Nurse testifies

SIMI VALLEY, Calif. — As Rodney King lay on an emergency room bed after a police beating, one officer taunted him, saying, "We had a pretty good hardball game tonight," a nurse testified Friday. Lawrence Davis, who attended King at Pacifica Hospital, told jurors in the assault trial of four officers that one of them, Laurence Powell, made the remarks./8C

Clinton support

WASHINGTON — Seven of Texas' 17 so-called super delegates to the Democratic National Convention have endorsed Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton, with candidates Paul Tsongas or Jerry Brown finding no support thus far. But some of the Clinton backers and uncommitted super delegates said Friday they would throw their support to fellow Texan Lloyd Bentsen if the senator chose to enter the race late.

Pravda falls victim

MOSCOW — Pravda, the paper founded by Lenin and other pre-Revolution Bolsheviks and universally recognized for most of its 80 years as the voice of the Communist Party, bitterly announced Friday that it was suspending publication for lack of funds. Lavishly subsidized by the party through most of its existence, the paper fell victim to the harsh realities of shortages, soaring prices, unimaginative management and a dwindling readership./2C

IRS errs on refunds

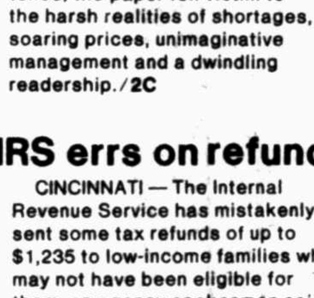

CINCINNATI — The Internal Revenue Service has mistakenly sent some tax refunds of up to $1,235 to low-income families who may not have been eligible for them, an agency spokesman said Friday. The IRS does not know how much money was involved, how many incorrect refunds were sent or whether they occurred through all 10 of the agency's tax-processing service centers nationwide, IRS spokesman Frank Keith said.

Rig count plunges

HOUSTON — The number of working oil and gas rigs in the nation hit a record low 649 this week when it lost 11 rigs, Baker Hughes Inc. said Friday. A year ago, the count was 980. Last week, it had dropped by 13 rigs to 660. The latest tabulation is beneath the previous low of 653 recorded Jan. 31. Since then, the count has been making an uneven recovery.

Check scandal swells

Lawmakers rush to confess, scurry for cover

12 Texas congressmen admit involvement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two more congressmen Friday said they incurred overdrafts at the House bank, the 11th and 12th Texans to admit involvement in the rubber check scandal dominating Capitol Hill.

"There is really no one to blame except myself for not keeping closer track of my House bank account," Rep. Kika de la Garza said Friday. "This is very embarrassing for me and my family. I apologize to my constituents and thank God that no taxpayer funds were ever involved."

Rep. John Bryant also confirmed his name will be among the 355 current and former members who wrote bad checks at the now-defunct House bank.

The House voted 426-0 early Friday to make public the names of those who took advantage of free overdrafts at the bank. A list of 24 labeled "abusers" — 19 current House members and five former members

WASHINGTON (AP) — House members tried to stop the bleeding from self-inflicted political wounds Friday, confessing to hundreds of overdrafts at the chamber's bank and telling constituents over and over: "I'm sorry." Potential opponents were already seizing the issue.

"I plead guilty to not being very careful in balancing my checkbook," said Rep. Vin Weber, R-Minn., one of dozens of House members giving election-year mea culpas in hopes of persuading constituents not to take out their ire at the polls in November.

Weber said he had 125 overdrafts totaling more than $47,000.

"We regret and apologize," said Rep. Gerry Sikorski, D-Minn., who admitted to 671 bad checks over the 39 months that ended last Oct. 3. "All we can do is go around and tell it to people and be as open as we can," he said during rounds of his district.

Navratilova, ex-companion settle lawsuit

■ Mounting legal expenses helped facilitate the settlement, tennis star's attorney says.

Associated Press

DALLAS — Martina Navratilova and her former live-in companion signed a secret settlement late Friday that ends their "palimony" suit, the tennis star's attorney said.

Gary DeShazo of Austin said the terms of the settlement are confidential because "everybody wanted the secrecy."

"They made a deal they can both live with," DeShazo said Friday night. "I think it's OK. It's a case that should have been resolved earlier."

Judy Nelson, 45, and Navratilova, 34, signed a "non-marital cohabitation agreement" in 1986.

In the agreement, Nelson was to get half of the estimated $5 million to $9 million earned during their relationship. But Nelson contended in the lawsuit that the nine-time Wimbledon women's champion broke the pact.

Property rights advocates tout new 'balance'

Private-property owners who enjoy an "enlightened self-interest" in their land can develop into more effective environmentally conscious caretakers than can governmental bureaucracies.

That was the gist of a Friday press conference called to tout ownership rights of private land and to promote today's Davis Mountains-Trans Pecos Heritage Association conference on "Agencies and Regulations: How They Will Affect Your Private Property Rights" in the Alpine Civic Center in Alpine.

IRVING — Willie Nelson is putting on his fifth Farm Aid concert, hoping to refocus attention on the family farmer. He'll have help today from Paul Simon, Neil Young and some country legend friends.

The farm crisis that motivated Nelson to organize the first show in 1985 has been clouded by the broader recession, so he plans to remind 50,000 people expected at Farm Aid V that the crisis isn't over.

"Farmers are still being forced from the land," said Carolyn Mugar, executive director of the organization that administers millions raised by the concerts.

About six of the 12 hours of rock, pop and country music will be broadcast live from Texas Stadium on cable television's The Nashville Network.

Forty-seven artists were scheduled to appear at Farm Aid V, including Simon, Young, John Mellencamp, Michelle Shocked, Asleep at the Wheel and country legends Merle Haggard, Kris Kristofferson and Waylon Jennings.

The previous Farm Aid concerts raised more than $12 million. Most was dispensed to food pantries, telephone hotlines, education programs and legal assistance centers from Vermont to Montana.

Campaigns air fresh wave of attack ads

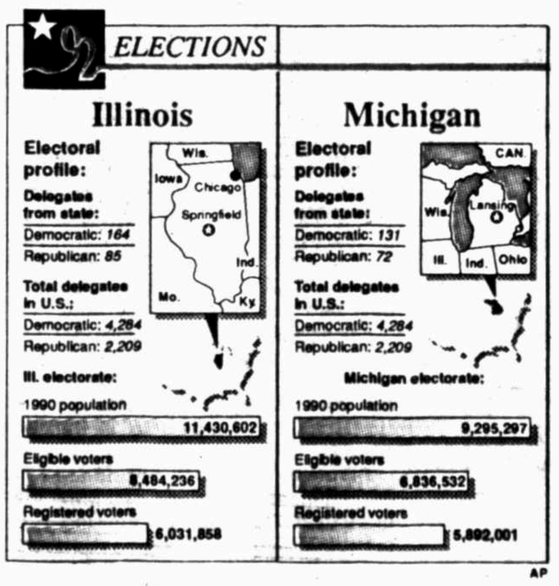

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential campaigns on Friday unleashed new television attack ads at targets ranging from Gov. Bill Clinton's record in Arkansas to conservative challenger Patrick Buchanan's Mercedes-Benz.

Four days before the presidential primaries in Michigan and Illinois, Buchanan's campaign aired an ad charging that President Bush has cost Michigan 73,000 jobs. Bush, meanwhile, aired a spot faulting Buchanan for owning a foreign-made car.

A new Paul Tsongas ad urges voters to focus on tax increases in Arkansas and studies rating the state last in worker safety and environmental policy. Clinton countered with an ad defending his record and claiming that attacks on him were "politics, pure and ugly."

MARTINA: Tennis star, former companion settle

(From 1A)

Nelson and Navratilova lived in Fort Worth from 1984 through 1989, and then moved to Aspen, Colo. The couple's relationship ended last year.

DeShazo said mounting legal expenses helped facilitate Friday's settlement. The pair had been working to resolve the lawsuit for about eight months, he said.

The trial, scheduled for April 6, will not take place if a state district judge in Tarrant County dismisses the lawsuit, he said.

Navratilova told Fort Worth television station KXAS she settled because of legal expenses.

"It's too costly, and now I can just get on with everything," she said. "The lawyers are laughing all the way to the bank."

During pre-trial hearings in September and October, the women said they agreed on financial terms of a settlement. But they remained apart on other issues, including Nelson's refusal to agree to a no-publicity clause that would stop her from selling her story.

The KXAS-TV report said Nelson and Sandra Faulkner are working on a book that Nelson said is not a "tell-all."

"This book I would have written if Martina and I were together still," she told the station. "I think she'll love it."

"It's a love story. It talks about the relationship. It talks somewhat about the trial," Faulkner said.

Navratilova's response: "Apparently, it's only about our relationship and that has been pretty well documented, so I don't know what there could be of more interest to the general public. But Judy feels the need to talk about it, so I'm not going to stop her."

Navratilova's malpractice lawsuit against her former attorney Jerry Loftin is still scheduled this summer. The tennis star contended she suffered mental anguish and a loss of business opportunities because of the case.

She claimed that the pact she signed was not what she believed it was at the time. She blamed Loftin for failing to provide adequate legal advice.

Police charge 3 with oil-field theft

Staff Report

ODESSA — Three men were arrested Thursday night and charged with theft of thousands of dollars of oil-field equipment, Odessa police reported.

Willie Gene Cooper Jr., 24, Robbie Ludon Fox, 19, and Verdell Fox, 33, were jailed and bond set at $5,000 each by Municipal Judge J.E. Weatherly.

Fifty assorted gas pressure release valves were taken from the Phillips Petroleum Yard at 1411 First St. around March 3, police said.

Police recovered 47 of the valves valued in excess of $42,000.

TOUT: Balance people, environment, group says environment and people, said Dr. Mack Gray, former Acting Chief of the United States Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

(From 1A)

Gray's concern was that "in the quest for environmental protection, people have been left out of the equation."

"The environment is important. People are also important. We have got to live in this country."

Gray was among five scheduled Alpine conference speakers at the press conference at Midland International Airport. The others were Wilson Scaling, former chief of the USDA's Soil Conservation Service and now a cattle rancher near Henrietta; Ocie Mills, a Florida general contractor who in 1989 became the first American to be imprisoned for violation of the Clean Water Act by dumping 19 loads of sand on his own quarter-acre waterfront lot; Frank Dunkle, former director of the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service and now a visiting professor at the Colorado School of Mines; and Kathleen Hartnett, director of private lands, water and environment for the National Cattlemen's Association.

Pam Hults/Reporter-Telegram

Dr. Mack Gray, right, talks on the rights of private-property ownership vs. governmental bureaucracy designed to regulate the environment.

Gray lamented that, in many instances, "the environment ... to some people ... is more important than people."

But in a "lot of our minds, the environment serves humans and not vice versa."

Gray recalled an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) draft document that linked environmental problems to overpopulation.

"People were the problem," Gray said of the EPA report.

"The problems with the environment, if you read that (EPA) thing and believed it, could never be solved with the (250 million) population we have got in this country today."

The solution to today's environmental problems in a populated world is balance, Gray said.

"We can't live in a filthy environment" that continually deteriorates "to where it can't produce the food and fiber and the amenities that we want."

Scaling, the former SCS chief in the Reagan administration, deemed himself an environmentalist who is in the cattle business.

From his viewpoint, the nation's environmental and farm problems lie with "career bureaucrats" who interpret, regulate and implement laws.

Taken care of, worked and nurtured, the country's land "is in beautiful shape," Scaling said.

The National Cattlemen Association's Hartnett said that "some very vital constitutional principles (are) at stake as far as property rights" are concerned.

Dunkle, meanwhile, said he has prepared "A White Paper" on proposed "positive changes" in the "Endangered Species Act of 1973."

In his paper, Dunkle asked: "Should the national public lands (40 percent of the nation) be set aside as preserves for endangered species or to promote biodiversity, or be used to promote the social well-being of the nation's people through management of is resources?"

And in the press conference, Dunkle stated his stance.

"We can't be a service-oriented nation and still be a leader of nations" without developing more natural resources, Dunkle said.

Mills, the formerly imprisoned landowner, a "self-taught student of the Bible," and a former stalker of big game, said in a prepared statement that today he is "stalking the most dangerous beast of all — the monstrous bureaucracy that is stealing our freedom."

TEXANS: 12 state congressmen admit overdrafts

(From 1A)

— will be officially released within 10 days. The remainder will be released 10 days later.

"I'm sure that I'm going to have some overdrafts scored against me, but I don't know how many," said Bryant, D-Dallas.

While 14 other Texas members said they expected to be in the clear, some expressed fear that once all records are reviewed they may learn they wrote some bad checks.

"The most you can do at this point is look at your own records," said a spokesman for Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, who believes he has not written any overdrafts.

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, was the only member who continued to refuse to say whether he had bounced any checks, citing his right to privacy.

The name of former Speaker Jim Wright, who resigned in 1989 during an ethics investigation of his personal finances, was among those mentioned as speculation intensified on Capitol Hill.

"I am not aware of any overdrafts although it is possible, of course, that I like others may have temporarily and unintentionally overdrawn and not been advised of it," Wright said in a prepared statement from his Fort Worth office.

"Every check I have ever given in my life has been honored, and no bank nor individual has ever lost a dime because of any check I've ever given."

As members braced for more bad news, some revised upwards the number of checks they bounced.

Rep. Charles Stenholm, who since the scandal first broke last October admitted to bouncing several checks, is now scaling that figure upward. Stenholm, D-Stamford, now estimates he wrote 50 or more rubber checks, but less than 100, press secretary Denise Crenwelge said Friday.

Bryant and de la Garza, D-Mission, were among those blaming lax management at the House bank.

Bryant also said the bank's bookkeeping practices may be responsible for many overdrafts incurred by members in the 39-month period investigated by the House ethics committee.

The bank's "crazy bookkeeping system" didn't post the members' paychecks until the first day of the month — even though members received and deposited them on the last day of the month, Bryant said.

Other members who said they bounced checks are:

■ Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, admitted Thursday to bouncing 75 to 85 checks, dollar total unknown. He said he could be among top 24 abusers of bank. Wilson initially refused last October to say if he wrote any bad checks, then later admitted bouncing a few but wouldn't say how many or for how much.

■ Jack Fields, R-Houston, said he learned Thursday he had written "some" overdrafts. He wouldn't say how many or for how much pending release of full records from ethics committee.

■ Mike Andrews, D-Houston, admitted last October to bouncing checks, but didn't say how many or for how much.

■ Dick Armey, R-Lewisville, admitted last October to writing seven bad checks for $1,748.

■ Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, initially declined comment on the issue, then later admitted to writing four bad checks for $285.

■ Greg Laughlin, D West Columbia, admitted last year to bouncing several checks which totalled less than $2,000.

■ Bill Sarpalius, D-Amarillo, admitted last October he wrote three bad checks that overdrafted his account by less than $1,000.

■ Lamar Smith, R-San Antonio, said last October that he wrote a $60 check in 1989 for which he had insufficient funds.

ADS: Campaigns unleash fresh wave of attacks closing its Willow Run plant in Ypsilanti and laying off 9,000 workers there.

That ad criticizes Bush, Clinton and Tsongas for supporting fast-track authority to negotiate a free-trade agreement with Mexico, where General Motors already operates plants. It says the fast-track authority will send more American jobs to Mexico.

The Buchanan ad spotlighted three top Bush campaign aides who have registered as agents for foreign interests, two of them for the Japanese.

"No wonder why Michigan has lost 73,000 jobs" under Bush, the ad says.

Bush began airing an ad Thursday night in Michigan that criticized Buchanan for owning a German-made Mercedes-Benz and calling U.S.-made Cadillacs he previously owned "lemons" while "our auto industry suffers."

"It's 'America first' in his political speeches but a foreign-made car in his driveway," the ad charges. Buchanan denied that he ever said American cars were all lemons and that the quote referred only to three he had bought.

Meanwhile, the Tsongas campaign attacked Clinton with two spots. One shows disappearing pieces of pie and says Clinton offers "lots of political promises, lots of special interests but not much pie."

The other features two worker talking in a factory.

It notes Clinton has supported Arkansas sales and gas tax increases and cites studies that rated Arkansas last in the nation in environmental policies and worker safety. Clinton has dismissed the studies as outdated or misleading.

Frank Greer, Clinton's media adviser, said he was most upset by the opening lines of the ad, which he said imply that Clinton is vulnerable to another scandal.

The ad opens with one worker asking, "Heard the latest?" and then asking, "What has Bill Clinton got to hide that's really bad?"

A second worker responds, "What now?"

"It's his record," the first man answers.

Greer called the effort "coy, manipulative" and said it implies "that there is some other scandal" brewing involving Clinton, who faced earlier unsubstantiated reports about extramarital affairs and questions about whether avoiding the Vietnam draft.

Clinton immediately countered the Tsongas ad with a spot of his own that defends his record as governor and touts his "lifetime of commitment to fighting for people."

CONCERT: About 6 hours to be broadcast live much — $7 million — as the first one in September 1985. Since its inception, about $1.9 million has been spent on the non-profit Farm Aid organization, mostly for fund raising, Ms. Mugar said.

(From 1A)

During the last six months of 1991, Farm Aid distributed about $170,000 to more than 30 organizations, many church-related.

The recipient of the largest grant during that period, St. Paul, Minn.-based Farmers' Legal Action Group, used the $25,000 to assist low-income farmers with debt restructuring, foreclosures and other problems.

Farm Aid gave $25,000 to the Oklahoma Council of Churches in 1985 for a farm suicide prevention hotline. The council got $4,000 from Farm Aid during the latter half of last year. It now gets the bulk of the money to run the hotline from the state, said coordinator Mona Lee Brock.

"Had it not been for Farm Aid, a lot of our Oklahoma farmers would not be alive today," she said. "We have had close to 300 suicide interventions."

About $1 million has been given to the Atlanta-based Federation of Southern Cooperatives, which promotes farming among blacks, Ms. Mugar said.

Farm Aid's money is paltry compared with the number of farmers, 2 million, and the size of their contribution to the economy, more than $100 billion annually.

"The public education and awareness Farm Aid brings is its most important feature," said Don Ralston, administrative director of the Center for Rural Affairs in Walthill, Neb., a research group that does not receive money from Farm Aid.

In the middle of his tax imbroglio two years ago, Nelson went to Washington to lobby for changes in the 1990 farm bill that would help family farmers. But Farm Aid the organization, based in Cambridge, Mass., doesn't spend money on lobbying, Ms. Mugar said.

"We've always said we're a stage and a sound system for family farmers," she said. "We give them an opportunity to be heard."

DOGS: Man's best friend causes more trouble

(From 1A)

The newspaper said taxpayers had spent $600 on veterinary care and a state police officer had housetrained Willie, whose code name is Canine One.

Schaefer's spokesman, Frank Traynor, doggedly defended the expenses, saying Willie is considered a police dog. But now-retired Sgt. Donald Murphy said much of Willie's training consisted of simple housebreaking, rather than the more specialized instruction he gave other police dogs.

"The only thing I taught him was obedience. He's not a dumb dog, he's just fat," Murphy said.

Fat is also how neighbors describe Lucky, a mutt belonging to Mindy Felinton of Boca Raton, Fla. And those extra pounds are threatening to land Lucky in the pound.

A rule at Felinton's townhouse development bans dogs weighing more than 30 pounds. The development's community association says Lucky is over the limit — and when Felinton refused to send her pet to the doghouse, the association sued to have Lucky kicked out.

A judge ordered Lucky weighed this week, but that didn't help. The squirming dog registered anywhere from 29.4 to 31.2 pounds.

The two sides will meet with a mediator Monday in a last-ditch effort to keep the dogfight out of court.

In New York, 11 officers thought they were doing a good deed earlier this month when they rescued Shadow from a sewer. So did the New York Post, which published a picture of the officers and Shadow.

The Post reported Friday that the officers faced disciplinary hearings because they didn't wear their hats in the picture.

But Chief of Patrol Mario Selvaggi issued a statement hours later, saying only the patrol supervisor, Lt. Frank Tristino, would be disciplined — for "his failure to properly supervise."

Then there's Earl Cash of Greenville, S.C. He isn't in the doghouse, but his black-and-tan tracking hound, Lucas, is — once again.

Cash thought his hound was dead after it chased a 500-pound bear during a 1989 hunting trip in the Canadian north woods and didn't come back.

But Lucas was living a dog's life in Rayside-Balfour, Ontario, a town of 15,000 people about 15 miles from where he disappeared. Jane Neve, the local animal control officer, said the hound had been there for more than two years, "tearing up trash bags and chasing every female dog in town."

Ms. Neve finally captured Lucas after a parent complained.

"Now we are just trying to get him home," she said.

The "ham" radio operators will attend the two-day event at the Midland County Exhibit building on E. Highway 80.

Programs scheduled for the event include severe weather spotter training sessions conducted by the National Weather Service, seminars on the latest electronic and communications technology developments, and the annual meeting of Military Affiliate Radio operators.

Again scheduled for this year is a Federal Communications Commission approved Amateur Radio License Test Session to be held at noon today in the County Extension Building, adjacent to the County Exhibit Building.

The tests feature the newest class of license, which no longer requires knowledge of FCC rules and regulations and basic communications and electronic theory.

Other events will include a 20,000-square-foot "flea market" of radio equipment and electronic components, exhibits of new communications equipment, contests and numerous social events tonight. Equipment dealers from Texas, New Mexico and Colorado are scheduled to display equipment for sale at the show.

"Our swapfest is the second largest in the state and provides an opportunity for many hams who are good friends on the airwaves, but may actually live 400-500 miles apart, to meet in person," said Larry Mitchell, Midland Amateur Radio Club president. "The flea market also gives us the opportunity to acquire needed components or equipment to sustain our engineering and building efforts for the coming year."

Swapfest hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today, and 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Anyone interested in shortwave radios is invited to attend. Admission is free. However, to be eligible for door prizes or to participate in the flea market and contests, a $6 registration fee will be collected at the door.

FAA honors air traffic control tower's record

Staff Report

Midland International Airport's air traffic control tower has been recognized for four error-free years.

Officials of the Federal Aviation Administration were in town late last week to give Patricia Petosky, air traffic manager, a plaque in recognition of the staff's accomplishments. All 19 controllers and four supervisors finished four years without breaching any FAA procedural regulations.

"During that time, 41 people have gone through our training program out here," Ms. Petosky said. "That means we've got some very good controllers working with them. It means we've got a bunch of dedicated people."

names of 355 rubber check writers among current and former members. But many lawmakers — seeking to get their own versions out first — identified themselves as overdrafters.

House Speaker Thomas Foley predicted on Friday that few members would lose their jobs "over this itself."

"But members will have to tell the truth to their constituents, explain what happened," Foley said. "And I think for the most part, those who do, who come forward with the information and give it clearly and concisely, will have an opportunity to come back here."

Nonetheless, Oregon became a quick example for House members who feared opponents would try to capitalize on the issue.

There, Harry Lonsdale, seeking the Democratic nomination to a Senate seat, tried to score political points over the seven overdrafts, totaling $491.15, admitted to by Rep. Les AuCoin, his opponent in the state's primary.

"I can't believe the stupidity of the lawmakers on Capitol Hill," Lonsdale said. "Don't they know how angry something like this makes voters?"

Rep. Charles Hatcher, D-Ga., braced for the answer to that question after admitting to 780 bad checks.

"I don't like it at all," said Wendell Griffin, one of Hatcher's constituents in Albany, Ga. "If I did something like that, I'd be in jail. . . . They're no better than I am. I think we need a whole new bunch up there."

But every voter did not feel that way. In St. Paul, Minn., Sheldon LaPrairie, a constituent of Sikorski, said, "The bounced checks really don't bother me in a sense. You know, everybody does it, but the thing that really bothers me about it is they tried to keep it quiet."

Rep. John Spratt, D-S.C., a bank president and millionaire who said he has written about 40 bad checks, told The Item of Sumter that he only realized last November that the red stamp in the corner of a returned check meant it was not covered.

Spratt said a contributing factor to his overdrafts might have been that three people were writing checks on the account — he, his wife and an executive assistant.

Following their 426-0 vote to name the overdrafters, some House members tried to put the best possible light on their situations in talks to their local news outlets. A few defiantly blamed their troubles on the now-closed bank or the news media.

But many just apologized.

"This is the worst mistake financially and politically that I have ever made, to have an account in this bank," said Weber.

The bank — run by the sergeant at arms, Jack Russ, who resigned abruptly on Thursday — allowed members to write overdrafts and often did not notify them as long as the amount would be covered by their next paycheck. No interest or penalties were charged. Rubber checks were honored by using money from other members' accounts.

"If I had known how this bank was being run, I would never have used the account in the way that I did," said Rep. Jill Long, D-Ind., who admitted to two "small" overdrafts.

"It was completely unprofessional. . . . It allowed members of Congress to abuse a privilege to the extent that would not have been tolerated under any other banking institution."

Jackson meets with castration volunteer

HOUSTON (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson said Friday it would be barbaric for a Houston man to submit himself to castration and for a judge to allow the operation rather than have the man face trial on a rape charge.

"The judge ought to know that this is a remedy that's beneath the dignity and character of American justice," Jackson said before meeting briefly with Steven Allen Butler, 28, who has been jailed for 10 months while awaiting trial.

"I would hope the various appeals now going into the judge will be heard and dutifully recorded. There's already been enough hurt and hostility. So we need not engage in any kind of inflammatory confrontation that makes matters even worse."

Butler is accused of aggravated sexual assault of a 13-year-old girl. He had been on probation for indecency with a 7-year-old when he was arrested.

Last week, State District Judge Michael McSpadden approved Butler's request to be castrated and be placed on a form of probation for 10 years. The action has sparked community debate on the subject.

Jackson said Butler would not speak about the case with him Friday during their 10-minute meeting at the Harris County Jail. Instead, he said he and Butler used the time to pray.

"Castration is immoral and uncivilized and an act of barbarism and a step backward," Jackson said. "Eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth is an ancient and old form of justice. It will leave us blind, disfigured and ugly. It would be barbaric justice. No doctor with his or her professional integrity should participate in this process."

Butler's attorney, Clyde Williams, agreed, saying she would tell McSpadden during a hearing Monday that she could not find a doctor willing to perform the surgery.

"I think that it's going to be extremely difficult, if not impossible to find a surgeon who would be willing to do an orchiectomy (the surgical removal of the testes) at this point in time because of the atmosphere or because of some of the activists and the NAACP," Ms. Williams said.

Prison officials blast Morales

AUSTIN (AP) — State prison officials Friday blasted Attorney General Dan Morales because they said he ruined the state's chances to settle the long-running prison lawsuit that left a federal judge in charge of the system.

But Morales charged the Texas Board of Criminal Justice was undermining the state's ability to get a fair settlement.

"I was not elected to represent nine political appointees," Morales said referring to the board. "I was elected to represent 17½ million Texans. I hope this board does not think it's supposed to represent the inmates."

An angry and defiant Criminal Justice Board voted unanimously for a proposed settlement that was reached with attorneys representing inmates in the David Ruiz lawsuit that was filed in 1972. Morales has rejected that settlement.

The board also voted unanimously to end its involvement in any future negotiations in the landmark lawsuit which brought sweeping changes to the Texas prison system. That action essentially dumps the problem in Morales' lap.

Morales said he is ready to negotiate with inmates' attorneys, or fight them in court all the way up to the U.S. Supreme Court. He said a legal struggle will work to the state's advantage because of the growing conservative trend of the federal courts.

In other action, the board postponed implementing an act that would allow the early release of about 2,900 inmates nonviolent offenders aimed at helping relieve county jails.

Board chairman Selden Hale of Amarillo said the delay was needed to quell the "hysteria" of reports about the release of thousands of violent offenders.

Lewis expands consolidation plan

AUSTIN (AP) — House Speaker Gib Lewis on Friday expanded his plan to consolidate Texas' 1,066 school districts into 188 to end the school funding crisis, saying students should be able to choose which schools they attend.

Besides merging districts and giving students a choice, Lewis said, decision-making should be shifted from centralized administrators to the neighborhood level.

"Together, these three concepts — consolidation, site-based management and choice — not only solve the legal problem of funding equity but also can produce a better system of educating our children," Lewis said.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, isn't seeking re-election this year. His proposal is a response to the third Texas Supreme Court decision striking down previous school finance plans as unconstitutional.

Gov. Ann Richards, who promised her own school finance plan "in a couple weeks," said Lewis was courageous but consolidation appears impossible.

"It's talked about all the time, but generally speaking no one thinks it's feasible because it's so emotional," Richards said.

Lewis offered his recommendation to a gathering of school superintendents Friday. Reaction was cool, and Lewis likened it to trying to reduce his House from the current 150 members to 10.

"Probably, the citizens of Texas would be more willing to have the House of Representatives limited to 10 members than they would to have the school districts limited to 188," said Ted Hubert, superintendent of the Milano Independent School District.

Lewis insisted that his plan would end court intervention in schools, provide financial equality among rich and poor districts and not interrupt children's education.

While some school bureaucracies would be disrupted, Lewis said, "My proposals ... could be put in place without the children in the classrooms noticing any changes.

"Students would still go to their same schools, if they chose to. They would have the same teachers, the same bus routes, the same football teams, the same mascots and even the same cheerleaders," he said.

Senate passes middle-income tax bill headed for Bush veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders Friday night rammed through the Senate a tax cut for 29 million middle-income families that would be financed by raising taxes on the nation's richest 800,000 people. President Bush has promised to veto it.

The vote was 50-47. No Republican voted for it; four Democrats voted no.

"This proposal is aimed specifically at those families that have taken the hardest hit over the last decade and they are middle-income families with children," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chief author of the bill.

Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas said the biggest benefits will go not to the middle class but to "the 'ruling class' — the Democratic incumbents who only want election-year benefits for themselves."

A final compromise between the Senate bill and a similar House-passed plan probably will be worked out next week and sent to Bush by the March 20 "deadline" he imposed.

Although the Senate bill contains a version of the seven short-term tax changes that Bush proposed to stimulate the economy, he opposes it — and the House measure — because of the tax increase on the well-to-do.

At the heart of the Senate bill is a permanent tax credit of up to $300 a year for each child under 16 in families with incomes under $60,000. It includes tax-deductible Individual Retirement Accounts for all workers; deductions for interest on student loans; a capital-gains tax cut focused on middle-income investors in small business, and repeal of an unpopular luxury tax on expensive yachts, planes, jewels and furs.

The tax reduction, worth nearly $70 billion in 1992 through 1996, would be financed by raising taxes on the wealthiest 0.7 percent of all taxpayers.

This would be done chiefly by raising the current 31 percent top individual tax rate to 36 percent. That generally would affect single people whose total incomes exceed about $180,000 and couples above the $210,000 range. In addition, about 60,000 people with annual taxable incomes above $1 million would pay a new surtax of up to 10 percent.

The bill implements the Democrats' election-year "tax fairness" slogan. They say the shift in tax burden is necessary because the richest 1 percent of Americans took such a large share of the tax cuts enacted in the 1980s.

Although Bush has ridiculed the $300-per-child credit as worth a quarter a day, Democratic leaders said the bill would reduce the tax burden of a typical $35,000-a-year family of four by about 25 percent.

"This is a fairness bill only if fairness means misery loves company," said Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash. He said 80 percent to 90 percent of the tax increase would come from small businesses, whose owners are taxed as individuals. Democrats challenged that estimate.

Before the final vote, the Senate rejected, 61-36, an effort by Sen. Robert Kasten, R-Wis., to pay for the Democrats' tax cut by freezing most domestic spending for the next four years.

"We all know that the Democratic tax bill is a political document, not a serious economic game plan to create jobs," Kasten said. "Most economists will tell you that it is economic lunacy to raise taxes in a recession."

Senators find compromise on Israel aid

WASHINGTON (NYT) — Two senators overseeing the foreign aid bill have reached a compromise on granting $10 billion in loan guarantees to Israel that would immediately grant $1 billion in guarantees this year and leave disbursement of the rest subject to the restrictions on building new settlements set by the president.

Congressional and administration officials said Friday that President Bush and Secretary of State James Baker are now considering the draft compromise worked out by Sen. Patrick J. Leahy, D-Vt., and Sen. Robert W. Kasten Jr., R-Wisc., who are respectively the chairman and ranking minority member of the Senate's foreign operations subcommittee.

Baker met Friday with his national security adviser, Brent Scowcroft, to discuss the administration's response, which is expected to be presented to the Senators shortly.

According to a senior administration official, there is still a "significant difference" between the compromise and what the Bush administration is seeking.

The administration has insisted on either a total freeze on new Israeli settlements in return for the full $10 billion in loan guarantees, or a partial freeze in exchange for a lesser amount of guarantees. It is not clear whether the administration policy is simply a bargaining position or represents a firm stance.

The senior official emphasized that the negotiations are still underway, and various proposals are still being considered by Bush, Baker and Scowcroft.

Israeli officials, who are closely following the legislation, say they are waiting to see the final details of the Kasten-Leahy proposal, and the administration's response, before their government reacts.

The American-Israel Public Affairs Committee, a pro-Israeli lobby, has been encouraging Israel, the administration and Congress to reach a compromise.

Judge rules against group trying to gain spot in parade

NEW YORK (AP) — Organizers of the St. Patrick's Day parade discriminated against an Irish gay group by refusing them marching status as a unit last year, but had a constitutional right to do it, a judge ruled Friday.

After the ruling, members of the Irish Lesbian and Gay Organization called for a boycott of this year's parade on Tuesday.

Rosemarie Maldonado, an administrative law judge for the city Human Rights Commission, said in an advisory ruling that the Ancient Order of Hibernians discriminated last year by putting the gay group on a phony waiting list.

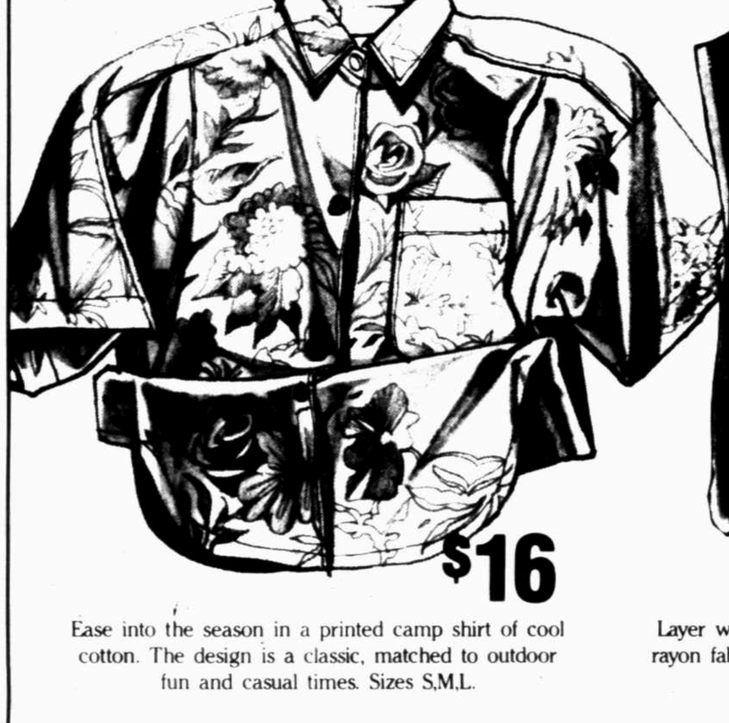

The intent, she said, was "insuring that the group never moved off the list and onto the line of march."

But she said the constitutional guarantees to freedom of religion, speech and assembly gave the Hibernians the right to exclude homosexual marchers.

Lawyers for the city Human Rights Commission, who want the ruling overturned, obtained a postponement of today's commission meeting, where the judge's decision would usually be adopted.

That leaves a pending federal lawsuit against the Hibernians as the only legal avenue left for the gay group to get into Tuesday's parade. U.S. District Judge Pierre Leval said Friday he expected to rule Monday on the group's request for a preliminary injunction.

One down, two to go

■ With their SWC regular season championship, the Texas Tech Lady Raiders' have attained one of three goals they set out to achieve at the outset of the season; today, they go after goal No. 2.

Associated Press

DALLAS — Texas Tech is having its best season ever, but as far as coach Marsha Sharp is concerned, their business is only one-third done.

The 14th-ranked Lady Red Raiders (25-4) cleared their first of three goals with their first Southwest Conference title this year, and Saturday go for No. 2: the SWC Post-Season Classic trophy.

Texas Tech faces No. 22 Texas (21-8) at 1:30 p.m. CST at Reunion Arena in the championship of the post-season tournament.

"Our three goals this year was to win the conference, the conference tournament and an NCAA basketball game," Sharp said. "We hadn't ever done any of those things at Tech."

Tech is led by junior forward Sheryl Swoopes, who led the SWC in scoring (21.3) and steals (3.6).

"Obviously, Sheryl Swoopes gives Texas Tech a totally different dimension than any Texas Tech team I've ever played," said Texas coach Jody Conradt.

"We cannot shut her down, and it would never be our intention to go in doing that because I think it's impossible," Conradt said. "But if we make her work for her shots that she gets, then I think we have a chance to win."

Texas Tech and Texas split their series this year. The Lady Red Raiders won in Lubbock 78-65 in Jan. 11 when Swoopes scored 32 points and Texas junior center Cinietra Henderson

In women's ball, some things never change

Associated Press

In a season of transition in women's basketball, some old powers have stumbled and been replaced by some new ones. Through it all, though, No. 1 Virginia (29-1) and No. 2 Tennessee (27-2) have been at or near the top.

Both are expected to be among the four No. 1 region seeds Saturday when the 48-team NCAA tournament field is announced.

Last year, Tennessee defeated Virginia in overtime for the Lady Vols' third NCAA crown and the two teams will be favored to meet again in Los Angeles at the Women's Final Four, April 4-5.

Beyond the two ruling schools, everything is wide open in terms of the makeup of the field. For the first time since the tournament began in 1982, selecting the at-large teams will be as tough, if not tougher, than the seeding of the field.

"This will be our toughest job ever," said Gateway Conference Commissioner Patty Viverto, a member of the committee. "In the past we've had a bunch of teams with dynamite schedules and great won-loss records off those schedules. But this time, there only seem to be a few of those, so the next group is larger than ever for far fewer available berths."

The field is composed of 23 automatic qualifiers who won conference championships, with the remaining 25 at-large teams selected by the committee.

Eight teams will be named the top national seeds.

DALLAS — Freshman Terrence Rencher scored 17 of his game-high 24 points in the second half as top-seeded Texas overcame an eight-point halftime deficit to beat Texas A&M 88-69 in the Southwest Conference tournament.

On Saturday, Texas (22-10) will play fourth-seeded Rice or fifth-seeded Texas Tech, who played later Friday. The other semifinal pits Texas Christian against Houston.

B.J. Tyler started the comeback with a 4-point play, and the Longhorns scored the first nine points of the second half to erase a 42-34 halftime deficit.

Shedrick Anderson, who led the Aggies with 17 points and 12 rebounds, scored five points during a 7-0 response to put A&M back on top 49-43, but he committed his fourth foul with 13 minutes remaining, and Texas whittled away at the lead once again.

With the Longhorns down 60-57, Tony Watson's 3-pointer tied the game with 8:34 left, and 40 seconds later, Rencher hit another to give Texas the lead for good, at 63-60.

Rencher scored seven points during a 15-2 run that broke the game open, putting Texas up 72-62 with just under five minutes remaining.

One inch prevents Ledlow's happiness

■ With athletes like Ryan Ledlow and Tony Daniels, the high jump looks to be the banner event in high school track this season.

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

ODESSA — Odessa High's Ryan Ledlow and Odessa Permian's Tony Daniels provided the highlights of the 48th opening of the West Texas Relays at Ratliff Stadium Friday, but as far as Ledlow was concerned, the high jump was just a low light.

Ledlow tied his own meet record of 6-feet, 11 inches and flirted with 7-0 on three failed attempts. For any jumper across the state, 6-11 would be a banner day. Not for Ledlow.

"I had seven-feet in Lubbock last weekend and I wanted to be a seven-foot jumper at every meet this year," Ledlow said. "So, the 6-11 is a bit of a disappointment. I already had the record of 6-11 here last year and I really wanted to beat that. I was pretty disappointed in myself out there today."

However, Ledlow did get a push to the 6-11 mark. Permian's Daniels was the DEL RIO — Midland Lee's baseball record fell to 4-4 here Friday at the Del Rio tournament, as the Del Rio Rams defeated the Rebels 11-5 in a five-inning game called because of a time limit.

Lee pitcher Mark Dworsky (0-1) gained his first decision of the season but didn't get out of the first inning, giving way to Alex Hale. Jason Baker went onto the mound for the Rebs in the third and finished the game.

The Rams matched Lee in total hits with eight, but hit the ball farther at least twice, as Derek Casillas and Andy Montemayor both recorded home runs.

Lee will end its participation in the tournament at 3 p.m. today, when the Rebels play District 4-5A foe Odessa Permian for fifth place.

LEE: Rebs vie for top seed

(From 1B)

Since the league's other playoff team, Abilene High (13-5 and 9-2), wraps up its regular season against visiting Odessa High (0-for-the-campaign) today, a Lee loss would likely force an unscheduled playoff with AHS for the top district seeding. But Rebel coach Eddie Bull says his players are ready to rebound from their only defeat and leave AHS as the second-place finisher.

"The good thing that's come out of it (the loss) is the kids have come together and gotten closer," Bull said. "They understand we didn't play together very well last Tuesday and that's why we lost.

"We were pushed harder than we had been lately and we didn't rise to the occasion until it was too late. But the kids have spent the time since then making sure they're all on the same page.

"We've been working hard and stressing the fundamentals."

The payoff from a win today could be a big one for Lee, which reached postseason play as the District 3 runner-up last year. The Rebels lost that bi-district encounter, 1-0, to Wichita Falls Rider. Rider (12-2-3 overall) has already clinched the District 4 title — for the sixth straight year — but by winning today the Rebels would assure themselves of a meeting with the District 4 runner-up. That will be either Burkburnett (12-4-3) or Richland (12-3-4) with two games remaining in the regular season.

Lee shutout Burkburnett en route to the championship of the Abilene Invitational early in the season.

Regardless of the seedings, bi-district play between Districts 3 and 4 will be either March 23 or 24. Area games must be conducted on Saturday, March 28 and the regional tournament is set for April 3-4.

District 3's other season finale today is in Odessa where Permian hosts Abilene Cooper. Midland High finished its season on Tuesday, falling to Cooper 1-0 and rounding out the year with a 6-6 district record, 8-8 overall.

TOURNEYS: Duke, Seton Hall struggle in wins will still have a good chance."

LSU (20-8) was leading 73-51 with 10:05 remaining in the game when the brawl broke out.

O'Neal was about to dunk when he was grabbed around the waist by Carlus Groves. They began shoving each other and the benches emptied. LSU coach Dale Brown charged at Groves and the melee moved into press row before the referees restored order.

Brown was not ejected but five players on each team were. O'Neal and Groves were thrown out for fighting, and each team lost four other players who left the bench.

Most fans turned against the Tigers after the fight, chanting "throw Dale out" and cheering on the Vols the rest of the way.

"It was like LSU vs. the world. It was like everybody was against us. I have no idea why," LSU forward Clarence Ceasar said. "With me being a freshman, I didn't know our coach was hated so much."

Despite being double- and triple-teamed most of the time, the 7-foot-1 O'Neal managed to score 16 points and grab 16 rebounds before his ejection.

Duke and Seton Hall were expected to breeze in their conference openers. They won, but it was far from easy.

Top-ranked Duke struggled to beat Maryland 94-87 in the Atlantic Coast Conference and No. 15 Seton Hall edged Boston College 62-60 in the Big East.

Christian Laettner scored 33 points as Duke (26-2) wore down Maryland (14-15), which was playing its second game in 15 hours.

The Terrapins pulled to 85-81 on a 3-pointer by Walt Williams with 2:51 left, but baskets by Laettner and Brian Davis helped the Blue Devils stay in control.

"We wanted to force it into an up-tempo game, both offensively and defensively," said Duke's Bobby Hurley, who scored 16 points and tied the tournament record with 13 assists. "We were trying to pressure them in half-court, and then look to run and get out on the fast break."

Evers Burns had a career-high 25 points for the Terrapins, who are barred from postseason play because they're on NCAA probation.

"I think we probably played as hard as we could today," coach Gary Williams said.

A crucial held-ball possession arrow helped Seton Hall (21-7) hold off Boston College (16-13).

Gordon Winchester made a free throw with 14 seconds left to put Seton Hall ahead 61-60. Boston College came down court with a chance to win, but Malcolm Huckaby lost the ball and was tied up by Terry Dehere with 1.9 seconds remaining.

The possession arrow was pointing toward Seton Hall, so the Pirates got the ball. Winchester was fouled with .8 seconds left and made one of two free throws for the final margin.

"When it comes down to the last shot, you have to be lucky and we were," Seton Hall coach P.J. Carlesimo said. "We had a monster stop on the last possession. We stopped the penetration, gave good help and the arrow was pointing our way. That's luck."

In other Big East quarterfinals, Syracuse beat Villanova 55-52, No. 21 Georgetown defeated Miami 77-64 and No. 25 St. John's clipped Connecticut 64-59 in overtime.

Georgia Tech downed Virginia 68-56, No. 18 Florida State beat North Carolina State 93-80 and No. 20 North Carolina defeated Wake Forest 80-65 in ACC quarterfinals.

In the first round of the Big Eight tournament, third-ranked Kansas pounded Colorado 84-66, No. 24 Oklahoma routed Nebraska 107-85 and No. 11 Oklahoma State cruised past Kansas State 81-57.

Sixth-ranked Arkansas defeated Georgia 73-60, No. 9 Kentucky downed Vanderbilt 76-57 and No. 17 Alabama beat Florida 62-60 to reach the semifinals of the SEC tournament.

North Carolina-Charlotte beat Virginia Tech 70-52, Southern Mississippi nipped South Florida 92-87 in double overtime and Virginia Commonwealth upset Louisville 74-65 in Metro Conference openers.

Texas Christian beat Baylor 62-55, Houston eliminated SMU 73-62 and Texas defeated Texas A&M 88-69 in the Southwest Conference.

In the Great Midwest Conference, Memphis State stunned No. 19 DePaul 95-75 and No. 12 Cincinnati beat Marquette 62-49 to reach the final.

Pacific beat Utah State 86-69, New Mexico State beat Fresno State 86-85 in overtime, UC Irvine ousted UC Santa Barbara 88-67 in the opening round of the Big West tournament.

Utah downed Hawaii 81-69 in a Western Athletic Conference game that was suspended Thursday night following the collapse of Hawaii coach Riley Wallace.

Wallace was released from a hospital Friday morning after tests proved negative, but did not attend the game on doctor's orders.

Miami of Ohio beat Bowling Green 70-60 and Ball State defeated Western Michigan 65-61 to reach the final of the Mid-American tournament.

from three-point range. Henderson scored all 12 of his points on four 3-pointers to bring A&M back from deficits of 11-6, 14-9, 23-17 and 25-20.

Down 27-26, Anthony Ware scored eight straight points for the Aggies, including four free throws, for a 34-30 lead, and Anderson's three-point play with 14 seconds left gave A&M its biggest lead, at 42-34.

Ware finished with 14 points. David Edwards added 12 and Damon Johnson had 11.

Michael Richardson scored 18 points off the bench for Texas. Tyler added 14.

"Our kids never panicked," Texas coach Tom Penders said.

"Our kids came in believing they could win," said first-year A&M coach Tony Barone. "They beat us twice this year, but this was a new day."

Barone said once Anderson got into foul trouble, the Aggies were in trouble.

"We don't have a lot of bench," he said. "We thought we could stay with them to the end, but Anderson got into foul trouble and we had problems from then on."

"We expected them to play hard," Richardson said. "We went over all sorts of different defenses this week and we expected them to do something different."

They did, using three different defenses in the first half that kept the Longhorns from gaining any momentum.

Penders said the Aggies always play Texas tough.

"Throw out the records when A&M plays Texas," Penders said. "To their credit, they played a great basketball game. You have to give A&M credit for making us work for this win. We think we have a pretty good team, and Texas A&M gave us everything we could handle for a long time before our kids kicked it into third gear."

Texas Tech 65, Rice 62

DALLAS — Will Flemons showed why he is Player of the Year in the Southwest Conference, scoring 26 points, including four clutch free throws in the last eight seconds, as Texas Tech beat Rice.

On Saturday, fifth-seeded Tech (15-13) will play top seed Texas, which overcame an eight-point halftime deficit Friday to beat Texas A&M, 88-69. The other semifinal pits Texas Christian against Houston.

Tech survived a late rally by the Owls.

Marvin Moore hit a jumper from the sideline to pull the Owls to within 61-60 with 14.8 seconds remaining.

But the Red Raiders went to their go-to guy in Flemons, who hit a pair of throws with 8.8 seconds remaining and added two more with 7.5 seconds left to ice the victory.

Rice (20-11) was one of four 20-game winners in the SWC.

Brent Scott led the Owls with 17 points and Moore added 15. Kenneth Rourke scored 13.

LaMont Dale, who added 12 points for Tech, hit consecutive 3-pointers and Stacy Bailey added a 3-pointer and a 10-foot jumper during a six-minute 17-4 Red Raider run that turned a 35-all tie into a 52-39 lead with eight minutes left.

But Rice responded with a 19-8 run, pulling to within 60-58 on Rourke's 15-foot jumper with 23 seconds remaining.

Flemons added a game-high nine rebounds.

Tech led 26-24 at halftime with half its points coming from Flemons.

Rice led just once in the game — at 2-0 — and was held to six points in the first nine minutes, when Tech went up 12-6.

TCU 62, Baylor 55

DALLAS — Reggie Smith scored 19 points and pulled down 18 rebounds, both game-highs Friday, leading Texas Christian past Baylor and into the semifinals of the Southwest Conference Post-Season Classic.

Third-seeded TCU (22-9) will face the winner of the Houston-Southern Methodist game played later Friday.

Sixth-seeded Baylor, loser of seven of its last nine games, finished the season 13-15 despite 17 points from David Wesley.

Neither team shot well, with TCU hitting just 37 percent from the field to Baylor's 32 percent.

Willie Sublett's 3-point play with 6:28 left in the game pulled Baylor to within 51-46, but Wesley missed a fastbreak layup and two free throws, and the Bears never got closer.

Mark Moton hit a pair of free throws with 54 seconds remaining to give the Frogs their biggest lead of the game at 62-49.

Baylor's Joe Blasingham hit a pair of 3-pointers, the last at the buzzer, for the final margin.

Sublett scored 10 points and had 10 rebounds and Kelvin Chalmers added 14 points and eight boards for Baylor.

Albert Thomas scored 13 points for TCU.

Houston 73, SMU 62

DALLAS — Craig Upchurch scored 24 points and Charles Outlaw added 15 as the Houston Cougars survived a second-half scare from Southern Methodist.

Second-seeded Houston (23-5) will face third-seeded Texas Christian in a semifinal Saturday. TCU beat Baylor 62-55 earlier Friday.

Scrappy SMU, the No. 7 seed, which whittled a 14-point second-half lead to four points, ends its year at 10-18.

Upchurch scored on consecutive fast-break lay-ins to give the Cougars, who led 41-32 at halftime, their biggest lead of the game at 50-36 with 16:30 remaining.

The Mustangs responded with a 17-7 run, sparked by 3-point plays from Gerald Lewis and Greg Kinzer, to pull within 57-53 with 8:13 left. Seven of their points came off turnovers.

After a timeout, Upchurch gave the Cougars a boost with a layup and free throw, and SMU was unable to cut the lead below five.

Lewis and Mike Wilson led the Mustangs with 15 points each. Tim Mason added 12 points and 10 rebounds.

RELAYS: MHS' Todd, Foster place in high jump

first to clear 6-9 and led at that point on fewer misses.

"I haven't been over 6-4 this year, but this is the first time I've been on a good track," said Daniels, who is headed for Texas Tech on a football scholarship next fall. "Every time Ryan and I meet, it's usually between us two. I went out on 6-11. I hit the bar with my elbow."

One thing is for sure. The District 4-5A high jump will be a major event from now on with these two going at it.

Permian is the heads on favorite to win the 5A division today, despite the fact that Mojo failed to qualify its sprint relay team, which was disqualified for handing off out of the lane. It was a bad disqualification since Permian could have almost walked to the finish line. They had a wide lead in their qualifying heat.

"It's not going to make any difference as far as Saturday is conerned," said San Angelo track coach Jim Allen. "We can't catch them and no one else can either. They have a tremendous amount of talent.

"We have lost 10 kids to grades and four have moved away. It's tough to compete when you lose those kind of numbers."

The girl's division could be a barn burner with Plainview, San Angelo and Permian all owning a shot at the team crown.

Said Permian girl's coach Dot Brashear, "We've got a chance, San Angelo has a chance and Plainview will probably win it."

If Plainview does win the title, it will be with quality. Only seven Lady Bulldogs are entered in the meet. Some of the Plainview distance runners went to a meet in Hereford.

Due to spring break, Midland Lee's boys and girls are not competing in this meet. Lee state 300 hurdle qualifier Traci Logan missed a key opportunity to face some major competition. El Paso Hanks runner Karen Boone set a 300 hurdle girl's record with a 46.44 in the preliminaries Friday.

Logan defeated Boone in the Region I meet at Lubbock last year and both went to the state meet in Austin.

The 4A division long jump also provided some entertainment. Lubbock Estacado's Chike Lewis had a jump in excess of 25-feet, but scratched. He ended up second to teammate Taje Allen, who won with a 23-2¾. Lewis had a 22-4½.

Andrews' Robbie Seals won the 4A discus with a 154-4. Andrews has domintated the discus event for several years. Seals also won the shot put with a 51-10½.

Midland High broke into the point column Friday with fourth and fifth place finishes in the 5A high jump. Both Watu Todd and Rob Foster cleared 6-2. Todd was given fourth place with fewer misses.

Three 3A division records were set Friday. Canyon's Matt Spears set two of them, winning the shot put with a 58-8¾ and the discus with a 171-8. The other 3A mark came in the sprint relay with a 43.14 by the Permian junior varsity.

The majority of the points are up for grabs today with the running finals. Some field event finals begin at 10 a.m. while the 3200 meters opens the running finals at 12:30 p.m.

Friday's field event finals from the 48th annual West Texas Relays in Odessa:

Archer holes ace, birdie to take lead

Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO — George Archer had a hole-in-one and a birdie on the last two holes Friday to complete a round of 8-under-par 64 and take a 2-shot lead in the first round of the Vantage at the Dominion senior golf tournament.

Archer used a 6-iron for his hole-in-one on the 153-yard 17th hole. He completed the back nine in 30 with a birdie on the 18th hole of the 6,814-yard Dominion Country Club course.

"I couldn't see the ball land at 17 after I hit the shot, but the marshall behind the flag jumped up and down, so I thought it might have gone in," the 52-year-old Archer said.

"I had one last year at Palm Springs, and one two years ago at Ojai. Looks like I'm on a one-a-year hole-in-one pace," he said. He said he doesn't know how many aces he's made, but recalled making his first at age 17.

Mike Hill and Chi Chi Rodriguez each shot 66 to share second place in the 54-hole event. Hill's round was highlighted by an eagle and five birdies, while Rodriguez had eight birdies and two bogeys.

Jimmy Powell was alone at 67, while a group at 68 included Butch Baird, J.C. Goosie, Lee Trevino and Miller Barber.

Barber and Goosie share the lead in the Vantage Classics division, a seperate competition for players 60 and older.

LADY RAIDERS: UT-Tech game features diverse styles of play was held below double figures for the only time this season.

The Lady Longhorns retaliated Feb. 12 with a 70-63 victory in Austin by containing Swoopes, who acknowledged "we were a little intimidated."

Texas is the hottest team in the conference, having won 14 of their last 15 with the only blemish an 86-68 loss to No. 2 Tennessee.

On Jan. 21, Texas lost a 74-73 shocker to Texas A&M to fall to 7-7 overall and 1-3 in league play. The loss came just one week after the Lady Longhorns fell out of The Associated Press Top 25 for the first time in nearly a decade.

With a week off to retool, Texas reeled off 10 consecutive victories, including triumphs over ranked teams Texas Tech and Penn State.

Conradt said playing in the tournament final "we think is a great opportunity to sort of redeem ourselves for a very shaky start at the beginning of the season."

Sharp said Texas will be hard to beat. "They're playing awfully well right now."

The games pits a run-and-gun Texas team versus the deliberate offense of Tech.

"I think Texas Tech is a very disciplined, controlled team," Conradt said. "And that is contrary to how we would like to play. I think always, year after year, when we've played Texas Tech, it's a battle of wills, a battle of tempo.

"We like to run the break, we like to push the basketball and they prefer to walk the ball down the floor," she said. "So, it's a matter of who can dictate the tempo and flow of the game."

Dawson has cancer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Television sports anchor Len Dawson, a Hall of Fame quarterback who led the Kansas City Chiefs to a 1970 Super Bowl victory, has prostate cancer, KMBC-TV news director Brian Bracco said Friday.

Dawson, 56, underwent surgery Thursday and will leave the show, probably for a couple of weeks, to recover from the illness detected earlier this year, Bracco said.

Victoria, Longview meet for 5A title

Associated Press

Prep Basketball

AUSTIN — Eric Leftwich and Jimmy Smith each scored 32 points Friday as Victoria edged Fort Worth Wyatt 86-84 in a Class 5A boys state high school semifinal game.

Victoria (31-5) won its 21st straight game to earn a spot in Saturday's title game against Longview, a 95-64 winner over Houston Worthing earlier Friday at the 72nd annual University Interscholastic League tournament.

Wyatt, which entered the tourney with the worst record of the 16 teams, ends the year 17-14.

But the Chaparrals refused to go quietly. They cut a 16-point fourth-quarter deficit to 85-82 with 13 seconds remaining on a 3-pointer by Diron Gipson.

In the final minute, Wyatt's Darrell Waters hit two treys and Ahmad buried another from behind the arc.

But Victoria was able to hold on from the free throw line, hitting four of six attempts.

Waters paced Wyatt with 28 points and a game-high 11 rebounds. He hit all three of his 3-point attempts. All of Tucker's 15 points came on 3-pointers.

Leftwich, who scored 56 points in one game this season, scored the last 10 Victoria points of the first quarter and 6 of his team's first 8 points in the second period for a 39-26 advantage. Wyatt fought back with three straight baskets at the end the second quarter, cutting Victoria's lead to 46-36 at halftime.

Class 5A Semifinal
Longview 95,
Houston Worthing 64

AUSTIN — Byron Young scored 25 points and Bobby Taylor added 15 Friday as Longview blew out Houston Worthing 95-64 in a Class 5A state high school semifinal game.

Longview (34-2) will face the winner of the other Class 5A semifinal — between Victoria and Wyatt — in Saturday's title game.

Michael Rigos scored 35 points for Worthing (23-9), but it came on 6 of 19 from 3-point range. Derrick Rice added 12.

Taylor, who has signed with Notre Dame to play defensive end for the Fighting Irish, scored seven points on two dunks during a 15-0 fourth-quarter surge by Longview.

That streak came in the midst of a 24-2 run by the Lobos that helped them win their 12th straight.

Both teams were making their final four debuts at the 72nd annual University Interscholastic League tournament.

The Lobos led 43-27 at halftime behind a 13-0 first-quarter run.

Class 2A Semifinal
Krum 66, Abernathy 59

AUSTIN — Jason Hamm scored 19 points to lead Krum past defending Class 2A champion Abernathy.

Krum, 34-2, losers the semifinals the last two years, will meet Troup, 26-9, Saturday for the Class 2A title at the 72nd annual University Interscholastic League tournament. The victory was the 27th straight for Krum.

Abernathy, also in the tourney for the third straight year, was hoping for a rematch of last season's title game.

Jason Solley and Jason Martin each scored 12 for Krum. Hamm also had 12 rebounds.

Larry Norris paced Abernathy with a game-high 22 points. Damon Loper added 18.

Abernathy led by as much as six in the first quarter, but a 3-pointer by Bryan Hamm with 2:28 left in the half gave Krum a 24-22 lead it would not relinquish.

Krum extended its advantage to 56-45 early in the fourth quarter and spent most of the last period at the foul line.

A 3-pointer by Cody Forbes with 22 seconds remaining made it 64-59, but Jason Hamm sank a pair of free throws to squealch the comeback attempt.

Class 2A Semifinal
Troup 69, Poth 25

AUSTIN — Greg Austin and Joey Martin scored 14 points apiece Friday as Troup rolled past Poth 69-25 and into its third straight Class 2A boys state basketball tournament final.

Troup, which lost to Abernathy in last year's University Interscholastic League finale and to Ingram in 1990, improves to 34-1. Poth, in its first Final Four appearance, ends the season at 27-6.

Behind Martin's 12 first half points, Troup blew the game wide open in the second quarter with a 15-0 run that left the score 33-14 with 3:40 remaining in the second quarter.

Billy Matlock's putback made it 39-19 to start the third quarter and by the end of the period, the spread was 51-21 after another Matlock bucket.

Troup, 205-16 in the past six years, outscored Poth 32-6 in the second half. Poth, which three years ago lost 28-straight district games, managed only two free throws in the last quarter.

Kevin Wiatrek accounted for almost half of the Poth points, finishing with 12.

Petrovic leads Nets by Celtics

Associated Press

NBA Roundup

HARTFORD, Conn. — Drazen Petrovic scored a career-high 39 points to lead New Jersey from a 19-point deficit over the Boston Celtics, 110-108.

The victory, which ended New Jersey's four-game losing streak, gave the Nets nine road victories, the most in the last three seasons.

It was the third straight loss for Boston, and only the sixth time this season the Celtics have been involved in a game decided by three points or less.

Petrovic hit 17 of 26 shots, including all three attempts from 3-point range.

Chris Morris, who had 11 rebounds, scored 12 of his 20 points in the fourth quarter when the Nets hit 64 percent of their shots. Mookie Blaylock had 18 points and 10 assists and Derrick Coleman had 16 points.

Larry Bird scored 28 points, 22 in the first half, Reggie Lewis had 22 points and eight rebounds and Kevin Gamble had 16 points.

Dee Brown had seven points as the Celtics used a 13-3 run midway through the third quarter to open an 81-62 lead, and Brown's dunk at 4:23 gave the Celtics an 83-64 lead.

Petrovic scored eight points during a 12-4 run as the Nets closed to 87-76 with 1:49 left in the third quarter. The Celtics led 88-76 at the start of the fourth quarter.

Gamble scored the first basket of the fourth quarter before Petrovic's 16-footer started a 10-0 run. New Jersey closed to 90-86 on Morris' layup, and his 20-footer with 7:16 left tied it 94-94. Neither team led by more than two points until the closing seconds as the lead changed hands five times and there were six more ties.

Petrovic's 20-foot jumper with 1:01 left tied it 106-106 and Mills' layup with 38 seconds left gave the Nets the lead.

The Nets appeared in command when Mills blocked a shot and Lewis was called for a double dribble. But the officials then ruled the Nets had touched the ball and awarded possession to the Celtics.

Lewis missed a shot and committed a foul on the rebound, sending Bowie to the line for the free throw.

Magic 98, Pacers 97

ORLANDO, Fla. — Terry Catledge's rebound shot with 3.4 seconds remaining capped a 14-point fourth quarter and enabled the Orlando Magic to stop a seven-game losing streak with a 98-97 victory over the Indiana Pacers on Friday night.

Catledge finished with 20 points and Otis Smith added 19 for the Magic, which trailed 95-89 after Indiana's Chck Person hit two foul shots with 43 seconds to go.

Smith began Orlando's decisive rally with a 3-pointer, and a basket by Catledge trimmed the Pacers' lead to 95-94 with 20 seconds left.

Bullets 118, Timberwolves 115

LANDOVER, Md. — Charles Jones hit a key free throw and made a key block in the last minute, as the Washington Bullets beat Minnesota despite a brilliant performance by the Timberwolves' Pooh Richardson.

Richardson scored 22 points and equaled a club record with 17 assists, but it wasn't enough to keep the Timberwolves from their seventh straight loss.

Trail Blazers 106, Hawks 95

ATLANTA — Clyde Drexler scored 33 points, including eight in a row in one stretch, as the Portland Trail Blazers extended their longest winning streak of the season to seven games.

It was the seventh loss in a row for Atlanta, its longest streak this year.

Drexler's eight points in a row for the Blazers started on a layup with 5:35 left in the third period, erasing a 68-67 deficit and giving Portland the lead for good.

Suns 108, 76ers 104

PHILADELPHIA — Kevin Johnson hit two free throws with 14 seconds left and Jeff Hornacek added two more as the Phoenix Suns withstood a fourth-quarter rally by the Philadelphia 76ers.

Hornacek passed his regular-season career high by two points with 35, shooting 4-for-4 from 3-point range and 5-for-5 from the foul line, while Johnson had 17 points and 15 assists. Charles Barkley had 31 points for Philadelphia.

Cavaliers 109,
Lakers 107, OT

RICHFIELD, Ohio — Mark Price erased a horrible shooting night by scoring five points in the final 23 seconds of overtime as the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Los Angeles Lakers.

Price won it by hitting two free throws with 4.5 seconds left after sneakily throwing up a wild shot as Elden Campbell fouled him. The Lakers had a foul to waste in the extra period, but Price saw Campbell coming and heaved the ball toward the basket, earning the two free throws.

Rockets 118, Hornets 100

HOUSTON — Kenny Smith scored 26 points and the Houston Rockets pulled away from the Charlotte Hornets in the closing minutes for their sixth straight home victory.

Charlotte rallied from a pair of 12-point deficits in the first half and clung to Houston throughout the third period but the Rockets held on for a 78-73 lead going into the final period.

Heat 113, Nuggets 109

MIAMI — Glen Rice scored 29 points, 15 in the third quarter, and the Miami Heat withstood a late Denver rally as they handed the Nuggets their 10th loss in their last 11 games.

Relief Society members celebrate 150th anniversary

By Georgia Todd Temple
Staff Writer

Mobs forced the Mormons out of Illinois in 1846. Seago Lilies helped those same Mormon families survive the winter of 1847 in Salt Lake City.

"That first group of pioneers was breaking the trail into the valley, and it took them a long time," said Suzanne Griffin, a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. "They would travel, and then they would stop and plant vegetables for the people that would follow them.

Griffin

"The Seago Lily grew in the valley. The pioneers had to plant their seeds so they didn't have a lot to eat. So the Seago Lily was one of the mainstays that kept them alive until they could get in their harvests."

"They ate the bulbs," said Sherrie Gray, also a Mormon. "The bulbs sustained them through that winter. It's a funny little plant, but it means a lot to us."

The Seago Lily is the flower of the Relief Society of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

"The Relief Society is the oldest women's organization in the world," said Mrs. Gray, who is Stake Relief Society president.

Gray

Originally established in 1842 with six members, the Relief Society now functions in 136 countries around the world and has an international membership of 3.1 million women. Founded on March 17, 1842, this year marks the society's 150th anniversary.

TODAY, A 90-MINUTE meeting originating in Salt Lake City will be beamed live via satellite to 1.7 million Relief Society members in the United States and nearly a million women participating in Canada, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Germany, South Africa, Korea, Australia, France, England, Japan, the Philippines, New Zealand and Taiwan.

Local members of the Relief Society and all interested parties will see the broadcast, which features church and Relief Society leaders, at 11 a.m. today at the Midland Gateway chapel, 4805 Gateway. Birthday cake and refreshments will follow.

Service is the hallmark of the Relief Society.

"The motto is 'Charity never faileth.' The Relief Society does a lot of service work and taking care of others," said Mrs. Gray, who as Stake Relief Society president presides, with the help of her first and second counselor, over the Ward Relief Society chapters in this area of Texas.

Those chapters are in Pecos, Fort Stockton, Alpine, Seminole, Andrews, Monahans, Midland and Odessa.

"The Relief Society was set up as a service organization for our church and we seek out anybody and everybody in our community and in our church to give aid to help in any way we can," said Mrs. Griffin, first counselor in the Stake Relief Society presidency.

THOUGH COMPOSED MAINLY of members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, any woman who wishes to affiliate with the group is welcome and encouraged to participate.

"I've always been a member of the church," Mrs. Gray said. "I've been able to see through my mother and my grandmother what the Relief Society has done for them. For me in particular, it's made me a better mother, a better person, more concerned with other people.

"For instance, when I was first married, I didn't know how to cook. Probably, I didn't really want to. It was a shock to find out that's what I needed to do," Mrs. Gray said. Then she laughed.

"Through the homemaking department of the Relief Society, I was able to learn lots of nutritional things — how to cook meals, how to prepare them, how to end up with everything done at the same time.

"In fact, I think you can learn a lot of skills through the Relief Society that you would be paying money for someone to teach you at a college or university level. And we have a lot of very qualified women who teach skills."

The Relief Society stresses education and literacy.

"There's a big emphasis in the Relief Society on improving yourself and on 'you can do anything,' which goes along with improvement," Mrs. Gray said.

RELIEF SOCIETY MEMBERS around the world are celebrating the organization's 150th anniversary throughout 1992 with a variety of local service projects. All three Midland wards have been active in projects ranging from sewing to taking on the cleanup in a local park for the entire year.

The Midland I ward group painted three bedrooms, stripped wallpaper and made curtains for a home at the High Sky Children's Ranch.

"It didn't take long," said Margene Bushman, president of the Midland I ward Relief Society chapter. "We were out there about five hours total. The sisters who participated enjoyed working alongside one another. The ranch personnel were very grateful and that made us feel good.

"It was really a good project, one where we are benefiting those we are serving, and we feel like we are giving a service that otherwise wouldn't be given."

As part of the worldwide celebration, the Midland II ward Relief Society chapter has sewn gowns for premature babies for Memorial Hospital and Medical Center, compiled play kits for children waiting in the emergency room, made children's suckers for the Boys and Girls Clubs of Midland, made an afghan to be donated and helped in the soup kitchen.

This month, the group will be working at the Cerebral Palsy Center. April plans include working at Ida Jo Memorial Park.

"WE HAVE ENJOYED working in the community so far and look forward to the upcoming projects," said Lynn Arnold, president of the Midland II ward Relief Society chapter.

The Midland III ward group helped distribute gifts and tree decorations to needy families in their school — a project which involved more than 20 families in the project.

This ward also plans to participate in a painting project at High Sky Children's ranch and is making stuffed bears to donate to the fire department. These bears will be distributed to different stations and will be given to traumatized children as the need arises.

"It has been overwhelming to see the response of people in our community," said Judy Young, president of the Midland III ward Relief Society chapter. "They are so excited that our organization would seek them out and offer help. This has really been a worthwhile and interesting time to serve others."

Mrs. Griffin, whose specific duties center around education, pointed out that the celebration will continue through 1992.

"In a part of this celebration, there will be a literacy program," she said. "That will be forthcoming. It hasn't been announced from Salt Lake City yet."

She seemed to sum up what the Relief Society members are feeling about the projects they have undertaken so far.

"It's been really wonderful," Mrs. Griffin said. "The communities that have received these different service projects have overwhelmingly been excited about them. It feels just great."

Christian newsletter's laughter spices up faith

NEW YORK (AP) — A mother, noticing her 5-year-old daughter drawing with crayons on some paper, asked, "What are you drawing?"

"A picture of God," the little girl said.

The mother remarked, "No one knows what God looks like."

The girl, busy with her crayons, assured, "They will when I get through."

A page full of such funny little episodes, with religious touches, are recounted in each issue of the Joyful Noiseletter, published monthly by the Fellowship of Merry Christians.

Here's another:

In Sunday school, a teacher asked a small girl why she thought the clergyman in the Good Samaritan story passed by on the other side of the injured victim.

Replied the girl, "Because the man lying by the roadside had already been robbed."

The interdenominational fellowship was founded six years ago to help bring more joy, humor and celebration into church life, and now has about 17,000 members around the country.

The "noiseletter" also regularly carries stories about the value and various uses of humor in ministry and religious education, about advocates of it and experts at it, as well as jolly elements in faith itself.

The late British writer Malcolm Muggeridge, a consulting editor of the publication, wrote shortly before his recent death, "There is a close connection between clowns and mystics. Laughter is indeed God's therapy.

"He planted the steeples and the gargoyles, gave us clowns as well as saints, in order that we might understand that at the heart of our mortal existence, there lies a mystery, at once unutterably beautiful and hilariously funny."

Cal Samra and his wife, Rose, who edit the noiseletter, say humor is particularly needed during hard times.

Khmer Rouge launch widespread attacks before U.N. troop arrival

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — At least 10 Cambodian soldiers have been killed and 40 wounded in a truce-breaking Khmer Rouge offensive to grab land before U.N. peacekeepers arrive, officials said Friday.

Observers said the offensive, which began this week and was expected to escalate further, was the heaviest in more than a year. They said the Communist Khmer Rouge were apparently attempting to capture as much territory as possible before the full deployment of 22,000 peacekeepers later this month.

Budget problems delayed the start of the United Nations' peace mission, raising fears that the fragile peace would collapse before U.N. troops take control. A small advance group of U.N. officials arrived in November, and the first 250 peacekeepers arrived Wednesday.

Any fighting or movement of troops or ammunition violates the U.N.-brokered peace agreement signed by the four warring Cambodian factions, including the Khmer Rouge. The October agreement cleared the way for the deployment of U.N. peacekeepers.

U.N. officials held an emergency session late Friday with senior military representatives of all four factions to discuss the cease-fire violations. Another meeting was expected today.

"There is no question that (the Khmer Rouge) are violating the peace agreement," Maj. Fabian Motmans of the United Nations said Thursday. Motmans heads the U.N. team in Kompong Thom province, site of much of the fighting.

The Khmer Rouge were responsible for the deaths of hundreds of thousands of Cambodians in the 1970s before being driven out by Vietnam troops. They are the strongest of the three guerrilla groups that have fought the Vietnam-backed government for 13 years.

Khmer Rouge guerrillas have bolstered their front lines in northern Cambodia with at least 3,500 reinforcements, new ammunition and heavy weapons since late February, according to guerrilla and U.N. sources.

In this week's unusually well-coordinated offensive, the guerrillas used rockets, mortars and artillery to attack.

Earthquake kills more than 500 in Turkey, reports say

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A strong earthquake struck eastern Turkey on Friday and reports said more than 570 people died.

Ahmet Karabilgin, the governor of Sivas province, told the semi-official Anatolia news agency that at least 500 bodies were pulled from the wreckage in Erzincan, the city worst hit by the quake, about 350 miles east of Ankara.

Fikret Cuhadaroglu, the governor of Erzincan province, said another 78 people were reported dead in towns in the eastern part of the province.

Cuhadaroglu said one-quarter of Erzincan's city center was reduced to rubble, with 200 buildings collapsed.

"All of a sudden I saw the wall coming down and the city swinging like a cradle. I still hear the cries of my son calling for me," Ahmet Elden, an Erzincan resident, told Anatolia. His wife and four children were buried under the wreckage of his apartment building. He was pulled out by his neighbors, Anatolia said.

"Dead bodies were everywhere in the city center," said an unidentified man in a hospital bed interviewed by state television.

The quake is the worst in Turkey since 1983, when a temblor in Erzurum claimed 1,330 lives. It measured 7.1 on the Richter scale.

State television said Friday's quake measured 6.2 on the Richter scale and struck Erzincan, Erzurum and another province, Bingol, at 7:20 p.m. (11:20 a.m. CST) The U.S. Geological Survey in Menlo Park, Calif., said it was even stronger, measuring 6.8. The 1983 quake registered 7.1.

The USGS said the quake's epicenter was about 350 miles east of Ankara.

Panicked residents in the quake-hit provinces were spending the night outdoors despite freezing temperatures, according to the television.

Hundreds of soldiers were sent to Erzincan aboard buses to help rescue efforts, Anatolia said.

Pravda quits publication, cites funding

MOSCOW (NYT) — Pravda, the paper founded by Lenin and other pre-Revolution Bolsheviks and universally recognized for most of its 80 years as the voice of the Communist Party, bitterly announced Friday that it was suspending publication for lack of funds.

Lavishly subsidized by the party through most of its existence, the paper fell victim to the harsh realities of shortages, soaring prices, unimaginative management and a dwindling readership.

The daily had already reduced publication to only three issues a week of four pages each, and kiosks were freed to set their own prices.

Editors said today's issue, the last before the suspension, would be limited to 111,000 papers and to Moscow — 1 percent of Pravda's peak circulation of 11.1 million in 1987, and 10 percent of the current circulation of 1.1 million.

Editors said they hoped to resume publication in a week to 10 days. Even if the paper reappears, the suspension of the best-known Russian-language daily reflects the dire plight of the press across the former Soviet land.

Yet in a coincidence that seemed to illustrate the potential of market forces in the press, Pravda's announcement coincided with a gala evening at Izvestia's nearby headquarters celebrating that paper's 75th anniversary.

Izvestia, formerly the official government newspaper and second only to Pravda in prestige, Izvestia was far quicker in adopting reforms.

It was the first major Soviet daily to introduce advertising, and it worked actively to diversify its income, finding independent sources of newsprint, developing its considerable real estate and launching several new publications.

Your relationship with a family member could be altered forever. Spending quality time with your offspring is essential next December. Forge a new business alliance early in 1993. A windfall is likely if your partner's talents complement your own!

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: cartoonist Hank Ketcham, composer Quincy Jones, comedian Billy Crystal, Prince Albert of Monaco.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Make dates and carry out your plans to visit or entertain. A visionary, you are always looking for new fields to conquer. Stretch your dollars as far as you can.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Banking and shopping errands should be finished long before the lunch hour. Early evening is the best time to meet with friends. Welcome advice on saving time and money.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Discuss the pros and cons of a financial deal with your partner. Once you have reached an accord, let family members know what you have in mind. Your intuition helps you make wise decisions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A hectic day could lie ahead. Finish and file important paperwork quickly. A down-to-earth approach helps you cut through the romantic haze tonight. Be patient with your partner.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The more you think about an issue, the clearer it will become. The next step may be rolling up your sleeves and getting to work. Express yourself through the arts.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): A choice you make this morning shows your usual common sense and practicality. The whole family should benefit greatly from what you have decided. Allow nothing to deflect you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): See what can be done to redress a wrong or make up for an oversight. Getting a relationship back on track will bring peace of mind. Spend more time with small fry.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Go with the flow today and avoid trying to impose your will on others. Giving your loved ones the time of their lives need not be expensive. Plan a fun outing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A financial or romantic setback could leave a deep impression, even if everything eventually turns out fine. Be cautious when making new commitments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): If single, your head may be spinning with thoughts of marriage. Let mate know the depth of your feelings. Your intuition is right on target where a financial venture is concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): It looks as if you and a family member will be working hand in hand. There may be a small financial hitch, however. Do some comparison shopping before making an important purchase.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Return to earlier, more productive, policies and the financial picture will brighten. Long ago experiences lead to new opportunities. Friends may call or visit.

TODAY'S CHILDREN are strong-willed, creative and eager to take a leadership role. Wise parents will teach these independent youngsters the benefits of team spirit and joint effort. Although these Pisces detest doing homework, they will work hard in school if they like their teachers. They thrive on praise and will go all-out to impress the people they admire. Their biggest career challenge will be finding practical uses for their wildly imaginative ideas.

Sidney Poitier wins American Film Institute's lifetime award

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Many of today's black stars paid homage to Sidney Poitier as the actor and director received the American Film Institute's 20th Lifetime Achievement Award.

Poitier

"You made it possible to dream bigger dreams," Richard Widmark, who co-starred in Poitier's 1950 film debut, "No Way Out," told Poitier at Thursday night's ceremony.

Poitier, 68, was the first black actor to win an Oscar, for "Lilies of the Field" in 1963. "I'm glad you chose to honor me while I still have hair upon my head and my stomach has not fully obscured my shoe tops," he said.

Among the other black stars who said Poitier inspired their early careers were Lou Gossett Jr., James Earl Jones, Morgan Freeman and Danny Glover.

Commenting on the number of blacks who have followed him to success in film, Poitier said: "I'm filled with pride. I'm sure you discovered that it wasn't impossible — it was just harder. ... Welcome, young blood."

NEW YORK — Slash, the hard-living guitarist for rock 'n' rollers Guns 'N Roses, has signed a multi-million dollar deal to promote Black Death vodka, a newspaper reported Friday.

"He's perfect for the market," Black Death spokesman Robert Plotkin told the Daily News. "He was really the only one Black Death wanted."

Slash and his colleagues are known for their personal excesses as much as for their music. Drummer Steve Adler was fired for heroin abuse, and the News said Slash has done at least one stint in a substance abuse clinic.

The Washington-based Advocacy Group, which studies how marketing influences teen-age drinking, is troubled by the Icelandic vodka company's choice.

"They're clearly targeting an underage crowd," spokesman George Hacker said. "By associating a product with rock 'n' roll — it's connected to youth rebellion and all the rest."

The company said it is targeting 21- to 23-year-olds.

CINCINNATI — Dr. Henry J. Heimlich, who already has a maneuver named after him, will soon have his name on a museum.

Heimlich, 72, a surgeon and medical researcher who developed the Heimlich maneuver to dislodge objects from the throat of choking victims, will be the guest of honor March 22 at a national awards dinner of the Maimonides Research Institute.

The dinner also will launch a campaign to build the Heimlich Maimonides Museum. The museum would house and showcase manuscripts written by Maimonides, a 12th-century Jewish scholar and physician, and to display artifacts encompassing his travels through Spain, Morocco and Egypt.

SAVANNAH, Ga. — Ted Turner, Jane Fonda and a 400-pound baby buffalo stood up members of the National Buffalo Association at a reception opening the association's annual convention.

Turner

Turner, Fonda and the buffalo, named Thunder, were billed as the guests of honor for the event Thursday evening. The buffalo enthusiasts had hot dogs and roasted peanuts waiting for them.

But Turner and Fonda skipped the reception to drive around Savannah, a historic city on Georgia's coast, and Thunder was late.

Turner, who founded Cable News Network, owns a buffalo ranch in Montana.

AUSTIN — The music industry derives much of its music from the influence of blacks, but blacks are under-represented in it, folk-rock singer Michelle Shocked told hundreds of people at a music conference.

"There has been an active writing out of history of the contributions black musicians have made," Shocked said Thursday in opening remarks at the four-day South by Southwest Conference.

Shocked, whose album "Short Sharp Shocked" received a Grammy nomination in 1989 for contemporary folk, spoke to a primarily white audience of record and publishing company representatives, club and concert promoters, managers and agents.

About 3,000 people registered for the conference, now in its fifth year. More than 400 music acts are scheduled to perform.

LOS ANGELES — John Mahoney will star in a new CBS-TV drama series about a medical school instructor that premieres next month.

"The Human Factor" will run for eight weeks, starting April 16 at 10 p.m., as a spring replacement series for "Knots Landing," which airs its last original episode of the season on April 9.

The new series is from Dick Wolf, executive producer of NBC's critically acclaimed "Law & Order."

Officer taunted King after beating, nurse says

SIMI VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — As Rodney King lay on an emergency room bed after a police beating, one officer taunted him, saying, "We had a pretty good hardball game tonight," a nurse testified Friday.

Lawrence Davis, who attended King at Pacifica Hospital told jurors in the assault trial of four officers that one of them, Laurence Powell, made the remarks.

Davis testified that Powell also said, "We hit quite a few home runs," after King said he worked as an usher at Dodger Stadium.

Powell is one of four white officers accused of beating King, who is black, after a March 3, 1991, traffic stop. The incident, videotaped by a bystander, provoked a national outrage when it was broadcast widely on television.

The prosecution maintains that Powell clubbed King in the head repeatedly, wielding his baton with a baseball player's swing.

Davis testified that another of the defendants, Officer Timothy Wind, was present when Powell made his remarks to King. Although Wind didn't speak, Superior Court Judge Stanley Weisberg said his silence could be interpreted as agreement with Powell.

Wind's lawyer, Paul DePasquale, called the comments "banter" and "gallows humor."

Powell, 29, Wind, 31, Officer Theodore Briseno, 39, and Sgt. Stacey Koon, 41, are charged with assault. They face four to eight years in prison if convicted.

Bush sides with automakers on gas-fume collectors

WASHINGTON (NYT) — Four days before the Michigan primary, President Bush told business executives Friday that the government would not require automobile manufacturers to install pollution-control devices on new cars to capture gasoline fumes released into the atmosphere during refueling.

In making the announcement just three days after the primary in Texas, Bush settled a long dispute between auto makers and oil companies over which industry would be required to invest in new equipment to clear the air of benzene and other chemical compounds that contribute to urban smog.

The oil industry, which dominates the Texas economy, lost the dispute that began 17 years ago, when the government first considered controlling the fumes from refueling.

Friday's decision was roundly criticized by lawmakers and environmental groups as well as the oil industry.

Doling out political favors has been an election-year tactic of presidents for decades. What separates Bush from his predecessors is his choice of gifts.

Officials of the government's environmental agencies said privately this week that the president's strategy is driven by the White House's belief that there is only one political gain available to Bush from the recession: to step up his attack on environmental regulations and package it as a new effort to restore business profitability and preserve jobs.
