Miss Fox was winner in a September beauty contest here at the Air Force Station, after being one of the runners-up in the Miss Shrimp-o-ree contest at Aransas Pass, and was chosen Miss Life-saver of the 813th AC&W Squadron here, going to compete with winners from the other states.

However, due to the Cuban crisis, presentation of the award was delayed until this week.

Colonel Knight, acting on behalf of Major General Thomas F. Gent, commanding officer of the 32nd Air Division, outlined the history of the trophy, and said that the ground safety program of the (continued on page 8)

Bill To Lease Coastal Lands Hits Opposition

Austin. — War was declared Monday against a bill to permit state-owned islands and submerged lands along bays and inlets to be leased for recreational and commercial purposes.

Opposition to the bill was spearheaded in the Senate State Affairs Committee by Sen. William N. Patman of Ganado, backed by landowners and commercial and sports fishermen.

The law passed two years ago, known as the Reagan-De La Garza Act, allows leasing only for industrial purposes. Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler gave strong support to the extension of permitted uses to commercial and recreation enterprises.

Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi, Chief Clerk Jack Giberson of the land office and Sadler were principal witnesses for the new Reagan bill. Patman was backed in his opposition by Travis Bailey, former mayor of Rockport.

Other witnesses against it were L. C. Hawes, president of the Calhoun County Fisherman's Association, and Arthur L. Forbes, Houston attorney.

Proponents and opponents of the bill accused each other of not understanding and mis-stating the purposes of the measure. Patman clashed sharply with Sadler in an exchange of words of more than an hour.

The bill was sent to a subcommittee over Reagan's protests. He moved to table the motion to send it to a subcommittee. His motion lost 10-4. Patman said he would fight the bill to the end and then filibuster it as long as he could hold out.

Sadler and Reagan argued that the measure is needed to open (continued on page 8)

Alcoa Asks Drilling Permits on Number Of Copano Bay Locations

The Aluminum Company of America has asked the U. S. Engineers for drilling permits on State Tracts numbers 59, 60, 61, 62, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, and 121, approximately 7 1/2 miles northwest of Rockport.

The company has requested amendment of a Department of the Army blanket permit to authorize the erection and maintenance of structures and appurtenances thereto to be used in connection with the drilling of wells at the above locations, for the production of oil, gas or other minerals and for producing, storing or transporting of oil, gas or other minerals therefrom, the dredging of channels, canals and basins, the placing of shell mats and the installation of pipelines within the area.

The work at a well site would consist of placing a shell mat, sinking a 40 by 170 foot drilling barge, driving six 3-pile clusters and six single piles clusters and six single piles, erecting a drilling structure having a maximum top elevation of 162 feet at mean high tide and erecting a protective structure. Office, heater and separator platforms connected by walkways and having a deck elevation of 15 feet above mean low tide would be erected in the bay and would be in an area approximately 32 by 250 feet.

A pipeline would be placed a maximum of 150 feet from the separator platform to a flare riser. Pipelines would be placed 1 1/2 feet below the bed of the bay except through shell reefs where they would be 1 foot below. Pipelines would be jacked, plowed, disced or placed by similar methods whereby there would be a minimum displacement of the bed and no spoil deposit would remain. The spoil from channels and basins would be placed in the bay in mounds with the points of discharge at least 1,000 feet apart and would usually have a top elevation of 6 feet at mean low tide.

Thirty-five airmen from Rockport Air Force Station responded to a call by Rockport Fire Chief, Charles Ankele, to battle the brush fire, which threatened the outskirts of Rockport, on the night of Feb. 2. A call by Chief Ankele, brought S/Sgt. Wilson and his crew to the scene, almost immediately.

The airmen remained in the fire area, from midnight until about 5 a.m., battling the blaze with hand implements, and assisting truck crews. A/1c Burnett established communications with the base, through his private citizens band transceiver. He was assisted by Airmen Don Vaughn. The Mars transceiver was manned at the site to provide communications, to secure additional personnel if needed. When the blaze was brought under control, the airmen returned to their homes or duties.

Sandollar Starts Third Expansion

Construction has commenced on a 23-unit addition to Sandollar Motel, owned by Jack Sanders, making the third expansion since the first 20 units, office and swimming pool were constructed in 1961.

Five of the new units will overlook the swimming pool, the other 18, which will be one story in order not to restrict the view from cottages above, will be built along the edge of the bluff facing Aransas Bay.

At the same time that these units are being constructed, work is also progressing on a natural sand beach to the north of the 600 foot fishing pier that is part of the Sandollar facilities, and, once the beach is finished, Sanders says, construction will start immediately on a new restaurant and club that will face the beach, viewing it through an 85-foot glass front.

The restaurant building will be 85 feet long, and will contain approximately 5,000 square feet of floor space. It will have a paved patio on the front and to the south. Inside, there will be a banquet room, dining room and a club room with a dance floor.

Between the restaurant and the bay front road, which fronts the motel proper, there will be extensive parking areas for patrons of the establishment and of the fishing pier, Sanders said.

Plans call for completion of the new units and the restaurant on or before the first of June, and for work to begin on the marina immediately afterwards.

The marina will extend for 470 (continued on page 8)

County Clerk's Office Explains Pay For Those Called on Special Venire

Following the murder trial here this past week, considerable comment was occasioned by the fact that jurors called on the special venire received only $2 per day for the time spent standing in the halls of the courthouse. Library Board Hears Plans For New Building

Two officers were re-elected by Aransas County Library Board, and two new ones elected at the regular meeting, in which plans for a new library, to be built later this year, were dismissed.

Re-elected as chairman was Jack Baughman; Mrs. Everal West was re-elected vice chairman; Mrs. George Dickey was chosen treasurer, and Mrs. F. L. McCord, new member, was elected secretary.

Progress on planning of the new library was reported as satisfactory. The building, to be built on one corner of the Aransas County Courthouse square will contain approximately 4,000 square feet of floor space, with shelving for eighteen thousand books.

Mrs. West then presented for the board's approval, report on library activities for 1962.

Circulation figures for books and periodicals reflect the continued growth of the library she said. The total circulation in 1957, the first year of operation was 5300, while total circulation in 1962 included 2621 adult fiction, 1781 adult non-fiction, 4729 juvenile fiction and 1097 juvenile non-fiction for a total of 10,228.

During the year, Mrs. West said, 667 books were added, of which 325 were new. A large number of these were selected and purchased from memorial gifts to the library, which amounted to $495.45. Records show that the average book cost was $2.14 and that 8 1/2 cents was spent on each (continued on page 8)

BRUSH FIRES START AGAIN

The third brush fire within a week occurred Sunday night, and, but for the hard work of every fireman in Rockport and Fulton, along with 25 or 30 men from the 813th AC&W Squadron at Rockport AFS, could have very easily turned into a catastrophe of the worst sort.

As it was, hundreds of acres of brush were burned and the fire came in among the houses in the northwest part of town. It is almost a miracle that none of them were burned.

Once again freezes have killed the grass and leaves of trees, rendering everything as dry as tinder, and ready to burn. The fact that there is generally a strong breeze blowing from some direction makes a situation fraught with danger for everyone on Live Oak Peninsula.

Fire Chief Charlie Ankele and fire marshals Carl Osborn and Elva Mullinax were emphatic in their warnings Monday that the utmost precaution must be taken by everyone to prevent a conflagration that could wipe out homes and businesses.

And they were just as emphatic that if the residents of the area did not exercise this caution it was going to be necessary to take the same action as last year when the area was faced with the same danger.

If grass fires caused by carelessness continue, they say, it will lead to prosecution of the one responsible for the fire.

That evening, at 7:30 o'clock, the Bishop's Committee of St. Peter's will meet in the rectory.

THE UNSUNG HERO

The volunteer fireman, that wonderful guy, who will come to your aid at the wink of an eye. Drop anything he's doing, either night or day, no matter if it's freezing clear into the bay.

When he's all dressed up and out on the town, has that beautiful doll in most glamorous gown, of course that siren, it just has to blow and our big-hearted firemen? Of course he will go.

He ruins his clothes, he breaks his glasses, and all too often is overcome by gasses. He risks his life, he comes in dead tired, but he gets back to work for he could get fired.

He risks being bitten by mad rattlesnakes, run from their dens by the heat of the flames, or hurt in a wreck if he don't get the breaks, but he just sort of grins, says it's all in the game.

Then along comes Christmas—who digs up the fee to pay for the nice childrens big Christmas tree? You guessed it—our firemen, those wonderful Joes, who unquestionably are our No. 1 heroes. . . .

A Grateful Citizen

W. A. BOOTHE DIES AT COPANO HOME

W. A. Boothe, 94, Bee County's oldest ex-commissioner and San Patricio County's most avid fisherman, died suddenly Monday morning at the family cottage on Copano Bay here.

Funeral services were at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Starbuck Chapel in Sinton. Burial was at Mineral and was conducted by Maurice Barnett and Wayne Partain, Church of Christ ministers in Sinton.

Boothe is survived by a son S. L. of Orange Grove, and a daughter, Mrs. H. W. Gist of Sinton, six grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren. He lived with Mr. and Mrs. Gist.

Boothe was a native of DeWitt County. He went to Mineral in 1896 and was appointed Bee County commissioner in February, 1906. He served two years but would not run for reelection.

His pay at the time was $2.50 a day while the court was in session and $1 a day for riding the roads of his precinct. He once said sessions were called every other month and were seldom more than two or three days long. He said he spent an average of two or three days a month riding the roads.

The pay just about covered the hotel bill when he went to Beeville for the commissioners meetings, he said.

He said that he saw from eight to 10 thousand cattle drifting toward the coast in a solid wall in 1886 ahead of a blizzard that lasted three weeks. Thousands and thousands of cattle were wiped out. He told of skinning 72 head, at $1 each, off less than one acre of land on the J. P. Morris ranch.

Once when a boy of 10, while tending the toll pontoon bridge over the Guadalupe River, he got caught in the middle of a cross-fire during the Taylor-Sutton feud of DeWitt County. He dropped to the floor of the bridge and the bullets whizzed by overhead. No one was killed during the skirmish. Boothe was born Dec. 17, 1868. His father, a member of the first commissioners court in DeWitt County died when Boothe was still a youngster and the boy dropped out of school to make a living for the family.

Boothe was a retired rancher and cattle raiser.

In 1961 on his 93rd birthday, he was commissioned an admiral in the Texas Navy. The San Patricio Commissioners Court held a party in his honor to make the presentation.

Boothe liked to fish with his daughter and family. The Gists owned the cottage on Copano Bay, along with a boat.

For years Boothe was content to "take his meals" in between his fishing. He believed a person who fished only in the morning was not able to catch up on the sport. "When you add the afternoon to your schedule, you're breaking even," he said.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our thanks and appreciation to the Rockport and Fulton Depts., also the sheriff and police depts, and others who helped during the fire Saturday night.

CORRECT ADDRESS ASSURES PROMPT PAYMENT OF SOCIAL SECURITY

Treasury checks are mailed to about 25 thousand social security beneficiaries in this area of South Texas each month, according to H. M. Cleveland, district manager, of the Social Security Administration.

The insurance payments are made as a matter of right to replace earnings which are reduced in a worker's older years or when one becomes disabled or dies. Although the benefits are not based on need, most families of a retired disabled, or deceased worker rely on their checks to meet today's costs of living.

"These government checks are mailed to reach the payees soon after the end of the month for which they are paid. For example," Cleveland said, "the January payments will be delivered by the postoffice here about the 3rd, 4th, or 5th of February."

"Each month, a few people are distressed because their checks are not received at the time they are expected. The reason for delayed payments most often is due to a change of address," Cleveland continued.

"Any beneficiary who is planning to move, can avoid a delay in getting his check on the due date. Written notice of his new address should be given to both the post office and the Social Security Administration by the middle of the month if possible," he concluded.

Wildlife management personnel of the Game and Fish Commission are continuing their work on aerial census of deer in South Texas. Biologists and game warden Pilot J. R. Palmer are in Uvalde gathering more data for analysis. While based at Uvalde, they will conduct census work in Zavala, Dimmit and Uvalde Counties. This work must be done now before spring brings a new crop of leaves to the trees and cuts the visibility from the air.

To conduct an aerial census, the biologists lay off lines on the map about ten miles apart. They then fly these lines at an altitude of 150 feet and a speed of 80 miles an hour. All the deer which can be seen are counted by the biologist through a marked off section of his window. This section allows him to see a plot of ground 100 yards wide which totals 36.36 acres per mile flown. By using this as a guide, the number of acres per deer can be computed for given areas.

The airplane used is a Cessna 182 and is completely equipped with navigational aids so that a true course can be flown. Planes not so well equipped have been used in the past on a lease basis and it was found that much of the data was unusable because the pilot had been unable to fly the exact course laid out.

This method of censusing deer has not yet been completely proven, but indications are that it may be the most accurate form of censusing deer yet devised for the brush country of Texas.

MISS DOROTHY MAUD JARBOE WEDS J. DAVID De KRAKER

In an afternoon ceremony at Sacred Heart Church, on Saturday, Feb. 2, 1963, Miss Dorothy Maud Jarboe became the bride of J. David DeKraker, with the Right Reverend Monsignor J. William Hennel officiating at the double-ring rites.

Twin floor baskets of white gladioli and clipped Commadore greenery were used as decorations, with double arrangements of white gladioli placed at the altar.

Miss Susan LeBlanc, organist, rendered the traditional music. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. James A. Jarboe and the late Mr. Jarboe of Rockport.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John De Kraker of Williamson, New York. Given in marriage by her brother, James A. Jarboe, Jr., the bride wore a lovely short gown of delustered satin, with carriage back. Its fitted bodice had a round neckline accentuated with hand-needle Chantilly lace. The three-quarter length sleeves were enhanced by Chantilly lace motifs.

Her shoulder-length circular veil, of nylon tulle, was caught to a crown of velvet ribbon. She carried a Colonial bouquet of feathered white carnations.

Mrs. Charles Maslonka was matron of honor. She wore a dress of ice-blue peau de soie, with draped neckline, elbow-length sleeves, and a gathered skirt. Her hat, with a short veil, matched her dress, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of feathered white carnations.

Mother of the bride wore a sheath of soft green crepe, with scoop neckline, and cap sleeves. Her hat was of blending green feathers, and she wore a white carnation corsage.

Best man was William De Kraker, of Alexandria, Virginia, brother of the groom.

Ushers were Gordon Stanley, of Hamilton, New York, and the bride's brother, George Jarboe, of Houston.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the family home of the bride on Fulton Beach. Arrangements of white gladioli decorated the mantel and reception rooms.

The table was laid with a white net cloth trimmed in satin. Its centerpiece was a leatherleaf. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with white gardenias and wedding bells.

Members of the house party were: Mrs. Dave Boswell, Mrs. Thomas M. Roth, Mrs. Karl Benson, Miss Mary Margaret Gallaway, Mrs. James A. Jarboe, Jr., Mrs. George G. Jarboe, Mrs. Gordon Cole Thomson, and Mrs.

versity. The groom is a graduate of Cornell University.

After a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico, the young couple will journey to New York for a visit with the groom's parents before establishing their new residence.

For her going-away costume, the bride wore a suit of blue raw silk, with box jacket, elbow-length sleeves, and pencil skirt. Her hat and accessories were in blended shades, and she wore a white carnation corsage.

Relatives from out of town, attending the wedding, were: Mr. and Mrs. David W. Boswell, George Timothy Boswell and Charley Boswell, of Fort Worth; Mrs. Gordon Cole Thomson, of Austin;

Mr. and Mrs. George Knight Taggart, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. George Knight Taggart, Jr., of Corpus Christi;

Mr. and Mrs. George Garry Jarboe and Russell Kerr Jarboe, of Houston;

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Jarboe, Jr., Jimmy, Jeanette, and John Jarboe, of Texas City;

Mrs. Thomas M. Roth and Tommy Roth, of Elkin, North Carolina.

Guests attending from Houston included: Mr. and Mrs. Karl Benson, Miss Mary Margaret Gallaway, Miss Dorry Schulze, Miss Frances Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fisher and Ronald, William and Robert Fisher.

Texas Tourist Industry Shows 7% Gain

The economy of the State of Texas received a substantial $31 million boost in 1962 as the Texas Tourist Industry registered a seven per cent gain, the Texas Highway Department announced today.

Making its annual report on the tourist industry, the Department said tourists spent $471 million in Texas during 1962—a healthy $31 million increase over the previous year.

Texas also showed a vigorous gain in total numbers of tourists, with 9.6 million out of state visitors coming to Texas in 1962. This was 1.2 million more than the comparable total for 1961—an increase of some 14 per cent.

Under the authorization of the Texas Legislature, the Highway Department carries on a tourist attraction program, compiling and distributing numerous publications, films, posters and other material to fill needs for travel information. In 1962 the Department distributed 200,000 travel brochures, and 750,000 travel maps.

Eight Tourist Bureaus are operated by the Department at key entry points to the state, manned by well-trained Travel Counselors who dispense free information on Texas and skillfully stimulate additional recreational travel by incoming tourists. Some 400,000 tourists visit these Bureaus each year.

Many thousands of dollars of free publicity are obtained for the State of Texas each year by the Department, which from its extensive photographic files and storehouses of knowledge on Texas' highway attractions provides needed information to national news media such as Life Magazine, the Perry Como Show and Today Show on network television, and motion picture studios such as 20th Century-Fox.

Dry Better Electrically... and pocket the savings

Big wet clouds and small wet children are not nearly so formidable when you have a flameless electric clothes dryer in the house. Safe, clean electricity is gentle to your finest laundry and it never yellows.

Right now is a good time to see your dealer. Electric dryers regularly cost less to buy than others and you save an additional $15 through CPL's Cash Coupon offer. With low cost CPL electricity, the savings can easily amount to all the operating costs for years, probably for the entire life of the dryer.

This offer is for a limited time. Better see your dealer right away.

FULTON ELEMENTARY RECEIVES MORE BOOKS

The George W. Fulton Elementary School Library has received the second section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science Traveling Library. Through the exchange of the books it was learned that the alternate section of science books were at Beeville. The AAAS Traveling Science Library, consisting of 80 new titles suitable for grades one through eight, is valued at nearly $500, and has the American Library Association, National Book Committee, and NEA's Department of Elementary School Principals endorsement.

The Fulton library has been a recipient of the AAAS Traveling Science Library for the school year, at no cost whatsoever to the school. This program is made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

This library has been well-received by the students, right down to the first graders. This program is a fine opportunity to look through the best in science literature, and from the selections of the students decide which books will be most appreciated by the student body.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS CAN GET TECHNICAL TRAINING BY ENLISTING

High school seniors planning to enlist in the Regular U.S. Army after graduation should apply now if they are interested in choosing a technical school, according to Sgt. Richard L. Ward, local Army recruiter.

Under the Army's graduate specialist program, qualified young men can choose from 107 technical schools. But, first you must pass high physical and mental requirements.

More than 40 South Texans, who will not graduate from high school before May, have already pre-qualified for selected Army schooling. Certain Army school quotas could be filled by that time at the current rate these young men are pre-qualifying.

If you want to fulfill your military obligation upon graduation, learn a trade in the Army school of your choice, and be paid to go to school, see Sgt. Ward at the postoffice in Rockport, each Friday, for complete details.

Houston Woman May Be Second Executed in Texas

If Caroline Lima dies at Huntsville on Feb. 28 for her part in the gun-torch slaying of Houston real estate man Fred A. Tones, she'll be the second woman ever to be executed in Texas. The first was Chepita Rodriguez, hung from a mesquite tree at San Patricio on the banks of the Nueces Friday, Nov. 13, just a century ago this year.

Many legends have grown around the trial and execution of Chepita, convicted on circumstantial evidence of the axe slaying of John Savage. One of these says that Chepita took the murder rap to protect an illegitimate, half-breed son who, stolen from her in infancy, returned to murder Savage for the gold he carried.

Facts in the case are skimpy. Savage's body, wrapped in burlap sacks, was spied floating in the Aransas River, by a couple of negro women, employees on the Weider Ranch, who were using the stream as a wash tub.

Chepita earned a meager living from occasional travelers that stopped for meals and lodging at her cabin on the river, about where Highway 77 crosses it today, and the finger of suspicion was pointed at her. It was thought that Savage had stopped there and that she and an accomplice had killed and robbed him for the gold he generally carried in his saddlebags to purchase cattle.

She was indicted jointly with Juan Silveira for the murder and they were tried before Judge Benjamin F. Neal of the 14th District Court. After entering a plea of not guilty, she is reported to have made no further statement in her own defense.

On Oct. 9, 1863, the jury returned the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, Chepita Rodriguez, guilty of murder in the first degree but, on account of her old age and the circumstantial evidence against her, do recommend her to the mercy of the court."

Silveira was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary but the judge, with unseemly haste and completely disregarding the jury's recommendations, ordered that Chepita "be closely and securely confined until Friday, Nov. 13, when she will be taken to the place of execution and there, between the hour of eleven o'clock and sunset, be executed by hanging by the neck until she is dead."

There were a whole lot of curious things about the trial, including Neal's severity in the face of recommendation, and there were, until recent years, many old timers in San Patricio County that swore Chepita had been railroaded.

Nevertheless, Chepita awaited her execution chained to the wall of a small room at the rear of the frame San Patricio County courthouse, her legs secured in irons. And on Friday, Nov. 13, although most of the town and especially the women were against the execution, Chepita was taken from her chains to the hanging tree on Friday the 13th. Miss Josephine Sullivan used to tell, while still alive, how her brother slipped off and witnessed the hanging.

Chepita rode to the place of execution on an oxcart, sitting bolt upright on her coffin while she jolted down the street, smoking her corn shuck cigarette.

Webb Sullivan told in after years that the cart was driven under the gallows tree, one of two mesquites in a clearing along the river bottom.

John Gilpin was the hangman, and he tied the noose about Chepita's neck. Then the cart was driven out from under her. Sullivan said no cover over the unfortunate woman's face concealed the horrors of death by strangulation.

And, he used to say that as soon as Chepita was pronounced dead, she was rudely dumped in her coffin and buried beneath the hanging tree.

Since then there have been a couple of other women sentenced to death after conviction as killers. The sentence of Mrs. Emma (Straight-Eight) Oliver of San Antonio was commuted to life and she later died in prison of cancer.

The other woman was Mrs. Maggie Morgan, Houston fortune teller, convicted in the kill-for-pay slaying of Mrs. Joseph Selby, in 1960. Her sentence was also commuted to life.

Miss Lima and her confederate, Leslie Douglas Ashley, have both been sentenced to die in the electric chair on Feb. 28, and unless she receives clemency, she will thus become the second woman to be legally executed in the State of Texas.

BILL TO LEASE—

up possibilities of orderly development of nearly 1,000 miles of islands, bays and inlets. They said that the language of the original law, limiting purposes to "industrial," is too restrictive and is in capable of definition. They said the proposal to add commercial and recreational uses was introduced after consultation with the attorney general's office.

Patman made much of the fact that because of court definitions of high tide, submerged land is dry for a considerable distance up the beach for much of the time. There was no agreement among the opponents as to just what the bill would cover.

Land owner Bailey, who said he had lived in the Rockport area for 70 years, argued that the public is free to fish along the bays at any and all times, and he has never tried to keep them from crossing his bayfront land. He charged that the Reagan bill would permit persons to lease the land from Sadler and block the public from entry.

Gibson said that a four-year study had been conducted by the Texas Legislative Council to find a way to cure an ugly situation that had been going on for 100 years. He said many people had squatted on state lands and islands, and spurious titles had been developed to lands that should belong to the public school fund.

He argued that with the Reagan bill, Sadler could clean up the situation and bring order where there now is chaos.

Time and again, proponents declared that the bill has these safeguards:

First, application must be made to the city council or the commissioners court of the county in which the submerged land is situated, and those agencies may turn the application down;

Then it must be passed upon by an advisory board;

And, finally, it must win the approval of the land commissioner before it could be leased.

The committee, with 14 of its 21 members voting, decided to let the hot issue cool off a bit, so it went to a subcommittee for study a while.

Rev. Cecil Lang is attending the mid-winter lectures this week at Seminary in Austin. He will be back late Friday.

feet offshore, and is shaped roughly like a piece of pie with the tip cut off. The wide end will be offshore, and in constructing it, Sanders has taken cognizance of the prevailing winds, with the result that the harbor will be completely sheltered.

There will be forty-six ships, most of them covered, and along the sea wall on the south side of the marina there will be a thirty foot roadway giving easy access for boat owners using slips on that side of the marina.

At the west, or shoreward end, there will be a service dock, a Texas Company marine station, and facilities to care for fishermen's and boater's needs. Bait will be available, at it is now, at the inshore end of the fishing pier.

Sanders started the construction on the motel in 1961, at which time, besides the motel units office, and pool, he built one of the finest boat display rooms in this part of the country, located at the western end of his property, just across Highway 35. This is now occupied by Marineland.

Following construction of the first units, a number of cottages were built on the bluff to the south of the main units, furnishing two and three room apartments for semi-permanent occupancy. The new additions will make a total of 45 units available for occupancy, and will represent, along with the marina, an investment of between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

Guide, would hold a pancake supper and game night on Saturday, Feb. 9, starting at 5:30 p.m., and said that approximately $500 will still be needed.

Mrs. Dean Dimmick, general chairman of the Heart Fund Campaign is Aransas County, spoke briefly, asking for the Chamber's endorsement and aid in the drive.

Major Falk, commander of the 813th AC&W Squadron at Rockport AFS, told the assembled directors that Air Force personnel, and particularly the younger, unmarried men, deplored the lack of recreational facilities in the area, and asked the Chamber's cooperation in the matter.

He said that because the Aransas County Red Cross Chapter had lapsed here, service men and dependents in need of family assistance had to contact the Nueces County Chapter in Corpus Christi.

However, he said, there was a shortage of suitable housing, with the result that 15 more units of government housing had been authorized for the station.

The meeting closed after new president Griffith had appointed a committee on standing committees composed of himself, the other officers, and retiring president Robert Fleming.

LIBRARY BOARD—

one, preparing it for the shelves.

The comparatively low cost per volume is due to the fact, Mrs. West said, that the book selection committee concentrated on purchases for the juveniles section of the library.

The seven members of the library board, and seven auxiliary members recommended last fall that the weekly schedule be changed so that more use could be made of library facilities, and that the new schedule remains in effect: Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2 until 5 p.m., and Saturdays from 9 until 12 a.m.

Because of increased circulation during the summer months, this schedule faces further revision. The average circulation was about 700 per month during the year, but during the summer months this amounted to 1558 in June, 1426 in July, and 1193 in August.

Members of the board and auxiliary have done the classification and processing of books, donating freely of their time and effort, Mrs. West said, and for several months have been contributing at least one day or more a week for library work.

Registered borrowers number 1877; 911 adults and 966 children.

There were 7374 accessioned books in the library, Mrs. West said, with many additional volumes ready for shelving, but since space is limited in present library quarters, these are stored awaiting completion of the new building.

During the year, she said, the library received $1,000 from Aransas County; fines amounted to $145; memorial gifts amounted to $495.45; gifts $115; book review receipts, $93.75, and the Rotary Club's book plan, $15.

Of this money, $693.90 went for books, $22.75 for magazines, $56.95 for supplies, $23.35 for stationery, $720 for salaries, and $22.50 for social security.

Members of the library board, besides those already named are Emory M. Spencer, Mrs. Harry McDow, and Mrs. Ellis Clark. Auxiliary members include Mrs. S. F. Jackson, Mrs. James A. Jarboe, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Gladys Gibson, Delmar Hiller and Mrs. A. C. Glass.

Mrs. Golden Rowe and Mrs. Allen Johnson were in Bay City Saturday, visiting their brother, Henry Phillips, who was seriously injured when he slipped off a trailer hitch. He is in the Matagorda County Hospital, room 138-D, in Bay City and will be there for some time.
