Paving Work On Highway To Be Finished Soon

Only Two And One-Half Mile Strip Remains To Be Paved On Project

Open In Month

County Officials Working To Secure Additional Letting To North

With only a scant two and one-half miles of paving to be laid on the project between Wellington and the Childress County line prospects are bright for the finishing of the pavement by Saturday or Monday, depending upon weather conditions.

To Open Way
In case the project is finished this week it is estimated that the road will be open for traffic by May 1, 1935. The pavement contracts with the Childress paving at county line on the north and south up to the compress in Wellington, a total of 7.2 miles. After the paving is completely finished it will have to remain for a period of 21 days before traffic can be routed over it. After the 21 period it will also be necessary to build the shoulders along new road.

About 2 1-2 Miles Remain
The paving was first started on the Childress line and extended south to the C. Kelley place, six miles south of Wellington. Construction was then started on the compress and extended to north. Wednesday morning it past the Lederer place one-half mile south of Wellington. (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

Control Of Famous 101 Ranch Taken From Colonel Zack Miller By Court

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Curt legation here this week clipped control of the 101 Ranch from Col. Zack T. Miller.

"The court is of the opinion purchasers at Sheriff's sales became the unconditional owners," ruled Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught.

Miller, a burly rattleman who wears the high-heeled boots and broad-brimmed hat of the old West, is the last of the three famous Miller brothers, who added circuses and rodeos to the 101,000-acre ranch founded by their father, Col. George W. Miller, south of Ponca City. The ranch now has been diminished to 17,000 acres.

An effort by Miller's attorney to invoke provisions of the Frazier-Lenke bankruptcy act was ruled out by Judge Vaught. An appeal will be filed.

"The Miller brothers' ranch reached such proportions that in 1921 the brothers, consisting of Zack Miller and his two brothers (Joe and George who since have died) deemed it expedient, as a business proposition, to place all of the property into what was known as the Miller brothers 101 Ranch Trust," the court declared.

The ranch trustees were given, in several instances, the option to repurchase. These options expired last December 31 without being invoked.

Scatter Pilot's Ashes Over City

NEW YORK—The ashes of Jimmy Collins were scattered Friday from the window of a cabin plane as it soared over the spot where he was dashed to death a week ago in a test dive.

His wife, Mrs. Delores Lacey Collins, boarded the plane with the urn, but was overcome by emotion and was unable to go through with the ceremony of scattering the ashes.

Philip Rosenbaum of New York who was taught to fly by Collins, carried out the rite. Another passenger was Mrs. Collins' sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Joyhard of Kansas City.

Women in Hungary delight in the volume of their petticoats, sometimes wearing 20 or more at one time.

They're 'Star Gazing' Into Glowing Future

Mother, Gay While Her Children Starve, Sentenced To Die By Ax

BERLIN, Germany—Charlotte Juenemann, 25, recently was sentenced to be beheaded for allowing her three children to starve to death while she led a life of gayety in low-class cafes and dance halls.

She received the sentence with Teutonic stolidness, apparently unmoved by what the police described as one of the most merciless crimes in police annals.

The children were 6 months, 18 months and 3 1-2 years old. Their emaciated bodies were found by police, who identified their mother as a habitue of tawdry dives frequented by persons of questionable reputation.

Frau Juenemann showed not a sign of remorse as the court intoned the death verdict and berated her as a wanton who let her children die in squalor, deprived of love and care.

She admitted she preferred glamorous night life to the upbringing of children and offered no defense other than to indicate she did not love the babies—that they were unwanted.

The death sentence will be carried out in the near future, with the possibility she may be hanged instead of beheaded. The ax usually is reserved for political prisoners.

As she was walking on a sidewalk, Mrs. Victoria Guzawska of Chicago was struck down by a wheel which had slipped off the axle of a taxicab. She died later of her injuries.

Your Beautiful New Car!

You have resolved to keep it looking like new —now resolve to keep it running like new!

YOUR new car has bearing pressures and crankcase temperatures undreamed of ten years ago! To protect it, you need oil with enough oiliness and strength to withstand these new conditions. Straight mineral oils have no more oiliness and strength today than they had ten years ago. Some are so over-refined by new processes to eliminate carbon and sludge that they have been robbed of the oiliness and film strength they must have to give safe lubrication.

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil will help you keep your new car new because it is custom-made for it! It offers you these advantages, so vital for full protection of today's high-powered motors—

1. Better protection of closely fitted parts under extreme pressure. Reason: The Germ Process (adding concentrated oily essence to highly refined oil) gives this oil 2 to 4 times greater film strength than oils not Germ Processed. Proof: Tests on Timken, Almen and other machines that measure film strength.

2. Cuts down starting-period wear that other oils cannot prevent. Reason: Germ Processed Oil penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, forming a "Hidden Quat" that never drains away. Proof: Hundreds of "dry-crankcase runs," in which cars using Germ Processed Oil were driven 15 to 75 miles with the crankcase empty but without damage.

3. Extra long mileage. Reason: Greater oiliness and stability under all conditions. Proof: The Indianapolis Destruction Test, in which a stock car ran 4,729 miles at 50 miles an hour on exactly 5 quarts, none added—1,410 miles farther than the best of five competitors.

4. No carbon or sludge troubles. Reason: New refining processes assure a clean, pure oil. Proof: 963,000 miles of official road tests, followed by millions of trouble-free miles driven by users of Germ Processed Oil.

We believe Conoco Germ Processed Oil is the best lubricant you can put in your new car. We hope you, too, will say, "O.K.—Drain!"

Largest Ranch In World Divided Up For King Family

Property Valued At Forty Million Dollars Divided Between Heirs

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas—No longer will the immense King ranch which extends in several South Texas counties, be known as the largest ranch in the world under fence. It was divided last Tuesday among the heirs of the late Mrs. Henrietta M. King, according to her will. Mrs. King died March 31, 1925.

Established in 1853 by Capt. Richard King, the ranch has for many years been the largest in Texas and perhaps in the world.

The Santa Gertrudis ranch home near Kingsville in Kleberg county where visitors have been entertained from all over the world, goes to Alice Gertrudis Kleberg, daughter of Robert J. Kleberg Jr., who managed the entire property for ten years. Mrs. Kleberg will receive all property not to other heirs in Nueces, and Jim Wells counties. The late Congressman Richard M. Kleberg, a brother of Mrs. King's son, was given the King Corpus Christi, where the ranch and his family live. The late Mrs. King's son, Richard King, will receive the land in Hidalgo, Cameron, and Willacy counties, including the San Salvatore de Tule Waco grants and the Juarez. Heirs of Mrs. King's son, H. M. Atwood of Willacy county, will get remaining lands in Willacy and Hidalgo counties, known as the San Juan de los Rios and the big Barren Willacy. Judge T. M. Kennerly of Corpus Christi, under advisement as to withdrawal of a suit filed by the Atwoods, asking accounting of trustee division of the property, has refused to grant action some time ago. The ranch contains 2,500,000 acres and has been valued at $40,000,000. Since Mrs. King's death, the ranch has been held in trust headed by Robert J. King.

Collyer Leads Men To 2 Dead Women

BROOKLYN—The barking of a collie guided Patrick Murray this morning to discover the bodies of Mrs. Kelly, 60, and her niece, Florence McVey, dead in their room in circumstances that mystery police.

Mrs. Kelly was found hanging from a beam in the basement of her home and Miss McVey lay on the floor, upstairs, her body unmarked and the cause of death unascertainable in the first examination by Dr. M. E. Martin, medical examiner.

The elderly woman, who owned the home was strangled by the use made of telephone wire. Murray, a motorman lives on the second floor of the two-family house. He thought unusual of the collie, "Brownie," was called up, so he released it. Barking excitedly, the dog ran to the basement, Murray following.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Bexar: From a garden sub-irrigated with 300 feet of concrete at a cost of $3.00, Frances King, garden demonstrator of the Valley 4-H Club in Bexar county, raised $98.34 worth of vegetables in 1934, according to the Marie Strange, home demonstration agent. In addition to supplying the family with fresh vegetables she had enough to can 200 quarts. The total cost of her garden was $5.25, including the cost of the tile which she considered a permanent investment.

Rockwell: A net profit of $9.90, was made on six acres of onions in 1934 by T. H. Smith of Rockwell county, according to W. H. Holsey, county agricultural agent. The plants cost $15.00 per acre, and other expenses amounted to $159.45, making a total of $169.45. His total receipts for the crop of the onions was $459.90. The plants were cultivated according to methods outlined by the county agricultural agent.

Ban Lifted; Wheat Farmers Busy

The nation's wheat farmers under AAA contracts sprang into action to plant all available acreage, when Secretary Henry A. Wallace, right, removed all restrictions on 1935 spring wheat planting. Scenes like the above—a Hopper, Wash. farmer seeding his ground—are being enacted throughout the land, to furnish the bumper crop which the AAA hopes will protect the U. S. from shortages resulting from last year's drought which may re-occur in the west this year. Crop increases of 1935 must, however, be offset by corresponding reductions next year, Wallace ruled.

Ruth Harrison Becomes Bride Of Candler Hawkins On Friday

Ceremony Solemnized At Harrison Home In Memphis

A wedding of wide interest was that of Miss Ruth Harrison and Candler Hawkins, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Harrison of Memphis, Friday evening at 8 o'clock, with Rev. O. K. Webb, pastor of the First Baptist Church, reading the impressive ring ceremony in the presence of a few close friends and relatives.

The bride, who entered with her brother, Wendell Harrison, was lovely in a long-sleeved gown of bridal white chiffon, fashioned on slender lines of girlish grace. A single pearl ornament at the throat relieved the beautiful simplicity of the frock. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She wore an heirloom pair of gold earbobs which were worn by her grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Harrison, at her wedding.

Attending the bride was Miss Maxine Christian of Waco, who was Miss Harrison's room mate at Baylor University. She was attired in an exquisite starched lace dress of powder blue, and in contrast to her gown she carried an arm bouquet of butterfly pink rosebuds.

David Ayers Parks of Amarillo, nephew of the groom, served as best man.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins left for a short motor trip in South Texas. For traveling, the bride wore an attractive navy suit with blue fox trimming with hat and accessories to match.

Mrs. Hawkins is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Harrison of Memphis, and a member of one of the most prominent families of the Panhandle. She was reared in Memphis, graduating from the Memphis High School with the class of 1930. Later she attended Baylor University, receiving her B. A. degree. For four years she was secretary and treasurer of her class and last year was elected permanent secretary-treasurer. She was also a member of the Baylor Little Theatre, The Alpha Omega Club and of the 1935 Round Up Staff.

ported for the team and are working out regularly. J. N. Wallace, one of the directors, stated that he believed the team looked better at the opening of the present season than at the opening of the 1934 season.

The line-up for the Memphis game last Sunday included: Raymond Morgan, pitcher; Z. Nealey, catcher; Claude Brown, first base; Alvin Horton, second base; Samy Brown, short-stop; Tarp Newman, third base; Ira Brisbin, left field; Urban Brown, center field; Nig Wilson, right field. After three innings Richard Dillehay relieved Morgan as pitcher and Hog Bailey pitched the two remaining innings of the game. Lewis Morris also substituted for Nealey as catcher during the game.

Announcement was also made, lington with approximately two and one-half miles of pavement remaining to be laid.

Many of the youngsters reporting for the team are showing good work and the 1935 team is composed strictly of Collingsworth County material.

Completion of the road will give residents of this section a direct paving connection to the larger cities of the state, connections with the Fort Worth, Dallas and Amarillo highways at Childress.

County officials are working at the present time to secure a pavement letting toward the north to connect with the paving strip at the Wheeler County line in that direction. Every effort is being made to secure such a letting in order to give Wellington a paved connection with Highway No. 66, which runs through Shamrock.

Extension Leader Will Speak Here Friday, April 5

Agricultural Organization Will Be McMillian's Topic Here Friday

Talk Of Farms

Public Invited To Attend Meeting In Courthouse Here This Week

Sam McMillian, Extension Agricultural Economist, will visit in Collingsworth County and address members of the County Agricultural Organizations on Friday afternoon, March 5, at 2 o'clock, according to the announcement of County Agent John O. Stovall, to-

Other Counties Invited
We are indeed glad to be able to announce that Mr. McMillian will visit in this county," Mr. Stovall said. "He will discuss phases of farm organizations ranging from record book committee to 4-H club work. The county of District 1 are indeed fortunate in getting such a capable to visit them and in helping out with county farm work. McMillian's time will be limited and it will not be possible for him to visit each county in district, therefore an invitation has been extended to all county agents of nearby counties to attend the meeting which will be held here Friday."

County Organizations
Stovall also announced that County Organizations are about complete and the following men of county will be called together for the Friday meeting:

ate Engulfed By Dust Storms

That the fast moving dust storm which swept through this county Saturday was general over the entire state of Texas was reported by Associated Press dispatches.

The storm struck in Wellington at 9:30 o'clock and raged throughout the day. The chill north wind which accompanied the storm continued over this county Sunday.

Further reports regarding the storm were:

The storm, bearing heavy clouds of dust from the stricken mid-West, reached Texline at midnight and during the day spread rapidly to the South and Southeast obscuring the sun in its path. Temperatures fell sharply.

Extends to Gulf Coast

While the West Texas Plains region received the full brunt of the disturbance, weather bureau observers believed the entire state even as far South as the Gulf coast, might be affected to some extent.

Visibility was reduced to a few blocks in West Texas cities, the dust clouds hanging low and seeping into practically every building and home.

Balmy, spring weather had prevailed for several days and housekeepers, with their windows and doors open, were caught unaware by the sudden infiltration of dust.

Wind Velocities Strong

"Old timers," the pioneers who have seen many dust storms rage across the Plains, said they had never seen anything like the current one. They said it climaxed a series of such storms blowing into Texas.

Wind velocities were strong. It blew 32 miles an hour at Fort Worth and gusts were even stronger in the Plains region.

The mercury tumbled to 40 degrees in the North Panhandle as the "norther" blew the storm into the state.

Dunes of dust and sand ranging from one to three feet high, piled up in fields around Levelland, an area that has been extremely dry.

Stars In Unusual Screen Production

Robert Montgomery, Joan Crawford and Clark Gable, pictured above, will be among the list of screen stars featured in "Forsaking All Others," outstanding film which is scheduled to appear at the Ritz Theatre in Wellington with a preview Saturday night and continues through Sunday and Monday. The picture is considered to be one of the most unusual productions released during recent months.

Hail Kills 72 Ducks Near Wheeler

WHEELER—That wild life, even of the winged variety sometimes suffers from the devastations of severe hail storms was proven Saturday by an incident at the Allred place, eight and a half miles west of town. E. C. Allred, who was in town Monday on business, stated that the hail was apparently much heavier in his locality than in Wheeler. After the storm he found 72 dead wild ducks, mostly mallards, on a pond near his home.

Checks Will Be Sent Faster If Farmers Sign Up

All 1934 Contractors Must Cooperate Or Pay Back Money Says Stovall

Stressing the fact that an early completion of all cotton reduction contracts in this county will mean early payment checks for the producers of this county, John O. Stovall, agent, today stated that the local cotton committeemen reported Saturday that they are just about finished with the 1935 contracts.

Part of Work Finished

"However, each one of the committeemen reported that they had a few producers who have not signed up their contracts," Mr. Stovall said. "These contracts should be signed soon as our office is preparing to send them to the state board for review. If they pass the state board the contracts will be in line to be sent to Washington, where they report they are ready to send out checks just as soon as producers sign their 1935 extension agreement. The Washington office will not have to spend weeks and months in tabulation work as part of the work was completed with the 1934 campaign."

Regarding 1934 Contracts

"For each contract signed in 1934, there must be some record of it in a 1935 contract, as the land was signed up for two years, and the Government is expecting the producer to comply with the terms of his agreement when he signed his contract and received his check. Producers who are negligent in getting their 1935 contract completed, are in line for cancellation, and which upon investigation may have to refund all monies received for 1934. It is the duty of each producer to see that his contract is in shape, as there will be no one for him to pass the buck to. The county agent (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 2)

Curious Persons Mutilate Detour Signs in County

Declaring that 108 reflector buttons had been taken from detour signs on Highway 4, under construction across this county, since December 28, Riley Dunson, state highway maintenance engineer, said that if persons wish to know the contents of the buttons he would be glad to show them and avoid destruction of the signs.

"After the curious persons dig the bottoms from the buttons they always throw them down by the signs," Mr. Dunson said, "and for this reason I think they want to know what causes the buttons to reflect. Anyway, if they will just see me I will be glad to show them how the reflector buttons are made."

Mr. Fourmentin Expresses Appreciation For Neighbors' Kindness

The neighbors of Frank Fourmentin Thursday, March 29, gathered at his place with their teams and tools and listed his land. The action resulted after an eight-week illness of Mrs. Fourmentin which left Mr. Fourmentin behind with his work.

Those who gathered at Mr. Fourmentin's place, three miles east and three-fourths of a mile south from the southeast corner of the town section were: Walter Langford, John Watson, W. A. Colson, A. R. Pepper, Leonard Karnes, V. J. Simpson, John Jackson, Marvin Homer, Earl Bowen, Leslie Moore, L. A. Dickey, H. A. Dickey, L. P. Linskey, H. Fourmentin, Frank Light, B. G. Glenn, J. R. Brewer, W. S. James, Ernest Stall, Lloyd Holloway, Henry Vaughan, W. H. Moody, and J. H. Rogers.

Mr. Fourmentin, who was extremely grateful to his friends for their kind act, said: "To each of these men I wish to express my sincere thanks and I want them to know their work was appreciated to the highest extent."

The kindness on the part of the neighbors is one of the pioneer customs which has been handed down from the olden days and shows not only the friendship of the men and women for their neighbor, but also discloses an example of West Texas hospitality upon which the section has grown from barren plains into one of the leading agricultural sections of the state.

Passes Away

Rev. J. T. Hicks, early pastor of this county and builder of first Methodist Church in Wellington, passed away last week at his home in Memphis.

Rev. J. T. Hicks Passes Away At Memphis Home

Pioneer Panhandle Pastor Was Widely Known In This County

Church Builder

Hicks And Myers Were Contractors On First Methodist Church

Death last Friday claimed Rev. J. T. Hicks, one of Collingsworth County's early religious leaders and church builder. Rev. Hicks, who was 71 years of age, died at his home in Memphis, following a two-weeks' illness.

Early Church Builder

Rev. Hicks will be remembered by scores of persons over this county as a pioneer pastor and church builder in this county. He also preached in this county in the early days. Rev. Hicks and P. W. Myers were the contractors for the erection of the first Methodist Church in Wellington, which was built in 1899 on the site of the present church building. The old church was used for 20 years before it became too small in 1909.

Following the erection of the old church building Rev. Hicks was elected pastor in 1901 and served in this capacity until 1903. He had also preached in this county previous to that time. After leaving Wellington, Rev. Hicks served as pastor in several churches and then returned here in 1925 as pastor of the local Methodist Church. He served during 1925 and 1926 and in the fall of 1926 went to Pampa; it was during the same year that he suffered a paralysis stroke and returned to Memphis, where he retired as an active pastor.

Served In Panhandle
Rev. Hicks held pastorates in a dozen or more Panhandle cities during his 27 years active work (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 2)

Kiwanis To Meet At San Antonio

San Antonio, Texas, has been selected by Kiwanis for its 1935 International convention which will be held May 19-23. This is the first time during their 20 conventions that they have selected a city in the southwest for their convention town.

A large attendance is expected in San Antonio from the 1890 clubs throughout the United States and Canada and whose entire membership is upwards of 100,000. Reservations are already fast coming in to the convention headquarters at the Gunter Hotel in San Antonio.

Kiwanis International is composed of business and professional men of the United States and Canada. The movement began in 1914 in Detroit, Michigan. Kiwanis is a coined name suggested by the Indian word, "Kee-wan-is" which implies self expression. In 1916 the organization became a national group and during the next year it extended into Canada justifying its present official name of Kiwanis International.

Among the objectives of the group the ones that have probably received the most concrete evidence is service which the clubs have extended to the underprivileged children throughout the country, the community betterment. Kiwanis is keeping in touch with present day problems through work being done by special new committees on "Directive Education for the New Leisure," "Economy and Efficiency in Public Schools," "Economy and Efficiency in Local Government."

The motto of the organization, "We Build" is exemplified by a constructive program of definite, tangible enterprises. Hundreds of its activities which are annual undertakings are permanent contributions to the welfare of the respective communities concerned.

Among cities which have previously had international conventions are Toronto, Los Angeles, Detroit, (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 2)

Advertising On Wheels

Novel, indeed, is the tie-up campaign for Conoco, sponsored by Tracy-Locke-Dawson Advertising Agency. Perhaps you have seen dealer cars and trucks right in Collingsworth County with duplicates of advertisements appearing in the Wellington Leader plastered on them. Each of the cars are entered in a contest which will reward winners, including 48 states, a total of $4,750.

Watch Your Conoco Dealer's Car For One Of Today's Unique Tie-Ups

One of the most unusual and dramatic ways ever conceived to exploit the use of newspaper advertising has been adopted by the Continental Oil Company. A novel contest has been inaugurated whereby during the coming Spring months cars and trucks will be seen on the streets and highways of some forty states plastered in hodge-podge compelling fashion reprints of Continental's newspaper advertisements.

In addition to the circulation of ten million that Continental Oil Company gets for its advertising by using 1,363 daily and weekly newspapers, Continental's advertisements through this unique stunt will do double duty this Spring.

The unique appearance of Continental cars and trucks not only serves to call attention to the Conoco campaign now running in the newspapers, but also reminds Conoco salesmen of the tremendous number of car owners who read about Conoco products throughout the year in their newspapers.

It is estimated that more than 3,000 cars and trucks will participate in the stunt. Aside from these company-owned and operated vehicles, it is expected that a good percentage of the 22,000 Conoco dealers will likewise participate.

Continental is one of the Country's largest users of newspaper advertising and gives this medium a large share of the credit in achieving an increase of 60 per cent in sales of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil since April, 1934.

Continental this year is celebrating its sixtieth anniversary. It began operations in Ogden, Utah in 1875. From a small distributor of Kerosene and lubricants long before the advent of the motor car it has grown into one of the nation's leading oil companies.

Control Of Wind Erosion Encouraged By Agricultural Specialist At Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex.—Means of controlling wind erosion, many of which are in use on the college farms, according to A. H. Leidigh, dean of the Division of Agriculture at Texas Technological College, should be employed now by the farmer. By cultivating enough moisture is in the soil and the granular surface mulch is conducive to erosion than powdery mulch during dry weather and the character and size of the clods or projectors catch the drifting particles of soil.

Methods Considered
But when the soil is unusually dry some moisture may be employed when cultivating that are less likely to further soil erosion. Some of these controls of wind erosion used when tillage operations produce a powdery surface mulch instead of a granular mulch include the retention of original sod, use of windbreaks, late spring listing, rotation of crops, only occasional removal of corn stalks or other plant residues, use of manure, strip farming, and center-furrowing.

Wind erosion preventatives for soil that is of finer structure include: the leaving of occasional rows of milo or other grain sorghum uncut across the field; the planting of two or three heavily seeded rows of milo across wheat fields and other open land; the careful use of the lister on blow lands following a rain, and center furrowing.

Could Use Lands

In many cases under present conditions of supply and demand for agricultural products, it is apparent that limited acres of blow soils in some regions might just as well not be in cultivated crop. The problem of getting the land back into grass is very difficult on account of low rainfall. Mere abandonment of cultivation will not serve to solve this problem. Perhaps the best approach to a solution is first to create narrow strips of crop residues across the field such as may be secured by leaving sorghum after they have ripened. Between these areas, if good tillage is practiced, Buffalo grass may be started on the heavier soils, and on lighter soils Sudan grass or millet may be seeded and then the land abandoned with this ripened crop left to form the fallen plant residues and stubble.

New Grass Named
In the southern part of the Great Plains about the only grass that can be readily grown is Andropogon Saccharides, which is a native perennial grass found in large amounts on abandoned land in all of the Texas Panhandle. This grass has been very successfully planted from the seed at Texas Technological College, and is undoubtedly going to be one of the best plants for re-seeding purposes, according to Dean Leidigh.

The First "Alloyed Oil"

—for better lubrication of today's high-speed, alloy-steel motors!

Alloyed by the Germ Process

Just as the metallurgist adds small amounts of other metals to make special alloy steels, so we add small quantities of a concentrated oily essence to highly-refined, paraffin-base motor oil. This Germ Processing, discovered and patented by Continental scientists, gives Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil lubricating qualities no other oil has.

YOUR motor is built of parts made of special alloy metals. Car manufacturers and metallurgists worked together to produce metal alloys strong and durable enough to withstand the greatly increased pressures and temperatures of the modern motor.

Oils, too, must withstand these pressures and temperatures and they must have extra oiliness and film strength to do it. Yet oils generally have no more oiliness and film strength than they had ten years ago. And many new refining methods now used to make oils free from carbon and sludge have lowered instead of increased oiliness and film strength!

Continental, pioneering as it has pioneered for 60 years, has developed the first alloyed oil—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil! It is custom-made for high-speed, alloy-steel motors. It has 2 to 4 times the film strength of straight mineral oil, as tests on the Timken machine have proved! It has more oiliness than any oil has naturally. It penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, forming a permanent lubricating film—the "Hidden Quart." It is a pure, clean oil, free from carbon and sludge troubles. It gives extraordinary mileage as well as motor protection, as proved by the Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Say "O. K.—Drain"—fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and you will have the finest lubrication you can buy!

Texas History Series

Letters Show That Cotton Trade Flourished In Early Texas Days

AUSTIN, Texas—It was not long after Texas won her independence from Mexico that thriving businesses of various kinds were established in the new republic. One of the earliest and most extensive of these, and one which projected itself not only through the lifetime of the founders, but through succeeding generations, was the mercantile house of Cartwright.

Early Texas Merchants
Matthew Cartwright was born in ... county, Tenn., November 11, 1807. He came to Texas with his parents in 1825, settling on a farm four miles east of the present site of San Augustine. In October 1836, he was married to a neighbor girl, Amanda Holman. Sometime before his marriage he and his father entered the merchandising business together, he later buying out his father's interest and continuing oper, John Cartwright, on the occasion of their renewing their partnership after a lapse of some time.

Early Business Letters

"Municipality of San Augustine. An agreement made and entered into this March the 15th, eighteen hundred and thirty-five: Be it known that John Cartwright and Matthew Cartwright of aforesaid municipality and state have this day agreed to put in an equal capital of thirty-five hundred dollars each and renew the firm of M. Cartwright & Company for the term of one year for the purpose of carrying on a mercantile house in the town of San Augustine and any other speculation that may be agreed on by the parties. Conditions as follows: Matthew Cartwright agrees to take charge of the business of said firm and attend to it in every capacity according to its interests, with diligence and industry; in consideration of which, John Cartwright agrees to pay him five hundred dollars at the expiration of said firm—The goods and merchandise remaining on hand belonging to M. Cartwright & Co. are put in to the new firm at six hundred dollars. The firm agrees to receive of John Cartwright lot No. 147 and corner half of No. 145 in the town of San Augustine; at two hundred and fifty dollars as part of his stock. Either party failing to furnish his amount of stock to go into operation with said firm agrees to procure it on his credit by said party paying the amount at any time of the firm with fifteen percent interest, from the time of procuring said amount.

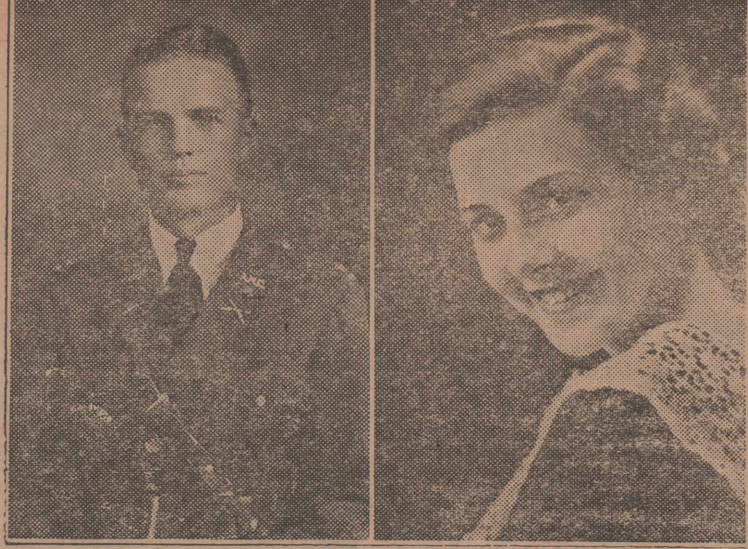

"It is agreed that the firm shall take the buildings on lot No. 145 and pay for them and all improvements that may be made on them. "Either of the parties shall have merchandise or goods for special use and consumption at a discount of twenty-five percent on the regular retail price.

"M. Cartwright agrees to discount out of the amount to be paid him by J. Cartwright for the time that said J. Cartwright may have to attend to said business in M. Cartwright's absence.

"The conditions of the foregoing contract being complied with, the said John Cartwright and M. Cartwright shall be equally interested in all the property and effects belonging to said firm of M. Cartwright & Co.

Early Cotton Trade

Another of the Cartwright papers in the University of Texas collection affords a revealing glimpse of the early trade in cotton, from the first one of Texas' major industries. It is a letter adressed to M. Cartwright and Company, and came from a New Orleans firm of brokers, Peyroux Arcueil & Company. Dated December 10, 1838, it reads as follows:

"We have not replied to your Mr. Cartwright's favor dated Natchitoches 1, September, ere this in consequence of the interruption of the navigation of red river, but having learnt that the water communication with Natchitoches is now reestablished we hasten to inform you of the due reception of that letter together with the three enclosed remittance of a certificate of deposit of the City Bank for one thousand dollars the proceeds of which we place to your credit. The pressure in our money market still continues to exist notwithstanding our favorable anticipations and although nothing would be more agreeable to us, as to be able to wait until it may be quite convenient for you, to make us remittances, we find ourselves forced to crave your earliest activity on that subject. Texas Treasury notes instead of improving in value are lower now than formerly and we see them quoted 50 to 55 and 61 discount. We would therefore advise you not to lose any opportunity which might offer of disposing of those you hold at a reasonable sacrifice. Our cotton market is very firm and prime cotton fetch 14 readily whilst ordinary middling are selling at from 11 to 12 1-2 good at 13. As the navigation is now open as far up as Shreveport we would be very glad if you could make an arrangement for an early shipment in that commodity and would even advise you to take cottons for your treasury notes whenever you can do so with advantage. Prices are not likely to decline much this season and may perhaps be much higher for even now there appears to be a tendency upwards."

West Texas Lake Estimated To Be Worth Over $10,000,000, Discovered

LUBBOCK, Texas—An enormous surface deposit of sodium sulphate, popularly known as "crazy crystals," has been found at Frost lake, nine miles west of O'Donnell, Lynn county. Its value has been estimated at from one to ten million dollars, according to Dr. W. M. Craig, professor of chemistry at Texas Technological College. Dr. Craig and Rector Roberts found the deposit recently during a field trip while studying the saline lakes of West Texas.

Besides sodium sulphate the water was found to contain magnesium sulphate (epsom salts), sodium chloride, potassium chloride, and some lithium chloride which is a rare alkali salt. Sodium sulphate is also used in large quantities in the production of Kraft paper, glass, rayon, in the dye industry, and for making washing and baking soda.

Roberts is doing research work on the saline lakes of the south plains to obtain thesis material for his master of science degree. He has made spectrographic, gravimetric, and volumetric analysis of the water and materials of five lakes within a 100-mile radius of Lubbock.

Dr. Craig is to report on this research at a meeting of the Southwestern Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Santa Fe, New Mexico, March 30 to April 2.

Larger Acreage Than Last Year Seen For 1935

Area To Be About 285,775 Acres Not Including Cotton To Be Planted

WASHINGTON—The A A A Wednesday lifted restrictions on the planting of spring wheat.

A larger crop acreage this year than in 1933 and 1934 was indicated Wednesday by the Department of Agriculture. In a report on planting intentions, it is said the national total of eighteen important crops, not including cotton, was expected to be about 285,775,000 acres this year compared with 244,486,000 actually harvested last season and 277,890,000 in 1933.

The indicated acreage for 1935, is, however, materially less than the 302,137,000 acres harvested in 1932 when drought did not cause heavy abandonment of growing of crops.

The nation's farmers have reported to the Department of Agriculture they intend to plant corn this year on an area equal to 95,692,000 acres for harvest and that spring wheat plantings will be on an area equal to 17,847,000 acres for harvest.

Last year's corn harvested acreage was 87,486,000 and produced 1,380,718,000 bushels, the smallest crop since 1881 because of the severe drought. The 1933 harvested acreage was 103,260,000 with production 2,351,658,000 (billions) bushels, and the 1932 acreage 108,668,000, with production 2,906,873,000 (billions) bushels.

Troubled

Troubled with a problem, which has only one heart-breaking solution, are Josephine Hutchinson and George Brent, featured in Warner Bros.' "The Right To Live," playing at the Ritz Theatre Friday.

Last spring's wheat harvested acreage was 9,290,000 with production 91,435,000 bushels. The 1933 harvested acreage was 19,425,000 producing 178,183,000 bushels and the 1932 acreage 21,898,000, producing 267,497,000 bushels.

Of the proposed spring wheat acreage, that to be planted to durum wheat is 2,042,000 acres and to other spring wheat, 15,805,000 acres.

Papa Of Quints To Be Pensioned By Government

TORONTO, Ontario.—David A. Croll, Ontario Minister of Public Welfare, said this week the government has under consideration extensive plans looking toward the care of the entire family of Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne as well as their quintuplet daughters.

The Minister, who piloted the guardianship bill respecting the quintuplets through the Legislature, said much improvement on the present Dionne home is planned. All wants of the family such as food and clothing will be provided and Dionne will receive a monthly allowance sufficient to take care of incidental expenses.

The government also has under consideration means to provide educational facilities for the five older children. Last winter those of school age were unable to attend school because of snow covered roads. The children now speak only French and it is planned to teach them English.

The government is also considering improvements to the Defoe Hospital that may include a large glass-covered solarium where tourists and visitors will be able to see the quintuplets.

While plowing on his farm near Turlock, Calif., Dave Carlson turned up an 1877 dollar. He took it to town and exchanged it for $2 worth of chicken feed.

More Charters Granted And Fewer Firms Fail In February Of 1935

AUSTIN, Tex.—New charters granted to Texas Corporations during February increased in comparison with the corresponding month last year, both in number and capitalization, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. There was, however, a sharp drop from the previous month.

"Reports from the office of Secretary of State give a total of 143 new corporations, a decline of 23 per cent from the previous month but an increase of 10 per cent over February last year, while total capitalization of $1,569,000 was 48 per cent below that of January but 22 per cent above February a year ago," the Bureau's report said. "All classes of corporations showed a decline in the number of new charters granted as compared with January. But in comparison with February last year, there was a sharp increase in the number granted manufacturing, banking-finance, and real estate-building concerns."

Modern Ford "Schools On Wheels" Is Held At Collingsworth Motor Co.

A modern adaption of the "little red schoolhouse"—this time in the form of a traveling school for motor car mechanics—rolled into Wellington yesterday. It was housed in a trim Ford V-8 DeLuxe panel truck, equipped for mechanical demonstrations of the proper methods of servicing Ford cars of all types. Headquarters during its stay here will be at Collingsworth Motor Co., local Ford dealer.

The "School on wheels," which is under the direction of the Oklahoma City branch of the Ford Motor Company, is similar in theory to many new traveling schools which "carry the school to the student." The school truck is equipped with tools of every description to illustrate the most modern methods of motor car servicing employed by Ford dealers. Heading this equipment is the "Ford Laboratory Test Set." This latest development to automotive science is claimed to eliminate all chances of guesswork in diagnosing motor and electrical troubles.

Sixty-four such traveling schools, two in each Ford Branch territory in the United States, have been inaugurated by the Ford Motor Company for the benefit of Ford owners. Classes which are being conducted daily in all parts of the country are under the direction of a factory representative charged with the task of visiting Ford dealers for the purpose of instructing their mechanics in latest approved methods of servicing and maintenance.

Visitors Will Marvel At Displays In Tech Engineering Show April 5-6

(Editor's Note: The following account of the Texas Tech Engineering Show was submitted by John Henry Baumgardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baumgardner, who is a student at Texas Tech.)

LUBBOCK.—Visitors at the seventh annual Engineering Show at Texas Technological College April 5 and 6 will not only be amazed by some of the exhibits, they will be instructed by others, and entertained thoroughly by novel experiments and displays arranged by students. Guests of the engineering division at its show will view transmission of power by radio, or wireless transmission of power. An ordinary incandescent globe will be lighted without wires attached to it in any way. They will see their voices carried on a beam of light; will drink at the "Lazy Man's fountain," where they will only have to bend over to start the flow of water, controlled by a photo-electric cell; they will see fire without fuel, a gas flame burning without any connections whatsoever connected to the jet, will observe water flowing out of a hydrant hanging from the ceiling by only a copper wire.

These guests will witness steel being melted by placing it in a bucket of water, and then will see the same piece of steel being cooled in the same bucket of water. The two and one-half million volt Tesla coil will be in operation again this year after being worked over by the students since last year's show.

Unlike previous years the show begins in the mechanical engineering shops where one sees raw materials made into finished products, both in metal and woodwork. All of the machinery will be in full operation, lathes turning out miniature gavel for souvenirs, milling machines, grinder, power hack saw, shaper, new cast iron cupola, and other machines for wood and metal construction, gas and electric welding apparatus, forging and metal polishing. From the shops the guests will be conducted to Tech's power plant, from which every building on the campus receives its steam heat and electric power.

Perhaps the most interesting of all of the exhibits to the guests will be watching the raw products, cotton, wool, silk, and rayon, carried through a complete process to the finished products. From the carding machine, through the spinning machine to the spoolers, from the spoolers to the twisters, and back to the spoolers, the cotton goes being carded, spun, and twisted into yarn, then slashed or treated with starch to facilitate weaving. The yarn is wound on a beam and after being drawn into the harness is placed on the loom ready for weaving. In the weaving room one sees many different types of cloth being made such as toweling, duck, suiting, tablecloth, upholstery fabric, and fancy woven designs. Also hand looms will be in operation weaving the same type of suiting used in making the suit presented President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner, Governor Allred, and Congressman George Mahon by the college. The wool in the material was obtained from sheep raised on the campus by the agricultural division, and the material made entirely in the textile engineering department.

The mechanical engineering department in the main engineering building will be hosts next, displaying modern types of machinery, an ice plant, boilers, a miniature engine made by students in that department, a Liberty 450 horsepower airplane motor, and many types of experimental machinery used in the laboratory.

Tech Press, the college-owned and student-operated printing plant, will be open for inspection, the clay modeling laboratory of the architectural department should be of interest to many, as should the civil engineering laboratories with the testing machinery crushing concrete blocks and breaking steel bars, miniature dams, bridges, and roadways. Blue-printing and engineering drawing projects will attract the visitors to the department of engineering drawing and industrial engineering.

Problems in design, water color, pen and ink, working drawings, and other work of architectural engineering students will be on exhibit in that department.

The sixth annual show of last year attracted 6,320 people of the Great Plains area, while the show of the first year drew only a crowd of about 1,000. Fred Fairly, general manager of the show, states that they are expecting a record attendance this year. The Inter-scholastic league meet of district three will be held here at the time of the show, and representatives to the meet are given special invitations to attend the annual free show.

FORD V-8

SALES LEAD

In Collingsworth County for 1935

37 New Fords Since January 1st

The universal appeal of the New Ford V-8 is best attested by its sales since the first of the year. Since that time 37 New Fords Have Been Sold And Delivered by this company. More Fords have been sold than any other make. In addition 5 other V-8's have been sold but not delivered.

In a Class by Itself

We base the leadership of the Ford V-8 in this county upon the fact that there is no way to compare the Ford V-8 with any other car. There is no other car like it. The Ford V-8 is in a class by itself.

Ford supremacy in this section can also be allied with the fact that the V-8 is especially well adapted to the needs of the people of Collingsworth County. Its big, roomy interior and above all things its easy riding comforts have done much to establish its supremacy. Naturally, the V-8 engine, which has been tried and proven, time after time, also accounts for its popularity.

In Fine Class Performance

The V-8 enables you to step up into fine-car class in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. But there is no stepping up in the price.

That is kept down by Ford low-profit policies and unique manufacturing methods. These are as different as the car itself.

Eight Cylinder Power

It takes eight cylinders to give the modern performance you need these days. The Ford is powered by a V-8 —

The finest type of eight-cylinder engine. You have to pay more than $2000 for that in any other car.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL

Next year Texas will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its declaration of independence, which was signed March 2, 1836, during the short war which resulted in freedom from Mexican rule. An exposition commemorating the event will be held in Dallas.

When Mexico secured its independence of Spain in 1821, Texas was Mexican territory, but was being rapidly colonized by settlers from the United States. This colonization was not looked upon with favor by the Mexican government, and drastic laws were passed against which the American pioneers rebelled.

Principal battles of the war which followed were the siege and slaughter of the entire garrison of the Alamo at San Antonio in February, 1836, by the Mexicans under their president, Santa Anna, and the battle of San Jacinto on April 21 of the same year, in which Santa Anna was defeated and taken prisoner by the Texans under General Sam Houston.

In September, 1836, a constitution for the Republic of Texas was adopted and Sam Houston became president. The state was admitted as one of the United States in 1845.

Dallas was chosen as the centennial city over Houston and San Antonio, having offered greater inducements, including a fair site and $3,500,000. The state and Federal governments are expected to furnish $5,000,000 each for the exposition.

AN ALL-STAR CABINET

An interesting, if not particularly edifying indoor sport is that of picking all-star and all-American teams in football, baseball and other athletic activities. This practice has been varied slightly by a prominent magazine, which has attempted to select the most capable government administration, drawing from all who have held the positions considered.

In all such enterprises there will be a difference of opinion, but there are the magazine's selections, with dates of taking office:

President George Washington, 1789.
Vice-President, Theodore Roosevelt, in 1901.
Secretary of State, John Hay, 1898.
Secretary of the Treasury, Alexander Hamilton, 1789.
Secretary of War, Elihu Root, 1899.
Secretary of Navy, William C. Whitney, 1885.
Attorney-General, Roger B. Tanney, in 1831.
Postmaster-General, Amos Kendall, in 1835.
Secretary of the Interior, Franklin K. Lane, 1913.
Secretary of Agriculture, James Wilson, 1897.

Secretary of Commerce, Herbert C. Hoover, 1921.

There having been only four to hold the office of secretary of labor, none of whom has been particularly distinguished, no choice was made.

Students of American history may amuse themselves by looking up the records of executives who have held the offices named and improving on the list given if they can.

FOOLISH NOTIONS

According to the eminent scientist and writer, Dr. Albert E. Wiggam, most popular notions, if not the result of scientific investigation, are almost always wrong. Among the popular beliefs which he cites as being entirely without foundation are the following:

That one can predict any future events by the stars;

That opposites marry each other;

That the sight of a red flag will madden a bull;

That Betsy Ross designed the American flag;

That baldheadedness is due to wearing tight hatbands;

That beauty and stupidity go together;

That cousins should not marry;

That women are not logical but intuitive;

That there is such a thing as undertow;

That child prodigies are usually frail and neurotic;

That fast workers make more mistakes than "slow but sure workers."

He does cite as correct, however, the widespread belief that men are better drivers of automobiles than are women, for the psychologist Vitelles and his colleagues have shown by prolonged study that "women have twice as many accidents a mile as men and the accidents cost three times as much."

EARLY MILITARY BANDS

It is a far cry from the first American military bands to the splendid organizations such as the Marine, Army and Navy bands stationed in Washington and heard over the radio several times each week.

According to a recent writer, the Marine band originally numbered only eight men, the instrumentation being two oboes, two clarinets, two French horns, one bassoon and one drum.

The band of the Military Academy at West Point began with a larger number, having five clarinets, two flutes, two French horns, one bassoon, one trombone, one trumpet, one bugle and one drum, 14 in all.

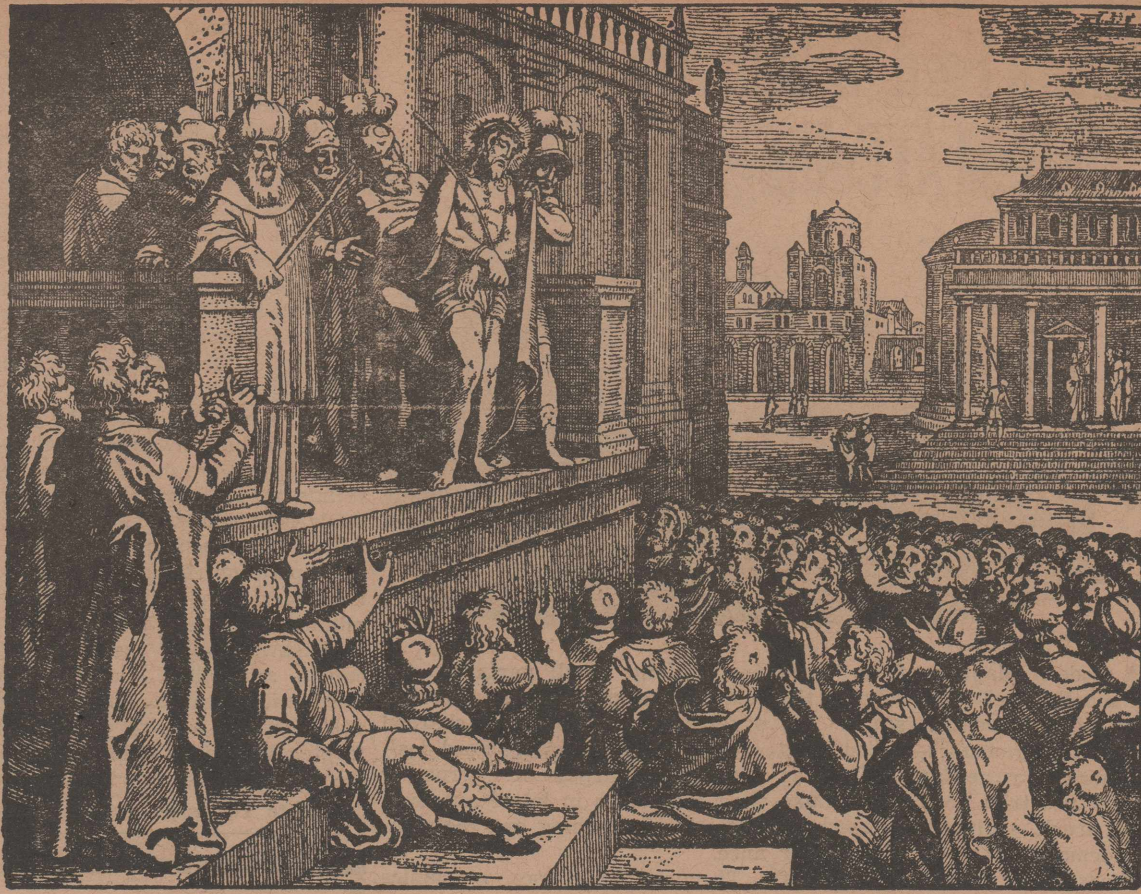

The preponderance of woodwind instruments in these first small bands seems strange in view of their employment in military ceremonies, but that was before the saxhorn family of cornets, altos, tenors, baritone and basses had been invented.

Just 100 years ago, in 1835, bands of 10 men were authorized for the various regiments, and in 1845 the strength of regimental bands was increased to 16. At present there are about 75 regimental bands of some 30 musicians each.

The music of these organizations adds greatly to the life of military posts at which they are stationed, as well as to the entertainment of the civilian population in the vicinity.

It makes a frugal person sad to think of all the good down-town parking spaces that go to waste between 2 and 4 o'clock a. m.

"And when they had platted a crown of thorns, they put it upon His head, and a reed in His right hand; and they bowed the knee before Him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews! OUR PAST

By C. C. BISHOP

District court was in session in Bastrop when the news came that the bill for the annexation of Texas had passed the United States congress and received the approval of President Polk.

Judge Robert E. B. Baylor, who was presiding, in announcing the glad tidings, quoted Chief Justice Marshall as saying that "No man should be considered drunk on Independence Day, so long as he could pronounce the word, 'Epsom,'" and added that in his opinion the same rule should apply to that occasion; and he therefore adjourned court till 10 o'clock the next morning, that they might celebrate.

In the absence of cannons they brought out all the anvils the town could muster, and taking up a collection to pay for powder proceeded to get all the noise possible out of them.

Had there been any Indians anywhere in hearing they would probably have gotten away from that vicinity in short order.

Judge Baylor being a Baptist preacher, made a full hand with the other boys, no record is available as to whether or not the Judge stopped at Epsom, but all were on hand at court at ten the next morning.

The first and most difficult step had been toward statehood had been achieved, but the end was a long way off. President Polk signed the bill on March 1, 1835. On May 5th, President Jones called a convention to meet in Austin on the 4th of July to consider the proposition, which was submitted to the people on Oct. 13, and being almost unanimously indorsed, then went back to the United States congress for final action, receiving the approval of President Polk on the 29th of December.

The state constitution had been promulgated, the first governor elected and it was only needed to set the new machinery in motion, to touch the button, as it were.

The first legislature met on the 16th of February, 1846, and three days later the curtain fell on the last, and in many respects, the most touching scene in the brief drama of the republic, when Anson Jones, its last president, standing on the steps of the old capitol, lowered the old flag from the mast and reverently furling it, announced amidst breathless silence, "The Republic of Texas is no more."

Many a head was bowed, many a broad chest heaved, and many a manly cheek was wet with tears when that broad field of blue in the center of which, like a signal light, glowed the lone star, emblem of the sovereignty of Texas, was furled and laid away among the relics of the dead republic.

Most of the people present were natives of the United States, and when the stars and stripes, the flag of their fathers, was run up and catching the breeze unrolled its heaven born colors to the light, cheer after cheer rent the air.

Stephen F. Austin that has so fittingly been called the father of Texas had died ten years preceding this event, but on this death bed while in a delirious condition had stated Texas has been recog-

Text: John, 14:8-24

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 7.

Thirteen lessons upon the subject of great Christian teachings and purposes, ending with a temperance lesson of "Liberty Under Law," begins a new quarter with this lesson.

The first of these great teachings concerns the Heavenly Father. This is basic in the teaching of Jesus and in the conception of Christianity.

If we examine carefully all that Jesus did and taught, we shall find that primarily what He brought to the world was not a command, but a gospel. The first and primary thing in His teaching was not to tell men that they should love God or that they should love one another, but to tell them that there was a Heavenly father who loved them.

It is the story of the love that God has for us that constitutes the gospel, and this story and this message were inherent in everything that Jesus did and said.

This does not mean that our love to God is less a privilege and duty, or that man's love to his fellowmen is in any way of less importance. On the contrary, our love to God and our love to our fellow men are alike in harmony with and in expression of the love that God has toward us. John makes this very clear when he says, "If God so loved us, we ought also to love one another."

How do we know that there is a Heavenly Father who loves us? This was the question that was troubling Philip when he came to Jesus and said, "Lord, showeth us the Father, and it sufficeth us."

Jesus did not answer him in vague or philosophical terms. He said that the evidences of God's love and goodness were in the love and goodness that we find in human life, especially in His own life given over so completely to doing the Father's will that men might behold in Him the reality of God.

It is important to grasp this.

With all their conferences, European nations probably should be termed "The Great Powwowers."

In Kansas, it's an ill wind that blows no land away.

Roosevelt Approves Law Curb-ing War Gain.—Headline. Another profit without honor in its own land.

With chemicals, a Schenectady scientist produced the light of a firefly at a cost of $25. Until the rate drops a bit, the fly will probably have to continue furnishing its own illumination.

Like Indiana, New York will forbid suits for breach of promise. From now on, in those states, it won't be a case of man changing his mind at so much a change.

Sam Herman, 70, a farmer near Stratford, Ont., lost the sight of Jesus never made religion a thing apart from life, or the relation of it something apart from human character and conduct. God is not remote from man, but He is in man, and it is in the goodness in human life, finding its culmination in Jesus—the one supremely good—that we find the evidence of God.

We believe in the sun because it gives us light. So beholding the light that is in Jesus, we believe in the Sun of Righteousness and Love and Truth. There is a glory of God that permeates the world, and we cannot see how Jesus lived for His fellow men, loved them, and died for them, without believing that there is a Father of Love, of whose love this is the manifestation.

So Jesus said to Philip, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father." Jesus goes on in this simple effective sermon to Philip and the disciples to emphasize what such faith in God and such vision of Him means.

They are linked with a belief in God's essential provision of His children and with the conception of prayer in which the relation of God is so close and clear, that the disciples asks in the name of Jesus for what he needs for his spiritual life and sustenance. Life becomes above all things a keeping of the commandments of Jesus in love, because in so doing one dwells in the love of God.

But this life of the Christian in faith in a Heavenly Father is not one-sided. The Father gives to His children through the Holy Spirit the sense of communion and guidance. Jesus taught clearly the reality of the Divine Spirit that abides in man and that enriches his life through love.

It is a wonderful saying of Jesus, worthy of much pondering and of taking deeply into our lives, "If a man love Me, he will keep my word: and My Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him."

To realize that is the fullness of faith and the greatest richness of life.

Wellington Shop Has Agency For New Shelvador

Gammel and Taylor State
New Machine Offers
Many Advantages

Announcement that they have taken over the sales and service of Crosley Shelvador refrigerators in Collingsworth County was recently made by Austin Gammel and V. L. Taylor of the Wellington Radio and Electric Shop.

"The immense popularity of the Crosley Shelvador has been definitely proven by the sweeping success it has enjoyed during the two years it has been on the market," the dealers stated. "The Shelvador for 1935 presents everything the owner of a modern refrigerator can ask. We considered several lines before assuming the Shelvador and our choice, just like hundreds of buyers, turned to the modern Shelvador for efficiency and service."

The dealers also said that the added feature of a shelf on the inside of the Shelvador—from which the machine gets its name—is a patented feature for which the company paid a woman $50,000 and have since paid her immense sums in royalties. In addition to the unusual storage capacity of the Shelvador, other features of quick freezing, electric temperature control and quiet, vibrationless operation.

The new Shelvador for 1934 is now on display at the shop located in the post office building.
