

TRAINING CONTINUED

Three members of St. Joseph's Hospital nursing staff recently completed a course in operating room techniques. Here Mrs. J. K. Porter, left, and Sister Perpetua, nursing director and operating room supervisor, demonstrate how a patient is pre-

Lindell Norman Dies in Accident in Australia

A Wellington man living in Melbourne, Australia, died in a traffic accident in that city Friday, Nov. 10.

He was Lindell Norman, 36, an employee of Halliburton, Inc., an oil well servicing company with operations throughout the world.

Mr. Norman was the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Luther McPherson. According to information they received, he was returning home from work when the accident occurred and was alone in his car.

His body was flown home and reached Wellington Tuesday night.

Funeral services will be conducted at First Baptist Church Friday, November 17, at 10 a. m. Kelso Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Norman and their three children, Lindy, Ricky and Terry, accompanied him, along with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Haynes and family, also Halliburton employees in Melbourne. They were met in Dallas by a Halliburton Company plane which brought them to Childress.

Mr. Norman, who would have observed his 37th birthday this month, grew up in the Arlie community. He attended Wellington High School and was a member of the Skyrocket football team.

At the same time he was a member of the Oklahoma 45th Division of the National Guard and was called to active duty during the Korean War before he completed his high school work.

Upon being released from service, he and Miss Joyce McPherson were married, Sept. 21, 1962. He then returned to high school at Hollis, where he was graduated.

Mr. Norman joined the Halliburton firm which has headquarters at Duncan, Okla., 15 years ago, and lived at Hugo, Okla., and then at Liberal, Kan.

In 1962, he was transferred to Libya, and for two years he and his family lived at Benghazi, then after a vacation at home, they were stationed in Tripoli for another tour of two years.

County Barbecue Highlights Campaign for Hospital Funds

The county-wide drive to raise funds for St. Joseph's Hospital will reach one of its highlights with the barbecue which will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 16, in the Bura Handley Community Center building.

At the same time the Sagebrush Arts & Crafts Association will hold its auction of paintings and other objects of art that have been donated to the drive by some 20 artists and craftsmen of the county. These have been on display at various places of the business during the past week and will not be moved until Thursday.

amount is raised. Out of town people who are interested in the continued operation of St. Joseph's Hospital by the Dominican Sisters may send their donations to the Collingsworth County Hospital Committee, Box 346, Wellington, Texas. The drive to raise the funds was started Oct. 17 when a group of approximately 100 people from all parts of the county met in the Community Building in Wellington and selected a committee to head the drive. This was composed of Wayne Cudd, president of the Collingsworth County Chamber of Commerce, Zook Thomas, county judge, and John Coleman, mayor.

Food for the barbecue has been furnished by interested farmers and ranchers and will be prepared and served by a group composed of Mrs. Calvin Aaron, Mrs. Melvin Seale, Mrs. Leon Hartman, Mrs. Creed Hill, Mrs. Jeff Wilson, Mrs. Sam Adams, Mrs. George Henry and Miss Bonnie Willis.

ART WINNERS

LaNell Minatrea, left, a fifth grader, holds her abstract painting that was chosen the overall winner in the recent student art contest. Vicki Dement, right was a room winner. Immediately above LaNell's head is another room winner, entered by Cleo Pennon, who was absent the day pictures were made.

1968 Football Schedule

UIL District 2-AA Is Re-Aligned for 1968

A re-alignment of the schools in District 2-AA has been completed by the University Interscholastic League and was announced by Wellington head coach Thayne Amnett at the end of the football season.

The changes are effective in September, 1968.

Coach Amnett at the same time announced the Wellington Skyrocket 1968 football schedule.

One school, Olney, was dropped from the district, but three others were picked up. They are Shamrock, Childress and Memphis. Wellington has been in the district with all of these in the past.

The district will continue as 2-AA.

There are only three non-conference football games on the 1968 schedule, Coach Amnett reminded. These will be with Hollis, Wheeler and Gruver.

The Rockets will begin their season one week later than in 1967.

1968 Schedule

Friday, Sept. 13 — Hollis at Wellington.

Friday, Sept. 20 — Wellington at Wheeler.

Friday, Sept. 27 — Wellington at Gruver.

Friday, Oct. 4 — Iowa Park at Wellington.

Friday, Oct. 11 — Shamrock at Wellington.

Friday, Oct. 18 — Wellington at Seymour.

Friday, Oct. 25 — Quanah at Wellington.

Friday, Nov. 1 — Wellington at Electra.

Friday, Nov. 8 — Wellington at Childress.

Friday, Nov. 15 — Memphis at Wellington.

At First Baptist Church

Annual Thanksgiving Service Set Nov. 23

The new First Baptist Church will be the setting for the traditional county-wide Thanksgiving service, to be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 22.

The services will begin at 7:30 p.m. These are sponsored each year by the Collingsworth County Ministerial Alliance.

The Rev. James Jackson, president of the Alliance and pastor of the Assembly of God, will preach the Thanksgiving sermon.

The remainder of the program was announced this week.

First Baptist Church will be in charge of the song service, and the Rev. Ronald Crosley, pastor of the Nazarene Church will welcome the congregation.

The opening prayer will be by the Rev. Ellis Todd, pastor of First Methodist Church, and the Rev. J. E. Young of the Fundamental Baptist Church will read the Scripture.

Special music will be presented by the choirs of the Methodist and Nazarene churches.

Following the sermon, the Rev. Leroy Gaston will make the announcements for the offering and the Rev. Elvis Pitts of Quail Baptist Church will give the offering prayer. Rev. Gaston will close the service with the benediction.

Farm Bureau Delegates at State Meeting

Delegates representing the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau are attending the 34th annual Texas Farm Bureau convention in Austin this week. The meeting began Sunday, Nov. 12; ended Wed., Nov. 15.

Dee Coleman, District 1 director, was in Austin through last week. In this capacity he also serves as a member of the resolutions committee.

County president Jim Ray heads the county delegation, and other members are Mrs. Ray, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Travis McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Coleman and Dee Burba.

Delegates, numbering more than 800, spent the final day and a half of the convention debating and adopting policies for the coming year and recommendations to the national convention. American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting is Dec. 10-14 in Chicago.

New Teacher Hired at Quail

Mrs. Raymond Hodges has been named to the Quail School faculty and began work this week. E. P. Haynie, superintendent, has announced.

Mrs. Hodges moved to Wellington recently when her husband was transferred here as county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration.

She will teach third and fourth grades and replaces Mrs. Jane Smith of Memphis, who resigned due to the illness of a child, Mr. Haynie said.

Mrs. Hodges has a master's degree from Oklahoma State University with a major in business and second major in English. She has had 8 years teaching experience in Oklahoma and Texas, according to the Quail superintendent.

Wellington-Norwood Meet Friday Night

Wellington Skyrockets play their first game Friday, Nov. 17 against the Samnorwood Eagles, and at the same time the Rockettes, with one game behind them, will meet the Eagles.

The game will be played in the Wellington gymnasium, beginning at 7 p.m.

The Wellington teams will travel to Paducah for a double header Tuesday, Nov. 21.

"Norwood has some game experience and they like to beat Wellington. With these two things, they always give us a real good battle," said Coach Stavenhagen.

"This will be the first game for the boys and they will still be a little rough. It takes us

City to Host Convention

J. B. Oney Elevated to Wellington Fire Chief

Members of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department on Monday night, Nov. 13, named J. B. Oney as fire chief to fill the unexpired term of the late Johnny Cagle. Mr. Oney was elevated from first assistant chief.

Buster Hughs, who retired as chief on Oct. 2, moved from second to first assistant chief, and Jim Sikes was named to the place left vacant by Mr. Hughs.

The new chief has been a fireman 15 years, having joined the Paducah Fire Department in 1952. Upon moving to Wellington five years ago, he became a member here.

Wellington will be host to the annual convention of the Panhandle Firemen's Association and the date was set for Saturday, Sept. 17, 1968, Johnny Brown, department president, said.

He named Mr. Oney, Mr. Hughs, Mr. Sikes and Leon Hartman as members of an overall committee to plan the convention and they are to name other necessary committees.

Department members then voted to buy a plaque in memory of Joe Coleman, long-time member of the department, and Chief Cagle, to be placed on the new fire truck.

Mr. Brown explained that a fire truck is designed to the specifications of the city buying it, and the two men were instrumental in the design of the new truck delivered early this month.

Two new members were admitted to the department, Carl Daves and Larry Crump.

Members voted to work toward securing a Firemen's Short Course under the program carried out by Texas A&M University. Mr. Brown explained the cooperation of four other departments is necessary, and if this can be secured, an instructor from A&M will hold classes in each town one night a week for a 5-week period.

Teachers Group Sets Variety Show Nov. 20

There will be a Classroom Teachers Association Variety Show Monday, Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m.

Among numbers of entertainment will be the Horns a Plenty, the young men of the faculty will put on a female dress style show, and numerous other acts.

Each school will contribute a 30-minute part on the program.

Proceeds from this event will go toward the Classroom Teachers Scholarship Fund.

Admission is 25¢ for students and 50¢ for adults.

The variety show is presently scheduled to be in the Community Building. However, it is hoped that it can be held in the auditorium of the high school if it has been completed by that date.

Legion Oratory Contest Set

Two Collingsworth County girls will compete in the Zone 3 American Legion oratorical contest to be held Tuesday, Nov. 21 in Memphis.

Carol Burba, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Burba, will represent Wellington High School, while Janis Gosnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gosnell, will represent Quail.

Other schools competing will be Memphis and Claude, according to Mr. Gosnell, commander of Wellington's Frank King Post.

The contestants will speak extemporaneously for ten minutes on the Constitution of the United States.

The zone winner will compete in the district contest to be held later at Claude. The American Legion oratorical contest goes to the national level, where the winner receives a $4,000 scholarship to the college of his choice.

V.H. Lindseys Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Lindsey returned this week after being in Lubbock several weeks, where he underwent major surgery twice.

Mrs. Lindsey said that his condition is improving each day and he is able to have company at their home.

Three Complete Course Hospital Staff Has Continuing Training

Any hospital with the superior standards adhered to by St. Joseph's must keep its staff complete and knowledgeable in the latest techniques. But this is increasingly harder for the small hospital, Sister Mary Adele, administrator, will tell you.

St. Joseph's is meeting the problem with a program of continuing the training of its present staff, and on Nov. 10, three nurses completed a course in basic operating room technique offered by Amarillo College in cooperation with Northwest Texas Hospital.

Receiving certificates of completion were Mrs. Ernest Harwell, already a registered x-ray technician, Mrs. J. K. Porter, and Mrs. Eulice Muddock.

To complete the 54-hour course, they attended class from 6:30 to 11 p.m. on two nights each week, not counting the almost four hours of driving to and from each session.

Under the instruction of Phyllis Cline, R.N., night supervisor at Northwest Texas Hospital, the 17-member class learned sterilization techniques, control of bleeding, scrub nurse duties, circulating nurse duties, instrument care, nomenclature, and the operation of heart machines and surgical x-ray techniques.

They backed this up with observation in the operating rooms —See back page

T. H. Rainer Due Surgery

A 91-year-old Wellington man will undergo surgery in McBride Bone and Joint Clinic in Oklahoma City to have a steel ball in his right hip joint replaced.

He is T. H. Rainer, who will enter the hospital Sunday, Nov. 19. The surgery is scheduled for Tuesday.

Several weeks ago the ball broke from the shaft which extends into the leg bone, according to members of the family. The ball fits into the socket of the hip joint and functions as does the bone it replaced.

The steel ball was placed in his hip joint 16 years ago at McBride Bone and Joint Clinic, and Mr. Rainer celebrated his 75th birthday in the hospital. This was necessary because of a broken hip he received in 1949 in a car accident.

Two of Mr. Rainer's daughters will accompany him to Oklahoma City, Mrs. Dick Richards and Miss Bessie Raines.

Olney Takes Dist. Closer There Thurs.

By JACK FORD

The Wellington Skyrockets, playing on Thursday night by mutual agreement instead of on the usual Friday night, lost to the strong passing Olney Cubs, 32 to 6 at Olney, Nov. 9 to end the 1967 football season with a respectable 6 wins and 4 losses record.

Again the Rockets were hurt by the passing attack of an opponent, but they were able to contain most of the ground game of the Cubs. It looked for a while as though the Rockets would be in the game and in contention, but in the second half the Cubs offense got to rolling and that old roof fell in on the Rockets.

The Rocket offensive unit of Gary Brewer, Herman Moore, Marvin Roland, Andy Lowe, Alfred Allred, Stevie Davis, Jim Lindsey, Johnny Harris, Chuck Wilbur, Mike Gilmore, Andy Henard and Joe Brock were able to move the ball on the ground, but again on key plays the Rocket drives stalled. The Rockets passing attack never did get off the ground, and didn't help the ground game by keeping the pressure on the Cubs defensive unit.

The first half was a game of position. The Cubs did score one touchdown to post a 6 to 0 lead at the half, but neither team seemed to keep up any momentum to keep consistent scoring drives going.

The second half was another type of game, and it was Cubs. They exploded with a fine passing attack in this half, and the Rocket defense just couldn't seem to stop it. When the game ended the Cubs scored an additional 26 points, including 2 points on a safety.

The Rockets finally put together a scoring drive in the last quarter of the game. They started their drive from their own 32 yard line. Allred, Roland, Brewer, Lowe and Moore drove to the 2 yard line and then Roland plowed into the end zone for the only Rocket touchdown. The try for extra point failed. When the game ended the final score was Cubs 32, Rockets 6.

Injuries hurt the Rockets this last part of the season. The major loss was regular quarterback and punter Kenny Brown, who suffered a broken leg in the Quanah game. The Rockets had numerous bad ankles and leg injuries that slowed some of the boys down. But the biggest thing was that the Rockets met some real fine ball clubs this year.

We also must give credit to the Rocket reserves who did so much to help the Rockets have a successful season.

These young men, Ricky Brown, Ricky Nall, Teddy Martin, Nicky Watts, Charles Mauldin, Jimmy Neeley, Larry Kane, Harold Jones, Jimmy Bohannon, Jerry Wooldridge, Sandy Covey, Dallas Holland, Danny West and Glenn Barber did a real fine job when called upon to replace and assist the regulars on the playing field. All these efforts make a team, and we had a good team this year, and we can look to next year with confidence for another good season. We congratulate all of them.

We all congratulate Head Coach Thayne Amonett and his assistants, Richard Hamilton, Jim Forrester, James Stavenhagen and Carroll Nunnelle for a job well done with this year's team. These fine men not only showed our team the fundamentals of the football game, but they showed the young men in their charge how to be men in losing as well as in winning. We must say their job was well done.

This ends the current reporting of this 1967 football season, and we have all had our moments of thrills. We Rocket fans have seen some great running and passing, some great blocking and defensive plays, and of course we all appreciate the efforts put out by our Rockets in representing our school and town.

To the young men who will graduate in the spring, we all wish them the best that life can give them. We who remain will remember with pleasant memories those young men both on and off the football field. Good luck to all of them. See you all next year in the new district.

Texas' population increased 12.5% from 1960 to 1965, yet its State Park visitation rose 48.5%.

Whining Not From Viet Nam, Coleman Tells Dodson Students

Whining against the war in Vietnam comes "not from the jungle grass, steaming bunkers where American blood mingles with allied mud. It comes from the comfortable living rooms of our society, from the faculty lounges or hippies' retreats," Wellington Mayor John Coleman told Dodson High School students in a Veterans Day address Friday, Nov. 10. "Now, comrades, it's time to put some starch in their yellow backbones."

Attending, along with the students, were a group of Dodson residents and members of the Dodson American Legion.

"We see in the news people carrying banners that say 'make love, not war' and they are incapable of doing either. Every week we protest against war it will cost us thousands more men," said Mr. Coleman, veteran of Bataan and Japanese prison camps.

By honoring the men fighting in Vietnam, they honor those living and dead who fought in other wars, he reminded the Dodson boys and girls.

Mayor Coleman traced the years in which the United States was protected from hostile nations during its own growth, as a colony by England, later by France. Since the pronouncement of the Monroe Doctrine, it has prevented war from reaching its continental shores.

"Should the communists succeed in taking Vietnam, this would make them larger and they would continue to grow and finally they would be too large for us to even control, and we would have our troubles all alone," he concluded.

Texas has an average of 6.3 acres of Texas State Park land per thousand population. This is 24.4 acres per thousand below the national average and 38.7 below what the White House National Conference on Outdoor Recreation suggested for its acreage per thousand population.

The rotary cylinder press was invented by Richard M. Hoe in 1846.

Don Van Pelt to Head County Spelling Event

Don Van Pelt, County Supervisor, Wellington, Texas, is the 1968 Spelling Bee Director for Collingsworth County. Some time before April 1, the Collingsworth County Bee will be held and the Champion will go to Amarillo on April 27, 1968, for the annual regional elimination for the National Spelling Bee.

Last year, Tommy Oatman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Oatman of Hedley was the Collingsworth County Champion and placed in the Regional Bee. The Champion was an 8th grader in the Quail Junior High School.

The 1968 Golden Spread Bee will be co-sponsored by West Texas State University and the Amarillo Globe-News. Mr. L. J. (Jack) Edmondson, West Texas State University Director of Public Services, will be Bee Director for the Golden Spread. Again there will be a unique secondary contest—the Junior Spelling Bee, open to contestants from the 6th and lower grades.

The Collingsworth County Jr. Champion for 1967 was Joy Jesse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jesse. She was a 6th grader in the Wellington Jr. High School.

Arnett Senior 4-H Meets

The Arnett Senior 4-H Club was called to order Nov. 2 by president Bruce Rumbaugh.

Secretary Steve Sikes read the minutes of the last meeting and vice president James Kuykendall led the 4-H Club Ritual and the pledge to the flag.

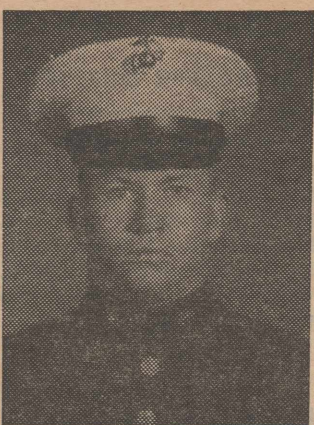

Thanksgiving and Halloween poems were read by Lena Richardson and Ricahrd Day. Bruce Rumbaugh gave a talk on American Education Week.

Cathy Carter and Sharla Sikes gave a team demonstration on "How to Set a Table for a Party."

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Stinchcomb, who gave a demonstration on "The Correct Way to Use Lamp Lighting."

As National Education Week was Nov. 6-10, special tribute was given this year to the school and to the faculty of Arnett by the Senior 4-H Club.

Golden Spread Bee will go to Washington during the first week in June 1968, to participate in the National Spelling Bee. The winner will also receive several other attractive prizes, and his (or hers) school will have a full year of use of the Britannica film service. A traveling plaque, carrying the names of all regional winners since 1949, will hang at the school of the winner.

Last year's prizes for other top contestants included a Zenith portable television, a 24-volume set of Encyclopedia Britannica, several volumes of the Lincoln Library, a Britannica World Atlas, and cash prizes. Virtually the same prize list will be available this year.

Each County Champion receives an engraved plaque and gold pin. Each County Junior Champion is given a trophy and a silver pin during the intermission at the Regional Bee (but there is no regional contest between the juniors; they are merely guests for the annual Spelling Bee luncheon to be held in the Amarillo County Club).

In the school contests, each winner receives a Paper-Mate pen, inscribed "School Champion."

This will be the 39th year for the National Spelling Bee, sponsored by newspapers throughout the 50 states. (20th bee sponsored by Globe-News Publishing Company)

Colorful Cranberries

Berries add flavor and color to your holiday meals. These are traditional cranberries — a favorite with just about everyone.

Of course we are using cranberries and cranberry sauce more and more the year around. But in most households, fall or winter, a holiday just would not be a holiday without the cranberries.

Most of our cranberries come from New Jersey, Oregon, Wisconsin, Massachusetts and Washington. You will find fresh cranberries at local markets now.

It is the perfect time to prepare something special with cranberries. This tasty CRANBERRY RELISH is great for hot dogs or hamburgers:

To prepare, put 2 large green peppers (quartered and seeded), 3 medium onions and ½ pound washed, fresh cranberries through the food chopper. Or chop the peppers and onions very fine and add to a 1-pound can of whole cranberry sauce. Place the onions, peppers and cranberries in a sauce pan. Add ½ cup sugar, 2 teaspoons salt and 1 cup vinegar.

Simmer gently about 20 minutes or until well thickened. Serve this tasty relish hot or chilled. If you are broiling the hamburgers, spread the relish over the meat about five minutes before removing from the broiler.

Zipper Adhesive

There is something now on the market for your sewing convenience. Women will agree that placing a zipper properly into a garment is a difficult task. Some will not attempt it. To help the seamstress and as an aid to handicapped people this new product — zip stick — was perfected. It is quick, easy and accurate. It completely eliminates the need for pinning or basting. One roll contains enough tape for 5 to 10 installations depending on the length. With this zipper adhesive your zipper will not slip or slide while you sew it. When it is sewn in it is completely hidden between the zipper tape and placate. Zip-stick will not stain and in fact it completely disappears when dry-cleaned or washed. Reports show consumer sales are excellent.

HATS OFF TO CONSUMERS.
The salute goes out to some 50 people who attended the Open House and others who took part in Consumer Education Week sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Collingsworth County.

We wanted to tell you, the consumer, that you are important. The decisions you make, the products you buy, the feedback you give industry, influence the market and the nation's economy.

It is our sincere hope that with the help of media, manufacturers, agencies and the Extension Service, you ultimately just educate yourself in the art of being a wise consumer.

Information always is available at your county Extension office, your consumer headquarters.

IF YOUR CHILD IS ILL, A novel drinking glass will often get him to drink more liquids just so he can use the special glass. When he has to take medicine, put the amount of pills for the whole day in a separate bottle; for liquids, mark the bottle with a felt tip marker and then you will be able to tell at a glance if a dose has been skipped.

AFTER PREPARING MEAT sauces to be frozen, freeze them in muffin tin compartments, then remove from the tin and store in plastic bags. A single portion, or as many as wanted, may be thawed. Even if the whole amount is used at once, the thawing time is greatly reduced.

LOOK, MOM, PHOSPHATE-treated cereals reduce dental decay. In a study of 500 school children, divided into two groups, the group receiving the cereal with small amounts of sodium dihydrogen phosphate added had 20 to 40 percent fewer cavities than the group which ate cereal without phosphate. Researchers say phosphate acts on the system rather than in direct contact with the teeth.

Rx FOR HOME FACIAL and mask treatment. The teenager who wants to enjoy the deep cleaning and luxurious feeling of a facial does not need to go to a professional salon. Take a good half hour and do this: Cover hair, clean the face thoroughly with soap and water, stir 1 tsp. tea leaves in to two cups boiling water; steam the face over this for five minutes, repeating the routine if skin is oily. Finishing with a mask tightens pores, smoothes skin, and gives an overall glow. Mask is made of a mixture of 2 tsp. raw oatmeal with enough honey to make a spreadable paste. Rinse off with warm water, followed by cool splash.

Elevations in Arizona vary from 141 to 6,907 feet.

Fashion Slant

The short A-line skirt swings into fall with a new look. It's an interesting chevron effect created by contrasting rib directions in three-wale cotton corduroy. The coordinated pullover in dashing stripes is accented by a men's wear belt.

Club Visits

Bee City

The 1954 Study Club took their annual field trip Thursday, November 19. Members traveled by car to Bee City, Erick, Oklahoma.

They toured Bee City, which is a bee farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm. They have 500,000 bees under glass. Members heard a lecture on the workings and habits of bees, and also saw a candle-making demonstration. A drawing for a free candle was held and it was won by Mrs. Harold Caldwell.

On their return trip, the members had lunch at the Maverick Restaurant at Shamrock.

Making the trip were Mrs. E. W. Clement, Mrs. Paul Spillman, Mrs. Harold Caldwell, Mrs. A. J. Fires, Mrs. Fred Cox, Jr., Mrs. Don Lacy,

Public Aid Seen Vital to Wildlife

SAN ANGELO.—A wildlife biologist admonished his associates that success of sound game management will come only through capable pursuit of public relations techniques even into the churches.

Addressing the Texas Chapter of the Wildlife Society, Joe T. Stevens of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department field staff, an ordained Baptist minister, stationed at Clifton, began his remarks with:

"Perplexing public relations problems in game management will not be solved with better plans and programs. 'Perplexing public relations problems in game management will not be solved with better plans and programs. They will be solved by men trained to cope with public relations problems and who are allowed to use this training.'"

Later he said: "Now with a surging human population explosion upon us, a new type of game manager must emerge—a man who will have to concentrate on sociological principles of human management so that the public will allow him to apply the sound biological principles that are already known and those that will be constantly discovered."

Near the end, Stevens said: "Psychologists and sociologists will both agree that religious beliefs greatly influence the actions of people. Therefore, the modern game manager will not overlook the vast public of organized religion. He will take advantage of the fact that practically all true conservation can be boiled down to moral issues and lay his cause heavily upon their consciences. By influencing this public and gaining their support, he will be leading them by the strings of cultural principles that are as deep as the roots of America itself."

Stevens urged game managers to vigorously cultivate communication media to assure that "an informed public marching with him in wildlife management will be an ample reward for his public relations efforts."

Game Warden Schools Peace Corps Worker

LUBBOCK.—Arthur "Tex" Hawkins, a 24-year-old Minnesotan, has departed for a Peace Corps assignment in Costa Rica after being schooled in wildlife management techniques by Lubbock Game Warden Bill Pratt, according to District Chief Ted Wheeler of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The trainee accompanied Warden Pratt on several different assignments and plans to apply Texas wildlife management practices in the wilds of Costa Rica.

Black Bass Feed on Valley Hiway

ROCKPORT.—Black bass will feed wherever the food can be found, even if it is on a state highway, according to E. G. Simmons, Parks and Wildlife Fisheries supervisor in South Texas.

On a recent inspection trip to storm-torn South Texas, Simmons was driving his car along a flooded farm-to-market road between Rio Hondo and Los Fresnos. The water was from two to ten inches deep on the road and he had stopped to watch crayfish washing across the road by the swift water.

To his surprise he saw fish feeding on the "crawdads." He found, on further investigation, that the fish were black bass. Simmons estimated the fish's weight as "1 to 3 pounds."

Study Shows Livestock, Meat Industry Changes

COLLEGE STATION.—Definite changes in the livestock and meat industry have resulted in growth of cattle feedlot facilities and specialized slaughtering plants in the Southwest, according to a research report just completed at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Raymond A. Dietrich, USDA economist assigned to the A&M Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department, said the report traces adjustments which have affected the entire marketing systems of the livestock and meat business.

Developments in food retailing, meat packaging, transportation, communications and cattle feeding have influenced the livestock and meat marketing picture during the past two decades, the report shows.

Large volume retail establishments, which generally feature fed beef, and a growing population with rising per capita incomes are important factors that have encouraged the surge of highly specialized, large-scale feedlots.

Dietrich said feedlots with a capacity to handle 1,000 or more cattle have more than tripled in Texas and Oklahoma from 1955-66. And indications are for cattle feeding to continue increasing in these states.

"Another interesting change is that the slaughtering industry is becoming more decentralized with more specialization and a movement toward areas of concentrated livestock production," the economist pointed out. "These actions are taken to cut procurement costs and to obtain adequate supplies of slaughter animals."

Federally inspected slaughter plants which specialize in cattle and calf slaughtering more than doubled in Texas and Oklahoma in the past 10 years, Dietrich added.

Dr. Tyrus R. Timm, head of the A&M Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department said the study is part of an expanding market research program being conducted at the university with the USDA.

"This research, like that with other major food items, is aimed at staying abreast of marketing changes so that the overall efficiency of the market system can continue to improve in all segments of our economy," Timm said.

Card of Thanks

May we express our sincere thanks to those of you who were so kind to us during Mr. Lindsey's stay in the hospital at Lubbock. Your prayers, cards, and visits were deeply appreciated. We are especially grateful to our neighbors for our homecoming reception. Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Lindsey.

We wish to express our appreciation for the many ways in which you expressed sympathy and concern during the illness and death of our loved one. We especially wish to thank the personnel at St. Joseph's Hospital, Dr. Holcomb, Rev. Leroy Gaston, Rev. Ellis Todd, those who brought food and the many who sent floral offerings, cards, and contributions to worthy causes. The family of Mrs. T. H. Rainer.

November 16 Is St. Joseph's Hospital Day—Mark It In Red

November 16 is not just Thursday. In Collingsworth it is St. Joseph's Hospital Day. It is the time set for one of the events when we will recognize the contribution of St. Joseph's Hospital to the county during the 29 years it has cared for our sick.

It will recognize the needs which the hospital faces now.

It will call attention to the faith our county leaders have in the future of the hospital and our own future when members of the hospital committee contracted for the purchase of a new x-ray machine which is one of St. Joseph's greatest needs.

We will highlight St. Joseph's day with a county-wide barbecue to be held in Wellington, and at that event there will be an auction of paintings and crafts by county artists. Proceeds from these events go into the St. Joseph's Hospital fund.

The support of every person is needed. It will not be hard to find someone selling barbecue tickets. We can't think of a better occasion to have fun and help a fine cause at the same time.

OTHER EDITORS SAY . . .

Get Ready to Vote

Voters will have a lot of opportunity to cast ballots in 1968, and it might be well to point out some of the new regulations that will cover voting requirements.

Of course, most people know that the poll tax requirement is out in Texas. This doesn't mean, however, that anyone can walk in off the street and vote in any election.

There are still registration requirements to be met.

Anyone who is 21 years of age and wishes to vote in 1968 must register before January 21, 1968. This includes citizens over 60 who have traditionally been exempt and were not required to register. All persons will be required to have their voter registration receipt when they go to the polls.

In Texas, we have always "scratched" the names of those we didn't want. Now we can mark an "X" in the square beside the name and will be casting a vote for that person.

There has been complaints from people who move around a lot that state voting requirements keep them from their rights as voters. To remedy that, the new Texas election code provides that votes may be cast for president and vice president next year even if the person has not lived in the state for a year. They can vote for state officers even if they have not lived in the county six months. If they have lived in the state a year, in the county six months, they can vote for all offices.

Write-in votes, a long time nuisance to election judges and tally clerks, will be disregarded except where there are not candidates and a write-in vote must be acknowledged.

Expense statements will have to be filed by opposed candidates only.

The new voting regulations are easy to learn and easy to follow. But people still need to become familiar with the changes. —The Sunday Herald

AUSTIN.—Gov. John Connally did what very few people in your capital city expected him to do when he announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election in 1968.

About the only person who really felt that he would not run, and said so, was Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, an already-announced candidate for Governor.

Connally's declaration brought forth many reactions.

Republicans felt it would add impetus to their 1968 campaign plans . . . which seem to include former attorney general Will Wilson in the governor's race.

Liberals listened for word from Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Houston lawyer Don Yarborough, and other potential gubernatorial candidates.

Anyway, 1968 promises to be one of those years when cowboys and Indians both may bite the dust. Things are pointing in that direction.

School Fund Fattened

State permanent school fund gained $4,100,000 as a result of the last oil, gas and sulphur lease sale of 1967.

Bidding averaged $45.27 an acre on 54,950 acres of oil and gas lands. Sulphur leases averaged $547.25 an acre on 3,005 acres.

Nueces County Gulf of Mexico oil-gas lease totalling 1,440 acres brought the top bid of $129,787 from Cities Service Oil Company. Top sulphur lease bid was $1,056,323 by W. C. Tilt for 555 acres in Culberson County near Van Horn.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler reported that the permanent school fund now totals $742,338,369.

War on Poverty

Nearly $210,000,000 in federal anti-poverty funds have poured into Texas the past two years. Annual report by the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity shows $98,900,000 authorized for spending on war on poverty projects during the fiscal year which ended August 31.

Money found its way into the largest and smallest counties and the richest and poorest. More than a third of the 1967 allocation — $34,500,000 — went to five Texas counties — Harris, Bexar, Dallas, El Paso and Webb.

Nearly $45,000,000 of the state wide 1967 total was for Community Action programs, including Operation Head Start for pre-school children, health programs, neighborhood centers, concentrated employment programs to recruit, train and place hard-core unemployed, legal aid and adult services.

Neighborhood Youth Corps Activities, reaching some 18,463 students, were allocated $20,118,710 for the year. Job Corps training at Gary Center in San Marcos, the McKinney women's unit, and the New Waverly rural center for men received another $17,340,026.

Assistance to migrants and seasonal farm workers totalled more than $6,300,000; college work study allocations, $3,900,000; co-op loans to farm families, $1,700,000; the work experience program, $2,000,000; plus and Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), $1,200,000.

Insurance Probe on Banks

State Insurance Board reports a statewide investigation has disclosed credit insurance irregularities in 24 Texas banks.

Ten more investigation reports are outstanding.

Board announced investigations at a public hearing on credit insurance rates and coverages. Board Chairman Wm. Hunter McLean said that investigation of credit insurance practices may be expanded into other lending fields.

Texans paid nearly $50,000,000 in premiums last year for credit life and credit health and accident insurance — coverage which provides for settlement of debts in event a borrower dies or is disabled.

Texas Bankers Association spokesmen reminded that there are 1,150 banks in the state, many of which rely on insurance companies for advice on insurance matters. He pledged prompt correction of any violations.

Courts Speak

State Supreme Court has held that paving assessments must be based on official city-prepared estimates of costs before improvements are made. Decision reversed lower courts that upheld assessments against a Houston woman's property.

High court agreed with lower courts that an employee of an El Paso County commissioner who worked 18 months without pay was entitled to $4,000 in damages and $2,500 in attorney's fees.

Third Court of Civil Appeals backed the district court in Burnet County in its decision that a suit to block an election on incorporation of the town of Granite Shoals was improperly brought by private citizens.

Guard Aid Granted

Cost of National Guard aid to civil authorities in the Hurricane Beulah disaster was ordered paid by Gov. Connally. Governor granted his entire deficiency appropriation of $200,000, plus $6,582 from his office's appropriations, for payments of disaster claims.

Adjutant General's Department figured the Guard payroll for the disaster period at $160,000, rations at $23,490, medical supplies and expenses at $11,000 and the balance for miscellaneous expenses.

Draft Quota Set

Texas draft boards will call 3,458 men for pre-induction mental and physical examinations in December, says State Selective Service Director Col. Morris S. Schwartz.

Boards will send 4,650 for this examination in November. December induction quota for 155 boards is 924 men, compared with 1,159 for November, 977 for October, 1,180 for September, 1,421 for August and 974 for July.

Inductions are scheduled for the period Dec. 1-15. December's state call is a portion of the national quota of 18,200, all for the Army.

Water Costs Eyed

Staggering cost of transporting water to various parts of Texas was reviewed by Texas Water Development Board.

Staff aides told the Board that they figured it would take three-tenths of a cent per kilowatt hour to pay for power to bring water needed into West and South Texas. Board members indicated they feared that the estimate was too low.

Aides calculated it would cost $1,810,000,000 to deliver three million acre-feet of water a year to Cooper Reservoir in West Texas to irrigate 1,500,000 acres.

Dear Editor:

Word has leaked down from Expertypus that a high percentage of four-footed American hogs have got stomach ulcers.

My ulcer harassed neighbor says likely the porkers' painful plight is due to unfeeling hog-herders who don't even try to keep the animals from learning about the ignobility of their purpose in life.

Says his personal ulcers came when it dawned on him that the people-herders have decreed that his whole life's purpose shall be that of a keeper of politicians and other freeloading brothers.

Baylor Instructor Studies Southwestern Indian Art

As a boy Paul Kemp used to search freshly-plowed fields and rocky ravines in New Mexico for Indian arrowheads and pottery.

Kemp, now grown and teaching art at Baylor University, hasn't forgotten his boyhood interests.

For years he has studied archeology and pre-Columbian art.

And he is convinced there are many discoveries to be made in the American Southwest. Next summer he hopes to begin digging, or excavating.

His boyhood interest has grown into a fascination with Indian pottery art, which Kemp said shows "an honesty of work."

According to Kemp, the southwestern American Indians used art for religious and decorative purposes.

The Indians painted their pottery, which they used in everyday life, for decoration.

"Indian art was strong all the way through," he said, "and though very primitive, it had a spirit of its own."

Kemp, who teaches printmaking and metalwork at Baylor, said his best chance for excavating objects of art will be Indian burial grounds.

He said the Indians often buried their dead in trash heaps where the digging was easy. They also buried pottery and basket food containers with their dead. They believed the dead would need food for the afterlife.

The burial pottery, plus that found in the trash heaps, will hopefully net Kemp a good collection of Indian pottery art.

One of Kemp's biggest problems will be patience.

He said he will have to dig slowly and with small instruments so as not to break any of the pottery.

Kemp said that only recognized professional archeologists are permitted to excavate on government-owned land. He said that he will have to find his burial grounds on privately owned property.

Wellington FHA Plans Activities

The Wellington Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met November 13 in the high school library. The roll was called by collection of stamped, unsigned Christmas cards which will be sent to the patients of the State hospital in Wichita Falls for their own use.

Yearbooks were distributed by Joye Hudspeth, yearbook chairman.

The various projects were then discussed. Metal parts from costume jewelry and old glasses frames are used to make glasses for those who are in need of them. This project "New Eyes for the Needy" is one of the projects the FHA chapter is working toward.

Fifteen pounds of "goodies" were sent to men in Vietnam and these will be distributed for Thanksgiving.

The program was given by four FHA members who attended the Texas Youth Conference.

Hostesses included Frances Hays, Cathy Thomason, Phyllis Thomas and Linda Orr.

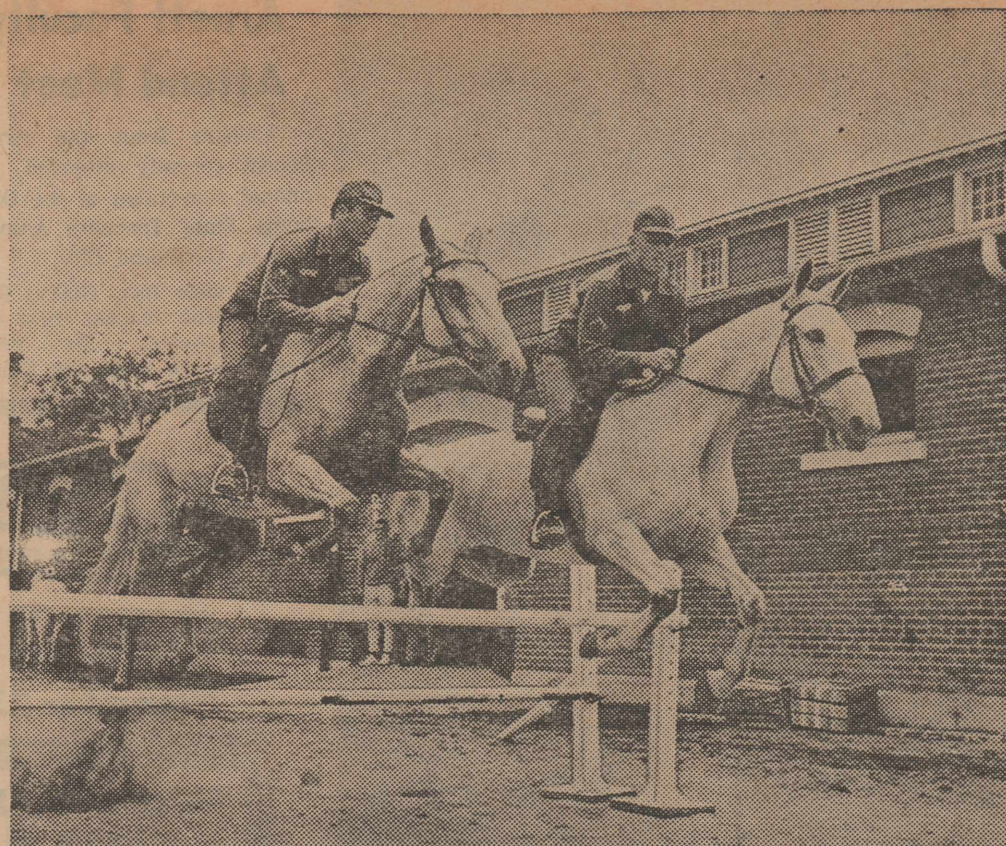

Thirty-six members attended along with two chapter mothers and the FHA advisor, Mrs. Dee Coleman.

Arnett 4-Hers Named to Offices

Eighteen members of the 4-H Clubs of Harmon County met in the extension offices at Hollis to elect county officers in the 4-H Clubs in junior leadership.

The president is Bruce Rumbaugh, vice president is Steve Sikes, secretary is Lana Richardson and reporter is Cathy Carter, all of Arnett, and the recreational leader is Debra Hardin of Hollis.

Plans were made for the annual 4-H banquet to be held Dec. 2 at Hollis.

A CAVALRY CHARGE is highly unlikely among the thinning ranks of Army horses, but taking jumps is still part of their training at Ft. Myer, Arlington, Va., where 28 horses are kept for pulling caissons at military funerals.

CJC Entertains the Skyrockets

The Clarendon College Bulldogs are hosting a double-header on Nov. 17 and 18, featuring two games each evening.

The first of the two-game series will be played in Bulldog Fieldhouse at Clarendon Friday evening. The Midwestern Junior Varsity will meet Cisco Junior College at 6:30 p.m. and the Clarendon Bulldogs will take on Lamar Junior College at 8:30.

The foursome will move to the high school gymnasium at Hedley on Saturday night. Midwestern and Lamar will play at 6:30 and the Clarendon - Cisco game will get under way at 8:30. Basketball coaches and their boys' teams from Clarendon, Memphis, Hedley, Childress, Quanah, Wellington and Groom will be the special guests of the Clarendon College Athletic Department at the Friday and Saturday night games.

Cold Brings Moisture Problem

COLLEGE STATION.— Cold weather brings on special problems with air moisture in the home. The ideal of 50 to 55 percent relative humidity is often hard to achieve, points out W. S. Allen, Extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M University.

If the air in the home is too moist, it can cause window sweating, mildew, and undesirable odors. Allen offers these suggestions as aids to solving the problem.

If the house has a crawl space with no basement, use a thin polyethylene sheet plastic to cover the ground under the house. Or, excessive moisture can be helped by an exhaust fan in the kitchen, bathroom or laundry room. These areas contribute most toward raising the relative humidity. Operation of the fan need not be continuous, but only when these areas are not in use. A dehumidifier will provide positive moisture removal when other measures have failed. Many of the condensation or sweating conditions on walls and windows in residences may require structural changes to completely remedy the problem, says the engineer.

For the house with low humidity or dry air problems, Allen suggests such remedies as less frequent operation of ventilation fans or simply even boiling water on the range to add moisture. Low humidity means the room temperature must be kept higher for good body comfort. Raising the relative humidity can lower heating costs. Respiratory health problems may also be aggravated by too dry air. A humidifier will also add moisture to the air. Humidifier units are available in a range of sizes and types.

EXPERIENCED SAVERS

The Texas Highway Department has had 50 years of experience in paving costs and putting 99% of its funds into highways. Less than 1 cent of each highway dollar goes into administration.

Now It's New Paper Rugs!

COLLEGE STATION.— First came paper clothes and paper furniture. Now paper rugs join the list of items to use now and then toss away.

Temporary or throwaway rugs can add that needed bit of interest to an otherwise dull room, says Miss Bonny Lay, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas A&M University.

Miss Lay calls the designs striking. One, she says, actually is a collage of newsprint with stories, advertisements and a crossword puzzle. Another has a paint-by-number plan, complete with paints.

Most of the rugs are from three by five feet to three by seven feet and range in cost from $20 to $35. Some of the rugs are fireproof, the specialist adds, and can be sponged with a mild detergent.

Select one of the colorful, op art-designed disposable rugs to add instant zest to your room, Miss Lay suggests.

Wellington FTA Goes to Meet

Forty-seven members of the Wellington chapter of Future Teachers of America attended the District IX annual convention at West Texas State University Tuesday, Nov. 7.

The keynote speaker for the opening session was John H. Lovelady, staff consultant of Texas State Teachers Association. Ann Glasson, District IX president, presided and introduced the speaker.

Officers were elected during the second general session. Jane Thompson of Wellington was a nominee for financial secretary.

In the afternoon, the Wellington chapter directed a workshop on projects, merits and awards, with Cherry Lewis, president, and Patricia Young participating, with Mrs. Bernice Welch as advisor.

Mr. and Miss FTA were chosen at the last session. Polly Browning was given a certificate for competing in the contest on a chapter level.

Entertainment was by a folk group from Tascosa High School.

First Atomic Explosion for Industrial Purposes Due Soon

The first atomic explosion for industrial purposes is scheduled soon.

The big blast will take place four-fifths of a mile beneath Carson National Forest in northwestern New Mexico when a nuclear device with the power of 26,000 tons of TNT is detonated.

Called Project Gasbuggy, the venture sponsored jointly by the Atomic Energy Commission and a natural gas company, could, if successful, open the way for the production of enormous new supplies of natural gas to help meet the nation's burgeoning needs for petroleum energy, according to the Fall 1967 issues of "Petroleum Today."

Noting that the U.S. today relies on natural gas for one-third of its energy requirements, the American Petroleum Institute publication states that the demand for natural gas has increased 19-fold over the past 45 years. Looking ahead, it points out that Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall has called for the addition of 30 trillion cubic feet of natural gas annually to the nation's reserves to serve the growing population.

Petroleum Today explains that natural gas is so tightly locked in the subterranean rock under New Mexico that normal production techniques cannot free it economically. The purpose of the explosion is to fracture large sections of the rock and, hopefully, make the trapped gas more readily accessible.

The actual blast won't provide much of a show for the official observers on the scene, the magazine says. The real spectacular will happen underground, and "it will happen fast."

In less than one-millionth of a second, the blast will vaporize, crush and melt the rock that holds the locked-in gas. At one-tenth of a second, a spherical cavity will expand into the gas-bearing formation under the extremely high pressure of the hot gases released by the blast. The end result will be the creation of what the article describes as a "natural-gas storage tank."

"The success of Project Gasbuggy will not be known for several years," Petroleum Today emphasizes. "Not until the exhaustive process of evaluating the tests has been completed. This process will begin as soon as the blast is over."

Fire Damages Storage Room

Fire of undetermined origin damaged a storage room in the back yard at the home of Mrs. Bura Handley Monday, Nov. 13. Fire Marshall Donald Nunnally reported.

Most of the damage was from smoke rather than fire, he added. The fire was discovered about 3:30 p.m.

SALT FORK SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

PARALLEL TERRACES ARE UNDER CONSTRUCTION IN SALT FORK SCD

By Jon LaBaume

Parallel terrace construction has begun in the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District.

Ervin Emmert, who farms on Elm Creek, was the first to begin construction. E. E. Darrow will soon begin construction on his parallel terrace system north of Dozier.

Ervin is terracing approximately 40 acres and E. E. is terracing approximately 125 acres.

C. E. Pitts, who farms in the Swearingen area will soon start on his system.

There are several other farmers who will begin their parallel terrace system after cotton is harvested from their fields.

Most of the farmers are using the Great Plains Conservation Program to cost share the terraces.

Information about parallel terraces can be obtained from your SWCD supervisors or the Soil Conservation Service.

Forbis Applies for Graduation

Rommie Max Forbis is among the seniors of Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla., to apply for graduation in January, according to Registrar Marion Diel.

Mr. Forbis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eron Forbis, is majoring in accounting and business administration.

Requirements for degrees will be completed by the 168 seniors and 11 graduate students at the end of the fall semester, and degrees will be awarded at the spring convocation in May.

Three Accidents Reported in City

Three vehicle accidents occurred in Wellington Thursday and Friday, Nov. 2 and 3, Police Chief Donald Nunnelley has reported. Two were at the same location only a few hours apart. No injuries were reported.

Thursday night, the car driven by Linda Kay Belew, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Belew, went out of control in the 900 block of East Avenue and struck a car belonging to Sam Lindsey of Odessa, Chief Nunnelley said. The car was parked in front of the home of Lindsey's mother, Mrs. S. L. Lindsey.

Total damage was estimated by Chief Nunnelley at $1,800 to $2,000.

First of the two Friday collisions at the northwest corner of the square occurred about 9:30 a.m. when the car driven by Homer Holton and one driven by C. D. Messer collided, according to Chief Nunnelley, who said damage would amount to about $300.

The second collision at this location came about 3:15 p.m. between cars driven by Beth Smith and Rufus Garza Sosa. Chief Nunnelley said the damage would amount to $600 or more.

Texas State Parks contain 6.3 acres per thousand population, or a block of land approximately 17 feet square per person.

Average Texas oil well yields 14.7 barrels per day.

We Vote For or Against
Our Own Welfare

SPEND a dollar in our home area and it's a YES vote on whether we want a chance to get it back.

But...what is more important...it is also a YES vote on whether we want that dollar to keep circulating around among us, building trade volume and fattening our home economy.

Voting FOR more business here where you live is a smart move. It perks up our schools, churches, and other community blessings...and makes it easier for you to make more money here.

Or, in the name of Charity, you may want less for yourself, so you can help some other area's people to get ahead.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

It is official now. Both Judge Zook Thomas and Mayor John Coleman have issued proclamations designating Thursday, Nov. 16 at St. Joseph's Hospital Day in Collingsworth County and in the City of Wellington. It is a time when we should dedicate our thoughts to the essential services rendered by the hospital and the importance of keeping it operating under its present management.

Fall in all its splendid blaze of colors has provided numberless beautiful scenes for the people of this community in recent weeks. It is not too late to see the wonderful foliage in this county on the dirt roads bordering Salt Fork, Buck Creek and Elm. And if that does not provide sufficient beauty, take time in the evening to enjoy the magnificent sunsets.

An effort is being made to open the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge to elk hunting. Glenn Shelton discusses the proposal in his column in the Wichita Falls Record News:

The refuge now has about 550 elk in the big game pastures, but seeks to keep its herd to 350. And with a 17 to 25 percent annual increase about 87 animals a year are "surplus" and must be removed, and usually are shot.

Proponents of the plan therefore say that hunters might as well shoot them as anybody else, "a gun is the same, regardless of whose hand holds it," and that hunting would treat the elk as a big game animal instead of livestock."

All of which has a cold logic. But as one who grew up in the shadows of the aged-old Wichitas, and who roamed the rustic stretches from Snyder and Mountain Park to Lawton even before it became a government refuge, I hope this proposal dies a painless death. Open a section of the refuge to hunters and you open the doors. Soon it would become nothing more than shooting galleries, dance halls and hamburger stands; hardly a refuge for people, not to mention animals.

Hunters flocked here last Saturday from many places and there were some reports of stolen bird dogs and arrests for hunting on posted land; but on the whole most of the hunters were well mannered and were hunting on land where they had permission. It is a few careless hunters who make it increasingly difficult for the courteous, careful majority to find good hunting places each year. And this business of having Collingsworth and Wheeler counties open ahead of Childress and Hemphill adds to the general confusion.

Just to remind myself of an artist who could draw a horse that looked like a horse I started looking at the pictures in "The Frederick Remington Book" which contains over 400 illustrations of this great artist's work in depicting the old West. Remington painted horses, cowboys, mountain men, Indians, soldiers and about everything else that existed in the west a century ago. His work done from sketches made on his travels is the most remarkable collection of horses in motion in existence. He sketched horses in every conceivable moving position and all of them were authentic. He traveled all over the west when it was still in a state of changing turmoil. There was nothing sissy about this

P&W Stocks 185 Afghan Pheasants

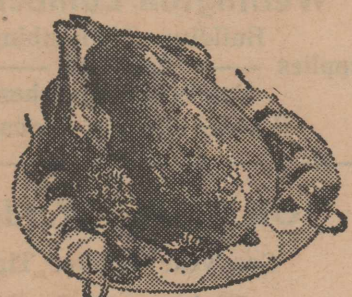

AUSTIN.—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department released 185 Afghan white-winged pheasants in Lynn and Hale counties in West Texas during September, according to Joe Davidson, exotic bird specialist for the Department.

The birds, produced on the state game bird farm in Tyler, were released experimentally in alfalfa, corn, milo maize and pasture land in the two West Texas counties.

Davidson said the stockings were made in areas where changing land uses and practices have removed much of the native bird habitat.

artist who was also heavyweight boxing champion at Yale.

Eugene Delacroix was an artist of a different school. who died in 1863 just two years after Remington was born; but each of these great artists had one characteristic in common. If they set out to paint something you could tell what it was without any printed instructions or oral advice. If Delacroix painted a nude, you knew at first glance that it was not a portrait of a high born lady in an evening gown.

Quail School

The accreditation report praised the policies of the school board, according to the superintendent.

Recommendations were made that the science department be improved, that inadequate lighting be corrected, the library improved and the curriculum enriched.

Mr. Haynie said the school plans to have consultants from the Texas Education Agency to advise in improving its science department and library. These are set tentatively for the first week in December.

"The school board adopted a policy that will require the faculty to participate in a minimum of four in-service training programs during each school year," the superintendent said.

First of these will be an English workshop in Amarillo, sponsored by PESO on Saturday, Dec. 2. Going from Quail will be Larry Hight, Mrs. Jim Lowe, John Alf Thomas, and Mrs. Raymond Hodges. Board policy stipulates that expenses of the in-service trips, and of substitute teachers if necessary be paid by the school.

Hospital Staff

Operating Room Techniques is but one of the Amarillo College related programs through which the school is seeking to ease the shortage of trained hospital personnel in the Panhandle.

An advanced course in operating room technique is scheduled for spring and the three St. Joseph's staff members have enrolled.

Two other members of the staff have now begun additional training. Sister Perpetua and Mrs. Ernest Lee Maxwell, office employees, are enrolled in an accounting course at Draughon's Business College in Amarillo. King Bowen, maintenance engineer, is enrolled in an advanced accounting course.

Dixons Re-Open 83 Truck Stop

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dixon have re-opened the 83 Truck Stop across the highway from the compress and are now open for business.

They ran the restaurant for several months last year before moving to Arkansas.

They say "We invite all of our old customers to come to see us and we will welcome new ones."

WHAT'S THE GOOD WORD?

A dictionary of synonyms lists more than 500 for the word "bad", only 123 for "good", which seems to indicate there is nearly five times as much wrong with the world as there is right.
