130 for the United States.

The Tokyo radio said today Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo has taken over the post of the army general staff chief and that Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, navy minister, has succeeded Fleet Admiral Osami Nagano as chief of navy general staff.

Other Changes Made

Earlier, three domestic posts in the Japanese cabinet were involved in a reorganization. London diplomats took the view that the changes in the army and navy commands marked an effort to take away all power from military figures not in the cabinet.

The shakeup came as American soldiers and marines who landed on Eniwetok atoll Thursday repeated the smashing success of the conquest of Kwajalein in the Marshalls, to place U. S. forces closer to Japan than to the United States.

In London, Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, leader of the American raid on Tokyo nearly two years ago, forecast greater Allied assaults on the Japanese capital.

"We are going back to Tokyo—and we shall go in full array with mighty allies," he said.

Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, from whose bases in China the aerial offensive against Japan probably will be launched, reported the sinking of two Japanese ships and damage to a third in 14th U. S. Army Air force raids Friday and Saturday off the coasts of China and French Indo-China.

Mrs. Leroy T. Patton, retiring regent, and Mrs. J. A. Laney were elected delegates to the state conference in Austin March 13-15 and Mrs. Clarence Mast and Mrs. Gus L. Ford of Dallas, who retains her Lubbock membership, were elected alternates.

Mrs. Patton was elected delegate to the National Congress with Mrs. Ford as regent's alternate. This meeting will open the evening of April 17 at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York City.

Mesdames Elkins, Garrison and John A. Goodwin were hostesses.

Davis Tells Jaycees Of Post-War Aviation

That post-war aviation will be one of the major industries in the United States was voiced by A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, who spoke at the weekly luncheon of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce today noon in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel.

He said that already there have been many applications received by the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington, D. C., for proposed new airlines to cover more than 250,000 air miles.

Davis, who has just recently returned from the national capital, said it is hoped that Braniff Airlines would be serving Lubbock on its present Dallas-Amarillo-Denver route within the next three or four months. Two other lines, American and Continental, have made application to the board for permits for lines serving Lubbock.

The Continental line would serve Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Wichita Falls, Lubbock and Hobbs, N. M., while the American Airlines would serve El Paso, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Oklahoma City and Tulsa. At present, he said, it would seem most likely that Continental would obtain its permit, due to the fact that the board is favoring the smaller companies to keep the major lines from getting all the business. However, he pointed out, there is a possibility that both lines will be given permits, with persons traveling to Tulsa, Oklahoma City, or intermediate points going by Continental, while persons going beyond those points would use American.

In speaking briefly on post-war planning, Davis said it would be no period for so called magic. Many national problems directly affecting Lubbock, as well as thousands of other cities throughout the country, such as unemployment, national debt, taxation, and many others, will have to be considered before any planning can be done.

Davis was introduced by George Atkinson, program chairman. Ray Blackwell, acting president, presided.

2,000 Planes Hit Naziland

mile roundtrip.

An air ministry communique said the attack on Stuttgart was "in great strength" and that "intense fires" were left burning among factories of the city.

The main RAF forces attack on Stuttgart, last attacked on Nov. 26, was masked by a Mosquito feint at the Nazi party shrine of Munich 100 miles to the southeast, and the British loss in the night's stabs including operations against other objectives in occupied territory and extensive mine laying — was limited to 10 aircraft.

This loss was in marked contrast to the Saturday night blow at Leipzig when 79 of the heavy British bombers failed to come back as a result of enemy action and icing conditions.

Devastating Blows Delt

These manifold assaults lifted the air war against invasion-threatened Germany to a new pitch in a week-end highlighted by the devastating, widespread and many-pronged American blow yesterday described officially as "the largest, most important and most hazarduous operation" yet undertaken by the U. S. strategic air forces.

The Americans' greatest air operation of the war, hitting a repeat blow at Leipzig and at Gotha, Bernburg, Brunswick, Halberstadt, Tutow, and Oschersleben, was declared in Washington by Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the U. S. Air forces, to have knocked out 25 per cent of Germany's fighter plane production.

Leipzig alone was hit by 2,300 long tons of explosives in the RAF Saturday night raid just before the Americans swept in to lay waste greater portions of the city.

The attack on Stuttgart, one of the Nazi's biggest manufacturing centers with a population of half a million, continued the series of trip-hammer strokes against German aircraft production — a stepping stone objective to continental invasion.

At Stuttgart are the great Daimler-Benz auto works now engaged in turning out engines for Messerschmitt fighters and Heinkels, the Bosch works which is one of Germany's leading specialists in ignition equipment for all kinds of engines, and factories for production of tanks, trucks and submarine parts.

Stuttgart also is one of the main railroad junctions on Germany's lines to Italy.

The objectives of this latest series of Allied attacks were outlined in a striking statement from U. S. headquarters.

U. S. Army headquarters announced that the largest number of Flying Fortresses and Liberators ever employed in a daylight operation — 1,000 or more — participated in yesterday's attacks. Twenty-two were lost.

The swarms of protective American long-range fighters rang up a new theater record for themselves in number of enemy aircraft shot down in a single operation. They destroyed 61 German pursuit planes, six more than their previous record—established over Brunswick Feb. 10. Four Allied fighters were listed as missing.

A communique issued last night said the number of German planes that fell before the guns of the four-engined bombers had not yet been determined.

RAF, Dominion and Allied fighters provided support for the American plunge.

"At stake to a great degree," said a U. S. Headquarters statement, "is Germany's ability to resist the coming invasion. The ultimate objectives not only are to complete the domination of the air when the invasion comes, with a resulting reduction in ground and naval casualties, but also the increased freedom for bombers to make precision daylight attacks on war industries and communication."

The statement marked the first time the U. S. Air forces had given information to interpret the meaning of an attack.

Gen. Arnold said his estimate that the bombs of the Fortresses and Liberators had eliminated at least 25 per cent of Hitler's fighter plane production was conservative.

The general called the over-all attack the "biggest United States air mission in history" and declared it was "a major battle in the campaign against Nazi industry."

More men than are in an infantry division were involved, Arnold said, an indication that upwards of 15,000 fliers participated.

For Leipzig the attack came only a matter of hours after the RAF night bombers had laid waste a great section of the city.

Berlin said great fires were set in Leipzig and that casualties were caused.

The RAF's loss of 79 bombers was the heaviest ever inflicted by the Germans. The previous RAF high was 58 in the Berlin raid of last Aug. 23.

Tax Bill Veto

Treasury the added amount of revenue which the bill would raise will of necessity impose an added burden of borrowing upon the treasury," he said.

"Consequently, I think the Senate might vote to override a veto. What the House would do I don't even presume to know."

In the event of a veto, and in the absence of new legislation (which presumably would have to be passed over another veto) the social security tax rate will double March 1 to 2 per cent each on employers and employes.

By not signing the tax bill before midnight Saturday, Mr. Roosevelt already had lost a potential $87,000,000 March revenue from increased excise taxes.

A tax bill veto would be considered first by the House, which originated the legislation. Unless that body should vote to override, the Senate would take no action.

Attempt Made On King's Life

LONDON, Feb. 21. (AP) — The Moscow radio broadcast a Tass Cairo-dated dispatch today declaring an attempt had made to assassinate King Peter of Yugoslavia.

The broadcast, recorded by the Soviet monitor, quoted the Russian news agency dispatch as saying the attempt had been made by fascists in an effort to put the blame on Yugoslav soldiers who, the dispatch said, are trying to return to their homeland to fight in the partisan ranks of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito).

Four members of the king's guard were arrested, Tass said.

The Russian government has long openly backed the Tito forces.

Disturbances Reported

The dispatch, the broadcast said, declared that:

"Disturbances have taken place in the Yugoslav military units quarter in Cairo and elsewhere because the Puric (Dr. Bozhidar Puric, premier of the Yugoslav government-in exile) government is placing every obstacle in the way to prevent officers and men from returning to Yugoslavia although they expressed a desire to join Tito.

"Such wish was expressed by 653 officers and men out of 800 in Cairo units, by 224 sailors out of 260 in Alexandria and by 16 of 22 in the king's guard."

Tito announced today his Yugoslav partisans have routed a German column of 600 men near Novo Mesto in Slovenia and also broke up a Bulgarian offensive in the direction of Zvna Mlavr.

Nazis Forced To Retreat

His broadcast communique said that remnants of the German column near Novo Mesto were forced to retreat.

Meanwhile Yugoslavia's complicated political situation showed signs of clearing, with the United States, Britain and Russia all possibly favoring Tito as the major leader.

The British Broadcasting company granted its facilities Saturday night to Gen. Dusan Simovic, former Yugoslav prime minister, to announce his support of Tito. Simovic nearly three years ago led the revolt of King Peter's Yugoslav government against the Axis.

This emphasized a tendency indicated in both British and American quarters to withdraw support from the king's government in Cairo.

Anti-Administration Demos In Conference

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP) — Harry H. Woodring, chairman of the American Democratic national committee, says the anti-administration group may nominate their own presidential candidate or endorse "one of the major party candidates."

In New York to confer with political leaders hostile to a fourth term for President Roosevelt, Woodring, a former secretary of war in the Roosevelt cabinet, said the committee also might form a coalition with one of the major parties.

He stated that a coalition with the Democratic party would be considered only if President Roosevelt was not a candidate.

News Briefs

Cpl. James W. Tallant, USMC, son of Mrs. Ada M. Tallant of Amarillo, was listed as wounded in action in the Navy department's announcement today of 102 casualties of the U. S. Naval forces.

Police said several residents had reported theft over the weekend. A. D. Ryan of 2222 Avenue H said two quarter-horsepower electric motors, a handsaw, four boxes of wrenches and two other wrenches had been stolen from him and that he had found in a second-hand store a motor he believed was one of his. Police were investigating. Mrs. O. G. Odom said a clock, comb and brush were taken from her 2402 Fifteenth street residence. J. H. Billington of 2711 Thirty-sixth street reported a bike missing; Lemuel W. Baker of 1919 Avenue F a leather jacket from his car. Baker described a suspect and the suspect's automobile, even to license digits. Mayor Carl Slaton said a three-ton hydraulic jack valued at $20 and a half-inch tank wagon gasoline hose stamped with the name of Goodyear and valued at $17.50 had been stolen from Sixteenth street and Texas avenue.

Second Lt. and Mrs. Allen R. Bateman, 2203 Twenty-sixth street, announce the birth of a seven-pound, six-ounce daughter at 10:50 o'clock Saturday night in the maternity ward at Lubbock Army Air field. The father is stationed at LAAF. The baby has been named Sharon Lynne.

Sheriff Sam Hutson of Lamb county this morning removed Ernest Mays, Sidney Brown and Charlie Cook, negroes, from Lubbock county jail and took them in custody to Olton, where they will appear before a Lamb county grand jury in connection with theft charges. Brown and Cook broke Lamb county jail recently and were recaptured at Sweetwater, allegedly when pilfering automobiles.

Deputy Sheriff Cap Moore this morning left with five juvenile boys for Gatesville. Four of them were negroes who had admitted thieving the last three and a half months and of taking money from soldiers under promise they would buy whisky, then failing to "show up with either the money or the whisky."

Fifty-eight-year-old Columbus Christopher Goods, a negro, was fined $100 and court costs this morning when he pleaded guilty in county court of having assaulted his wife with a hammer and a bucket. The offense happened in the Flats.

Nearly 74 inches of snow fell in one winter in California, famed for its sunshine.

Nazi Raiders Strike London

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Nazi air raiders scattered incendiaries and explosives over London in a short but fierce attack last night which set fires in many areas and caused some casualties.

The assault apparently was staged in an attempt to repeat the big fire raid which was carried out against London early Saturday morning.

The Germans followed the same pattern last night as in the previous raid, fanning out in all directions in an effort to confuse the defenses and scattering firebombs apparently indiscriminately.

The attacking force, however, evidently was smaller than that of Saturday, when it was estimated that 150 planes came over the city.

Three Raiders Downed

The raiders were greeted with a thunderous anti-aircraft barrage and first reports indicated that at least three had been shot down.

There was a second brief alert at 3:26 a. m., apparently touched off by enemy reconnaissance planes.

Three schools, a Roman Catholic convent, a hotel, several apartment houses, a number of business properties and many private homes were burned out.

Incendiaries were the Germans' chief cargo, literally hundreds falling in one district, but some high explosives were mingled with the firebombs.

areas strewn knee-deep in palm fronds. The island looked as though it had been overrun by a giant mower which sheared off the palms a few feet from the ground.

The tremendous preliminary bombardment from 6 a. m. to the zero hour killed many Japanese and knocked out nearly all of their weapons, particularly those defending the beaches.

From the moment of the arrival of the task force under Rear Adm. Harry Hill, of Oakland, Cal., who commanded the forces at Tarawa, the Japanese on all islands of this atoll have been subjected to a murderous air and naval barrage.

The admiral graphically pointed out in the approach toward the home grounds of the Japanese empire as we neared the atoll with the comment that "we know we are making progress because we find that Radio Tokyo comes in much clearer than San Francisco."

Border Celebration Features Good Will

LAREDO, Feb. 21 (AP) — Powdered colonial dames and senoritas in spangles make this border town's annual celebration of George Washington's birthday anniversary unique.

The four-day observance which began Saturday mixes in the name of inter American amity a colonial ball and a talent sprinkled noche Mexicana, or state show, on successive nights in the high school auditorium, a stock show on this side of the Rio Grande and a bull fight across the river in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, a Mexican military band playing the Star Spangled Banner and a United States military band playing the Himno Nacional.

These and other events reach a climax tomorrow when Mexican, Texas and United States officials clasp hands on the international oridge and pledge anew their allegiance to inter American understanding which the observance demonstrates in all of its phases.

New Synthetic Is Developed

AKRON, O., Feb. 21 (AP) — A new synthetic rubber, said to have some properties lacking in the GR-S type now making up the bulk of synthetic produced in the United States, has been developed in the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company's research laboratory here.

Announcement of the new rubber will be made later this week along with the disclosure of improved methods of milking and processing GR-S rubber and the discovery of two new accelerators which speed up the rate of vulcanization of GR-S.

The new synthetic, according to Dr. L. B. Sebrell, director of the laboratory, may result in better automobile tires than can be made from GR-S rubber, because of greater energy resilence and higher resistance to cut and tear tendencies. In that respect, Dr. Sebrell said, the new synthetic is superior to GR-S.

He cautioned, however, that it has not yet been developed to a point where it will show high tensile strength at high temperatures and that one of its ingredients is expensive to make.

GR-S, the same type of synthetic rubber as was originally called Buna S, is manufactured from butadiene and styrene. The major portion of both substances is obtained from petroleum although there are other sources from which they can be manufactured.

Butadiene is an ingredient of the new synthetic, but another chemical is substituted for styrene.

Dr. Sebrell said that test tires now are in process of manufacture and will be given road tests as quickly as possible.

ARCHBISHOP ARRESTED

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP) — August Cardinal Hlond, Catholic archbishop of Poland, was arrested recently by the Germans in Paris apparently because of his extreme anti-Nazi views, private information reaching London said today.

Air WAC Recruiters Visiting Area Towns

The Air WAC recruiting team of Lubbock Army Air field, headed by Lt. Jane Ritter, is in Tahoka today in an effort to interest young women in the Air WAC. They will remain in Tahoka tomorrow.

The team will be in the following towns the remainder of the week: Post, Wednesday; O'Donnell, Thursday; Brownfield, Friday, and Plains, Saturday.

Lt. Ritter said that the opportunity for Texas women qualified for enlistment in the Women's Army Corps to enlist for specific assignment to any Army Air forces station of their choice within a five-state area has been offered by the Army Air Forces Training command.

Women who enlist as Air WAC's under the new plan will be classified for specific duties in addition to being given the chance to choose service at any station where Air WAC's are stationed in Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Arkansas or Oklahoma. Recruiting personnel have lists of the scores of available stations within the area, she said.

The Air Forces campaign is expected to attract many young women who have hesitated to enlist without knowledge of the field to which they would be assigned, Lt. Ritter explained.

State Golden Gloves Finals Set Tonight

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

FORT WORTH, Feb. 21—After 24 bouts and thousands of punches eight weary champions of Texas Golden Gloves will be crowned tonight out at Will Rogers coliseum.

These fellows will entrain next Saturday for Chicago where they will participate in the tournament of champions Feb. 28, 29 and March 1.

Both semi-finals and finals are scheduled tonight starting at 7 o'clock, with a crowd of 7,000 expected to bring attendance for the five-day state meet above the 20,000 mark.

Only one defending champion goes into the penultimate round. He is Manny Ortego of Biggs Field, El Paso, who again is a leading contender for the featherweight crown. However, he may run against a three-times national champion if he gets to the finals. Don Aiken of Utica, N. Y., fighting under the banner of the Fifth Ferrying group of Dallas, was featherweight king at New York in 1936, 1937 and 1939, and he meets Joe Mize of Beaumont in tonight's semi-finals while Ortega is tackling Aubrey Young of Camp Fannin.

Tom Attra Eliminated

There were two defending champions in the field until Saturday night when rugged old Tom Attra, who had lost only one match in four previous years of battling, fell before clever Presley Darnell of Bay City, representing Fort Worth Army Air field in the tournament. Darnell ushered Attra out of the light heavyweight division by either keeping him away or tying him up when he got close. He just outboxed Tom.

The fans are expecting things to pop wide open in the heavyweight semi-finals because in that division, O. W. Ott of Chase Field, Corpus Christi, the tournament sensation and proclaimed the best heavy to ever appear in the Gloves here, goes up against Bill McHugh of Camp Barkeley, a fellow who has come along fast and who appears the guy most likely to stop Ott if he is to be stopped.

Full Quota Of Fights

There will be the full quota of fights tonight since Charles Stump of the Fifth Ferrying group, Dallas, who, it was announced, would not be permitted to go on because of reinjury to an eye cut, was reinstated. Stump meets Darnell in the light heavyweight division.

In the race for the team title—there were 21 districts sending 157 fighters to the state tournament—Camp Fannin and Abilene are tied for the lead with 10 points each.

Here are the pairings for tonight's semi-finals:

Flyweights — Shirley Gaudet, 110, Beaumont, vs. J. T. Collins, 112, Corpus Christi Naval Air station; Henry Kagawa, 110, Webster, vs. Sammy Holt, 112, Dallas.

Bantamweights — Frank Price, 119, Waco, vs. Wayne Penn, 118, Fort Worth; Claude Major, 117, Amherst, Mass., and Camp Fannin, vs. L. W. Williams, 118, Temple and Corpus Christi Naval Air station.

Featherweights — Joe Mize, 125, Beaumont, vs. Don Aiken, 122, Utica, N. Y., El Paso and Biggs field, vs. Aubrey Young, 123, Monroe La., and Camp Fannin.

Lightweights — James Marlow, 135, Albany, N. Y., and Laredo Army Air field, vs. Georgie Stevens, 134, Albuquerque, N. M.; Rito Barajas, 135, Bakersfield, Calif., and Eagle Mountain Naval Air station vs. Gilbert Garcia, 136, Houston.

Welterweights — William Sproleder, 148, Walla Walla, Wash., and Camp Fannin, vs. Jake Carter, 143, Beaumont; Herbert Prewitt, 148, Dallas and Randolph Field, vs. Donald Nasche, 142, Fort Worth.

Middleweights — Max Kezick, 158, Sweetwater, Wis., and Camp Hood, vs. Elbert Yoes, 154, Brownwood; Dick Young, 160, Asheville, N. C., and Camp Barkeley, vs. Jessie Wilson, 156, Wapheton, N. D., and Camp Wolters.

Light heavyweights — Presley Darnell, 164, Bay City and Fort Worth Army Air field, vs. Charles Stump, 166, Frame, W. Va., and Fifth Ferrying group, Dallas; Donald Coombes, 173, Watertown, S. D., and Camp Barkeley, vs. Griffin Ivey, 174, St. Louis and Camp Howze.

Heavyweights — O. W. Ott, 220, Everly, Iowa, and Chase Field, Corpus Christi, vs. Bill McHugh, 192, New York and Camp Barkeley; William Burke, 177, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Camp Maxey, vs. Ralph Lasky, 185, San Francisco and Childress Army Air field.

Baksi, Mauriello Bout Set Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (U.P.) —Joe Baksi, aggressive heavyweight from Kulpmont, Pa., arrives in the big time Friday night when he tackles tough Tami Mauriello of the Bronx at Madison Square garden in a 10-round bout that features this week's national boxing schedule.

Two ex-champions also see action. Henry Armstrong, former triple titleholder, engages Jimmy Garrison at Kansas City Wednesday night; and Lou Salica, exbantam king, meets Maxie Tanaka at Scranton, Pa., Friday night.

TWENTY STAKE RACES

BALTIMORE, Feb. 21 (AP) — Twenty stake races, headed by the $50,000-added Preakness and the $30,000-added Dixie Handicap, will be run at the combined Maryland meeting at Pimlico April 12-May 13, Harry A. Parr, 3rd, president of the Maryland jockey club, announced today.

SWC Race Is Nearing Close

Season Tops As Offensive Show

(By The Associated Press)

The greatest offensive show in Southwest conference baseball history comes to an end this week leaving four broken records in its wake.

Rice has finished the schedule by clinching at least a tie for the championship. Southern Methodist also has played out its string and can wind up no lower than a tie for third.

Arkansas meets impotent Texas A&M Friday and Saturday at College Station in games that could produce the year's mightiest upset, because if the winless Aggies were to beat the Razorbacks in one of the two games, Rice would take the title. Arkansas can share the championship by winning the two tilts.

Henry Sets Two Records

Records already hung up this season:

1. Total points for an individual in one season: 246 by Bill Henry of Rice, breaking mark of 214 set in 1942 by Dwight Parks of Baylor.

2. Total points by one team in a season: 669 by Rice, smashing record of 651 made by Rice in 1942.

3. Total points by player in one game: 41 by Henry, breaking record of 75 by Arkansas in 1940 and bettered by Texas this season with 77.

There is a chance that one of the records already made this season will not stand since Arkansas, with 550 points, might score 120 points in its two games with A&M.

It isn't likely Henry's individual mark will be bettered but against the weak Aggies, Arkansas might smash the team scoring mark.

Dennis Haden of Southern Methodist finished with 203 points to virtually clinch runner-up honors but Deno Nichols, Bill Flynt and Ben Jones of Arkansas all are likely to pass Acie Cannaday of Southern Methodist for third place. Cannaday has 144 points, Nichols 139, Flynt 134 and Jones 131. Jeff Kemp and Roy Cox of Texas also may move past Cannaday since they boast 130 and 129 points respectively.

The week's play opens tonight with Texas clashing with A&M at College Station. Tomorrow night Baylor and Texas Christian meet at Waco.

Hornsby Takes Over As Vera Cruz Pilot

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 21 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby, who arrived here yesterday to assume managership of the Vera Cruz Blues of the Mexican baseball league, said he planned to meet today with Jorge Pasquel, Vera Cruz president, and members of the team.

The Vera Cruz club will start training immediately, said Hornsby, who gave up his post as general manager of the Fort Worth club of the inactive Texas league.

"We plan to work hard and be ready when the season opens," said the Rajah. "Later I'll start a baseball school, which should help the game in Mexico."

The season starts March 2, but no team has begun training yet. The managers of only three clubs have been selected.

TO RESUME FOOTBALL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—The University of Florida will resume football this fall with a team of boys under draft age, 4-F's and men who have been discharged from the services.

Honus Wagner home with the family.

Hans Wagner, Baseball's Top Star, Started At $35 A Month

John Henry "Honus" Wagner whom the late John McGraw called the "greatest ball player I ever saw," will celebrate his 70th birthday, Feb. 24, 1944. Wagner recently signed his 33rd big league contract, and along with Connie Mack of Philadelphia, is the oldest man actively engaged in the game.

By SAM DAVIS
NEA Staff Writer

We sat in the cozy living room of Hans Wagner's cottage in Carnegie, Pa., his horny hands holding a paper — his 33rd big league baseball contract — a reminiscent grin crinkling his wrinkled face. Generations of years fell away, and in his mind, old Honus was young Honus again . . .

The crowd laughed when the bow-legged youngster ambled to the plate, his long arms dangling to his knees. "He walks like a crab," guffawed the stands. Before the game was over the fans had changed their simile to another amphibian. "The guy plays like an octopus — he's got a dozen arms," they gasped, for no ball hit anywhere near got past him.

A MATCHLESS CAREER

Probably no other playing career in the big leagues matches that of Honus Wagner, beginning July 19, 1897, when he played his first big time game with Louisville until his swan song as shortstop Sept. 17, 1917. A star of stars for 21 years, 43 when he quit playing.

During that phenomenal stretch Wagner played every position except catcher, though he did catch an exhibition game and in 1902 pitched part of a game against Boston.

BEGINS ON SANDLOT

It was while watching his older brother Al playing sandlot ball in Allegheny County League that J. H. was bitten by the bug—"I was just a punk kid of 15."

Al, who later saw service with Washington and Brooklyn, was playing for Steubenville, O., in Tri-State League in 1895. He recommended his kid brother to George L. Moreland, prominent sports writer (wrote One Hundred Years of Baseball). Moreland telegraphed a contract calling for $35 a month. John replied "No, make it $40." From Ohio came "$35 or stay home." John was out of Mansfield that night via coal train and no extra clothes. "I knew the conductor."

Section 4 of Steubenville contract read: "I agree to pay for my own uniform and shoes, cost to be taken out of my first pay."

Honus can't remember what he did with the remaining three dollars.

On January 20 of this year, Wagner signed his 33rd major league contract, making his 12th year as Pirate coach. No one, except Connie Mack, ever signed that many big league contracts.

PLAYERS LACK STAMINA

"The game is better now," asserted Honus, "more team work, smoother play. I don't think we'll see any more Cobbs or Ruths, but these college kids know the ropes. They don't play enough, however, haven't got too much stamina.

"It was a breeze for me to run around the bases, then make a long speech. (Only I didn't make any.) Now they reach first panting. But these boys today are smart and drawing down good money. That counts.

"This will always be the game. Don't know of anything to take its place. It's wide open and not complicated. It's bound to go on improving. It's in good hands. When this mess is finished just watch it grow."

Dodds Due To Break Record

Galloping Parson Near Mile Mark

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (AP) — If Gil Dodds, Boston's plank pounding parson, fails to wipe out the world indoor mile mark of 4:07.4 this winter it will be because he is too good.

There hasn't been a race this winter in which the theology student hasn't killed off all rivals in the first half mile and has been forced to travel the remainder of the way suffering from lonesomeness.

It was the same way Saturday night at the diamond jubilee meet of the New York A.C., where Dodds won the Baxter mile in 4:08.

Record First Half

He spun through the first 440 yards in 58:6 seconds and got to the half mile post in 1:59.7 — easily the fastest first half of a major mile race on record and speedy enough to win the 800-yard event in many college meets.

He carried the same tempo through the next 440 yards, being only a quarter of a mile from home in 3:03.3, another record for big time milers. Then his love of companionship got the better of him and he spent 64.7 seconds looking for the tape, Rudy Simms and Jim Rafferty. Dodds simply was too good for his own good.

Bill Hulse Ill

Simms and Rafferty took over the task of chasing the Bible-quoting parson when Bill Hulse, America's 4:06 miler, was ordered to remain in bed by his physician because of a strep throat.

Neither Simms nor Rafferty was closer than 80 yards at the finish when a threat might have sent the Bostonian into the tape with a world record.

There's a possibility that Johnnie Fulton, gaunt San Francisco middle-distance runner who suffered his first eastern defeat in the Halpin 880, may oppose Dodds in an exhibition while at the coming indoor meet.

Notre Dame Avenges Grid Upset By Ending 21-Game Win Streak Of Great Lakes Cagers

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP) — Notre Dame has gained partial revenge for its stunning 19-14 football setback by Great Lakes last fall by shattering the Sailors' 21-game basketball winning streak.

The Irish cagers, with a so-so record, turned the trick Saturday night. Their 54-51 triumph was as much a surprise to court dopesters as Great Lakes' grid triumph was to football forecasters, especially since the Sailors had walloped N. D. 54-48 only a couple of weeks ago.

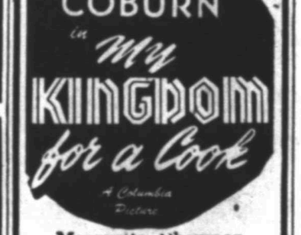

Another Streak Ended

Sharing interest with the Irish triumph were Missouri's 47-41 victory over Olathe naval, ending Olathe's 20-game streak; Washington's 53-40 upset of Gonzaga; Bucknell's 39-37 surprise victory over Muhlenberg; and the selection of Dartmouth, Kentucky, Oklahoma Aggies and Utah to participate in postseason tourneys.

Dartmouth, eastern intercollegiate league champs, will compete in the NCAA tourney while Kentucky, the Aggies and Utah accepted bids to the Madison Square garden invitational affair. Still undergoing scrutiny for bids are such teams as DePaul, Western Michigan, Denison, Bowling Green, Canisius, Muhlenberg, Iowa State, Oklahoma, Army, Rice, Arkansas, Navy, Ohio State, Temple, Valparaiso, Colgate and Rochester.

AS regular readers of this stint well know, The Plainsman isn't much of a hand to print poetry. But once-in-awhile a well carpentered verse with a humorous wallop bobs up that forces the gates down. Such a bit is the verse below.

The nation's business men, from the one-man outfits to the giants, are so wrapped up in red tape they can hardly wiggle. But despite that fact they can still laugh—as the following shows:

RED TAPE AND THE WAR
As head of the division of provision for revision
Was a man of prompt decision, Merton Quirk.
Ph. D. in calisthenics, PDQ in pathogenics,
He had just the proper background for the work.
From the pastoral aroma of Aloma, Oklahoma,
With a pittance of a salary in hand,
His acceptance had been whetted, even aided and abetted
By emolument that netted some five grand.
So with energy ecstatic this fanatic left his attic,
And hastened on to Washington, D. C.,
Where with verve and vim and vigor he went hunting for the nigger
In the woodpile of the WPB.
After months of patient process Merton's spicular proboscis
Had unearthed a reprehensible hiatus,
In reply by Blair and Blair to the thirteenth questionnaire
In connection with their inventory status.
They had written, "Your directive when effective was defective
In its ultimate objective, and what's more,
Neolithic hieroglyphic is, to us, much more specific
Than the drivel you keep dumping at our door."
This sacrilege discovered, Merton fainted, but recovered
Sufficiently to write, "We are convinced
That sabotage is camouflaged behind perverted persiflage;
Expect me on the 22nd inst."
But first he sent a checker, and then a checker's checker;
Still nothing was disclosed as being wrong
So a checker's checker checker came to check the checker's checker
And the process was laborious and long.
Then followed a procession of the follow-up profession,
Through the records of the firm of Blair and Blair;
From breakfast until supper some new super-fellow-upper
Tore his hair because of Merton's questionnaire.
The file is closed, completed, though our hero, undefeated,
Carries on in some department as before.
But victory is in sight, not because of, but in spite
Of Merton's mighty efforts in the war.

Multiply the federal government's "Merton Quirk" by a million or so and you can see what the rank and file of common, ordinary citizens are up against!

IT'S a peculiar thing how men will work, fight, bleed and almost die to get a public job—and then fail to perform the routine tasks in connection with it. A case in point has to do with Vice-President Henry Wallace.

Not only did the erstwhile Iowa Republican all but break his neck to get the nomination in 1940; he's been busy as a bee for the past 18 months trying to build up to succeed himself on the New Deal ticket to be fashioned this year.

Yet Mr. Wallace spends more time away from his job than he does on it and what we can't understand is if he wants to be vice-president, why doesn't he work at it?

Does he simply want the glory involved? Or to be "in line" in case of a vacancy ahead? Or does he want to be vice-president?

Apparently he has little interest in doing the job for which he is paid.

You can't pick up a paper now-a-days—and the same situation has obtained for months and months—without noting that Vice-President Wallace has just made another speech. Usually, his speeches are to the Amalgamated Brotherhood of Left-handed Monkeywrench Handlers, CIO; or to the Sons and Daughters of Recent Immigrants Seeking to Junk the Constitution, Inc.; or to the Committee to Set Up an American Paid-for WPA in Baluchistan. But he's making speeches, speeches, speeches, from one end of the hemisphere to the other.

When he is in Washington, where his job is supposed to be, he can't be spending too much of his time at work. Instead, he is learning a speech to be delivered in Spanish to the Good Neighbors somewhere.

As we said here before in defense of some untrue criticism of the vice-president, Mr. Wallace really is a high-type Christian gentleman with the milk of human kindness running out of his ears.

But being a Christian gentleman with love of mankind bubbling in his soul, and doing the job for which he is hired and well-paid to do, are two different things.

We don't believe Mr. Wallace would pay a man $15,000 per year—plus many additional thousands for assistants, secretaries, office upkeep, travel, etc.—and sit by when his employe failed to do the work for which he was hired to do.

And we don't see why the American public should feel any differently toward its employe, Mr. Wallace, than Mr. Wallace would feel toward one of his own hired hands.

ONE of the principal duties of the American vice-president—in fact, his No. 1 duty—is to preside over the sessions of the United States Senate.

Mr. Wallace has not been performing that duty, except upon rare occasions.

The New Dealers howl to high heaven that "Congress isn't doing its job as it should," but nothing official is ever said about the fact that maybe the Senate could be pushed into doing a better job if the No. 2 New Dealer sat up on the dias where he belongs and handled the reins as he's supposed to do.

Mr. Wallace wants another four years in his soft job, and we don't blame him for wanting it.

But it seems to us that before he asks for a prolongation, he should prove his right to it by doing some of the work he hired out to do.

Blood Runs Cold

BY ANN DEMAREST
(Copyright, 1944, By The Associated Press).

YESTERDAY: Christine is surprised to learn that Lathrop, the man the police are trying to find, is married. Kincaid is interviewed and says that he loved Joan and that Richard MacDonald threatened to kill him.

Chapter 19
'I Loved Her'

I looked around. The room made a queer confused picture; Richard, so pale and thin and tall, standing beside his uncle at the desk, and Mr. Kimball himself, very white, his bewildered blue eyes on the slumped figure of Harry Kincaid. Ishi, who had come in from a room in the back of the house, was leaning against the door casing. There was something disturbing in his gaze and the faint smile that curved the corners of his mouth.

Before them stood the Sergeant, silent and motionless. His eyes, were on the floor. He seemed to be reflecting.

"You'll have to prove it," he said finally in a tired voice. "You're the only person so far who has refused to account for his actions."

The Sergeant, I thought, was stretching a point, but undoubtedly he had his own system.

Harry Kincaid raised his head. "I was here last night," he said, and the color crept back into his pale face. "I'll admit that, but I didn't murder Joan. I didn't even see her."

The Sergeant pulled his chair to the window and sat down. "What were you doing here, then?"

"I'd been to a show with a fellow and on my way home I stopped off here and thought I'd try to see Joan for a minute." He looked at the Sergeant almost apologetically. "She worked until ten, so she usually stayed up pretty late. I came upstairs and then I thought I heard someone coming in the street door. I thought it was him." He indicated Richard with an ugly look in his eyes. "There was no use getting in a fight, I thought, so I ducked into my old apartment. Didn't know it had been rented. Then she let out a screech." He glanced at me.

"Well," the man went on, "I had to go out in the hall again, but there was no one around. I knocked at Joan's door. She didn't answer. I stooped down and looked under the crack. There wasn't any light and the window was open. I could feel the draft coming from under the door. I thought she was in bed. I left then. I tell you, I had nothing to do with her murder."

The Sergeant's gaze swept the room, then he turned back to Kincaid. "Did you see anyone while you were in the house?"

"I didn't see who it was that came upstairs."

"When you left?"

He nodded. "I thought I passed the Rogers girl, but I couldn't swear to it. Anyway, it was a woman. She was coming in the house."

"Was there a light in the second-floor hall while you were there?"

"No, only on the third floor." He scratched his head. "I don't see how anyone could have seen me when I went into her room." He looked at me again.

The Sergeant fubbed his chin thoughtfully. "Mrs. Evans must be psychic," he said.

Dirck raised his eyebrows and looked at me with such an amused expression that I couldn't help smiling. Had Mrs. Evans' husband told her, I wondered, or could she see in the dark?

'Devoted To My Work'

"And you saw no one else?"

"When I passed the shop I saw Mr. Kimball looking over some books in the front window." He pointed to the shelves.

The Sergeant swung around to Mr. Kimball. "Do you usually decorate your windows after midnight?"

The older man's face lighted. "I stay in the shop almost every night until twelve or after. I am devoted to my work."

"I see," the Sergeant said shortly.

But I thought he didn't understand. Mr. Kimball's scholarly regard for his books and his possessions would never penetrate the Sergeant's consciousness.

He turned back to Harry Kincaid. "Did you drop the cigarette lighter when you ran into Miss Howarth's apartment?"

Kincaid flushed and admitted that he must have dropped it somewhere in the house because when he got home he couldn't find it.

"Did you come back and take it from her room today?" The Sergeant went on tirelessly.

"No."

"Did you call Joan Kent this morning?"

The man stared at him without speaking.

"Answer me!"

He nodded dully.

The Sergeant's eyes narrowed. "And why didn't you tell Miss Howarth who was calling?"

A defiant look crept over Harry Kincaid's face. I imagined by this time he was getting pretty tired of hearing my name.

"Not because I was afraid to tell her. I wasn't trying to keep my name a secret. You don't believe that, I guess, but it was an awful shock." Then he added simply, "I loved her, you see."

For a moment I admired the man. He wasn't a particularly pleasant person, but he was entirely sincere in his affection for the girl. He went on in a hopeless voice:

"There wasn't anything I could do this morning, so I didn't come around. I knew I wouldn't be welcome here."

Even Richard, who had been regarding him with a hostile eye, was moved by this admission and Mr. Kimball raised his white head and eyed him pityingly.

"Where did you call from?" the Sergeant asked.

From a drug store in Times Square, Harry Kincaid told him. So the Sergeant slapped his notebook down on the desk and told him he could go if he would first leave his office address. Harry Kincaid got up, took a card from his wallet and handed it to the Sergeant.

"That will be all." The Sergeant seated himself in Mr. Kimball's chair at the desk.

Without a word or a backward glance the man walked quietly past us and out of the shop.

Dirck turned to look after him, then quickly bent his head close to mine. "We're going out," he said in a low voice. "When I speak to the Sergeant, put on your hat and coat. And fast, too."

I looked at him incredulously, but before I could protest he got up and walked to the desk.

"We're going out for a few minutes, Sergeant, for some cigarettes."

The Sergeant didn't even raise his eyes from his notebook. "Go ahead," he said.

Dirck came back to me. "You'd better put on your gloves," he said casually as I slipped into my coat. "It's pretty cold."

I walked out of the shop with him, feeling very self-conscious. It seemed to me that Mr. Kimball and Richard were watching us curiously. What in the world did Dirck want to go out for? I knew it wasn't cigarettes, because there was a carton and a half in my room and his pockets were full.

The street was dark except for the faint glow of light from the corner. It was windy, too, and much colder. Mr. Norton had disappeared and there was no one watching the house. Dirck put his hand on my arm and, keeping close to the buildings, we hurried to the corner. He was bending forward and seemed to be looking for something down the street. And there on the corner under the street light I saw the shadowy forms of two people. A man and a woman.

It was Harry Kincaid, and the girl was Adrianne Wells.

They both looked up, startled, as Dirck spoke to them briefly and we walked into the Knife and Fork.

"Now then," he said quietly. "Get a carton of cigarettes while

IMPORTANCE OF "BACKYARD FARMS"

While no one is likely to pretend that Victory Gardens are going to win the war, no one is likely to deny that they already have made a most valuable contribution to the victory effort.

Various figures have been reported purporting to show how many such gardens produced how many tons of foods last year. Probably most of those figures have been very much on the optimistic side. But there is no question but that Victory Gardens did produce a lot of food for a lot of people.

Therefore, it is safe to predict that there will be no lack of such gardens during the coming year. As everyone well knows, if gardens were important last year, they almost certainly will be even more important during 1944. The prospective importance is emphasized by the strong probability that farmers—due to manpower shortages and the promised machinery which has failed to materialize—won't reach the goals set for them by bureaucrats who can talk a darn good crop.

Thus, Governor Stevenson can be sure of full cooperation with the Victory Garden Week he has proclaimed for the coming week. People of Texas, and the South Plains, and Lubbock, will plant their Victory Gardens. You can bet on that. For our part, we wouldn't want to be one who might try to stop them.

A Battle-Scarred Veteran

Ernie Pyle, In Italy, Concludes The War Is A "Screwy" One!

Sewing Machines And Silk Hat Found At Front

By ERNIE PYLE
Journal War Correspondent

IN ITALY, Feb. 21 (By Wireless) —Most infantry companies in the American front lines now are composed largely of replacements, as they are in all armies after more than a year of fighting.

ERNIE PYLE

Some of these replacements have been here only a few weeks. Others came so long ago they are now as seasoned as the original men of the company.

The new boys are afraid, of course, and very eager to hear and to learn. They hang onto the words of the old-timers. I suppose the anticipation during the last few days before your first battle is one of the worst ordeals of a lifetime. Now and then one will crack up before he has ever gone into action.

"Top Hat" At Front!

One day I was wandering through an olive grove talking with some of these newer kids when I saw a soldier, sitting on the edge of his foxhole, wearing a black silk opera hat. That's what I said—an opera hat.

The owner was Pvt. Gordon T. Winter. He's a Canadian. His father owns an immense sheep rance near Lindbergh, Alberta, 200 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Private Winter said he found the top hat in a demolished house in a nearby village and just thought he'd bring it along. "I'm going to wear it in the next attack," he said. "The Germans will think I'm crazy, and they're afraid of crazy people."

IN the same foxhole was a thin, friendly boy who seemed hardly old enough to be in high school. There was fuzz instead of whiskers on his face and he had that eager-to-be-nice attitude that marked him as not long away from home.

This was Pvt. Robert Lee Whichard, of Baltimore. It turned out that he was only 18. He has been overseas only since early winter. He has seen action already. He was laughing when telling me about the first time he was in battle.

Apparently it was a pretty wild melee, and ground was changing hands back and forth. Private Whichard said he was lying on the ground shooting, "or maybe not shooting, I don't know," because he admits he was pretty scared.

He happened to look up and here were German soldiers walking past him. Bob said he was so scared he just rolled over and lay still. Pretty soon mortar shells began dropping and the Germans decided to retire. So they came back past him, and he still lay there playing dead until finally they were gone and he was safe.

Ernie Gets An Invitation

Bob says the other night he dreamed his feet were so cold that he ran to the battalion aid station and there were his mother and sister fixing some hot food over a wood fire for him and poking up the fire so he could warm his feet. But before either the food or his feet were warm he woke up—and his feet were still cold.

Another soldier came past and said he'd dreamed the night before that he was home and his mother was cooking pork chops by the tubful for him to eat. This one was Corp. Pamal Meena, whose father is a Syrian minister in Cleveland.

The post-office system has broken down as far as Corporal Meena is concerned. He has been overseas five months and has never got a letter. The corporal has not been in combat but is ready for it. He says he hasn't decided whether he is going to be a minister, like his father, but he has taken to reading his Bible since he came to war.

Corporal Meena wants me to come past Cleveland after the war and have a good old Syrian meal at his house. He says I won't have to remember his name—just remember that his father is the only Syrian preacher in Cleveland and find him that way.

ONE day I was walking through another olive orchard which held the 34th Division headquarters, and I noticed a soldier under a tree cleaning a sewing machine.

This was Pvt. Leonard Vitale of Council Bluffs, Ia. He's an old-timer in the division. As I looked around I saw a couple of other sewing machines sitting on boxes. "Good Lord, what are you doing?" I asked. "Starting a sewing-machine factory?"

Vitale said no, he was just getting set to do altering and mending for division headquarters. The first two sewing machines he had bought from Italians, and an AMG officer had given him the newest machine. It was a late model, in an elaborate mahogany cabinet.

Vitale said he wasn't an expert tailor but had picked up some of the rudiments during the three and a half years he'd spent in the CCC and thought he would do all right and make a little money on the side. As I walked away he called out:

I'll have this war sewed up in a couple of months."

I grabbed a rifle from a nearby MP and shot the punster through and through before he had me in stitches.

Area Farm And Home Agents Meet Here

A meeting of county and home demonstration agents of the extension service district No. 2, which comprises 19 counties, was held in the Lubbock hotel today, with full representation.

District extension agents, Kate Adele Hill and K. J. Edwards, presided at the meeting. Edwards introduced the speaker for the morning session, which began at 10 o'clock. The speaker was Tyrus R. Timm, extension service economist, who spoke on income tax laws.

He pointed out that farmers would likely need aid in filling out their 1943 income tax returns and explained how the agents could give them this aid. Timm also said that the tax for 1944 would probably be much higher than the 1943 tax, due to the fact that the public debt has increased to such an extent that increased income taxes will be needed as a means of helping pay this debt.

Many questions concerning the filing of returns were asked, and statisfactorily answered by the speaker.

Scheduled to speak at the afternoon session was W. R. Nesbitt, livestock specialist of College Station, who was to speak on production and marketing of wool and mohair. The meeting was to be concluded at 5 p. m.

Beachhead Battle

were devoted almost exclusively to attacks on the broken German beachhead lines. Four-engined heavy bombers again joined medium and light bombers in bombing and shooting up enemy concentrations.

900 Sorties By Allies

The Allies sent 900 sorties into the air, the Germans sent up an estimated 100, and the sky battles and attacks on both sides of the beachhead ground battle lines were rapidly rising to a record peak when the weather limited further forays.

Three Allied aircraft were lost and at least four German planes were shot down.

No major developments occurred yesterday in the Fifth army's Cassino front though French forces repulsed an enemy raid northeast of Terelle. American troops held fast to their positions in Cassino itself. Patrols were active on the Eighth army front.

The climax of the beachhead struggle came Saturday when the German offensive bogged down and massed American tanks and troops and British infantrymen jumped off with a counterpnnch which sent the Nazis reeling.

The Fifth army, which had been bracing for a Nazi blow for weeks, had held its counterattack for just the time when the enemy had passed his peak.

As a result the Germans were able to muster but one small attack.

During the hottest part of the battle Allied planes so harried German pilots that they bombed and strafed their own troops several times. Some American tank and infantry companies were cut off during the heat of battle but rejoined the main forces after the counterattack reached their forward positions.

Both British and American warships threw bombardments into the Germans behind the melee, scoring hits on a factory and blasting targets both behind Anzio and Formia to the southeast.

Four-engined Liberators dropped ton upon ton of bombs on troops massed in the Campoleone-Carroceto sector, while Mitchells and Marauders pulverized a two-mile stretch of highway due north of Carroceto.

Twelve schooners and eight fishing boats used by the Germans to by-pass damaged railroad lines were destroyed in the harbor of Viareggio on the northwest coast between La Spezia and Leghorn by Mitchells.

Girl Is Given Jail Sentence For Theft

Doris Sullivan, 18, a girl, was assessed 30 days in county jail on a charge of theft from a tourist cabin, and a 17-year-old girl, a juvenile, has been charged in juvenile court in connection with the same case, Syrian E. Marbut, county attorney, said today.

Judge G. V. Pardue also assessed 30 days in jail against Ralph Edward Hardy, 18, charged with theft of a bike, Marbut said.

At county jail, it was announced that a negro, Bill Campbell, 27, was attempting to post a $500 peace bond. He had threatened a negro woman, it was alleged.

Police held two men, 27 and 25, in connection with investigation into burglary Friday night of Jo-Ann shop. One of them was to be questioned into his alleged possession of a pistol believed stolen from an automobile.

Liquor Board Extends Border Tax Service

AUSTIN, Feb. 21 (U.P.) — Because of increased consumer-carried liquor at Brownsville, Eagle Pass and Del Rio, the Texas Liquor Control board will extend its border state tax collection service to those cities, the board announced today.

State border tax offices, which collect duty on beverages brought in from Mexico, now are located at El Paso, Laredo and Hidalgo. In January they collected $30,566. The board believes the new offices will net $55,000 a year.

During January liquor board agents filed 209 criminal complaints which resulted in 202 convictions that brought 57 jail sentences and $23,161 in fines.

Abilene district led in fine collections with $4,773, followed by Paris, $3,507; Longview, $3,324; Big Spring, $2,592; Lubbock, $1,623; and Houston, $1,500. Other collections were below $1,000.

Mrs. Charles Chaplin To Become A Mother

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21. (U.P.) — Charlie Chaplin, who is about to become the father of a child he admits proudly is his was scheduled to appear in federal court today for arraignment on white slavery and conspiracy charges instigated by a red-haired girl who still claims he also is the father of her infant daughter.

Chaplin's bride, the sloe-eyed, 18-year-old Oona O'Neill, announced that she would become a mother in August, as Chaplin's attorneys rehearsed for the last time their requests that Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor quash the case on the ground that a federal grand jury had not substantiated its charges against the multi-millionaire British comic and six other co-defendants.

CHAPLIN GIVEN UNTIL FRIDAY TO APPEAR

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21. (U.P.)— Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor today gave Charlie Chaplin until Friday at 2 p. m. to appear for arraignment on charges of violating the Mann act.

The judge postponed until March 9 the arraignment of the multi-millionaire comedian and six others on charges of conspiring to deprive 23-year-old Joan Barry of her civil liberties.

Two Are Sentenced In Fraud Conspiracy

DALLAS, Feb. 21 (AP) — Federal Judge T. W. Davidson today sentenced Orville Raymond, jr., to two years in prison and Jack Victor Muldrow to 18 months on their pleas of guilty to charges of conspiring to defraud the government through falsification of time cards while in employ of North American Aviation, Inc.

Raymond formerly was assistant foreman in charge of a tool crib on the night shift at the company's bomber plant here and Muldrow previously was head timekeeper at the company's training school in Dallas. A co-defendant with Raymond, Capitola McDonald, was assessed a $100 fine.

Living Costs Said Distorted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP) — Labor members of the President's cost-of-living committee contended today that the bureau of labor statistics index "distorts the basic facts" of war-time living costs even as the White House announced that the 40-year old index had been upheld by a non-partisan committee of experts.

Acting as a minority group in the presidential committee, George Meany of the AFL and R. J. Thomas of the CIO sent to the White House the report they made public Jan. 25 contending living costs have risen at least 43.5 per cent since January, 1941, compared with about 24 per cent shown by the BLS index.

FDR Delays Judgment

Press Secretary Stephen Early told reporters at the White House that the President had received the labor members' report and letter but since it was what he called an "ex parte" report solely from the labor members the chief executive "doesn't feel he can pass judgment on the problem" until the full committee has reported.

The committee also is composed of public and employer members.

Further commenting on the report, Early said:

"The labor department index has been given the stamp of approval by a committee of non-partisan experts appointed by the American Statistical association" after several months of hearings and the calling of witnesses from "all groups."

Early referred to a report made public last October holding the BLS index as essentially accurate but of limited usefulness. This group, headed by Prof. Frederick C. Mills of Columbia university, said the general index "is a national average and relates to large cities only," whereas there is "considerable variation in the level of living costs in different parts of the country, and in the degree of change in living costs in different regions."

Committee Defers Action On CCC Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP) — The House banking and currency committee deferred action today on a bill to continue the Commodity Credit corporation's life when the administration was unable apparently to marshal sufficient committee votes to prevent any limitations from being added to the bill.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) said the committee would resume its discussion tomorrow.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), one of the leaders in the fight to ban food subsidies through a limitation in the previously vetoed CCC bill, said the committee voted 9 to 8 for including some limitation in the pending bill. He did not specifically define the nature of the proposed limitation.

Training Command Is Moved To St. Louis

FORT WORTH, Feb. 21 (U.P.)— Army Air forces training command headquarters revealed a reorganization of its administrative setup today which pared the number of commands under its jurisdiction from six to five.

Under the move, the Central Technical command at St. Louis will be consolidated with the Eastern Technical Training command, but the headquarters will be moved from Greensboro, N. C., to St. Louis with Maj. Gen. Jacob E. Fickel of the ETTC as commanding general.

Only change of individual installations ordered in the change was the transfer of Gulfport Army Air base, Miss., and Keesler field, Miss., from the ETTC to the Western TTC.

Body Of Pioneer Rancher Is Found

BANDERA, Feb. 21. (U.P.) — A two-day search by 100 men ended late Sunday with the finding of the body of E. L. Vawter, pioneer Bandera county ranchman, in the brush beside Pipe creek, about midway between the communities of Pipecreek and Privilege.

Vawter started to walk to the ranch of a son several miles away Friday and the search started when he failed to arrive.

Searchers believed Vawter fell off a high cliff, where two canes he had carried were found broken. Vawter's body was found two miles further along the trail.

Uncle Sam's victory at Truk is a dream come true, for we have administered a defeat which has so rocked the mikado's capital that the Japs are making no effort to conceal the devastating effects, both moral and material.

Not only has the Tokyo government acknowledged sweeping destruction but it tacitly has admitted the gravity of the situation by firing the chiefs of staff for both the Navy and the Army. None less than the great General Hideki Tojo, Japan's militaristic premier and master gangster, has taken over the position of chief of general staff of the Army in addition to his other duties.

During the two days on which we blasted at Truk we sunk at least 19 ships, including several war vessels, destroyed 201 warplanes and damaged more than 50 others, and probably sunk seven other ships. Our bombs also created havoc among the enemy installations in this great base. As against this big killing we lost only 17 planes and suffered moderate damage to one ship.

Meantime our Marine and Army force has continued to consolidate its position on the important Jap base of Eniwetok. And to the south, American destroyers have blasted the Rabaul and Kavieng bases.

No Flash In Pan

The momentous Truk development was no flash in the pan. We were able to carry out such a highly dangerous operation because we are stronger than the enemy. Our superiority is due to two causes: We have been constantly amassing power as the result of our tremendous war effort, and the Japanese have been steadily losing strength.

The Nipponese never have had enough cargo vessels, and they have been losing shipping steadily because the Allies have been sinking more than Japan could produce.

The Allies are headed for Tokyo all right, but in our enthusiasm over the way things have been developing we shouldn't overlook a cardinal fact to which our attention is called by Major General Doolittle, who led the American air-raid on Tokyo in 1942. The general, who now commands the Eighth American Air force in Britain, yesterday predicted greater Allied assaults on Tokyo "in the shortest possible time," but pointed out the decision of the Allied command that "Hitler must be finished first."

Japan is on the way out, but we have a long, hard grind ahead of us before final victory comes. We shouldn't let Truk make us over-optimistic.

I make a call."

While I spoke to the man behind the counter Dirck hurried to the telephone, dialled rapidly and waited, tapping his foot with impatience. When he finally spoke, his voice was so low I couldn't distinguish the words. His face was grave as he came back and paid the man for the cigarettes. Then he glanced out of the window. "We'd better wait a moment," he said.

I rested against the counter while he went outside and looked around. Finally he signalled me.

"I thought the Sergeant would be interested, so I called him," he said as I came out of the door. "When Kincaid left the shop Adrianne Wells was going up the steps to the front door. I saw her take him by the arm and I was certain we'd find them somewhere down the street."

He took my arm and we walked slowly back to the shop. "Chris, I don't want you to be frightened," he said, "but there is something wrong about this house. I don't know what it is. But be careful, will you? I hate having you alone in that apartment. Joan Kent was murdered, and—" He hesitated.

I stood still and stared at him. "What do you mean?" I gasped. "No one will bother me. There is no reason for it."

"I don't know. I'm sure I hope not," he murmured.

I clutched his arm. "Why, Dirck, what makes you say this?"

"Listen, darling," he said. "You were too close to this to be healthy. Last night you were out in the hall and at the same time there was someone on the stairway." He hesitated and then added emphatically, "if that person was the murderer, he may think you saw him."

"Oh!" I shivered.

He drew me along beside him. "We'll go into the shop now," he said. "I'll try to fix things up later." Then he added sharply, "I don't want you to be alone tonight."

When we walked into the shop, Adrianne Wells and Mr. Kincaid were standing beside the desk and the Sergeant was leaning back in the chair looking up at them intently. Richard and his uncle were sitting close by and Ishi was nowhere in sight. Dirck took my coat and we sat down on a low bench along the wall close to the open fire.

Flag Stamp Approved On Shipments Abroad

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — President Roosevelt approved today the practice of stamping replicas of the United States flag on relief shipments sent abroad, saying people of other countries should have "a proper understanding" of the source of such assistance.

Indeed, he said in a proclamation, such an understanding is required in "the effective prosecution of the war."

Use of the flag for such purposes will be subject to the approval of the foreign economic administration and will apply to labels, packages, cartons, cases, other containers.

Returning Troops To Cause More Malaria

HOUSTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Troops returning from overseas duty will touch off outbreaks of malaria in parts of the nation free of the disease for years, Dr. Asa C. Chandler told the annual convention of the Texas club of internists.

Chairman of the state committee for the eradication of dengue fever and special consultant for malaria control in war areas, Dr. Chandler is professor of biology at Rice Institute. He has devoted years to research work on malaria.

Great advances are being made in the treatment of malaria, Dr. Chandler said, explaining that most of the quinine supply came from territory now occupied by the Japanese. As a result atabrine is being used successfully to combat the disease.

Control of the disease in many areas by Army medical authorities is impossible, Dr. Chandler said, explaining that tests proved that 80 per cent of the natives in some areas have malaria.

SHE CAN'T WIN

DENVER, Feb. 21 (U.P.) — Mrs. Effie Wilhite is in between the devil and the deep blue sea. Last spring the city fined her $50 for operating a boarding house in a restricted zone. The city ordered the boarding house closed. But the Office of Price administration said she couldn't evict her tenants. Last October, she was cited for operating the boarding house again. She appealed to the OPA for permission to close her place. Again she was refused and the city fined her $300. Now the city is after her again.

War Plant Invites Congress To Dinner

CLEVELAND, Feb. 21 (U.P.) — Officials of Jack and Heintz, Inc., Cleveland's paternal war manufacturers, disclosed today that they have invited the entire U. S. Congress to attend a dinner at the Mayflower hotel in Washington Feb. 29.

It was believed to be the first time in history that any industrial group or company ever has invited the entire membership of both legislative houses to such an occasion.

The invitations, it was understood, were sent to representatives and senators by registered mail, thus requiring every person receiving one to sign for it.

A spokesman for the company said the dinner would not be "a particularly elaborate thing" and that "to my knowledge" President Roosevelt or other high-ranking government officials had not been invited to attend.

The company, manufacturers of airplane starters and other war equipment, has been a foe of renegotiation procedure by the government. The renegotiation board recently demanded a refund of $7,000,000 from it in excess war profits.

Crosby Quota $6,200 In Red Cross Drive

CROSBYTON, Feb. 21 (Special) —Crosby county chapter of the American Red Cross has been assessed a quota of $6,200 in the War Fund drive which starts March 1, according to J. A. Parks, chapter chairman.

Viewed as a total, the Red Cross goal seems large, Parks said, but if it is considered in relation to the number of men now in the armed forces, it represents a very modest sum for Red Cross service for a year.

Morale Of Returned Soldiers Is Lauded

TEMPLE, Feb. 21 (AP) — If civilian morale "was as high as that of the boys returned from battle, we'd have nothing to worry about," said Sam D. Forman, jr., Houston, state American Legion commander, after visiting McCloskey general hospital here.

Referring to the returned soldiers, Forman said "their faith in their government and their appreciation for their treatment should make the ordinary civilian ashamed of himself."

He visited the hospital yesterday in company with Dr. J. W. Danforth, Fort Worth, national Legion executive committeeman for Texas; Henry Love, Fort Worth, Fourth division commander, and W. D. Sonntag, Waco, 11th district commander.

WE were impressed by this memorial by St. Gaudens, which ennobles the Luqembourg Gallery in Paris. It has become a tradition. And so, we like to believe, has become our modern Mortuary, which renders faithful service to all people.
