NAZIS TO STRIKE?

C. P. Kizer Is Death Victim This Morning

Accident Occurs At Crossing On Acuff Highway

C. P. Kizer, 55, was killed instantly when his car was struck by a Fort Worth and Denver passenger train at the crossing on Acuff highway about 8:45 o'clock this morning.

The farm overseer, who was driving toward Lubbock with a trailer attached to his 1940 model automobile, was thrown from the crumpled wreckage of his car about 125 yards from the highway. His car was carried another 50 to 75 yards, then burst into flames. A Rix ambulance went to the scene.

Investigation Under Way

Fog may have been responsible for the accident, preventing Kizer from seeing the approaching train. Railway officials were investigating late this morning.

Kizer had been employed about seven years by S. E. Cone of Lubbock, as an overseer under Cone of the old San Augustine ranch, now divided into farms. Kizer lived at the ranch headquarters about nine miles east of Lubbock.

Had Various Duties

He had various duties. He was helping in the feeding of cattle, and it was in connection with that work he may have been coming to Lubbock.

Position of the car and trailer indicated the car was going east, but the engineer of the motor coach which struck the car said the car was going west toward Lubbock. It was flung about and was facing east when the train came to a stop. The trailer was on the west side of the tracks, its tongue torn off.

A physician said Kizer suffered a crushed skull and internal injuries. There were few external injuries on his body.

Lived Here Since 1924

Kizer had lived in Lubbock county since 1924, coming here from Ladonia in Fannin county.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Shirley of 7 miles northwest of Lubbock, and C. R. of 9 miles northwest of Lubbock; three daughters, Mrs. Jack Whitehead of Lubbock, Mrs. E. C. Dorris of New Orleans and Mrs. D. E. Waters of Meadow, and two brothers, Bernie Kizer of CROSSING CRASH CLAIMS LIFE—The above photo is graphic evidence of the tragedy that occurred on the Acuff highway about a mile east of the state experiment station this morning when an automobile driven by C. P. Kizer and a Fort Worth and Denver passenger train crashed at a rail crossing. Kizer was fatally injured in the crash which occurred during foggy weather shortly after 8:30 o'clock this morning.

Balkans Tense As New Fears Of War Rise

Hitler's Legions Reported Rolling Toward Bulgaria

(By The Associated Press)

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Feb. 21.—Columns of Nazi motorized troops many miles long rolled south through Rumania toward the Danube river frontier with Bulgaria, military dispatches reaching here today reported.

Simultaneously, the general staff of Germany's Balkan army was said to have moved from Bucharest to Craiova, only 40 miles north of the Danube.

Emergency Session Called

The Yugoslav cabinet went into emergency session in the early afternoon as the Belgrade government's attitude toward the fast-moving international events still lacked complete clarity.

Dispatches from the Bulgarian port of Ruse, on the Danube facing Rumania where German troops are massed, said the Bulgarian police fought "Communist demonstrations" against the expected entry of Nazi troops into Bulgaria.

Nazi Planes Ready

Unusual activity was reported from all Rumanian airports controlled by the German air force, with fighting and bombing planes lined up on the runways.

Military observers at Ruse (Ruschuk), Bulgaria, on the Danube facing Giurgiu, Rumania, said that German engineers continued their drill of floating pontoon bridges, but they insisted that none had touched the Bulgarian shore.

This drill has been going on daily for many weeks, apparently in the Nazi effort to have everything in readiness when and if the time comes for crossing.

Reward To Russia

The Balkan situation was typically complex.

High-lighted was the belief expressed by observers that Adolf Hitler had approved cession of another slice of dwindling Rumania to Soviet Russia in return for Moscow's "cooperation" — that is, a passive attitude — with his plans for southeastern Europe.

Russia's reward, these observers said, probably will be the province of Moldavia on which the Soviet long has cast covetous eyes, as even Red diplomats acknowledge.

Friction Reported

There was a report already of friction between Bulgaria and Turkey, whose nonaggression pact is but four days old. The Turkish minister to Bulgaria, according to reports reaching Belgrade, has protested against the declaration of a semi-official Bulgarian newspaper that it is "none of Turkey's business when Bulgaria will recover her outlet to the Aegean sea from Greece."

This newspaper, Zora, had declared flatly that "the question of changing Bulgaria's frontiers was in no way affected by the Turkish-

Greeks Make Second Urgent Appeal To The United States For Aid "Before It Is Too Late;" Need For Warplanes Big Problem

BY LLOYD LEHRBAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — The Greek government, it was learned today, has made a second urgent appeal to the United States for help—particularly for warplanes—"before it is too late."

The result has been to start defense officials on a fresh canvass of available supplies in search of aircraft that can be spared to reinforce the Greeks in their struggle with the Italians.

Greece's renewed plea for the assistance promised by President Roosevelt some time ago reached here during the last several days. It arrived just before the signing this week of the Turco-Bulgarian non-aggression pact which may alter the Balkan status quo and exert a decisive effect on the military and political future of Greece.

Cimon P. Diamantopoulos, the Greek minister, conferred with Undersecretary Welles yesterday, but both refrained from statements on their talk. It was reported, however, that they had discussed Greece's situation in the light of the most recent developments, including the Turco-Bulgarian pact, and that the question of speedy American aid had been "mentioned."

The problem of finding planes for Greece is admittedly beset with difficulties, for aircraft factories already are loaded with orders for the army, navy, Britain and China. The question, however, was understood to be under study by the navy department and the national defense commission's priorities board.

'Anglo-Saxon' Alliance Said Threatening

Mediation Offers Denied; Rumors Rife In Orient

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Feb. 21.—Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka told Japanese newspapermen today that continued defense preparations by Britain and the United States in the south Pacific would produce a situation "attended by considerable danger."

Domei, Japanese news agency, quoted the foreign minister as expressing hope in a lengthy interview that "the Anglo-Saxons" would refrain from "taking any measures tending to excite Japanese public opinion."

Denies Mediation Offer

Simultaneously he reiterated a denial that he had sent an offer of European mediation to London. He said he merely dispatched a communication to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in which he gave a "very frank reply" to questions Eden had asked through the Japanese ambassador to London, Mamoru Shigemitsu.

The newspaper Chugai asserted that British-United States maneuvers against Japan had assumed a "positive phase" to thwart Japanese negotiations in the East Indies and added that the United States was planning to blockade Japan.

The paper said it had confirmed to its own satisfaction that rumors of a crisis in the far east were "ill-willed propaganda of British source."

Is Economic Blockade

Circulation of these rumors was followed by concentration of British defense forces in Malaya, the laying of mines around Singapore and the "concrete" shaping up of American defense activities in the far east, it said.

"Further," Chugai said, "the United States is preparing to resort to economic blockade operations against Japan."

Others Join Chorus

Other newspapers contributed to a chorus of critical comment on what is called here "the four-power economic and strategic encirclement of Japan," in which the main roles are given the United States and

Aid Plan Is Branded "Leap Into Conflict"

Senator Brooks Says American Boys' Blood Will Be On Supporters' Hands

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Carrying on the fight against the British aid bill, Senator Brooks (R-Ill) declared today that it represented "a leap toward dictatorship" which would "involve us in active, personal, fighting participation in war."

Brooks, in an address prepared for Senate delivery, said that senators could not shirk their responsibilities by giving President Roosevelt the powers contained in the legislation.

"The blood of American boys will be on your hands," he asserted. "The blood of America belongs to America, and to her defense to the last drop."

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), also opposing the bill, told the Senate that United States defenses now are "so inadequate that only by the utmost exertion and use of all our resources and ingenuity can we prepare for the future."

Wouldn't Deplete Forces

The British aid bill, he contended, would "further deplete" these defenses by permitting the transfer of existing war equipment and by channeling new production toward Britain and her allies.

Brooks, making his first formal speech in the Senate, said he favored helping Britain "by giving them whatever we can spare out of our present production from now on—short of war." He said he would not "dissipate another ounce of the present inadequate defense of America."

The Illinois senator said he wanted Britain to win because he believed it would serve the best interests of the United States.

"She didn't do a very good job with her victory the last time," he declared, but added that "I would like to see her have a chance to try it again."

Instead of enacting the British aid bill, Brooks continued, the people should be encouraged to "turn to and build—build to defy any aggressors who might challenge our form of civilization in this hemisphere. . . .

"No Glamor In War"

"I would quit cringing in my boots as a coward, and stop telling the world I was afraid of Hitler. I would make this nation so strong that Hitler would never send a boat headed this way or I would prepare to sink them as fast as they came."

Brooks said that he, his father and two brothers were in the World war and added that "there is no glamor, romance or fun for the men who fight."

"This bill is a war bill," he declared later. "It asks for the same powers that would be asked for if we were actually fighting and shooting, marching, defending our shore."

Sudan Youths Give Up Hiking Jaunt

EL PASO, Feb. 21 (U.P.) — Two youths who left their home in Sudan, with $1.25, headed for South America, were back in the Panhandle today after getting as far south as the Mexican border city of Juarez.

The boys said they tired of school and hitchhiked to El Paso where they crossed the Rio Grande into Juarez and began walking south.

They became discouraged before getting far out of Juarez and upon returning to the international bridge were nabbed by immigration officers who turned them over to waiting parents.

War Veterans Will Register

Lubbock veterans of the first World war will have opportunity Saturday to put some of the most important men in the city to work for them.

The occasion will be the voluntary registration of such veterans and the listing of the qualifications they may possess which might be useful in a national defense emergency.

The scene will be the American Legion home, 910 Texas avenue, from 8 a. m. until 8 p. m.

Read Is Chairman

In charge will be a citizens' committee of 30 prominent men in Lubbock, with C. H. Read the chairman.

The registration here will be in cooperation with a similar observance of the Washington birthday anniversary throughout the United States. Expectation is that some 3,000,000 veterans will register in the nation before the day is over, including 700 to 1,200 in Lubbock county.

Civic Leaders To Aid

Among those who are to assist in manning typewriters at periods during the day to help veterans fill out questionnaires will be Mayor Carl E. Slaton, President A. W. May of the chamber of commerce, President C. E. Maedgen of Lubbock National bank, Police Chief Don Reeder, Rev. John A. Winslow, rector of the Episcopal church and president of Lubbock Minister's association, and many others.

J. A. Raley, jr., chairman of the sub-committee arranging for men and materials to handle the registration, said that more help is needed. Those willing to help at any time during the day, and especially those able to "punch" a typewriter, were asked to be on hand as relief.

Read emphasized that the registration must be voluntary, and that it does not place the veteran under anything more than a moral obligation to perform services for which he is especially qualified if the emergency arises.

Beating Bared By Pensioner

(By The United Press)

FORT WORTH, Feb. 21.—A 71-year-old woman today told the house committee investigating pension administration here that she had been "beaten up" in the local headquarters where she had attempted to get pension aid.

Other aged persons charged that their political opinions had been printed on their case records and that they had been called "beggers" and "paupers" by state employes administering the pensions, as the two-day hearing opened.

Knocked Unconscious

Mrs. Willena Parham, 71, claimed she had been knocked unconscious by an unknown assailant while waiting to see a case worker at the old age pension headquarters here.

"I was leaning on a table—crying my eyes out because I couldn't get more aid," she testified. "Then suddenly I was struck in the back of the neck. When I regained consciousness later in the hospital there were bruises on my neck and arm and toe prints in my back."

Questioning Planned

None of the local pension administrative staff appeared at the hearing today but Vice Chairman Marvin Simpson, of Fort Worth, said they would be questioned tomorrow concerning the charges made today.

"If we find any evidence of workers playing politics with these pensions, we're going to recommend im-

Leaders In Russia Ousted From Jobs

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Feb. 21—The Communist party removed former Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff and three others from the party's central committee today for "failing their duties" and warned the heads of seven commissariats that similar action would be taken against them unless their work "improves."

(Litvinoff, a supporter of the League of Nations and collective security, was supplanted on May 3, 1939, by Premier Vyacheslaff Molotoff, who subsequently negotiated the Russian non-aggression pact with Germany.)

Warning Is Given

The party congress, now in session here, served notice on M. M. Kaganovich, former head of the aviation industry, that "unless his work improves in his new post and he fulfills the tasks entrusted to him by the party government, he will be removed from membership in the central committee and from responsible posts."

(Kaganovich, also former commissar for the defense industry, was relieved to his post as head of the aviation industry on Jan. 10, 1940, and was transferred to another post, the nature of which was not disclosed.)

Others Get Notice

Similar warning was given to M. P. Denisoff, commissar of the chemistry industry; I. P. Sergueyeff, munitions; S. S. Dukelsky, sea transport; Z. A. Shashkoff, river transport; A. A. Ishkoff, fisheries, and V. V. Bagatireff, electrical industries.

New members appointed to the committee today included V. G. Dekanosoff, ambassador to Germany; Otto Kuusinen, head of the Finnish "peoples government" during the Russian-Finnish war and now leader of the party in the new Karelian-Finnish Soviet republic, and four others.

New candidates for membership included Ivan M. Maisky, ambassador to London; General Geory K. Z. Hukoff, vice-commissar of defense and chief of the red army general staff; and I. V. Tyuleneff. Besides Litvinoff, those dropped as committee members were N. M. Antselovich, I. A. Likhacheff and F. A. Merkuloff.

Darnell Given $750 Per Week Contract

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21 (AP) — Linda Darnell, 17-year-old daughter of a Dallas postal clerk, is going to get $750 a week this year for acting in the movies.

Linda won her first film contract just a year and a half ago. It was for $75 a week, one-tenth the amount of her present salary.

Her new contract with 20th Century-Fox studio, approved in superior court yesterday, provides for gradual increases, up to $2,250 a week, over a seven-year period.

The court ordered that $10,500 of her current earnings be placed in a trust fund, and approved the expenditure of $250 a week for living expenses.

Retail Sales Soar To 11-Year Highs

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP) — Despite blizzards in some parts of the nation which tended to slow buying, retail sales this week continued to breeze along at eleven-year high levels, and averaged 12 to 20 per cent above the like 1940 week for the country as a whole, Dun and Bradstreet reported today.

The mercantile agency found increases in both retailing and wholesale trade.

Italians Must Take Up Belts Further

ROME, Feb. 21. (U.P.) — Italian rations of fats, including oil, butter and pork fats, will be cut in half effective March 1, and after March 1 the sale of ice cream and pastry will be banned entirely, Minister of Agriculture and Food Controller Giuseppe Tassinari decreed today.

At present Italians are allowed only 28 ounces of fats—oil, butter and pork fats — per person per month. After March 1 the ration will be 14 ounces per person per month. That will give Italians less than 1-4 of a pound of fats per week per person.

Nazis Prepare Big Offensive

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Feb. 21—Dienst Aus Deutschland, a source close to German officialdom, said today that Nazi submarines were sinking comparatively few British ships because "many of the (U-boat) crews now are engaged in preparation for the big offensive which Hitler proclaimed."

(The commentary's reference apparently was to the fuehrer's January 30 speech on the eighth anniversary of his rise to power. Hitler said:

To Begin In Spring

("At sea, U-boat warfare will begin this spring, and our opponent will realize there also that we haven't slept."

(Hitler also declared in that speech: "Let there be no deception about one fact: whoever believes he can help England must at all events know one thing:

("Every ship, with or without convoy, that comes within range of our torpedo tubes will be torpedoed.")

Raiders Are Active

About 45,000 tons of British shipping were blasted yesterday by German air raiders, informed Nazis reported today, and all thrusts against British shipping were credited by the high command communique to the luftwaffe.

Dienst recalled that communiques in the first 20 days of February listed 296,000 tons of British shipping as destroyed, of which only 78,500 tons were by U-boats.

Would Strangle England

Under "Berlin calculations," Dienst listed as its first conviction that intensive U-boat warfare in connection with mass attacks of the Nazi airforce and overseas naval units would make "deadly strangulation of the English island possible."

As its second, it said, "big success

Dr. W. M. Murrell Dead At Abilene

Death in an Abilene hospital early today of Dr. W. M. Murrell, superannuated minister of the Methodist church, was reported to Dr. O. P. Clark, district superintendent of Lubbock district, who was asked to assist in the funeral services.

Final plans for holding the services had not been made this morning, said Dr. Clark, who added he expected to attend.

Dr. Murrell was 79 years old, he said, and had been superannuated by the Methodist conference about five years. He was president of the board of trustees of McMurry college, Abilene.

Just before his retirement he had been presiding elder of the Abilene district of Northwest Texas conference; before that he had been presiding elder of the Clarendon district and pastor at Childress, Chillicothe, Crowell and Merkel. He had belonged to the conference for a quarter of a century.

Death came at 5:30 o'clock in Hendrick Memorial hospital at Abilene.

Let Cynics Laugh If They Will But Honesty Still Best Policy

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 — Let the cynics laugh, but honesty still is the best policy. Ask Edward Perry, 14.

Last July, Edward, who is in grade 6B and some other boys were watching city workers dredging a sewer. Edward saw something which glinted in the sunshine.

He took it to his father, Edwin J. Perry, who took it to a pawnshop for appraisal. It was a brooch with a platinum base and 60 genuine diamonds, and worth between $1,000 and $2,000.

Edward turned the brooch in to the police. Police held the brooch for six months, under department rules, and then, satisfied that none of the six claimants who turned up was the rightful owner, awarded the brooch to Edward yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry said they would sell the brooch and, with the proceeds, send Edward to college when the time comes.

Edward wants to be a civil engineer and build bridges, highways, and, who knows, maybe sewers.

Senator Brands Wrestling As Racket; Challenges The Angel

(By The United Press)

BOSTON, Feb. 21—Joseph L. Murphy, bald 33-year-old state senator from Dorchester, today challenged Maurice (The Angel) Tillet, whose claim to be the world's ugliest wrestler never has been questioned, to a match.

Murphy said that wrestling is a "racket." He is certain he can defeat The Angel, whom Harvard anthropologists have described as "the quintessence of physical power,"—so certain that he already has arranged for Tillet to "have a free bed and special nurses at city hospital after the match."

It all started when Murphy, who stands 5 feet, 11 inches and weighs 200 pounds, introduced a bill in the state Senate to place wrestling under jurisdiction of the boxing commission.

"Wrestling is a racket," he said then. "Even I could defeat The Angel, and he's called world's heavyweight champion."

Promoter Paul Bowser, through a Boston newspaper, offered to make the match, and Murphy issued his challenge today with

Uncle Sam Chief Obstacle To Japan In Tense Pacific Situation

Great Anxiety Is Expressed

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The situation in the far east remains tense and therefore dangerous, but there is hope that reason will prevail and that nobody will shoot until he sees the whites of his enemy's eyes, by which time shooting may not be necessary.

The chief deterrent to an upheaval at the moment, as I pointed out yesterday, is the firm attitude and preparedness moves of the United States. Japan's greatest fear is that we will be drawn into the conflict.

Is Powerful Defense

Thus it is legitimate for us to say that one of the most powerful defenses of Britain's great naval base at Singapore is America's moral and material support of the Anglo-Allied cause against the Axis, of which Japan is an appendage.

That fact should give some satisfaction to those who have the strange idea that John Bull is bearing on his broad back not only his own burdens of defense but all those of the United States. Uncle Sam doesn't need to apologize for the weight he is pulling and undertaking to pull.

Embargo Is Feared

The Tokyo newspaper Chugai today exposed one of Japan's greatest anxieties in connection with America's attitude. The paper said that "the United States is preparing to resort to economic blockade operations against Japan." That is, Nippon is fearful that we will place a wholesale embargo on all exports to her.

Such an embargo would be a fierce blow, since Japan is dependent on us for many of her absolute essentials, especially for waging war. Whether Washington might resort to such an extreme measure remains to be seen, but Chugai would seem to have a right to worry about the position. That embargo is the most powerful restraint we could employ against the Japanese.

Far More Destructive

It likely would be far more destructive, in fact, than any naval pressure which either Britain or America, or both of them combined, could bring to bear at this critical juncture when the European war is making such great demands.

Indeed, should Japan have any designs on Singapore and the Dutch East Indies (which she denies) she probably would get ahead with the job were it not for two things: (1) The danger of that embargo and American involvement; (2) the certainty that unless the Axis won the war Nippon ultimately would be called to account by an unencumbered Britain and her Allies.

Singapore Is Strong

The Japanese have given no indication of particular concern over any possible offensive naval operations against her at the moment. Should she feel impelled to take the initiative and attack Singapore or the Dutch East Indies, however, the defensive strength of the British would be a matter of moment. Singapore is such a mountain of strength that even a small boy with an airgun could stand off a sizable attack.

In this connection Tokyo has given evidence of worry over the possibility that the United States may send a squadron to Singapore. The latchstring of this stronghold has long been out for Uncle Sam to pull any time he wanted to—or so it has been generally understood. Thus the basing of American warships there would not in itself be a belligerent action.

Air Raids Feared

Another of Japan's anxieties is bombing. Her buildings as a whole are constructed of paper and flimsy wood, and a few sticks of incendiary bombs could destroy a city. At one time or another, as Russo-Japanese relations have been strained, the Japanese have been in terror of possible raids by Soviet air forces only 600 miles away.

That thought undoubtedly is very much to the fore in Tokyo's mind in the efforts to establish friendly relations with Moscow. The air bases of other countries, even those of China, are so far away from Japan as to make bombing difficult, barring the possible use of the latest long-distance bombers which are said to be able to cross the Atlantic and back without refueling. The Japanese would, however, have to figure that aircraft carriers would be a part of any naval expedition against her.

One firm in England produced 250,000 packages of potato crisps from 50,000 tons of potatoes in the last year.

Aggie Center Is Discussed

A committee to study a plan for an agriculture center building in Lubbock was authorized after a talk by Thomas W. Smith of Washington, representing the department of agriculture, before a meeting of farm leaders Thursday afternoon in the office of C. C. Jobson, county farm agent.

Occasion was a monthly meeting of the county land use planning committee, with W. O. Perkins, chairman, presiding. A resolution, offered by C. M. Doyle of Shallowater, instructed the chairman and the Secretary Jobson, to name a committee. Another resolution, offered by S. S. Allcorn, favored the proposal.

Proposition Is Explained

Smith, who is with the office of plant and operations, U. S. department of agriculture, explained a proposition by which, with cooperation of Works Projects Administration and the commissioner's court a building could be built.

He made the suggestion that the structure be built with the idea of it being a community center for farm families visiting Lubbock, rather than merely an office building. It was pointed out that there is now no such location.

Agencies connected with agriculture are scattered over the city. A farmer, coming to town to contact several would have to visit two or three buildings. Under the proposed plan, all could be located in one structure.

The U. S. D. A. and the state extension service is working on a plan for five such buildings to be built in Texas. Similar plants have been started by the department in 15 other states and are working successfully, Smith explained.

During the meeting it was pointed out that there were a number of offices outside of the courthouse, for county agencies, for which the county was paying rent that approximates $12,000 a year. No probable figures of cost of the structure were discussed, but Smith, after the meeting, indicated it might cost up to $150,000. WPA would furnish a proportion of the cost.

Accompanying Smith were D. A. Weddington, administrative assistant of the extension service and R. L. Melcher, assistant state administrator for the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. D. A. both of College station.

State Meeting Scheduled

The state land use planning committee is to meet in College Station March 4 and Weddington said that the extension service, by that time, would like to know if the county was interested in such a proposal.

Lubbock county's proportion of federal funds for farmers, and others who might use the structure, amounts to approximately $1,800,000 a year spent mostly in Lubbock, one speaker pointed out.

The county ranks second in cotton acreage and high in grain sorghum acreage, under the AAA, it was pointed out. Also, Lubbock is the center of sudan and grain sorghum production, with one of the largest markets for a wide variety of agricultural products of any town in the state. The cattle feeding market in Lubbock also ranks high.

Chairman Perkins and G. E. Eklund, county supervisors of the recently voted soil conservation district, made a report on their recent meeting in Crosbyton to discuss holdings of an election to select three more supervisors to manage the district.

Youth Charged With Lamesa Burglary

LAMESA, Feb. 21 (Special) — Frank Jefferson, 19, charged with the burglary Jan. 28 of Taylor and McCall Drug store, has been returned from Tucson, Ariz., by Sheriff A. M. Bennett.

Approximately $1,000 worth of the loot, including two watches taken from an El Paso pawn shop Thursday has been recovered, Sheriff Bennett said. More than half of the stolen articles were included in the recovery but many of the more costly articles had been sold.

Loss to the drug store was some $2,000 in 28 strap watches, two pocket watches, numerous used watches and 327 rings, many mounted with diamonds. The burglary also netted $4.60 cash, cigarets and hand bag.

Jefferson, sentenced to two to 10 years in the penitentiary from Wharton for burglary, escaped from the Huntsville penal institution Jan. 21, a week before the burglary here, the sheriff said.

He was picked up by Tucson officials on orders from the sheriff's department here. A complaint charging him with the offense was filed in justice court of D. M. Campbell.

The case will be referred to an 106th district court grand jury April 14.

"The arrest and admission clears up every important offense that has been committed in Dawson county during my tenure in office," the sheriff said.

Septic Sore Throat Traced to Raw Milk—An explosive outbreak of septic sore throat in the village of Waddington, St. Lawrence county, in July was traced to raw milk from one dairy, Health News reports. Thirty-five persons were affected. The milker at the dairy gave a history of tonsillitis shortly before the outbreak. Two cases of mastitis were found in the cows, though the disease did not appear to be caused by the streptococci which belong to the group commonly encountered in human infections.

Mexican Electrocuted For Part In Weird Border Slayings

Penalty Paid At Huntsville

(By The United Press)

HUNTSVILLE, Feb. 21—With a soft Spanish prayer on his lips, Ascension Martinez went to his death in the electric chair at Huntsville prison early today for his part in two mysterious murders on a mudbank in the Rio Grande.

"I pardon every one who has offended me and I ask the Lord to forgive me for my sins," he said calmly in Spanish as he was strapped into the chair two minutes after midnight.

Dallas Negro Dies

Martinez was followed to the chair by Theodia Muldrow, Dallas negro convicted of raping a white woman. He had been scheduled to die the previous night but his execution was postponed to prevent it from falling on the night of the weekly radio broadcast by fellow prisoners.

Martinez, was known as "Chon" all up and down the border country where the body of a still unidentified Italian man, partly weighted with an automobile gear case, washed up on a mudbank in December, 1934. He was the second to pay with his life for the weird Hidalgo county murders. Placido Handy was executed last June.

Crime Described

The two were given the death penalty in trials at which Jose Rodriguez turned state's evidence and told how he and a band of Mexicans, included Martinez and Handy, made arrangements to smuggle a couple into this country.

He said the band met the couple, a man and a woman, on a lonely mudbank along the Rio Grande late one night. Then, he said, they beat the man, tied him to a tree and forced him to watch while one by one they raped the woman. After that they killed the couple and tossed their bodies into the river.

Had Stayed Execution

Neither has been identified. The woman's body has never been found. Even the exact scene of the crime is unknown, for when Rodriguez attempted to lead officers to the site the river had changed and carried the mudbank out into the gulf.

Martinez' execution had been stayed three times, once by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and twice by the state pardon and parole board to allow the Mexican consulate time for further investigation into his part in the slayings.

Passport Needed To Get Daily U. S. Mail

PORT FAIRFIELD, Me., Feb. 21 (U.P.)—George Pelkey and his family must have passports to get mail from their rural delivery post box.

They live in Canada but the boundary line crosses their front yard and the mail box is in the United States. New war-time restrictions require persons crossing the border to carry passports.

Gold Does Grow On Trees, Is Report

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (U.P.) —Gold really does grow on trees in America.

This disclosure was made by Dr. Hans Lundberg, noted Canadian egophysicist, to members of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical engineers that "gold-bearing" trees and plants have been located in many sections of the United States and Canada.

The common horsetail plant, he said, offers the best prospect for back-yard bonanza seekers since it has been found to collect as much as 4 1-2 ounces of gold per ton.

At the rate of $35 an ounce, Dr. Lundberg said an energetic gold farmer could realize $157.50 a ton on his horsetail crop.

Dr. Lundberg explained that plants in sections where gold deposits are located extract and concentrate samples of the ore by an efficient absorption process.

Out of a total of 44,113,147 births recorded by the census bureau in the past 23 years, male births exceed female births by 1,200,575.

We, The Women . . .

BY RUTH MILLETT

There are two types of women who want to marry but don't — those who don't try hard enough and those who try too hard.

The first group gets plenty of advice as to ways and means of meeting men and going on from there.

Those in the second group—and their number isn't small—go right on chasing men (away) without a word of advice from anyone.

They honestly believe that a straight-forward insistent approach, works as well in romance as it does in business. And so they futilely use the "you-MUST-hear-my-Wagner - recordings-and-how-about-tomorrow" approach.

* * *

AGGRESSION FRIGHTENS THEM

What a girl who take the initiative the minute they find themselves near a man don't understand is that any man has too much sense to be flattered by a girl who tries to put him on her list the minute she meets him.

A man knows right away that here is a woman not attractive enough to trust a man to suggest the next meeting.

Here, then, are some rules for persistent women to memorize and never again break:

One. Don't go up to a man you met only a few minutes before and start talking. Let him come to you, if you have to start moving a chair right under his nose or struggling with a window to attract his attention.

Two. Don't put a just too-too-interested look on your face and keep it there all the while you talk to him. Let him work a little to get you interested.

Three. Don't work to impress him. Take it easy.

Four. Never suggest seeing a man you have just met a second time. If you must see him, manage to bump into him "accidentally."

Five. If he suggests seeing you again, don't snap him up on it. Fence a little—not too much.

Now don't go on being straightforward just because it's easy.

Council Meeting Held By Catholic Women

Catholic women of this district attended a semi-annual meeting in Pep Thursday, Rev. Fr. J. P. Donegan also attended.

The meeting opened at 10:30 o'clock with Mrs. John Farris of Lubbock in charge. Lunch was served at 12:30 o'clock.

Pep is a mission of the Littlefield parish.

Eating For Health Said Important Function

The right foods help prolong the time of life, Miss Clara Pratt told members of the Arnett-Benson Home Demonstration club Thursday afternoon at a meeting with Mrs. L. Vannoy. Added to that is the knowledge that the right food is a basis for good health.

Miss Pratt explained that three functions we have thought of food having for a long time are building and repairing the body, keeping the body in condition and giving energy.

Mrs. S. E. Hamilton was received as a member. Others present were Mesdames J. E. Reid, C. O. White, C. C. Heatley, Bryan Landers and A. R. Pendley.

"Rumpelstiltskin" Enjoyed By Public School Pupils

PRETTIEST — Smart simplicity marks this trig jacket dress, ideal for town or resort wear next summer. It is worn by Suzanne Sommers, last year voted Duke University's prettiest student, and now a popular John Robert Powers model.

An auditorium of noisy but appreciative school children attended a presentation of "Rumpelstiltskin" Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Senior High school auditorium.

The play was given by the Lubbock Children's theater under the sponsorship of the Woman's auxiliary of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Mrs. Alan L. Strout was director.

Special honors should go to the production staff for the quick changes of scenery, the lighting effects and the smoothness which was present backstage. Ralph Kight, Morris Allen and Graham Brotherson were stage managers; Mrs. Clifford Horn responsible for the manuscript; Mrs. J. A. Walter, costumes; Mrs. Martha Knight Davis and Mrs. Jesse Q. Sealey, make-up; Robert Lockard and Mrs. O. R. Hand, scenery and Mrs. Mark Allen, properties.

Music Is Presented

Between acts an accordion quartet composed of Olive Pearl Matthews, Elizabeth Stratton, Dorothy Reese and Ina Whitney played several selections.

Rumpelstiltskin seemed to be the favorite character with the children until he kidnapped the grandchild of the king. Buddy Sprague played the part of the fantastic little man who was nimble, mysterious and sometimes not quite so shrewd.

The Miller's wife and the miller who were played by Mrs. Leo Waite and Ramond H. Williams, furnished comedy to the more dramatic scenes.

Romantic parts were played by the king's son, Leon Harris and by the miller's daughter, Miss Fay Brown. These were enjoyed by the younger children shown by whistles and boos.

The king was Dr. E. F. George of the Texas Technological college faculty and Mother Hulda, a witch, was played by Miss Pauline Coe.

The musician was played by C. W. Denison; Ilsa, Mrs. George Walton; nurse, Mrs. V. B. Thompson; Karen, Miss Margaret Wallace; Gothol and Ingert, two of the king's men, Maurice J. Erickson and Hollie Cross.

When the story was adapted for production several changes were made. In the end of the play the baby was returned to its mother and Rumpelstiltskin "fell to pieces."

Club Is Host For Husbands

Homecraft club members gave an annual husbands' party Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cox, 2220 Twenty-sixth street. Mrs. H. G. Knight was assistant hostess. Forty-two was played.

The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Cox's sons, Allen, jr., and Walter, Erwin.

Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Perry Brown, Frank Blake, Nolan Hart, Clay Ross, Harold Biffle, J. E. Maisen, R. L. Melton, Mesdames E. H. Armstrong, J. D. Hinson, E. I. Brown, Messrs. Cox and Knight.

We, The Women . . .

BY RUTH MILLETT

There are two types of women who want to marry but don't — those who don't try hard enough and those who try too hard.

The first group gets plenty of advice as to ways and means of meeting men and going on from there.

Those in the second group—and their number isn't small—go right on chasing men (away) without a word of advice from anyone.

They honestly believe that a straight-forward insistent approach, works as well in romance as it does in business. And so they futilely use the "you-MUST-hear-my-Wagner - recordings-and-how-about-tomorrow" approach.

AGGRESSION FRIGHTENS THEM

What a girls who take the initiative the minute they find themselves near a man don't understand is that any man has too much sense to be flattered by a girl who tries to put him on her list the minute she meets him.

A man knows right away that here is a woman not attractive enough to trust a man to suggest the next meeting.

Here, then, are some rules for persistent women to memorize and never again break:

One. Don't go up to a man you met only a few minutes before and start talking. Let him come to you, if you have to start moving a chair right under his nose or struggling with a window to attract his attention.

Two. Don't put a just too-too-interested look on your face and keep it there all the while you talk to him. Let him work a little to get you interested.

Three. Don't work to impress him. Take it easy.

Four. Never suggest seeing a man you have just met a second time. If you must see him, manage to bump into him "accidentally."

Five. If he suggests seeing you again, don't snap him up on it. Fence a little—not too much.

Now don't go on being straightforward just because it's easy.

Council Meeting Held By Catholic Women

Catholic women of this district attended a semi-annual meeting in Pep Thursday, Rev. Fr. J. P. Donegan also attended.

Pep is a mission of the Littlefield parish.

Eating For Health Said Important Function

The right foods help prolong the time of life, Miss Clara Pratt told members of the Arnett-Benson Home Demonstration club Thursday afternoon at a meeting with Mrs. L. Vannoy. Added to that is the knowledge that the right food is a basis for good health.

Miss Pratt explained that three functions we have thought of food having for a long time are building and repairing the body, keeping the body in condition and giving energy.

Mrs. S. E. Hamilton was received as a member. Others present were Mesdames J. E. Reid, C. O. White, C. C. Heatley, Bryan Landers and A. R. Pendley.

"Rumpelstiltskin" Enjoyed By Public School Pupils

An auditorium of noisy but appreciative school children attended a presentation of "Rumpelstiltskin" Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Senior High school auditorium.

The play was given by the Lubbock Children's theater under the sponsorship of the Woman's auxiliary of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Mrs. Alan L. Strout was director.

Special honors should go to the production staff for the quick changes of scenery, the lighting effects and the smoothness which was present backstage. Ralph Kight, Morris Allen and Graham Brotherson were stage managers; Mrs. Clifford Horn responsible for the manuscript; Mrs. J. A. Walter, costumes; Mrs. Martha Knight Davis and Mrs. Jesse Q. Sealey, make-up; Robert Lockard and Mrs. O. R. Hand, scenery and Mrs. Mark Allen, properties.

Music Is Presented

Between acts an accordion quartet composed of Olive Pearl Matthews, Elizabeth Stratton, Dorothy Reese and Ina Whitney played several selections.

Rumpelstiltskin seemed to be the favorite character with the children until he kidnapped the grandchild of the king. Buddy Sprague played the part of the fantastic little man who was nimble, mysterious and sometimes not quite so shrewd.

The Miller's wife and the miller who were played by Mrs. Leo Waite and Ramond H. Williams, furnished comedy to the more dramatic scenes.

Romantic parts were played by the king's son, Leon Harris and by the miller's daughter, Miss Fay Brown. These were enjoyed by the younger children shown by whistles and boos.

The king was Dr. E. F. George of the Texas Technological college faculty and Mother Hulda, a witch, was played by Miss Pauline Coe.

The musician was played by C. W. Denison; Ilsa, Mrs. George Walton; nurse, Mrs. V. B. Thompson; Karen, Miss Margaret Wallace; Gothol and Ingert, two of the king's men, Maurice J. Erickson and Hollie Cross.

When the story was adapted for production several changes were made. In the end of the play the baby was returned to its mother and Rumpelstiltskin "fell to pieces."

PRETTIEST — Smart simplicity marks this trig jacket dress, ideal for town or resort wear next summer. It is worn by Suzanne Sommers, last year voted Duke University's prettiest student, and now a popular John Robert Powers model.

The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Cox's sons, Allen, jr., and Walter, Erwin.

Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Perry Brown, Frank Blake, Nolan Hart, Clay Ross, Harold Biffle, J. E. Maisen, R. L. Melton, Mesdames E. H. Armstrong, J. D. Hinson, E. I. Brown, Messrs. Cox and Knight.

Turkey Declares Alliance With Great Britain Is Not Weakened

First Opinion On Pact Given

BY DANA SCHMIDT
United Pres Staff Correspondent

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Feb. 21 — A foreign office informant said today that the Turkish-Bulgarian nonaggression declaration had not weakened Turkey's alliance with Great Britain and had not in any way tied Turkey's hands in event that Bulgaria permitted German troops to attack Greece through its territory.

It was understood that the foreign office considered that if Bulgaria permitted German troops to use Bulgaria as a base for aggression the Turkish-Bulgarian declaration would be automatically voided.

First Clear View

This was the first clear indication to date of Turkey's view of its non-aggression agreement.

British sources intimated that it was possible that in event of a German attack on Greece Turkey might even recognize a state of war with Germany. But they intimated also that Turkey's role in such a situation would be a defensive one.

Advantage To British

However, such a role, it was explained, would be one to which Turkey was admirably adapted. It would permit British warships to pass through the Dardanelles into the Black Sea to attack supply lines to Rumania. It would permit Britain also to base troops in Turkish soil.

(For one thing, in such an event, Britain might be able to attack Italy's Dodecanese islands from Turkish soil).

Peace Rumors Denied

Greek diplomatic quarters somewhat angrily denied reports that Greece had started peace negotiations with Italy. They said that any negotiations would mean a British withdrawal from Greece in favor of a German occupation, and one informant added: "we could not get rid of the British forces even if we wanted to."

It was reported in reliable quarters here that Baron Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, had repeatedly urged the Turkish government to act as mediator between Greece and Italy and that the government had emphatically refused.

Tahoka Murder Charges Filed

(Special To The Journal)

TAHOKA, Feb. 21—Mrs. Fannie Lee Porter, about 20, was expected to be produced sometime today by relatives who planned to make her bond of $5,000 on a murder charge.

The farm woman was charged Thursday by a 106th district grand jury here with having murdered her 2 1-2-months-old daughter, Evelyn Joe Porter, who died in Lubbock sanitarium Jan. 4, about nine hours after being rushed here by its father, Joe Porter of the New Home community.

Prosecution Silent

The woman had been under bond conditioning her appearance before the grand jury, and Judge Louis B. Reed Thursday set $5,000 bond returnable March 10, when Mrs. Porter is to go on trial.

District Attorney Rollin McCord declined to say what penalty the state would ask, but said a 75-member special venire would report.

The death sentence cannot be asked unless a special venire has been called.

Preliminary Hearing Waived

An insanity case filed against the young mother has been dismissed in the court of County Judge Chester Connally, upon recommendation of County Attorney Calloway Huffaker.

From sources deemed reliable it was said the defense would predicate its case on insanity.

The indictment charged murder with malice.

The original complaint was filed in the court of Jim Dye, justice of peace, in Tahoka. Preliminary hearing was waived.

Unofficial sources said the mother ran from her farm home and to where her husband was working in a field and told him the infant was ill. He rushed it to the sanitarium in Lubbock, arriving at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Death was at 3:15 o'clock next morning.

It was understood that Truett Smith, former 106th district attorney, and Tom Garrard, former district attorney in another judicial district, would represent Mrs. Porter.

Parker Investigated Case

Aubra Cade was grand jury foreman and Sheriff B. L. Parker made investigation resulting in the indictment.

Three other indictments also were returned. Eunice McMillian, held in jail here, was named in a chicken theft charge and O. B. McClure, whom the sheriff said was being held at Weatherford, was indicted for disposal of mortgaged property, specifically five bales of cotton.

No arrest had been reported of a man charged with swindling over $50 by worthless check.

Whitaker Greenway, charged on two indictments with forgery, was released to Sheriff Parker on a bench warrant issued by Judge Reed. The sheriff returned Thursday night with the prisoner.

The grand jury reported three indictments, in addition to those against Greenway, in its first report Tuesday.

Approximately 10 criminal cases will be disposed of at this term of court, court officials said.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP) — After advancing as much as ⅝ cent early in the session to new highs for the recovery move, wheat prices today fell back a cent but closed only slightly lower than yesterday.

Profit taking, evening up sales for the holidays and selling stimulated by weakness of corn and rye unsettled the wheat list. This was offset, however, by support that came from mills or was inspired by early firmness of securities and additional crop complaints from the Southwest. The threatening international situation, with reports of troop movements in the Balkans and present of German "aid" soldiers in Spain, unsettled the market.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅝ lower compared with yesterday, May 80⅝-81, July 73¼-⅜; corn ⅝-1⅛ down, May 69⅝, July 60½; oats unchanged to ⅜ down.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Cotton developed an irregular trend in quiet preholiday dealings today. While distant months advanced on buying credited to Wall Street and Bombay accounts, near months lagged due to hedge selling and scattered liquidation. Most buying in old crop positions consisted of mill price fixing.

STOCKS SLOW

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP) — The worst that could be said of today's stock market was that it generally failed to follow through on Thursday's sharp rally, while on its credit side was the fact it retained most of yesterday's advance and even added modest amounts in many cases.

Hesitancy prevailed at the start and fractional irregularity was the rule during the remainder of the proceedings. Lack of real selling urgency was comforting to bullish proponents even through buying timidity was pronounced.

Transfers of around 300,000 shares again were among the slowest for a 5-hour stretch in nearly six months and compared with better than 450,000 the day before.

One reason given fo rthe reversion to apathy was that many Wall Street habitues wanted to keep commitments light over tomorrow's holiday when principal financial markets will be closed.

Nazi Soldiers Enter Spain

BY ROSCOE SNIPES
United Press Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Feb. 21. — German troops—reported to be only five small detachments—marched into Spain today.

The German troops were said to be on a completely peaceful mission for the purpose of aiding Spanish reconstruction as a result of the devastation of last week's hurricane.

It was said here that the troops constituted only five small detachments from the German occupational army in France.

It was said here that the troops would proceed to Santander to aid in the reconstruction of that city which was damaged by the hurricane and a fire which followed.

It was said that the troops were sent across the border after Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner accepted the offer of Germany for aid in reconstruction work.

To Distribute Rations

The units which crossed the border were said to comprise members of a field hospital detachment, a company of ambulance troops, a company of technicians, a company of sappers and a motorized column.

The motorized column, it was said, was brought in to aid in Spanish transport work. It was said to be equipped with a field kitchen with which to distribute 30,000 rations daily.

These rations, it was emphasized, were for distribution to Spaniards in need, rather than to German troops.

Number Not Disclosed

The offer to send German troops to aid in hurricane reconstruction work was made by German ambassador, Eberhard von Stohrer.

Serrano Suner, it was said, gratefully accepted the offer because of the "urgency of the situation."

The number of Nazi troops being sent into Spain was not indicated. However, the announcement insisted that the number was small. It metioned only four "companies," largely of service technicians, and a "motorized column."

The size of the "motorized column" was not given. However, a field kitchen equipped to provide 30,000 rations daily would presumably be that normally attached to a full division.

Bulgarian declaration."

Official Bulgarian quarters denied that Bulgaria was mobilizing. They said that "only a few" reservists were being called to the colors. They added, however, that Bulgaria "has the right to mobilize if she wishes without consulting anybody."

The Yugoslav press printed reports of parliamentary debates at Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, in which many deputies were quoted as declaring that entry of foreign troops onto Bulgarian soil would "bring the strong possibility of a Communist revolution" and that "Communism is becoming more and more a danger within Bulgaria."

Details Demanded

Bulgarian deputies were said to have called on their government for an explanation of the entire situation but without reply. Details of the proceedings were published here, but not in Bulgaria.

Angel Sivinoff, member of the parliamentary foreign affairs committee, was reported to have declared in open session that "the Bulgarian people are very much interested regarding the passage of German troops through Bulgaria."

More News Expected

Premier Bogdan Philoff was said to have refused to answer. Deputy Ivan Batenbersky shouted, "even the government majorities are being kept completely in the dark regarding future plans of this government" and then Philoff left the hall, according to these reports.

The Yugoslav press for the first time headlined the fact that German troops were poised on the Danube. Yugoslav policy, as affected by the recent Berchtesgaden conference between Hitler and Yugoslavia's premier and foreign minister, Dragisa Cvetkovic and Aleksander Cincar-Markovic, was expected to become better known after a Belgrade cabinet meeting today.

Peace Rumors Reported

It was announced that Cincar-Markovic would go to Budapest Feb. 26 for a four-day visit. Hungary and Yugoslavia recently signed a pact of friendship.

Diplomatic quarters heard that Germany is proceeding steadily with attempts to mediate the Italian-Greek war, seeking a favorable decision for Italy by convincing Greece that she now is caught in an Axis vise.

Reports reaching here said that Germany's ambassador to Turkey, Franz von Papen, had been given full powers to attempt Italian-Greek meditation and had approached Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu with a request that the latter talk with the Greek minister to Ankara.

Two Men Held Here On Forgery Charges

Manion Rice and Travis Flowers were being held in custody of the U. S. marshal this morning while attempting to make bond after charges of forging and negotiating a United States treasury check, amounting to $47.17 had been filed before Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner.

Mrs. Fluke set bond for Rice at $1,000 and Flowers at $250. They were brought to Lubbock Thursday night by a Federal Bureau of Investigation officer after complaint had been made by J. E. Bates.

Rice indicated he was from near Littlefield, and Flowers from Denver City, in Yoakum county.

Tech Professor Gets Offers Of Aid In Pronunciation Problem

His problem regarding pronunciation of "Henninger" solved, Dr. S. S. McKay of the Texas Technological college faculty said this morning he had received about two dozen letters and numerous calls as result of recent newspaper publicity regarding his efforts to find the correct pronunciation.

Dr. McKay has written to the publishers of Merriam-Webster dictionaries that the "g" in the middle name of the late John Henninger Reagan is hard as in "game."

Relatives Give Answer

And he has authoritative information to back up that pronunciation, too.

Miss Bess Ferguson and John Reagan Ferguson of Palestine, grandchildren of the late John Henninger Reagan, and Jefferson Davis Reagan of Palestine, son of the statesman, informed Dr. McKay of the pronunciation.

Interest Widespread

An author of a biographical sketch on Reagan, Dr. McKay was queried by the publishers recently and was having difficulties when it occurred to him publicity might help solve his problem.

Among persons writing to him were M. M. Crane of Dallas, who was lieutenant-governor and attorney-general of Texas in the 1890's, while Reagan was serving on the railroad commission, and G. B. Dealey, Dallas publisher, who knew Reagan during Reagan's service as senator and member of the commission.

wipe out hatred or fighting in Europe, he added that "I don't regard it as the responsibility of the United States to police the world now or tomorrow."

Gillette took the floor as administration leaders moved to speed action on the bill in anticipation of the "tremendous developments" which Chairman George (D-Ga) of the foreign relations committee predicted would take abroad within the next 10 days.

George told reporters before the debate began that he expected Germany to "move very fast" and consequently he hoped that the bill could be rushed through Congress.

Defenses Said Inadequate

Declaring that enactment of the legislation would be almost certain to involve this nation in war, Gillette said that if he were convinced that the security of the United States depended on the "complete defeat" of Germany and Italy, he would vote promptly for a declaration of war. He was not so convinced, he said, adding:

"I want to defend America. Our own defenses are still inadequate and production is behind schedule. Our own defenses have been depleted by the aid already given (to Britain). They will be further depleted by the aid contemplated in this bill."

L. H. Stultz, 70, said, "they called me an old pauper . . . said if I didn't quit coming up to the pension office, I wouldn't be drawing as much as I am now, maybe not anything."

Opinions Quoted

Bennett Boggess, 68, said that his political opinions were carried in his case record, as follows:

"The pension setup is just as rotten as h— and the same applies to W. Lee O'Daniel."

The caseworker, he said, noticed that Mrs. Boggess tugged at her husband's elbow and said:

"Papa, you don't mean that," to which Boggess was quoted as saying: "Yes, maybe the governor is all right."

Besides Simpson, Reps. Houston McMurry, Henrietta, and Gene McNamara, Waco, appeared on the committee.

Cosmetics, Fancy Hair-Dos Out Under School Dictator's Rule

(By The Associated Press)

SAG HARBOR, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP) — Supervising Principal E. Raymond Schneible set himself up today as a "dictator" over 450 high school students in this fashionable Long Island village and proclaimed:

They had to goosestep from class to class.

The girls could use no cosmetics and had to forego fancy hair-dos.

The boys were under orders to wear neckties but no sweaters.

Expression of personal opinion was prohibited.

The right of assemblage was barred.

Denominational religious instruction classes, for which they are usually excused an hour early on Fridays, were cancelled.

Middle-aged and of medium build, Schneible made "storm troopers" of his faculty members and gave them strict orders to see that the regimentation didn't break down.

But it was all in fun and held for today only.

This was Pierson High school's way of terminating the celebration of bill of rights week — to show what life is like under totalitarian rule

Youth Suffers Dread Illness

(By The United Press)

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 21 — Dr. Harold F. Brumm today advised the victim of a blood disease, so deadly that he has less than one chance in 100 of surviving, not to accept a transfusion from Mrs. Rose McMullin, who claims 30 of 41 sufferers she has aided, recovered.

"A laboratory test of Mrs. McMullin's blood shows that it does not contain specific antibodies for streptococcus viridans," Dr. Brumm said. He said that her blood also was anemic, because of transfusions she had given before coming to St. Joseph.

Parents Will Wait

The victim of streptococcus viridans, a malady which slowly destroys the red corpuscles of the blood, is Richard Close, 17, of Osborn, Mo. Physicians said less than one per cent of streptococcus viridans sufferers recovered.

Despite Dr. Brumm's advice, Close's parents said they would wait a week for her blood to recover from its anemia, and proceed with the transfusions. Eight over a period of six weeks were planned.

Had Paid $500 Down

They had paid Mrs. McMullin $500 down, and agreed to pay her $500 more when she completed the transfusions.

Mrs. McMullin said that her niece was dying in 1935 of staphylococcus aureus, a similar blood disease, and she had the niece's blood transfused into her veins. Mrs. McMullin recovered, and her blood, in turn, was transfused into the niece's veins. The niece also got well, she said.

Heard On Radio

In the last 13 months, she said she had given 55 quarts of blood in 261 transfusions to 41 patients. Thirty recovered.

The Closes heard her on a radio program and begged her to help their son.

An eminent blood specialist in Kansas City said a transfusion from a person who had recovered from streptococcus viridans was "sometimes" prescribed. He doubted the value of it, saying he believed a transfusion from a person who had never suffered the malady, but whose blood type was the same as that of the victim, would be just as effective.

Blood Donors For Rare Malady Being Sought

Have you ever had Streptococcus Veridans Septicaemia Endecarditis?

If so you might be able to save the life of a woman in Charlotte, N. C. who is suffering from the rare malady and needs blood from a person who has recovered from the disease.

A call for blood over the U. S. has been issued by the Variety club, theatrical organization, and Joe H. Bryant, Lubbock area representative of the club, made the appeal here today.

Three donors of blood have already been located and have given transfusions to the woman but are unable to give any more blood due to their weakened conditions. More blood must be given the woman within the next week if she has any chance of survival, Bryant said.

The Variety club will make all arrangements and pay all costs of trips of blood donors to Charlotte for the transfusions, Bryant said. Prospective blood donors should contact Bryant at once, he said.

But don't get in touch with him if you haven't recovered from Streptococcus Veridans Septicaemia Endecarditis and desire to aid someone who is critically ill with the same disease.

College Students In Fear Of U. S. Entry

AUSTIN, Feb. 21 (U.P) — A growing sentiment among American college students that America will not be able to stay out of the war and opposition to American convoys for Britain-bound supplies were opinions registered in polls released today by student opinion surveys, inter-collegiate poll edited at the University of Texas.

The surveys disclosed that 68 per cent of the college youths polled in December, 1939, believed they would have no war to fight. A year later, this total had dropped to 63 per cent, and today only 49 per cent are of that opinion.

Sixty-seven per cent of the collegians opposed U. S. warship convoys for supply ships bound for Britain, Joe Belden, editor of the surveys, said.

the one condition that The Angel's "championship" be placed on the line.

Bowser said he would be willing to pay all bills for the show "and buy the first ringside seat for $100."

"I'll be happy to toss the so-called champion into Bowser's lap from the ring with my new hold, the Kerry buck," Murphy said.

The Angel, a 37-year-old Frenchman whose specialty is crushing opponents into submission with a bear hug, didn't say anything except:

"I take heem like I take the rest."

He came to this country soon after start of the war, and has been undefeated since. He won his "title" from Steve (Crusher) Casey, who's in the army now.

FLIER IS KILLED

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 21. (U.P) — Second Lieut. Douglas Owen Levee, 22, of the U. S. army air corps, was killed today when his army pursuit plane crashed at Calamba, Laguna province.

Jap Warnings

Britain, assisted by Australia and the Dutch East Indies.

Asahi gave prominence to a New York dispatch declaring that "the United States' immediate concern is to check Japan's southward advance."

"Dove's Nest Disturbed"

"Outstanding instances of this," the dispatch said, "are the bill for reinforcement of defense equipment on the islands of Guam and Samoa and other Pacific bases (passed Wednesday by the House of representatives) and the executive order barring entry into strategical bases in the Pacific."

The Asahi made several references to American-British cooperation in the Pacific.

(In Shanghai the Japanese army's spokesman, Major Akiyama, said "a snake—the United States and Britain—placed an egg in the dove's (Japan's) nest." The egg, he said was "the fortification of Singapore, the arrival of Australian troops in Malaya and the impending fortification of Guam and Samoa."

Replied To Inquiry

(London dispatches Wednesday said the British government had informed commons that it had received "a special message" from Japan offering to mediate in the war).

"As foreign minister," Matsuoka said, "I never offered mediation to any nation in the world for restoration of world peace.

"I replied to an inquiry by Eden concerning matters relative to Japanese mediation of the Thailand-Indo-China dispute.

"Although I expressed my views in that reply concerning the establishment of world peace, I never sent to any nation any message concerning Japanese mediation for world peace as has been rumored."

It was reported here that confusion had arisen from the use in the Japanese press of the word "message."

Class Play Planned By School Seniors

Members of the Senior class of Senior High school made plans for their class play and banquet at a meeting Thursday, according to Cullen Chapman, president.

Chapman introduced Bob McKinnon, chairman of the senior banquet committee, who told the class all the plans for the annual banquet scheduled for March 13. Doris Cherry, publicity chairman of the senior play, introduced Gladys Jeffers, chairman of the ticket sales, and told the class what plans were for publicizing the play in the school. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Louise Burrus, secretary of the class.

The senior play, "Jo's Boys," will be presented on March 5 in the Senior High school auditorium.

Death Strikes Wales Again

(By The United Press)

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Hundreds were homeless today and many families mourned dead after the second straight night blitzkrieg raid on Swansea, chief port of south Wales, by German planes.

Rescue parties were still searching wreckage of homes early this afternoon for persons who might be trapped and still alive.

Fire Damage High

The raid started at 8 o'clock last night and continued until midnight. Swansea had suffered in the first raid the night before, but it was feared that casualties in the second one were higher.

A United Press correspondent on the spot reported that most of the damage was done to homes. Some streets were blocked off as dangerous.

Few buildings burned in the first raid but last night fire damage was considerable.

Freak "Accident" Related

An oil bomb which plunged through the roof of a big building went through a floor beside a man who was sitting at a desk. The rush of air from the bomb upset the man's balance. He fell through the hole to the floor beneath and, scrambling to his feet, fled only slightly wounded as flames shot up.

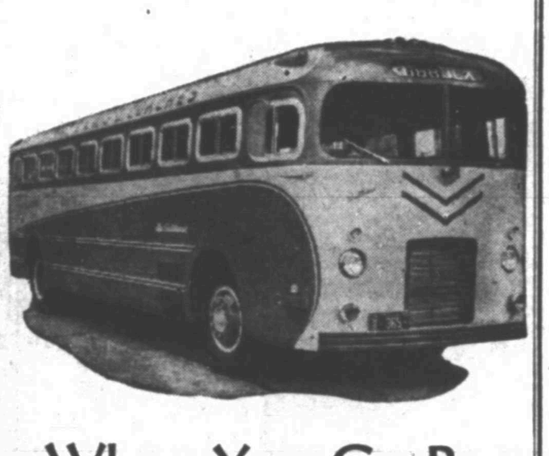

The first German planes dropped both incendiary bombs and the new combined incendiary-explosive ones. Planes which came later dropped explosive bombs.

Three other Welsh towns were bombed.

London had three alarms during the night.

Expected Fireworks Missing As Hearing On Tax Plan Is Staged

Higher Speed Limit Sought

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 21—Breezed through a public hearing marked by lack of bitter argument, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's 1.6 per cent transactions tax bill today became grist in the mill of a House sub-committee instructed to draft a general tax bill.

The proposal was praised as fair in that it taxed all, "both rich and poor," to support bigger old age pensions and other social security functions and also was condemned as a method to "make the poor poorer and the rich richer" and constituted "a death blow to agriculture and industrialization."

Speed Bill Favored

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel did not attend the hearing which drew about 100 spectators last night.

A bill increasing the daytime speed limit from 45 miles an hour to 60 was recommended for passage by another committee which followed a senate group's action by 24 hours.

Amended to boost truck speed limits from 25 to 45 miles an hour and those for buses from 40 to 55 miles an hour, the proposal would provide a night-time general limit of 50 miles an hour and empower the highway department to establish zones of reduced speed on hazardous stretches. It also set a 30 miles an hour limit for cities and towns.

ROTC Unit Boostd

Committed to a Senate sub-committee for further study was a bill which would permit the burning of sweet gas for carbon black production under certain conditions. It stirred up considerable controversy in a public hearing.

In the House, a committee unanimously approved a bill to establish an R. O. T. C. unit at the University of Texas which already has a naval unit. The action was taken after Associate Justice J. H. Baugh of the Austin court of civil appeals warned that the nation might run short of reserve officers.

Bus Colors Scored

Despite a contention by its author that the yellow color of school buses was unpatriotic, another House committee killed a bill providing for painting the vehicles red, white and blue.

A public hearing on a bill which would provide free textbooks for sectarian schools was set Wednesday by joint House and Senate committee action while on the same date a House group will hear arguments on a proposal to require runoff primaries in city elections.

Scholastic Saving Urged

Thursday was set for a hearing before a House committee on a scholastic census bill which its author said would save the state approximately $75,000 annually.

The Senate approved a bill authorizing Texas A. and M. college extension service to establish a poultry experimental station at Gonzales.

In the transactions tax hearing, Rep. Clinton Kersey of Bridgeport, the bill's sponsor, spoke for it while Mrs. Jud Collier of Mumford, Mrs. Elmer Stubbs of Hearne and Mrs. Jane Y. McCalum of Austin, formerly secretary of state, opposed it. John Keene, Austin investment consultant, and E. A. Calvin, secretary of the Houston taxpayers association, also discussed the proposal.

Another 15,000 Planes, Larger Munitions Output Provided For In FDR's Next Big Request; British May Get Part Of Order

BY MACK JOHNSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—President Roosevelt is expected to send to Congress within a few days a $2,500,000,000 supplemental request for approximately 15,000 more army planes and expansion of munitions plants.

Added to the present 25,000-plane program, the new request would make a total of 40,000 army planes on order. How many of these may be destined for Great Britain under the lend-lease program remains to be seen.

Includes 3,600 Bombers

Congressional quarters said today they understood the budget bureau had approved the request which would call for $761,000,000 for new arms plants and approximately $1,800,000,000 for the purchase of additional planes, including thousands of all types of bombers. The money for the planes is expected to be about evenly divided between outright appropriations and contractual authority.

The request was understood to include funds for about 3,600 heavy and medium bombers to be assembled at four Mid-Western plants from parts made by automobile manufacturers. That plane construction program was announced Wednesday by William S. Knudsen, director of the office of production management.

Powder Plants Planned

The plants, located at Omaha, Neb., Kansas City, Kans., Tulsa, and Ft. Worth, will be operated by Glenn L. Martin company, North American Aviation corporation, Douglas Aircraft company, and Consolidated Aircraft corporation, respectively.

The new money also is expected to provide about 6,000 trainers and between 5,000 and 6,000 other combat ships of all types.

Experts said the $761,000,000 would go into about 15 more munitions plants, principally for smokeless powder, TNT and small arms ammunition in an effort to build a supply line capable of sustaining an army of 4,000,000 men. Most of them would be located in the Midwest and Southwest.

The army has spent about $1,400,000,000 in establishing 80 munitions plants. That many would sustain an army of 2,000,000 men.

It has been planned to hold the additional supply lines for a 4,000,000 men force in reserve and not to operate them except in an emergency. It was indicated, however, that the 15 new plants would be put into active operation as soon as completed for our own defense program and for the British-aid program.

Because it treated an imposter as a hero, a well-known play has been banned by the police of Osaka, Japan.

City Officials Will Meet Here March 7

City officials of numerous towns of the area will meet in Lubbock Friday, March 7, at 10 a. m. to discuss gross receipt rental taxes upon public utilities companies for use of streets and alleys and a number of other matters, according to announcement this morning.

The date was set by R. L. Brown, mayor of Muleshoe, chairman of a committee of mayors named at a recent conference in Canyon. Other members of the committee are Mayor C. H. Jarrett of Canyon and Mayor C. C. Coleman of Brownfield.

Arrangements to hold the meeting in the main ballroom of Lubbock hotel were made by the chamber of commerce here.

Brown advised that an attendance of approximately 150 officials from about 40 towns is expected.

A monument to the Mexican mother is being erected in Mexico City, funds having been raised through voluntary subscriptions of adults and children throughout Mexico.

Mostly About Basketball

By Collier Parris

BIGGEST BASKETBALL SHOW of the season is raging out at the Texas Tech gymnasium, where sixteen championshp teams this morning set out to determine who's toughest in District 3 of the Texas Interscholastic league. It's the annual district tournament, and twelve games, starting on the half-hour at 8:30 this morning and on the hour, at 7 o'clock tonight, were scheduled today.

• • •

The second round begins at 4:30 this afternoon, the third round, or semi-finals, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Admission to the tournament is 20 cents per person per session. You may go in the Tech gymnasium (what a glorified name for a dump like that!) and stay as long as you like for 20 cents. But there are no pass-out checks, and you pay 20 cents every time you come in.

• • •

District Director George Berl Huffman will not be on hand to supervise the tournament, since his Texas Tech Red Raiders have a little engagement up at Amarillo with the Phillips Oilers, national AAU cage champions, tonight, and another with the same club at Borger Saturday night, but the tournament will be in good hands.

Clarence Fox will handle the tickets and "gate," and Dutchy Smith and Lewis Spears will administer to the tournament proper.

• • •

They're saying that Morton and Lubbock are the teams to beat in the district tournament, so you may be sure that every other team will be gunned to the limit in efforts to settle the hash of the favorites.

• • •

It is to be hoped that another Lubbock-Morton game, if it should come about, will not result in the confusion that marked the last meeting of the teams, on the Morton court. In that connection, we are obligated to publish the following letter, and without further comment:

• • •

Morton, Texas

"Dear Mr. Parris:

"The purpose of this letter is to try to find out what is the trouble with Mr. Goober Keyes, the Lubbock High school coach.

"I watched, as a spectator, a ball game played between the Westerners and Morton High school, and the post-game display was most unpleasant. The game, as I saw it, was well-fought and fairly well called and unusually good sportsmanship was shown by the players of both teams. But at the end of the game, Mr. Keyes, a man whom I had previously admired, went into a tantrum and showed the poorest of sportsmanship that I have ever seen. To me he was a very bad example before a group whom he should, as coach, endeavour to promote sportsmanship.

"I was unpleasantly surprised at his actions, since I have always been a backer of the Lubbock High school program of sports, being, myself, a graduate of that institution in the year 1935. The most impressive thing to me about Lubbock High school was its motto of 'Sportsmanship, Then Victory.' It is now apparent that the original concept of the motto is in dangerous hands.

"I am writing this letter reluctantly because I am pro-Lubbock in all sports, but things of this nature upset my original ideas as to whom I should yell for. I am badly disappointed over this incident in that I have been an admirer of Mr. Keyes, and I sincerely hope that this will not happen again.

"I believe that I saw the game as neutrally as any onlooker because I have a sentiment for both schools, having attended both.

"Hoping that this occasion may not come to me again, but feeling that the coach does owe the fans of this city an apology, I remain an ardent follower of the sports news as you present it,

"Sincerely yours,

This is the third letter we've received from Elmer Scalawag, and we're mighty grateful for them. Sorry we don't know his real name and address so we could write him a personal letter. Thanks, anyway, and we hope a lot more of you come through with letters favoring the building of a "community playhouse" or a big Texas Tech gymnasium.

WT-NM League Meeting Set

West Texas-New Mexico professional baseball league club owners, managers and other officials will gather in Borger Sunday, March 2 for the annual pre-season meeting of the league, according to official notices mailed yesterday by Milton E. Price, president of the league.

Following a policy of holding the meeting in the city which wins the championship the previous year, the meeting will be conducted in the Black hotel in Borger. Borger's Gassers won the title in 1940 by defeating Lubbock, 1938 and 1939 champion, in the playoff series.

Schedules Studied

Principal topic for discussion in the meeting will be the schedule for 1941. Copies of three specimen schedules are to be mailed to owners and managers in the next few days, Price said, so they may be considered before the meeting. Tom Miller, of the Avalanche-Journal editorial staff and West Texas-New Mexico league statistician for the past two years, has submitted a schedule for consideration.

Entry of Wichita Falls in the WTNM calls for a revision of former schedules, owing to the distance between Wichita Falls and certain other teams of the league. The Wichita Falls franchise, owned by Neal Rabe, former Hobbs and Amarillo club official and player, supplants that held in the league by Midland. Sammy Hale, third baseman and manager of the Midland club, will be player-manager of the Wichita Falls club, with Rabe acting as business manager, and co-owner.

Tate To Big Spring

Only other change so far announced for the league concerns the Odessa franchise, which has been purchased by Jodie Tate, former manager at Lamesa, and Arthur "Tink" Reviere, former major league player, and which is to be moved to Big Spring, from which it was moved to Odessa during the 1940 season.

At the Borger meeting, each club planning to continue in the 1941 race will be expected to post its "guarantee deposit" of $500.

"Everything seems to be shaping up nicely, and general optimism seems to be in order for the 1941 season," wrote President Price, who is also secretary of the Texas league.

WEBB IS FAVORITE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (U.P.)—Jimmy Webb of St. Louis and Tommy Tucker of New York, outstanding young light heavyweights, battle 15 rounds tonight at Madison Square Garden in the opening of an elimination to determine Champion Billy Conn's successor. Price-maker Eddie Borden quotes Webb the 11-to-10 favorite in surprisingly heavy betting.

'Sudden Death' Play Continues At Tech's Gym

Second round in District Three's high school basketball tournament gets under way this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Texas Tech gymnasium.

First round of the tournament began this morning at 8:30 o'clock, and since that hour the field of 16 has been reduced at the rate of one an hour.

Semi-Finals Saturday Morning

The tournament is of the "sudden death" variety—one defeat eliminates a team from the championship quest. Second, or quarter-final, round will be concluded tonight, leaving four teams to battle it out for top honors Saturday.

The Saturday firing starts at 10 o'clock, time set for the upper bracket semi-final contest. The lower bracket semi-final will begin an hour later. At 7 o'clock Saturday the semi-final losers will meet for third place honors, and at 8 o'clock, the championship battle will begin.

Schedule Given

Schedule of second round games:

4:30—Patton Springs-Lamesa winner vs. Tahoka-Lockney winner.

5:30—Lubbock-Meadow winner vs. Southland-Muleshoe winner.

7:00—Plainview-Morton winner vs. Denver City-Olton winner.

8:00—Idalou-Levelland winner vs. Ralls-Abernathy winner.

Gloves Boys Enter Slaton Tournament

SLATON, Feb. 20 (Special) — Amateur boxers of this area get another shot at boxing glory Monday and Tuesday nights in the annual Slaton High school amateur tourney. A good list of entries, including many who competed in the District Golden Gloves meet at Lubbock, indicates the tourney will compare with that tournament for boxing artistry and support.

"It looks like we're going to have all the entries we can handle," says Coach Curtis "Stumpy" Hamilton of Slaton High school, sponsor of the event.

Steen And Odam Again?

Probability of another, a third, bout between Dale Odam of Lubbock High school and Howell Steen, welterweight who won a questionable decision over Odam in the finals at Lubbock, is being talked, but neither has filed definite entries.

The entries to date include LaVern Roach, district flyweight champion; Buford Bradshaw, featherweight titleholder, and Alvin McCarty, lightweight champion, as well as several others who competed in the District Golden Gloves.

Admission prices for the tournament will be 50 cents for ringside, 40 cents for bleachers and 25 cents for the "chicken roost," Hamilton said.

Porkers Take Grip On Crown Tonight

(By The United Press)

Arkansas' basketball team will take the first installment of the Southwest conference crown in Fort Worth tonight—that is if the odds against Texas Christian university tell the true story.

By defeating T. C. U. tonight, Arkansas would make certain a tie, and a duplication tomorrow evening would win outright possession of the 1941 pennant. Two Christian losses were indicated.

This week's nine-game schedule ends tomorrow night with Rice institute and Southern Methodist university competing with Texas for the runner-up position.

Rice plays Texas A. and M. in College Station, and S. M. U. meets Texas in Austin. Baylor, the seventh conference team, will rest.

Baylor To Wait To Select Grid Coach

WACO, Feb. 21 (U.P.)—The Baylor university athletic council, scheduled to meet today, put off until some time in March their next session and left the Baylor coaching situation hanging in air.

An announcement from the athletic council said that action on selection of a football coach to succeed Morley Jennings, resigned, would be postponed along with the meeting.

Meanwhile Baylor President Pat M. Neff said that at least 35 applications had been received for Jennings' place but that "none of them is the man we want."

STRAFACI ADVANCES

MIAMI, Feb. 21 (U.P.) — Frank Strafaci, defending champion from New York City, plays Jimmy Frisini of Springfield, Ill., in one of the semi-final matches of the 17th annual Dixie amateur golf tournament today. Arnold Minkley, Chicago veteran, meets Dick Couci, youngest member of the golfing Couci brothers of Flushing, N. Y., in the other match.

PARIS KEY TO QUESTION

DALLAS, Feb. 20. (U.P.)—Continuation of the East Texas league hinged today on whether Paris enters a team. League President J. Walter Morris said last night that "it's getting late and if we don't hear something definite from Paris by Monday or Tuesday I guess it is all off."

Red Raiders Meet Phillips In Amarillo

LUBBOCK COUNTY CHAMPIONS—By virtue of victory in a play-off game last night at Abernathy over the New Deal High school team, the above pictured girls basketball team of Idalou High school won the Lubbock County championship and will compete in the District meet. The Idalou boys team also won county honors, and is appearing in the current district meet at Tech gymnasium. Pictured above, left to right, standing: Ima Jeane Rogers, team manager; Mary Evelyn McMillan, Tommye Jo Sparks, Imogene Graves, Mozelle Capshaw, Oreta Foreman, Virginia Dacus, and Miss Eula Embry, the coach; front row, kneeling, are Ruth Boyd, Evelyn Countess, Elizabeth Gregory, Frances Whiting, Thelma Jo Holt and Jaunita Kossey. Ruth Boyd was "high point man" for the team in the championship game last night with 8 points, and is one of the leading scorers of the county. The Idalou team has played 31 games this season and has lost only three, and has won three of four tournaments it has entered, those at Jayton, Idalou and Ropesville. The average height of the girls is 5 feet, 7½ inches.

Techsans Seek National Honors Tonight; Borger Host Saturday

(Special To The Journal)

AMARILLO, Feb. 21—Major league basketball comes to Amarillo tonight, matching the National AAU champion Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., with Texas Tech's Red Raiders, one of the Southwest's leading college teams.

They play in the Amarillo Junior college gymnasium tonight in the opener of a two-game series to be concluded in the Phillips High gymnasium at Borger Saturday night.

What A Record!

The Oilers this season have won 37 games while losing 6, scoring 1690 points to 1167 for their opponents. The losses have been to Denver Legion (three), last year's runnerup for the AAU crown, Arkansas university, Martin Jewelers of Colorado Springs and the St. Louis Rangers. The Oilers have defeated all but Martin later.

Last year, the Raiders and the Phillips five were supposed to play a two-game series, one game in Lubbock and one in Borger. The Techsans upset the '6' boys in Lubbock, 38 to 36, but the second game was cancelled because of a blizzard.

Less than a month after the Raiders had beaten them, the Oilers went to Denver and won the national title in the annual tournament there. Tech was the only college team to defeat the Oilers all season.

This year, only Arkansas among the nation's collegiate fives has been able to muster a victory over Phillips, and the Oilers have beaten the Porkers twice since that defeat.

Remember Joe College?

The Phillips five is composed of former All-American and all-conference stars, headed by Joe Fortenberry, six-foot eight-inch center for West Texas State Teachers college in the early thirties and twice an Olympic player.

Probable starters for Phillips are Don Lockard and Frank Groves, forwards; Joe Fortenberry, center; Grady Lewis and Bill Martin, guards. For Tech, it will be Bob Andis and Elvis Erwin, forwards; Jake Geron, center; J. B. White and Gabe Gilley, guards.

Tallest man in Tech's lineup, the six-foot three-inch Geron, will be on a level with the shortest of the

Houston Tourney Under Way

Coffey, White Tangle Today

BY WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Feb. 21—Two placid golfers with riotous games—Billy Bob Coffey, state champion, and Ed White, former intercollegiate titleholder—paired today in the second round of the Houston Country club invitation tournament.

Their battle was top-spotted on the program, but spectators also kept an eye on Ossie Carlton, jr., the veteran who was upsetting favorites in the invitation when most of today's entrants were playing hookey from grade school.

Playing Smoothly

Carlton has been playing smoothly—he qualified with a one over par 72 and trimmed Preston Moore of Houston 2 and 1 in the first round—and stood a sizable chance to eliminate Reynolds Smith, former Walker Cup player from Dallas.

Smith defeated Gus Layton, 6 and 5 yesterday.

Coffey and White had troubles in yesterday's matches, which argured well for a tight tussle today. Coffey skidded past Dick Nauts of Houston, 2 and 1, and White had been expected to do better than his 3 and 2 victory over C. I. White of Houston.

Vines In For Trouble

Another player in for some trouble was Ellsworth Vines, lanky former tennis ruler who is at the peak of his golf game now. Vines smothered M. R. Smith of Kansas City 6 and 4 yesterday but met a 15 year old boy who cared little for reputations.

Handsome Tyrell Garth, jr., champion of the Beaumont Country club yesterday flattened Ed Herron of Houston, who is so formidable a competitor the boys call him "bulldog," one up.

Other Pairings Listed

Another young giant killer, Jack Sellman, 16, met Bill Welch, seasoned tournament player from Houston. Sellman, who attends high school here, beat Walter Emery of Tulsa, a standout amateur, 2 up.

Other tilts paired Howard Creel, Houston, against Dave Mitchell, Houston; Frank Stiedle, Hot Springs, Ark., against George Young, Houston; Bobby Riegel, defending champion from Houston, against Bill Tucker of Dallas, and Johnny Dawson of Hollywood against L. J. Kluppel of Houston.

Zale Meets Greek In Championship Fight

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Tony Zale, the hard punching middleweight from Gary, Ind., puts his seven month old national boxing association crown within reach of young Steve Mamakos tonight in a 15 round bout at the Stadium.

And if the title depended on reach alone, the 22-year-old Greek would have it. Comparisons show Mamakos has a 75 inch reach, four and a half more than the champion.

Bettors are not overlooking this technicality, nor the manner in which the Washington, D. C., battler extended Zale in an overweight bout earlier this year. They are reminded, too, by Matt Twomey, Mamakos' manager, that the challenger never has lost a return match.

College Football Has Already Undergone Spring Cleaning As Coaching Staffs Are Shifted

BY BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 — Though it may be rushing the season, college football already has had its 1941 spring cleaning. An even dozen major football schools have changed head coaches, besides at least ten smaller ones, and in many cases these shifts involved not only the head men but their entire staffs.

Most notable was the shakeup at Notre Dame, which sent Elmer Layden into a five-year, $20,000-a-year job as commissioner for the National pro league; brought Frank Leahy and his three assistants to South Bend from Boston college, which he had helped make considerably more solvent in his two-year term, and left B. C. as the biggest job that so far hasn't been filled.

New England Hit

New England was hit hardest by the big wind, an Associated Press roundup shows. Not only did it blow Leahy back to Notre Dame, but it:

Sent Earl Blaik from Dartmouth, where he'd spent seven successful years, to Army to replace Capt. Bill Wood, now on active service;

Transplanted Deormond (Tuss) McLaughry to Dartmouth from Brown, where he'd coached for 15 years and turned out the milk-fed "iron men";

Impelled Yale to break with tradition in hiring its first non-graduate head coach, Emerson (Spike) Nelson, once of Iowa, to supplant Raymond W. (Ducky) Pond;

Ohio State In Spotlight

Lifted J. Neil (Skip) Stahley and Wes Fesler out of Harvard assistants' jobs into head coaching berths at Brown and Wesleyan.

Maine, where Fred Brice resigned after 20 years, Bates and Springfield were other New England colleges affected. Eck Allen, one of McLaughry's aides at Brown, took Bric's spot, Wendell Mansfield has left Bates to succeed Paul Stagg, son of "the grand old man," at Springfield.

The middle west had wholesale shakeups that included Paul Brown's transfer from Massillon (O.) High school to Ohio State to replace Francis Schmidt, another seven-year man; Oklahoma's hiring of Dewey (Snorter) Luster, New York Giants backfield coach, when Tom Stidham took over the job left by Paddy Driscoll's resignation at Marquette, and Jim Yeager's switch from Iowa State to Colorado, where he replaced Frank Potts. Ray Donels, frosh coach, got Yeager's job.

The List Grows

Lesser Mid-West shifts saw Henry Frnka come on from Temple to replace Chet Benefiel, resigned, at Tulsa, and Potsy Clark go from the Detroit pro Lions to Grand Rapids (Mich.) college. The Lions promptly took on Bill Edwards, thus leaving an opening at Western Reserve. Otis Douglas, jr., took over when Thomas A. (Spook) Dowler resigned "by request" at Akron. Dick Barker is leaving Cornell of Iowa, too.

In the Southwest, Morley Jennings resigned at Baylor after many years of coaching, and Pete Cawthon left Texas Tech. In the South Virginia Tech hired Jimmy Kitts, one year away from Rice, to replace Henry Redd, who moved up to an administrative post, and in the far west Ted Bank left Idaho, which expects to name his successor next month.

More Changes?

In this coach-swapping game, a good deal like musical chairs in that there always are more applicants than jobs, seven posts remain open.

Boston college has a long list of candidates. Prominently named are ex-Notre Damers Harry Mehre, Marchy Schwartz, Moon Mullins and Marty Brill, though they say Adam

False Passports Said Found At Mexican Border

Russians May Be Involved

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 21 — The newspaper Ultimas Noticias said a "scandalous falsification of Mexican passports" had been discovered by immigration inspectors at the United States frontier.

It said the holders of the passports "spoke a language believed to be Russian." Additional false passports had been found on visitors from South America, it said.

Arrived From New York

The paper reported available evidence indicated the passports were being "skillfully and almost perfectly" forged either in Soviet Russia or in "some" South American country.

Investigators expressed the opinion the passports were being used either by agents of the OGPU, Russian secret service, for "mission" in Mexico or that the ring falsifying the documents was selling them to political refugees from Europe seeking asylum here.

All persons detained at the Mexican-American frontier had arrived from New York, disembarking point, the newspaper reported, for ships either from Europe or South America.

No Details Given

Government agents declined to give any details, Ultimas Noticias said, for fear of "obstructing" their investigation.

Officials in both the ministry of the interior and foreign relations last night, said, "we have no information on it," when asked to comment on the reported falsification.

The immigration bureau declared officially, however, that many persons had gained admission to the country recently posing as "investors" and said that, in the future, a more careful check-up on the background of such applicants would be made.

TEACHER'S RECORD PERFECT

LAPEER, Mich. (U.P.)—With termination of the 1940 school year, Miss Vera Butts retired here as a school teacher with a 43-year record of never having missed a class because of illness.

MY DEAR, HOW YOU'VE CHANGED!—A scant half dozen years ago, Ida Lupino was the screen's typical giddy blonde. Her bleached curls were part of the background in many a version of campus life. Then somebody discovered that Ida was an actress too good to let evaporate in atmospheric effects. Her hair was permitted to revert to its natural brown, the frizzing iron was put away, and all precincts reported a heavy majority for the new candidate for top-ranking stardom.

Probe Into Foreign Propaganda In United States Recommended

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — Legislation to throw additional light on foreign propaganda coming into this country was recommended last night by Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, who said that 15 tons of this propaganda has been ruled "unmailable" since Dec. 23, 1940.

He said, "it appears to have been the policy of Congress to require the exposure of foreign activities in this country rather than to attempt their suppression," and added that this policy was sound.

May Be Utilized

"However, it seems that the power of Congress to force disclosure may be more fully utilized. In general, it seems to be the feeling of those who have been dealing with the matter that existing legislation might be changed in the direction of requiring that all propaganda material be properly labeled, copies to be filed with the government for inspection by appropriate officials and by the public, and that certain information as to the source of the material be published in the printed matter itself along the lines of existing regulations with respect to second-class mail."

Walker made his recommendations in a letter to Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn), chairman of the senate postoffice committee.

Most From Germany

Walker wrote that most of the material declared non-mailable "so far has emanated from Germany and Russia, coming to this country by way of the Pacific."

"Some material has also been sent from Japan, with small amounts from Italy and England. All of the material declared to be non-mailable because of non-registration of the sender appears to have been carefully planned to follow the familiar propaganda lines of foreign propaganda organizations."

Historic Liner Is Called For Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — Like an old fire horse recalled from pasture, the historic liner George Washington was ordered out of retirement today to serve in the navy's growing transport fleet.

It will be a familiar service to the 34-year-old vessel. Built in Germany for the North German Lloyd line, she was seized by the United States government at Hoboken, N. J., upon the outbreak of the World war, and converted into a transport.

Eighteen times the George Washington went back and fourth across the Atlantic before and immediately after the armistice, ferrying 48,378 passengers to Europe and bringing back 39,228.

The same ship took President Wilson and members of the peace conference to France, transported the king and queen of the Belgians on their visit to the United States in 1919, and figured in a history-making ship-to-shore radio telephone conversation between Secretary of War Baker and Franklin D. Roosevelt, then assistant secretary of the navy.

Some years after the war, the George Washington was operated by the government and the United States lines in the trans-Atlantic passenger service. She was laid up in December, 1931, by which time the competition from modern luxury liners had become severe. Since that date she had swung at anchor off Solomon's island. Maintenance crews kept her engines in shape for just such a call as the navy announced today.

Dupree Will Speak At Service Tonight

World conditions will be discussed by George W. Dupree, attorney, as guest speaker at services tonight in Congregation Shaareth Israel, 2420 Sixteenth street.

Services in Hebrew and English will be in charge of Rabbi Isadore Garsek.

Sunday school classes will convene at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, with the senior class meeting at 11 o'clock. Rube Weinstein of El Paso, worked in the national B'nai B'rith, will speak to the Lubbock group at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Two Raiders who participated in the defeat of Phillips last season will be trying to repeat the performance. They are J. B. White, last year a substitute guard whose nine points in the second half led the way to victory, and Jake Geron, center who played only briefly last year.

Tech has received a "feeler" from authorities of the Basketball Writers Invitation tournament conducted each March in Madison Square Garden and if Coach Berl Huffman's team can make a good showing against Phillips, will probably be invited to participate.

Human Repair Shop Mends Nerve-Torn And Wounded RAF Fighters

Psychology Is Medicine, Too

BY PAUL MANNING
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

AN RAF BASE HOSPITAL, England, Feb. 21 — It was a little bar. Four convalescent airmen, the doctor in charge and myself stood, drinking beer and talking.

The doctor said this bar was his own idea. It made the boys think, sometimes, they were back in their own mess hall.

Hospital Of Contrasts

Occasionally, though, the door behind the bar would swing open and you could see a small emergency operating room. The hospital is full of contrasts like that. But you ignore them, just as you seldom ask why a patient is there or what happened to him before he came.

Sometimes, though, you can guess. Like what happened to the angular pilot they call Roger, standing next to the doctor. His hands and face showed bad burns even after two months of convalescence and by their very severity and location you knew he had stayed in his flaming Spitfire until he had drawn a bead on the German pilot and poured his last round into the Messerschmitt before bailing out.

Driven Too Hard

The other three fighter pilots were on edge because they were to be discharged the following day. Already they were wondering how it would feel once again to climb into a cockpit and zoom off the field into a dogfight.

When they had entered this hospital during the last days of September they were typical of many other airmen grounded after having fought through those dark months of July, August and September. For like others who had taken to the air hour after hour, seven days a week, during those months the German air arm was trying the power tactics of forcing RAF defenses further inland, these men had been driven too hard for too long.

Developed Nerve

They had finally developed what the doctor termed nerve stress and when they first arrived at the hospital they could not sit in the same room longer than five minutes. Every telephone ring jangled their nerves and at night in their sleep their hands would grip the blankets as if they were caressing the trim cockpit of their little Spitfire.

Gradually, though, as the tension of their nerves relaxed and their overwhelming sense of exhaustion began to ebb they returned to normal and, as now, were once again ready for action.

Occupational Therapy

The little gymnasium is the doctor's pride. Squash courts, dart boards, parallel bars, all the special appliances designed to help men whose bodies were encased in plaster, whose hands have been burned and made powerless, fill the space which the doctor hopes will some day be enlarged.

During the pre-war years Mac, the gnarled little man in charge of this gymnasium, used to coach Wimbledon tennis stars. Today, with his equipment and his years of wisdom gained from guiding high-strung champions into top form, he has become as important to the operation of this base hospital as any surgeon.

Sports Pep Up Spirits

"What about a game of squash?" he asks one airman whose right arm and leg are partially paralyzed. The pilot shakes his head, until Mac tells him the boy in the next bed succeeded in standing for half an hour with a squash racket in his hand.

At this the airman pulls himself out of bed because Slim, the blond boy in the next bed whose big worry just now is trying to cultivate a wispy mustache, is encased in plaster from shoulders to waist.

He goes out to the court with Mac, a squash racket in his left hand. The doc says in about three days he'll be as concerned about his backhand as any Wimbledon star.

Birthday Party Is A Mass Celebration

RIO VISTA, Cal., Feb. 21 (U.P.)—When members of the family of Mrs. Margaret Ryan of Hamilton City met to commemorate her birthday the celebration virtually assumed mass proportions.

It also was the birthday of four other members of four generations of the family. In addition to marking the 77th anniversary of Mrs. Ryan's birth, it also was the birthday of two of her daughters, Mrs. Helen Kibby of Hamilton City and Mrs. Carleton Hansen of Crescent City; that of her grandson, Robert Winters of Colusa.

New Mexico Mines' Output Increasing

HURLEY, N. M., Feb. 21 (U.P.) — Spurred by the demand for metals under the expanding national defense program, New Mexico's mining industry has speeded up operations in the last several months and this year's production record is expected to double 1939 figures of $19,000,000.

The last year's output was the largest since 1929. Leading all production is copper. Running copper a close second are the potash mines near Carlsbad, with an output approximately of $9,000,000 yearly. More than a million tons of ore are being produced in the Carlsbad district a year.

Following copper and potash in production are lead and zinc producers in the western part of the state. Also important as a strategic mineral is manganese, with Silver City's famous old Boston Hill properties—untouched since the World war—again in steady production, with potential mineral reserves estimated at millions of tons.

Speeder's Alibi Is Accepted By Judge

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 21 (U.P.) Because the judge had experienced similar trouble, John Green, 18, escaped conviction in police court.

He appeared to answer charges of speeding and failing to stop at an arterial highway.

Green said he thought his father's car had developed serious trouble and was running to a garage to save his father a tow bill.

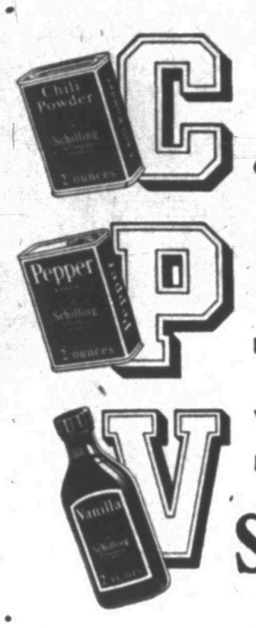

"That same thing happened to me," said Judge Frank Yuse. "I drove from Pasco to Walla Walla not knowing what was wrong.

"Not guilty on both charges."

Although it was third among the states in percentage of population increase in the 1940 census, California recorded the greatest absolute increase. Its increase was nearly 1,200,000 as compared with nearly 800,000 in New York State.

Auto Adds Modern Touch To Hunting Coyotes In Wide Open Spaces

Bounty Paid For Each Kill

(By The United Press)

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 21—Montana has its own version of the ancient hunt—but when its exponents ride to the hounds, the object is financial gain, not sport, and the quarry a snarling coyote rather than a fox.

Montana coyote hunters for the most part are professionals who seek the animals for their pelts and for the bounty the predators bring. Federal hunters spend much of the year killing the animals.

Kills Livestock

The coyote, or prairie wolf, kills game and livestock and is considered a major enemy, especially by sheepmen. At present the Montana fish and game commission has underway a campaign to eliminate 5,000 of the animals and has offered a $2 bounty on each.

Other organizations occasionally offer bounties, or pool their funds to hire hunters, but despite these efforts there seems little immediate danger of the coyote becoming extinct in Montana. A recent survey revealed the animals were more numerous than in several years.

Hunter Drives Auto

Several methods are used in killing the animals, depending in part on the nature of the country, but one of the most spectacular utilizes the methods made famous on the English country side, adding a few modern touches to make the task more thrilling.

Relatively open country is required, for the idea of this type hunting is to run the prairie wolf down with an automobile or truck until dogs are able to catch it.

Coyotes Can Run 45 M.P.H.

The pack, usually composed of five fleet hounds and including a leader and killers, rides in a cage at the rear of the car.

Unusually good eyesight is necessary in spotting the coyotes, which can run about 45 miles an hour. When an animal is located in an open field, the hunter gives chase in the car, following through ditches and making sharp turns in an effort to keep the animal on clear ground.

If the coyote threatens to escape to broken land where the car cannot follow, the hunter attempts to cripple the quarry, firing from the car on the run with a shotgun and aiming at the legs in order not to ruin the pelt.

Coyotes Sometimes Fight

If the coyote tires and slackens pace, the hounds are turned loose. The work is dangerous to both hunters and dogs, as the tremendous vitality of the coyote may permit even a badly wounded animal to turn and kill the dogs, or attack the hunter.

Hunting with hounds and car can be done only on the prairie. The animals also are sought under such conditions from airplanes, with the flying huntsman spotting the animal and dropping low to kill it with a shotgun or rifle.

In mountainous country, horses often are used by hunters. Sometimes traps are used with considerable success, although the coyote is not easily fooled by baited snares.

Sportsmen, as well as stockmen, consider the prairie wolf a menace. The dog-like animals, which hunters say never become completely tame, even when captured and raised from tiny pups, take a heavy toll of game. Some sportsmen say they kill more deer than hunters do.

According to census records, nearly 52 percent of all negro births are supervised by midwives. Less than 22 percent occur in hospitals. Among the white births only 3.4 percent are attended by midwives and 55 percent occur in hospitals.

MECHANIZED BATTERING-RAMS—These British gun carriers, before the battered wall of Fort Capuzzo, symbolize strength and force of British desert advance on Italian strongholds.

American Without A Pistol In Shanghai Is "Nude;" Great Metropolis Is "Wide Open"

BY RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Feb. 21—Foreigners live dangerously in Shanghai.

The ordinary American business man in this great wartorn meeting place of all the races never leaves his home unarmed. A gun is as much a gentleman's accessory as cuff links and wrist watch. He sits in his office with a blue-steel "equalizer" within wrist reach—in a drawer or even on the desk.

Under many desks are burglar alarm buttons. A touch of the knee sounds a shrill signal, brings Indian guards with drawn guns. By the same token, steel doors, bullet-proof vests, bullet-proof automobiles and bodyguards have become normal adjuncts of life.

'Rub-Outs' Cheap

Shanghai, occupied by the Japanese since 1937, is wide open. Even its international settlement is not entirely secure.

Every form of vice the human imagination has been able to devise is offered. You can gamble at 9 o'clock in the morning. It is less difficult to find narcotics than to get an ice cream soda. And the city is not limited to white slavery—it has brown, black, yellow, red, the whole chromatic scale.

All the known rackets are represented, plus countless Oriental variations. Money, flowing in torrents, opens any door. The streets teem with gangs and gangsters. A normal "rub out" costs $50 Mexican, less than $3 gold.

Poisonous Plant

Shanghai is a vast, poisonous plant, luxuriantly alive in the mud of the Whangpoo river. It is the Barbary coast on an incredible scale, the Wild West with slant eyes.

Furthermore, the city is a sounding-board for all the world's wars and international collisions. The population is Chinese and Japanese, British and German and Italian, Russian, American, Polish, French and all the races and nations in the world.

All the political hatreds are present, too. Somewhere, every night, they come to the surface in a blaze of gunfire.

Deaths Go Unlisted

A 70-year-old French lawyer died on his doorstep the other day, and two Chinese gunmen disappeared in a waiting car. A Japanese policeman got a meat-axe at the base of the brain. He was the 15th Japanese to go within the past few months. The police hardly bother to list, any longer, the killings of spies, gamblers, racketeers and gunmen.

So the foreigner carries a gun and is always within sight of guns. On every street, soldier-policemen with steel helmets, rifles and pistols, stroll along, two by two.

A Shanghai Street. Its peaceful appearance is deceiving.

Summer Resort In Midst Of Big Boom

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont., Feb. 21 (U.P.)—This popular Lake Erie summer resort is feeling the effects of the industrial boom.

Usually a ghost town during the winter months, this summer-time community now numbers double its normal 100-family winter-time populace. The newcomers, primarily defense industries workers, rented cottages here when unable to find living quarters in the nearby industrial towns of Fort Erie and Port Colborne.

Stand Closed First Time In 37 Years

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21 (U.P.) — When 72-year-old Pat Usher finally retired and closed the door of his tiny refreshment stand, he locked it for the first time in 37 years.

Pat opened up back in 1903, just about the time of the St. Louis World's fair. And he always boasted proudly that the door was never closed and the windows never dark.

"There wasn't a key for the door when I took it," said Pat. "And I never had one."

Sweden's coal shortage is serious.

Cochran Pool Said Extended

Reported large production in the Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 2 F. L. Woodley extended the proved area in the Cochran county side of the Slaughter pool, according to information received here Thursday.

On six-hour test through casing the No. 2 Woodley, nearly a quarter mile west of previous production, flowed at a rate of 1,064 barrels a day with gas-oil ratio of 580 to 1. It is bottomed at 4,993 feet in lime and was acidized with 10,500 gallons in three stages.

Farther northeast Magnolia No. 3 Woodley is drilling below 3,880 feet in anhydrite.

George P. Livermore No. 1 Delta Slaughter Wright, nominal Permian producer in northwest end of Dean pool in eastern Crane county, recently deepened from 4,997 feet, remains shut down for order at 5,715 feet in lime. It was scheduled to go 6,000 feet.

Hockley side of Slaughter pool gained a new producer and more drilling was started.

Locations Staked

S. W. Richardson No. 2-B Slaughter flowed 972 barrels daily after acidizing in pay lime from 4,880 to 4,978 feet total depth with 8,000 gallons.

Tidewater Associated Oil company staked location for No. 1 J. C. Pirkle, 440 feet out of northeast corner of labor 54, league 40, Maverick county school land. Delta Drilling company skidded derrick to No. 1-D Saughter, 440 feet out of southwest corner of labor 13, league 41, Maverick county school land.

Magnolia located No. 1-E Mallett Land and Cattle Co. 580 feet from south and east lines of labor 12, league 40, Scurry county school land. Same company staked No. 3-E Sue Alice Slaughter 440 feet out of southwest corner of labor 24, league 42, Maverick county school land.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. will drill No. 19-B Alex A. Slaughter estate 440 feet from north and west lines of labor 3, league 40, Maverick county school land.

San Andres Production Co. No. 1-A J. C. Johnson, northeastern Gaines county wildcat, was reported abandoned at 5,000 feet in lime, when the well ran low structurally and logged water in the pay horizon of the Cedar Lake pool, one mile north.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company No. 5 Hall estate in Wasson field of southern Yoakum county rated daily potential of 1,233 barrels at total depth of 5,190 feet. It was acidized with 10,000 gallons in pay lime, topped at 4,900.

Two workmen have found two earthenware jars filled with 612 gold coins under the brick floor of a two-hundred-year-old cottage near Alton, England.

TODAY'S POEM

Ain't no use to grumble or complain—
When it's right for rainin,' it'll rain!

* * *

SOME days ago, the 30-member, all-city committee in charge of registration of ex-service men asked The Plainsman to "put in a plug, if possible," for the nation-wide registration of World war veterans, set for tomorrow.

This column is glad to do so, not only because the 30-member committee asked such co-operation, but also because The Plainsman considers such co-operation to be a patriotic service.

* * *

We do not call attention to tomorrow's registration, however, in an effort to "urge" World war veterans to go and register.

We don't think any urging is necessary.

Tomorrow's registration is a patriotic duty, World war veterans know it is a patriotic duty—and their patriotism was proven 'way back in 1917-18.

Therefore, any urging done by The Plainsman would be both superfluous and might mistakenly be taken as a reflection upon ex-service men.

* * *

WE call attention to the registration set for tomorrow only for purposes of reminding the veterans of the World war that such a registration is set.

Here are the facts:

WHY: The registration is being held all over the country in keeping with the requests of the President and the National Defense commission;

WHO: All American World war veterans, regardless of branch of service or rank;

WHERE: For all of Lubbock county except in and immediately surrounding Slaton—American Legion home, 910 Texas avenue;

WHEN: Saturday, Feb. 22, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 8 p. m.

ARRANGEMENTS: There will be plenty of registration clerks to take care of registrants; little time will be exhausted in registering; there will be no personal questions asked.

GOAL: Complete files on America's experienced military manpower, to be used, if needed, as a reservoir of strength and service in case of a national emergency.

That's all from us, Mr. World war veteran. You'll do the rest without any drum-beating by The Plainsman.

* * *

In connection with the registration, The Plainsman received a letter.

It reads:

"I admire you as a man, your straight-forward way of thinking and doing things, and your unbiased way of stating facts.

"I am an ex-service man and think that the speakers on the ex-service registration radio programs should be ex-service men. I have talked with several ex-service men and they think the same way.

"Some of the speakers were mere kids at the time of the World war and we don't think they will have weight with us. I have heard any number of ex-service men say that if they (the committee) could not find any ex-service men capable of making speeches for it, we were not capable of registering.

"We don't like the whole setup.

"We would like your comment on this issue in tomorrow's paper."

The letter was signed "A Group of Ex-Service Men."

* * *

TO our anonymous correspondent, or group of correspondents, the writer has this to say and to report:

When the registration program was begun under direction of the 30-man committee, The Plainsman was asked to make one of the radio speeches explaining the plan and urging World war veterans to register.

The Plainsman declined, saying this:

"I am not an ex-service man. I was just 16 when the World war armistice was signed. I think it would be better to get an ex-service man in my place, especially since I am one of the worst speakers in Lubbock. But I will help in any other way I can."

Then it was explained to The Plainsman that the national authorities running the registration did not want the project to be handled by ex-service men, alone. The authorities preferred workers and committee helpers representing both ex-service men and those who are not. Their idea was and is to make the registration a project of the American public as a whole, rather than only representative of ex-service men. Why this attitude was taken The Plainsman does not know.

However, he did not make a radio speech because he clung to the personal opinion that whatever "urging" was to be done should be done by ex-service men.

* * *

The Plainsman hasn't heard any of the radio programs and doesn't know who made the speeches.

However, whether they are ex-service men, or not, this column is ready to give them credit for being helpful—and with co-operating with the committee.

Perhaps the arrangements in connection with the registration program were bungled in Washington. Perhaps they were bungled here. Perhaps they weren't bungled either place—and that is all beside the point.

The point is: the National Defense commission and the President of the United States think the registration is important. They think it is necessary at this time of a national and world emergency. They are asking people to help put it over in every part of the nation, and they are asking World war veterans to register concerning their service, their talents, their experience in business, etc., for possible aid if and when their country needs them.

And The Plainsman's personal opinion is that the ex-service men in general will do as they always have done — co-operate right on down the line.

* * *

AS a matter of fact and record, the National Defense commission wanted the American Legion, as the largest organization of American ex-service men, to run the registration show from start to finish.

But the Legion—and doubtless wisely—decided against running the show.

Its attitude was this:

Although the great majority of Americans, ex-service men and the general public combined, has friendship and admiration for and confidence in the Legion, the organization, like all other organizations of all kinds, has some critics and some enemies.

With the thought in mind that registration of ex-service men as a Legion project might be detrimental to the whole plan in some quarters, the Legion declined to take the lead. But it did give its approval and co-operation to the idea.

In Lubbock, as well as the nation over, Legionnaires are numerous in the organization set-up and are lending their aid wherever asked.

* * *

The national registration of ex-service men is such a gigantic undertaking, it is doubtful if any method of handling it would be approved by everybody.

No matter what had been done, there would have been misunderstanding, criticism and, in some quarters, downright condemnation.

But it's too late now to make any changes, because tomorrow's registration day in Lubbock—and over the entire nation.

And whether they like the setup, or not, most Americans will hope the effort is crowned with success.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says before the meek get a chance to inherit the earth, it looks like the un-meek will have it so messed up it won't be worth inheriting!

* * *

TWO well known Lubbock men are now committed to the truth—and the efficacy—of the statement: "When in Rome, do as the Romans do."

In Phoenix, Ariz., a few days ago, Dr. J. T. Krueger and E. J. Parsons overlooked the necessity of wearing some sort of Western garbs to a benefit rodeo staged there for the Cripple' Children's fund by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

They viewed the rodeo unmolested, but a short time later a police department "hoodlum wagon" was backed up to their hotel and the Lubbockites were hauled out, "pinched" and taken to headquarters where they were fined for their "crime."

They got off for a buck apiece which, according to Neil H. Wright, was "too darned little for a couple of plutocrats, especially since all fines went to the Crippled Children's fund."

The fiasco occurred while Messrs. and Mesdames Wright, Parsons, Mrs. George Wicker (Mrs. Wright's sister) of Austin; Dr. and Mrs. Krueger and children were vacationing in the Arizona sunshine.

Chapter 31

Perfect Day

David looked at Polly, and Polly looked at David.

"Come on, honey," David said. "Let's go out and get some air. I feel sorter shaky in the knees."

"Is my daughter upstairs?" Andy Powers asked.

"Yes," said Doctor Ben. "She seemed so eager to see Warren, I couldn't refuse."

The lumberman turned to David. "Did she deliver my message?" he asked. 'About my wanting to invest in your sanatorium project?"

"She did," said David. "But don't tell me any more surprising news. I couldn't take it!"

Andy and Doctor Ben chuckled, as David took Polly's hand and left the room. . . .

Picnic

The tenth was a perfect day. David called out from his bedroom. "All set, Peter?"

"Yes, Cousin David." Peter replied. "I sure do feel dressed up in this new suit."

"Come along then," David said. "We've got to pick up Polly, and get on with the picnic. Warren and Margo will go out in Margo's car."

Peter joined them in the living room.

"How do I look, Cousin David?" he asked.

"Handsome, that's what!" David replied. "Nothing like a white linen suit to make us Wileys look like Adonises."

"What are they, Cousin David?"

"Beautiful men."

"I wouldn't want to be too beautiful."

"Nor would I, old man. Well, anyway, a Wiley looks like the perfect Southern gentleman when he gets dolled up in white. How's that?"

"Swell! I sure do want to look like a Southern gentleman, Cousin David."

"You do, Peter—"

"So do you, Cousin David," said Peter. "Even if you aren't wearing white today."

They got into the little car that had played such an important part in the recent excitement. Just before David started it, he spoke.

"I've got a girl for the picnic," he said, "and so has Warren. Seems a shame for you to be the odd one, Peter. Shall we get you a girl some place?"

"I've already got one," said Peter. "No!"

"Aunt Susan—she's my girl," Peter went on. "She made me a birthday cake with ten candles on it, and I invited her to the picnic with us."

"Say, that's great!" David exclaimed. "I'm glad you and Aunt Susan are getting on so nicely."

"Oh, she's not bad," said Peter. "She's acting like she thinks us boys are pretty swell."

"I knew she'd feel like that," said David, "just as soon as she got to know you, son."

They drove off.

Polly and Aunt Susan were ready.

"It's going to be a day in a million," said Aunt Susan. "It's the first time in I don't know when that my corns haven't hurt me."

"I hope that's a perfect weather prediction," said David.

"It is." Aunt Susan retorted. "My corns never make mistakes."

"Let me have that basket," David said. "I'll put it here in the back."

Polly handed it to him. "Isn't it going to be pretty crowded, David?" she asked.

"What of it?" David replied. "You can sit in the middle, and Aunt Susan can sit on the outside, with Peter in her lap. That is, if she doesn't mind?"

"Why should I?" said Aunt Susan. "Peter's not so heavy."

"I'll sit light," Peter said.

"Don't you worry, boy," said Aunt Susan. "I've held bigger children than you on this old lap of mine."

It was when they were almost to the Inn that David leaned close to Polly, and said:

Double Wedding

"Speaking of weddings, I think—"

"I didn't hear anyone speaking of weddings," said Polly.

"Well, you're hearing someone speak of them now," David said. "I think it would be fun to get married out at the Inn. You know, in that big lobby, with a lot of flowers and guests and—"

"And maybe we could make it a double wedding!" said Polly. "Warren and Margo, and you and I!"

"Gosh!" said David. "What a send-off for Freddy's Folly! Let's ask them."

"All right, let's!"

They rode along for a little while without speaking.

It was David who broke the silence between them.

"Remember what you said that day when I took you out to the Inn?" he asked. "The day Peter arrived."

"I'm not sure just what you mean," said Polly. "I said a lot."

"I mean about the spring."

"Oh, yes, I remember. About magic and all that sort of nonsense."

"It wasn't nonsense," said David. "There was magic in the old mineral water. There still is."

"How do you mean?"

"Gosh, honey, don't you see!" David said. "If Peter and I hadn't been able to turn on the fountain—which is part of the spring—we

GEORGE WASHINGTON: AMERICAN

Since tomorrow is the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, Americans can and should take time, in this hectic era, to briefly study a few of the highlights in the life of the Father of Our Country.

Among other things, we find:

George Washington didn't cut down the cherry tree. He didn't say: "I cannot tell a lie."

George Washington didn't strike a statuesque attitude, standing in a boat, while crossing the Delaware. He sat quietly and abstained from any balancing feats which might have made the oarsmen's task more difficult.

George Washington didn't want an armed revolution against the country from which his forefathers had come; but, when war broke out, he led his fellow-Americans in successful defense of what he called "the liberty which we have derived from our ancestors."

George Washington didn't warn his countrymen against "entangling alliances." An entangling alliance with France had helped to win American independence. He did warn his countrymen against permanent alliances.

George Washington didn't want to be President. He didn't enjoy himself while he was President. He didn't believe that anything for which a large part of the people might be shouting loudly was necessarily right. He did believe in immutable principles of right and justice which could not be changed by popular vote.

George Washington didn't believe in government by personal whim or by political expediency. He did believe in government by law.

George Washington didn't regard the Constitution as something subject to new interpretation at the discretion of a temporary political majority. He did regard it as a solemn contract between the government and the people.

Americans, from President Roosevelt on down, would do well in these dark days to study Washington the man, the general and the President—and all the things he stood for.

ON BROADWAY

MEMOS of a Girl Friday: Dear Mr. W.: Madame Chiang Kai-shek is in the U. S. Her arrival was kept very sotto voce, as she was ill and in no mood to see anyone . . . Sally Rand invariably denies anything newspapers write about her — which gets her name in the papers at least twice. Tennyrate, she denied she would wed her dancing partner, Valentinoff, when we said so last Summer. Mr. V., however, confided at the Beachcomber the other evening that he and Sally were fit to be tied — p'raps by next month . . . This leaves the varree reech Mexican Manola Ferrandez out in the cold — with only his millions . . .

* * *

I understand Barbara Bennett, in order to get her divorce, signed a legal document signing away all five children to Downey. She now regrets it and may battle legally to regain custody. Her heart (in case you don't know) is Addison Randall. She thought she'd be able to marry him, but now it doesn't look as though she has a chance . . . Tommy Manville is selling his New Rochelle home. As I told you, the burglary he reported the other day was the second—the one previously occurring just after New Year's. Police are convinced it's an inside job and are questioning all of Manville's guards, former employes and his list of lady friends.

WINCHELL

* * *

MERVYN LEROY and Jack Benny had a bet. Both swore to stop smoking cigars, the first one to light up to forfeit $500. Jack promised to do a benefit, and he always smokes a cigar on the stage. Absent-mindedly, he lit one — and had to forfeit the $500. Mervyn is donating it to charity . . . You can be sure that "Tobacco Road" is a hit picture. Darryl Zanuck, who has been reticent about attaching his name to every production at 20th Century, is prominently credited on this.

* * *

In the book called "John Barrymore — the Legend and the Man"—there's an explanation of the behavior of the Barrymore children. The revelation is that Mr. Barrymore used to drink tiger's milk . . . No wonder!

* * *

THE report on the state of Britain, which Harry Hopkins bears to FDR, is written on celluloid as well as on paper. Hopkins exhibits a film short tagged "This Is England," a gift from Herbert Morrison, Home Secretary, via Hopkins, to the President . . . The purists who yap that "Fantasia" isn't "aaaaht" are hiding red faces over the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's sponsoring of the Detroit opening of the Disneye-opener . . . Grace Moore phoned. Her husband is improving rapidly at Saranac Lake.

* * *

Joyce Mathews and M. Berle have decided no go. She's returned to New York . . . A good recommendation is J. C. Nugent's book, "It's a Great Life"—about the theater . . . Donald Flamm, who just sold his radio station, is readying plays — to become a producer . . . Preston Sturges' next movie click, I hear, is called: "The Lady Eve" . . . His other epics were "The Great McGinty" and "Christmas in July."

* * *

SUGGESTION: Why doesn't the "Bundles for Britain" outfit, which is now offering cigarette cases, watches etc. for British War Relief, sell "R. A. F. fatigue ties"? They are worn by the fliers in the R. A. F. They're very ducky (black and red, I think) and most men would be proud to wear a necktie like that.

* * *

You might toss scallions at NBC and the Mutual Network for not permitting the Greek War Relief program to be broadcast over the independent New York stations. If those smaller stations had carried it, their listeners would have had an opportunity of hearing the program and the appeal, and swell the funds with their contributions.

* * *

GALS at the Stork Club are wearing their boy friends' 2nd lieutenant bars as dress ornaments . . . Dixie Dunbar is wearing a wedding ring . . . I like that crack in "Strawberry Blonde" when Cagney tries to borrow four dollars from George Tobias for a date with Rita Hayworth. "I'll give you the money, if you promise one thing," says George. "When you find out you can't pay it back, you won't get mad at me!"

* * *

Riddle me this, please. The World-Telly's annual radio popularity poll did what it did last year, but it makes no sense. The "best 15-minute programs" were voted as follows: Fred Waring, Amos 'n' Andy, you, Easy Aces, Vic and Sade, Lanny Ross, Glenn Miller, Raymond G. Swing, Lowell Thomas, CBS European News, Kaltenborn, Tony Martin . . . But the "best news commentators" are as follows: Swing, Kaltenborn, Thomas, Elmer Davis, Paul Sullivan, Wythe Wms., you, Lewis, Jr., Carter, Kennedy, Heater, Hill, Trout and Van Loon . . . In the "best 15-minute programs" you're the first newscaster mentioned! . . . But in the newscasters you're seventh—and Swing, who is first in that list — is eighth in the "best 15-minute programs!" . . . Cross-word puzzles are easier. —Your Girl Friday.

Capital Becomes Boom Town With Dancing In Streets, Etc.

Washington Moves To Solve A Social Problem

BY PETER EDSON

Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — Soldier, would you just listen to this:

Three thousand to 4000 hostesses, recruited from the 180,000 government employes.

Dancing in the streets every nice night all summer long, in the big square between the two Agriculture department buildings.

Show in the Labor department auditorium every Sunday.

Show in the Interior department Monday.

Show in the Agriculture department auditorium every Tuesday.

Edson

Radio broadcast quiz program from the Labor department auditorium, with prizes for the soldiers and government gals who do the best, on Wednesday.

Amateur night, a la Major Bowes, from the Commerce auditorium come Thursday.

Big-scale dances at the Government Printing Office and Bureau of Engraving Friday and Saturday.

* * *

Always Something Doing

No, soldier, this isn't a phony dream for a week's furlough with pay in advance, but the honest-to-gosh program for entertaining the troops when they come down to town on leave. And the town isn't Columbus, Ga., San Antonio or Bonneville, but Washington, D. C., slated to become one of the biggest boom towns of the country in the next two years and as long thereafter as the defense effort continues.

Within a few miles of Washington will be four big army camps which will train 120,000 men. There will be 5,000 or so on leave every night of the week, and on payday week-ends there will be double that number or more. The question is, what to do with them?

Then there is the other army of government clerks, growing at the rate of 4,000 a month. By July there will be 180,000 and the other part of the question is, what to do with them?

So the chiefs of the federal employes' welfare units in the various government agencies have been putting their heads together to map out programs of entertainment which will let off the steam of a surplus population of nearly 300,000, plus the 500,000 already here.

Recruiting the hostesses from among the gals of the gov'ment is the first step. Getting the local merchants to put up prizes for the amateur and radio quiz programs is another. Making over the capital park system, doing away with a golf course to provide more tennis courts and things like that is another.

The big idea is to have something going on every minute of the time-off periods for soldiers and clerks. And in addition to the government building auditoriums, every school hall and meeting place is being catalogued for possible use as a smaller amusement center. Cupid will be running rampant all over the place and motorists will be warned to safeguard their tires from stray arrows.

Counter Attraction

All this effort is of course on the strictly nice side and it's being organized as a counter attraction to Washington's notorious red light districts. It's not in the guide books, but the sad fact is that south of the capitol is an area which is a national disgrace. War department and district police plans are already afoot to have the area patrolled by military police to keep the soldiers ont of trouble when they're on leave. That's merely another manifestation of the boom-town atmosphere which Washington is taking on.

A white-collar WPA project has already been canvassing the housing situation, and has reported fewer than 3400—2 per cent of the city's dwellings—vacant. With only 5000 rooms for rent, you won't be able to find a place to hang your hat in another six weeks. The problem then becomes one of getting people who don't ordinarily rent rooms to turn over the spare bedroom to visitors.

There's a 2400-unit government housing project under way, but it can't be completed much within two years. And so, while the good people in Washington will be having fun this summer, dancing in the streets and such, they may not have any place to go afterward. In that respect, the soldiers will have it on the civilians.

Paprika, formerly imported into the United States at the rate of $10,000,000 worth a year, was one of the first spices to be cut off by the war. It now is being cultivated in southern Louisiana.

"Why I never thought of that!" said Polly. "The spring did play a part, didn't it?"

"You bet!"

"It's brought us real happiness, David."

David grinned.

"And it's done things to our pocketbooks, too!" he said.

"What's that about pocketbooks?" Aunt Susan asked.

"Just a lot of foolishness," said Polly.

"Just a lot of sensibleness," said David.

"You two!" said Aunt Susan. "A person can't make head nor tail out of what you're saying half the time."

"That's because they're in love," said Peter.

Aunt Susan chuckled. "Out of the mouths of babes!" Then she said: "Go a little faster, David, can't you? I'm getting hungry. I'm going to eat anything I like. That young Doctor Warren is the only doctor who ever did my stomach any good."

New Mexico College Upholding Slogan

SOCORRO, N. M., Feb. 21 (U.P.)—Little New Mexico School of Mines, seldom mentioned in academic circles outside New Mexico, has a slogan for 47 years that any university or college in America would be proud to own.

"It reads: "Any average graduate of the New Mexico School of Mines who is looking for a job can be placed without difficulty."

The rule has held good with few exceptions since 1893. Graduates have had little difficulty obtaining employment in the mining engineering field and it is this fact that has added greatly to the school's prestige in mining circles.

Only 140 students attend the school and they are taught by a faculty of 14. Perhaps this is the reason the little institution can claim such an amazing employment record for its graduates.

The school was opened in 1893, and since then there has been no great fluctuation on its enrollment. That always remains about the same—slightly more than 100 students.

AGAIN HICKS' CHICKS LEAD THE WAY TO GREATER POULTRY PROFITS FOR YOU

OUR PRICES ARE IN LINE

Don't delay your chick buying any longer. When you purchase HICKS CHICKS you get chicks that are hatched right, packed right — DEPENDABLE CHICKS. Even though you should have to pay a little more in additional cost to get my dependable chicks they will return to you many times over in extra eggs, extra profit. The small additional first cost and the long run show you a greater profit, where the inferior low grade chicks lose money for you.

Get your share of the poultry profits. Almost a quarter century of scientific breeding for MORE EGGS . . . BIGGER EGGS . . . BIGGER BIRDS offer you an outstanding opportunity for bigger share of these profits.

Swift's Chicks Are Healthy Chicks

Swift's Premium Baby Chicks are from selected, rigidly culled and properly blood-tested flocks.

Every flock supplying eggs to Swift's Hatchery is tested for "Pullorum" (B.W.D.) disease and all reactors to the test are removed from the flock. Health, vigorous stock brings success with Swift's Baby Chicks.

Memphis Motorists Use Unique Substitutes For Banned Horns

(By The United Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 21—When Police Commissioner Joe Boyle decreed that automobile horns should not be blown except in extreme emergencies, Memphis motorists began to employ some odd substitutes.

One woman who was taking friends to a church meeting did not wish to get out of her car at each home at which she stopped. The law said she could not use her automobile horn as a substitute for a door bell. So at each stop she rolled down the car window and rang a dinner bell. It worked.

Just A Little Whistle

A motorist wanted to pass a slow-moving log truck on a narrow street. To permit passage, it was necessary that the truck be driven very close to the curb. But the motorist did not dare signal the truck driver by using his horn. He halted his car, jumped out, raced up to the cab of the truck, and asked the driver if he would be so kind as to pull over and allow him to pass. The truck driver obliged.

In another case, a day-dreaming auto driver unconsciously held up traffic when an intersection signal changed from red to green. An impatient driver, afraid to blow his horn, poked his head out the window, placed his two index fingers between his lips, and blew a whistle. The offending driver was stirred abruptly into reality and sped away.

Some "Race" Motors

A woman who unconsciously drove her automobile astride a traffic lane dividing line was startled when she heard a mysterious "thump, thump, thump" behind her. She wheeled into the right lane. Then another motorist passed her. His companion was beating his car door with a rubber mallet.

This type substitute for the horn is popular, but usually the palm of the hand is used rather than a mallet.

Taxicab drivers, branded by some as the worst horn-blowing offenders, found and put to use a very effective substitute. When they wanted to pass someone, they would push in their clutches and race their motors. This same substitute was employed to summon passengers to waiting cabs.

SCORES COUP—Getting the president of the United States to come to lunch is a coup for the Women's National Press Club president, Helen Essary, (above). Mrs. Essary is a gently efficient person who gets an amazing number of things done without making a fuss about it. She has written a popular daily column for a Washington paper for six years, been editor of the Democratic Digest, and brought up three children. Years before the world had heard of the future Duchess of Windsor, Helen Essary wrote a story about her. She had a ten-dollar-a-week job covering society, and one of her first assignments was the Wallis Warfield debut in Baltimore where they both grew up.

'Sacrifice Rock' Of Redskins Is Found

PINLEYVILLE, Pa., Feb. 21 (U.P.)—An Indian "sacrifice rock", pocked with holes apparently used as containers for blood, has been discovered near Saltsburg, along the Kiskiminetas river, by Chief George S. Fisher, of Union Valley, member of the Pennsylvania Indian Research.

Chief Fisher said the rock measured 8 feet across by 12 inches in thickness and has 76 holes, each of them capable of holding about a quart of blood.

He reported also finding in the same vicinity a huge mortar weighing about 60 pounds.

The Pennsylvania Indian Research has planned a pilgrimage to the site of the find, and will take a cast of the rock.

Doctor Says Women Are Outliving Men

DETROIT, Feb. 21 (U.P.)—Do men live longer than women?

Dr. Arthur B. Elliott, of Chicago, says no. Scotching the age-old theory about the "survival of the sexes," Dr. Elliott told members of the Michigan State Medical Society at a convention here that women are less emotionally intense than men and, consequently, have a better chance of survival.

"Women live longer and a higher percentage die of causes not connected with their blood pressure," said Dr. Elliott.

Of all fire alarms sounded in American cities, approximately 11 per cent are for fires in automobiles.

Modern Day Rustler Trapped By Camera

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 21 (U.P.)—Cameras helped the state send 18 "gasoline cowboys"—cattle rustlers using trucks to haul away their booty—to the penitentiary so far this year, Agriculture Director Walter J. Robinson reports.

The state's seven livestock inspectors all were equipped with small cameras to carry with them on their inspection trips. They use them to photograph truck license numbers, suspected stolen cattle, brands and other evidence to use in convicting the cattle thieves.

This Was Big Thing For Army To Refuse

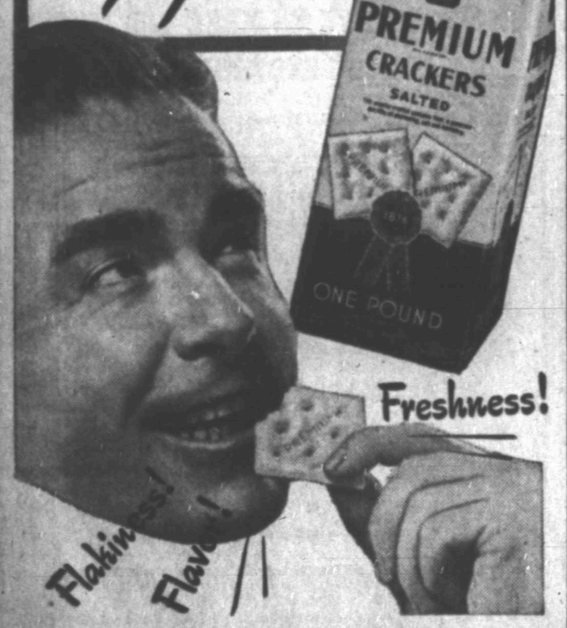

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 21 (U.P.)—When Matthew Ferguson enlisted in the army, he was confronted with a big task—what to do with Alice.

Alice is the 18-year-old elephant that Ferguson bought last spring and converted into a work animal on his farm near Camden, S. C.

Alice has a gentle disposition, but the army frowns on pets.
