Take Inventory of Your Physical Condition

At the close of the old year, and looking forward to 1941, Dr. Geo. W. Cox State Health Officer, reminds Texans that this is inventory time and that it is quite as important to take stock of one's physical assets and liabilities as it is one's financial resources.

We would not think of running our automobiles without having them thoroughly gone over, every now and then. But we neglect to have this very important thing done to the wonderful human mechanism we carry around with us in our bodies. We can buy spare parts for our automobiles engines, batteries, wires, all the rest of the paraphernalia that goes into the making of a serviceable car. but when the heart, the kidneys, the nervous system or other parts of the human machine show signs of wear and tear, we cannot replace them with new ones. But we can find out how to take care of our human mechanism, so that we can conserve and prolong its usefulness.

One of the best ways to do this is for each person to go to his or her doctor, at regular intervals, for a thorough medical inspection of the human machine. If a weak spot has developed in some part of the system very often the doctor can advise as to ways by which the encroaching weakness or disease can be checked. This will help in prolonging life and prolonging it for healthy usefulness.

The boys and girls who are growing up to day are getting accustomed to these periodical examinations through the regular inspections they have in school. And every young mother knows that the best way to keep her baby and other young children well is by having them under regular medical supervision. So, it is the grown ups who need this advice, and I urge each individual who has not had an examination recently to begin the New Year by following the custom of the wide awake motorist. Have your physician check upon all parts of the machine. Then do as he tells you to do.

Collegians Home For Christmas

Greetings!

LOOKING UPON THE NEW YEAR

1940 with all its vicissitudes, joys and sorrows, are now passed and are in the junkheap of time.

1941 with all our hopes and fears is upon us. The rainbow of hope and promise still glows upon our horizon and heartens us in the belief that the harvest will not fail and that peace and plenty will prevail.

The fears that we entertain that war may be our heritage before the end of the year must be met with the grin of courage and tearless determination, so that if we must fight it will be on the side of mercy justice and our own preservation.

We must not lie down and "hug the delusive phantom of hope" until the tyrants heel is upon our necks. We must continue our preparations to meet any invader that should attempt to invade our shores.

Let us go forward on the path of peace and progress and make 1941 a year that will long be remembered as a period when Americans were dutiful to the cause of the American way.—Uncle Bill

SPEAKING THE AMERICAN GOSPEL

In his speech last Sunday night, President Roosevelt spoke the American gospel truth. He did not stutter when he said that the U. S. must be the arsenal of the Democracies of the world. He did not stutter when he told the world that Britain was the front line of American defense and that everything will be done outside of sending troops to support this line. He gave Hitler Stalin, Mussolini and Japan notice that the American people would not condone banditry, tyranny or murder in any form and that Uncle Sam would deal fairly and justly with all concerned but all gestures and threats of the Axis would be met with a grin or a fight if it came to a showdown. Adverse criticism has been made against the President because of his speech, but it found lodgement in the hearts of masses of the American people. The chief critics are Adolph Hitler and those who sympathize with him and his cutthroat allies.

W. T. U. Grateful

Tom Onstott, the genial local manager of the West Texas Utilities company wants us to say "thank you" to the patrons and Customers of the Company for their generous patronage and fair treatment during the past year.

In the coming year Onstott said that his company expects to continue its usual good service to its patrons and the general public in the coming year.

In addition we wish to say that the West Texas Utilities has given the public a square deal. It has always done its part in the betterment of civic projects.

An Exciting Man Hunt

After Scouring the Hills And the Brush for Near Two Days and Nights, Trio of Alleged Hijackers Arrested at Garden City

Sometime in the early morning hours of last Monday, a pair of hijackers held up and robbed Slim's filling station in the northwest part of San Angelo.

Sheriff Verne Davis was notified and he and his deputy Henton Emery took up a lookout on highway 58 near the Sterling City dumpgrounds.

About 4 o'clock a. m. they saw a car coming west, but the occupants saw the Sheriff's car, stopped, and climbed the fence and fled south through the brush in J. T. Davis's pasture. In getting over the wire fence, they left a hat, a part of a shirt and three 30 30 cartridges and a 32 special cartridge.

Soon posses of local citizens and officers from four counties began scouring the brushy valleys of the North Concho in a search for the fugitives.

Men on horseback, men on foot, men in cars, men in airplanes and men with dogs made it one of the most exciting manhunts ever experienced around Sterling. When night closed in, no trace had been found of the fugitives, and the weary hunters had to patiently wait for something to turn up.

Early Tuesday morning, Smoky Garms was making a trip to Garden City in his truck. Somewhere on the road, three men appeared and thumbed a ride. It was O. K. with Smoky, because he suspected who they were. They requested him to let them out when he reached the edge of Garden City. He did. As soon as they were out, Smoky hurried on and tipped Sheriff Fred Ratliff of what had occurred. Mr. Ratliff arrested the three men and they were brought to Sterling City and turned over to Tom Green officers who lodged them in jail at San Angelo.

The suspects gave their names as Robert Lee Boyd, 31 of Austin, Murrell Wharton 31, of Brazos and George Harlan, 25 of Mineral Wells.

The car, a 1939 Ford which the suspects abandoned is in the hands of Sheriff Verne Davis who is holding it for the legal owner. The license plates are of an old model Whippet.

This trio made the mistake in coming toward Sterling City in their efforts in trying to make a get-away. Very few have ever succeeded.

In their flight they abandoned their guns somewhere in the brush over which they walked.

Bank Declares Dividend

As a New Years gift the First National Bank presented its stockholders a 20 per cent deposit slip on New Years Day. This old bank is in its 41st year of existence. It has weathered the storms of drouth and depression all these years with out a panic or scare. It has taken care of its customers and each New Year its stockholders have enjoyed a comfortable dividend. Of

$180,000 Road Bonds Election Favorable

In the road bond election held in Sterling County on Saturday, December 21 resulted in a big majority for the bonds. There being 148 in favor of the bonds and 15 against.

On the same day, Glasscock County voted 148 in favor, and 30 against the bonds.

If the plans of the proponents of the two counties materialize, construction of highway 158 will begin early next spring. If the state takes over these bonds as is planned money for the construction of the road should be available not later than next April.

Coke County took no action in the matter, but it is a safe guess that the road from Sterling City via Garden City to Midland will be completed within a year.

Schools Resume Work Monday

After a weeks vacation, Superintendent Jones had the school bell to ring for "books" last Monday morning. After a glorious holiday, with happy faces, the kiddies resumed eating apples and chewing contra-band gum and in the meanwhile watching for teacher to turn her back so they could shoot paper wads at the ceiling. Bless their hearts they couldn't be normal unless they did that. The modern teacher has lost the art of using a small mirror to watch their antics while her back is turned. When a mirror was not handy the old time school teacher was mean enough to watch the kiddies through a hole in the newspaper which he was pretending to read.

course there were some years that the stockholders forgot their dividends in order to take care of hard-up customers. But they always paid it back. Few banks in Texas in show as good a business record as the First National Bank of Sterling City.

EAGLE OUTLOOK

By Kuo Nothing, Jr

The high school basketball team is having its third all-West-Texas basketball tournament December 3 and 4. The teams entered are Garden City, Robert Lee, Colorado, Westbrook, Forsan, Water Valley and Lake View. These teams will draw to see who plays who. The two top teams will play Saturday night at eight o'clock.

There will be given three trophies to the three top teams. Gold basketball balls will be given to the all tournament team.

WE WONDER

If Garland has been seeing Dots?
 If Mozelle K. is trying to be a closer relative to Marie.

If Ruth went hunting Sunday night.

If Fred C. is afraid of scandal.

If Claude saw a lot of Dunker during the holidays. Seems like he did.

If Fred C. likes blondes.

If George tries to keep up with the Joneses.

If Durwood's old flame is rekindled.

Why Joe Allen is such a woman hater this year.

If Jim Bob was interested in the show Saturday night or was it that student from Denton.

If Louise is interested in a certain classmate's brother.

What Senior girl is well known as goldy locks.

If most of the girls aren't extremely interested in the boy's basketball tournament.

If the boys are glad leap year is almost up. The girl's aren't.

What girl's dates last until early in the morning.

If Arlene was really listening to the radio at the polo field Monday night.

Senior Play A Success

The whole Senior class and Miss Smith the sponsor thank all those who attended the play and those who contributed toward making it a success. All the room mothers Mesdames Broome, Cannon, and Roy Foster and Dorothy Ferrell were especially helpful. The following friends generously lent clothing or stage properties. Mesdames Roy Foster, Hudson, Lena Findt, Roy Martin, Tweedie, Chapman, Broome, Ferrell, Roach, Ball, Rufus Foster, Pearce, Verne Davis, Arlene Abernathy and Hal Knight.

There were some empty feelings when the curtain went up. But after the play the Seniors felt more than paid for their hard work. After looking back they see how much fun they had. Most are more than a little sorry that this is their last year to put on a play.

Now that it is over we hope you may look back and remember those Lovely Ladies and have a good laugh.

Colbert Littlefield, aviation student at the John Tarleton college spent his holiday vacation with his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Littlefield and other relatives here.

Sunday Night Supper Dish

For a hurry-up Sunday night supper, Ruth Hussey is partial to potato omelet. The actress recently entertained the cast of her current picture, "The Philadelphia Story," and this dish was the piece de resistance. Her recipe is simple:

- 4 cold boiled potatoes
- 3 tablespoons bacon fat
- 1/2 tablespoon salt
- 1/8 tsp. pepper
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons milk

Cut the potatoes into tiny cubes and cook in the bacon fat with the seasonings for five minutes. Beat the eggs slightly and add the milk, then pour over the potatoes. Cook slowly until set, fold and turn onto a hot plate.

Two Useful Fruits

EVERYBODY likes grapefruit and everybody likes pineapple, but have you ever thought of combining these two useful fruits in recipes which should thus be doubly appealing to the palate? If you haven't here are some which will show you how to do it.

Pineapple and Grapefruit Shortcake: Boil three-fourths cup canned pineapple syrup, three fourths cup canned grapefruit syrup and two tablespoons sugar five minutes. Cool, add two cups diced canned pineapple and two cups canned grapefruit sections and serve on hot, rich baking powder biscuits, split and buttered. This makes enough for eight.

A Combination Salad
Pineapple and Grapefruit Salad with Cheese Dressing: Drain the contents of two 8-ounce cans of Hawaiian pineapple tidbits (or one and one-half cups diced sliced pineapple), and toss lightly with one cup canned grapefruit sections, one cup orange sections and one-half cup halved, seeded grapes. Pile in lettuce leaves and pour over the following cheese dressing. Serves eight.

Cheese Dressing: Shake together in six tablespoons salad oil, one tablespoon lemon juice, one tablespoon pineapple syrup and salt and paprika to taste. Smooth slowly into four tablespoons crumbled Roquefort cheese, and add two tablespoons chopped pimento.

A Cocktail for March 17
Emerald Isle Cocktail: Combine the syrup from a No. 2 can of Hawaiian sliced pineapple and a No. 2 can of grapefruit, sweeten slightly if desired with confectioner's sugar, add one-half teaspoon almond flavoring, and tint a delicate green with vegetable coloring. Cut the pineapple slices in quarters, and distribute with the grapefruit sections among eight glasses. Pour over the syrup, and chill. Serves eight.

STERLING CITY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1941

NO. 27

WE MARRIED 61 YEARS AGO

I know it is unethical to write about one's self or family, but I hope my readers will pardon me if I break a journalistic rule by giving the world facts about an incident that occurred 61 years ago.

Wife and I had been planning to be married for about ten years, our courtship began when she was about nine and I was fourteen. It continued until the final consummation on the 8th January, 1880. To keep it a secret. We tried to keep it a secret, but most all our friends knew about it.

On or about the 6th of January, 1880, they had Preston, wife's father, to mount old Hannah, a family steed, to go to all the neighbors and tell them that Nannie and I were going to marry on Thursday night and for them to be sure to come to the wedding.

At that time, I was a scrub school teacher with about 60 kids packed in an old log shack. On Thursday noon, I dismissed school. I told the kiddies the great secret, and I found that all the large girls knew all about it.

That night, a great crowd assembled at the home of wife's father, "Uncle" Patrick Martin and her mother. The marriage ceremony was had in the parlor of the Martin home. Brother A. L. McClellan, wife's Presbyterian pastor officiated.

Among those who witnessed this fashion wedding, four are living in Sterling City: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davis, Mrs. Lillian Reed and Mrs. L. Glass, but a majority of the attendants have long since passed over the great Divide.

This wedding was reported to the Waco Examiner, and appeared as follows in that paper:

"MARRIED: On January 8, 1880, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Martin at West, Mr. W. F. Kellis was married to Miss Nannie B. Martin—Rev. A. McClellan officiating."

It might have been stated that the bride wore a buff colored dress, shoes, stockings and a smile. Of my mind is not so clear, but I am sure that the bridegroom wore a black suit including a black tie that was hard to manage.

Wife and I were happy then as we have been for all these 61 years. Of course we have had our joys and sorrows mixed with our lives, but on the whole it has been 61 glorious years of married life to us. Although like all other married people, we have had our little tiffs, but never a rift. The flame of love has always burned in the household and we have never forgotten that we are sweethearts.

The three children, which God permitted to bless our home were golden chains that bound us all these three score and one years in deep concern for their welfare. The vows that we made on that evening 61 years ago, were serious things with us. She was my woman and I, her man. No other woman ever looked so good to me, and I am quite sure it was the same with her. We cultivated this sentiment all the days we have been together.

She must be a woman of wonderful patience to have borne with all my faults and foibles during these 61 years. In her age, I sometimes think that she is less demonstrative of the regard she bore me in my youth, yet, when I remember the care she bestows in preparing my

Magician Coming January 24

Bircheno the Magician is to be in Sterling City January 24th under the auspices of the Lions Club. He is to make his appearance at the high school at 8 p. m.

Bircheno will pull live rabbits out of a hat and give them to the children as souvenirs of his performances. He also will be locked in a mail sack, and nailed in a goods box, by a local committee of men, and will endeavor to escape from same. These and numerous other tricks will be ready to show his patrons.

One of the main features of the show will be a six piece stringed band composed of children who will render western music. A jar of money will be thrown out into the audience and they may keep what they can catch.

Hereford Bull Sells For $11,100

The 108 animals brought $88,128. The Largent herefords have been prize takers for many years. Largent bulls and cows are scattered all over West Texas.

A VILLAIN GETS VILLAINOUS

Spanky McFarland, who is the cruel villain in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's latest Our Gang comedy, "Captain Spanky's Showboat," has villainous touches applied to his make-up by the studio make-up artist.

WE'D LIKE TO HARPOON HIM

There is a person in San Angelo by the name of Henderson whom I would delight in raising him on the point of a pencil. Henderson broke out in print twice last week in the San Angelo Standard. His first article denounced President Roosevelt and the administration's policy of national defense in such a way that the reader was led to conclude that he was a Hitler agent and boosting Hitler's cause.

In Henderson's second article, he jumped astraddle of the Standard's neck because he said that paper was unfair in its support of the president's national defense policy.

I want to say that if the Standard had not been fair in every respect, his articles would not have appeared in its columns.

How I would like to impale him on the end of a pencil and hold him up for the world to see the Fifth Column legions lurking in his gizzard. But I can't do it because he is not armed with enough mentality enough to defend itself. He is just another one who would welcome Hitler and his cutthroats to our shores.—Uncle Bill

Isolate Children With Whooping Cough.

Careful isolation of a child ill with whooping cough is a measure that pays health dividends, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

There is no other communicable disease so dangerous as whooping cough to the very young and there is no other infection to which there is a more universal susceptibility in infancy and childhood. Over 90 per cent of all deaths from whooping cough occur in children under five years of age. Whooping cough is dangerous, moreover, because, there is no natural immunity against it during the first six months of life as there is in measles.

Whooping cough is usually transmitted by direct contact with the secretion of the mouth or the nose or with articles freshly soiled with the secretion. Only a short exposure is required to contract the infection. The communicable stage extends from seven days to three weeks after exposure until development of the characteristic whoop.

Among precautionary measures to be considered by parents as protection of their children against whooping cough are the following:

1. A child with what appears to be an ordinary cold should be kept away from others and a physician consulted to determine the true nature of illness.

2. Whooping cough vaccine of approved type is of value in preventing or lessening the severity of the disease. The vaccine is usually administered during the first year of infancy.

3. If whooping cough develops in a community, young children should be kept at home to escape exposure.

Isolation plays a hardship on a child in that it keeps him from seeing relatives and playmates. On the other hand isolation exerts a two-way salutary influence on public and individual health. First, isolation of the patient helps to prevent the spread of whooping cough to others who are susceptible. Second, and this is of immediate importance to parents, isolation protects the sick child against possible exposure to severe infection which may be carried by otherwise healthy persons.

DESTRUCTION OF MESQUITES

In the past, I have written several articles about the mesquite, but seeing that Robert R. Lancaster, state pasture expert, is advocating the destruction of mesquite on pasture lands, I am here putting up a protest against such action.

In my opinion, Mr. Lancaster has been misinformed about the mesquite. No doubt, he knows all about the shrubs of east Texas, but has not made a study of the West Texas mesquite which is such a timely friend to the farmers and ranchmen of this region.

There is no tree or shrub in this part of the world that possesses so many useful qualities. The mesquite is the survival of the fittest of most all of the vegetable kingdom in the arid portions of Texas. When a drouth prevails in West Texas, and when most all vegetation perishes for want of moisture, the mesquite flourishes and bears its crop of leaves and beans when they are most needed by domestic animals of the range.

There are more useful elements in the mesquite than Mr. Lancaster ever dreamed of. The bark of the mesquite is rich in tannin so valuable in making leather. The inner bark of this tree is one of the finest astringents known to materia medica.

A gum exudes from the bole of tree is equal to the best gum acacia. The bark is rich in black dye. The wood makes excellent fuel. Charcoal made from mesquite makes a fine fuel for the blacksmith's forge. When cut and peeled in the right season the mesquite makes a valuable fence post. Its one of the most durable of all hardwood. A wagon hub and felloes made of mesquite will never shrink or rot. The wood takes a fine polish and is valuable for furniture, gunstocks short handles, knobs and other things.

But the best of all is the mesquite bean and leaves which come at a time when there is no grass or other forage. This bean has sustained life in Indians and Mexicans when no other food was available. Most every animal of the range will thrive and fatten on mesquite beans. When coffee was not to be had by the early Mexicans of South Texas they roasted the beans and made a fine substitute for coffee.

When mesquite leaves fall in the autumn days, they are equal to the best of hay.

Mesquites come up thickly around stock corrals. Sometimes they are so thick that grass and weeds cannot grow among them but in a few seasons they die out to a stand of trees where grass and weeds grow again.

Only for the mesquite this country would be only a part of the dust bowl which is being planted in trees and shrubs as shelter belt.

The mesquite helps to keep the soil where it is and the rain where it falls. Don't let anybody fool you into destroying your mesquites. It would be foolish to do so—Uncle Bill

Billy Verne, the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Davis, suffered severe cuts to his hand last Monday when he contacted a broken bottle. He bled profusely until he reached Dr. Swann who soon had the blood flow under control. It so happened that Billy Verne's dad and mother were at San Angelo and he needed their sympathy very much, so he joined them at San Angelo.

TOO MUCH DRUG STORE WHISKEY

We have the highest respect for most of the physicians of Lynn county but we do wish that some of them would quit writing so many whiskey prescriptions. Did you know that during one period of three months recently more than 5,000 liquor prescriptions were in this county? And they were filled by drug stores operating in Lynn county. This is a most regrettable situation.—Lynn County News

Yes, but good gosh Brother Hill don't you know that when some fellows get sick, by themselves or with somebody, needs whiskey (or thinks he does) and has got to have it from somewhere.

For more than 80 years I have observed preachers, teachers, a few doctors and professionals fooling away trying to convince people that whiskey is no good for what ails them but after all the lectures and preachments, I observed that if a fellow was ailing, by himself or with somebody he thought he needed some whiskey and he could always find a way to get it.

Those 5000 sick Tahokians thought they needed whiskey, their doctors thought so and their drug gists knew they needed it badly or they wouldn't have sold it. The docs knew that if a poor, sick man couldn't get a prescription for whiskey in Tahoka that he would go to some other doc that would and so the poor sick man got his prescription. The druggist knew that if he refused to sell it to him that was ready to perish he would seek a bootlegger or package house sell him the balm of life.

If Tahoka had a package house the docs and drugstores would do a mighty poor business.

But Tahoka doesn't want a package house so the Tahokians must depend on the docs and the drug stores for their whiskey. If they had neither a package house or drug stores then they would have to depend on the bootlegger for their whiskey of a doubtful quality. It is a regrettable situation for these sickly denisons of Tahoka and Lynn county. But they must have whiskey for what ails them.

Brother Hill I would like to help you out in taking care of your sick folks but I am afraid if I came up there I might get sick too, and then I would need some of your popular medicine.

I read in the Good Book where one of the old mouiters lectured Prince Lemuel on the subject of the use of booze for medicine. He said: "Wine is not for princes, O, Lemuel, lest they drink and forget the law. But give wine unto him that is heavy of heart, and to him that is ready to perish and let them drink and remember their miseries no more".

It would seem that Tahoka and Lynn county have 5000 people who are suffering with heaviness of heart or are ready to perish, and the docs and druggist are letting Almost 100 years ago the country—from Boston to Philadelphia—was more than upset about a group of radicals who believed that bathing in tubs was a way of gaining health. Majority of opinion believed that getting wet during the winter months was a sure way of getting pneumonia. Further, the habit was considered indecent, as a bather must necessarily be entirely disrobed. Philadelphia also enacted legislation, but not as drastically. It decreed that people could not bathe in tubs between December and March.

Yes, I know that we have in time past fought the English in two wars but they are our people, just like it was when we fought among ourselves during the Civil War. In the veins of the great masses of Americans, courses English, Irish or Scotch blood. That is the reason we refer to them as our English Cousins. We speak the same language. We have the same religion, the same ideals and nearly the same form of government. The Englishman is rated among the highest type of the human race. He is our kinsman. He is now in trouble. That is the reason he can borrow our guns.—Uncle Bill

The thing I dread most about the Fifth Columnist is, that when and if the showdown comes in these United States, all the bridges, poles, trees and other pendant supports in the country will be messed up with these misguided wretches. Every member of this gang whose mothers sleep under the floor of the front porch should be taught that nooses are ready to jerk them to glory on the date when they start something.

This is your America. If you do not like the American way, you should take the first boat and sail to the land of your choice and stay there while the staying is good. If you like the American way, and like the freedom and opportunity which we all enjoy, snap into it and do your bit in keeping the dictator bandits on their side of the great deep. Nobody wants war, but nobody can help it if war is made on him. All that is left for him to do in that case is to fight like hell—Uncle Bill

Mussolini could "whippa da nig in Ethiopio," but when he ran up against the Greeks and British, it was a different tale to tell. The only way the big windy has gotten the Greeks and British bested, is that they are forced to feed about 100-Italian prisoners. Mussolini had no moral reason whatever to invade Greece and Egypt. It was a clear case of plain hijacking which turned out bad for the hijacker.

EAGLE OUTLOOK

By Kuo Nothing, Jr

The third annual basketball tournament was a huge success.

Forsan won the tournament and received a large trophy. Sterling City was runner up. They lost to Forsan 19 to 12. Sterling City also kept a good looking trophy. Water Valley won the third trophy for winning the consolation.

Cowley, Griffith, from Forsan, Riddley, from Lake View, Reed from Water Valley, Churchill from Sterling City made the all tournament team. Each of these received a gold basketball. The referees R. V. and R. C. Thomas gave a silver basketball to the best sport. Oglesby from Westbrook took this.

Colorado, Robert Lee, Westbrook, Garden City, Water Valley, Lake View, Forsan, and Sterling City all entered and played.

The total gate receipts was $80. The largest gate receipts so far for a Sterling tournament.

The officials were	$12.00
Cleaning help	3.00
Trophies and awards	23.92
Total expenses	38.92
Total profit	$41.08

The athletic committee and the basketball team wish to thank the good people of Sterling City for helping us make this our third tournament a success.

WE WONDER

If Mary Lou and Arlene wouldn't like to go to school in Colorado. We don't blame them.

If Imogene didn't beat Maudine's time Saturday night.

If Arlene otherwise known as "Oink" isn't interested in Joe Louis. Why?

If Dixie likes the name Wanda.

Where certain senior boys were New Year's Eve.

If "Foots" doesn't really get around these days.

If Mozelle K. goes around marching most of the time.

If Mozelle K. and Marie will be glad when a certain college student and a soldier come to Sterling from Forsan.

If Dan and Billy were mad Monday morning. If they had a right to be.

If a senior girl wishes for a brother in the army where he could bring a boy friend home with him.

If Maudine doesn't like these junior college students

If Louise has two girl friends betting on when she is going to get married.

If "Carew" didn't have quite a time New Year's Eve. If he didn't break training.

If Ruth had an escort home Saturday afternoon and if he wore a sweater with a "G" on it.

If Baby likes the initials "W. D." Disguise. Jones.

If three high school girls are trying to make a trio starting with the initial "D."

If Joe Allen still says he wasn't in San Angelo New Year's Eve.

First Grade

Nancy Jane Gallagher has joined our class. We now have 21 members.

THRILLS AFTER THREE

A few basket ball fans seen at the tournament were; Jamie Sue, Peggy and Rosemary, Freda and kodak, Lucille, Maudine and boy friends. Mary Lou, Arlene, Mitzi, Mozelle, Imogene, Sue, and Frances. Mitzi and Ross went to the show in San Angelo Sunday afternoon.

Mary Lou's guest for the week end was her cousin June Wilkison from Tuscola.

The girls and the boys enjoyed the tournament very much.

LEST WE FORGET

"Who enjoyed the tournament most, the girls or the boys?" That was a question asked of me, I say it is a show. Yes, there were some good looking boys, but didn't you see those swell looking girls. Then you should have been looking around.

The midterm tests are at hand. Are you ready.

Boys, it is getting close to stock show time. If you intend to make some of them, better get up on that English Geometry, History and Civics.

Fourth Grade

We are glad to have Carolyn Foster in school again. We are sorry that Jacqueline Everitt, Evelyn June Gothardt and Estelle Reed are absent and hope they will be in school soon.

We are enjoying our music class and hope to start working on an operetta soon.

Sixth Grade

Douglas went to Ozona last week. Peggy was sick Monday. Beth went to San Angelo.

Thursday is P. T. A. day. Everyone come and vote for the Sixth Grade.

Seventh Grade

Marshall Lynch missed school Tuesday. We are studying for our mid term tests which are next week.

Sophomores

The sophomore class had a class party at Mrs. Fowler McEntires before Christmas. We had a very nice time and sorry that some of the class could not be present. We will try to have another one before school is out in the spring.

The poultryman who produces average products must be satisfied with average prices.

The primitive hen laid 12 to 15 eggs in a year.

Today, hens are laying 150-200 and some birds 300 eggs or more in 12 months.

Good Breeding, Sound Management, Careful Sanitation, and Good Feeding have made this possible.

Puri-flave is the richest known commercial source of vitamin G (flavin).

Every poultry raiser should look beyond the price on the bag or ton when he purchases feed for his laying flock, his breeder flock, his baby chicks, or his growing pullets.

With poultry, the following are influenced by breeding—Health, Body Size, Body Shape, Production, Egg Size and Shape, Shell Color, Broodiness, Fertility, Hatchability, Livability, Growth, Persistency of Production, Color of Feather.

In describing Puri-flave, Dr. H. J. Smith, Director of Research for Purina Mills, says, "Puri-flave contains more vitamin G than all other known commercial sources and is not subject to the extreme variation in content of this valuable vitamin, so characteristic of other sources.

Because the mineral content of poultry rations affects egg production, bone development, growth and health, leading feed manufacturers exercise extreme care to insure having the proper mineral balance in their feeds. Nothing should be added to them unless that is the manufacturer's recommendation.

Poultry rations feed out so far that five dollars extra per ton for a good feed means little when the results are recorded.

The surest test for worms is to "post" a bird. The intestines should be cut out and split from end to end. If large roundworms are present, they can be seen inside the intestine. Roundworms vary in length from one to six inches and are white or yellowish-white in color.

To treat for large roundworms (ascariids) withhold food from adult birds eight hours before and at least two hours after dosing with Purina Tetsules. If Tetsules are to be given at night birds should not be fed after noon. Sick or diseased birds, hens in high production, or birds under two months old should not be dosed. For birds weighing less than six pounds, one c.c. Tetsule will do an efficient job of worming; for birds weighing more than six pounds, the dosage is two one-c.c. Tetsules.
