City finances sound

By LUIS RIOS /

The higher than expected revenues for Colorado City coupled with departmental surpluses left the city in a strong cash position of over $500,000 at the beginning of the new 1984-85 fiscal year, said City Manager Gary Smith.

The year-end financial reports have been compiled for the city for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1984. The overall cash position remains fairly strong with another balanced budget adopted for the 1984-85 fiscal year, he said.

The overspending of two departments, the police department and the Civic Center, drew some sharp criticism from council member Brenda Tarter during a meeting Tuesday night.

However, while the expenditures within these two departments exceeded budget allocations, the unexpected costs were covered by the additional revenues, Smith said.

A significant budget overrun occurred in the city's interest and sinking fund used to pay off and retire the 1984 General Obligations bonds, Smith said. The particular bond issue was passed by the citizens of Colorado City.

The overrun occurred because the 83-84 budget was adopted before the bonds were sold, Smith said. The debt retirement, however, was provided for in the next tax rate adopted by ordinance on August 9, 1983 and in effect throughout most of the city's fiscal year, he said.

The total interest and sinking fund was $164,000 and $116,000 of which was for the 1983 bonds, Smith said.

The payment of the interest and sinking fund accounts for more than half of the $230,831.

41 that the city overspent on the fiscal budget.

The CCPD overspent $51,533.87 on the budget with $19,557.78 going for labor and overtime, according to the financial report.

"A good part of it (overspending) was payment to reserve officers," Smith said. "The city has already begun addressing problems. Expenditures for the police department during the month of April were 35 percent less than the previous month. The increased crime rate led to overspending also."

"The new budget allows for additional police personnel as well as two new police cars."

The Civic Center, where increased usage led to additional kitchen supplies and labor costs, and the water and sewer department where the severe winter caused

WIC program set for Mitchell County

The WIC Program, a nutritional program for expecting mothers, infants and young-age children will go into effect in Mitchell County beginning June 13, said Beverly Brown, the nurse practitioner and registered nurse for the Texas Department of Health at the Wallace Center.

The nutritional program has been in use nation-wide and state-wide for a long time, she said. She also said that she did not have the eligibility requirements for the program. However, the program is for expecting mothers and mother of infants and children that are needy, she said.

The program will provide milk and formula for infants, vitamins and other items for expecting mothers and overall nutritional help for children.

"We will start taking applications that Wednesday and Thursday (June 13 and June 14)," Brown said. "We are supposed to have 305 cases by the end of September. After the first Thursday, we will be having a WIC Clinic every Thursday."

Brown said she would know the eligibility requirements after attending an orientation May 21-25.

Mrs. Brown said she had been on the nursing field for approximately 30 years. She has been in Family Planning in Snyder, Sweetwater and Colorado City for eight years.

Mrs. Brown said she would be at the Department of Health office at the Wallace Center on a fulltime basis. She began working with the THD since May 1, 1984, Brown said. The office will be open from 8 a.m. through 5 p.m.

Brown said she was hoping to re-instate a pre-natal program and a family planning program in her office. Mrs. Brown and her husband, Sonnie, live in Sweetwater. Her husband is employed by TSTI in Sweetwater. He is retired from the military, she said.

Randle places sixth in state track meet

Colorado High School junior Don Randle placed sixth in the high jump with a lead of 6'3" at the Class 3A Division State Meet in Austin Friday afternoon.

The gangly junior had qualified for the state meet with a jump of 6'5" at the regional meet prior to the state meet. His jump at regional also set a Colorado City mark. The winning jump was 6'9" and two jumpers went 6'8" to place second and third place. The fourth place jump was 6'6" and the fifth place leap was 6'4".

Randle, who is also a standout basketball and football player, was only one of two juniors in the 3A division. He was the only Colorado City trackster to qualify for the state meet this year. He was accompanied by track coach Rick Robinson.

Randle missed the opening height, 5'10", twice before clearing it on his third attempt. He also missed twice at 5'11" before clearing it, said a school spokesman.

MATTIE HARRISON, left, was selected "Mother of the Year" at Kristi Lee Manor for Mother's Day. Maudie Long, center, was selected "Oldest Mother" and Gwen Brown was chosen "Youngest Mother."

Memories reflect "Mom" on eve of Mother's Day

By LUIS RIOS

The look in the three elderly ladies' eyes was more of a gleam than a twinkle as they recalled and reminisced about their mothers and their children on the event of this Mother's Day.

The gleam came from a tear that was shed as they remembered the good times and the hard times during their lifetime.

The ladies, Mrs. Mattie Hines, Mrs. Myrtle Womack and Mrs. Justa Lujan, are residents at the Root Valley Fair Lodge. The women, now in their old age, have lived to be loved by their mothers and to love as mothers as well.

All three would agree that they have had the best of both worlds. The two most important things to them are their children and at one time—their mothers, said Pam Jarnagin, activity director for the lodge.

"This new age is something different," said Ms. Womack. "It seems like they want to do their own thing and they have no respect for other person's feelings."

"When my mother said 'no' she meant no. So often now, it seems like they don't even ask. But Mother's Day seems to have a greater meaning now."

Ms. Hines, who is a life time charter member of the Beta Epsilon Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International in Colorado City, said her mother lived to be 91-years old and seven months.

Ms. Hines said she did not believe that families are not as close as they were when she was growing up. There is a lack of religious convictions among the generation nowadays also, she said.

"My mother was so serene and she had so much patience," Ms. Hines said recalling her

The date of the alleged offense was January 14, 1984. The Highway patrolman that issued the speeding ticket to Barber was James Burson.

junction with the Annual AJRA Rodeo held in Colorado City.

Price makes grandmother proud

Sara B. Banks' granddaughter does her proud everytime. Mrs. Banks of Colorado City is worlds apart from the fast-lane life of Houston but her granddaughter and top dress designer Debra Price bring both worlds closer together.

"I think it is just great," Mrs. Banks said about her granddaughter's success in the modeling world. "I am very proud of her. I did not have any idea she was doing so well." Ms. Price was included if a Houston based publication where she was touted as "The New Designer in Town." The town of course being Houston.

Her designs have been labeled "exceptional, definitely for a lady who appreciates quality and rarity in fashion," said one Houston critic.

In one particular interview, Ms. Price said she began sewing in the 7th grade. But, she really didn't appreciate it until she had graduated from high school.

Ms. Price has done modeling in Odessa, where her mother resides, and also in Houston. Mrs. Price's mother is Gladys Ann Blaylock.

A few stores in the Galleria such as North Beach Leather and Suzy Cream Cheese have offered to put Ms. Price's designs in their store. She has declined on the ground that she prefers to deal with individuals and not with a mass market.

When Ms. Price moved from her home in Odessa, Texas in 1974, she enrolled in TSU as a clothing and textile major, taking it for the technical part. She did sewing for friends and quickly built up a clientele. She even has clients in other states as well.

Ms. Price may be dealing in the fast-moving fashion world in Houston; but she has her grandmother in Colorado City to help her remember the small-town in everyone.

the occasion were the Brownwood and Abilene Chapters. Mrs. Louise Gordon was elected again as representative for District No. 20 at the State Federation Convention.

There was a discussion on the finances of the chapter, focusing on membership dues. mother. "If anything came up in the family she was able to handle it. She was a fine Christian woman."

When asked about the rearing of children in today's society, Ms. Hines recalls the traditional upbringing she witnessed as a child. She said she believed that was and is the best way.

"They (mothers) were always there in the home for their children," she said. "I really don't know...I hate to see small children put in nurseries."

Mrs. Justa Lujan gave a different perspective to motherhood and children.

"My mother would do anything to feed us and look after us," she said. "That was all she wanted to do and she never got tired of doing things for us."

"I took care of mother during the last month of her life. I learned then what it meant to be a mother. You should remember that you will not always have your mother."

One Root Valley Fair Lodge resident summed it up for everyone with a simple statement containing all the warmth and love possible.

"I thought I had the most wonderful mother in the world."

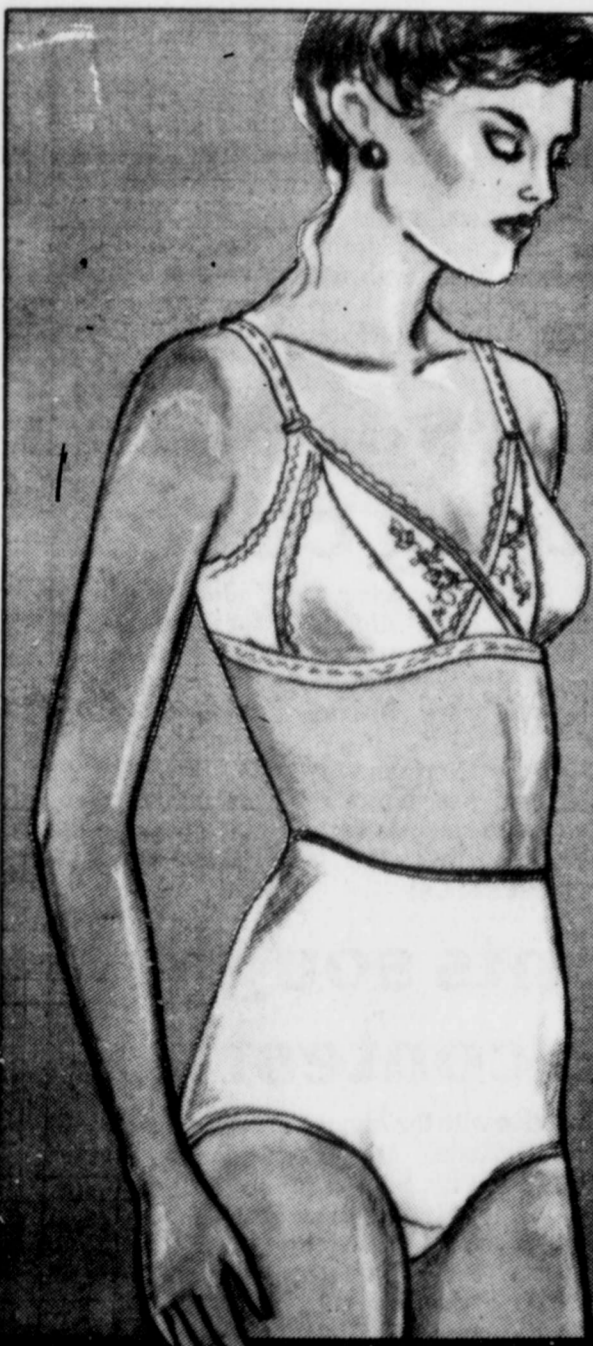

Happy Mother's Day.

Ten months of hard work brings about suggestions

The Select Committee on Public Education held its final meeting two weeks ago and took a series of hard votes to set a new course for education in Texas.

The Select Committee's recommendations for higher teacher pay, increased state equalization aid for poor school districts, smaller classes in early grades, and greater attention to the learning needs of the disadvantaged took shape after 10 months of hard work.

The committee's report embodies a plan to restore academic excellence and achievement, one that recognizes today's economic realities without shortchanging either our teachers or our children.

Its conclusions reflect the input of many Texans who attended a series of public hearings in different parts of the state. While the public found much to praise in our schools, their hours of testimony touched on common weaknesses in our educational system—low teacher pay, poor student performance on basic skills tests, too little time spent on core academic subjects during the school day, classroom discipline problems, school districts with too many children and too few dollars.

Now it is the Texas Legislature's turn to transform this blueprint into a workable agenda for our educators and students. As a state, we have an exciting opportunity in the weeks ahead to redirect our priorities and renew our commitment to academic excellence.

I am confident that, by late May, a majority of the Texas House and Senate will unite behind an education reform package that will help reduce the economic incentive for our most talented and experienced teachers to leave the classroom for better paying jobs in private industry.

We are in a unique position to clarify our goals for the managers of the largest public school network in the nation. The work begun by the Select Committee on Public Education can serve as a departure point for legislation as significant as the Gilmer-Aiken bill that improved the system of channeling state dollars to local school districts.

Every Texan owes a debt of gratitude to our predecessors in the Legislature who had the foresight to create the Permanent School Fund, an investment of state assets that channels millions of dollars regularly into public school education.

Today, we are asking more from our school system than ever before. New sources of revenue are needed to help operate our schools, but new dollars alone will not solve all problems in the classroom.

Technology is changing on almost a daily basis, and Texas is emerging as a leading competitor among the 50 states for high tech and computer industries. We must have an educational system flexible enough to train our students to meet this challenge.

A special legislative session early this summer can represent a major milestone for education in Texas. We cannot afford a missed opportunity.

Discovery of oil, gas should be industry's first concern

Chairman, Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association
I am no different than most oil men I know in that I am an optimist. I am optimistic about the future of this industry and about my company's endeavors.

The petroleum industry has experienced a bleak period during the past two years. Now, however, the resiliency of independent oil and gas producers has been proved. We are on our way back.

The number of working rigs is an important indicator of vitality in our industry. Evidence of the turn-around is approximately 100 more drilling rigs operating in Texas during 1984 than at a corresponding time last year. But, more needs to be done.

In 1983, drilling totaled 284-million feet. Yet this effort resulted in the discovery of only enough oil and gas to equal 78-percent of production. Last year we also had to import 1.34-billion barrels of oil, at a cost of approximately $40-billion.

Our industry should strive each year to discover oil and gas in amounts equivalent to that produced. Such a commitment in 1983 would have required a 25- to 30-percent larger outlay of exploratory expenditures.

Last year was a recovery year for the economy. As the economy grows, demand for oil and gas will rise along with a need to increase exploration expenditures.

If we do not respond quickly, it is likely we will be facing another energy crisis situation similar to the one we endured during the 1970's.

There are numerous reasons why exploratory drilling, both in Texas and the rest of the country, is at a depressed level even with this looming crisis. They include the following:

- (1) Independent producers, who historically have drilled 80-percent of this nation's wildcat wells, are debt-burdened after overextending themselves financially in the 1979-1981 period.
- (2) These producers' cash flow has been reduced by stabilization of oil and gas prices and imposition of the so-called "Windfall Profits Tax."
- (3) Demand for natural gas has decreased and with it the amount of money available for exploration.

ed "Windfall Profits Tax."

Until one or more of these factors changes, doubt remains that we will have the significant increase in drilling activity necessary to continue the recovery. For that recovery to become a reality, the industry needs stability and consistency in the areas of regulations and taxes; we cannot accommodate additional regulatory burdens or increases in taxes, such as a "windfall profits tax" on decontrolled natural gas at the federal level or increases in severance tax rates here in Texas.

Bentson pushes for legislation to aid border

Senator Lloyd Bentson, saying economic problems along the U.S. border with Mexico have reached a "point that demands the attention of the Congress," introduced legislation last Wednesday to help put the border economy back on its feet.

The Bentson bill, drawn up over a period of several weeks, is in response to a series of problems and setbacks that have severely damaged the border economy. The setbacks include reductions in the value of the Mexican peso and disastrous weather conditions.

"As a result of the peso devaluations, the amount of money spent by Mexican nationals on this side of the border fell from $4.6 billion in 1981 to only $450 million in 1982, less than a tenth of what it had been a year earlier."

"Hundreds of businesses have been forced to close their doors. Tax collections have declined dramatically, putting the backs of local governments and schools to the wall."

"Unemployment in one border county, Starr County, has reached 46.2 percent. The rate of joblessness in county after county up and down the border far exceeds the national average."

"Farm losses, as the result of a devastating freeze last December, are still being totaled, but they will surely exceed $50 million."

Among the provisions in the Bentson bill is one which would reauthorize the Economic Development Administration with a specific section providing aid to communities that have suffered sudden and severe economic hardship as a result of weather disasters and foreign currency devaluations.

The bill also amends the 1974 Trade Act.

We write this letter to the people of Mitchell County and also to people of distant places who are not reached by this newspaper.

Seven and a half months ago when we lost Dion, you all were there at our side in one way or another. You also have shared this sorrow that lies deep in our hearts. We thank you for the countless things you did for us and for Dion.

One of the many things done for Dion was a scholarship to be award-

In Romans 1:16,17 the Bible reads; "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. No, Gwendolyn, it's not polite to refer to the Senate Subway as a congressional underground movement.

The reason that gossip travels so rapidly is that usually is a matter of supposedly confidential hearing.

Cook's Corner

Ruffin's favorite is sweets

When Billie Ruffin got married at 17, she and her husband ate a lot of sandwiches.

"Before I learned to cook, we ate a lot of sandwiches, because that was about all I knew how to fix. I did know how to make candy and cookies."

Mrs. Ruffin can remember the first time they had company over for dinner. She takes up with the story.

"I fixed chicken fried steak. I had never made gravy before so I didn't know to save the drippings. I poured them out and got a clean skillet and started from there—without the grease or drippings. Needless to say, the gravy didn't turn out too well. After that, we never had much company over to eat either."

She basically uses a recipe but does like to experiment.

Mrs. Ruffin is Senior District Clerk at Dowell-Schlumber, which keeps her pretty busy, so she doesn't cook like she used to.

"It's just as easy to go get something to eat rather than come home and fix it just for me."

But on family get-togethers she does her share of cooking.

Her favorite things to bake are cakes, which is a good thing, because Mrs. Ruffin caters weddings.

She makes all her cakes for weddings, showers, etc from scratch and does all the decorating herself.

Mrs. Ruffin has three children—Debbie, Elaine and Otis.

Today she is sharing three of her recipes with RECORD readers.

BEEF STEW

Billie Ruffin

2 pounds stew meat
1 medium onion, chopped
6 medium potatoes
1 pound bag carrots
2-10 oz. boxes frozen corn
1 1/2 oz. chili powder
Salt & pepper to taste

Cook stew meat, onion and chili powder in water for about 2 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. I use a 6 quart pan for cooking this because it makes a large batch of stew. Add sliced carrots and then potatoes, cut in bite size pieces. Last, add corn and cook until carrots and potatoes are tender. Usually 45 to 60 minutes after carrots are added. Add more water if needed during cooking. Serve with crackers or cornbread.

NO-BAKE COOKIES
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup milk
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 stick oleo

Bring these to a boil and boil two minutes (stirring constantly). Remove from heat and add 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1/2 cup chopped pecans and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Stir well and then add 3 cups 1 Minute Oats (uncooked). Mix well and drop by teaspoons onto wax paper.

HOBOSPECIAL
Shape lean ground beef into desired pattie size for each person to be served. Place each pattie on foil. Top each pattie with a thin slice of onion, 4 thin strips of bell pepper, then add carrot slices and potato slices about 1" thick on top of onion and bell pepper, salt and pepper and seal well in foil. Place in pan and cook in oven until desired doneness. I like mine well done and can put this in oven at 275 degrees before I go to work and have it ready when I come home at lunch. If you're in a hurry, cook at 350 degrees and check until its cooked enough for you.

"YOU CAN BE PROUD OF THE GOSPEL"

Harold Davis, Pastor Oak Street Baptist Church

In Romans 1:16,17 the Bible reads; "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. For therein is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, The just shall live by faith."

We tend to be proud of many things. Some, such as our families and our nation can be justified. Others, such as possessions and personal accomplishments can become a source of false pride and lead to egotistical gratification. But every person can be proud of the gospel of Jesus Christ. Benson, Oliver on to state

Six 4-H'ers from Mitchell County competed in the West Central District 4-H Roundup in San Angelo May 5. The annual Roundup on the Angelo State University Campus, drew 386 junior and senior 4-H boys and girls, their parents, adult leaders and County Extension Agents.

First and second place senior winners are eligible to represent the 17 counties in District 7 during State Roundup competition on the Texas A&M University Campus June 5 and 6.

Senior first and second place winners from Mitchell County were Shelia Benson and Margie Oliver who presented a talk entitled "You Can't Take It With You." Their presentation concerned the importance of having a will.

The Junior Rifle Team placed third in the shooting sports competition. Team members are: Bridgett Bridgford, Joel Mikow, Bill Dossey and Craig Rees.

SHELIA BENSON, left and Margie Oliver were two 4-H'ers from Mitchell County who captured honors during the 1984 District Seven 4-H Roundup May 5 on the Angelo State University Campus in San Angelo. They were among some 386 youths who participated in 39 contests. The Roundup provides developmental experiences which build on knowledge, attitudes and skills gained through local 4-H activities.

The Baptist Women's Night Group First Baptist Church met at the home of Jean Edwards at 7 p.m. Monday, May 7 for a regular meeting.

The meeting was opened with a poem by Anna Staats and Margaret Bodine leading in the prayer. Three projects were discussed and decided upon by the group.

Commitments were also made to supply personal items for the Vernon Sivage's missionaries to Africa, who will be returning to their mission field in June.

The program, "Bold Witnessing" was directed by Joy Piland who was assisted by Catherine Morris, Marguerite Turner and Billie Roenfeldt.

In the closing, Marguerite Turner, presented the prayer meditation and gave each lady the name of a missionary to pray for during the month of May.

The ladies attending were Catherine Morris, Marguerite Turner, Mary Lloyd, Jessie M. Merket, Billie Roenfeldt, Anna Staats, Margaret Bodine, Betsy Aycok, Earline Sellier, Virginia Dearen, Joy Piland, Jean Edwards and Louree Upton.

Cook's Corner

Ruffin's favorite is sweets

When Billie Ruffin got married at 17, she and her husband ate a lot of sandwiches.

"Before I learned to cook, we ate a lot of sandwiches, because that was about all I knew how to fix. I did know how to make candy and cookies."

Mrs. Ruffin can remember the first time they had company over for dinner. She takes up with the story.

"I fixed chicken fried steak. I had never made gravy before so I didn't know to save the drippings. I poured them out and got a clean skillet and started from there—without the grease or drippings. Needless to say, the gravy didn't turn out too well. After that, we never had much company over to eat either."

She basically uses a recipe but does like to experiment.

Mrs. Ruffin is Senior District Clerk at Dowell-Schlumber, which keeps her pretty busy, so she doesn't cook like she used to.

"It's just as easy to go get something to eat rather than come home and fix it just for me."

But on family get-togethers she does her share of cooking.

Her favorite things to bake are cakes, which is a good thing, because Mrs. Ruffin caters weddings.

She makes all her cakes for weddings, showers, etc from scratch and does all the decorating herself.

Mrs. Ruffin has three children—Debbie, Elaine and Otis.

Today she is sharing three of her recipes with RECORD readers.

BEEF STEW

Billie Ruffin

- 2 pounds stew meat
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 6 medium potatoes
- 1 pound bag carrots
- 2-10 oz. boxes frozen corn
- 1 1/2 oz. chili powder
- Salt & pepper to taste

Cook stew meat, onion and chili powder in water for about 2 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. I use a 6 quart pan for cooking this because it makes a large batch of stew. Add sliced carrots and then potatoes, cut in bite size pieces. Last, add corn and cook until carrots and potatoes are tender. Usually 45 to 60 minutes after carrots are added. Add more water if needed during cooking. Serve with crackers or cornbread.

- NO-BAKE COOKIES
- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup milk
- 3 tablespoons cocoa
- 1 stick oleo

Bring these to a boil and boil two minutes (stirring constantly). Remove from heat and add 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1/2 cup chopped pecans and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Stir well and then add 3 cups 1 Minute Oats (uncooked). Mix well and drop by teaspoons onto wax paper.

HOBO SPECIAL

Shape lean ground beef into desired patty size for each person to be served. Place each patty on foil. Top each patty with a thin slice of onion, 4 thin strips of bell pepper, then add carrot slices and potato

done and can put this in oven at 275 degrees before I go to work and have it ready when I come home at lunch. If you're in a hurry, cook at 350 degrees and check until its cooked enough for you.

Your Stars Above

BY EVE EWING

ARIES (3-21/4-19) An imagined slight from someone close is just that — imagined. Forgive and forget and you will establish an even closer relationship. Remember, the other party is suffering too.

TAURUS (4-20/5-20) Your instinct for collecting could lead you to a rare find this month. It's a matter of being in the right place at the right time.

GEMINI (5-21/6-20) Everything seems to be breaking your way now so it is a good time to slow your pace and enjoy your good fortune. Don't over-reach. For you, it isn't necessary.

CANCER (6-21/7-22) Like another famous Cancer, Alexander the Great, you think there are no more worlds to conquer. You couldn't be more mistaken, as time will tell, and soon.

LEO (7-23/8-22) Your ideas are right for you, but use caution in urging them on others. Not everyone has your flair for daring situations and the assurance to pull them off.

VIRGO (8-23/9-22) Your keen sense of logic is offended by the chaos of a friend's life. Soft pedal any criticism you want to offer, and settle for lending a sympathetic shoulder to cry on.

LIBRA (9-23/10-23) It is time to examine that new relationship you are about to establish. Some differences can be worked out, but this should be done before you make a firm commitment.

SCORPIO (10-24/11-22) You may be mistaking stubbornness for strength. Step back and reconsider your stand. There is plenty of room for give and take and you won't lose face by bending somewhat.

SAGITTARIUS (11-23/12-21) Romance is looming on your horizon and you tend to be a little frightened of it. Relax and enjoy! No one is going to put you in a strait jacket.

CAPRICORN (12-22/1-19) Someone wants to repay you for an act of kindness you did them long ago. This should relieve your feeling that you had been forgotten and were unappreciated.

AQUARIUS (1-20/2-19) A current political situation upsets you, so you should go out and work for what you believe. Even if you lose, you will have the satisfaction of knowing you tried.

PISCES (2-20/3-20) Don't put off till tomorrow what can be done today. You have postponed a career decision too long and if you don't act soon, you'll be left at the starting gate.

Senior Update

BY VIVIANNE BODEAU

REVERSE MORTGAGE.

We have written some before on the reverse annuity mortgages or loans known as RAM. This means that a senior homeowner would, in effect, take a loan out on the equity in his home and receive monthly income.

There is also a plan whereby seniors sell their homes but retain the right to live there until they die. They are really leasing their own homes back.

Problems still could come from RAM in that a senior could take out say, a 20 year loan on their own home and then outlive the 20 years. If this happens there would be four options.

- He could sell and move.
- He could begin to pay the newly created loan back to the lender.
- He could reappraise the house and then renegotiate another RAM.
- He could arrange to lease the property back from the lender.

The option of reappraising and renegotiating is the only one that really satisfies seniors. But to do this the home now has to be worth sufficiently more than it was 20 years before, having gained in value through the years.

A problem for the lender is committing to payment of a fixed rate in these difficult times. Think of your own reaction to promising someone a 12 percent return on their money for 10 or more years.

The senior hesitates about using this program too. After working a lifetime to create an asset (your home equity) it is sometimes hard to risk it through a loan. Too, it is seemingly like buying the house over again.

Like it or not, however, because inflation will continue to drive the cost of living up, many seniors will be forced to use their equities in order to survive.

Additionally, people are living longer, creating more one-family households. The people in these households will be needing more and more services, particularly in the medical area.

Currently most seniors are choosing to reduce their standard of living rather than risk their home equity. But because of the reasons given, just above, this will not be possible for long.

The RAM program, now in effect in several states and spreading, could be very beneficial to seniors but it does need senior advocate organizations to back it and to find ways to make it work.

Delaney presents program to B&PW

The Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club met Tuesday evening May 8 at 7 p.m. for their monthly dinner and business meeting at the Civic Center.

In charge of the meeting was the finance committee consisting of Ann Gregory, chairman; Mildred Free and Faye Spivey.

Juanita Schafer led the flag salute and Mildred Free read the club collect. The members arrived to the music played by Ann Gregory at the piano.

Flowers were presented to the oldest mother present, Ethel Hardegree; and the youngest mother present, Molly Bruce, honoring Mother's Day, May 13.

The speaker for the evening was the club's own Shirley Delaney. Ms. Delaney spoke on money, "How to get it, How to save it, How to invest it and How to spend it."

Juanita Schafer, president, conducted the business meeting. Twenty-seven members answered the roll call. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved after corrections.

Virginia Dearen reported that the election run-off will be June 2. She stressed the need to vote and the need to appreciate our freedoms and to stand up for what our country believes in.

Molly Bruce reminded the members that her committee was trying to take care of Friendly Park on the corner of Walnut and Second Streets. She encouraged each member to help by picking up trash, pulling a weed as they walked by the park.

Happy birthday was sung to the different members with birthdays in May.

The following officers were elected for the upcoming year: President, Christine Cooley; First Vice-President, Molly Bruce; Second Vice-President, Virginia Dearen; Recording Secretary, Margaret Ann Conaway; Corresponding Secretary, Ernestine Stubblefield and Treasurer, Nelda Garrett.

Check air conditioning before peak season arrives

By DEBBIE CHRISTIAN
 Have you connected your air conditioning unit for the hot summer months ahead? Regardless of the type of cooling system you have, now is the time to make sure that the unit is in proper working order for maximum efficiency.

As a customer service. Heating and cooling contractors and dealers also may have employees capable of evaluating and planning systems.

Qualified service specialists should check to see if the thermostat is operating accurately, make adjustments and clean the thermostat when needed. A thermostat that is off one degree can affect fuel costs by as much as three percent. A thermostat can also be tested with a reliable thermometer attached to the wall near the thermostat. If a discrepancy is noted, contact a service specialist to make the necessary adjustment.

A thorough yearly inspection of cooling equipment is the first step in making a system more efficient in energy use. Check for ways to stop losses of conditioned air moving through the system. Check attic duct work for air leaks and seal any gaps with tape. Wrap duct work with at least R-11 insulation designed for this purpose.

Keep filters and vents clean and free of accumulated dust. Clean filters once a month. Disposable filters are inexpensive and easy to change. Vacuum or wash permanent type filters frequently. Clean and dust vents as part of regular house cleaning.

Evaporative coolers work efficiently only if there is an adequate distribution system and air exhaust openings. Adjustment of window openings throughout the house will control air flow rate and distribution. The fiber pads in the unit should be changed at least once a year. The blower motor and bearings should be oiled regularly, according to the manufacturer's directions. The water reservoir should be flushed out with a hose when needed to remove build-up of mineral deposits, scum and sludge. Application of chlorine occasionally to the pump can help control algae growth and scum formation. A refrigerated cooling unit located outside should be shaded. Covering with awnings, roof overhangs, or shrubs increases efficiency. Be sure shrubs and plants to not block air movement around the compressor.

The condensing coils often collect insects, dirt and trash, and should be brushed and hosed down as needed. Maintenance is the key to having an economical cooling system. A yearly tune-up of equipment will save energy and money.

Tips for growing tomatoes given

By DEANNA MYERS
 A lot of satisfaction comes from harvesting plump, red tomatoes from your garden. But nothing is more frustrating than finding a dead or wilted plant.

What problems can gardeners expect this year? And more important what can be done about them?

Here is a checklist of problems, causes and cures:
 -Young plants dying soon after planting.
 Cause: Fertilizer burn or soilborne disease.
 Cure: Thoroughly mix fertilizer into soil; treat for soilborne diseases and do not overwater.
 -Stunted plants that are pale to yellow.
 Causes and Cures: Low soil fertility, poor soil drainage (drain and add organic matter), shallow or compacted soil (work soil deeper) insects or disease (identify and use control measures) and nematodes.
 -Stunted plants with purplish color.
 Causes: Low temperature and lack of phosphorus.
 Cure: Plant at recommended time and add phosphorus fertilizer.
 -Spots, molds, darkened areas on leaves and stems.
 Causes and Cures: Disease (identify, spray or dust and use resistant varieties), chemical burn (use recommended chemical at recommended rate) and fertilizer burn (keep fertilizer off plants).
 -Wilting plants.
 Causes and Cures: Dry soil (water), too much in soil (drain), nematodes and diseases (use resistant varieties if possible).
 -Weak, spindly plants.
 Causes and Cures: Too much shade (remove shade or quit gardening), too much rain (hope for sunshine), plants too thick (thin out plants) and too much nitrogen (avoid excessive fertilizer).
 -Tomato leaf curl.
 Causes and Cures: Heavy pruning in hot weather (Do not prune in hot weather) and diseases or insects (identify and use control measures).

 -Misshapen tomatoes (caffaging).
 Cause: Cool weather during blooming.
 Cure: Plant at recommended time!
 -Abnormal leaves and growth.
 Causes and Cures: Hormonal-type killer (don't use sprayer that was used to apply weed killer and don't allow spray to drift to garden) and virus diseases (remove infected plants to prevent spreading; control insects that transmit disease).

Pour oil on troubled waters and the Environmental Protection Agency will getcha for making an oil slick.
 I deny it categorically — you're just stone walling it.
 Tapping an endless energy supply — the political machine fuels itself on hot air, supplemented with broken promises.
