Senator Sam G. Bratton Spoke to Large Crowd Last Friday Evening

Citizens of Roosevelt County Turned Out En-masse to Hear Favored Son

United States Senator Sam G. Bratton spoke to the people of Roosevelt County at the court house in Portales last Friday evening. Floyd Kennedy acted as chairman and directed the program. The invocation was given by Rev. Joe P. Grizzle. Mayor E. G. Bryant was high in praise of Bratton of as a man and as public officer in the welcome address.

Coe Howard made a talk introducing Vincent Cox who received the appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Judge C. M. Compton introduced the speaker telling of the ability, character and strength from the time he was district judge, through his term as supreme judge and his election as United States Senator.

"Our future is not determined at Washington; it is a result of the sentiment in the home. It is the duty of the men and women to see that the proper situations are created in the home to mold this sentiment in the right way," was the introduction to the speech made by United States Senator Sam G. Bratton last Friday evening.

In discussing the work of Congress Senator Bratton praised the Multilateral Peace Treaty as the most wonderful treaty ever signed by our country. The treaty was first made as a direct entreaty from the citizens of the French Republic to the citizens of the United States. To join in a covenant to renounce war as a method of settling international affairs and to resort to peaceful methods according to Senator Bratton.

Last Year the Multilateral Treaty was passed by the Senate with only one dissenting vote. Now forty-six nations have joined the treaty, other nations are considering it and only two have declined, continued Senator Bratton.

Speaking of the bill which passed Congress to build fifteen ten ton cruisers Senator Bratton said these cruisers were not to be constructed for greed or gain but for self defence and to protect our commerce on the high seas.

The United States contains only 1-16 of the population of the world, and controls 1-3 of the wealth. We can produce what we need but if our exports are cut off we perish. We are already below the five, five, three ratio agreed upon by the naval disarmament conference. These men of war are necessary to protect ourselves.

Senator Bratton expressed strong disapproval of the oil conservation policy. New Mexico he said would be elected more than any other state with the possible exception of Wyoming. A conservancy policy should prohibit waste not prohibit discovery and development of resources. This policy would do away with drilling any wells on public lands and would give large oil companies the right to control and sell petroleum on privately owned lands without restraint.

He also spoke of the Reclamation project and the 10 million dollars of the project of the Indian land granted by the National Government to help defray the expense which is interspersed with the white land. One could not be developed without the other.

In reference to the Eastern New Mexico Normal, Senator Bratton expressed himself highly in favor of it and expressed hopes that a grant of land might be made for its maintenance in the session of Congress in December.

Senator Bratton said he thought it the duty of the American people to lend and give to the lesser nations the benefit of our expansion of our spiritual and intellectual achievement. In order to fulfill this obligation youth must be equipped for the undertaking in order that we may progress, be great and abound ever as time goes on.

"I covet the cooperation of every man and woman in this community that the wild rose of youth may be developed into the finished product of the florist garden," was Senator Bratton's closing statement.

Business Men Hold Informal Luncheon

On last Friday at noon the business men of Portales met at the Chamber of Commerce building for an informal luncheon in honor of Senator Sam G. Bratton.

After the invocation by Rev. Grizzle, and before being seated the following songs were sung with P. M. Bailey leading and Mrs. Freeman at the piano.

Tune "Tipperary"

It's a good time to get acquainted It's a good time to know. Who is sitting close beside you And to smile and say Hello Good-bye that lonesome feeling, Good-bye glassy stare, Here's my hand, My name is... (about your name) Now put your's right there. (Shake Hands)

O, FAIR NEW MEXICO

O, Fair New Mexico, We love, we love you so, Our hearts with pride o'er-flow No matter where we go, O, Fair New Mexico, We love, we love you so, The grandest state to know, NEW MEXICO!

The musical program was in charge of Mrs. Freeman.

Mrs. Dillon, of Shawnee, Okla., a niece of Mrs. Hensley favored the gathering with the vocal selection, "Can't you Hear Me Calling, Caroline," which was followed by an encore.

The following reading was given by P. M. Bailey:

"A PROPHECY"

Not so long ago the Compton Brothers, in company with Judge T. E. Meers, were touring through England and while there they encountered a Gypsy Camp in the woods near by. So feeling that they were so far away from home and wanting so much to know their future, they decided to "cross" the old, dark-eyed denizens' palm with silver just to see what she could see pertaining to their future.

As "Cleve" held the highest position of the three, he was the first to approach the old lady. She looked at him long and questioningly, then answered in a very solemn and dignified manner. This is what she said, "Young man, there's much in life for you and I will read your future later, but if you will excuse, I'd like to tell you some things that I see concerning a mine, away across the waters from you, in America. He is a very dear friend of yours and I am sure you will be pleased to hear about anything which might concern him."

"As I look away down the stream, I see your friend, only a red-haired, blue-eyed boy, but this boy was willing to plod through snow storms in the far west that was so terrific that many would lose their way and freeze, just to help boys and girls in school gain knowledge and information that would help them to become useful citizens when they grew older. As a teacher, these students loved this boy and made him their ideal!"

"As the few years passed, he felt he had a call to do a deeper and greater work and he chose law as his profession. He followed the practice of law in a small town in the west and in that calling he was equally as successful, if not more so, than in the former. Even when duties were seemingly as heavy as he needed to bear in this line of work, he did not shirk his duty as a christian but gave of his time and energy to teach in the Sunday School or to serve in any place he was needed. He was later elected District Judge and made a fair and honest one. So conscientious was he while serving as 'Judge, that if he felt he could give his Sunday School class a good lesson on right living, he would invite his boys up to the Court room for some lesson that he felt would help them."

"There are a few things connected here with his term of office which would be really interesting to relate, but only one I will give. I almost shudder to relate, for it was a grave offence. If it had not been for his lawyer friends, it might have wrecked his career as a jurist. The charge against him was that he had given a girl baby HIS name 'SAMMY', when he had

City Pumping Plant in First Class Order

On last Tuesday evening it was the pleasure of the News editor to inspect the new pumping plant of the city.

The working of the plant was explained by F. E. Sleeper, local manager of the New Mexico Utilities Company, who is an efficient electrical engineer, and who looked after the installation of the electrical equipment of this plant.

Housed in a brick building, is a deep well turbine pump, which raises the water discharging it in the sand trap. From the sand trap a booster pump raised it into the water tower.

Every thing is automatic, and the water pressure in the sand trap and tower automatically starts the pumps.

Water and connections have been made for a future of this plant should the need of it ever demand.

The city street lights have also been automatically connected by Mr. Sleeper, so that they are turned off at the proper time by a clock.

The plant of the Utilities Company is kept in spick and span shape, and is under the direct charge of Jack Norris, who has been with the company since they took over the plant in Portales.

Causey Country Has Many Turkeys

It now looks as if there will be turkeys enough for every one to have a big fat one for Thanksgiving.

Causey Community, disclosed the fact that the prairie in that section of the county is literally alive with turkeys.

On last Saturday, E. H. Lightfoot of Causey was a caller to the News office and stated that he had a flock of 700, which were doing fine and which would be ripe for picking around Thanksgiving time.

Mr. Lightfoot took the editor to the task for not stopping at his place while in the Causey Community, and has extended an invitation that we visit him in the near future, which invitation will be accepted at the earliest possible moment.

New Mexico Press Executive Committee Met at Roswell

On last Saturday morning the meeting of the executive board of the New Mexico Press Association met in Roswell, all members being present with the exception of one.

The principal business of the meeting was to select a meeting place for the February meeting of the association. Being the most centrally located point, Albuquerque was selected.

The Committee passed resolution commending Senators Bratton and Cuyler on their stand on the oil conservation, deeming the same to be detrimental to the development of New Mexico.

A membership drive will be conducted before the February meeting and every effort will be made to secure a membership from each member in the state.

A resolution was passed indorsing a broadcasting station at Roswell, same to be erected and operated by Roswell Dispatch.

At the noon luncheon the visitors were the guests of the Dispatch at a chicken dinner at the Nixon Hotel.

The meeting was pleasant and profitable.

J. O. Greaves of the Portales Valley News was elected chairman of the executive committee.

Porcupines Are Thick in Mountains

It seems that Mr. Priddy has become an expert at catching at his cabin on the recent stay Priddy says that the porcupine would come around the camp at night for scraps of food. Mr. Priddy was able to put a box over them and capture them until one morning he forgot to tell Mrs. Priddy that there was a porcupine under the box. She picked the box up and was greeted by the black nose of the porcupine. That was the end of the porcupine nets.

The Priddys were in the mountains during the rainy season which is worse than usual this year. Despite the rain they report a wonderful time. During the first part of the stay Mr. and Mrs. Pooshee and Miss Kenneth Bell and Mrs. Carl Yoachim were with them.

Mr. Priddy says the mountains are most beautiful at this time of the year. They are covered with a carpet of green grass and flowers and many ripe berries can be found in the valleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Priddy and their daughter Mrs. Taylor McCasland returned from the mountains Saturday.

Poultry And Dairy Show Meeting, Sat.

There will be a meeting of the Eastern New Mexico Poultry Association, Saturday August 10, 2:30 p. m. at the Court house. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss plans for the coming poultry show. Also there is considerable interest being manifested in a dairy show to be held sometime this fall so plans for holding such an event will be discussed at this meeting. Poultry and dairy interests are identical and I am of the opinion that both shows can be put over with considerable benefit to both industries.

Hoping that you will be present at this meeting and that you will bring someone with you, I am Very Truly yours, R. A. Young.

Two Die From Gun Shot Wounds

Crased Husband and Father Takes Life of Wife And Daughter.

On Monday morning about 9:00 o'clock, the town of Portales was shocked by the news that B. F. Bouldin had shot to death his wife and his daughter, Mrs. Ed Barker.

Bouldin entered the Stratton Hotel, and going to the room occupied by Mrs. H. D. Adams, wife of an auto mechanic in the employ of the C. & T. Garage, asked for Barker's room, and was directed to room No. 7.

Soon after he entered the room several pistol shots were heard, and Mrs. Stratton, who was in the room adjoining went to the door, which was locked, and asked what was the trouble. Not being able to enter she went to the front of the hotel and called for someone to call the officers.

On returning to the hotel, Bouldin opened the door, coming out with a pistol in his hand. Putting the pistol in his hip pocket passed rapidly through the hall to the rear of the hotel.

Mrs. Adams had run across to the garage telling her husband that someone was shooting somebody in the hotel. Adams, Frank Shaw and Frank Warnick started in pursuit, following him down the alley to Wheeler Bros. Hardware, where he was attempting to purchase shells for the revolver. Bouldin was taken charge of by these men, who started with him to the sheriff's office, and meeting Sheriff Jernigan turned the prisoner over to him.

In the small hotel room, was a scene to touch the most hardened heart. Lying in a pool of their life blood was Mrs. Bouldin and Mrs. Ed Barker, the latter breathing her last breath, with bullet holes through their heads.

Upon examination it was found that Mrs. Bouldin was shot just above the right ear, the bullet passing over the left ear. She also was wounded in the hand.

Mrs. Barker was shot in the left side of the neck, the bullet angling down, and in the left cheek, which produced the fatal wound.

Bouldin came to town horseback Monday morning, hitching his horse, went to the Sledge Hardware Company, where he attempted to purchase a revolver. There being none in stock except automatics, he did not make the purchase. He next tried the E. N. Neer Hardware Company, but found none in stock, he then went to Wheeler Bros., and asked to see a shot gun. He was first waited upon by E. N. Wheeler, who asked him what he wanted with a gun, and was told that it would be handy around the place.

Seeing several revolvers in the show case, he asked to see them, and one which was priced at $15.00 pleased his fancy. This he tried to buy for $12.50. Mr. Wheeler being busy with other customers turned him over to Ernest Jr. who made the sale of the revolver and six shells.

Mr. Wheeler stated that when he came into his store that he appeared normal, and nothing unusual in his behavior. At the purchase was present that he knew nothing of shot guns, never having shot over ten times in his life, and that he doubted if he could hit a large horse collar hanging in the store.

On leaving the store he went to the Stratton Hotel, where the tragic crime was committed.

On being interviewed in the county jail by a News representative, he stated that he had killed his wife and daughter. That on entering the room they were seated on the bed. He said that they made no struggles, and that he does not know which he shot first. He stated that he had recollections of the baby being on the bed.

He stated that his actions were caused by ill health and trouble which he had been brooding over.

On being asked what he wanted with other shells, he stated that he was going to shoot himself, that he had pressed the revolver to his head and that it would not fire, all shells being empty.

Soon after being placed in the jail cell he secured a suit of all underwear from one of the other prisoners and was attempting to hang himself when discovered by the jailer.

The News has received an order for sample copies of the Portales Valley News which will be placed in exhibition in the Grand Exhibition of Foreign Periodicals at Tokyo, Japan in August. The reason given for this order is the increased demand for foreign newspapers and periodicals.

One is impressed with the high regard with which Mrs. E. F. Gilman was held in her community. Since her death, it is learned that she was a real leader in her community, and a woman that will be deeply missed by her friends and neighbors. A farmer's wife, who devoted her time to the duties of her home, one would naturally think that she would be missed by her close friends and neighbors, but since her death it is learned that she had found her place in the hearts of hundreds scattering many miles. Several articles of sympathy and condolence have been received by the News, one especially, which was unintentionally overlooked on account of the operator finding two obituaries on the hook, became misplaced and failed to appear in this publication. The work and influence of this good woman will live for years to come and will have a part in moulding the life of the younger generation of that community in which she lived.

Stodous and industrious, he devotes his entire time to the interest of the firm. He is climbing the ladder of success and it is with pleasure that his friends and acquaintances watch his progress.

At the windup of the clean-up campaign, there were many places in Portales which looked as if they had been gone over with a fine tooth comb, but the cleanest place in town is the curb and the yard of Mrs. C. M. Dobbs. This yard is as spotless as her house, which has for years borne the reputation of being the cleanest house in Portales.

Society Annex

(By The Boss.)

Last week a neighboring exchange carried an ad which read "Frog Legs 50c per pound, Fat Young Men, 25c per pound." Cannibalism was practiced in New Mexico in the pre-historic age, but this was the first indication that it still exists.

L. L. Brown broke out of Las Vegas the latter part of last week and spent the week end with his family. Mrs. Brown sent him back on Monday.

Rev. Sowell introduced a new breed of chickens in his sermon Sunday night—the Rock Island Reds. Now J. W. King is on the war path and insists that the John Deere Breed are the Best.

Bob Yoachim will have a chance to out shine the Sowell at entertaining the Board of Stewards on Monday night. Maybe Bob will serve some of those $7.50 a pound fish that he caught at the dam.

Say folks, have pity on the editor and bring in the eats. He was visited by a ford load of his wife's kinfolks Monday of this week, and the larder is bare.

Mack Stanton was down from Clovis Monday with his star reporter, Jack Hull. When Mack was shown the large still in the jail yard, he licked his lips and remarked, "what an awful waste."

Paul Dodge, pastor of the Tucumcari News was a visitor at the News office last Friday evening for a short while, on his way to Roswell. On returning Saturday evening, he had difficulty in piloting his car through the traffic jam in State Street. It sure is hard on rural drivers when they come to a city.

Tackless Texas of the Amarillo News-Globe, was in Portales Tuesday according to the News-Globe. He must have been in disguise as we have found no one who saw him, and the only strangers reported on that day were three car loads of niggers, going south. Had Tack made himself known, he would have been invited to the Chamber of Commerce Luncheon, and one of the Portales Valley Sweet Potatoes would have been quartered so as to get into the oven, so that it could have been served to this distinguished visitor.

ROEBUCK

and by Bro. S. S. was quite a success. There was thirteen additions to the church by baptism, and two restored to fellowship. Bro. Roseman is to preach for us again when his summer meetings are over.

Mr. and Mrs. Harding were glad surprised last Friday night when two car loads of Mr. Harding's relatives from Anderson County, Texas slipped in on them. They surely are a jolly crowd and like most every body else like the looks of New Mexico.

We are beginning to need rain very badly in this part of the country. Luther and Lois Blakley, Weldon and Iris McSpadden and little son also visited in the R. M. Harding home last week-end.

Mrs. Mattie E. Merrick, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Merrick, Mrs. Margaret Culver and little daughter visited R. F. Richardson and family of Portales last Sunday.

Mrs. Boggs and son Edwin are spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Everett (of this neighborhood). Mrs. Boggs is very poorly. We trust the rest from household duties will do her much good.

We wrote the members of the Church of Christ to meet with us at Roebuck each Lords day at eleven o'clock.

County Extension Notes

The East Valley View Club met on Wednesday at the school house. The work was on frozen desserts. One of the members was worried because there was a shortage of cream for the ice cream. When the ice cream was finished it was the richest of any made in any of the communities. We are wondering what the East Valley View farmers feed their cows. A number of visitors were present at the meeting.

Mrs. Thompson was hostess at the Arch Club meeting on Thursday. A quilt was quilted and several garments made. A good dinner was served to the ladies and the girls at noon.

Friday was the regular meeting day of the Floyd Club. The agent had to spend the entire day with the club girls and the President of the women being absent the afternoon was spent in conversation and sewing. The ladies are making friendship quilt blocks.

Smile, smile, smile and the world will grow brighter.
Working and playing most all the while,
Smile, smile burdens of club will grow lighter.

The Function of a
Dept. of Vocational

(By R. A. Young)

The dept of Vocational agriculture in a high school should be a business institution. As a matter of fact its very name implies that its principal business is that of offering instruction to boys that are entering or about to enter the occupation of farming.

There is no sentiment connected with the study of vocational agriculture. No matter how beautiful country life may be how the birds may warble in the spring time, or the independence of farm life etc., if farming as such is not a profitable occupation on a par with other vocations it is a failure.

A dept. of Vocational Agriculture should have several specific objectives. Among these may be mentioned the following:

1. That this Dept shall provide a course of instruction capable of preparing the farm boy for the occupation of agriculture.
2. That this instruction be so designed that the average boy will be capable of being as good a farmer by the time he is twenty one years of age as he would be at the age of forty under the old informal method of learning by actual experience over a long period of years.
3. That the course of instruction shall be a practical one based on the agriculture found in the community.
4. That a definite service be offered the farmers of the community in providing a place to have milk tested etc. etc. That it shall always be ready to cooperate with all other agriculture agencies in the furthering of agricultural betterment.
5. That whenever practical the Dept. shall maintain demonstration projects for the benefits of students and farmers.
6. The tax payer has the perfect right to measure the efficiency of a Dept. on the basis of such accomplishments as listed above.
7. It has the right to criticize a Dept. for its failure to provide such functions. But on the other hand it is necessary to weight carefully all criticisms that one may hear. A successful dept. can only be maintained through the responsiveness of the community. If it is indifferent or maintains a too critical attitude of every thing done of course it cannot thrive as it should.

Any business must provide for a GROWTH program. Otherwise in this age of competition it must fail. One educator recently offered a solution for the farm problem, stating that the schools should be offering a means by which they boys leave the farm and enter occupations. He advocates the old fatalistic doctrine that the boy stays on the farm because he is not prepared for any other occupation. Yet any one knows that modern system of education provides to any boy with sufficient intelligence the opportunity to leave the farm if he so desires. The fact that a boy was born or raised on the farm is no reason for stating that he should stay on the farm. It is better in many cases for him to leave. On the other hand there is no reason to believe that all farm boys should leave the farm if they are capable of preparing themselves for other occupations. The farming occupation must grow and keep up with the age. It is the function of all agencies that desire to aid in the promoting agriculture to offer a program of GROWTH.

3-Window Fordor
Latest Ford Car

"The new three-window type Fordor Sedan is proving to be a popular family car because of its pleasing appearance and simplicity," said P. E. Jordan local Ford dealer.

"The car has created considerable comment wherever exhibited. In exterior appearance it is similar to the Town Sedan, long, low and straight and belt molding running back from the radiator around the body.

"The interior is very attractively finished. The plain style of trimming is in exceedingly good taste and heightens the feeling of luxurious comfort afforded by the wide, deeply cushioned seats, upholstered in lounge effect. The trimming is in durable woolen cloth.

"The front seat is exceptionally comfortable, which is particularly appreciated on long tours. And it is adjustable to suit the convenience of the driver, being quickly moved either forward or backward. Three persons may be accommodated easily in the rear seat.

"Altogether, this is an ideal car for the family of four or five, or a smaller family that delights in trips accompanied by friends. For the quick run to town, shopping, theatre-going, or other errands, the Fordor, like the other Model A types, means easy handling, quick get-away and inexpensive driving."

Marie Antoinette Made Blue Flower Popular

One of the most popular patterns for china during the last years of the eighteenth century was a little individual sprig of blue cornflower, sometimes used in combination with a green leaf and sometimes without. This pattern was so much used at the Chantilly potteries that it was known as the "Chantilly Sprig." Later the name was shortened to "sprigged China." However, the design was first made at Sevres and owed its origin to Marie Antoinette.

This young queen of France took a great interest in the porcelain works at Sevres and frequently visited the Sevres factory, where a great deal of porcelain was made at her order for her rustic farm of Trianon.

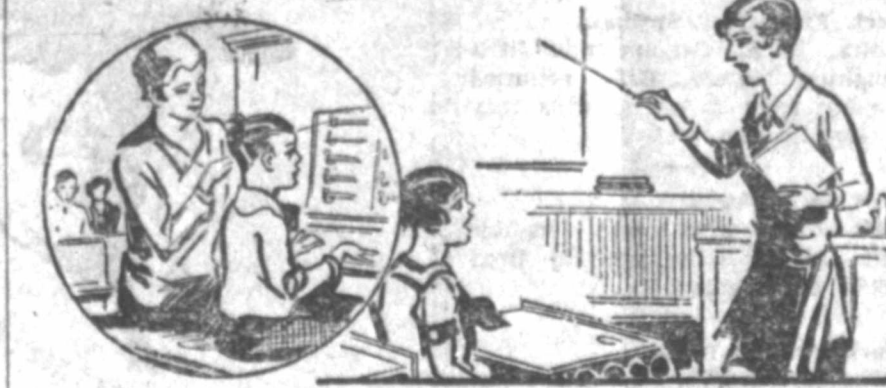

Marie Antoinette's favorite color was blue, and one day while visiting the Sevres works she mentioned that Sevres had produced nothing but roses, tulips and jonquills and no blue flowers.

Hoping to please the royal lady Hettiger gave orders to have painted on the dishes the little blue cornflower that she loved so much. Instantly on its appearance the tiny blue sprig became the rage. Chantilly took it up and all the large potteries in England followed suit.—Kansas City Times.

Schools Should Offer Courses for Singers

Doris Daniels Antoinette Halstead

Because They Do Not, Talent is Wasted

New York City.—Many women who have good voices, know music and might have earned a profitable living as singers, are working as stenographers and bookkeepers simply because they were never given the opportunity to learn the technical principles of singing.

This is the statement of Antoinette Halstead, who with Doris Daniels, makes up one of Broadway's most popular duet specialties.

"Every industrial and business school should have a singing course in its curriculum, and teach it in the same business-like manner that they teach book-keeping or manicuring," says Miss Halstead. "A girl who is musically inclined has the right to demand from her community's educational system the same technical training that is given the girl who is good at figures or dress designing.

Learn Fundamentals

"When children enter school, they should be taught the fundamentals of music instead of simply singing patriotic songs for ten minutes in the morning. The teaching of music should be given the same status as the teaching of mathematics, instead of being thrown in with the fire-drill.

"'Gennine, I Dream Of Lilac Time,' by Nathaniel Shilkret, is one of the outstanding contributions to musical advancement. It opens up an entirely new field in musical interpretation of motion pictures, and it marks the first all-American interpreted picture. This should have been accomplished long ago, but so few of our musicians have the proper training and background."

Miss Halstead secured her own training in Rome, New York, where she was a choir organist. Miss Daniels, born in Council Bluffs, Iowa, has studied in Italy and has sung in opera in Milan.

ART GOEBEL PILOTING FAMOUS WOOLAROC ON FAREWELL TOUR

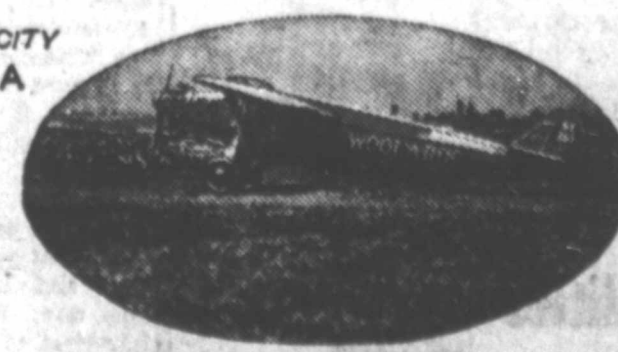

ART GOEBEL

MAP SHOWING ROUTE OF FAREWELL FLIGHT OF WOOLAROC PLANE

Bartlesville, Okla. July 30—Definite flight of the famous "Woolaroc" was announced here today by Frank Phillips.

WOOLAROC LANDING AT WHEELER FIELD, HONOLULU

Art. Goebel, who flew the ship by.

to victory in the Hawaiian race is again at the controls and is piloting the plane on its last cruise before it is placed in a permanent hangar on the F. E. Ranch near here, for the benefit of future generations.

About three weeks ago, Mr. Phillips announced that he was building a fireproof stone hangar on his ranch and game reserve near here, where the Woolaroc, which made a marked contribution to American aviation history, would be protected and saved for posterity. The announcement brought a flood of invitations from more than 200 cities to fly the ship on a last cruise before its final retirement so as to permit thousands of people to see a famous trans-oceanic plane.

Mr. Phillips has found it possible to accept the invitations for such a trip, and has persuaded Art Goebel to fly the ship. Some fifty or sixty cities and character made it impossible to include many cities from which invitations had been received.

Both Mr. Phillips and Art Goebel expressed regret that more cities could not be included.

The Woolaroc will arrive in Clovis August 2, at 11:45 and will stay two hours and fifteen minutes.

A "Chamber of Death" test is your guarantee of FLY-TOX efficiency. The FLY-TOX "Chamber of Death" is a small room in which live, healthy insects are turned loose. They are strong and lively. As they fly and buzz around inside the "Chamber of Death," FLY-TOX is sprayed inside. Less than a teaspoonful is used. Almost at once the buzzing stops. Within five minutes all it still. The insects are dead. This test shows you how quick and positive FLY-TOX works. Just what you need for those pesky flies and mosquitoes that bother you now. FLY-TOX is positively harmless to people. It has a delightful perfume-like fragrance that pervades a room like delicate incense. It is stainless. FLY-TOX was developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship. The Travel-Wise Choose Luggage
From an Ensemble Viewpoint

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

WHEN the bride counts the four pieces of luggage that make up the perfect ensemble for the wedding journey, the groom will count his blessings at the same time. For he will have no difficulty in tracking down the elusive missing shoe case, or the new hat box, when they are dashing for the boat or train, because each piece is in the same leather and the same color, and the only thing for him to do is remember what leather and what color his wife favors.

The ensemble of hand luggage is an accepted fashion now, but these four new pieces which make up the 1935 ensemble are unique because they are so simple in design, and their special use is so intrinsic a part of this design. The square box is made to hold hats, not to hold everything. The tray is for extra pieces of lingerie, and for sweaters, blouses or hosiery not packed in the trunk. The hat box, like the suitcase, is made with shirred pockets in the lid and sides, and both are similar in construction to the shoe case, with rounded corners and practical locks. The smaller dressing case is fitted with bottles and toilet articles in exquisite french enamel, and these may be used on the dressing table when the journey is over.

Natural plaid and creamy tan cowhide are the two aristocrats among leathers for these four-piece ensembles, and cream-white linen or beige moire are used exclusively for linens, in place of colored textiles of former seasons. The travel-wise will order fabric covers for the four pieces, also in matching color, and harmonizing with the leather. These covers are snapped on easily, and may be laundered as often as necessary. They are particularly desirable for motor travel, as they provide protection against dust and scarring.

The shoe case in this ensemble is worth special mentioning because it may be opened up and hung flat on the closet door as an ideal storage place for shoes when not in use for traveling. It is made in two sizes, to carry twelve or eighteen pairs of shoes, and with a special compartment for hosiery. The fitted dressing case in the ensemble may be replaced by a small dressing case without fittings, for the woman who prefers to pack this type of bag with her own particular lotion, creams and toilet articles. The dressing case or the fitted case may or may not match the other pieces. Some women choose them in blue, green or red ecru, snake or lizard, and have them covered with the cloth, snap on covers so that they will harmonize with the other pieces.

By the way, the lovely bride pictured in miniature is gowned in medieval manner, in shimmering rayon satin of a deep creamy white tone, with a long court train and standing collar of Duchesse lace. (© 1935, Western Newspaper Union.)

to Patronize Girl
Magazine Peddlers

Dalhart Texas: The Texas has received the following extra special notice from the Chamber of Commerce:

"Next time you see a magazine solicitor, think of this:

"A few days ago Dalhart was visited by several young ladies who were very persistent in renewing subscriptions to magazines or in soliciting new subscriptions. Of the bunch of girls that were brought in by a certain man, one was left at the De Soto Hotel without any friends or money. In other words she was completely stranded. After remaining at the hotel several days the Associated Charities helped her to get back to her people in Hobart, Oklahoma. Inside information has been gotten concerning these magazine subscription takers that is unspeakable.

"Do this for your town: Tell your wife and your employees that magazine subscriptions will be gladly taken by the news stand of Dalhart. Every dollar spent with these out-of-town subscription takers encourages conditions as are given above. Think it over."

Infant Identification
Identifying babies is so hard sometimes that the authorities of the canton of Argovie, Switzerland, have adopted the Bertillon system for newborn babies in order to avoid litigation concerning the identity of the child in later years. Babies must be measured, weighed, their finger prints taken, and any birth marks noted on an official form, for which the doctor and nurse are responsible, as well as for the legal registration of the babies. Further, the parents of the child must sign the documents, so as to avoid any mistake.

First Lady's Worries

Mrs. John Adams, wife of the second President, found it necessary to bring with her much of her own china when she took over the duties of first lady, and with disastrous results to the china, judging from a letter written to a member of her family shortly after her arrival, deploring the fact that "many things were broken or stolen." Her efforts to replace the missing pieces evidently were fruitless, for she remarked later in the letter that "Georgetown affords nothing."—Detroit News.

America's Great Debt
to Alexander Hamilton

Without any question it was Alexander Hamilton who laid the foundation for the material prosperity of the United States.

He was the founder of our whole financial system. As our first secretary of the treasury in President Washington's cabinet, Hamilton devised the governmental funding system, the internal revenue system, the sinking fund, the national bank, the federal mint and currency system.

He was the father of the protective tariff and was the first to propose and vigorously defend the doctrine of the "implied powers of the Constitution."

He was the first to advocate internal improvements and the building of roads and bridges. Talleyrand, one of his old friends, passing Hamilton's window very late one night, wrote:

"I have seen a man who made the fortune of a nation and labored all night to support his own family."

After his death his private affairs were found to be in a terribly tangled condition and it was only through a special act of congress that his widow was supplied with funds.—The Nation

Beauty Made by Dust

Dust and sand contribute to the beauty of the skies. Infinitesimally short waves of sunlight would pour down merely as white light, but for the diminutive dust motes that get in the way and sift out the component colors, from violet to red. And even when the colors are brought into existence they would stream on through the atmosphere and into space if the all but invisible water droplets did not huddle together and hold them for the world to see.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

"Then, looking still farther down the stream. I see this man as he is elected to the United States Senate. He was elected without any trouble or question, and he feels that in that capacity he is best serving his friends and his country.

But boys, don't take his word for it and let him stop there. Wait—look! It is now 1936 and whom do I see entering the Capitol at Washington, D. C.? Can it be that this man is there as a visitor? No, not that for the man you have known for these years as Teacher, Lawyer, Judge, and U. S. Senator, Sam G. Bratton, is on to-morrow to be sworn in as President of the United States of America. He has been elected to the highest position within the gift of any people upon the earth. He is now PRESIDENT BRATTON.

Arthur F. Jones, better known as "Farmer Jones" introduced Senator Bratton, giving a review of his public life and the expressing his high regard with which he was held by the citizenship of Roosevelt county.

Senator Bratton stated that he highly regarded the privilege of being classed as a friend and neighbor of the people of Portales and Roosevelt County. That it was a pleasure to meet and mingle with the men and women of that high type.

He discussed the oil conservancy policy, stating that it was his belief that it was not for the good of New Mexico. That only 3 per cent of the oil produced in the United States was on government lands. That 53 per cent of the lands in New Mexico were owned by the Federal government in one form or another. That during the last session of congress he introduced a bill to turn all of the government lands in the state lands that had less than 10 inches of rainfall, over the state.

In speaking of the Eastern New Mexico Normal School, he stated that he had great hopes of securing the land grant at the next session of congress, and that such an institution would be of great benefit to the youth of the state.

The time being short, the Senator only made a short talk dealing with some of the high lights of National and State issues.

About 100 business men attended the luncheon.

POULTRY FINDS NEW WAY TO STORE EGGS

Small Amounts of Carbon Dioxide Will Be Big Aid.

Eggs can be better preserved if they are stored where there is a certain amount of carbon dioxide in the air, according to Paul F. Sharp of the New York State College of Agriculture, who has just published the results of some experiments on eggs in Science.

Eggs stored in ordinary air spoil rapidly after they lose the carbon dioxide which is a part of the egg. As soon as an egg is laid it starts to become more alkaline and this hastens decay. This alkaline tendency, however, can be easily and conveniently neutralized and controlled if the eggs are placed where the air contains small amounts of carbon dioxide.

A convenient source of this gas can be used, such as the solid form or the gas form in cylinders. Professor Sharp says the only method of preserving eggs which approaches this one in cheapness and practicability is the oil dipping method in which eggs are dipped in a suitable oil which very nearly seals the pores. The carbon dioxide method is superior to the oil method, because the whites of the oil-dipped eggs become cloudy in storage. Those preserved by the carbon are not cloudy after the eggs are removed from the air which contains the carbon dioxide.

He discussed the oil conservancy policy, stating that it was his belief that it was not for the good of New Mexico. That only 3 per cent of the oil produced in the United States was on government lands. That 53 per cent of the lands in New Mexico were owned by the Federal government in one form or another. That during the last session of congress he introduced a bill to turn all of the government lands in the state lands that had less than 10 inches of rainfall, over the state.

No Woman Without Some Appeal to Masculinity

Almost every woman has something about her which, carefully nurtured, will make her seem desirable—not, of course to every man in her world, but to one or two. The charm, which may be anything from piquant conversation to good cooking, will find appreciation somewhere if it be well displayed.

Men are appealed to through their vanity and valing for even more easily than women, which means that most men would rather be seen about with a woman who patently did credit to their powers of fascination than with the worst creature in the world if she had no means of making the beholders envy them.

There may be men who dislike mere flirtation, and coldly ignore a woman who attracts them, but you will have to look for them in monasteries and other retired places. They are not of this world.

A man likes to look upon a woman as one who is subject to a hundred weaknesses and follies, and yet remains at heart a staunch friend, a really good sort. A man falls in love with a woman who helps him to appear at his best.—"The Technique of the Love Affairs." By a Gentlewoman.

Black Ants Fostered on Cocoa Plantations

"Without Black Ants No Cocoa," reads a sign posted at the entrance of a great plantation in central Java. It does not go unheeded, for the natives hand in some 4,000,000 nests of these little creatures every year, and receive payment in return. These black ants live only upon trees infested by the white cocoa louse. Neither the louse nor the ants injure the trees. The real enemy is a certain beetle, whose name is Helopeltis, which also attacks the tea plant. It has been found that when the black ants are present the Helopeltis fails to injure the trees. Apparently this sap-sucking pest is disturbed by the activity of the ants, for the latter do not attack the beetle. This is why C. E. black ants are protected. Food is provided for them by picking the white cocoa louse from the shells of the fruit, where they congregate, and placing them on the cocoa trees to attract the ants and disturb the beetles.
