A familiar figure loomed in the doorway Friday afternoon, one I had not seen for a little over three years. A few moments later I was drinking coffee with Charley Sparks, former teacher and coach here.

The big news so far as Charley is concerned is his latest move — out of one college as a student into another as a full - fledged faculty member. He recently accepted an appointment as associate professor of physical education at McNeese State College in Lake Charles, La. He and his wife already have moved to Lake Charles and he is enthusiastic about his new position.

Charley came to Snyder 13 years ago, just after finishing work on his masters degree at Sul Ross State College. He joined the junior high faculty (there was only one junior high in Snyder then) and coached junior high athletic teams.

When Lamar Junior High School was constructed, Sparks remained at the existing junior high, which became Travis. A lot of local youngsters came under his influence during the decade that he worked with them in the classroom and on the playing fields.

Three years ago last spring, Spraks made what he considers one of the biggest decisions of his life, professionally speaking. He applied for and was awarded an assistanceship at Texas A&M University to work on his doctors degree.

"I felt that the best way to get one (the doctorate) was just pull up and go to work on it and it has worked out fine," Sparks said.

He has completed the requirements for the Ph. D. except for his dissertation, and he is working on the final draft of that.

After a year at Texas A&M he was named an instructor, and served in that capacity the past two years.

Sparks had barely ended his brief visit when Mr. and Mrs. Buck Francis walked in to complete an unusual afternoon of reunions with former Snyder residents. Francis served as sports editor of The Snyder Daily News back in the fifites. He and his family moved to Corpus Christi in 1959 when he accepted a position on the sports staff of the Corpus Christi Caller - Times. Francis literally worked his way from the Panhandle to the coast. He came to Snyder from Pampa, and now considers himself an old - timer in Corpus Christi.

SIGNS NOTE — The Snyder Jaycees borrowed $9,000 from Snyder National Bank to help victims of the tornado in Hermleigh. They hope to pay off the note through contributions. A Jaycee Hermleigh Fund has been established at both the Snyder National Bank and the West Texas State Bank. Cecil Boren, vice president (seated, left) watches Mickey Nunley, Jaycee president (seated, right) sign the note. Other interested observers are, from left to right, standing, Rev. John Bollinger and Bill Dryden, co-chairmen of the Jaycee's finance committee, and Joe Sentell, Jaycee vice president.

HOUSING FOR STORM VICTIMS

Jaycees Begin Drive

The Snyder Jaycees are a group of dedicated young men who have faith in their community. They believe that other residents of the area, like themselves, are willing to help their neighbors.

The Jaycees went out on a limb Friday with President Mickey Nunley signing a $9,000 note. The money will be used to buy houses that will replace ones that were destroyed in a vicious tornado that struck west of Hermleigh May 24.

"We've been working on this project about three months now," said Nunley, "and have made arrangements to purchase four houses on Muriel Drive from the FHA. These houses will be moved to Hermleigh to replace the ones that were destroyed. Then, we'll build new foundations for them. The loan evers the cost of purchase, moving expenses and materials for constructing new foundations.

"A lot of people have volunteered to help us with this," Nunley pointed out. The FHA made the houses available at a fraction of their actual value. On the market, the houses normally sell for $4,500 each, although it would cost about $9,000 to replace one of them.

Expense for moving the houses was cut when the mover, W. K. Bigham, declared that he would take no profit from moving them, only enough money to cover actual moving costs. The houses can be moved more cheaply without the foundations. So, the Jaycees will destroy the present foundations then build new ones at the sites in Hermleigh.

How are the Jaycees going to repay the loan?

"We have faith that the people in the area will help us through donations," said Nunley. He said funds to aid the tornado disaster victims have been set up at both the Snyder National Bank and West Texas State Bank. Checks may be sent to either bank in care of the Jaycee Hermleigh Fund. The $9,000 loan was made at Snyder National Bank.

The tornado, spawned by a powerful rain and hail storm, devastated the homes of Bob Lee, Wynn Lee, T. D. (Doc) Leech and Bob Neblett, leaving only the foundations. In addition, it ripped the roof off the house of Herman Richburg.

The twister struck on both sides of a county road which runs west from near the Cardinal Cafe on U. S. 84.

Houses of the Lees were located about two miles down the road on the north with Wynn's

Fierce Assaults Take Heavy Toll

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Fierce new battles flared up along the northern frontier, in the central highlands and east of Saigon, with heavy casualties reported on both sides, the allied command said today.

Allied troops repulsed four enemy attacks Thursday and Friday and U.S. Marines making a helicopter assault Friday against North Vietnamese positions ran into an enemy mortar barrage.

The actions left 157 enemy soldiers and 74 allied troops killed and 251 allied troops were wounded.

The sharp, scattered fighting stood out against what U.S. officials have interpreted as a long general lull in the war while the enemy refitted and rested its forces for an expected major offensive.

The heaviest action was around the training camp and artillery headquarters of the South Vietnamese 18th Division at Xuan Loc, 40 miles east of Saigon.

The Viet Cong sent sappers and riflemen against the installation behind a 300-round mortar barrage Thursday, then ambushed one of the division's battalions Friday five miles southeast of the town. Vietnamese sources reported 100 enemy soldiers killed in the two clashes. They said 52 government soldiers were killed and 112 wounded.

In the northern sector, 15 enemy sappers got into positions of a U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division unit Friday as the enemy launched a strong mortar and ground attack against the American positions 15 miles northwest of Hue.

Spokesmen said 18 Americans were killed and 55 wounded and 17 enemy bodies were found, including those of three sappers killed inside the defensive perimeter.

Farther north, about 10 miles below the center of the demilitarized zone, enemy mortars killed four U.S. Marines and wounded 82 as the Leathernecks landed by helicopter for an attack. American artillery returned the fire and killed 10 enemy soldiers, the U.S. Command said.

Near Gio Linh, in South Vietnam's northeast corner, Marine tanks and South Vietnamese armored units pushed into the southern half of the demilitarized zone Friday, following up another stiff frontier action Thursday in which government troops reported killing 165 enemy troops. The allied force withdrew at dusk with no contact reported.

North Vietnamese troops ambushed a U.S. 4th Infantry Division truck convoy in the central highlands 12 miles of Pleiku City. But U.S. and South Vietnamese units moved in against the estimated 200 enemy troops and reported killing 30 of them. Two Americans were wounded.

Governor Maddox Seeks Nomination

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination today, after privately informing Georgia delegates to the national convention of his decision Friday.

"After much soul searching, in response to the demand and in what is believed to be in the best interest of the party and the country, the conclusion has been reached that the Democratic party must be offered a conservative candidate," Maddox wrote to delegates.

Maddox said he expects to have the support of several hundred delegates at the convention, which opens Aug. 26 in Chicago.

The governor, who selected the state's delegates told them in his letter: "I am counting on your support at the convention and your help and counsel is solicied."

The Maddox-selected delegation may become an issue at the convention, since it is being challenged by a group elected last weekend by the Georgia Democratic Party Forum, which questions the party loyalty of the Maddox delegation.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy is backing the challenge delegation and apparently hopes to make this issue a major test with the forces of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Prior to Maddox's decision to become a candidate, it was generally thought the Maddox delegation would support Humphrey at the convention, despite sentiment for third-party candidate George C. Wallace.

Maddox had said Sunday he was seriously considering entering the race to give voters a conservative candidate.

Ike's Doctors 'Concerned'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today that former president Dwight D. Eisenhower remains in "critical condition."

They expressed "increasing concern" for him as a result of irregular heart action following his major heart attack Friday.

The doctors reported that Eisenhower, since being stricken Friday, has suffered two episodes of irregular heart action, losing consciousness briefly during both.

They said he rallied after each episode, becoming "alert" with no evidence of brain damage.

However, "the occurrence of these episodes of irregular heart action is of increasing concern to his physicians," said a 10 a.m. EDT statement on Eisenhower's condition.

The doctors reported that the five-star general has received oxygen continuously ever since he was stricken at 1:25 p.m. EDT Friday with his seventh, and possibly worst, heart seizure.

The official statement issued by Walter Reed Army Hospital said:

"General Eisenhower has remained in critical condition since the previous bulletin (at 4 p.m. EDT Friday). During the past 17 hours he has sustained two episodes of irregular heart action—ventricular fibrillation. Both episodes were terminated promptly by electrical means—defibrillation."

Charge Filed In Slaying Here Friday

Elizabeth Jane Featherston, 31, Ennis Creek Road, was charged in Justice of the Peace Jimmie Billingsley's Court here Friday with murder. Bond was set at $2,500.

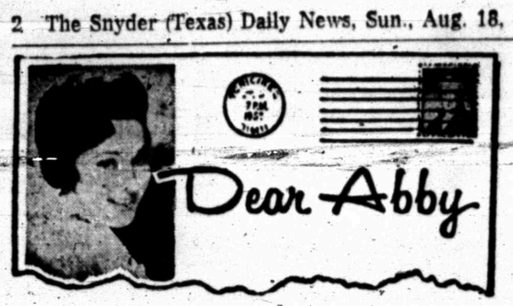

The charge stemmed from the shotgun slaying of Betty Jewel Legg, 34, 6020 Addis, Odessa. Her body was discovered in her car near the Featherston residence about six miles east of Snyder on the Ennis Creek Road about 7:30 a.m. Friday, although officers said the shooting occurred about 3:30 a.m.

Sheriff's authorities said their investigation indicates the woman was killed by a shotgun blast as she attempted to force her way into the rural home.

Officers said Mrs. Legg had among her personal effects a clipping from a newspaper and another from a national magazine concerning a suit she filed in connection with an insurance claim following the death of her husband. Mrs. Legg was charged in the death of her husband, but had not been tried on the charge.

The body was taken to Bolger Funeral Home. Gravesides rites were pending at McCamey.

Surviving are two daughters, Susan and Janice, and one son, James Cecil Legg, Jr., all of Odessa; and three brothers, Robert McClure of Miami, Fla., Louis McClure of Torrance, Calif., and Charles McClure of Birmingham, Ala.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I live in a small town, and during my high school days I never dated. I'm 19 and have been away to college for the past year. I dated quite a bit at college, but now I'm back home facing a dateless summer.

I don't really mind, but my mother does. As a teen - ager she was extremely popular. She must be afraid I'll be an old maid the way she tries to scare up dates for me with anything that comes along.

Last night I went out with the son of one of her friends. He was a wolf, a bore and a waste of time. He called me for a date again tonight and my mother stood right there by the phone to make sure I didn't refuse him. I tried to tell her what kind of boy he was, but she said it was better than staying home.

So what does a girl do with a mother like that?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: She uses her own judgment (and in this case I think yours is better than your mother's). Flatly refuse to go out with anyone you consider a waste of time.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I realize that this is no earth - shaking problem, but I would like your opinion.

Our little 3-year-old boy, Jeff, eats with his left hand, and we are afraid if he keeps on he will become left-handed, so we've been trying to break him of it.

I know it's no crime to eat left - handed, but it looks so clumsy. Could forcing him to eat with his right hand have a bad effect on him later on in life?

JEFF'S MOM

DEAR MOM: Possibly. Let the boy eat with which ever hand he chooses. What's the difference? His MOUTH is in the middle.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Will you please put a few words in your column about the "forgotten man" at all these weddings. I do not refer to the father of the bride or groom. I refer to the minister who has given his time for premarital counseling, has arranged for the use of the church and its facilities, has guided the wedding rehearsal, has performed the ceremony and then has registered the marriage as the law requires.

A young man who considers himself mature enough to take on the responsibilities of marriage should be aware that his first responsibility is to offer to the minister, by way of the best man, a monetary token of appreciation. (After all, the couple could have gone to a J.P. who would have asked a dollar a minute for a five minute ceremony.)

My husband has performed four "thank you" weddings in a row, and I am beginning to wonder if the wedding etiquette manuals are missing a page, or whether the bridegrooms have no mothers to tell them that they have a duty on their wedding day beyond kissing the bride. Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: About the GI whose girl let her mother talk her into "trading" her engagement ring in on another bigger and much "nicer" diamond, and who was told he could pay the difference when he got home from overseas service: Don't you suppose he would be well advised to forget the diamond and trade the GIRL in on a much nicer (tho not necessarily bigger) one?

JUST SUGGESTING: SEDONA, ARIZ.

County officials estimated damage "in the thousands of dollars," not counting damage to crops in the area.

The powerful, spinning cloud destroyed virtually all of the possessions of the four families who lost their homes.

Co-chairmen of the fund raising committee for the Jaycees are Rev. John Bollinger and Bill Dryden.

Glenn Bailey, district director of the FHA, and Sam Counts, deputy realty officer, were in Snyder Friday making arrangements for the sale of the vacant houses to the Jaycees. Both are from Lubbock. They were guests of the Jaycees during their regular noon luncheon meeting Friday at the Steak House along with other interested local citizens. Plans to aid the disaster victims were announced at the luncheon. At the conclusion, the group visited the new homes for the storm victims.

Dryden and Bollinger announced that the first big fund-raising project in connection with the housing project will be a "Radio-thon" on the night of Friday Aug. 23. It will be called "The Snyder Jaycees Hermleigh Relfousing Development Project's First Annual Golden Throat Oratorical Contest and Radio-thon." It will be staged on the west side of the square in front of Rogers, Inc., from 6:30 p.m. to midnight on the announced date.

Flights To Biafra To Be Continued

THE HAGUE (AP) — Red Cross relief flights into secessionist Biafra will go on despite the breakdown in talks with the Nigerian government over a landing strip, the international commission of the Red Cross said today.

The Red Cross said it would take every possible step to deliver supplies to thousands of starving Biafran refugees in secessionist and federally held territory.

It appealed to the Nigerians and Biafrans to agree quickly on the opening of land and water corridors to permit transportation of large-scale relief.

Limited relief has been getting through in planes chartered by the Roman Catholic charity organization Caritas from Henry Wharton, an American arms dealer.

Search For More Bodies

ALICANTE, Spain (AP) — Rescue workers searched for more bodies today in the smouldering remains of a fireworks factory ripped apart Friday by a blast that claimed at least 28 lives.

Twenty-three dead were recovered from the ruins in the town of Ibi, 50 miles from here. Five persons undergoing treatment at nearby hospitals died during the night.

Officials said they expected to find more bodies beneath the mounds of rubble.

Cause of the mishap has not been determined, but investagators speculated it started in a store of percussion caps manufactured for toy pistols.

Occasional small explosions continued today, frightening recuers. Wives and children hoping to find missing husbands and fathers clustered outside the disaster area. The Ibi church was filled with mourners.

2 Missiles Pass Test To Arsenal

By F. T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two highly destructive multiple-warhead missiles designed to penetrate deep into enemy defenses entered the U.S. nuclear arsenal Friday in spectacular back-to-back launchings.

The missiles—the Navy's Poseidon, capable of carrying 10 warheads that can be sprayed on preselected target shundreds of miles apart, and the Air Force's Minuteman 3—were labeled completely successful in maiden test flights from the spac complex at Cape Kennedy.

When they become operational, the missiles will replace the Polaris and Minuteman 1 and 2 as the backbone of America's retaliatory force. Both are expected to be placed on operational status in about two yars.

Details of the test flights were not disclosed. Official spokesmen for he space agency and the two services announced only tha the Minuteman successfully traveled its planned 5,000-mile journey to a splashdown near Ascension Island and the Poseidon came down at a predetermined point 1,000 miles at sea.

Poseidon, rated potentially eight times as effective as Polaris, is 34 feet long, 74 inches in diameter and weighs 65,000 pounds. Like the Polaris, it has a range of 2,500 miles but it reportedly is twice as accurate as the older missile.

The bigger, far-ranging Minuteman 3 is designed to take up to three warheads on a rocket that is 59 feet, 9 inches long and 6 feet wide. The missile weighs 76,000 pounds and is capable to traveling more than 6,000 miles.

Both have computerized and motorized devices capable of dispersing nuclear warheads over scattered targets selected prior to launch. Present Polaris and Minuteman payloads can only follow a ballistic trajectory once they are released.

Defense spokesman say the missiles, with their multitarget and penetration capabilities, could give the United States an edge in deterrent strength over the Soviet Union.

Shooting Sparks Riots

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two white men were charged with murder today in the shooting of a Negro woman in Cincinnati that touched off widespread violence. Racial disorder also swept St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Cincinnati outburst was marked by sniper fire and property damage.

Cincinnati police said Mrs. Willie Roberts, 50, had ordered two white men and a group of young Negroes who had been arguing near her cafe to leave the area. Minutes later she was shot.

A wave of fire-bombing, window-smashing and looting hit St. Petersburg in the city's first major disorder since a garbage collectors' strike began in May.

Police said nine persons were injured, most of them whites who were struck by rocks or bottles as they drove through the trouble areas.

Ten men and two women, all Negroes, were arrested on charges of looting, carrying concealed weapons or disturbing the peace.

One hundred and ninety garbagemen, nearly all of them Negro, were fired in May for going on strike. They still are seeking reinstatement, with a 25-cent-an-hour pay increase, although their jobs have been filled, mostly by whites.

Romania Endorses Liberals In Prague

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer

PRAGUE (AP) — Romanian President Nicholas Ceausescu warmly endorsed Czechoslovakia's reformist regime Friday and called on feuding parties in the divided Communist bloc to settle their differences in "comradely" talks.

"At this time, so many differences have amassed between Socialist countries and in the movement that we regard it as a basic and most urgent requirement not to undertake anything that could bring new tensions or increase the present ones," Ceausescu said in a speech during his goodwill visit here.

Romania and recently Czechoslovakia have charted a more independent course in the Soviet-aligned bloc of nations despite opposition from the Kremlin.

The visiting chief of state, who also heads Romania's Communist party, and Czechoslovak party Secretary Alexander Dubcek called on West Germany to declare invalid the 1938 Munich Pact which led to Hitler's seizure of the Sudetenland, a section of Czechoslovakia heavily populated by ethnic Germans. Czechoslovakia regained the territory in 1945.

As a condition for recognizing the Bonn government, Czechoslovakia has demanded that West Germany declare the Munich Pact invalid from the start.

Dubcek pledged Czechoslovakia would maintain its ties with the Warsaw Pact, the Communist defense alliance, and with the Soviet Union.

One and a half million dollars a year is a lot of money for one company to make just from vending machines. It's impressive even if the company has a full line of products. And yet the Pennbrook Vending Company in Philadelphia, makes a million and a half a year from vending machines with just one product. What's the product? Milk. Fresh, honest-to-goodness milk doesn't get read.

Green Beans With Pears

3 medium (1 pound) fresh Bartlett pears
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 pound snap beans, cooked (see below)

Pare pears, halve and core, cut each half into 3 lengthwise slices. In a 10-inch skillet over moderately low heat, mix and heat butter, sugar and lemon juice. Add pears; cover tightly and steam, shaking skillet a few times, for about 3 minutes. Turn pears, cover again, and cook the same way for another 3 minutes or until pears are just cooked through. Mix in cooked beans and gently reheat. Makes 6 servings.

To cook snap beans, remove tips and scrub in cold water. Boil whole beans, covered, in 1 cup boiling water, with 1½ teaspoons salt until tendercrisp — 12 to 15 minutes; drain. During cooking, lift cover a few times to help keep beans green.

Blending Art And Ideas

THE CRISIS OF THE RENAISSANCE, 1520-1600. By Andre Chastel.

It is Chastel's thesis that the late Renaissance was a time of stress and strain for art, for the state, the church and the new movement of humanism.

"Men of genius had emerged," he says, "manners were changing, and the courtly style had taken shape; literary standards had been or were being set up; technical mastery had been won. Yet in every domain men were being overtaken by events and were constantly forced to adjust themselves to problems which they could not master."

This is essentially an art book, one of a series covering all periods from antiquity to the present. The intent is to blend art, ideas and history in such a way that each period is presented as a cultural whole.

In this volume, at least, the pattern becomes rather disjointed. Chastel, a professor at the Sorbonne, has written a series of essays that swoop high and low among the political, religious, social, philosophical and scientific ideas of the period.

Sandwiched between these essays are brief inserts on the vogues in art, architecture, crafts, gardens and diversions of the period, and the book is heavily illustrated with color plates — which are the primary reason for the existence of this volume.

As for the text, the author's style is too heavy for the beginner, and the serious student may feel its lack of continuity is baffling. But it's the common fate of art books that the text doesn't get read.

PEACH DUMPLINGS — A modern young cook tries an all-time specialty.

Peaches In Dumplings

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here they come, real old-fashioned peach dumplings.

This is a substantial dessert, as was much of the fare of our pioneer forefathers, so it's good to serve with a soup and salad supper or a similar light menu.

What distinguished real old-time peach dumplings? For one thing, they are baked in a sauce. For another, the pastry at the bottom of the dumpling is on the heavy side — it acquires a gelatinous quality. The top and side pastry of the dumplings is as usual.

So if you tasted old-time peach dumplings in your childhood and are nostalgic about them, or if your great-grandmother recalled them and you want to try them yourself, here's the recipe.

Old-Time Peach Dumplings

6 medium - size fresh peaches
Dumpling Pastry (see recipe)
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2-3 cup sugar
1 cup water
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Milk

Peel, halve and pit peaches. Place a peach half, cut side up, in center of each pastry square. Put ½ teaspoon butter and ½ teaspoon sugar into each peach cavity. Top each with second peach half, cut side down. Sprinkle each peach with 1 tablespoon sugar.

Moisten corners of pastry with cold water; fold corners together over peaches. Seal edges.

Place in a buttered baking dish, 12 by 8 by 2 inches.

Into a small saucepan turn remaining butter and sugar, water, lemon rind and lemon juice; heat, stirring, until sugar dissolves. Pour into bottom of baking dish. Brush dumplings with milk.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until peach feels very soft when tested with a fork and pastry is a pale golden-brown.

With a wide spatula, remove dumplings to dessert plates; serve sauce in pan separately. Makes 6 servings.

Dumpling Pastry

2¼ cups sifted regular flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening
1-3 cup cold water

In a medium mixing bowl, stir together the flour and salt; add shortening. With a pastry blender, cut in shortening until particles are tiny.

Sprinkle water over mixture, about 1 tablespoon at a time, tossing gently with a fork as you do so. Form dough into a smooth ball. Wrap tightly in transparent plastic wrap and chill for 30 minutes.

On a prepared pastry cloth with a prepared stockinet - covered rolling pin, roll out dough to an exact 18 by 12 inch rectangle. Cut into six 6-inch squares.

Fill and bake as directed in recipe for Old - Time Peach Dumplings.

Note: The bottom of these dumplings will not be crisp; the pastry at the bottoms and corners will instead have the gelatinous quality associated with old-fashioned boiled fruit dumplings.

There are fourteen million jobs in this country that automation hasn't destroyed. They belong to our 14 million hard-working dairy cows. Every year there are fewer cows, but every year, thanks to automation each cow gives more milk. In 1958 the average cow produced about 3,000 quarts of milk — in 1966 the hardworking cow had raised her average to 4,250 quarts. She had to, because ten years ago there were more than 20 million dairy cows, and now there are only about 14 million. Cows are busier than ever — and unless somebody invents artificial cows, they always will be.

Hot Sandwich 'N Chilled Soup

Top off a busy Saturday with this unique soup and sandwich lunch. . . a variation of the usual hot soup and cold sandwich theme.

The sandwich makes good use of a summertime cooking favorite — canned boned turkey with broth — that little can that's so handy for making quick salads, sandwiches, casseroles, and skillet suppers. The boned turkey is blended with grated Cheddar cheese and chopped green pepper for a delectable noontime treat. For more appeal, heat this manly combo of flavors on the waffle iron. The bread takes on a chessboard appearance and the melting Cheddar lusciously coats each piece of tender turkey.

A nice go-along for this unusual hot sandwich is a delicately flavored icy tomato soup. Preparation is easy. Simply heat a can (10¾ ounce size) of condensed tomato soup with 1 can water as directed on label, and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Chill till serving time; then garnish each bowl of ruby deliciousness with a sunny lemon circle.

Serve the sandwich speared with perky kabobs of ripe olives and green pepper squares for added gayety.

THRKEY CHESSBOARD SANDWICHES

1 can (5 ounces) boned turkey with broth, cut up
½ cup grated Cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
Softened butter
6 slices white bread
Paprika
3 ripe olives
Green pepper squares

In bowl, combine turkey, cheese, and green pepper; fill 3 sandwiches. Butter outside of bread; sprinkle with paprika. Preheat waffle baker to medium heat. Toast sandwiches until browned. Make kabobs by spearing an olive and green pepper square with a toothpick; garnish sandwiches. Makes 3 sandwiches.

Cranberry Petit-Threes

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2-3 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
Grated rind of 1 lemon
4 egg yolks
½ cup milk
1 cup cranberry-orange relish (from a 14-ounce jar)
Frosting (see below)

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, sugar, vanilla and grated lemon rind. Thoroughly beat in egg yolks. Stir in flour mixture alternately with milk just until smooth; do not overmix. Turn into a grease and flured 9-inch square pan. Bake in a 325-degree oven until cake tester inserted comes out clean — 45 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes; turn out; cool. When cake is cold, trim side crusts; trim top to make flat; cut into 3 horizontal layers, using a serrated knife and a sawing motion. Spread cranberry-orange relish between layers. Spread Frosting over top of cake; cut into 2 by 1 inch rectangles. Decorate top as desired. Makes 32-petit-threes.

Frosting: Mix together 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar and ¼ cup soft butter, adding enough lemon juice (about 2 tablespoons) to make mixture of spreading consistency.

Humphrey's Ballot Roll Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A caucus of the big Ohio delegation has propelled Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's solid first ballot strength at the upcoming Democratic national convention past 800 in The Associated Press survey of delegates.

But he is still nearly 500 votes away from the 1,312 needed for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The 60 votes cast by Ohio delegates for Humphrey at Monday night's caucus were offset somewhat by small losses in Utah, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Wyoming, but the vice president continues to hold a considerable lead over Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Humphrey's total in the AP poll, which is based on primary results, pledges and the results of caucuses and AP delegate checks, stands at 824½ up about 50 in the past 10 days. McCarthy stands second with 436½. Only delegates who say they will vote for a candidate are counted, not those leaning to one.

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, who announced his active candidacy for president last Saturday, has 28 votes, 26 from his home state and two from Nebraska.

But incomplete response to AP checks with both committed and uncommitted delegates in all states showed potential McGovern strength in California.

Most delegates who previously supported the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy are currently maintaining a noncommittal stance.

Besides the three announced candidates, the AP survey shows a whopping 801 of the convention's 2,622 votes as uncommitted, with 519 being held by 11 favorite sons, most of them in the South. Another 13 votes are listed for President Johnson, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and former astronaut John H. Glenn.

Scholarship On Battle, Gettysburg

THE GETTYSBURG CAMPAIGN, A Study in Command. By Edwin B. Coddington.

Even ardent Civil War buffs might question the need for another book about Gettysburg. Certainly no other battle or campaign of the Civil or any other American war has been so debated, so discussed, so written about.

Nevertheless, Coddington has contributed something new and definitive to Gettysburg scholarship. He was well-qualified to write about Gettysburg; when he died in 1967, he was head of the history department at Lafayette College, he had devoted 12 years to teaching Civil War and Reconstruction history, he had put 10 years into research specifically for this book.

Coddington studied all the usual sources of information and some that were unusual, as attested by the massive bibliography and voluminous notes. He found and taped new collections of manuscript, notably that of Col. John B. Bachelder which he tracked to New Hampshire.

He produced a book that is amazing in detail, so much so that the average reader will find it hard to follow through the complexity of troop movements at brigade and regimental level. More important, as a running commentary of Confederate and Union command, it is invaluable as a refined judgment of strategy and tactics, as well as an intimate narrative of events.

Coddington began with the battle of Chancellorsville, for there he sees the beginning of Robert E. Lee's thinking about an invasion of the North. There also was born Joe Hooker's indecision which impelled him to be hesitant in pursuit, so fumbling that the ultimate solution inevitably was his removal from command of the Army of the Potomac.

Coddington deals with all the controversies of Gettysburg and, if he does not dispose of them, he at least puts them in perspective. He agrees with recent treatments that life the cloak of villainy from James B. Longstreet. He concedes Lee's greatness while not glossing his habit of leaving too much to the judgment of subordinates. He handles Dan Sickles roughly for adoption of a battle line which endangered the whole Union Army. He has no illusions about Jeb Stuart and his appetite for glory. But most importantly he gives new stature to George Gordon Meade. In particular, Coddington argues that Meade was not at fault in allowing Lee to recross the Potomac unmolested; he demonstrates that the Union Army was more chewed up in victory than most historians have recognized. "The Gettysburg Campaign" also offers information, new to this reviewer, on the receptions of the Confederate veterans by Pennsylvania's citizenry; he presents an interesting comparison of armaments and shows that the two armies were pretty well matched in equipment and manpower. The maps are tremendously helpful.

Dusky Sponge Roll

¾ cup very fine graham-cracker crumbs
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon baking powder
4 large eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Grease entire inside surface of jelly roll pan (15 by 10 by 1 inch); line bottom and sides with wax paper; butter paper. On another sheet of wax paper stir together crumbs, ¼ cup of the sugar, baking powder and salt. Separate eggs, putting whites in large mixing bowl, yolks in small mixing bowl. Beat whites until foamy; gradually beat in remaining ½ cup sugar; continue to beat if necessary until mixture holds straight stiff peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn. Without washing beater, beat yolks and vanilla until thickened and lemon color; pour over whites and gently stir together until blended. Fold in crumb mixture, one-half at a time. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in a 400-degree oven until center springs back when lightly touched with finger — 14 minutes. Turn out on tea towel sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Remove paper. Starting at 15-inch edge, fold cake and towel over about 1 inch to start roll; roll up cake and towel together. Tuck in ends of towel. Cool. Unroll; remove towel. Fill cold cake with whipped cream and fresh fruit.

Easy Shrimp Curry

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon curry powder (or to taste)
1 cup shrimp cooking liquid (see below)
1 cup milk
Cooked shrimp (see below)

Return to moderately low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add shrimp; reheat but do not boil. Serve with chutney and salted peanuts. Makes 4 generous servings.

Shrimp liquid and cooked shrimp: In a medium saucepan bring to a boil 1½ pounds medium shrimp, 2 cups cold water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 bay leaf and 2 teaspoons lemon juice; simmer, covered, until shrimp flesh is opaque through—about 3 minutes. (Shell a shrimp and test for doneness.) Strain liquid; allow to settle and use 1 cup clear liquid as directed above. Shell shrimp, devein and slice in half lengthwise; use as directed above.

Former Nun Presents Views

WHERE I AM GOING. By Jacqueline Grennan.

Miss Grennan is president of Webster College in Missouri, founded by the Order of the Sisters of Loretto as a college for women. She became a member of the order in 1950 and joined the college's administrative staff in 1959.

Last year she received authorization to transfer control of Webster to a self-perpetuating board of laymen, and to leave the order herself, because "I personally do not believe that colleges and universities ought to be owned and operated by religious orders."

This volume is a collection of excerpts from her speeches, grouped under the headings, "The New Generation," "The Communicators" and what she calls "The Ecumenical World of Search."

Speaking to high school and college students, educators, Peace Corps volunteers and a business seminar, she offer her observations on education, religion, philosophy, science, a permissive culture, a moral revolution on the campuses, left-wing students, civil rights and a great many wide-ranging topics.

At various points she identifies herself not only as a Christian but also as a liberal, "an idealistic pragmatist" and "a humanistic political actionist." She also quotes from the works of three writers who have influenced her very much — Karl Rahner, Teilhard de Chardin and Harvey Cox.

She is very articulate in presenting her views.

Britain's Need For Order Put Above Individual Rights

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Basic to English law and government is the idea of "keeping the Queen's peace", whether it involves the capture of highwaymen or, as nowadays, the problem of racial discrimination.

It means Britain's need for order can come ahead even of the individual's rights. From this concept is emerging a subtle but basic difference between methods and principles of the U.S. and British governments in trying to end discrimination.

In America, ending discrimination is seen as a matter of equal rights, in Britain as a matter of stabilizing and strengthening society.

After the most inflamed Parliamentary debate on racial problems ever seen in Britain, an expanded law has been passed banning discrimination in almost every area of business and public life. Significantly, the British chose to call it a race relations law and not an equal or civil rights measure.

The essence of the argument on the bill was whether it would disrupt society. Enoch Powell, the chief Conservative foe of the law, likened it to "throwing a match onto gunpowder." Quinton Hogg, the Conservative party advocate of the law, accused Powell himself of throwing the match and argued that the bill was needed for social rather than purely individual principles.

"This," he said, "is not a problem which will ever go away."

The law comes into force late this fall, and the government's Race Relations Board is expanding to administer the new provisions covering housing, employment, finance and public services such as education and welfare.

Leaders of Britain's million Asians, Africans and West Indians are waiting with some skepticism to see how the new law works.

John Lyttle, the board's chief conciliation officer and a lawyer by training, has traveled to the United States several times to study federal and state antidiscrimination boards in action. There he was struck by the fact that every complaint was processed fully, despite delays during which the aggrieved Negro might have lost the chance of the job or house he wanted.

Under the new British act, the government estimates the board will get about 1,000 complaints a year. It is clear to board officials that they cannot handle all the complaints at once, and they apparently do not want to.

The strategy will be to pick out "black and white cases of discrimination," as Lyttle puts it, and try to achieve a solution or bring a case to court within six weeks. The aim is to set precedents and give them maximum publicity through Britain's centralized national press and television.

Social pressure, the board hopes, should do the rest.

Penalties are not stiff. Maximum fine is 500 pounds—$1,200 and the courts have no power to issue injunctions to end discrimination. Thus, the board is looking for quick, exemplary cases.

"Much depends on the public-spiritedness of the complainant, because he is not going to benefit himself so much as his colleague and his children," Lyttle said.

Another point of British strategy is based on working with the nation's established institutions and traditions, instead of with an infusion of reforming idealogical zeal.

Mark Bonham Carter had little to do with race relations before he became chairman of the board two years ago. But he is the grandson of Britain's World War I prime minister, a former escort of Princess Margaret and a pillar of the British Establishment. As such, he lends the Establishment's weight to the administration of the law.

"I believe that this is still a law-abiding country," Bonham Carter has said, "and the mere presence of the law will allow those who don't want to discriminate—but do so because of business or social pressure—to do what they want to do."

Others in the field are not so sure. Said the Rev. Peter Hutchinson, Birmingham's liaison officer for colored immigrants: "This new race bill is like the income tax law. Evasion may be illegal, but people are going to enjoy finding a hundred ways of getting around it."

The board is being expanded from 3 to 12 members, most serving part-time. The government avoids weighting the board with professional specialists in race relations. Instead, it is canvassing eminent people who support the new law and will uphold it in their own fields.

It remains to be seen how the colored people themselves react to this combination of quiet if forceful persuasion, mixed with well-publicized solutions to clear-cut cases. Some immigrant organizations are already hunting for grievances, and they could swamp the expanded new machinery.

Said Jagmohan Joshi, secretary general of the Indian Workers Association: "So far as I am concerned, the conciliation committee is just another committee." He said that under the old discrimination law, which covered only public places, grievance machinery worked too slowly and in one case the Indians got service in a local pub only after organizing a boycott.

The new law seeks to avert just such threats to "the Queen's peace."

Fails To Break Jail

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Two years ago Billy Wayne Howard, 31, of Archer County, Tex., sawed his way to freedom from the Wichita County Jail here, but not this time.

Sheriff Jim Voyles said he and Deputy Sheriff Dick Shelton burst in on Howard as he attempted to saw through a shower stall in a cell block using a razor blade inserted in the plastic handle of a toothbrush.

Because of his earlier escape, Howard had been under close observation during his current stay at the jail, the sheriff said.

Howard and two other men cut through a quarter-inch-thick steel panel in the jail on May 1, 1966 and escaped.

Howard had been returned to Wichita Falls June 26 from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., where he had served a sentence for parole violation. He had been brought back to Wichita Fallas to face charges of burglary and jailbreak.

New Winter Wheat Released To Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) A new soft red winter wheat named Arthur has been released to farmers for use, the Agriculture Department reports.

The new variety was developed cooperatively by Purdue University and department scientists. Arthur is higher in yield than the Knox, Monon and Riley varieties and is more resistant to stem rust and loose smut, the department said.

It is adapted to Indiana and the Ohio River Basin, the department said.

A Junior Editors Quiz About LOVE

QUESTION: What is love?

* * *

ANSWER: There is no word, except God, that people treasure as much as the word love. It is used in a number of ways. It might be mother love (upper left), a combination of pride, adoration and dedication. Years later, this mother will be getting up at dawn to press her son's pants and cook him a tasty breakfast so he can get to his summer job cheerful and on time. It may be the love of God (upper right), prompting man to seek help from a higher source than he can find in his own reason. It may be the experience of falling in love (below), where a whole new life suddenly opens. You can tell the genuine article when you know with absolute conviction that you want to go on loving and caring for this one person the rest of your life. There is something similar in all these uses of the word love. They show people caring for something outside of themselves, people willing to give as well as to get. People think of love as something connected with a higher, more generous kind of being and feeling; perhaps that is why we treasure this wonderful word.

Thousands Enter Agriculture Field

WASHINGTON (AP) — Relatively few farm youth today go to college with the intention of later becoming farmers, but thousands enter fields associated with agriculture and the demand is growing faster than the supply.

Industry estimates of job openings in this expanding field range up to 20,000 annually, but government surveys show only about 8,000 young men and women are graduating annually from agricultural schools.

The Department of Agriculture is a major competitor for the yearly college crop and so far has had no trouble recruiting top graduates, says Carl B. Barnes, director of personnel for the department.

Barnes' job includes supervision of the department's hiring practices and keeping an eye on the expanding needs of the future.

On June 30 the department employed 122,715 persons, including 104,391 on a full -time basis. About 13,000 work in the Washington area, and approximately 1,350 are overseas.

Most are scatfered throughout the country and include accountants, forest rangers, meat inspectors, engineers and veterinarians.

The department has a highly developed and successful recruiting program aimed at bringing top college people into the government fold, Barnes said. Of about 10,000 persons hired annually, around 3,000 are of college-graduate level.

At the heart of the department's recruiting is the land grant college system which provides most of the agriculturally-oriented graduates.

Department agency people are represented on most of the 66 land grant campuses and are in excellent positions to recruit likely students to be soil scientists, agricultural engineers or whatever job positions are available, Barnes said.

"The result is that we have sort of a lock-up on these land grant colleges for the best students they can produce," Barnes said. "We are always able to supply our needs. This isn't to say, though, that we couldn't use more young, bright people with certain specialties."

The department's Soil Conservation Service has people located on 24 of the land grant institutions: the Agricultural Research Service operates on 41, and the Economic Research Service is located on 35, Barnes said.

The SCS — which provides technical assistance to farmers on soil and water conservation —has pioneered a recruiting system that is catching on with other agencies.

When an SCS employe spots a likely candidate, the student is offered a summer job after his freshman year. If he works out, the student is given a furlough from employment to return to his studies in the fall.

The process is repeated each year, with appropriate wage increases, so that by graduation both the SCS and the student knows much about the other. This system is "very effective" in recruiting top talent, Barnes said.

One of the "critical elements" now and for the immediate future, he said, is to find replacements for thousands of employes who are due for retirement.

Also, he said, the changing patterns of American life and the aims of government to meet the challenges of urban -rural balance are complicating needs for future employment.

Rural community planning is an important part of tomorrow's problem, Barnes said.

"We don't have people who can do this," he said. "We have part of them—people who are skilled at solving part of the problem—and this is one of the things we are working with colleges on, trying to get them to offer more courses and to encourage students to enter the field."

Mia Farrow Divorces Frank Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Mia Farrow, Frank Sinatra's young bride, says her two-year marriage was unbearable. Without an announcement, she obtained a quickie Mexican divorce Friday in Juarez.

"She's really not going to bare her soul" about the reasons for the break-up, a spokesman for the 23-year-old actress said, "but she said if anybody asks, there's certainly no third party involved."

Haggard looking, the former star of television's "Peyton Place" flew home to Hollywood after the 30-minute divorce proceeding. She went into seclusion a her $300,000 Bel Ar home.

Sinatra, 52, flew east Thursday after taping a television show in Hollywood and was unavailable for comment.

The introverted, seemingly fragile actress with the close-cropped hair and frightened gray eyes married the fast-living Sinatra on July 19, 1966. Hollywood was abuzz and some in the film colony predicted that because of the difference in ages—29 years—it could never last.

They were separated last November, after 18 months of marriage.

POSSESSION OF NARCOTICS

21 Netted In Amarillo Raids

AMARILLO Tex. (AP) — Peace officers arrested 21 persons during the night and sought still others today in narcotics raids capping a two-month investigation by a detective posing as a student.

They said a barmaid's jaw dropped in shocked surprise on learning the undercoverman's identity and one of the men taken into custody muttered bitterly to him "You were such a nice guy."

City Detective Dave Griffin 28, wearing a beard and passing as a well-to-do college student, turned up evidence prompting the raids.

Officers went armed with 28 felony indictments mostly charging illegal possession and sale of marijuana, and three misdemeanor indictments alleging illegal possession of dangerous drugs. Until the arrests the county grand jury indictment remained secret.

Ten of the indictments remained to be served today.

Police chief Wiley Alexander said a rookie on his force, Richard L. Jordan, 28, due to finish probation and become a patrolman in about a week — was among those arrested.

Alexander and Griffin, a former Amarillo policeman, returned here July 1 from Portales, N.M., where he had been assistant police chief, but did not go near headquarters during the undercover probe.

Thirty plainclothesmen teamed to make the arrests going first to a lounge near the downtown district, picking up some individuals on the streets and taking others into custody at their homes.

Officers found one man freshlathered to shave and refused to wait long enough for him to wipe the soap off his face.

Joining city police in the raids were sheriff's deputies, state police intelligence agents and Texas Liquor Control Board agents.

Four women were among those taken before a justice of the peace on the charges. Officials said cases of two among the 21 accused persons would be handled in juvenile court.

The raiders reported one place which appeared to be a ramshackle garage at a residence turned out to be "a plush pad" inside where users gathered for marijuana smoking parties.

Alexander said he believed there had been three groups of marijuana users in Amarillo and the arrests "just about eliminated two of these."

With reference to the timing of the raids the Amarillo chief said "Griffin had tagged as many as he could, so we just burned him (disclosed the detectives' identity) before everybody scattered."

Police said they were still taking inventory on how much marijuana and other evidence had been seized.

Seek Cause Of Blasts

MINDEN, La. (AP) — Officials of the Louisiana Army Ammunition Plant near here plan to investigate an explosion and fire ravaged area today to seek the cause of the blasts that killed two employes, left four missing and injured nine.

Spokesmen said the initial blast Friday destroyed one building and heavily damaged 10 others in a bomb-loading section of the 15,000-acre complex.

A series of secondary explosions ripped through the area during the morning, but fires were reported under control later in the day.

Killed were Jessie H. Bush, 43, of Bossier City and Mrs. W. C. Montgomery Jr., 45, of Haughton. Bush died at a Shreveport hospital where he was taken for treatment of a fractured skull.

The four men listed as missing were identified as John W. Thomas, 32, of Dubberly; Emmett F. Brewer, 50, of Haughton; Wilham P. Tewell, 47, of Bossier City; and Miller L. Jackson 28, of Shreveport.

Four of the injured workers were hospitalized at Shreveport for minor injuries at the plant hospital.

Household Insects Busy Continuously

Household insects are munching, biting and possibly spreading disease at all hours of the day and night, County Agent Billy Roach says.

Any home and its surroundings harbor some form of insect life. Some insects feed on fabrics, contaminate food and attack dwellings, while others annoy humans by "biting." Insects carry diseases and cause possible secondary infections and are general nuisances, he continues.

A new leaflet published by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service entitled "Texas Guide for Controlling House-hold Insects (L-511)" gives recommendations for controlling every kind of insect from moth to mosquito and from tick to termite, says the agent.

Sanitation and good housekeeping are important in controlling or keeping most pests away, but even well-kept homes sometimes become infested. Certain pests may be found outside and controlled before they enter the home. However, some insects live entirely within the home where they must be controlled by applying insecticides as sprays, dusts or baits. Fumigation seldom is necessary — if a house must be fumigated, it is wise to rely on a qualified company to provide this service.

The leaflet contains descriptions of the many types of available equipment which can be used for insect treatment and insecticidal formulations are discussed at length, Roach adds.

Anyone wishing to obtain this new leaflet can get in touch with the agent, or write to the Department of Agricultural Information, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77-834.

Tidelands Dispute To Supreme Court

AUSTIN (AP)—The Supreme Court will hear a new dispute between Texas and the federal government over the state's oil-rich tidelands Oct. 14, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said Friday.

The court said last December that Texas' rights should be measured out 10.3 miles from the state's historic shoreline.

Texas says this means its shoreline when it entered the Union in 1845. Federal officials, however, say t means the present shoreline.

Martin said the shoreline has generally receded since 1845, giving the state about 36,000 more off-shore acres.

Martin wants the Supreme Court to settle which shoreline —1845 or 1968—is the determining point for measuring off Texas' submerged lands.

The mass firing came during a statewide probe of the liquor control agency.

MORE EMPLOYERS NOW GIVING SCHOLARSHIPS

The Camden Courier - Post and Miss Lain award a new Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Mrs. Lillian Powell, Mt. Ephrim, N. J., for her request:

"Being the mother of teenagers, I want to know more about student scholarships."

A. — Time was when a high school senior, with one eye toward college cast his other one toward dad's bank account. Today, he can look in many directions for student financial assistance (and I'll go into it more in later columns), but an important and little publicized source is dad's boss.

250 COMPANIES NOW GIVE SCHOLARSHIPS TO EMPLOYEES' CHILDREN, according to the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. The trend, which began 10 years ago, has gathered new momentum each year, to the point where the Service received almost 85 inquiries last year from firms contemplating a scholarship program for dependents of employees.

OF THE APPROXIMATELY $300 MILLION GIVEN BY INDUSTRY TO EDUCATION EACH YEAR, 15 per cent, or $45 million, of it goes to lucky college - bound students in the form of scholarships and grants. Amounts of awards range from $100 to $15,000 each college year.

Number of scholarships per firm varies too from one to as many as 40. W. T. Grant & Co., for example, assists 40 dependents of employees annually, while Gulf Oil gives backing to 20 college aspirants each year. The average, however, is ten scholarships per year.

TYPICAL OF SUCH PROGRAMS is the one instituted this year by Atlanta - based Rollins, Inc. This company proposes to grant four - year scholarships to up to 10 students each year to cover their undergraduate study. Each award will be a $2,000 scholarship given in equal annual amounts of $500.

WHY DO COMPANIES GIVE EMPLOYEES' CHILDREN MONEY FOR COLLEGE: Because it's good business: an attractive fringe benefit to jobseekers and an encouragement to good workers to stay with the company. Most firms require that an employee have been with the company from one to five years, the majority requiring two years of employment. And should dad leave the company before junior graduates, many companies will discontinue the annual payments stipulated by the original grant.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP IS ALSO INVOLVED IN AWARDING SCHOLARSHIPS. Here's how Rollins' chief officer, O. Wayne Rollins, sums up management's view: "We believe our program will not only make this higher education period a happier one for our personnel but also serve as an incentive to capable students who might not otherwise have had the opportunity to continue their studies."

ELIGIBILITY for most company scholarships is based on financial need as well as academic ability. Many companies, in fact, exclude the children of officers, directors, division and district heads.

HOW TO FIND OUT IF YOU QUALIFY: ask your boss or personnel director. If your employer doesn't have such a program, you may want to consider suggesting that management explore the idea. It's certainly worth trying.

Mildren, Texans Romp, 39-7

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Master quarterback Jack Mildren licked 'em and now he's going to join 'em.

Mildren, of Abilene Cooper, killed Oklahoma with four touchdown passes Friday night in Texas' 39-7 Oil Bowl romp. But the Sooners got the consolation prize—Mildren himself.

Mildren will be a freshman at the University of Oklahoma this fall.

He completed 15 of 19 passes —his first 12 in a row—for 251 yards against a game but gummy Oklahoma defensive secondary.

Mildren, who also likes to get in his licks on defense, intercepted one pass. He was gang-tackled and that prompted an Oklahoma writer to yell from the press box: "Don't hurt Mildren—he'll be with us next year."

The Abilene quarterback hit touchdown passes of ten and 21 yards to Gordon Gilder of Kountz, a darting runner who reminds one of Jerry Levias of Southern Methodist, where Gilder will attend college.

Mildren also nailed Riley Odems of Corpus Christi West Oso with a 28-yarder and hit Mike Lowrey of Wichita Falls with a 27-yard strike—but wasn't impressed with his performance.

"I really didn't think I was very sharp," Mildren said, "but it sure was fun out there tonight."

The 190-pound, 6-foot-1 Mildren was voted the outstanding back of the game, in which Texas stretched its winning streak to four straight in the annual series matching graduated schoolboy stars.

Roosevelt Manning of Wichita Falls Washington was named the outstanding lineman.

Texas now stands 18-4-1 in the Shrine game with Oklahoma. Proceeds go to help crippled children.

The Texans rolled to a quick 18-0 halftime lead before Floyd Tiger of Tulsa sneaked over from the one for Oklahoma's only score of the night.

Texas' final two touchdowns came from a nine-yard pass by Si Southall of Brownwood to Odems and a 22-yard dash by Bob Gaines of Archer City.

The University of Oklahoma coach, Chuck Fairbanks, was at the game. Asked what he thought about Mildren's performance, Fairbanks smiled and said, "He sure looked good out there tonight."

Not many of the 18,000 persons in the stadium would disagree.

Pappas Finally Gets Cards 5-1

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milt Pappas, whose hobby is bowling, finally knocked the pins out from under the St. Louis Cardinals, but it took relief by Claude Raymond to spare him from ninth-inning grief.

Pappas, now in his third National League season had an 0-5 record against the Cardinals before finally turning the tables on them Friday night in Atlanta's 5-1 victory.

The big right-hander held the Cards to two hits going into the ninth when he ran into trouble. Then with two on and two out, Raymond came on to get Johnny Edwards and nail down Pappas' ninth victory against nine losses.

San Francisco topped Philadelphia 7-5, Pittsburgh trounced Los Angeles 8-4, Cincinnati clubbed the Chicago Cubs 11-7 and Houston outlasted the New York Mets 3-1 in 12 innings in other National League action.

San Francisco came up with three runs in the ninth for its victory over Philadelphia. The first run scored on a single, an error and a forceout. The other two came home on Ron Hunt's double. Cookie Rojas' fourth hit of the game drove in two runs in the sixth and gave the Phillies a 5-4 lead.

A three-run fifth inning gave Los Angeles a 7-3 lead over Pittsburgh and set up Don Drysdale's 14th victory. A walk, four singles—one by Drysdale—and an error produced the three runs.

Drysdale, who has lost 10, was relieved by Jim Brewer in the eighth, and Brewer gave way to John Billingham in the ninth with a run in, two on and none out. Billigham put down the threat.

The two run homer turned out to be Cincinnati's big weapon against Chicago. Pitcher Jim Maloney, Mack Jones, Fred Whitfield and Leo Cardenas each hit a two-run shot. The Cubs got two-run homers from Randy Hundley and Ernie Banks.

Bob Aspromonte's two-out, two-run double in the 12th gave Houston its victory in a game twice delayed by rain, the second time, between the top and bottom of the 11th, for 1 hour, 3 minutes.

Houston had tied the score with Jim Wynn's two-out homer in the ninth. J. C. Martin's first homer of the season in the seventh inning gave the Mets a 1-0 lead.

Bob Boosts Golf Margin

By BOB GREEN

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Bob Murphy, a rookie on the tour and yet to win a pro tournament, held a two-stroke lead going into today's third round of the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic—but he wasn't happy.

"I'm a little disappointed," he said Friday after posting a three-under-par 69 for 133. His round included a double bogey six on his 17th hole and that's the one that had him bothered.

"I had a good round going, and then I take a double bogey," he said. "It shouldn't happen.

As it was, his 11-under-par total had him two strokes ahead of a menacing field of five locked at 135—PGA champ Julius Boros, 65; Dale Douglass who says a new-found putting secret helped him to a 65; defending champion Jack Nicklaus, 68; long-hitting Dan Sikes, 68; and Reeves McBee, who had two eagles en route to a 66.

Behind them at 136 are Orville Moody, 67; Australian Bruce Crampton, 68; Don Bies, 66; veteran Art Wall, 70; and former PGA champ Bobby Nichols, 68.

The tight little Westchester Country Club course, 6,648 yards long with a par 72, took such a terrible beating from the elite field seeking the $50,000 first prize, that it took a score of 144—even par—to make the cut for the ast two rounds today and Sunday. Seventy-nine made it.

Mann Leads Lady Field

By CHARLIE BAROUH
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — On her first tee shot Carol Mann hooked the ball into a clump of trees. The ball kicked right out into the center of the fairway.

"I knew right then it was going to be my day," the 6-foot-3-inch Buffalo, N.Y. native laughed.

It was.

The blonde-haired amazon fired a par 69 on the Norwood Hills Country Club course Friday for a one-stroke lead in the $16,000 Holiday Inn Invitational Ladies Professional Golf Tournament.

And even when Sandra Haynie had a chance for a tie on the 18th hole, Carol still had the charm of the day working. Miss Haynie's 10-foot putt fell six inches short of the hole. That left Miss Haynie tied with three others at 70.

The others tied at 70 at the end of the first round were Judy Kimball, Peggy Wilson and Marilynn Smith. Miss Kimball actually came up with the hottest nine holes in the first day. She charged down the back nine with a 33 after shooting a 37 going in.

Carol, leading money winner on the tour this year, has her eye on something else besides the $2,400 in first prize money.

"This was my 13th round in the 60's this year and the record is 14 (held by Mickey Wright who shot a 74 Friday). I'm only one away and it's a goal I've set for myself," Carol said. "If you talk about it, you feel you'll put bad luck on yourself. But, my lord, I have the whole season left, so . . ."

ANDERSON SCORES STUNNING NET UPSET

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH (AP) — "As the outsider, the extra man, you get thrown among the lions," laughed maverick professional Mal Anderson.

"I play Rod Laver first."

That was Anderson's comment on the eve of his encounter Friday night with Laver, the southpaw sensation who rules as tennis' international king.

The scene was the $20,000 Colonial National Invitation Tennis Tournament.

But the script was shredded as Anderson, his game sound in all aspects, scored a tunning upet over Laver, 2-6, 9-7, 6-3.

That shocker was preceded by a marathon 6-3, 4-6, 8-6 duel in which Spain's Andres Jimeno ousted an erratic Roy Emerson. Their match took two hours and 10 minutes and left a sellout crowd of 1,700 gasping in the humid Texas weather.

Emerson, the affable Aussie who won here as an amateur in 1962, commanded everything but the outcome.

"A match is never won until the last point," he mused in retrospect. "I had a chance but didn't take advantage of it."

Top-seeded Billie Jean King moved into the women's finals with a 6-0, 6-4 triumph over fellow American Rosemary Casals. She will meet Britain's Ann Hayden Jones Sunday night for the women's crown and a $1,000 prize.

Tonight Anderson, a free-lance, non-contract pro, goes against Jimeno while the other semi sends Ken Rosewall against Fred Stolle. The men's singles winner gets $3,000.

In a delayed doubles match, Laver and Emerson will meet Jimeno and old pro Pancho Gonzalez.

Hardwick Sets Keg Pace

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Billy Hardwick of Louisville, Ky., 1964 bowler of the year, moved into the lead after 12 games Friday night in the $36,000 Waukegan Open bowling tournament.

Hardwick, who has won only one tournament this year despite being in the finals 11 times, totaled 2,709 for his 12 games, an average of 225 per game, to build up a 41-pin lead over Dale Seaboy of Detroit.

Hardwick, who was 18th after six games with 1,272, rolled 1,437 Friday night to take over the lead. It was the highest six-game series of the tournament which runs through Sunday.

He had games of 218, 247, 265, 244, 245, and 248, to move ahead of the field of 144 bowlers. They'll roll six more games Saturday before the field is cut to the top 72 for Saturday night's semifinals.

Terry Trips 'Skins 15-13

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Terry Southall won the game for the Baltimore Colts but he hasn't won a job.

The taxi squad quarterback from Baylor hit three straight passes for 66 yards in a last-minute push to set up Lou Michael's field goal for a 15-13 victory over the Washington Redskins in a National Football League preseason test Friday night.

Southall won praise from all-pro Johnny Unitas for the clutch drive that resembled the familiar heroics of the Colt master passer, but Coach Don Shula said the question of a backup quarterback to Unitas this season is still up in the air.

"It's like this," Shula said, flipping his hand, one side up, then the other. He shrugged, "we might even trade for a quarterback."

Southall, cut from the squad a year ago, got the opportunity to play the second half in relief of Unitas because of an injury that has sidelined Bob Ward, last year's Colt reserve passer, until mid-September.

With a minute and a half left and the Colts trailing by one point, Southall took over on his own 19-yard line and hit successive passes of 13 and 20 yards to Jimmy Orr and Don Alley, then arched a 33-yard throw to Orr to move Baltimore in range for Michaels' kick.

The Colts, without a timeout left, lined up for the field goal and Michaels booted it from the 23-yard line with 25 seconds left.

Unitas said of Southall, "I think he did pretty good under pressure. It's just a matter of getting some playing experience and he'll do real well."

The Redskins had squeezed in front 13-12 with only 4:37 to go on a four-yard touchdown flip from Jim Ninowski to Charley Taylor. Joe Rutgens set up the drive by recovering the third fumble lost by Baltimore.

Charlie Gogolak booted two Washington field goals before Baltimore could run a play, hitting the second after a Colt fumble on the kickoff. But the Colts rallied for a 9-6 halftime lead on a safety and a short touchdown dive by Jim Welch after Unitas rifled a 41-yard pass to the Redskins' two-yard line.

Michaels kicked the first of his two field goals from the 20 in the third period before his game-winning shot.

The victory was the 17th straight for the Colts over the rival Redskins in regular and preseason games dating back to 1959.

Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban of UCLA played a little more than two minutes in his pro debut for the Redskins, missing two passes and getting tossed for a loss once.

The game touched off a lively weekend for National and American League teams. Eleven others are scheduled, including Monday night's nationally-televised tilt between Chicago and Green Bay, both of the NFL, in Milwaukee.

Saturday night's schedule pits Dallas, NFL against Los Angeles, NFL on the West Coast; St. Louis, NFL at Kansas City, AFL; Minnesota, NFL at Denver, AFL; Philadelphia, NFL at Miami, AFL; Pittsburgh, NFL at San Diego, AFL; Boston, AFL vs. New York, AFL at Richmond, Va.; Buffalo, AFL at Cincinnati, AFL, and Atlanta, NFL vs. New York, NFL, at Nashville, Tenn.

Sunday, Cleveland, NFL is at San Francisco, NFL and New Orleans, NFL at Houston, AFL.

In another development Friday, Bob Talamini, an all-league guard, was traded by Houston to the New York Jets for a high draft choice.

Bullard Is Texas Capt.

SHAWNEE, Okla. — Tommy Bullard was named a starter for the Texas All-Stars in their annual Faith 7 charity bowl basketball game with an All-Star team from Oklahoma. The tilt was to be played at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Shawnee High School field house with an expected attendance of 4,000.

Bullard also was named captain of the Texas squad. Other starters for Coach Ron Butler were Richard Langdon, 6-8, Lake Highlands; Vernon Murphy, 6-6, Texarkana; Scooter Lennox, 6-2, Clear Creek; and, Bobby Thompson, 6-2, Dallas Samuel.

Proceeds of the game will go to charity for the mentally retarded.

McLain Blanks BoSox For 25th

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Denny McLain says his arm feels stiff at the beginning of games and more tired than usual at the end nowadays, but it looks as though it will take more than that to keep him from becoming the major leagues' first 30-game winner since 1934.

"Thirty games? Sure it's on my mind," the Detroit right-hander said Friday night after shutting out Boson 4-0 to boost his record to 25-3.

"Think about it. I know what it can mean to me. But No. 1 is the pennant. If we don't win the pennant, I could win 40 games and it wouldn't make any difference."

McLain said his arm is definitely more tired now than it has been at this stage in past season—and with good reason.

"I've pitched more than 250 innings already," he said. "I think it's understandable that my arm is more tired. It has to be more tired. It's beginning to tell on me—especially in the eighth and ninth innings."

The Tiger right-hander said an equally big problem, however, is getting loose early in the game.

"My arm is tight and stiff," he said. "Tonight, for instance, I didn't really get in the groove until about the fifth or sixth inning."

As it turned out, that was just the right time. The Tigers were leading 2-0 when the Red Sox got runners on second and third with nobody out in the sixth and the heart of their batting order coming up.

McLain turned on the steam to pitch out of the jam by striking out Dalton Jones, Carl Yastrzemski and Ken Harrelson in order.

McLain's victory was his seventh in a row and the 16th in his last 17 decisions. It also was his sixth shutout and 22nd complete game of the year, and lifted his phenomenal road record to 16-0.

The Detroit ace also stayed ahead of the pace of the most recent 30-game winners. Dizzy Dean, last pitcher to accomplish the feat, didn't win his 25th game until Sept. 10, 1934, while Lefty Grove, the last American League hurler to do it, got his 25th on Aug. 19, 1931.

49ers, Browns Seek First Pro Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers and the Cleveland Browns, each looking for a first victory in National Football League exhibition play, square off Sunday in Kezar Stadium.

The 49ers, who lost their first two pre-season games to San Diego of the American Football League and Dallas of the NFL, will have George Mira starting at quarterback, but Coach Dick Nolan said he expects John Brodie and Steve Spurrier to also see action.

The Browns lost their first exhibition game last week to Los Angeles when the Rams rallied for 16 points in the final quarter, winning 23-21.

Cleveland will bring Leroy Kelly, top rusher in the NFL last year into town, along with veteran quarterback Frank Ryan, top receivers Gary Collins and Paul Warfield and ageless placekicker Lou Groza, now in his 18th year.

Tigers Topple Redlegs, 4-1

The Big Spring Tigers bested the Snyder Redlegs 4-1 Friday night in the second round of the baseball tournament at North Side Park.

The Snyder Redlegs were to tangle with the Snyder Eagles at 7 p.m. Saturday with the Big Spring and San Angelo nines to clash at 9:15 p.m.

Games also are on tap for Sunday at 1 p.m. and 3:15 p.m.

DENISON MAN'S BRAINCHILD

Now A Baby-Wash Machine

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Mechanical car washers, clothes washers, dish washers. Now a mechanical baby washer — coin operated, no less.

This is the brainchild of a spare-time Denison inventor. He hopes it will become as commonplace some day as the neighborhood public clothes washing and drying places.

O. R. Hall, 65, has constructed his prototype from metal, but his production models will be made from Fiberglass.

Hall has been a welder for 41 years, the last 17 in Denison. He operates his own welding shop at the fringe of the downtown area. He currently is building custom-designed horse and cattle trailers, barbecue pits, luggage racks and about anything anyone wants made out of metal.

Down through the years he has patented a modified rachet wrench, a V-belt pulley, a compressor with a fly cylinder, and a fishing lure dubbed "Cat Sinker" because regardless of how it was cast it would land right side up.

"Water is a natural plaything for any child," explained Hall, as the short, slight designer explained how he got the idea of the Baby Wash — a name he has filed for a copyright.

"I've seen mothers go to the Washateria and spend their time chasing after their small children as they tried to fold their laundry or get it washed. That's when I got the idea that if there was a special area for the tiny tots, they wouldn't be a bother."

Hall's finished product will have a cage that slips over the fiberglass bowl where the child can be placed to happily splash about in the water.

Hall's application, filed with the Institute of American Inventors, gives him one year to get at least one model in prodution to preserve his patent rights.

The application states that the Baby Wash will be constructed so "the fill, filter and drain cycles will be controlled by a timer-operated water valve."

Already Hall has been contacted by one of the nation's largest builders of car washes. Others have sought information on the product.

Mrs. Bill Baker of Denison brought along her year-old son, Royce Lynn, who happily splashed about in the metal prototype until he became alarmed at a flashing camera.

"I think it is nice," said Mrs. Baker. "It sure would be helpful, that's for sure."

Hall visualizes a colorful, plastic Baby Wash with gay pictures on the inside to amuse the infant and some tub toys dangling from the screen that will contain the youngster. Once a child is taken out, then there is an automatic changing of water.

Who Will Build Sleek Gondolas?

By DENNIS REDMONT
Associated Press Writer

VENICE, Italy (AP) — The gondola shipyards of Venice, which once kept 10,000 sleek black craft on the canals of the city, are down to one last apprentice builder.

It is doubtful that he can maintain the 10-gondola-a-year production necessary to keep the present number from slipping below 500.

And when he is gone, the gondola may go with him, leaving the canals and the island-speckled lagoon to the roar and fumes for speedboats and ferries.

The last apprentice is 17-year-old Attilio Vianello, the stocky son of a gondolier, who took up gondola-making "following a kind of tradition."

"In the old days it was the tradition that the sons of gondoliers first learned how to build gondolas by becoming apprentices in the shipyards," Attilio explains.

"At 18 they would become gondoliers in their own right after learning everything about a gondola."

Attilio has been learning from Giuseppe Giupponi, one of the last masters of gondola-building. Nine types of wood cut to an elaborate design go into a standard 36-foot model.

The gondola is deliberately lopsided, to counter the weight of the one-oared rower at the stern.

"Who wants to go into gondola-building these days?" sighed Giupponi as he surveyed six battered gondola shells on the edge of a backwater canal.

"Nowadays we need five coats of lacquer to fight against the gasoline and diesel oil of the canals.

"We have to go into the forest ourselves with the woodcutters and saw down the trees ourselves because modern industrial measurements do not conform to our designs.

"Everything must be done by hand and only one 65-year-old artist in all of Venice is still capable of carving designs on the bow and the stern in the ancient fashion."

The finished gondola costs the gondolier $1,600.

The boats used to last up to 30 years, but gondoliers say the constant slap of backwash from motorboats has cut the lifespan to 12.

The remaining gondoliers would just as soon see the whole business go down the drain if they could find another way to make a living. One plan is for them to form a fleet of miniboat taxis.

The gondoliers union has applied for government license to run taxi boats as well as gondolas. But the city administration is opposed. Venice transport officials consider the city already has more than enough motorized transport with 6,000 motorboats on the canals. Moreover, the public transport system doesn't make a profit and is supported by city funds. The city feels it cannot pay out any more in subsidies.

Candidate's Wife Plans Ladies' Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Abigail Quigly McCarthy says she hesitates to even think about what it would mean to her if her husband were elected president and she were propelled into the White House.

The wife of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has more important things on her mind.

Like the starving civilians of Biafra—"American women refuse to believe avenues are closed," she says.

Or the papal edict on birth control—"My husband's position is a matter of 20-year record. He has said that in a pluralistic society no public official ... would find it right to advocate personal morality as general public morality."

Or her writing—"Sorely neglected' since her husband began his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The wife of the Minnesota senator held a news conference—her first in three months—Friday to announce a meeting to be held in New York Monday under the sponsorship of the Women's Coalition for McCarthy.

The meeting will bring together women civic leaders to discuss problems such as Vietnam, poverty and hunger.

"It's a matter of focusing on those issues," Mrs. McCarthy said, "so that women . . . can bring them to the attention of delegates and the Platform Committee"

Mrs. McCarthy, 52, the mother of four children, said "so many things that seemed impossible, unlikely have happened, that I would hesitate to think what would happen" if she became first lady. Besides, she said, the country gets its first ladies "by accident—because they happened to marry a man who became president."

Trio Held For Murder

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP) — Authorities charged three Dallas youths with murder and armed robbery Friday in connection with the Monday shooting death of an Ennis motel operator.

Dist. Atty. Bruce Allen said the charges named Van Louis Voyles, James Calvin Abney and Ronnie Lynn Johnson.

Slain was Clarence Lyons, 65. He was shot to death at the Geneva Motel, his place of business and his residence.

Sheriff Wayne McCollum said all three teen-agers were being held in the Ellis County jail.

Dallas police said one of the youths surrendered Thursday. He was a 19-year-old carpenter.

A 17-year-old was arrested Wednesday after he reportedly waved a pistol at a Dallas drive-in restaurant. The third youth, 18, gave himself up to officers in Waxahachie.

McGovern Support Grows Slowly

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the week since he announced his active candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. George S. McGovern has picked up only a handful of first ballot supporters. The Associated Press poll showed today.

At the same time his gains were somewhat offset by losses in his home state of South Dakota which had been solidly behind him while he remained a favorite son presidential candidate.

Nine days before the Democratic convention is scheduled to open in Chicago the AP poll, based on primary results, pledges and AP delegate checks shows Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey still more than 450 votes away from the 1,312 needed for the nomination.

The poll gives Humphrey 851½ first ballot votes to 452½ for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and 32½ for McGovern, including 20 of 26 from South Dakota. Another 823½ are uncommitted, 449 are held by favorite sons and 13 are scattered elsewhere. The poll only includes solid support not delegates leaning to a candidate.

In picking up 27 votes since Tuesday Humphrey's major gain was 12 through a new check in New York. McCarthy however gained 5½ votes there. A new tally of the 174-vote California delegation added two to the Humphrey total, four to McCarthy's and five to McGovern delegates supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, remain uncommitted.
