More Screwworms Confirmed

Fly Drops Scheduled For Mitchell County

The Texas Animal Health Commission has scheduled "fly" drops in Mitchell County beginning today (Thursday) after six more cases of screwworms in Mitchell County were confirmed Wednesday.

The confirmation was made by the state laboratory in Mission from vials of suspected screwworms sent from Mitchell County.

Mitchell County, as a result of the newly confirmed cases combined with the five cases confirmed last week, has become the "hot spot" of Texas with more confirmed cases of screwworms than any other county.

The Texas Animal Health Commission has already made five drops of 150 boxes of flies, each box containing 2,000 flies. The formula is to make a drop for each confirmed case of screwworms.

Seven more drops of 150 boxes each will be made beginning today.

Curtis Martin of the state Animal Health Commission, was in Colorado City marking coordinate points for fly drops Wednesday.

The fly drops are a part of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program which was organized in the 1940's and 1950's.

The cases confirmed in Mitchell County last week were the first in the county since 1968 and this is the highest number of cases here since the screwworm eradication program reached its high point more than a decade ago.

However, the number of cases here may be even higher than suspected as a number of cattlemen have sent in only one sample when they have a number of cattle infected from what appears to be the same thing.

The release of sterile screwworm flies stops natural reproduction by mating with fertile native flies is a long-term step to stop screwworms.

Not much if any relief is expected until freezing weather.

However, County Agent Bobby Lemons pointed out that it is hoped that screwworms can be contained in West Texas and kept out of East Texas and southeastern part of the United States as that area of the country seldom gets cold enough weather in the winter to put a stop to screwworms.

Livestock producers have been urged to check their livestock regularly, delay surgery on livestock if at all possible, treat all wounds on livestock for screwworm control and submit suspected samples of screwworms to the fly laboratory at Mission for verification.

Lemons said he has vials available at his office behind the county courthouse for use in collecting suspected samples of screwworms and submitting the samples to the Mission laboratory.

Screwworms cases confirmed last week were in cattle owned by Fred Smith, south of Colorado City; James Wulfen, Seven Wells; W. H. Narrell, south of Lorraine and west of Westbrook, and Jake Autrey, Cuthbert.

Cases confirmed Wednesday were in the herds of C. C. Cattle Co.; Bob Fee Jr., Henry McGuire, Heston Redwine, all southeast of Colorado City; Manford Hardegree, west of the Lake Colorado City, and Oren Carpenter, Cuthbert.

State officials are working with the owners of cattle where screwworms have been confirmed in order to get the cattle inspected and sprayed.

Most of the cases confirmed have been in baby calves.

Screwworms pose a particular threat to vast ranches such as those in Mitchell County as cattle on the ranges cannot be easily found and inspected to determine if they have screwworms.

Rate Advice Sought

Council Joins Statewide Move

City Council has decided to join with other Texas cities to hire an outside consultant, if the fee is not prohibitive, for Lone Star Gas Company's application for a higher gas rate.

With the statewide coordinated effort shaping up, council has declined to act immediately on the rate request here.

The decision tentatively agreeing to join the Texas Municipal League's consultant strategy came Monday night in a special City Council meeting.

City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr., who has been in contact with Richard D. (Dick) Brown, executive director of Texas Municipal League in Austin, recommended that council pass action on the rate increase until additional information is obtained through the league.

George Admire, Colorado City manager for Lone Star, asked for immediate approval for the higher rate which his company says will raise local gas rates an average of 8 per cent. However, the requested schedule of rates would jump the minimum bill approximately 31 per cent as large volume gas users would pay lower percentage increases.

The rate request is a month old, having been filed here April 25 by Admire.

Prospects for cities jointly hiring an outside gas consultant is likely because the same type strategy has been used by municipalities before, Texas does not have a commission to investigate and regulate utilities rates and the cost for individual cities, especially small towns, hire their own individual consultants and conduct expert investigations of rates is excessively prohibitive.

Brown has informed Sadler that Lone Star has asked for rate boosts in 244 cities which are League members. And, the 244 member cities have "expressed interest in joining," other cities in a collective action to hire a utility rate consultant to assist them in this matter.

Colorado City's decision to join the consultant plan is tentative so that the council will have option to back away from the joint action if the pro-rata cost appears too expensive for Colorado City.

"It is impossible to determine in advance exactly what the total cost of this endeavor to your city might be," Brown told City Manager Sadler, "since we've not received a firm commitment from a number of cities which might participate."

"I can assure you, though," the League executive director continued, "that (1) the cost to your city will be reasonable, and (2) if you would like now give us a tentative commitment, you will have another See COUNCIL Page 8A

Busy Week For Cotton Farmers

About 70 per cent of Mitchell County's approximately 60,000 acre cotton allotment will be planted by week's end, Mitchell County Agent Bobby Lemons predicted Wednesday.

Most of that will be planted this week, Lemons noted, as at the end of last week only 10 to 12 per cent of the allotment had been planted.

This 70 per cent prediction includes the replanting of all early cotton.

The early attempts to get cotton into the ground were met with cold weather and nobody got a good stand. Hail damaged some of the early crop.

Some Mitchell County farmers apparently will not be able to plant their cotton now as it is already too dry in many places and a number of fields only have marginal moisture, Lemons noted.

The driest areas are those east and southeast of Colorado City, south of Lorraine and in the Cuthbert area, Lemons said adding that there are dry spots throughout the county.

The western portion of the county is believed to be in better condition moisture wise than any other part of Mitchell County.

TOWN TALK

By MAC MCKINNON

The Community Development Committee (formerly Pride) is searching for a way to give proper recognition to owners of buildings that are given a new front along lines of Colorado (City) in the 1880's.

Members of the committee have expressed interest in getting away from the standard type of award and want to do something unique.

Ideas are invited. Just phone the Chamber of Commerce.

Jerry Evermon has resigned his post as social service worker for the state welfare department here.

Possible successors to Evermon are being interviewed and a replacement is expected to be named soon.

Evermon is now associated with Colorado Lumber & Supply Co.

There's a number of new pieces of playground equipment in Ruddick Park. It was donated to the city by Mrs. Charles Knaut, owner of Palace Theatre.

The playground equipment came from the old Lone Wolf Drive-In Theatre which is being torn down.

Speaking of Ruddick Park reminds me of tentative plans City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr., has for what used to be the reserve water tank for the swimming pool.

He plans to tear down one side of the stone wall on the tank and smooth off the tar in the cracks of the concrete floor so the floor can be used for many purposes.

One such purpose would be a bandstand for future band festivals planned for Ruddick Park each year in May.

The first band festival was held earlier this month and was considered successful despite bad weather.

If you haven't been to a Little League ball game yet, try it. You'll like it.

Grand Jury Indicts 2 For Murder

Murder indictments have been returned against two brothers in the fatal shooting of Macario Lara, 29, and the wounding of Lara's brother, Joe, 28.

The indictments naming Jesse Gomez, 35, Lorraine farmer, and Domingo Gomez, 40, Sweetwater laborer, were among 11 returned Tuesday by Mitchell County grand jury in an all-day session.

A 12th defendant waived grand jury deliberation and pleaded guilty to subsequent offense driving while intoxicated in 32nd District Court.

The Gomez brothers are charged jointly in the murder indictment with "voluntarily and with malice aforethought" killing Macario Lara by shooting him with a gun.

Ruth COFFEY'S CONVERSATION CORNER

EVERYBODY, these days, is supposed to "have a hang-up" or to "have a thing" about something or other, according to what you read and hear. It has become a human must almost in the class with civility.

Well, there's nothing so new about that. Have had a hang-up or a thing ever since anything can be remembered. It is about voices.

So it was with a great deal of interest that there showed up the other day a Copley News Service feature headed "Sound of Person's Voice Believed Key to Personality."

It simply is not true that you can not do two things at once. Read the article while resting. You can read and rest at one and the same time with most delightful results whether you can whip in a hem and shell peas at the same time or not.

VOICES key to personality? It is just now always true, This is my day to disagree.

It is sometime true, of course. Would not listen to the voice of Truman Capote, for instance, for $100 a minute. He sounds like a little kindergarten kid cutting out paper dolls for the sand box—no matter how smart he is thought by some critics to be.

Hubert Humphreys, this Democrat's candidate for President for now, has a voice that irks the ears of some of his best backers. He sound a little prissy, somehow like a professor of sociology one term in college. And he really is a splendid, perhaps a great, man.

MIKE MCKOOL, fighting Dale Milford the ex weather-man for a seat in the Texas Senate, sounds much as if his voice is in the process of changing. Told you this was the day for being disagreeable.

Remembering the sonorous voice of FDR, the fiery language of Harry Truman, then took to remembering the voice of President John Kennedy, his brother Robert and Ted, youngsters of the lot, so similar it could be that their voices counted more than Father Joe Kennedy's money. Well, you can wonder.

Adlai Stevenson had a somewhat higher pitch but was still a brilliant and wonderful man.

Voices of the late Dr. George W. Truett and of Billy Graham, have stirred the souls of anybody caring to listen.

VOICES have always intrigued this listener. But this being the day for being disagreeable, take issue with much of the "Key to Personality" feature.

A woman, it said, with a very low voice is usually emotionally withdrawn. Heck. Methinks, they're usually sexy and cite as examples Tallulah Bankhead, Greta Garbo, Ingrid Bergman.

Women with nasal voices are usually gregarious, warm and outgoing, says the writer. A woman who talks through her nose always strikes me as having adenoids or some kind of sinus infection.

MEN the feature went on to say, are usually compulsive when they have gruff voices. Some of the gentlest compulsive men ever met never growled at anybody about anything. Jamie Anderson is one example.

Some very small men in stature have voices like big bass drums and some of the toughest football players in the world talk like a high school girl on her first date, high and breathless and very soprano. Ever hear a tenor who looked just like a wrestler?

Knew a tiny young girl once who weighed less than 100 lbs. but who spoke a whole octave below middle "C". Her voice on the phone sounded like a mean man collecting overdue bills. And she was such a sweet little thing!

THAT feature even went so far as to say that it was possible for doctors to diagnose illnesses just by the sound of a patient's voice, on occasions when a usually vibrant voice sounds sad and forlorn, say.

Heck, if that be true there are days when at least one woman who shall remain nameless here could count the medical profession into thinking she has every ailment in the book and a few that doctors haven't thought up yet.

"Tensions cause a change in the voice," the writer explained. So does anger, sorrow, exhaustion.

ANYHOW it is, have always "had a thing" about voices. Love voices. And by dial system can recognize any voice ever heard before 99 times out of a 100.

VOICES loved best are the happy ones, the gay ones, the witty ones which really could part of the combination to personalities locked inside all of us.

Could spend a day and night mentioning voices in our town which bring out appreciation.

There is the undercurrent of happiness in the voice of Emmabeth (Mrs. Charlie) Thompson. . . music in the voice of Lucille (Mrs. Oren) Trulock. . .

the sound of a song from the voice of Billie (Mrs. Glenn) Renfeldt. . . the soothing effect that comes in radio sermons spoken by Billy Wilkinson. . .

Joe Bell's senatorial voice when he see fit to let somebody talk him into making a speech. . . like to hear the appealing way Gladys Miller always talks. And Virginia Fuller's vivacious way.

VOICES which lighten the heart would fill three telephone directories with names you know. But you have to stop somewhere.

Love the voices of all little children except the ones on a whining marathon in a store demanding what they have been told over and over they can not have. . . Voices of patient little mothers, kind fathers. . . teenage voices full of bubbles of joy. . . dignity in voices of mature people—Coretta King (Mrs. Martin Luther) for instance.

Being drawn to voices—or sometimes repelled by other voices—could be a personal "hang-up".

LIKE seeing friendly faces and talking to them too. It takes at least two people to make a conversation.

Seen lately included Addie Ruth and Fred McKay. . . Mandy Weaver. . . Sue Long. . . Jessica Helm. . . Drew Ballard. . . Farris Lipps. . . Willie Landau.

Then there was Brenda (Mrs. Bobby) Sparks, soft-spoken and sweet. . . Ann Randle. . . Davis shopping with her children Randle and Jill. . . Joy (Mrs. Jack) Nance.

Glimpsed Jessie (Mrs. A. E.) Damborsky. . . Dorothy Rowland. . . Christine (Mrs. Charles) Henderson.

FAMILIAR faces included Janie Sue Henderson. . . Jane (Mrs. Kay) McCarley. . . The Lawrence Feasters. . . Lodena Blasingame. . . Carol Dakan. . . Kathy Wilson. . . Lovess (Mrs. Tandy) Curlee. . . the Dick Wisetrands. . . Rush and Puddy Neff at the lunch counter. . . Ditto George Mahoney.

Saw, too, Joe Leonard. . . Dean Headstream. . . Mrs. Alton Myers. . . Rejeana Bagwell. . . Dick Thomas, graduate from college at Levelland is home until Texas Tech summer classes start. . . Lon Robertson.

HEAR TELL Vera and Harold Maniss went to Austin to see son Bob receive his PhD in education. Bob is assistant director of Region XIV, Texas Education Service Center at Abilene. He has a wife, Jene, two student daughters Suzanne and Lynette and is our newest LBMG, local boy makes good. His PhD major was in curricular education.

Hattie Ramsdell was here from Midland one day. She's headed back to Minnesota to live with daughter Elsie (Mrs. Fred) Scaife and her family since doctors in Midland insisted that Hattie's sister Nita Cantrell must have round the clock nursing home care now.

Ophia (Mrs. Nat Sr.) Thomas went to Enid, Okl., to be with her sister Willie Maupin whose son has suffered a heart attack. Myrtle Simpson who made the trip with Ophia, went on to visit the Dudley Handstine family at Wichita, Kansas.

John C. White, Commissioner

Rains Return To Most Of State... Texas Is Number Two In Cattle Feeding... Wheat Crop Up 24 Per Cent... Peaches Five Times More Than In 1971...

Rains from the High Plains to the Lower Rio Grande Valley are providing a better outlook for agriculture in the state now. Planting of cotton, corn, sorghum, peanuts, and soybeans was delayed. The rains were too late generally to benefit the wheat crop, and hail and flooding damage to cotton and sorghum occurred in the Gulf Coast and Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Cotton planting throughout the state is nearing the 50 per cent completion figure. Rains and hailstorms destroyed or damaged cotton fields; fleahoppers and weevils have been increasing in the southern half of the state.

Corn planting is virtually completed. With the exception of a few areas where rains fell too hard, the corn outlook is generally described as good. Sorghum planting is more than half complete.

TEXAS continues as number two in the cattle feeding industry with 1,848,000 head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes this is 18 per cent above a year ago but only slightly below the number on feed a month ago.

The only state surpassing Texas in cattle on feed is Iowa. That state had 2,003,000 cattle on feed, which is one per cent above a year ago but three per cent less than the number last month.

A 24 PER CENT increase in the state's wheat production is now in prospect. Texas' wheat production is now forecast at 38,850,000 bushels. Last year 31,416,000 bushels of wheat were produced in Texas. Yield is expected to average 21 bushels per acre, the same as last year. Planted acres are estimated at 3,652,000, up four per cent from the 3,512,000 acres seeded for the 1971 crop.

SCREWORM infestations are the worst in Texas since 1968, and by the end of the year they could be the heaviest since the eradication program began 10 years ago.

Screwworm infestations are five times higher now than a year ago. Not much, if any, relief is expected until freezing weather.

Livestock producers are urged to check their livestock regularly, delay surgery on livestock if all possible, treat all wounds on livestock for screwworm control, and submit suspected samples of screwworms to the fly laboratory at Mission, Texas for verification. About 200 million sterile screwworm flies are being produced weekly now at the Mission plant.

MILK PRODUCTION in Texas is up three per cent from a year ago for the month of April. Milk production per cow kept for milk averaged 830 pounds per cow for the month of April. This is 25 pounds above a year earlier and 30 pounds above the previous month.

Here's good news for peach eaters. The Texas peach production is now expected to be 542,000 bushels; this is more than five times the 104,000 bushels produced in 1971.

Faulty Prescription

Judge Writes Another--2 Years

Shelby Chester Shannon likely will be without his self-prescribed health tonic for a while.

He related his prescription Tuesday in 32nd District Court.

Wine sipping and cigarettes--he smokes to loosen up his emphysema, a practice sure to raise the blood pressure of any doctor.

And the wine sipping didn't appear to soothe Judge Weldon Kirk who quickly sentenced Shannon to three 2-year prison terms for felony driving while intoxicated.

The 54-year-old Shannon set some sort of a record here Monday.

That's an all-time high for Mitchell County grand juries See PRESCRIPTION Page 9A opportunity to withdraw (before any work is done) if you feel your city's calculated pro rate cost is too high.

Colorado City and more than a hundred other cities joined together to fight an earlier action by Texas Railroad Commission that authorizes Lone Star to raise the rate it charges itself to deliver gas to the "gate" of a city when the cost of gas goes up for Lone Star at the gas well.

The joint fight by the cities, although it did not stop the Railroad Commission from approving Lone Star's request, is credited with shitting down the city-gate increase.

It is this contested Railroad Commission policy that paved the way for the almost immediate filing for higher rates by Lone Star in all the hundreds of Texas towns the company serves.

This higher city-gate cost that Lone Star charges itself to deliver gas to a city limits is a major factor in the company's applications at city halls.

Naval Reserve Units Have Openings Now

Naval Reserve Units in Abilene have several openings for ex-Navy men of almost every rate of the Navy.

The Construction Battalion Unit meets on the third week end of each month and the Surface Division and Fleet Expansion Units meet on the fourth week end.

In exchange for affiliating with one of the units and helping build a stronger Naval Reserve, the Navy offers an education, promotion, travel, extremely good pay, and of course eventually retirement.

Education is accomplished by navy training while on two weeks annual training duty and in Abilene both in courses and newly developed practical work. Part of the practical work will be in installing equipment for use in gaming exercises. Some of the weekend meetings are taking place a major naval installation on the West or East Coast or aboard ships, dockside. Air transportation is provided.

There are no quotas for promotion in the Naval Reserve. When you pass the test, you are promoted. The entire program is designed to assist you in this endeavor. Promotion increases your ability and pay.

You may get to visit an interesting foreign port during training cruises. One cruise this summer will begin in Hawaii and debark on the West Coast. You will also see other parts of the U.S. For married men, you may want to take your family with you when attending schools and enjoy a vacation in areas you desire to visit.

Pay is good. The average third class petty officer is paid approximately $50 per month. With training duty, annual pay for a third class will amount to about a thousand dollars.

By qualifying for retirement benefits through your participation in the Naval Reserve, you can assure that "money in your pocket" will be available for your future needs.

You will associate with the finest men in the nation while engaged in these activities.

For a young man who has never been in the service, the Naval Reserve offers many excellent programs. A program is available for four to ten months active duty, then return to your reserve unit and your employment or college.

Or you may elect to remain on active duty for at least two years, thereby accumulating valuable GI educational benefits. In most instances a Navy Trade School can be assigned (Guaranteed) prior to enlisting. Young men completing High School this year should look into these and other Naval Reserve Programs. Contact this center. We will arrange to meet with groups of approximately 20 persons or more anywhere within reasonably commuting distance of Colorado City.

If you are a Navy man who has been released from Active Duty and continued in a Reserve Status or if you have been Honorably Discharged, it will pay you to visit, call or write the Naval Reserve Center, 1941 S. Third, Abilene Texas 79602 - Area 915-677-2806.

and possibly for the state, too.

Previously Shannon had registered a "first" when he was charged with subsequent offense DWI (he had been convicted previously in 1953) 3 times within 34 days--March 3, March 24 and April 4.

Shannon's three 2-year terms will run concurrently with credit for 48 days in jail.

Chester Eugene Mullanax of Sweetwater received a 6-month jail term and was fined $150 in the same court when he pleaded guilty to felony DWI. His jail term was probated for 1 1/2 years subject to his good behavior.

Mullanax waived grand jury deliberation and requested immediate trial.

Two other drivers of felony DWI have received 6-month jail terms in 32nd District Court.

Jack Walton Sawyer of Big Spring was guilty of DWI here April 25 after a previous conviction in Callahan County in 1965.

Claude William Black of Wellington was guilty of DWI here April 29 following a 1963 conviction in Potter County.

Sawyer's term is credited back to April 25 and Black's started April 29.

Sent to the state penitentiary for violation of probation was Colorado City's Jesse Louis Aguilar. He will begin a 4-year term from which he was granted probation Nov. 20, 1970 after being found guilty of burglary.

His probation was revoked because he had failed to report to his probation officer.
