Most of the candidates seeking elected office in the May 1 city, school and hospital district election gathered on Tuesday to introduce themselves to the community and air their opinions on the issues.

Ten of the 15 candidates appeared at a community candidate forum, which was co-sponsored by the Hereford Education Association and the Governmental Affairs Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

About 100 people were in attendance for the meeting, which was held in the Hereford Community Center.

The forum will air on Hereford Cablevision Channel 19 three times before the election: On Thursday, then April 27 and April 29. It will be shown each night at 7 p.m.

The candidates were attended were: Dennis Hicks, unopposed candidate for city commission Place 3; Raul Valdez, unopposed candidate for school board District No. 2; Mal Manchee, Jo Beth Shackelford and Scott Turner, who are seeking three at-large positions on the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board; and Jeff O'Rand, Kyla Farmer-Flores, Joe Flood, Steve Bigham and James Marsh, who are vying for two at-large school board seats.

Those who missed the meeting were: Bob Josserand, unopposed candidate for mayor; Mary Sue Hull, who is running for one of the three at-large hospital board positions; Silvana Juarez, unopposed candidate for city commission Place 1; Joe Hernandez and Dennis Newton, who are running for the at-large school board seats.

Josserand and Newton were out of town on business. Hull responded to the invitation, but was unable to attend. No reasons were given why Juarez and Hernandez were not present.

The forum format allowed each candidate to make a brief opening statement. Then questions were put to each candidate, and they were given time for a closing statement.

The following is a summary of the statements and answers to questions by each contested candidate. No questions are included for unopposed candidates, but their statements are summarized below.

The questions were asked by co-moderator Carolyn Waters, president of the HEA. They were taken from questions submitted by Hereford residents prior to the forum.

Mrs. Waters said more questions were received for the school board candidates than there was time to address, and that some questions would be forwarded to the school board instead.

Not all candidates answered every question and the opposed candidates are listed in the order in which they made their opening statements.

UNOPPOSED CANDIDATES
Dennis Hicks
City Commission Place 3

"I tend to like to stay involved in civic affairs as much as I can. I've been known to complain some," and said he felt the best way to learn what's going on is to "get right in the middle of it."

"I am running unopposed but I do feel I need to be out" in the community.

Raul Valdez
School Board District 2

He was appointed last year to an unexpired term.

"We have a very complex society," he said, and that it is very important as parents "what we instill at home, what we teach and instruct goes into school.

There is room in the school district for improvement, and said he stresses a quality education at the most affordable price.

"Every child is involved in three environments -- the home, the school and the church." The district, he said, needs to make decisions that do not conflict with the other two areas.

"I pledge my commitment to all the students and parents I will be representing."

CONTESTED RACES
Hospital Board
Jo Beth Shackelford

OPENING STATEMENT: "Have you ever dialed 364-2141 and wondered what it would be like to have no answer?" she asked, saying that it takes lots of work to keep health care operating in rural America.

"That's why I'm running for the hospital board."

Rep. Smithee talks on amendment election

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

Trying to sort out the facts in the upcoming state constitutional election was what brought State Rep. John Smithee to town on Tuesday, as he addressed a community candidate forum about the measures.

The three amendments on the May 1 ballot are "extremely important to the future of the state," Smithee said.

The school funding issue is being decided by the voters, he said, in response to a ruling by an Austin district court judge, who has told the legislature to do something about school funding by June 1 or he will cut off all education funding.

"All of us feel a little bit intimidated by this threat to shut down our schools," Smithee said.

However, he added, "Propositions 1, 2 and 3 don't do anything. They simply authorize the legislature" to pass enabling legislation for the bills.

Lawmakers actually have to pass a bill to get out of the current litigation, but since nothing has come into the legislature, Smithee said, nobody knows what impact passage of Proposition 1 will have on taxpayers.

That enabling legislation has not been made public, Smithee said, because backers don't want to lose votes from it.

If the enabling legislation hits rich school districts hard, he said, then votes would be lost in populous metropolitan areas. If it is easy on rich districts, then votes in poor school districts will be lost.

Smithee said he opposed Proposition 1.

The measure would:

-- Allow the state to move money from one area of the state to another;

-- let the legislature set local school property tax rates rather than the local district; and

-- set a cap on County Education District tax rates.

HISD superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt said there is a fear if Proposition 1 fails that the district will be forced to keep paying its contractual obligations without tax money.

If the judge cuts funding on June 1, the appraisal district and state would continue collecting taxes, but those taxes would not be forwarded to the districts, but would be held in a separate account.

REP. JOHN SMITHEE
...discusses propositions

The district, Greenawalt said, has a fund reserve of $2.5 million, but that would be reduced to $216,000 by the end of August without tax money to help meet contractual obligations.

Then, he added, there is the fear that once the money is freed up after the school funding issue is clarified, the legislature will see that districts have survived and transfer the money to other areas of the state instead of reimbursing districts.

Proposition 2, "I think is a good amendment," Smithee said.

It would exempt districts from enacting most unfunded mandates from the state. Only those passed by a two-thirds majority of the legislature would be imposed.

Greenawalt said it is a measure that "is something I think all school superintendents would be in favor of."

Both men said Proposition 3 -- which would authorize $750 million in general obligation bonds to be loaned to school districts for capital improvements -- is a good measure.

The school district, Greenawalt said, is beginning to run tight on classroom space and could thus borrow up to $9 million from this state fund -- provided, of course, the local voters approve a district bond election -- to build new classrooms or do other capital improvements.

$700 M prison plan would double space

AUSTIN (AP) - A $700 million plan to nearly double prison space over the next two years and create a new tier of lockups for non-violent offenders, would keep violent criminals behind bars longer, according to the proposal's supporters.

"This will do more than any legislation in the last 20 years to make Texas a safer place to live," Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said Tuesday after the Senate informally adopted a criminal justice reform package.

Meeting as a committee, the Senate approved the proposals 22-7, but not before shooting down an amendment to ban assault-type weapons.

The overall package by Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston, is expected to get rougher treatment when the Senate officially considers it. Several have criticized Whitmire's plan to abolish the state's sodomy law.

Whitmire described the state's current prison woes as "the most broken area of state government."

State prisons are overcrowded with about 55,000 inmates, while upwards of 20,000 inmates are clogged in county jails.

Whitmire said criminals request prison sentences rather than probation because they know they will serve only a fraction of their sentence.

Meanwhile, violent criminals are being paroled to make room for inmates from county jails.

"We have got to change our way of thinking," he said.

Whitmire's plan would increase prison capacity to about 109,000 beds by 1995. About 20,000 of those new beds would be in new state jails reserved for non-violent offenders who could be sentenced up to two years. The plan would also increase drug and alcohol treatment and education of inmates.

This would free up enough space to double the minimum time served by violent criminals, Whitmire said.

Inquiries start on doomsday cult, siege aftermath

WACO, Texas (AP) - From children's caseworkers to Texas Rangers to federal agents to congressmen, almost everyone is asking questions about the doomsday Branch Davidian cult and the aftermath of its standoff with lawmen.

The Texas Rangers, who took control of the burned-out crime scene Tuesday, said it could be two weeks before they finish examining the rubble and gathering evidence after fire consumed the cult's Mount Carmel compound.

"That may be the largest, most complicated crime scene the DPS has ever faced," said Col. James R. Wilson, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Wilson and FBI special agent Bob Ricks said that the Rangers, the state's elite crime-fighting unit, have been deputized as federal officers as well so they will have dual jurisdiction in handling the cases.

Wilson said more than 80 Highway Patrol troopers and 25 to 35 Rangers have been in the Waco area since Feb. 28, when the Branch Davidians opened fire on federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents, killing four and wounding 16. Cult leader David Koresh also said six of his followers were killed.

Officials said that the criminal investigations range from murder charges to federal firearms violations.

In Washington, President Clinton said the Justice and Treasury departments would review actions of the FBI and ATF. He said he wanted to know "what happened and why."

"There are questions of competence, questions of effectiveness: Who was in charge? Who was making the decisions? How well were the options presented? Was this inevitable?" said Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., in announcing that a House subcommittee would open hearings on Friday.

Interviews with state and federal authorities Tuesday indicated that numerous inquiries are under way, including:

- The slayings of the four ATF agents gunned down on Feb. 28.

This case could either be a federal or state case, said Crawford Long, first McLennan County assistant district attorney.

The FBI's Ricks, one of the agency's commanders at Mount Carmel, said the FBI wasn't called in to conduct a criminal investigation Feb. 28, but to resolve the standoff between the Branch Davidians and authorities.

"Once that mission was accomplished, our job was completed," he said. "At this point, prosecution is being handled by the U.S. attorney's office in San Antonio."

- The igniting of the inferno that consumed the Mount Carmel compound in about 45 minutes Monday, apparently killing 86 of its occupants, including 17 children.

FBI special agent Jeff Jamar said Tuesday that at least three people saw cult members setting fires at the compound.

"Arson is a state crime, and of course murder - death through the commission of arson - can be a capital case," Long explained.

- The initial weapons charges that prompted the Feb. 28 ATF raid.

Hospital logs record month for services

Deaf Smith General Hospital reported a record month for patient services and revenue in March, according to the operations and financial reports submitted to the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board Tuesday night.

The hospital had its first "million-dollar month" since its affiliation with Lubbock Methodist Hospital and the hiring of Ron Rives as chief executive officer 20 months ago. Total operating expenses for the month were also a record.

The hospital's average daily census was 19.4 for the month and 15.5 for the year to date. An increase in most patient services was noted. Another record month in Home Health visits was recorded with a total of 1,804. The year-to-date total is 7,607, compared to 3,711 a year ago.

Laboratory tests for the six months are 23,338, compared to 8,616 a year ago. Emergency room visits rose to 4,241 as compared to 3,231 last year. Ambulance runs are at 645, up from last year's 389. Therapy treatments were almost double, and patient meals were about 3,000 ahead of last year.

Gross patient revenues topped $1 million for March, with the operating revenue listed at $770,055 after deducting Medicare contractuals. Operating expenses totalled $771,686, resulting in an operating loss of $1,631. With tax funds and other non-operating revenue added, the hospital showed a profit of $66,278.

Besides approved the operations and financial reports, the hospital board approved several in-house reports required by the Joint Commission of Hospital Accreditation. Darlene Cornelius, personnel director, presented a Human Services report, while Nancy Griego presented a quality management report. The board also approved a nursing service pediatric manual.

Rives reminded directors of the hospital board election set for May 1, and directors set May 3 as the date to canvass votes. The administrator also reported that a feasibility study on a Rural Health Clinic is being completed. If approved the hospital plans to apply for a $150,000 grant to be used over a three-year period.

The administrator also reported that a family practice physician will be interviewed next Monday and Tuesday. Rives reported the new ultrasound equipment has been installed, and he briefly discussed a proposed renovation project. Board members will soon be studying plans and deciding whether to advertise for bids on all or portions of the proposals.

The first meeting of a new Health Care Alliance is set net Monday, announced Rives. The group will be composed of representatives from all local health care agencies.

The Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation will be meeting Sunday afternoon. An organizational meeting was held March 7 and bylaws approved. Officers are Dr. Nadir Khuri, president; Jerry Smith, vice president; Pat McGinty, secretary, and Larry Wartes, treasurer. Other directors are Argen Draper, Bob Josserand, Doug Manning and O.G. Nieman.

All seven board members were present Tuesday night.

Koresh claimed ATF out to get him

Undercover agent heard cult leader before raid

WACO, Texas (AP) - An undercover agent inside the Branch Davidian compound the day of an ill-fated raid by the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms heard David Koresh announce that agents "were coming to get him," court documents say.

The original search and arrest warrants, and an affidavit by an agent given after the Feb. 28 raid, show that ATF agents knew Koresh had been alerted. U.S. District Judge Walter Smith ordered the documents unsealed Tuesday.

According to an affidavit by ATF agent Earl Dunagan, an associate of Koresh's - David Michael Jones - arrived at the compound that morning after learning the compound might be raided.

A short time later, Koresh entered a room where an ATF undercover agent was waiting and exclaimed that the "ATF and the National Guard were coming to get him," the document states.

"Neither the ATF or the National Guard will ever get me," Koresh said. "They got me once, and they will never get me again. They are coming; the time has come."

Following Koresh's statements, the agent left the compound, the document states.

ATF officials have said the undercover agent, identified as Robert Rodriguez, went immediately to a staging area where some 90 agents were waiting to launch the raid.

Officials have said the agent spoke with those in charge of the raid, but have never made public what he told them. They have only said that the agents believed they would still be able to successfully serve the warrants.

A federal source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, confirmed Tuesday the agents had been told Koresh knew they were coming, yet went ahead and gave the order to move in.

"It was a judgment call ... a lot of people are going to question that judgment," the source said.

An ATF spokesman in Washington could not be reached to comment on the documents Tuesday night.

The documents also show that the ATF, since June 1992, had knowledge of an ongoing arms build up by the cult and had specific information about the type and amount of weapons inside the compound.

Information contained in the original search and arrest warrants show agents had established cult members spent at least $199,715 on weapons, ammunition and related equipment between Oct. 1991 and Feb. 28. In addition, weapons and ammunition were bought regularly at flea markets and gun shows.

Former cult members interviewed by agents said adult cult members received firearms training on a regular basis, the documents said. They said Koresh also forced some cult members at times "to stand guard of the commune 24 hours a day with loaded weapons."

ATF agents have said they had information that the cult's arms stash was kept locked away. However, former cult member Robyn Bunds told agents that Koresh "was always in possession of firearms and kept one under his bed while sleeping," the documents state.

The federal source said Tuesday that while agents knew the cult members had prepared to act, they believed they were not planning any such action the morning of the raid.

"We knew they didn't walk around with guns all the time. That day, there was no indication that they were going to do anything," the source said.

The source added that the last-minute decision to go in will probably be seized upon as the most important issue surrounding the Feb. 28 raid in which four ATF agents were killed. Cult members have said six people inside the compound also died that day.

However, the source said the tipoff that ATF officials have said they believe the cult received that morning is the sole reason for the raid's failure.

"If it hadn't been for the tipoff, (the raid) would have succeeded; not a shot would have been fired," the source said. "The damn tipoff cost us four dead agents and ukimately 86 other dead people."

Student surveyors

Survey of teens offers variety of suggestions

Local junior and senior high school students would like to see a movie theater open in Hereford, according to a survey conducted by a group seeking activities for youth.

The questionnaire was recently distributed by members of the Dream Force youth activity committee.

Junior and senior highers were asked what they would like to see open for entertainment, whether they would want to have a street dance and if there should be a students-only cafe in town.

After the results had been tallied, committee members found that 738 youth favor opening a movie theater here, while 489 want to see a drive-in theater open. Another 243 favor the availability of go-carts in town, 152 want a recreation center and 140 want an outdoor miniature golf course.

An overwhelming majority -- 1,021 -- said they would like to have a street dance, while 248 were opposed.

As a result, Dream Force has scheduled a street dance for this Friday.

The event is free to all junior and senior high students ages 13 through 19.

It will be held from 8 p.m. to midnight in front of First National Bank on Main Street.

The final survey question found 1,007 students in favor of a cafe for students only, while 142 opposed the notion.

Dream Force is a community committee formed earlier this year to find ways to combat youth gang, drug, alcohol and related problems.

A student hot line has been established by the group at Hereford High School to receive reports of youth-related criminal activity. That number is 363-7975.

Jury finds Olton man not guilty

LITTLEFIELD, Texas (AP) - A former president of the Olton school board has been acquitted of murder in the March 1992 slaying of his wife.

Family and friends of S.D. Baize, 46, cheered when the jury's verdict was read Tuesday in 154th District Court. The jury deliberated about 4 1/2 hours, ending a five-day trial.

Baize was accused of killing his wife and setting fire to their Olton home to destroy the evidence.

The body of Joan Baize, 43, was found in the couple's bedroom on March 16, 1992, badly beaten and burned. An autopsy showed she died of severe head injuries.

During the trial, numerous witnesses described Baize as a long-suffering man tormented by a bitter, moody wife. Both the prosecution and defense played on that theme with different twists, trying to prove their scenarios of what happened.

The prosecution painted a picture of a man with accumulated anger suddenly snapping and lashing out. The defense depicted the defendant as a kind man incapable of brutal savagery, saying he tried to rescue his wife in their burning home.

Bullock proposes approval by voters before income tax

AUSTIN (AP) - Voters would have to approve a state income tax before it could be imposed, under a proposal backed by Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock.

And if voters agree to an income tax, the levy would have to be used for education and property tax relief, and the rate could not be increased unless the voters approve it.

"What more representative form of government can you have than that?" asked Bullock on Tuesday.

If approved by two-thirds of the Legislature, the proposed amendment banning a state income tax without voter approval would be put to Texans in November.

Bullock came out in favor of a state income tax two years ago. But he said his new position did not represent a change. He said his old income tax proposal was killed so quickly he didn't have a chance to fine-tune it.

By mid-afternoon, 24 of 31 senators had signed onto the new proposal, as well as House Speaker Pete Laney, D-Hale Center. Many lawmakers said it would allay public fears that the Legislature had a "secret agenda" to pass a state income tax.

"Every session the Legislature convenes under the specter of yet another budget crisis - and therefore fear of a state income tax," Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco, said. "This amendment will remove that specter of fear and allow the Legislature and the people to conduct their business on truly equal footing."

In a prepared statement, Gov. Ann Richards said Bullock's proposal rightly places emphasis on education funding. "Any tax initiative must recognize the need for education, first and foremost. A referendum on any income tax proposal should rightfully come from the people," she said.

Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown, R-Lake Jackson, said the measure doesn't ask voters if they are for or against an income tax, but just whether they should be allowed to vote on one should the Legislature propose it in the future.

"It does give the public the right to participate. It brings the public into the process," Brown said.

Sen. Ken Armbrister, D-Victoria, said the proposal was not an escape hatch for lawmakers who in the future may face budget shortfalls that require new taxes.

"Is it the chicken's way out? Absolutely not. We're guaranteeing through this referendum that people will have a voice," he said.

Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston, signed onto the resolution, although he said, "This pretty much ties the hands of the Legislature for all time."

Bullock said further and more detailed audits of state agencies can help the state avoid tax increases.

Bivins signs on as co-sponsor

AUSTIN -- State Sen. Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, has signed on as co-sponsor of a constitutional amendment to prohibit a state personal income tax without voter approval.

"I sponsored an income tax ban during my first session in 1989, but I couldn't rally enough support to pass it," Bivins said Tuesday. "This time, however, I sense much more support within in the Legislature for such a ban."

Under the amendment:

-- No income tax could be implemented without voter approval;

-- Voters would have to approve any increase in the income tax rate if such a tax is implemented;

-- Revenue raised by an income tax would have to be dedicated to education and property tax relief.

"A state income tax would be a major change in public policy for this state. It's proper that voters be able to vote an income tax since it would drastically affect their lives and personal finances," Bivins said.

He also pointed out the amendment would free Texans from the concern that the Legislature would unilaterally implement an income tax in response to a state budget crisis.

Videos shown to local DAR chapter members

Members of the Los Ciboleros Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution met recently in the home of Juanita - Brownd with Ruth Newsom presenting the program.

Newsom, DAR schools committee chairman, presided over the program when members viewed two short videos of Berry College. The history of the college was shown, telling of the background of Martha Berry, a Georgia pioneer, and how she began reading Bible stories to four boys who had no chance of getting an education. The boys returned with friends and relatives. Under Miss Berry's guidance, volunteers constructed the first building.

Newsom also displayed a map showing the location of the DAR supported schools, all of which were started as one-room schoolhouses.

Regent Charlotte Clark opened the meeting with the DAR ritual assisted by Chaplain Helen Rose. The Pledge to the Flag of the United States of America was led by Mary Williamson; the reading of the "American's Creed" was led by Margaret Bell; and the singing of "America" was led by the regent.

Regent Clark welcomed guests, Donna Warrick, Wendy Warrick and Barbara Jean Sterne.

Ruth Knox, National Defense committee chairman, reviewed an article in the "National Defender" by Allan Brownfeld titled "Illegal Immigration-An Unfolding Crisis."

Charlotte Clark reported that there were 100 entries in the American History Essay Contest. The winners' names have been announced.

A garage sale is planned May 1 at Sugarland Mall.

Regent Clark passed around the awards to the chapter which were presented at the state conference. The awards include Certificates of Merit; DAR Little Red Schoolhouse Award; 100 percent Support of the State Regent's Project; American History Month publicity; Overall Excellence for American History Month activities; fourth place for number of inches in the press for American History Month; Commemorative events; participation and support of DAR Museum committee; DAR Magazine advertizing; and the Flag of the United States of America. In the Best of Programs Contest in Patriotic division, the program, "National Defense-Desert Shield", presented by Miles Caudle, received honorable mention.

The next meeting is planned May 15.

Hints from Heloise

SOUND OFF

Dear Heloise: Could you pass on a word from many of us who have allergies? People who "spray a mist" or otherwise dunk themselves in perfume make us miserable daily in subways, offices, elevators and locker rooms. I've had to leave the health club because of people whose post-workout grooming includes "spraying a mist and walking through it." When my mother taught me how to use cosmetics, more than a little dab behind the ears and on the wrists was considered vulgar. Now it seems like half the world doesn't consider it perfume unless it knocks you down at 20 paces.

Tell your readers that if they use restraint in applying perfume, not only will they avoid cleaning bills and ruined garments but they will also have the everlasting gratitude of those of us who can't get near the stuff without having our sinuses play the "1812 Overture." — Kate Murray, Arlington, Va.

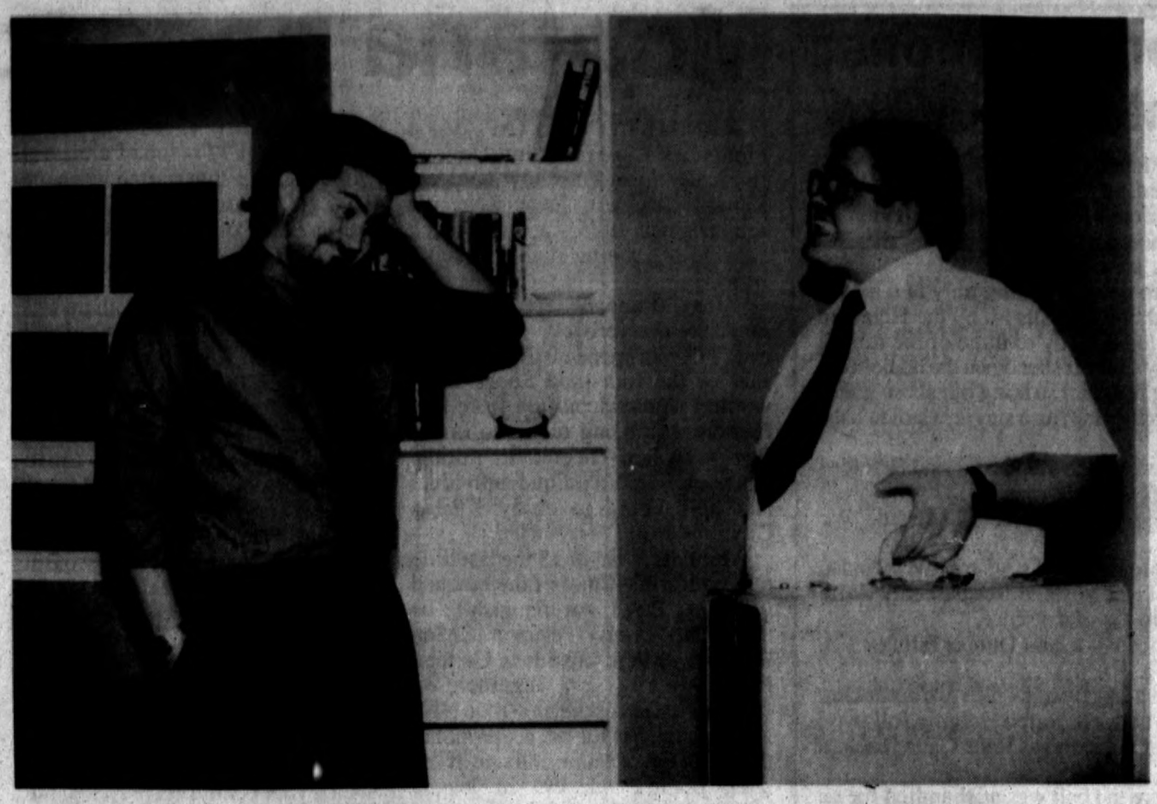

I'm sure there are many who agree with you. Glad to be of service. — Heloise

Q. The plastic basket that holds my coffee filter is badly stained. How can I clean it? — Olive Milligan, Ware, Mass.

A. A leading manufacturer suggests cleaning the basket with warm water and hand-dishwashing soap. You can use a soft brush to get into hard-to-reach crevices.

For bad stains from the coffee oils, try sprinkling some baking soda on a damp sponge, wiping this over the stains and letting it set. After a while, scrub the areas to remove the stains, then wash and rinse.

And this is just one of the many uses for versatile baking soda. For more, order my pamphlet, Heloise's Best Baking Soda Hints. Send $2 and a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope to Heloise/Baking Soda, PO Box 795001, San Antonio TX 782[illegible] – Heloise

5th inning dooms Demons; Herd moves into tie for 3rd

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

When the Hereford baseball team scored seven runs in the fifth inning of a 7-1 win, Dumas was hurt by a booted ground ball, three walks and an inability to catch Chris Brummett's fly balls.

Hereford batted around in the fifth despite getting only two hits in the inning. Dumas outfielders played two fly balls hit by the Hereford centerfielder into two errors, which led directly to three of the runs.

Meanwhile, Hereford pitcher Sammy Casarez shut down the home-team Demons, giving up five hits, walking four and striking out six in going the distance. Dumas' only run came in the first, on a single, a stolen base and a single.

Casarez had good defense behind him. Coach T.R. Sartor said Hereford had two outfield assists and one timely double play.

"We had no wild pitches, no passed balls, no errors," he said. "We just didn't make any mistakes."

The game was in some ways similar to Hereford's 3-1 win over Dumas on March 30. In that game, Hereford played mistake-free baseball, while Dumas committed three errors to help Hereford score.

Hereford evens up at 3-3 in District 1-4A, and Dumas falls to 3-3. Hereford is 8-13 overall.

Brummett led off the fifth inning with a lazy fly ball which two outfielders tried to catch. They collided, and the ball fell. Ralph Holguin followed with a clean single, but was forced out at second as Rene Cano reached on a fielder's choice.

Jake Head grounded to short, where the ball was mishandled for an error, and Brummett scored on the play. After a second out, Russ Watts walked, loading the bases, and Kyle Hansen walked to drive in the go-ahead run.

Tab Hathaway followed with a two-run single, plating Head and Watts. Richard Sanderson walked, and he and Hathaway moved up on a wild pitch. Brummett hit a fly ball to right field, "which was the bad-sun field," Sartor said. The ball dropped, and Hathaway and Sanderson scored.

The losing pitcher was Dallas McCutcheon, who had shut the Herd down in the Dumas Tournament in March. Chad Armstrong relieved during the fifth inning.

"We played real well," Sartor said. "We didn't get a whole lot of hits in the inning we did all the scoring, but we had seven hits. Ralphie (Holguin), Ruben (Ramos) and Tab (Hathaway) all had two hits."

In other district games Tuesday, Randall kept the district lead at 5-1 with a 6-2 win over Pampa (3-3). Borger squeezed by Caprock 9-7, keeping Borger in second place at 4-2. Caprock is 0-6 in district play.

With five teams at or above .500, there should be a real race for the two playoff spots, and Hereford is in the race.

"It's just a matter of, we've got to get hot," Sartor said. "We've got to play like we did yesterday, and get a few breaks like we did yesterday."

The Herd goes to Pampa Saturday for a 1 p.m. game. In their last meeting, Pampa came from behind in the seventh inning to beat the Herd 10-4. A junior varsity game after the the varsity game completes the doubleheader.

After Pampa, Hereford has three games remaining: Caprock here Tuesday; Randall here May 1; and at Borger May 6. That last game will be played on a Thursday because of TAAS testing on Tuesday.

Hereford's junior varsity baseball team got two runs in the bottom of the ninth to pull out a 9-8 victory over the Randall JV Monday at Whiteface Field.

After Randall scored once in the top of the ninth inning, Hereford was in danger of losing in extra innings. But Gabriel Guerrero singled home Jacob Lopez to tie, and Armando Zambrano singled home Guerrero for the win.

Hereford scored its runs early, getting one in the first inning and six in the second. Ronald Torres and Wade McPherson each had two-run singles in the second inning.

Randall came back with four in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the sixth. Zambrano, the winning pitcher in relief, got out of a bases-loaded jam in the sixth to preserve the tie. Louis Hernandez started and pitched five innings.

Hereford's JV also won a game Saturday as part of a varsity/JV doubleheader with Borger in Hereford. The Herd JV led 9-2 early and held off several Borger rallies to win 12-9.

Cinco de Mayo softball tourney set

The 4th Annual Cinco de Mayo Softball Tournament will be played May 1-2 in Hereford.

The tournament is a D/C equalizer with a 2-3 pitch rule. All games will be played at the VFW field in Hereford.

The entry fee is $110, and the entry deadline is April 29. For more information call Rick Castaneda at 364-8383, or call Pete Vargas at 364-1170.

Montana goes to Chiefs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - If Joe Montana's 37-year-old muscles and surgically repaired elbow hold up, Kansas City will have what it's sought since 1975 - a quarterback capable of leading it to the Super Bowl.

"Joe Montana represents the greatest quarterback ... perhaps ever," Chiefs president Carl Peterson said of the four-time Super Bowl winner, whose departure from San Francisco is being mourned in the Bay Area and cheered in Middle America. "He's a unique individual and he's going to enjoy Kansas City."

Montana, a lad of 13 the last time long-suffering Chiefs fans reached the Super Bowl, got his wish to be traded late Tuesday. Peterson and San Francisco 49ers president Carmen Policy finally got together on compensation for the two-time NFL MVP, a sure bet for the professional football Hall of Fame and one of the most popular players in league history.

Peterson refused to divulge details, but a source close to the 49ers said Montana, safety David Whitmore and a third-round draft pick in 1994 would be sent to Kansas City for the Chiefs' first-round pick, the 18th overall in next weekend's draft.

In the final 72 hours of a bizarre two-week saga that started when the 49ers gave Montana permission to shop around, Policy twice announced that talks had broken off. Each time, Peterson said they had not.

"Without any question, there was some give-and-take on both sides," Peterson said. "There was movement on both sides. Both sides can say they have benefitted from this arrangement."

The Chiefs will do all they can to make their new quarterback feel at home. They had already begun installing the split-back passing offense then-coach San Francisco Bill Walsh and Montana designed for the 49ers, and hired ex-49ers quarterback coach Paul Hackett as offensive coordinator.

In visits to Kansas City the past two weeks, Montana admitted that Hackett and his old familiar offense made the Chiefs attractive.

Last year behind Dave Krieg, the Chiefs finished 10-6 and lost to San Diego in the first round of the playoffs. In the last half of the season, their running game and offensive line slumped badly. Chiefs quarterbacks wound up getting sacked an un-49ers-like 48 times.

The Chiefs have been looking for a high-profile No. 1 quarterback since Len Dawson retired in 1975.

"Joe Montana can bring to us a tremendous amount of experience, of leadership, the ability to win and know what it takes to win," Peterson said. "I would be remiss if I said I wanted to put any undue pressure on Joe Montana. I don't have to do that. He's a tremendous competitor himself. My hope and desire is that he can help us take the next step."

While recovering from elbow surgery the past two years, Montana played in only one half of one game and lost his starting job to Steve Young, who took the 49ers to a 14-2 record last year and was named NFL MVP.

Montana will turn 37 before training camp opens.

"We've given him quite an extensive physical," Peterson said. "We felt very good about his physical condition. We addressed the elbow surgery. We've had our doctors spend time with him. We had him work out for us.

Eastern teams fight for last NBA playoff spots

By The Associated Press

The Eastern Conference playoff picture is a little less muddled, yet still far from settled.

The five teams fighting for the sixth, seventh and eighth playoff spots found themselves slotted a little more clearly following Tuesday night's games.

Atlanta jumped into a tie with idle Charlotte for the sixth spot with a 111-102 win over Indiana, which is now alone in the eighth spot.

Orlando took sole possession of the No. 9 spot with a 105-86 victory against Washington.

Detroit became No. 10 by dropping a 105-81 decision at Cleveland.

All five teams fighting for the three Eastern slots have three games remaining, and there are numerous tiebreaker possibilities. This much is certain:

Atlanta and Charlotte will each clinch a playoff spot with two wins. The Hawks would seem to have the easier schedule, with a home game against Milwaukee and a road game at Washington before the season finale at Orlando. The Hornets are home for Milwaukee and Chicago before ending the season at Milwaukee.

Indiana would clinch a spot by finishing 3-0, but the Pacers must face Cleveland before finishing against Detroit and Miami. If Indiana finished 2-1 and Orlando won its final three, the NBA's third tiebreaker - a team's record against playoff teams in the conference - would decide which team got the final spot or higher seed.

Orlando has road games at Boston and New Jersey before finishing at home against Atlanta. Suffice to say the Magic would put themselves on shaky ground by losing even one of the three.

Detroit, which finishes against Chicago, Indiana and New Jersey, would be knocked out of the playoff race with two losses, although even one loss probably would finish the Pistons.

Hawks 111, Pacers 102

At Atlanta, the Hawks snapped a three-game losing streak behind the play of Kevin Willis and four reserves. A 23-4 fourth quarter run started on Steve Henson's 3-pointer, and Willis' 16-footer from the right side put the Hawks ahead to stay with 8:36 remaining. Henson had eight points, Adam Keefe seven and Duane Ferrell four in the decisive final period.

Magic 105, Bullets 86

At Orlando, Fla., Shaquille O'Neal had 20 points and 25 rebounds - his second straight 20-20 game - and Nick Anderson scored 30 as the Magic never trailed.

Cavaliers 105, Pistons 81

At Richfield, Ohio, the Cavaliers won their ninth straight, two short of a team record. "You want to be winning like this going into the playoffs," said John Williams, who scored 16 points on 8-of-9 shooting.

Knicks 109, Heat 97

At Miami, Charles Smith scored a season-high 36 points and New York limited the Heat to 34 percent shooting in a foul-filled game. Miami went into a halfhearted three-man weave after assistant coach Bob Staak and then head coach Kevin Loughery were ejected for arguing calls.

Bulls 123, 76ers 94

At Chicago, the Bulls stayed a game behind the Knicks in the race for the best conference record. The teams meet Sunday in the season finale.

Michael Jordan scored 28 points and hit three 3-pointers in a 24-3 run at the start of the second half as Chicago clinched first place in the Central Division.

Kings 101, Jazz 92

At Sacramento, Calif., Lionel Simmons scored 24 points and Wayman Tisdale and Spud Webb added 18 each as the Kings won their third straight game for the first time since a six-game victory streak ended Jan. 5.

Trail Blazers 115, Warriors 99

At Portland, Ore., the Trail Blazers clinched the homecourt advantage for the first round of the playoffs behind 28 points and six 3-pointers from Terry Porter.

Clippers 107, Mavericks 98

At Dallas, the Mavericks (9-70) failed in their second attempt to win their 10th game and break a tie with the 1972-73 Philadelphia 76ers for the fewest victories in a season.

Lakers 107, Timberwolves 95

At Minneapolis, A.C. Green scored 20 points as Los Angeles handed Minnesota its 10th straight loss.

Cowboys ready to trade on draft day

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Just call him Trader Jimmy. And he's ready to wheel and deal at a moment's notice.

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson has made 16 deals on four NFL draft days and he's ready for more action on Sunday.

An incident in the Cowboys office this week illustrated how easy it is to get some action from Johnson.

Larry Lacewell, director of college scouting for the Cowboys, picked up the ringing telephone this week and there was another NFL team on the line.

Lacewell yelled at coach Jimmy Johnson who was going out the door: "They want to know if you are willing to trade up or down?"

"Yes," Johnson replied.

He made four last season and traded down to get cornerback Kevin Smith in the first round so he could get an extra draft pick in the second round, safety Darren Woodson.

By now, it would seem other teams would be shy in dealing with Johnson, who has parlayed his Herschel Walker dividends from the Minnesota Vikings and other draft picks into a Super Bowl champion.

"Two years ago we had a lot of teams who were willing to trade with us but we didn't have as many last year," Johnson said. "We'll find out Sunday who wants to deal."

Johnson said he didn't think all the NFL teams will be gun shy, saying "we'll get some calls because there are enough egos in the league who feel they can out-trade you."

The Cowboys won't draft until the 29th pick unless Johnson does some heavy bartering.

"I'm calling it the first pick in the second round," Johnson said. "There have been a lot of good players taken in the second round."

Dallas doesn't have a second-round pick because of the Charles Haley trade with the San Francisco 49ers.

The Super Bowl champions have one pick in the third round, two in the fourth, and one each in the sixth, seventh and eighth rounds.

"A lot of people are looking at our picks and saying they don't think it looks all that exciting," Johnson said. "But I think the picks we have are vital to a crucial upgrade of our team.

"I think we can draft three or four quality players who will be with us a long time."

The Cowboys needs include another tight end, an offensive lineman, a defensive back, and a linebacker.

"We have no glaring needs on our team in the starting positions," Jophnson said. "But we need to add depth."

The Cowboys also could be looking for a quarterback depending on what Steve Beuerlein finally does.

"Joe Montana was a pretty good quarterback taken late in the draft," Johnson said. "You never know."

Johnson said he is looking at this draft "as builing the nucleus of our team. We've spent a lot of time evaluating this draft. It's important to us."

And he stands ready to trade. Up or down.

Crow resigns as AD at Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - John David Crow can't get away from the Bryant family.

He became a Heisman Trophy winner playing at Texas A&M for Paul "Bear" Bryant in 1955-57 and Tuesday he resigned as A&M's athletic director to go into business with Bryant's son, Paul Bryant Jr. at Gulf Greyhound Park.

Crow will become a limited partner with Bryant Jr., owner of the greyhound racing facility in nearby La Marque. Crow said he was stepping down to avoid any perceived conflict of interest in A&M athletics and a gambling venture.

"We have discussed this, and I do agree and most people in athletics agree, that there would be some people that would frown on me being athletic director and part owner of a dog track," Crow said.

Crow won't be leaving the campus, however. He will become director of development for the athletic department and assist in fund-raising for the school.

Associate athletic director Wally Groff, 50, who has been associated with the university for 27 years, will serve as interim athletic director. Groff was interim athletic director in 1981-82 before Jackie Sherill became head coach and athletic director.

Crow said his association with greyhound racing won't be a problem in his new positon.

"I'm not in a policy-making position, so I think it becomes less of a problem in that area," he said.

A&M President Dr. William Mobley said Crow's resignation as athletic director would allow him to take a leadership role in the school's "Capturing the Spirit," endowment campaign.

Crow has been athletic director at Texas A&M since 1988. During his tenure, the Aggies were placed on NCAA probation for basketball infractions under former coach Kermit Davis.

"That had to be the low point," Crow said. "I guess the high point was being named athletic director. We had an opportunity to work with some outstanding coaches. That's what makes the job."

Crow said it was a difficult decision to step down as athletic director.

"It's been a team effort," Crow said. "I hope some day people will look back and say, hey, we made some progress while he was at the helm. Financially, the budget is better, hopefully the academic end is in better shape. I was a part of a 12-0 season, the only one A&M ever had."

What is the difference in sending a Valentine's Card or simply saying, "I love you"? The spoken word has little staying power. With Valentine's Day only coming once a year, a few words is not enough to last. The card, however, is something you can hold on to, refer back to, carry with you, read again and again, save in your scrapbook forever. The card is a lasting record and a part of your personal history. The same can be said when comparing radio to newspaper. Notice which one can be held, referred back to, carried on shopping trips, and found in libraries for generation after generation.

What was that you said?

Newspaper vs. Radio
• Radio copy depends on word imagery and it is limited to 30 or 60 seconds, not enough time for complex issues.
• Average recall for a 1/2 page newspaper ad is 32%; for a 1/4 page ad, it's 31%. Radio ad recall is only 4%.
• Once a commercial is aired, it is gone. There is absolutely no tangible evidence it existed. For those listeners not tuned in at that specific time, the commercial is lost.
• Radio is an entertainment medium. People listen for musical enjoyment (passive experience).
• Newspapers are an information medium. People read to seek data and learn (active experience).
• Newspapers are the only medium that allow shoppers to compare values offered by competitive advertisers.
• 77% of all newspaper readers look at every page. No audience can actively listen to the radio 77% of the time (Audits and Survey, Inc.).
• 44% of newspaper readers look forward to ads, compared to 10% for radio (Audits and Survey, Inc.).

Newspapers are the way to reach today's consumers

A's overcome Yankees despite Eck's trouble

By The Associated Press

Could it be, after all these years as the most dominant relief pitcher in baseball history, that Dennis Eckersley has lost it?

Eckersley blew another save chance Tuesday night, although this time the Oakland Athletics bounced back and beat the New York Yankees 9-7 in 10 innings.

Eckersley, last season's American League MVP and Cy Young winner, has blown consecutive save opportunities for the first time in his career. He has a 7.94 ERA after five games.

"It's just not happening for me right now," Eckersley said.

The Yankees rallied for five runs in the ninth inning, the last three against Eckersley, for a 7-6 lead. But New York's bullpen couldn't hold an edge, either, and Oakland tied it.

In the 10th, Rickey Henderson hit a two-run homer to win it in Oakland.

In other games, Boston beat Seattle 5-2, Detroit downed Texas 3-1, Chicago beat Baltimore 2-1 in 14 innings, Minnesota routed Milwaukee 10-0, Kansas City topped Toronto 8-2, California defeated Cleveland 7-2.

The A's took a 6-2 lead into the ninth, but Danny Tartabull drew a leadoff walk from Edwin Nunez and Randy Velarde homered off Rick Honeycutt.

Eckersley was no relief as Dion James singled and Kevin Maas followed with an RBI double that made it 6-5. Spike Owen sacrificed, Jim Leyritz was hit by a pitch and Bernie Williams hit a two-run double.

"I made a bad pitch to Maas and to Williams. And I drilled Leyritz. My God, I can't remember the last time I drilled a guy," Eckersley said.

A's manager Tony La Russa, however, became agitated when asked about the shaky relief.

"Edwin Nunez came in and pitched two really good innings tonight. He's in the bullpen, isn't he? And Goose Gossage had a very good inning. He's in the bullpen, too, isn't he?" La Russa said.

New York's relievers struggled, too. Steve Farr gave up the tying run in the ninth on a single by Ruben Sierra and a double by Kevin Seitzer.

In the 10th, Lance Blankenship led off with an infield single against John Habyan (0-1) and stole second. Henderson hit the next pitch over the left field fence for his second home run.

Gossage (1-0) pitched a perfect 10th for his first victory since 1991 while with Texas.

Red Sox 5, Mariners 2

Roger Clemens, pitching for the first time since undergoing surgery to remove moles from his face and chest, held Seattle to three singles in 6 1-3 innings. Boston improved to 11-3, its best start since going 21-3 to begin 1946.

Clemens (3-0) won his ninth straight decision at the Kingdome.

John Valentin hit a solo homer in the seventh inning off John Cummings (0-3) for a 2-1 lead. Mike Greenwell hit a two-run homer in the eighth.

Tigers 3, Rangers 1

Pinch hitter Lou Whitaker doubled home the go-ahead run in the seventh inning, breaking up a pitcher's duel at Tiger Stadium.

David Wells (3-0) worked seven innings and gave up three hits, including Dean Palmer's sixth home run. Mike Henneman struck out Jose Canseco and Juan Gonzalez in the ninth and got his third save.

Kenny Rogers (1-1) took injured Nolan Ryan's place in the rotation. He gave up two hits in 6 1-3 innings.

White Sox 2, Orioles 1

Frank Thomas found another way to beat Baltimore, hitting a sacrifice fly in the 14th inning that lifted Chicago at Camden Yards.

Thomas is 37 for 94 (.394) with 10 home runs and 28 RBIs in 24 career games against the Orioles. His game-winning fly came after Joey Cora drew a leadoff walk from Alan Mills (0-1), moved up on a passed ball and advanced on Lance Johnson's single.

Angels 7, Indians 2

Rookies Tim Salmon and J.T. Snow homered and California beat visiting Cleveland.

Salmon's second home run of the season broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning. Snow's third homer, a three-run shot, came in the seventh.

Twins 10, Brewers 0

Dave Winfield hit a three-run homer in the first inning and Minnesota romped past Milwaukee at the Metrodome.

Winfield's third home run of the season came against Jaime Navarro (0-1). Kirby Puckett hit an RBI single in the second inning and the Twins led 6-0 after the third.

Royals 8, Blue Jays 2

Kevin Appier pitched a three-hitter and Kansas City topped Toronto at home for its first two-game winning streak of the season.

Kruk's homer ends marathon

By The Associated Press

It was late - very late - 12:02 a.m. to be exact. Philadelphia's John Kruk wanted to go home.

"We were out there long enough, and with a 3-and-0 count and two out, I figured there was no use hitting a single," he said.

So, when Kruk got what he was looking for from San Diego reliever Jeremy Hernandez in the 14th inning Tuesday night, he ended a 4-hour, 27-minute marathon with a home run that gave him the National League lead and the Phillies a 4-3 victory over the San Diego Padres.

The result of his fifth homer was the 10th victory in 13 games for Philadelphia, which maintained a two-game lead in the National League East.

Hernandez, who gave up only the second hit in eight innings by the San Diego bullpen, had no regrets.

"I would have thrown the same pitch again," he said. "I was throwing my best stuff and challenging him."

Although it was a tough loss, Padres manager Jim Riggleman felt fortunate to have been part of it.

"It was just a great ballgame," he said. "But Kruk came through for them. There were really no losers out there tonight."

Phillies manager Jim Fregosi certainly wasn't thinking about winning on a home run.

"The wind was holding up the ball all night, but not on that one," he said. "Kruk got a 3-and-0 pitch and really nailed it."

Elsewhere in the NL, it was Atlanta 5, Florida 4; Montreal 7, Los Angeles 3; Cincinnati 5, Pittsburgh 0; San Francisco 4, New York 1 in 11 innings; Chicago 2, Houston 1; and St. Louis 5, Colorado 0.

Hernandez (0-2), the sixth San Diego pitcher, struck out the first two batters before Kruk's shot into the right-center-field seats sent the remainder of a crowd of 21,074 scurrying happily from Veterans Stadium.

Cubs 2, Astros 1

Mike Harkey pitched seven strong innings, and Dwight Smith had three hits and scored both runs for Chicago. Mark Grace and Derrick May had RBI singles for the Cubs.

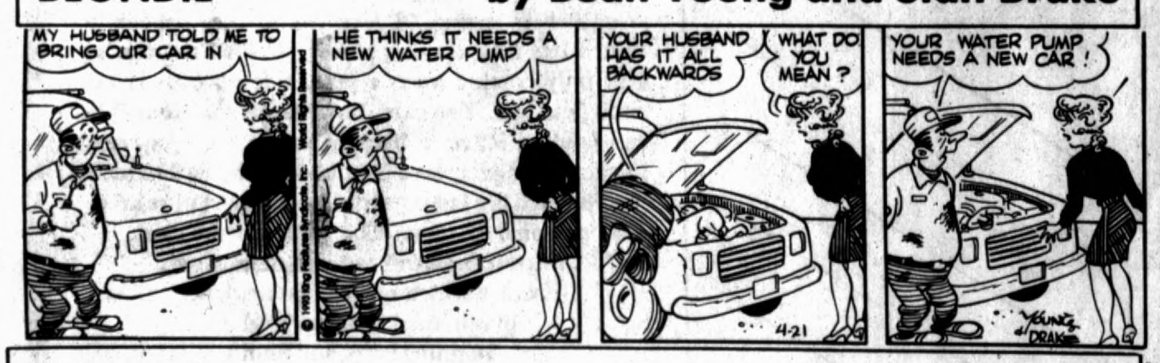

Harkey (2-0) had his scoreless inning streak snapped at 14 1-3 when he issued a leadoff walk in the seventh to Craig Biggio, who later scored on Jeff Bagwell's double-play grounder. Randy Myers, the fourth Chicago pitcher, got his fourth save.

Local study club views special exhibition

Bay View Study Club met April 15 at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, Canyon, to view a special exhibition, "From the Land of Enchantment: New Mexico Art in Texas Panhandle Collections," showing now in the museum's art galleries through May 30.

This special exhibit consists of 110 pieces of art by 44 early New Mexican artists. All are from private collections of Texas Panhandle residents and from area institutions.

Nancy Josserand, program leader, introduced Michael Grauer, museum curator of art, who welcomed club members and guests in Pioneer Hall and recalled that this was the seventh year that he had presented a program for Bay View at the museum.

Curator Grauer asked the group to take notice of the murals and exhibits in the Hall that detail the history of the region. He also stated that Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum is the largest historical museum in the state.

A slide program was presented by Curator Grauer in the recently completed Hazelwood media room, featuring the "Taos Founders," an art organization that was active in New Mexico from 1915 to 1927. Photographs of artists and examples of their work were shown. He called attention to paintings with original frames that were selected by or designed and carved by the artists and voiced the importance of keeping original frames.

In the exhibition rooms, Mr. Grauer chronicled the work of each artist. "Today, E. Irving Couse's work is found more frequently in Panhandle collections than that of any other New Mexican artist," said Grauer. He continued, "Couse's work was bought by the Santa Fe Railroad to hang in their depots and to be reproduced on their calenders."

Artists' work shown in the exhibit included: the work of Adams, Baumann, Berninghaus, Bluminschein, Couse, Dunton, Ellis, Fechin, Fleck, Gaspard, Hennings, Higgins, Hoffman, Imhof, Kloss, Meyers, Phillips, Sharp, Ufer and others. Their work was in various media including: watercolor, oil, lithograph, woodblock, ceramic and etching. Also, charcoal, ink, pencil and crayon on paper.

Curator Grauer was thanked by Nancy Josserand who suggested membership in Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum as a thank you from members.

Members present were: Roberta Caviness, Lou Davis, Helen Eades, Mary Fraser, Pat Graham, Marjorie Mims, Ruth Newsom, Helen Rose, Kathryn Ruga, Lois Scott, Edna Gault, Lois Gililland and Josserand. Guests were: Glenda Marcum, Sandie Josserand, Jeanne Caison and Christie Josserand of Canyon.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Jeff Bridges and Valerie Harper are organizing a one-day celebrity fast to protest the elimination of the House Select Committee on Hunger.

Rep. Tony Hall, D-Ohio, has been on a water-only fast since April 5, after Congress eliminated his committee and three others to save money.

A letter signed by Bridges went out Monday to about 900 big-name actors and musicians, asking them to fast with Hall on Friday, said Jerry Michaud, executive director of the End Hunger Network in Santa Monica, Calif.

"If we're able to get 10 'A-level' celebrities, we'll be happy," Michaud said.

It's spring time

Each spring, members of L'Allegra Study Club conduct their annual benefit geranium sale. This year's event will be held from 4-6 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday at The Atrium. All proceeds will be used to help construct a gazebo on the grounds at Deaf Smith General Hospital. Displaying some of the plants are Morgan and Amanda Moss.

In 1690, Benjamin Harris of Boston founded Publick Occurrences Both Forreign and Domestick, the first newspaper published in America. The colonial government stopped it after only one issue, however.

E.B. Black House site of luncheon, style show

Members of the Hereford Study Club attended one the special luncheons and style shows April 15 at the E. B. Black House. The annual April luncheons are sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Historical Museum board of directors.

Upon entering the house, members were greeted by club hostesses, Gladys Setliff and Gracie Shaw, and served a cup of cherry cream soup by Donna Brockman, museum director.

Each room in the home and various tables were decorated with bouquets of flowers, lilacs and fruit blossoms. The lunch menu consisted of Ruby Chicken Supreme, Minnesota wild rice, fresh spinach salad with martinque dressing, fresh fruit, herb cheese bread sticks, caramel delight, tea and coffee.

Carmen Flood welcomed guests and narrated the style show. Models wore lingerie and dresses of cotton and linen, hand-embroidered and lace trimmed, depicting those worn by the women of the early 1900s. Modeling the garments were Lisa Albiar, Peggy Hyer, Mary Kay McQuigg and Melinda Walden.

A brief business meeting followed the lunch.

Members present were Barbara Allen, Morgan Cain, Addie Cunningham, Elizabeth Cesar, Hazel Ford, Betty Gilbert, Elizabeth Hellman, Leta Kaul, Carol McGilvary, Nedra Robinson, Gladys Setliff, Gracie Shaw, Mary Stoy, Virginia Winget and Joan Yarbro.

Special guests included Mildred Hicks, Margie Mims, Mildred Knox and Plainview residents, Gladys Carter and Sarah Agnes Burgess.

NEW YORK (AP) - Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis says a publishing career was a natural for her when she decided to go back to work.

"I'd majored in literature," she said in this week's Publishers Weekly. "I had many friends in publishing. I love books. I've known writers all my life."

The 63-year-old former first lady granted the interview - her first in three decades - to the trade publication to talk about her 15 years as an editor at Doubleday.

The widow of President Kennedy and Aristotle Onassis allowed no tape recorder or camera, limited questions to her professional life and insisted she be allowed to approve her quotations.

She edits about 12 books a year and works three days a week in a small, windowless office. She usually eats lunch in.

Docket No. 4025
Oleta Diller

NEW YORK (AP) - At 7, Soleil Moon Frye played pint-sized, fun-loving Punky Brewster on the NBC sitcom of the same name. But when puberty hit, she began to grow in a way that almost ruined her career and made her feel like a freak.

Frye, who suffered from a condition called gigantomastia (literally, giant breasts), underwent breast reduction surgery last May.

"I didn't know I would be so happy," she said after her bustline was reduced from a 38-DD to a 36-C. "I am just loving myself right now. I'm finally free to be the teen-ager that I am."

In this week's People magazine, Frye, now 16, said that before the operation, she was taunted about her looks and suffered constant back pain and sore shoulders.

"I couldn't sit up straight without people looking at me like I was a prostitute," Frye said. "My breasts became an insecurity."

She also had trouble getting work playing girls her own age "because my body looked like an older woman's."

poor is education and children do not learn unless they are healthy," she said, adding that care is needed, especially for children and the elderly.

WHAT IS YOUR FEELING REGARDING THE PRESENT STATE OF THE HEALTH CARE DELIVERY SYSTEM IN OUR COUNTRY: Some facilities, she said, including Borger, have lost their health care facilities.

There are others areas that lost hospitals and some areas of the U.S. where there is a need to medical care.

"What we can do is take what we have and make it better," she said.

WHAT IS YOUR POSITION ON THE AFFILIATION BETWEEN DEAF SMITH GENERAL HOSPITAL AND METHODIST HOSPITAL, LUBBOCK: She said she agrees with the affiliation.

She said Methodist Hospital is affiliated with numerous hospitals in the area, and that they know that Hereford needs to keep its hospital operating.

"It is a long way for you to do to Houston or New York City for health care," she said, adding that it is good to be able to channel patients right in to Lubbock and "give you the best care."

REALIZING THE PHYSICIAN SHORTAGE IN OUR COMMUNITY, WHAT STEPS CAN BE TAKEN AS A COMMUNITY AND AS A HOSPITAL BOARD TO REMEDY THIS ISSUE: "Recruit, recruit, recruit some more."

"I don't know the answers," but "it's going to take you and you and you and you working together hand-in-hand to recruit and keep doctors."

WHAT, IN YOUR OPINION, ARE STRENGTHS THAT YOU POSSESS TO SERVE AS AN EFFECTIVE MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF DEAF SMITH GENERAL HOSPITAL (Which includes the closing statement): She said she is a "doer."

"I do push to get things done. The other strength that I have is a love for people."

She said she has been in Hereford for nearly 25 years and three of her four grandchildren were born here.

Scott Turner

OPENING STATEMENT: He said he was born and raised here, graduated from Hereford High School in 1973.

"Hereford has been very good to me and also to my family. I feel like it's time I give something back to the community.

"I'm very pleased with what's happening right now," but noted that the hospital is facing a shortage of doctors and it is hard to get health care here.

ACCESS TO HEALTH CARE: "I believe the avenues are already there for basic health care," adding that it is a matter of finding the means to pay for it now.

STATE OF HEALTH CARE: He said he does not know what to do to improve it, but that we are fortunate here to have a good hospital.

DSGH/METHODIST: "I was in favor of it from the word go," he said, adding that it helped improve the quality of health care here.

It also is fortunate that there is local board control, that the Lubbock facility will not say how local tax monies are spent.

PHYSICIAN SHORTAGE: "I wish I had the answers."

The board may need to rethink what it is doing in the area of recruitment and in guarantees given to doctors coming here.

STRENGTHS/CLOSING STATEMENT: "Desire goes a long way. I also understand the working of a board" and the differences between administrative and board decisions.

"We need to continue to do what we can in our hospital and do it well.

"I'm pleased with what happens in our hospital."

Mal Manchee

OPENING STATEMENT: "Two years ago when we had a forum, I was kind of in a position of not knowing what to say," Manchee said. "I really had very little idea what a hospital board is all about."

"Rural health care in America is facing many, many problems."

Manchee summarized some of the board's accomplishments the last two years, including the affiliation with Methodist Hospital ("They have not taken over our hospital, they have merely given support"), upgrades to the facilities work on the physician shortage.

ACCESS TO HEALTH CARE: Care is needed for indigents and those without insurance, but the next question is how to pay for it, Manchee said.

The answer is from the taxpayers, which is not a popular notion, but some help needs to be given.

DSGH/METHODIST: "Methodist Hospital is more than a hospital," it is a system.

They help area hospitals with staff development and in other areas.

"They are not a selfish organization," realizing more business from Hereford goes to Amarillo than to Lubbock.

PHYSICIANS SHORTAGE: The hospital is getting one new doctor next year and two more the year after.

The board is continuing to work, and has instructed the hospital staff to step up its efforts at getting an orthopedic surgeon, as well as general practitioner.

"It is very, very difficult to bring them to Hereford. It's one we're not going to quit on."

STRENGTHS/CLOSING STATEMENT: "I have an interest in Hereford. I'm interested in this community and we will not have a viable community without a viable hospital."

Local residents need to "come home" to the hospital here.

business and no longer purely an art of science.

Stewardship of new technology is as crucial as stewardship of land. SCS oversees this new technology through conservation tillage that reduces erosion, the search for new and better varieties of plants for conservation and terracing or contouring highly erodible fields.

This technology protects the land-user's livelihood and maintains the resource base of soil. Land users who protect their land also understand that investments in conservation practices pays dividends to all citizens long after land ownership changes.

"All people draw strength from the soil resource. The conservation concern is not limited to just the owners of the land. The conservation challenge lies in education and a stewardship ethic. To us in SCS, every day is Earth Day," said Wes Oneth, SCS State Conservationist in Temple.

SCS participates in Earth Day and Soil Stewardship Week events to open channels of communication between urban and rural people. Land users must rely on urban populations to purchase their products. In turn, urban people must understand the source of their food and fiber.

The responsibility starts with each individual to help heal the land. The SCS encourages everyone to join in and observe Earth Day and Soil Stewardship Week.

For more information about Earth Day and National Soil Stewardship Week, contact Jim Crownover, district conservationist in Hereford at 364-6995.

Programs and services of the Soil Conservation Service are offered on a nondiscriminatory basis without regard for race, color, national origin, age, sex, marital status or handicap.

Johnson reappointed to state insurance office post

AUSTIN (AP) - After weeks of political wrangling, Gov. Ann Richards' choice to represent consumers in insurance matters was approved by the Texas Senate after weeks of fighting over the nomination.

Amy Johnson was reappointed to lead the Office of Public Insurance Counsel on a 27-2 vote.

Sen. O.H. "Ike" Harris, R-Dallas, voted for Ms. Johnson on Tuesday, but said he resented statements by spokesmen for Richards, who said partisan politics stalled the nomination. Richards is a Democrat.

Harris said he originally thought Ms. Johnson, 32, had an "attitudinal problem," but that she had "matured."

Sen. Kenneth Armbrister, D-Victoria, had voted against Ms. Johnson in the Senate Nominations Committee, but supported her before the full Senate, saying his objection to her had been caused by a misunderstanding.

He said Ms. Johnson had given him inaccurate information about a credit life insurance rate case.

Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, who is chairman of the Nominations panel and guided Ms. Johnson's confirmation, called her a "young, dynamic, super intelligent, caring individual."

Sens. Eddie Lucio, D-Brownsville, and Jerry Patterson, R-Pasadena, voted against Ms. Johnson.

Patterson said Ms. Johnson lacked the knowledge of the insurance industry needed to be a sound consumer advocate.

Ms. Johnson has been a frequent target of the insurance industry, particularly credit life insurance companies, which have claimed she is too aggressive.

After Tuesday's vote, Ms. Johnson said, "I'm happy and relieved and looking forward to serving consumers."

In other action, the Senate confirmed dozens of appointments, including Elizabeth Topper Nash of San Marcos, Craig Vittitoe of Harlingen, and Ray Zapata of Christoval to the Texas State University system board of regents.

Food preservation topic of Wyche E.H. club program

"Food Preservation" was the program presented by Clara Trowbridge when members of the Wyche Extension Homemakers Club met recently at the Hereford Community Center.

The speaker said, " There are a few vegetables and fruits that the processing time needs to be lengthened when canning." She also said that there are information packets on home canning, freezing and drying fruits and vegetables at the Deaf Smith County extension office.

President Jo Lee conducted the business meeting and Shirley Brown gave the opening exercise, "Meet Life's Trials With Smiles." Camelia Jones led the group in reciting the pledge to the United States' flag and the T.E.H.A. prayer.

Roll call was answered by "my question or comment about food."

Jo Lee, Argen Draper, Coreen Odom and Virgie Duncan told of the recent district meeting. Hereford E.H. clubs will host next year's district meeting.

Members conducted an auction during the meeting as a fund raiser.

The next meeting is scheduled May 6 in the home of Pet Ott.

Refreshments were furnished by hostesses, Shirley Brown, Vada Batterman and LaVerne Worley.

Those present were Mary Lou Aven, Louise Axe, Shirley Brown, Argen Draper, Virgie Duncan, Camelia Jones, Jo Lee, Dorothy Lundry, Coreen Odom, Pet Ott, Audrey Rusher, LaVerne Worley and Clara Trowbridge.

Amarillo Opera Outreach presents study club program

Members of the Hereford Music Study Club met recently at the Fellowship of Believers for guest day.

The program, sponsored by the Amarillo Opera Outreach, was a one-act opera in English, with words and music by Gene Murray. Jerry Williams gave a brief introduction to the opera, "Dear Doctor". Williams also played the doctor with Kathy Kendall portraying the patient, accompanied by Rheanell McDonough. Following the presentation, the club made a donation to the Amarillo Opera Outreach to help in its work.

Members were reminded of National Music Week, May 2-9. The theme is "A Better World Through Music."

Refreshments were served to the three performers, 10 guests and club members. Members in attendance were Cheryl Betzen, Pat Fisher, Evelyn Hacker, Barbara Manning, Tina Langehennig, Ann Meyer, Frances Parker, Margaret Schroeter, Susan Shaw, Sue Sims, Johnie Walters, Mary Carter and Kathlee Palmer.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: An attractive man I worked with in a hospital pharmacy was dumped by his fiancee. He caught her in bed with another man. I knew "Glen" was hurting and tried to help. We ate lunch together every day and spent hours after work in his car talking. We are both shy and never became intimate.

When Glen was transferred to a city 100 miles away, I was devastated. We were separated for six months, and I really missed him. When he cam home for a weekend I was thrilled. Glen docked his sailboat and invited me aboard. We kissed for the first time, and I was in seventh heaven. We ended up making love all night. It was wonderful. I visited him several times after that, and everything was terrific.

Two months ago, when I went to see Glen, it was as if he had turned into a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. He opened a window from the second story, dumped a pail of water on my head and yelled, "Leave me alone!" I was terribly upset and couldn't understand what was wrong. He screamed at me to go away. I said, 'I'm not leaving until you tell me what's wrong." Then he called the police and tried to have me arrested for trespassing.

I've known Glen's family for years. I don't want to give up on him. He's a very sensitive man and gets hurt easily. I believe his odd behavior is related to his ex-girlfriend.

I've let some time go by, written and called, but he refuses to talk to me. My friends say he's crazy and I should forget about him, but I can't. Glen is special, and I love him. We were so close. Am I hoping for too much? Should I persist, or is it time to give up?--In Pain in Kinston, NC.

DEAR KINSTON: Glen's erratic behavior suggests that he is mentally ill. My advice is to leave him alone. Apparently your presence makes him angry, and he could become violent. P.S. I'm afraid that night on the boat meant a lot more to you than it did to him. Too bad.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After reading your column about people who don't have the decency to R.S.V.P. to invitations, I decided to share this story with you.

A group of elderly gentlemen were talking about the invitations to an upcoming wedding of a distant relative. One of the men, who was of German descent, told the others that he had decided not to attend the wedding. When asked why, he replied that he simply could not afford the kind of present the couple had requested.

His two cronies tried to figure out exactly what he meant but were unable to make sense of it. The old German fellow finally told them that his invitation had a card in it saying "R.S.V.P."--and to him that meant Real Silver Vedding Presents.

I've had fun retelling this story and hope you enjoy it, too--Paula In St. Louis

DEAR PAULA: I certainly did! Thanks for passing it on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Here's how we kept the peace in our family. Our twins were 7 years old when we adopted them. I made a rule that before they could hit each other they had to come to me and get permission. By the time they had aired their grievances, and I listened to both sides, they weren't mad anymore. Pass it on.--Hope, Idaho

DEAR HOPE: My twin and I rarely hit each other but when we did, our parents separated us, which was the worst punishment of all, until we begged to be together again.

The world's longest bridge is the Lake Ponchartrain Causeway in Louisiana, which opened in 1956. It extends about 29 miles between New Orleans and Mandeville.

Wagner, West chosen as program finalists

Leslie Michelle Wagner and Krista West have been selected to be finalists in the 1993 West Texas National Teen-Ager Scholarship Program to be held Friday and Saturday on the campus of Wayland Baptist University in Plainview.

Leslie is the 17-year-old daughter of Sam Curtsinger, Kelly Beavers and Ronnie Wagner. She is being sponsored by Friona Industries, Beef and More, High Plains Coral Reef, Lone Star Agency and Dr. David J. Purdy. Krista is the 16-year-old daughter of Danny and Kippi West of Hereford. Her sponsors are Dr. David Purdy, Beef and More, American Tailer, West Diesel Service and Goodin Fuels.

The scholarship program is the official preliminary to the 22nd Annual Texas National Teen-Ager Scholarship Program planned May 7-8 at the Scottish Rites Auditorium in San Antonio. The Texas representative will receive an expense paid trip to compete for a $10,000 cash scholarship at Opryland USA, in a television quality production.

Each contestant accepted has the option to participate in the Volunteer Community Service Program of America's National Teen-Ager. This program teaches teenagers to share and to participate in school and civic activities. Students will be judged on scholastic achievement-leadership, personality and individuality. There is no swimsuit competition. Talent may be presented at the option of the participant or an oral essay on the subject, "What's Right About America."

What Does A Typical Brand Reader Look Like?

That's difficult to say because you are as different as your substantial number would imply! You are one of the 4,100 households we're invited to every evening. That's quite a few. According to the most recent census, our township has slightly less than 5000 households.

Your vocation is part of a broad spectrum as well -- white collar, blue collar, owners, managers, cowboys, teachers, housewives, students and professional.

Yet, with all your individual complexities, your interest in local issues and news gives you and other readers a common bond which is separated only by your level of curiosity.

You are an informed, intelligent and often vocal audience, and we're happy to be a part of your household every evening!
