FORTY-SECOND WEEK

ODDS & ENDS

John McClelland, while fishing with Louie Trainer on Devil's River, managed to land a four-inch, twelve-ounce turtle. We understand he caught it on shrimp.

Iemal Akoz and Nurettin Utkanlar, Turkish veterinarians who spent several days here as guests of County Agent Clint Langford saw almost every aspect of agriculture as practiced in the county. They made trips to the Joe Brown Ross, Dave Locklin and W. L. Davis ranches looking over their fine goats and registered sheep.

Then asked question about vaccination practices, range management practices and rotation, while observing work on progeny tests and in veterinary research at the Experiment Station.

They also visited the SCD range plot with E. B. Keng and were very interested in the pitting practices.

Mrs. Duke Wilson brought us the following article taken from the Dallas Morning News which we feel bears re-printing. Entitled "Peaceful Valley" Sonora Was Tough" and written by Dick King, an instructor in Journalism at East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce, it reads like this:

"Sonora in Sutton County, Texas, was founded by pioneer ranchers in search of grazing lands. They named their settlement for the Spanish term meaning 'peaceful valley'.

"Yet, Sonora, in the early years immediately following its founding, was everything but peaceful.

"In February, 1891, the editor of the Devil's River News boasted about the toughness of the village. He wrote: 'Come to Sonora and be tough. High premiums paid on all crime. Gambling with cards in public allowed and is in operation at all hours. Sundays included. Special rewards for scalps of gentlemen and tenderfoots; but will prosecute all murders of our hoodlums, whisky bums and scoundrels. Promiscuous hell raised in high places continually, crime is rampant, lawlessness increasing. Come to the home of the toughs and join the enterprise.'

"To continue, the editor explained that the motto of Sonora was 'toughness' and its aim 'to exterminate society.' The desire of the town, he wrote, was to invert the order of this part of the universe and put hell uppermost. Object of the town was to rival 'San Angelo and have hell on earth.'

"Whether the editor was being whimsical or serious is not definite, but certain events in the history of Sonora point that the town came pretty close to attaining the goal the editor described.

"Ed S. Bryant, sheriff of the county, was shot and killed on the street in 1892. Bill Stewart, who did the shooting, was hanged without trial the next afternoon.

"Two gamblers, Walter Sapp and Frank Johns, shot each other during a card game February 17, in the Old Ranch Saloon. Sapp died that night, but Johns lingered on for ten days.

"Old Cyclone, a wild bronc owned by Ace Robinson, killed one of Robinson's ranch hands in June, 1895, and John Stewart rode Cyclone to a state of exhaustion the following day in punishment.

"In 1895 a herd of 2,300 muttons was stolen by Mexicans and driven across the Rio Grande at the Old Brown Ranch. Owner of the herd was John T. Cooper, Sonora, and this was his third such loss in five years. Tom Kileen, foreman, and Cooper trailed the muttons to Eagle Pass but were unsuccessful in regaining the $5,000 loss.

"Such was Sonora, peaceful valley, in its youth."

Not every community can boast such a colorful past as this community of ours. A heritage of accomplishment is one to be proud of. One look at the flourishing young city located on the same site as that rough-and-tumble holds-barred Sonora of the 90's proves that those early days settlers who remained to become city fathers were men with a vision of a peaceful town where they might bring up their families in security.

Let's enjoy these stories of our community's past and be grateful for the good men who stuck it out and left us the finest of all legacies-seeing their vision become reality.

Wes White Has Witnessed Growth Of Sonora Since 1887

"When I first came to Sonora I was just a kid and a pretty wild one, too," said Wesley White when questioned about his forty-odd years of residence in the county. White went on, "A kid is like a horse-he gets a little mean sometimes."

The Sonora of 1887 was a tent city. "There were only three or four lumber house here but gradually the tents were replaced by frame houses," White said. The only "real" store of the time was Callahan's store located about where the Sonora National Farm Loan Association building is today. Other retail establishments of the time were the "Maude S. Saloon" and a livery stable which opened up soon after White's arrival.

The old Decker Hotel was a popular spot of the day. It stood on the corner of Main and Water Streets. When Mr. White bought the old hotel and had it razed he buried the old hotel bell in the concrete which fills the former basements of the building.

White is a native Texan and the son of Texas natives, tracing his first American ancestors to a White who made the long journey to this country from Holland on the Mayflower. White's great-grandfather made a voyage back to Holland and on the return trip was mobbed and killed in the rough-and-tumble city of Galveston.

Born at Cedar Cap, Texas January 5, 1873, Mr. White was the son of George and Rebecca Rainer White. With his parents he moved to McCulloch County in 1876 when Indians were still a menace to settlers. Shortly after the Whites moved to McCulloch County, Indians killed several members of wagon trains.

After the death of his father and his mother's subsequent remarriage to Will Hardin, the family moved their herd of cattle and settled in the Frio River area where they lived until their moving to Sutton County.

In 1905 White had entered the ranching business for himself in the Guadalupe Mountains near Carlsbad, New Mexico, where he met and married Miss Maudie Whiddon, herself a native of Mc-

Culloch and former resident of the North Llano district. The Whites and his two children L.B. and Nellie White remained in New Mexico until 1907 when White contracted muscular rheumatism and they moved to Oklahoma seeking a more agreeable climate.

In 1909, the Whites returned to Sutton County where they have owned a home ever since, raising four children, Mrs. Violet Franks of Sonora, Mrs. May Cox of Sanderson, Mrs. Virginia Chapman of San Antonio and Andy White of Pamplico.

The Whites this week celebrated their fifty years of marriage of which White says, "I feel lucky to have survived fifty years of marriage." In a more serious vein he observes, "Any two people are going to have a few little disagreements. We've done pretty well-we've made a living."

Bingham Given Death Sentence

For the second time since April, 1954, Leonard L. Bingham has received the death sentence for the murder in March 1954 of Mrs. Jo Ethel Lambert.

In both instances the sentence was the first death penalty brought in the county where his trial was heard. A Kimble County jury recommended the death penalty in April of 1954 for the first time in the history of that county and a similar sentence in Fort Stockton July 22 established the same precedent in Pecos County.

A 112th District Court jury composed of four women and eight men deliberated only one hour and twenty-five minutes before returning the guilty verdict with a recommendation of the death sentence returned by a jury made up in party of women since women have become eligible for jury service in the state.

Court-appointed defense attorneys, one of whom has expressed a desire to be released from the case, have indicated that they will appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

The Court of Criminal Appeals will act on the proposed appeal within 30 days of its receipt.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS ATTEST CITY'S GROWTH

More improvements underway continue to bear witness to the progressiveness of the city. Curbing and gutters are being added on South Oak Street by the city. Alton Hightower is adding 700 feet of gutters and curbing in the Castle Hill addition.

The Gulf Station is paving the parking area behind the station and installing diesel and butane fuel pumps.

Keep Kids Out Of Fogger Path

R. M. McCarver, manager of city utilities and Dr. J. F. Howell, county health officer, have asked that parents prevent their children from following in the wake of the fogging machine. The insecticides used in the fogging program can cause serious illness in persons allergic to them. To avoid possible ill effects, keep children out of way until the fog has settled.

Dr. Howell also cautions that now is the time to cut down those weeds brought up by the recent rain. With weeds cut, mosquitoes will have fewer hiding places and danger of mosquito-carried diseases will be lessened.

Attends Wool Advisory Meet

Fred T. Earwood returned Saturday from Denver, Colo., where he had attended a meeting of a committee appointed from the National Wool Growers Association to make recommendations as to the method of disposal of Commodity Credit Corporation wools.

The committee recommended that beginning November 1, 1955, the CCC sell 5,000,000 pounds of wool per month by option, the selection to be made by grades percentage-wise as catalogued by the CCC. In no event is the CCC to sell over 5,000,000 pounds per month unless the market price on wool reaches 62 cents per pound, the national support level.

If the market reaches 62 cents the CCC may sell in excess of the 5,000,000 pounds per month. The monthly quota is in line with the two year disposal time set by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Dodgers Rally Tie White Sox

Tuesday' Pony League play resulted in a tie as fans witnessed spectacular hitting which climaxed with eight home runs.

The Dodgers made 16 hits from 38 times at bat, and scored 18 runs. Four of these hits were made by Castillo, Fields, Smith and Gatlin. Other hits were made by Kuiterez, Duran, and Gatlin.

The White Sox got 12 hits from 33 times at bat and scored 18 runs. Ramos, Wall, Luttrell, and Harold Moore hit homers for the White Sox. Caldwell and McClelland also got hits for the White Sox.

It's the 4-Door Riviera—the stunning new hit of America's Hardtops

WHEN Buick introduced America's first hardtop—the Riviera—folks went for it in a big way, and fast.

They liked the Convertible look of this 2-door beauty—long, low and rakish. They liked the added security of the steel roof overhead. And they certainly liked the absence of center posts in the side window areas—which gave a completely unbroken view left and right.

People liked it all so well that, over the past six years, they made the Riviera the biggest-selling hardtop in the world, bar none. And it still is.

Now Buick has come up with another great advance in hardtops—the 4-Door Riviera—and it's a sensational hit.

It has everything the original 2-Door Riviera has—plus separate doors for rear-seat passengers, and a whole of a lot more room for them.

Rock-solid half-pillars on either side are what latch the front doors and hinge the rear ones. So there's no center post above the door line—and a completely open sweep of view to both sides.

And the roominess provided by this gorgeous new hardtop is really something—over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom in the rear.

Why don't you come see this brand-new kind of automobile that's heading up the parade of the hottest-selling line of Buicks in history?

That way you can also try what else is to be had here—Buick comfort, Buick power, Buick ride and handling and roadability—plus the electrifying action of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Do it this week—tomorrow would be fine—and you'll see what record volume really means in the way of record-high trade-in deals.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Modern Science Finally Catches Up With Grandpa

I got put in my place the other night. Deserved it, too. My father-in-law said we were due for bad weather. "Birds are flying low," he reported. "That means a storm."

I started to josh with the old gentleman about being superstitious. Then my nephew Jim, on vacation from college, pipes up. "Grandad's right," he says.

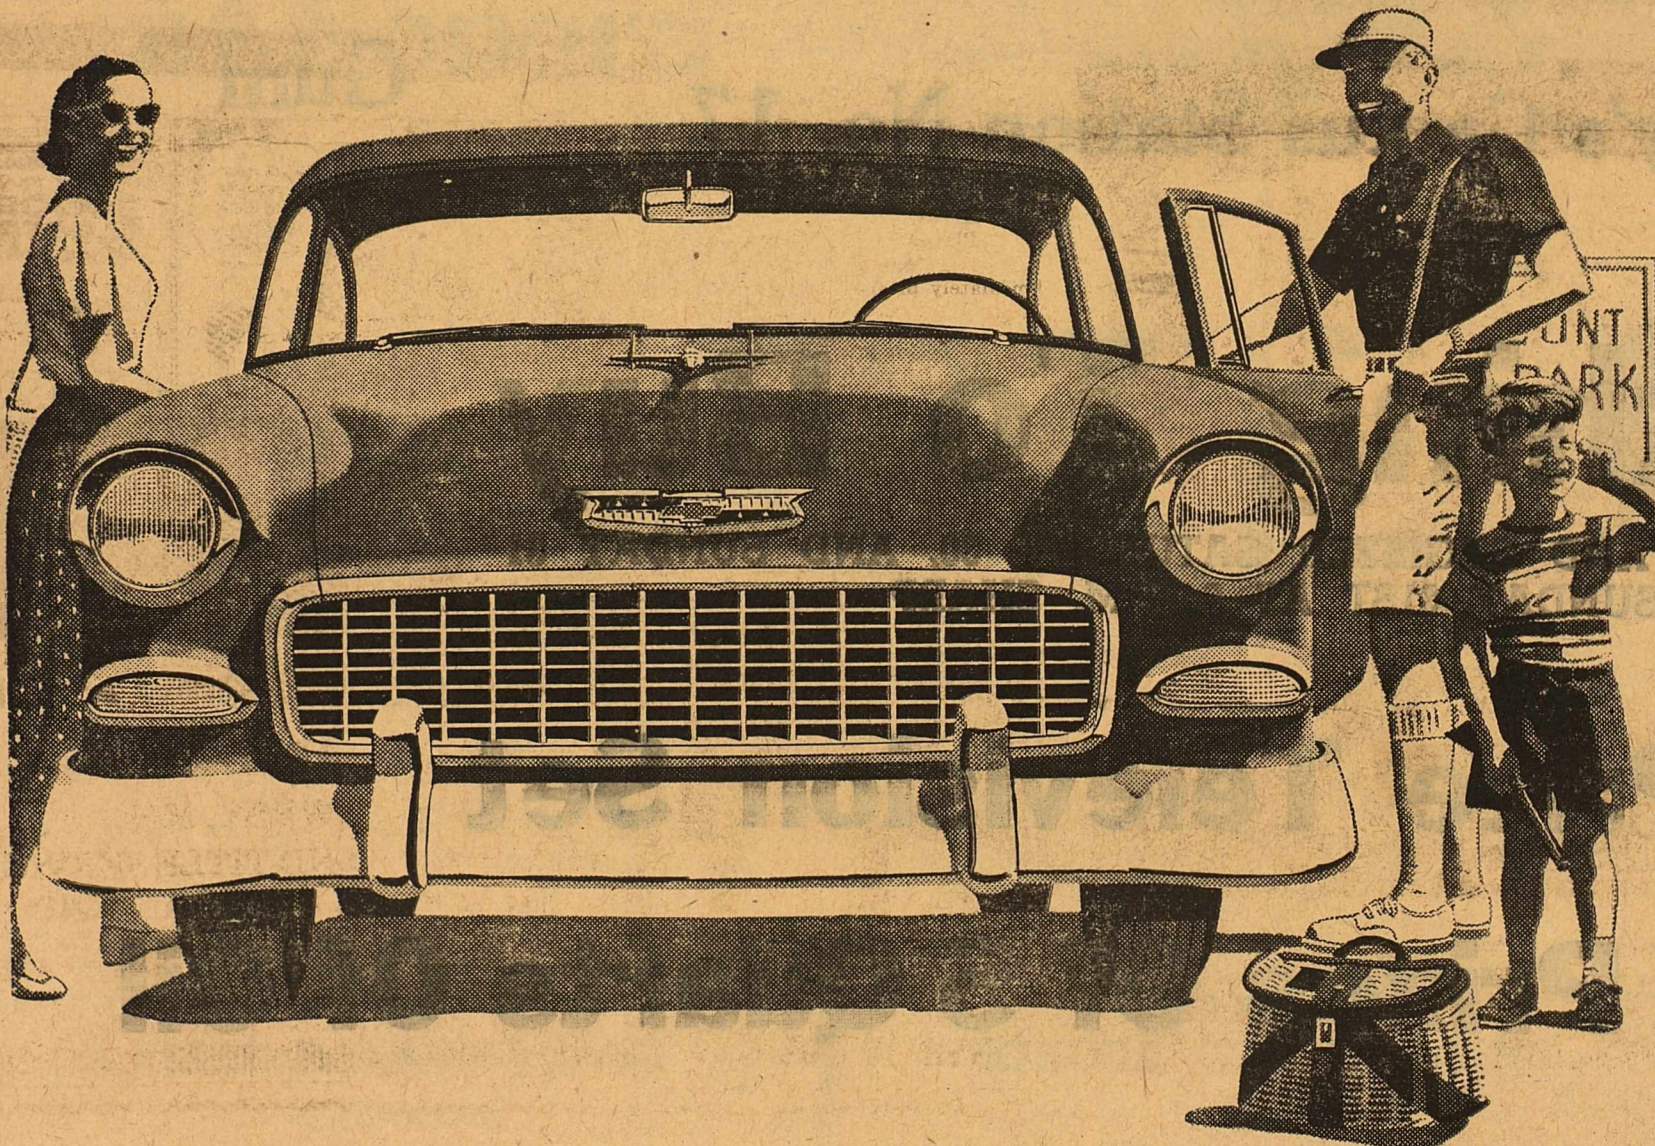

"At least, that's what they say at school," Jim goes on. "The heavy air you get before a storm forces insects down low—so high-flying birds have to swoop along the ground if they want to eat."

From where I sit, there's probably sound reasoning back of most old sayings ... back of anything people have learned to believe in. Take the idea of a stitch in time saving nine—sparing rods and spoiling children—of drinking hot milk, or a refreshing glass of beer, at bedtime. You may not hold with any of these beliefs yourself ... but it's not smart to give them the "bird."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS FROM VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Q - I am a disabled Korean veteran and I have received vocational training under Public Law 894. Now I want to take further training under the Korean GI Bill. To figure training time, I know I must subtract the training I've already had from 48 months. But do I count the two months during which I received subsistence after I was rehabilitated?

A - No. In computing your remaining entitlement for Korean GI Bill training, you do not count the two months during which you received post-rehabilitation subsistence pay.

Q - I am considering paying my GI insurance premiums in advance on a yearly basis. What would be done with the money in case anything happened to me before my yearly payments had been applied to premiums?

A - The money that had not yet been applied to premiums would be refunded to your beneficiary, in a lump sum.

Q - I am a veteran drawing a VA pension for a non-service-connected disability. Part of my living costs are being borne by a relative. Must I consider the value of these living costs as income, for pension purposes?

A - No. The value of maintenance, furnished by your relative, need not be considered as income, for VA pension purposes.

Q - I am taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill. Recently my State Approving Agency lengthened my training program. Will I receive GI training allowances for this extension?

A - No. Under the law, GI training allowances may not be authorized for such extensions of GI job training programs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Shurley had as their guest recently, Mrs. Shurley's sister, Mrs. Frank Weaver of Snyder.

Rod N' Gun Notes

ARANSAS PASS- Fishing good with catches of trout, reds, and gafftop. Plenty of bait.

ROCKPORT- Fishing good. Off North Jetty pompano and mackerel. Off South Pier, gafftop, whiting, and anglefish and quite a few trout, kings and sailfish. Plenty of bait.

BUCHANAN LAKE- Sonorans reported excellent catches on Buchanan this past week.

Good dove hunting is insured for this fall with the recent rains bringing on an abundance of dove weed and other feed.

If rains continue, chances are that local hunters will enjoy duck shooting in this area when the season opens. Ducks are expected to use this flyway again for the first time in several years.

The Trading Post carries a full line of duck guns as well as bird guns. Now is the time to get ready for fall hunting. Come in and get the gun that you have been wanting. We will take your old one in on a new gun.

Prospects are excellent for fat deer this fall. Come to us and we will line up your deer lease for you. We also can supply you with the deer rifle of your choice.
