Newby begins quest for repeat

By Carl Graham
Colorado City Record

Colorado High School junior Paige Newby heads to Austin this week for her third straight appearance at the state track meet ... and what she hopes will be a second straight gold medal in the discus competition.

Newby is no stranger to the state meet. As a freshman, she earned a bronze medal after posting a throw of 128-feet, 10-inches. Last year, as a sophomore, she set a goal of coming back home with no less than a gold medal.

That mission was accomplished as she threw the discus 142-3 after tossing a personal best earlier in the season at the Cotton Patch Relays in Wall 151 feet.

Newby plans on a repeat performance this year.

The CHS standout is scheduled to compete in the UIL State Track and Field Championships this Friday morning in Austin. She is scheduled to

BLOSSOMING POPPY MALLOWs greeted Angelo State University workers last Saturday when they arrived to plant more than 50 new flowers at the Mitchell County Sports Complex. Dr. Bonnie Amos (below) displays one of the 32 flowers that survived last year's planting. The largest population of Poppy Mallows in the world is in Mitchell County. Flowerly Future

ASU group adds to growing number of rare flowers at sports complex

By Tommy Wells
Colorado City Record

The sight of the 32 little purple/reddish flowers at the Mitchell County Sports Complex was like a Christmas gift in May for Angelo State University's Dr. Bonnie Amos.

In fact, it may be even better because the opportunity to see so many rare poppy mallow flowers doesn't come quite as often as Christmas.

Amos, along with several co-workers from the ASU biology department, were on hand Saturday morning to evaluate the condition of the flowers they planted a year ago. They were also on hand to plant more than 50 additional lab-grown plants in the protected site behind the softball field.

The initial crop of poppy mallows survived extremely well, said Amos. She noted 32 of the original 44 plants survived the winter and were blooming this spring.

"The survival rate of the first plants was very good," said Amos. "This is a special project for many reasons. It's neat that Mitchell County has a really rare plant like this."

C-City voters to decide charter issue Saturday

By Tommy Wells
Colorado City Record

Colorado City residents will go to the polls Saturday to vote on the proposed new city charter that was created by a committee of local residents earlier this year.

Early voting ended Tuesday, May 9, at 7 p.m. At 5 p.m., 36 residents had cast their votes at City Hall.

Voting on Sat., May 13, will be conducted at the Mitchell County Courthouse. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Fifteen members of the community were elected to serve on the charter commission to re-write the old charter which some say was outdated.

Two public hearings on the proposed new charter were held in which no residents attended.

One letter to the editor written by local attorney Pat Barber questioned several items in the new charter.

In a letter that appeared in the April 27 issue of the Record, Pat Barber pointed out several possible problems with the new charter, including a provision that authorized the city to place a lien on homestead property to pay for paving and curbing. The move, Barber said, could cause a hardship for many poor and elderly residents, and leave residents with no legal recourse.

"There is no provision for due process or appeal procedure, so no legal objection to the city's assessment of the lien could be made," said Barber in the letter. "I understand the city of Houston had this provision in their charter, but they repealed it. The cities which still have it, have provided for notice and appeal procedure."

City Manager Catoe said the alarm raised by Barber's letter was moot. The use of Assessment Paving Programs has declined sharply over the last few decades due to the cost of paving, and the ability to find a company willing to assume the high cost of the programs.

"You don't see much of that

Former LISD secretary is arraigned on 'misuse' charges

A former Loraine Independent School District secretary Shirley Jean Rich was arraigned on charges she allegedly improperly used funds from the Loraine student's activity funds for an extended period of time.

Former LISD superintendent's secretary Shirley Jean Rich, 47, was arraigned in the Mitchell County Courthouse

Rich stepped down from her position in October while visiting family members in Odessa by sending a letter of resignation to the school. She was later indicted by a Mitchell County grand jury for misuse of public funds, and later turned herself into officers with the Nolan County Sheriff's Department on March 16 in Sweetwater.

TxDoT to close Hwy. 208 to traffic

By Tommy Wells
Colorado City Record

If you enjoy the scenic route, the Texas Department of Transportation has a treat for you.

TxDOT officials announced Tuesday they would be closing Highway 208 south of Colorado City on Monday, May 15, to traffic to begin replacement of the South Champion Creek bridge.

"We're just trying to give people some advance notice so they don't wake up Monday and be shocked," said TxDOT Area Engineer Ray Dill.

Dill said state officials would be diverting traffic on 208 onto two county roads -- 119 and 125. Both county roads, Dill said, had been refitted with all-weather surfaces and stripes to make travel easier for motorists.

The detours are expected to be in place for several months, or until the $1.2 million bridge replacement project is completed. Dill said he expected work to replace the existing bridge to last approximately six months. Coppell Construction of St. Joe, Tx. will be doing the reconstruction.

According to TxDOT officials, the South Champion Creek Bridge was originally constructed in 1946. The bridge was refitted into its current status in 1959.

Dill said motorists should be aware that the speed limit on both County Road 119 and County Road 125 may be different than Highway 208, and that they should be aware of the legal speed limits.

Local officials plan to meet on power plant

By Tommy Wells
Colorado City Record

With the recent announcement about the proposed TXU coal-powered generating plant in Mitchell County, local officials will meet in the very near future to organize a plan to work closely with TXU in whatever means necessary to bring the plant into existence.

Mitchell County Economic Development Board chairman Woody Anderson said it was in the best interest of all parties to work together.

"The BOED felt it would be good if we got all the interested parties together in the near future," Anderson said.

MORE THAN 20 BIKERS from throughout West Texas turned out to participate in the Colorado City Bike Tour last Saturday. In all, 23 bicyclists participated in the recreational event.

Arthur among top riders in 'Colorado City Bike Tour'

By Tommy Wells
Colorado City Record

The Colorado City Bike Tour probably won't replace the Tour de France any time soon, well, because it isn't really a race ... it's a chance to finish.

More than 20 bicyclists from throughout West Texas participated in the 3rd Annual Colorado City Bike Tour this past Saturday by making their way around Lake Colorado City in a more leisurely and relaxed manner. The course was approximately 23 miles per lap.

"I think it went real well," said Colorado City State Parks Director Tracy Ferguson. "We had participants from all around the area. Everyone I talked to seemed to enjoy it."

The total number of entrants was close to last year's record 26. Rainy conditions over the past few days in the area may have prompted some riders who had planned to ride alter their plans.

Among the first to finish the non-competitive tour of the lake area was Colorado City's Richard Arthur. He completed the initial lap of the event in just over an hour.

According to Ferguson, almost half of the entrants in the tour chose to complete two laps around the course.

County awards bid to Aspermont company

By Tommy Wells
Colorado City Record

County commissioners Billy Preston and Carl Guelker didn't particularly relish the prospect of having to spend an unspecified amount of money on seal coating, but they knew it was pay it now or pay even more later.

"We all have areas that need work," he said. "We can either do it or abandon them, and I don't think that's good for anyone."

"And it isn't going to get any cheaper in the future," added Guelker.

Commissioners approved a bid for protective seal coating from Lipham Construction of Aspermont on Monday morning. The company, the only one to submit a bid, said it would provide the needed materials and seal coat several areas for the county for $1.84 per square yards.

Preston said the county couldn't be for sure how many yards would need seal coating until the project was under way. Commissioners had agreed earlier to apply the protective layer to several parking lots, including the one at the courthouse and the Mitchell County Sports Complex, as well as several area streets.

In other business, the commissioners also approved the appointment of Melody Stubblefield to the Mitchell County Library Board to replace the vacancy created by the departure of Sheryl Smith.

LWGCD marking well sites in county

The Lone Wolf Groundwater Conservation District was authorized by the voters of Mitchell County in February, 2002. The primary mission of the district is to encourage water conservation and the efficient, beneficial use of groundwater. In order to accomplish this mission, the district works toward minimizing the draw down of the aquifer by monitoring its levels across the county, preventing interference between wells and preserving historic use of groundwater.

To that end, all wells drilled within the district, regardless of size or type of well, must be permitted by the district. In order to begin drilling, the well owner or operator must first obtain a water well permit from the district.

The district rules state that it is a violation for a well owner, well operator, water well driller or water well pump installer to drill or operate any well within the district without a well permit form being filed with the district prior to the well being drilled or operated. If it is determined that the well being applied for is not exempted from permitting requirements, a temporary water well permit must be completed. Once the well is drilled, the owner shall provide the district with a drilled well affidavit (which is provided by the district) and a copy of the drilling log for the well.

The district may set reasonable civil penalties for breach of any rule of the district that shall not exceed $5,000 or the jurisdiction of a justice court, whichever is higher, for each violation and for each day of violation.

For a complete copy of the Lone Wolf Groundwater District Rules, contact the district office at 728-2027.

to grow in less than 10 spots in the entire world, and only three counties in the entire United States — Mitchell, Runnels and Coke. The plants, according to Amos, need a specific type of sand and bee to survive. Both of which, she said, are found in Mitchell County within 1.5 miles of the Colorado River.

"There are very few places they will grow," she said. "There are maybe 10 populations known in the world, and by far the biggest is in Mitchell County."

Amos, along with co-workers Jeff Masters and Sherry Montgomery and Colorado City's Bobby Lemons, added to Mitchell County numbers on Saturday by planting an additional 58 Poppy Mallow plants, bringing the total number at the sports complex to 90.

City council makes Parades' dream a reality

By Tommy Wells
Colorado City Record

It took almost a decade, but Ben (Blackie) Paredes can finally rest easy. His dream of a park to honor the immigrants of Colorado City's past has come true.

Members of the Colorado City City Council made Paredes' $9,500 dream a reality last month when they accepted the donation of land adjacent to the current Paredes Park. The 70-year-old former resident of Colorado City and his family members spent nine years acquiring property near the park, which is located near the Hillcrest Subdivision in what was formerly known as "the sand," or La Union.

"I hope that the donation of these properties will help the development on the Hillcrest addition," said Paredes, the son of former Colorado City Postmaster Jose Paredes. "This would fulfill my dream of nine years of trips from my home in San Antonio to Colorado City. This will enhance the park in the Hispanic community for today's children and future generations."

Colorado City City Manager Paul Catoe said the addition of the land would make Paredes Park even more important, especially with the pending boom that could come with the construction of the new TXU coal-powered power plant.

For Paredes, the city's acceptance of land that almost doubles the size of the original park has been a long, hard journey. Over the past nine years, he has carefully documented expenses of approximately $9,500 in acquiring the property — $5,500 alone for a house formerly located at the corner of Fig and Hildago — and clearing it. He has also logged more than 20,000 miles.

BEN PAREDES was honored by the city council last month for his efforts.

Paredes said he had also purchased other property directly across from the park that the city could use for parking.

At least one of his family's dreams won't be coming true. His brother, Joe (Chema) Paredes' plan to create a community center on the site was scratched due to the distance between their homes in San Antonio and Colorado City.

"I would like to express my sincere and deepest appreciation for all the support of Paredes park, especial mayor Jim Baum, Catoe and all the members of the city council and the city's parks advisory board."

CISD votes to end Pre-K program tuition

By Tommy Wells
Colorado City Record

The Colorado Independent School District decided the best approach to the Pre-Kindergarten program tuition was simple to not have one. A tuition fee, that is.

CISD board members, at the request of parents and teachers, voted to eliminate the Pre-K program tuition beginning next year at Monday's school board meeting. The move will enable Pre-K students to attend classes free of charge if they meet all school requirements.

The decision to eliminate the program tuition was easy for board members, said CISD Superintendent Jim White. By removing the tuition cost, the board saw a way to help the handful of families of the students that participate.

"We had so few that were affected," said White. "We probably had less than 10 in the two years. The district wasn't really getting much help from the tuition, so as a service to the people in our town, the board decided to eliminate the tuition."

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of Gary Sumners, and approved the employment of Dana Stockton and Jennifer Bruington at Kelley Elementary next year through Class Size Reduction grants.

anyone," he said. "In my 23 years, I've only been involved with one."

Barber said the new charter gave the city manager and council members too much influence and leeway with city funds. Under the proposed charter, a city manager would be under no obligation to get bids for anything less than $25,000 — a practice that is common in the area.

Catoe said the city was actually complying with state law with the $25,000 limit. The total was the lowest allowable by the state, and that local residents shouldn't be concerned by misuse of city funds by city officials. Purchases using the $25,000 no-bid process are approved by the city council through the city's budgeting process.

"Any purchases we make have already been budgeted, and we've had public hearings on them," he said.

OPINION & COMMENTARY

TUMBLEWEED SMITH

Novelist Pat Conroy's early writing experiences

Pat Conroy's novels are filled with lyrical prose about experiences in his home state of South Carolina. The images produced by his words are strong and clear. His command of the English language has made him one of the most respected writers in America. Among his books are The Prince of Tides, Beach Music and The Great Santini.

His first book was about the Citadel, South Carolina's military college where he was a student. Pat went to his commander and told him he had written a book and wanted to get it published. The commander told Pat to look in the yellow pages. He found a printer who did business cards, invitations and books. Pat was told he could have 2,000 copies of the book for $5,000. Pat was surprised. He had heard it was hard to get books published. He went to his hometown banker and got a loan because the banker was excited about getting a book written about the Citadel.

The first edition was sold out before it was published. The second edition did well, too. Pat wrote another book The Water Is Wide. Someone told Pat he needed an agent. Pat found New York literary agent Julian Bach and called him. After introducing himself, Pat said, "I'm from Buford, South Carolina and I've written a book I think you'll like." Julian replied, "I've never heard of South Carolina, never heard of Buford and never heard of you. Losers like you call me every single day of my life and I'm going to fire my secretary for letting you through."

Pat wrote Julian a letter the next day. "Dear Mr. Bach: Obviously New York has withered everything fine and wonderful and lovely about your soul. Whatever your mother saw in you as a child obviously has been ruined and broken in the canyons of New York."

Julian liked the letter. He wanted Pat to rush him a manuscript of the book.

There was a problem: Pat had written the book in longhand. His wife called all their friends in Buford who came over and each took a chapter to type overnight. Because Pat did not type, he did not know about Pica and Elite. He did not give the people typing paper. So the manuscript that was sent to New York had long yellow sheets, onionskin and Harriet Kaiserling's personal stationery. The pages were not numbered. Julian called Pat and said, "Pat, I haven't read a word. But it's the cutest thing I've ever seen."

Within a few weeks, Julian called Pat again and said he had marvelous news. "Houghton-Mifflin, the editor of Emerson, Thoreau, Edith Wharton, Emily Dickinson and other icons of American literature, has agreed to do your books. And here is the most exciting news of all. Seventy-five hundred dollars."

Pat replied, "I can get it done cheaper down here, Julian."

Julian, after a pause, said, "You do understand they do pay you."

It's never too soon to consider the future of the royal family

OFF THE BEATEN PATH...

By TOMMY WELLS
EDITOR

Way back when She-Who-Must-Not-Be-Made-Mad and I were incredibly younger, we never really paid attention to time. We were young and having fun running up and down the road, learning Eskimo athletics in the Alaskan wilderness or learning about fire ants.

Time was irrelevant because we felt, like the Rolling Stones said, time was on our side.

Unfortunately, that all changed on Feb. 23, 1988 ... and again on Nov. 20, 1991 ... and again on May 11, 1993 ... and again (are you noticing a pattern here) on Aug. 18, 1994. On those days, we realized change had come to the mighty Kingdom of Wellsville. On those days, four new rulers - Queen Whitney, King Bubba, Queen Kayme and King Rowdy (also known as King Bobby II) - took the throne.

Of course, we knew deep in our hearts one day we would reconquer the kingdom. Today, we move one historic step closer to that. Today, Queen Kayme turns 13 - meaning only a few more years and she'll be off to college - or, at least, off the phone.

As it stands now, Queen Whitney is 18 and about to enter her final year of high school. King Bubba is 14 and, hopefully, about to get into high school. Kayme will be entering the eighth grade, and Rowdy will be a sixth grader.

So as you can see, we're getting to the point where the royal siblings are about to finish their training years. Soon, they'll be out starting their own kingdoms.

So, naturally, we're getting ready. We've told all the kids that after they finish their training, She-Who-Must-Not-Be-Made-Mad and I were relocating to Florida ... all the while looking at post office boxes in Washington state from which we could have all mail to us redirected to somewhere in the Ural Mountains in Russia.

However, you must know that we are taking steps to ensure the royal family's safety. Upon the fateful day that Queen Whitney graduates, we're going to wait until about 2 a.m. and leave her on her grandparents' doorstep in the neighboring kingdom of Big Springia.

It's my gift to them, you see. I figure having to take in another 19-year-old girl should just about guarantee them a spot in Heaven. Once God sees they have raised five girls, he'll just admit them into the Pearly Gates Sanatorium.

As for King Bubba, we plan to take a different approach. When he graduates, we're sending him to Canada - which will probably help with the U.S. immigration problem. I figure after a couple of days arguing about the number of snowflakes that fall in the arctic each winter, the Canadians will voluntarily build a 20-foot barriers along the entire U.S.-Canada border.

She-Who-Must-Not-Be-Made-Mad and I both agree, finding a place for Queen Kayme should be easy. Anywhere that can receive telephone calls will be good for her.

And for King Rowdy, I have to tell you I found the perfect place just this morning. Just as I was pondering this dilemma, I received an email that offered an amazing offer. For just $19.95 it is possible to purchase an acre of land ... on the moon.

It will probably make all the little green men on Mars angry, but we'll take that chance.

City of Colorado City responds to charter "issues"

By Paul Catoe
City Manager

Members of the Charter Commission conducted several open public meetings to discuss the proposed new City Charter and they also conducted a public hearing to allow for public comment and input. Only two people actually attended the public hearing. The 15-member Charter Commission worked with Mr. Robert Coffelt of Public Sector Consulting of Clifton, Texas in drafting this new City Charter.

Several "Issues of Concern" were brought up regarding this proposed new Charter in the April 27, issue of the Colorado Record.

The issues brought up in that article and their responses are:

1. Property Lien: The proposed Charter would allow the City to apportion a lien on homestead property to pay for paving and curbing, etc. This could cause a hardship on persons of fixed incomes. Additionally there is no due process or appeal procedure, so no legal objections to the City's assessment of the lien could be made. I understand the City of Houston had this provision in their charter, but they repealed it. The cities which still have it, have provided for notice and appeal procedure.

Response: A home rule municipality may, if permitted under its Charter, improve streets and assess the owners of land abutting the streets to be improved, and specially benefited by the improvements, for the cost of the improvements. The assessment may not exceed special benefit to each piece of the property. Special benefit means a benefit to each piece of property and not just common to the entire area. In order for a City to undertake an assessment street paving program, funding would have to be approved in the annual budget or a bond program, both of which require public hearings and input. Once the project is ready to proceed, normal procedure includes several steps such as the following:

Public hearings and an ordinance declaring the necessity for the improvements.

Testimony of a certified appraiser that the property is enhanced in value in excess of the levy.

Engineers' roll showing property descriptions, footage cost, etc., and the amount proposed to be assessed.

Provisions for payment. (lump sum, installments, or other approved means)

Opportunity for citizens to voice their views.

Adoption of an Ordinance by members of the elected City Council after the closing of their public hearing.

2. There are provisions in the proposed Charter that allow a majority of the Council members to remove one of its fellow members; for example:

a. Section 2.07 allows removal of an elected member of the city council if he has 3 or more absences. There are no emergency exceptions, and the absences do not have to be consecutive absences.

b. Section 5.05 allows a majority to remove a member for interfering in the City Manager's Appointment or Removals. (The U.S. House of Representatives requires a super majority of more than two thirds to remove an elected member)

In contrast, Section 10.01 requires a vote of 6 (of 7 total including the Mayor) members of the Council to override any recommendation of the Planning and Zoning Commission. The Commission members are non-elected and thus would be allowed to trump a majority vote of the elected council.

Response to A. Above: Removal of Council Members after Absences - (Section 207 of the proposed Charter).

Each Council Member runs for office every two years, therefore remedy for any alleged abuse of this type of action is readily available through the election process by the voters. We believe the people who are elected to the Council should represent their respective districts. Contrastly, we believe that Council Members who are not properly representing their districts should be removed from office by a majority vote of the City Council. Based upon circumstances, the City Council should have the discretion to take such actions as may be required for proper representation of each district.

Response to B. Above: Interference (Section 5.05 of the proposed new charter)

The "Non-Interference Clause" appears in many Charters where the Council-Manager form of government is adopted. Since the manager serves at the will and pleasure of the Council as a governmental body, such body should have the authority to enforce the provision of the Charter. Actually the old Charter contains similar wording but provides no remedy for dealing with violations.

3. There is a large proposed change in purchase procedures. The new Charter would allow the City manager to purchase up to $25,000.00 without any notice to our elected council or without going out for bids.

Response: The City Council realizing that the current Charter provisions as outlined in Section 73 of our current City Charter were not realistic or in alignment with Chapter 252 of the Local Government Code, have already over ridden the purchasing section of the old City Charter with Ordinance No.2005-08 which was approved on June 28, 2005. Section 252.002 clearly gives the City Council the authority to override the Section 73 of the current City Charter.

Regardless of what is in the City Charter regarding purchasing procedures, the city must comply with the provisions of Chapter 252 of the Local Government Code. The City Council may adopt an ordinance at any time to initiate more restrictive measures than those contained in Chapter 252 of the Local Government Code.

Section 7.14 of the new city charter does not even mention the City Manager with regard to purchasing procedures. It does however state the following:

Expenditures of $500.00 or less shall be informal.

-$500.00 to $3,000.00 shall be in writing or by telephone.

-$3,000.00 to $25,000.00 shall be in writing.

-$25,000.00 and over shall be by formal sealed bid or proposal, and in accordance with Section 252.021 of the local Government Code, and as may hereinafter be amended.

Purchasing is also controlled by budget appropriations which are approved by the City Council and which are also subject to public hearings.

4. Section 13.01 purports to make all police records non-public.

Response: Recent legislation has recognized that certain records, such as public safety and personal information, should not be open to the public, therefore, the proposed new Charter states "provided that public records and vital statistics records and any other records closed to the public by law shall not be considered public records".

The Municipal Law and Procedure Manual contains some eight pages of exceptions; from personal information on peace officers to litigation, prosecution, and many more, therefore the Charter Commission chose to use the "records closed to the public by Law" phrase above.

5. Section 18 of the Old Charter reads "He (City Manager) during his tenure of office, shall reside within the City." "The City Manager need not, when appointed, be a resident of the City of Colorado City but during the tenure of office shall maintain a residence within the City". This means that a city manager could actually have his legal residence in another City and only maintain a "residence (like a post office box) here.

Response: The Charter Commission discussed this issue at length and members of the Commission believe that the provisions of the new charter provide an improved wording on residency requirements over the provisions outlined in the old charter. The City Council also has the flexibility to draft an employment contract with the City Manager which will specify the terms of residency as may be required by the new City Charter.

6. While there may well be out-of-date provisions in the old Charter, a major concern with changing the Charter wholesale by a single

"Yes" or "No" vote is that neither the council nor the public have the opportunity to discuss and vote on each separate proposed change

Response: In the elected Charter Commission's letter of transmittal to the City Council we state "The Charter Commission in preparing this Charter, concludes that it is impractical to segregate each subject so as to permit a vote of "Yes" or "No" on the same, for the reasons that the Charter is so constructed that in order to enable it to work and function, it is necessary that it should be adopted in its entirety." The Charter contains thirteen Articles, each with many specifics. It is an integrated document, wherein each article must coincide with, and be compatible with the others. If the electorate voted on each article separately and approved some but not others, the charter could be in direct conflict and thus not functional.

There were many factors that entered into our discussions while developing the proposed new Charter and we believe the proposed new Charter is sound, and we urge the residents of Colorado City to go to the polls on May 13, 2006 and vote. Should an amendment become necessary, the Charter can be amended every two years by the registered voters of Colorado City.

Sincerely,
Paul Catoe
City Manager

Art club donates funds to library

Members of the "Brush & Palette Club" have given a donation to the "Friends of the Library". The money will be used to purchase more art books for the Mitchell County Library.

The Club, because of many circumstances, is no longer active. With the funds they still had, the group wanted to give something back to the community. On Tuesday, April 25, 2006, a check was given to the "Friends of the Library". This was the last business done for the "Brush & Palette Club".

The Club has had a long history. On November 1, 1959, the Brush & Palette Club held their first annual membership art exhibit. The exhibit was held in the Baker Hotel's Garden Terrace Room. Seventy-five paintings were exhibited in the featured opening of "American Art Week" as proclaimed by Mayor Trevor Crawford. Miss Mary Sears, an Abilene artist, judged the paintings. If anyone would be interested, three "3" albums full of pictures, news articles, and all sorts of memorabilia, have been given to the Mitchell County Museum. Another album will soon be added.

The members would like to thank the residents of Mitchell County for giving them encouragement and support through the years. Thank you to all those who allowed them to display their art work at your businesses. Also, they want to give their appreciation to the Colorado City Record and Jim Baum, KAUM for doing a great job of getting information out about their activities.

They appreciate the Library for hosting their "Spring Show" for many years. They, also, held many meetings and workshops at the Wallace Center and had many good meals with the Wallace Senior Citizens. They would like to thank you, too.

Haltom, Calderon attend classes

Judge Glenda Haltom was certified at the recent Twenty Hour Justice of the Peace Seminar held April 23-26 in Lubbock.

The seminar is one of six held for elected Justices of the Peace so they can fulfill their Continuing Judicial Education Requirements as set forth in Article 27.005 of the Texas Government Code.

Earlier in April, Annette Calderon, Justice of the Peace Court Clerk, successfully completed the Court Personnel Seminar in Austin given by the Texas Justice Court Training Center.

On April 29, she completed the testing required for designation of a Certified Justice of the Peace Court Clerk. She has worked for Justice of the Peace Glenda Haltom since September of 2000, part time and has been a full time clerk since January of 2002.

THE COLORADO CITY Garden Club honored longtime club member Marj Kolman with a Lifetime Membership in the Texas State Garden Club at last Friday's meeting. Mrs. Kolman has been a member of the local club for over 15 years and a member of Keep Colorado City Beautiful since its inception.

Jim Ned ousts Colorado City from Class 2A state playoffs

By Carl Graham
Colorado City Record

Things got off to a bad start Friday night for the Colorado High School Wolves in their best-of-three bi-district playoff series with the Jim Ned Indians ... and they never really got any better.

The Wolves suffered a rain/hail shortened 5-1 setback on Friday. Saturday's second game only got worse.

Friday night's game began with an overcast sky. It appeared early on the game would get played before anything would happen. Wrong.

Jim Ned took a 2-0 lead in the first inning before the Wolves managed to cut the lead to 2-1 with a run in the top of the second inning.

Michael Luera started the CHS rally by drawing a one-out walk and stealing second. Nolan Frizzell singled sharply to right field to send Luera racing home.

Jim Ned answered with two runs in the bottom of the second inning to go up 4-1.

In the top of the third, a light mist began to fall, but the game continued until the light rain turned to a torrential downpour in the top of the fifth.

It was hoped that the rain would move out of the area, and the game would be able to resume. That, of course, did not happen as the rain turned into pebble to golf ball-size hail in the Tuscola area.

The series moved to the Mitchell County Sports Complex for Game 2 on Saturday.

The Indians started the second game just like they had in the first, taking a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning. They added four more runs in the top of the second inning before the Wolves could get on the scoreboard with a run in the bottom of the second inning.

The Wolves' run came when senior shortstop Chris Martinez singled to start off the inning. Martinez then scored when first baseman Henry Reyna drilled a triple to the wall.

Westbrook High School brother, sister finish second at state tennis tournament

By Carl Graham
Colorado City Record

AUSTIN — For one, a high school tennis career is over, but for the other, there is next year.

Westbrook's Trey Chavez went down in a blaze of glory Tuesday morning at the Lakeway World of Tennis courts in Austin, losing for the second year in a row to state champion Jake Hoelting of Nazereth by sets of 6-4, 6-0.

Chavez won the right to play in the finals by taking a hard-earned 7-6, 7-5 win over Jeremy Morrison of New Deal Monday evening. He bounced back after being down 3-0 early in the contest before winning the tie-breaker, 7-4.

Early Monday, Chavez won his first contest by defeating Tyler Eads of Medina, 6-2, 6-1.

While Trey's toughest match came in the second round of play, his sister's toughest challenge came in the first round against Holly Davis of Hedley.

Davis battled the Westbrook sophomore to 6-3, 7-5 sets before falling.

Linsey, who went 56-0 in junior high before taking second at last year's state tournament as a freshman, came back in the evening to eliminate Reni Zuechger of Hubbard in sets of 6-3, 6-1.

On Tuesday, she took on Laci Fitzgerald of Gruver, who had to battle for her life on Monday in order to reach the finals. She did so by defeating Sarah Alejandro of Knappa in sets of 6-4, 0-6, 7-6 (9-7) in a match that lasted more than two hours.

The earlier tough match did not seem to deter Fitzgerald, however, as she put away Linsey in sets of

I told them I was proud of them, and that they could hold their heads up high.”

Marcelino Chavez

3-6, a 7-6 tie breaker, and 6-3.

For Trey Chavez, the state runner-up finish sends him into the collegiate ranks. He has a decision to make now on where to attend. He has received offers to play tennis at several DI, DII, and DIII schools, as well as an academic scholarship.

The 18-year-old son of Marcelino and Norma Chavez finished his high school career with a 113-15 record.

He overcame an almost-fatal football injury that kept him from playing basketball this season, a sport he also dearly loves. He filled the role as the spirit leader for the team, attending every game. The Wildcats tied for the district title with Roby, but won a one-game playoff for the district's top seed. They bowed out of the playoffs with a loss to state-ranked Throckmorton.

For Linsey, she will have two more opportunities to make it back to Austin and another shot at the state title.

Marcelino Chavez, the former tennis coach at Westbrook, said the two they can hold their heads up with their accomplishments.

“I told them I was very proud of them, and that they could hold their heads high because of what they have accomplished,” he said. “Trey had a fabulous high school career, and he is looking forward to playing another four years at college. As for Linsey, she still has her eyes on a state title and will continue to work hard on that.”

McGuffin, Arispe are 'Athletes of the Year'

By Carl Graham
Colorado City Record

The Colorado High senior male and female Athletes of the Year for the school year 2005-06 are Brik McGuffin and Daniell Arispe.

McGuffin was an all-around athlete who lettered in four sports -- and excelled in each.

He was a three-year varsity letterman in football, a four-year letterman in baseball, and was a three-year varsity letterman in basketball.

After having a fantastic junior year in football, when he finished second only to University of Texas signee Colt McCoy in total passing yards in Class 2A, McGuffin went down with a leg injury in the third game of the 2006 season against Merkel. Though he was later able to return as the starting quarterback, it hurt his chances of getting any quality looks by college recruiters.

McGuffin made all-district and all-region his junior year as well as being named by the San Angelo Standard-Times' and the Abilene Reporter-News' Class 2-A teams.

In basketball, McGuffin was named all-district the past two seasons as a guard.

During his four years of playing baseball for the Wolves, McGuffin was a vital part of the team's success. He helped them make it to post-season play each season, playing wherever the team needed him.

McGuffin also lettered in golf all four years.

CHS golf coach, Sandra Phillips, said one time that if he concentrated on just golf he would probably consistently shoot in the 70's.

Arispe, a tall, lanky standout participated in three sports -- volleyball, basketball, and softball.

You could say her most-liked sport was softball, where she has played since she was a part of the Lady Bugs' softball team many years ago. She helped lead the Lady Wolves to the playoffs in each of her four high school years, receiving all-district honors in each of the last two years.

"Bones," as she is referred to by her teammates, was also a pretty good hand when it came to volleyball and basketball. When her coaches needed the senior to step up, she usually accepted that challenge.

The Westbrook and Loraine "Athletes of the Year" will appear in next week's edition of the Colorado City Record.

Four games into season, 'Horns atop standings

By Carl Graham
Colorado City Record

Four games into the Colorado City Texas Teen-Age League and the Longhorns are right where they wanted to be -- in the driver's seat.

The Longhorns enter the May 11 week sporting a perfect 4-0 record, and with a one-game lead in the postseason playoff chase over the Colorado Record Marlins.

The Marlins, who suffered an 8-1 loss to the Longhorns on April 27, are 3-1 following their 7-0 win over the Diamondbacks on Monday.

The Diamondbacks, Indians and Rangers round out the Freshman league standings.

THE 2006 COLORADO CITY Area Chamber of Commerce Spring Ranch Rodeo was a major success this year. The event, which draws cowboys from throughout West Texas, was hampered by rain last year.

The Wolves cut the lead in half in the bottom of the fourth. The CHS uprising began when senior Brik McGuffin reached base via a single. Martinez then followed with a walk. Moments later, a Jim Ned error enabled McGuffin to race home -- and allowed Reyna to reach base.

One out later, Frizzell worked a walk to load the bases again, and set the stage for Orlando Moreno, who singled to drive in Martinez and Reyna.

The Indians went on a warpath from there, scoring nine times and almost batting around twice to go up by a 15-4 margin.

The Wolves would close the gap to 15-8 with four runs in the bottom the sixth inning when they sent eight batters to the plate.

After Gonzales had reached base on a fielder's choice, Frizzell singled Frankie Arguijo, batting for Moreno, drew a walk to load the bases.

One out later, Brandon Beights reached base on a fielder's choice that plated Arguijo and Atkins.

Although the four runs cut the Indians lead to 15-8, Jim Ned responded by tacking on another five runs in the top of the seventh to up the score to 20-8.

Head Wolves baseball coach Scotty Bruington said he couldn't explain what happened in the two-game series with the Indians.

"Gosh, I don't know exactly what happened," said Bruington. "We had six or seven costly errors which has been our Achilles heel it seems like all season. I thought we would be able to come back on Saturday after the shortened game Friday night. We cut their lead in half, then when they came back with nine runs it really hurt. We didn't fold though as we came back with four runs, but it just wasn't enough."

Coach Bruington said he didn't put on the field Saturday the team he was counting on at the beginning of the season.

"We had a number of things that set us back," said Bruington. "We had some kids kicked off for disciplinary reasons and some for grades. It did hurt us along the way, but we can look forward to seeing what we can do next season. I think we are going to better off than we thought we would be."

Wolves, Newby key week for Colorado ISD athletics

Hello again sports fans! Weather sure has played havoc the past week with a lot of playoff games including the Wolves' baseball playoffs. It hailed at the Jim Ned game in Tuscola last Friday, cutting the game short as it was stopped after five innings.

The Wolves bowed out of the playoffs on Saturday with a 20-8 loss to Jim Ned.

Despite the playoff setback, it was a solid season for the Colorado High School baseball team.

discus competition beginning at approximately 10:00 a.m. at the Mike A. Myers Stadium and Soccer Complex.

By all accounts, she's well on her way to accomplishing that.

The district and regional discus title winner three years in a row, Newby said she set her goals during the regular season higher than in the past. With the guidance of her mentor Carol Sue Dakan, a former Lady Wolves coach, Newby said she entered the season with the mindset that she wanted to throw consistently in the 140s.

She has.

Newby failed to take first place in only one meet this year, and that was at the Texas Relays in Austin when she threw 142-8. Her throw was just 16 inches short of the winning mark of 144 feet.

Dakan, who took on the mentoring of Newby at the start of the seventh grade, said that at least 80 percent of throwing the discus is technique.

"I have seen a lot of talented discus throwers that never reached their full potential due to poor technique," said Dakan. "I have stressed this to Paige since the very beginning. If you get the technique down, the other will take care of itself."

Dakan attends every workout with Paige which consists of three rounds of throwing 14 discuses, concentrating on technique over distance.

"If I don't have a good workout coach makes me throw another 14, so I try to do as she says," said Newby. "She pushes me pretty hard, but that's one of the reasons I have been as successful as I have been."

Workouts don't end just with her throwing the discus. After throwing, she heads to the weight room to go through her routine with the weights. She also runs at least every other day, working on her stamina.

Dakan said she was approached with the idea of coaching Newby by a former student - Paige's mother, Kathy. Dakan coached Kathy in high school at CHS before moving on to Beeville where she retired from coaching. After retiring and returning to Colorado City, Kathy Newby approached her about helping.

"I told Kathy I would on one condition," said Dakan. "That was she would do exactly as I said. She had to take everything serious because it's all hard work if you want to reach the goals you have set."

The hard work and dedication are paying off.

Last summer, Newby recorded a throw of 155 feet in Morocco. Earlier this year, she registered a mark of 152.

Her goal for next year? To reach into the 160s.

"That's what D'Andrea Carter of Texas Tech is throwing," said Paige. "We became friends when we threw together at Albuquerque last summer. I told her that one day I would beat her."

Carter is the daughter of former professional football player Michael Carter, who still holds the boys' state high school record in the shot put with a throw of around 78 feet.

Paige has received more than 40 letters from colleges all over the United States. On Monday, she had received a letter of interest from Texas A&M - an event that had her in high spirits during her workout.

"It would be pretty neat to be able to compete against D'Andrea at the college level," she said. "Of course, right now I'm just concentrating on getting ready for the state meet."

LORAIN

By Bessie Ann Vaughn
Loraine Correspondent

We hope you had a good week and were not victims of hail and high wind damage during the storms.

To mothers everywhere, we wish for you on Sunday and every day, a happy Mother's Day. We want you to know you are appreciated and loved.

Charlene Walker and Lavern Sawyer of Abilene went to Bowie over the weekend to visit their sister, Delma Orbison. The sisters had a nice get-together and enjoyed their time together.

Danny and Pam Butler recently attended a 60th wedding anniversary of Dudley and Faye Wilson of Sweetwater. The anniversary party was held at the Sweetwater Country Club and was very enjoyable.

Danny and Dudley are cousins. While at the party, they saw and visited with other cousins, Ruth Cooper and Francis Godwin of Colorado City.

We have concerns for Christene Britton at this time as she had knee replacement surgery last week in Abilene. The latest report I have received is that she is doing well and will be in therapy for a few days.

We send a get well wish of fast healing and recuperation.

Jan Millering had foot surgery last week. She was on crutches for a while but didn't think she would need them long. We hope by now she is walking and able to pick up more aluminum cans.

Since gasoline is so expensive, I may have to forego my usual vacation trip to Roscoe. I'm not prepared to give up on a small jaunt though.

I feel sure Helen and Hershel Williams will let me park near their pond and look at the water (out at the East I-20 exit).

Congratulations are in order for Gene White. He has a new great-granddaughter, born Apr. 28th, named Madison Jones. Her parents are Jeff and Christie Jones and they live in Wichita, Kansas.

Nell Doyle reports that, at her place in Loraine, almost two inches of rain fell during the rainy weather last week. We are still watching bad clouds that are building up from South Texas as of Sunday afternoon.

Bobby and Wanza Graham attended a mini-reunion of Navy shipmates at Granbury. Six men attended from nearby states. They were stationed on the U.S.S. Makin Island ship during World War II. Wanza reported that they had a good get together and enjoyed it.

Billie Powell told me she was looking in the refrigerator for something to feed her ground squirrels. All she could find that she thought they would eat were strawberries. Now the squirrels are spoiled for more.

Billie is thinking if very many squirrels get in on the act she might just have to ask Bill Crockett for a loan at the bank, a strawberry loan.

Pam Butler shared her recent trip to Mexico with her Baptist Friendship Sunday School Class with pictures. She enjoyed meeting a Southern Baptist missionary, Neil Tremes and family. They had a good conversation, mainly about work and mission opportunities in Mexico.

Charles Bowen says he hopes the people of this community respect the work of our storm watch team. In the daylight hours, it is easier to see and determine the direction of travel of any possible tornadoes. He reported that it is most difficult at night time to do so.

When a tornado is near, Chief Phillips will order the sirens to sound. If you hear a long blast, then take cover. The basement of the First Baptist Church will be open when bad weather is near. Durwood McAdams will open the building and leave lights on in the fellowship hall.

When and if we have a damaging hail storm, our sky-warn people will be scouting out the City of Loraine and determining damage. We are most fortunate to have a storm watch team.

P.S. Bowen says they have a lot of fun on the fire department, but when the chips are down they get very serious about community welfare.

Visiting and having lunch at the Loraine Center last week were: Al Clanton of Big Spring, Lois and Carl Pieper of Colorado City, Wanda Montgomery of Fort Worth, Tommy and Anne Palmer of Houston, George M. Lee and George Lee Jr., Leila Beaty and her daughter, Diane Seaton.

Bingo was played Monday, and Wednesday was visitation and games.

Henry Holly, Durwood McAdams and Charles Dunn played western music on Friday.

Mary McMullen is scheduled Monday and the high school senior class will have lunch Wednesday, May 10th and Tommy Wright is scheduled for Friday, May 12th.

Birthdays for May belong to Inez Stewart, Christene Britton, George Lee, Wayne Dubose, Francis Godwin, D.C. Fowler and June Barron.

Danny and Pam Butler recently flew to Mexico City, population 28 million, to meet daughter and son-in-law, Krystal and David Barrera from Guadalajara, population 6 to 8 million. David was on spring break from medical school.

While in Mexico City, the four-some toured the city seeing all the beautifully painted domed federal buildings and cathedrals. A few of the highlights were a Venetian palace that now houses the Main Post Office, the Basilica de Guadalupe, the religious center of the Americas, the Folkloric de Mexico at the Palacio de Belles Artes followed by a fabulous meal at the House of Tiles, built in 1735. The group also hiked to and toured the Chapultepec Castle that now houses the National Museum of History.

The National Palace and Mexico's largest cathedral located in Constitution Plaza are extremely beautiful examples of the colonial Spanish architecture of the 16th and 17th centuries.

The group's greatest accomplishment was climbing two Aztec pyramids at Teotihuacán and walking "the Street of Death". "We thanked our Lord God that we did not live in a time and culture of human sacrifice like the Aztecs," Pam said.

The Butlers flew with the Barreras to Guadalajara and spent three days visiting and touring beautiful museums, art galleries, open markets and Mexico's largest Lake Chapala. While in Guadalajara they attended Iglesia Christiana Bautista Gethsemane Church where Krystal and David regularly attend and met Southern Baptist missionaries, Neal and Leanne Treme and family, who are originally from Louisiana. The Treme family oversees Baptist mission work in seven states of Mexico.

The Butlers returned to Houston to spend two days enjoying granddaughters, Danielle and Elizabeth Kropp and celebrating birthdays. They also got to meet the newest member of the Kropp family via sonogram. Rebekah Claire is due July 29, 2006.
