Local Committee Formed for Animal Health Situation

The animal health situation in Foard County and Texas is getting major attention. The screw-worm, a pest causing an estimated annual loss of one hundred million dollars, is a primary target.

In a recent meeting initiated by County Agent Joe Burkett and Vocational Agriculture teacher Marvin Myers, and attended by a group of livestock producers and others concerned with animal health decided to organize and support a state-wide effort.

John Cogdell and J. G. Halsell Jr. were elected co-chairmen and Merl Kincaid, secretary-treasurer. Other members of the county committee are Guy Morgan, Roy Steele and Curtis Ribble.

The group will support the recently formed Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation in its drive to do something about the animal health situation. Its purposes are to receive and disburse educational programs on animal health, and sponsor research and health-including diseases, insects and parasites—to the end that these hazards of livestock production may eventually be controlled.

"Animal health," co-chairmen Cogdell and Halsell said, "is not only a concern of the producer but the economic loss also affects business and consumers. We all have a lot at stake in this program."

The Foundation's first major effort will be a program aimed at controlling the screw-worm. The proposed program is patterned after the successful drive in Florida and the Southeast. The U. S. Department of Agriculture, livestock producers, and the State of Florida teamed up to just about remove the pest from the scene.

The method used was based on the release of sterile male screw-worm flies over the state which resulted in the production of infertile eggs and almost complete elimination of the fly population.

Such a program in Texas will encounter problems not found in Florida. It is bordered by great land areas where the flies overwinter but cooperative efforts could overcome some of the problems, the co-chairmen said.

"Through county organizations such as ours, every livestock producer and other interested persons will have an opportunity to support the Foundation and its program. Producers are being asked to contribute on the basis of 50 cents per head for adult cows, horses, and steers, and 10 cents per head for sheep, goats, swine, and deer," Cogdell and Halsell added.

Contributions may be made to any member of the committee. All monies collected will be passed on to the Foundation for support of existing research facilities and conduct of large scale field tests.

Co-chairmen Cogdell and Halsell concluded, "We know this first program will cost several million dollars, but if we can remove the screw-worm from the scene, the annual savings will amount to several times the cost of the control effort."

LOCAL SCHOOL OFFICIALS RECEIVE ACCREDITATION REPORT FROM TEXAS EDUCATION AGENCY BASED ON RECENT VISIT

The local school officials have received an Accreditation Report from the Texas Education Agency based on their recent visitation of the Crowell School System. J. C. Conradt and Mrs. St. Clair made up the team that visited Crowell.

This report will be discussed at the next regular meeting of the Crowell School Board. The public is invited to attend this meeting. The report was complimentary of the teaching force and the conduct of the students, but had much criticism about the physical facilities.

Here are several paragraphs taken from the report:

"The instructional program of the Crowell Independent School District is conducted by a professional staff of thirty people. This number does not include the Superintendent. Two of the teachers are paid from local funds. All teachers are properly qualified.

"Crowell High School requires 16 credits for graduation. Elective courses are offered in Home-making, Vocational Agriculture, Band, Spanish, and commercial subjects. Most of the high school teachers appeared strong in their subject areas. There was evidence of proper teacher planning and of efficient use of materials and equipment. The high school operates on a six-period day, with 57 minutes for passing between classes.

"It appeared that the board and the community offered good support to the school administration and faculty members. Pupil and teacher attitudes appeared to be extremely good. Pupils appeared to have pride in their school. There were several active student organizations in the Crowell High School, and one of them, the Student Council, performed many services for the school.

"Despite generally creditable conditions in the Crowell schools, several areas or conditions merit prompt attention if accreditation standards are to be met in reasonable measure. The most serious of these items are described below:

"1. School buildings, although well maintained, were old and poorly arranged. Obsolete furniture in most of the classrooms made a flexible grouping for class instruction difficult. Artificial lighting in some classrooms was poor.

"There was no locker space for pupils and very little storage space in classrooms for instructional materials. This was particularly noticeable in the elementary school for Negro pupils.

"2. There was no formal written guidance program, although an informal program had been initiated under a guidance committee.

"3. Fully effective use of the library was impossible because of its utilization full-time as a study hall, and because of limited space for processing library materials.

"4. Library books, instructional materials and facilities were noticeably lacking in the school for Negro pupils. There was a definite imbalance between this school and the other elementary school.

"5. The present Health and Physical Education program is inadequate to the needs of pupils."

According to Supt. Grady Graves, all schools in the State are eventually going to be visited by an Accreditation Committee of the Texas Education Agency. Each will be classified in one of four categories: 1. No recommendations for improvements; 2. Advised to make certain improvements; 3. Warned that certain conditions have to be met in a limited time or have accreditations taken away; and 4. School removed from the Accredited list. Crowell was placed in the second category, which makes it possible for the Crowell School District to continue with a fully standardized school system if the above recommendations are met in a reasonable time.

EDITORIAL

Chivalry — Dead or Alive?

When was the last time a boy deeded for you—or opened the car door for you? Served you? Carved your initials on a tree trunk? Spread a cape for you to walk on? Bothered to stand up when you walked in? Confided "I love you" in French—or whispered it romantically in any language? If one of these has happened recently, hold on to that boy. The factory that produced him is going out of business.

Chivalry is dead (sob!) The Art of Romance is something that my friends and I have heard about and have read about in books but haven't experienced first hand nearly enough. The average red-blooded American boy wouldn't dream of composing a sonnet about his girl or asking her for a lock of her hair. He thinks her doing enough when on a Great Occasion he says, "Baby, you're a good kid." It's against the rules of his game to give a stranger an admiring glance directly to her face; he ogles her only after she passes by. In short, the boy blithely ignores the fact that since dinosaur days, it has been the duty of the male to spice his pursuit of the female with all the dramatic gestures he can dream up.

My grandmother has packets of love letters stored with satchet in her bottom bureau drawer. I've corresponded with boys ever since I learned to print, but I've never received a real love letter. Some of the letters have been signed, "love" or "I love you," but almost always there's a postscript like "P. S. Can I borrow your last semester's history report—the one you got an A on?" But I prefer the postscript letters to those signed with a cautious "as ever" or most cowardly of all, letters with a blank above the signature.

Many other girls share my pessimism. One fellow Californian says: "If you're used to high school boys, college boys will surprise you. For instance, there's the handsome one who took me to the movies the other night. We sat high up in the balcony. Alone. The only sound was the music on the sound track of the picture. On the screen the leading man kissed his girl friend oh so tenderly. That was how Anthony slipped his arm around my shoulder, softly and tenderly. Closer he held me and then closer still. It was glorious as he leaned his head against mine. Suddenly, he withdrew his head, his arm—and a huge handful of popcorn from the bag I was holding. Popcorn! Yes, college men are surprising—and hungry!"

Alas, I haven't discovered a magic cure, a way to transform an everyday anti-romance boy into a poetic Romeo. But I have done a lot of brooding about the whole problem and in the interest of research, I've tried just about every device from crocodile tears to judo. (Neither worked well. The chief results were smeared eye make-up and a bruised boy friend.)

Actually, I've found that the most successful devices are the old-fashioned ones—the ones that our grandmothers probably used. For instance, it helps, I've found, to take a boy's arm instead of just holding his hand, to do corny things, such as lean against his broad shoulders and, when it's possible, look soulfully into his eyes.

Of course, it all takes time. In being romantic, as in any sport, a boy gets better the more he practices. And the practice is fun.

Sports in Short

Sports fans, I'm sure you have all heard the "shocking" words of Willy the Wirehanded, "It matters not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game." This sounds like an epitaph to a team with a losing streak of 15½ games. If it doesn't matter whether you win or lose, why do those 22 clods beat their brains out just to push that little ball across the goal line? What are you, Willy, some kinda nut? I'm sure Willy the Wirehanded had the right idea, but the poor guy just couldn't write what he wanted to say. So in order to clear up the meaning of Willy's statement, I would like to translate it into good ol' every-day English. Man, like when you make the grid scene, don't let the writing on the scoreboard bug you, but clue that pin-striped hipster like you think he is from the Twilight zone so that he doesn't slip you the one-way tab to Tombstone Territory (in the shadow of your own goal posts). Football players, how long has it been since you told a referee that you like the way he wears his cap or that you like the way his red flag dangles from his pocket? Remember, flattery will get you somewhere; so at the next game "polish the apple" for the ref. It's the little things that win a game for you.

Well, Open Date proved to be a tough foe, but they finally agreed to forfeit after 4½ quarters of play (by themselves). As far as I know, Burleson has not forfeited yet, and as things now stand, bi-district clash between the mighty Crowell Wildcats and the Burleson Elks will be held at Olney tomorrow night. Let's all go to Olney to back the Wildcats as they begin the long, tough road to the State Championship. Beat Burleson!

Gerald: Were you ever bothered by athlete's foot?

Freddie: Just once, when a football player caught me out with his girl.

Professor: There is so much noise in this room I can't hear my own lecture.

Voice from the rear: You're not missing anything.

Let me kiss those tears away, darling, Paul Bax begged.

She fell into his arms, and he was very busy for a few minutes, but the tears flowed on.

Can nothing stop them? he asked.

Goodness no, she murmured, it's hay fever, but go on with the treatment.

Thanksgiving Transition

The very first Thanksgiving Day was celebrated in Plymouth Colony for quite a simple reason. Colonists and friendly Indians shared that first feast in gratitude for a bountiful harvest after a winter of great hardship.

Now, three centuries and forty years later, we are thankful for the growth of our Nation. We are thankful for its great strength which stands as a fortress of protection for free people in a world filled with tyranny and oppression.

Let us, as good Americans, express these thanks and rededicate ourselves to preserve and maintain this spirit of freedom.

Why Not Cut Taxes?

The Tax Foundation Inc., recently reported that the per capita tax burden for the support of federal, state and local government increased from $109 in 1940 to $715 in 1960. This is an increase of $606 per person.

Radical as it may sound to many public officials, government doesn't have to cost as much as it does. Much of this increase was brought about by the many things the government does, and many of the people demand, that could be done much better and far cheaper by the people themselves. In all the concern in Washington and in state capitals over such matters as stimulating the economy, achieving social progress, etc., not much is said about one project government could undertake that would be of enormous help. Government could cut taxes, by cutting expenses.

Of course, this would not be popular with the "gimme lobbies," working to get something for their group at the expense of others, nor would it be popular with the politicians who hold their jobs by catering to them. But it would be very popular with that vast majority, the overtaxed public, who are getting fed up with the waste, the extravagance, the creeping socialism for which they are forced to pay.—Scandal Sheet, Graham.

Rhode Island was not represented at the Constitutional convention and was the last state to ratify the Constitution.

Last Rites for Mrs. Emma Howard Held in Sacramento,

Last rites for Mrs. Emma Howard, a longtime Foard County resident, were conducted last Thursday in Sacramento, Calif., where she had been living for several years. Following an illness of several weeks, Mrs. Howard died on Monday, Nov. 6, in Sacramento. She was eighty years of age.

Mrs. Howard resided in this community for about forty years, and was a frequent visitor since moving to California. She maintained close contact with many local citizens, and is fondly remembered for her many years of loyal nursing service in and around Crowell. She also resided in Quanaah for awhile, and owned property there for many years.

Emma L. Tuttle was born near Taylor in Williamson County, Texas, on Jan. 28, 1881. She was married to Samuel Howard in 1898 and to this union three children were born. All survive, and were with Mrs. Howard at the time of her death.

Mrs. Howard came to Foard County in 1904, several years after her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Tuttle, had settled here. Following several years of practical nursing activity, Mrs. Howard was superintendent of the Crowell Hospital for five years beginning in 1923. For almost two decades thereafter, she performed nursing and clerical service for the local practice of the late Dr. Hines Clark.

Having united with the Methodist Church at the age of twelve, Mrs. Howard pursued an active Christian service throughout her life. She retained membership with the Crowell Methodist Church after moving to California.

Rev. Dr. Robert A. Panzer of the Sacramento First Methodist Church officiated in the funeral services conducted by Harry A. Nauman & Son. Mrs. Howard's favorite hymn, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," was rendered by Miss Carmen Berentschot, who also sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Pansy Weber and Mrs. Lucille Swindell, one son, Marvin Howard. All were reared in this community and are now residing in or near Sacramento. Six grandchildren, sixteen great grandchildren also survive. Three living sisters, all former Foard County residents, are Mrs. Ella Thompson of Quanaah, Mrs. Nettie Jinks of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Allie Lawrence of Van Vleet. A fourth sister was the late Mrs. Iva Gafford of Crowell.

Interment was in Sutter County Cemetery, north of Sacramento.

The cobra can, literally, "blow his top." He is characterized by ability to extend the sides of his head when disturbed or irritated.

Husband of Former Thalia Woman Died Oct. 30 in Colorado

Carl Bledsoe, 72, well-known eastern Colorado rancher and cattleman, passed away Oct. 30, in a hospital at Arroya, Colo. Funeral services for Mr. Bledsoe were held Wednesday, Nov. 1, at 10 a. m. at the Hugo Methodist Church. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mr. Bledsoe was born Dec. 2, 1888, at Old Fort Griffin, Texas. When he was three years old, his family moved to the West Texas plains country where he grew up on his father's ranch, with his six brothers and two sisters. On April 22, 1917, he was married to Miss Josie Main, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Main, pioneer Thalia residents, in Lubbock, Texas.

In May, 1918, they moved to Cheyenne County, Colo., and had lived on the same ranch north of Arroya for 43 years. Mr. Bledsoe was active in many community efforts. He served on the Cheyenne County high school board for many years. He was a member of the Cattleman's Association.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, one daughter and ten grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Myers of Crowell announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Ann, to S-Sgt. Billy Frank Dedek, son of Mrs. Rosie Dedek of Vernon.

The wedding is planned for December 23.

"The Report Card" Is Topic at Monday Night P-TA Meeting

"The Report Card—What Does It Mean?" was the topic of a discussion led by grade school Principal Gordon Erwin at the monthly meeting of the Crowell P-TA Monday night.

The meeting was called to order by President Norman Davis. Rev. Thomas Taylor of Truscott gave the invocation.

Mrs. Martin Kralick gave a report from the health committee. She stated that the committee was considering setting up permanent immunization records for each child in the Crowell schools. These cards would contain a record of each shot given each child during his entire school career.

The book committee presented its report, and recommended that supplemental readers, art supplies, and other teaching aids were needed by the first four grades. The Association voted to allocate approximately $100.00 to purchase these items.

Mrs. L. A. Andrews reported on the work of the welfare committee. Many articles of clothing have been given to needy children through the schools.

A committee was set up, headed by W. W. Lemons, to investigate the possibility of making playground equipment for use by the grade school. Other members are Charles Branch, Cecil Davis, Beverly Gray and Mrs. Walter H. Stapp.

Mr. Erwin gave a brief talk about the two types of report cards used by the local schools. Following this, there was a general discussion among the parents and friends.

Refreshments of coffee, punch, and home-made cookies were served by third-grade mothers. A period of fellowship ended the meeting.

Truscott H. D. Club

"Sewing Center Arrangement" and "Sewing Today's Fabrics" were the subjects discussed by Mrs. W. O. Solomon and Mrs. J. Irett.

JANET CARROLL

Have you added extra pounds lately? If so, be sensible in mapping out a diet plan. Begin with a consultation with your family doctor, and then eat less, but adequately. Eat smaller amounts of a large variety of foods to insure getting enough of all the nutrients needed for good health.

Safe reducing is a fairly long-time project. Two pounds per week is generally considered a safe rate of loss.

LEATHER ACCESSORIES are expensive items in the clothing budget these days. Fall and winter costumes call for more leather belts, bags, gloves and shoes.

You can preserve the beauty and lengthen the life of leather articles by proper care. On belts, bags and gloves, use cream or wax polishes to protect the leather and keep it pliable and soft.

To remove spots from leather articles, clean with benzene or gasoline, air well and re-polish. Saddle soap can also be used to remove dirt and grease from leather articles between polishings.

Prevent cracking and preserve the finish on patent leather articles with vaseline. Use a cheese cloth pad to apply a light, even coating once or twice a month.

Columbian Club

The Columbian Club met at the home of Mrs. Bert Self in Vernon Wed., Nov. 1 for business and study. The pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. Kenner.

Mrs. Marion Crowell gave the biography of the life of Sinclair Lewis. Mrs. Ayers on Latin American books. Mrs. Kenner on children's and picture books. The hostess served refreshments to 18 members and 3 visitors, Mrs. Gettis, Mrs. Mary Frances Hitt of Vernon and Mrs. Minnie of Crowell.

Jimmy Horany Enters Race for Congressman

Jimmy P. Horany of Archer City announces that he will be a Democratic candidate in the special election for Congress for the 13th District of Texas.

Horany was elected in 1960 as the Democratic elector for the 13th district for President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson. He is a former legislator for Archer and Clay counties; he served as county chairman for the Democratic party of Archer county from 1952 to 1956 and as district commander of the American Legion in 1954-56. He has been very active in civic, church, school and veterans affairs for Archer City and Archer county, and has headed many worthwhile projects during the past 14 years. In 1943 he was married to Virginia Kouri of Wichita Falls and they have four children.

Horany practices law, is the manager and a partner of Horany's Dept. Store, and is a real estate dealer. He states he will issue a formal announcement.

Graham B. Purcell Jr. of Wichita Falls Enters Race for Congress

Judge Graham B. Purcell Jr., Democratic candidate for Congress in the upcoming special election, says he will bring his campaign to every part of the 13th Congressional District.

Purcell, judge of the 89th District Court at Wichita Falls since 1955, paid tribute to outgoing Rep. Frank Icard in his announcement and said that he'd feel it a privilege to be associated with the present administration.

"I am a life-long Democrat, have always been a Democrat and am running as a Democrat in this race."

Purcell, a five-year combat veteran of World War II, has had experience and training which he says qualifies him for federal legislative office. He holds a bachelor of science degree in agriculture from Texas A&M College and a law degree from Baylor University. He is married and has four children.

Purcell, a 42-year-old native of Archer City, has a record as an untiring civic worker in his community. He has concentrated in youth work such as Boy Scouts, YMCA, Boy's Club, child welfare and health projects which principally benefit children.

Clients in ancient Rome were citizens of lower rank who chose patrons from the upper classes to assist them in legal matters.

JACK HIGHTOWER

Jack Hightower Issues Statement Relative to Race

Jack Hightower of Vernon, District Attorney of the 46th Judicial District, composed of Wilbarger, Hardeman and Foard Counties, has announced as a candidate for Congress to fill out the unexpired portion of the term of Representative Frank Icard of Wichita Falls. Mr. Hightower has resigned his office and will devote his entire time to the campaign.

Mr. Hightower is a native of Hall County and received both his academic and law degrees from Baylor University in Waco. He is married to the former Colleen Ward of Tulsa. They have three daughters, Ann 8, Amy 5, and Alison 2.

Mr. Hightower was elected Representative in the 53rd Legislature from the 82nd District composed of Cottle, Foard, Hardeman and Wilbarger counties. He did not seek re-election.

He was appointed District Attorney, assuming office January 1, 1955, and was elected in 1956 and 1960, each time without opposition.

He is a past president of the Texas District and County Attorneys Association. He also served as a member of the Texas Law Enforcement Study Commission and received the honor of being designated as "Outstanding District Attorney of Texas" in 1959 by the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation.

He served in the United States Navy in World War II. In connection with announcement of his resignation as District Attorney and as a candidate for Congress from the 13th District, Mr. Hightower issued the following statement, briefly outlining his position on national issues now confronting the people of this district and the entire United States.

"I regard the security of the United States and the entire free world as the paramount issue of our time. The maintenance of a strong defense must be given priority over all other considerations. Our defense must be adequate for any emergency, supported by an equally strong national economy. However, it is not necessary to put the Constitution in cold storage or to continue the policy of unbalanced national budgets.

"The international crisis now faced by the free world is not a temporary emergency. Tensions between the Communist Empire and the free nations will continue. Therefore, to deal with this constant crisis as if it were something which would soon pass is to invite disaster.

"America must be strong—strong militarily, strong in industrial productive capacity, strong in public finance and above all strong in moral integrity.

"The American people have risen to every national emergency in their history. In World Wars I and II our country became the arsenal of democracy and our immense productive capacity plus our willingness to sacrifice quickly brought total victory. The spirit which brought us safely through those days is needed now. We cannot afford the luxuries of waste in either public or private affairs or social experiments or projects not necessarily required for meeting the nation's primary needs.

"I favor continuation of foreign aid but believe our help should be confined to nations which are trying to help themselves and will, if the necessity arises, fight on our side. The American taxpayer cannot carry indefinitely the burden of solving all the problems of the world, particularly in those nations which choose to be what they call neutral or uncommitted.

"I believe the American people can maintain a strong national defense, do everything we need to do in aiding other nations, and continue to grow and progress with a sound economy without continuing to add to the national debt.

"I believe the idea of states rights carries with it states responsibilities and that the best way to combat the creeping paralysis of concentration of authority in the Federal government is for the states and local communities to solve their own problems. I oppose Federal aid to education and socialized medical service. I support a farm program based on sound economics with a minimum of government control and a maximum of individual freedom in order that American farmers may again enjoy freedom of choice and decision.

"I believe in the right of workers to organize, choose their own bargaining agents and negotiate with management in an atmosphere of mutual respect and freedom without undue pressure or intervention from government representatives.

"I favor maintaining the present oil depletion allowance as essential to a strong and healthy oil industry which is so vital to the national defense.

"I favor retention of the Connally amendment to the treaty establishing a world court which reserves to this country the right to determine what cases shall be submitted to this international tribunal.

"I am a life-long Democrat and have consistently supported party nominees. I will be anxious to discuss these and other issues of personal or national importance at any time."
