Commissioners Court Approves Planning Board Recommendation

The Commissioners Court, at its meeting, received the recommendation of the newly-formed Aransas County Planning and Development Board that the Court proceed with the steps necessary to form a county-wide conservation and reclamation district. The recommendation also suggested that engineering, fiscal and legal services be contracted for to assist the Commissioners Court and Board in the preliminary measures that must be taken leading to the formation of such a district by an act of the State Legislature.

The commissioners, after listening to the letter adopted the recommendations upon a motion made by Jack Sparks, commissioner of Precinct 2, and seconded by A. L. Wofford of Precinct 4.

In other action the commissioners considered a petition bearing 39 signatures requesting that necessary steps be taken to control unlicensed dogs, and dog packs ranging west of Rockport, on and adjacent to the Market Street area. The petition stated that these dogs are a danger to health and children, as well as a public nuisance.

The commissioners requested county attorney Ellis Clark for legal advice on the steps that can be taken to curb the packs and cope with the problem.

Mrs. Vivian Lucille Glenn was deputized to sell poll taxes in that portion of Aransas Pass that lies within Aransas County, and $10.342 was transferred from the special road and bridge fund before the court adjourned.

Mayor Receives Invitation To Palacios Day

Mayor Herman Johnson and all the citizens of Rockport have received an invitation to attend Palacios Appreciation Day next Sunday, Nov. 19, when the citizens of that town give thanks for the help they received after Hurricane Carla. In a letter from Richard E. Hazen to Mayor Johnson, Hazen says:

"Dear Mayor Johnson: 'Our coastal area is trying to forget the terrible devastation of Carla. But there is something we cannot forget—the gratitude of every citizen of every town in the coastal region for all the help given during those harrowing days. The enormity of our debt of thanks is clearly before us. 'Among the many, we think of the doctors and nurses who remained behind to attend the sick, and to alert us all to hazards of health; of the peace officers who evacuated us and remained to protect our property; of the National Guard who worked to make it safe for our return; of the thousands of homes open to our immediate aid; of the entire nation who turned its heart inside out in compassion for us and flooded us with supplies. It is rare that a city or a whole area can pause while its citizens sincerely express their thanks. It may be rare, or unique, but grateful Texans want to do just that.

"For a gala Appreciation Day, Palacios, who took the brunt of the storm and who is in the center of the coastal area, invites all the citizens of 72 of the coastal towns to join with us in thanks to God and to all who helped us. We want every person of our nation to see and hear and read about us giving them our thanks. We want nationwide coverage on all phases to communication.

"Mr. Mayor, will you invite your citizens to participate with us by attending this event on Nov. 19, the Sunday before Thanksgiving, at 3 p.m.? Will you come yourself and occupy a reserved section for city officials? Please let us know by Nov. 12th if you wish your city listed on the program as participating in our thanks. If you cannot come, will you send a message and kindly let us know how many reserved seats you need.

"This will be a unique service. It will be the spontaneous voice of the people. We ask you to join your voice with ours in expressing our thanks."

FIRST NATIONAL BANK TO CLOSE THANKSGIVING DAY

The First National Bank will be closed Thanksgiving Day, along with most other business in Rockport.

Representative Says He Will Assist Area Development Committee

State Representative Tom Andrews, in letters to County Judge John D. Wendell and members of the newly-formed Area Development Committee, offered his help in the legislation to establish a reclamation and conservation district in Aransas County.

Andrews said: "It was with considerable interest that I noticed the recently-formed Aransas County Area Development Committee has recommended the possible establishment of a county-wide reclamation and conservation district.

"May I offer my services to you at this time in any capacity whatsoever to assist your committee in this project.

"It appears that the Governor will call a special session of the legislature in early 1962, and it may be possible to prevail upon the Governor to include this item in the special call in the event that you decide to move ahead on the project at an early date.

"I hold myself ready to counsel with the committee at any time, and in the event that I may be of assistance to you in this matter, please do not hesitate to call upon me."

Car-Truck Crash Kills Palacios Man

A. R. Clark, 39, of Palacios, was killed at 8:30 p.m. Monday four miles north of Mills' Wharf when his car was in a collision with a pickup driven by A. J. McGinnis of Markham.

Clark's death was the first traffic fatality in Aransas County in nearly two years. No traffic deaths were recorded in 1960 and Clark's was the first death this year.

McGinnis, Mrs. Clark and her 7-year old son, Billy (Scooter) Clark, were treated in Bayview Hospital here.

The boy suffered a head injury, cuts and bruises; Mrs. Clark received minor injuries.

McGinnis received a severe cut on his left arm, broken ribs, and foot injuries.

Highway Patrolman Buddy Hierholzer and Deputy Sheriff Mundine investigated the accident.

The Clarks, whose passenger car was pulling a small trailer, has recently moved from Corpus Christi to Palacios. They had returned to Corpus Christi to get personal belongings.

McGinnis was going south to Port Aransas.

The car, pickup and trailer all were demolished.

DWI charges were filed Tuesday against McGinnis.

The Aransas County High School Pirate Band will be one of twenty eight high school bands, ranging from Class CC to AAAA, that will compete in the University Interscholastic Marching and Twirling Contest that will be held at Port Lavaca next Saturday, Nov. 18.

The band will have uniform inspection at 5:55 p.m. and will march at 6:50 p.m.

Each band must perform certain required movements followed by a special formation or routine and is allowed a minimum of five minutes and a maximum of eight for its presentation on the marching field.

They are judged against a set of standards and do not compete with each other, with a Division One rating the best that be obtained, and a Division V the lowest.

Judges for the event will be Bryce Taylor, director of the Alice School Band; Richard Cole, leader of the Thomas Jefferson High School Band in San Antonio; Frank Preizner, who leads the Tivy High School Band at Kerrville; and Joe Rogers, band director at Seguin High. These four will judge the marching performances, while Richard Kole of San Antonio and Tommy Williamson will be the judges for inspection of uniforms and instruments.

Twirling contests will also be held, and entrants from ACHS are:

Mary Moore, Fay Snyder, Pat Weber, Florence Casterline, Annette Gardner, Linda Eller, Jeanie Diederich, Diana Waggoner, Sherry Brundrett, Janice Garrett, Suzanne Keith and DeRema LeFevre.

Court Decision May Affect Local Suits

Justices Hold That Commissioners Court Have Power to Delegate Tax Revaluations To Tax Engineers and to Pay For Service

Two out of eight tax suits filed here last December and January, contesting valuations used by the county and school tax collectors after a revaluation program conducted by the tax engineering firm of Thomas Y. Pickett and Company, have been dismissed after payment of taxes, and recent Supreme Court decision will materially effect the disposition made of the the others, County Judge John D. Wendell said this morning.

In general the local suits contended that the county and school district had acted illegally in hiring the tax firm to conduct a revaluation of real and other property in Aransas County, and sought to restrain payment of Pickett or collection of taxes based on the revaluations which were, in a number of instances, substantially above those that the plaintiffs had been paying in the past.

First of the suits to be filed was one in which E. T. White and approximately 160 others sought a permanent injunction against payments to Pickett, alleging that the contract between the firm and the taxing agencies was void because the services contracted for are the lawful duties of the tax assessor-collector, and that these contracts which exceeded $2,000, were awarded without complying with the legal requirements concerning advertising and taking of bids.

The suit closely paralleled another filed a few days earlier by taxpayers of the Aransas Pass Independent School District in San Patricio County, seeking to enjoin the school board in Aransas Pass from using valuations also set by the Pickett Company.

The suit was filed by Corpus Christi attorneys Ward and Brown on Dec. 16, and named as defendants County Judge John D. Wendell, County Commissioners Jack Sparks, W. B. Allen, Mrs. Howard Mills, and Arthur Davis, along with County Tax Assessor-Collector A. C. Shivers and County Treasurer Mrs. Ettoile Eller.

Seven other suits were filed in rapid succession. The second was J. Meredith Taton et ux, vs. Aransas County Independent School District, on December 29, and J. Meredith Taton et ux vs. Aransas County, and on Dec. 30, suits were filed by the Sien-Gibson Ranch Enterprises against Aransas County, Letitia McCampbell et al against the school district, and Rosalie M. Sien et al against the school district.

The last two have since been dismissed upon payment of the taxes in dispute.

Besides these, on January 27, a suit was filed against Aransas County, and one entered against the Aransas County Independent School District.

The plaintiffs, of which there were approximately 200, most of whom belonged to the Aransas (continued on page 8)

ROCKPORT TO LOSE HIGHWAY PATROLMAN

Effective Nov. 15, Rockport and Aransas County will lose one of the Texas Highway patrolman that have been stationed here.

Dick Berens is being transferred to the Corpus Christi office of the Highway Patrol because of personnel shortage resulting from the recent activation of the U. S. Army Reserves in Texas.

B. L. (Buddy) Heirholzer, transferred here from Cuero several months ago, when the Highway patrol office there was closed, will remain in Rockport.

LOCAL VFW MEMBERS ATTEND COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING

H. C. Mullinax, Chester Johnson, Vernon Kleypas, Frank McLead, Green McGhee and Louis Solis, attended the VFW County Council meeting, held in Odem Monday night, Nov. 6.

Dr. Leonard Goldman was flag captain in charge of the Armistice Day flag display Nov. 11.

This is one of the projects of the local VFW post to display the United States flag throughout the city on all National holidays. All the leading merchants of the city participate in this patriotic gesture.

The VFW post wishes to thank Shindler's Texaco Station for the use of their truck for displaying the flags.

Next County Council meeting will be held in Rockport, Monday night, Dec. 4, and all members are asked to attend.

Commissioners Set Civil Defense In Motion at Meeting

Preliminary steps were taken by the Commissioners Court to form a Civil Defense Unit in Aransas County, when they passed a resolution creating a County Civil Defense and Disaster Relief Committee.

Under the resolution, County Judge John D. Wendell will be chairman of the group, and County Defense Coordinator, with the power to appoint an assistant defense coordinator and the directors of divisions and chiefs of services of such divisions as may be set up by the commissioners court or by directive of the defense coordinator himself.

Among other provisions, the resolution authorized the county to enter into agreements with political subdivisions, corporations, individuals and other necessary parties necessary to carry out the provisions of the Civil Defense Act.

Duties of the defense coordinator, as defined in the resolution, includes a survey to determine existing personnel, equipment, supplies and services which could be used during an emergency, as well as conducting a continuing study of the need for and improvements in the Civil Defense plan adopted by the Commissioners Court.

The operational organization in the county, once it is set up, will consist of the officers and employees of Aransas County, designated by the Defense Coordinator as well as all volunteer county defense workers.

The functions and duties of the organizations are to be distributed among such service divisions and special staff as the Commissioners Court shall designate, or the County Defense Coordinator shall provide by directive.

Any such order shall set forth the form of the organization, establish and designate divisions and services, assign functions, duties and powers, and designate officers and employees to carry out the provisions of the order.

Judge Wendell said that it will be some time before all these things can be done, but that he is working on an organizational plan now, and expects to have it in shape shortly.

Council Deals With Routine Matters at Meeting

Councilman Jimmy Hunt presided over the regular meeting of the City Council in the absence of Mayor Herman Johnson.

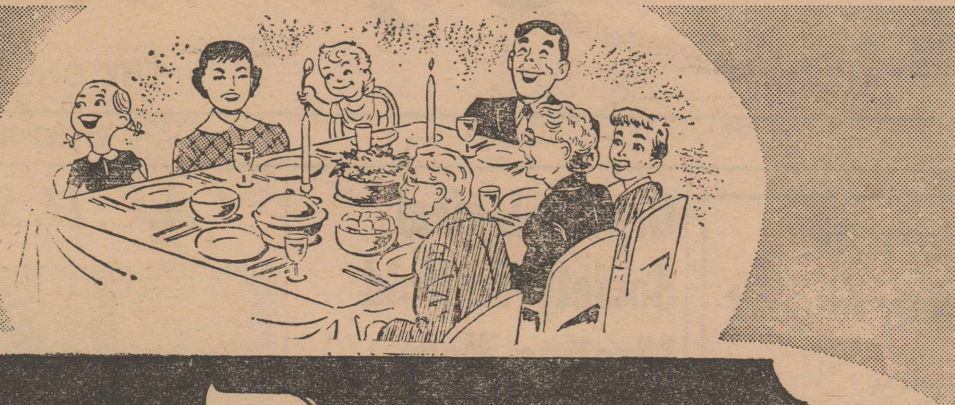

Bill Culberson, of Motorola Communications, discussed the possibility of installing a radio base station at the City Hall with councilmen, and was followed by Eugene Kachtik, of the Federal Housing agency, who gave the council a run down on urban renewal.

The council also received applications for the post of city tax-assessor-collector, but tabled this in absence of Mayor Johnson, who will continue to act in this capacity until a permanent man is hired.

In other action, councilmen approved the city audit, which was made by Seale, McCarty and Milikin, of Beeville, and approved purchase of an adding machine for the water department.

Ray Hardin, of Long Beach, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hardin and Mrs. Stanley Jones of San Antonio, were weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan L. Roberts. The Hardins are Mrs. Roberts' brothers.

C. of C. Sponsors Salesmanship Course Nov. 27-30

Americans currently are spending at a rate of over $1.3 billion per business day. These are consumer dollars going for oil and gas, TV repair, lawn mowers, clothes, insurance, and other goods and services. Minimum projections indicate our share? There were the words of Mrs. Mary Juergens, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, when she announced a special training program for Rockport businessmen. Francis A. Flynn from the University of Texas will conduct a sales training course entitled "Dynamics of Selling" at the Chamber of Commerce for four days, Nov. 27-30 inclusive, at 7:30 p.m.

This training is made available by the Distributive Education Program of the University and the Texas Education Agency. It will help people who sell do a better job.

During the four-day program, discussions will be held on how to secure and hold through the use of proper attention, how to satisfy the customer's wants and needs through the use of proper knowledge, and how to help the customer make the proper buying decision.

Mr. Flynn has had extensive experience in retailing and has conducted similar programs for the University during the past five years.

Individuals or groups desiring to attend should contact Mrs. Juergens or Vernon Kleypas.

Duck Season Opens Nov. 18

Duck hunters in South Texas, from most indications, will find conditions as good or better than last year. Ducks have been moving into the area for nearly two months and some large concentrations have been seen.

Redheads literally covered acres of Laguna Madre several weeks ago, but have since thinned out. Pintails this week were abundant and Corpus Christi Bay and Nueces Bay harbored rafts and rafts of bluebills.

Duck season, opening at noon as usual, runs through Dec. 17—just 30 days. Texas game representatives voted to accept a shorter shoot than other states in the flyway and shoot three ducks a day instead of only two. Daily limit is three and possession limit is six. No redheads, canvasbacks or blackbellied tree ducks are allowed.

Hunters shooting outside their county of residence must have a hunting license for ducks if they are over 16 and under 65. All hunters must have the $3 federal waterfowl stamp sold at post office stamp windows.

Deer and turkey hunters must have licenses even if they shoot in their home county. Those exempt from purchasing licenses must obtain exemptions so they'll have the deer tags.

GLENDA TURNER HONORED WITH SHOWER

Miss Glenda Pat Turner, bride-elect of Coy Kirkpatrick, was honored with a bridal shower Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Russell. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Russell were Mrs. Gary Andrew, Miss Joy Hamblin, and Misses Kathleen Ann Raymond and Barbara Allen of Corpus Christi.

The theme of the shower was carried out in red and white. The serving table was laid with a red net table cloth over white linen. A small white umbrella filled with miniature red and white packages, served as the centerpiece. The oblong white sheet cake decorated with red and white bells and roses was served with red punch to the guests.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Grandel Turner and Mrs. Lynn Turner of Corpus Christi, and Mrs. D. L. Kight of Falfurrias.

REBEKAH LODGE HAS BUSINESS MEETING

There was a good attendance at the Rockport Rebekah Lodge meeting Thursday, Nov. 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Virginia McKinny presented the lodge with copies of the opening and closing odes for the use of the new lodge members. Mrs. McKinny's daughter had the copies made.

During the social after lodge, the committee served sandwiches, coffee and cocoa.

Mrs. Louis Mikeal and son, Tommy Lee, went to San Antonio to visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Williams Sunday and helped Mrs. Mikeal's grandson, Louis Earl, celebrate his 4th birthday.

DEN THREE MEETS

After business was dispensed with in standard form, the boys practiced a few magic tricks, cub scout magic being the theme of the month.

The boys assembled some model airplanes while refreshments was being served by Marvin Cobb, to John Laird, Steve Carraway, Robbie Little, Terry Cobb, Flip Carraway, Stanley Shults, Phil Tedder, Den Chief Mike Tedder, Den Mother Faye Shaver, and one guest of honor, Boy Scout James Crabb. MRS CRUSER TALKS ON FOODS

Mrs. James C. Cruser, Dietitian and Director of Cafeterias for the Aransas County Independent School District has talked to all sections of the Rockport Elementary School sixth grade science and health classes. Her talks have been on the four basic food groups, (called the daily seven) the types of meals served, calories, proteins, carbohydrates, fats, minerals and vitamins. The importance of proper and balanced diets were stressed and the students were urged to give each food a fair sampling before refusing to eat it.

EARL B. ROBBINS RETURNS FROM WESTERN PACIFIC

Earl B. Robbins, seaman, USN, son of Mrs. George D. Robbins, of Rockport, returned from duty with the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific aboard the destroyer USS Somers on Oct. 31, to the ship's San Diego, Calif. home port.

During the ship's seven-month cruise, it visited Australia, Fiji, Hong Kong, Taiwan, the Philippines and Japan.

The majority of the tour was spent as a unit of the Taiwan Patrol Force.

Joe Phillips Expert on Forms Can Build Anything

There are income tax forms, Marilyn Monroe, and the forms that Joe Phillips makes to handle concrete. These last are almost as interesting as the first two to contractors using this building material for construction.

Tell Joe what shape you want to pour concrete and he'll take a truck load of steel plates, a welder or two, and turn out a gadget that will do it easier and quicker than anyone has thought possible.

Latest production of the Rockport Steel Form Co. is a huge contraption, complete with engines, belt and winch lines that spreads an even layer of concrete over the sides and bottom of an irrigation canal so fast that it will make a contractor's head swim when he contrasts with older methods.

In the Valley, where they have a huge program under way for rehabilitation of weed grown irrigation canals and ditches that have been losing water and impeding the flow, Joe's first production will go to work this week for the H&H Construction Company of Corpus Christi, replacing the older, slower and more expensive method, using wooden forms to hold the concrete in place as it is poured.

Fifty feet wide, and 12 feet from stem to stern, concrete is poured in at one end, transported to the other by a conveyor belt, and emerges beneath what Joe calls the boat in an even sheet three inches thick, lining the sides and bottom of the canal or ditch, which has already been graded and smoothed by earth-moving machinery.

In front of the boat is a giant winch which pulls the whole movable form forward, leaving the concrete in place as a truncated V, ready, as soon as it hardens, to carry the life-giving water to the Rio Grande vegetable and cotton crops.

Phillips' company is the first of its kind in this part of the country. He came here from New Cumberland, West Virginia, where he had been production manager for the New Cumberland Metal Products Company for fifteen years, manufacturing forms of various kinds for construction of highways, curbs and gutters, bridges and similar products, and formed the company in partnership with his sister, Mrs. Kay Bergel.

Mrs. Bergel and her late husband, the late M. Bergel, had been coming to Rockport for many years, although they operated and owned the Lone Star Hair and Wool Company, Bergel Jewelry Company, and the Odom Jewelers in San Antonio.

The company has distributors throughout the country, and is in a particularly favorable position to serve customers in Texas because of the freight differentials between here and the east where most similar comparisons are located.

Among other things, Phillips has designed and sold many of the forms that are being used in construction of the Nueces Causeway, now under construction between Portland and Corpus Christi paralleling the one built several years ago.

America's Potato King Vacationing In Rockport

The potato king of Texas—Jack Renfro of Hereford, Texas, and his wife are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Renfro of Frederick, Okla., who are spending their 27th winter in Rockport at Balboa Courts.

Actually, Renfro could better be called the potato king of the United States, for he and his associates grow, pack and sell 150,000,000 bushels of potatoes a year, valued at between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 a year, depending on the going price.

Renfro, 51, lives at Hereford, a short, vigorous, incisive man, typical of the new breed of agriculturists, a fast thinker, an expert in logistics, and with a brain that undoubtedly works with the same speed and precision as an electronic computer.

He is in a lot of different kinds of farm operations, but potatoes are his biggest crop. As a boy, he helped his father raise feed on their farm near Frederick, Okla. Later he went to Oklahoma A&M, majoring in marketing. After graduation, he joined the Oklahoma marketing commission and worked in the vegetable division.

Later he was chief of the fruit and vegetable branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture regional office in Dallas for seven southwestern states, including Texas.

According to Elmer Summers, farm editor of the Houston Chronicle, he became a potato broker in Hereford in 1946, but soon bought a farm and started growing the tubers. Since then he has branched out.

He plants 6,000 acres of Irish potatoes annually. Each year his first planting is in Rio Grande Valley at Mission, in December. His second planting, in January, is at Pearsall, in the Winter Garden District, followed by a third in February at Munday; a fourth in March and April at Crosbyton and Hereford, and a fifth in May at Questa, Mexico, succeeded by a sixth in June at Texline and Dalhart.

He starts digging at Mission in April and then he moves from planting to planting about 30 days apart, harvesting three varieties of red-Dozocs, LaSoda and McClures and three sorts of whites—Russets, Kennebecs and early green.

He also plays a major role in helping to move other crops around Hereford to market. These include onions, carrots, lettuce, cantaloupes and some cabbage.

"But," Summers said, "Renfro doesn't confine himself to vegetables. He raises fine cattle and owns several ranches with many thousands of acres in each. Last January, he took 15 bull calves to the Great Western Livestock

Show in Denver, and sold them for $32,000.

He owns a 6,000 acre ranch seven miles east of Hereford where has a herd of registered breeding Herefords. Also a 12,500-acre ranch for beef production at Romero, and another of 35,000 acres in the Oklahoma Panhandle, lying both in Oklahoma and Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Renfro have no children, but they have sent 82 students through college. They now have fourteen at college and this summer he employed 20 students in his vegetable and cattle operations.

Vegetables are loaded by "buckers" in the field. Two buckers on the ground lift the sacks and two in the trucks load them.

Football players who work for Renfro have no trouble in keeping in condition. Four other men lift more than 750,000 pounds of potatoes in a single day.

It is work that separates the man from the boys in a hurry.

Renfro and his wife expect to spend three weeks in Rockport.

TEXAS LAWMEN

COL. W. W. STERLING Ranger

"...in the high tradition of the service..."

In the early dawn of a summer day, 1931, four Texas Rangers stood guard over a new Red River bridge. Gov. Alfalfa Bill Murray of Oklahoma had opened it, in defiance of a Federal injunction. Gov. Ross Sterling of Texas ordered Ranger Capt. W. W. Sterling to close it. He did and it stayed closed. During the word war that followed, Capt. Sterling heard that Oklahoma's Adj. Gen. Barrett was dispatching the military to the scene. "If you're sending a brigade," Sterling told him, "I'll keep all four of us here. If it's only a regiment, I'll let a couple of my boys go home." William Warren Sterling, 1891-1960, was typical of the high tradition of the Rangers...strong, straight, colorful. Joining the service in 1915, he held every grade, becoming a Ranger Captain in 1927. Shortly after, Gov. Ross Sterling named him Adjutant General. Leaving state service in 1933, he later entered the Army and retired as a Colonel in 1944...another Ranger who makes Texans proud to be Texans.

Texas never could have become a great state without the courage and devotion to duty of her lawmen...nor without the commerce and industry that have provided prosperity and the good life. The brewing industry has provided payrolls and the pleasures of moderate beverages, revenue and relaxation. "Beer belongs." The United States Brewers Association is constantly at work with brewers, wholesalers, retailers and local authorities to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions.

COURT DECISION—

County Taxpayers Association, were basing their hope largely upon another suit in Galveston County which Patrick H. McKenna and certain other tax-paying citizens filed suit against the Galveston Commissioners Court, which had earlier employed another tax firm, Pritchard and Abbott, to evaluate property in the county, against the wishes of the elected tax assessor-collector.

In this suit the plaintiffs alleged that the commissioners court there had entered into a contract that usurped the functions, duties and prerogatives of the County tax assessor-collector, and that the contract was invalid.

The district court in Galveston County held that the Commissioners Court in Galveston had not exceeded its powers but, upon appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals, this decision was reversed. Pritchard and Abbott, who were suing for the money due under their contract with the Commissioners Court, immediately appealed the case to the Supreme Court of Texas, who in a recent majority decision held that the commissioners had the power to make such a contract and that it was legal and binding.

"It is a little early to say exactly what effect this will have on the local suits," Judge Wendell said, "but we do know that two of the plaintiffs in the varying suits have gone ahead and paid their taxes, whether because they were convinced that they could not win their suits or for other reasons. And it certainly seems that the decision will have the effect of validating the action of the commissioners court here. It is true that the Tatton and White suits are on appeal, but I do not anticipate the appeals court holding against the local county and school district."

New Book on Fishing Gear, Now Available

An illustrated publication showing the various types of fishing gear used in harvesting America's five-billion-pound annual fish catch has just been issued by the Department of the Interior.

Containing dozens of easy-to-follow drawings, the circular was prepared for serious students of the United States fishing industry, especially those interested in the development and utilization of fishing gear.

The introduction explains that white fishing is an age-old occupation, fishing gear was developed slowly by trial and error. In the past 60 years mechanization and use of more efficient equipment have revolutionized the fishing industry.

The change in fishing gear from the simple net to the present huge purse seines which cost as much as $40,000 is emphasized. The booklet also points out that a million-dollar boat for fish harvesting is not unusual now and that some large English and Soviet ships, designed as stern trawlers to fish, process, and freeze the product at sea, cost several million dollars each.

The Publication, "Commercial Fishing Gear of the United States," Fish and Wildlife Circular 109, is available for 40 cents a copy through the Supt. of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

HUNTERS SUBJECT TO CHECK FOR NEW LICENSE

Austin.—With the opening of the major hunting season of the year, game wardens now are beginning a careful check of license, according to J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

A resident hunting license costing $3.15 is required of every citizen of Texas who hunts outside the county of his residence, or who hunts deer and turkey in the county of his residence. Exceptions are those citizens who are under 17 years of age, or 65 or over, and citizens hunting on land on which they are residing. Exemption licenses are required for each of these exceptions, when hunting deer or turkey.

Non-resident general hunting licenses cost $25 each. However, non-residents may buy a 5-day migratory bird license for $5, and a migratory waterfowl license for $10, issued on a reciprocal basis.

A non-resident also may buy a $3.15 license for use on shooting resorts only.

Landowners who lease hunting rights also are required to pay a $5 license. They also are required to register and keep a list of persons who hunt on their lands for a fee.

In addition, a Federal regulation requires that all hunters of migratory waterfowl buy a $3 "duck stamp," which can be obtained from your post office.

Mrs. Hartman Reviews Book For Woman's Club

After a short business meeting of the club, Mrs. Jimmie Hunt, president, turned the program over to Mrs. C. E. Nickerson, who in turn, introduced Mrs. Fay Hartman who reviewed the best selling novel "To Kill a Mockingbird" by Harper Lee.

The book is interestingly told in the first person by a six year old girl and deals with life in a small town in southern Alabama. The racial barriers and the problems it presents are always in evidence and of particular interest is the situation of a family who became deeply involved, morally and emotionally, in a heart rending problem. Mrs. Hartman points out the beautiful way Harper Lee tells this story of prejudice, crime, and justice and how her sensitivity makes the book a captivating experience from beginning to end.

After the program Mrs. D. R. Black presided over a social hour with Mrs. Nickerson serving coffee.

Pirates Beat Ingleside 22-0

The Aransas County High School School Pirates wound up the football season with a 22-0 win over the Ingleside Mustangs.

They were ahead all the way, with 20 first downs to 6 for the Mustangs, 4 penetrations to Ingleside's one, and gained 390 yards through the air and on the ground, or almost four times as much as the Ingleside eleven.

Touchdowns were made by Jimmy Jackson, on a 5-yard end run, by Gayle Williams, who skirted the end for seven yards and pay dirt; and by Manuel Lugo, who went over from the Mustang one-yard line.

Eddie Steele caught a pass for a two-point conversion, and Manuel Galindo caught another for two more points.

Coach Segler said that Galindo and Lugo turned in fine running and pass catching games, while Jimmy Jackson did a good job at quarter back as a passer.

Defensively, Lugo intercepted two of Ingleside's pass attempts and Johnny McHugh picked off another, while the line did a fine job of containing Ingleside's running game.

The Pirates record for the season was 5 wins, 4 losses and one tie, while in district play they won three, lost two, and tied one.

Woodsboro won the nod for the district championship; Bloomington was second; Aransas County and Mathis tied for third place.

Researcher Writing History of Taft Ranch

Ray Stephens, a graduate student of the University of Texas, has contacted a number of Rockport citizens for information designed to aid him in producing "A History of the Taft Ranch and its Role in the Development of the South Texas Plains," and he needs help from people with long memories to help him fill in gaps on this early day enterprise.

Stephens has been working on the enterprise for over two years, and for several months has been making a careful study of the old records and papers of the ranch that are stored in the office vault of the Green Estate in Taft. He has also been searching newspaper files in the area.

"I am interested in securing any old manuscripts or letters dealing with the ranch, and particularly letters describing persons or events on the place," Stephens said. "I'd also like to see any journals or diaries kept by persons connected with the ranch during its early days. These would be of great help."

Stephens would also like to obtain any pictures taken during this period showing cattle roundups, registered cattle, farming scenes, group pictures of ranch employees, President William H. Taft's visit, homeseeker trains, clearing and plowing the land, and others of a like nature.

"Any pictures or manuscripts would be handled with the greatest care, he said, "and returned to the owner."

During his research, Stephens has spent a great deal of time interviewing old timers around Rockport and in the Taft area, and making tape recordings of the conversations, and is eager to interview a great number of others connected with the ranch before he completes his work towards a PhD degree at the University.

Anyone having information of this sort can reach him at the Green Estate office in Taft, or at 407 Franklin Boulevard, Austin, Texas.
