Assembly Backs Firing Of Police Chief

Soviets Blasted For Continuing Blockade

By OMER ANDERSON
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 29—Berlin's deputy mayor warned Russia tonight that its blockade of the former German capital is "sowing dragon's teeth which will plague you when Germany is free again."

Ferdinand Friedensburg made this sharp attack while surrounded in a city assembly meeting by Soviet observers and their German Communist police officials.

Moreover, Friedensburg lashed the Russians while in the Russian sector of the city and accused them of at least tacitly abetting the kidnaping of 5,000 anti-Communist Berliners during the last two years.

Suspension Is Okayed

Berlin's city assembly voted overwhelmingly to accept the city council's suspension of Paul Markgraf, Moscow-trained Berlin police president.

Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, Soviet commander in Berlin, later wrote Louise Schroeder, the city's woman mayor, and declared that Markgraf's suspension was "an illegal action and therefore not binding on the Soviet command."

Markgraf at the same time threatened reprisals against German police not obeying his orders.

Russian Leader Defied

Frau Schroeder told Kotikov yesterday in a letter that she could not obey the Russian leader's demand for the dismissal of Johannes Stumm, named by the city council to succeed Markgraf.

Franz Neuman, Social Democratic leader, underscored Friedensburg's denunciation of Markgraf by saying "we are against dictators like Markgraf who have Nazi training."

Markgraf, the former Nazi artillery captain captured at Stalingrad and trained by the Russians, has refused to quit his post. The Russians are backing him up in the East-West split of police powers.

Soviets Attend Meeting

Stumm, his former deputy named as his successor by the city government set up under four-power rule, has established rival headquarters in the U. S. sector of Berlin.

Markgraf was suspended because the city government said he usurped his power by dismissing "unreliable" police officials—those who are not outright pro-Soviet.

The city assembly backed up the suspension in a tense meeting in the Soviet sector. Observers noted that it took great courage because at least a score of Soviet official observers attended.

The assembly appealed to the major powers and the world to end the Berlin dispute which it termed a "crime against humanity." It said the political dispute has hit innocent German women, children, the aged and sick.

Britain May Halt Demobilization

By ROBERT HEWETT
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 29—The British government may halt the demobilization of its armed forces "in a few days" if the Berlin crisis is not settled, Foreign Secretary Bevin said today.

At the same time the foreign secretary told the House of Commons in a carefully worded statement that he hopes the crisis will be settled, and that steps now are being taken in Moscow to determine whether there is a possibility of negotiations that would end the entire cold war in Europe between East and West.

His announcement that the government is considering stopping demobilization came after Winston Churchill, the Conservative leader, warned that the dispute with Russia is very serious and "might easily become one of life and death."

Talks With Stalin Hinted

Speaking a few hours after American and British envoys had arrived in Moscow to explore the possibilities of negotiation—with the lifting of the Berlin blockade as a preliminary condition—Bevin said he hoped the new diplomatic steps "will lead to peace and security in Europe for us all."

He thus confirmed what a responsible British official yesterday first reported—that the three western powers have agreed on the conditions not only for negotiations on Berlin and even Germany, but all Europe as well.

He said the decision as to East-West negotiations will "probably be taken on the highest levels," a possible indication that it might be put up to Premier Stalin.

U. S. Dispatches Major General To Command B-29s In England

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—The Air Force is sending a major general to take command of B-29 units now in England, thus indicating the importance attached to the current "training visit" of the 60 big bombers to Britain.

It announced today that Maj. Gen. Leon W. Johnson, commander of the 15th Air Force, with headquarters at Colorado Springs, will leave next Sunday for England.

Present ranking officer with the Superfortresses in Britain is a colonel, Stanley Wray, who made the flight abroad with the B-29s. Johnson will be under Lt. Gen Curtis E. Lemay, commander of United States Air Forces in Europe.

ONE DEAD IN STORM

MADISON, Wis., July 29 (INS)—A tornado struck a farm 20 miles west of Madison tonight, killing a 10-year-old girl, injuring 11 other members of the same family, destroying the farmhouse and all but one of the outbuildings Lucille Ballwegg died shortly after she was brought to a Madison hospital, where attaches said the twister had driven a splinter two and one-half inches in circumference through her brain.

State's Demo Leaders Split On Vote Issue

(By The Associated Press)

TWO Texas Democratic leaders took opposite sides Thursday on the question of a referendum on presidential preference in the second Democratic primary Aug. 28.

National committeeman Wright Morrow of Houston asked in a statement that the rank and file of Texas Democrats be allowed to vote in that primary as to whether they want the Truman-Barkley ticket on the party's ballot in November.

Robert W. Calvert, chairman of the State Democratic executive committee, said such a referendum would be a "futile gesture." He called the referendum plan one "without legal or moral basis."

Dixiecrats Are Issue

The break in the top level of the party came as Texas counties prepared for Democratic conventions. These county conventions will elect delegates to the state convention at Fort Worth in September where the Truman issue will be explosive.

The whole question revolves around the Dixiecrat movement.

Southerners organized against Truman and his civil rights program want to erase his name from the November ballot.

In place of the Truman-Barkley ticket, they would put the names of Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina, a candidate for president, and Gov. Fielding Wright, Mississippi, for vice-president.

Jester Against Move

Thurmond and Wright were nominated at the Birmingham, Ala., convention of southern Democrats, called after Truman was nominated at Philadelphia.

Gov. Beauford Jester, earlier this week, came out against the movement to kick Truman off the Texas Democratic ticket in November.

The Dixiecrats will demand the ordering of a test vote for Truman in the runoff primary when the Democratic state committee meets at Austin Aug. 9.

While Calvert attacked the legality of such a referendum and said it was impractical, Palmer Bradley, Houston attorney active in the "states rights" party movement, suggested that Governor Jester ask the attorney general if

Red Battle On Jerusalem Fails

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 29 (INS)—Russia lost a hard battle in the United Nations today to reopen the question of Jerusalem's status in divided Palestine.

By a vote of eight to one, with three abstentions, the trusteeship council agreed to shelve indefinitely any discussion of the Holy City's status on the ground it would embarass the UN mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte.

Russia cast the negative vote and fought a last-ditch battle against the decision. The United States was among the eight nations who voted for the shelving. China, Costa Rica and Australia abstained.

Russia Seeks Action

In agreeing to vote for indefinite postponement of all Jerusalem discussions, all members but Russia admitted that any other step at this time would cut the props from under the mediator, now trying to work out a final Arab-Jewish peace.

But Soviet Delegate Semen K. Tsarapkin brushed this argument aside by declaring that the issue had nothing to do with the mediator. He said that the General Assembly in its partition resolution of Nov. 29, 1947, had instructed the trusteeship council to draw up a plan for Jerusalem as an international city under UN auspices. He maintained this task has not been properly carried out and should therefore be acted upon.

Rail Lines Granted Freight Rate Hike

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The nation's railroads won today a permanent $1,600,200,000-a-year increase in freight rates.

The Interstate Commerce commission decided that the "emergency" boost allowed the carriers since last Oct. 1 should stay in effect. This averages 25 per cent.

Rail lines asked for a 30 per cent rise but the ICC turned them down on the extra five per cent.

The permanent rates are effective on 15 day's notice to the public. They were granted equally to rail carriers, domestic water lines and freight forwarders, who collect small quantity shipments for forwarding in carlots.

In a major change, however, citrus fruits, permitted to rise 22 cents per 100 pounds under the emergency orders, will now be held to a maximum of 20 cents per 100. (Rates on other fruits were kept at current levels.)

Death Toll In Blast Mounts

By RICHARD O. REGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LUDWIGSHAFEN, Germany, July 29—Weary American troops plowed a path to a death trap building at the explosion-torn I. G. Farben chemical plant tonight and then withdrew when French soldiers said their "gallant services" no longer were needed.

The building, one of the most badly wrecked in yesterday's blast in this French zone city, was believed to contain from 60 to 140 bodies.

A German policeman said scores of bodies could be seen floating in several feet of water and ammonia in the basement. He expressed the belief it might take two weeks to recover all the bodies strewn about in the plant's wreckage.

List Of Dead Increases

The list of the known dead grew. German police said there now are 133 known dead and that between 200 and 250 other persons are missing and believed dead. The injured total 2,300, they said.

(In Paris, the French commissariat for German affairs said tonight about 100 persons were killed and that about 85 bodies have been identified. A statement denied reports that the plant was making war explosives.)

Communist newspapers in Berlin claimed, without proof, that the huge factory in the French occupation zone was making war materials illegally.

Cause Claimed Unknown

Germans investigating Europe's greatest disaster since the war brushed aside the charges. They said preliminary findings indicated the blast was touched off by ethyl chloride, an industrial chemical. A chemist who worked at the plant said only industrial products were turned out there.

A French communique said cause of the blast still was undetermined and damage could not be estimated. French officials were making a separate inquiry.

When French soldiers blocked German reporters from entering the plant several survivors commented:: "No wonder. They've got something to hide." Whether the workers spoke from knowledge or mere excitement could not be ascertained.

No Americans were believed killed in the explosion. Many of Which presidential candidate is now leading in popularity in the latest poll among voters of the nation?

The answers to these two questions will be given readers of The Morning Avalanche this weekend.

An up-to-the minute report on how U. S. voters feel about the Berlin blockade will be printed in Saturday's Morning Avalanche—a Gallup Poll survey having just been completed on the question.

And with nominations now made by all parties and elections only three months away, the Gallup Poll has just completed its first nationwide "trial heat" on the presidential race since the conventions. Read the results in Sunday's Avalanche-Journal.

BRADLEY STATEMENT DENIED

Truman Reaffirms Plan To End Segregation In Armed Forces

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 29—President Truman said today his "equality of treatment and opportunity" order for the armed services is aimed at the eventual end of race segregation in the Army.

Negroes are now kept in separate units in the Army. A reporter at Mr. Truman's weekly news conference said that Gen. Omar Bradley has been quoted as saying he favors segregation among the lower echelons.

Is that consistent with the President's "equality" order of last Monday? He was asked.

Truman Reaffirms Stand

Mr. Truman responded that he was informed by Secretary of the Army Royall that Bradley, the chief of staff, had made no such statement.

The President responded with a prompt and flat yes, when asked if his Monday order aims at an eventual end of segregation.

That order stated a presidential policy of equality of treatment and opportunity to be put into effect as soon as possible, "having due regard to the time re-

County Aid On Project To Be Asked

City Okays Plan For Farm Labor Camp

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE city commission unanimously approved at a special meeting Thursday afternoon an appropriation covering half the cost for a camp where itinerant Mexican cotton pickers can rest and make contact with farmers next fall.

A matching appropriation from the county commissioners' court now is needed to insure the project.

Members of a special chamber of commerce committee who presented the matter to the city commission said they plan to make a similar request of the county board at its next meeting. The committeemen were state Rep. Preston Smith, Hop Halsey, W. C. Wood and George Bond, of the chamber of commerce staff.

In addition to approving $3,250 for the project, conditional upon the county commission providing an equal sum, the city commission also agreed to provide the site for the camp. While the definite location has not been chosen, it will be adjacent to areas of the city inhabited largely by Spanish-speaking residents.

Spokesmen for the committee emphasized that the availability of cotton pickers to farmers in Lubbock and adjoining counties may depend in large measure upon the provision of the facility. Several other towns have provided such conveniences.

If Lubbock should fail to do the same, Wood cautioned, it must be expected that many itinerant pickers will avoid this city and go to a place where they will be more comfortable.

Operation Plans Outlined

The plans planned here will not be elaborate, city commissioners were told. The estimated cost is approximately $6,500. It will consist primarily of an unwalled concrete building about 200 feet long and 15 feet wide. It will be divided into compartments equipped with hotplates for cooking and running water. Shower baths and sanitary toilets will be convenient. Continuous occupancy by any group

Youths Confess 13 Burglaries

Admissions that they, or some of them, when acting together had committed 13 burglaries and stolen five automobiles here and there between Michigan and Lubbock in the last year or so were made to federal authorities here Thursday by two of three Mt. Clemens, Mich., youths.

Bond of $2,500 each was set by Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner for the three: Jim Milton Schultz, Allen Oliver Pringle and George Ray Hayes. Each waived hearing. They said they did not want an attorney and, despite their being told no plea was being asked, volunteered statements they were guilty.

Police Make Arrests

All youths at first said they were 18, but Schultz and Hayes later told Curtis L. Perryman, resident FBI agent to whom signed statements were given, that they were 16, or juveniles.

The youths, arrested here this week by police when sleeping in an out of state automobile, were charged on Perryman's oath with transporting the car, a 1946 light coach, in interstate commerce, from Mt. Clemens to Lubbock, knowing the car was stolen.

Pringle and Hayes said nine of the burglaries were at Mt. Clemens, four between there and Lub-

GOP Leaders Shout Opposition To Plan

Eccles Predicts Economic 'Bust;' Southern Demos Begin Filibuster

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 29—President Truman asked today for power to cut prices of daily-bread items back toward levels of 1947, when butter sold for 75 cents a pound and you could buy a pound of chuck roast for 10 to 13 cents less than now.

But the President's request was drowned out by a cry of "police state methods!" by Congress Republicans and a flood of southern oratory against an anti-poll tax bill in the Senate. This was temporarily shut off at 3:14 p.m. (CST) but will resume at 10 a.m. tomorrow. The chances of Congress okaying the rollback was practically nil.

Marriner Eccles, a member of the Federal Reserve board, told Congress that this country is "certainly going to have a bust."

"Too Late," Eccles Says

Eccles was demoted from chairmanship of the board by Mr. Truman earlier this year.

Testifying before the Senate Banking committee, Eccles said it is "too late" to control inflation.

"Are you sure of that?" Chairman Tobey (R-NH) asked.

"Positively," Eccles said.

He added that he likes the word "deflation" better than "bust." And he said the deflation process can be eased—but not by "pleasant" methods.

Mr. Truman sent his anti-inflation bill to Capitol Hill by Paul Porter, last administrator of the wartime OPA and now a special assistant to the President.

Price Curbs Ruled Out

But Congress leaders made abundantly plain that they didn't regard Mr. Truman's plan as the way to beat the high cost of living.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the top Senate Policy committee, had ruled out price control and rationing in a broadcast last night. He said the Republicans would try to find some way of their own to stop price rises.

Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the House Banking committee said no, too.

"The President and the Federal Reserve system have enough authority already to control the economy, to the extent of plunging the country into another depression, if they wanted to use those powers," Wolcott snapped.

Support Is Mild

A number of Democrats applauded the President's program but scores including Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.) said it does not have "a ghost of a chance."

The Republicans control Congress, and most of them took the same line as Taft and Wolcott. They blamed Democratic policies for high prices. Porter denied this in testimony of Wolcott's committee.

"If the (anti-inflation) bill prevents further price increases, it would have achieved its purpose," he said.

Won't Ask Dewey's Help

Mr. Truman's proposal got only limited support from the chairman of the Federal Reserve board, Thomas B. McCabe, who said under questioning by the Senate Banking committee:

"Price control, to me, should be the last resort."

McCabe testified in favor of controls over installment plan buying and larger bank reserve requirements, also parts of the Truman program.

Mr. Truman was asked at his news conference if he would seek Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's help in getting the anti-inflation program through Congress. He replied, with emphasis, no.

The President also was asked why he recommended new restrictions on bank credit in his message to Congress Tuesday—something he didn't recommend in the anti-inflation program he submitted last fall.

Conditions have changed, the President replied, and consumer credit is building up rapidly.

Eccles Asked Credit Curbs

Eccles, then chairman of the Federal Reserve board, asked the President to recommend these credit curbs in last fall's message.

Today Eccles described the President's new program as "about half inflationary as well as about half deflationary."

He said the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill, endorsed by Mr. Truman, would increase prices.

And he said the Department of Agriculture's proposal to lower farm production goals next year doesn't make sense.

Eccles replied directly to Republican assertions that the Federal Reserve board has powers it is not using to stop inflation.

What the board can do, he said, is withdraw from support of the government security market.

If the board does that, Eccles said, it would mean denying the banking system a market for government securities. The board now supports the securities at a 2½ per cent rate of interest.

Under present circumstances,

Contract Let On New Levelland School

LEVELLAND, July 29. (Spl.)—At a special meeting of the Levelland school board held here today, D. D. Humphries Construction company of Lubbock was awarded the general contract for the construction of the proposed $650,000 high school building here.

The Humphries bid was $448,757, according to an announcement made by O. W. Marcom, superintendent of schools. Seven other contractors also submitted bids for the general contract.

Mechanical contracts also were let at today's meeting. Electrical contract was let to Harmon Electric company of Dallas, and plumbing and heating contracts went to Bell Plumbing company of Lubbock.

C. E. Birdwell, president of the local school board, presided at the opening of the bids.

Wyatt C. Hedrick, Fort Worth architect, did the plans for the proposed structure. Construction is to get underway soon.

Mercury Soars To 102 In City

A cool front that was scheduled to move into the South Plains Thursday apparently "missed a bus" on its way down from the north land because the mercury popped up to 102 degrees Thursday afternoon, the hottest day since June 15 when the temperature reading was 106 degrees.

The weatherman can't be blamed completely for fouling off the "cooler" slant for he made the prediction Wednesday night reluctantly and with several "if's" and "and's".

"Definitely" Cooler

Thursday night, however, the weather station forecaster climbed out on the limb with a definite prediction it will be cooler today . . . probably only 95 degrees maximum, he said. He said the cool front was already creeping across the Panhandle area, and that Amarillo, Canyon, and Clarendon were having considerable thunderstorm activity in the wake of the mild front.

The humidity couldn't be blamed Thursday for the sweltering heat. It was strictly heat for the humidity dropped down to South Plains normal. At 6:30 a. m. the humidity reading was 69 per cent, and dwindled to 24 per cent by 4:30 p. m.

The 102 reading was the hottest day for July and the first time the mercury had crossed the 100 mark since June 18. Earlier readings this week were in the middle 90's.

Besides the cooler forecast, the weatherman said it probably would be partly cloudy with scattered showers in the area. He saw no prospects for general rains however.

Johnson And Stevenson Turning Interest To National Affairs

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The two Texans in the run-off race for Democratic nomination to the Senate turned to national affairs today to keep themselves before the voters of their state.

Former Gov. Coke Stevenson arrived for a two-day visit to "observe" the Washington scene.

He called it a "non-political" trip and said he is interested principally in getting the low down on the world situation. One of his first acts was a visit to the State department.

Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson, who is voluntarily surrendering his House seat to seek the place now held by Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel, spoke to the House on the inflation problem and later discussed national defense matters with Secretary James Forrestal.

Only newsmen were on hand when Stevenson left his train, followed by House minority leader Sam Rayburn of Bonham.

Texans in Congress are carefully trying to avoid any show of favoritism between Rep. Johnson and Stevenson.

Meanwhile, Johnson proposed to the House creation of "a bread-

Creager, Texas GOP Leader, Predicts His Group To Control State Convention And 'All Patronage'

HOUSTON, July 29. (AP)—Col. R. B. Creager, Brownsville, leader of Texas Republicans since 1922, arrived at the party's state headquarters here today with these predictions:

1. The regular state Republican organizations—"my friends and I"—will control the August 10 state convention at Waco "by a minimum of 80 per cent of the voting strength."

2. This regular organization headed by Creager as national Republican committeeman from Texas will handle "all patronage in the regular sense of the word" in the state.

GOP Eyes Texas Posts

Creager admitted there are between 2,000 and 3,000 important federal posts in Texas on which the Republicans have their eyes trained if the Dewey-Warren ticket is elected in November.

Of the group which is challenging the power of the regular state organization, the tart-tongued Creager said "it is inconceivable that the national party or a national Republican administration would deal with the small, incompetent minority which is attempting to take over the party organization in Texas."

He referred to a group headed by George C. Hopkins, Dallas, chairman of the party's state executive committee and head of forces which backed Governor Thomas E. Dewey for the presidential nomination.

The Creager forces, which supported Senator Robert Taft of Ohio for nomination, are backing Henry Zweifel, Fort Worth, former U. S. district attorney, to replace Hopkins as committee chairman.

Creager released here a letter which he said is being sent to 400 leading Republicans in Texas, including county chairmen and delegates and alternates to the recent national convention.

The colonel's letter first criticizes a "bitter, intemperate and misleading letter" which he said Hopkins mailed.

Creager said Hopkins and his associates, Hobert K. McDowell and Colley Briggs, were able to elect only one Dewey delegate to the national convention and "mustered out 14 votes out of 62 on the state executive committee and, on a test vote, would have had not to exceed eight per cent of the voting strength of the (May 25) state convention at Corpus Christi."

(There were two Dewey delegates from Texas to the national convention. Only one was elected by congressional district caucus. The second, Hopkins, was selected by the convention nominations committee on suggestion of Creager.)

The letter reminded party leaders that more than half of the GOP organizations in the United States, like the majority of Texas Republicans, initially favored candidates other than Dewey.

"Is it possible anyone is silly enough to think effort is going to be made to punish and purge Republican organizations in the majority of the states?" Creager's letter asked.

"I say unhesitatingly and emphatically to you that in Texas and in other states, the regular duly elected organizations will be recognized for all purposes," he concluded.

Creager told a reporter his reference to "all purposes" includes patronage.

Cheager, a twinkle in his eye, said the regular Republican organization in Texas will send "in the neighborhood of $300,000" to the national campaign fund.

"That other bunch couldn't raise $20,000," he commented.

Frederic Balazs, Hungarian Born Concert Violinist, To Perform At Tech Tonight

Frederic Balazs, Hungarian-born concert violinist whose musical ability and personality have won him national acclaim, will be featured tonight at 8:30 p.m. on the Administration building green at Texas Technological college as the sixth performer on the college's summer artist course program.

Balazs, who is director of the Wichita Falls symphony orchestra, has, at the age of 28, attained a perfection of technique which charms audiences and brings forth predictions of greater heights for the young musician. At the age of 16 he was concert master of the Budapest Concert orchestra, and soon after he became 17, he came to the United States, where his many performances have each been a step on the road to fame.

Performances Are Lauded

Of Balazs' rendition of Mendelssohn's Concerto in E Minor, which is included in Friday night's program, The Philadelphia Enquirer said, "The number was played with remarkably clear tone, crystal clearness, and freedom and ease of movement rarely attained by even the greatest of violinists."

Accompanying the young musician on the piano will be Nita Akin, who is with the department of music at Hardin college as professor of organ, and who has appeared in concerts in both America and Europe.

Included in the program at Texas Tech are: Largo—Veracini; Capriccietto — Mendelssohn; Rondeau — Mozart; Chaconne, from Partita in D minor for violin alone—Bach; Concerto in E minor—Mendelssohn; Jota — Defalla; En Bateau—Debussy; Tambourin Chinois — Kreisler; and Brahms-Joachim's Hungarian Dance Number 1.

Admission to the program will be by season artist course tickets for students of Texas Tech, and $1 for townspeople.

DISCOVERS RETONGA; FINDS RELIEF FROM ACID INDIGESTION

MRS. HATTIE MILAM

Victim of Sour Stomach, Constipation, Headaches and Sleepless Nights Happily Tells How Famous Medicine Gave Prompt Relief.

"I could hardly eat anything without suffering for it," declares Mrs. Hattie Milam, "until I discovered Retonga." Mrs. Milam, a native of Macon, Ga., has livsd in California for the past 14 years and owns her home at 927 Indiana Ave., in Venice.

In describing her happy experience, Mrs. Milam continues: "For several years I suffered terribly from sour stomach. I could hardly eat a thing without paying a price in gas pains and bloating. Even mild foods like bread and coffee gave me heartburn. I was terribly plagued by constipation and headaches and was continually taking harsh laxatives. Sleeplessness was another thing I had to put up with. Some nights I'd toss and turn for hours before getting to sleep. In the morning I'd get up feeling completely worn out, with no energy for anything. Life's no fun when you feel the way I did.

"Well, one lucky day I read about Retonga in the newspaper and decided to try it. The relief that grand medicine brought me was just plain wonderful. Now I eat anything I want without any discomfort. I haven't taken a harsh laxative in a long time, for my constipation and headaches have been relieved. I sleep like a top, too, and have worlds of pep and energy. I never dreamed one medicine could do so much for a person as Retonga did for me. It's grand!"

The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal, combined with Vitamin B-1. Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constiptation. If the first bottle fails to bring you relief, your money will be cheerfully refunded. You can get Tetonga at all good drug stores, including Walgreen Drug Store.—Adv.

Washington Paper Is Willed To Executives

WASHINGTON, July 29 (INS)—Publisher Eleanor Medill Patterson left the nation's first round-the-clock newspaper, the Washington Times-Herald, to seven of her veteran executives.

The will of the first lady of American journalism, made public today, revealed that Mrs. Patterson bequeathed most of the remainder of her estimated $15,000,000 estate to her daughter, Felicia Gizycka.

Large gifts also were made however, to charity, personal friends and servants.

Daughter Is Beneficiary

Mrs. Patterson, who died Saturday of a heart attack, left her daughter all her personal effects, real estate including a Lond Island residence, and $25,000 a year for life.

No provision was made for her granddaughter, Mrs. Ellen Pearson Arnold, daughter of columist Drew Pearson. Mrs. Patterson made a substantial gift to Mrs. Arnold during her lifetime.

The seven executives, who received the paper and the property in which it is published, are:

General manager William C. Shelton, editor-in-chief Frank C. Waldrop, advertising director Edmund F. Jewell, supervising managing editor Michael J. Flynn, circulation director H. A. Robinson, mechanical superintendent J. Irving Belt, and night managing editor Mason S. Peters.

Waldrop immediately announced the newspaper would "remain independent" and that the new owners would attempt to run it as Mrs. Patterson would have desired.

Casing Is Run On Terry Well

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 E. M. Hinson, flowing oil discovery in northeast Terry county from a Pennsylvanian lime between 9,405 feet and the current total depth at 9,455 feet, is running a string of 7-inch casing, preparatory to completing as a commercial producer and the opener of a new field.

This development is ten miles northeast of Brownfield, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 91, block 4-x, psl survey.

91 Barrels In Two Hours

It produced an estimated rate of 91 barrels of oil in two hours from the zone at 9,401-39 feet. The section from 9,439 feet to 9,455 feet, did not flow any oil, but put 8,200 feet of clean oil and 440 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud into the drill pipe during a two hour drillstem test.

Up to now no water has been developed by this discovery.

Production tests on the exploration will be started by the end of the week.

Cochran Cotton Losses From Weather May Total 30 Per Cent

MORTON, July 29 (Special) — County Agent Homer Thompson has estimated that Cochran county farmers have lost about 30 per cent of their total cotton acreage this year in battles with the elements.

High winds, whipping the young cotton with burning sand, accounted for most of this loss, but spotted hailstorms wiped out another 5 per cent, Thompson told the Morton Tribune.

Charlie Cravy, manager of C. C. Slaughter farms, reported almost a 50 per cent loss in the 8,000 acres of land planted in cotton on those properties. The farms are scattered over a wide area.

Bob Ramp, northeast of Morton, managed to escape the sand with his 1,700 acres of cotton, only to lose all but a small patch to a hailstorm.

Approximately 40 irrigation wells are said operating in the county now.

Northern Evergreen Hard Hit By Changes In Weather

ST. PAUL, July 29 (U.P.) — One more thing that can be blamed on the weather is the apparently dead condition of evergreens around the north central states.

Raymond Wood, extension forester at the University of Minnesota farm school, said rapidly-changing weather is to blame for evergreen needles turning brown and seemingly dead.

Wood said there is no remedy for the trouble, but added that further injury may be prevented by shading the south and southwest sides of trees, especially seedlings.

Trees not too severely injured will recover, he believes.

High and Low Blood Pressure Cause Has Been Discovered

Some of the symptoms are: Headaches, Dizziness, Pain in back of the head and neck, irregular heart action, nervousness, and cramping in the legs. (These symptoms are helped and many times entirely relieved by taking one tablet orally before each meal). This is a new discovery and has been successfully used for five years by E. H. Boaz, M. D., Childress, Texas. Have accurate records to prove my discovery and what it has done for hundreds of others. Dr. Boaz will be at the Hilton Hotel, August 1st through August 7th 1948, for examination and treatment of those suffering from High and Low Blood Pressure. Room 200, Mezzanine floor. Adv.

ON CONSERVATION

THE misuse of forests, grasslands, wild life and water sources in the United States is the most violent and the most destructive story in the long history of civilization. Anybody who has traveled through Colorado remembers the signs on several highways that give dates of the burning of nearby forests. We recall one which urged caution with matches since a careless passerby tossed a match set in flame a fire that destroyed acres and acres of wooded beauty.

But fire alone is not the only type of damage. Control of soil erosion will not be won until we have reached the point of protecting our forests so that the annual drain upon them will not exceed their annual growth.

LAND resources in our country show that, other than forests, there are about a billion acres that fall into the three categories of farm croplands, farm pasture land and open range grazing lands. At least one quarter of the billion acres have been ruined or severely impoverished, and the remainder damaged in varying degrees.

In our form of government we have demonstrated that a free people are infinitely more powerful in accomplishing anything than the government-controlled bureaucracies. It seems to us then that we should accept individual responsibility to quickly activate a program to re-forest, reclaim tired land, check erosion and generally become aware that tomorrow's food and living depends on intelligence today.

MOVIE PEEVES

HAVE you a gripe against the movies?

It seems even the most faithful teen-age movie fans manage to find a few things wrong with screendom's offerings.

Here are teen-agers' ten pet movie peeves as revealed in a nation-wide polling of 7,500 youngsters recently completed by a Hollywood studio:

1. Turning a female sad sack into a raving beauty just by yanking off her horn-rimmed glasses.
2. Virile-type heroes who run the emotional gamut by clenching and unclenching their fists.
3. Using near-decrepit men as the grand passion for a sweet young thing.
4. Having every embryo violin genius eke out a living, on the side, as a pugilist.
5. Heroines who emerge from earthquakes, tidal waves and other disasters with wardrobe unruffled, and tresses unmussed.
6. Portraying school youngsters as speaking only jive jargon.
7. Showing every jam session participant as a swooner.
8. Depicting the average co-ed as nursing a secret crush for the football team captain, or the handsome young English teacher.
9. Unseen, 100 piece orchestra which rends the air when a singer, alone in a jungle wilderness, bursts into song.
10. Coey gals who, when their lover boy asks the question, pop their eyes and murmur—"What do YOU think?"

ARE THEY PINTOS?

THIS spring Mrs. Leo Reid, 906 1 Ave. W, planted what she though were pinto beans and which, judging from their appearance, WERE pinto beans. Today the beans have grown into dense, high vines which reach seven feet.

Mrs. Reid said several people who have seen the vines and the beans declare they are not pintos but she still believes they are. Is any other gardener raising bean vines like those and if so, will he help her to identify them?

DESPITE RECORD, OVER 13,000 KILLED IN SIX MONTHS

Nation's Traffic Death Toll Lowest In History, Despite Big Increase In Travel, Survey Shows

CHICAGO, July 29 (INS) — The National Safety Council reported today that the lowest traffic death rate in history is being established in the United States this year.

There were 560 fewer traffic deaths during the first six months of 1948, despite increased travel, than during the same period last year.

The Safety Council said the decrease—4 per cent—was achieved in the face of an 8 per cent increase in mileage.

Sets New Record

The council said this meant there were 7.2 persons killed for each hundred million miles of travel—the lowest mileage death rate ever recorded in the country. The previous low was 8.2 deaths for each hundred million miles in the first five months of 1947.

The Council pointed out, however, that its report is left-handed in its cheerfulness, for 13,690 persons paid with their lives for use of the nation's highways between Jan. 1 and June 30.

Ned H. Dearborn, Council president, said:

"No one can shrug off this toll as a reasonable price to pay for modern travel."

June Totals Similar

June traffic deaths totaled 2,420, the same as last year.

There were substantial differences in the death records of six regions although there was no change from last year in the national total for June.

North Atlantic states enjoyed 11 per cent fewer deaths than in June, 1947, and the Pacific states had a reduction of 17 per cent. These records were offset by increases ranging from 5 to 18 per cent in the other regions.

States reporting fewer deaths and the percentages of decrease in the first six months of 1948 than in 1947 included:

North Dakota 46 per cent, and Nebraska, 27.

Two hundred eighty-five cities reported no traffic deaths in June. The largest was Providence, R. I.

Leading Cities Named

One hundred twenty-one cities had no traffic deaths for the first six months of the year.

Leading cities in each population group for the first six months, ranked according to the number of traffic deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles, were:

Over 500,000 population: Milwaukee, Wis., 3; Buffalo, N. Y., 3.1; Detroit, 3.2.

Between 200,000 and 500,000: Providence, R. I., 2.3; Rochester, N. Y., 2.5; Portland, Ore., 2.6.

Between 100,000 and 200,000: Wichita, Kan., 1; New Haven, Conn., 1; Berkeley, Cal., 1.2.

Between 50,000 and 100,000: Decatur, Ill., Durham, N. C., and New Rochelle, N. Y., no deaths.

Between 25,000 and 50,000: Baton Rouge, La., Jackson, Mich., and Pensacola, Fla., no deaths.

Between 10,000 and 25,000: Kalamath Falls, Ore., Salina, Kan., and Holland, Mich., no deaths.

Actress Fined For Drinking At Beach

LOS ANGELES, July 29. (INS)—Actress Gertrude Michael, 37, was fined $25 for being drunk on the beach at Venice after pleading guilty in Municipal court today.

An unidentified man paid the fine and the actress left with him.

Police reported that when they found her intoxicated on the sand she muttered to them:

"Leave me alone. I have no friends. I am all alone and everyone has forgotten me. I want to jump in the ocean."

However, while in jail overnight awaiting her court appearance the stage and screen player denied that she was either drunk or had threatened suicide. She accused police of arresting her because they found a "half pint of whisky with only two drinks gone from it." She declared:

"I was morose for personal reasons. I took a cab to the beach to see the sunset and get some fresh air. I gave the cabbie $20. He went for change—and sent a police car to pick me up.

"I've just made a comeback in pictures the past two years after being with a little theater group in Alabama and other southern states. I've finished a picture with Tyrone Power and Gene Tierney. Now I suppose this will ruin everything."

Fifth Vice President Of Montgomery Ward Resigns

CHICAGO, July 29. (INS)—The fifth vice president to sever connections with Montgomery Ward & Co., this year turned in his resignation today.

He is Robert Smith, who had been with the big Chicago mail order firm for nearly 25 years. He was in charge of finances at the time of his resignation.

Smith is the 31st top official of the company to resign since Sewell L. Avery was named chairman of the board of directors in 1931. The resignation is effective Aug. 1.

Prior to becoming a vice president Smith had been treasurer of the firm and a member of the board.

Associates said he had been unable to agree with Avery on certain policy matters, and as a result, found it "impossible to fill any job with the company adequately."

The firm's president and two New York directors have resigned this year in addition to the five vice presidents.

New Mexico Man Believed Hit And Run Driver Victim

WORLAND, Wyo., July 29 (AP)—Washakie county authorities said today they believe a hit and run driver may have killed Pedro Jaramillo of Bernalillo, N. M.

Jamarillo's body was found lying alongside a pile of telephone poles Monday. He had been missing since Friday.

There were indications Jaramillo had been moved to the pole pile after he was struck and was then left to die, Sheriff John Nicola said. His empty wallet was found nearby.

Flying Whatsit Is 'Bright Idea' Of Alice C. Of C.

ALICE, July 29 (U.P.)—The flying whatsit that hovered over Alice early this week was de-glamorized today when chamber of commerce officials admitted they had outdone themselves in laughing up their sleeves.

The "thing," which observers thought was everything from another saucer to a big, aluminum sphere, turned out to be the reflection of a spotlight.

Geared Up At Night

The whole idea, said chamber of commerce secretary Russell J. Purner, was dreamed up several weeks ago to "announce to the world the most complete industrial site in the United States — right here in Alice."

Working at night so townspeople wouldn't get wise, electricians geared up the giant spotlight atop a water tower in front of the Alice Hotel. Used only in the daytime, it caught dust particles in the thick southwest Texas atmosphere and created a big, shining blob of light.

"Whatsit Causes Flurry"

"We had no idea that it would cause such a flurry," said Purner. "But once the wheels started rolling, we just couldn't back down."

Speculation on the mysterious "sphere" prompted two Houston newspapers to send planes to Alice to get a first-hand glimpse and report to anxiously-waiting readers. Telephone calls poured into the mayor's office and to the chamber of commerce, and Alice residents came out in droves to watch the spectacle, which in two days had shifted from south to north.

"We just felt we had to tell the public the truth," Purner said. "Otherwise, the true purpose of our scheme may never have been known."

Impressive Ceremonies Mark Opening Of Fourteenth Olympiad

Yank Athletes Get Huge Ovation From Britishers

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, England, July 29 (AP)—King George VI of England opened the Olympic games today in a majestic and inspiring spectacle at this stadium where for the next fortnight the athletic youth of the world will compete for glory.

For 50 minutes the slender monarch stood at almost constant salute while 6,000 representatives of 58 nations streamed past the royal box in the colorful Olympic parade and 75,000 spectators sweltered in a burning sun.

Then as the vast stadium became hushed, the king, his queen standing beside him, uttered the traditional words:

"I proclaim open the Olympic games of London celebrating the 14th Olympiad of the modern era."

Seven thousand pigeons were released to whir aloft, cannon outside the arena thundered a 21-gun salute, and through the east portal raced a tall blond athlete carrying the Olympic flame which had been kindled 12 days before in the village of Olympia in Greece.

Olympic Runner Arrives

The last of the hundreds of runners who had born it 3,000 miles across Europe circled the red track once, then mounted a platform at the stadium's east end and dipped the flame into the Olympic peristyle. The crowd loosed a mighty cheer as a yellow flame leaped up, to burn steadily through the 16 days of the games.

A choir of 12,000 voices sang Handel's beautiful "Hallelujah" chorus, accompanied by a massed band of guardsmen. The athletes who had stood in ranks on the green infield through the ceremony paraded back out of the stadium to scatter to their distant quarters and await the start of competition tomorrow.

If the weather remains as it was today—89 degrees at mid-afternoon—it will be one of the hottest Olympics ever.

Runners Excused

Most of the athletes who will participate in the games stood and marched long hours despite the sun, but the 100-yard dash men who will try to qualify in tomorrow's opening heats of that event were excused. The only sport scheduled to begin tonight was water polo in the Wembley pool.

Shortly before the opening ceremonies began, coach Dean Cromwell of the American track and field forces loosed a statement as scorching as the weather. He denied bitingly a published report—not carried by the Associated Press—that there was dissension among the American sprinters because he had spent more time training Mel Patton, one of his own University of Southern California stars, than he had on Barney Ewell and Harrison Dillard.

He called the report "utterly ridiculous," and said his critics had "gone a long way to dig up dirt."

He added that no coach on earth could have been more careful than we have to get away from discrimination."

Yanks Receive Great Ovation

No visiting team in the opening parade received a greater hand than the big American delegation which, because of its alphabetical rating, was near the end of the marching order. Long before the Americans reached the saluting point before the king, the crowd was standing and cheering them on.

It was disclosed after the ceremonies that the "perfect English athlete" who had carried the torch into the stadium was John Mark, a former all-around athlete at Cambridge university. His identity had been a carefully hidden secret. He did the job well.

Hurdlers In Opener

The first event in the stadium will begin at 10 a. m. GMT (4 A. M. CST) tomorrow, when the high jumpers are scheduled to start their qualifying tests. This is one of the field events that America is expected to dominate, as it did at Berlin.

A full program is scheduled for the afternoon, beginning with the first qualifying rounds of the 400-meter hurdles at 2:30 and closing with the 10,000-meter championship.

In between there will be two qualifying rounds of the 100-meter dash, which promises as always to supply some of the major thrills of the Olympics. The field of sprinters will be reduced to where the semi-finals and finals can be run off on Saturday.

There will also be the first round in the 800-meter run, and the high jump will be decided. The women will settle their championship in the discus throw, and the 400-meter hurdles will be reduced to the field of finalists. It promises to be a busy opening day.

In adjacent Wembley pool, the swimmers and divers also will begin their battling. The men will open competition in springboard diving and in the 100 meters. Finals in the 100 are scheduled Saturday. The women will begin qualifying in the 200-meter breast stroke and in the 100 meter freestyle. The swimmers, using an indoor pool, will have an evening session.

Elsewhere, scattered around London, the basketball players, fencing stars and wrestlers are set to begin their endeavors tomorrow.

Legion 'B' Drops Muleshoe, 9 To 8

MULESHOE, July 29. (Spl)—Lubbock's scrappy American Legion "B" team rallied to push one run across in the top of the sixth and nose out the Muleshoe squad, 9-8, here this afternoon.

The Muleshoe nine collected two runs off David Clark, starting Lubbock twirler, then added four while youthful Bennie Day was on the mound. But dependable Mack Taylor took over in the fifth frame and blanked the home nine for the final two stanzas.

Lubbock whittled at the Muleshoe lead with a three-run triple by Billy Presley in the second inning, then deadlocked the count in the fourth The single tally in the sixth provided the margin of victory for the Hub city team.

The Lubbock Legion "B" squad will close the 1948 schedule at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, when the Brownfield nine invades the Chapman field diamond in the final setto for both teams.

Garland Head, Lubbock mentor, announced that Morris (Moe) Turner will start on the mound for Lubbock.

Upsets Are Scored In Wichita Net Tourney

WICHITA FALLS, July 29 (Special)—Fred Reed of Fort Worth threw a scare into seeded players in the annual Northwest Texas Open tennis tournament here today by stroking out a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Jake Broyles, Texas Tech star, during first round play.

Broyles' running mate, Glenn Ivy, also took the count in a marathon match with James A. Schultz of Commerce, runner-up in last year's tourney here, the latter winning 6-2, 3-6, 6-3. The men's division turned up a big and rugged field.

Ivy and Broyles remained prominent in the doubles bracket, however, with a 7-5, 6-2 victory over J. C. Murrin of Dallas and David Bryant of Sherman.

Joe Wheatley of Texas Tech took a first round singles match victory over Jack Long of Dallas, 6-2, 6-8 and 6-4.

Eddie Scudday and David Hester of Lubbock were eliminated in the doubles division by Oklahoma city champion Bill Brown and Frank Jones, former Southern Methodist university star.

Mills Gives Up Only Four Hits

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

A triple play by the Amarillo Gold Sox, the first in Rosenthal Field this year, wasn't enough to stop the Hubbers from pounding out a 12-6 victory last night behing the brilliant two-hit relief hurling of Royce Mills.

With Mills giving up only on infield single in the seventh and a double in the eighth, the Hubbers didn't have much trouble walloping Buck Fausett's Gold Hose. And for once the local club came from behind to win, countering a six-run second inning for Amarillo with a six-run rally of their own. After that they poured it on.

Second Triple of Year

The triple play, coming in the sixth inning, was the second of the year in the WT-NM League. Floyd Walker was on second and Don Moore was on first with no one out, when Chick Fowler came upto bat. He attempted to sacrifice, but Paul Halter, who had gone to the mound in the fifth, made a diving catch of the ball. Neither runner realized he had caught the ball and started to advance. Halter fired the ball to first to double up Moore and the initial sacker threw to second to catch Walker.

The Hubbers said it with home runs last night, much to the joy of 1,907 fans in the stands. Jackie Wilcox led off the third with a double and Gene Hixson hit a nothing-one pitch over the left-field fence. Jackie Sullivan doubled and Virgil Richardson was walked, Sullivan scoring on Walker's single. Moore then pumped a one-nothing pitch to the same spot for a three-run homer. That sent the Hubbers ahead 7-6 and they never gave up their lead.

Sullivan walked in the fourth, after Hixson popped out and Richardson doubled to left. Both runners came in on Walker's single to right and, after Moore grounded out, Fowler hit a two-nothing pitch over the leftfield fence.

Mills ended the scoring in the fifth when he hit a nothing-two pitch over the leftfield netting for his first homer of the year. In addition to his homer Mills hurled superlative ball and climaxed his performance with two whiff jobs on Bob Crues, hitless last night. Only one man reached third base off him and the same runner was one of three to reach second.

Tonight the Hubbers play host to the Abilene Blue Sox, with Lefty Fred Pollack going to the mound for the home team.

Loboes Take Third From Gassers, 10-5

LAMESA, July 29 (Special)—Lamesa's Loboes made it three in a row over the Borger Gassers here tonight, pounding out a 10-5 victory behind the seven-hit hurling of Lefty Bill Jones.

I. B. Palmer, Lamesa third-sacker, slammed a three-run homer in the first inning to give the Loboes a lead they never gave up, although the visitors bunched three safeties in the eighth stanza to push across three tallies.

The victory was the fourth of the year for Jones, Lamesa ace of the 1947 season who has been hampered recently by a sore arm. Jones scattered seven hits and was never in trouble.

Baldridge, Ragsdale Schedule Twin Bill

Next To Final TSL Tilts Set Saturday

The next to final Texas Softball League doubleheader in Lubbock will be played at Jumbo Webster Field Saturday night, with the strong Baldridge Bakery nine meeting Ragsdale of San Angelo here.

Curley Hayes probably will be on the mound for the visitors in the first game, which starts at 8:30 p.m., with one of three Baldridge hurlers available for action. Loy Hubbard, the dependable ace, probably will get the starting nod.

In the second game, Ragsdale is expected to throw Bert Hester, one of the league's top pitchers, against either Bill Kizer of Amarillo or Wayne Ward of Dallas for the home nine.

Both games loom as pitcher's battles, with four of the top hurlers in the loop going into action. Ragsdale and Baldridge each have a chance to get into the Shaughnessy playoffs and the games will be bitterly fought.

Baldridge currently is tied for second place in the league and Ragsdale is fourth, the lowest possible place they can finish to be in the playoffs. If the San Angelo nine should sweep both games, they might assure themselves of a first division berth, while a double loss for Baldridge wouldn't knock the bakers out of the first four.

On the other hand, Baldridge wants the prestige attached to finishing second in the loop race that already has seen the Lubbock Sunbeamers clinch first place, win, lose or draw.

Hayes, who probably will see action on the mound for San Angelo in the first game, is the only lefthanded hurler in the loop. He is rated close behind Jackie Neel of Lubbock as one of the best softball pitchers in the state.

The Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the games, assures fans that they will see two of the fastest games that have been played here this year.

Frost, Clarke Pace Court Play

—Two unseeded players, Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., and Wally Clarke, San Francisco, paid no heed to form again today as they won their semi-finals doubles match in the Western Junior and Boys' tennis tournament at Notre Dame.

Frost and Clarke defeated second-seeded Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Bill Quillian, Seattle, in the boys' division, 6-4, 6-1.

Yesterday the same unseeded pair beat third-seeded Charles Reiger, Germantown, Pa., and Ed Dailey, Harrisburg, Pa., 6-3, 6-3.

In the other boys' semi-finals match today, top-seeded Bob Perry, West Los Angeles, and Allen Cleveland, Santa Monica, Cal., encountered some trouble in turning back Tim Cross, Washington, D. C., and Ted Rogers, Chevy Chase, Md., 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

First-seeded Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, and George Gentry, La Jolla, Cal., won in straight sets in their semi-final junior doubles contest with Gerry Thomas, Chevy Chase, Md., and Ray De Berry, San Angelo, Tex., 6-3, 6-3.

Jerry DeWitts, Vallejo, Calif., and Ernest Du Bray, San Francisco, second-seeded, whipped Don Kaiser and Don Ewald, Louisville, Ky., 6-3, 6-3.

Tom Boys and Bill Long, fourth-seeded New York City juniors, won from Steve Bromberg and Ted Jax, Detroit, 6-4, 6-2.

Gilbert Bogley and Jack Yates, Chevy Chase, Md., defeated Keith Self, La Mesa, Calif., and Charles Hickox, Berkeley, Calif., 6-4, 6-1, in the junior quarter-final match.

OKLAHOMA CITY WINS

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 29. (AP)—Oklahoma City hit two relief pitchers for four runs in the eighth inning to take an 8-3 victory over Beaumont in the Texas League here tonight.

Glen Garden Tourney Open

FORT WORTH, July 29. (AP)—J. H. (Doc) Brinkley of the host club defied a brisk breeze that sent scores soaring to take the lead today over the first 18 holes of the 19th Glen Garden Invitation. He fired 34-34-68, three under par.

The round gave him a three stroke lead on the field. At 71, even par, were the veteran Reynolds Smith of Dallas, T. A. Avarello and Homer Chokas of Fort Worth.

Dic Martin of Dallas, medalist Wednesday with a 65, took a 72. Today Gene Towry of the North Texas State team made a fine recovery on the back nine for a 73.

Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, last year's runnerup, soared to a 79 and L. M Crannel Jr., state junior champion, took 76.

Cochell Upsets Likas In Seabright Tennis Tourney

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 29 (INS)—One upset followed another in the Seabright Tennis tournament today when Earl Cochell of San Francisco beat Harry Likas of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-3, in the quarter finals.

Likas yesterday eliminated Bob Falkenburg of Beverly Hills, Calif., current Wimbledon title holder.

Cochell displayed a blistering service and aggressive net game that literally blasted Likas from the courts.

Gardnar Mulloy, seeded second, played one of the most gruelling matches of the tourney when he was extended to 48 games before stopping E. Victor Seixas of Philadelphia, 13-11, 13-11.

Top-seeded Frank Parker of Los Angeles, also encountered some difficulty in ousting Tom Brown of San Francisco, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5. Billy Talbert of New York, seeded third, disposed of Edward Moylan of San Francisco, 7-5, 6-2.

McGOWAN TO RESUME DUTIES

CHICAGO, July 29 (INS)—Bill McGowan, veteran American league umpire, will resume his duties in Chicago tomorrow after being suspended for 10 days by league president Will Harridge for a verbal row with Washington players.

Coaching School Slate Completed

ABILENE, July 29 (AP)—Officials of the Texas High School Coaches association will begin arriving tomorrow to set up shop for the annual Texas coaching school due to attract 1,000 mentors from southwestern states.

L. W. McConachie, executive secretary of the association, already is here and reported reservations have been made for some 750 coaches and estimated that there would be 250 more here when registration begins Sunday. Gene McCollum of Port Neches, association president, also is already in Abilene.

The board of directors of the association will hold a meeting at 4 p. m. Saturday to plan the school which will have Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech and Matty Bell of Southern Methodist as head instructors in football.

The so-called minor sports—basketball and track—also will be included in the school's curriculum. Bobby Cannon, athletic director of Edinburg Junior college and former professional baseball player, will conduct demonstration classes in this sport. Clyde Littlefield, for 28 years track coach at the University of Texas, will lecture on the cinder path sport.

Eddie Wopecki, nationally known trainer from Rice Institute, will conduct classes in the care and treatment of injuries.

High school All-Star football and basketball squads will arrive Sunday to begin training for their games—the basketball contest Thursday night and the football game Friday night.

Cage League Seeks Unsigned Players

ANDERSON, Ind., July 29 (INS)—Ike W. Duffy, president of the National Basketball League, sent telegrams to all club owners in the league today authorizing them to offer contracts to unsigned players in the rival Basketball Association of America.

Duffy said he made the move when "the press brought to my attention" the fact that the BAA's Indianapolis team recently signed Charles Black, of the NBL Anderson team.

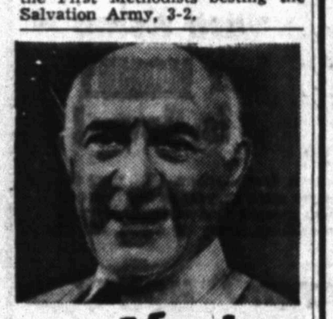

The NBL president's telegram said he conferred with BAA president Maurice Podoloff Tuesday but that the conference broke up without the two leagues agreeing on territorial rights question.

GOLF ENTRIES CLOSE AUG. 2

NEW YORK, July 29 (INS)—Entries for the U. S. Amateur golf championship will close Aug. 2, the U. S. G. A. announced today. There have been 626 entries to date but the U. S. G. A. expects about twice that number. Qualifying rounds will be held in 34 cities. They will be played everywhere Aug. 8 except in Denver where the qualifiers will play Aug. 17.

White Sox Defeat Yankee Nine, 19-14

Gene Bittick's home run in the seventh inning, followed by George Nelson's two singles gave the Pee Wee League White Sox a 19 to 14 margin over the Yankees at the Lubbock Boys Club and the Junior loop's up and coming Exchange Club nine blanked Methodist Men, 19 to 0 in a second affair at the Boys Club.

Ronald Hall gained credit for the White Sox victory, while Bittick's homer and two singles in five led the winner's attack.

Almost everyone on the Exchange Club nine batted in a homer or aided a fellow player to gain the home plate. Winning pitcher Charles Brewer batted in two homers and Ray McLarty, Melvin Kaylor and Johnny Carpenter got one each. Brewer allowed the Methodists only one hit.

Tomorrow, the Red Sox will tangle with the Dodgers in the Pee Wee League game, and the ABC's will meet the Jaycee nine in the Junior loop.

Heafner Leading In Western Open

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 29 (AP)—Clayton Heafner, husky professional from Charlotte, N. C., set the pace today in the opening round of the 45th Western Open golf championship.

Heafner fashioned a scintillating 34-32—66, six under par, over Brookfield country club's well-trapped and heavily treed terrain to take a one-stroke edge over Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., in the first 18-hole stretch of the 72-hole four-day medal play test.

Six birdies adorned the big southerner's card and he played the other 2 holes in par as he wheeled away in front, in quest of the $2,500 first prize in the $15,000 event.

Hogan, the year's leading money winner, and holder the National Open and PGA crowns, also had six birdies but lost the chance to deadlock for the lead by three-putting the 225-yard par three 15th hole.

George Smith, forty-two-year old Buffalo pro, was all alone in the third spot with a 33-35—68 over the par 72 course, which meanders 6,663 yards over rugged ground.

Cary Middlecoff, the touring dentist from Memphis, also had a 68 wrapped up according to the official scorer, but he called a penalty stroke on himself on the 17th hole, where he said his ball budged as he moved a cigaret paper from near it. He wound up with 35-34—69.

That moved him into a tie with six others in the three under par spot. Paired with him there were Bill Nary of Phoenix, Ariz.; bespectacled "Skip" Alexander of Lexington, N. C.; S. A. Straszowski of Winstead, Conn.; Michael Parco, the driving range operator from Kenomore, N. Y.; flashily-dressed Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Clif., and Ed (Porky) Oliver, the pudgy shotmaker from Seattle, Wash.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Indications are that the nation's duck hunters will get a better break next season than they did during the last hunting period, according to the latest bulletin issued by the Ducks Unlimited organization. There is reportedly a good chance for a five ducks a day bag limit, with a 10-duck possession limit and a 35-day "straight through" season instead of the "split season" that caused so much confusion and difficulty last year. That is certain to be good news for long-suffering hunters, who have had to put up with the worst of weather conditions, scarce supplies of arms and ammunition and travel long distances in order to kill "just enough ducks to make you want more," as some of the nimrods sadly report.

Of course, no one wants the regulations so lax that the duck population will be threatened. Hunters know, better than anyone else, that their success 10 years from now will depend on the conservation measures now in progress. But hunters do want to be allowed to shoot up to the limit of the figure estimated by reliable officials to be a "safe" number.

Here are a few selections from the Ducks Unlimited bulletin:

"The 1948 wild duck hatch in western Canada continues favorable, water conditions are holding up advantageously, and with minor local exceptions, drouth losses this year will not be serious. That is the latest consensus of observers in the waterfowl breeding situation in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, where most of North America's waterfowl breed.

"A conservative estimate is that indications now point to an average, normal hatch, with more birds in many important breeding areas than a year ago.

"Alarmist reports from small local regions should be discounted, Canadian observers for Ducks Unlimited assert. There are no great areas deficient in surface waters. An increased breeding stock on the southern prairies of Alberta and Saskatchewan is more widely dispersed than in 1947.

"The predator crow population is definitely down in all three provinces and losses from this source have been correspondingly reduced . . . A check shows that conditions are generally good and prospects bright. Well, how about it you hunters? Better stock up on ammunition if you can find it, because lead is scarce and may soon be practically unavailable.

Here are a few additions to the department of "what are they doing now?" Carl (Buddy) Russ, Rice's all-Southwest conference fullback who failed to pass his scholastic work, is playing softball in Fort Worth. Choc Hutcheson, former Avalanche-Journal sports scribe, is working with an oil company in the "four corners" country of New Mexico and Colorado. He will go to Northwestern this fall for some post-graduate work in journalism. John Anderson, who used to cover summer softball for the sports department, is now a staffer on the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

Death Claims Shooting Victim

Roy L. (Ray) Bowles, 37, of Idalou highway, who was shot and critically wounded about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, died at 7:54 o'clock last night in St. Mary's hospital, just slightly over 24 hours after the shooting.

The district attorney's office indicated last night that an assault with intent to murder charge filed late Wednesday against Mrs. Nettie Bowles, 38, the victim's divorced wife, would be superceded this morning by a charge of murder. Mrs. Bowles had posted $1,500 bond at 12:15 a.m. Thursday on the former charge.

Rix Funeral home, where Bowles' body was taken, said last night that no relatives had been found as yet for the dead man, and that funeral arrangements could not be made sooner than today.

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin, who questioned Bowles Thursday morning at the hospital, said that the wounded man declined to make any statement that would incriminate his assailant.

A wave of thefts and burglaries from private residences Thursday produced a total reported loss of more than $150, police reports indicated.

Mrs. Octa Borden of 1918 Ave. P said that someone had entered her apartment and taken a piggy bank from a front room into a dining room, and there broke it and removed about $20 or $30.

Cleo Eudy, of 1318 Ave. M, said $80 was taken when a billfold was stolen from that address.

Went Into Bedroom

N. H. Waldrop, of 2218 Ninth, said someone pushed a screen loose, unlocked a door, went into his bedroom where he was sleeping, took his trousers into the living room and removed $49 from them.

At 2014 Ninth, R. C. Smith reported two purses taken from a table in the living room, where a girl was sleeping. The purses later were found in an old truck bed, at rear of the address, but the money and personal effects were missing.

Held In California

The sheriff's department said F. D. Shipp, charged in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, with forgery by false endorsement, had been arrested at Susanville, Calif.

Sheriff Olin S. Johnson of Susanville telegraphed Sheriff Grady Harrist Thursday afternoon that Shipp had signed a waiver of extradition. The defendant will be returned to Lubbock within a week, officials here said.

Shipp is accused of having endorsed the name James Dietrich to a $49.01 check issued by Lamb's, Inc., a dairy company here, to Dietrich. He also is accused of having passed it on June 16 to Ameen and McCreary Supply Co. here.

The arrest was made on information from the sheriff's department here.

County court officials said Lawrence Bunton, 21, a negro, was fined $25 and costs for aggravated assault on May Frances Anderson, 24, a negro woman.

Elmer Payne of Myrtle drive said his bike had been stolen.

Hubert Wilhite of 1106 Thirty-sixth complained that a license tag had been stolen from his car.

A county court judgment was filed, assessing a fine of $50 and costs against Dewey Calhoun, 48, of Lubbock, on a charge of drunk driving.

County court officials said Walter M. Welch, 23, had been fined $100 and costs for aggravated assault, and that D. E. Bradshaw had paid a fine of $1 and costs on a check violation complaint.

Three men, two of them 18 and the other about 17, are wanted in Floydada on a warrant charging rape, the sheriff's office there informed local officers.

Harry R. Reger, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crain, 2124 Twenty-seventh, Thursday was commissioned a second lieutenant of the Armored Cavalry in the Officers' Reserve Corps at Camp Hood, Texas. Reger has been attending the ROTC Summer training camp at Camp Hood, which ends Saturday. He is a student at Texas A. & M. college.

Ellen Pharr, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Pharr of 2802 Twenty-seventh, who underwent an appendectomy Monday afternoon at West Texas hospital, returned home Thursday. Her parents reported last night that the child was doing very well, and that she was able to leave her bed and walk around the house.

Condition of two and a half-year-old G. T. Mason, jr., Garza county's first 1948 polio victim, was reported in satisfactory condition at Lubbock Memorial hospital last night. The infant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Mason of the Graham community, near Post, has suffered a partial paralysis of both legs, but there has been little additional involvement in the case this week, hospital authorities said. Improvement chances were said to be good. He entered the hospital July 18.

a popular vote would be legal "instead of making statements."

Morrow Backs Referendum

Bradley said there was nothing unique about a referendum, that the state had one once on prohibition.

At the state meeting the "state rights" faction will make an effort to declare Thurmond and Wright the Democratic nominees for president and vice-president instead of Truman and Barkley, if that happened, and it were upheld in the courts, any Texan voting the straight Democratic ticket would be casting a vote against Truman.

Morrow said at Houston that he was "not impressed by the argument that it would be illegal" to conduct a referendum.

"An expression by the people would help us at the coming state convention to follow the popular will.

Morrow said he had not consulted the Dixiecrat leaders and "had declined to do so."

Both Morrow and Calvert quoted the law in their opposing arguments. Both are attorneys.

Morrow said he would stay in the Democratic party, regardless of what the September convention does.

"I do not favor a fourth party," he said. "I believe we should work this thing out within the Texas Democratic party."

The youths expressed profound disregard for law and agencies of it. They talked of how they had stolen cars—"from a model T on up"—and knocked the knob off at least one safe.

Schultz is on probation of sentence for armed robbery, and Pringle had been attempting to procure a gun, officials learned.

Two other federal prisoners, under Dyer act charge in Cheyenne, Wyo., will be removed to the federal district of Wyoming for trial, Mrs. Fluke said. They are Reuben Jacob Fair, 18, of Sudan and Farrell Turbeville, 18, of Citra, Fla. They, confessed deserters from the Army, are charged with driving a stolen 1948 light sedan from Cheyenne to Morton.

Schultz, Pringle and Hayes probably will be tried here.

Bevin replied that the ban on demobilization was under review and "must be determined in a few days."

"It may be we shall have so to determine it," he added.

Britain had 940,000 men under arms on March 3. The schedule called for these to be reduced to 716,000 by March 31, 1949. Presumably she has about 860,000 armed men this month.

Four 4-H Club Livestock Judging Teams Are Selected At Tech To Enter Contests At A&M

Four livestock judging teams from 4-H clubs in the Panhandle-Plains and Wichita-Vernon areas were chosen Thursday afternoon at the Texas Technological college judging pavilion to represent extension districts 1, 2, and 3 in the state livestock pudging contest Aug. 16 at Texas A. and M. college.

Eleven four-man teams entered in the elimination contest: six from district 2, Lubbock; four from district 3, Wichita-Vernon; and one team from District 1, Amarillo. One team each was chosen to represent districts 1 and 2, and two teams were chosen to represent district 3.

Two classes each of horses, beef cattle, sheep and hogs were arranged in groups of four, and lettered A, B, C, and D. Each member of all teams examined the separate classings and placed each animal in chronological order according to universally accepted score cards, at the same time taking notes and formulating in their minds reasons for placing A over B or B over A, whichever the case demanded. When all contestants had placed the animals in the order they thought correct, they appeared individually before a group of judges, who scored each boy according to the correctness of his placings and his ability to give a convincing set of oral reasons. On this basis the four-man teams were picked as the best qualified to represent the areas in the state contest Aug. 16.

In addition to winning teams, ten high-ponit men were chosen from the contest; irrespective of teams. They are: Max Pearson, of Ochiltree county, first; Myron McCarter, of Ochiltree county, second; C. W. Perser, of Lubbock county, third; Kenneth Ackers, of Castro county, fourth: Melvin Bradley, of Swisher county, Bob Pohlman, of Wichita county, and Gary Conley, of Ochiltree county, tie for fifth; Jack Harris, Hale county, eighth; Walt Rogers, Lubbock county ninth; and John Bridges, of Castro county, tenth.

Members of the winning team from district 1, all from Ochiltree county, are: Max Pearson, Dickie Hall, Gary Conley, Cecil Regier and Myron McCartor. Hood Wells, assistant county agent of Ochiltree county is their coach.

The team picked from district 2 consists of: C. W. Perser, Wayne Hackney, Robert Gentry, and Walt Rogers, all of Lubbock county. Assistant County Agent of Lubbock county Lee Roy Colgan coached the team.

Two teams were picked from district 3, one which was coached by William C. Pallmeyer, assistant county agent of Hall county, and one from Wichita county, coached by L. C. Herron, assistant county agent in that county. Pallmeyer's team consists of: Jack Fowler, Don Hancock, Archie Martin and John Luther Byars. Herron's team includes Ray Broseh, Bob Downing, Bob Pohlman ad Kenneth Broseh.

quired to effectuate any necessary changes without impairing efficiency or morale."

(Bradley said at Ft. Knox, Ky., Tuesday, that "the Army is not out to make any social reforms. The Army will put men of different races in different companies. It will change that policy when the nation as a whole changes it.")

Senate Stands Before Country

Neither Bradley nor the Army department had any comment on today's statement by President Truman on segregation.

A reporter inquired of the President:

"Do you think that the Senate has acted in good faith in starting its work on the civil rights controversy?"

Mr. Truman replied first that he had no comment. Then added that the Senate stands before the country just the same as he does. The senators, he went on, will have to take the consequences of their actions.

The Senate has taken up the anti-poll tax bill, with the likelihood it will be some time, if ever, before it gets around to any other legislation.

A reporter asked Mr. Truman if he would have any preference for a constitutional amendment, rather than a bill, to handle the poll tax issue.

That is a matter that the Senate will have to act on, and the House, he replied.

or family will be limited to 48 hours. It will be free of charge for them. A nearby park will provide recreational facilities for children.

The project, according to the plan, will be administered by the City-County Welfare association. The building will include a small apartment to be occupied, rent free by a Spanish speaking couple who will be employed as caretakers.

As pointed out by Smith and Halsey, one of the great needs of the thousands of Mexican cotton pickers who visit and trade in Lubbock each autumn has been the lack of a place where they might rest, gossip and deal wth prospective employers. About all they could do has been to loaf or wander around the streets.

The result has been a growing resentment among many of them which might cost Lubbock many thousands of dollars of their business, make pickers unavailable when needed and the creation of a sanitation hazard for the community.

Application Referred

Members of the committee agreed that these objections will be corrected by the camp which will be assured by a matching appropriation from the county commission.

Other business transacted at the meeting was routine.

The commision referred back to the city board of adjustment for reconsideration the application of H. L. Stovall for permission to enlarge his grocery store at Fifteenth and Avenue W. The board refused the application previously. Stovall then asked the city planning commission to change the zoning of that area so as to permit him to expand. The planning group refused that request.

City hall observers saw a possibility of fireworks when, and if, word is delivered to the adjustment board — as City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., was directed to do—as to how "we (the city commission) feel about the Stovall application." Commissioners E. K. Hufstedler and Clarence Whiteside were outspokenly of the opinion it should be granted.

City Drops From Suit

The city commission also decided not to continue further as a litigant in a suit by Alton J. Ammons and other property owners in South Lubbock to forbid the Fort Worth and Denver railway from laying a switch track along Avenue L from Thirtieth to Thirty-fourth street.

The property owners won the suit in district court. The railroad has appealed to the court of civil appeals at Amarillo. The city appeared as an intervenor in the district court trial at the request of the planning commission, which contended the railroad had no right to lay the switch in the residence-apartment house zone designated for that portion of the city. It is speculative as to how the planning commission may feel about the city dropping out of this court fight.

The commission took under consideration for study an ordinance which would forbid construction of any electrically charged fences.

Parking meters were ordered installed between Thirteenth and Fourteenth street on the east side of Avenue H.

The commission voted an emphatic "no" to the request of the U. S. army engineering corps that the city donate the more than 1,500 acres comprising Lubbock Army Air field to the government.

Opening of bids on six blocks of paving in the vicinity of Thirty-fourth street and Avenue U was postponed until the regular meeting Aug. 12. Bids on 65 blocks of paving are scheduled for opening then. Members of the commission believed it would be to the best interest of the city to open all at the same time.

An inquiry as to extending the city limits about three-quarters of a mile southward between Avenues A and H to Forty-second street brought the suggestion that petitions should be circulated among the residents there. The petitions should set out clearly, members of the commission said, that the commission can make no commitments as to when water, sewage and other utilities can be provided if the area is taken into the city.

Present at the meeting were Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioners W. B. Price, Hufstedler and Whiteside. Commissioner John Spikes was out of the city.

Smith Protests Jester's Stand

A vigorous protest to Gov. Beauford Jester regarding the governor's stand on a Texas referendum on President Truman's civil rights program was mailed Thursday by former Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith, Lubbock attorney.

The governor is opposing a proposed special referendum to determine the popular viewpoint as to whether to remain intact with the Democratic party as it exists today.

Letter Made Public

Smith served as state senator from the Throckmorton district from 1938 to 1942 and as lieutenant governor from 1942 to 1946. He lived in Throckmorton 50 years before moving to Lubbock June 1, 1947. He was named permanent chairman of the state Democratic convention in 1940.

Smith made public a copy of the letter, as follows:

"Dear Governor:

"Your opposition to a referendum by the rank and file of the Democratic party in Texas on whether or not the Democrats of this state will support Truman and his program for a police state in the South is astounding. Such a position is the very antithesis of Democracy and the ancient traditions of our party. Thomas Jefferson said: 'The people have a right to decide every issue affecting their welfare, and he who seeks to defeat this right is afraid of the people.' (See Writings of Jefferson.)

"The policy you blindly follow was forced on the Democrats of this state by a mere handful of party parasites at the Brownwood convention, and yet you declare that the rank and file of the party must abjectly bow to the dictum of a crew of time-serving self-seeking politicians; and that they cannot and must not disturb the edict delivered at Brownwood.

Have Right To Say

"Certainly, your Excellency, the ordinary Democrats of Texas have a right to have a say on this, the most momentous issue that has confronted us since the Civil War. Your attempted denial to them of this right is not only arbitrary but it is foreign to every true concept of the Democratic party.

"The Democratic party was the pioneer in establishing the referendum in our governmental processes. Three times—in 1896, in 1900, and in 1908 the national platform of the party proclaimed the principle of popular referendum. Under its leadership 27 states adopted laws requiring a popular referendum on important issues. One of these states was Texas and yet you, claiming to speak as a leader of the Democratic party in Texas, now deny that right and by implication endorse the foul statement of the late Dictator Mussolini when he said: 'Damn the people—they haven't got enough sense to know an issue when they see it!'

"Your reference to an 'attempt to sabotage the party' comes with bad grace in view of the action of the Philadelphia convention in repudiating state's rights, ignoring the tidelands issue, and brazenly advocating the return of re-construction to the Southern states. If ever in history a convention was taken over by saboteurs it was the Philadelphia convention, whose nominees and platform you now propose to force down the throats of Texas Democrats. And you add insult to injury by saying in effect: 'You must accept this for me and my crowd have endorsed it. We endorse it by pledging to vote for it. Your judgment in the matter is of no consequence.'

"Surely a million Texas Democrats have a right to say whether or not they are to be delivered into the custody of the corrupt Big City Bosses and the radical minority of the East who hate the South.

"My Dear Beauford, this question is bigger than you. It involves the very essence of democracy. Follow the traditions of Jefferson, Jackson, Bryan and Wilson who never hesitated to trust the people. Walk not in the path of those who, with every dictator that has cursed the earth cry: 'To hell with the people. My will, not theirs, shall be done.'

"Very truly yours,
"John Lee Smith."

HST Asks Power To Slash Prices

Eccles said, the Federal Reserve system is "the greatest agent of inflation that man can contrive . . . unless we get further power to curb bank credit expansion, or unless we permit the government bond market to seek its own level."

Senator Barkley (D-Ky), Democratic vice presidential candidate, introduced the price control bill in the Senate. But the senators were busy on something else—listening to the start of the Dixie effort to talk the anti-poll tax bill to death.

Senator Stennis (D-Miss) led off what may become days or weeks of delaying tactics by Dixie senators rebelling against this and other aspects of President Truman's civil rights program—the program that has split the Democratic party.

Anti-Poll Tax Bill Pushed

Stennis questioned whether Congress has the right, under the constitution, to pass a law outlawing the poll tax requirement for voting in federal elections. And he declared further:

"This bill was not brought here in a serious vein until high political integrity had been replaced by low political expediency."

Some Democrats have charged that the Republicans introduced the bill in order to tie up the Senate with speech after speech and thus prevent any legislation from being passed at the special session called by the President. The President also has been accused of proposing civil rights legislation for political reasons in the first place.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb) moving that the Senate consider the bill, said the Republicans were acting in a "hopeful spirit." Taft and other GOP leaders have said they really mean to get the bill passed by choking off the filibuster, if they can, some time next week.

The door was still open for a compromise. The southerners say they'll call off the filibuster if the Republicans will withdraw the bill and replace it by a constitutional amendment, which then would be subject to ratification by 36 states.

The Dixie grievance is that state and local elections shouldn't be subject to control by Congress.

basket committee" to "dig into the causes of inflation and come up with solutions."

He proposed the committee be composed of such men as Cordell Hull, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Bernard Baruch, so it would have no partisan label.

"It would not try to fix blame on Republicans or Democrats," Johnson said. "It would not try to elect or defeat any candidate."

After his conference with Forrestal, Johnson told reporters the points discussed, and the situation regarding each, were:

Air Problems Discussed

1. Progress is being made in the changeover from the manufacture of the huge B-36 bomber at Fort Worth to the new six-engine jet Northrop flying-wing bomber designated as a B-49.

About 11,000 persons now are employed at the Consolidated plant, and probably about 2,000 to 3,000 more will be employed in the next eight months.

2. Forrestal told him, Johnson said, that he would like to see legislation passed as promptly as possible to establish a West Point of the air. A bill by Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) is pending which would establish such a school at Randolph Field, San Antonio.

3. On the question of moving industrial plants to Texas in keeping with the recommendation of the National Security Resources board, to minimize losses from atomic warfare, Forrestal promised him a report later.

Oil Group Urged

4. Forrestal expressed keen interest in the establishment of a national petroleum advisory committee as recommended by him, Johnson said, and agreed to discuss the matter later with President Truman.

Stevenson's appointment at the State department was with Assistant Secretary Robert A. Lovett, a native of Huntsville, Texas, who is a top administrator of the Marshall plan.

One of Johnson's criticisms of Stevenson has been that the former governor was not a staunch supporter of the Marshall plan.

Stevenson told reporters he supported the Marshall plan, then added that he wanted to be sure that none of the money appropriated was sent to countries dominated by Russia.

The former governor steadfastly declined comment on his talk with Lovett. He did say he does "feel better informed now" on the international situation.

He also refused attempts by some reporters to draw him out on his attitude toward the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Military Fuel Needs Growing

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—The armed services called upon the oil industry today to meet increasing military fuel needs fully and promptly.

Rear Admiral E. D. Foster, director of the armed service petroleum purchasing agency, told the National Petroleum council the situation is serious and if needs are not met quickly, mandatory action will be necessary.

Foster and other Army and Navy officers made it plain that the Berlin crisis is forcing the armed services to stiffen their attitude toward the petroleum industry. Foster said the primary shortage is 1,700,000 barrels of motor gasoline. There also are shortages in aviation gasoline and certain types of oils.

Military Has Seizure Powers

"If it is not apparent within a week that the needs are going to be met, the military will be compelled to recommend that mandatory action be taken," Mas Ball, director of the Interior department's oil and gas division, told reporters at a news conference.

Ball said the amended draft act gives the military authority not only to take supplies and to require the manufacture of supplies, but to do so immediately and negotiate payments later.

Walter S. Hallaman, council chairman, said he is confident "the industry is not going to let the armed services down in seeing that relief reaches Berlin."

Hallanan said the general outlook for heating oils next winter has improved considerably, and under normal conditions no serious fuel oil shortages are likely.

Owls frequently hatch their young in freezing weather, long before most birds arrive from the south.

INDUSTRIALIST AMBUSHED BY GUNMAN—Nathan Gumbin, right, wealthy Chicago industrialist, was ambushed by three gunmen who pulled alongside his car in rush hour traffic and fired a shotgun blast which blew off the top of his head. Note in Wallet Studied As Clue

Wealthy Chicago Industrialist Victim Of Gang-Style Slaying

CHICAGO, July 29. (INS)—A penciled note found in the wallet of Nathan Gumbin gave police a possible clue today in the gang-style slaying of the millionaire Chicago manufacturer.

Speculating that Gumbin may have identified the man as a hoodlum, police Capt. Tom Murphy ordered the man picked up for questioning.

Murphy emphasized, however, that he had only "theories" as to motives for the murder of the wealthy victim as he was driving home late yesterday.

A shotgun blast fired by one of two men who drove alongside killed Gumbin as he sat at the wheel of his car waiting for a traffic light change. Seated next to him was his 19-year-old son, Owen.

The killer drew Gumbin's attention with a yell, then blew off the top of his head with the single blast at close range.

Gumbin was on his way home to attend a party for his 55th birthday at the time of the execution.

Police learned that Gumbin frequently sat in poker games with wealthy business associates. His wife, Blossom, 50, said he played poker once a week and had lost as much as $3,500 in an evenings play.

Coroner A. L. Brodie said the murder was carefully planned, indicating it was the work of professional gangsters.

Also being investigated is the possibility of labor trouble in Gumbin's General Fiber Co., plant which makes paper cartons.

Company officials, however, said relations with two AFL unions at the plant were excellent.

After the slaying, the gunmen passed the two policemen in a squad car. The police did not give chase because they thought the fatal shotgun blast was the backfire of an auto.

Gumbin's son, Owen, obtained the license number of the death car. The plates had been reported stolen on April 9. Some police officials and business associates believe Gumbin's slaying was a case of mistaken identity.

Houston Congregation Gets Court Order To Open Church

HOUSTON, July 29 (U.P.)—Finished or unfinished, the members of the Broadway Baptist temple will hold services Sunday in their new brick church.

The church doors, locked by a local construction company in a dispute with the minister and congregation, were ordered opened today by District Judge W. W. Moore.

Church members went to court last week to seek an injunction against locking of the doors The construction company had padlocked the building, on a claim that the new edifice had not been paid for.

By previous agreement, said the congregation, they had paid only $71,000 and were to pay the balance upon completion of the temple. Church members argued that some 30 items inside the structure were still incomplete, while construction company officials said the church was completed last May.

Judge Moore set Aug. 5 as the date for hearing the petition.

Hungarian Milliners Ordered To Wear Hats On All Occasions

BUDAPEST, July 29 (U.P.)—Milliners in Hungary had better keep their hats on even in these hot summer days. The Association of Ladies' Hatmakers has decided to end the foolish business of going hatless, which inflicted such heavy losses on the millinery trade during the vacation period.

The association issued an order making hat wearing compulsory for its members, heat or no heat.

They didn't forget to put in the teeth, either. Offenders will be fined 100 florins ($8.50) for the first transgression. A member caught twice without a hat will have to pay 500 florins ($42.50) to the treasury of the association.

AMAZING RESULTS WITH MERTOX TONIC

Mrs. Ben Groesman of Houston writes us as follows:

"For a long time I have had occasional billious spells. My head would hurt and I would vomit my food. My last spell was very severe and I just thought I would die. My appetite was poor and I couldn't sleep at night. I was so troubled with my limbs stiffening just before I would have a spell of gas and bloat. I would be dizzy and I would have a severe headache. My food soured and it just seemed as if everything was wrong with me. To anyone suffering like I was, I recommend Mertox highly."

This splendid medicine, containing 25 ingredients, works fast to eliminate poisonous matter from your system. Helps to build rich, red blood. Relieves constipation within a few hours and helps to create a more rhythmic bowel action. Get Mertox Compound today from any Texas druggist at the new REDUCED price. Adv

U. S. Aviation Program To Cost Near Seven Billions In Year

By CHARLES CORDDRY
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 29—You're living in the air age, all right, a..d it's costing you plenty.

The government will spend close to $7,000,000,000 on aviation activities in the fiscal year just started.

That means roughly 20 per cent of the total federal budget is earmarked for military and civil aviation. Probably no other category of expenditures can match that figure, save, of course, the larger one of general national defense in which aviation would be the biggest item.

The European recovery program, for example, is slated to cost $4,000,000,000 in the same 12-month period, which is slightly less than the Air Force budget alone.

How It's Spent

Here is a table of estimated aviation outlays by federal agencies in fiscal 1949:

Air Force (total budget)	$4,981,911,000
Navy Bureau of Aeronautics	1,338,000,000
Air National Guard	55,000,000
Veterans Administration (estimated cost of GI flight training)	200,000,000
Post Office for foreign and domestic air mail (expected to be recouped in stamp sales)	68,583,000
Coast Guard	10,783,000
Civil Aeronautics Administration	149,370,000
Civil Aeronautics Board	3,450,000
National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics	66,105,000
Weather Bureau	9,135,345
State Department	4,333,000
Total	$6,876,672,345

Some Private Spending

In addition to the figures in the survey, it is estimated that $500,000,000 or more will be spent by private sources, and state and local governments in the aviation field in fiscal 1949.

The civilian portion of the federal aviation budget is a very small part of the whole.

Of the total prospective outlays, $2,823,100,000 will go into military aircraft, guided missiles, electronics equipment, instruments and related aircraft items. The Air Force and Navy will spend $335,000,000 more on aeronautical research and development and most of the National Advisory Committee for Aeranautics budget will be devoted to military research.

Navy Costs Split

In the Navy figures, it should be noted, money for carrier operations, salaries and food is not included, since such funds do not come from the Bureau of Aeronautics portion of the Navy budget.

Aside from GI flight training, the cost of which is estimated from Budget Bureau figures of last February, the largest civilian part of the federal air budget will be spent by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

That agency's major outlays will be $40,000,000 on airport building and improvement, $22,099,000 to establish new air navigation facilities, $62,000,000 to maintain present facilities, $11,000,000 on enforcement of air safety regulations, and $4,000,000 in administrative expenses.

The Weather Bureau will spend $4,135,345 directly on aviation activities and estimates that another $5,000,000 worth of its general services to the public should be assigned to aviation.

The State Department's aviation division has a $135,000 budget. The division estimates the cost of this government's participation in the International Civil Aviation Organization at an additional $500,000 and says $3,700,000 is available for support of international air navigation facilities jointly with other countries.

The Coast Guard says it will spend $5,477,000 for flight operations, aircraft maintenance, fuel and repairs; $5,231,000 for pay and allowances, and $75,000 for a helicopter.

Bollworm Infestation Causing Serious Loss In Parts Of State

Bollworn infestations have increased to the point of serious damage to cotton in the northern two-thirds of the state, but have not yet reached the South Plains, according to the agricultural experiment station's weekly cotton insect report yesterday.

In the southern third of the state cotton has matured beyond the point of insect damage except late-planted or rank-growing cotton in the northern part of that area, the report said.

In many areas weevils now are migrating from mature cotton into cotton that is still fruiting, and heavy migrations sometimes occur within 24 hours, farmers were warned. It was added that heavy bollworn infestations also occur sometimes on short notice.

The report adds that therefore, where cotton is not mature, "growers should inspect their fields several times a week to determine if insects are present in sufficient numbers to warrant control measures."

Showing a steady rise in boll weevil infestations the report showed an average of 20 per cent punctured squares in 523 fields in 31 counties over the state. This is an increase of two per cent over last week, and is five per cent higher than two weeks ago.

In the South Plains, however, there were no boll weevils, and an average of five fleahoppers per 100 terminals, indicating that no control measures now are considered necessary.

Illinois Town Proposes Stiff Fines For Smoking In Bed

ROCKFORD, Ill, July 29 (U.P.) — The city council is considering passing an ordinance aimed at persons who smoke in bed.

The proposal would subject a person smoking a cigarette, cigar or pipe in a "careless, reckless or negligent manner" and causing a fire to a fine of $50 to $200.

"We've had a lot of fires that were caused by people smoking in bed," said Alderman Alga Reece, who introduced the measure. "We think this ordinance will help stop the practice."

CAUSE FOR ARSON

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., (U.P.)—Justifiable arson, the fire chief ruled in the case of Sayles Sam Sayles. Sayles was stung by a wasp while he was in his outhouse and it so angered him that he knocked over the building and burned it to the ground.

Fashionable Estates Turned Into Museums To Make Money

NEWPORT, R. I. July 22 (U.P.)—Badgered by taxes and high upkeep, society folk have found a way to make money with the once sumptous estates in this fashionable summer colony. They turn them into museums.

First to be converted was The Breakers, the $9,000,000 summer estate of the Cornelius Vanderbilts. Leased to the Newport Preservation Society, the fabulous castle has been opened as a museum at $1.50 per visit.

Next, Countess Laszlo Szechenyi rented the stables to the society for a similar fee. Ten ancient carriages and some antique automobiles are displayed at a modest fee.

EISENHOWER BACKS MEETING

World Meet On Mental Health Seen As Aid To Understanding

(EDITOR'S NOTE: General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who probably knows as much about the horrors of war as anyone alive, declares in the following article that mankind will not rid itself of war until people learn to "get along with each other." This is a lesson, he says, for nations as well as individuals, for Americans as well as the "few men in the Kremlin." The famed five-star general expresses his views in calling attention to the International Congress on Mental Health which starts in London August 11. The article will be published in full in the August issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, which has given International News Service special permission to distribute the following digest.)

(Distributed by International News Service by special permission of Cosmopolitan magazine.)

By DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

NEW YORK, July 29—Next month, in London, over two thousand delegates from forty-seven nations will come together to discuss what can be done to help the mental health of the world.

There will be social workers, teachers, educators, nurses, employers, industrialists and the clery—all of them working toward a solution of the world's unrest.

Meeting Is Important

To my mind, the importance of their efforts can hardly be overestimated, for I feel that we can never eliminate war until all the peoples of the world understand each other far more fully than they do now.

Our failure to prevent mental illness penalizes us in all departments of our national life.

In the late fall of 1944 (for example) we became desperate for infantry replacements on the western front . . . The United States, which we had thought of as an unlimited reservoir, could not produce the necessary men.

Yet at the same time we were told about the hundreds of thousands of men rejected for mental illnesses or mental deficiencies. I am told that by the end of the war almost two million had been rejected for mental illness or disorders.

Must Learn Answers

The same emotional disorders which affect men in the stress of combat are the emotional disorders which constitute a large problem in civilian life.

We have learned how to conquer space and have made enormous technological advances, but we cannot get along with each other.

It is not enough to say that a few men in the Kremlin will deny to a large number of people the chance to learn.

It is not enough to say that our motives, which we think of as being altruistic and pure, are certainly misunderstood in South America.

I lay stress upon this London conference because it is the first small step in finding an answer to "why?"

Whatever positive achievement this conference can bring about will certainly result in a tremendous upsurge in our prosperity here at home and will at the same time accomplish a great deal toward eliminating the causes of war.

Let me warn you that if in the measurable future we don't find some way of eliminating these wars, our grandchildren are going to find this world a most unhappy place in which to live, and this is important to me—I've lately acquired a grandson!

Boy Sticks To Ball Playing Despite Broken Leg Handicap

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 29 (U.P.)—It took more than a broken leg to keep 13-year-old Tommy Lokken out of a baseball game.

Tommy broke the leg sliding into second base in a practice game. But the youngster hobbled to the mound three weeks later to pitch his team to a 6-3 victory in an important game.

He also contributed three hits to his club's attack. His only concession to the injury was that a substitute ran for him.

Fort Worth Father, Mother And Son Attend College

FORT WORTH, July 29 (U.P.) — Mother, father and son all attend classes at Texas Christian University here. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Schuler and their son, Joe, Jr., 17.

Mrs. Schuler is working on her master's degree, while the Schuler's son, Joe, is in his first year.

MINNESOTAN ACCEPTS POST

Stassen Named New President Of University Of Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, July 29. (INS)—Harold E. Stassen was named president of the University of Pennsylvania today. He telegraphed his immediate acceptance "with enthusiasm" and will be formally elected by the university's executive board in September.

Stassen, unsuccessful candidate for the Republican presidential nomination at last month's GOP convention, was chosen unanimously at a special meeting of the university board.

The 41-year-old former Minnesota governor will succeed Dr. George W. McClelland, 68, who will be elected to the chairmanship of the university.

Stassen notified the university that he will be ready to take up his new duties after fulfilling his speaking engagements in behalf of the presidential campaign of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Stassen told the board:

"After careful consideration, I have decided to accept your nomination to the presidency of the University of Pennsylvania.

"I look forward with enthusiasm to join with you in carrying on the superb tradition of the university.

Pledges Best Effort

"I will endeavor to the best of my ability to extend its service, an inspiration to the young men and women of its student body, and to steadily increase its excellent contributions to the world-wide community of which it is a part.

"As you understand, I will continue a vigorous interest in public questions, particularly those which affect the future freedom, well-being and peace of men.

"Subject to the fulfillment of my speaking schedule on behalf of Gov. Dewey I will prepare to begin my duties at the opening of this university year in September."

Robert T. McCracken, chairman of the board of trustees, said in announcing the nomination:

Stassen Is Praised

"Governor Stassen's outstanding executive qualities, rigidly tested by unique experience, both civil and military, his intense interest in higher education, his broad vision and fresh concepts of the functions of institutions of learning as training grounds for useful citizenship, above all, his inspirational appeal to the youth of America, mark him as peculiarly adapted to the difficult but rewarding task of guiding the destinies of a great university."

Stassen and McCracken were said to have discussed the post during the Republican convention in Philadelphia, when the ex-Navy officer made his unsuccessful bid for nomination to the presidency of the United States.

Dr. McClelland reportedly wanted to retire because of ill health.

The university is engaged in a $32,000,000 post-war expansion program, and plans to raise $20,000,000 of that figure within five years.

American Pilot, 18 Others Die In Chinese Plane Crash

SHANGHAI, July 29. (U.P.)—Capt. Richard E. Tarbert, American pilot, and all 18 others aboard a Chinese civil air transport C-46 were reported killed today in a crash in the coastal area near Tsingtao.

The plane crashed from 100 feet on an attempted takeoff, according to reports from the scene.

The victims were described as the pilot, co-pilot, radio operator and 16 Chinese soldiers.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Lowly Cow Is Due Lot More Respect Because Of Milk Shortage, New Tech Professor Says

The lowly cow is due a lot more respect than it has received in the past, for cows are an important asset in living and "milk is short right now all over the country," according to Dr. J. J. Willingham, who has reported for duties as professor of dairy manufactures at Texas Technological college.

Increase in population and increase in consumption of milk are the two principal factors causing shortage of milk supply, he said.

Has Serious Aspects

The shortage has not become alarming to the dairy industry, but has its serious aspects in some local supply situations.

Efforts are being made to increase production through improved breeding, improved pastures and better feeding methods.

"Milk is our most nearly perfect food," said Dr. Willingham. "Milk is our only food nature-designed as a food. Milk was originally designed as food for the young animal."

Dr. Willingham, who reported July 19 to begin teaching duties in the second summer term, came here from Sherman, where he had charge of quality control work in the milk division of Mrs. Tucker's Foods.

Did Graduate Work

Prior to going to Sherman, he had been at Ames, Iowa, from 1935 to 1943, doing graduate work at Iowa State college, where he received his master's and doctor's degrees and for six years had charge of the ice cream laboratory. Part of the time he did research work on ice cream flavors and use of different types of roasted nuts in ice cream.

A bulletin on "Oxidized Flavors in Strawberry Ice Cream," based on his master's thesis, was issued by the agricultural experiment station at Iowa State college.

"Most people have thought of ice cream as a luxury—a dessert rather than a food," he said. "Fact of the business, it was listed during the war as a confection. They had quite a time getting it listed as a food. Of course it is one of our most nutritious foods. It is high in energy value because of the fat content and added sugar."

Ice cream, he said, "just a few years ago was a summer time food and now is consumed throughout the year."

While Willingham was at Iowa State college, he once prepared special ice cream for the crown prince and princess of Denmark, who visited there. The "Golden Parfait" served the prince and princess bore the royal coat of arms.

Residents of the United States and Canada consume far more ice cream than in most countries. Residents of England also consume a large amount. In most places in Europe, however, "they don't know ice cream as we know it. They have more of ices and sherbets."

Dr. Willingham will teach dairy manufacturing courses. He hopes later to do some research work.

Before receiving his master's and doctor's degrees from Iowa State college, he received his bachelor's degree in 1931 from Texas A. and M. college.

He has purchased a home at 2508 Thirty-third and his wife and daughter, Joan, and son, Ronald Judson, five months, will join him soon.

In November, 25,126 feathers were counted on a whistling swan.

Soviets Claimed Getting Uranium From Estonian Oil Shale Source; Large Scale Work Reported

By WALTER KOLARZ
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 29 — Estonian exile diplomats claim that Russia is producing uranium out of oil shale mined in Estonia in large quantities.

They said the uranium, a source of atomic energy, was gained out of oil shale residue. The process was carried out in Russia itself, they added, and whole mountains of oil shale ashes accumulated in the Kohtla Yaerve region of Eastern Estonia were transferred to Russia proper.

The independent Estonian republic did not make any attempt to use the Kohtla Yaerve oil shale ashes for uranium, the exiles said. But during the first Soviet occupation of Estonia in 1940-41, they reported, the Soviet authorities set aside considerable quantities of shale oil for experimental purposes.

Prefer Estonian Shale

The Russians, according to Estonian mining experts, also have oil shale mines east of Lake Peipus, near the Estonian border in the region of Gdov, but they preferred the Estonian oil shale, since the Gdov shale was of poor quality for uranium purposes.

Official Soviet sources repeatedly referred to the Kohtla Yaerve oil shale mining center as the "Estonian Donets Basin."

According to official figures, the oil shale production of Estonia is to be increased by 500 per cent during the present five-year-plan period and is supposed to reach between 8,000,000 and 9,000,000 tons in 1950. Four new workers' settlements are to be built in the Kohtla Yaerve area to accommodate the manpower required for the increase of the oil shale production.

Use Many Workers

Estonian sources said 40,000 to 50,000 Russians and 10,000 German prisoners of war are at present employed in mining oil shale in Estonia, in addition to thousands of Estonian workers. Soviet sources admitted that technicians and skilled workers were brought from Russia to Estonia, including mine workers from the Urals and the Donets Basin.

Should it be confirmed that uranium was being produced out of Estonian oil shale, Estonia would be the fourth uranium source which Russia acquired since the end of the war in the western areas which she either annexed or put under her control.

Russia's three other uranium sources in the west are Bulgaria, where the Streltcha and Bukhovo mines were taken over by Russia as a German asset; the Jachymov mines in northern Bohemia, whose produce is sent to Russia on the strength of a special Czech-Russian arrangement, and the mines in the ore mountains of Saxony, of which the Soviet military authorities in Germany are in charge.

College Graduates Have Opportunities In Appliance Field

CHICAGO, July 29—With the return of the buyer's market, the major appliance industry is looking to the nation's campuses for bright young men to carry forth its sales colors.

One, Thor Corporation, a leading manufacturer of home appliances, admits frankly it wants 10,000 college men to join its dealer sales force.

"The old order-taking days are over," Jason Hurley, Thor vice president declared, "and Thor is intensifying its efforts to rebuild a fast-moving, hard-hitting dealer sales organization.

"The new crop of graduates—85 per cent of them war veterans—fills the bill as a nucleus for such an organization."

The sales job is a lucrative one, Hurley said, explaining that in many sections of the country, new salesmen are reported receiving commissions ranging from $40 to $125 each week.

The sales opportunities are not limited to university graduates, but also are available to undergraduates, who can find in them the chance to combine summer-earnings with invaluable sales training under the guidance of keen, experienced dealers.

Hurley, himself a World War II veteran, said he was impressed by the "seriousness" of the present crop of predominantly veteran graduates and students, stating "these men are mindful they must dig in and learn the business from the ground up."

The appliance executive stressed that, in addition to forming the nucleus of a rebuilt dealer sales organization, the new student or graduate-salesmen will form the group from which the corporation ultimately will draw its sales executives.

Another advantage, he said, is that the new salesman can be employed in his hometown, where he has established housing. He therefore does not have to move to a new city and begin the disappointing hunt for new quarters.

Hurley said the Thor, manufacturer of ironers and clothes and dishwashing machines, is instructing its distributors and dealers to screen any such applicants that are available.

Boston Commons Now Used For Baby Sitting Business

BOSTON, July 29 (U.P.)—Once used as grazing ground for cows, historic Boston Common now has a parking plot for children.

A section of the common has been fenced off and equipped with swings, slides and other play gear.

The plot is under competent supervision and shopping mothers may register their youngsters, pin a numbered tag on them and leave them at play while on a bargain hunt through the stores.

Levelland's Women's Group Is Given Portion Of Rodeo Funds

LEVELLAND, July 29. (Spl)—One-fourth of the proceeds from the Levelland rodeo which was held early in July, have been presented to the City Federation of Women's clubs here, to be applied toward the construction of a community house and youth center for Levelland and Hockley county, a project sponsored by the women's organization.

The money, totalling $500, was presented by Bob Berry, treasurer of the Levelland Rodeo association. Of this total, $301.32 was from the rodeo proceeds, and the balance was added by the rodeo association as a token of appreciation for the work done by the women's group.

This was the first year the two groups worked together in promoting the annual rodeo, and Berry expressed the appreciation of the rodeo group for the aid of the City Federation in making this year's event one of the most successful held thus far.

Old New Englander Declares Hard Work Never Hurt Anyone

LYNN, Mass., July 29 (U.P.)—Recently turned 95, Charles Durkee Lyon claims to be the nation's oldest active locksmith.

A native of Vermont, Lyon says he started working on his father's farm as a youngster and hasn't stopped since.

"Work never hurt anyone," said the spry old New Englander. "What's the sense of retiring and hanging around doing nothing when you have everything you want right here in the shop to keep you happy?"

Federal Insurance Program For Wheat Crop Discussed At Meet

When high Federal Crop Insurance corporation officials met with county committeemen and area administrative officers at Lubbock hotel Thursday, discussion centered on next year's government wheat insurance program, on which August 31 has been set as a deadline for applications.

Here from Washington were Gus Geissler, manager of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation; Earll Nikkels, sales director of the corporation; and Joe McWilliams, Motley county man who is chief auditor.

Several state officials, supervisors and field men also were present. These included O. B. Briggs, director of the program in Texas and New Mexico; Nelson V. Little and Geo. Eisenhauer, district supervisors.

Production and Marketing administration (PMA) officials also were in attendance, including John Gamble, field man; and members of the state PMA committee. These were Howard Kingsbery, W. L. David, J. R. Adams, V. L. Cade, and B. F. Vance.

The meeting was the sixteenth held throughout the wheat belt to explain the government's new experimental wheat crop insurance program to county committeemen and administrative officials in counties in which the program is being used as an experiment.

These counties are Castro, Swisher, Hale, Floyd, Knox, Jones, Taylor, and Runnels, all in West Texas. Five other counties in the state were chosen for the experimental program, which is being tried in 200 counties in the nation.

The new coverage, which protects the grower's investment against all natural hazards, was said to be radically different to that offered in the past, and with greatly reduced premium rates.

Applications for the protection must be filed with local Triple A offices in the counties involved by or before August 31, but premium payments are not due until next June. However, premium reductions are allowed for earlier payments.

Others in attendance at the meeting were Marjorie W. Smart, Pecos; D. H. McCollough, Washington, D. C.; Horace A. Blagg, Dimmitt; Barber Eubanks, Dimmitt; Fred Rennels, College Station; Coleman Jones, Plainview; O. A. Knox, Albuquerque, N. M.; V. G. Barton, State College, N. M.; John B. Martin, Plainview; Ray S. Post Looks To Future From Colorful Past

Industry, Farms And Oil Share Spotlight In Garza County City

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

POST, July 29.—Post, nestled in the shadow of the Caprock, is unique among South Plains cities. It is the result of one man's dream, and his power to make that dream a reality.

The man was C. W. Post. The dream, to quote from his own matter-of-fact pen: "Wife and I talked the matter over, and concluded we would build a good town for the people."

It has been 40 years since Post, immensely wealthy owner of a cereal-food empire, undertook to lay out an entire city, parcel out farmlands at give-away prices and start a huge construction program, many buildings of which are still in use today.

Famous Ranches Near

The years have seen, as he expected, the development of an agricultural empire in the western part of the city, and the continuation of a great ranch area in the east and south.

Post's population today is between 4,000 and 5,000 and it has a slogan, "not the biggest, but the busiest little city in West Texas."

Post's economy depends largely on agriculture and ranching, as it did when Post first laid out 80- and 160-acre farms. Cotton leads, with sorghums, wheat, oats, peanuts and watermelons and vegetables grown extensively. Ranching, principally beef-cattle raising, is carried on in a large-scale manner, with many famous old ranch brands still in use today. They include the Double U, U Lazy S, the 76, John B. Slaughter, J Lazy S, T-Anchor, OC, OS and others.

Oil Also Making Show

In late years oil has become important, but so quietly that many old-time residents are unaware of its extent.

The county has more than 200 oil-producing wells, and many of these are within sight of the city limits. In fact, Post probably has the most profitable city dump-grounds of any South Plains town, since a producer was completed in the middle of it and now busily pumps away surrounded by piles of tin cans and other debris.

Others are located on ranch properties, on Santa Fe railroad right-of-way at the edge of town and in the most unexpected gulleys and canyons of the rugged terrain surrounding the city. Many of them are shallow wells, some no deeper than 2,800 feet. Drillers say the formations are tricky, that a good producer may be found on one location, and the adjoining location may prove to be a dry hole.

Most of the oil development occurred during the critical shortage of building materials after the war. For that reason building was delayed, and Post escaped the oil-boom building that might otherwise have occurred. Now that the peak of drilling has passed, Post may not have a large building program, although many better-class homes and some business buildings are planned.

Business Is Good

One merchant said, "I just don't know where all the business comes from." The answer, as it was speculated by a public official: "From the oil field workers."

Dr. David Templeton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, summed up Post's civic spirit neatly. He said, "Post citizens place their civic spirit and appreciation of the town's history next to patriotism and religion, if indeed they are not blended together."

Dr. Templeton has, with the help of Sherrill Boyd, city secretary and chamber of commerce manager, made a hobby of collecting data on Post in the old days. He recalls his school days in Canyon, 33 years ago, at a time when Post was a main topic of conversation all over West Texas.

The story of Post City started back in 1895, when Charles William Post, victim of chronic indidestion, hit upon the formula for Postum in his kitchen at Battle Creek, Mich. This was followed by the cereal-food, Grape-Nuts, in 1897 and by other products which he skyrocketed into a huge fortune.

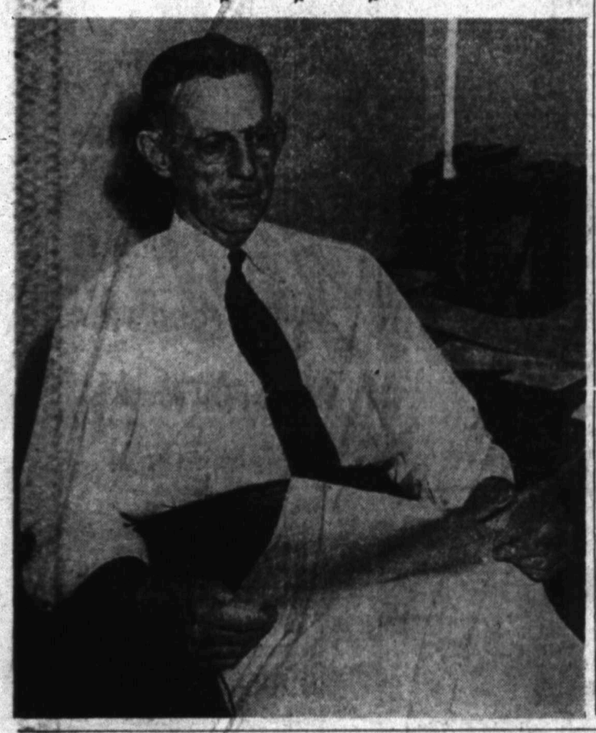

Story Of Town Related

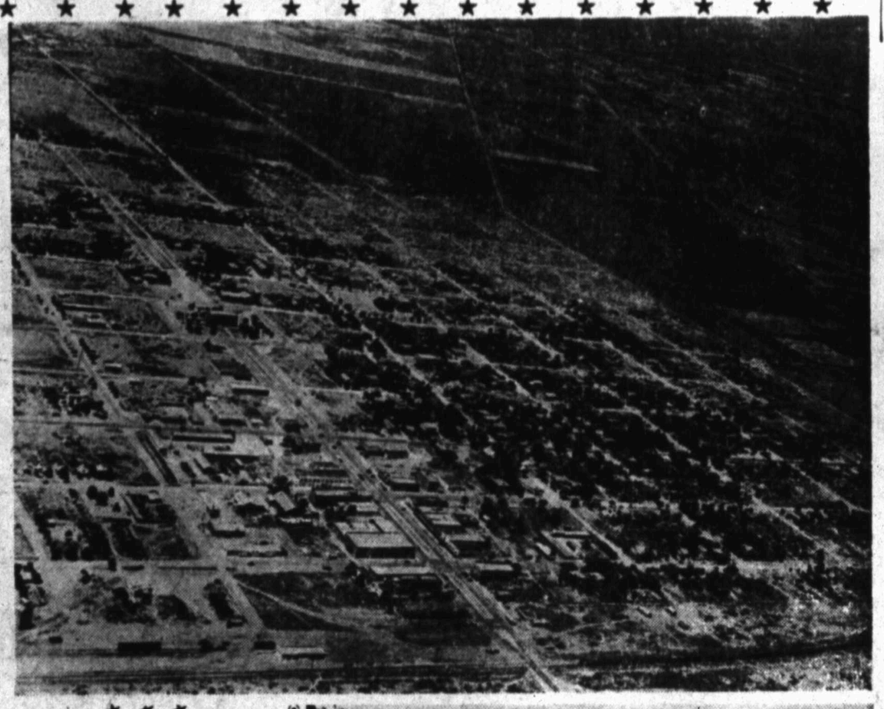

By 1906 Mr. Post was in Fort Worth, where he arranged to buy a big portion of Garza county, to colonize it. Later he wrote a summary of his development program for the Post City Post's first edition, on Nov. 4, 1909. Dr. Templeton has a copy of that paper, and passages from Mr. Post's own article tell the story:

"Several years ago I bought all of one and part of two other ranches, gathering in one body 200,000 acres of land. . . . The land is rich and will raise abundant crops of kaffir corn, maize, Indian corn, peanuts, cotton and vegetables. It will also raise wheat and oats in large quantities if cultivated under the dry land system. . . . We had fine crops in 1908, and in 1909 we experienced the driest year this county has had for 15 or 16 years. In spite of that we raised some cotton and some feed, as well as melons, vegetables, etc. . . ."

After expressing his faith in the country, he describes his plans for building the town: "Wife and I talked the matter over and concluded we would build a good town for the people. Plans were arranged. . . . The main business street is 128 feet wide, with little parklets in the center. . . . I reserved one full block for my own house to be

POST COMBINES NEW, OLD—Post, rich in history since its founding by the late C. W. Post, millionaire cereal-food manufacturer, carries on in the spirit in which it was begun. The aerial view of the city, above left, shows the business and residential section. Not shown in the picture is the large Postex Mills, Inc., plant, where sheets and pillow cases are manufactured. The old powder cache, upper right, built in the Caprock just west of Post, is one of several mementoes of Mr. Post's famous rain-making experiments, when he sent dynamite up on kites and tried to "blast" rain out of the skies. Center left is pictured Mr. Post's home, for which he reserved a whole block in the original town of Post. Once one of the finest residences in West Texas, it is now used by Hudman Funeral home. At center right is a new home nearing completion for Willard Kirkpatrick, one of many Garza county ranchers who live in the city. Typical of the oil development in the rugged land surrounding the city is the producer, shown in the picture lower left, perched on a formation in a canyon southwest of Post. At extreme left is Dr. David H. Templeton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who has made a hobby of collecting data about the early days of Post. He is holding a photostatic copy of the "Post City Post," the first newspaper published in Post. That issue, dated in 1909, contains an article by Mr. Post describing his creation of a city by "mass production" methods. Most of the buildings and improvements he made are still in use. Dr. Templeton, a Rotarian, writes of incidents in the history of Post for the Post Rotary club's weekly publication.

Title Suit Filed By Reed Heirs

George W. Reed and others—five sons and daughters of the late George W. Reed, sr.—filed suit here Thursday in the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair for trespass to try title to land in Hockley and Lubbock counties and for partitioning of the Hockley county land.

They named as defendant Emma Jones Reed, widow of George W. Reed, sr. She lives in Hockley county.

Claim Undivided Shares

The plaintiffs, of Hale, Bailey and Bexar county, declared in a petition filed by the Lubbock law firm of Vickers and Vickers that Emma Jones Reed is the third wife of their late father, who died Aug. 9. The first two wives, like the decedent Reed, died intestate. Thus, they pleaded, as surviving children, in each instance they succeeded to the mother's one-half interest in the community estate with George W. Reed, sr.

Reed and his widow were married in 1936, in Hale county. Plaintiffs say he and Emma Jones Reed used commingled moneys and other properties of the first and second communities to invest in land. Plaintiffs had an undivided one-half interest in those moneys and properties at all times, they declared. They also claim they own the undivided one-half interest of their father, which was the homestead of the decedent and the defendant, in which homestead portion of the land owned by the third community the defendant has a life estate superior to the plaintiffs' remaining interest.

Also, they claim, the plaintiffs have an undivided half-interest of the first and second communities in crops grown on 178 acres of Hockley county land affected, and also in personal property of the estate.

They ask that the Hockley county land be partitioned, subject to the life estate, and that the lot here be sold and its proceeds paid into registry of the court for later division.

LEADERS ORDERED ARRESTED

Emergency Action Is Mapped To Meet Wave Of Rail Strikes

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
INS Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, July 29 — Emergency action was being mapped today at the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as a wave of rail strikes threatened to paralyze Japan.

Arrest of ringleaders in the strike movement has been ordered by American occupation authorities.

The rail strike, freight tie-ups, and a new line of Communist propaganda, all seemed aimed at the supreme commander's warning against walkouts by government workers.

Accidental derailment of an occupation train near Kure today brought tension to a new high, but United States Army officials said there was no evidence of sabotage.

Communist propaganda called for all workers to unite and to rise up for "the prevention of the enslavement and colonization of our race."

The Japanese Reds also alleged that Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger is being recalled to the United States because he is "too good to the Japanese people and that's against American policy."

The rail strike has resulted in tie-ups of 161 freight trains and six scheduled passenger trains throughout Japan.

Two Officials Resign

The crisis was felt within MacArthur's own staff today when Paul Stanchfield, deputy chief of the headquarter's labor division, announced he would follow the example of the division's chief, James S. Killen, by resigning.

Tonight, both Killen and Stanchfield went to the office of Brig. Gen. William Marguat, head of MacArthur's economic and scientific section, to deliver their formal resignations.

It was presumed the resignations of the two labor officials would be accepted.

Both men said they were resigning because they could not reconcile themselves to MacArthur's order, which they interpreted as denying the right of collective bargaining to Japan's 2,500,000 government employes.

RYLANDER IS HONORED—W. C. Rylander, charter member, past president and for the past 14 years secretary of the Lubbock Kiwanis club, was honored in a "surprise party" at the club luncheon Thursday noon at Hotel Lubbock. As one of the features he was presented with a giant cocoanut meringue pie, measuring 13 by 20 inches and weighing approximately 30 pounds. In the picture are past presidents of the club, left to right, Dr. O. W. English, O. J. Sexton, Rylander, Chas. Read, Durwood Bradley and DeWitt Landis. (Staff Photo).

Rylander Is Honored At Kiwanis Luncheon

W. C. Rylander, charter member of the Kiwanis club, past club president, and secretary of the organization for the past 14 years, was honored at the weekly Kiwanis luncheon Thursday noon at Hotel Lubbock.

The surprise party for the universally - appreciated club secretary was climaxed by presentation to the honoree of a giant pie "from which you are to eat all you want," as suggested by Durwood H. Bradley, program chairman who explained that "to my knowledge Ry has never had enough pie."

Pie Weighs 30 Pounds

The giant pie, baked in the hotel kitchen for the purpose, was a cocoanut meringue weighing approximately thirty pounds. It measured approximately 13 by 20 inches, and was about seven inches deep.

Short eulogies were spoken, and humorous incidents recounted by Charles Read, Ray C. Mowery, and Dr. O. W. English, all past presidents of the club. All pointed to Rylander as a universally-loved club member and official who has served well not only for his club but for the community as a whole.

Five new members were formally inducted by Fred Sparks, vice president and member of the club's education committee. They were Hobart H. Hobbs, Boyd P. Millsap, Sam H. Allred, June Roberts, and F. L. McRee.

Club President L. E. (Jack) Davis was in the chair, with invocation by Dr. Jack M. Lewis.

Royall Orders Stay Of Execution For 143 Germans Facing Death

WASHINGTON, July 29 (INS)—Army Secretary Royall today ordered a stay of execution for all 143 Germans sentenced to death at the Dachau war crimes trials.

The Secretary announced that an investigation has begun into charges of irregularities at the trials. None of the condemned prisoners will be executed until the charges have been given a thorough airing.

Among prisoners spared at least temporarily by Royall's order were 12 who were convicted or of participating in the Malmedy "massacre" of American troops in 1944.

Faced Numerous Charges

One of these is Col. Joachim Peiper, reichswehr armored unit leader, who reportedly directed the slaughter of the Yanks at Malmedy, Belgium, during the Battle of the Bulge.

A military spokesman said 152 Germans already have been executed as a result of the Dachau trials, including many who were convicted of wanton killings and other atrocities at the Dachau, Buchenwald and Mauthausen concentration camps.

During the trials, Army prosecutors accused the prisoners of crimes ranging from machine gunning war prisoners to beatings, hangings, suffocations and drownings of innocent victims.

Officers To Make Probe

Royall said that the investigation resulted from "a number of petitions" filed with the U. S. Supreme court by persons convicted at Dachau.

He explained that these petitions contained allegations of irregularities and improprieties in the conduct of the war crimes hearings.

Royall said the petitions made particular reference to "the methods used by investigators in preparing the cases for trial."

The secretary said that the "entire Dachau war crimes program" will be blanketed by the investigation, headed by Texas Supreme Court Justice Cordon Simpson, who left for Germany by air Wednesday.

Simpson is a colonel in the judge advocate general's department reserve, and served overseas during World War II.

He was accompanied to Germany by Judge Edward Van Roden, Delaware county, Pa., who also is a reserve colonel.

Take Off Ugly Fat With Grape Fruit Juice Recipe

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home! Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of Liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Bombed-Out Britain Fighting To Relieve Critical Housing Needs

By GERRY HILL
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 29 — In three years Britain has built 440,235 houses in a concentrated effort to relieve her acute housing shortage.

Nevertheless, her housing problem is still grave and experts estimate the need for 5,000,000 new houses within the next 10 to 20 years.

During World War II, German bombs destroyed or partially destroyed hundreds of thousands of British homes. Altogether 200,000 houses were destroyed, 250,000 seriously damaged and 4,000,000 slightly damaged.

In March, 1945, Britain's coalition government set an immediate target of 750,000 houses. Within three years, more than half the target has been completed, but still many families are without a permanent roof.

Britain is tackling her problem by building both permanent and temporary houses. Under construction today are 218,044 permanents and 5,475 temporaries (prefabs). The official life for a "temporary" is ten years and they cost anything between $5,200 and $6,400 to build.

There are between 30 and 40 different types of prefabs. The most expensive, the aluminum bungalow, arrives in sections from the factory and the "building" consists of bolts being assembled in record time. The most popular prefab is the Arcon, a 2-bedroom, living-room, kitchen and bathroom stairless house.

After building comes the repairing of the less seriously damaged houses. More than 705,000 houses have been repaired since the end of the war.

The housing shortage naturally differs in each area of Britain and according to how acute it is, certain powers are delegated to the local council by the ministry of health. Immediately after the war, when so many Britishers were without homes, the requisitionary powers were very strong.

Some Double Up

Local councils were permitted to requisition any unoccupied house or any house where they considered too few occupants lived in too many rooms. Recently special permission has to be obtained from the ministry for the council to exercise the latter powers and then part of the house must be shut off for the exculsive use of its owner.

Every council has a long waiting list of people who require immediate housing. Heading the list are those families with the greatest number of children, ex-servicemen and their families, newlyweds and so on.

Britain still has one big problem on hand—the clearance of her slums. In London as in many of the big cities, German bombs did a lot of good as well as a lot of harm. They razed buildings of which many Britishers were ashamed but still $500,000 houses are needed to replace the slums that exist in Britain today.

Musk-balls, spherical boxes containing strong smelling scents, were worn by early Europeans to overcome the odor of crowds.

Scientist X-Rays Potatoes In Search For New Varieties

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Writer

UPTON, N. Y., July 29—A potato patch that may lead to a variety greater in yield and resistant to bugs is growing here almost within the shadow of the country's first postwar atomic energy pile.

The plants in the patch are ordinary potatoes in one way; in another way, they are not.

Potatoes X-Rayed

Dr. Leslie F. Nims, head of the biology department of Brookhaven National laboratory, explained that the potatoes are ordinary in that they were selected from the common garden variety lot. The difference, however, is that they were x-rayed before planting. A super-duper potato may be the ultimate result.

The plantings were divided into lots with some receiving more radiation than others. Purpose of the experiment is to determine the effect of radiation on plants.

The plants growing from heavily x-rayed seeds are scrawny, and in one particular row only one plant came up. Comparisons are made with two rows of plants grown from non-x-rayed seeds.

Dr. Nims said that each plant will be studied and that subsequent studies will be made of plants grown from the new harvest of potatoes. It may take several "generations" of potatoes before significant changes appear. These changes would be the result of the x-radiation altering the genetic, or hereditary, mechanism of the plants.

Dr. Nims said it is possible that a bug-resistant plant eventually may be developed. He also is eager to see what effect the x-ray has on the number of potatoes a plant produces.

Luther Burbank spent years in developing new types of fruit, but with x-ray radiation the trick might be done in much faster time, Dr. Nims believes.

In all, Dr. Nims and his associates have about 100 hills of potatoes planted. Later on, he plans to make similar experiments with other types of food crops.

Two Lubbock Women Injured In Accident

Two Lubbock women were treated and dismissed at West Texas hospital early Thursday afternoon for minor injuries suffered in a jeep-panel truck accident at 12:35 p. m.

The injured were Mrs. Pete Osborne, 23, or 612 Ave. O, who suffered a cut on the left elbow and bruises of the right hip, and Mrs. Henry (Bob) Moore, 19, of 3607 Twenty-ninth, who suffered a sprained right ankle and contusions of the chest.

Four other occupants of the jeep were uninjured, as was the driver of the panel truck, T. H. Thornhill, jr., 35, of 1010 Ave. Q. His truck, police said, struck the jeep, which was driven by Mrs. Moore, and following the collision, the jeep jumped a curb and hit a tree. Damage to the two vehicles was not known.

Other occupants of the jeep were Mrs. F. C. Daniel, 16, of 612 Ave. O, Bobby Jo Osborne, 4, Clifford David Osborne, 2, and Charlene Moore, about 2. Bobby Jo had a slight scratch on the leg.

Police said they had charged Thornhill with negligent collision by failure to yield right of way, and with use of an improper driver's license.

The occupants of the jeep were taken to West Texas hospital in a Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home ambulance.

Many Never Suspect Cause of Backaches

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Water Conservation

THE opportunity Texans have to conserve their most important natural resource, water, has been emphasized recently of the flow downstream during a recent flood period on the North Concho, near San Angelo, at a point where a dam and reservoir are under construction. Such measurements are more interesting because they are relatively rare.

They showed that during a four-day period, July 5-8, approximately 70,800 acre feet of water flowed downstream. This amounted to more than 22 billion gallons—more than a city like Lubbock, or San Angelo, is likely to use in the next 10 years. This happened on one relatively small stream, a tributary of the Colorado river, in one four-day period.

This record adds to masses of other evidence that water shortage problems which are common in varying degrees of seriousness to most of Texas are not due to lack of potential supply. They are the result of failure to conserve.

Just how much of this fault might be applied to Lubbock is uncertain. But certainly a lot of water gets away from this area which, if conserved, would mean a great deal more cotton, grain sorghums, wheat, livestock and other products of farm and ranch. Conservation, too, would mean a more definitely assured future for every city, town and hamlet on the South Plains.

The condition is one which adds emphasis to the widespread realization that a long step toward the solution of water shortage problems here, and in most places, will be taken if those most concerned learn to conserve and use to best advantages the supplies that now go to waste.

Worth Supporting

THE Chamber of Commerce committee which is heading up the effort to provide a camp in Lubbock for itinerant Mexican cotton pickers should have the support of the entire community for several reasons.

If a camp is provided, cotton pickers for the Lubbock area probably will be available. If not, the itinerants probably will go to one of the several South Plains towns which do provide such conveniences.

Sanitation, community health and humanitarianism also are considerations. If the seasonal visitors cannot observe ordinary rules of precautionary sanitation, the health of the community will be endangered.

The cost of providing a suitable place where pickers can remain overnight will not be much—just how much has not been determined. Nor has it been decided who will be asked to pay for it.

Neither of these questions should be allowed to delay the provision of the facility. The obvious course would seem to be to adopt, promptly, the committee's recommendations when they are made unless factors arise which make this wholly impractical.

Arise, O Lord, into thy rest; thou, and the ark of thy strength. Psalm 132:8.

The Girl He Left Behind Him

Bitter Reprieve

By DREXEL DRAKE
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling owes Harry Bindle a gambling debt of $10,000 he cannot pay. His wealthy wife, Miriam, has refused him the money. He comes home late after dodging Bindle all day. Miriam is out. Bindle phones that he will be over at 11 to collect. Marcus is desperate. Miriam comes in, wearing her fabulous diamond necklace. In order to get her out of the library before Bindle arrives, Marcus gives her a doped drink. Keyed up, he speaks cruelly. Miriam, wounded, takes her drink to her room. At 11 on the dot, Bindle shows up. He demands the money under threat. Marcus, cornered, gets an idea. He goes up to his wife's room. Miriam is asleep. Marcus takes her diamond necklace from a wall safe. To make it appear a burglary, he also takes a sealed packet, then scatters things about.)

VI

HARRY BINDLE was getting restless. He frowned at the whisky bottle, stubbed out his half-smoked cigar in the ashtray. He got up. He crossed to the radio and turned a dial to shut off the orchestral jangle. He looked at his watch. It had stopped. His beaded eyes swept the room. He discovered a small clock, supported by a slender white figurine, perched on a sturdy ebony tabaret against the drapes in the alcove. He crossed to it, saw the short length of cord reaching from the base of the tabaret to the folds of a drape. Neat, he thought. Then his eyes blinked. Twenty minutes of 12!

He strode across the room, went out into the hall, listened. He went to the front door and recovered his hat, pulled it tightly down on his head. He buttoned his coat and his hands sank into his side pockets. He walked briskly to the dimly lighted landing, listened. He heard no sound.

Bindle had gone up one step when he halted. Sterling was emerging stealthily from a door Bindle could just see beyond the head of the stairway. Bindle watched as Sterling pulled the door shut, cautiously without making a sound. Sterling was descending before Bindle, arrested by his surprise, had backed off the stairs.

"Anxious?" Sterling's tone was surly.

"I begin to think you was taking a powder," Bindle snapped.

STERLING ignored that, stalked into the library. Bindle followed close behind. Sterling jerked a hand into his coat pocket and dropped Miriam's necklace on the coffee table.

"Maybe you've heard about those diamonds," Sterling said.

"If they're what I think they are, yes."

"That's what they are. My wife's father gave her that necklace for a wedding present."

"The papers was full of it."

"Then I don't need to tell you what it's worth."

"A hundred grand, the papers put it."

"Right."

"Maybe so. I ain't in the diamond business. So what?"

Sterling's expression turned to something close to hatred for the man standing across from him. "It's good security isn't it?"

"Oh, security."

"Certainly. What did you think?"

"I wasn't thinking, Sterling. I been waiting to hear what you had to say. Since your wife is willing to take you out of hock by putting up a hundred grand worth of diamonds, I'd say it must be her idea to give you ten grand in cash tomorrow so you can pick up the necklace. Right?"

"Not tomorrow, Bindle. I'll be away. Leaving just as soon as you go. You may have seen my bag already packed in the hall."

Bindle rubbed his chin against his coat lapel, peered narrowly at Sterling. "Not tomorrow, huh? Let's see. Tomorrow's Friday. Saturday's my big day. I got to have money for Saturday. I'll give you till Saturday noon. This time at my office, Sterling."

Sterling's nerves were wearing thin. "Okay. Saturday noon."

"And a final word, Sterling. If you don't show up by Saturday noon, I'll have to use the necklace to raise cash. Understand?"

Sterling shrugged impatiently. "All right, I guess that's all."

BINDLE's hands remained buried in his pockets. His eyes wandered about the room, came to rest on the wide desk in a corner. Then he glanced annoyingly at Sterling. "Maybe you would have a big envelope to put the necklace in. I ain't anxious to handle it."

Sterling stifled a protest. "Sure," he agreed gruffly, picking up the necklace. He went to the desk, found a long white envelope, and dropped the necklace into it. Bindle had followed and stood at his shoulder.

"Now seal it," Bindle said, "and write across the flap, 'Hold for Marcus Sterling.' Make it your regular signature."

Sterling frowned, his face flushed, his patience at the breaking point. But he sat down abruptly before the desk. "All right, if that's the way it has to be."

Bindle watched while only the scratch of the pen across the back of the envelope disturbed the silence. Sterling turned in his chair and handed up the envelope. Bindle took it with his left hand and slipped it into his topcoat pocket.

Bindle then waited for Sterling to get up and lead the way from the room. He had no intention of turning his back on an adversary with whom he had driven such a hard bargain.

At the door, Sterling asked, "Won't you want a cab? I didn't hear a car when you came."

"No, you didn't hear a car. I don't mind walking the last two or three blocks. Sometimes it ain't so good, Sterling, to let a cabdriver know exactly where he's taking you, or exactly where you came from."

Bindle had sidled through the door while saying that. He stood facing Sterling. "Saturday by noon," he said. He did not turn to go down from the porch until Sterling had closed the door.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

"IT just goes to show how many slants can be taken on a subject," writes my friend, Frank Nicht, and hereby hangs a column.

A few weeks ago Frank sent me a clipping.

BRANDEIS

"This strikes me as unusual," he wrote at the time, "and might make a column."

It did make a column, and when Frank read it he sat down and wrote me the note from which I just quoted. "You see, I had something altogether different in mind," he says in the note I received today, and explains that what I wrote about had not occurred to him at all.

The column itself does not matter.

"It just goes to show how many slants can be taken on a subject," however, matters very much because it applies to so many things in life.

Quite often you may even get a good insight into a person's character by the slant he takes on a certain subject.

Let me cite an instance.

Quite some years ago I visited Paris. I considered it my duty to take in the various cultural sights before embarking on the tour of those other sights that are much less cultural but, to the average young man, certainly considerably more intriguing and more typical of that wonderful town.

With me went a very successful Chicago business man whom I had met on the boat and with whom I had shared a rail on several stormy days, and thus established a close friendship.

My Chicago companion was without his wife. But he had promised her faithfully to acquire as much culture as possible on this trip and so he joined me on my cultural expedition.

We went to the Louvre, that magnificent institution which is to art what Fort Knox is to gold.

We rushed as fast as we decently could through the various galleries where many of the world's greatest artistic creations are exhibited.

Finally we came into the Salle Carree and stood before Correggio's "Antiope," one of the greatest masterpieces ever painted.

I STOOD in awe before this wonderful creation. I admired its agate-like colors, the delicacy of its conception. I hoped—I was still then very young—that some day, in my own profession I might do something a hundredth as beautiful and worthwhile as this.

My friend from Chicago, that man of successful business and large pocketbook, also seemed to be enraptured.

A kindred soul, I thought, and said in a respectful whisper. "Isn't this magnificent?"

He nodded his head in silent admiration and replied, also in a whisper, "Yes, and I bet that thing is worth a quarter of a million dollars!"

I lost track of my Chicago friend. But every now and then I

Feuds Among Demos

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—In view of the violent feuds prevailing inside the Truman Administration over major foreign and domestic policies, Governor Thomas E. Dewey vows that he will have to change only one word in the campaign refrain with which he taunted Franklin D. Roosevelt's regime in the 1944 presidential contest.

In that year the New York governor insisted that it was "time for a change" because Washington was governed by "tired, quarrelsome, old men." He was referring to the secret or public battling between Hull and Welles, Ickes and Wallace, Wallace and Jesse Jones, Farley and Hopkins, Morgenthau and the field.

TUCKER

The truth of the 1944 indictment has since been fully attested in the various volumes and magazine articles published by the members of the Roosevelt cabinet, although F.D.R. scoffed at his younger opponent's jeers at the time.

To bring his charge up to date, Mr. Truman's competitor figures that he will simply have to substitute the word "young" for "old." Otherwise, he maintains that his 1944 description of the chaos existing around the White House still fits.

ROW: The most ominous row, as the G.O.P. standard-bearer scans the enemy scene, is the unsettled dispute between the Navy and the Army Air Force over the role which each will play in any future conflict.

President Truman's failure to intervene in a determined manner amazes even his aides, in view of the prospect that both services may see action if the Anglo-Russian-American dispute over Berlin is not settled peacefully.

The difficulty was supposed to have been composed at the Key West conference of the high command after the various branches were merged by Act of Congress. Under that pact, the naval air units were to provide an umbrella only for specific naval operations. The Army's aviators were to have charge of the sort of strategic bombing that destroyed Japan and Germany.

The Navy has never accepted that agreement, however, and National Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal, who formerly headed the Navy, has taken its side. W. Stuart Symington, head of the Army aviation unit, has demanded a showdown without success. The two men barely speak, especially as Mr. Forrestal has tried to muzzle Symington's public speeches demanding that the Key West arangement be put into operation immediately.

FORCE: The Navy has an influential and extremely vocal champion close to the throne in the person of Admiral William D. Leahy. He has been kept on as Chief of Staff to the White House by Mr. Truman because the President is utterly dependent upon him for advice and information concerning the armed services, many of F.D.R.'s foreign deals and for guidance in making appointments.

Chief of Staff Omar N. Bradley is irked by the Forrestal-Symington feuding, and, as a result of his experience in the European theater during World War II, he can see no sense in the Forrestal viewpoint. But General Bradley is a rather unassuming individual, and prefers a settlement through the natural development of events rather than by more brusque methods. He believes that the Berlin crisis will eventually force execution of the Key West agreement.

CONTROVERSY: Secretary Marshall, of course, agrees with Mr. Symington and General Bradley. But he restricts his advice to his own domain except when asked for it by the President, and as yet he has not been questioned on this issue.

The impression grows that Mr. Truman hesitates to throw his weight around in a controversy involving such expert and impressive figures. Whatever the reason for his non-intervention, Army and Navy airmen do not now know what missions they will be called upon to perform if the current crisis flames into war overnight.

CONTROL: Another feud finds Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder and Federal Reserve Board Member Marriner S. Eccles (former chairman) scrapping over bank control measures for checking inflation. Despite Mr. Truman's concern over this problem, as evidenced by the program he has presented to Congress, he has shown utter indifference toward this war on the White House doorstep.

Mr. Eccles advocates legislation requiring banks to set up a special reserve, and thereby reduce their lending resources. He points out that the Federal Reserve has virtually exhausted its remedies for halting the flow of money into the nation's financial stream.

The extremely cautious Mr. Snyder, however, opposes such extreme action. He favors "voluntary" curbs exercised by individual banks and bankers. Indeed, it is generally believed that he is not sold on Mr. Truman's resurrection of the scheme for Congressional crackdowns on prices, materials and other forms of regimentation. He was not consulted on the plan to reconvene Congress.

In dealing with these two unresolved questions, Mr. Dewey expects to have an oratorical field day.

AGREEABLE: Friends of Robert F. Wagner Jr., son of the veteran New York Senator, have advanced him as a candidate for the vacancy in the post of Secretary of Labor. The appointment of the pro-labor legislator's youngster, they argue, would have an extremely favorable effect among the nation's 15,000,000 working men and women.

Although only in his early forties, young Wagner had a good record as a member of the New York Legislature, and is now one of Mayor O'Dwyer's Housing Commissioners. He is said to be an extremely able speaker. But it is his identification with the author of so much labor legislation on Capitol Hill that may be his strongest asset for a Cabinet job.

Another possibility is Keen Johnson of Kentucky. He resigned after serving a year as Under Secretary of Labor, but he might return to the government for political reasons. Should the Truman-Barkley ticket be elected, Mr. Johnson might occupy an advantageous spot to seek the senatorial vacancy from Kentucky.

Filling this position has been delayed so long because of its ballot-box importance in a presidential year. Mr. Truman aims to strengthen himself with the so-called "labor vote" by choosing a man agreeable to all elements, if that is humanly possible.

"A man shouldn't wear the same pair of shoes two days in succession," asserts Adolphe Menjou. Some could follow this advice only by going barefoot every other day.

The atomic bomb is no secret to us, either, but we know a lot more about it than we understand.

"An actress has to put up a good front," declares a motion picture actress. Yes, but if it weren't for the make-up artists, many of them couldn't do so.

Stuck in the mud in a new car, a motorist had to throw 500 pounds of accessories overboard before he could proceed.

An old-timer can remember when hash was served unabashedly instead of being disguised as croquettes.

PLATFORM CLAIMED MISLEADING

Third Party Followers Deluded

By PETER EDSON
Special Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — Anyone required to sum up, in one sentence, the Henry Wallace Progressive Party convention could only throw up his hands in despair and say it was the darndest thing that ever happened. There hasn't been anything like it in American politics since 1936, when Townsendites and Coughlinites met in Cleveland to express their forlorn hopes.

The Wallace convention beat all that, with camp-meeting revival singing by Brooklyn hillbillies, with Wallace's fantastic press conference in which the working reporters kept their mouths shut and bleeding heart crusaders took over and beat their breasts all over the place; with the barbershop wailing of vice-presidential candidate Glen Taylor and family, with finally the miracle of selling $25,000 worth of tickets for admission to Wallace's Saturday night acceptance speech, then passing the hat to collect $50,000 more.

Perhaps the most characteristic performance of the whole convention was a five-minute speech by one Frank Danowski, president of the Plymouth local of United Auto Workers, CIO, and secretary of the Polish-Americans for Wallace.

Play To Minorities

Danowski called America a combination of cultures blended in one large home. "There are stresses and strains in the home," he said, "and the Hunkeys, the Spicks, the Guineas and the Ginks are looked down on by the rest of the family."

But said Danowski, he was proud to be one of the men with unpronounceable names who had built America's railroads, run its mills and its mines, been its heroes on Notre Dame football teams.

Danowski might also have mentioned other minority groups with unpleasant nicknames. They were all represented at Philadelphia.

Polite newspapers used to avoid mentioning them by name, for fear of offending them, but now, in Henry Wallace's party, they have taken on political consciousness and they dare stand up and express themselves. Here were some of their words:

"I have seen hospital doors closed against my dying son," said Shirley Graham, negro writer and mother.

"Wallace is the only one of three candidates who was ever a successful businessman," said Miles Pennybacker, Norwalk, Conn., secretary of the New Council for American Business.

"I am a mother, a housewife, and a very angry woman," said Mrs. Katharine Van Oyen of New Jersey, complaining of high prices.

"We are tired of Klansmen who ride in the night. As for protecting Southern womanhood, we will protect ourselves," said Polly Dobbs, white and from Alabama.

These are the things that the leaders of the two old parties should hear and do something about them, there is some room for doubt. They bragged that their new party convention had no smoke-filled rooms, no wardheeler politician on the floor, no deals.

Also Had Politics

All such talk is the same old political baloney. There never was a political convention in which the program was so stage-managed the candidates so hand-picked, the platform so dictated by special interests.

In summary, the poor, underprivileged Americans who usually take something of a beating in climbing up the ladder, may have been sold a bill of goods by the left-wing elements of the new party and it may be that they are merely being used to promote what the American Communists are most interested in—the Russian foreign policy line.

Proof of this shows up in the Progressive party platform. The first section of this platform deals with "peace." It calls for an end to American preparedness, abolition of the Marshall Plan, a complete surrender to the foreign policy of Soviet Russia. The few old-time liberals like Rex Tugwell, Scott Buchanan of St. John's, Frederick L. Schuman of Williams and others who tried to write a more balanced foreign policy plank were beaten down in the platform committee of 74 by superior numbers of extreme left-wingers.

As for the domestic policy planks dealing with "freedom" and "abundance," they merely promise everything to everybody and never mind the cost. It is just another political document not worth the paper it is written on. It is a delusion and a snare in which the poor misguided followers of Henry Wallace are being taken for a ride by promises which can never be fulfilled this side of Paradise.

Post Makes Progress

built later on." (The house is still there, is now a funeral home, after another pioneer, G. W. Connell, lived in it for years).

Post goes on to describe his building program. He describes one large stone store, 160 feet square, with eight units, which is still in use virtually as he built it. He describes the construction of sidewalks, hitching racks, a 30-room stone hotel, the planting of trees, construction of a water system, and dedication of a block for the courthouse which was built later.

There are many persons living in Post who can remember those days. Oldtimers recall the old "Rag Town," or tent-city, that perched on the caprock while the town was being built. They remember that many materials were hauled from Colorado City, the nearest railroad point, in wagons.

Fascinating in this time of housing shortage is Post's description of the residential program. "We have erected a large number of comfortable homes. . . They are sold for 2/100 as the first payment, and 1/100 for each monthly payment. . . . A $1,500 home would be sold for $30 down payment, and $15 a month. This includes all interest and other charges."

He described the farm program. He divided his holdings into 80 and 160-acre farms, building farm homes, wells and making other improvements, then sold them at $20 an acre, with payments to be made out of the crop.

He mentioned plans for an ice factory, electric light plant and laundry, planing mill and lumber yard.

It was four years later, in 1912, that Post started construction on the cotton mills that even today rank as Post's largest industry. The Post estate no longer owns the mills. They employ 260 persons in turning out the well-known Garza brand sheets and pillow cases. Figures released to the chamber of commerce indicated that the mill normally consumes around 3,500 bales of cotton annually, producing about 26 miles of wide sheeting weekly.

Many of today's Post residents can remember how the city was built on a "mass production basis." Crews were employed to plant trees, build houses, sidewalks, buildings and the water system. Finally, when the railroad reached Post in 1909, families arrived by the trainload.

Many amusing happenings still live vividly. Dr. Templeton treasures a picture of the town's first barbership, in a tent, with its owner, Ben Williams standing in front of it.

It was to that barbershop that Collie Duran, then a small boy, took a rattlesnake which he had captured in a box-trap. He unloaded it on the floor of the barbershop, and customers flew out of the tent in all directions. Duran still lives in Post.

Post mentioned the "parklets" on the main street as having been landscaped and planted in Bermuda grass. In later years the water system was sold to a utilities company and care of the "parklets" was discontinued.

Recently the city approved a bond issue totaling $600,000 to re-purchase the water system and make improvements, and civic leaders plan eventually to care for the park area as Post once had it.

An example of Post's active, restless search for progress was his rain-making experiment, in which he was 40 years ahead of last year's dry-ice ventures.

Post had observed that heavy rains fall on battlefields, and connected it with heavy use of explosives.

He ordered carloads of dynamite, and built dug-cuts along the rim of the Caprock, storing the vast quantities of explosives in "igloos." Some of these are still in existence.

Then, over a period of days, he successively sent up kites along the rim of the Caprock, heavily loaded with dynamite charges which were exploded simultaneously. The experiment was unsuccessful, and at one time he filed a court action against a large powder company, charging that the explosives he had purchased were of inferior quality.

Post died in California in 1914. The Post Estate still maintains an office in Post. It is managed by J. R. Durrett.

Mr. Post established the first Boy Scout troop of the South Plains in Post in 1913. Rex Everett of Post was a charter member and he recalls, "Mr. Post called us together, and as each boy took the Scout oath, he handed him 25 cents." Marshall Mason of Post was the first scoutmaster.

Thus it was fitting that the Post estate contributed 400 acres of land, now known as Camp Post, to the South Plains Boy Scout council. The first camp was held there in 1926.

After looking over sites for a proposed camp in various parts of West Texas, council officials in 1925 received a call from Mason suggesting the old Double U ranch headquarters as a camp site. There followed a conference with S. B. Bardwell, manager of the Double U interests of the Post estate. Bardwell corresponded with the heirs, Mrs. Leila Y. Post Montgomery and Mrs. Marjory Post Hutton.

Later Bardwell called a conference of the scout executives and told them that Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Hutton would be very happy to present the memorial to the scouts. He added:

"There is one thing. In this outline, you have asked for 300 acres, but you have not included a fine canyon here. With it, there would be 400 acres. Is there any objection to including it?" South Plains scout leaders have said that a gift was never more graciously bestowed.

Camp Post now plans many improvements, including a swimming pool.

Two Draw lake, formerly a favored South Plains fishing, swimming and picnicking spot, has been filed up with silt for a number of years. Recently Post leaders have made plans to raise funds to reclaim the lake, either on its existing site or nearby, but the project is still indefinite.

One of Post's most notable civic activities is the annual Post Stampede and Rodeo, which is held in the third week of May every year. To this has been added the Junior Rodeo, in which all performances as well as direction are by youngsters. The Junior Rodeo is set for August 12 and 13 this year.

Garza county's 1948 tax valuation will be $8,377,557, a sharp increase over the 1947 valuation of $6,878,427, said Cal Tipton, deputy tax collector. Approximately 1,250 automobiles and 350 trucks and farm vehicles are registered in the county. Bank deposits total $3,400,000.

Mrs. Fritz Greenfield of the Post office of Southwestern Associated Telephone company said approximately 700 telephones serve the city, with 250 on the waiting list.

Boyd said the city has 876 water meters in service now.

Post is served by a volunteer fire department of 20 members.

He must be worth millions of dollars by now and he has even been threatened with a congressional investigation, while I am still making my living with a typewriter.

"It just goes to show how many slants can be taken on a subject," writes my friend. These two will suffice to show how right he is.

MARKET HITS SLUMP

NEW YORK, July 29. (AP)—The stock market ran headlong into speculative indifference today and prices dropped all along the line.

The day's business amounted to only 750,000 shares, one of the lowest sessions of the year.

Losses ranged from fractions to a peak of nearly 3 points.

Tobacco issues made the best showing. Among the few stocks closing higher were American Tobacco at 60¾, Liggett & Myers 89¾, Philip Morris 13⅝, Santa Fe 114, and General Motors 63.

Some of the larger losers included Nickel Plate Railroad 81½, Mission Corp 69½, Chrysler 61, Goodrich 57, Western Union 21⅝, American Smelting 60¼, Radio Corp. 12¼, Southern Railway 45¾, Standard Oil (NJ) 80, Gulf Oil 71¾, and Texas Co. 60⅛.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 29. (AP)—The trend in grains was a bit lower today. Loses were small except in the "thin" rye market where prices dropped the 10 cent daily limit at times. Soybeans also weakened for relatively large losses.

A slackened demand for cash corn had some influence on that grain.

The break in rye followed extreme weakness at Winnipeg. The Agriculture department has estimated rye production at 26,671,000 bushels this year, up 3 per cent from last year. Rye stock on July 1 totaled 3,342,000 bushels against 2,346,000 a year earlier.

Wheat closed ⅝ to 1 cent lower September $2.27⅞-¾, corn was ⅛-2⅛ lower, September $1.72½-$1.72, oats were ⅝-1½ lower, September 74⅝-¼, rye was 10 cents lower, December $1.66, and soybeans were 4 to 6 cents lower, November $2.77.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 29. (AP)—Cotton futures were steady in quiet dealings today. Most traders held to the sidelines, watching legislative developments in Washington. They were also hesitant pending the announcement of the mid-July cotton parity scheduled for Friday on which the 1948 loan will be based.

Private crop reports continued generally favorable, with many traders looking for a figure of 13,000,000 bales or better when the government issues its first crop forecast on August 9.

Futures closed unchanged to 25 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Britain To Keep 'Powder Dry' Until Europe Crisis Clarified

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Ernest Bevin's expression of hope for an end to the cold war, but with notice that Britain may keep her powder dry by stopping demobilization until the European situation is clarified, just about typifies the Allied position at the moment.

Britain has been reducing her army at the rate of 20,000 men a month. By stopping this she will add another stone to the weight of power the Allies are trying to put behind their negotiations.

Two Different Problems

It is well to bear in mind, however, that stopping the cold war and settling the European problem are entirely different things.

By using air power, economic sanctions (in the form of the ban on traffic with the Russian zone in Germany) and showing military determination, the Allies are merely coming around to a viewpoint which Russia understands. The Russian idea all the time has been that, as through centuries past, the victors of World War II would divide Europe and Asia between them by power politics.

But, to the Russians, this is a battle in the cold war, a maneuver for strategic position, not the decisive factor.

World Revolution Goal

To repeat a theme which it would be dangerous for us to be bored about, Russian Communism has one never-changing goal. It is world revolution. They would like to see it come about without formal war, through the collapse of the western system which they will seek to accomplish through infiltration.

But even without formal war they believe—Lenin, Stalin, all of the professional revolutionists have told us—that the revolution must be accompanied by violence. They think it is the only method of rallying and "awakening" the proletariat.

Allied negotiators, if a four-power conference is arranged now, will have to remember that the Communists never have accepted the idea that peace, even if entered into for the sake of expediency, can endure. They expect and are counting on one more world war. If the western nations do not begin fighting among themselves again, the Russians will start it when and if they are able.

Since the Communists are dependent upon Russia for the force required by the revolution, they are extremely fearful of her encirclement by the non-Communist world. They take over premieter positions, such as in eastern Europe. Some countries are enslaved as economic or political assets, others strictly from the standpoint of military strategy. This latter was obviously the case in Czechoslovakia. The next over Germany now is for both reasons. They fear its contribution to economic reconstruction in western Europe, and they want it for a jumping-off place themselves.

Tactics might call for the Communists to make peace now (though I see no sign of it) but their strategy is unchanged. The cold war will continue in one form or another, in one place or another, as long as the miscegenation between Communism and imperialism continues in Russia.

Oil Sand Reported Found In Humble Oil's Tidelands Well

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 29 (U.P.)—A net showing of 165 feet of oil sand was reported today from Humble's second offshore wildcat near Grand Isle off the Louisiana coast.

The well, Humble's Grand Isle block 18, state lease 301, was drilled as a southwest directional offset from its original well and was dug from the company's million-dollar floating platform in the Gulf of Mexico.

Humble's first well from the floating rig encountered only slight shows when carried to 8,600 feet and the company plugged the hole back to 3,804 feet and drilled a directional from that point.

The newest pay zone was logged between 8,500 and 8,730 feet and operators have set casing to 8,750 feet preparatory to testing.

Bottom of the new hole is 1,036 feet southwest of the original test.

Children Of Pitcairn Island To Be Offered Education

WELLINGTON, N. Z., July 29 (U.P.)—Descendants of the mutineers of the Bounty are to be given their first official school teacher and school on Pitcairn Island.

The teacher is A. W. Moverley of New Zealand. The school is a pre-fab being sent from the United Kingdom.

Moverley will be accompanied by his wife and 19-year-old daughter.

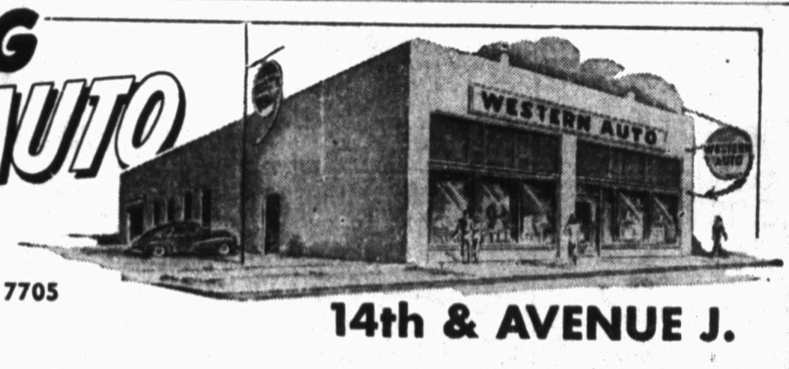

John Adams, one of the original mutineers, was the island's first school teacher. Since then, education has been an intermittent affair.

Moverley said he understood there were about 24 children, between the ages of 6 and 16. He said he would take them to whatever standard they were capable of.
