SUN OIL CO. TO PAY $1.10 FOR TEXAS CRUDE

Fiery Jim Reed Calls Hoover's Gold Standard Story 'Absolutely Untrue'

GOP CLAIM HAS CAUSED HARM, ORATOR AVERS

Missourian Blazes Away At President With Bitter Speech

'WILLFUL PERVERSION'

Veteran Campaigner Replies to Des Moines Talk Of Opponent

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 10. (AP)—Former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri tonight assailed President Hoover's record on agriculture and told a cheering Iowa audience that the American farmer can "charge a large portion of his present financial difficulties," to the president.

Interrupted frequently by cheers, the white-haired former senator, long an avowed foe of the president, devoted a large part of his address to the war-time and post-war activities of Hoover in connection with agriculture.

In his speech, billed as the Democratic reply to President Hoover's opening campaign address, Reed declared "absolutely untrue," the statement that this country was at one time within two weeks of being forced off the gold standard.

He also termed the Republican interpretation of Governor Roosevelt's tariff stand as favoring a reduction in agricultural rates as a "willful perversion of the truth."

Charges Price Scheme

Of the president's stand on agriculture, Reed said that Hoover came to this country "with a scheme to reduce the price of American products," and "carried his scheme into effect and thus laid the foundation for agricultural bankruptcy."

Reed declared that under the prices fixed by Mr. Hoover during the war on the wheat farmer and other agricultural producers, the farmer was made the special victime of the war.

"Mr. Hoover's regulation of prices was for the benefit of England, Italy, France and Belgium," Reed declared.

"Thus did he carry out the plans he brought to the United States viz: To beat down American farm prices for the benefit of Great Britain and her allies."

"The inevitable consequence was that at the end of the war the farmer, instead of having accumulated money, had his notes in the bank and his mortgages in the vaults of the mortgage company."

Speaking in the coliseum where the president last week opened his campaign, the Missourian also referred to a statement on Governor Roosevelt's tariff views as "wilful perversion of the truth," and referred to the body of the president's address as "a series of incorrect statements and unjustifiable deductions."

Quotes Figures

Reed quoted Senator Carter Glass, Democrat, Virginia, former secretary of the treasury, as the source of his information that the country "was never within $2,700,000,000 of the lawful suspension of gold payments."

Noting sections of the president's address dealing with the gold standard peril, Reed said:

"The fact is that the drain upon our gold reserve was largely occasioned by the mismanagement of the federal reserve system, and also that the system has been greatly strengthened by the Democratic Glass-Steagall bill.

"But the astounding thing is that at the very time efforts are being made over the country to restore confidence in the financial system, Mr. Hoover is willing to spread false rumors about the federal reserve banks in an effort to win an election.

"His statement has done infinite harm and if credited will send a shiver of fear throughout the financial and industrial world." He quoted newspaper headlines reporting lower market prices as an indication of the effect of the Hoo-

CHANCES GOOD, SAYS COOLIDGE

Hoover to Speak Saturday At Cleveland

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. (UP)—Former President Calvin Coolidge, whose speech at Madison Square garden tomorrow night will officially open the New York state Republican campaign, arrived in New York today in no loquacious mood.

"Mr. Coolidge doesn't want to talk to you; Mr. Coolidge doesn't want any publicity," was the announcement with which newspaper men were greeted when, at the Grand Central station, they approached the former president, who arrived accompanied by two secretaries and surrounded by floods of red caps.

"Will you answer questions?" Coolidge was asked.

"No," he replied.

But a reporter persisted.

"What do you think of the Republican chances this year?"

The corner of the Coolidge mouth turned down, the answer came clipped and sharp:

"Didn't you just hear me say I would answer no questions?" he snapped. But, with second thought, he continued, impatiently, "of course I think they are good—but that is no excuse for you to have to ask me!"

Coolidge, who will deliver his first campaign address in four years tomorrow night, came to New York

World Fair Preparations Give Jobs to 1,000 Men

CHICAGO, Oct. 10. (AP)—Pile drivers and shovels bored and bit into the new earth of the lake front today starting $1,975,000 in construction projects for the Century of Progress exposition.

The building work started today will add 1,000 men to the force of construction employes and bring the total at work to 3,000.

Eighty per cent of the work necessary for the exposition already has been completed and officials predicted today there would be no delay in the opening scheduled for June 1, 1933.

More than $8,000,000 of a $10,000,000 bond issue to finance the project has been disposed of, $7,000,000 of which has been expended in preparation for the fair. From now on buildings will rise rapidly to join the sizable group already constructed.

Seed Loan Terms Asked For Cotton Growers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (AP)—In a telegram to President Hoover today, Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, reiterated his plea that cotton and peanut growers be given identical terms on their seed loan payments as are allowed to wheat growers.

"The decision of the department of agriculture to permit borrowers of seed loan funds to collateralize their loans with cotton at nine cents, while helpful, falls far below privilege extended wheat farmers," said George's telegram.

"I again insist that cotton and peanut growers be allowed to pay 25 per cent of current loan and carry the balance on same terms and conditions granted wheat growers."

FIVE COUNTIES SHARE IN BIG ROAD CONTRACT

Commission Asks Bids On $800,000 Projects In Wichita Area

GAPS IN 66 CLOSED

Wichita, Archer, Childress, Knox and Motley On October List

Five counties in Northwest Texas will have a share in a $3,500,000 road construction program scheduled for approval by the state highway commission Oct. 24-25, according to an announcement made Monday by the commission at Austin.

60 Miles of Paving

Nearly 60 miles of road paving, some of it covering the most important highways of this section, are included in the program, according to an Associated Press dispatch to The Record News.

The commission ordered contracts advertised in Wichita, Archer, Knox, Childress and Motley counties for approximately 30 miles of concrete paving, 18 miles of caliche and gravel base and 12.4 miles of sandstone base. The cost of the projects in the five counties was estimated at approximately $800,000. The program for the entire state calls for the letting of contracts for more than 380 miles of paving in some 30 counties.

Early completion of highway 66, plans for which were prepared several weeks ago by Division Engineer D. M. Puckett of Wichita Falls, was indicated in the calling of bids on 21 miles in Wichita and Archer counties.

Highway 66 Contract

The road is part of a proposed international route, will link Wichita Falls to the gulf coast and also provide a short paved route to Jacksboro and Fort Worth. The commission asked for bids on 8.9 miles of concrete paving from Holliday street in Wichita Falls to Lake creek in Archer county and on 12.4 miles of sand stone base from Windthorst to Lake creek in Archer county. The Archer contract also calls for reconstruction of grading and drainage structures. Construction is already under way on No. 66 south of Windthorst to a point about 12 miles north of Jacksboro.

In Knox county the commission called for bids on 11.04 miles of concrete paving from Benjamin to the King county line on highway 24.

A project in Motley county, from Matador to the Cottle county line, calls for bids on 18.3 miles of caliche and gravel base road on highway 28.

Concrete paving from Childress to the Red river on highway 4 was provided by the commission in calling for bids on 9.2 miles on that route.

Mercury Slumps To 47 Degrees

The second norther of the 1932 fall season struck Wichita Falls at 3:30 o'clock Monday morning and sent the mercury tumbling 23 degrees to a low of 47 at 6 o'clock. The entire Wichita area shared in the cool weather, according to reports by railway dispatchers.

At 9 o'clock Monday night the mercury began another drop that took it to 56 degrees at midnight, a fall of one degree per hour. The temperature climbed to 61 degrees Monday afternoon and retained that level at 5 o'clock. The high for the 24 hours ending at 5 p. m. was 83 degrees recorded late Sunday afternoon. Slightly overcast skies and a northeast breeze, reaching a maximum velocity of 15 miles per hour, indicated a continuance of the cold wave. A high barometer reading of 29.41 was recorded at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Texas Guinan To Wed Fourth Time —Her First Love

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 10. (US)—Texas Guinan is going to be a bride.

Not a blushing one, perhaps, but the hard-boiled queen of New York's night clubs twittered like a schoolgirl when she admitted here today that sure enough she's going to be married, to "the most wonderful man in the world." And she sighed as she said:

"I'm in love for the first time in my life."

The prospective bridegroom must remain anonymous for the time being, said Tex, who is playing in vaudeville here this week. Said she:

"I won't tell his name yet. But you can say its true I've got it bad."

This will be husband No. 4 for the wisecracking Broadway hostess who has greeted most of the celebrities of the land with a boisterous "hello, sucker!" she explained:

"I said I was in love for the first time, and I am. Of course I've been married before. Three times.

"I was married twice in America and once on the level. I believe in love and I believe in marriage, although I think marriage is carrying love too far.

"I had come to the conclusion that a husband is a sweetheart with his nerve taken out, but I am willing to give this one a chance."

INSULL FACES DEPORTATION TO AMERICA

U. S. Legation Probably To Get Custody of Utility Magnate Soon

MESSAGE DECODED

Fugitive Arrested by Athens Police and Held Locked In Chief's Office

(Copyright 1932 by Universal Service, Inc.)

ATHENS, Oct. 10.—Samuel Insull, formally arrested here tonight, will probably be turned over to American legation officials here within a few days for deportation to the United States.

Leland Morriss, American charge d'affaires, was instructed late this evening to sequester Insull's passport, thus preventing Insull from leaving Greece while Washington is arranging his extradition.

Arrested Monday

The Greek government is expected to cooperate with the state department in the extradition procedure despite lack of ratification of the extradition convention between Greece and the United States.

The former Chicago utilities multimillionaire, indicted on counts of embezzlement and larceny in connection with the failure of three corporations he headed, arrived in Athens Saturday and was located last night by Universal Service. His detention by police, and his arrest followed today.

The former multimillionaire was taken into custody at the Hotel Grand Bretange at 1 p. m., removed to police headquarters and then arrested tonight on instructions from Washington. Although he tried to take it easily, the arrest depressed Insull noticeably.

Jailed in Office

He spent the night locked up in the office of the assistant chief of police.

After the five-day manhunt which led his pursuers a merry chase from Paris to Turin, Milan, Rome, Tirna, Salonica and finally to his hideaway here only two days after his arrival in Athens, Insull was picked up at his hotel at the request of American Charge d'Affaires Morris.

No Treaty Exists

Though no extradition treaty exists officially between Athens and Washington, it was pointed out that ratification of the pending treaty is a mere formality that can be waived in this instance at the state's discretion.

Insull had been well informed when he left Paris secretly last

PRICE HOISTED AS STATE CUTS 'ALLOWABLES'

Hike Instigators Include Only East Texas And Gulf Fields

EFFECTIVE SATURDAY

New Quotations Come As 'Reward' for Slash Of Production

DALLAS, Oct. 10. (AP)—The Sun Oil company announced here today its posting of a new price of $1.10 per barrel for East Texas crude oil—an increase of 12 cents per barrel—and a price increase of 10 cents per barrel for gulf coast crude, effective next Saturday.

The new price announcement, authorized by J. Edgar Pew of Philadelphia, vice president of the Sun company, and released here by Jack Pew, Dallas representative, followed closely upon the Texas Railroad commission's action re-

Officials of the Humble Pipe Line company and the Texas Pipe Line company offices in Wichita Falls said Monday night they had received no instructions to follow the Sun Oil company by posting a price of $1.10 for crude oil for the Wichita Falls district. They said they had received no word of the Sun increase.

ducing the Texas allowable by 117,352 barrels, of which 40,000 barrels were lopped from the daily East Texas quota.

In making the announcement, Vice President Pew explained that "the time has arrived for cooperation of the whole oil industry with the state authorities to conserve and prevent the waste of this oil; and that means we must pay a price for crude oil high enough to encourage producers' adherence to lawful conservation."

Whether other producers would follow suit was not learned immediately, although D. A. Little, vice president and general manager of the Magnolia Petroleum company, when advised of the Sun company's action, said his company had no announcement to make tonight.

ALL FIELDS TO BE UNDER PRORATION

AUSTIN, Oct. 10. (AP)—Sharp reductions in oil production from 26 Texas fields were ordered today by the Texas Railroad commission.

R. D. Parker, director of the commission's oil and gas division, said other orders would be issued to bring every oil producing area in the state under proration. The new schedules will reduce the daily output for Texas 117,000 barrels under the average for the week ending Oct. 1, he said.

Allowable for the East Texas field, sore spot of the oil industry almost from the date of its discovery, was reduced to 335,000 barrels from 375,000 barrels daily and steep cuts were made in other fields. The orders will become effective Oct. 15.

Method Unchanged

No change was made in the method of prorating the top allowable for the East Texas field. Under the current order each well contributes an equal portion to the field limit. Starting Saturday, each well in the East Texas field will be allowed to produce 40 barrels per day during the ensuing 15-day period. The present per well allowable is 44 barrels per day.

Parker issued orders today limiting production in 25 fields to 747,806. He said other orders would be issued that would bring the total production, including oil from marginal wells, to 804,000 barrels. The average daily production from CHICAGO, Oct. 10. (US)—Unharmed, Norman B. Collins, kidnaped president of the Security Bank of Chicago and the Second Security bank, was released tonight by his captors.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10. (AP)—From near his home in a section of suburban Wilmette where live some of Chicago's wealthiest, Norman B. Collins, banker, was kidnaped today and held for $5,000 ransom under threats of death.

Mrs. Collins, hysterical after being held captive several hours with her husband, reported the kidnaping. She said a black sedan bearing three gunmen forced their automobile to the curb this morning and abducted them. She was released later.

"First they said they'd kill Norman unless $100,000 was paid," she recounted. "We told them that was impossible and they drove around for a long time, arguing and threatening. Finally they reduced the amount to $5,000.

"Then they put me out of the car with orders to 'go and get the money quick' and drove away."

Collins is president of the Security Bank of Chicago and of the Second Security bank. His wife first notified James B. Forgan, who was known to have notified the Secret Six.

Bridgeport Store Owner Goes To Trial Here In Theft Of Sugar

John Butler of Bridgeport was placed on trial Monday afternoon before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court on a charge of theft and receiving and concealing more than $50 in connection with the disposition of 2,200 pounds of sugar allegedly stolen from a box car in local railroad yards last May.

The state had not yet completed its case when the court adjourned Monday evening. Questioning of state witnesses by Assistant District Attorney George W. Anderson was materially delayed by the constant introduction of objections by defense attorneys.

Mr. Anderson secured from Lee Byram, who is under indictment for box car burglary in the case, the statement that 3,300 pounds of sugar in 33 sacks had been taken from a box car about the date charged in the indictment. Byram testified that two accomplices aided him in obtaining the sugar.

The witness told of having talked with the defendant at the latter's store in Bridgeport a few days before the sugar was obtained. Butler told him at that time, Byram said, that he "might use a few sacks of sugar." The witness told of calling the defendant from this city by telephone after the sugar was taken from the box car, explaining ver speech on stock and grain markets the following day.

REED THRUSTS AT PRESIDENT

Fiery Missourian Speaks To Farm Crowd

Discusses Tariff

Turning to the tariff, Reed said Hoover charged that Governor Roosevelt promises a reduction of farm tariffs and asserted that the Democrats will reduce agricultural tariffs after they come into power.

"I denounce the statement as a willful perversion of the truth," Reed said. "Governor Roosevelt has never said that he favors a reduction of tariffs on farm products which can be shipped into the United States.

He interpreted the views of the Democratic party as expressed in its platform and the statements of Governor Roosevelt as holding the Grundy tariff bill is too high, that it has brought retaliatory tariffs and destroyed the country's markets abroad for both farm and manufactured products.

"That is a very different thing from saying that the tariff against the importation of farm products should be taken off, a fact which Mr. Hoover and his advisors well knew when they prepared his false statement to be delivered in the agricultural belt of the country," Red told his audience.

For Equal Protection

He said the Democratic party in both houses of congress had supported measures to bar competitive farm products and their substitutes, and expressed his personal belief that the farmer should have protection equivalent with that enjoyed by manufacturers on things he must buy.

Referring to what President Hoover termed "pork barrel" legislation and contended committed the Democratic party to the policy of creating an unsound currency and unstable financial situation, Reed declared "it is enough to say that if the Garner bill is a 'pork barrel bill' then Mr. Hoover is in lard up to his eyes."

"Indeed he is the responsible author for that kind of legislation," he asserted, recalling that "at a conference of governors in New Orleans in 1928 the president advocated adoption of a $8,000,000,000 public works program."

Senator Reed said the Garner bill "simply puts this proposal of Mr. Hoover into effect.

"For the man who was the author of these very schemes to now denounce those who carry them into effect is as unjustifiable as for a man to deny the paternity of his own child and turn against one who gave it protection."

The former senator said the president in his Des Moines speech and elsewhere has told the people that he has plans to restore prosperity and that these plans will certainly work.

Denounces Prophecy

"It will be observed, however," Reed said, "that none of them can be demonstrated until after the election. What we are asked to accept, therefore, is Mr. Hoover's prophecies.

"Surely the time has come when we should cease to place confidence in either the prophecies or the schemes of Mr. Hoover." Reed declared, "his predictions have come to naught.

"If he has accomplished anything it is the establishment of a species of capitalistic socialism. I assert that it is a socialistic in principle to take the moneys from the people by taxation and loan it to the government to assist great banks, trust companies, railroads and other large institutions, because they are in distress, as it would be to impound the national wealth to take care of the mass of men and women who also are in distress."

Satirizes Hoover Speech

In referring to Mr. Hoover's speech Reed said "there is one thread which runs through it all, namely, that it is the duty of the United States to sustain the financial structure of the world."

He asserted this to be the natural view of a man "who has spent 23 years of his adult life abroad . . . who came here with a scheme to reduce the price of American farm products and who, without authority of law, carried his scheme into effect and thus laid the foundation for agricultural bankrupcty."

Reed invited the attention of his audience "to picture Mr. Hoover weeping over the misfortune of the American farmers," declaring the president never had been a farmer, "he had been a promoter of mines and mining stocks."

U. S. May Secure Custody of Insull

Wednesday, since Greece is the only European country not having a working extradition treaty with the United States. He passed through Italy and Albania on the way here, while his son Samuel Jr., returned to Paris.

FLIGHT ADVISED BY CODE MESSAGE

CHICAGO, Oct. 10. (US)—With Samuel Insull under arrest at Athens, Greece, it was revealed today that Chicago lawyers, who have been in constant touch with him, advised his flight to that country as a means of escaping extradition.

Four cablegrams, sent to Insull and his son, Samuel Insull Jr., were decoded at the state's attorney's office after John O'Keefe, Insull former personal secretary, had admitted sending them and revealed the names of the lawyers who advised him.

PASSPORT TO BE SEIZED IN GREECE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (US)—Samuel Insull's passport will be seized in Greece to prevent his leaving that country even though the Athens police release him, it was revealed today at the state department.

In that manner the utilities magnate will be kept in Greece until ratifications are exchanged between Washington and Athens on the treaty of extradition, which already has been ratified in both countries.

Late today Assistant Secretary of S William R. Castle addressed urgent cablegrams to Leland Morris, American charge d'affaires, requesting the provisional arrest of Insull with a view to his extradition upon charges of embezzlement and larceny for which warrants of arrest had been issued in Cook county, Ill.

Oil Raise Follows Cut In Production

Texas for the week ending Oct. 1 was 922,160 barrels, the figure including marginal well production.

Cancel Exemptions

Orders also were issued by the commission cancelling all exemptions to the proration allowables in the Panhandle field. The order directed that wells of the Danciger Oil and Refining company produce only a ratable share of the field allowable. The Danciger wells have been over-producing under a court agreement made after Danciger attacked state proration. Offset wells to the Danciger holdings also had been exempt for observance of proration schedules.

Other operators had complained vigorously against the situation.

LEADERS PREDICT GENERAL RAISE

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 10. (AP)—Music to oil wise ears came today to the mid-continent area in a promised crude oil price increase that followed as an echo the announcement of Texas and Oklahoma regulatory bodies that crude oil production will be cut sharply.

The Sun Oil company announced at its Dallas office that effective Oct. 15 it will pay $1.10 per barrel for East Texas oil, an increase of 12 cents, and will increase the price paid for gulf coast crude 10 cents a barrel.

While the Sun is not a major purchaser in the mid-continent, the announcement had a cheering effect on the entire industry and brought expressions of approval from various industry leaders.

W. G. Skelly, president of Skelly Oil company of Tulsa, said Sun's announcement was "a forerunner of others."

E. B. Reeser, president of Barnsdall corporation, said he "expected it."

Others commented variously, but exhibited little surprise that the price increase movement had started. Reports that it would follow announcements of production curtailment in the mid-continent had been current here for some time.

OKLAHOMA SLASHES DAILY PRODUCTION

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 10. (AP)—The allowable oil production for Oklahoma was reduced 17,925 barrels daily for the remainder of October to a total of 379,790 barrels in nominations made at a hearing before the corporation commission today.

Allowables for the state outside of the Oklahoma City field totaled 307,040 barrels and for the Oklahoma City area, 72,750, under recommendations made to the commission.

No order was issued today, but it is expected the recommendations will be followed and that a formal journal entry will be filed by Oct. 16 when the present order expires.

The commission set Oct. 28 to hear nominations and fix allowables for November and December.

Ray M. Collins, state umpire, recommended that allowables on class B fields be reduced to 41 per cent of the potential for November and December which would make the total production about the same as for the last half of October.

KANSAS CONSIDERS SLASHING OUTPUT

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 10. (AP)—Thurman Hill, member of the Kansas Public Service commission, said today the regulatory body was giving consideration to making a cut in the state's oil allowable in line with a production cut ordered in Texas and a proposed revision of proration methods in Oklahoma. The Kansas allowable now is 117,000 barrels daily.

"It's the best news the oil industry has had for some time," Commissioner Hill siad today in commenting on the cut order in Texas and a proposed cut in Oklahoma. "It will mean the producers can continue to enjoy the present prices or even a better price during the winter season."

Hill said Kansas would take no action, however, until it was known definitely what Oklahoma would do.

HOOVER SPEAKS IN CLEVELAND SATURDAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (AP)—At the auditorium in Cleveland, Ohio, where Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the presidency in 1924, President Hoover will deliver his second away-from-home campaign address next Saturday night, Oct. 15.

The president's intention was announced at the White House today.

The president probably will stop his special train at several cities along the route. By so doing he will be able to speak briefly to at least half a dozen audiences from the rear platform of his car.

Postmaster General Brown told newspaper men the chief executive in his Cleveland speech probably will touch upon unemployment conditions and the question of depressed farm prices, among other things.

"Certainly he will speak about unemployment," he said. "We are feeding thousands of people in Ohio who can't feed themselves. It is one of the most pitiful sights I have ever seen.

"The political situation there has been improved very greatly in the last week, due in part to the president's Des Moines address. There is now a better understanding of the issues of the campaign."

Brown said Mr. Hoover is being pressed by Republican leaders in many parts of the nation to visit their sections and still has under serious consideration the advisability of a tour across the continent before election time. He added that a decision might depend in part upon the outcome of the Ohio journey.

ROOSEVELT ON RADIO THURSDAY

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 10. (AP)—After accepting an invitation to give his views on the extent to which the federal government should engage in relief activities, Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight went into a conference to complete the itinerary for his southern trip.

The Democratic presidential nominee decided to make a radio speech Thursday night at 10 o'clock over a national hook-up to outline his relief views in response to a letter signed by 10 welfare workers, acting on their own individual initiative. Their letter said they were asking the same five questions on relief, public works, unemployment insurance, the children's bureau, and education, of both candidates.

The governor conferred tonight with James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, to complete the itinerary for the southern trip, which will swing back into the political battleground of the Midwest before striking back to Albany.

Eugene Epting, 25, is the youngest representative Clarke county, Georgia, has sent to the state legislature in 30 years.

Shorts and Brassieres Garb for Women 'Tars'

COLON, Panama, Oct. 10. (INS)—The strangest lot of sailors Panama has ever seen—women wearing only shorts and brassieres—passed through the canal today.

They were members of the crews of three Russian whaling vessels, the Avanguard, Enthusiast and Frudfront, bound for the antarctic under command of Andre Popoff, a Soviet government official.

The crews were equally divided as to sex. The women appeared comfortable in their breezy attire.

Dr. Frank W. Bible Talks On Women Of Near East

Bringing to mind again the good old days of 50 years ago, when tables were set with silver castors, cake stands, covered butter dishes, preserve stands and spoon holders, members of the First Presbyterian Woman's Missionary society entertained the Lucy Hansell Missionary society and other church women with an old-fashioned noon dinner at the church Monday when Dr. Frank W. Bible of New York City, of the board of foreign missions, was the speaker. Mrs. H. D. Fillers gave the devotional on "Stewardship."

Mrs. J. D. Maddrey, first vice president of the society, presided in the absence of Mrs. B. L. Fain, the president, and presented Dr. George P. Horst, pastor of the church, who introduced Dr. Bible.

The address was preceded by the invocation given by Mrs. Maddrey and by the devotional solo, "I Gave My Life to Thee" sung by Mrs. J. Will Gray, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey.

Dr. Bible based his talk on his observations in the Near East when he made a journey around the world and on his 15 years of residence in China. He spoke particularly of the women in the Near East, especially the Chinese and Moslem women; the part the gospel must play in the lives of the people of Asia, if the women are to profit from the rights and privileges that are beginning to be recognized for them. "Women are not persons in the more rigid sections of the Near East, only men are persons," Dr. Bible said. "Their only expectation of life is to stay in the background, work and bear sons." He spoke of the seclusion in which the oriental women have lived for generations and of the torture the Chinese women have to endure while little girls from the old custom of foot-binding.

Dr. Bible stated that now when the women of the orient are beginning to be given more freedom that it is more imperative than ever before that they are influenced by the gospel of Jesus Christ. "They will have new problems and there is danger of communism, free love and the many other ideas that are detrimental to the spread of the real true gospel. And much propaganda is being spread along these lines in China, Persia and other oriental countries," the speaker said.

Mrs. O. Slopansky presided at the register book and Mrs. J. C. Humphrey was in charge of the table decorations which included many antique pieces. Mrs. J. T. Montgomery was chairman of the other decorations and numerous vases and baskets were arranged in the church parlors and dining room filled with roses, ageratum, ferns and other autumn flowers.

Mrs. Harry J. Strief was chairman of hostesses; Mrs. D. J. White, assistant chafrman and others included Mesdames C. C. Hagmann, Harry Daugherty, Everett Jones, R. L. Hargrave, J. N. Prothro, O. W. Wilson, Harry Weeks, D. G. Whitney, Fannie Brewster, W. S. Langford, W. Newton Maer, Ross Robertson, L. E. Stone, R. A. Walker, Bernard Martin, O. T. Alles, Curtis Atkinson, Fred T. Couper, J. A. Heyman, Luther Thompson, W. W. Robertson, J. E. Hartman, O. R. Dunn, L. M. Boyd, W. E. Cobb, J. A. Fisher, W. W. Fraser, Orville Bullington, John Davenport and A. D. Anderson. All wore quaint old-fashioned costumes.

At the close of the program Dr. Horst dismissed approximately 130 members and guests with prayer.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

What are the lost days of your life? As I write, I do not think of the old quotation that runs, "Count that day lost whose low descending sun views from thy hands no worthy action done."

Little people who go about doing their daily worthy deeds do not make me fall into ecstacy. They bear too strong a likeness to the Pharisee. (You read your Bible, I am sure).

It was a Rosetti quotation that put them in my mind:

"The lost days of my life until today,
What were they could I see them on the street
Lie as they fell?"

Like Rossetti I feel that my lost days are days when I murdered parts of my own self—just as you, too, have done.

Do you remember the boy or girl you once were? And did you not dream of deeds of daring you would do? Did you have ideals, that came after awhile to be illusions. With every step aside from your childhood dreams you lost a day and a bit of yourself.

I can remember a little girl with long brown hair, wistful brown eyes, dressed in a white, much-beruffled frock and wearing "toe slippers." The dream of her life was never to tell a lie—she thought of it then as "telling a story." But a day came when she left truth ableeding, and so lost a day.

One could almost weep over the thousands of children who believe absolutely in the beautiful things of which they are told and who lose so many pretty ideals; and in so losing, lose days.

That is one reason for the beautiful custom of teaching children fundamental truth; not leaving them with vague thoughts and impossible illusions.

Then, when they are grown, they may see the world in a practical light. They would suffer less; they could build houses of ideals on a foundation of facts.

For those of us who were left with our illusions, and did not know the world was hard, we can look backward and count so many lost days.

That day when you were false to what you knew was right is a day left dead. That day when you purposely told a friend something that would hurt him, just because some one had told it to you—that day was blackened on the guardian angel's book and lost to you.

Upon the day when you shirked a simple duty, you lost a day. When you utter words you can never recall or write letters that are forever written, the day is dead.

If you who are male are not a gentleman or you who are woman fail to be gentlewoman, what has your day for you?

And oh heck! Aren't I writing a sermon, just because Rosetti's poem brought to me the memory of so many dead days; days that can never be done over again.

TO MAP PACIFIC

CHICAGO.—Although ships ply the broad back of the Pacific ocean regularly, very little of it has been charted. For that reason Robert Johnson, Chicago geologist, is organizing an expedition to chart that body of water. The latest supersonic equipment will be used in determining the variations in the bed of the ocean.

Grant Street W. M. S. Has Interesting Chinese Tea

One of the most pleasant missionary meetings of the season was the Chinese tea at which Mrs. W. H. Black was hostess to members of Grant Street Methodist Woman's Missionary society Monday afternoon. The Chinese motif was carried out in a pretty manner. Mrs. Roy Thompson, study leader, was in charge of the program which was opened with song.

Mrs. O. F. Coleman gave the devotional, choosing as her subject, "The Other Sheep."

The first chapter of the new study book, "Living Issues in China," was presented in an interesting manner. Mrs. C. L. Bounds, district study chairman, gave a map study of the country and Mrs. H. A. Bancroft told "The Story of Dr. Sun Yat Sen," giving a vivid word picture of how the young Chinese refugee rose to the heights and comparing him with George Washington as the father of his country. "He was never accused," she said, of doing anything for personal interest; his whole thought was for his people.

Mrs. J. B. McMahon discussed "The Five Lions of China," naming them as political, educational, financial, moral and psychological.

Mrs. Thompson told of the needs of China, stating distinct need for men of strong character and emphasizing what it would mean to China to have a strong central government.

Mesdames O. F. Coleman and Grady Fletcher sang a beautiful duet, accompanied by Mrs. Bounds at the piano. A special prayer for China was given by Mrs. W. W. Cook.

Social Half Hour

In the social hour, the guests were requested to pretend they were Chinese women. They were invited into a mystery room, which was arranged like an average room in a Chinese home; Chinese hangings and vases added to its beauty.

Women in Chinese costume were hostesses in the receiving line and the guests sat on the floor, where they were served with a typical Chinese refreshment plate, miniature Chinese slippers being given as plate favors.

The members and guests included Mesdames M. N. Johnson, Marshall Doke, O. L. Gibbs, O. W. Holmes, G. L. Shy, J. B. McMahon, Roy Thompson, W. H. Black, H. A. Bancroft, G. W. Walker, J. H. Hallmark, Ben Badgley, W. E. Hodges, D. O. Waymire, C. L. Bounds, H. C. Gill, O. M. Simpson, S. H. Beard, Y. C. Clark, H. A. Baker, J. C. Counts, W. W. Cook, Louise Oltman, H. C. Kuykendall, Grady Fletcher, E. L. McElroy, G. C. Arnold, Zack Waddell, R. E. Stewart, C. B. Wigley, Roy Hodges and Rew Hodges.

Mrs. Sabin Predicts Majority for Repeal

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. (INS)—A large wet majority in the next congress was predicted today by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the women's organization for national prohibition reform.

She based her prophecy on returns to a questionnaire sent by the organization to 417 candidates for congress. Of those replying, 347 were for outright repeal, 42 were vague and only 28 were against repeal.

The canvass covered 23 states. Mrs. Sabin said the wets among the Democratic candidates were shown by the poll to outnumber those among the Republicans.

At the end of 1931 the total highway mileage in Canada was 378,063.

So Listless... What's the Matter?

A Despondent Young Girl

SHE looks despondent, listless. Young girls budding into womanhood often get quiet, wistful and they should be watched.

During this "trying time" every young girl needs the helpful benefit of a strengthening medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mother, won't you give your daughter the Vegetable Compound? Records show that it helps 98 out of every 100 women who use it. Ask your Chemist for a bottle of the liquid or the convenient tablets.

"B.C." Relieves Periodical Pains In Three Minutes

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—Adv.

"Is it that tasteless kind?

...ALL RIGHT, THEN!"

For once in your life you can honestly say, "Now Billy, this isn't going to be a bit bad!"

For that boy of yours will hardly know he's taking castor oil! Try dipping the spoon first into very hot water. That thins the oil, and down it goes without so much as a wrinkled-up nose from Billy! (Nor any groans from grown-ups, when the doctor tells them to take it.)

For Squibb Tasteless Castor Oil is what its name implies . . . tasteless and odorless. Squibb scientists have been able to effect this improvement. In addition it is castor oil of the purest, finest grade. So make sure you ask for Squibb's . . . and get it.

LOSE FAT

It's Easy and Pleasant This Way

Losing weight in the past meant hard work, bitter self-denial. Now all this is no longer necessary. You can lose weight, as much as you want, without strenuous exercise, without taking bitter-tasting salts, without starvation diets.

A famous laboratory, working with specialists in weight reduction, has perfected a system that makes excess fat just melt away.

The Harvin System, as it is known, is pleasant and safe. Simply take half a teaspoonful of Harvin Salts in a glass of water every morning and eat according to the plan that comes with them.

Harvin Salts, as pleasant to take as an after-dinner mint, hasten slenderness by stimulating sluggish glands, the cause of fat in 80 out of 100 persons. They also keep your system free of poisonous matter and correct excessive acidity.

The Harvin Plan of Eating keeps your weight under scientific control at all times. You may have the foods you like most—even sweets are not denied. Yet fat surely disappears. You feel better, look better—every one will notice your attractive figure in a few short weeks. Ask at any Renfro Drug store or other good drug and department stores for a package of Harvin Salts. A Washington Bystander

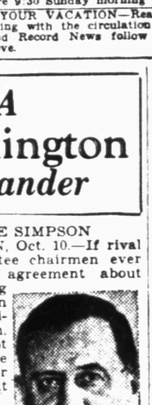
By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—If rival national committee chairmen ever were found in agreement about what was going to happen in an impending presidential election, clearly a prompt change in one chairmanship or the other might be expected.



EVERETT SANDERS

Campaign managers must keep their flags flying. They must exude confidence publicly, however they may privately spur their working staffs to great efforts with warnings of threatening defeat at the polls.

Which is by way of comment on the remarks of Chairman Everett Sanders, Republican, and Chairman "Big Jim" Farley, Democrat, which flanked each other recently in parallel columns of the New York City papers.

Visiting the Outposts

Farley had returned from his postconvention tour of the interior and west coast in company with Governor Roosevelt. Exigencies of the New York state Democratic convention—for he is state as well as national chairman—had called this 200-up pound new figure in national politics back ahead of the presidential nominee.

Sanders was back in New York again after another of those swings around the Chicago-Washington-New York triangle over which he began to wear a path as soon as he took over his national chairmanship. The state Republican convention also had something to do with his appearance, no doubt, although not to the extent that the Democratic show involved Farley.

For both men what was to happen in and around those state conventions might be of vital importance in the national campaign.

So news readers got the benefit of a simultaneous blast from the two campaign managers. And those readers might easily have felt as they compared the statements, predictions and assurances that Messrs. Sanders and Farley must have got mixed somehow and each investigated the situation in a different country. The only thing they agreed about was that there was going to be an election in November.

Said Mr. Sanders:

"The Roosevelt tour of the West has not been effective from the Democratic standpoint."

Said Mr. Farley:

"The situation in the West is so good it would scare you."

What Could They Say?

Well, that's what national chairmen are supposed to say. They know that when they take the jobs. They know that after election, if they lose out, they may be accused of being poor political forecasters.

It's one of the risks of the business and nobody after election ever seems to think less of a national chairman's political sagacity because, by his pre-election words, he was proved wrong.

Supreme Court Upholds Ban on Prohi Discussion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (INS)—The supreme court held in effect today a judge does not commit an error when he stops an attorney from discussing the prohibition law during a trial on the ground the law is settled.

Albert, J. C., Emmet and Charlie Fouts, convicted in an assault case in Georgia, were denied a review by the court of their conviction. They contended the judge prevented their lawyer from discussing prohibition as applied to the case.

Burglars Fail to Open Safe of Vernon Concern

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Oct. 10.—Burglars forced entrance to the C. S. McCulloch Insurance agency here sometime Sunday night but failed to open the safe. The intruders attempted to open the safe and force a strong box in which valuables were kept, but failed on both.

Hambone's Mediations

Alabama has a law which prohibits the sale of near beer. Now, there's a just law!

Our country's crying need is a good new joke, says President Hoover. Perhaps the big laugh will come after the presidential election.

You will know prosperity is returning when friend wife resumes the habit of going through your pockets.

Modern dance music is "nothing to rave about," according to critics. It's different, however, when it's coming in on your neighbor's radio at 2 in the morning.

A woman was said to be leading the federals against the San Paulo rebels. Women and children first.

When Fame Fades

ONE of the most interesting developments of the depression has been the way in which certain great reputations have been deflated. Painful as they have been, the years of hardship have at least succeeded in opening the public's eyes.

There is, for example, Samuel Insull.

Just at the moment Mr. Insull has run on some uncommonly hard luck, and the indictment returned against him is no part of the deflationary process mentioned above. His fall was quite as spectacular before the grand jury acted; it will remain so regardless of the outcome of the criminal proceedings which have been instituted.

The point is that until comparatively recently Mr. Insull was one of those public characters on whose words men hung with bated breath. He was a builder, a doer, a fantastically rich man, a master of men and machines and finance.

And then, all of a sudden, we discovered that he was human after all. He became helpless in the current of the depression just as ordinary men became helpless. The financial acumen, the foresight, the skill with which he had built up his industrial empire had served merely to erect a top-heavy edifice which went down with a terrible crash when a stiff gale blew.

Now, all of this does not mean that it is up to the ordinary citizen to sit back and crow exultantly over a great financier's downfall. What it does indicate is that during the prosperous years we got into the habit of over-estimating the value of financial jugglery. If a man was able to tie holding companies together in an endless chain we acclaimed him as an industrial wizard. We assumed that our greatest men were those who knew how to do the most tricks with money and credit.

We are getting a new light on things now. The collapse of the Insull chain shows that this business of pyramiding and interlocking industrial securities is strictly a fair-weather game. Its leaders are not quite the giants we supposed. An oracle needs some recommendation other than the fact that he has been able to get rich by manipulating shares.

A Remarkable Record

EVERY able-bodied man whose family has been given aid or who has received aid himself through the family relief association in Wichita Falls during the past 12 months has paid for it in work at the rate of 20 cents an hour, reports the executive secretary of the welfare board.

This is a remarkable record and has been made possible mainly through the employment provided by the dismantling of the grandstand at the old fair grounds, and its reconstruction as a stadium for high school and Junior college athletic events.

This enterprise has been carried through the voluntary contributions and the cooperation of many individuals and groups. In it are the money and the sweat and toil of many workers joining in a splendid cooperative effort.

The opportunity for employment offered in its construction to many who were needy is incident to the splendid stadium Wichita Falls now has, but no athletic exhibition it may witness can contribute more to a sense of self-respect and self-reliance than it has already given the needy who were given employment in its dismantling and reconstruction.

We hope that other community enterprises may be found and that it may again be reported 12 months from now that every able-bodied applicant for aid was permitted to pay in labor for the help that was given him or his family.

What Price Football?

THE football season is still young, but already reports of fatal injuries on the playing field are beginning to come in. The reports are inexpressibly saddening. The lads who give up their lives are such fine chaps, and their sacrifice is so needless.

Football is a good game; a good game to play and a good game to watch. There must be some way of safeguarding it so that we will not have to have these horrible casualty lists every fall. The game itself is too good to throw away; but the price we are paying for it these days, in fatalities and in serious injuries, is far too high.

Last fall the rules committee adopted new regulations to make the game safer. It is a bit early, just now, to say whether these regulations are going to be as effective as we had hoped. If they are not, the rules committee must try again.

SO THEY SAY!

There is more danger of the forgotten nation than of the forgotten man.—President James Lukens McConaughy of Wesleyan university.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

4 A. M. Stroll

A silver shadow falls along Broadway;
The endless cross-streets swing from river to river
Like gleaming bridges, but the Indian giver
Lends this beauty only to take away.
The same moon here is colder than at home
And higher, too; above the infinite towers
Even the wind comes down in frosted showers.
(Central Park is a crystal monochrome . . .)
Do you see that last? Observe how far I've sunk
Since you took back your love; all I have left
To do is play with words. Your charming theft
Makes living incoherent, rather—drunk.
To think that I believed your parting kiss,
To think I think you will believe all this.

—DAVID VIA STEPS.

Oop!

George Jean Nathan is reminded of the clunk who once approached Oscar Wilde at a party and said: "So, you're Oscar Wilde, the man who is never stuck for a witty retort no matter the subject? I'll wager you 50 guineas I can give you a subject you can't make any nonsense about!"

Oscar covered the bet, and then said: "Very well. What's the subject?"

The Queen!" replied the fellow seriously.

"The Queen," quipped Wilde, "is no subject!"

Jim-Jam-Gem

"I see that Jimmy Walker's Duesenberg is for sale," writes Izzy Elinson. "I'd like to buy the car, but I'm afraid every time I got into it, it would head straight for the Central park casino!"

The Pain of It!

J. Anthony Hughes says that the idea-lifters are getting away with murder more than ever. And that Keating, the magician, saw a new show at the Belmont theater recently in which a young man lifted nearly every trick Keating uses.

After watching several of his stunts from an aisle pew, Keating was amazed when the echo came down the aisle and asked Keating to examine some steel rings.

"Good God!" yelled Keating, "do I have to stooge for him, too?"

Why Actors Die Young

It actually happened in one of the casting agencies yesterday. Jerry Goff, who has been looking for a role for months, was handed a part to read by a caster, who wanted to try him out.

Jerry read it, only to be comforted with: "Say. You read that better than the guy who's gona play it!"

Cubs Is Right!

"Banjo" Santly, a rabid Yankee rooter, has no heart. Even after the Cubs had dropped four straight games, he telegraphed Manager Grimm the following: "What was the final score between the Yankees and P. S. 70?"

As if We Didn't Know!

"It takes only five minutes to walk over to Park Ave.," says Wm. J. O'Donnell, "but it takes five million to stay there."

The Morning Mail

"Dear Walter," affectionately writes Texas Guinan, "glad you are well again. Here's an item that is very funny. A woman named Mrs. Wm. Butters gave birth to a child in lobby here in Minneapolis. Then she came in to see rest of the show! They made me godmother. I named it Texas Winchell Butters. With those two names it'll either be a genius or an idiot. Here are some gags. A Chicago gangster was bumped off and left a wife and four policemen without any means of support! . . . A husband is a sweetheart with the nerve taken out . . . Love makes the world go round, but a sock in the jaw does the same thing.—Love, Tex."

P. S.—"You're a pain in the neck!"

"Thanks for moving me up!"

What the Baby Said

Little Peter, 7, used profanity a lot. His mother, who was preparing him for a neighbor's birthday party, cautioned him that if he did any cursing there, he would be sent home, as she had so arranged that plan.

Twenty minutes later little Peter came home with his head bowed low. "I suppose," stormed his mother, "that you've been cursing again!"

"Naw," he sulked, "the dam poddy was yestiddy!"

Flipcracks

In the Bill Morrow manner: Snappy days are here again. Customers are flocking to the brokerage houses and the brokers are flocking to the night clubs with the loot! . . . Anyhow, as long as the stocks continue to jump, the brokers won't have to! . . . If you still have one, the emaciated wolf-at-the-door will make a dandy doormat for slushy weather . . . It is barely possible that the "forgotten woman" is last year's beauty-contest winner . . . Nowadays, when a movie doorman shouts: "Plenty of seats inside!" it's a safe bet they're not occupied.

News Gets Scarcer

One of the local Jewish dailies, "The Tag," on Sept. 30 carried a story by an alleged Russian priest, who stated that Dolores Del Rio is a Jewess, that she was married in Russia, and that her name is Vera Fineberg. Also that Greta Garbo is a Jewess, coming from an Orthodox family, and was married to Stiller, and that her name is Levinson.

It's tough to be famous.

Incidentally

One who signs his note "Admirer" reports that we were on the pan again last night at one of the Central park zoos. And that it was related that another book is due in the winter, which will set forth that we swiped "Go-Ghetto" from an obscure column in the Evening Post. That "whoopee" appeared in an Austin, Texas, column six months before we became a columnist.

Then to make us laugh louder a Hollywood friend forwards a copy of the Oct. 1 Filmograph, which tells of Jean Malin's divorce. It winds up this way: "Malin is noted as having been the man who brought fame to Walter Winchell."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE SHIPS OF HALIFAX HARBOR—Captain George suffered shipwreck of the big Laurel in 1857, as a result of which he lost a leg. The limb was interred at Herring Cove on the western shore of Halifax harbor. Eventually the captain was appointed lighthouse keeper at Mauger's beach, McNab's island, which is on the eastern shore of the harbor. For three years every ship entering or leaving the harbor passed between Captain George's legs.

AN ORIGINAL FLAG—Out of the nine provinces constituting the Dominion of Canada, Nova Scotia is the only one flying its own flag, which is neither French nor English in origin but all its own. It is a white flag with blue St. Andrew's cross dividing the field in four. In the center is the double treasured lion of Scotland ramping in gold. The design is based upon the coat of arms of Sir William Alexander, first grantee of the province, and the royal coat of arms granted to Novia Scotia by King Charles I in 1625.

BABES ON BROADWAY

By JANE DIXON (Copyright, 1932, Jane Dixon)

SYNOPSIS

Tony Brookes had just graduated from high school and was 18 when her father and mother were killed in an automobile accident at Centerville, her home town. She had intended to study art but her capital had dwindled to $12 before she got a job in Madame Simone's dress shop in New York. Her frankness in telling women what they should not wear brought her dismissal on the same day that Lasile (Lee) Moran, a model, was discharged. Lee had no money and Tony shared her third floor back room at Mrs. Higgins' with her. Before Tony got a job at an art gallery, Lee became a taxi dancer at El Tango where she met Adam Leonard, whom she called Uncle Lenny. He was a kindly looking man between 50 and 60. Tom Stewart, a young engineer in love with Lee, missed her at Mrs. Higgins'. Tony fell in love with him at once and had tried to bring herself to tell Lee. Lee had insisted that Tony go out for an evening with Leonard and out of town friend Donald Kemp, a lawyer, arranged for Mrs. Leonard to get a divorce. Lee astonished Tony by announcing that she was going to pose as the correspondent and expected to receive $5,000. She moved to an apartment. Through Kemp, a good looking man in his late thirties, one of his clients, M. Montieu, gave Tony a chance at dress designing, and she attended art school at night. Tony finally confessed her love for Tom to Lee. Questioned by the jealous Lee, Tony denied she had been seeing Stewart.

INSTALMENT XI

"Then it's my bet," what you've told me is a lot of stewed prunes. You're kind of cococo about some things, darling, but you're not dumb. You should be hot about Tom Stewart, with Mister Donald Kemp giving you the big rush and the heavy sights!"

"Mr. Kemp is a friend. I could never care about him—that way."

"No? Well, you can't care for Tom either—that way. He happens to belong to me. I may marry him and go to South America after I get my money from Uncle Lenny's divorce. I may."

"South America! You mean Tom—"

"I mean Tom and me. He's liable to hit for there on a job later and he's taking me with him, if I want to go."

"Oh, Lee, what will I do without you? 'Fear, the spectre of loss, of utter loneliness shook Tony's voice. Lee was genuinely touched. She did like Tony. This stuff about Tom was just one of those fits Tony had when she got to thinking too much. Maybe it was the artist in Tony breaking out. Artists were queer birds.

"You'll do better than you expect if you take my advice and play up to Don Kemp." Lee took hold of Tony's shoulders, shook her affectionately. "He's got plenty of it, and he's crazy about you. What more could a girl want, I ask you?"

"You're not angry with me?" timidly. "We're still—pals?"

"Sure we're pals. Only keep away from Tom. It would be just too bad for anybody who tried to cut in on my sweetie and me." Lee laughed but the laugh crackled. She meant the threat to register.

Tony clasped Lee's hand. It was a compact. "I'm terribly late for class," she said, pulling her coat close around her slim body. "It's the first time."

"Yeah. There's always a first time."

The words followed Tony into the hall, rang in her ears when she was out in the street hurrying south toward the work that would help her forget, for a while, the painful events of the early evening. Not so much Lee's words as the manner of their saying haunted her.

Always a first time!

Donald Kemp was waiting for Tony after class.

"I hope you'll forgive me for turning up this way, without your permission, he said when he had singled her out unerringly from the chattering stream of students that issued through the entrance of the league into the street. "The matter was pressing, or I would not have come. Shall we walk aways while I explain?"

"By all means. It was stuffy in there, and I'm tired of sitting and craning my neck." Kemp tucked her hand under his arm. She liked his briskness, his penchant for diquibble, even so insignificant an incident as a walk along city streets. He did not ask which way they would go. He went. Others accompanied him or followed.

"I've been called home on business which cannot be delegated to others," he began when they had caught step and were swinging along. "I will attend to this business in the shortest possible time compatible with its eventuating—properly." They were crossing a street. "Tell me, Tony, are you going to miss me—a little?" He helped her up, ever so lightly over the curb.

"A little?" Tony felt that something solid, something substantial and dependable was being pulled from beneath her still uncertain feet. "I'll miss you a lot. I hope you'll be coming back—soon." Her evenings, when she was not at class, would be empty. There would be no one to talk it over when work snarled at the studio. Donald Kemp had given her a great deal of himself, comradeship. Mature advice, acquaintance with a world she had never known, a world of sole meuniere, crepes Suzette and what they represented in the scale of living.

"Sooner than soon, if I can manage it." Kemp pressed her arm. Then, hesitantly: "I wonder if you would resent my asking you something personal?"

"Ask me and see," Tony challenged.

"I know you are a stranger in the city. What will you do with your time when you aren't busy?"

"I was thinking of that. You've been so kind. We've had such interesting times together, I've forgotten what it's like to be lonely."

"So have I. I've been lonely, Tony, in spite of the law which drives me at top speed to keep up with its practice. The law and other things that complicate my life. I shouldn't want to think of you as being alone and unhappy. And yet I'm selfish enough not to want others to be doing the things for you I should like to do."

His frankness disarmed her. Was he jealous anticipating what or who might take his place in her life? No, not that. Jealousy was mean and skulking. His admission was merely an expression of his dominance. He disliked to think how that which touched his life pleasantly might escape him.

Tony smiled up into his face.

"I've an idea," she said. "Mr. Montieu gave me a very nice little bonus for a sketch of an evening gown. He calls it 'greydawn.' I'll use the money for extra classes at the league."

"I don't know—all work and no play—"

"Oh, but it wouldn't be work at all. It's really play, doing what you like most to do, don't you think?"

Kemp agreed that it very often was just that. He seemed relieved, almost gay.

"Then when I think of you I may visualize a very earnest and a very beautiful young girl bending over her drawing board."

"Earnest, perhaps," Tony agreed, "but hardly beautiful."

"That is modest of you, but not true. You are beautiful, Tony. A clean, fresh beauty, refreshing to the mind, soothing to the senses. Somehow, you remind me often of an orchard I knew as a boy. I used to go there in the early morning when the apple trees were in blossom. I would sniff them until my head swam. Then I'd lie down, let the petals fall on me and pretend they were snow. And I'd be heady all day from drinking in their sweetness. You're apple blossoms—just as dainty and sweet and heady."

She was a little frightened. Donald Kemp had never spoken like this to her before. Beauty moved him, but not to speech. However, she was sure she was not beautiful. Was Donald Kemp "crazy" about her as Lee had asserted? Was he seeing her through eyes of love that invested even the most commonplace with beauty? He must not spoil their nice friendship, their calm companionship. Love was feverish and poignant. It could hurt so devastatingly. He would be hurt, for she had no love to offer him in return. She owed him so much—her place at Montieu's, her study at the league, her escape from what easily might have been long years of mediocrity if not of immediate failure.

"That's a long speech and a very gallant one," she laughed. "You're leaving at once?" Guide his thoughts away from her. Talk about his proposed trip. Talk about him.

"Tomorrow. There's an express at 10 that will save time. I should like to make it the next day so we might have a long evening together, but I'm afraid it can't be arranged." He wavered. If she encouraged him he would wait for that long evening together.

"The sooner you go, the earlier your return." How trite! It was the best she could manage. Donald Kemp must go. She wanted him to go.

He listened with his heart, not with his ears. "Tomorrow then." The Blue Arrow express was always crowded. He left Tony at the chipped stone stoop. "Au 'voir, Tony." His hand cupped her chin, fleetingly, tilted her face to meet his exploring gaze. If he tried to kiss her—he didn't. Her cheek burned where his fingers had touched it. His fingers were brands of fire.

Tony reached the top of the stoop and remembered that she had used the last of the coffee this morning. Better dash round to the delicatessen and get a fresh supply.

Halfway up the street. A muffled figure. Lean and tall. Shadowy. Tony hesitated at the first flight of Mrs. Higgins' stairs.

"Tom."

"Tony."

A breathless murmur. A drawing together, irresistible. She must run. She must turn and run. If she didn't he would know. She had given her promise to Lee.

It was midnight. Tony had noticed a clock in a restaurant window only a few minutes before. What was Tom Stewart doing in her street at this hour—looking for Lee? Of course, he must be. He had missed Lee and thought she might have come to Mrs. Higgins. Tony laughed, a little shrilly, because she was not at her ease and wanted to appear to be so.

"You've come for Lee," she said. "I'm sorry but I can't produce her. I've been at class at the art league. Afterward I took a long walk with Donald Kemp. We've only just returned." Stupid of her, explaining where she'd been. As if it mattered. She had to say something. Tom was watching her. His eyes never left her face. Searched it out in the darkness. Her senses were going to swim again. She could feel that sudden rush of emotion rising in her throat, a smother of desire, a tingling ecstacy.

"I came to find you, Tony. I had to find you, tonight. Tomorrow might be too late. I'm leaving on an early train. Job in the Southwest—New Mexico. I don't know how long I'll be gone. Tony, I've got to tell you about Lee and myself." Pause. He was at a loss for a beginning.

Q.—Is the organ in the convention hall at Atlantic City owned by the city?—F. R.

A.—The organ in the convention hall is now virtually complete and is by far the largest organ in the world, in the number of pipes, size of pipes, wind pressures used and horse power employed. This was necessary due to the immense size of the auditorium, which is the largest building of its type in the world, and has a total seating capacity of 41,000. The organ is being built from the general bond funds issued by the city of Atlantic City for the building of the auditorium proper and its equipment, and its cost is $368,000.

Q.—How large would the container of compressed air be to hold enough air to inflate a football?—J. L.

A.—A container the size of a standard cigaret would hold enough compressed air to inflate a football.

Q.—What makes peppers so hot?—M. W.

A.—It is a glucoside contained in the peppers close to the spot where the seed is attached. The pungent principle derived from this glucoside is an essential oil.

Q.—How is a horse's age determined by its teeth?—M. W.

A.—A horse's age is known by the cusps in the surface of his teeth up until he is about 8. After that it is rather difficult to judge the age of a horse, although it may be judged by the length and position of his teeth.

Q.—What was the goloid dollar?—A. A. B.

A.—It was an experimental pattern—in fact, there were two, one struck in 1878 and one in 1880. The proportional amalgam of the first goloid dollars was 16 1-10 grains of silver, 1 9-10 grains of copper, to one grain of gold. The second goloid dollar had proportionately 24 grains of silver to one of gold. The plan never had the sanction of congress nor was it ever reported to that body.

Q.—How was the mythological faun supposed to look?—W. E.

A.—A faun was one of the lesser deities of the woodland and was represented in human form, but with pointed ears, small horns, and tail and sometimes with the hind legs of a goat.

Q.—Are the Virgin Islands very hot?—J. H.

A.—The annual temperature range is from 74 to 87 degrees Fahrenheit. The relative humidity is usually below 60 per cent, falling considerably below this at noon. Rainfall is usually about three inches a month.

Q.—How many calories does an adult need each day?—B. F.

A.—As a rule it is appropriate to assume that an American man or woman who leads a quiet life at home with little exercise requires about 2500 calories. If engaged in sedentary occupation 3,000 calories are required. A moderate amount of exercise or a laborer doing light work needs about 3,500 calories. For hard work, 4,000 calories or more are necessary.

Q.—What is the derivation of the word trivial?—G. N.

A.—Trivial comes from trivium, a Latin word meaning a meeting place of three streets, or a crossroads. From this original use comes the extended meaning, pertaining to the streets and hence common, ordinary or petty.

Q.—Why was Trotzky exiled from Russia?—H. A.

A.—Leon Trotzky was exiled from Russia because of his opposition to the Russian government. After Lenin's death in 1924 it became apparent to the Communist leaders that theoretical Marxian socialism was at least in certain regards inapplicable to the Russian situation. As a result, a schism broke out in the Bolshevist ranks, with Trotzky at the head of the "die-hard" group. His outspoken opposition to the government, particularly during the Chinese crisis of 1927 led first to his "censure" by the government and then to his expulsion from office.

Q.—How many different papers and periodicals are sent through the mail and what does it cost the government?—C. P. R.

A.—The approximate number of newspapers and periodicals publishers entered as second class mail matter is 29,000. The postage rate is 1½ cents for reading matter and 2 to 10 cents for advertising matter, according to the zone. In 1931 the revenues from this source were practically $26,000,000. The expenditures were approximately $123,000,000, making a deficit of more than $96,000,000.

The Rambler's Corner

Those White Jerseys

The Rambler believes Coach Ted Jefferies is getting a raw deal in the discussions anent the white jerseys the Coyotes wore on the field in the Electra night game last Friday.

Reports of the incident have stated that Jefferies lost the argument with the Electra coach and readily consented to use the customary brown ball.

The fact of the matter is, the Electra coach lost the argument with Referee Jim St. Clair, who held that the white ball must be kept in use whether or not the Coyotes wore white jerseys. But as soon as Jim made this ruling, Jefferies stepped on the field and said that to prevent any possible future arguments, the white ball should be dispensed with, and the brown ball substituted.

We are not particularly hot about defending Jefferies for outfitting his men in white jerseys because the trick is too old, rarely works out to the satisfaction of players and fans, and is a matter that generally leads to criticism.

But we do think Jefferies was a lot more tactful than most coaches would have been. As soon as he saw the Electra coach was raising a fuss over it, Jefferies gave in, even though the referee was on Jefferies' side and had so ruled.

As it turned out, the Electra Tigers were given the advantage instead of the Coyotes. For the Tigers, we were informed, had been working out nightly not with a white ball, but with a brown one.

Toot! Toot! Dept.

This department of the Rambler's secluded corner will be devoted henceforth to the writings of one and all who wish to crow over their team's successes.

We have long believed that there was a need for just such a department. When a team earns a hard-fought victory it is only natural that a number of fans incline to considerable horn-tooting.

The department will also publish the wailings of fans who supported losing teams, provided the tearful epistles do not run over 150 words. A man can crow a lot in 30 words but when he gets tearful he's apt to go out of bounds.

We inaugurate the department today with a shout of cheer from Burkburnett, as follows:

"Dear Rambler:

"Did Burk beat Seymour Friday? I'm asking you. 9 to 0.

"They wouldn't play us at night, for fear we would beat 'em, so we played in the daylight.

"Please tell Archer City to do their derndest next Friday night.

"In case anybody wants to know, I am,

"Riley Patterson."

The Public Forum

It seems to be in order for the scribes to give their opinion on night football, since Electra and Wichita Falls teams drew such a big crowd at Electra last week.

The writer considered the Electra night field a brilliant success. But it must be remembered that almost ideal weather prevailed. If a howling norther had been sweeping o'er the plains it might have been different. There would have been fewer people present and more frozen.

The New School Song

The Coyotes are to be honored with a new school song, which has already been written. The anthem is being arranged by Charles Kiker, one of the town's leading maestros in the piano teaching art, and a man of parts in the musical world.

We hope the trombone parts that Charles writes are loud and vociferous. Tom McCarty's High school band has a blaring trombone section and most of the time it negotiates the right notes.

Sheridan Reinstated

Ney Sheridan, star halfback who led his Sweetwater mates to a victory over Abilene recently, was declared ineligible one week and eligible the next by the district No. 3 fathers.

His reinstatement should interest Wichita Falls fans to a great extent, for it means that Glenn Wyatt, all-state quarterback of the Abilene eleven, is assured of eligibility this year. Therefore Wyatt will be on the job when Abilene plays the Coyotes here on Nov. 25.

Both Sheridan and Wyatt played on the outlaw Sweetwater Rooster team of 1928, Wyatt being the captain of the team. The district No. 3 heads at first ruled the Roosters constituted a high school team and kicked Sheridan out, but after a week of violent protest from all corners of West Texas they met and decided that they had decided wrong in the earlier effort to decide Sheridan's fates.

In retracting their first decision the district heads looked foolish, of course, but they looked far less foolish than they would have if Sheridan had been ousted on such a wobbly excuse.

For the sake of justice, we believe the fans approve Sheridan's and consequently Wyatt's eligibility this year, in spite of the fact that Wyatt's eligibility will be only a grand pain in the neck to the Coyotes in the Abilene game.

STAR RESERVES INSPIRE TEAM

Coyotes Hold Secret Drill At Athletic Park

By FRED THOMPSON

A gallant band of reserves who more than shared the lime and arc light with veterans against Electra last week, instilled vigor and enthusiasm in the Coyote camp yesterday as the boys got right down to the business of stopping those Quanah Indians in the "homecoming" game next Saturday.

If the playing of such fellows as Cleve Pierson, Preston Thompson, Jimmie Hill, J. L. Creecy, Phillip Allen, "Quanah Red" Rogers, and Charlie Hurd is any indication, there will be something besides high school ex-students at the homecoming celebration a few days hence. The Pack may come home with the well-known bacon.

Players More Confident

The football played by these youngsters against Electra bolstered their confidence in themselves and inspired the regulars to better efforts. For frankly, there are one or two in the bunch who give every indication of ousting regulars and assuming a position on the first string team.

Although Capt. Ed Greenwood, Burns McKinney, Jasper McBride, Cleo Creecy, Vernon McDaniel and lanky Charlie Rice, the big center, and one or two other regular players played bang-up games for the Coyotes against the Tigers, there were few to contradict the statement that Charlie Hurd, first-year Coyote end, was just about the best thing in the way of a football player on the field last Friday night. Not a play ran over his side of the line, he was a consistent bruiser of the enemy tackle, his pass-snatching was outstanding and when he tackled he hit 'em hard.

Jimmie Hill Stars

Jimmie Hill, diminutive blond squadman getting his first real playing experience this year, was just as consistent in receiving passes—he caught the one that won the game—and his excellent punts matched those of Hawthorne, McKinney and Thompson in getting his team out of danger when the Terrible Tigers threatened.

Cleve Pierson, understudy to Quarterback J. Z. Powell, was at his best when running in a broken field. His returning of punts was just as sensational as were his occasional weaves through the line. Cleve can wind through there as well as any of them. Another ground gainer of a different type is Preston Thompson. The Coyotes could get little yardage through the powerful Electra line, but it couldn't stop Thompson. He was only called on twice for plunges through the middle, but one of his knifes was good for eight yards and the other took the ball over from two yards out for the winning touchdown.

Took It Hard

J. L. Creecy was a worthy successor to Rice, the tall tower, who allowed just one play to get over his position. The boy took it to heart and cried the rest of the game. And tears on a football field aren't the tears of a weakling. Rice stopped every play that came his way after that one enemy gain.

Phillip Allen, a reserve tackle, and "Quanah Red" Rogers, a reserve guard, also stood out.

With the team members themselves realizing they have the stuff in them, a better Coyote eleven should be on the field next Saturday. The main duty of the boys this week will be to get these individual stars working together, so that the team will click both on the offense and defense. The Coyotes have plenty of able players but they have not perfected team play. It was not the individual playing that kept the Coyotes from scoring more points against Electra. Rather it was lack of coordination.

Football requires coordination, especially the Warner system of football now employed by the team. Various individuals on the team may play perfectly but if the rest of the boys don't pull with them, the plays don't go off.

Work In Secret

With better team play as their goal, the Coyotes hustled through the week's first workout yesterday at Athletic park. It was a secret drill. Head Coach Ted Jefferies had arranged for use of the field for the remainder of this week.

The team went into Monday's workout cheered by the announcement that all hands on deck had hurdled the scholastic barrier the past week, and that there would be no ineligibilities for the Quanah game.

Giants Start Shakeup With Trade Of Four Players For Starr And Mancuso

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. (AP)—As the forerunner of a wholesale shakeup in the playing personnel of the New York Giants, two southpaw pitchers, an ancient backstop and a substitute outfielder were traded today to the St. Louis Cardinals for a recruit right-handed pitcher, Ray Starr, and a catcher, Gus Mancuso.

In a straight trade, the Giants parted with Bill Walker, the National league's most effective pitcher two seasons ago; Jimmy Mooney, 25-year-old southpaw who failed this year to duplicate the sensational form he displayed in 1931; Bob O'Farrell, veteran of 18 major league catching campaigns, one-time manager of the Cardinals; and Ethan Allen, fast but light-hitting outfielder.

No Cash Involved

Denying any cash was involved, even though the Giants gave "four for two," Secretary Jim Tierney made this statement on the club's behalf:

"Manager Bill Terry, who has recently signed a two-year contract to pilot the Giants, made the deal as part of our policy of bringing new faces to the polo grounds and, we hope, obtaining better results. This is the beginning of a series of trades by which he will strengthen the Giants. We are dickering with several other clubs."

Baseball gossip has linked the names of Freddy Lindstrom and "Shanty" Hogan with talk of other prospective trades, but Tierney declined to say whether these players were likely to go elsewhere.

Mooney Slumps

On the basis of 1931 form, the Giants would have had much the worse of the deal just concluded with the club which wound up in a tie with the New Yorkers in sixth place this season. Mooney, the southern boy, won seven straight games for the Giants after being brought up late in the 1931 season from the Bridgeport farm, but this year his record showed only six victories against ten defeats.

Walker's home is in East St. Louis. He voluntarily helped get the Cardinals in shape for their winning battle with the Athletics in the 1931 world series. The Giants bought him from Denver in 1927 for a reported price of $25,000.

O'Farrell and Allen saw little action last season and do not figure to gain places in the Cardinal lineup. The veteran backstop, who came to the Giants in 1928 and after managing the Cardinals in 1927, played in only 51 games and batted .242. Allen, who was obtained in a trade with Cincinnati in 1930, hit only .175 in 54 games this year.

The Giants feel Starr and Mancuso will give them much needed battery strength. Starr, with the Rochester Internationals the past two seasons, has been regarded as one of the best pitching products of the Cardinal farm system.

GRAHAM, Texas, Oct. 10.—The Graham High school Steers have a very heavy schedule for the next two weeks. They play one non-conference and one conference game this week and two conference games next week. The Steers meet the Eliasville High school team in a non-conference game on Tuesday at Graham, then on Friday they meet Bridgeport in their first conference game. Next week the Steers meet Bellevue on Monday, Oct. 17 at Graham, in a conference game. A game with Decatur, also a conference affair, on Friday will round out two weeks of hard football. Monday, Oct. 17.—Bellevue at Graham.

Texan Signed With New York Giants

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Oct. 10. (AP)—Paul Richards, ambidextrous catcher with the Minneapolis, American association baseball team, will play with the New York Giants next season, it was learned when he arrived here today to spend the winter with his family.

Richards batted .361 during the season just closed. Minneapolis, for which he caught throughout the season, won the association championship but lost last week to Newark, champion of the International league, in the "little world series."

FROGS' CENTER IS INJURED

First Stringer May Not Play Against Aggies

FORT WORTH, Oct. 10. (AP)—Because of a badly bruised leg, the Horned Frogs may be without the services of their first string center when they meet the Texas Aggies at College Station Saturday afternoon. J. W. Townsend received the injury in the game with Arkansas last Saturday but it wasn't considered serious until this afternoon when he reported for practice.

The leg was stiff and Townsend found trouble in working Monday. However, he was immediately placed under treatment and he may be able to start against the Aggies.

The bruises also extended to the Frogs' second string center, Woodson Armes, who has a bad bruise at the top of his right hip. And if Townsend and Armes are both unable to go it will throw the burden of center upon 170-pound Heard Floore, sophomore.

Instead of their customary light Monday's workout the Frogs got down to serious business today, opening the week's preparations for the aggies in a stiff scrimmage with the freshmen.

HOGS GET READY FOR BAYLOR CREW

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 10. (AP)—Coaches Thomsen and Bassett sent the University of Arkansas football squad through a full-time workout today in preparation for the Baylor game at Little Rock Saturday.

Several regulars were suffering minor injuries when the Porkers returned from their 34 to 12 defeat at the hands of Texas Christian university in Fort Worth Saturday. Capt. J. L. Erwin, a tackle, whose knee was injured in the Frog game, was the most seriously hurt.

LONGHORNS RETURN FROM MISSOURI

AUSTIN, Oct. 10. (AP)—A tired but extremely happy University of Texas football team climbed off the rattlers here early this morning, after a long trip from Columbia, Mo., where on last Saturday it stampeded Coach Frank Carideo's Missouri university Tigers, 65 to 0.

Coach Clyde Littlefield reported his charges in excellent condition, and ready for their next game with the Oklahoma university Sooners at Dallas Saturday.

Chillicothe Prepares For Seymour Contest

Special to The Record News.

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, Oct. 10.—Showing up well in the tilt with Gould, Okla., on the local field last Saturday afternoon, the Eagles are going through a week of building up an even more powerful eleven for the game with Seymour Friday, Oct. 14. This will be the first conference game for Chillicothe this year.

Chillicothe drew a bye the first week. Volney Hill, the local coach, plans to have his charges in fine shape to meet the Seymour Panthers here Friday afternoon.

The regular lineup for the local team will start the ball rolling, with necessary substitutes prepared to enter at the right moment. Hill is working his subs as much as his regulars. He realizes that Seymour will be one of his hardest opponents for the season's tilt, and is working daily to strengthen his defense as well as preparing his offensive for what he terms " a hard four-quarter skirmish with a hard-fighting eleven."

Carideo Explains His 'Spied Upon' Remark

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 10. (AP)—Although admitting he commented that he believed his team appeared to have been "spied upon" last week, Frank Carideo, head football coach at the University of Missouri, today said he meant the remark only as a passing joke.

The remark was made following Missouri's 65 to 0 defeat by the University of Texas in an intersectional game here Saturday.

"I only meant that Texas played smart football and seemed to know as much about our team as we did ourselves," Carideo said. "Clyde Littlefield is one of the smartest coaches and finest sportsmen I have ever opposed."

C. L. Brewer, director of Athletics, said there was no reason to believe there were Texas scouts in the stands during the last week.

Gene Says:

BUCS TO GET NEW SKIPPER

Texas League Loses Dean Of Managers

GALVESTON, Oct. 10. (AP)—Del Pratt, dean of Texas league baseball managers, will not be with the Galveston Buccaneers in 1933, Shearn Moody, owner of the club, announced here today. Pratt managed the Buccaneers in 1931 and 1932, coming here with the franchise from Waco, where he had been manager since 1925. The Buccaneers finished in sixth place last season.

Moody, who had just returned from a trip through the East, said that he was not ready to announce Pratt's successor, but that he had a man definitely in mind to fill the place.

The former Buccaneer manager said he had no definite plans for the future. He will remain in Galveston, where he owns a set of bowling alleys, for the winter, and may re-enter the baseball field next spring.

Pratt rounded out 25 years of baseball this year, his career having started in the Cotton States league in 1909. Before that he had been a football and baseball star at the University of Alabama.

He first went to the big leagues in 1911, going to the St. Louis Browns to play second base in that year. He was traded to the New York Yankees in 1917 and in 1920 went from the Yankees to the Boston Red Sox in the Waite Hoyt deal. He was traded to Detroit in 1923 and at the start of the 1925 season asked for and obtained his release so that he could taken over the managerial reins at Waco.

For years he has been regarded as one of the best men to develop young ball players in minor league baseball, and his "ivory sales" have amounted to nearly $200,000 during his tenure as a Texas league manager. The most notable sales were the ones that sent Willis Hudlin to Cleveland for $40,000 and the sale of Andy Cohen to the New York Giants for $25,000. Art Shires, Ray Benge, Tony Piet and George Blackerby are other famous players who started under Pratt.

Final Services Held For John T. Richards

Funeral services for John T. Richards, 54, Wichita Falls carpenter and resident of this city for the past 15 years, were held at Chillicothe Sunday afternoon. The Rev. Ira L. Parrick, First Baptist church pastor at Chillicothe, officiated and burial was at Chillicothe. He died Saturday at a Quanah hospital, after an illness contracted while visiting relatives in Chillicothe.

Survivors are a sister, Mrs. Maude Davis, Chillicothe; two daughters, Mrs. Fayola Simmons, Tipton, Okla., and Mrs. Minnie Mosley, Dallas; a son, Merlin Richards, Martin's Mills, Van Zandt county; a stepdaughter, Mrs. L. L. Pope, Wichita Falls; and three stepsons, H. G. Schmidt, Wichita Falls; W. E. Schmidt, Oklahoma City, and F. P. Schmidt, Clay county.

Ferguson Proudly Displays Letter From Demo Presidential Nominee

AUSTIN, Oct. 10. (AP)—James E. Ferguson, former governor and husband of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, also former governor, whose name will appear on the general election ballot next month as the Democratic candidate for governor of Texas, was proudly exhibiting today a letter he had received from Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee.

The Roosevelt letter was in reply to one written the New York governor by Ferguson, calling the presidential candidate's attention to the state Democratic platform adopted at the Lubbock convention. Ferguson also sent Roosevelt a copy of his Forum, weekly paper.

"You can rest assured that all the patriotic influences of the state are working for the success of the national and state campaign," Ferguson wrote to Roosevelt, adding:

"By all means conserve your strength for the performance of official duties, beginning March 4, 1933."

Roosevelt replied:

"Though I have just returned from my 'look, listen and learn' trip, I am snatching a moment to answer your letter of Sept. 23.

"I was much interested in the copy of your paper (Ferguson Forum) which I shall read through carefully just as soon as possible. Naturally, I was especially pleased with the platform adopted at the convention at Lubbock.

"I am delighted to have your assurance that prospects for the success of the ticket are good.

"Thank you for writing me as you did."

SUGAR THEFT TRIAL OPENS

Merchant Faces Hearing On Charges

that merely a telephone call was to be an indication that the sugar was available, according to the first agreement.

Byram said Butler came immediately to Wichita Falls, met Byram on Seventh street, agreed to purchase 2,200 pounds of sugar, and drove to a point on the Windthrost road about nine miles from Wichita Falls where the sugar had been hidden near the highway. There, the witness said, the defendant loaded the stipulated amount of sugar into his commercial car, and drove away. Two payments on the delivery were made to Byram at the defendant's store during the next week, the witness said, but testified that a balance was left unpaid.

William Atchley, a youth living on the Merle Waggoner ranch in Archer county, told of finding a number of empty sugar sacks near the highway on May 28. The sacks were found, he said, at the location given by Byram as having been the hiding place for the sugar stolen here.

Vester Cleveland entered a plea of guilty before a jury Monday morning to a charge of criminal assault, and was given a five-year suspended sentence. The prosecutrix did not appear to testify at the trial. J. Earle Kunts represented the defendant.

Entering a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary, Grady Walker was given two years in prison. The charge was filed in connection with the burglarizing of the home of J. E. Strattan at 1308 Austin street, Sept. 28. Deputy Sheriff Joe B. Pettit of Cooke county told of having arrested Walker in Gainesville, and of recovering a watch and other articles later identified as having been taken from the Strattan home. Walker was turned over, after conviction, to the Cooke county officer for return to Gainesville to face a burglary charge there.

CHINA TO PLAY WORLD PART

Bible Describes Mission Work in Asia

Revealing a profound knowledge of social, religious and economic conditions in Asia, and reflecting an imposing grasp of universal affairs, Dr. Frank W. Bible of Chicago stirred several hundreds of persons who heard his three addresses Monday on the second day of the golden jubilee program now under way at the First Presbyterian church.

A veteran missionary himself, and now the director of missionary activities for the entire Presbyterian church, U. S. A., Dr. Bible presents in his eloquent discussions a clear view of the highest objectives toward which missionary efforts are directed.

Universal College

"We go into a community to build a universal college—a university for everybody," he declared. "We care not in the least what it is called—we try to make it a thoroughly Christian institution, not Presbyterian, nor Methodist, nor Baptist—but just Christian."

Declaring that China is the most powerful and most important state in Asia, Dr. Bible urged that education now being given the young generation in that country will play an immense part in shaping the world's history during the ensuing generation.

"The only way to describe China," he said, "is to say that she is '5,000 years young.' There is no greater intelligence than that of the Chinese race. They are the fathers of many of our earliest and most important inventions. Remember, China was the contemporary of Babylon and Egypt. But, whereas those two early civilizations are but memories, that of China is contemporary with our own."

Dr. Bible was the featured speaker at the banquet given by women of the missionary societies of the church for the men's brotherhood.

Electra Group Attends

Dr. Bible addressed a meeting of women at the church at noon Monday, and also spoke on China at the evening service in the church auditorium. Mrs. B. L. Fain presided at the women's meeting, and Raymond Myers at the men's banquet. About 200 men attended, including a delegation from Electra.

Tuesday has been designated as interdenominational day in the jubilee program. The union service is to be held at 7:30 p. m. with Dr. L. D. Young, pastor of the Abbey Presbyterian church of Dallas, as the speaker. Lee Irwin will be at the organ, and J. L. Anderson of Burkburnett will be the evening's soloist. The Kay Bible class male quartet also will sing. Dr. Gaines B. Hall, Rev. W. D. Bratton, Dr. H. T. Wood, Dr. S. S. McKenney and Dr. O. L. Powers, all local pastors, will make two-minute talks prior to Dr. Young's sermon. Raymond Myers will preside.

Texas Municipalities League To Aid Cities In Gas Rate Hearng

Notice that the League of Texas Municipalities, including 239 cities served by the Lone Star Gas company, is planning to retain attorneys to represent the league cities at Austin when the recently completed engineers' report on valuations is presented before the Texas Railroad commission was given the board of aldermen Monday night at their regular meeting at the council room of the Memorial auditorium.

Gate rate charges of the gas company will be presented at the hearing. City Manager V. R. Smitham has received a notice from Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson that he will notify the city officials here when the hearing will be held.

J. L. Jackson Sr. appeared at the meeting for a discussion of plans to eliminate hazards at the excavation at the southeast corner of the intersection of Seventh and Lamar.

The council denied an application for a permit to operate a dance hall within the city limits at Holliday creek on the Fort Worth road. Mr. Smitham announced that plans for widening Tenth and Eleventh streets at the site of the new federal building a distance of five feet were under way. Federal Engineer Miles E. Myers has presented the matter to the proper authorities.

Ticket Sale Heavy For 1932 'Let's Go Athletic'

Advance sale of tickets for the 1932 edition of "Let's Go Athletic" as reported by men and women committee members Monday afternoon indicate that the production will again play to a packed house at the Memorial auditorium Friday night. An entirely new show of five fast acts of singing, dancing, comedy and dramatics will be offered in the 45-minute review.

The production this year will serve as a vehicle for "Wichita Forever," new theme song of Wichita Falls High school.

DEATHS

Dental Society Plans Fall Work

Practically the full membership of the Wichita County Dental society met at the Wichita club Monday night for the first session of the fiscal year. Visitors from out of the city were Drs. E. M. Ammons of Munday, Texas, and Norman Scism of Walters, Okla.

The program consisted of the president's address by Dr. Frank Harrison and a response by the vice president, Dr. J. L. Preston of the state hospital, followed by an outline of the year's program by Dr. M. R. Garrison, chairman of the program committee.

A very extensive program for the year has been planned which includes several dentists of outstanding reputation. Drs. Sam Brock, E. L. Knox and A. L. Frew of Dallas and Dr. W. O. Tolbot of Fort Worth will appear on the program with clinics and papers. There is also planned a progressive study club program in which all the members of the society will take part. The result of this work will be presented as a group clinic at the state society meeting at San Antonio next May. The members expressed enthusiasm over the program as outlined by their committee.

The following members answered the roll call: Drs. C. E. Bailey, C. L. Bailey, W. P. Bolding, E. A. Brosch, F. F. Brown, M. R. Garrison, F. H. Harrison, J. B. Hathorn, C. R. Lanphere, J. L. G. Ellis of the M-K-T railway. A third defendant in the case was arrested here Sunday.

Railway officers assisted police in investigating the case after I. E. Stallcup of Randlett, Okla., and Aubrey Gloves of Breckenridge, Okla., said they lost $8 to three men.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. (AP)—An opening advance on unfavorable weather reports and relatively steady Liverpool cables was followed by reactions in cotton today under scattered selling promoted by reactions in the stock market and the easier ruling of grain.

December contracts after selling up to 6.66 at the start, eased to 6.51 or 3 points net lower and closed at 6.54. The general market closed steady, net 2 points lower to 2 points higher.

The opening was 10 to 14 points higher on covering and trade buying which came partly from abroad. However, both Liverpool and continental connections were reported among the buyers here, while liquidation was seen in evidence following Saturday's decline, to talk of an improved technical position. The initial demand was supplied by southern and local prices working gradually lower under selling influenced by the grain and security markets. Some increase in hedging was reported in the late trading. March declined from 6.54 to 6.45, with the general market showing net losses of 2 to 5 points in the late trading. Closing quotations were slightly up from the lowest on covering.

Liverpool cables attributed relative steadiness there to covering and buying on a belief that the government report had been discounted, but said the decline was checking business in cotton goods at Manchester.

Futures closed steady, 2 lower to 2 higher. Oct. 6.49; Dec. 6.54-54; Jan. 6.61-62; March 6.71; May 6.80-82; July 6.88-89; spot; middling 6.65.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10.(AP)—Cotton was only moderately active today, but prices were fairly steady considering the easy course of stocks and wheat. A good early advance was not maintained, but the close showed net gains of 4 to 5 points.

The opening was steady at Liverpool gains in 4 penny points better than due. Private cables said there was scattered buying and covering, the trade considering the Saturday bureau estimate discounted. Manchester cabled the decline in cotton was disturbing to traders and the turnover was unimportant. First trades here showed gains of 9 to 15 points and December gained 6 points additional right after the start advancing that month to 6.68 while March remained at the opening price of 6.80, both months showing a gain compared with the close of Saturday of 13 points. The advance was due to the better cables and to a natural recovery from last week's sharp decline.

Later prices turned easier in sympathy with weakness of stocks and wheat which caused liquidation, and after noon December declined to 6.47 and March to 6.61, or 18 to 19 points below the early highs. In the final trading some recovery in stocks and a steadier feeling in the cotton market caused prices to rally 7 to 8 points from the lows. December closed at 6.54 and March at 6.69, both 4 points net up for the day.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 3 to 4 penny points down.

Futures closed steady at net gains of 4 to 5 points:

Chicago Cotton

CHICAGO, Oct. 10. (AP)—Cotton was slow in light trading today. A higher opening was turned to a 10-point loss around midday. Prices rallied just before the close and added to the day 2-4 points net lower on the July delivery. Cotton was 6-11 points up on cables that were 6 points points better than due. The market was dull all position, while some new impulse was developed. Prices sagged slowly in sympathy with lower grain and securities markets, and lower grain and securities, after a clear Sunday over the bull flight rate, was shown on Monday's map at points in Texas and Oklahoma. The official forecast is for much colder weather probably freezing in southwest corner of the belt. Rain is forecast in the central area and in south Texas, and warming cloudiness followed by rain in the East.

Stock Prices Continue Slow Trend Downward, Bonds Retreat Sharply

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. (US)—Stock prices were still slipping today. Other markets furnished no cheer to the bull speculator in stocks. Bond quotations, especially among the lower-grade issues, were down sharply. Wheat dropped to a new low, affecting all grains. Cotton was irregular.

The news of the day was not particularly disturbing. There was, for example, an increase reported in the U. S. Steel corporation's unfilled tonnage at the end of September. The gain may not have been as great as the extreme optimists had expected, but it was nevertheless the second consecutive rise in orders. This in itself is fairly encouraging, especially since the two gains followed 16 consecutive monthly decreases in the corporation's business.

The market seemed to take the steel news at noon badly, prices having been relatively firm during the morning. Its action was just another indication of exaggerated hopes blasted in actualities, even though the current business statistics are more satisfactory than they were when bullish hopes, speculatively, were running riot. Trading in stocks amounted to 2,300,000 shares.

The technical players of the market, those who depend so confidently an chart indications, averages, etc., were disturbed by the acute weakness in the rails.

This group was counted upon to stem the downswing, but they have recently performed more discouragingly than either industrials or public utilities. The fact that such high-grade rails as Atchison and Union Pacific broke 5¼ and 6½ points, respectively, was ample proof of a great absence of supporting bids. All through the rail list, the declines were equally sharp. New York Central at 19 was down 3¼, Pennsylvania at 12¾ was off 1⅝, Southern Pacific at 15⅝ down 2¾.

Selling of the rails plainly was ignoring the quite favorable car loadings report last week, and also ignoring the continued uptrend in the Atchison loadings, frequently an accurate forecast for the whole country.

The Nickel Plate receivership petition, despite the court's refusal to appoint a receiver, hangs over the entire railroad situation. The continued delay in a final adjustment of individual railroad situations is too obviously inspired not to be a factor marketwise.

Steel common was off a point net, the preferred 3½ points. More people recognized the possible significance of the small unfilled tonnage expansion in relation to the prospects for the preferred dividend at the next directors' meeting. Since the directors plainly asserted when the last preferred dividend was voted not to continue the $7 rate "unless business improved" it was thought the steel tonnage figures would furnish the best indication to the impending meeting.

There were stories that "good news" from Europe was in sight, though no one knew the exact nature of the news. It had the effect, however, of encouraging considerable short-covering, and a modest speculative buying move.

In the main, however, the market was reflecting absence of any sizable short account. This need has been evident to all unbiased observers for weeks, but the stock exchange restrictions, plus the hesitancy even of bears to assume substantial short positions at prevailing levels has prevented more than in-and-out, small short-selling operations. The freight created by the presidential disclosure "how close the nation came to gold abandonment" induced further selling by Europeans, who fail to appreciate the political inspiration for the "disclosure."

The bull pools which were so rampantly active up to a week ago have all either collapsed or surrendered. This is very evident in the prices of their particular recent favorites, Johns-Manville, Southern Pacific, United Aircraft, Case, Harvester and a host of lesser-known issues.

WARREN TRIAL CALLED TODAY

Court to Hear Testimony In Fatal Fist Fight

Lynn Warren will be tried before Judge Irvin J. Vogel in the county court at law at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning on a charge of negligent homicide in connection with the death of Jim Dillard of the Friberg community several weeks ago, according to L. V. Abernathy, county attorney.

Dillard died after an alleged fisticuff with the defendant in the rear of a recreation club room on Ohio avenue in this city.

A man was fined $25 and costs for drunkenness by a jury before Judge Vogel Monday. The case had been appealed by the defendant from the corporation court.

Electra Burglars Get Accessories Worth $125

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 10.—Burglars entered the Panhandle service station early Monday and took a quantity of tires, tubes and other auto accessories, valued at approximately $125. Entrance was gained by prying glass from the front door and lifting the night latch. No arrests have been made.

BALD?

Don't Give Up Hope

If you are bald, don't give up hope, even if all remedies and specialists have failed to help you. Try JAPANESE OIL, the antiseptic liniment. It has done wonders for many who were bald for a number of years. Get a bottle today. Massage the Oil into your scalp every night for 60 to 90 days. If your hair roots are not dead you may be gratified to see new hair growing in. But you must have patience. Hair does not grow over night. Some cases respond to JAPANESE OIL in 30 days, others require 2 to 3 months. Mr. R. E. Proctor, Cinco, W. Va., writes:

"I tried many remedies for baldness during the past 10 years, but none of them did me any good. After using two bottles of JAPANESE OIL, however, I have succeeded in growing hair two inches long on the bald areas."

JAPANESE OIL, the antiseptic medicine for the hair and scalp, costs $1 at any Rexfro Drug Store or other good druggists.—Adv.

E. C. DeMontel To Head 'Honor Roll' Campaign For Demo Victory Fund

E. C. DeMontel, prominent attorney here for the past 14 years, Monday accepted chairmanship of the honor roll committee of the Roosevelt-Garner campaign funds drive now being waged in Wichita county and throughout the state, according to Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., vice chairman of the 13th congressional district organization.

Appointment of Mr. DeMontel to direct the solicitation of large contributions to the Roosevelt-Garner campaign fund is particularly fitting, Mayor Nelson stated, since Mr. DeMontel lived as a county-neighbor to Speaker John Garner in South Texas before moving to Wichita Falls in 1918.

Well acquainted personally with the vice presidential candidate, Mr. DeMontel lived for many years in Medina county, adjoining Uvalde county, in which Mr. Garner lives. He was Democratic county chairman there, and did his voting for "Congressman Garner" in that county throughout a lengthy period.

"Those who live in Jack Garner's neighborhood know exactly why he has been kept in congress so long," Mr. DeMontel declared. "It is because he really is of and for the common people from the word go."

Mr. DeMontel left Monday for St. Louis, but is to return Thursday, and will organize immediately his "Honor Roll" committee of workers, it was stated.

COUNTY VOTES 1933 BUDGET

Few Changes Made in New Salary Schedule

Members of the commissioners court Monday amended in minor ways the 1933 budget as formulated last Tuesday, and approved the document finally for submission to the state comptroller.

Changes voted by the court Monday include the fixing of the maximum allowable salary of the county judge at $4,500 instead of $4,000 as named one week ago; an annual salary of $1,000 each to the county farm agent and home demonstrator in addition to the salaries they receive from the state, instead of the $900 each indicated last week; the allowance of two full-time assistants in the county auditor's office with a total salary allowance of $3,900 per year for those deputies, instead of $2,700 for one full-time and one part-time assistant; and the apportionment of $12,000 to the Wichita General hospital as the county's share in the hospital's 1933 fund.

The budget as passed Monday by the commissioners will be written Tuesday by Judge Marrs, and will be forwarded to the comptroller's office at Austin.

$75,000 Federal Aid Asked

Representatives of the woman's home demonstration clubs of the county appeared before the court to plead for an increase in the salaries allowed the farm agent and home demonstrator. It was urged that remuneration should be made sufficient to assure continuance of their services in this county.

As a result of action taken Monday at the request of Walter D. Cline, Judge Marrs was authorized to apply at once to Gov. Ross S. Sterling for an advance of $75,000 from the federal government relief funds, to be used here this winter for charitable purposes. The application will specify that the requested funds are to be an advance on this state's share of the highway construction funds to be apportioned by the federal government as part of the economic relief program. It also will stipulate that the $75,000 be deducted in equal amounts annually during the next five years from the amounts to be apportioned Wichita county from federal funds. The application is to be forwarded through the offices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Hospital Needs

Dr. C. W. Stevenson and Judge Harvey Harris appeared before the court to urge the allotment of sufficient money for the Wichita General hospital to permit its efficient operation throughout the year.

Reports of Thomas McHam, treasurer for Wichita county, and for Wichita County Drainage districts Nos. 1 and 2, were given for the month of September.

Pink Kiser, 74, Rutherfordton, N. C., farmer, picked 190 pounds of cotton in one day.

RITES SAID FOR J. T. WOODHOUSE

Last Tributes Paid to Wichita Veteran

Funeral services for John T. Woodhouse, 1103 Travis, last surviving Confederate soldier who went through the war between the states under the colors of company G of Hood's Texas brigade, were held Monday afternoon from the First Presbyterian church at 3:30 o'clock with Dr. George P. Horst, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Riverside, directed by Hines mortuary.

Mr. Woodhouse died suddenly at 11:50 o'clock Sunday morning while resting at his home. He had resided in Wichita Falls for a half century and would have celebrated his 88th birthday Tuesday. He arrived in Wichita Falls on the first Denver excursion train Sept. 27, 1882, and bought property, now occupied by the federal building, in the first town lot sale.

JOE WHEELER OFFERED POST TO WICHITAN

Friends of John T. Woodhouse, Confederate veteran who died Sunday, recalled Monday that he had an unusual opportunity to re-enter military service late in life.

When Gen. Joseph T. Wheeler, the Confederate commander who saw service after the Civil war and particularly in the Spanish-American war, under the Stars and Stripes, was ordered to the Philippines in about 1901, he conceived the idea of taking with him, as aide, some one who had been in the Confederate forces. He inquired who was the youngest surviving member of Hood's Texas brigade, and learned that it was John T. Woodhouse. Accordingly, he offered the Wichitan a place on his staff. Mr. Woodhouse was unable to accept the offer, his affairs making it necessary for him to remain here, but the fact that it came to him was a source of great pride in his remaining years.

Postoffice on Former Home Site

Mr. Woodhouse was intensely interested in construction of the federal building on the site of his first home in Wichita Falls and until illness confined him to his home he made a daily walk to the location. Arrangements had been completed Saturday for Mr. Woodhouse to use a wheel chair to view progress on the new postoffice Monday.

The veteran Wichitan was a charter member of the Stonewall Jackson camp of Confederate veterans and served as the first chaplain of the group. Matt Wicker of Cloud Chief, Okla., is the only surviving charter member of the camp. Mr. Woodhouse entered the civil war at the age of 16 years, four years after his family made a wagon trek from his native county of Princess Ann, Va. He served as color bearer in Hood's brigade.

Mr. Woodhouse retained a keen memory of his youthful activities as a soldier and delighted in discussing his adventures with a wide group of friends. He often related the story of his long walk from the family home in Anderson county, Texas, to New Orleans to enlist and the many adventures of the return to Texas from Richmond, Va., after viewing the surrender of southern forces at Appomattox.

Pioneer in Business

Mr. Woodhouse was a charter member of the First Presbyterian church here and was a pioneer merchant of the city, conducting the second ice and fuel business here in 1882 and later engaging in the grocery business.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Sarah Price Woodhouse, who married the veteran in 1875 in Anderson county; two daughters, Miss Addie Woodhouse and Mrs. Bessie Hartman, both of this city; two brothers, Will Woodhouse of Palestine, Texas, and L. L. Woodhouse of Nogales, Ariz.; and three grandchildren, the Misses Helen and Alice Hartman of Wichita Falls and Julius E. Hartman of Tampico, Mexico.

Wichitans To Don Jubilee Apparel For County Fair

Paul Montgomery of Wichita Falls was named general chairman of a Junior chamber of commerce committee Monday to handle arrangements for attendance at Wichita Falls' day of the fifth annual Wichita county fair at Iowa Park Wednesday.

Mr. Montgomery was named by President Don T. Haynes of the junior group and plans are being formed to pour a constant stream of booted and spurred Wichitans into the neighbor city for the occasion. The party will continue the frontier attire theme of big hats and other cowboy regalia for the local delegation. Plans at present do not call for an organized caravan but for continuous passage of small groups of automobiles between the Wichita county communities.

Inurance Exchange To Discuss Fire Campaign

Details of observance of fire prevention week, Oct. 9-15, in Wichita Falls will be completed Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the insurance exchange at 1:30 o'clock at the chamber of commerce offices. A schedule of radio announcements for the remainder of the week will be completed at that time.

Observance of the week this year will not include luncheon club speakers but attention to the need for care in controlling fire hazards will be called to the attention of the club memberships, Chairman L. F. Hooker of the Junior chamber of commerce committee said.

Units of the fire department will start Tuesday morning on making a round of the school buildings of the city with Chief J. L. McClure in staging fire drills. No planned schedule of visits to the schools will be followed.

OIL HEARING OPENS TODAY

Wichitans Seek Favorable Freight Rates

Wichita Falls traffic and petroleum interests will be represented before two groups at Dallas Tuesday for discussion of important issues in this section, Traffic Manager Dudley B. Foy of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and Traffic Manager J. H. Davenport of the Panhandle Refining company left Sunday to attend a series of meetings in Dallas.

The Tuesday schedule calls for a trial before the Texas Railroad commission involving intra-state rates on fuel, crude and road oils and distillates. Attendance at the annual session of the Texas Industrial Traffic league of which Mr. Foy is vice president, is also scheduled for the Wichitans.

Mr. Foy and Mr. Davenport intervened for interests in the Wichita area at a hearing before the Interstate Commerce commission Monday when trial of a complaint filed by the East Texas Refining company of Longview was called involving rates on petroleum and its products from East Texas points in southeastern states. The complaint is similar to one filed by Wichita area groups for protection of refining groups and set for a hearing next month.

A hearing before the I. C. C. and state rail board is called Wednesday in Dallas, and will be attended by Mr. Foy, involving rates on flat cotton from Texas points in intrastate and interstate traffic from points on the Fort Worth and Denver City railway and the Wichita Valley railway.

PILES

Ended Without Cutting or Salves

If you think a surgical operation is the only way to get rid of itching, bleeding or protruding Piles, it's because you haven't heard of the harmless internal medicine discovered by a prominent western physician.

After years of study, Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the cause of Piles to be internal—congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins flabby; the bowel walls weak; the parts almost dead. Right away the doctor set to work to find a real internal remedy. He succeeded, and after prescribing it for 1,000 patients, with success in over 900 cases, he named his prescription HEM-ROID.

The doctor wants every Pile sufferer to benefit by his discovery, and so there will be no doubting or delay Allison's Drug store and druggists everywhere are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end Piles in any form.

So why waste time on external treatments or think of an operation when HEM-ROID tablets are guaranteed.—Adv.

WITH CLIVE IN INDIA

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, Karl Godwin . . . inspired by the fierce and brilliant assault by Clive and a handful of followers, outnumbered 20 to 1 by savage hordes of bloodthirsty natives at the Battle of Plassey—the birth of the British Indian Empire—as described in the famous Henty book, "With Clive in India."

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"

That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
