THE irregular shape of this Colonial house is architecturally interesting. It is a small house, with home-like appearance. There are eight excellent rooms, a hall, a large pantry, a rear entry, three baths, many closets and built-in cabinets.

The living room is a graceful, well-shaped room, exposed on three sides. There is a lovely bay window where one can grow beautiful plants, two windows on one exposure and one on the opposite side. A large fireplace is built in, covering a good part of this wall.

One enters a small vestibule from the open porch into a study with three leaded glass windows, or into a large hall with a graceful stairway leading up stairs. The living room is completely by itself. Behind this room is a maid's room and a bath. From here one reaches the kitchen and dining alcove. The kitchen is separated from the dining room by a pantry. One can also reach the front by way of the door in the kitchen.

The second floor is laid out with extreme care and convenience. A large bed room and bath occupies the back of the house. In the center is a hall with linen closet and a smaller bedroom which also connects with the bath. In the front is a master bedroom with connecting bath and large cedar closet.

Dimples And Shapely Limbs Aren't Enough Any More; Director Lists New Star Qualifications

You have to have something more than mere prettiness to get by in the movies now that the "talkies" are making their influence felt. This layout indicates what some of the principal qualifications are: 1—The ability to wear clothes well, as exemplified by Mary Brian; 2—a good figure and a great deal of "it" as shown by Clara Bow; 3—a good recording voice, such as is possessed by Corinne Griffith, who recently inspired here for a million dollars; 4—facial beauty, as possessed by Billy Dove; and 5—some knowledge of professional dancing, like that of Gilda Gray.

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer.
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 8.—If you only require beauty, curly hair, pretty legs, dimples, and a way from Hollywood. That's the advice of Millard Webb, prominent director. And Webb is backed up by every other leading figure in the film industry. The day of success in pictures for the "beautiful but dumb" girl is past. There are many and varied requirements a girl must meet since the advent of talking pictures if she is to get further than the extra ranks. These requirements as set forth by Webb are:
Beauty and features which screen well.
Perfect figure.
Ability to wear clothes well.
Faculty of mimicry.
Stage and screen experience.
Personality and charm and a great deal of "it."
Good singing voice.
Knowledge of professional dancing.
Naturally these requirements are not absolutely essential. They will go as a general rule, but there always have been exceptions to every rule.

West Texans Use Much Poison In Prairie Dog War

More than 314 tons of poisoned grain, used in the warfare against prairie dogs and other rodents, have been used in West Texas during the past five years, according to L. C. Whitehead, of San Antonio, who is with the United States Department of Agriculture's bureau of biological survey, who was in Lubbock Monday.
Since January 1, West Texas has used 30 tons of this poisoned feed in exterminating prairie dogs mostly of which R. J. Powell, who is working with County Agent D. F. Eaton in Lubbock county, has used a goodly portion, there having been 18 tons put out in the Plains country this year.
Mr. Whitehead reports that the farmers and stockmen of the Plains country are exceedingly anxious to cooperate with the U. S. department of agriculture in every means for bettering their own interests and to rid the country of pests.
The highest point to which a human can ascend without involving injury to health is 16,500 feet.

Bombs Break Up Indian Assembly

Two Men Are Held For Explosion Of Two Bombs In Legislature; Numbers Are Injured

(By Associated Press)
NEW DELHI, India, April 8.—The campaign of the Indian government against communist agitation had an ominous sequel in the legislative assembly today. Several members were injured and others slain by the explosion of two bombs thrown from a gallery. Sir Bomanjee Lalal was struck by a bomb fragment and wounded. He was the only one gravely injured, although other prominent persons, including Sir George Schuster, financial member of the executive council of the viceroy, were injured. The motive of the bombing was disclosed by a pamphlet signed by Balraj, Honorary Chief, Hindu Socialist Republican Army. This said:

"I take a loud voice to make the people hear. With these immortal words uttered on a similar occasion by a valiant French anarchist martyr, do we strongly justify this act of ours."
The two men who threw bombs made no attempt to escape but succeeded in escaping to a room where they were held. The government has authorized the arrest of non-Indians convicted of communist agitation.

Tech Baseball Nine Plays First Practice Game Today

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche Sports Editor

HERE AT LAST. After getting a late start in their training for the current baseball season, the Tech Matadors will blast off the lid on the college diamond this afternoon as they engage in the first practice game of the season with the Spur High school diamond aggregation. The locals are approximately one month behind other college baseball teams in the state with their training and for that reason Coach Higginbotham is working in practice games to further condition the college nine for the regular season which opens here April 16 with Daniel Baker.

Spur will serve as an appetizer for the two game series with Big Spring of the West Texas League. The Tech crew will engage the Class D club Thursday and Friday of this week on the latter's diamond. These games should give the Matador mentor an opportunity to size up his 1929 team. Coach Higginbotham will give each candidate a chance to strut his wares in the practice games this week and the next week will likely get out his pruning knife and reduce the squad by ten or twelve.

COMPETITION APLENTY

Texas Tech tracksters will have their hands full when they tackle the Daniel Baker Hill Billies here Saturday in the second dual meet of the season. Coach Payne's thirty-clas has easy sailing in their contest with the Canyon Buffs, but are likely to hit some rather severe head winds when the Goats come to town.

Coach Blair's aggregation made an impressive showing yesterday in their first meet of the season against the Sam Houstonians at Harlingen, defeating the Teachers 65 1-2 to 51 1-2. The Billies have in Coe one of the fastest 100-yard dash men in the state. Coe carried off both the 100 and 200 in the meet Monday but his performance in the 100 was the feature, covering the distance in 5.5 seconds.

Tech is unable to boast a dash man this season who can approach this mark but in the hurdles, distance runs and field events the locals have a splendid opportunity to get back points lost in the dashes. The return of Fisher and Wilkins to the squad after a layout caused from muscle injuries has increased Matador stock considerably. With both of these stars at his best form, the Tech center team will be decidedly stronger Monday afternoon jaw Wilkins clearing the bar in the running high jump at six feet, indicating that the pulled tendon had fully recovered.

A NEW WRINKLE

Athletic officials of the college have added a new feature to the contest Saturday centering around the Tech-Daniel Baker tracksters with a number of special events in competition with Tech freshmen as an extra attraction for the Saturday program. The Frosh are lacking in hurdlers and weight men but can compete in practically all track events with these exceptions. Those in charge of arrangements have not yet decided on the events that will be held between the Westerners and college freshmen, but a full program is promised.

Lubbock High will not likely enter the Tri-State track and field meet which is to be held at Amarillo this Saturday. The locals are pointing strong for the District meet here next week and Coach Lowrey intends to save up all energy for this event.

Matadors To Meet Spur High School On College Field

Two Game Series With Big Spring Moved Up Day; Meet West Texas League Club Thursday, Friday

The 1929 Tech baseball team will make its initial bow of the season this afternoon at 4 o'clock when the Matadors will meet the Spur High school team in the first of the series of games that has been in training for only a comparatively short time.

Spur is bringing a nuptial high school club to furnish the locals with their first competition. The Matador mentor will likely give his entire squad an opportunity to show their wares against the baseballers from Dickens county.

Coach Higginbotham will give all his hurlers a chance to work in the game today, including the newcomers on the squad. The veteran hurlers, Howell and Hill, will likely give way to McCarty, Hobson, Moore or Alexander before the tilt is over.

A bad throwing arm may keep Burnett from taking his place behind the plate in the opener today. Hodges will likely do the backstopping. Others in the starting lineup include Taylor at first, Rigney at second, Walker at short, Peterson at third and Dewey, Broothers and Marshall in the outfield.

The two game series with Big Spring has been moved up one day. Coach Higginbotham announced Monday The Matadors will leave here Thursday for the first game that day and will play the second Friday.

The Nut Cracker

By Joe Williams

Avril, Cleveland rookie from the coast league says he didn't have much of a chance to show he was a fielder out there because every time he started to run he crashed into a fence. We always wondered why Ping Bouie did so well in that league.

Gene Tunney has gained two pounds and is worrying why doesn't he lay off that vegetable oil he ingested for a while.

The New York scribes would be almost unanimous in picking the Brooklyn Robins to win the National League championship if there were not five better teams.

One of the hurlers in the Cubs camp is Nick Dumontevy. There's going to be trouble when the scorekeepers start abbreviating that one.

California statisticians find that the fewest accidents occur when the car is well loaded. The car, my lady, not the driver.

Ho Hum! Guess we'll knock off for the day and go make an offer to Jack Dempsey.

Cardinal Attacks Einstein's Theory About Relativity

O'Connell Declares So-Called Educators Seek To Attract Attention By Ridiculous Ideas

BOSTON, April 8.—William Cardinal O'Connell, dean of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States, believes that behind the Einstein theory of space and time there lurks the "ghastly apparition of atheism."

The cardinal so expressed himself yesterday in an address before the New England province of Catholic clubs of America in which he stressed the necessity of religious faith and the "pseudo intellectualism."

After condemning "petty, befogged professors" who have set up some new standard "to attract attention to themselves" the cardinal turned directly to the subject of the Einstein theory.

"Why do men and women who pretend to be intellectual forget the very rudiments of life?" he asked. "What does all this worked up enthusiasm about Einstein mean? It evidently is worked-up, fictitious enthusiasm because I have never met a man who understood in the least what Einstein is driving at."

"The so-called theories of Einstein, with his relatively and his utterly befogged notions about space and time seem nothing short of attempts at muddying the waters without perceiving the drift. Innocent students are led away into a realm of speculative thought the sole basis of which, so far as I can see is to produce a universal doubt about God and His creation."

Einstein, However, Can't Be Bothered BERLIN, April 8.—Prof. Albert Einstein today said Cardinal O'Connell's assertion that his theories of space and time had behind them the "ghastly apparition of atheism" left him cold and uninterested.

MOODY IRED Doesn't Like Passage Of Officers In Texas AUSTIN, April 8.—Gov. Dan Moody did not give permission for troops of another nation to pass through this state, even in the case of a soldier of another country to fly his plane across the state, Governor Moody said.

STIMSON HOPEFUL Border Situation Is Less Alarming This Week WASHINGTON, April 8.—The situation on the Mexican border is viewed by Secretary Stimson as less alarming than it has been during the past three or four weeks. Chinese And Mexican Disturbances Appear Near End, With Federal Governments Reigning Supreme Death's work among the important figures of the war period continued in France when Ambassador Myron T. Herrick died March 31, barely a week after the passing of Marshal Foch.

The Ambassador was honored with extraordinary tributes by the French and the French cruiser Tourville took his body on board at Brest to bring it to New York.

Serious war disturbances which have troubled two quarters of the globe reached a crisis during the week and seemed to be nearing their end.

Nanking Revolt Checked In China, the Kuomintang party at Nanking vanquished the first serious revolt it has had to face and President Chiang Kai-Shek occupied Hankow after complete collapse of the army led by the Kwangsi group of military leaders.

At Paris, financial experts were more optimistic over prospects for a rapid settlement of German reparations. Le Matin declares the difference between allied demands and German offers on annuities had dropped from $125,000,000 at the beginning of the week to $75,000,000 at its close.

"I'm Happy After What Orgatone Did For Him."

"He Suffered With Abdominal Troubles But Not A Trace of Ailments Now," Says Lubbock Wife.

"Well, Orgatone has just simply made a new man out of my husband. I can't begin to tell you how happy it has made me," said Mrs. E. G. White, of 601 Avenue G, Lubbock, Texas, wife of a well known electrician.

"I certainly wish my husband had gotten hold of Orgatone several years sooner," she continued. "He was in a terrible run down condition, and had very chronic case of stomach trouble. After eating he would be in misery for several hours afterward, and would nearly always have to take something. His food did not digest but would lay in his stomach, hard, undigested. Everything he ate soured on his stomach, and he would have gas and bilious spells. He would bloat up so after eating, he would be very uncomfortable."

"He was getting to be very nervous and was restless all night long and hardly ever got a good night's sleep. He had a bad case of constipation and was forced to take something most all the time."

"We read a lot of statements from Lubbock people about Orgatone and found out what it was doing for others, so he decided to give it a trial. It just went right after his troubles, and now, he is entirely like a different man. He has a splendid appetite and eats anything he wants, and isn't bothered with indigestion in the least. He goes about his work now, feeling fine. Orgatone has helped my husband so, good, nothing else did him any good. I am glad to give this statement for him."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowen Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Organon representative. Also at Plainview by the South Plains Drug store. Out of town customers are being supplied by mail upon receipt of price, $1.25 for one bottle or $6.25 for six bottles.—Adv.

Attention Often May Save Teeth

Early attention to defective teeth saves time, money and the nerves of the patient according to Drs. Phillips and Haymes, whose dental offices are located in suite one of the Conley building.

Periodic inspections of the teeth will often reveal spots of decay in time to remedy them before they become too far advanced, according to these doctors. Clearing of teeth frequently is another measure they suggest.

Bridge work is a specialty for the two. They claim to be the most reasonable dentists on the Plains, from a standpoint of prices charged.

Wrong Prescription Caused Three To Die LONDON, April 8.—An inquest held today into the deaths of three boys who came up to London from Sudbury recently to be treated for ringworm, brought out that a misplaced decimal point in a prescription caused the fatalities.

The boys, Charles, Leslie and John Thorpe, aged 10, 7 and 5 years respectively, died under mysterious circumstances after being given medicine from a prescription compounded at the hospital to which they applied.

Hot Months Good Time To Re-tire

Summer time is an excellent occasion for re-tiring automobiles, according to officials of the Hicks Rubber company here.

Hot months mean deterioration in fabrics and it is generally conceded that the change in temperature is hard on old tires.

Hicks' specialty is the Dayton Thorobred tire, a brand that has established itself firmly in the favor of Texas motorists. The Dayton is so constructed that it admirably withstands even the exacting demands made by modern motoring conditions.

Several tires that sell for less than the featured Dayton are also handled by Hicks.

The Lubbock Hicks office is a leader in sales for all of the company's stores in Texas, according to a recent survey.

CRITICISMS

Some people are prone to criticize. Fact of the business is that is about all some people do. We heard a fellow criticizing the Chamber of Commerce recently. He blamed them for bringing people to Lubbock, where there was nothing for them to do. We feel that this is a very unjust criticism and we told the fellow so. The Chamber of Commerce makes some mistakes. We think the officers of that organization will admit that but where is there an organization that is absolutely free from mistakes?

There is a great deal of publicity going out from Lubbock and here building permits published in all of the daily papers of Texas and much other comment by newspapers shows that Lubbock is growing rapidly. This is true, too. A drive over the city will show that there is a tremendous amount of building under way. There is a lot of public improvement going on, too. But in face of all this the Chamber of Commerce or any other public organization has not put out any misleading information about there being a scarcity of labor in this part of the country. There is a population of over 20,000 people in Lubbock according to the best estimates that have been given in the past six months and in that number there are craftsmen and laborers who are able to take care of the greater amount of labor here and there is no occasion for sending out for additional help, and we do not believe that an organization has put out such information for many years.

Other criticisms of the city are sometimes put forth. It is sometimes charged that the city officials are extravagant but usually when the matters criticized are sifted down to where people really know the facts in the case there is no wanton extravagance.

Recently an expenditure has been made for a city laboratory. Some people seem to think that was a needless expense but listen to this from the Brownwood Bulletin and then wonder if the expenditure is not well worth all it costs.

The Brownwood paper says: It is much easier to prevent illness than it is to cure it and much cheaper. The money a municipality spends for the enforcement of sanitary regulations designed to protect the citizenship from disease breeding fifth and against contaminated food calculated to cause illness, is an investment rather than an expense.

Dr. Sanderson, a local veterinarian, recently sent to the laboratories of A. & M. College the heart of a hog that had been slaughtered for local consumption and the report of the examination showed that the heart was unmistakably infected with leptospirosis. Similar infection has also been found in other portions of hogs slaughtered for the local market and in the absence of dependable meat inspection it is reasonable to suppose that at least some of the meat that is found on the tables of Brownwood consumers contains infections of dangerous character.

Likewise we have no dependable system for dairy inspection and the enforcement of reasonable sanitary regulations in the handling of the community's milk supply. There is a city milk ordinance but a law is of little value unless it is rigidly enforced.

Not only are these things true but there is a very lax enforcement and a very noticeable lack of observance of state sanitary measures relating to the handling of foodstuffs offered for sale. The wonder is that Brownwood's death rate is low in view of the gross neglect of these community sanitary regulations and health measures in this community and the danger is always present that our death rate may be suddenly increased by the outbreak of some kind of epidemic that may be spread throughout the community in the food the people consume.

SHORTER WORKING HOURS More industrial workers in the United States are enjoying an increased amount of leisure than in any industrial country in the world. Dismal prognostications made some years ago when first shorter work weeks were introduced have not been justified.

The labor unions have worked for shorter hours for many years and have succeeded in bringing about that reform. Now the five-day week is coming into general use. Forty or fifty years ago it was the universal opinion of employers that the longer the hours the better it was for the man. Vacations were practically unknown in industry. Both employers and the wives and children of workers in many cases dreaded Sundays because so many of them got drunk. When the unions came along with their requests for shorter hours these arguments were advanced and were renewed when, more recently, the five-day week was proposed.

These arguments do not hold good any longer. The type of man working in the industries has progressed with the progress of industry. He has been compelled to keep up with the times or drop out on their days off, but that is the fault of the man and not the system. If they drink habitually, they will find their jobs gone and, to that extent, the situation is self-corrective.

SENATOR SAYS MONOPOLY TREND OF U. S. FRAUGHT WITH DANGER BY CHARLES F. STEWART

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The trend of our times toward a prodigious concentration of power and wealth in the hands of a few—

It is simply a chapter in the story of the evolution of the American people—a chapter which it was inevitable should be included in the book—fate being its author—and will it turn out happily for all of us—at the end of the volume?

The present chapter, says Senator William H. King of Utah, need not have been included as it is being written—we could have changed it—and the story of today, carried to its logical conclusion, can not end happily.

"Nearly 40 years ago," continued the Utah senator, "far seeing public men already sensed the danger in the development of their own generation—young trusts then—and tried to check it.

"The movement proved too strong for them and broke down the barriers of the Sherman law and the Clayton act.

The prophets were without honor in their own country.

"So now—we have mass production rampant—consolidation of industries—amalgamation of banks—the chain store—competition dying—surrender to the rule of the mighty."

"We are unprecedently prosperous, yes," agreed the senator. "But what is a nation profited if it shall gain the whole world and lose its own soul?"

"Though prosperity is good, it is not the only or the highest good.

"It is dearly bought, at the sacrifice of the moral, the spiritual and the cultural. It is a bad bargain at the cost of individualism and independence.

"Our forefathers' creed was freedom.

"However desirable in itself, material prosperity is a poor substitute for lofty ideals, an abiding faith in democracy and a steadfast determination to uphold the principle of diffusion of power.

"No enduring government or civilization," said the Desert State lawmaker, "ever was built on business conquest.

"It is an unstable foundation.

"We have glorified mass production.

"We boast of the tremendous markets it has created, because of its economies and the cheapness of its wares.

"In the long run it will not prove cheap—to the consumer.

"Why not? For the reason that it inevitably implies monopoly. Monopoly brings high prices—ultimately.

"Twenty-five years hence at the present rate of our national transformation," predicted the Utah senator, "most of America's wealth will be controlled by a very few—perhaps 50 per cent of it. Of course, the same few will wield all the power.

"The middle class will have disappeared completely, as a factor worth consideration. The middle man is fast vanishing already.

"The masses will be hewers of wood and drawers of water."

And revolutions reputedly never go backward. Senator King nodded—acquiescently, if pessimistically.

"Well," he remarked, "Rome grew great—and decayed.

"This republic is not necessarily immortal."

MOTHER LOSES A TOOTH FOR EACH CHILD, SOME THINK BY DR. MORRIS FISHBURN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Some people believe that for every child born the mother loses a tooth. The impression that childbirth places an extra demand on the teeth of the mother is warranted by many years of experience and observation. It is not, however, necessary to sacrifice teeth as badly as they are usually sacrificed during this process.

In order to conserve the mother's teeth, modern care demands suitable amounts of calcium salts and vitamin D in the diet of the mother; regular examination by the dentist during at least the first six months and perfect cleanliness.

The use of the toothbrush alone will not make good teeth either for a mother or for child. The teeth are a portion of the body and therefore are controlled by the food that is taken in, the quality of the blood, infection and many other factors.

Caught In His Own Trap!

SO THINK WE

We think there is no time like meal time to the most of the people of West Texas, where there is health in abundance, and the people can really enjoy what they have to eat.

We think it is a pretty wise fellow after all who marries a girl who has a good job, and is about to persuade her to keep it.

We think the reason that times are so hard is because we are not satisfied with the things that we used to be satisfied with. When we were a boy a penny was a great big piece of money, but the boys and the girls of this day and time seem to despise the little brownies, and nothing short of a shining quarter gets much recognition among them.

We think if the editor of the Ropesville Hustler lives in Lubbock he would not talk so big about having a cow and a sow and a hen in around the home. Here is what he put out to his readers last week: "It's mighty nice for us town fellers to preach chickens and cows to the farmers, but when it comes to keeping a cow, and having a flock of hens ourselves, why that's a different story."

We think that Anne and Lindy are going to have to put up with a lot of publicity before they get hitched, and then a lot more afterwards. It just looks like people can't get prominent without being wanted by the camera man and the feature writers. The press has even picked out the minister to perform the ceremony, and even the to-be groom has had to wear the prize ring during the minister to have the distinguished honor. We are just wondering if Lindy will not want to be married in the air. Might as well, for he may be up in the air afterwards a good part of the time.

We think that no man has a right to spend his time on the golf links, his home premises are reasonably clean, and the lawn and the garden are in good condition.

We think the proper thing to do is a road hog depends altogether on how big he is.

We think Mr. and Mrs. Hoover are certainly taking a great deal of liberties with the white house. They seem to be wanting to make the people believe that they are in charge. The President is getting rid of the Mayflower and all of the saddle horses, and looks like he would park all of the fishing tackle, but he seems to hold on to that as his hobby.

We think there must be great disappointment in marriage when a woman marries a man to reform him and finds out afterwards that he doesn't need to be reformed.

We think if broom sticks were as popular as lip sticks, most every young woman and elderly lady would be greatly improved.

We think it is hard to tell just what is going to happen in Lubbock. Some folks seem to think that April is going to be the banner month for building permits, while other wonder if May will not even go ahead of April. She may follow the example of April, and do a little better than her predecessor.

We think that possibly the worst overlooked street in Lubbock is Avenue H. It is a pitiful disgrace to both sides of Lubbock. It is the introduction given tourists either way they enter the city and should be improved.

We think that Lubbock will very soon be about the last big city without an airport. Anyway we are getting that way behind the procession in this body.

We think one of the best ways to observe health week will be to clean up the premises, and keep downtown alleys clean, and sanitary.

We think the best way to find your missing kinkfolds is to put out the report that you are rich.

We think the hardest thing about making money is making it first.

We think that there is one thing that will never be done successfully by evolution, and that is making a statesman out of a politician.

THIS HAS HAPPENED "HANDSOME" HARRY BORDEN is shot between one and four Saturday afternoon. His secretary, RUTH LESTER, finds his body Monday morning, sprawled beneath the airshaft window of his private office.

McMANN, detective sergeant, questions the following suspects: RUTH, MRS. BORDEN, Borden's estranged wife and mother of his two children; RITA DUBOIS, night club dancer, with whom Borden was infatuated; and JACK HAYWARD, Ruth's fiancé, with office across the narrow airshaft from Borden's.

McMANN's belief in Jack's guilt is strengthened by the testimony of elevator boys MICKY MORAN and OTTO FLEUGER, and of BELL COWAN, Jack's friend, who says he heard Jack threaten Borden's life Saturday morning. McMANN sends a detective to bring JAKE BILLY, Borden's bodyguard. Meanwhile he questions BENNY SMITH, Borden's office boy; ASHE, his manservant; MINNIE CASSIDY and LETTY MILLER, seventh floor scrubwomen.

A fresh scar in the wall outside Jack's window and a flattened bullet found on the cement seven flights below the airshaft window convince McMANN Borden fired in self-defense at his murderer who stood in Jack's window. Minnie tells Ruth that while she was cleaning Borden's office Saturday, she saw him take an orchid-tinted envelope from a small drawer in his desk.

Ruth at last finds the secret drawer and she and McMANN read the six letters concealed there. They are from MARTHA MANNING, an old sweetheart of Borden's; CLEO GILMAN, a former friend of Borden's, is shown in. When McMANN asks where she was Saturday afternoon, she laughs in anticipation of the surprise she is about to give him.

MARTHA MANNING, mother of Borden's illegitimate son, is brought into the investigation by Ruth Lester. McMANN mercilessly questions her about her relationship with Borden. Then he fires at her: "When did you last see Harry Borden?"

"I have seen Mr. Borden a number of times during the last few months—at a distance," Martha Manning answered the detective sergeant's question.

"You mean you followed him about?" McMANN asked.

Martha Manning smiled strangely and did not answer. But she stamped out her half-smoked cigarette in the ash tray which stood on Borden's desk and dropped her hands into her lap—as if she could not get any of them under the piercing eye of the detective.

"I ask you again, Miss Manning—when was the last time you saw Harry Borden?" McMANN asked with angry impatience.

"My last—indeed with Mr. Borden—was on Christmas Eve. I'm afraid I took rather an unfair advantage of his manservant's carelessness—as he has probably told you—and succeeded in speaking with Mr. Borden."

"Ah!" McMANN raised his bushy brows. "What was the purpose and the result of that impromptu interview, Miss Manning?"

"As to the purpose of that interview I decline to answer. Its result you undoubtedly know already. The woman answered calmly, but Ruth saw her hands were gripping each other tightly in her lap.

McMANN laughed, an ugly sound. "You're a cool one, all right! . . . Yes, the man Ashe has told us that you and Borden, in the presence of Jake Billy, Borden's bodyguard, had a row that ended in a light in which you were almost knocked out. You tried to kill your lover then, didn't you?—and didn't quite make a job of it?"

The woman's great dark eyes blazed with scorn. "May I remind you that it was I, and not Mr. Borden, who was injured in that encounter?"

"But—McMANN leaned forward toward her across the desk, his eyes narrowed to slits—"you've hated him and planned revenge ever since that night! That's true, isn't it?"

"No!" The denial rang out sharply, in a voice that quivered with emotion. "I loved him. I loved Harry Borden from the day I met him till the day he died. I still love him—wherever he is now and will love him till I die!"

The detective settled back in his chair regarding the trembling woman with that twisted smile of his which Ruth Lester longed passionately to strike from his mouth.

actually assuming them in the right way. We can not afford to give the pupil no opportunity for growth merely because he is not 100 per cent in the use of the responsibility placed upon him. We must by wise guidance reduce mistakes to a minimum, but we must also let the pupil have responsibility if we expect him to grow. We can never learn to swim until we get into the water. We must see that the pupil uses his responsibilities wisely but we can not take them away from him if we mean for him to grow in ability to bear them. We do not think of doing away with our domestic institutions because a few of our state and national leaders betray their trust.

This Anniversary

TODAY'S ANNIVERSARY Sixty-four years ago today the two most colorful military figures of the Civil War met without ceremony in a private home in Appomattox Court House, Va., and signed forever the guns of the war of secession.

General Lee bore on his shoulders the broken hopes of the south. Stonewall, plain-spoken General Grant would be proclaimed in a few hours by a joy-maddened north as the greatest hero of the day.

Of the two, Lee seemed to be better a man of his time. He signed the cause of the secession. But Grant's diffidence may have been a pose—a gallant gesture to hide embarrassment at meeting a defeated foe. It is customary for the victorious general to demand the other's sword.

Grant did not. Instead, he apologized for having neglected to bring his own sword. He permitted no theatrical display on the part of his opponent.

There was no victorious march of troops with banners flying; no demands made for the Confederates to "stack their arms."

The terms of peace were liberal and within a few hours, Grant was on his way to Washington by train.
