Hungarians, Soviets Clash In Major Riot

Hungarian Revolt Was Biggest News Of 1956

NEW YORK (UP)— Revolt in Hungary was the biggest news story of 1956. And 1956 was the biggest news year since the outbreak of the Korean War.

That is the opinion of editors of United Press client newspapers who cast ballots in a country-wide poll.

The editors made their selections from a list of 56 big events nominated in his weekly letter to client editors by Earl J. Johnson, UP vice president and general news manager.

The Suez crisis was voted the number two story of the year and the re-election of President Eisenhower was number three.

"When we began writing down entries for the ballot we realized what an uncommonly big news year 1956 had been," Johnson said. "Dozens of stories on the list which would have qualified for the first ten in other years got only a handful of votes. An example is what happened Aug. 7 in Cali, Colombia. A fleet of trucks laden with dynamite blew up in the middle of the city, killing 1,200 persons. But so many other 'world-shakers' happened before and after Cali that we forgot the incident ourselves until it turned up in our chronology of events."

Johnson pointed out the wide range of subject matter of the stories. In a year of wars, revolutions and disasters a romance—Grace Kelly and Prince Ranier—was voted into the "big ten."

Another interesting selection was Don Larsen's perfect World Series game, a feat that worked against the Olympic Games, which in an ordinary year would have been almost an automatic choice.

A point-rating system was devised to show the relative popularity of the various choices. Under this system the standing of the first ten was as follows:

1. Revolt in Hungary 1,931; 2. Suez crisis 1,581; 3. Re-election of President Eisenhower 1,449; 4. Sinking of the Andrea Doria 1,219; 5. Collision of two airliners over the Grand Canyon 911; 6. Death of six Marines in a night disciplinary march and the sentencing of Sergeant McKeon 656; 7. Violence in the South over school integration 581; 8. Wedding of Prince Ranier and Grace Kelly 482; 9. Don Larsen's perfect World Series game 394; 10. Soviet downgrading of Josef Stalin 349.

The next three runners-up were: The kidnaping of Peter Weinberger; the blinding of Victor Riesel and the rioting in Poland.

Editors of United Press client newspapers abroad now are being polled on their choices of the ten biggest stories. Early returns indicate the lists for Europe, South America and Asia will vary considerably from the selections made by American editors.

Communist Budapest Radio Admits New Anti-Red Battle

By CHARLES W. RIDLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

VIENNA —UP— Communist-controlled Budapest radio today reported new anti-Soviet riots and a major armed clash between Hungarian patriots and Soviet troops in eastern Hungary.

A broadcast said the battle took place Thursday at Miskolc, capital of Borsod Province. It erupted when Red Army troops moved in to break up anti-Soviet demonstrations. Casualties were not reported.

It was a rare admission by the Janos Kadar puppet regime of bitter fighting in the provinces.

A later broadcast said anti-Soviet riots flared Monday and Tuesday in the city of Eger, between Miskolc and Budapest. "Counter-revolutionary elements" — Red terminology for the partisans — attacked the provincial government building and caused serious damage with hand grenades, it said.

The Eger rioters distributed anti Soviet and anti-Communist leaflets the broadcast said.

Radio Budapest listed a number of persons arrested in various parts of Hungary for distributing anti-Communist leaflets.

Hungarian refugees in Yugoslavia said strong Soviet armored reinforcements drove into the Pecs and Szgetvar regions in southern Hungary early this week to push strong insurgent forces into hideouts in the Mecsek mountains. The reports came from 70 Hungarian youths who fled across the frontier Monday.

In its version of the Miskolc clash, Budapest said "counter-revolutionary elements led by Geza Barany opened fire on Soviet troop units when they tried to stop anti-Soviet demonstrations."

The freedom-fighters derailed street cars and distributed anti-Soviet leaflets "forcing Soviet troops to interfere and restore order," the radio said.

The province of Borsod, which borders Czechoslovakia, has been a stronghold of freedom fighters since the anti-Soviet uprising flared Oct. 23. Reports reaching the West two weeks ago said Borsod province had declared itself "independent" of the Kadar puppet regime. It is one of the main mining and industrial areas of Hungary.

Miskolc is a city of some 100,000. It was one of the first cities taken by the Soviets in the armed onslaught of Nov. 4.

According to Radio Budapest, the "counter-revolutionaries opened fire on the Red army forces, which had to be answered by the Soviet troops."

The broadcast said a theater was "set in flames and destroyed."

Radio Budapest did not disclose the number of casualties in the battle. Neither did it make clear whether fighting continued.

Geza Barany, identified as the leader of the partisan band, is unknown to Western observers in Vienna. Radio Budapest referred to him as an "ordinary criminal."

The few travelers crossing the tightened border into Austria brought reports of pitched battles in key mining areas and in a village along the main Vienna-Budapest highway.

U.S. Offers Dual-Purpose Weapons To NATO Allies

By ARTHUR HIGBEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—The United States offered today to share with its Nato allies dual-purpose weapons which could fire either atomic warheads or conventional missiles.

Although it was the first step in opening the U.S. atomic arsenal to member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, for the moment they were promised no strictly atomic arms.

An American spokesman said U.S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson promised the other 14 nations in the alliance the modern weapons and technical data to help develop their own "dual capacity" arsenals.

The promise did not commit President Eisenhower's administration to seek a change in the U.S. atomic security law which forbids sharing of atomic weapons or secrets because the United States will deliver no "atomic elements" to its allies, the spokesman said.

Wilson told his NATO colleagues the United States was prepared to make available promptly certain modern weapons and equipment along with technical data necessary for their maintenance and operation.

U.S. troops in West Germany already are equipped with such "dual capacity" weapons, including two squadrons of Matador guided missiles, "Honest John" rockets and 36 "Atomic Annie" cannon.

Soon after today's meeting got underway, the NATO delegates named Belgian Socialist Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak as new NATO secretary general, succeeding Britain's Lord Sir Hastings Ismay. A NATO spokesman said Spaak will take over his new post next April.

The United States agreed with its 14 NATO allies Thursday that only with more atomic tactical weapons can the Atlantic power stand up to the Soviet menace without bankrupting the taxpayers.

Lions Club Has Ladies Night Dinner

Approximately 200 persons attended the annual Ladies Night Christmas Dinner of the Pampa Lions Club last night in the dining room of the First Methodist Church.

Calvin Whatley, boss Lion, was the master of ceremonies for the dinner and program which had been arranged by a committee headed by E. O. "Red" Wedgeworth.

Whatley introduced Dr. P. D. "Dick" O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring, who was the speaker for the program.

Dr. O'Brien accomplished what one of his stories said about shirts at the laundry, "They came back with sides split," and it appeared that several persons in the crowd split their sides in the laughter that followed some of his stories and jokes.

Following the humorous part of his talk, Dr. O'Brien discussed the importance of Christmas. He reported that he had recently returned from a "grass roots trip" in which he had talked to people in over two-thirds of the countries of the world and that all of these people knew of Christmas. He stated that very few knew of other holidays, including Easter, but it seem

Sentence Killer Of Child To Die

MINEOLA, N. Y., (UP)— Angelo John Lamarca, convicted kidnap-murderer of month-old Peter Weinberger, was sentenced today to die in Sing Sing prison's electric chair sometime during the week of Jan. 28, 1957.

The date of the mandatory execution was set by Nassau County Judge Mario Pittoni in a court session that lasted less than four minutes. An appeal, also mandatory, probably will defer the electrocution until a later date.

The 31-year-old Plainview, N.Y., mechanic who said he snatched the Weinberger baby July 4 for ransom to pay pressing debts stood like an automaton before Pittoni to hear the execution date. He kept his head lowered and showed absolutely no emotion.

Northern Democrats Stymied In Party Plans For Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)— Northern liberal Democrats found themselve stymied today in their drive to win an enlarged voice in planning the party program in Congress.

The Democratic leadership of the Senate appeared to be lining up with that of the House in declining membership on a national advisory committee set up by the Democratic national committee to advance "democratic programs and principles."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson joined Speaker Sam Rayburn and other party leaders in House Thursday in declining appointment to the proposed 20-member group.

A similar move was expected today from Sen. George A. Smathers (Fla.), chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee.

Democratic headquarters has not yet received replies from Sen. Mike Mansfield (Mont.), who is in line for the job of party whip, and Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass.). Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.) and Estes Kefauver (Tenn.) have agreed to serve.

The national committee's executive committee had proposed creation of the advisory group in an apparent attempt to give northern Democrats greater influence in framing the legislative program in the Democratic-led Congress next year.

Rayburn wrote Chairman Paul M. Butler of the national committee last weekend, however, that it would be a mistake for the congressional leadership to agree to work with "an outside committee." He said three other house democratic leaders appointed by Butler agreed with him.

Johnson's letter Thursday said he had consulted most of the members of the Senate democratic policy committee and that they recommended that he decline the appointment.

Hotel Office Is Moved

With the closing of the campaign in which over $830,000 in stock in a community - owned hotel for Pampa was sold the campaign office at 112 S. Cuyler has been closed.

The furniture used in the office was returned this morning to the various firms from which it had been borrowed or rented and the office is empty.

At a meeting this morning in the Hughes building leaders of the hotel building project decided to open an office to handle hotel business in the north office of the Chamber of Commerce offices in City Hall.

The new hotel office will handle all business matters connected with the plans being made for the beginning of construction work on the modern hotel for Pampa.

It has been announced that the new office for the hotel company will handle the receipt of all payments on stock purchases when it is opened.

Israelis To Delay Sinai Withdrawal

BY DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (UP)—Official Israeli sources said today in Jerusalem Israel would not withdraw further from the Sinai Peninsula until it received United Nations guarantees Egypt would not reoccupy the area.

The unprecedented Israel official comment came as British and French troops virtually completed their withdrawal from Port Said. The United Nations Emergency Force (UNEF) moved into a buffer zone to prevent new anti-Allied outbreaks in the tense city.

Israeli officials said they would make it clear to Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, head of the UNEF, that Israel had agreed to withdraw from the Sinai only in favor of the U.N. forces and not Egyptians.

May Press Condition

The sources said continued withdrawal may be hinged on this condition, which they said was not being carried out. The officials said Egyptian troops had been advancing with a Yugoslav motorized regiment, repairing the roads and clearing minefields.

The Israeli statement followed a mass meeting Thursday night of the Nationalist Herut Labor Federation which demanded retention of the Gaza Strip and a halt to the Sinai withdrawal.

The semi-official Jerusalem Post which usually mirrors government thinking said the Israel agreement with the United Nations on withdrawal does not provide for the return of the Egyptians and that such action will introduce a "new factor."

Workers Cut Four Bodies From Cement

MIAMI BEACH (UP)— Workers using air hammers cut the last of four bodies out of concrete late Thursday night, many hours after a 32-ton concrete-mixer truck flipped over and pinned them into an excavation.

Three of the screaming men died quickly, but the fourth, Alfred Barnes, 40, stayed alive for three hours and 25 minutes. All four were Negroes.

The truck driver, Ernest B. Greer, 47, escaped without injury but was shaken by the experience.

"I heard the men screaming when the truck went over," he said.

The lower two-thirds of Barnes' body was pinned beneath the truck. While two hospital internes administered blood plasma, oxygen and pain-killing injections, Barnes sang snatches of hymns. He apparently believed to the last that he would be rescued.

But as the physicians worked over him, the concrete spilled from the truck hardened around his legs.

It took four huge cranes and some 75 workmen nearly five hours to lift the big truck out of the nine-foot deep storm sewer excavation.

Jury Commission Is Sworn In

The jury commission was sworn in this morning by county judge Bruce Parker before going into a closed session to pick jurors for the four jury terms of the coming year.

The juries will be selected jurors in packages of 24 from a poll tax list, a list from the past years jury, and one of the jurors for the 31st District court, since a juror may not serve on both county and district juries at the same time.

Appeal To UN On Egyptian Misconduct

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)— France, Britain and Israel applied pressure in the United Nations today to stop the Cairo government from alleged mistreatment and expulsion of their nationals.

The French delegation indicated it would ask the General Assembly to take up the question as a "matter of priority" today.

The General Assembly also had on its agenda a discussion of Soviet charges that the United States was engaged in "subversion" in Eastern Eruope and a Latin-American proposal to increase the Security Council from 11 to 13 members.

The French delegation had a resolution prepared asking the assembly to call on Egypt to return property to French nationals and asking Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to induce Egypt to "respect the rights of French nationals residing in its territory."

A French spokesman said Egypt had ordered 8,000 French nationals to leave the country by Dec. 18.

The Israeli delegation, in a letter to Prince Wan Waithayakon, president of the General Assembly, said Jews in Egypt are living in an atmosphere of terror, deprived of their liberties, dispossessed of property and prohibited from working.

Missing Lights Are Mystery At Hospital

Some people have a lot of trouble fixing the Christmas decorations but the folks at Highland General Hospital had more than their share of troubles yesterday.

It seems that plans were made to place a Christmas tree in the waiting room on each floor of the hospital and the necessary decorations were secured.

The strings of lights had all been checked and there were two strings for each of the trees. But when it came time for the employees to decorate the trees there was only one string of lights for the trees on two of the floors and not a bulb could be found.

Before the decorations could be completed the hospital had to buy another 60 bulbs and the employees of the hospital are still wondering what heppened to the two strings of lights.

West Germany And Turkey Have Puf Allies On A Spot

By CHARLES M. MOCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

West Germany and Turkey have put their Allies on the spot in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization talks in Paris.

West Germany wants to know what NATO would do if a revolt broke out in East Germany and Russia threw its armed forces against the rebels as it did in Hungary.

Turkey wants NATO to build up its strength in the Eastern Mediterranean — including a fleet of atom bomber planes — in view of Russia's belligerent attitude in the Middle East.

West Germany and Turkey have good reasons to be concerned over the position of their countries at the moment.

Norway Unlikely War Theater

Alone among the 15 members of the Atlantic Alliance, West Germany and Turkey face the Russian Red army along their frontier. Norway has a narrow frontier facing Russia, but it is far above the Arctic Circle and is an unlikely war theater.

Both West Germany and Turkey are convinced that the threat of Russian aggression has been increased if anything, not diminished, by the surge of revolt in the Soviet satellite countries.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano told the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers Wednesday that Hungarian-style rebellion in Eastern Germany could bring Europe to the brink of World War III.

Turkey Alarmed

Turkey was quite naturally alarmed over the bellicose position Russia took after the British-French invasion of the Suez Canal Zone. It also is alarmed over the situation in Syria, on its southern border, where a pro-Russian faction dominates the government.

It happens, unfortunately, that the anxiety of West Germany and Turkey over the threat of Russian aggression comes at a time when the NATO alliance has been weakened.

The Paris talks are concerned in great part with an attempt to restore relations between the United States and Britain and France, strained by the Suez invasion.

Talk Of Arms Reduction

But the United States and Britain also are talking about reducing the strength of their forces in Germany after getting West Germany to enter NATO and to embark on a big rearmament program. France already has sent most of its NATO troops to Algeria.

And Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, in his speech at the NATO council Tuesday, talked about using "moral pressure" equally with military strength as a defense against Russian aggression. He also emphasized the "high ideals" of the United Nations.

But West Germany and Turkey seem to feel that while moral pressure and high ideals may be very nice, they would not be of much value in opposing Russia's Red army.

AEC Says Concentrate Has Doubled

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed that the U.S. production rate for uranium concentrate has more than doubled in the past year.

Uranium concentrate (uranium oxide) is the partially refined raw material of nuclear weapons and fuels. At the start of 1956 production was at the rate of 4,000 tons a year. This month the rate was more than 8,000.

The AEC also reported for the first time figures on U.S. uranium ore reserves. As of Nov. 1 total reserves were estimated at 60 million tons, one-fourth of one per cent of which consists of uranium oxide.

The newly declassified figures show that New Mexico is by far the richest state in uranium. Its ore reserves are 41 million tons, 68.4 per cent of the total. Utah is second with 7.5 million tons, and Colorado third with 4.1 million.

The AEC declassified information only on production since June 30, 1955. It kept production before that time secret — presumably to block efforts to reduce the U.S. stockpile.

'Little Things' Mean A Lot To Pampan

The little things the chamber of commerce in some towns do "stick with" a person longer than the gigantic promotions do, sometimes.

Mrs. Jessye Stroup, classified advertising manager for The News since 1936, got a souvenir from her home during her early married years, Bradford, Pa., and it took the chamber of commerce in that town to turn the trick.

Mrs. Stroup and her husband, Jim, now deceased, lived in Bradford in 1915-16. While on vacation last summer, she stopped in Bradford for a while on her way to New York.

While there, she saw a souvenir plate in a hotel which she thought she would like to have to remind her of the place where she lived in her early married years.

She had to leave, however, before having time to pick up the plate.

After returning to Pampa, she wrote back to the hotel and enclosed a check, asking that the plate be sent to her.

The hotel was unable to deliver the plate and returned her check. Mrs. Stroup then wrote to the Bradford Chamber of Commerce, included the check again, and asked if they could send the plate to her.

They wrote back in short order informing her that the plate would be mailed, that her check was being returned, and asked her to accept the plate as a gift.

Mrs. Stroup told E. O. Wedgeworth, local chamber of commerce manager about it, and he decided to send a "Top o' Texas" plate to the Bradford chamber as a token of appreciation for their thoughtful assistance to a Pampa woman.

that Christmas was universally celebrated.

He stated that Christmas was even celebrated by those in areas where the residents do not even recognize Christianity.

He explained that Christmas centers around a little baby and that he could think of nothing that is loved more than a baby. He went on to tell the story of Christ's birth and of the importance of it.

He concluded his talk by giving the ingredients for a "perfect Christmas." He stated that these ingredients could be found in the first chaper of Matthew. They were joy, worship, giving gifts and to go another way in life.

Dinner music was furnished by Mrs. Maxine Milliron at the electric organ. Preceding the talk by Dr. O'Brien, the Milliron Trio, composed of Marilyn Myatt, Barbara Lunsford and Nancy Stevenson sang several numbers.

Following the program, Wedgeworth presented the center pieces to the wives of Lions whose names were drawn out by O. K. Gaylor, club secretary.

principal speaker for the occasion and his address was highly enjoyed by the Kiwanians and their wives.

Bialock intricately entwined fresh, sparkling humor with his serious address on the subject, "You can't get something for nothing."

Bialock attacked the popular notion that the government "owes" us a living and urged the Kiwanians not to "go soft."

He pointed out that Texas and Pampa were growing steadily and if anyone was contemplating an investment, to "go ahead and do it, it can't fail unless you believe that Texas will 'go soft' in the next 15 or 20 years."

Jon Jones was master of ceremonies for the affair and group singing was led by Mack Hiatt. Bob Alliford gave the invocation. Jack Nichols introduced the guests and George Snell humorously presided over the presenting of awards to last year's officers.

Rev. William West introduced Bialock. Dinner music was played by Malcolm Brown.

Pampa News Women's Editor

IF YOU WANT TO WRAP YOURSELF UP in nostril-tingling glamour during the holidays, see that your furs and fragrance are perfectly mated. No ones knows this simple rule of perfume chemistry better than Max Factor, creator of fine fragrances. To prove his point on perfume chemistry, Factor cites any full-dress premier at Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood where the impact on nose and vision of sumptuously-furred, opulently-perfumed actresses is enough, he says, to makes a man's senses dance an Irish reel.

THE SENSUOUS appeal, says Max Factor, is due to that perfect affinity between beautiful furs and daring musk - rich fragrance, the "marriage" that adds another luxurious dimension to a fur wrap, stole, hat, muff, even to the chin-burying milk collar of a cloth coat.

Not to mate animal matter in perfume to the fur garments you wear may mean cancelling out your precious fragrance. This can easily happen, says the expert, when you wear a light, floral perfume with furs.

While he's on the subject of chemistry, Factor also flips the pages to perfume application.

If furs are dyed, don't apply perfume directly to them. You can't foretell, he warns, how dyed colors will react to perfume concentrates.

Don't spray perfume on light or white furs. It may yellow or stain them.

The only furs that won't change color or lose silky luster to direct application of perfume, over a period of time, are natural, dark-colored pelts. Even these should be discreetly scented — with fingertips or palms moistened and rubbed lightly over long guard hairs.

Since porous skins and hairs of furs are easily penetrated by perfume vapors, here are Factor's tips on impregnating furs to achieve more nostril-tingling glamor — secrets well-known to Hollywood's glamour gals.

If you're going to impregnate your furs with scent, plan to confine them in a chest, garment-bag, drawer or air-tight closet. Before their confinement, spray the walls of their to-be-closed quarters with your most daring and headiest perfume. Then march furs into their deliciously perfumed chambers.

An hour or so before you wear them, concentrate a few drops of perfume on the inside walls of their diggings and close it tightly again. This will add up, to perfect impregnation and to the most tantalizing aura a woman ever wrapped herself up in. Moreover, he contends, your furs will hold the essence they've taken in for hours, even for days, longer than they would if you gave them only a hit-or-miss spray with an atomizer or a daubing here and there with a bottle stopper.

TO MAKE the photo you have taken of your child a more attractive Christmas gift and to save you retouching costs, which can add considerably to the price of pictures, listen to expert tips from Max Factor.

Since the child's face is everything, see that clothes worn for a photograph focus interest on it. The simpler the style, the better. The lighter the color, the less they'll distrct from the face.

If the subject is a boy, have him wear a white shirt, open at the neck. The little girl's dress or pinafore should be as free as possible of ruffles and other distracting detaifs.

Hair? If you have to wet your son's hair to discipline it, be sure you let it dry and recomb it before the camera clicks. Otherwise, warns Factor, comb marks will show.

If your young daughter's hair props are bobbie pins, barrettes or rubber bands, dispense with any or all of these for the picture. Let her hair fall into a natural line, and, if necessary, stand over her with a hairbrush to keep it that way until the picture is taken.

If your child's coloring is so pale that there's danger of a washout under powerful portraiture lights, don't hesitate to use make-up aids to help define features, Factor urges. As any Hollywood mother knows, he says, a light touch with an eyebrow pencil and a slight swipe with a pale lipstick shade will help to make any wan little face more photogenic.

"What's more," says Factor, "when she's grown, little Susie, aged 7, will rise and call her mother blessed for having helped to convince her admirers that she was a very beautiful child!"

A soft and natural look in make-up for holiday parties is the prettiest one for teen-agers. This teener achieves it through use (left) of a brush to draw her lip line, followed by a fill-in with lipstick. Used skilfully, the brush can make a pretty lip line where one did not exist. After light application of liquid powder base (center) she highlights cheekbones with dab of petroleum jelly for a young, dewy look. And though she uses a full glamor treatment for the eyes (right), she applies eyeliner and eyebrow pencil with a light hand. And she uses just a touch of petroleum jelly as a base for her eye shadow since it helps it to spread easily.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Most families join in unanimous approval when their teen-age belle goes glamorous for holiday parties. Even parents who frown on make-up for every-day wear are proud when their school girl becomes a lovely young lady, beautifully groomed for a gay holiday evening.

But the effect of make-up can be happy or disastrous, depending on how it is applied. And it would be wise to perfect the art before the exciting round of seasonal festivities begins.

When you choose a powder base, be careful about light colors. It's better for your base to be a shade darker than your skin tone than for it to be too light. A rose tint will add sparkle for evening wear.

When you've applied the base from the neck up to the hairline, blot it with tissue so that you've created a soft look, not a mask.

Use rouge only if your complexion is sallow. A liquid or cream rouge, lightly applied to the cheeks, gives a natural glow. Then fluff on a light-textured powder with cotton and dust off the excess. If you prefer the dewy look, you can omit the powder altogether.

A thin film of petroleum jelly over the eyelids will emphasize your eyes subtly and act as a base for your shadow. Use the petroleum jelly, too, to silken your eyelashes and smooth your brows into line.

Eyeshadow, in a color that picks up the shade of your eyes, should be lightly applied and blended into the petroleum jelly base. Use mascara only if you need it. If your lashes are naturally dark, the petroleum jelly alone is enough.

Since cosmetics should have a softening effect, darken your eyebrows only if they are too light to show up at night. Use a sharp eyebrow pencil and follow the natural line with tiny, upward strokes.

Lipstick should be applied after your lips are outlined with a lipstick brush so that the line will be even and unsmudged. Blot away the excess, for if your lipstick is too bright, your mouth will detract attention from your eyes. Soft, rose tones are smartest for teeners whether blonde or brunette.

Learning to apply make-up properly is fun. And the result is a flattering, natural look that will do justice to the prettiest holiday party dresses.

New Beauty Series Aimed At Little Girl

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Giving a little girl a beauty gift for Christmas means that you're giving her a start in the right direction. The direction, that is, of the important habits of cleanliness and good grooming that will serve her a lifetime.

You may give her a single bottle of toilet water, a box of bubble bath or a pink bath mat. Or, you may give her a whole set from a series designed especially for little girls and ready in time for Christmas giving this year.

This new series offers pink soap bonbons, and handlotion as well. With each individual gift, there's a different gold-plated charm ready to be placed on a bracelet. The future beauty may collect a whole set of charms, if she likes, or use several of them on her present charm bracelet.

Give her a place to keep her own "toiletries" if she has no dressing table. Perhaps she'd like her possessions collected on a small plastic tray to be kept on your dressing-table or on a low shelf in the bathroom. Grouped all together, it will be simpler for her to use them at bath time and after.

In hard water, the soap combines with the mineral salts and forms a curd deposit. This curd may clog drain pipe lines. The high alkaline condition of the hard water may cause scale on the inside of water pipes.

For Want Of A Shoe

For want of a shoe, a pair of shoes, this little European boy had to make his way through heat and freezing cold with the kind of footwear you see on his left foot. The "New" shoes he is trying on are part of the used clothing and shoes shipped overseas each year by Catholic Relief Services-National Catholic Welfare Conference.

Again this year clothing will be accepted at any Catholic church in conjunction with the Bishops' Clothing Collection. Clothes are distributed to the needy regardless of race, color or creed.

Chapel For Children Day This Sunday

AUSTIN — Sunday will be Chapel for the Children Sunday throughout Texas. It will mark a fund-raising campaign to build a non-denominational chapel at the Austin State School for the 1900 mentally retarded children there. Bells and chimes in churches throughout the State will ring from 9:30 to 9:45 a.m. to mark Chapel for the Children Sunday.

Some of the children at the School have never been inside a church. They attend religious services in school rooms. Although many will spend their lives in an institution, almost without exception, each knows he hass a Heavenly Father.

Since chapel plans were announced by volunteer groups two Sundays ago, money has been coming into Austin in checks of small and large amounts. Largest check for $500 was presented by Governor Allan Shivers, who proclaimed today Chapel for the Children Sunday. Governor Shivers was presented the $500 as part of an appreciation gift by Dallas friends.

Cost of the chapel is estimated by architects at $76,000, furnished with pews, altar, organ, and chapel chimes. Since there are 1900 children in the school, a proportionate share per child is $40. Women of the Austin Council of Church Women, a co-sponsor of the project, have asked county church groups over the state, to help by raising $40 for each child from that county at the State School.

Other sponsors of the chapel are the Austin Jewish Community Council and the Volunteer Council for the School.

Contributions, tax deductible, may be mailed to Chapel for the Children, Austin State School, City National Bank, Austin, Texas.

First Methodist Presents 'Messiah'

"The Messiah," an oratorio by George Frederick Handel will be presented by the First Methodist Church Sanctuary Singers Sunday, Dec. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Sanctuary of the church.

The service will be directed by Roy Johnson, Minister of Music with Mrs. Johnson, church organist at the console of the three manual Wicks Pipe Organ. The public is cordially invited to attend.

By MARY FOWLER

"As a nursery of human nature, the family is the source of the democratic way of life, an effective method of evangelism, the chief laboratory for peace and the beginning of the Kingdom of God," says Mrs. Jacob S. Quimbao, Filipina Methodist leader in the Christian home and family life movement, and a student at the Merrill Palmer School, Detroit, Mich.

The babyfold of Union Christian Center in Taejon, Korea, is caring for 29 abandoned babies (mostly girls) gathered up along roadsides by the Social Affairs Department of the provincial government. Many of the tiny babies have grown into healthy toddlers. When they are two or three years old, Mrs. Paul A. Kingsbury and others of the babyfold staff will try to have them adopted by Korean Christian families. the newest nurse in this babies' home is wife of the amputee supervisor of the Amputee Center, which is another service of this interdenominational, evangelistic, agricultural, rehabilitation, and vocational project started just before the communists invaded the area.

According to Mrs. Monica Owen, a national director of the "Migrant Ministry" sponsored by the National Churches Council "to provide migrant farm laborers (working in seasonal fruit and vegetable harvesting) health and welfare services and community acceptance," reports that Ministry now reaches some 2,000,000 workers and their church program features vocational classes for teenagers, expansion of Sunday school curriculum related to the experiences of migrant children, and on adult literacy classes. Another leader, Mrs. Theodore O. Wedel, of Washington, D. C., president of the United Church Women reports that most Christians "do a reasonably good job of loving those near us or like us — or people or Japan because we can be sen-who are far away in Africa timental about them, but in the migrant program we find a real place to work at true Christian love."

Weapon Shortage

When the Declaration of Independence was adopted in July of 1776, one-fourth of the Continental army was without weapons. Muskets were so scare, Benjamin Franklin advised the use of bows and arrows, while New York ordered militiamen without guns to arm themselves with shovels, pickaxes and scythes.

Christian Science Services

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings include the following from Isaiah (55:8-11): "For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater: So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent It."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (507:24-25): "Infinite Mind creates and governs all, from the mental molecule to infinity."

God's Dedication First Presbyterian Sunday Sermon

The Rev. Ronald E. Hubbard will have as his sermon subject this Sunday morning, "God's Dedication." The choir will sing the anthem "The Holy City" by Adams. The annual Sunday School Chrismas Program will be held Sunday afternoon at 5 p.m. As is the custom "White Gifts" for the Amarillo Children's Home will be brought at this time. There will be no regular Evening Worship Service this Sunday evening.

A Subway Scrooge

NEW YORK (UP)— Five subway workers serenaded rush hour crowds with Christmas carols Wednesday in a burst of underground seasonal spirit. Most scurrying riders in Grand Central Station liked it, but one commented: "What we need is good lights and clean trains — not this kind of baloney."

Actor Gets His Start As Brown Potato

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Bill Trotman started his acting career as a brown potato in a super production called "Your Garden Friends."

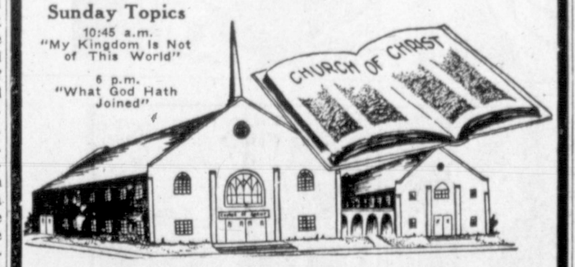

At the time our Bill was in grade one in Winston Salem, N.C. He was plump and round, like a spud should be at the time. But he recalls at this late date that he stood next to a skinny little kid called "Skinny" who played the part of a stalk of celery.

So what happens? Bill went a considerable distance in the theater. And now all of a sudden, he finds himself nalied down as a private in the Army. In Alaska, with a chance to play a lieutenant (J.G.) in the Navy in workhouse theater production of "Mr. Roberts". A service man with two hats, you might say.

Up there in Alaska, the show will go on.

In landing the part, 26-year-old Bill Trotman could hardly miss. His background is extensive, from brown potato to good bits on the stage at the University of North Carolina and up.

Come to Church

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

H. M. HUTCHINSON, Pastor
Bible Baptist Church
Pampa, Texas

AN OPEN LETTER TO GOD

Dear God:

I'm sorry you made Sunday where you did. You see it is like this—we could attend church much more regularly if your day came at some other time. You have chosen a day that comes at the end of a hard week, and we are all tired out. Not only that, but it is the day following Saturday night.

Saturday evening you know, is one time we feel we should enjoy ourselves, so we go to the movies or a party, and often it is after midnight when we reach home. It is almost impossible to get up on Sunday morning. You have chosen the very day we want to sleep late, and it makes it mighty hard to get the children off to Sunday School and especially when they have it so early. Then, there are dishes to wash, and we always have some things we just have to wash out.

I mean no disrespect, dear God, you you must realize you have picked out the day on which we have the biggest dinner. Not only that, but the church has fixed the hour of worship at the very time we must be preparing the dinner.

Then, too, you must think of John. He is cooped up in his office all week, and Sunday morning is the only time he has to tinker with the car and to mow the lawn. When he gets into his old clothes and his hands are all greasy you couldn't expect him to be able to get off to church.

I am telling you these things, dear God, because I want you to get our viewpoint. It is not our fault that we are not able to get to church on Sunday mornings. We would like to go, and we know we should go, and need to go. But it must be clear to you that the real reason we cannot go is because you have chosen the wrong day. If you will select another day we shall be glad to go to church and Bible School and be more faithful.

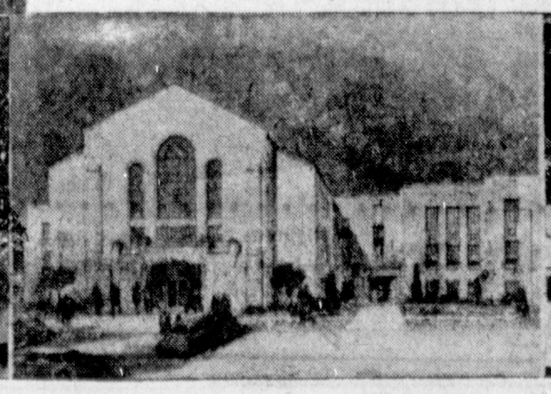

Sincerely yours,

I. M. Busy

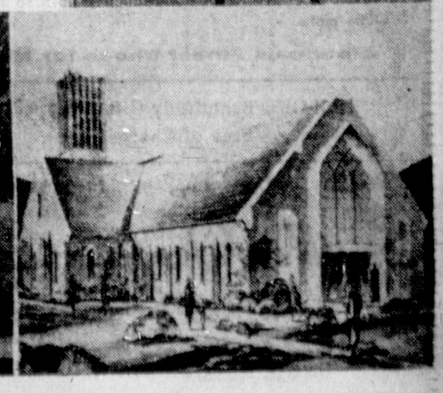

P. S.— We know, of course, you don't expect us on Sunday evening, too!

Sizzling Harvesters Meet Clovis Tonight

Stamford, Terrell Open Grid Playoffs

By UNITED PRESS

Stamford's sterling Bulldogs go after their 31st straight victory and with it a second straight trip into the Class AA finals tonight to open the semifinal round of play in the Texas schoolboy football championships.

Coach Gordon Wood's champion Bulldogs face the Terrell Tigers, one of only four clubs ever to defeat Stamford during Wood's six years there, at Dal-Hi Stadium in Dallas and will be slight favorites to move into the finals against the winner of Saturday's Brady - Ginton contest.

All other playoff games are scheduled Saturday and Saturday night as the eight survivors from the field of 525 teams barge headlong toward the four state titles to be decided next week.

Abilene's mighty Eagles, the other defending titlist still in the running, tangles with Wichita Falls, rated the state's No. 2 team in the United Press' coaches ratings, at Wichita Falls in Saturday afternoon's Class AAAA feature.

The winner will tangle next week with the victory of the southern bracket semifinal game between Baytown and Corpus Christi Ray at Corpus Christi, also Saturday afternoon.

Abilene was a one-touchdown favorite over the Coyotes, while the Baytown-Ray game was a toss-up. Ray won a previous regular season game 7-6.

In Class AAA, it'll be Littlefield vs. Garland at San Angelo in the upper half of the draw and San Antonio Edison at Nederland in the lower bracket. Garland and Nederland are the slimmest of favorites in afternoon games.

In Class A, Stinnett's powerful Rattlers, a finalist a year ago, meet Eastland at Childress in the northern bracket in the afternoon and Hondo and Humble clash at Luling Saturday night in the southern half. Stinnett and Hondo are strong favorites.

Abilene, Wichita Falls, Nederland, Stamford, Stinnett and Hondo are undefeated and untied, while Littlefield and Ray are unbeaten but tied.

HOUSTON (UP) — Warren Switzer, a Rice basketball great who graduated in 1950, today took over as freshman cage coach at Rice on a part-time basis for the remainder of the season.

Switzer, 31, is a Houston insuranceman. Previously, he coached the Houston St. Thomas high school team to three state parochial school championships.

HIGH SCORER —Forward Jerry Pope has been one of the kingpins in the Harvesters' six-game winning streak this year. The 6-1 senior has scored 91 points this season. He will be in the starting lineup tonight against Clovis.

Pampa Seeking 7th Victory Here At 8

The Clovis, N. M., Wildcats invade Harvester Fieldhouse tonight to meet the unbeaten Pampa Harvesters. It will be the second meeting of the season for the two teams.

The Harvesters will go into the game with a string of six consecutive victories this season. Pampa has been averaging 77.3 points per game while allowing opponents only 50.5 points per game. The Harvesters also boast a fine .491 shooting percentage from the field.

The Wildcats have pushed the Harvesters harder this year than any other opponent. Pampa took a 68-54 victory over the New Mexicans last week in Clovis. At the same time, the Wildcats were holding Pampa's field goal percentage down to .419, the lowest of the season.

Pampa holds victories over Childress, 78-33; Vernon, 85-44; Phillips, 83-64 and 82-58; and Portales, 68-50. Clovis has lost four games this season, falling to Amarillo Phillips, Pampa and Melrose, N.M.

Pampa's probable starters will be Jerry Pope, 6-1, and Sam Condo, 6-2, at forwards; Tommy Gindorf, 6-6, at center; and Bill Brown, 5-11, and Dickie Mauldin, 5-10, guards.

Clovis will probably start Keith Blair, 6-1, and Dennis Stanley, 6-1, at forwards; Butch Haynes, 6-2½, at center; and Pete Isham, 5-10, and Calvis Davis, 5-11, at guards.

The Shockers and the Clovis B team will play at 6:30 p.m. in the opener. The Harvester - Wildcat game will begin at 8 p.m. Probable starters for the Shockers will be Mac Layne, Bobby Gindorf, Coyle Winborn, Robert Murray and Charles Minor.

The Childress Bobcats move in here Saturday night to meet the Harvesters in Harvester Fieldhouse. It will also be the second meeting for the two. Childress' probable starters will be David Seals, Ray Fulenwider, Jim Conner, Bill Shahan and Butch Farha.

The Shockers will be after their eighth straight win after beating Canadian 64-44 last night.

Shockers Take 64-44 Victory Over Canadian

The Pampa Shockers went one step ahead of the Harvesters last night by taking a 64-44 basketball victory over the Canadian Wildcats.

The victory was the seventh in succession for the Shockers this season. Both the Shockers and Harvesters had been coasting along at even victories until the win for Coach Terry Culley's team last night put them one victory ahead of their upperclassmen teammates.

The Shockers led all of the way, taking a 12-6 first-quarter advantage and increasing it to 36-13 at halftime. After three quarters it was 51-27.

Bobby Gindorf paced the Shockers with 23 points on nine field goals and five free throws. Coyle Winborn had 14 and Charles Minor had 12. Roy Sessions had 18 to lead the Wildcats.

The Shockers seek their eighth win tonight at 6:30 against the Clovis B team at Harvester Fieldhouse.

Say Dodgers

Robinson First Of Many Trades

NEW YORK (UP)—The youth-minded Brooklyn Dodgers, having taken the first plunge by dealing away 37-year-old Jackie Robinson, are expected to cause more trade ripples shortly to make room for new talent.

Even before Robinson was traded to the New York Giants Thursday for left-handed pitcher Dick Littlefield and an estimated $50,000, Vice President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi of the Dodgers admitted, "I've got to get rid of one or two of our older players so that the youngsters will get a chance to play."

Left fielder Carl Furillo, who will be 35 before the Dodgers open defense of their National League championship next spring, may be the next Flatbush "graybeard" sacrificed for younger blood.

Although Bavasi admits that "only the future will tell how much we'll miss Robinson," Jackie's shipment across the East River at least will give Manager Walt Alston a chance to test such promising youngsters as outfielder Don Demeter and infielders Charley Neal and Chico Fernandez.

Robinson, meanwhile, will play first base for the Giants next season. That's the same position he played in 147 when he broke the game's color line as a Dodger rookie.

When he learned of the trade, Robinson said, "I have no hard feelings with the Dodger management, but now I'm a member of a different team and I'll be out to beat the Dodgers as best I can."

He will get his first chance "to beat the Dodgers" next April 24 when the Giants invade Ebbets Field for their first 1957 meeting.

District 3-AAAA Plans Schedules

The District 3-AAAA track and field meet will be held in Canyon on March 29-30, it was announced at a meeting of the district committee in Amarillo Wednesday.

The coaches and athletic chairmen of the seven-school conference also discussed other sports schedules although most of the spring sports slates were not picked. Another meeting to be held early next year will decide the site and dates of the golf and tennis district tournaments.

The group worked out basketball and baseball schedules for 1957 and announced that the district football slates would remain almost the same. The district golf tournament will probably be held in Borger this season.

Lions To Battle Chicago Sunday

DETROIT (UP)— Coach Buddy Parker, fearful that rookies might make costly mistakes, said today he'll start his most experienced backs Sunday when his Detroit Lions battle the Bears at Chicago for the National Football League's Western Division title.

"We're going to start Bobby Layne at quarterback, Gene Gedman and Jim Doran at the halfback spots and Leon Hart at fullback," Parker said.

That quartet has a total of 24 years of experience in the pro football ranks.

Parker, whose Lions are bidding to become the first team in NFL history to bounce from the cellar to a division title in one year, isn't marking any predictions even though the Lions routed the Bears, 42-10, only 12 days ago.

"You can forget all about our first victory over the Bears," Parker said. "This is the only game that makes any difference now and it's going to be plenty rough."

Kansas And San Francisco Take Court Shows On Road

By JOE SARGIS
United Press Sports Writer

Top-ranked Kansas, with fabulous Wilt Chamberlain, and streaking San Francisco take their respective "shows" on the road tonight, hoping the upset bugaboo that has plagued other highly-regarded teams doesn't strike them.

The Jayhawks, who beat Northwestern and Marquette in their only two starts, give Seattle fans a chance to watch Chamberlain in action against Washington tonight and Saturday night and then tangle with California at Berkeley on Tuesday night.

The Dons, with a record 59-game victory streak, meet Loyola of Chicago (3-0) tonight in one-half of the Loyola Pre-Holiday Tournament. Santa Clara plays the triumphant U.S. Olympic team, featuring ex-Dons K.C. Jones and Bill Russell, in the other game. San Francisco has beaten Chico State, California, San Francisco State and Seattle thus far and more than likely will wind up against the Olympians in the tourney title game on Saturday night.

Tough Schedule Ahead

The fifth-ranked Dons don't come home until Jan. 4, playing such teams as third-ranked Illinois, Western Kentucky, Louisville and Washington of St. Louis before heading back to the West Coast for the Oregon State Tourney.

Only Kentucky among the top 10 ranked teams sees action tonight besides Kansas and San Francisco. The seventh-ranked Wildcats are paired with Maryland at Lexington. All the others, with the exception of eighth-ranked Ohio State, play Saturday.

Second-ranked North Carolina (2-0) plays South Carolina; Illinois (2-0) meets Loyola (La.); fourth-ranked Southern Methodist (4-0) plays Xavier (Ohio); sixth-ranked Louisville (3-1) tangles with Marquette; ninth-ranked Kansas State (3-0) plays Indiana, and 10th-ranked Dayton (3-1) meets Cincinnati.

Only one notable upset was sprung on Thursday night's program when Seton Hall, with Dick Gaines and Paul Szczech leading a second-half spurt, upended 12th ranked Western Kentucky, 78-69. The Pirates led by only 38-36 at intermission, but Gaines and Szczech then began hitting and the Hilltoppers never caught up.

In the opening game of a doubleheader played before a sparse crowd of 5,148 at Madison Square Garden, Jim Oravec's set shot earned Georgetown a 76-73 overtime win over New York University.

George Mehaffey, a left-handed six-five junior guard, potted 32 points to lead touring Texas A&M to an 83-74 win over Florida State.

St. Louis, sparked by the defensive play of Cal Burnett, downed touring Texas Christian, 90-81, Wichita defeated Xavier (Ohio), 93-86, in double overtime, La Salle, led by guard Tom Garberina's second-half scoring spree, downed Bradley, 87-77, and Arizona overwhelmed New Mexico, 74-55, in other leading games.

Elsewhere, Fordham defeated Rhode Island, 85-71, Johns Hopkins edged Delaware, 87-81, Loyola (Md.) downed Wagner, 96-69, Depauw swamped Indiana State, 73-55, and Montana State beat Gonzaga, 74-72.

Seixas, Flam Take Opening Davis Cup Singles Matches

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (UP) — Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., ignored assorted aches and pains in leading the United States Davis Cup team to a 2-0 lead over India today in the opening singles matches of the inter-zone final.

Seixas needed only 45 minutes to dispose of Naresh Kumar, the captain of India's gallant two-man team, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, after Flam outlasted 19-year old Ramanathan Krishmnan, 7-5, 4-6, 10-8, 2-6, 6-4, in a match that consumed almost three hours.

Seixas was troubled by a sore shoulder earlier this week, while Flam had complained of stomach cramps. However, neither player appeared in distress today as they took a giant step toward another clash with Australia in the challenge round.

The Yanks now need only one more victory in the remaining three matches against India to move on to Adelaide for the challenge round later this month. They can clinch the best-of-five series by winning Saturday's doubles match.

A small crowd of 2,500 sat in the stands surrounding the center court of the Royal Kings Park Tennis Club in brilliant sunshine to watch the opening matches. A strong wind blew across the court during the first match and it seemed to bother both Flam and Frishnan, but it subsided slightly by the time Seixas met Kumar.

Martinez Vs. Bahama On TV

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) —Two good middleweight bouts, pairing Joey Giardello against Charley (King) Cotton and Yama Bahama against Jimmy Martinez, were expected to draw more than 11,000 fans to the Cleveland Arena tonight.

The Martinez - Bahama 10-rounder will be seen on nationwide television, but Giardello and Cotton will appear earlier in a non-televised bout. Proceeds of the show go to the Cleveland News Toy Shop Fund.

Early betting odds favored Cotton of Toledo over slugger Giardello of Philadelphia, 6-5. West Indian Bahama is the 7-5 choice over Martinez of Glendale, Ariz.

Southwest Conference Cage Teams Break Even

By UNITED PRESS

Southpaw George Mehaffey of Texas A&M and sharp-shooting Dick O'Neal of Texas Christian went on scoring sprees Thursday night, but the two Southwest Conference basketball teams managed only to break even in a pair of intersectional tilts.

Mehaffey hit 10 field goals and a dozen free shots for 32 points as the Aggies won their third game against four losses this season by beating Florida State 83-74 at Tallahassee.

O'Neal got 26 points, but it wasn't enough to keep Coach Buster Brannon's team from losing its first game in five starts to a powerful St. Louis University outfit 90-81.

O'Neal's figure was equaled by St. Louis' Harold Alcorn, a sophomore who started at Southern Methodist before switching back to his home town for a college education.

But the hero of the St. Louis victory was forward Cal Burnett, who put on a sparkling defensive demonstration and mounted a one-man scoring attack late in the first half to pull the Billikens from behind and into a 40-32 halftime lead.

Mehaffey's high octane showing was mainly responsible for handing Florida State its sixth straight loss as the Texas team jumped into an early 10-point lead and never trailed. He fouled out with six minutes to play. Guard Ken Hutto got 14 for the Aggies.

Only one game is on the conference slate tonight — Baylor vs. Oklahoma at Waco.

It's Official -- Mick Wins Title

CHICAGO (UP) —Mighty Mickey Mantle, who won the American League's top three batting crowns this year, was officially awarded a fourth today — the slugging title.

The Yankee centerfielder finished with a slugging percentage of .705, according to official figures released today, and that gave him a margin of 100 points over runnerup Ted Williams of the Red Sox, who had a slugging mark of .605.

Slugging percentage is computed by the number of total bases divided by the number of official times at bat. Mantle, who led the league in batting, home runs and runs batted in, hit for 376 total bases, also tops in the circuit, in 535 official times up.

Ed Yost of Washington led the league in walks with 151 while Mantle was second with 112.

Washington outfielder Jim Lemon was the league's No. 1 strikeout victim with an all-time circuit high total of 138. The old mark was 121 set by Larry Doby, then with Cleveland, in 1953. Mantle wound up with 99.

Jackie Jensen of the Red Sox grounded into the most double plays, 23, while Jim Rivera of the White Sox proved the most difficult man to double by hitting into three twin-killings in 139 games.

Texas Golfers List High In Florida Golf Tourney

SANFORD, Fla. (UP) — Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, shooting his "best all-around golf" since 1950, carried a slim one-stroke lead over five others today into the second round of the $15,000 Mayfair Open Golf Tournament.

Finsterwald, putting to near perfection, carded a six under-par 64 in Thursday's opening round, but close on his heels were Mike Fetchik of Mahopac, N. Y., Don January of Lampasas, Tex., Bob Keller of Royal Oaks, Mich., Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., and Jay Hebert, the pre-tourney favorite, of Verona, Pa., each of whom had a 65.

The 27-year - old Finsterwald, shooting his best round since carding a 63 in 1950, knocked six strokes off par on the front nine with two eagles and two birdies and then played careful on the home nine for a par 34.

Deadlocked two strokes off the pace were Charles Malchaski, Addison, Ill., Arnold Palmer, Youngstown, Pa., Ed Oliver, Sanford, Fla., Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, Doug Sanders, Miami, Fla., who turned pro three days ago, and Dick Turner, San Angelo, Tex.

One stroke farther back were Mike Homa, Rye, N. Y., Bob Toski, Holyoke, Mass., Gardner Dickinson Jr., Panama City, Fla., Howie Johnson, Houston, Tex., Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N. C., and Joe Black, Abilene, Tex.

Defending champion Al Balding of Erindale, Ont., had a 68 along with eight others, including Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y.

Houston Picked As School Site

DALLAS (UP) — Directors of the Texas High School Coaches Association Thursday night picked Houston as the site for the 1958 coaching school and added another qualification for selection to an all-star basketball or football team.

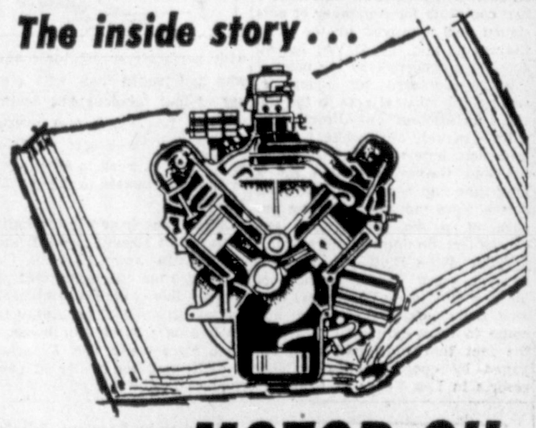

The new rule states that no player who is enrolled in college and participating in any sport can be selected as an all-star, L. W. McConachie, executive secretary of the association, said.

Present rules for selection of a football all-star state that a minimum of four boys can be selected from each classification, and a maximum of one from any school. Basketball rules state that two boys must be selected from each classification, including at least one from the state tournament; plus two boys from at-large, but only one from any school.

The inside story . . .

on MOTOR OIL
The "building" of a modern motor oil is very complex, but it is all aimed at these 2 results . . .
(1) CONSTANT ENGINE PROTECTION
The first and foremost job of any motor oil is to keep a tough, indestructible film, or cushion, between the engine's various moving parts. Skelly Supreme, pioneer in multi-grade motor oils has been so highly developed that it can provide absolute protection both on below-zero starts and in high-temperature highway cruising.
(2) LOW CONSUMPTION
Modern auto engines are hotter, both in horsepower and in internal temperature. This puts extreme demands on motor oil. The burning away of the oil film in the torch-hot cylinders is a big problem. Skelly engineers have solved this problem so well that now Skelly Supreme Motor Oil is the world's lowest consumption motor oil!
Here's the motor oil that gives you both!

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

The Nickle Racket

On page 1180 of the U. S. Budget appears a small item. Despite the amount of space allotted to it, it is another one of the gigantic enterprises conducted by Uncle Sam in a bold misuse of governmental power.

The item says: "The government owned nickel plant at Nicardo, Cuba, is being expanded from 14,000 to 24,500 tons annual capacity of nickel production at a cost of $43 million, and will be completed by the end of fiscal 1956. Contracts have already been executed by General Services Administration."

The Cuba Nickel Company is wholly owned by the U. S. government. It came into being during the "war emergency" declared by F.D.R. in the late shambles called World War II.

The American taxpayers were originally asked to pony up a mere $33 million to get the operation started. In 1947 the whole business was considered impractical and a waste of money so it was closed down. But in 1952 it was suddenly discovered "practical" again, and after an additional expenditure of $12 million more it was reopened.

Current expenditures on this government business bring the total capital outlay to something just under $90 million. But why it is practical again remains somewhat clouded since the record shows that in 1953, a somewhat typical year, the "operations resulted in a net loss of $249,000," without any charge for interest on the taxpayers' investment. Not only did this plant not pay any interest on the money it took to create it, it doesn't pay dividends, taxes or rents.

This is only one of the nickel-plated business ventures of our federal government. We understand that another multi-million dollar refinery was constructed at Wilmington, Delaware, at the taxpayers' expense. Its purpose was to refine oxide for production of metallic nickel. But after operating for only three months it was closed up in October of 1944. The entire adventure was terminated at a tremendous loss to the American people.

Now it so happens that the American scene is amply stocked with both the necessary money and brains to handle all phases of nickel production without federal government participation. And the affair becomes even more curious when we learn that the Cuba Nickel Company, in addition to its major operation on the Island of Cuba, is managed by a Dutch concern which is making a very good thing out of throwing around the American taxpayers' resources.

There is simply no reason why the federal government should still be playing around in the nickel market. Even if we were to grant the validity of the alleged "emergency" which brought the operation into existence, it would be difficult to learn why, after having been halted for five years as an impractical dream, it was suddenly resuscitated and is at present being expanded.

And if we point out that the emergency, if real, could have been more skillfully met by free men functioning in a free market, and at no cost to the taxpayers at all, then the whole affair becomes even more off color.

In all there are more than 900 different business, industries and operations which the federal government is engaged in without constitutional or moral authority. It is certainly time for Washington to stop this type of thing and begin concentrating on its esssential fuctions which are enumerated in the Constitution.

I CHOSE FREEDOM
(Christian Economics)
IVAN PETROVICH
(Manistee, Michigan

I was born in Serbia and began work at the tender age of three. At six I was carrying hay and grain to the horses, cows and oxen, and cleaning out the stable. My wages were five cents a week.

At the age of twelve I was apprenticed to a general store and upon finishing a three-year term of service received $7.50. I purchased a pair of boots, gave them to a younger brother, and came to America in slippers.

I was a member of the Greek Orthodox Church and had learned many long prayers which I diligently recited while working hard at any job I could find, and going to night school. Like my fellow countrymen who were under the Turkish yoke for centuries, I worshiped freedom.

In America I dug coal, was a woodworker, and made parts for automobiles. I also sold meats and groceries. By 1931 I had saved enough to build my own garage and a bungalow. I believe in freedom and now operate my own business.

My native country succumbed to Tito and communism only because it had long embraced a socialist philosophy which destroyed the basis of Serbian freedom. God is not to blame for this development; it is the fault of the church, Serbian intellectuals and the general indifference. America, I believe, is at the crossroads. This is our last chance to be free men or slaves. I chose freedom. I am old enough to know the difference.

Years ago I discussed socialism with W. Z. Foster and told him that he was first, a Social Democrat, then a member of the I.W.W. still later an Anarchist, and following that, an Anarcho-syndicalist. "And now," I said to Foster, "you are planning to be a Bolshevik and to go on spreading your lies across our country to take away our freedom."

Once I stooped down to pick up a paper covered with mud. I scraped off the mud and found it was a copy of CHRISTIAN ECONOMICS. I read every word of it. It was all truth and common sense. That is why I am buying the paper, 100 copies a month, and distributing it.

The Constitution We Ought To Have

The other day a representative of the Student Body of the Santa Ana Junior College came into the office and asked me to talk to their class on The Constitution of The United States. I asked what Constitution he meant—the one originally passed in 1789 or the one that has been amended.

I explained to him I didn't think very much of the Constitution as it was originally or as it has been amended. As it originally was passed, citizens were obliged to catch escaped slaves and return them to their masters. This was a violation of the spirit of the Constitution as set forth in The Declaration of Independence, that all men are endowed by the Creator with certain inalienable rights not just white men or members of labor unions.

So I wouldn't want to talk on that kind of a Constitution, nor would I want to eulogize the Constitution as it has been amended and interpreted by the 14th, 16th, 17th and 18th Amendments. Of course, the 16th, The Graduated Income Tax, was a complete denial of the spirit of the first original document of these United States—The Declaration of Independence.

I told the representative of the College that I might talk on the subject, "What The Constitution Ought To Be." They accepted that subject.

In talking to the class, I explained that I was willing to talk for the simple reason that I thought that education was very important, that it was a race between education an dloss of more and more of our liberty by the government gaining more and more power. I quoted George Washington's statement warning of the danger of government. Remember, he said: "Government is not reason, it is not eloquence—it is force. Like fire, it is a dangerous servant and a fearful master."

Then I expalined that John W. Burgess wrote "Reconciliation of Government With Liberty" in 1915 two years after the income tax had been passed, and that he had predicted in the close of this book what the income tax would do and what it has done to our way of life. This is what he wrote:

"It (government with unlimited power to tax) "would become a temporary despotism, which would destroy property, use up accumulated wealth, make enterprise impossible, discourage intelligence and thrift, encourage idleness and sloth, and pauperize and barbarize the whole people.".

Burgess had pointed out that we more nearly reconciled liberty with the government after we had freed the slaves with the 13th Amendment up until the time we passed the income tax in 1913, that during that time we more nearly reconciled liberty with the government than any other nation in the history of the world.

I explained that I didn't expect my idea of government to come into effect for many, many years, maybe 1,000; that it took thousands of years before people more generally discarded the belief in slavery; that we only discarded it about 90 years ago; that George Washington spent most of his life trying to set up a government to protect men's liberty, yet he died owning slaves, and he owned them because for thousands of years people had believed in slavery, just so for thousands of years people have believed in giving certain men the right to tax other men; that this was too much power to give any group; that Lord Acton explained that all power (political) tended to corrupt and absolute power corrupted absolutely; that Jesus said practically the same thing when he said, "He that exalts himself becomes abased".

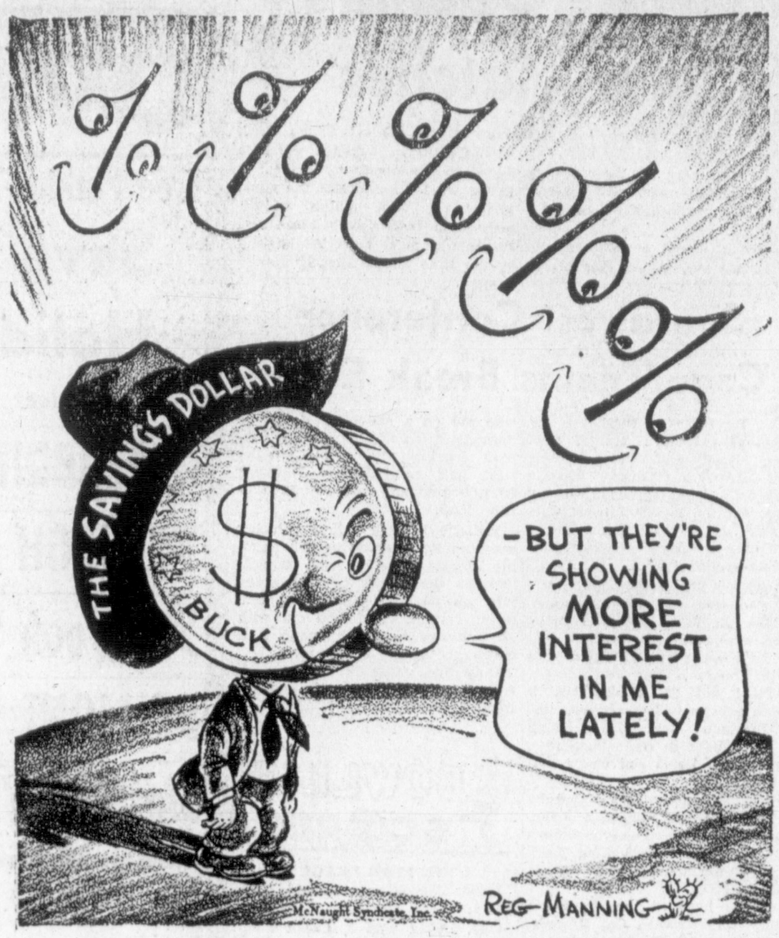

When men are given power to take from others without their consent, they are exalting themselves and becoming dangerous not only to themselves but to those that they plunder by taxation.

I tried to point out that The Declaration of Independence was the ideal concept of what a government should be; that the late Everett D. Martin had pointed out that this was the first time in all history that any people had attempted in a big way to put into operation the morals and ethics of The Sermon on The Mount; that he also explained that The Declaration of Independence meant exactly what it said in the statement, "Governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed;" that then you would have to have a limited government to get the consent of those people who wanted everybody's life and property protected, and if men did not want each man's life and property protected, we could not have an ideal government if he was forced to pay and permitted to vote; that it was better to let him outside of the government and not get the protection of the government than to force him to pay; that most people would help support the government if it was limited only to protecting man's life and property and not used to take from one to give to another; that the purpose of an ideal government was to promote civilization and that civilization is a process of reducing aggressive or initiated force and collusion to interfere with men's freely exchanging goods and services; that government of this kind was negative and could only do what each and every individual had a moral right to do.

I explained that all political and economic subjects in the final analysis were nothing but a question of right and wrong, justice and injustice; that the only way to improve government was to improve the character and ideologies of the citizens making up the government.

We cannot put too much time or energy into trying to inform ourselves. Understanding, like wealth is diffused. It benefits everybody.

Fair Enough

One Reason For Big Top Collapse Was The AGVA

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

TAMPA, Fla. — One of the reasons why the great Ringling Brother's tent show folded up mid season last summer and went into hibernation untimely never to play under canvas again, was a demand by the union of performers called the American Guild of Variety Artists. This is only one of a dozen unions which infest the amusement trade, one of our major industries in queer contradictory days when a world in a turmoil of worry and fear spends much of its time and money on entertainment, much of it sordid, raucous and cynical.

The unions prey on performers and employers alike. In this case the proposition was a payroll tax decreed by a group of union executives in New York for the stated purposes of providing a "welfare" system. The terms of this "welfare were not explicit and the executives not only acted without a specific mandate from their subjects but refused even to discuss any alternative with Ringlings'.

Arthur Concello, the new manager of the circus, himself an old trouper in the role of aerial acrobat, has flatly notified the executive secretary of the guild, one Jackie Bright, who is widely unknown to both the membership and the various managements of the trade, that he will not pay one cent of tribute, beyond the statutory Workmen's Compensation Tax, the circus will assume no obligation. Although this is actually only a petty demand, it may presage the collapse of the fabulous "floor-show" phase of American night-life.

In Los Angeles, Baron Long, who operates the Biltmore Hotel, a showman and promoter of fights, racetracks and "clubs" for 50 years, is closing his famous Biltmore Bowl, one of the biggest showrooms of the kind in the country and for many years a gold mine. He decided that this kind of entertainment is finished. He saw vaudeville rise and fall. Like the rest of us, he saw the fantastic boom in radio "personalities," strident and usually malicious and mendacious rascals under the patronage of the New Deal and secret alien political forces, who hounded defenseless victims with brutal lies for fees running up to $5,000 for 15 or 30 minutes.

The circus is disappearing, although the Clyde Beatty animal show and a few other tent shows of lesser size are preparing for one more campaign come grass. The movies have shrunk and the current phase of television is so cheap and banal that the clamor for pay-TV is beginning to command attention from a public which for a long time was indifferent. However, this observation on the gradual change in a public taste is merely collateral with the discussion of AGVA's grab for derwriters of entertainment.

Seymour Weiss, of New Orleans, the operator of the Roosevelt Hotel, got his back up when Bright, in New York, decided to assess him $2.50 a week for each performer appearing in his blue room. This is a famous pit which paid Joe E. Lewis $7,500 a week for years. Mr. Weiss writes that he has paid Ted Lewis $8,500 a week and Vaughan Monroe $9,000 for their acts.

"For more than 25 years," Mr. Weiss writes," I have been using from three to five acts a night. I provide accommodations free to every entertainer. AGVA asked me to sign a welfare contract to pay $2.50 a week fro each act. I opposed this in principle and refused. I was told that if I didn't sign I would be blacklisted. I checked every other hotel in this country which uses entertainment and found that none of them had signed such a contract. At that time I had contracts for a number of acts signed and approved by the acts, the agents and the AGVA, but all acts were cancelled by the union."

Weiss countered by hiring instrumental musical acts in the union "jurisdiction" of Jimmy Petrillo's racket. Meanwhile he was told that hotels in Dallas, Houston and Galveston, which for a long time had used expensive floor shows, were quitting under the pre sure of public indifference and consequent diminution of returns.

When Willie Bioff was murdered by a bomb under the hood of his car in Phoenix last year, Senator Barry Goldwater, who had come to know him well, revealed the fact that Bioff had been engaged by operators of gambling resorts in Las Vegas to "reason" with performers and their agents who had priced their acts almost out of that fabulous but declining market. Las Vegas was overbuilt and it was no longer possible to pay $30,000 a week to an entertainer to draw suckers to the gambling tables.

Miami Beach and in a small degree, Palm Beach, are still in the market. In New York the Copacabana is the only important plant ffering this kind of talent and paying grandiose salaries. Chicago has only one major house, the Chez Paree, and San Francisco's appetite and the roster of resorts fluctuate.

The CRACKER BARREL

It's getting pretty safe to ignore anything that sounds like common sense — just as long as you can claim McCarthy once thought of it.

For years and years now, the government's wanted to make five states out of Texas. But they'd all be too little-bitty to hold any Texans.

Capitol Hill Is Confident World Relations Will Better

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Washington officials are unbelievably confident that world relations will take a turn for the better in 1957, despite the current shocks to the international situation from the bloody Hungarian revolt, the Egyptian crisis and Allied disagreements.

President Eisenhower will explore the world situation and problems in his December 16-19 talks with Prime Minister Nehru of India. Nehru's belated but severe criticism of Communist behavior in Budapest, as well as his high standing at Moscow, Peiping and with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, make the New Delhi statesman an extremely valuable intermediary—in fact, the only figure with both East and West connections.

Meanwhile, Secretary John Foster Dulles will defy his doctors in an attempt to patch relations with London and Paris at next week's meeting of NATO's ministerial council. As an earnest expression of our basically friendly attitude, Washington has bent backward to release oil shipments needed to relieve European shortages caused by the Suez Canal blockade.

Eisenhower - Dulles hopes are buoyed by the embarrassing predicament in which recent events have placed the men in the Kremlin, both externally and internally. Not even the butchers in Moscow, it is believed here, can be totally insensitive to world condemnation of their conduct inside and outside the United Nations.

Under this pressure, and with urging from Nehru, who comes to Washington fresh from conversations with Chou En-lai, Red China's Foreign Minister, Russia may be in a mood to release its totalitarian grip on the satellite empire that cuts across Europe from the Baltic to the Black Sea, and to discuss German reunification.

The long - range objective, in Washington's and Nehru's thinking, would be the creation of a neutral and disarmed buffer state, consisting of the Baltic nations, Poland, Hungary and Austria. They would join neither NATO nor the Warsaw Pact, Russia's counterpart to NATO.

Khrushchev and Bulganin, of course, would demand concessions from the West, and it is understood that Nehru knows their bargaining terms, which he will place before President Eisenhower. Otherwise, there would be no reason for his mission to Washington at this particular moment, especially as Ike has barred the White House door to Sir Anthony Eden, now only a short distance from here, recuperating in Jamaica, and to Guy Mollet, the French Premier.

Moscow's most important demand, according to advance information, will be the withdrawal of Allied forces from West Germany, in return for which Russia would remove her 2 2divisions from East Germany.

It is pointed out in military circles that such a simultaneous moving back would not work a hardship on the opposing factions, in view of the development of guided missiles and planes that can fly at a thousand miles an hour. To a certain extent, ground space has become an irrelevant factor, in warfare.

The NATO conference on Secretary Dulles' round - the - world schedule will have a bearing on this proposed rearrangement. Its purpose is to expand NATO into the field of economics and social welfare, and possibly to de-emphasize its military aspects, which Russia fears and criticizes periodically. Such a transformation might soften the Communist bosses, and strengthen the anti - Stalinist faction within the Soviet hierarchy.

These high hopes may not be achieved, it is true. But the realization that the world stands on the "brink" — again — of an atomic conflict, born of the Middle East and Middle Europe blowups, is counted on to influence the opposing and clashing groups, East and West, Democratic and Communist.

Chess Is Not As Easy As Cracker Barrel Checkers

By HENRY McLEMORE

HEIDELBERG — These gloomy fall days in Germany are tailor-made for chess players, and I had kibitzed so many games that it was just a question of time before I took up the game too.

Normally I don't go for anything more challenging than a good checker game next to the cracker barrel in the country store down in Ellijay, Georgia, where I used to get my ears trimmed regularly, even on swap-out.

But chess is a science and just the thing for a brilliant military mind like mine. Despite the frowns and glares of chess players in my favorite Rohrback beer stube, I pried out of them the names of all the pieces, and by deep concentration I learned the various capabilities of the knights, the castles, the bishops, the queen, the king and the pawns.

It wasn't long before I had doped out some real strategy and tactics that would buffalo Army Gen. H. I. Hodes' staff. I tried it on my patient wife, Mary, who took her beating like the fine woman she is. But she urged that I go on to conquer new heights while she went shopping on the Hauptstrasse.

Next I took on some of the Army fellows I've been palling around with, and to prove that I really know my chess tactics I took their measure, too.

My chest measurement was now up a full two inches and I felt as if I could whip just about anybody. I even seriously considered challenging the Russian champion, just to show that we American Georgians are superior in brain power to the Russian Georgians.

Then I heard about a chess club in Heidelberg, where we professional chess - players could really get a fine workout and improve our skills. So I reported in and was greeted by the secretary-president of the organization.

"So you are a chess player," he said.

"You bet your bottom bratwurst I am," I said, "and I'd like to join up if it doesn't cost too many marks."

"Fine, fine, fine," he soothed. "Perhaps you would like to play a game now?"

"That's what I came for," I said. "Bring on some real opposition."

The secretary - president disappeared and I began to study the expressions on the faces of several generations of chess champions whose pictures were on the wall. I found that my homely mug bore striking resemblances to them. I could just see my own bright, new, black - and - white picture on the wall with all those aged yellow ones.

I was interrupted by a small voice behind me.

"You would like chess, sir?"

I turned around and there was a German lad of about eight years, dressed in lederhosen.

"Yeah," I said. "When do I start?"

"My name is Hjalmar," the kid said. "I have been instructed to play chess with you, sir."

I didn't know whether to be angry or amused, but I fugured that if this was some sort of a silly initiation I'd go along with it. We sat down to a chess board. I took white and moved first, pushing the king's pawn up two spaces in order to get at the center of the board and free my queen and a bishop. The kid countered with his queen's pawn, blocking my pawn. I moved out my bishop to threaten the key square in front of his king's bishop. The kid moved a knight. Then I pulled my queen out so that it, too, would be aiming straight at the crucial square. I was going to clobber this kid quick with a fool's mate.

What happened after that I don't know, except that three moves later the kid quietly said, "Checkmate." I was checkmated, too.

Well, of course, this was a complete fluke. The kid was just lucky. We tried another game, and after four moves I reached again for my heaviest artillery, the queen.

"Oh," said the kid, "please don't do that, sir."

"Why not?" I demanded.

"Why, sir," he said, "if you do that, I'll do this and then you'll have to do this and I'll do this and it will be checkmate again, sir."

I paused and reached for a knight.

"Oh, please, sir," the kid said. "Please don't do that because if you do, I'll do this and you'll be forced to do this and you'll lose your queen and then I will win again in just two moves, sir."

Never Has A Nation Fought With Such Desperate Courage As Has Hungary

EDITOR'S NOTE:
This is the fourth of a series by the only American correspondent to stay in Budapest through the Hungarian revolution and its suppression.

By RUSSELL JONES

LONDON, Dec. 13 (UP)—Heroism is an overworked word, but if I were handing out Congressional Medals of honor they would go to the entire Hungarian people.

Never has an entire nation fought with such desperate courage, for such unselfish motives and against such overwhelming odds.

The workers, the students, the women and the children of Hungary fought and won the revolution of Tuesday, Oct. 23. They fought and died in resisting the Soviet return. And when their weapons proved weaker than their spirit, they simply refused to work for their Moscow masters.

To choose any Hungarian as the hero would insult the thousands of those who fought. But there were these individuals who stand out in my memory:

Human Torch!

The 14-year-old girl who turned herself into a human torch to set fire to three Russian trucks and the guns they towed. She died with half a dozen Russian soldiers caught in the flames.

I never saw her in life, but I saw the charred remains of her body outside the Kilian Barracks, covered with a Hungarian flag and a pathetic bunch of artificial flowers.

An elderly man wept as he translated a note pinned to the flag: "Here lies a Hungarian girl of 14 years. She died for her country. All Hungary mourns her."

The 13-year-old boy with the shaved head. He had fought in both the revolution and the Soviet attack of Nov. 4. The Russians herded him along with some other 2,000 young Hungarians into cattle cars for deportation. He had escaped and walked all the way back to Budapest.

Ashamed of Shave

He was ashamed because the Soviets had shaved his head and his cap slipped down on his ears. He was literally as tall as the rifle he carried as he patrolled in front of the Corvin Theater. I thought of America's Andy Jackson who fought our revolution at 12.

The children—and I mean children — who spread the sloping streets leading into Moscow Square with heavy oil and soap so Soviet tanks skidded and went out of control as they attempted to charge the barricades.

With the few weapons they had taken from the police, the Hungarians fought the Soviet Army.

With Molotov cocktails—bottles of gasoline—they knocked out so many of the Soviet T-34 tanks that the Russians never again used them against organized resistance.

Stopped Siege Guns

With a handful of antiquated 85 millimeter anti-tank guns, they knocked out more tanks and the huge 152 millimeter Red Army siege guns. In the Kilian-Corvin area alone, they destroyed two siege guns and at least six tanks.

But finally, courage, ingenuity and old weapons were not enough.

In their second attack, the Russians brought in their T-54 tanks. They were virtually invulnerable to fire. Unlike the 34s, their gasoline was carried in internal tanks.

I took a long hard look at these new land - going Soviet dreadnoughts. It was the first time they had gone into action before Western eyes.

The sleek turrets and closely joined body seams of the T-54s gave little opportunity for flaming gasoline to cling or penetrate. Exhausts were protected by flaps and pillows were put in the engine louvers to filter out gasoline fumes.

Shells Bounced

Shells from the World War II 85s bounced harmlessly off this most modern tank in mass production on either side of the Iron Curtain.

Unlike the first attack, in the second the Soviets used planes, the MIG 15s and 17s and the IL-28s, to bomb strong points. Long-rifle 152 millimeter guns on Gellert Hill fired down into the resistance areas.

But the Hungarians fought on. Men holding out in the postoffice telephoned Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in the U.S. Legation to ask, "Bless us, Father, before we die." They died on the second day.

The Russians took no chances. A single shot from a sniper brought a salvo from the heaviest artillery to kill one man.

Church steeples were systematically shelled because they were choice spots for a sniper.

Plants Last to Quit

The last areas to hold out were the great iron and steel plants on what was once called "Red Csepel," and the industrial suburb of Ujpest. They stopped fighting only when it became clear the Russians would destroy the entire works that the men consider their own.

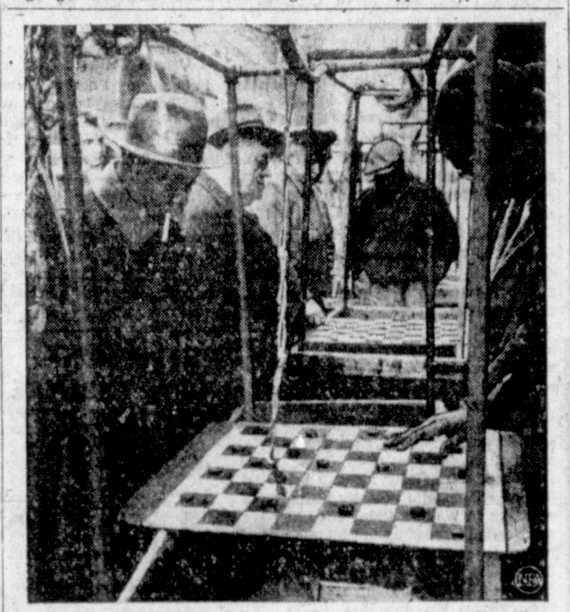

Even after the crushing of resistance in Budapest, the struggle went on in the country. Students at Sarospatak College near Satoraljauhely, not far from the Soviet border, took to the hills as partisans, confining the Russians to the main roads.

As I write this, reports from Hungary indicate fighting may break out again. If it does, I will hope, against all logic and reason, that a people who have taught the world a lesson in courage will win.

A British diplomat said to me one night in Budapest:

"These are a people who must be especially beloved of God."

I subscribe.

FROM GARMENTS TO GAMES—Hand trucks, ordinarily used to transport racks of dresses through New York's garment district are put to good use by their "chauffeurs" during the lunch hour. As seen above, the trucks become supports for checker boards.

BIGGEST SIZE INCREASE IN THE INDUSTRY— Mercury is now over 17½ feet long, more than 6½ feet wide. Wheelbase is a big 122 inches. Inside there are inches more headroom, leg room—as much shoulder room, for example, as in many of the most expensive cars. Co-op

3-WAY POWER CHOICE

New 290-hp Turnpike Cruiser V-8
Wait till you feel its silk-and-dynamite performance! Compression ratio is a power-boosting 9.75 to 1. Displacement is a mile-shrinking 368 cubic inches. Torque is a mountain-hungry 405 lb-ft. Optional on all Montclairs and Montereys.

New 255-hp Safety-Surge V-8 with Power-Booster Fan
This great new engine features a revolutionary Mercury "first" in the Montclair Series. The engine fan coasts when not needed for cooling. You save horsepower other cars waste. Engine sound is reduced, you enjoy a far quieter ride.

New 255-hp Safety-Surge V-8
Dream-car performance in the Monterey Series, Mercury's lowest priced line! Features another Mercury "first" which you get at no extra cost on all BIG M engines for '57—a Thermo-matic Carburetor. It automatically controls the temperature of the air the engine breathes—helps keep it uniform summer and winter. Engine starting is easier, usable power and economy are increased.

YEAR'S MOST IMPORTANT RIDE IMPROVEMENTS

Exclusive Full-Cushion Shock Absorbers—The first shock absorbers in the industry to give such amazing bump-smothering control on rough roads without sacrificing a soft, satin-smooth ride on average roads. They are teamed with Mercury's new improved springing action. Special high-speed valves built into the shock absorbers act as hydraulic cushions when there are rapid changes between bumps and ruts. Any bounce or rebound is controlled as if by a giant hand.

New Swept-Back Ball-Joint Front Suspension—Mercury introduces a new improved version of its famous suspension system—the finest, most advanced ball-joint front suspension on the market today. Because of the new swept-back design, the front wheels are now, in effect, pulled gently over bumps, rather than pushed into them. The benefits: easier handling, more responsive steering.

New balanced weight distribution greatly reduces nose dipping on sudden stops and lurching on fast starts. Mercury's extra weight, length, width, and wheelbase also add greatly to stability.

New road-hugging center of gravity—Everything is lower. Car height, passenger compartment, frame, and rear axle. You enjoy an amazing sense of "nailed-down" stability on curves.

You've got to feel Mercury's Floating Ride to believe it. We invite you to do just that, today, at our showroom.
