Inflation Grips Economy

The SDN Column

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Over in Borden County, the citizens have attained some fame for their Cancer Crusade. The fund-raising has been compacted mostly into a huge social event the past few years, which has accounted for a big chunk of the money contributed to that cause by Borden Countians.

The Borden Star reports this week that the county's Cancer Society raised a total of $2,480 this time.

"The amount of $1,568.64 was realized at the Barn Dance held April 5 at the Rich Andersons," the Star disclosed. "The dance is held annually in April to kick off the Cancer Crusade Week."

Mobil Oil Company's publication, "Mobil World," has an interesting "before and after" type picture in its current issue.

A shot of a segment of New Jersey's Garden State Parkway, taken last July 14, shows well over 150 automobiles and two buses in a bumper-to-bumper situation. This was before the Arab oil embargo and before full effects of the energy crisis here at home was felt.

The second shot, taken the past Jan. 6, shows a total of five automobiles on the same segment of freeway.

Makes you wonder where all those people were going last July, and if they were on essential trips, how were they getting there in January?

The Lamesa Press-Reporter carried a warning in a recent issue for rural residents to be on the alert for strangers traveling around the country who may be burglars. The warning came from Sheriff Guy Kinnison of Lamesa.

Reported the Press-Reporter: "Kinnison explained that a common way burglars have of determining whether or not anyone is at home is to stop and ask for directions to someone's home. Usually the would-be burglar asks for directions to an unknown person's residence.....Recently several homes have been burglarized, most of which have been locked while the residents were in town."

There was a rash of this type of thing in East Texas several months ago and it probably was inevitable that it would spread. Items taken in some of the bigger jobs included major home appliances, furniture and anything else that wasn't nailed down. These operatives capitalize on the fact that residents in remote rural areas are far enough from law enforcement authorities to greatly reduce the chances of being caught. In some areas, the burglars became so brazen that residents set traps for them, with families leaving home, while neighbors concealed themselves on the premises to nab the intruders.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, April 19, the 109th day of 1974. There are 256 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1775, the American Revolution began with the battles of Lexington and Concord.

On this date:

In 1782, Holland recognized the independence of the American colonies.

In 1783-eight years after the battles of Lexington and Concord-Congress announced the end of the Revolutionary War.

In 1824, the English poet, Lord Byron, died in Greece in the fight for Greek independence.

In 1865, funeral services for Abraham Lincoln were held at the White House.

In 1898, the United States issued an ultimatum to Spain to relinquish authority in Cuba.

In 1967, former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer died at the age of 91.

Ten years ago: A coalition government in Laos was deposed by a right-wing military group.

Five years ago: Members of the Afro-Asian Society seized a building at Cornell University in New York.

One year ago: The United States suspended mine-clearing operations along the North Vietnamese coast to put pressure on the Communists to halt cease-fire violations.

The Weather

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Thursday, 86 degrees; low, 58 degrees, reading at 7 a.m. today, 59 degrees; precipitation, .07.

Northwest and Southwest Texas: Partly cloudy through Saturday. Scattered thunderstorms tonight, possibly a few locally severe east of the mountains. Windy. Not as warm north and central portions tonight. Cooler Saturday. Low tonight 45 to 63. High Saturday 70 to 85.

North Central and Northeast Texas: Partly cloudy and warmer tonight. Clearing and cooler west portion and partly cloudy central and east Saturday. Scattered showers and thunderstorms tonight and central and east portions Saturday. Low tonight in 50s. High Saturday 76 to 87.

South Central and Southeast Texas: Mostly cloudy with chance of showers and thundershowers tonight and Saturday. Clearing and cooler west portion Saturday. Low tonight 65 to 75. High Saturday 78 to 88.

Upper Texas Coast: Southeast winds 10 to 20 knots, increasing to 15 to 25 knots tonight and Saturday. Scattered thundershowers tonight and Saturday. Seas 3 to 6 feet, increasing tonight and Saturday.

Lower Texas Coast: Southeast winds 12 to 20 knots this evening and Saturday. Scattered showers and thundershowers tonight and Saturday. Seas 4 to 7 feet, increasing tonight and Saturday.

Snyder Area Teased By Showers

Thundershowers teased the parched Scurry County area for several hours late yesterday, but finally moved on, leaving only a taste of moisture.

However, forecasts raised hopes for more rain today and tonight as heavy deluges caused flooding in parts of South Texas.

The official gauge at the Snyder Water Plant logged .07 inch of rain. A few heavier showers were reported to the west, but the shower pattern was spotted over the entire area.

At least one tornado writhed down from black thunderheads and spun on the ground seven miles southwest of Big Springs' Webb Air Force Base for a couple of minutes. Then it whipped back aloft and disappeared.

A fierce gust of wind overturned a mobile home north of Edinburg in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, injuring a mother and child slightly.

It also was near Edinburg that torrential rain sent water rising into home and forced about 20 persons to evacuate. In the Faysville community six miles to the north, civil defense workers used an amphibious vehicle to rescue 15 others stranded by water shoulder deep in one low area.

Many Edinburg streets filled and the water lapped into some downtown business places. At McAllen, in the same vicinity, 1.74 inches of rain fell in the six hours before midnight.

There also was some flooding in low parts of San Antonio and hail the size of golf balls fell around Alice before the South Texas thunderstorms weakened or moved out over the Gulf of Mexico.

Forecasters issued a series of severe thunderstorm warnings for a big chunk of Southwest Texas, where boiling storms ranged over Comal, Guadalupe, Medina, Bandera and Kendall counties.

Heavy storms likewise extended from near Lubbock southward past Big Spring and Midland, through several counties east of Lubbock and in the Panhandle from around Dimmitt to Silverton and Dickens.

The turbulence broke out at the end of a warm day which sent temperatures as high as 89 degrees at Midland and 90 at Wink. Galveston on the coast was the coolest spot with a maximum of 73.

By this morning skies were clear over much of West Texas but at least partly cloudy everywhere else in the state. Forecasts promised more showers or thunderstorms scattered through nearly all sections.

GOVERNOR VISITS WTC

Briscoe Urges Citizens To Take Part In Politics

Gov. Dolph Briscoe paused during a coffee session at Western Texas College this morning to urge WTC students and all other students to participate in the political life of their community, state and nation.

Americans should not lose faith in their system because of some unpleasant experiences, the governor declared.

"We have the best system of government yet devised in which man governs himself, and the key phrase is 'governs himself,'" Briscoe said.

He urged citizens of all ages to participate in primary elections, precinct conventions and all other elections. Only in this way can the people be assured of responsive and responsbile public officials, the governor said.

Gov. Briscoe said he was happy to see a community college such as WTC serving this area. He said the community college fulfills a long-standing need to take education to the people who need it and that community colleges are geared to not only provide the type of education that many youngsters want today, but also the type of education they need.

The governor had words of praise for Renal B. Rosson, Scurry County's veteran member of the Texas House of Representatives who is not seeking re-election this year after serving 16 years in the legislature.

"He has made you a fine representative and I am going to miss him," said Gov. Briscoe.

The governor arrived in Snyder about half an hour ahead of schedule, which put a local reception delegation into a tizzy as they converged on the airport as word spread that the governor's plane had arrived.

Gov. and Mrs. Briscoe flew here from Lubbock, where he spoke Thursday night. Leading the welcoming delegation here this morning was Roger B. Mize, Briscoe's campaign manager for Scurry County, and a large group of other supporters.

Gov. and Mrs. Briscoe shook hands with some 200 or more WTC students and scores of others who had assembled in the WTC Student Center.

Texas now stands on the threshold of its greatest opportunities, the governor told the college students, and he urged them to prepare themselves to step into positions of responsibility and help the state realize its potential.

The Briscoes departed shortly after 9 a.m. for Weatherford, where he was to make another morning appearance. He also was scheduled to visit San Angelo before going on to Odessa to address the West Texas Chamber on Commerce Convention this evening.

Living Costs Jump 1.1%

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) Sharply higher food prices and a record jump in nonfood commodities pushed the cost of living up 1.1 per cent in March as the worst inflation in a quarter of a century held its grip on the economy, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said last month's rise sent consumer prices 10.2 per cent higher than a year ago, the most in any 12-month period since an identical rise in 1948.

For the first quarter of 1974, consumer prices rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 14.5 per cent, highest in any three-month period since the first quarter of 1951 during the Korean War.

The gloomy economic report was the second in two days. The Commerce Department reported Thursday that the Gross National Product — the nation's total output of goods and services — fell at a 5.8 per cent annual rate, the first decline in three years and the biggest drop in 16 years.

Although the Nixon administration says it expects the economy to turn around in the second half of the year, some government analysts predict the next three months will be as bad or worse than the inflation for the first three months of the year.

With inflation continuing unabated, the Labor Department said buying power of American workers fell nine-tenths of 1 per cent in March to a level 4.7 per cent below a year ago. It marked the biggest annual decline since the government began keeping that statistic in 1964.

The Consumer Price Index climbed last month to 143.1 of its 1967 average, meaning that it cost consumers $143.10 to buy the same variety of retail goods and services that $100 bought in 1967.

The 1.1 per cent jump in prices last month, on both a seasonally and unadjusted basis, compared with a 1.3 per cent rise in February and an increase of 1 per cent in January. It was the third biggest monthly jump since September 1947. August of last year was the biggest since then — 1.9 per cent — followed by this February and March.

But the sharpest increase was in nonfood commodities, including industrial prices, which rose 1.5 per cent both seasonally and unadjusted last month. It was the biggest increase in this category since statistics began in 1956.

Government analysts said higher prices for gasoline and food were responsible for about 25 per cent of the March increase.

Grocery prices jumped one per cent, substantially more than is usual for March, but less than the increases for the previous two months. Fresh vegetables, processed fruits, cereals, bakery and dairy products were up but beef prices, after rising sharply in February, declined in March.

Gasoline and motor oil again jumped sharply in March, rising 7 per cent to a level 39.3 per cent above the previous March. Fuel oil and coal prices dropped slightly last month but were still 57.7 per cent above March 1973.

New car prices increased instead of declining as they usually do in March. Prices for used cars continued to fall.

Services rose eight-tenths of 1 per cent from February to March, driven up by a 20 per cent jump in postal charges and a rise of 1.7 per cent in physicians' fees.

A rise of five-tenths of one per cent in average hourly earnings last month was offset by the jump in consumer prices and a drop of three-tenths of one per cent in average weekly hours, sending average weekly earnings down eight-tenths of one per cent for the month.

Earlier, a Commerce Department official said inflation in the second quarter this year will be as bad or worse than the 10.8 per cent rate for this first three months.

Ground, Air Fighting Rages

By The Associated Press

Syrian and Israeli warplanes roared into action for the second straight day today as ground fighting raged for key positions on Mt. Hermon and along the 40-mile Golan Heights front.

The Syrian command said its MIGs "scored direct hits" on Israeli positions, "causing heavy losses in men and equipment," but Israel reported no casualties in the air strikes.

The Syrians also claimed their missiles downed seven Israeli warplanes, but Israel said all its planes returned safely.

The Tel Aviv command said the Israeli jets attacked artillery and troop emplacements six miles behind Syria's front lines, hitting Syrian targets for three hours on the slopes of Mt. Hermon and on the southern Golan front.

In Lebanon, nine Israeli planes were seen striking a Syrian radar station on the peak of the Anti-Lebanon Mountains just east of the Syrian-Lebanon frontier. There was no immediate estimate of the damage or comment from the Syrian command.

Control of Mt. Hermon is sought by both sides because its 9,200-foot peak commands a view for miles into Lebanon, Israel and Syria, and possession could be used as a trading point in disengagement negotiations.

A Syrian communique said the downed Israeli planes were seen falling into Israeli-held territory on onto Mt. Hermon itself.

An Israeli military spokesman said "all our planes returned safely."

Syria also claimed that Israeli planes had bombed their own positions "inflicting casualties on their own troops" at Tel Al Arayess in the Golan Heights during confusion created by the Syrian missile attack. Israel called the claims "nonsense."

The spokesman confirmed that SAM missiles had been fired at the Israeli planes, but said he could not confirm or deny that ground to ground missiles were employed.

The Israeli jets struck at Syrian targets on the 9,200-foot peak and on the southern Golan front, a communique said.

Israel's air action apparently was triggered when Syria shelled the Mt. Hermon defenders and Israelis on the southern bulge.

Emergency Gasoline Allocated

Scurry County has been allotted 152,000 gallons of emergency gasoline for the month of April to compensate for fuel used in agriculture and oil production that is supplied through regular retail outlets.

Mickey Nunley, consultant to the Board of County Development, who represents the commissioner's court in handling applications for the emergency fuel, said the April allocation was confirmed this morning.

Distributors representing seven major companies who have retail gasoline outlets in the county will share in the emergency allocation. The emergency gasoline is allocated by the state "set aside" office in Austin to assure that agriculture and oil production vehicles and machinery have sufficient fuel to maintain production. In areas where supplies for these purposes are drawn from regular retail pumps, emergency fuel is allocated to make up for it.

The local emergency fuel committee is composed of the county commissioners court and representatives of fuel distributors, the Board of County Development and the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, with the commissioners court serving as the local agency forwarding the applications.

Big Three To Sell Cuba Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Big Three U.S. automakers will soon begin sending cars and trucks to Cuba from their Argentine subsidiaries under an historic decision announced by the State Department.

After five months of indecision, the State Department announced Thursday night approval of export licenses filed by Ford, Chrysler and General Motors Corp., despite hemispheric restrictions on sales to Cuba.

Auto industry sources estimated the transaction will total some $150 million.

The only American automobiles left in Cuba are those of the tail-fin era of the late 1950s — before U.S.-Cuban relations soured.

State Department officials said they made an exception for the Big Three because "we did not want to see the companies suffer as a result of U.S. policy."

Argentina, which unilaterally violated the embargo last year, claimed the State Department had no right to impede a sale by firms incorporated under Argentine law.

The U.S. decision was announced after the end of a Western Hemisphere foreign ministers' meeting which received a message relayed here by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Through Mexican Foreign Minister Emilio Rabasa, Castro passed word he is agreeable to a partial re-entry into the inter-American system after a 12-year absence.

Rabasa said he received last month personal assurances from Castro that Cuba is prepared to play a "positive non-obstructionist" but restricted role in hemisphere affairs.

Cuba, excluded from the Organization of American States in 1962, has no interest in rejoining but would not be adverse to sending a representative to a non-OAS hemisphere meeting scheduled for next March in Buenos Aires.

The ministers agreed that an invitation will be extended if all nations accept or at least tolerate Cuba's presence at the meeting.

40 Prisoners Escape In Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Forty prisoners armed with knives, revolvers and submachine guns fought their way out of a downtown Rio prison this morning, police said.

They reported seven persons wounded, including one guard and one military policeman.

The convicts fanned out through the north and south of the seaside city and gun battles were reported in at least five locations as police threw up barricades and surrounded small bands of convicts.

Police said eight prisoners had already been recaptured, and appealed to the public over the radio to remain calm because the situation was being "brought under control."

History Week In Climax Tonight

Believe it or not, rain cut short a major Historical Appreciation Week event last night, but there will be other attractions tonight on the campus of Western Texas College.

Also, it was announced this morning that the Indian dances scheduled for last night on Hide Town Drive will be presented at 7:45 at WTC. The rains came last night just as the Indian dancers arrived from Big Spring.

The final activities in the History Appreciation Week services will begin at 6:30 p.m. at WTC with a musical program on the Sentell Memorial Stage in the central courtyard.

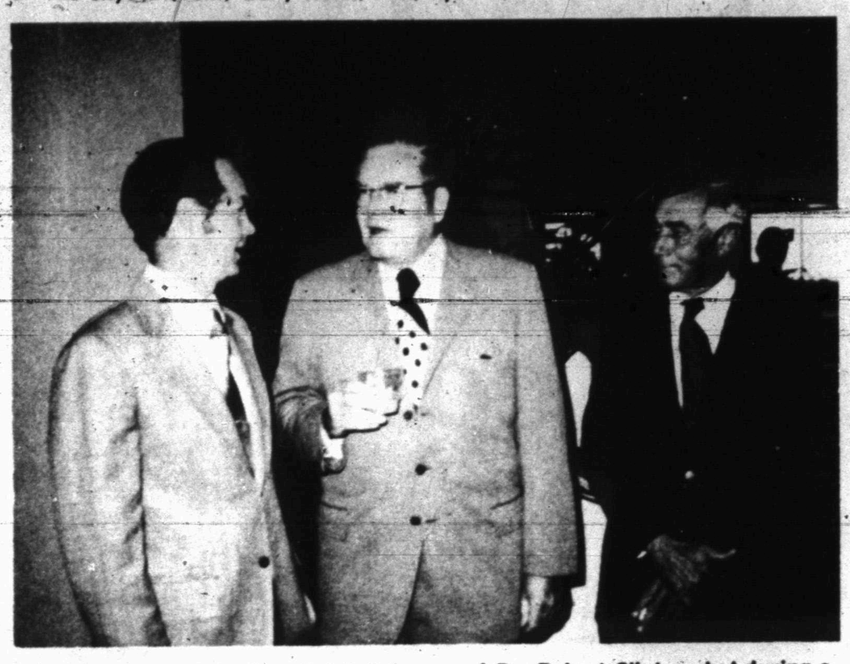

There will be a chuck wagon barbecue in the college cafeteria at 7 p.m. and tickets, priced at $2.50 each, will be available at the door.

Other features will include a pageant by Lamar Junior High speech students in the fine arts theatre and old time movies in the science lecture hall, with two showings of each attraction set at 8 p.m. and 8:45 p.m.

Throughout the evening, authographed copies of the book, "In Search of the Buffalo," will be available in the WTC Student Center. The author, Charles Anderson, will autograph copies that already have been purchased also at this time.

An art show featuring works of members of the Snyder Palette Club will be on display throughout the evening in the WTC Fine Arts Building.

All of the activities tonight on the WTC campus are free, except the chuck wagon barbecue.

White House Ponders Order

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is pondering what to do about a sweeping subpoena that orders President Nixon to turn over a mass of tapes and documents to be used in the Watergate cover-up trial of his former top lieutenants.

The subpoena issued Thursday by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica directs Nixon to give the Watergate special prosecutor tapes and documents covering 64 presidential conversations.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski had asked Sirica last Tuesday to issue the subpoena after what he said were unsuccessful efforts to negotiate a voluntary agreement with the White House.

The subpoena was served late Thursday afternoon about two hours after Sirica signed it. It orders the materials turned over by 10 a.m. May 2.

Withholding subpoenaed materials needed for the conduct of a trial is a tougher legal problem than resisting such requests from investigatory bodies. Two of the defendants in this case joined the prosecutor in requesting that the materials be subpoenaed.

The new subpoena requests materials specifically for evidence in the trial, scheduled to start Sept. 9, of former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, ex-chief domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman, former attorney general and Nixon campaign manager John N. Mitchell, and four others.

Earlier subpoenas issued by the prosecutor's office had sought information for the grand jury rather than for a trial. One of these was upheld by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here and led to the firing of original prosecutor Archibald Cox when he refused to halt the subpoena process. The White House later released the subpoenaed material.

Some of the tapes also are being sought by the House Judiciary Committee, which is studying impeachment, in a separate subpoena under consideration by the White House. Another subpoena from the Senate Watergate committee still is in the courts.

In other Watergate developments:

—Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said that if Nixon refuses to cooperate with the House impeachment inquiry it would put his administration in grave danger.

—John H. Melcher Jr., executive vice president of American Ship Building Co., pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact in an effort to cover up an illegal corporate campaign contribution to Nixon's 1972 reelection effort.

—Informed sources said Jaworski's office has taken over the Internal Revenue Service investigation of Nixon's controversial gift of pre-presidential papers. Previously, a congressional committee had conducted an inquiry.

Candidate Showing X Movie

Associated Press Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. AP) — Other politicians hold fish fries and hot dog roasts to raise campaign money. Perry Bullard is showing an X-rated movie.

Bullard's showing of "Deep Throat" this weekend is in keeping with his unorthodox ways in the Michigan House since his election in 1972 by Ann Arbor's liberal student community.

"The Democrats are really upset," Bullard remarked. "But I should stress they had nothing to do with this."

It's not the first time the Democrats have been upset with the 31-year-old lawyer.

He has acknowledged using marijuana, and once smoked it at a public rally to urge the removal of criminal sanctions for the use of pot; he has been arrested for hitchhiking; and now he plans to show "Deep Throat."

"I approved the showing of this film by the group because I believe in the fundamental First Amendment right of any adult individual to see any movie that person desires to see," he said.

He predicted he might raise as much as $2,000 from the six showings of the movie at the University of Michigan Friday and Saturday nights.

But a ruling by university counsel Roderick Dean apparently bars the money from direct use in the Bullard campaign. Dean said Thursday that use of a public institution for political purposes might be illegal.

A spokesman for the Bullard's campus campaign organization said the money might be used for public purposes in Bullard's district office or on campus for his support.

No one is opposing Bullard in the Democratic primary this spring.

State Rep. Dan Angel, a Republican from Marshall, issued a news release calling the showing a "debasement" of the legislature. The statement said Bullard was "utterly without redeeming social value."

When the phone rings, it's a call to duty

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Here is the big argument between me and my mother. If I am home alone, should I have to answer the phone when it rings? I say only if I feel like it. She says I must, regardless!

Let's assume the phone rang, and I didn't answer it. If the call is for a member of the family who isn't home, he or she would not be home to talk anyway, so if it's important, the caller would call back later, right?

If the call is for me, if I chose not to answer it that means I don't feel like talking, so that's my privilege, isn't it?

That's my argument, and my mom disagrees. I see no reason why I should have to tear myself away from whatever I'm doing to answer the telephone. I am tired of being a secretary for my parents and taking messages for them when they're out. If messages are that important to them they should get a mechanical box that answers telephone calls with a prerecorded message.

I am curious to know your opinion on the matter.

TIRED TEEN

DEAR TIRED: I think your mother is right. It could be an emergency or an important message for someone in your family. Now, get off your duff and answer the telephone when it rings!

DEAR ABBY: In a few months we will be moving into our new home, and I'd like to throw a question out to you, and your readers.

We will have a swimming pool, and I want to enjoy using it; however, I've observed other pool owners having problems with uninvited friends who overstay their welcome. Also neighbors who get hurt if they are told: "No, not today."

Someone suggested the flag system [when it's out, come on over], but how do we keep the undesirables from joining in, too?

How can we ask people nicely to leave at a certain time without turning them off completely?

There it is. Am I making a mountain out of a molehill?

NEW POOL OWNER

DEAR OWNER: The flag system is the best. Who are the "undesirables" who "might" join in, too? If you mean strangers, ask them to leave. If they're neighbors who have been invited by you to "come on over" when your flag is out, when you want them to leave at a certain time make it plain beforehand, so they won't be surprised.

DEAR ABBY: At a banquet recently, I was being introduced to my husband's boss and employees when a secretary piped up, "Your hair is very pretty. Or is that a wig?" [It was]. There was total silence while everyone waited for my reply. Having been put on the spot, I had to tell the truth, but I don't know when I've been so humiliated. Another time, I was asked by a woman I hardly knew: "Those aren't your real eyelashes, are they?" [They weren't.]

I have witnessed nervy questions being asked of others. For example: "How much did that cost?" Also: "How come you never had any children?"

Are people getting less considerate of others? I have never noticed such bad manners before. Please tell people to cut it out!

PLEASE DON'T ASK

DEAR PLEASE: Rude, thoughtless and presumptuous people always have been with us, but no one is compelled to answer a question he doesn't want to answer. An appropriate response is, "I don't think it's any of your business." And don't hang around for a rebuttal.

Three Mishaps Are Reported

Minor damage resulted from three motor vehicle mishaps here yesterday.

The first one occurred in the 2500 block of College Avenue at 6:50 a.m. Thursday. Involved were the 1966 Model Chevrolet of Hurk Wilkerson, P.O. Box 972, and the 1972 Model Chevrolet of John William Bennett, P.O. Box 1272.

The next one occurred on the parking lot at Western Texas College at 6:31 p.m. Involved were the 1964 Model Chevrolet of Vernon Keith McCormack, P.O. Box 772, and the 1971 Model Ford of Richard Gene Hanks, P.O. Box 34, Ira.

Thirteen minutes later, the other one occurred on the parking lot at Burgess Pharmacy. Involved were the 1961 Model Chevrolet of Juan Alderete, 505 Thirty-fifth Street, and a 1966 Model Volkswagen driven by Donna Kay Cornett 2406 Fortieth Street.

Fires Put Out

City Firemen extinguished a grass fire at 707 Eighteenth Street at 1:55 p.m. yesterday. There was minor damage in a house fire at 2012 Twenty-sixth Street at 7:47 a.m. today.

WTC Faculty Sets Picnic

Members of the Western Texas College Faculty Association and their families will have their annual picnic Saturday in Towle Memorial Park. Games will start at 3:30 p.m. and will be followed by a fish fry at 6:30.

Candidates Speak

Candidates in the runoff on the school board election will resent the program at 7:30 p.m. at Central Elementary for the NAACP. The meeting is open to the public.

Inmate Walks Out

BELLEVUE, Wash. (AP) — A Monroe State Reformatory inmate told a Bellevue High School class how he got into prison, then took a casual walk to demonstrate how to get out.

Lt. John Baker of the reformatory staff said Carl Ingalsbe, 24, walked away from a reformatory librarian who had brought Ingalsbe and another inmate to address the class.

Ingalsbe was serving a sentence for second-degree assault.

Residents Hear Candidates For Senate, House

Seven candidates for seats in the Texas Legislature addressed a joint meeting of service and civic clubs at noon Thursday in the Scurry County Coliseum. All three candidates for State Senator for the 30th District and all four candidates for State Representative to the 63rd District were on hand for the event, which was arranged by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. District Judge Wayland G. Holt presided.

Charles Finnell of Holliday, Democratic candidate for the state senate, led off. He cited his record as a conservative during eight years of service in the Texas House of Representatives and pledged that he would continue that type of representation in the senate. He declared himself for the "pay-as-you-go" plan on state spending; against a state income tax; for right to work laws; for the present highway funding plan and for a state ceiling on welfare.

Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls, also a Democratic Party candidate for State Senate said he was for "educational relevance" and also declared that "it is time for political relevance." Farabee said he favored keeping government in the hands of local agencies as much as possible. He said changes must be made in financing public education and that he felt legislators themselves should set examples in conservation of finances and resources. Farabee said he did not believe that government could, or should solve all problems. He outlined his six-point plan of representation that had been announced earlier in the day.

Mary Kirchhoff of Plainview, Republican candidate for state senator, said she was well acquainted with the area embraced by the 30th senatorial district and that she knew people of this area "must work harder." If land use planning comes, it should be locally controlled, Mrs. Kirchhoff declared. She said she was especially interested in seeing that private property rights are protected and that the West Texas region should preserve its individuality, but at the same time must present a unified front to stand up for its rights.

Mary Thomas of Big Spring, Democratic candidate for state representative, said that she would be available and would always try to keep in close contact with the people.

She noted that rural districts are being "swallowed up" by the metropolitan centers, with Houston itself now having 18 legislative districts while the 63rd district is spread over six counties.

John R Anderson of Gail, Republican candidate for state representative, said the time has come to put a stop to the state government knuckling under to the federal government. Anderson said that from its earliest days, this country thrived because of lack of government rather than big government. He said he had personal concern for the factors that this area depends upon—agriculture, oil and business.

Glenn Toombs of Fluvanna, Democratic candidate for state representative, said he knew the problems of the area because "I have the same problems that you do."

"If you live in this area you'll get to be a conservative," Toombs declared.

Toombs, who currently serves as County Judge of Borden County, said he is "strong for law enforcement."

Mike Ezzell of Snyder, Democratic candidate for state representative, said the state faces important decisions in the field of education. He said waste should be eliminated and that each proposed expenditure should be questioned at budget-making time at Austin.

Ezzell, who said he opposed a state income tax, said he felt strongly that the people should be informed and that he would keep lines of communication open to his constituents.

SHS Students To Compete In Lubbock

Six Snyder High School students will compete tomorrow at the regional AAAA literary contest on the Texas Tech University campus in Lubbock.

Those students going will be Waynann Monroney, Roxanna Huddleston, Max Underwood, Robert Huddleston, Keith Rasberry, and Raleen Martin. Melanie Parsons will go as an alternate.

These students qualified for the regional meet by placing at the district contest held at Lubbock Christian College April 6.

Waynann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Monroney, won first place at district in ready writing. She won second in ready writing at district last year and qualified for the regional competition.

Mrs. Dorothy Rosson, junior English teacher, is Waynann's sponsor in the event.

Roxanna placed first in girls' poetry interpretation at LCC to qualify for the regional contest. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Huddleston.

Coaching Roxanna in the poetry event is Mr. Jerry Worsham, speech and drama teacher.

Entered in two regional journalism events is Max. He won first in both headline and feature contests on the district level. He also placed second in the news writing category and will serve as the alternate in that contest. Max is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Underwood.

Serving as Max's sponsor is Miss Empress McFarland, journalism teacher.

Winning second at district in the spelling contest was Robert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Huddleston.

Mrs. Margaret Watkins coaches the spelling event.

Also placing second at district and qualifying for regional was Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rasberry. Keith won first at both district and regional in this event last year.

Keith's UIL coach is Mr. Roy Burk, physics and chemistry teacher.

Winning third in the typing contest and qualifying for regional was Raleen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barber Martin. Another typing student, Melanie, placed fourth at district and will be going to regional as an alternate.

Mrs. Billie Hartsfield, typing teacher, serves as sponsor for these students.

Other students who participated in the district UIL literary meet were Keith Carmichael, Emmalie Sleeper, Amber Walker, Jeri Bavousett, Paula Parks, Deanna Myers, Felton Stephens, Kevin Jones, Greg Kane, Chuck Stephens, and William Phillips, speech; Pam Underwood, Dilla Teal and Denise Clark in typing; Ginger Burk and Paula Andress, shorthand; William Sullenger, ready writing; Keith Rasberry, William Phillips, and Richard Cornett, science; Sue Jane Sullivan and Janis Dolliver, spelling.

Additional teachers who served as sponsors were Mrs. Rita Carter and Mrs. Patsy Williams.

At the district meet, Snyder students garnered 96 points to finish in fourth place.

Singer Sentenced On Vice Charges

LONDON (AP) — Janie Jones, a coal miner's daughter who ran away from home and became a cabaret singer, has been sentenced to seven years in jail for running a brothel.

Witnesses had testified at Miss Jones' vice trial that she organized whipping sessions and other unnatural love-making for the rich and titled at her $100,000 home.

Miss Jones, 37, was sentenced on vice charges Thursday by Judge Alan King-Hamilton after a jury found her innocent of other charges of blackmailing two of her clients.

Corbin, Stirl Pledge Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Brenda Joyce Corbin and Ralph Eugene Stirl were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. on March 23 in the Calvary Baptist Church of Clovis, N.M. The Rev. James Sain officiated at the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Corbin of Clovis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Stirl of Loraine.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long white gown with a v-neckline and puffed sleeves. The gown had a semi-full skirt from the empire bodice.

Cathy Brentley of Pecos served as Matron of honor. Attendants were Nancy Corbin of Clovis, sister of the bride and Terri Fahnert of Clovis. They wore long yellow gowns of yellow satin with light yellow dotted Swiss. They carried bouquets of five yellow and white carnations.

Raymond Schwarz of Loraine, uncle of the groom, served as Best man. Groomsmen were Dennis Douglas of Dumas, brother-in-law of the groom and Jimmy McMillan of Hermleigh. Ushers were Ricky Schwarz of Abilene, cousin of the groom and Jack Landon of Clovis.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The couple will reside north of Roscoe.

The groom is a graduate of Hermleigh High School and attended Angelo State University for two years. The bride graduated from Pecos High and attended ASU for two years.

A rehearsal dinner was held Saturday night at La Villa Steak House in Clovis.

Jazz Museum Given Grant

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jazz Museum has been awarded a grant of $140,000 by the Ford Foundation. It is $50,000 for 1973, $50,000 for 1974 which must be matched by a like amount of donations and $40,000 for 1975 which must be matched by a double amount in donations.

The funds are to be used for operating expenses.

Calvert Sunday Concerts at the museum started last June. By May 1974 there will have been 40 free programs in many styles of jazz. The Jazz Touring Program has been to schools and community groups throughout the East.

Backpackers Are Putting Cash Behind Convictions

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Well before the energy shortage reached a critical level, millions of Americans were rediscovering the physical and esthetic pleasures of walking.

Government figures suggest there are more than 50 million recreational walkers who qualify for the category by walking for pleasure at least one-half hour a day.

Of these, there are probably six million who carry all their immediate physical needs on their back and who sleep out overnight.

Putting their cash behind their convictions, these backpackers now spend something like $400 million on equipment and clothing, judging from statistics gathered by securities analysts and Backpacker magazine.

The magazine is further indication of the commitment to walking. Begun a little more than a year ago by a backpacker, William Kemsley, the quarterly worked itself into the black before its first anniversary and now has 60,000 subscribers.

Indicating that financiers feel the backpacking phenomenon is here to stay, some of the biggest names in American industry have been buying up many of the small, independent and highly successful equipment producers.

General Mills now owns the Eddie Bauer Expedition Outfitter of Seattle, one of the best known names in the business, with sales of $20 million a year.

The Olin Corp. owns three subsidiaries which make equipment: Comfy, a manufacturer of sleeping bags; Trail Blazer, a tentmaker; and Seattle Quilt, which produces sleeping bags and apparel.

Still, some of the independents are thriving. L.L. Bean, the famous old Maine hunting-camping supplier, claims sales rise 25 per cent a year.

Kemsley feels that the rise in numbers of backpackers will be only moderate over the next five years, perhaps about 20 per cent. But sales might soar.

He believes makers of dress clothes are beginning to pick up some ideas from the hikers and he forecasts that the backpacker look in shirts and jackets will become obvious very soon, as it already is on some campuses.

Why the interest?

Kemsley cites several reasons, the first of which is that people have more time and money. Old-time backpackers outfitted themselves at military surplus stores. Teen-agers today might spend more than $1,000.

The inspiration for backpackers seems to be the same as that which is driving people back to substance instead of appearance, to the natural and simple life. And the controversy over ecology has, of course, heightened interest.

And not to be overlooked is the sheer comfort of backpacking today. You can stay warm and dry. Your gear is lightweight. And your food is lightweight too, and in the opinion, of some backpackers, really is excellent.

Hiss Says Time To Go Forward

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP) — Alger Hiss, who was involved in a government scandal in the 1950s, says despite scandals surrounding high political office, "this is the moment to go forward with new ways and a new politics."

Hiss said Thursday he is optimistic about the future of American politics. He spoke at Kenyon College on the McCarthy era during which he was convicted, saying mass education has prevented "the type of political hysteria which pervaded people at that time.

Hiss is a former State Department employe convicted on two counts of perjury in 1950 after being accused of passing secret documents to the Communists. He served four years in federal prison and now lives in New York City.

Adoption Changes Single Girl

DALLAS (AP) — A year ago Peggy Varner had a neat, well-ordered house with everything in its place and a nursery complete with baby furniture but no baby.

Now her living room has a lived-in look, a high chair in the adjoining dinette, baby bib over its back and blocks and toys pushed under the chair.

"I have seen happy families. But one as happy as this? Never," says Mrs. Varner, a Dallas laboratory technician.

In March 1973, a story appeared in the Dallas Times Herald titled, "I want a baby."

It told of a deep yearning of the young professional woman in her late 20s for a child. She was single, had no intention of marrying, but wanted to adopt a baby.

She tried everywhere, but no one would accept her application although she had bought a house, set up a room for a baby and made arrangements for baby sitting.

The story prompted people to offer Peggy help. "Most of all, people began to take me seriously. One of my dearest friends to whom I had daily expressed my desire for a child read the story and said, 'Peggy, I believe you are really serious about this.'"

It took awhile, but the day came when Peggy received a call that she could pick up her baby boy the next day.

"I don't remember much after that. I think I took the afternoon off and bought diapers and things," she said.

The baby she named Jason Wade "was the most beautiful child—no red wrinkled face. I remember he just relaxed in my arms and fell asleep," she said.

The Vernon Daily Record, hometown paper of Peggy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jones, said: "Parents aren't generally too happy when an unmarried daughter provides them with a new grandchild ... but this isn't the case with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jones."

Peggy had made it clear a year ago that she had no desire to marry, only to become a mother.

"But when Jason arrived and filled that ache in me, it was as if I suddenly were free to develop in other areas."

Now she is married to Jim Varner—after a unique wedding ceremony. The couple not only exchanged vows with each other but made it a family unification ceremony. Jason got a ring, too.

Nixon Welcomes Mrs. Kissinger

Junior Editors Quiz on ANACONDAS

QUESTION: What is an anaconda?

ANSWER: An anaconda is a large snake of the boa family found in tropical America. It is the largest of living snakes, sometimes reaching a length of 37 feet and has a wide girth. It usually weighs over 250 pounds.

Anacondas have a dark olive green skin with many rings or spots. They live in or near the water. They are often found swimming in South American rivers. The young are born alive instead of emerging from eggs.

The anaconda snake defends itself by biting. It can inflict severe wounds with its teeth, but the wounds quickly heal because they are not poisonous. It kills its prey by constriction. It feeds on birds, small mammals and fish which it squeezes to death before swallowing. It wraps its coils around its prey and suffocates it. It lies in wait for its prey in the water or on the sand and may eat more than 100 pounds at a meal, but does not eat frequently. In captivity in zoos, some of these snakes must be fed by force.

Henry Aaron Breaks Drought

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Hank Aaron finally hit one...a single, that is.

"It's about time," the Atlanta superstar said Thursday night after getting his first non-home run hit of the baseball season.

Ralph Garr, meanwhile, was smacking everything in sight, getting three straight hits, driving in two runs and scoring twice to lead the Braves to a 7-2 victory over the San Diego Padres.

In Thursday's other National League games, St. Louis beat Philadelphia 6-2, Montreal downed the New York Mets 8-5, San Francisco defeated Houston 5-2 and the Chicago Cubs edged Pittsburgh 1-0. In the American League, the New York Yankees whipped Boston 6-1, Minnesota clipped California 3-2 and Baltimore's game at Detroit was rained out.

Braves 7, Padres 2

Aaron's only three hits going into Thursday night's games were, as if you hadn't heard, home runs, the 714th, 715th and 716th of his career. But in 21 other official at-bats, he hadn't managed so much as a single. Then, last Monday night, he hurt his shoulder making a throw. He'd been sidelined since then.

Against the Padres, he walked, struck out twice, then grounded a single up the middle, putting his average at .167.

"The shoulder hurts and I can't swing the bat," Aaron said. "It feels terrible and it keeps me from swinging freely."

Garr had gotten hits in his last four at-bats Wednesday night in a 6-1 loss to the Padres, then kept the streak going in his first three Thursday night.

He was so intent on making it eight in a row that he strode to the plate in the eighth inning without a batting helmet.

"I was just thinking about hitting the ball," he admitted sheepishly. "The umpire told me I'd forgotten the helmet, the fans told me...everybody was telling me." After he put it on, he grounded out.

It's been quite a turnaround for Garr, who went 0-for-16 at the start of the season but has hit at a 21-for-38 clip since then to put his average at .382.

Cards 6, Phils 2

Pitcher Lynn McGlothen's two-run double helped the Cards snap the Phils's six-game winning streak. He and Ron Schueler pitched scoreless ball through four innings before St. Louis took the lead on McGlothen's hit.

Bake McBride's sacrifice fly in the sixth gave the Cards the winning run and they added two in the eighth on Ken Reitz' single.

Expos 8, Mets 5

"I was looking for a fastball all the way," said Jim Cox—and that's exactly what Ray Sadecki served him.

Milwaukee Slips Past Bulls By 2

CHICAGO (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was near perfection Thursday night but his Milwaukee Buck teammates "made a lot of dumb mistakes" and instead of an easy victory over the Chicago Bulls they had to settle for a 113-111 decision.

Nevertheless, the Bucks took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven semifinal series. Game No. 3 will be played in Milwaukee Saturday afternoon with the fourth game scheduled for Chicago Monday night.

"I thought we were going to win it in the fourth quarter," said a dejected Dick Motta, coach of the Chicago Bulls.

Larry Costello, coach of the Bucks, tried to explain how his team, leading 77-57 well into the third quarter, came within an eyelash of defeat.

"We made a lot of dumb mistakes down the stretch," said Costello.

In an American Basketball Association game, the Indiana Pacers scored a 118-107 victory over the Utah Stars.

In NBA action tonight, the Boston Celtics host the New York Knicks.

The Bulls, playing without injured Jerry Sloan again, made a battle of it in the first quarter. At one point they led by four but fell behind 30-29 at the end of the period.

Jabbar scored 12 points in the first quarter and pumped in 15 more in the second as the Bucks rolled to a 62-51 edge.

The Bulls came back on the shooting of Norm Van Lier and Howard Porter and it was 91-77 going into the final period as Jabbar's total soared to 42 points.

Moffett Field Ceremony Set

Weather permitting, the Snyder High School varsity Tigers were to host Lubbock Monterey in a District 4-AAAA doubleheader beginning at 2:30 p.m. today in Towle Park.

In between games, there was to be an official dedication of the baseball diamond as Moffett Field. County Judge Preston Wilson and Horrace Bostick, high school principal, were to be in charge of the ceremony.

Coach Speedy Moffett listed probable starters for the first game, according to batting order, as follows: Randy Gressett rf, Kelly Ragland lf, Ralph Lewis 3b, Robert Braziel lb, Ernie Simons c, Robert Alderete ss, Sid Perry 2b, Doak Witherspoon p, and V.T. Roberson cf.

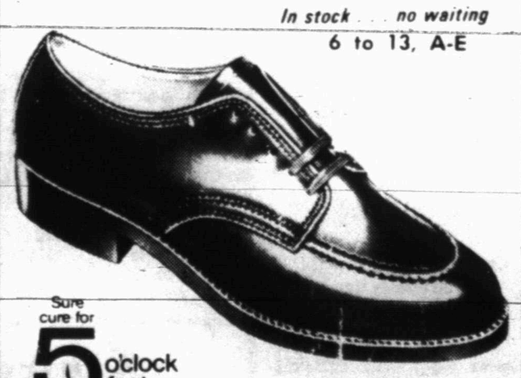

Snyder is 17-9 for the season and 6-6 in district play. Monterey has won 12 straight district games.

SANCAP.
BECAUSE YOU HAVE ENOUGH SOIL PROBLEMS ALREADY.

If the soil in West Texas was the same as the soil everywhere else maybe the herbicides they use would be good enough for you.
But you've got different soil. Sandy soil. And different problems.
You need an herbicide specifically made for sand, loamy sands and fine sandy loam soils.
You need Sancap®.
If you used it when we introduced it last season, you know what it can do.
STOP CARELESSWEED AND RUSSIAN THISTLE COLD.
Without hurting your cotton.
With just ordinary rainfall or irrigation.
And all you have to do is broadcast Sancap over your field at planting or within two days after.
No incorporation, either.
Sancap. The only herbicide made for sandy soil. We made it especially for your soil and problems.
And not anybody else's.

Texas Politics Picks Up Tempo

By The Associated Press

With two weeks of campaigning remaining before the May 4 primaries, Texas politics showed signs of picking up a little steam Friday.

All candidates for governor, Republicans and Democrats, were beating the war drums and increasing the tempo.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, fighting for his political life and a second term, made whirlwind tours of the Wichita Falls region. He dedicated a facility for the mentally retarded at Wichita Falls and then helped with the formal opening of Copper Breaks State Park, between Quanah and Crowell.

Frances Farenthold, Briscoe's female antagonist, told a Plainview audience she considers mainly three issues in her race for governor. She named property tax reform, public school financing and utility rates protection.

While accusing the governor of appointing 17 lobbyists to state boards and commissions, she said she would be a "free agent" if elected to the governor's seat.

Mrs. Farenthold issued a 17-man list and said all had registered as lobbyists during the 1973 Legislature. Each of them, she added, was appointed to state commissions by the governor. She said the list included five oil and gas lobbyists who were named to committees of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Briscoe, who less than 10 days ago said he would not involve the office of governor in the pari-mutuel betting referendum, said at a news conference in Abilene that as a private citizen he would vote against the wagering.

The governor declined comment when asked if he would sign a betting bill.

Mrs. Farenthold earlier voiced opposition to horse race gambling, commenting that it would bring a "bad element" into the state.

Odell McBrayer, the Republican hopeful from Fort Worth, was in Austin Thursday. He told his audience that "Watergate has been no problem to me in my campaign."

Asked at a press conference if he would like President Nixon to campaign for him, the GOP candidate said he thought it "too late" to arrange for the primary. How about Nixon's help in the General Election?

McBrayer answers "it would not necessarily hurt or help."

The Fort Worth lawyer added, "Texans don't seem to be interested in any race this year ... They seemed to be turned off."

The other Republican gubernatorial candidate, Jim Granberry of Lubbock, spoke in Abilene at a luncheon sponsored by Taylor County supporters.

The former Lubbock mayor said Briscoe should take a stand on an agency shop bill which would permit labor and management to negotiate contracts requiring all employes of a firm to pay an agency fees or dues.

Granberry said he was against such a measure and would veto one if it were passed by the legislature.

Bob Bullock, candidate for state comptroller, campaigned in Orange, Port Arthur and Galveston during the day.

Bullock said the 2 per cent fee levied by the comptroller's office for processing city sales tax collections back to the cities is "unwarranted, excessive and an obvious back door scheme to pay for a large part of the comptroller's operations."

He added that the fee now runs about $4 million a year. He promised to lower the fee to the actual cost of collection if he were elected.

Mahon Hits Eastern Oil Views

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Rep. George Mahon, D—Tex., attacked the viewpoints of some eastern lawmakers on the oil issue Thursday night and predicted the energy crisis will last up to 15 years.

Speaking at a dinner opening the 56th annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Lubbock congressman said the United States and the oil industry will not work out of energy problems for 10 to 15 years.

"The pleas from the oil and gas producing areas and their representatives cannot be very successful until the average American consumer from non-oil producing states has a better understanding of the energy problem and the oil industry," Mahon said.

He said the energy crisis is made worse by Eastern and Western states which compete with one another in trying to be the most critical of the oil and gas industry.

Mahon mentioned a statement last week by a Massachusetts congressman he did not name to illustrate some eastern views on oil. Mahon said the congressman stated the oil industry is so unpopular in his district that he wouldn't be willing to have his picture made in front of a gas pump.

Mahon said Congress must block "at all costs" a proposed windfall profits measure that he said includes the establishment of a federal oil and gas corporation and appears to be a first step toward nationalization of the oil and gas industry.

The congressman named nuclear power, geothermal energy and coal gasification and liquification are the best future sources of energy. He said nuclear power could furnish 43 per cent of electricity needs by 1990, geothermal energy could produce energy equivalent to one million barrels of oil per day by 1985 and coal gasification and liquification could be developed within five years.

He listed solar energy, tidal energy and nuclear fusion as future energy sources that are not understood enough at this time to make a projection as to their usefulness.

Drilling Activity Increases

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil and gas well completions in Texas in this year of the alleged energy crisis are running well ahead of 1973's pace, the Texas Railroad Commission reported Thursday.

The oil and gas regulatory agency said 1,395 oil wells have been drilled since Jan. 1, compared with 1,191 for the same period of 1973.

Gas well completions total 799, up from 678 last year at this time.

Nine oil and 28 gas discoveries were reported in the April 1-15 period, bringing the year's totals to 79 oil and 102 gas finds. Comparable figures a year ago were 56 oil and 109 gas discoveries.

Four new oil fields were located in the Corpus Christi district, three in the Abilene district and one each in the San Antonio No. 1 and San Angelo districts.

Eight gas discoveries were in the Corpus Christi district, six in the San Antonio No. 2, five in San Antonio No. 1, four in the Houston district and one each in the Kilgore No. 5, Kilgore No. 6, San Angelo, Lubbock and Pampa districts.

The year's totals for well completions were boosted during the April 1-15 period by the drilling of 208 new oil wells and 120 gas wells.

A total of 538 wells were plugged during the period, including 139 dry holes.

has known,
We recall this globe is old, old,
old and much of its earth is from human bone.
Men have erected their cultures
and some were high indeed;
Other cultures fell away consumed by wars and greed.
So where is the old world turning in this time that we're alive—
Shall we learn to live with its peoples in peace or go down for another dive?

Rosson Is Honored By Kent Teachers

JAYTON—Jayton-Girard school teachers honored State Representative Renal Rosson at the annual Kent County TSTA banquet Monday. Each year the Kent County teachers honor a person out of the county and one in the county.

Superintendent R.N. Pierce presented a plaque of appreciation for the representative's "outstanding services rendered to the Jayton-Girard I.S.D." Rosson, who is not seeking re-election, has been a friend of education during his 16-year tenure in the Texas House of Representatives. He represented Kent County 14 years. As a member of the Constitutional Convention, Rosson was responsible for securing a constitutional provision protecting the budget balanced school districts in Texas.

TSTA staff member Bob Kock, who addressed the meeting, praised Rosson's diligent work in the legislature.

Joe Thompson was also honored for his service to Jayton Public Schools. Human Relations chairperson Sherry Kay Hall presented him a plaque.

Special guests at the banquet were members of the Jayton-Girard I.S.D. School Board and their wives.

Local unit president Guy Arney presided over the meeting.

Talk Begins On Second Nuclear Plant

AUSTIN (AP) — Before ground has ever been broken for the Bay City nuclear power plant, public utilities in Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Houston are talking about a second one.

The Austin City Council will be asked by city electric utilities director R.L. Hancock next week for permission to join in the planning of the second nuclear plant.

San Antonio, Austin, Houston Lighting & Power and Central Power & Light of Corpus Christi are planning the first plant and are involved also in the second one, Hancock said.

He said there is an obvious need for another plant to meet the post-1985 demand for electricity.

City voters approved $161 million in bonds last November for Austin's 16 per cent share in the plant to be built near Bay City.

The San Antonio City Public Service Board said it will consider a proposal Monday that it be project manager for the second plant.

Calvary Baptist

The youth of the church will go to Lubbock this evening to attend the monthly youth fellowship. The bus will leave the church at 5:30 p.m. "A Voice From Calvary," the weekly radio broadcast, will be heard over KSNY at 9:02 a.m. Saturday. Rev. Glenn Border, pastor of the cuurch will be the speaker. Visitation for the bus ministry will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Sunday services begin at 9:45 a.m. with the Sunday School; morning worship follows at 10:50 training service and adult prayer groups will meet at 6:15 p.m. and evening services will follow at 7. The pastor will bring both messages of the day.

Teachers will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday for lesson preparation. Mid-week prayer service follows at 7:30 p.m.

If you need a ride to the services at Calvary or would like for your children to attend, call 573-2191. Visitors are always welcome and a nursery is provided for the babies.

Laun Flown To Panama

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Alfred Laun III, the American official wounded during a kidnaping by leftist guerrillas last week, will return to the United States soon, U.S. embassy officials said.

Laun, 36, of Kiel, Wis., was flown to Panama Wednesday night for further medical treatment. He had undergone surgery here for a bullet wound suffered in the kidnaping and was said to be in stable condition.

Laun, the chief of the U.S. Information Service branch in Cordoba, was shot while resisting the abductors at his home last Friday and released 15 hours later.

A TRIBUTE TO DAVID MOORE

Wednesday afternoon, April 3, at 4:30 p.m. our good friend, loved one and Brother in Christ said, "Good -night Here, and Good-morning up There."

David, as he was known to most of us, bore a living testimony, it was, "I have no fear of death, I am ready to meet the Lord."

He was a Christian in the truest sense of the word.

He believed positively in the Triune God; the Father, Son and the Holy Spirit. He was a doer of the word of God, and not just a hearer. He always heeded the call to walk an extra mile for the Lord and his fellowmen.

To know him in church on Sunday was to know him through-out the week.

He was a man of conviction concerning His God and his country.

David's public prayer would lift the listeners Heavenward.

He was a faithful member of The Bethel Baptist Church.

The membership will miss his faithfulness, friendliness and his in-filled Christian conception of serving in his day.

He was a man of soul, and was dedicated to the soil and better yearly production.

The Bible teaches that He is in a better place.

Read John 14:1-4.

Courage Award Goes To Gargan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Actor William Gargan, who lost his larynx to cancer, is the recipient of the American Cancer Society's courage award.

Gargan was presented the award Thursday by First Lady Pat Nixon. The 68-year-old actor, who had a life-saving operation 14 years ago, learned to speak without a larynx through a breath control method. He has become a volunteer leader in raising money for cancer research.
