Family dispute results in murder

DIGGING AWAY—The construction of the drainage system on NW 11th and NW12th Streets began last week. Traffic was temporarily blocked on these streets as well as the Country Club entrance while the pipe was being laid. These drainage pipes will discharge 1,000 gallons of water per minute along NW 11th Street. The new drainage system should help alleviate the problem of flooding on the streets during downpours.

A 35-year-old Dimmitt woman has been charged with murder following the stabbing death of her 27-year-old brother-in-law late Sunday night in Dimmitt.

Robbie Mae Ewing was arrested Monday at 3:14 a.m. and was charged with the murder of Glen Wayne Odell Worsham. She remains in Castro County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

The incident arose from a family dispute, according to reports, and the suspect was also stabbed in the altercation. She was treated for a knife wound in her left side.

Police responded to a call of a "possible shooting" at Third and Belsher at 11:56 p.m. Sunday.

Upon arrival at the scene, officers found Worsham leaning over the steering wheel of his pickup. Reports indicate he was stabbed in the area of his left shoulder. He also suffered cuts on his left wrist and hand.

The victim was taken to Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt by ambulance, but was pronounced dead by Castro County Justice of the Peace Marshall Young at 2:40 a.m. Monday.

Official cause of death is being withheld pending results of an autopsy performed by Dr. Ralph Erdmann of Lubbock, but Young said he expects a ruling of homicide within five or six days.

Castro County fair opens Harvest Days celebration

This year's Harvest Days coordinators have traveled Around The World searching for new activities to make the 1990 county celebration the best ever, and this year's festivities get underway today (Thursday) with the Castro County Fair.

Fair entries are due at the Expo Building today between 1 and 5 p.m.

On Friday, Aug. 17, fair exhibits and the arts and crafts show will be open for viewing. Special tours for senior citizens, a Mexican cooking demonstration, quilt demonstration, pet show and sheepdog demonstration also are scheduled throughout the day.

The "big events" take place Saturday, with the parade, Early Settlers' Reunion, games, horseshoe and volleyball tournaments and live music highlighting the day's activities. Other activities throughout the day include a gymnastics exhibition from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; water polo on SE Third, behind Lane Dirt Co. (after the parade); and an open house, lemonade and surrey rides at the Castro County Museum from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A new highlight this year is the "Great Duck Race," which will begin with preliminary heats at 1 p.m. Saturday. The finals are scheduled at 4 p.m.

A square dance and barbecue supper catered by Dyer's Barbecue are scheduled to conclude the day's activities.

Five-year-olds must be enrolled in kindergarten

A recent state school board ruling mandates that a six-year-old child can not be placed below the first grade level.

If your child is five years old on or before Sept. 1, your child needs to be enrolled as a kindergarten student for the 1990-91 school year because that child will have to be enrolled as a first grader for the 1991-92 school year, according to the mandate.

According to Larry Garcia, regional program director in charge of accreditation at the Texas Education Agency, a child may not be held back, or held out of school a year, and enter below the first grade level the next year.

Don't forget: the Harvest Days Parade will be at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, instead of 11 o'clock as in past years. Form-up will begin at 9.

You especially don't want to forget that if you've spent the last two weekends working on a float!

It was only after a lot of agonizing and gnashing of teeth that the Follies planners called off this year's show.

It wasn't the first time the show has ever been called off. But the Follies always manages to come back.

The Follies variety show is an old tradition in Dimmitt. But it isn't a continuous tradition.

I used to sing in it when I was a kid. (Does anybody still remember Tree in the Meadow?) Back then, in

Families of military wait, wonder, worry

Many local families are waiting for word of whether their sons and daughters in military service are in Saudi Arabia now.

As the massive US troop buildup along the Saudi-Iraqi border continues, parents here are trying to stay in closer contact. But it's still mainly a game of "wait, wonder and worry."

The wondering is over for at least one local family.

Army Pvt. Brac Wardlaw of Dimmitt is scheduled to leave soon from Fort Hood with the 1st/82nd Field Artillery, according to his parents, Mike and Kay Wardlaw.

Sp-4 David Mohon of Dimmitt, a helicopter maintenance crew chief with the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C., may already be in Saudi Arabia or on his way, according to his parents, Wayne and Faye Mohon.

"He had told us earlier that rumors were all they were hearing at that time," Mrs. Mohon said, "but now we haven't heard from him since a week ago Monday. We just assume that he's over there, but we don't really know."

Pfc. Scott Killough of Dimmitt is in a "first wave" unit as a member of the 2nd/75th Ranger Battalion, and took part in the US troop involvement in Panama last year. However, his parents, James and Rhonda Killough, said he was still at his base at Fort Lewis, Wash., earlier this week.

"I talked to him Tuesday night," Mrs. Killough said, "but you never know what's going to happen, or when. One day you can call them, and the next day their phones are cut off and they're gone."

Pfc. Chad Yokum of Dimmitt, who also is stationed at Fort Lewis, is scheduled to complete X-ray technician's school next Wednesday.

"He's supposed to have a 30-day leave starting next Wednesday," said his mother, Vicki Yokum. "I hope he'll get to take it."

Local families with sons or daughters in the military are urged to contact the News with information as they receive it—especially mailing addresses—for the benefit of local friends who would like to stay in touch.

IF YOU WANT TO WIN, you have to learn to swim. A group of youngsters take their rubber ducks to the pool to teach the "animals" how to swim in preparation for the "Great Duck Race"

Saturday during the Harvest Days activities. The preliminaries for the race will begin at 1 p.m. at the Expo, and the finals will take place at 4 p.m.

On the Go with Mary Edna Hendrix, 647-3343

The play TEXAS in Palo Duro Canyon State Park in Canyon is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year. They added a few extra events and closed with a beautiful fireworks display.

Beth McLendon of Dallas, Kate Beecher, Irene Carpenter and I attended the drama one night last week. Michelle Caddell, daughter of the Bob Caddells, former Dimmitt residents, is on the hospitality staff. Regina Robin Gabel, daughter of Kent and Mary Gabel, also former Dimmitt residents, is in the orchestra.

Out of town visitors at the museum last week were Loranell Hamilton's guests including her three daughters and their families, Jeanie Hamilton and her daughter, MacKenzie Pipes of Amarillo, Sheila and Jim Wolfe and children, Allyson, Adam and Brett of Chicago, Ill., and Mary and Mark Watson and children, Sarah and Rachel of Yuma Ariz.; Bill Hartenstein of Canyon; Adad Chandler of Big Spring. Vickie Vise and Martha Isaguirre brought the children from their day care center in Hart, including Austin and Andrew Dudley, Trevor and Trent Barnes, D'Neise Smith and Aubra and Kimberley McReynolds.

Dorothy Elder was hostess to the Friday Bridge Club that met at the Senior Citizens Center for lunch and a day of bridge. Edith Graef and Ruth Coleman were the high scorers. Other guests were Retta Cluck, Betty Renfro of Amarillo, Cletha George, Ina Rae Cates and Elizabeth Huckabay.

Ed and Betty Freeman and Bea Hardy drove to Denver, Colo., on July 31 and returned to Dimmitt on Aug. 6. Bea was visiting her daughter, Patsie Hokit and family in Littleton, Colo., while the Freemans were visiting their daughter, Sally, and her husband, Mariano Ortiz and son Andrew in Denver.

With grandson Andrew, the Freemans visited the Children's Museum, took a trolley ride, saw the Denver Museum of Natural History, saw the movie "Duck Tales" and ate at Senor Pepe's and at Mataam Fez Moroccan Restaurant. They also attended a concert by the National Youth Symphony with Garrison Keillor as the performing artist at the Spring Green Amphitheater in Littleton.

Emily Clingsmith was hostess to the Thursday Bridge Club that met at the Senior Citizens' Center for lunch and a day of bridge. Susie Reeves won high score and Dugan Butler finished second. Others playing were Edith Graef, Tina Rawlings, Helen Braafladt, Virginia Crider, Ina Rae Cates, Alma Kenmore, Dude McLauren, Sal DiCuffa, Elizabeth Huckabay, Johnnie Vannoy, Louise Mears, Neva Hickey and Ferne Dickey.

Charlene Howell brought the devotional to residents at Canterbury Villa last Thursday morning. She gave a testimony of her life. She and her sister, Carolyn Moke, had fun when they were young by making play houses everywhere. She has taught her granddaughter, Misty Howell, to play with the things you have available. If you are a Christian, God does not put more on you than you can endure. She said Rosa Mae Lance has been an influence on her life and the residents at Canterbury Villa have been an inspiration to her.

Paul Kenley and Richard Young sang So Send I You and Renise Blair sang a song from Psalm 139 and The Longer I Serve Him the Sweeter He Grows. Other visitors were Connie Ivey, Phyllis Mooney (pianist), Irene Carpenter, Billie Kirby, Beral Hance, Mauzee Youts, Ann Hays, Ysleta Ball and Mary Edna Hendrix.

Edgar Dennis and several friends from Muleshoe, Rock Springs, San Angelo, Tulia, Plainview and Louisville were invited to attend the Cheyenne Frontier Days and bring their mules, horses, and some of their vehicles to travel with the Cheyenne Frontier parades. This is the Frontier Days' centennial celebration. It features the largest carriage collection of horse-drawn vehicles. Dignitaries were assigned to ride in each vehicle in the four parades including governors, editors of newspapers and a lady of the first theater. Edgar drove an original town surrey. They wore native costumes in the parades. Tickets were available to Edgar and his friends each day for all the activities. There was a style show, a rodeo that was more than a three-ring circus, chuckwagon races, wild horse races, and some big name night acts. This lasted for 10 days in the city of Cheyenne, a city with a population of 40,000. It is a very impressive city that is very clean, according to Edgar. President Bush was there on the capitol grounds and Edgar was able to take his picture.

When he returned home, he took his mules to Muleshoe for the 25th birthday of that city's Mule Memorial Statue. They took a trail ride through the sand hills and enjoyed a mule show.

The Singing Group was limited with so many people out of town Saturday night, but Gene and Connie Ivey, Ed and Betty Freeman and Irene Carpenter sang for the residents at Canterbury Villa during the supper hour.

Nikki Kenley has returned from a trip to Pensacola, Fla. with a friend, Robin Carleton of Abilene. They sun-bathed on the beach and ate delicious seafood. They visited

Stuffed potato sales to benefit scholarship fund

Stuffed potatoes featuring everything from ham to chili will be available during the Harvest Days celebration at a booth sponsored by the Ettie McDermitt Nursing Scholarship Organization.

Potatoes can be topped with ham, chili, cheese and all the trimmings will be sold along with lemonade and iced tea.

The booth will be open Friday and Saturday at 11 a.m. Free delivery will be offered from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday. Orders for free delivery will be taken after 9:30 a.m. Friday at 647-5497 or 647-2237. All proceeds will go to the Ettie McDermitt Nursing Scholarship Fund.

A $500 scholarship will be given to anyone interested in entering the nursing field. The scholarship will be given starting in 1991 and it's not limited to high school or college students.

The organization was established in May 1990 in memory of the late Ettie McDermitt, who served as a nurse for more than 30 years.

Robin's relatives in Louisiana, went to Natchitoches where the film Steel Magnolias was filmed and went to Beauvoir, Jefferson Davis' last home in Biloxi, Miss. They said they saw lots of jellyfish on Pensacola Beach.

Jaime Baker, Michelle Hardee and Nikki Kenley attended the Texas All-State Choir Camp at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. They worked on music for the Texas All-State Choir Auditions.

The First Baptist Church in Dimmitt was host to a Four-County Youth rally including youth from the FBC and Lee Street Baptist in Dimmitt, and from Baptist Churches in Muleshoe, Friona and Littlefield. Each towns' youth gave a testimony about the camps they attended this summer. They played with an earth ball, water balloons, volleyball, and regular volleyball. Several youths from different churches sang solos. Sandwiches, chips and Kool-aid were served. The youth reported having a fun and interesting time.

Ramey Rice celebrated his sixth birthday on Friday night with relatives including Joyce and Scott Rice and Kandi Grossman of Hart, Jim and Floyce George, Irene Carpenter, Danny and Shelley Rice, Tisha and Brandi. They served birthday cake and ice cream. Ramey received a fort for a present.

Geneva Dennis and Jauvada Curtis, along with Mary Pyeatt of Amarillo and Decima Dennis of Midland just returned from Milton-Freewater, Oregon, where they visited their relatives, Zoe Garvin and Wanda and Herle Saager and families. While there they ate at the HOME club meeting set

The Dimmitt HOME Club will have a meeting Aug. 23 at the home of Danette Baker, 502 W. Jones at 7:30 p.m.

Members are asked to bring a kitchen gadget, worth $5 or less, to trade. For more information call 647-5349.

Rees Mansion in Walla Walla, Wash., visited the museum in Milton-Freewater, spent the day in the mountains at the Saagers' cabin.

The scenery up and back through New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Oregon was beautiful. The thousands of acres of wheat fields in the hills were most spectacular. It is hard for people on the High Plains to understand how these steep, sloping hills can be farmed. Some of the wheat was reported to be yielding as much as 135 bushels per acre.

A real highlight of the trip was a visit with Lou and Odus Hastings and their children and grandchildren at Fruita, Colo., in the Grand Junction, Colo. area. Lou had prepared a wonderful meal for the ladies and her family, Benny and Lori Hastings, Johnna, Corbin, Jarin, Taryn and Jaydin Connell (Richard Connell had to help get ready for the fair and couldn't come); Max and Sondra Hastings and their children, Shauni, Genna and baby. Sondra is the former Sondra Jones.

The next day, Lou gave a tour of the area.

A few days earlier Odus had seen a mama bear and her cub near his house. They went by Benny and Lori's beautiful log mountain home and saw Max and Sondra's shop, "Toys Unique," which features unusual and beautiful children's rocking toys.

They almost got to Fruita in time to help Jayden bathe his chickens for the fair! The chickens, along with pigs and lambs, are his 4-H projects.

Rick Bagwell met his sister and brothers in Fort Worth (except for Scott and family) and they went to Six Flags over Texas for a get-together. Randy came from Denver, Colo., Kyle came from Lubbock, Carol and her children came from Wichita Falls. Their cousin, Kristin Ditto and her family from Arlington were there and another cousin, Colin Fallwell of Richardson, joined them, also. They all had a great time despite the heat. Milton and Sandra stayed home to take care of watering the crops!

... A look into Hart's school system

By TONI ROBERTSON
HISD Administrative Assistant

Hart Independent School District has a commitment to updated education. The board of trustees and Phil Barefield, superintendent, believe in educating for the future. Both the elementary and secondary campuses have multiple technological programs.

Every elementary classroom has a computer and appropriate educational software. Kindergarten and first grade students have daily access to a ten-computer IBM Write-to-Read lab. Both second grade classrooms have five IBM networked computers for the IBM Teaching and Learning With Computers (TLC) program.

The second through sixth grade students also go to Jostens Learning Center. The Jostens lab is equipped with 24 IBM computers set up to run individual lessons in math, reading and writing.

The students do not stop using computers when they move to junior high. Almost every secondary computer lab is used six hours of every school day to teach courses such as computer literacy, computer programming and computer math. The business classes center around computers and word processing.

The yearbook is also created on computer. A vocational computer lab with 13 computers will be in operation this year. An Apple Macintosh computer is the center of the library.

Hart ISD is providing quality education and encouraging computer proficiency. Come see us in action!

County rebates show increase

Sales taxes collected in Castro County during June showed a healthy increase over last year's collections, according to reports released from State Comptroller Bob Lubbock.

Castro County's sales tax rebates were up by 14.15% over the same period last year, rising from $34,327.70 in 1989 to $39,184.01 in 1990. Year-to-date, the county's rebates increased 133.60%, from $199,548.01 to $466,137.83.

In Dimmitt, an increase of 16.65% was recorded for June and the city received a check for $35,486.43. So far this year, the city's rebates are up 146.88%.

Open forum set Aug. 24

Ralph Harmon from the Texas Dept. of Health, will be at Canterbury Villa Aug. 24 at 1:30 p.m. to discuss any concerns family and residents have.

The open forum meeting will be an opportunity to discuss new regulations that will go into effect Oct. 1, which includes removal of all restraints and side rails.

Hart received a check for $2,163.39, down 13.74% over last year. Overall this year, Hart has received payments 6% higher than last year.

Nazareth's rebate reflected a 9.62% increase over 1989's June payment (from $1,399.51 to $1,534.19). A 22.96% increase over total payments to Nazareth so far this year is reflected in the report.

This month's checks reflect taxes collected on June sales reported in late July by businesses filing monthly returns. Also included in this month's payments are sales taxes reported by quarterly filers whose collections reflect sales made in April, May and June.

Merchants collect the state and local sales taxes and send them to the Comptroller's office with their tax returns. The state keeps its share and sends cities and counties the local portion of the sales tax each month.

All local sales taxes must be approved by area voters and may be used for any legal city or county expenses. Most areas put the money in their general fund and use it for operations like fire fighting, maintaining roads and law enforcement.

Food corn field day set

A multi-county Food Corn Field Day will be held Sept. 5 at 10 a.m. on the Gene Smith farm, located two miles north of Lazbuddie, one mile west and one-half mile north.

All area producers from Bailey, Parmer, Castro and Lamb counties are encouraged to attend this event and view approximately 125 varieties of corn hybrids which are being treated this year.

More than 20 different seed companies have hybrids planted in this year's test, which includes 52 white food corn entries, 29 yellow food corn entries with pink, white or red cobs and 49 feed corn entries. Some of these entries are experimental varieties which will be the new and improved releases of seed companies in future years. Seed company representatives will discuss the different characteristics of these hybrids being grown in the test plot.

Information to be discussed on each variety will be stability, days to maturity, grain quality characteristics and other important agronomic information.

This field day serves as an excellent opportunity for area producers to see and observe some of the new corn hybrids which are being bred and grown for this area of the High Plains and to visit with area seed company representatives. The field day is free to everyone. This annual event is being hosted by Smith, Valley Grain Products and the Extension Ag Committees from the four-county area.

Test plot results will be collected and distributed to area producers by county Extension agents and area seed companies in early 1991. Additional information on the test plots is available at the Bailey County Extension office located in Muleshoe.

Canterbury Villa News

One new resident joined us during the month of July.

She is Melvina Oakley, a hometown lady who joined us in early July. We are pleased to have her with us. Welcome Mrs. Oakley. Her husband visits often and eats lunch with us.

Several of our residents are having birthdays in August — Jess Roundtree's was Aug. 15, Ruth Wooten's was Aug. 8, Mary Harlan's was Aug. 13, Etta Mae Riley's was Aug. 15, Ester Van Daren's was Aug. 12 and Ouida Laurance's was Aug. 1.

We congratulate these residents and they will be honored at our monthly birthday party.

There will be a "new look" at Canterbury Villa beginning this month. All employees will be dressed in uniforms except for charge nurses, the director of nursing, medical aids and office personnel. The charge nurses will continue to wear white. Nurses aids and assistants will be dressed in pink color, and the dietary staff will be dressed in a baby blue. We hope this will present a more professional look.

During July, an exercise program was started for our residents. Activities include working on parallel bars and doing arm exercises on a wheel. These activities have been going every morning from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Improvement in the residents' limb movements is already noticeable. With improved and continued effort, we hope to be able to improve the mobility of the residents that we work with.

For the most part, the residents are enthusiastic about the exercises.

Tuesday is "beauty day." Carolyn Moke fixes the ladies' hair. Also on this morning, we have "fingernail care" with the help of several volunteers. This is a favorite with the ladies.

Quite a few of the good people of Castro County are very generous with their time. They volunteer to help care for and entertain our residents. The ministers come out on Sunday mornings, Sunday afternoons, Wednesday evenings and Thursday evenings to worship with our residents. A group from the Nazareth Legion Auxiliary comes by once a month to hold bingo games and bring refreshments. The Church of Christ ladies come once a month and bring punch and cake and help celebrate the birthdays that month. A local group comes once a month with musical entertainment. During the course of the month, other singers, church groups, musical groups, dancers and other entertainment acts donate their talents and time to help entertain the residents. This is greatly appreciated by the residents and staff. This helps to keep our loved ones busy and makes the days a lot shorter.

CPR classes are being held here for the employees. Nurses aides are required to pass a skills test and written exams to become certified as aides.

During mid-September, a family night will be held to make residents' families aware of new state rules and regulations that will go into effect on Oct. 1. Some of the staff members will be going to an in-service training on Sept. 11 to become familiar with these new regulations.

Jimmy Miller is in need of a used television set for his new Nintendo game. Any person or family having a working television set that would like to donate it to help Jimmy out, can contact the staff at Canterbury Villa. He plays the game on the big TV set quite a bit, but when he plays it, some of the other residents aren't able to watch their programs.

Nazareth

By Uirgie Gerber, 945-2669

"Suds and Sounds," an annual outdoor concert and dance, sponsored by the Nazareth Council of the Knights of Columbus to support the State Council Deaf Community Program, was very well attended.

Heading the concert this year was the Zaca Creek Band, a progressive country band from southern California and our own native band the Rough Rider' plus several other bands from this area. The Nazareth Council also served barbecue beef sandwiches, chips and soft drinks. The weather cooperated nicely, everyone had a great time and will be looking forward to next year.

Sister Jerome Jacobs of St. Scholastica Monastery, Fort Smith, Ark., died July 30 at the Convent. She was 93 years old. Sister spent her life dedicated to the classroom. Besides other schools, she spent 18 years teaching in the Nazareth schools. Her last nine years were as a living companion at Marche, Ark., with Sister Loyola Schmucki, also a former Nazareth school teacher. She spent many years as organist in the various parishes in which she lived.

Mick, Jane, Laura and Alan Gerber and Vincent and Dorothy Guggemos recently enjoyed a trip to Minnesota. They traveled to Grygla where they visited with the Gene and Jackie Dobmeier family.

While in Grygla, they enjoyed many activities such as blueberry picking and attending a county fair. They also drove to Steinbach, Canada, where they enjoyed the many exhibits at the Mennonite museum located there. The museum contains restored homes, barns and schools, as well as farm implements and machinery from the earliest Canadian Mennonite settlements.

From Grygla, they drove to Glenco, Minn., to attend the Guggemos family reunion which was held in Winstead, Minn., on Aug. 4. This was the 101st wedding anniversary of Charles and Josephine Guggemos (Vincent's grandparents).

Jackie Dobmeier and children Tiffany, Bryan and Chad also attended the reunion. Other members of the Joe and Loretta Guggemos family attending were Rosemary, Leonard and Cassidy Wilhelm; Joy, Shawn and Nicole Ringwald; Stella and Ralph Shirley; Rita Hoffman; Alice Fisher; and Leonard and Phyllis Guggemos. Everyone enjoyed visiting with the four surviving children of Charles and Josephine, as well as numerous other relatives.

On Sunday, a mass was said for the Guggemos family in the same church in which Charles and Josephine were married. Family members were then invited to a brunch at the home of Charles and Rosemary Weber, grandson of Charles Guggemos. The Weber home is located on the Guggemos' homestead, and Charles farms the land owned by his grandfather. The original house, barn and grainery remain, and the old homestead was an interesting site for those attending.

In addition to the reunion, they drove to the Tiven Cities where they enjoyed the Minnesota Zoo and the Valleyfair Amusement Park.

Kate Hankins of Plainview was honored on her 93rd birthday, and Roger and Edna Schilling were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary as the families gathered for dinner at the home of Bill and Bernita Hoelting. Attending were Sylvia Hoelting of Plainview, Jim and Tom Hoelting families, Kenny and Cince Schulte family, Herman and Marilyn Birkenfeld, Jerry and Eleanor Dirks family of Canyon.

The "Invasion of the Plains" in Amarillo Sunday afternoon was very interesting and educational for adults and children alike. It was of special interest to learn that Keith Kleman was one of a team of four Amarillo sky divers who performed. Those enjoying the afternoon together were Sandee Hoelting and children; Karen Gerber and children; Jerry, Tricia and Eric Rose; Donna and Bryan Charanza; Jason Birkenfeld; Virgie Gerber; Bud McLean family of Dimmitt; Frances Gerber of Umbarger; son Tommy Gerber and Ryan of Dalhart.

Hazel Wilhelm is a patient at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo. She was to have surgery Monday morning. We hope she recovers quickly.

Tulia artist to exhibit work in Dimmitt Friday

On Friday, Kenneth Wyatt, an internationally known artist, will be at the First State Bank in Dimmitt from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Everyone is invited to come and meet Wyatt and view his paintings in the bank lobby.

Wyatt started his art career by doing portraits of ministers, organist and choir members. When he ran out of people, he began doing still life paintings. Then someone asked him to paint a horse.

His career as a professional artist has developed to the stage where he is a one-man Western enterprise, creating sculpture pieces, designing belt buckles and Western style jewelry, painting Western scenes and publishing his own art books.

Wyatt's first calling was as a minister. At the age of 14 he pastored his first church and in 1944 he received a local preacher's license.

The Tulia painter and sculptor gained national recognition when he was commissioned to pain "Offer Them Christ" to commend 200 years of Methodism in the United States.

Another project which he did for the Methodist Church was portraits of Jesus and The Apostles. These prints can be seen at the local Methodist Church.

KENNETH WYATT, an artist from Tulia, stands in front of his portrait of the Apostle Thomas, which began a series of Biblical figures. Wyatt will be at the First State Bank in Dimmitt on Friday. Everyone is invited to meet him and view his paintings.

Voters need to claim registration cards

It's time to check your voter registration cards and make sure the card is the current one (salmon-colored), according to Billy Hackleman, Castro County's voter registrar.

Voter registration cards that have been returned to the county will be cancelled on Sept. 15 if they are not claimed, according to Hackleman.

"As we prepare for the next election, we felt that we should remind some of you to check and see if you have received your voting certificate. If you did not receive one, chances are that we do not have your correct address. If you have lost, misplaced, or destroyed your card, you can ask for a replacement from our office, (county tax assessor/collector's office in the courthouse)." Hackleman said.

Simpson signs proclamation

Castro County Judge Polly Simpson signed a proclamation encouraging county residents to register and vote.

Oct. 7 marks the deadline for Texans to register and vote in the Nov. 6 primary elections.

A democracy's most precious gift to its citizens is the right of participation — the right to vote, according to the proclamation.

Smith tells commissioners how he wants money split

Precinct 1 Commissioner Harold Smith told the commissioners how he thought the county's money should be divided "judiciously and equitably" during Monday's commissioners' meeting.

Smith said he thought the money should be divided in the county "judiciously and equitably" with 40% going to Pct. 1, 17 1/2% to Pct. 4, 17 1/2% to Pct. 3 and 25% to Pct. 2.

County Judge Polly Simpson and District Attorney Jimmy Davis informed Smith that it would take a court order and he would have to file a suit to change the distribution.

"We (Pct. 1) had a meeting here a week ago on the 1991 budget and the main issue discussed was the all-weather roads. I want $200,000 for all-weather roads and one full-time help," Smith said.

Smith invited some residents of the Hacker addition to tell what a difference the caliche made on their road.

Angelita Morrales, one of the residents, said the caliche has made an improvement on her road. She said people are able to get down the road now after it rains.

Smith requested a line item transfer of $15,000 out of seal coating to put caliche on a road. He said it would cost $14,000 to do three miles of road. The other commissioners felt Smith needed to leave that money in seal coating.

Pct. 2 Commissioner Dale Winders said, "We need to repair and seal coat Rodeo Road in Dimmitt before it gets worse."

The commissioner voted not to accept Smith's line item transfer.

The County Commissioners voted to take bids for repairing and seal coating Rodeo Road in Dimmitt, but Smith voted against the motion.

"We need to go ahead and patch and seal coat Rodeo Road, and figure out what we are going to do about First Street in Hart and set it for next year's budget," said Pct. 3 Commissioner Jeff Robertson. "If we keep arguing and fighting about it, we're gonna mess around and not get anything done."

Smith made a motion to approve the use of oil on Jimmy Cluck's improved road.

Davis said that there are other alternatives to the oil that would be safer. The Railroad Commission told Davis that oil on roads was a good idea 20 years ago, but its not today. He said if the Environmental Protection Agency tells the county to dig up all the oil on roads, it could cost millions of dollars to remove it. His advice was not to use it.

Robertson thought the motion should be tabled until more information could be reviewed.

Both motions died for lack of second.

Davis presented the second draft to the commissioners about the opening of private caliche pits for use by the county. This contract would prevent the county from being held responsible.

Smith wondered why the county couldn't get contractors to do it like the state does.

Pct. 4 Commissioner Vincent Guggemos informed Smith that "the state pays for caliche, the county doesn't."

Smith did not like the draft of the contract and said he wouldn't accept it until it mentioned full time help.

In other business, the commissioners approved an electricity line under a county road in precinct 2.

Reta Welch from the library board informed the commissioners about Rhoads Memorial Library. Since the current librarian, Brick Autry, resigned to pursue other interests, the board is currently looking for a new librarian. Marie Howell will serve as temporary librarian until the position is filled.

More about

the '40s and '50s, it was the Garden Club Follies.

The show eventually wore out the Garden Club, and in the '60s it became the Lions Club Follies.

The Lions kept it going until about 1970.

The biggest hassle always was finding a director. It takes a talented, inexhaustible person to put together a variety show made up of volunteer performers, coaches, stage hands, lighting crew and musicians of all ages. The job usually fell the lot of a speech or music teacher. If he/she were not inclined, there would be no show. I think we even used an imported director a year or two.

The Follies died out in '69 or '70 after the Lions barely broke even for all their work.

It wasn't until 1981 that the show was revived. Jeff Isaacs was home from college for the summer and wanted to stage it. He went to Delores Heller at the Chamber of Commerce, and they worked together to organize and produce it.

Doug Henry, DHS choral music director, put the show together in '82, and Norma Trigo took the job in '83. Norma had to move two weeks before showtime to accept a job offer, and Bill Sava took over (or, as he says, "I came in and punted").

Sava has directed the show for the last six years, and it has been a consistent money-maker for the Chamber of Commerce, as well as a good experience for the community.

This year, the Follies planners had to fight an uphill battle from the start. During the year the community had lost Karen (Mrs. Graham) Sheffy, longtime stage director; Gerald, Susan and Jennifer Hanners, who always contributed onstage, backstage and at the sound system; and Kathy Sammann, whose young dance students were always good for a couple of acts.

Also, many of the Follies "regulars" were having a rash of conflicts related to their jobs, families, illnesses, vacations, etc., and had to either bow out or miss too many rehearsals this summer.

As rehearsals reached the crucial final-two-weeks period, it became apparent to Sava, Heller and others involved that if the production were to be kept up to its usual caliber this year, it would have to be cut in half, leaving a show of only 35 to 45 minutes.

"I'm convinced that the cancellation was in the best interest of the customers," Sava said. "They wouldn't have been pleased with either a short show or a below-par show."

But don't worry about the Follies' future. The show isn't dead.

Next year, it won't be the Follies. It will be the Castro County Centennial Pageant, and it will knock your eyes out. Several original songs and skits already have been written for the pageant, and it will feature some of the best amateur talent we can muster—including "new" talent, which the Follies can utilize in future years.

The Follies isn't just a show. It's an important part of our community's character. It's a good training ground for our kids, it's a lot of fun for us older hams, and it's a good experience for the customers. It brings a lot of people together in a wholesome community effort.

No, the Follies isn't dead. Just wait 'til next year!

In the meantime, if you'd care to hear my Follies song for this year, just drop by my shower any Saturday night.

Texas' state sales tax is now among the highest in the nation at 6.25%. The only states with higher sales taxes are Connecticut (8%), New Jersey (7%), Rhode Island (7%), and Washington (6.5%).

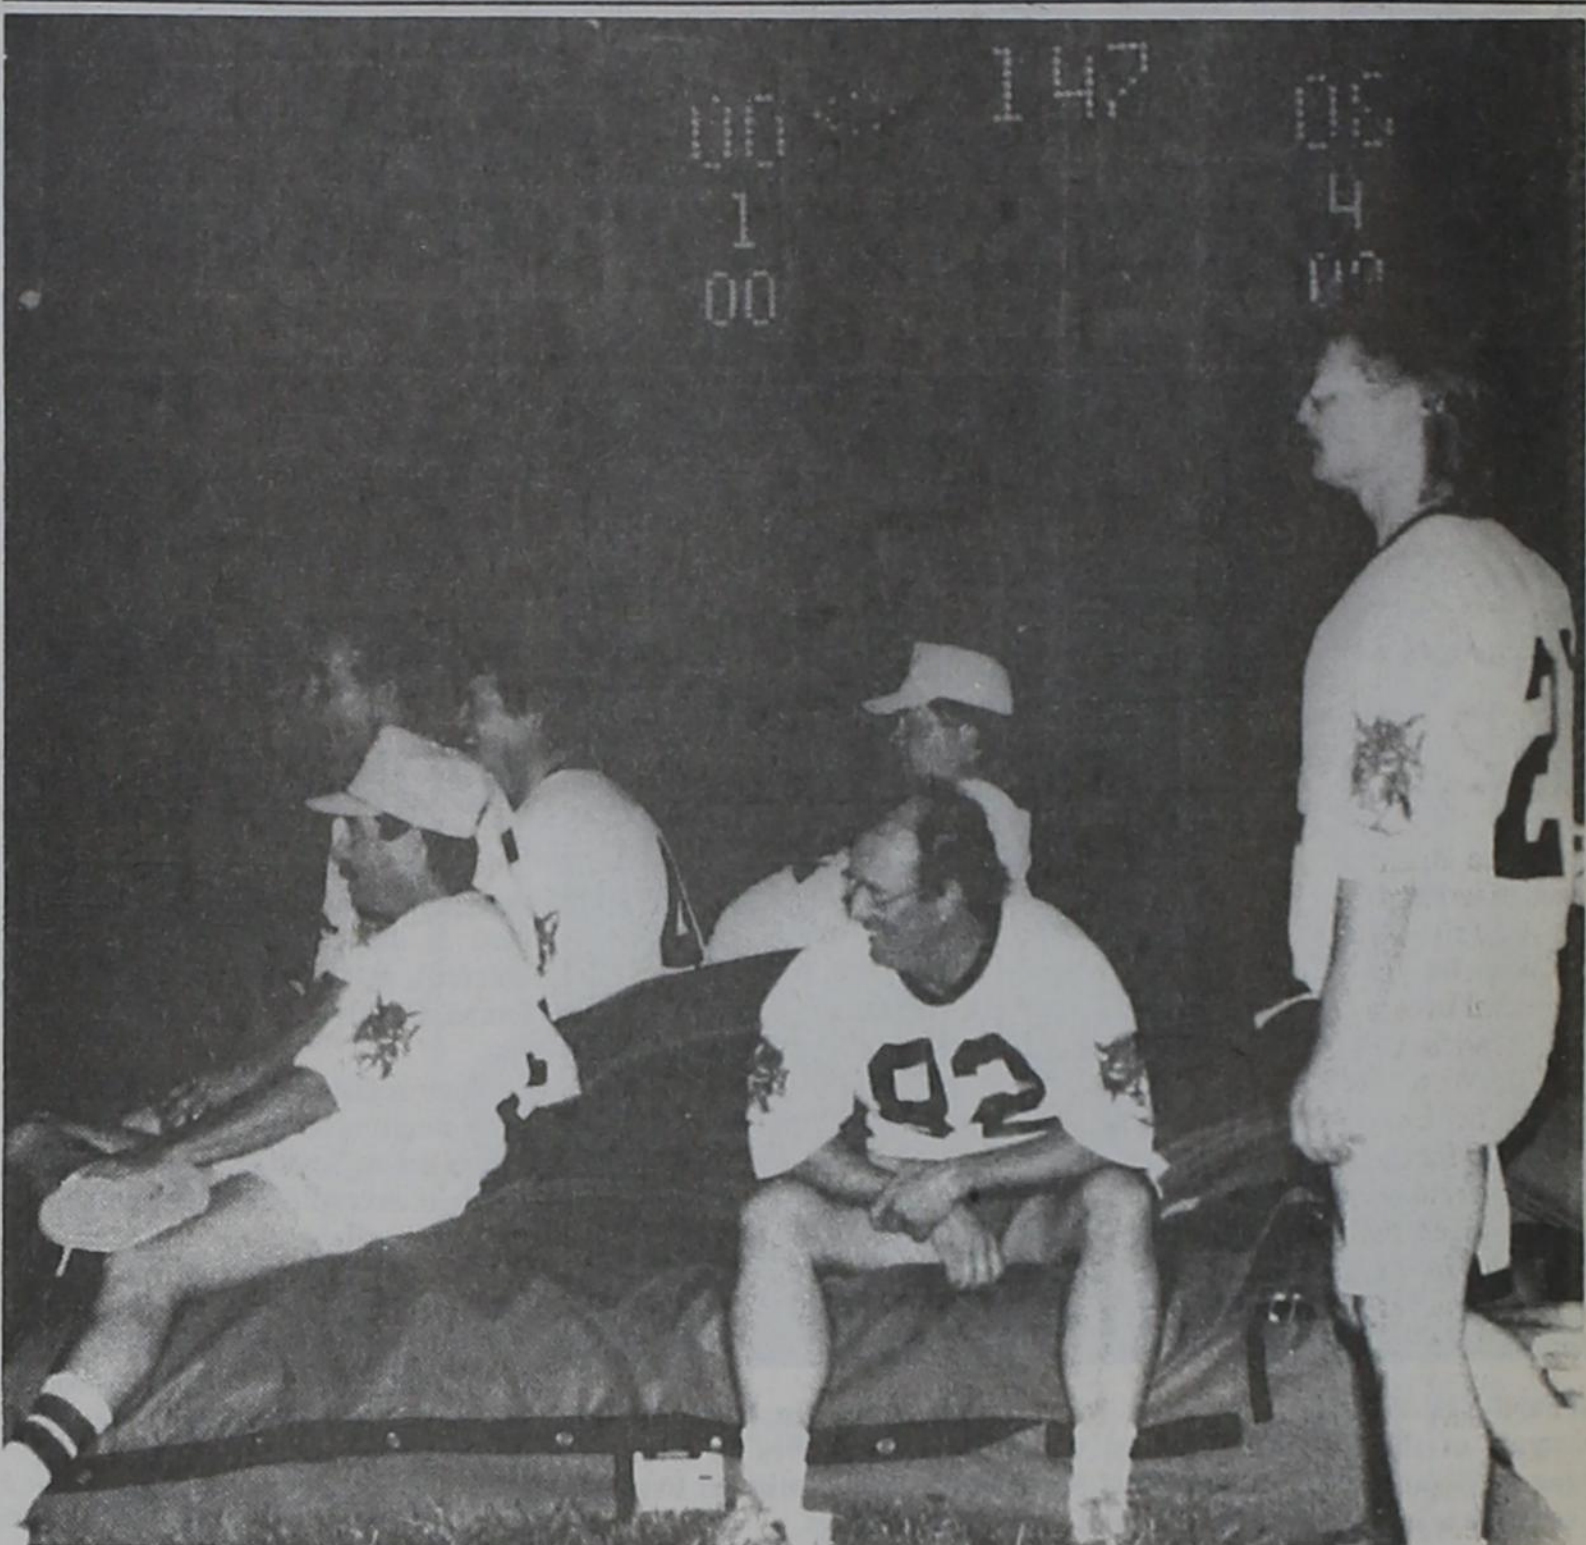

Texas also collects 41 cents per package on cigarettes—the highest rate in the nation. But at least our gasoline tax of 15 cents per gallon is lower than the national average.

Our state isn't just collecting taxes from people inside our boundaries. Of all that money the nation's taxpayers will have to come up with to bail out the savings-and-loan industry, most of it will come to Texas. We're talking billions here.

The S&L bailout may become our state's biggest new industry.

I can hear it now: "But judge, when I bilked Joe's and Sam's Savings & Loan out of umpteen million dollars, I was only trying to bring in new industry."

LARRY ROBB (front left), the hero of the Oldie Goldies football game Saturday night, takes a breather with teammates after he scored the winning and only touchdown of the contest with just less than two minutes left in the third quarter. The two teams—"White" and "Black"—were made up of former football players just getting together for fun. Other members of Robb's winning "White" team taking a break include (back) Randy Schumacher, Lint Merritt, Joe Bob Sanders; and (foreground) Danny Newton and Kenny Doss. The flag football game was played Saturday night at the Dimmitt High School football field.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

A high dollar bass tournament was held on Lake Baylor near Childress and the results are now official. 85 dedicated fishermen paid their entry fees and proceeded to give it their best shot.

The fish, on the other hand, knew something was different that Saturday. Never before had so many fishermen been on the water one hour before sunrise. Never before had these fishermen just sat quietly in their boats watching their watches and sharpening their hooks. Never before had 85 fishermen made their first cast at exactly the same time—6 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 4.

It still isn't clear exactly what happened or how, but when the fishing day was completed the fish had won. Sure, some of the eager young fish had fallen for plastic worms and a few even tried to eat some floating plastic minnows, but as a rule, the quality fish had resisted all temptations from some of the Panhandle's best fishermen.

With the lake record black bass of 11.97 pounds caught by Joe Holland this past spring, expectations were high that it would take a "hawg" to win this tournament.

Ronnie Griffith, who is employed by SPS, had waited until the last minute before registering in the tournament. He then waited until only 20 minutes of fishing time remained before boating the winning bass of 5.60 pounds. For his efforts, Griffith pocketed $2,200. One of the nicest guys in the Panhandle not only won a bass tournament, he earned the respect of his peers.

Second place prize money of $595 went to Dwayne Busby for his 4.17-pound bass. Third place fell to Rod Haseloff with a 4.04-pound bass, earning him $340.

JOHN KOVACS of Dimmitt caught several bass. His biggest keeper at 2.35 pounds won hourly prize money of $85.

NEARING THE END—Lisa Braddock of Nazareth (right) and her sister, Michelle King of Albuquerque, N.M. near the finish line of the Wild West 150 Bike Tour for Multiple Sclerosis, which was held recently. Braddock raised $2,200 for the cause.

Local bike rider raises $2,200 for MS charity

Lisa Braddock received a lot of satisfaction from her benefit bike ride July 28 and 29, especially since she got to help "Jane," her special beneficiary.

Braddock participated in the Wild West 150 Bike Tour for Multiple Sclerosis recently and raised $2,200 for the organization.

She said when she registered, she was given the name of a girl she would be helping and that girl's name was "Jane."

"Jane's" name was printed with the number Braddock wore on her back during the race, and the bicyclist said it really inspired her.

"It wasn't just for us (the riders). We were always thinking about the person we were riding for. We were finishing for them, not just ourselves," she said.

The 150-mile tour started at the Fifth Seasons Inn East in Amarillo, and participants rode to Miami, which was established as the 80-mile mark prior to the race. Several of the riders pedaled on to Canadian, the 100-mile mark in the race. Those who stopped in Miami were bussed to Canadian where they enjoyed a hoedown, meal, show and a night's rest at local motels.

Eight rest stops were set up along the way Saturday, providing the riders with food and drinks.

On July 29, the group took off on wheels again, finishing at the National Guard Armory in Wellington.

"I was real excited. The volunteers helping the bikers along the way were very supportive and helpful. EMTs were always standing by in case someone needed medical help," Braddock said.

"Endurance and determination really came into play Sunday during the ride," Braddock said. "The ride from Canadian was almost all uphill. We went through Shamrock, Wheeler and finished up in Wellington. Saturday's ride was a lot easier," she said.

Braddock said 260 riders had registered for the tour and 225 showed up to ride. 199 people finished the race.

Her sister, Michelle King of Albuquerque, rode with her. Another sister, Suzanne Melina K. and a friend of Michelle's, Connie Lujan, encouraged the two at the rest stops.

The bike riders who earned the most money will receive prizes at an awards banquet in September and the person who earned the most money will be awarded a two-day, all-expenses paid trip to Sea World of Texas in San Antonio.

Braddock said she wants to thank everyone who donated toward the cause and appreciates the support she received for her efforts.

Gene and Jo Fletcher of Gruver spent Saturday night and Sunday with their son, Rev. David and Debra Fletcher, Hadley, Haley and Harmony.

Following the church services and dinner, Debra and the kids went to Fritch to attend her mother's family reunion. They returned home late Sunday night.

Visitors in the Sunday morning services included Becky and Kathy Norrell and a friend of Levelland; Gene and Jo Fletcher of Gruver; and Don and Lupina Fry, Donnie, Matt and Robert, all of Dimmitt.

Willie Mae Sadler went with Myles Sadler of Lubbock Saturday to visit with her brother, Tommie Ferrel Fowlkes of Fort Worth, in a hospital there while Myles attended a meeting in Dallas. He visited with Tommie for a while also. He is seriously ill.

James and Joan Norrell went to Lubbock after Sunday School classes Sunday to be with her father, Don Milliken of Wolfforth, who underwent major surgery in Lubbock Monday morning. Rev. David Fletcher and family went to be with the family during the surgery.

Verba Sadler played with the Hereford band for entertainment at the annual Hereford community celebration Saturday. The music was in the park. She and Ezell also visited with Ruth King.

Rev. David Fletcher, Gerald and Pat Elkins, Clara Vick and Teeny Bowden attended a meeting in Plainview Tuesday night to hear Dr. Milton Cunningham, a former foreign missionary who retired and is now a member of the Foreign Mission Board. They also heard Dr. Travis Berry of Baylor University, who gave information to local churches on how to direct funds in the new year, which starts Oct. 1.

A study group was formed at the last business meeting to monitor what is going on and how we should proceed to keep our missionaries in the field, yet keep the money out of the hands of the executive committee now in control of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Teeny Bowden was elected chairman of the group which is made up of any member wishing to be more informed. The group met at 5 p.m. Sunday evening the Fellowship Hall with Teeny leading the discussion. It will meet every Sunday night at 5 p.m. for a while.

Dr. Floyd Bradley, area missionary of Plainview, will speak on the subject Wednesday night.

Teeny and Clara will be going to Atlanta Aug. 23 through 25 to learn more from a large group from several states who will try to come up with something basic for all churches to follow should they desire it.

Emma Jean King brought her mother over for a week recently and went to church in Tulia with her last Sunday.

Francis and Mary King of Amarillo visited with Billie and Emma Jean King Tuesday. Betty Sutton, Brandy, Brien and Brett came Wednesday and visited until Friday with her parents, Billie and Emma Jean King. Brien stayed to visit for a while before school starts. He is also visiting with Marshall and Kaye King, Lance and Lincoln of Earth.

Sharon Sadler, Stacy Norman, Jeremy and Joshua, and Laura Hurtado and children of Muleshoe; and Carrie Sadler of Lubbock spent the weekend at Hubbard Creek Lake at the Sadler Lake House.

Stacy Sadler worked on computing material for the history book while Teeny Bowden started working on the Ranching Heritage Section Monday and Tuesday.

Madge Robb and Emma Jean King proofread the POW Chapel Restoration Section and the Pre-History Section Friday and Saturday. Clara Vick came out Friday night and she and Teeny placed pictures in the POW Chapel Section and did picture captions over the weekend. They didn't get finished, however.

Leslie Louder spent the weekend in San Angelo with Larry and Sandy Odom, Kyle, Misty and Lisa, who was home from Oklahoma and college. She will soon start the fall semester, so she won't be coming again until the Thanksgiving break.

GTE and Contel to merge

GTE and Contel officials have signed a definitive agreement resulting in the largest merger in the history of the telecommunications industry.

The agreement to merge GTE and Contel, which was approved Aug. 7 by each company's board of directors, "will create a new company with a market value of $25 billion," said GTE Chairman and Chief Executive Officer James L. "Rocky" Johnson.

The agreement was signed by Johnson and Contel Chairman Charles Wohlstetter.

A preliminary agreement was announced on July 12. The merger is subject to approval by both companies' stockholders as well as various regulatory agencies. As previously announced, GTE will issue

1.27 shares of its common stock in a tax-free exchange for each Contel common share, or about 200 million GTE shares. Both companies will hold special stockholder meetings in the fall, and expect to close the merger around year end.

"We have undertaken a comprehensive review of this merger, and have unanimously agreed with our counterparts at GTE that it is clearly in the best interests of both companies," Wohlstetter said. "I am absolutely certain that the new company resulting from this merger will be even greater than the sum of its parts."

"I am delighted we have accomplished this significant step," Johnson said. "It is clear that what we are creating here is a perfect combination of two great companies in terms of compatibility of core businesses, management philosophy and commitment to our shareholders, customers and employees. It will make the new GTE the largest US-based, local-exchange telephone company and the second-largest cellular telephone operator."

The combined companies will have a total of 18 million residential and business telephone access lines. The companies' cellular telephone businesses serve a total of approximately 50 million POPs, the second-highest total POPs served in the US.

Contel is a major local telephone and cellular service provider. Its telephone operations serve 2.6 million access lines in 30 states and it operates cellular systems through a 90%-owned subsidiary, Contel Cellular, Inc. (NASDAQ-CCXLA), in 36 metropolitan areas and is a limited partner in 31 additional metropolitan areas. Contel's 1989 revenues were $3.1 billion, with net income of $287 million. It employs 22,000 people.

GTE subsidiaries operate in 46 states and 41 countries, with combined revenue and sales of $17.4 billion and new income of $1.4 billion in 1989. Through its three core businesses, which include telecommunications, lighting and precision materials, GTE provides products and service worldwide.

Smith wants all-weather roads by Dec. 31, 1991

Dear Editor:

I want everyone in Castro County that live on these county roads to have an all-weather roads by Dec. 31, 1991. There are two ways to do this, divide the money judiciously and equitably between the precincts and let each commissioner get this done on an individual basis, or pool the money and build these roads by low bids.

The heavier the traffic, the thicker the improved road building material needs to be. The roads in the more productive parts of the county need to be thicker all-weather material, this also includes the feedlots and dairies.

It is time we quit thinking of ourselves and start thinking about our neighbor's roads and get this done. I want to encourage this being done to keep the people on the farms, to prevent thievery and to promote agriculture which is the main source of revenue for the county. If people will live on the farm, the farm will probably produce more and can afford to pay more taxes.

I have been told by F.A. Smith, a retired farmer, that when he retired in 1989 he planned to move to town, but since he got his all-weather road he has decided to stay in the country. He even put this material in his own driveway to be able to get to the road. He said that it would be bad, after living there 35 years and finally getting an all-weather road, not to be able to get out of his yard to the road when it rained.

I also think the country is a better place to raise our children. This will save the taxpayers many thousands of dollars and also time. Some men told me it used to take three hours to check their cattle when it rained and now it takes only 30 minutes since they have an all-weather road. We can quit grading these roads so often and spend most of our tax money on getting this improved road building materials on these roads, and buy worker's comp. insurance for the volunteers so they can help get this done.

A county that works together can get more done if they will stop fighting and start working together. Let us take our county forward in this centennial year.

In the Castro County history book it said Castro County was the last county to get a road paved in the state, let us not be the last county to get our county roads with an all-weather material on them. This material is located in many places in the county and just needs someone to select it and haul it to the roads.

It is time we start doing something for ourselves and quit waiting for the state to help us. I don't think this is a time to think about raising taxes as long as the hospital needs over a million dollars to operate. We as county commissioners need to figure out how to save the county money, not how to spend more money.

In many instances it would not be necessary to have a four wheel drive vehicle. Let us all get behind this and get it going.

HAROLD SMITH
Pct. 1 Commissioner

$11 million expansion planned at Holly Sugar

Although a new $11.7 million ion exclusion plant will expand operations at the Holly Sugar factory in Hereford, it won't increase sugar beet acreages in the Deaf Smith and Castro County areas.

Announcement of construction of the new facility was made Friday morning at a news conference in Hereford. Groundbreaking ceremonies at the site of the new plant are scheduled for Sept. 13.

The ion exclusion facility is a "state-of-the-art extraction process that produces refined sugar from beet molasses," according to news releases from Imperial Holly Corp., parent company of Holly Sugar.

It will extract the sugar which remains in molasses following the traditional processing of sugar beets. It will increase plant utilization and create additional jobs in the Hereford area, according to Holly President Roger Hill.

About 20 new jobs will be created at the plant, according to Richard Hopping, formerly production manager of Holly's Hereford factory and now production manager of the ion exclusion plant. Hopping will direct and supervise construction of the new facility, scheduled to begin full operation by August, 1991.

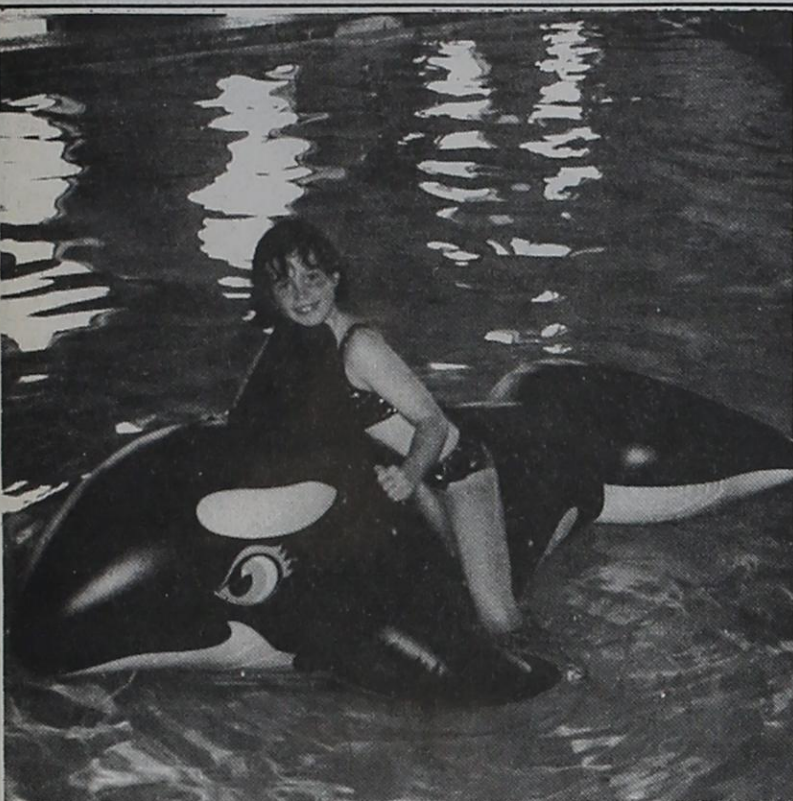

"For the 25 years since it was built, the Hereford factory has been virtually idle at the end of the beet-slicing campaign," Hill said. "Now we can use the facilities longer with an economical process that produces more sugar and benefits the community. If all goes as well as expected here, it's quite possible ion exclusion capabilities could be installed at the other Holly facilities."

While the plant currently operates only from the time sugar beet harvest begins — usually in September — through February, when the final refining processes are finished, the new plant will be operating about 330 days a year, according to news reports.

According to Hill, officials selected the Hereford site as the prime choice because of the "spirit and support of the Hereford community."

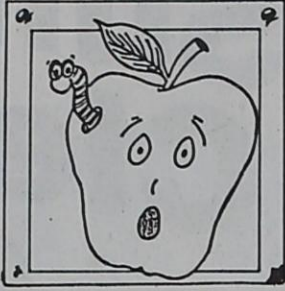

"Sugar beets are in good supply and Hereford has a good market for cattle feed that uses beet sugar by-products," Hill said. "We want to reassure our growers that Holly is planning for now and the future and that includes the support of our mutual interests in sugar beets with the newest technology available."

DISD prepares for 90-91 school year

As the new school year approaches, the Dimmitt School Board accepted bids for necessary items and attended to other business.

The board members voted to accept bids on milk from Plains Creamery Inc., gasoline from Castro Oil and Gas and bread from B & S Distributing.

No bids had been received for the removal of the gas storage tank. The board did give the administration the power to negotiate any bid when it arrives. They are estimating it will cost $2,000 for removal of the fuel storage tank, and soil samples will cost $75-$150 each.

A motion to accept the final draft of the DISD student handbook was passed. Board members discussed the dress code policy with the principals from the three schools.

Some members were wondering what garments would be considered shorts, which are not permissible. The handbook says that "any garment with an inseam and hemline above the knee" would be considered shorts. The DISD dress code for this school year can be seen on page 11 of this issue of the News.

Les Miller, Richardson Elementary School principal, told the board about the new state mandate requiring six-year-olds to be placed in the first grade for the 1991-92 school year. This year any child who is five years old needs to be enrolled in kindergarten this year because they will automatically be enrolled in the first grade in 1991-92.

The school board approved Les

Miller, T.J. Parks, Neal Bryan, R.L. Stockstill, Doricell Davis, Kay Gfeller, Gainell Minnick and Robert Ryan as evaluators for 1990-91. Lyman Schroeder will be recommended as soon as he completes the state-required training program.

Student identification cards were discussed by the board. According to some members the identification cards would help with the supervision of various school activities.

R.L. Stockstill, Dimmitt High School principal, presented some information about the identification cards. The equipment would cost from $1,180 to $1,705, which includes camera, pedestal, laminator and cutter. The cost for the supplies would run between $1 and $1.50 for each card. This item was tabled until the school board obtained more information.

Jane O'Kelly, high school English teacher, presented to the board results from the English Advanced Placement test taken by 12 high school students in May. The results of the test were excellent, with one student scoring the highest possible. The high score guarantees that student will get college credit at any school in the nation.

This program began last year in honors English classes. Juniors and seniors can choose to take the AP test.

Advanced Placement American History is being introduced this year at DHS.

During an executive session, resignations were accepted from Janet Fincher, Dimmitt Middle School home economics teacher, and Denise George, also a teacher at DMS.

The school board hired Lanny Crow for seventh grade athletics, Barbara Kenley for DMS home economics, Kim Harp for elementary special education and Sara McLeMore for eighth grade English.

HD parade is Saturday

Floats, cars, bicycles and horses decorated along the theme of Around the World, will march through the streets of Dimmitt Saturday to kick off that day's Castro County Harvest Days' activities.

Anyone wishing to enter a float, antique car or other car must sign up by Friday. Any entries received after Friday will be placed at the end of the line. Bicycles don't have to pre-register, the riders just need to sign in when they arrive.

All entries must be ready to line up by 9 a.m. Saturday. Judging will be completed by 9:45 a.m.

All float entries should have signs with the name of the sponsoring club or organization on each side. The sign should show the name or theme of the float, if any, and should be readable from a distance of 10 yards.

All antique car entries must have signs indicating the year, make and model of the car. The signs must be prominently displayed either on both sides or on the front and back of the vehicle. The sign should also include the name of the owner and/or the driver.

Cars carrying dignitaries must also have a sign identifying the passengers, by name and title.

The parade announcer's stand will be set up north of the courthouse, with disc jockeys from KDHN Radio serving as emcees. The parade will be broadcast live on KDHN Radio.

Early settlers plan reunion

The Castro County Early Settlers' Reunion will be held Saturday as an annual highlight of the Harvest Days celebration.

The early settlers will meet in the Castro County Senior Citizens' Center, located at 218 West Jones in Dimmitt. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. and those attending will have a "bird's-eye" view of the Harvest Days parade as it passes down Jones Street.

Those attending the noon meal at the Senior Citizens' Center are asked to bring a covered dish.

The afternoon's program features the Dimmitt High School Class of 1940, which is celebrating its 40-year reunion. Other activities planned for the afternoon include the arts and crafts, which will be held at the Expo Building, square dance, volleyball tournament, food booths, the county fair, outdoor games, live music and more. All activities will take place in or around the Expo Building.

Watch a sheepdog in action Friday

Orin Barnes, president of the Texas Sheepdog Association and a former Dimmitt resident, will be putting on a sheepdog demonstration Friday at 6 p.m. on the east side of the Expo Building.

Barnes will demonstrate techniques used to train dogs. He will be bringing his own dogs and sheep.

There is no charge for this program.

Duck race is new HD attraction

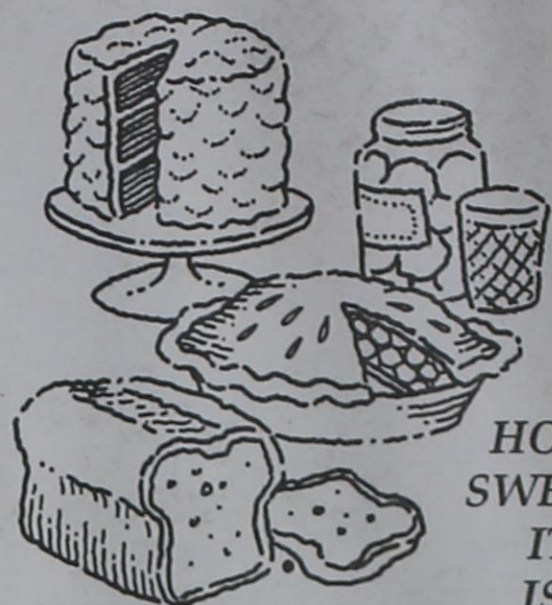

A group of waddling rubber ducks will float down a man-made river (chute) in the "Great Duck Race" Saturday during Harvest Days.

The "Great Duck Race," sponsored by the Dimmitt Kiwanis Club, is a new event scheduled for this year's county celebration and the club hopes it will draw a lot of interest from both young and old alike.

The Kiwanis will sell numbered rubber ducks for $1 each, and each duck will have a chance at qualifying for the finals by competing in different preliminary heats.

The preliminary races are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., with the winning duck in each race qualifying for the finals, which are slated for 4.

Funds raised from the Kiwanis' event will be used for community projects throughout the year.

CUTE AND CUDDLY—One of the fun events that occur during Harvest Days is the Pet Show. Last year Bonnie the Raccoon won a blue ribbon for cutest, and a grand prize for best female raccoon. Her owners were Nancy Wilhite and her mom, Tammy. This year's pet show will be Friday at 5 p.m. followed by a sheepdog demonstration on the east side of the Expo.

Arts and crafts show is bigger and better

A variety of woodcrafts, painted items, jewelry, baskets, needle-crafts, pottery, painted t-shirts and shoes, taxidermy, calligraphy, hand-crafted knives, and many other gift ideas will highlight the "bigger and better" arts and crafts fair Friday and Saturday at the Expo Building and adjacent quonset barns in Dimmitt.

Individuals interested in viewing the exhibitors' arts and or crafts may do so between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Thirty-six booths indoors at the Expo Building have already been reserved, but outdoor booths are still available by calling the Chamber of Commerce office at 647-2524. Price for each outdoor booth is $25.

The Castro County Fair Association will have a booth and will sell arts and crafts, and booth distributing information.

Several of the exhibitors are making a return appearance at the show this year, according to Delores Heller, Chamber of Commerce executive director.

Nancy Hagood's booth will feature "A Little Bit of Hawaii," in the form of costume and semi-precious jewelry. Hagood's a repeat exhibitor who's "been here every year," Heller said.

C.D. Fitzgaird of Dimmitt will display his hand-made knives again this year.

"Goose and Gander Crafts," a local venture by Hershel and Retha Wilson, will display their wood crafts and more.

Hand-made clay earrings, wood items and hand-painted t-shirts can be found at Janice Nutt's booth; while Becky Jones and Connie Nutt will paint matching t-shirts and shoes from their reserved space.

A new attraction will be a miniature tractor exhibit, set up in the quonset barns just south of the Expo Building.

Floyd Terrell of Plainview, and Castro County residents Gerald Summers and Paul Brooks will display their collections of toy tractors, miniature tractors and "pedal-style" tractors. The items will not be available for sale.

Returning to Dimmitt with their woodworks will be Bill and June Mosely, who display unfinished wood shelves, cars, toys and more.

Joel Tardy of Lubbock, a caricature artist from Lubbock, will use his talents, creating caricatures on t-shirts, raw-wood calendars and other items.

Beverly Bird of Sundown will use calligraphy to make framed and unframed poems, scriptures, quotes and more on hand-made paper.

Clydesdale horses pulling wagons will highlight the woodcrafts on display at "Woodcrafts by Charlie and Jean Anderson. The Andersons, who are also making a return appearance at the Harvest Days arts and crafts show, make several wood items including executive trucks, toys and more and several of the items can be seen at the show.

Phillie Ross of Plainview will show her hand-made bags, purses and cosmetics bags and Carol Bainum of Hereford will exhibit her southwestern-style pottery.

Many other booths have been reserved for arts and crafts, but educational booths have also been rented.

The Church of Christ will hand out informational brochures on "the family," according to Heller, and Fred Kuntz will have tips on growing trees. The Soil and Water Conservation will also have miniature demonstrations of conservation equipment and techniques as well as informational brochures.

Live music set throughout day

Live music will highlight entertainment at the annual Castro County Harvest Days celebration Saturday afternoon in the Expo Building.

A bluegrass concert, singing and poetry recital will headline the afternoon's entertainment from a bandstand set up in the Expo.

Flatland Bluegrass Band, including Dale Winders, will take the stage at 12 noon to open the program.

At 3 p.m., Buck Ramsey, a "Cowboy Poet Musician," will sing and recite poetry while Herb Mayfield of Dimmitt accompanies him on the guitar.

Jake Holster of the Cowboy Poets Society, who has authored a book, will recite poetry. He is an artist and will have some of his work—western art in the form of oil paintings—on display.

Everyone is invited to come to the Expo and hear the performances during the afternoon. Admission is free.

"Charley, you've been around a while. Tell me— after you get married, what do you do for fun?"

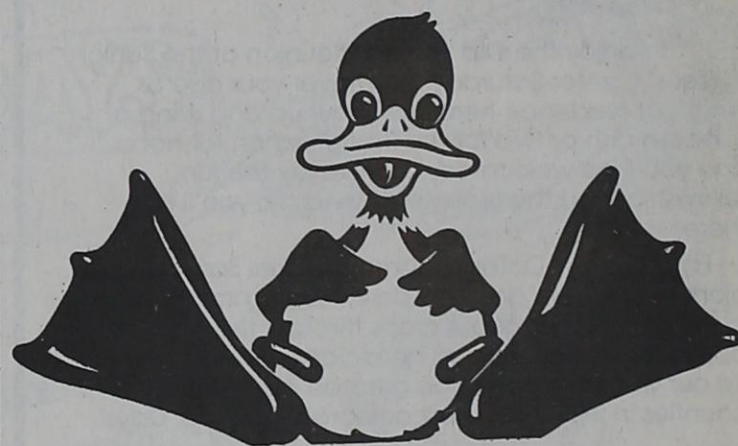

"Heck, Scott, that's easy— just grab the little woman and take her into town for Harvest Days."

Museum to offer surrey rides

The Castro County Museum Open House is being held in conjunction with Harvest Days this year.

The museum will be open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, with "Lemonade in the Shade" beginning at 2 p.m. Surrey rides, furnished by Edgar Dennis, will be offered by the Museum in the afternoon.

Several new additions to the Museum include a hog pen, cowshed and chicken house, all built by the men on the Museum Board with materials from old buildings that were donated to the Museum.

Part of the old jail from the Court House has been relocated near the windmills, and named the "Calaboose." The machinery building, called the George Bagwell Barn, has been increased to twice its original size.

Plans for a Blacksmith Shop and two pole barns are in the works.

Pet show is Friday

Whether your favorite pet is a dog, cat, frog, pig, hamster or tropical fish, the annual pet show is open to you.

Everyone is invited to enter their pet in the show Friday at 5 p.m. at the Expo Building. Pets and owners need to assemble on the west side of the Expo by 5 p.m.

Participants are asked to have their pets on a leash (or in a container) to control pets inside the Expo Building. It is the pet owners responsibility to clean up after their pets.

Agriculture sales up slightly over 1988

Higher cattle prices and strong broiler, egg and milk prices helped Texas farmers and ranchers round up $11.2 billion in cash receipts last year, up 2 percent from 1988.

"Texas is expected to remain in second place nationally (in cash receipts) behind California," said Dr. Carl Anderson, a marketing economist with the Texas Dept. of Agricultural Extension Service. California's farm receipts last year totaled $17.7 billion, up from $16.6 billion in 1988. Texas had $11 billion in receipts in 1988.

In terms of net income, however, Texas farmers and ranchers experienced a decline last year. Estimated net income was $3.6 billion, down 2% from income of $3.67 billion in 1988.

Anderson said last year's devastating drought and lower government payments, estimated at just under $3.67 billion in 1988.

Anderson said last year's devastating drought and lower government payments, estimated at just under $1 billion compared with about $1.15 billion in 1988, lowered net income.

Texas 1989 gross farm income, including the cash receipts plus government payments and non-farm income to farmers, was 13.3 billion. Gross income the previous year was $12.98 billion.

Cash receipts include such agriculture-related items as horses, hunting and fishing leases, outdoor recreation and aquaculture and fish production.

The estimated totals were compiled by Extension Service faculty, based on information provided by county and district sources, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Texas Dept. of Agricultural Statistics Service.

Anderson said Texas continues to rank first among states in sales of cattle and calves, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cotton, farm acreage and values, and number of farms and ranches.

"Overall, livestock receipts in 1989 registered strong gains partly because of higher prices and forced drought sales, while estimated total crop marketings were down because of drought-reduced yields," Anderson said.

Livestock receipts showed a 3% increase, rising by $150 million to $5.25 billion to lead all commodity categories. By contrast, cotton receipts, the second largest category at $1.19 billion, declined last year by 15%, or $215 million.

Sales from vegetables, fruit and nut crops, oil products and timber increased in 1989, Anderson reported. Declining in estimated income were wool, mohair and nursery products.

Farm assets in Texas—including land, buildings, machinery, crops and livestock on hand and inancial assets—totaled $78 billion last year, Anderson said. This is down from a peak of $108 billion in 1984. Texas had 186,000 farms that averaged 710 acres last year.

Anderson said Texas agriculture in 1989 had an economic impact of about $35 billion, including agribusinesses and all segments of the food industry.

"Businesses related to agriculture employed more than 20% of the state's work force, making the general health of farming and ranching important to many Texans," he said.

Anderson gave this review of 1989 farm receipts:

■ Beef. Strong prices and drought herd sales pushed marketings of cattle and calves to an estimated $5.05 billion, or 45% of agricultural receipts. Sales in 1988 were $4.9 billion. Worsening drought last year forced many ranchers to sell their herds or resort to costly feed programs.

■ Hogs. Marketings, with prices down from 1988, are estimated at $94 million. Sales in 1988 totaled $99 million.

■ Sheep and Goats. Sheep numbers continued to decline, and marketings are estimated at $77 million in 1988. This compares with $65 million in 1988. Goats, with numbers expanding slightly, had sales of $29 million, down from $31 million in 1988.

■ Dairy Products. Texas' expanding dairy industry ranks sixth nationally in milk production and had milk sales estimated at $725 million. This compares with $643 million in 1988.

■ Poultry Products. Eggs marketings were down slightly, but strong prices all year for egg, broiler and turkey sales resulted in receipts estimated at $750 million. Total receipts the previous year were $651 million.

■ Cotton. With fewer planted acres and less production, cotton and cottonseed marketings declined to $1.2 billion, down from $1.4 billion the previous year. The cotton crop was harvested from 3.7 million acres, 30% less acreage from the season before, again partly because of drought.

■ Food Grains. Sales from wheat and rice harvests totaled about $3374 million, down from $432 million in 1988. Cash receipts from 1989 wheat were $228 million, and rice, $146 million.

■ Feed Crops. Cash receipts totaled about $787 million, with grain sorghum accounting for $299 million and corn sales, $302 million. Sales from hay crops, barley, oats and ensilage totaled $186 million. In 1988, feed crop sales amounted to $741 million.

■ Oil crops. With greater soybean production, oil crop sales increased to an estimated $203 million last year, up from $155 million previously. Soybean sales were estimated at $59 million, peanut crop sales at $136 million and sunflower and other oil crop receipts totaled $8 million.

■ Vegetables. Texas continues to rank among the top states in value of vegetable crops, with all vegetables, including melons and watermelons, having an estimated value of $382 million. This compares with sales of $425 million in 1988.

■ Fruits and Nuts. Sales were estimated at about $82 million, up from $75 million the previous season.

■ Nursery Crops. With estimated sales of at least $477 million, the nursery industry produced about half of the plants and turf materials sold in Texas last year. Sales in 1988 were $430 million for nursery crops plus $84 million for floriculture.

■ Timber Products. Estimated cash receipts for the pine and hardwood harvests were estimated at $441 million, compared with $336 million the previous year.

■ Miscellaneous Livestock. Wool and mohair sales totaled an estimated $52 million, down from $65 million the previous year. Sales of other livestock and honey were estimated at $33 million, compared with $42 million in 1988.

■ Other Resources. Estimated agriculturally-related income from hunting leases, aquaculture and fish production, horses and outdoor recreation was $401 million, down from $423 million in 1988.

Cotton Talks

A survey of 19 county Extension agents late in July, coupled with estimates supplied by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., for the other six counties in its territory, offers the only available assessment of overall High Plains cotton crop conditions since two successive weekends of beneficial rains.

The information was gathered at the request of Con. Larry Combest (R-Lubbock) for use in a continuing effort to build support for disaster assistance on the 1990 crop. The 19-county survey was compiled by Dr. John Gannaway of Lubbock, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station cotton breeder.

Combined survey and PCG estimated figures put total plantings in the 25 High Plains counties at 3.158 billion acres, close to the 3.2 million-acre round number used by most crop observers all season. Lending further credence to the accuracy of the survey's figures in the 57.5% to 42.5% dryland-irrigated acreage split. That's near the mid-point of the dry-irrigated ratio reported by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service for 1988 (60-40) and 1989 (53.5-46.5).

The Extension Service-PCG estimate of acreage planted under irrigation came to 1.344 million, compared to plantings of 1.814 dryland acres. Irrigated acres, except for an estimated 30,000 lost to hail, was rated in good to excellent condition.

Of total dryland acres, 531,000 are reported abandoned, with another 505,000 said to have only a 0 to 50% yield potential and put in a "potential abandonment" category. Of the remainder, 625,000 acres are given a yield potential of 50 to 100% and 153,000 are reported to have a good chance to make 100% of the potential yield.

PCG, in an interesting but "by no means prophetic" exercise, converted the acreage figures into bales of production. For lack of a better guide, the five-year average area-wide irrigated (490-pound) and dryland (342-pound) yields were used. The 490 pounds was applied to all standing irrigated acres; 342 pounds was applied to the dryland acres listed at 100% of potential, and 75% and 25% of the average dryland yields were applied to dryland cotton in the 50 to 100% and 0 to 50% potential categories, respectively.

The end result shows a 25-county total of 1,843,574 bales—1,310,750 from irrigated acreage and 532,824 from dryland.

A more objective "but not necessarily more accurate" estimate will be released by the US Dept. of Agriculture today (Thursday), PCG officials said.

Social Security in Castro County

By Mary Jane Shanes

People who are developmentally disabled may qualify for monthly benefits under either the Social Security or the supplemental security income (SSI) programs. The medical requirements for eligibility so far as disability is concerned are the same for both programs. Other eligibility requirements differ.

A mentally impaired person can get social security payments when a parents starts getting social security retirement or disability payments, or when an insured parent dies. It doesn't matter how old the person is, but he or she must have become disabled before age 22. A mentally disabled person who has worked long enough and recently enough under social security can also get benefits on his or her own social security work record.

SSI payments are paid to disabled people of any age, as well as to the blind and people 65 and over. SSI payments, however, are made to people whose income and resources are below certain levels.

In deciding if an unmarried child under 18 and living at home can get SSI payments, part of the parents' income and resources may be considered to be the child's. If the parents' countable resources exceed the SSI limit, the excess is included with the child's resources. After deducting allowances for the parents' work and living expenses and for other children living in the home, the remaining amount of the parents' income is included with the child's to decide if the child is within the income limit.

Although people living in public institutions are generally not eligible for SSI payments, and application may be submitted when it appears that a person will be able to leave an institution soon. And sometimes it is the SSI payment that makes it possible for the person to leave the care facility.

Call social security's toll-free number for more information about social security or SSI benefits for disabled people. The number is 1-800-234-5772.

Our County Serves the World . . .

High Fructose Corn Syrup from the American Fructose Corp. plant here is used to sweeten major American soft drinks that go all over the world, as well as many other types of commercial foods and beverages. We're proud of that.

This is just one of the many reasons we have to celebrate the role our dynamic county plays in the economy of our nation during HARVEST DAYS.
