City Manager Plans February Retirement

Stamford Next Stop For Wolves in District 5-AA

City Manager Ford Merritt will retire from City Hall early in 1968. The manager, who first went to work at City Hall in 1937, has told City Council he is planning to leave the manager's post about February 1.

However, he has not submitted formal resignation, according to Mayor John Chinn.

Merritt, who served for years as city secretary under several managers and then moved up to the manager's position, is planning his departure as he reaches age 65.

That's the age level for usual retirement for municipal employees. His tenure could be extended year-by-year by special City Council action.

Merritt told the Record, though, that he planned definitely to quit the managership even if requested to continue temporarily.

"There certainly is no friction or anything like that," he said. "I have some other interests, some cattle and I want to devote my time to those interests."

Notice of his intentions was given informally to council members.

"A year or two ago I asked Ford to please give us plenty of notice when he decided that he wanted to retire or make a change," the mayor said, "and he has let us know so we can study the appointment of his successor for several months."

"The Council has discussed the upcoming change just a little bit but this has been informally and has not progressed to any serious point."

When Merritt went to work at City Hall after a business career here in Colorado City, there were only three paved streets reaching up into the residential area — Cedar, Hickory and Chestnut, as far as 10th Street.

Colorado High Wolves move onto the road Friday night for their second night out in 5-AA District football.

Their opponents will be Stamford Bulldogs, the club which knocked off pre-season favorite Anson, 7 to 6, last weekend.

It will be an uphill battle for the Wolves, who earlier in the season after three straight convincing triumphs, were routed over Stamford.

Last Friday the Wolves fell before Hamlin, 26 to 6, in their 3-AA opener. That was defeat No. 3 and balanced C-City's season record at 2-3.

The two other 3-AA contests this Friday night also pit losers in district openers against winners—Anson, loser last week to Stamford, travels to nearby Haskell, which won its sixth straight game of the season against Winters, 25 to 0. Winters, victorious only once in five tries this season, isn't likely to improve when it journeys to Hamlin.

In Stamford, Coach Truman Nix's team will collide with a team which ran for 223 yards last week against Anson while allowing only 77 yards passing.

So, with Colorado's potent running attack, the game could develop into one of the season's most exciting and bruising encounters.

Dwain Nauert hustled across the goal line from 10 yards in the final quarter for Stamford's touchdown against Anson. The conversion which followed proved to be the winning margin, for Stamford's defense held against a two-point conversion attempt after Anson scored with 75 seconds remaining in the game.

Bureau To Elect Annual County Meeting Saturday

Mitchell County Farm Bureau members will meet in their annual session Saturday evening to elect six board members and adopt resolutions.

The meeting will be at 7 p.m. in Medallion Room of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative Inc., according to Murrell Blassingame, Farm Bureau president.

Business session will follow a covered dish supper. Twelve candidates will be on the ballot for the six county board places — Blassingame, B. B. Byrne, Clyde Wayne Feaster, H. C. Lindsey, Charles Holman and Rex McKenney, all currently serving as directors; and Raymond Watlington, Billy Cornutt, A. M. Beights Jr., C. N. Stubblefield, Dewey Turner and Pat McPhaul.

Holdover directors for 1968 include Travis Turner, J. Wiley Walker, Jimmy Henderson, Harry Dockrey, Bill Harris and J. E. Tiller.

Resolutions adopted Saturday will be presented at the Texas Farm Bureau's 34th annual convention next month in Austin when the state organization will adopt policies to guide the Texas Farm Bureau in 1968.

State convention will open Nov. 12 and voting on resolutions will begin Nov. 14, continuing into the final day of the state meeting, Nov. 15.

Recommendations on state and national issues are adopted first at the county level, then a 39-member state resolutions committee drafts tentative resolutions which are submitted to voting delegates at the state convention.

This week C. H. DeVaney, state bureau president, issued a call from Waco for county bureaus to muster.

David Terry and Patrice Baumann, a pair of junior students lead Loraine High School's National Honor Society "top 10" for first six weeks of school.

Terry compiled the top average of 97.819, less than one point above the No. 2 ranking scholar, Miss Baumann.

A framed display of photos and scholastic ranks of the 10 highest ranking National Honor Society students is placed in the foyer of Loraine High.

Ranking of the students is determined following each six weeks grade period with grades averaged from the date the students entered the 9th grade and extending through the last six weeks period, according to Preston C. Lightfoot, faculty advisor.

Post Office Job Okayed For Expanding Parking, Drive Area

General Services Administration has informed Congressman Omar Burleson an expansion of parking and drive facilities is on tap for Colorado City Post Office.

Burleson notified Sefton A. Pickens, Chamber of Commerce manager, Wednesday following a statement by John M. McGee, regional administrator for GSA in Fort Worth.

The project — to increase the concrete parking area at the rear northside of the Post Office and to open the parking area on west side into a paved alley connecting with West Third St. — was proposed by the Chamber of Commerce manager when the city began its concrete paving program for downtown alleys.

Pickens, City Manager Ford Merritt and J. Ralph Lee suggested that the enlarged parking area — along with the new opening onto West Third via a paved alley route — would facilitate the handling of motorized mail delivery and ease a serious traffic and safety problem.

After the project was proposed, the Chamber manager enlisted the interest of Congressman Burleson, who has kept in contact with federal agencies.

"It looks as if persistence pays," Burleson wrote the Chamber manager, "and you will note that funds from the Post Office Department will be made available for this purpose, even though, as I explained previously, General Services Administration can not use its own funds for this purpose."

"Mr. McGee states that this will take care of the entire problem as I suggested in my Sept. 30 letter."

"My letter of that date," Burleson stated, "outlined a proposal for opening up more parking area, to the rear of the Post Office, along with the paving of the alley, which is outlined as a safety feature for trucks delivering and receiving mail and also providing a larger parking area for all rural mail carriers and postal employees."

McGee, the GSA regional administrator, said he was pleased to see the project move forward.

Felony Cases To New Grand Jury

Mitchell County grand jury opens its October term today (Thursday) with at least seven felony cases before it.

The jury will be selected from 20 persons called by the jury commission.

In the group of potential grand jury members are Robert Boin, Route 2; Louis Rees and David Anderson, Westbrook; Sidney Compton, Route 3; Kenneth Butler, Loraine; L. S. Girvin Jr., Route 3; Waddell Strain, Route 1; W. H. Boney, Eddie Braswell, James Cox, Route 1; Don DeLaney, E. B. Carlock, Wendell Banks, Loraine; Ralph Lankford, Loraine; Calvin Forbus, Loraine; Mrs. H. P. Vest, Mrs. James E. Payne, Mrs. Murrell Blassingame, Route 1; Mrs. W. E. Welter and Humberto Calderon, Loraine, Route 3.

District Attorney Weldon Kirk was in Colorado City during the first of the week making final preparation for presentation of cases to the grand jury.

These cases include: Sudie Bob Joyner, Lloyd Luceford and Lofton Pope Luceford, all charged with subsequent offense, driving while intoxicated; John Del Real, charged with maiming Earnest Luera and Jimmy Luera, charged with assault to murder; Richard Johnson, charged with entering a vehicle.

Horace Lee Williams of Loraine, found guilty of murder without malice by a 32nd District Court, will be sentenced Friday morning by Judge Austin O. McCloud.

The jury last week pronounced Williams guilty of murder without malice in connection with the pistol death of Millard Holland, 62, last March, then returned the following day to assess a prison sentence of 3 years 6 months.

Don DeLaney was foreman of the jury which included R. J. Wood, George E. Proctor Jr., Billy R. Cornutt, J. B. Autry, Mrs. M. C. Bynum, Mrs. A. L. Geer, Thomas Bob Long, Vernon Lewis, G. M. Lee, Bobby Kimmell and C. L. Carrasco.

Williams, who told the court he shot Holland in self defense, received a two year suspended sentence May 28, 1959.

A $100 fine was assessed George Regaldo in County Court Monday when he pleaded guilty to unlawfully carrying a pistol.

Regaldo was arrested Saturday after city police received a report of shooting from a car.

Baby Girl Rites Held

Funeral for Wilma Jean Pilkington, 22-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pilkington, 1119 Elm St., was conducted Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. Larry Lakey, pastor of First Assembly of God Church.

The baby girl, born in Loraine Dec. 6, 1965, died after a week's illness in Johnson Hospital at Loraine, Friday at 3:40 p.m.

Services were held here in Kiker & Son Funeral Chapel with burial in Colorado City cemetery.

Surviving are her parents, two sisters, Mary Joe and Kathy Ann, two brothers, Charles Ray and Sammy Dean, all of the home; Mrs. Betty Green of Colorado City, paternal grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Garrett, maternal grandparents, all of Colorado City.

College Career Day Planned

A college career day program for Colorado High seniors is being prepared for Nov. 7.

Dalton Keeth, director of guidance for the high school, is planning the program to provide senior students with opportunities and requirements in colleges and commercial institutions.

The program will be conducted in the afternoon school hours with individual counseling with representatives from the colleges, plus an open forum with a panel of college representatives.

Keeth said two business colleges, three junior colleges, seven senior colleges supported by churches and five state colleges will send representatives to Colorado High to participate in career day.

In addition representatives from the U. S. Marine Corps and U. S. Air Force also participate, to explain requirements for military service.

Denominational colleges to be represented include Abilene Christian College, Austin College in Sherman, Baylor University in Waco, Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, McMurry College in Abilene, Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Trinity University in San Antonio.

Date Set For Deer Permits

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has announced the dates and locations for issuing antlerless deer permits in eight of the 10 regulatory responsibility districts.

Date for Mitchell County will be Oct. 27. Permits will be issued to qualified landowners or the appointed representatives by tween 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on the date and location as indicated for each county. Permits must be drawn in the county where they are to be used.

Section 6 of Senate Bill 295, passed by the last legislature prohibits the Department from issuing permits later than 10 days prior to the opening of the deer season. If the landowner or appointed representative does not draw permits before the deadline, then permits cannot be issued for the 1967 hunting season.

In the Southeast and Northeast Texas Regulatory Districts, the population surveys have not been completed. If surplus deer are found, then times, dates, and locations will be announced.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Friends:

My wife and I want to take this opportunity to express our appreciation for the many gifts and prayers given for us.

It is good to know that there are still people with old-fashioned hearts, not afraid to show interest in another's needs. We do appreciate it more than you realize.

We want to thank The Colorado City Record for the interest they have shown in us. Thank you.

Perry Ellwoods Have Baby Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Perry R. Ellwood of Grapevine are parents of a baby daughter, born to them in Denton, Sept. 25.

The baby, named Sheila Blach, weighed 6 lbs. 14 oz. at birth.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Ellwood of Colorado City and Williams Bay, Wisconsin, are paternal grandparents. Maternal grandparents live in England.

Self Culture Club Honors President

Salad supper in the home of Mrs. R. M. Reed honored Mrs. E. L. Tiller, president of Self Culture Study Club. Supper was served buffet style from a serving table decorated with fall flowers and a pink and white angel food cake, baked for the occasion by Mrs. Leslie Keith. Mrs. Tiller gave a brief resume of plans for the club year after the supper hour.

Mrs. Reed, assisted by Mrs. Paul Beeman, presented the program, a parliamentary drill and a "Dr.

I.Q." question and answer session.

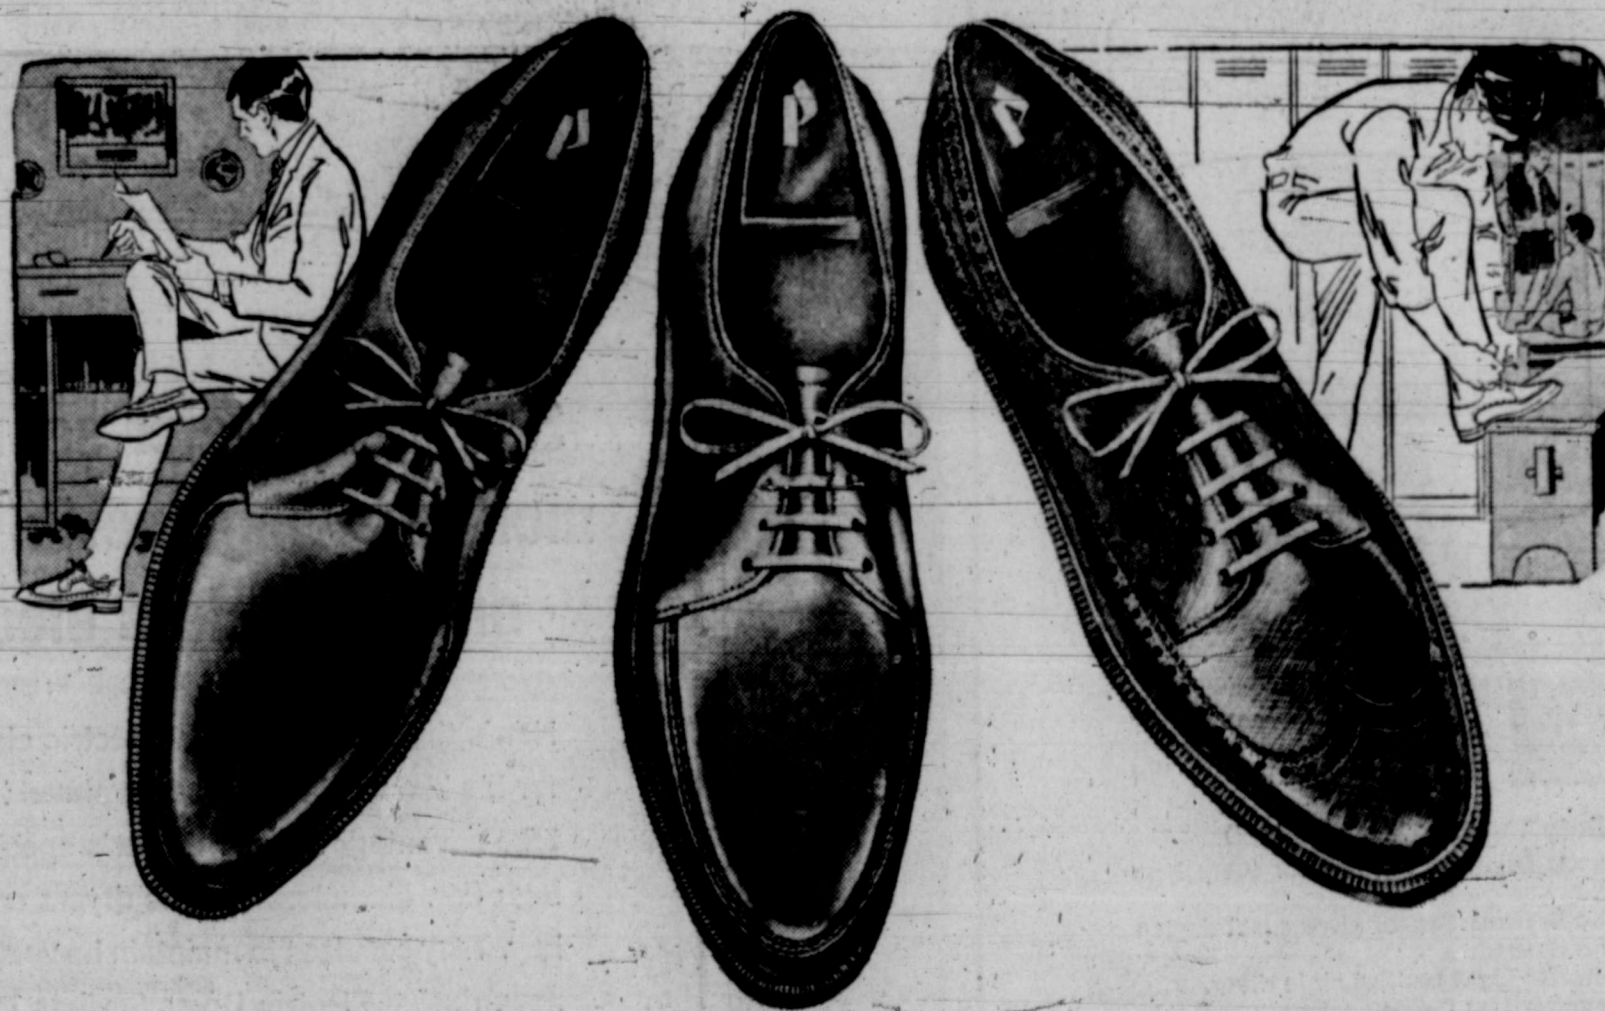

Mrs. A. A. Herrington and Mrs. John Brown tied for the honor of answering the most questions correctly.

Meeting Friday, Oct. 20, will be hosted by Mrs. E. L. Tiller. Subject for study will be "Significant New Trends in Poetry." Mrs. Edwin Whitmore will review "Prayers From The Ark," and Mrs. L. B. Elliott will present "Poetry In Praise Of."

Electric appliance dealers in this area in cooperation with Texas Electric Service Company have launched a two-month Electric Dryer Savings Carnival.

During October and November, participating dealers have a special wiring allowance offer for purchasers of electric dryers to be served from the lines of Texas Electric Service Company.

Dealers also offer a wide selection of models of dryers to fit the needs and pocketbooks of those who want to save time and work in drying the family's clothes. The electric company's promotion campaign and advertising by local dealers will tie in with advertising in national magazines and on TV by dryer manufacturers and trade associations. Dealers here who are participating in the two-month promotion have been supplied with colorful window banners designed around the carnival theme. Some dealers also will conduct in-store demonstrations of electric dryers.

Several makes of dryers also will be displayed in Texas Electric's office for the convenience of those wishing to compare the products of different manufacturers or to get other information about dryers.

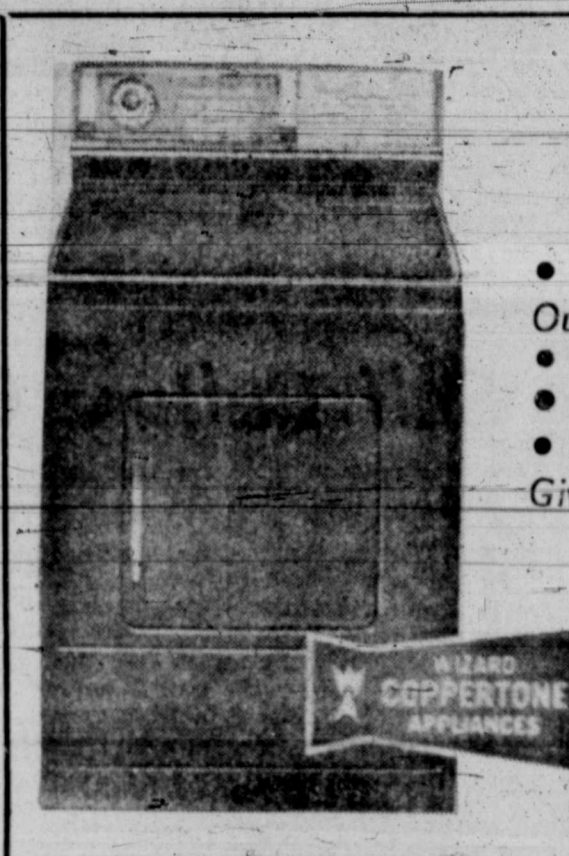

Details of the electric company's promotion plan to help increase sales of electric dryers were described to appliance dealers in this area at a recent meeting.

Modern electric laundry equipment is changing the types of fabric in uniforms worn for institutional purposes. The fast washing and drying process now available with modern electric washers and dryers, according to the Live Better Electrically Program of Edison Electric Institute, has affected the selection of uniform fabrics.

With today's flameless electric washers and clothes dryers the new man-made fabrics can be washed easily and emerge practically wrinkle free — or requiring only the minimum amount of ironing.

The laundering advantages of these new fibers not only enable quick changes but require less uniform purchases. Many institutions, such as schools, business concerns and hospitals, where uniforms are required, consider the installation of total electric laundry centers a good investment for care of such garments.

Finley Shows Fair's Grand Champ Heifer

Robert Dale Finley, a first year member of the Loraine Future Farmer Chapter, exhibited the grand champion Hereford heifer of the Big County Fair at Sweetwater, last week.

Showing a senior heifer calf, "Miss Battle Master," Finley took first place with his brother Ronnie taking second place in the senior heifer calf class, before being named grand champion. Robert's heifer was from a registered Hereford cow that he owns and that is fitting for the various shows during January through March 1968.

Besides receiving the grand champion Rosette, $25 for first place and $25 for grand champion Hereford heifer, Finley received the Sweetwater Area Hereford Association Hereford Trophy for exhibiting the grand champion.

CONVERSATION CORNER

LISTENING to music to go to bed by, late last night, heard an old melody with lyrics that go "If I could live my life over, I'd do the same things again..."

Hit the pillow thinking, Well, you might as well feel that way about it. It's pretty doggone certain you're not likely to get the chance to live life over and do some other things!

Just the same, it's an idea to turn over in the mind. If you could live your life over, would you do the same things again?

WHICH things would you change... which things would you just love to do again?

Would not tell that first grade teacher first day of school, "Of course I can read..." and get demoted to learning the alphabet first time she handed me a first reader.

Would not try to eat a prickly pear while Daddy fixed that flat tire.

Would not inform the open-mouthed children in the neighborhood that I was really a gypsy child named Jennie Schwartz — not even to impress them again all over the place.

Would not study French... or refuse to wear glasses.

WOULD... Oh, yes, I would read everything in sight, once I got the hang of it.

Would swing again on the grapevine swing across the creek... spend the summer barefoot... and relish the changing of the seasons.

Would gorge myself on sour pickles, lemon with salt, strawberry-soda pop, and toasted marshmallows at every opportunity.

Would still believe in love and the essential good in most people... would remember how it feels to be a child... to be young and in love. To be young and married and fiercely maternal.

Would marry young again... and mother children early while courage and strength and dreams were still in full flower.

DO THE SAME things again?

Well... yes and no. Would not cry over minor catastrophes so much... the burned roast, lost little shoe, ink on the rug, scorch on the tablecloth, supper gone cold while the golf game stayed hot.

Would save all tears for the real woes of this earth... war and wounds, disease and poverty, violence, senseless deaths, cruelty in any form.

Would still feel the same way about money and worldly goods — nice if acquired honestly, wonderful if worked for, but not so essential as things like a good laugh, the smell of autumn in the air, homecoming time for the family... affection and trust... pride... and most of all, acceptance.

Acceptance, not only of the fact that everybody else makes mistakes but that you may have made quite a few yourself along the way!

"If I could live my life over..." chances are they'd be the same mistakes again... If not bigger and better and even gaudier.

HEAR TELL Stanley Hardcastle and his wife Jane (Nobles) are parents of a little baby girl born Oct. 10 in West-Texas Hospital at Lubbock.

The baby, named Janie Michelle, weighed 8 lbs., 3½ oz. at birth. Her beaming grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hardcastle and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Nobles.

Stanley and Mary Jane live in Lubbock, 2002 39th St., where he is a junior student in Texas Tech and bookkeeper at Triangle Mfg. Co.

SEEN LATELYS were Mrs. Ed Jones at the CHS Homecoming parade... Ditto gorgeous Jon (Mrs. Bob) Shamburger and her sons with Ann Randle Davis, her son Randle and daughter Jill, plus Bill Randle, granddad.

Saw Peggy and Bob Ratliff and daughter Kathy. With them were the two attractive blond daughters of our Camille (Cootsie) Bodine and her husband John Daley, Jann and Jill, here from El Paso. Jann looks so much like her mother Cootsie, it takes your breath.

Spied, Selma Dickson, FP (Favorite Policeman) Lou Lauder (Mrs. Joe) Frances Myers (Mrs. Clem) and Mary Frances Chesney (Mrs. Gus) watching the floats go by... Mrs. J. D. Gibson, too.

OFF THE CUFF: Two former C-City sisters met Wednesday in New York City for dinner at the Four Seasons Restaurant.

They are Loyse (Mrs. R. C.) Jenkins, Quintan of Dallas and Mrs. Margaret Aden of Houston, daughter of Peggy (Mrs. Leon) Jenkins.

Loyse has been with 33 women of the Art Museum League, Dallas, on a trip by SS Brazil to visit Expo '67 in Canada.

Margaret is enroute for a three weeks tour of Europe with a Voice of America group.

Big world, isn't it?

FAMILIAR FACES, various places, belonged to Gina and Joe Edd Goldway lunching together. Gina was saying that Jack Jordan, Sun Oil man formerly of C-City and now of Dallas, is in town on company business.

Kate McElhenny and Vera Maniss (Mrs. Harold) were enjoying lunch counter homemade chili.

Oscar Batten, Northside minister, was saying that daughter Charlotte Rodgers, widowed by the Forrestal fire, is working in Lubbock for the telephone company and spent last weekend at home here with her parents.

FOOTBALL FANS at Friday's Homecoming game were Ace and Marie Benson... Blanche and Frank W. Wilson... Dimpled Carolyn Light, daughter of the Leon Lights... The A. E. Danborskys.

Saw... and heard... Big John Tiller, enthusiastic rooter for the Wolves, win or lose... James McMath... Truman Bodine... Mike Burson and Kaye Feaster... Earl Brock.

Also Sheriff Lewis Claxton and Deputy Forrest Smith... Chief Jess Browning... Don DeLauney and Lacy Boles on the sidelines.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS early this week brought chats with Maude Tiner Lloyd and her sister from Corpus Christi... Violet Mosser, office visitor.

Pretty Louise Wilkinson, wife of the Rev. Billy of First Methodist, at the library... Ditto Mary Hart (Mrs. Bruce)... and Corine Stewart (Mrs. A. B.) assistant librarian who was saying that our Ruth Dozier is out of Shannon Hospital and recuperating for now at the home of her friends the Bill Rhodes.

P. S. Did you see our Doug Aycock marching with that matchless Pershing Rifles drill team from Hardin-Simmons in the Friday parade?

He's son of the Robert Aycocks. His twin brother Dave transferred from West Texas State to Angelo State this term.

Oak Street Martha Class Has Election

Members of Martha Sunday School Class, Oak Street Baptist Church, were entertained Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. A. W. Brooks, 712 Oak St.

Devotional discussion was by Mrs. Bessie House who chose 2nd Corinthians 6:9 as her scripture text.

New officers for the year were elected during the business session with Mrs. D. L. Breeden named president, Mrs. A. L. Fowler, vice president, Mrs. Lee Horn, secretary.

Treasurer elected is Mrs. O. A. Ruffin with Mrs. Buster Davis as class reporter. Mrs. Ruth Gieger was named assistant teacher.

Mrs. E. G. Banks directed entertainment and refreshments were served to 11 members and five guests.

Reta Joyce Cox

Reta J. Cox Is Engaged

November wedding with vows to be said in Snyder is planned by Reta Joyce Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Brown of Lubbock, and Michael Wade Isbell of Jacksboro.

Mr. Isbell is son of Mrs. Correne Isbell of Snyder, where he attended school. The future bride attended school in Colorado City.

The couple will live in Jacksboro where the prospective groom is employed by Gulf Service Station.

Church Sets Halloween Masquerade

Payne Chapel Methodist is readying plans to sponsor a Halloween Masquerade on the evening of Tuesday, Oct. 31, in the old Wallace School building, on Wallace St. here.

There will be first and second prizes awarded masqueraders showing most originality in costume. Boys and girls from age 5 through high school are eligible to compete in the costume contest.

There will be games of bingo, a sack race, and a mystery voice. Refreshments will be for sale for benefit of the church sponsoring the Halloween event.

Hot dogs, punch, pickles, and candied apples will be for sale, said Rev. C. W. McDonald, pastor; Mrs. Allene Lee, clerk, and Mrs. Dorothy Fowler who made the announcement.

The heat stays on the job and you stay cooler with fast, direct gas infra-red broiling.

Modern infra-red broiling is the best thing that ever happened to kitchens... It's cooler! Cooler because it's faster — up to 30% faster than ordinary broiling. No slow warm-ups. Flame fed infra-red rays go to work instantly, and are concentrated directly onto the broiling surface for deep, even heat penetration.

(With speeded-up broiling food stays moist, tastes better.) And only gas offers closed door broiling too, because the flame consumes smoke. See the new gas ranges with infra-red broiling at your nearest gas appliance dealer or LONE STAR GAS.

B&PW Club Hears Two Civic Goals Discussions

Business & Professional Women's Club heard two discussions of future improvements in Colorado City when the club met for dinner, a program, and business session in Civic House, Tuesday evening.

Introduced by Mrs. Don Gullar, Ford Merritt, city manager, told of plans for beautification of Lone Wolf Creek, which crosses Second Streets, then winds through Ruddick Park.

Merritt gave a summary of the statewide comprehensive outdoor recreation plan and matching federal grants for approved outdoor recreation projects. He cited beautification of Concho River route in San Angelo and scenic sites in Austin and San Antonio.

tin then discussed the historical museum plans for expansion and moving to a building just north of the post office. The building formerly housed the old opera house. He exhibited drawings of plans for the building's renovation. Merritt showed maps of Lone Wolf Creek's course.

Hostesses for the dinner hour were members of the civic participation committee with Mrs. Gullar, Mrs. Frank W. Wilson and Mrs. Thelma Tidwell in charge.

Business session, with Mrs. Inez Hock presiding, heard reports of the district convention in Brownwood, Oct. 7 and 8. Colorado City B&PW members attending were Miss Nelda Garrett, Mrs. Margaret Oyler, Mrs. Lena Porter, Mrs. Ethel Hardegree and Mrs. Bessie House. Miss Garrett was named to the state nominating committee. She also presented the Sunday morning devotional lesson at district convention.

Local members plan their annual National B&PW Week breakfast for Sunday, Oct. 15, at Villa Inn Restaurant at 7:45 a.m.

Members at the Tuesday night dinner were Mrs. T. G. Carpenter, Miss Effie Copeland, Mrs. Roxie Witter, Mrs. Philip Berman, Mrs. Keith Miles, Mrs. Chester Hart, Miss Ruth Hightower, Mrs. Margaret Ann Williams, Miss Ann Carwile, Miss Janice Miller, Mrs. Travis Pritchett, Mrs. Ed Richardson, Miss Garrett, Miss Gullar, Wilson, Tidwell, Hock, and Porter.

Hesperian Club Observes Theme Of Americanism

Americanism Day was observed by Hesperian Study Club members Friday afternoon at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Charles C. Simpson with Mrs. Sam Simpson as hostess.

Miss Mabel Smith was guest and presented speaker, Mrs. J. W. Watson and Mrs. E. H. Winn, after roll was answered with lines in "My Favorite Poem."

Mrs. Watson, DAR member who visited National headquarters in Washington, D. C., and attended national DAR convention last June, opened her lecture with a review of the history of the organization of Daughters of the American Revolution, organized Oct. 11, 1890.

In the early 1960's, she said, the club membership reached 187,000 with more than 2800 chapters. She then told the DAR's chief purpose — historical, educational and patriotic — and cited the organization's three buildings in Washington.

This national home of Daughters covers an entire city block and its street is named after the historical figure, she said. Highlight of her address was "What happened to the Declaration of Independence?" from the magazine for June, 1967.

These signers represent many vocations," Mrs. Simpson said. "Twenty-four lawyers, 14 were farmers, four were physicians, one was a minister, three were for the ministry, one was a manufacturer, one was a merchant." She described the signing of the Declaration in rich detail, quoting John Hancock having said of his large, bold signature, "So even in the Bullpen read my name, though spectacles and may I double his reward of 10 pounds for my head, at is my defiance."

Her report was rich with names of patriots, "Benjamin Franklin, Samuel Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Carter, Thomas McKean, Thomas Nelson, Jr., Francis Pickens, William Floyd, John Jay, Philip Livingston, John Witherspoon, Richard Henry Lee, Francis Hopkins, John Middleton, John Adams, Charles Carroll." "The highest tribute we can pay them," she concluded, "after recounting what opened to the signers, 'is to cherish the freedom for which they risked their lives to defend that freedom against every threat."

Mrs. Winn described organization of the American Legion Auxiliary in 1921 and set forth some of the organization's objectives — aid to hospitalized veterans, education for war orphans, Girl's State.

Next meeting of the Hesperian Club will be in the dation Room, Oct. 27 when members will celebrate their diamond anniversary with a guest tea.

The club is inviting all former members, all members of Mitchell County study clubs, and members of the County Federation to attend.

Featured speaker will be Mrs. B. F. Seay, president of Texas State Federation of Women's Clubs. Attending the Friday afternoon program were Mrs. Lynn Halbert, Mrs. J. A. Sadler, Sr., Mrs. Bennett Scott, Mrs. M. E. Miller, Mrs. Perry Barber, Mrs. C. E. Cogswell, Mrs. E. M. Majors, Mrs. Otto Jones, Mrs. O. L. Simpson, Mrs. Sam Walljen, Mrs. A. V. Sheppard, Mrs. G. D. State Capital Highlights

Tidelands Back To Court Again

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
A multi-million-dollar Texas tidelands case once more is before the highest court in the land. It involves 37,000 acres of oil-rich offshore territory.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin and his aides have presented the state's arguments to the U. S. Supreme Court. Key question is whether Texas coastline includes its permanent harbor system. Jurisdiction in question are at Port Isabel, Port Mansfield, Port Aransas, Matagorda, Freeport, Galveston and Sabine Pass. They extend as far as four and a half miles into the Gulf of Mexico.

Decision for Texas would add four and a half miles to the three marine leagues (1935) offshore boundaries allowed by the federal submerged lands act of 1953.

New case is the latest round in legal exchanges dating back to 1950. Then the Supreme Court held that the federal government had paramount rights over submerged lands. Later the submerged lands act reversed the decision and granted Texas title to all lands reaching three marine leagues into the Gulf.

Present controversy arose when the Texas School Land Board advertised a lease sale of mineral rights under a 1965 Supreme Court decision which established the California coastline as including "outermost permanent harbor works that form an integral part of the harbor system."

U. S. Government filed an injunction to prevent Texas from leasing, contending that the Texas shoreline was defined by the 1845 annexation agreement under which the state joined the union.

Texas claims jetties are a part of the permanent harbor system and to determine where the shoreline was in 1845 would be impossible.

POLITICAL POT — Political pot continues to boil at the state capitol.

As expected, 29-year-old House Speaker Ben Barnes announced for lieutenant governor. He said his move should not be interpreted as a tipoff to Gov. John Connally's plans. He stated that he would run as an independent, with no "ticket" affiliation with Connally or anyone else. Barnes immediately opened his statewide campaign headquarters in Austin.

Governor John Connally left for Canada and the National Governor's Conference in the Virgin Islands without revealing his decision as to retiring or running for a fourth term.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith already is campaigning for governor. He predicts that Governor Connally will not run for an unprecedented fourth term and submits as evidence Connally's 1962 pledge not to do so.

Former Atty. Gen. Warren Carr called on all three — Connally, Smith and Barnes — to run for reelection in a letter to Connally.

He said he may run for governor if Connally doesn't or for lieutenant governor if the governor seeks a fourth term.

Supreme Court races continue to draw increasing attention. Declared candidates are Houston District Judge

Sears, McGee, Texarkana Court of Civil Appeals Associate Justice Matt Davis, Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals Chief Justice James G. Denton and Austin District Judge Tom Reavley.

WATER BOARD — Texas Water Development Board met Monday to review a variety of loan eligibility matters and a bond ordinance.

Titus County Fresh Water Supply District No. 1 is seeking eligibility funding for a $2,200,000 loan to pay its share of the cost of the Titus County Dam and Reservoir near Mt. Pleasant.

City of Thorndale wants a $130,000 loan to provide municipal water from a Soil Conservation Service reservoir.

Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority seeks a $1,000,000 loan for facilities to provide Port Lavaca with water from the Guadalupe River. Wichita County WID No. 2 requested a $1,500,000 loan for rehabilitating Lake Kemp. San Patricio Municipal Water District requests formal approval of a $900,000 loan application for treatment, pipeline, pumping and water storage facilities.

Terrell asks approval of a bond ordinance so the city can go ahead with its application for a $750,000 state loan for the first phase of a water improvement program which contemplates taking water from nearby Lake Tawakoni.

PARK GRANTS — Three new federal grants for park improvement or development have been announced by the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

City of Diboll will receive $174,500 to be matched by equal amount of local funds for buying 175 acres of land and to develop the city park.

A grant of $211,214 from the federal land and water fund program will go to Waco for a $422,428 jointly-financed 35-acre park on the banks of the Brazos River.

A $69,550 grant will go to Webb County toward a $139,100 park program, covering 278 acres, four miles east of Laredo on the banks of Lake Casa Blanca.

COURTS SPEAK — A proposed state constitutional amendment to wipe out the poll tax as a voting requirement and require annual voter registration is headed for a U. S. Supreme Court test.

State Supreme Court declined to alter an earlier ruling that an election which approved the amendment last November should stand.

AFI-CIO challenged the outcome of the vote, contending that voters did not realize that an annual registration feature was involved. Union promises to take the case to Washington.

Texas high court agreed to review the case of four Houston lawyers who fought that free legal service to the poor, under the War on Poverty, program unfairly deprives attorneys of fees. Court of Civil Appeals had upheld the district court's summary judgment against the group.

Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the 99-year prison sentence assessed Goliad rancher Shaver Taylor on charges of killing his 38-year old former "girl friend" and her elderly husband.

SHORT SNORTS — Texas traffic deaths are one per cent behind last year reports, the Department of Public Safety says. Texas Public Employees Association will hold its annual meeting in Austin during Texas Public Employees Week, October 22-29.

Confirmed cases of scrawworm in Texas during August jumped to 63 — a three year high — reports the Animal Health Commission.

Governor Connally appointed Charles L. Morris, executive director of the Veterans Affairs Commission, as 1967 State Veterans Day Chairman.

Because of a new law, landowners who want to permit antlerless deer hunting, must draw their permits at least 10 days prior to the opening of the season, the State Parks and Wildlife Department announces.

State Board of Education received recommendation from Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar that aerospace education be added to public school curriculum.

Where there is no widow, children on the current pension rolls will receive increases at the rate of $2 monthly for the first child and $1 a month for each additional child.

Eligibility for death pensions on a basis of need was extended to widows of veterans who served during the Vietnam era — since August

Austin District Judge Mace Thurman Jr. is probing over the court of inquiry here to look into allegations of malpractice by home-improvement contractors and their agents.

VOTER REGISTRATION — Texas Secretary of State John L. Hill is warning persons who are 60 years of age or older and live outside cities of 10,000 or more population that this year, for the first time, they must register to vote.

Hill said that a special provision has been made for such persons to register during the period October 1 to January 31, 1968 at the county tax office or by mail to the county tax assessor collector.

73 FOR LEGISLATURE — Seventy-three have filed as special election candidates for six vacant House seats and one Senate vacancy.

Seven elections are scheduled for November 11, general election day, when six proposed constitutional amendments will also be voted on.

Twenty-one seek the senate place long held by the late Sen. George Parkhouse in Dallas.

Seventeen filed for the House post of the late Rep. Ira Kohler of Houston: 12 for former Rep. Lee Dugan Jr.'s House seat; nine for former Rep. Pat Cain's Travis County House place; six for the Cameron County seat of former Rep. Maurice Pinkin of Brownsville; five for the post formerly held by Otha Birkner, representing Wharton and Matagorda Counties; and three for the place vacated by former Rep. Jesse George who served Bailey, Cochran, Hoekley, Terry and Yoakum Counties.

Duggan, Cain, Pipkin, Birkner and George resigned to accept other offices or positions.

BEACH STUDY — Speaker Ben Barnes named three coastal House members to serve on a joint interim committee which will make a new study of Texas beaches.

They are Reps. Rufus Kilpatrick of Beaumont, Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi and Russell Cummings of Houston.

Three Senate members (selected by the lieutenant governor), the land commissioner, highway department chief engineer (or their representatives) and a citizen named by the governor also will serve.

Purpose of the body is to facilitate development of beaches as public recreational areas and tourist attractions. Group also will determine the best method of obtaining rights-of-way and easements for needed highway and parking areas.

VOTER RULING — A county tax assessor-collector is not authorized to accept applications for voter registration certificates mailed or delivered to him by someone other than the applicant.

Attv. Gen. Crawford Martin advised Secretary of State John L. Hill of the opinion.

Martin also ruled that bonds voted in a Sherman County election, held before creation of the Texhoma Memorial Hospital District, will not become obligations of the district.

By VERN SANFORD
Landowners may curse the weeds all summer as they fight them in the family garden and in the field. But, when Fall comes, those weeds which remained standing afford fine feed for birds.

Doves, who are the most successful usually find the birds around huge weed patches. In fact, they have dubbed the cotton as dove weed. Perhaps more of its seed are eaten by doves than any other seed of wild plants.

These dove weeds grow in pastures that haven't been fields and around waterholes. Wild sunflowers also are a favorite food of game birds. Usually these are found along fence rows or in open pastures that haven't been grazed too heavily.

Doves like small grain, too. When farmers used to mow their sorghum, the stubble fields were excellent feeding places for doves. They could be kicked up along the sorghum rows most any time of the day. Some would fill their crop so full of seed they looked like pouter pigeons.

However, modern methods of combining grain have reduced the amount of grain that falls to the ground. Therefore a sorghum patch no longer is quite so good for doves.

All in all, the cussed weeds do have a part in providing more than just feed for birds. They also provide cover not only for birds but for other small forms of wildlife.

Despite his desire for clean land, the smart landowner is the one who permits fence rows, corners and even protected pastures to produce some standing weed. This was one of the great errors for wildlife in the plains country of Texas. Here thousands of acres were put under the plow, with not so much as a fence line between properties.

Grain was combined. Cotton was defoliated and trees were removed. As a result the ground became barren for anything except agriculture.

Finally some landowners, mainly those with boys who got extra teaching from their FFA and extension workers, wanted a return of wildlife.

In many places small plots of ground were fenced off. Feeders were planted for a quick growth of cover. Old automobile tires became water fountains to catch and hold rainwater for the birds.

As a result there has been a tremendous comeback of upland game in those areas. Dove hunters usually exceed all others. And their job is not always easy. Doves are migratory. With the first change of weather in the fall they begin to move.

If there is a heavy rain or a slight norther in North Texas, they move on to South Texas.

If the meantime, however, doves move in the middle west. We get doves in Texas from all the states in the western Mississippi watershed. They move into Texas and on through Texas. Many doves killed in the lower Rio Grande Valley are from Kansas and Nebraska.

This migration of doves is one of the causes of unhappiness among hunters. They like to have the season in the North Zone on Sept. 1. At that time, however, many of the doves still have pin feathers. Many others have just learned to fly.

Then in late November and December, when the doves are full of plumage and fat with Texas grain, the season is closed. Thousands of doves can be seen along the roadside all over the state. At that time the dove hunter begins to wonder why biologists have consistently set up early opening and closing of the dove season.

On the other hand, quail season usually opens Dec. 1. Biologists say that this is to give the young quail an opportunity to get its growth.

Yet it is a known fact that doves nest much later than quail.

This year, however, quail season will open Nov. 11 (second Saturday in November), in most of the counties under regulatory authority.

Between these towers will dangle large white balloons, and the man at the first filling station may have some questions put to him.

If it is in the night, strange lights blinking between towers could create something more than just curiosity. They will not be unidentified flying objects, but men of the Coast and Geodetic Survey who will be working in and around Mineral Wells.

Scheduled to arrive this week in Mineral Wells is a group of about 25 employees plus 13 wives and 17 children with equipment of 6 government office and supply trailers, 11 privately owned housing trailers and 22 Government trucks.

It is not easy to precisely describe what this group of surveyors is doing but, in a nutshell, they will be measuring distance and elevations for a more accurate determination of the size and shape of the earth.

Steel towers ranging from 35 to 116 feet in height will be used for observation posts throughout the project area. Precise distances will be measured with geodimeters, using the speed of light to compute values.

Another instrument, called a theodolite, an instrument which employs a steady light, will be used to observe horizontal angles and make observations on the north star. This phase of the work will be done at night, and crews working atop the towers will employ blinking lights to communicate with each other in Morse code.

The survey crews operate from the towers at night because the atmosphere is clear. Those who know, say the geodimeter, which utilizes the speed of light for measuring, is so accurate that distances are determined to within one part in a million or, but another way, an error of one mile in a million.

As an indication of the thoroughness, the operators of these instruments repeat their readings 32 times and compute their findings to one-tenth of a second. This amounts to one-third of an inch as observed from a distance of one mile.

Estimated cost of this operation headquartered at Mineral Wells is $25,000, and is to require approximately six weeks.

People living in the area of Eastern Oklahoma south through Mineral Wells to Stephenville and points in between will soon become familiar with an activity which others may think is an invasion by creatures from outer space.

Travelers on Interstate 20, Highway 80 and other roads in this section, may see some unusual sights. Men wearing orange-colored hats and holding orange-colored umbrellas over their heads are not seen every day. Tall steel towers which spring up suddenly on the landscape and then disappear may create a lot of questions for those not aware of what is going on.

Perhaps one of these days the hunting season will be more in conformity with the mating period. Not coinciding, but following the nesting period, so the young can have a chance to be born and to live.

Between these towers will dangle large white balloons, and the man at the first filling station may have some questions put to him.

Taxpayers Quiz

THIS column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I've been asked to send in whatever records I have to back up my charitable contributions. Some of them need explaining so can I bring them in instead?

A — Yes you can. Contact the office requesting these records and an appointment will be made for you.

Q — I'm thinking of opening my own business. Do you have any publication that describes what Federal taxes a small businessman has to pay?

A — Yes, it is called "Tax Guide for Small Business," Publication No. 334. Send 50c to your district office to obtain a copy.

Q — Our daughter is thinking about getting married in December. If she does will we lose the exemption we've been claiming for her?

A — You will if she files a joint return with her husband. However, if her husband files a separate return you may claim an exemption for her if she otherwise qualifies as your dependent. In that case, you, not her husband, get the exemption.

Q — The waitresses in my restaurant report their tips on a monthly basis. Can I withhold for this on a weekly basis rather than taking it out of their pay checks just once a month?

A — Yes, you may withhold the tips on the weekly basis as long as the proper amount is withheld each month.

Q — I've cut down on the number of pupils I gave voice lessons to since I became 65. On the self-employment tax on that income, can I now earn up to $1,200 before I have to pay it? I know that's the story on my federal income tax.

A — The requirement for self-employment tax applies regardless of age. When net income from self-employment is $400 or more for the year the tax must be paid.

Note that the $400 figure is a net figure. Your gross income from self-employment should be reduced by whatever expenses you had in earning this income. In your case, the cost of sheet music, piano tuning and the like could be deducted from your gross income.

Assessing Damage

By RALPH YARBOROUGH
United States Senator

Last week I gave a short account of the disaster which Hurricane Beulah caused in South Texas, and of my inspection through the 30 damaged counties. This week let us more carefully assess the damage and discuss what the people of Texas can expect in terms of help from the Federal Government as we rebuild.

According to the latest figures from the Red Cross, Hurricane Beulah claimed 18 lives in South Texas, and brought injury or illness to nearly 9,000 others. Some 240 persons are still hospitalized, 542 homes have been wiped out, and 2,681 other homes heavily damaged.

The latest statistics show that more than 23,000 homes had some damage, that 198 house trailers were demolished and another 477 battered about and damaged.

Nearly 2,000 farm buildings were heavily damaged or destroyed, 110 boats wrecked, and 519 small businesses destroyed by the winds and flood waters that gave Beulah her strength.

Tomato and pepper crops were ruined, much of the valuable Valley citrus crop lies on the ground rotting and much livestock was drowned. Topsoil was washed away by the ton.

A million Texans felt the blow of Beulah, the worst hurricane to hit our state in generations. It caused at least a billion dollars in property losses, four times as great as the damage caused by Hurricane Carla in Texas during 1961.

On September 28, eight days after the hurricane hit Cameron County, President Johnson declared 24 South Texas counties emergency disaster areas eligible for special Federal disaster relief. These are some of the Federal agencies authorized to come forth with help for South Texas:

The Small Business Administration is granting direct loans to individuals and to businesses which suffered business losses; long-term loans payable over up to 30 years at a low interest rate of only 3 per cent. The SBA is also authorized to make these loans for up to 100 per cent of the damage repair estimates, in many cases.

The Office of Emergency Planning brought in equipment and man power to work closely with state and local officials, rebuilding public facilities and controlling health problems. Army engineers are helping to put our roads and bridges back into useable conditions. With the declaration of emergency from the President the OEP is authorized to reimburse cities and counties for much of their repair work.

The Federal Housing Administration is insuring mortgages of up to $12,000 and for as much as 100 per cent of the appraised value of homes which were damaged and need repairs.

The Internal Revenue Service can give special tax credits to persons and to businesses suffering losses from the storm. Farmers Home Administration also can make emergency loans in rural areas.

Renewal Assistance, Public Housing, Metropolitan Development plans and many other Federal programs are being brought into South Texas to help rebuild and re-establish one million Texans who were victims of Hurricane Beulah.

The finding of these scientific efforts will serve to strengthen the geodetic network, the vast system of accurately located points established on the earth's surface for the use of engineers, surveyors, mapping agencies and the military. The scientists of the Coast and Geodetic Service say that information developed by these surveys is used for tracking satellites and missiles and the detection and evaluation of earth crustal movements. Also, the increased needs of our industrial and scientific communities have necessitated this upgrading of the geodetic network.

Since 1871 the Coast and Geodetic Survey, a part of the Commerce Department, has been determining with fantastic accuracy the elevation of thousands of locations throughout the United States and the distance between them. At each point (called benchmarks) a bronze marker is imbedded in cement or bedrock.

More than 500,000 of these markers have been placed in the U.S. and its possessions. These are the people who determine linear distances, latitudes and longitudes and elevations.

The men who will be seen along some highways will be wearing orange vests that may be more visible by oncoming traffic. The orange-colored umbrellas are not for their own protection against elements, but to provide shade for the instruments whose accuracy would otherwise be affected by the sun's rays.

The survey crews operate from the towers at night because the atmosphere is clear. Those who know, say the geodimeter, which utilizes the speed of light for measuring, is so accurate that distances are determined to within one part in a million or, but another way, an error of one mile in a million.

As an indication of the thoroughness, the operators of these instruments repeat their readings 32 times and compute their findings to one-tenth of a second. This amounts to one-third of an inch as observed from a distance of one mile.

Estimated cost of this operation headquartered at Mineral Wells is $25,000, and is to require approximately six weeks.
