TWO-THIRDS RULE AGAIN STALKS DEMOCRATS

NEXT MEETING MAY OPEN OLD PARTY MUDDLE

CONVENTION CITY WILL BE SELECTED WHEN LEADERS MEET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—When the Democratic national committee meets in Washington in mid-January, its members probably will be asked to consider once again whether the rule requiring a two-thirds vote in nomination of a presidential candidate should be abolished.

Chairman Shaver and other party managers take the view that the question whether a bare majority or two-thirds of the convention should nominate is one for the convention itself to decide, but there is increasing talk about the capitol that the committee itself may be soundly out on the subject during its session here.

Select Convention Site
The primary purpose of the January gathering is to select a convention city. Already however, other features have been added to the tentative program for the Jackson day banquet, where prospective Democratic presidential candidates will be put through their paces as former dinner speakers.

Some of the most determined opponents of the candidacy of Governor Smith of New York, are opposing the two-thirds rule, but he said today that he believed enough votes had been pledged to secure its abandonment. He added that if a majority rule were adopted he believed Smith would be nominated, while the two-thirds rule was maintained, Smith would not.

Locke made no demonstration when he heard the jury's verdict. He sat passively in his chair without change in expression. He was remanded to the custody of Sheriff Nevins Kirkpatrick, a close friend, and will remain in jail until his motion is passed upon by District Judge Earl Welch.

BAPTISTS RAP ATTACKS MADE ON UNIVERSITY

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 17.—Declaring that recent attacks on Baylor university, Waco, were designed to hinder the work of the Southern Baptists in Texas, the Texas Baptist general convention at a session here last night adopted, with but two dissenting votes, a resolution unequivocally endorsing the work and faculty of the institution.

Bitterly Debated
The resolution, drawn by Dr. L. B. Scarborough, president of the Southern Baptist Seminary, and the Rev. R. E. Bell, pastor of the First church, Decatur, was bitterly debated by numerous ministers before its adoption.

At an earlier session, former Governor Pat M. Neff was re-elected president. First, second and third vice-presidents elected were, respectively, Cullen F. Thomas, Dallas; Dr. O. L. Powers, Wichita Falls; the Rev. B. F. Thorne, Waco.

Secretaries Named
J. L. Truett, who selected president, was elected secretary, with the Rev. D. B. Smith, San Antonio, as assistant; J. H. Pace was re-elected secretary of the corporation.

For the first time in three years a layman has been selected president of the conference, A. D. Foreman was unanimously elected to that office. The Revs. W. W. Melton, Waco; and J. R. Balch, Seymour, were named vice-president and secretary, respectively.

INTEREST HIGH OVER OIL ZONE IN YATES POOL

OFFICIAL GAUGE SHOWS POTENTIAL RUN OF 447,254 BARRELS

(By Associated Press)
TULSA, Okla., Nov. 17.—Already soaring toward the half million barrels a day mark, and with several tests due in the gusher sand, within the next day or so, the Yates Pool of Pecos county Texas continues to cause as much excitement in oil circles as did greater Seminole field when it burst upon the oil horizon.

Official gauge of the pool, taken Tuesday by the pro-rata committee shows that 43 wells have a potential production of exactly 447,254 barrels. This output gives the Yates field in West Texas, the highest average per well of any known field—more than 16,400 barrels per well per day.

Pinch New Gushers
Operators are collaborating with the shut down committee in keeping their big gushers pinched in the pipe-line capacity of the field is but 44,990 barrels a day at present and crude runs vary from 29,000 barrels to something over 40,000 barrels daily.

Another Producer
The same company yesterday brought in another gusher, just one and one-quarter miles west of the big producer. The new well is their number 3 Smith-Taylor, and was flowing at the rate of 7,600 barrels until pinched in shortly after the pay sand was struck.

SPLIT IS SEEN IN FARM UNION

SALARY OF OFFICIALS BONE OF CONTENTION IN IOWA MEETING

(By Associated Press)
DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 17.—A split in the ranks of the national farmers union loomed as a possibility today at the national convention here following failure of delegates from four states who led an attack upon the present administration last night to obtain ratification of a proposal to limit the salaries of officials.

The proposal, made by John A. Simpson, of Oklahoma City, received the support of delegations from Illinois, South Dakota, Nebraska and Oklahoma. There was talk that since the minority faction had not proposed an opposition candidate to run against President C. S. Barnett, of Union City, Ga., the four states may withdraw from the union. Mr. Simpson refused to confirm the report that E. M. Pollard of Nebraska, Neb., his candidate for president, would not be nominated today.

Big Salaries Rapped
Large salaries and excessive allowances for traveling expenses, the faction led by Mr. Simpson declared, had made the farmers' union virtually bankrupt and made a break up of the organization imminent unless rigid economy is practiced.

DAY FAILS IN PLEA TO HAVE BOND REDUCED

OFFICIAL ACCUSED IN TEAPOT CASE WOULD LESSEN BURDEN

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Henry Mason Day, associate of Harry F. Sinclair and under conspiracy charges in connection with the oil jury tampering case, failed today in an effort to have his $25,000 bond reduced to $10,000.

Argument Date Set
The reduction, sought by Day's counsel before Chief Justice McCoy of the District of Columbia supreme court, was opposed by Nell Burkinshaw, assistant district attorney containing a jury tampering investigation. Justice McCoy set Monday for argument on the motion.

Bond of $10,000 was fixed for Sheldon Clark, another Sinclair official, when he was placed under similar charges, after complaints had been made against Day and Sinclair.

The complaint against Day, who is vice president of the Sinclair Exploration company and against the others, charged violation of statutes forbidding attempts to improperly influence jurors.

Refused Grand Jury Probe
He was placed under bond after he had refused to answer questions before the grand jury inquiring into the jury tampering charge, on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

Day and Clark are accused by the government with being the men to whom detectives of the William J. Burns agency reported after shadowing jurors in the Fall-Sinclair case which finally ended in a mistrial and the resulting investigations which are now in progress.

MINERS WOULD REOPEN STRIFE IN COAL FIELD

DETERMINED TO RENEW PICKETING IN FACE OF STATE LAWS

DENVER, Nov. 17.—Encouraged by demonstrations in the north Colorado coal field, striking miners in the southern area today were determined to renew picketing in defiance of the state.

Fear that machine gun crews would try out their weapons caused strikers led by a woman to abandon picketing at the Columbine mine north of here yesterday. The gunners had orders to shoot the first trespasser. Four national guard airplanes have been patrolling the northern field.

Delegation Assembled
Organizers for the industrial workers of the world succeeded in assembling a large delegation of miners at Walsenburg, south state strike headquarters, last night. The miners voted to picket today.

With an effective state and county campaign against picketing production throughout the state has reached a point nearly equal to the average tonnage reported when the strike was called by the I. W. W. October 18, last.

May Mobilize Guards

Possibility of mobilization of part of the Colorado national guard loomed again today. ANOTHER UNIT IN QUADRANGLE WILL BE ADDED

TENTATIVE PLANS ARE DRAWN AND STUDIED BY TECH OFFICIALS

(By Associated Press)
With tentative building plans under study of the department heads, work on another structural unit of the Tech building quadrangle, planned to be the greatest and most complete college campus in the Southwest, will start in a few months, officials of the college said this morning. The Science building will be the next unit of the quadrangle to be erected at a cost of $275,000, bringing the total building expenditure of the college to $1,762,500.

Bids on the new building will probably be received by the board of directors in their meeting in January and construction work will likely start soon afterwards, officials said.

Spanish Architecture
The new building will follow the same architectural style of the other buildings and will form the southwest corner of the proposed campus. It will be located just west of the first unit of the administration building. The auditorium, planned for construction in the next biennium, will be just north of the science building.

The new building will be the latest in design and construction that science buildings in their meeting in January and construction work will likely start soon afterwards, officials said.

Money Available in 1928
Money for the building will not be available until September, 1928, officials say, but they feel certain that work will start several months prior to this date should the contractor getting the work make financial arrangements to carry his men until then. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy by the opening of the winter term of the 1928 session.

The new science building will bring the total number of buildings on the campus including all units, to eighteen.

Miss Cherry was a pioneer in bobbing and waving in Japan.

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 17.—Little Miss Cherry learned about women from America.

Now she runs the most successful beauty parlor operated by a woman in Tokyo. She ranks high in the who's who of feminine successes in Japan.

She runs her spacious Maru-no-uchi Blyon (beauty parlor) in Tokyo's largest office building and, with her husband, C. Yamano, manufactures a whole line of luxurious beauty lotions which they distribute in American fashion.

"Vanity is dear to the heart of women all over the world," she says, in show but quite good English. "But the Japanese women are slow to adopt many of the beauty fads American women accept so easily."

She had a hard time persuading women to get a permanent wave because Japanese women for centuries have felt that curly hair is a sign of mixed blood, a mark of inferiority.

CONGRESS HAS LAST WORD IN FLOOD MATTER

USE OF SURPLUS WATER FOR POWER URGED AT FARM CONGRESS

(By Associated Press) KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17.—Not until congress adopts a definite flood control policy can there be hope for diversion of surplus flood water and reventin of another flood such as that in the Mississippi valley last spring.

The harnessing of streams and the use of surplus water for power and irrigation was urged by Parker, New Orleans, executive director of the National Flood Commission, told the American Farm Congress in an address here.

So long as the levee remains un-supplemented by spillways, floodways and other flood lowering devices be held, rehabilitation in the Mississippi valley will continue difficult because the inhabitants have lost faith in the "levee only" policy.

The situation in the Mississippi valley was intolerable, Parker said, "resulting from an attempt to make dirt dykes take the place of thousands of square miles of lowland natural reservoir and several great natural outlets."

Requires Simple Act "Flood control requires only a very simple congressional act, declaring the general government responsible for the orderly conduct of the Mississippi, appropriating an adequate amount of money and instructing the existing agencies of the government to strengthen the levees and to provide controlled outlets."

"If another great disaster, possibly greater than that of 1927 is to be avoided, the congressional act should be given right of way and passed promptly without riders and without providing for any other project."

The ultimate goal, Parker said, is wholly economic. Its object, he said, should be to begin far up in the source streams, where practical mountain gorges should be dammed to catch and hold surplus water from the mountain sides until the dry season. Low places, further down, should, where possible, be changed into lakes and temporary impounding basins. More water should be soaked in the ground on the farms by reforestation of denuded areas.

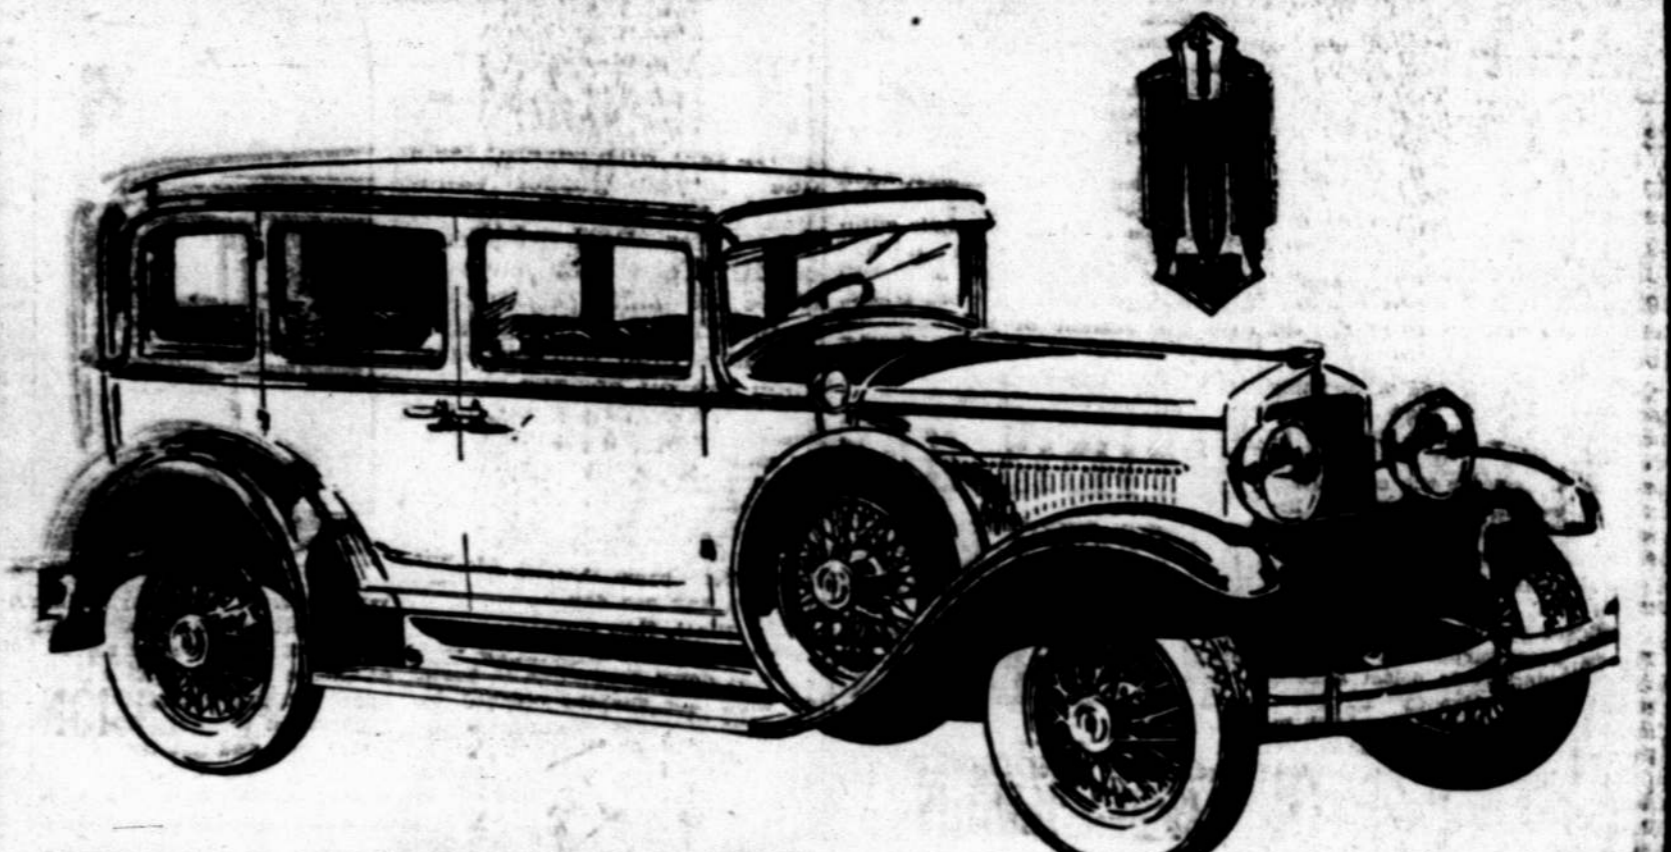

"In this way flood formation would be checked and in a large measure controlled in many of the tributaries."

"Such a visioned man as such a river as the Mississippi can not be controlled, and that would require a reservoir 100 miles the size of the Great Lakes to impound its waters for flood control. They are probably correct, but they regard the water resources of the country as a liability and not as a potential asset."

The government, he said, "has never committed itself to a policy of use in place of waste of water. It has never given the engineers a definite job to do in controlling the flood formation by using the water by creating adequate carrying capacity for streams which must carry flood water, and which can not be controlled otherwise."

"Just as soon as congress shall set up a national water policy, with purposes and objectives clearly set forth, comprehensive plans can be drawn. Then only can we look for the diversion of surplus flood water from drainage basins where it is not wanted to drainage basins where it will serve a good purpose."

In concluding his address, Parker urged the farmers to tell their senators and congressmen that they expected them to immediately provide adequate, permanent protection for the lower Mississippi, and then take up the matter of common sense, nation-wide use in place of waste of the country's water resources.

LUBBOCK HIGH MEETS QUANAH ON TECH FIELD

SANDIES MEET ELECTRA AND BULLDOGS CLASH WITH COYOTES

This week holds for the Panhandle and South Plains several very important gridiron classics, which will have much to do with the standings of the teams in both the Class A and Class B conferences. In Lubbock the Chiefs of Quanah high school will engage with the Westerners in a conference tilt; the Plainview Bulldogs go into battle with the Wichita Falls Coyotes in the Coyotes fair; and the third class A loop game will be exhibited in the Sandies territory with the Electra Tigers.

No Change Expected. Of this group of conference tilts no change is expected in the rating of the teams. The only upset that might be expected would be the possible defeat of the Coyotes from the Plainview machine. However, nothing is impossible in football and the map of the entire conference outline may be altered.

In the Class B realm, which is interest of the fans of this section is only of the South Plains district, several games are scheduled which will give the members of the conference renewed hopes for the title. However, one of the most important week-end contests has been cancelled, the Slaton-Spur contest, which was to have been played Friday. The cancellation came from the offices of the district chairman, C. L. Sone, in which he ruled that Spur had failed to fulfill eligibility papers. In Floydada the title contending Wheelwinds will meet with the Lockney Steers.

Deciding Games. In the case of each district, the class A and class B, it is generally conceded that the Turkey Day classics of Amarillo-Wichita Falls, which will be played in Amarillo, and the Slaton-Floydada game in Slaton, will be the deciding games for the two loops. In both instances the Amarillo and Floydada machines are highly favored for victory.

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—With a prayer on his lips, Theodore (Tiger) Flowers, the "Praying Deacon" of the prize ring, died in a private hospital last night after a minor operation.

Clad in the "Tiger" bathrobe bearing the huge yellow head of a jungle cat across the shoulders—a familiar sight in rings all over the country—the Georgia negro who once held the world's middleweight championship, went to the operating room in the sanitarium of Dr. W. G. Fraleigh to undergo an operation for a growth over his right eye.

Murmurs a Prayer. As the anesthetic was being administered the "Tiger," a deacon in his church at Atlanta, Ga., murmured: "If I should die before I wake, I pray Thee Lord my soul to take."

Without regaining more than semi-consciousness after the operation, performed by Dr. Fraleigh, Flowers died suddenly at 8:30 p. m., when his heart collapsed after he had been thought out of danger. The surgeon pronounced his death due to status lymphaticus.

Little more than a year ago, Harry Greb, who lost his title to Floyd Mayweather in a decision bout at Madison Square Garden February 26, 1926, died under similar circumstances after an operation for removal of a tumor.

Splendid Condition. Dr. Fraleigh, said Flowers' death was "one case in 100,000." He said the boxer was in splendid condition before the operation and had rallied well. Death occurred so suddenly, Dr. Fraleigh said, that he was unable to reach the patient's side from another room at the call of a second physician before the end had come.

Earlier in the day, Flowers made his will, leaving property valued at about $100,000 to his wife and six-year-old daughter, Vera Lee, in Atlanta.

Flowers was born in Camilla, Ga., August 8, 1895.

AGGIES READY FOR TEXAS IN ANNUAL CLASH

CONOVER ONLY INJURED MAN AND HE MAY PLAY IN GAME

(Special To The Journal)
COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 17.—With the exception of Brooks Conover, halfback who sustained two broken bones in his left hand as the result of the game November 5 with S. M. U., every man on the Texas Aggie football squad is in fine physical condition for the turkey day classic between the Aggies and the Texas Longhorns to be staged on Kyle field here this year. Conover may recover sufficiently to participate in the game.

Great Crowd Expected. The greatest crowd on Kyle field in the history of Aggie athletics is expected for the Thanksgiving day game and Coach Dana X. Bible has begun his drive with the A. and M. team in preparation for the coming battle. Following a rest of three days after the game with Rice at Houston, the Aggies Tuesday settled down to a program of intensive drilling for the battle.

Since they will be fighting for a conference championship this year, the Aggies are expected to put up one of the greatest games of the season against their ancient and hereditary rivals. They will be playing on their own gridiron and this will give the Aggies a distinct and telling urge since the entire student body will be on hand to cheer them in every minute of play.

Championship Game. The two teams will go into battle this year under similar conditions in various respects that surrounded the game of 1925 when the Aggies won 28 to 0. In that year, as will be the case this season, victory over Texas meant another championship for the Aggies. The game was played on Kyle field that year also and the Aggies entered it with only one bone from his nose. Flowers lost his crown to Mickey Walker on a 10 round decision in Chicago December 3, 1926.

Splendid Condition. Dr. Fraleigh, said Flowers' death was "one case in 100,000." He said the boxer was in splendid condition before the operation and had rallied well. Death occurred so suddenly, Dr. Fraleigh said, that he was unable to reach the patient's side from another room at the call of a second physician before the end had come.

one defeat. This year the Aggies have not met defeat but were held to a 0 to 0 tie by T. C. U., the same team defeated A. and M. in 1925. There is one difference, however, in that in 1925 Texas needed only the game with A. and M. to win a championship, while this year the Longhorns are not within striking distance of the coveted pennant. However, a championship at stake adds little to the intense fight between the two teams, since by virtue of their long rivalry, the Thanksgiving day classic stands of sufficient interest to hold the eyes of the conference whether a championship is at stake or not.

FRINGE REAPPEARS. Fringe is making its appearance as the chic edging for drapes, for shawls, scarfs. In a white satin bridal gown fringe hangs from the elbow to the wrist.

GRANGE TO ASK DEBENTURES IN FOREIGN TRADE

MERCHANT MARINE ON SOUND BASIS ALSO PLEA OF SESSION

ST. FRANK I. WELLES
Associated Press Farm Editor
CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 17.—Patrons of husbandry gathered at the public auditorium here Nov. 16 to 25 for the sixty-first annual convention of the National Grange, will memorialize congress to adopt the export debenture bill and to put the nation's merchant marine on a sound and continuing basis.

800,000 Strong
Eight hundred thousand strong and headquartered in 32 states, the Grange, oldest farmers' organization in America, long has been a stimulant factor in the legislative framework and educational affairs of husbandry. The underlying theory of its export debenture bill, promulgated by the last congress on agreement of the senate and house agricultural committees to test the strength of the McNary-Hauser measure, was evolved by the Virginia state grange as early as 1890 and five years later elaborated upon by David Lubin, founder of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome.

Presidential veto of its rival in the last session has opened the way for serious consideration of the Grange plan in 1928.

Would Get Certificate
Notably free of intricacies, it would provide that whenever cooperative associations or general agricultural exporters shipped abroad commodities named by law, they would receive export debenture certificates which would be negotiable and accepted by the government at par for the payment of import duties.

The certificates would not be redeemable at the United States Treasury, but a market would be created in which importers might buy them from exporters at a slight discount and in turn present them to United States customs officials

MANY INMATES OF STATE HOME NOT ORPHANED

HARRINGTON RAPS THE PLANS OF RECEIVING CHILDREN IN HOME

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Nov. 17.—Nearly 40 per cent of the inmates of the state orphan's home, Corsicana, are not orphans and do not properly belong there, Dr. H. H. Harrington, chairman of the state board of control, declared today in a statement concerning the institution.

"Sometime ago," he said, the superintendent of the home, in response to my inquiry, reported that there were about 49 children there whose fathers had abandoned, without divorce, the mothers of the children, while he reported only 32 children in the institution each of whose parents were dead.

History And Problems
His statement in part gives history and problems of the school: "The home has been in operation for 40 years. It is located about three miles from Corsicana, and now has 353 inmates and employs 42 people. The monthly payroll being $5,600, with an average monthly salary of $11.72.

"The average number of inmates to the number of employees is about 24, and the support and maintenance expenditures for the last seven years is an annual average of $322,84 per inmate, as compared with $782.71 for each inmate at the Girls training school, Gainesville, or $251.13 for the Juvenile training school, Gatesville, or $450.63 for the home for dependent and neglected children, Waco. This average for the home at Waco is for five years' history, or since its establishment, and runs somewhat high because the number of inmates, for lack of accommodation, has been low.

Juvenile Offenders
"While children now sometimes are committed by the courts to the Corsicana home, it seems to me that since the establishment of the institution at Waco and the Girls training school at Gainesville, this would not be done

Portion Of Tariff
In actual operation, the certificates would be issued to exporters for whatever portion of the tariff congress might stipulate on the product offered for export. The exporter, in buying from the producer, would pay him the current price at which his commodity was quoted on the world market, plus the cash value of the debenture. Thus the producer would receive a much higher price for his surplus stocks, and since the local market is determined largely by the world market, better prices for export goods would tend to increase the price on produce sold at home.

The debenture would apply only to export goods, creating a profitable outlet for surplus stocks and immediately solving the problem of overproduction, which is blamed for present farm ills.

Merchant Marine
In connection with the Grange's request for continuation of the merchant marine, leaders indicate the government may be asked to own and operate ships in foreign trade and to appropriate funds for replacement of vessels lost to the fleet. They declare that private inshore shipping rates is of permanent importance to profitable disposal of surplus products abroad, security is to be found only in the operation of a strong merchant marine.

Business Sessions
Three business sessions are scheduled for each of the ten days of the convention. An attendance of approximately 20,000 is expected, the largest in Grange history. The candidates for seventh degree work duly total 12,000, two thousand more than were initiated at the recent Boston convention in 1924. Reports will show almost $20,000,000 invested in 2,000 Grange halls throughout the country, the bulk of which are of unprecedentedly high standard. Official changes are expected only in minor offices. Louis J. Taber, Columbus, O., national grange master, and A. S. Goss, Seattle, only member of the executive committee whose term expires this year, are slated to succeed themselves.

comparable to one of the public schools of the state—from the kindergarten to the high school. But the school had neglected, as the institution at Gatesville had done, manual training.

Manual Training Work
"Four years ago the board of control secured a small appropriation for the manual training building which subsequently was enlarged. The school now has the elements of a beginning in manual training work.

"It is merely a beginning, and until this year, the work was not properly incorporated, or correlated, with the other school work at the institution. There is not the same necessity or urgency for industrial training that there is at the juvenile training school at Gatesville, but it should be developed and emphasized in order that boys or girls may be made as 'independent' as practicable when they finish.

"At the end of the present biennium, the institution will be fairly supplied with buildings and with equipment. As it grows and develops, greater stress should be laid upon the industrial side of the institution, and not so much upon purely high school work."

The American Red Cross is the only organization in the United States equipped to administer relief following a great disaster. It operates under a Congressional Charter and is backed by the Government.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL YET SHORT OF MARK TODAY

Lubbock's 1928 Red Cross roll call quota was several hundred dollars short at noon today and several teams of the workers were again on the streets this afternoon in an effort to bring up the total.

The citizens are not responding to the roll call as they should, Mr. Benson and other workers said this morning. In view of the fact that the Red Cross serves the city as a community chest, united charities and other charity organizations, their support to the Red Cross should be much greater, they pointed out.

How Many Merchants do This Same Thing? A newspaper in Central Texas was discussing advertising appropriations with a merchant friend of his. The monthly advertising appropriation, it appears, had been overdrawn. Examination of the various items disclosed some very strange expenditures. When pressed for an explanation, the merchant had to admit that he had "bit" on every "fly-by-night" advertising stunt presented to him whether or not it had merit. This merchant was a shrewd buyer—of merchandise. But to him anything CALLED advertising WAS advertising. He never analyzed such purchases at all. Now he has "tumbled to himself." He has cut out the waste and foolishness. He concentrates his appropriation in the standard, recognized, tried-and-proved medium—the daily newspapers. STANFORD AND BEARS MEET ON EVEN FOOTING

TRADITIONAL BIG GAME OF COAST SET FOR THANKSGIVING

(By Associated Press) STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 17.—California and Stanford meet this year in the traditional "Big Game" of the Pacific Coast on terms most nearly even since 1923, considering man power alone. Stanford's slight edge in reserve strength with three teams again. California's two-deep aggregation, balanced by the latter's greater number of individual stars. "Big" Hoffman Stanford's plugging allback has a worthy peer this season in Frank Wilton, a new Cardinal star. Hal McCreery, center and captain, is the third shining light of Stanford. Flash Backfield California has Benny Lom, a 1927 triple-threat find, topping a backfield list which includes Ralph Dougery, "Speed" Newman and Lee Eisan, all newly developed. In the line the Golden Bears have two of the Golden Bears have James Dougery, veteran end, and brother of Ralph, and Irving Phillips who guards the other flank position. Fritz Coltrin, captain and tackle, rounds out the galaxy of California stars.

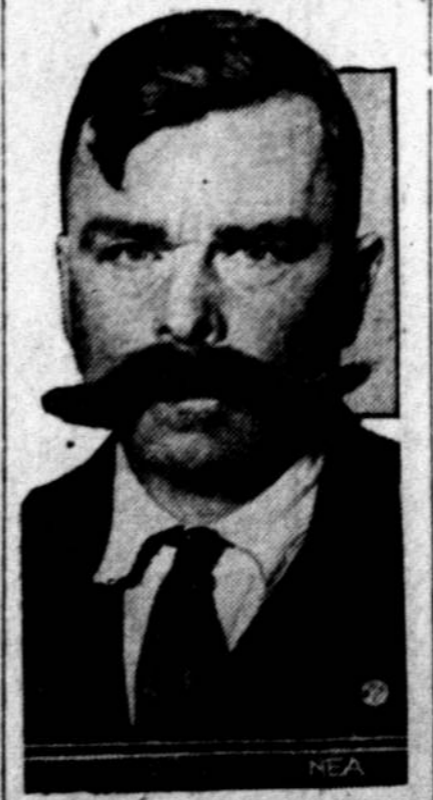

The November 19 clash between the two old time rivals is the thirty-fourth annual game between the two institutions. Stanford has won 14, California 12 and six have ended in tie scores. Seats All Sold The 8,800 seats provided in the Stanford stadium, enlarged by 14,000 seats for the 1927 game, were sold without public offering, early in the season. California's last victory was in 1923 when the Berkeleyets came out on the long on dof a 9 to 0 score. Since 1924 when the Cardinals came from behind to earn a 22-29 tie, Stanford banners have flown triumphant each year. 27 to 14 in 1925 and 41 to 6 in 1926. Scores Are Heavy In the first five games this season, California had only piled up 88 points against the six of its opponents. In six games Stanford rolled up 93 points against 43 for its opponents. Coach "Nibs" Price of California has developed two separate backfield combinations, one designated as a "power" unit, the other having speed as its basis. Glenn "Pop" Warner, Stanford coach, centers his attack in the line punting of Hoffman and open field running of Wilton.

BAPTIST MEET

(Continued from Page 1) being operated successfully. "We are endeavoring to transform several disabilities into Christian assets. The hospital also does a missionary work and in several instances patients in our institution have been converted. "We have handled about 10,000 cases in the twenty months the hospital has been in operation. The volume of work has been far beyond the most fondest of our hopes." Andrews Leads Devotional The Rev. M. T. Andrews of Texas, gave the devotional at the opening of the meeting Thursday. "Just as long as the moon and the stars perform their functions in the skies, just so long will the needs of the human heart cry out for God", Dr. Andrews said. "The religion of Jesus promises and provides complete pardon from our sins and Christianity is the complete and perfect answer to sin. "All things work together toward the good, and for those who love God, Jesus provides the only solution for the pains and the anguish of the human heart. All that is fine and sweet in life has come out of suffering."

MYSTERY DRUG TAKES FOURTH VICTIM TODAY

DRUGGIST WITH WIFE AND BEST FRIEND DIED MONDAY (By Associated Press) BALTIMORE, Nov. 17.—To the circle of death in which a druggist, his wife, and their best friend yielded to a powerful and mysterious poison, police today said a fourth victim might be added. Coroner Horton, in announcing that an investigation of the fourth strange death was under way, said that the victim—a man whose name was not revealed frequented the drug store several nights each week. Two Died Monday Mrs. Helen McCloskey Curran, wife of the druggist and the first victim, died on Monday night. Albert A. Curran, her husband, fell into convulsions from which he never rallied on Tuesday night. Near him, in the store, stood Merrill Stevens, the friend, who had seen the druggist drain a colored liquid from a wine glass, and to whom Curran had administered some drug for a cold. "Terrified by Curran's end Stevens, a tug boat captain, that night applied under a fictitious name, for hospital treatment. Leaving the hospital with the statement that he felt "all right," he was seized with convulsions last night and died ten minutes later. Knew Was Poisoned Police believe he knew that he had been poisoned. Dr. Madsen, city post mortem physician, said that in the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Curran he discovered no traces of alcohol. These deaths came after ten deaths in two weeks in the city in which alcoholism had played a part. Police seized alleged liquor and alcohol with coloring matter in the drug store.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Vance eliminates Miss St.
as a suspect and he inter-s with Markham against Leacock, who says
Pffye's statements strengthen the case against the capt. It is brought out that he had forged Alvin Benson's name to a check. Paula Banning admits to Vance that she had loaned her jewels to to put up with Benson security. Heath brings word Leacock has confessed, and he laughs.

HOW BEGIN THE STORY
CHAPTER XLII
Vance was feeling too complisly triumphant to be annoyed, smiled with magnanimous tolerance. "You are funny, doesn't it seem to you that you have been a little bit too much in your own conceit? You know how I feel about this case. I'm jolly glad the captain has for imaginative literature. This extract from our major, I think we can overcome his scruples and get him out of us what he knows. Maybe wrong, but it's worth trying."
He stropped the district attorney's desk and leaned over it casually. "I haven't led you astray, yet, old man, and I'm going to make an suggestion. Call up the Major and ask him to come here at once—but don't you dare say a word to him about this case."
"I'll call him up," said Miss St. Clair, or Pontius Pilate's. But his immediate presence. Tell him you want to discuss it with him proceeding with the indit-

Markham nodded, and Heath started for the door. But Vance quickly planted himself in the way.
"Could you keep this thing quiet
till tomorrow, Markham?" he asked.
Markham was annoyed.
"I could if I wanted to—yes. But why should I?"
"For your own sake, if for no other reason. You've got your prize safely locked up. Control your vanity for 24 hours. The Major and I both know that Leacock's innocent, and by this time tomorrow
the whole country'll know it."
Again an argument ensued; but the outcome, like that of the former argument, was a foregone conclusion. Markham had realized for some time that Vance had reason to be convinced of something which as yet he was unwilling to divulge.
His opposition to Vance's requests were, he had suspected, largely the result of an effort to ascertain this information; and it was positive of it now as he learned forward and gravely debated the advisability of making public the captain's confession.

HOG PRODUCTION IN TEXAS REDUCED NEARLY 50 PER CENT, EXPERT SAYS IN EXPLAINING BIG OPPORTUNITY

(Special To The Journal)
 AUSTIN, Nov. 16.—A reduction of nearly fifty per cent has taken place in the number of hogs raised in Texas since 1920, according to George M. Lewis, livestock specialist in the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. There are now only 1,250,000 hogs on Texas farms as compared with 2,400,000 seven years ago, says Mr. Lewis, who further points to the importance of the industry in the State as evidenced by the returns amounting to over thirty-two million dollars which the sale of hogs brought to producers in the State last year.

"Every farm in Texas should have a few hogs to utilize the waste products and to provide the farm families with a part of their meat supply and to add to the farm income," Mr. Lewis advises. "They require very little attention and are the most economical animal in existence. The hog is universally known as the 'mortgage lifter,' because he has contributed to the success of farming throughout the world and he is a ready source of immediate profit on any diversified or intensified farming enterprise."

U. S. Outstanding Producer
 The United States is the outstanding hog producing nation of the world. It produces over 40 per cent of the commercial supply of the world, over 60 per cent of the total number is found in the mid-western or corn belt states. Corn and hog production are very closely associated; it is estimated that 40 per cent of the American corn supply is fed to hogs while only 15 per cent is consumed by cattle.

"The importance of American hog production in the world market is reflected in the exports of pork products. Last year 425,000,000 pounds of 5 per cent of the pork production and 723,000,000 pounds or 22 per cent of the lard production was sold in foreign markets. The exports of pork were twice the amount in 1923 when prices were at a low level. Likewise, the per capita consumption of pork in this country reached 75 pounds in 1923, the highest rate of consumption on record. Since 1923 hog production has declined sharply in the United States. The number has decreased from 68,500,000 to 52,500,000 head in 1927. This is considerably below the normal number of hogs. High corn prices and low hog prices during 1923 and 1924 brought about a curtailment of hog raising. This depressed supply con-

OLTON HONORS JUDGING TEAM WITH BANQUET

WINNERS IN TECH MEET GUESTS AT FATHER AND SON SESSION

(Special To The Journal)
 OLTON, Nov. 17.—Honoring the stock judging team of the Olton high school which won premier honors in stock judging at the Texas Technological college at Lubbock recently, the Olton Chamber of Commerce was host at a father and son banquet in the new gymnasium building of the Olton high school attended by a large number of visitors and members of the Olton chamber Tuesday evening.

Paul Bohner, secretary of the Olton Chamber of Commerce, was toastmaster. H. P. Webb, superintendent of the Olton public schools, delivered the address of welcome and told of the outstanding accomplishments of the Olton community, schools and the farming country around it. Olton is the county seat of Lamb county, and is located 25 miles from Plainview, which is the nearest railroad point. The Olton public schools have an enrollment of 500 students while the total population of the town of Olton is about three hundred people, indicating the high development of the farming country around the town.

Vocational Department
 The high school at Olton which sent the winning stock judging team to Lubbock has a complete vocational agricultural department, home economics department, and 21 units affiliation with the University of Texas. According to Webb, Olton has a trade territory surrounding it of 200,000 acres of tillable soil and produces annually on 50 per cent of the acreage which is under cultivation, 2,500 carloads of cornage. This cornage is trucked to Plainview, Amberst, Littlefield, Muleshoe and other points, and Webb pointed out that if one truck were to haul one year's tonnage by itself, it would take 20 years to complete the task.

"The Olton territory is one of the largest territories in the South Plains territory for the production of small grains according to Albert G. Hinn, president of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce and owner of the Harvest Queen mills and elevators at Plainview, who addressed the banquet. Hinn had with him at the banquet J. C. Barton, superintendent of the Stator division of the Panhandle and Santa Fe railroad, who made an inspection of the Olton territory for his company this week. "If we can increase the output of officials of the Santa Fe railroad company as we have impressed Mr. Barton with the possibilities of this Olton territory, I do not think that it will be very long before Olton has a railroad," Mr. Hinn said.

Cream and Pastry
 Fifteen thousand dollars worth of cream and a similar amount of poultry products are produced annually in the Olton territory according to Webb.

Another accomplishment of the Olton school which Olton is proud of, says Webb, is the newly organized 37 piece band, and a regular band master has been employed.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the Texas Technological college made a brief address telling of the accomplishment of the Olton stock judging team, and presented B. Sherrod, chairman of the public relations committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, who presented the team with the loving cup donated by the Lubbock chamber. The members of the winning team upon whom the honor was conferred are: Lee Kidd, Otis Hively and Francis Bill.

Clapp Talks on Scouting
 Scoutmaster Clapp of Lubbock made a father and son address stressing the importance of fathers becoming better acquainted with their sons and their problems. Clapp in addition to being scoutmaster at Lubbock is also a cotton man, and he said the cotton around Olton is the longest stapled to be found on the plains.

J. C. Barton, superintendent of the Santa Fe railroad who was present, made a brief talk stressing the importance of advertising this section of Texas to the outside world.

Other speakers on the program included W. L. Stangel, Lubbock; A. E. Davis, Lubbock, and Maury Hopkins, Plainview.

Camel

One of life's great pleasures is smoking

Camels give you all of the enjoyment of choice tobaccos. Is enjoyment good for you? You just bet it is.

If all cigarettes were as good as Camel you wouldn't hear anything about special treatments to make cigarettes good for the throat. Nothing takes the place of choice tobaccos.
