STERLING REJECTS NEW PRORATION PROPOSAL

Arrest Of Four Suspects Breaks Forgery Ring Operating In Burkburnett

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

In the face of a large reduction in taxable values the city of Wichita Falls adopts a tax rate of $1.40, the same as last year, and expects to meet all of its obligations during the year—a member of the city council says the city "will" meet all its obligations. This is to be accomplished through drastic reductions in the city's budget. All will agree that this is a much better policy than incurring an overdraft and failing to meet interest and bond payments, as some municipalities are doing.

We hope that before taxes are assessed next year some method may be found for placing on the tax rolls a large amount of personal property that is now escaping taxation altogether upon the tax rolls. If this is done the city can still have more revenue and at the same time reduce the tax rate. As it now is the real estate owner carries an undue share of the tax burden.

A friend hands me these two clippings which I pass on to the readers of this column:

Discouraged?

A young man ran for the legislature of Illinois and was badly defeated.

He entered business and failed.

He was engaged to a beautiful woman and she died.

He was a candidate for congress and was unsuccessful.

He tried to get a federal office but failed.

He became a candidate for the vice-presidency and again was defeated.

One failure after another—discouraging defeats, heart-breaking set-backs.

He then became president of the United States—one of the greatest men of America, whose memory is loved and honored throughout the world—Abraham Lincoln.

How Old Are You?

Age is a quality of mind,
If you have left your dreams behind,
If hope is cold;
If you no longer look ahead,
If your ambition's fires are dead—
Then you are old.

But if from life you take the best,
And if in life you keep the jest,
If love you hold;
No matter how the years go by,
No matter how the birthdays fly—
You are not old.

—Author Unknown.

Maybe my friend knew I was about to say something about taxes.

I should have made it plain in my Talk yesterday that the building at 608-610 Ohio was no longer in the ownership of any member of the Bean family.

The Abilene Reporter-News is conducting a ballot among farmers of West Texas on cotton legislation. Up to Monday night it had tabulated replies from 1,153 farmers of whom 1,111 favored legislation for reduction of cotton acreage next season while 42 were opposed to such legislation.

Undoubtedly the cotton growers of Texas right now want some form of legal control of cotton production. What they would want year after next is another matter. The present situation is an emergency in which it seems the industry of the cotton grower in conjunction with the bounty of nature has brought a yield that threatens disaster. It does seem that we ought to have enough intelligence to remedy such a situation.

Sturdy individualism in accord with American tradition is a fine thing but there are a good many folks who seem to think poverty and want is hardly in the American tradition even if some diminution of sturdy individualism is involved in the plan of relief.

It was a sturdy individual, Grover Cleveland, who once remarked that we faced a condition and not a theory.

Senator George Purl of Dallas, in Wichita Falls on business, wires Governor Sterling that he will not vote for any legislation that authorizes sheriffs to throw the farmers of Texas into jail in order to fill their pockets with fees of office. The jails, he wired, were built to house criminals and not intended for honest farmers.

Senator Purl declared that the biggest racket in Texas today is the fee system, and we agree with him there but it's a racket that is involved every time the legislature passes a law with a penalty for its violation. But, we should add in fairness, Senator Purl favors a special session of the legislature to aid the farmers.

Princess Helene Rides Third Class in England

LONDON, Sept. 1. (US)—Princess Helene of Rumania, divorced wife of King Carol II, today is a member of that small section of European royalty not above mingling with ordinary folks.

She set a new "low" in royal travelling records by taking only a third-class railroad passage from London to the country place in Scotland where she is on a holiday.

King Gustav of Sweden is another democrat. He uses street trolleys so frequently that his appearance as a nickel passenger rarely causes a flurry.

CHARGES FILED AFTER SEIZURE OF MATERIALS

Quartet Held After Passing Of Checks on Lawton Bank

PRISONERS IDENTIFIED

Twelve Drafts Honored by Stores Before Checkup

The operations of a forgery ring is believed by police to have been broken up here Tuesday with the arrest of four men who are alleged to have passed a number of forged checks at Burkburnett Monday and Tuesday.

Two of the men, Clay W. Cape and Fred McElmury, were arrested at Burkburnett early Tuesday by Bill Garland, chief of police. James A. Dawson and Bert Walker, said to be Cape's and McElmury's companions, were arrested here early Tuesday afternoon shortly after they had registered at a rooming house. The latter two were taken into custody by A. L. Stubblefield and George Garrett, city detectives.

Check Books Seized

Charges of forgery and passing forged instruments were filed against each by Sam B. Spence, district attorney. They are held in the county jail.

Four large check books were seized. The checks were on banks in Corsicana and Mexia, Texas, and Lawton, Okla. The books are believed to have been stolen from business houses in those cities.

About 12 checks, ranging in amounts from $12 to $15 for a total of about $100, were passed to Burkburnett merchants Monday night and Tuesday morning. Drawn on a Lawton bank and bearing a signature of an official of the Painter & Zeigler Tank company, the checks were tendered in payment of small purchases.

Suspects Identified

The arrest of the four men followed when a Burkburnett grocer became suspicious after cashing a check, and called a Lawton bank by telephone.

Several Burkburnett business men were here Tuesday afternoon to identify the suspects.

A druggist said that he cashed one on the tank company and after the passer said that he was building several tanks on the outskirts of Burkburnett. The druggist said that he knew that a number of tanks were being constructed at the location given.

Oklahoma Charges

The four men are wanted at Duncan and Altus, Okla., on similar charges, Dick Morris, chief of police, said. It is believed they also are wanted in other Oklahoma towns.

The man giving his name as Dawson was questioned in connection with an automobile theft at Duncan. Duncan officers, it is said, have been searching for a Jack Davis for several months. Davis has served two sentences for forgery in the Oklahoma state penitentiary.

A leather covered blackjack was found in the personal effects of the men being held.

German Flier Ends Ocean Hop at Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Wolfgang von Gronau, German transoceanic aviator, completed his Germany-to-Chicago flight today at 6:10 p. m. (C. D. T.) when he landed his Dornier flying boat, the Groenland Wal, on the surface of the downtown lake harbor at the foot of Eighth street. He left Long Lake, Ont., at 12:20 p. m. (C. D. T.) and flew the 600 miles here without a stop.

Cudahy to Buy $1,000,000 Worth of Cotton Surplus

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (UP)—The Cudahy Packing company of Cudahy, Wis., will buy probably $1,000,000 worth of cotton between now and Dec. 1 and hold it until the price goes up, according to an announcement by E. A. Cudahy Jr., president.

The company's purpose, Cudahy said, will be to help southern plantation owners get rid of their surplus and boost the price of cotton to above production cost.

Texas Ginners Sued For Violating Trust Law In Price Fixing

AUSTIN, Sept. 1. (AP)—Atty. Gen. James V. Allred said late today he had filed suit in Travis county district court against the Elgin Cotton Oil company, alleging violation of the anti-trust laws.

Defendants named in the suit were Henry Schuhmacker of Houston, secretary of the gin company; T. J. Puckett, M. G. Walberg, A. Hiller, R. M. Galyean, R. C. Galyean, Frank Hanke and Fritz Hanke of Bastrop county; Oscar Larsen, C. W. Pflueger and John A. Sefcak of Williamson county, and Carl Larsen, Henry Larsen, T. A. Christensen and Wesley Morrell of Travis county.

The petition alleged the defendants conspired about June 1, 1931, and entered into an agreement "the purpose of which was to fix and maintain price for preparing a certain product for market and transportation . . . at 25 cents per 100 pounds of seed cotton ginned by them and a price of $1 for the bagging and ties placed on each bale of cotton so ginned."

The suit asked forfeiture of the company's charter and $1,500 per day for each day's violation and foreclosure of the company's property to satisfy the judgment.

Attorney General Allred issued the following statement in filing the suit: "Since taking office I have repeatedly warned against the making of unlawful agreements. A short time ago I issued a particular warning against the fixing of prices by gins and cotton oil mills. We have been conducting a general investigation into this and will continue to do so. If the ginners have generally gone into an agreement of this kind, I expect to prosecute every one of them. It isn't right for the farmers to have to pay out more to produce and market their cotton than they can get for it. If there is anything this office can do to break up these combinations, we are certainly going to perform the duties imposed on us by law."

Mercury Dives 20 Degrees Following Thundershowers

Cooler weather prevailed here during Tuesday night after a brief but heavy shower of rain fell during the late afternoon.

The temperature dropped about 20 degrees in less than an hour's time. At 5 o'clock the thermometer at the Texas Electric Service company weather bureau read 96 degrees. At 6 p. m. the mercury had dropped to 75 degrees.

Shortly after the shower, however, the mercury started climbing again, registering warmer.

At Electra a hard rain fell, which is expected to benefit crops. A small amount of hail was noted, but insufficient to cause damage.

A light rain fell at Burkburnett and Henrietta, according to dispatchers of railroads operating here. Reports of rain elsewhere was not received.

BODIES SOUGHT AT NEW SPOT

New Evidence Against Powers Is Found

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 1. (UP)—A clue, the source of which was not divulged, sent deputy sheriffs to a plot of ground four miles from here today where they started digging for the bodies of other possible victims of Harry F. Powers, matrimonial agent.

Five bodies already have been recovered near the Powers garage six miles from here, and Sheriff W. B. Grimm would not explain how the site for further digging was selected.

Meanwhile police continued to pile up evidence againt Powers, who, they say, has confessed to killing Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, wealthy widow of Par Ridge, Ill., her three children, and Mrs. Dorothy Lemke of Worcester, Mass.

Detectives say Powers lured the two women to Clarksburg on promises of marrying them, although he already had a wife who furnished the money to build the garage in which he killed his victims.

A roll of films, taken while Powers and Mrs. Lemke were motoring from Worcester to Clarksburg, were developed today. They showed full length views of Mrs. Lemke and Powers, posed against rustic backgrounds. The pictures revealed that Mrs. Lemke wore the same dress that was found in the trench-like grave in which her body was found.

The evidence furnished by the films was regarded by police as especially incriminating.

Chief of Police W. B. Moran of Fairmount arrived today to investigate reports that Powers had conducted part of his "mail order marriage" business in that town. Moran said Powers, using the alias of Matthews, had been seen in Fairmount several times. One of Mrs. Eicher's children was known to have mailed a letter to a friend from Fairmount.

Today police discovered another ruse by which Powers attracted wealthy middle-aged women. He posed as Cornelius O. Pierson, a civil engineer. They found a will made out by him. He was believed to have used it to allay the suspicion of his victims who then would make out their wills to him.

Bank Makes Insurance Claim for $2,000,000

LONDON, Sept. 1. (US)—Lloyds, British insurance organization famed for writing policies on almost anything to virtually any amount has received a $2,000,000 claim under a banker's guarantee policy from a Chicago bank which was swindled out of $3,500,000 by an employe, it was reported tonight.

Marrs Approves Plan For Textbook Holiday

AUSTIN, Sept. 1. (AP)—S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of education, today approved the plan of C. N. Shaver of Huntsville, member of the state textbook commission, for a "textbook buying" holiday.

Marrs said the plan was in harmony with the policy of his department but pointed out that distribution of the books already under contract had been made for the current year and no saving could be effected unless no contracts were made for the year starting Sept. 1, 1932. He stated it would be sound economy for the state to make certain renewals.

Shaver estimated the state would save approximately $1,000,000 annually by the holiday.

Chihuahua Deputies Resign From State Party

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 1. (AP)—The entire Chihuahua representation in the national congress resigned from the Chihuahua revolutionary party today. They claimed that Gov. Andres Ortiz of Chihuahua was usurping management of the party so he could use the organization for his own purposes in the gubernatorial elections next year.

The representation consisted of two senators and four members of the chamber of deputies. They announced that they would bring charges against Governor Ortiz before the directorate of the National Revolutionary party. Their membership in the National party was not affected by their break with the state organization, which is a subsidiary group.

Private Companies Bid For Muscle Shoals

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (US)—Seven proposals for private operations of the government's $100,000,000 power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., were opened in secret today by President Hoover's commission.

While the commission refused to make known the names of those desiring to lease the plant, Chairman Samuel Hobbs said the proposals were "encouraging." He added that some of the proposals included plans for building Cove creek dam in Tennessee.

Japanese Ambassador Entertains Lindberghs

TOKYO, Sept. 1. (US)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh got away from the round of fetes and receptions that greeted their arrival here to taste of a little Japanese seashore life today.

They are the guests of U. S. Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes at his Karuizawa summer residence. Colonel Lindbergh drove over from Tokyo following last night's dinner given by Premier Wakatsuki. Mrs. Lindbergh went by train with the ambassador and members of his family.

Pinchot's Speech Seen As Presidential Bid

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 1. (UP)—Approval of the equalization fee method to provide farm relief and disapproval of the farm board was expressed here today by Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, in an address believed by political observers to be a bid for the 1932 Republican presidential nomination.

Governor Pinchot came here for a day named in his honor and spoke before 3,000 delegates to the Missouri farmers convention.

MURRAY PLANS DRASTIC MOVE TO CUT COTTON

Governor Would Provide Himself and Board With Power

WHEAT INCLUDED

Texas Lawmakers Favor Special Session for Farm Relief

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 1. (UP)—Gov. William H. Murray announced today he would initiate a proposed law within a short time providing himself and a board power to reduce wheat and cotton acreage in Oklahoma.

Such control would be invoked under statutes relating to conservation of natural resources and fertility of the soil, Cicero I. Murray, the governor's cousin, said.

The reduction, according to the governor's plan, would not become effective until a majority of other cotton or wheat producing states agree to a similar action.

For 1932 Crop

The governor said he had not determined a date when he plans to initiate the proposal but indicated it would be in time to have an effect on the 1932 crop.

The Oklahoma governor, who has undertaken a tremendous task of righting the state's economic ills, said that if the state plan proved successful, he contemplated formation of an interstate board. Under such a board of control, investigators would survey the crop situation in advance and make recommendations.

The governor indicated the plan would be used with equal success in curtailment of both wheat and cotton acreage. He estimated cotton acreage could be cut by 50 per cent within a year.

Senators Confer

Three state senators called on the governor today urging him to initiate laws requiring a 50 per cent reduction in Oklahoma cotton acreage.

Senator Cecil Chamberlin, Frederick, said Murray told them he was considering advisability of legislative action but was udetermined whether he would call a special session or would withhold action until the regular session of the legislature in 1932.

Suspect in Swindling Returned to California

STEPHENVILLE, Texas, Sept. 1. (UP)—California officers were en route tonight to Woodland, Calif., with Thomas A. Farris, who faces trial there on several charges alleging swindling. Farris made bond here two weeks ago, after his arrest on the charges.

He was apprehended Friday at Odessa, Texas by Mont Thomas, Erath county sheriff, returned here and placed in custody of California officers who arrived Saturday with extradition papers.

Funeral Service Held For Former Legislator

SEALY, Texas, Sept. 1. (AP)—Funeral services for Leonard Tillotson, 67, former member of the Texas legislature, who died at the home of his father-in-law at Wallis Monday night, will be held at 2 p. m. here Wednesday.

Mr. Tillotson had been a resident of Sealy most of his life. He was in the state legislature from 1920 to 1928, during which time he was a strong opponent to road bonds.

German-Austrian Custom Union Reported Shelved

Roosevelt Asks New Teeth in Crime Laws in Message to Legislature

New York's Governor Centers on Firearm Control in Fight Against Inroads of Gangs

By WALTER BROWN

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 1. (AP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today struck at crime in a special message to the legislature.

He urged immediate enactment of legislation to aid organized society in its campaign against "lawlessness which expresses itself in terms of gang warfare, holdups and reckless shootings."

"Gangdom has challenged the strength of the law," he declared. "That challenge we must meet."

Maps Measures

His specific recommendations were:

1. A bill prohibiting sale and private possession of machine guns.

2. Strengthening the state law governing purchase and possession of firearms.

3. Measures prohibiting possession and use of automobiles by "the modern type of gangster, the voluntary idler and the habitual criminal" and "other persons who may use them for criminal purposes."

4. A crime statute providing "any person who lives habitually idle and bears an evil reputation, or is engaged in some illegal occupation, or consorts with thieves and criminals, or frequents unlawful resorts," be deemed guilty of disorderly conduct.

Automobile Law

He also sent to the legislature letters from Acting Mayor Joseph McKee and Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney of New York City which urged passage of a bill providing an extra penalty for a

$125,000 Fire Hits Hamlin District

ABILENE, Texas, Sept. 1. (AP)—The origin of a fire which caused $125,000 damages in the business district of the town of Hamlin, 45 miles northwest of here, remained a mystery today.

The fire broke out early this morning and raged for two hours before Hamlin fire equipment, with the assistance of equipment rushed from Stamford, 20 miles away, gained control.

The First National bank building, which housed the Western Union and American Railway Express offices, was gutted by fire. Two dry goods stores and a drug store in the same block were badly damaged.

TWO OFFICERS DIE IN CRASH

San Antonio Gun Contestants Killed in Ohio

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio, Sept. 1. (AP)—Two members of the San Antonio, Texas police department, returning from the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, were killed in an automobile accident on the Dixie highway eight miles south of here tonight. They were Lieut. A. S. Milstead, 37, and Detective Alex Goodman, 26.

Two other members of the department were injured seriously. R. F. Tate, 42, chief investigator in the police chief's office, received a broken shoulder and Homer Long, 24, detective, suffered a fractured collar bone. They were brought to a hospital here.

Tate, who was driving, said the car went off the road when he was confused by headlights of another machine. Before he could right the machine, Tate said Milstead became excited and grabbed the steering wheel, causing the car to overturn into a ditch.

Milstead, pinned beneath the wreckage, suffered a crushed chest, while Goodman died of a broken neck. The men left Camp Perry late today after a week's participation in the rifle matches.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—President Hoover today approved the application of Smedley D. Butler for retirement from the marine corps on Oct. 1 after 33 years of service.

ORDER TO CURB EAST TEXAS OIL IS REDRAFTED

Governor Refuses Support For 225 Barrels Per Well Plan

PAT NEFF DISSENTS

East Texas Gushers Remain Idle While Officials Seek Agreement

AUSTIN, Sept. 1. (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling still kept the East Texas oil fields closed with troops tonight, apparently having blocked the issuance of a new state railroad commission proration order for the field by his disapproval of its provisions.

The commission set about redrafting the order. Another conference was to be held to consider their differences.

The governor said the proposed order would "put the little fellow out of business because he hasn't the money like the big operator to drill more wells."

Originally, the draft of the order provided for an allowable of 225 barrels per well a day and rejected the acreage basis advocated strongly by the central proration advisory committee at the commission's preliminary hearing last week. It was estimated production under the order would be 340,000 barrels daily.

After completing this draft of the order, the commissioners conferred for nearly two hours with the governor. The governor was silent afterward as to what took place at the conference, but said he had issued orders to Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, martial law commander in the East Texas oil fields, to keep all wells closed until he received instructions from the executive.

Terrell Silent Too

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, likewise refused to discuss what occurred in the conference. He indicated the order would be redrafted.

Governor Sterling said he had received numerous telegrams from independent operators in the field who were perturbed over the 225 barrels per well basis of the proposed order. He declined to say what sort of order he would approve and under which he would modify or lift martial law to permit opening of the more than 1,600 wells in the field.

After Terrell and Lon A. Smith, another commissioner, left the conference, Governor Sterling continued in session for a time with Pat M. Neff, third member, who had dissented from the last several proration orders. He had been at odds with the other two commissioners for several months, since he was deposed as chairman and replaced by Terrell early this year.

Neff Disagrees

Neff said reports that he had agreed with the other commissioners on the order were in error. He said the order made no provision for an oil and gas ratio, and indicated he would dissent from any order that did not contain that provision.

He said the projected commission order merely would "start a race to see who could drill wells the fastest and would result in an orgy of drilling, with rigs running night and day."

"When the commission has adopted an efficient oil and gas ratio, has provided for greater spacing of wells and has taken steps to prevent physical waste in drilling

U. S. STOCKS DECREASE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Oil stocks in the United States decreased 3,415,000 barrels during July.

The bureau of mines of the department of commerce today announced that stocks of all oil in the country July 31 were 649,205,000 barrels, compared with 652,620,000 on June 30. The stocks were sufficient for 219 days' consumption at the end of July as compared with 221 days at the end of June.

The July output was not affected by the closing of wells in Oklahoma and Texas. This action was not taken until after the end of the month.

Last Rites for Mrs. A. E. Brown To Be Held From Church Today

Funeral services for Mrs. A. E. Brown, 54, well-known churchwoman who died at a hospital here Tuesday morning after a six-month's illness, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Methodist church.

Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the church, will officiate. Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, will assist. Music will be in charge of R. E. Shepherd. Burial will be in Rosemont. Arrangements are in charge of the Hines mortuary.

Until 1:30 p. m. Wednesday the body will lie in state at the home, 1631 Tenth street.

Mrs. Brown had been a resident of Wichita Falls for 20 years. During that entire period she engaged actively in the affairs of the First Methodist church here. She also was prominent in the work of several women's orders, including the Royal Neighbors of America, which will conduct a brief service at the church.

A native of Mississippi, she came to Texas as a child.

Active pallbearers will be Lester Jones, Leon Deaton, I. W. Karrenbrock, C. E. McWhirter, J. R. Ogle and John Butts. Honorary pallbearers

SOLONS FAVOR EXTRA SESSION

Cotton Legislation Urged by Lawmakers

Of the number favoring the session, 13 were senators and 101 members of the house.

Twenty-three legislators, six senators and 17 representatives, have declared against the special session while seven were undecided.

Governor Sterling gave no indication today what his action would be. He said yesterday he would not call a special session unless he received sufficient commitments from members of the legislature to insure quick passage of legislation.

A large majority of the legislators favored the 50 per cent reduction plan advocated by J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, over that advanced by Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana prohibiting planting of cotton in 1932. The Louisiana legislature has enacted a law embodying Long's plan.

Replies had been received tonight from 144 members of the legislature. There are 150 house members and 31 senators.

Governor Sterling had made no reply to a lengthy telegram from Governor Long today in which the Texas executive was urged to take immediate action before the current crop left the hands of the farmers. The telegram stated the only plan left to save the cotton farmers was to prohibit cotton planting next year.

WICHITA C-C TO KEEP "HANDS OFF"

A "hands off" policy will be taken by the chamber of commerce here in regard to current cotton relief proposals, it was decided Tuesday when directors of that organization held their semi-monthly meeting.

Numerous requests have been received asking support of various plans for cotton relief, it was said.

Committee chairmen will be expected to submit plans for future activity at the next meeting of the board, J. L. Jackson Jr., president, announced.

It was decided to give support to fairs in this section which will be held during the coming months. Efforts to send large delegations to these fairs will be made.

Administration Hopeful Of Keeping Taxes Down

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (UP)—The administration is still hopeful an increase in taxes this winter can be avoided.

Possible improvement in the business situation at home or abroad, and possible decreased drain upon resources to meet the unemployment situation, it was learned today, are being watched for and in the meantime no definite position with regard to tax increase proposals is being taken by the administration.

Thirty Boys' Club Members Win Awards in Handcraft Exposition

Marvin Robertson, director of the Wichita Falls Boys club, announced Tuesday the names of 30 prize winners having exhibits at the club's handcraft exposition last week.

Winning articles will be placed on display for three days at the Majestic theater, starting Wednesday. The 30 winners were guests at a movie Tuesday.

The Boys club is sponsored by the Rotary club for the underprivileged youth of the city. About 225 boys of varying ages are now members of the organization, which conducts classes in various types of handcraft, including radio, electricity, manual training, basket weaving, telegraphy, free hand drawing, wood carving and auto mechanics.

New Director

Mr. Robertson, who has been connected with the club for a number of months, took charge as director of the club Tuesday. He succeeds William B. Ward.

Judges selecting the winning displays were Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, Victor Lowrey and Charles Reed. All are Rotarians. They named prize winners as follows:

Extortion Suspect May Seek Release on Bond

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Efforts may be made to obtain the release on bond of Nile Wright, under indictment in connection with the extortion of $75,000 from R. W. Morrison, local capitalist, it was announced today by Walter Groce, attorney who has been retained by Wright. Since July 20 Wright has been held in the Bexar county jail. He was arrested several days before at Atlanta, Ga., and returned here by Sheriff Hausser, who was notified of the arrest.

the special low price holiday planned for them at the lake, winding up their vacation with a regular celebration.

During the summer the street car fare to the lake and return has been a dime each way. But on next Saturday, a Times or Record News coupon and a jitney does the trick. At the park, the airplane and motor ride and merry-go-round and train and roller coaster also have hung up the five-cent sign for next Saturday—provided you have the coupon to go with the nickel.

All the concessions at the park will be reduced to the same figure—a nickel and a coupon. Cold drinks, hamburgers, a trip through the crazy house—on Kids day they'll all be priced at five cents plus a coupon. And there's no limit on the number of coupons each child may use. Ply your scissors on all the local papers in your neighborhood between now and Saturday—these little squares of paper are worth five and 10 cents each when paired with a nickel.

Governor Asks New Laws Against Gangs

person possessing firearms who is arrested in a stolen automobile or one bearing fictitious license plates.

The governor promised that if the legislature strengthened the New York firearms law, he would ask cooperation of other states to prevent interstate shipment of weapons and to secure uniform legislation.

"In normal times," his message said, "normal statutes and a vigilant police force are able to meet normal outlawry. These are not normal times. Extraordinary measures today are imperative to uphold the hands of the police."

Several sentences in the message were interpreted as referring to the recent outbreak of gang shootings in New York City, where peaceful bystanders, including two children, have been killed.

"Those who menace and prey on the community with ready revolvers and speeding automobiles must be pursued and eradicated with all the strength which can be put into the law," the message said.

SLEUTHS EAGER TO DOWN GANGS

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (UP)—The great hegira of Allie Deming and Fred Belmore, who came Indian file out of the Maine woods with the avowed intention of showing New York police how to hit a gangster on the wing, reached a sorry climax today when it became known that Allie and Fred are just out to advertise the Maine hunting season.

But the arrival of the two partridge hunters served to reveal that more than 1,000 amateur detectives, crack shots and gangster exterminators have written in to Police Commissioner Mulrooney, suggesting that they be given a chance at the plug-uglies of the New York underworld.

Assorted Heroes

Mulrooney made it known that never a day passes but that some Hercules or Horatius sends in word that he is ready to take the field against gangsters, one and all. Letters have been received so far from boomerang throwers, two-gun men, three-gun men, four-gun men, five-gun men, hatchet men, bare knuckle fighters, rock throwers, hypnotists, bulldoggers and knife throwers.

One offer came from a southerner who explained he is called "the human shadow" because of his ability to see and not be seen.

Mulrooney's favorite of the letters is one from an Oklahoma man who declares he "has got the art of rock throwing down to an exact science."

'Beaning' to Order

"I can bean a man at 50 yards," he wrote, "and when I bean him he stays beaned. I have such a control that I can either kill him dead or just knock him cold for a little while in case you wish to ask him questions later."

Mulrooney has no intention of inviting any of this company to town. He did not send an escort to the station today to meet Allie and Fred, though a large group of reporters and cameramen were there.

Fred and Allie, after posing with their rifles pointed at locomotives, flappers, redcaps and taxicabs, admitted they don't care much about the gangster situation. They got $200, it developed, just to come down and put on a little stunt to advertise the hunting season in Maine.

ARMY PROMOTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (US)—Over protests by Representative Adam Wyant, Republican of Pennsylvania, Col. Thomas W. Darrah, chief of staff of the third corps area, today was promoted to the rank of brigadier general.

TORNADO HITS NEAR ALTUS

Houses Unroofed by Wind At Victory

ALTUS, Okla., Sept. 1. (UP)—Citizens of Victory, small community four miles west of here, today repaired the damage caused by a small tornado which struck there late yesterday.

Several houses were unroofed and flattened by the force of the wind. The Methodist church was torn from its foundation and the roof was torn off the high school gymnasium.

None was injured. No damage was reported to livestock.

One-fourth inch of rain which accompanied the wind did considerable damage to furniture in the houses which were unroofed.

FIRST AUTO RIDE IN HEARSE

MARYSVILLE, Kan. (UP)—Mrs. Sarah Key waited 100 years before taking her first automobile ride—and then it was in a hearse. Mrs. Key always had refused to ride in cars before her death. She lived on a farm within eight miles of Marysville for more than 40 years, but could not be persuaded to visit the town.

BURK SCHOOLS CUT BUDGET

New Term to Be Opened on Sept. 8

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Sept. 1.—Anticipating the decreased revenues this year, the school board here has reduced the operating expense of the public schools. The budget was cut approximately $11,500. However, the same quality of work will be offered as in former years, and the Burkburnett schools will continue to maintain their present high rank among the schools of the state.

The schools here will open Tuesday, Sept. 8. Monday, Sept. 7 will be used by the superintendent, principals, and teachers, in making plans for the year's work. A splendid faculty has been employed, to instruct nearly 1,400 students.

Following is a list of teachers:

High School—Jack McWilliams, Alice Morgan, E. H. James, G. A. Reaves, Lillie Mae Barnes, Ella Billingsles, Jesse M. Johnson, Scott Williamson, Isabelle Johnson, Norene Kirby, Edythe Barnes, and Nell Chrism.

Junior High School—Bruce M. Parnell, Gene Forman, Bernadine Bristol, Maude Smith, and Helen Henry.

Elementary School—Annie Laura Billingslea, Blake Roach, Francis McGarity, Katherine Lasseter, Harriet Roe, Apple John Homesly, Helen Ingles, Edythe Virginia Allen, Oleta Wood, Hazel Rowe, Nannie Lou Morgan, Marguerite Griffen, Mary McGinnis, Vera Owen, Sadie Fleming, Helen Hope Carney, and Edna Hightower.

Superintendent Butler Westerfield; principal of high school, C. J. Duncan, and principal of elementary school, H. Lee Clifton.

Aged Oklahoman Heads Movement Backing Pensions

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Sept. 1.—Jarrett Todd, 83-year-old county judge of Greer county, has been elected chairman of a group of 40 citizens past three-score and ten who have organized in the interest of securing legislation for old age pensions in Oklahoma. Other officers are Dan Smith, vice chairman, and Frank Montgomery, secretary-treasurer.

Outlining the group's proposition are J. F. Nightswander, El Reno and E. C. Wallace, Oklahoma City, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the state committee for securing old-age pensions.

Red Cross at Graham Buys Cans to Save Food

GRAHAM, Texas, Sept. 1.—W. N. Varable, Young county chairman of the Red Cross, has secured $100 from the national organization which will be used by Miss Norfleet Grimes, county home demonstrator to purchase cans to be used in canning surplus foods raised by local farmers to be used in helping care for the poor this winter. The Graham Rotary club is purchasing an automatic sealer to be given to Miss Grimes in her local work.

Many citizens of Graham are planting otherwise unseeded yards and vacant lots to plant turnips to be given to the needy. Boy Scouts are also working on plans to mend and resell at a small cost old garments now being gathered and brought to local headquarters. Unemployed women will be employed to do the mending and washing.

New Hotel to Open in Burkburnett This Week

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Sept. 1.—A new, modern, up-to-date hotel, to be operated by B. H. Alexander, will be opened here within a week. The hotel will have 30 rooms, and will occupy the entire upper story of the Collier Brothers Hardware building here.

Reconstruction and remodeling work is in progress at present on the hotel, and much new furniture is being installed. The Burkburnett hotel, recently moved to East Texas, formerly occupied the space to be used by the new hotel, for which a suitable name has not yet been selected.

B. H. Alexander, who is to operate the new hotel, was formerly a salesman for the Burkburnett Motors, here, and is very well known in Burkburnett and surrounding territory.

Mangum Pair Renew Marriage Vows On Golden Wedding Anniversary

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Sept. 1.—It was on Aug. 28, 1881, that an ambitious young man of 18 and a happy miss of 18 stood before the altar and took the marriage vows at the little town of Bolivar, in Denton county, Texas.

That same couple stood before another altar and renewed their pledges on their golden wedding anniversary here recently.

They are Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Lanford, who, surrounded by their children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, neighbors and friends, celebrated the 50th anniversary of the day they began their married life together.

The beautiful country home of their daughter, Mrs. John Brown, near Mangum was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and seats on the lawn were provided for 100 guests who witnessed the ceremony.

Standing before a large honeysuckle vine, Mr. and Mrs. Lanford pledged anew their vows made half a century ago. Their attendants were their daughter, Mrs. Bessie Lindsay, and their youngest son, whose 23rd birthday anniversary the day also celebrated. Flower girls were their granddaughter, little Miss Rosina Lanford, and a great-granddaughter, little Miss Lila Jean Cudd.

Miss Dora Dean Reed sang "I Love You Truly" (Carrie Jacobs-Bond) and played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the bridal party.

Rev. John F. Elder, pioneer Baptist minister of Mangum, officiated and paid eloquent tribute to the matrimonial career of Mr. and Mrs. Lanford.

The bride was dressed in beige crepe and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses. Mrs. Lindsay wore gold crepe, while the little flower girls donned dainty white organdie frocks with gold slippers.

During the reception which followed, Mrs. Lanford cut the wedding cake decorated in gold and white.

Children present were Mrs. Bessie Lindsay of Longview, Texas; Mrs. Ruby Brown, at whose home the celebration took place; Elva Lanford and K. W. Lanford Jr. Three of their children were unable to be present—Cooner Lanford of Elk City, Uffer Lanford of Hobbs, N. M., and Mrs. Jessie Wells of El Paso, Texas.

Death has never entered the Lanford home to claim any one of their immediate descendants.

FARMERS RUSH MILL AT BURK

Flour-for-Wheat Trade Draws Crowd

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Sept. 1.—Farmers from a large area, seizing the opportunity to trade their wheat for flour, have come to the Duvall flour mill here in such numbers in the past few days that the flour could not be ground fast enough to supply them, according to W. S. Duvall, operator of the mill.

The mill ran all night Monday night and will continue to run both day and night for several months in an effort to keep pace with the demands of wheat growers to have their wheat ground on a toll basis. Growers from the vicinities of Nocona, Vernon, Temple, and Walters have been coming to the mill at the rate of from 50 to 100 a day, with grain to exchange for flour.

The full capacity of the mill, of 200 48-pound bags of flour per day will be produced as long as the mill is run continuously. About 100 bags for each day the mill has run have been produced during the past week, in from six to 48-pound bags. The milling was put in charge Monday of J. G. Woodward of Godley, Texas, who is an experienced miller and will supervise the operation of the mill in the future.

CHURCH DELEGATES

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 1.—Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Crump and two daughters left this week for San Francisco, Calif., where they will attend the national convention of Assemblies of God churches Sept. 6-13. A number of pastors in nearby communities are also attending, and a large delegation from Texas is expected. Rev. Mr. Crump is secretary-treasurer of the Texas district of churches of that denomination.

Woman and Two Men Held After Police Solve Rosenthal Kidnaping

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—Police announced today that the kidnaping plot involving the young broker, Charles Rosenthal, had been solved, the kidnapers arrested and part of the $50,000 ransom money recovered.

Four men and a negro woman—the latter so light of complexion as to pass for white—are held. Police Commissioner Mulrooney said they had admitted their part in the abduction. The woman, he said, has been identified by Rosenthal as the one who lured him into the hands of the others, who held him prisoner from Aug. 11 until, upon payment of $50,000 ransom, he was released Aug. 29.

The arrests were made yesterday and today in New York, Newark, N. J., and Atlantic City.

John Markham was arrested at the Yankee stadium yesterday afternoon. Last night detectives went to Newark where John Rocco and Theodore Adnolfi were picked up. The woman, Betty Steward, was captured in Atlantic City with Nicholas Green, identified by Rosenthal as the leader of the kidnapers.

The arrests may have saved the life of Green, Mulrooney said. Rocco and Adnolfi told him that they had planned to put Green "on the spot" for withholding $25,000 of the ransom money from them.

More than $16,000 of the ransom money was recovered. Stuffed in a glove belonging to Adnolfi was $8,300. He said it represented his share of the extortion money. Rocco's trousers yielded more than $3,000. The commissioner did not explain where the rest of the $16,000 had been found.

Brief Court Term Ends in Tillman

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 1.—Although Judge Frank Mathews of Altus was here only until noon Monday he disposed of considerable business in a term of district court. The following defendants entered pleas of not guilty:

Carl Greb, Dan Bentley and Frank Holford, charged with injuring a house of worship; A. O. Pringle, sale of intoxicating liquor; H. L. Pitts, charged with abandoning minor children; Dan Largin and Walter Titsworth, charged with second degree burglary.

Numerous demurrers and other motions were disposed of.

Mathews recently returned from his summer vacation. A jury term of court will probably be held early in October, when the defendants listed will be tried.

GRAIN EXPORT TOTAL DROPS

Shipments Fall Almost 50 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Grain exports last week from the United States amounted to 1,468,000 bushels compared with 2,424,000 the previous week and 6,812,000 the corresponding week last year.

Commerce department figures today gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the week before:

Wheat 1,064,000 bushels against 2,184,000; barley 296,000 against 96,000; corn 36,000 against 30,000; oats 72,000 against 114,000. No exports of rye were reported for either week.

Canadian grain exported last week from United States Atlantic ports amounted to 1,371,000 bushels against 801,000 the previous week while last week's exports of North American wheat flour were 150,000 barrels against 112,000 the previous week.

New Commissioner Named in Electra

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 1.—Ed Moreland was elected city commissioner at a call meeting recently to fill the vacancy caused by the death July 1 of Roy Vanhoove. Mr. Moreland is a former president of the Electra Chamber of Commerce and has taken an active part in the civic affairs of Electra.

An advisory board composed of E. R. Brown, Edward Schlaffke, H. M. Tarleton, M. R. Stipe, and Russell Scheurer was selected to render service in an advisory capacity to the city commissioners. Each commission was allowed to select a man on the board.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas imports natural gas from three states, but exports it to 13 states and one foreign nation or will when 3,000 miles of high-pressure gas pipe line now under construction and nearing completion is put in operation early this fall. These lines will carry Texas natural gas as far north as Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago and as far east as Indianapolis, where it connects with another system extending to the Atlantic coast. North Texas uses some Oklahoma gas, East Texas some Louisiana gas and extreme West Texas some New Mexico gas.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

More highway improvements: Gaps in Houston-Dallas U. S. 75 major north-and-south route that for years in bad weather has been impassable, are being closed. By the end of the year it will be surfaced, all-weather, practically from one end to the other, with the only major gap not now under actual process of being closed that from the Dallas county line to Ennis. South of Ennis the first mile of concrete toward the Navarro county line is being poured, and work on this 22-mile stretch is going forward at the rate of 1,000 feet a day. The Freestone county gap will be closed by the middle of November, giving pavement from Corsicana into Galveston.

Outlet for some of Texas' cheap oil is being found in oiling graveled highways, that on state 71 from Bastrop to Smithville being a recent instance. Oklahoma is making all-weather roads with oil topping, a cheap process at present prices, and Texas might emulate the example more widely. . . . The Austin-Houston route will be shortened 50 miles when graveling No. 95 between Taylor and Elgin is completed. . . . Shortening existing routes is gaining strength. Bell county is seeking designation of a new highway north from Belton, completion of which would reduce the distance to Fort Worth 24 miles. Work on the McLennan county roads which by elimination of sharp-angle turns and needless meanderings will shorten the route from North Texas to South Texas by many miles, is under way. Survey of a new route to the Rio Grande valley that will materially reduce the distance from other parts of the state has been ordered by the state highway commission.

Kansas Farmers Plan Wheat Acreage Cut

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 1. (AP)—After raising by far their largest wheat crop, Kansas farmers were reported today by the United States department and the state board of agriculture to be planning a reduction in 1932 acreage which will give them their lowest total area sown to wheat since 1924.

A cut of 15 per cent in total acreage, based on farmers' intentions as of Aug. 5 and announced last week by the federal department, will give Kansas an expected winter wheat acreage of 10,890,000 acres, compared with 12,812,000 acres planted last fall or a cut of 1,922,000 acres.

6. HIGHWAYS—Early consummation of a highway program covering all the main routes radiating from this city and all the local roads that serve its agricultural community.
7. DRAINAGE—Solution of the drainage problem in all three phases: first, in the irrigated valley; second, with regard to Holliday creek; third, in those portions of the city now inadequately drained.
8. GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY—The adoption of such means as may be found most feasible to reduce the cost of local government by elimination of unnecessary offices and consolidation of others.

The wheat farmer, like some professional men, can also complain that his field is overcrowded.

Whoever coined that word "scot-free" must have been thinking of two other fellows.

This Man MacDonald

IN THE political upheaval in Great Britain that has brought about an epochal change in the empire's government, a most important fact, in the opinion of many unbiased American observers, is that Premier Ramsay MacDonald seems a bigger man in defeat than he would have been in victory.

Faced with a financial crisis that gravely menaced his nation, MacDonald responded to the call of the welfare of his people first and to the political fortunes of his party second.

Through leader of the Labor party, which represents the "left wing" in British political thought, he recognized the grave necessities of the situation and chose to play ball with Conservatives and the Liberals. He even assented to Stanley Baldwin, leader of the ultra-Conservatives and one of Labor's bitterest foes, being made one of the most important members of his new cabinet.

Thus, by a strange combination of Labor, Liberal and Conservative members, Great Britain now has a "government of individuals" with MacDonald at its head. The best men in each of the three widely divergent political groups are now working hand in hand to rescue their nation from threatened economic disaster.

Looming above them all is MacDonald himself, who might, had he chosen to play the part of a blind and selfish politician, forced a victory, he might have stubbonly fallen in a crashing defeat with widespread damage to the interests of his beleaguered nation. Either development would have meant no good to the other nations of the world with whom Britain's fortunes are interlocked by trade and commerce.

Of course, there are some who will say that MacDonald "surrendered to the enemy." Chauvinistically, they will insist that a party leader should stand by his party to the last ditch. Blindly, they will see only the narrow political path that a politician is supposed to tread, overlooking the wider roads that lead toward the common good of the people.

The world needs more great political leaders like Ramsay MacDonald. It needs men with a vision broader than mere party politics. It needs men who are firm enough to act on the best dictates of their judgment, who are brave enough to conciliate with the opposition parties when conciliation means advancement of the public welfare.

The development may not have solved Britain's problem of depression—perhaps the basic conditions creating the crisis will remain—but MacDonald seems to be doing his best.

The Constant Revolt

RETIRING after 30 years of service as dean of men at the University of Illinois, Thomas Arkle Clark casts a thoughtful glance back over the years and concludes that young people, taken by and large, are just about what they always were.

"Young people haven't changed fundamentally in 30 years," he says. "They are all going to the same places, only their ways lie over hard roads, in automobiles, or in airplanes, and to the accompaniment of radios.

"The economic and social conditions are different, but not the psychology of youth. There are just as many serious-minded students and just as many frivolous ones as 30 years ago."

All of this sounds logical enough, but it is vaguely disappointing. A man who has kept a watchful eye on university students for over a quarter of a century ought to have something to say about the revolt of youth, or the way in which the younger generation is going to perdition. We expect it of him. It's an old American custom.

Still, the gentleman probably knows what he is talking about; and his summing-up makes one wonder if this whole "youth problem" isn't one of those perennial problems that never get solved, never get worse and never lead to anything in particular.

It is the function of youth to be in revolt, to be disrespectful of its elders, to do things that the generation just ahead thinks scandalous. Every "younger generation" since the days of the Pharaohs, probably, has been that way. This, indeed, is the one unchanging thing in a changing world.

Indeed, we older ones who get shocked by the doings of the youngsters—weren't we ourselves, a few years ago, shocking our own elders? And weren't they, in turn, doing the same thing a few decades before? All of these revolts that we and our fathers and our grandfathers led—where are they now? Living on in the youth of today, perhaps—otherwise, non-existent.

The fact is both comforting and saddening. Youth isn't going to upset the applecart. It will grow up, presently, get disillusioned, and raise its own hands over the antics of its children. It always has, and it always will. Sometimes one almost wishes that it wouldn't.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down A Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Remember the item you ran about the girl working for that socialist paper? . . . In which you tried to give her a break, pointing out that the rag was against capitalists and employers who put the poor worker out of a job? . . . Yet, that the same rag purchased a machine to address envelopes and fired the little girl who addressed them in longhand? . . . Well, you'll choke when you hear what she had to say . . . She called and was furious . . . She sets forth that they are entitled to do with her as they please, and that she will continue to work for them, free, of course, until she can get another job! . . . That's a form of patriotism, I know, but will you please find out what she uses for food and money? . . . The next "Follies" girl to marry is Druscilla Strain . . . The groom is tagged Charles Teagarden, and they've been carrying the license for weeks . . . You have an app't at 7:30 to look over those newsreel shots . . . The curtain at the Carroll theater isn't until 8:30.

Lord Inverclyde, who was just divorced by June Tripp in Reno, is now running around London with his first wife, whose husband once threatened to shoot the Prince of Wales because his wife danced with him so much in British East Africa . . . He was run out of the place, however . . . Those Vanderbilt, Juniorish, no? . . . An item, I think, is that the beautiful skyline on Central park south is marred by tree electric signs that advertise a hotel and tires—Can you have that stopped please . . . That's fine . . . There is a report making the rounds that the government paid the cost of producing "Public Enemy," as it was good propaganda . . . Sounds ridic to me, Sir . . . Ring Lardner's boy, John, is learning how to get poor . . . He just became a reporter!

Here's a hot one . . . Surrogate Wingate was urged by a lawyer the other day to hand down a decision that a Scotsman was stingier than others! . . . Vivian Denton phoned—and told me to tell you she finally is doing something worth while . . . She was the gal who started that Rubaiyat dive down in the Village, you recall . . . Well, she wants you to know she is leaving for Toronto to enter the 10 mile marathon swim there . . . So look out for a tidal wave . . . Adam Gimbel kept his wedding a secret because the bride was a divorcee . . . Jean (Ziegfeld) Ackerman and her groom are back from Yurrup . . . Wait'll they find out that there's only one night club open and that the speakeasies sweep the bar at 2:10—they'll be sorry! . . . The British over here call getting drunkee—woofled . . . The British are too cute.

That rumor about the secret marriage of Robert Garland, the critic, and Queenie Smith, the comedienne, is up again . . . Miss Smith denies it, however, and Mr. G. is doing a solo honeymoon in Bermuda . . . They first-night it together when he's here, tho . . . The reason Percy Hammond applauded Joseph Sweeney, the villain in "After Tomorrow," when he made his entrance, was explained by the critic . . . He said that every time he gave Sweeney a good notice the actor was fired! . . . The pastor of the Manhattan Congregational church is not only vexed, to quote his own wordage, but your line that the church went out of business is wrong and "scurrilous" . . . The church will reopen on Sept. 1, he screamed, and he tried to make us believe here that it was a purposely-done trick to wreck the church! . . . He asserted that a year ago some revelers in the apartments next door were put out and that they threatened: "We'll get Winchell after you!" . . . Oho! So you're an old-church-goer-after, huh? . . . Now get funnier than that!

Also the line of Monday about Vice President Curtis and Mrs. Loose of the biscuit company "blazing" . . . Well, the Trib yesterday refuted it by saying that Mr. Curtis denied he was engaged or going to marry . . . Who said anything about engaged or marriage? . . . Can't a vice president get that way about a girl without marrying her? . . . The police are making it more difficult for the night club chorus girls . . . They now demand their birth certificates, etc. . . . A general chuckup on which girls are going about with gangsters . . . They claim to know which girls are receiving costly gifts and diamonds from the baddies, also—and the police will try to break up these romances . . . Jack Lait wants to do a piece about you.

Swanson of Collitchumor is in town . . . When Count Von Luckner is invited to a party he brings 20 people . . . Oh, yeah? . . . Poor Iris Orian of the "Follies" can go to Hollywood for Fox—her test rating an A—but Ziegfeld no let . . . Say, I can make up things, too! Like this—Did you notice that the first play of the season opened at the Avon, which theater heads the list alphabetically?—and that the last show opened at the Ziegfeld, which is last? . . . Oh, very well—I'm merely trying to help—let it go, let it go . . . I can just hear you yelling: "And they roast beef!" or "And they dump garbage!" . . . The Norman Fosters (Claudette Colbert) are inseparable "24 hours of the day," so don't let the envious sway you . . . Foster has written a play, by the way . . . Remember the hilarious stories in the papers about a person stealing Reformer Sumner's sign from his office? . . . Well, Madison Kirby of the Paris Trib was the teaser who swiped it and he got Mr. Sumner's goat so—Well, Madison died from a fall in Paree . . .

Lenore Ulric is taking hoofing lessons . . . Helen Kane is back and plumper . . . The lace and flowers on Ruth Etting's dress in the "Harvest Moon" number are from the Vanderbilt collection . . . Melva Cornell, who was in "The New Yorkers" show, is due back today with her groom . . . They are motoring from Roanoke, Va. . . . You can always tell when it is 11 a. m. on Broadway, for that's when the Chevy sign goes dark. . . . Can you find out the name of the pretty person whose likeness decorates the Keep Kissable ad? . . . P found out why dramatic critics take their aisle seats late . . . It isn't because they like to make "an entrance," as the rear-pew-holders think—but because if they sit down early they only have to keep getting up so that the "punctual" playgoers may get by . . . Awf-vecderiant.—R. C.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

The BABY COLONEL—In March, 1931, at the time Paul Lambert Priest, son of A. J. G. Priest of New York City, was 4 months old, he was commissioned a full-fledged member of the military staff of Gov. C. Ben Ross of Idaho. The infant officer is a grandson of a close friend of the "Gem State" governor, whose home is Boise, Idaho.

EARLE BAILEY, THE ARMLESS ARTIST—Though Bailey has had but little tutoring in art, and has been deprived of the use of his arms since childhood, he has gained international reputation not only because of his unique method of working but also because of the excellent quality of his work. His paintings were exhibited recently at the Lord Nelson hotel, Halifax, Nova Scotia, and also at an exhibition in his home town, Lunenburg, Nova Scotia. Earle's mother, Mrs. H. E. Bailly, who submitted this contribution, won first cash prize in the recent Halifax Chronicle Star Believe It or Not contest.

"MARY FAITH"
by Beatrice Burton

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

Mary Faith, comely, young orphan, is secretary to Mark Nesbit, wealthy business man. She gives up her position to marry Kimberly Farrell, shiftless, young lawyer. Mary Faith believes that loving a man hard enough will make everything come out all right in the end. It was this confidence that enabled her to marry Kim after he had once broken their engagement. She realizes he has an eye for every girl, but hopes that married life will sober him and make him successful in his profession. Instead, Kim is annoyed at Mary Faith's "Puritanism," and his jazzy friends, Clair and Jack Maldon, find her a dull companion. Learning that she is to become a mother, Mary Faith, for the first time, visits Kim's office. Kim is furious when Mary Faith finds him flirting with his blond secretary. That night, he informs his mother and Mary Faith that he is leaving. Mary Faith, heartbroken at this turn of affairs, decides not to tell Kim of her coming motherhood. She and Mrs. Farrell decide to struggle to keep the home for the coming baby. Mary Faith obtains a position as typist. She refuses to accede to Kim's request for a divorce and asks him to wait six months before carrying out his desire.

Clair Maldon tells Mary Faith that she should step out and be gay if she wants to hold Kim's affections. Kim again begins his visits to the Maldon flat.

Kim returns late one night, wet and ill. Mary Faith realizes he has been on a wild party.

CHAPTER XXXIX

Kim was as good as his word. A week went by, and Mary Faith heard nothing from him. Finally she telephoned him and asked him where he wanted her to send his trunks.

"Athletic club," he told her shortly.

"Have you heard about your mother and Dr. Thatcher?"

"Yes, I know," he said curtly. "I had a wire from them. Is there anything else?"

"I've got to have some money, Kim. Your mother wants her furniture, and I'll have to have some place to go when she takes it out of the flat."

There was a click as he rang off abruptly. The sharp little sound that was like a period at the end of a sentence. He was telling her once more that he was really through with her. That he was not going to send her any money. That he was going to force her to sue for divorce and alimony.

She hung the receiver back upon its metal hook and turned away from the telephone quickly, as if it were some kind of infernal machine that had just wounded her terribly and had the power to wound her again.

All the rest of the day she went around the flat doing the little familiar things and trying to decide just what to do. Of course she could get a position as a stenographer at $25 a week or so. . . . But could she pay for a nurse girl for the baby out of that and have enough left for their room at Mrs. Puckett's? She knew that she couldn't—and she knew that Kim knew it, too. That was what he was counting on, of course.

Late that night she was awakened by the ringing of the doorbell. When she answered it, Jean Bartlett was standing in the little hallway.

"I can't come in—I can't stop more than a minute!" Jean was breathless, and she laughed as she talked. "I just came to say goodbye. Where do you think I'm going? Out to Phoenix, to be married! I'm leaving tomorrow night! My man was coming east to be married here, but he can't get away, and tonight he called me up and asked me to come out there. So I'm going—and, Mary Faith, I'm so happy!"

They kissed each other and cried a little. And then, as Jean was leaving, Mary Faith called her back.

"Just a minute, Jean," she said. "Who's slated for your job at Nesbit's?"

Other people might marry and go to Florida or Arizona, your own heart might break, but still you had to face the problem of making a living.

"I've got to go back to work, and Mark Nesbit would pay me more than anybody else, Jean," she added. "Kim's left me."

"Again? What was the matter with his this time?"

Mary Faith shrugged. "Too many parties and too many pals, I suppose. Don't worry about me, Jean. You know how Kim is. . . . He'll come to his senses after a while, and everything will be all right."

"That's what you always say," Jean remarked tartly. "I don't see how you can go on believing in him, Mary Faith, when he treats you the way he does. . . . Why don't you leave him for good? Why don't you come out to Arizona and make some kind of a new life for yourself?"

"No, I haven't any money to take me and the baby to Arizona. I haven't any money at all, Jen. . . . Look here, will you speak to Mr. Nesbit in the morning? Ask him if he'll consider me for you place, and explain how things are with me? I suppose I ought to have too much pride to go back to work for him, but all I'm thinking of now is the baby. I've got to bring him up decently."

At noon the next day Jean telephoned her.

"I've just told Mr. Nesbit that I'm leaving, and I've told him that you'd like to come back," she said. "You know the company never employs married women, don't you?—So I had to explain to him that you're separated from Kim, and he suggested that you drop in to see him on Monday morning."

Mary Faith stood beside the telephone for a long time after she had hung up the receiver. Something that her mother had said to her years and years before came back to her now and seemed to echo through the quiet little rooms of the flat.

"I never really worry about things, Mary Faith," she had said. "The Lord never closes one door without opening another."

Until now Mary Faith had never fully understood what she meant by that. She meant, of course, that there always was a way out of trouble if only you had faith—faith that you would find it.

And, as if to prove her words, here was the way back to Nesbit's opening before her just when every other way in life was closed to her. When Kim had left her, refusing to support her. When her mother-in-law had gone, leaving Mary Faith to face the problem of finding work and caring for the baby at the same time.

"Now it's all settled," she thought as she stood there in the dim little hall beside the telephone. With her salary at Nesbit's she could live at Mrs. Puckett's and hire a nursemaid to look after the baby during the day. It would be hard sledding to do it on $37 a week, but it could be done—

On Monday morning Mary Faith took the baby to Mrs. Puckett's and left him there for two hours while she went downtown to see Mark Nesbit.

There was a tight feeling in her throat as she went up the narrow staircase of the old building. She remembered how many times, years before, she had run eagerly down them to meet Kim waiting for her in the street below, debonair and smiling and good to look at, slouched behind the driving wheel of his little open car. . . . How many noons she had sat at her desk upstairs, embroidering guest towels and tablecloths while she listened to Jean lecture on the evils of long engagements. . . . How lovely life had been then, and how much lovelier it had promised to be!

"Well, it was lovely part of the time," she told herself. "I've been happier at times than some women ever are, no matter how long they live."

She went on up the stairs saying to herself a bit of sentimental poetry that she had read in one of her father's books, a novel called "Aladdin O'Brien":

"Give me three breaths of pleasure
After three deaths of pain—"

Her life with Kim had been like that. Long periods of pain when he left her, and then the joy of taking him back and knowing that he was wholly hers for months at a time.

She stood at the top of the iron stairs for two or three minutes to get her breath and screw up her courage.

It was going to take all of her courage to open the door of the office and step into it. To face Miss Saxe and Miss Kelly and Mark Nesbit—the people who knew all about her and who would know now that she had come back to them defeated, asking for a job.

The familiar sounds of the place came to her ears as she stood there, like music heard long ago when her life was younger and happier. . . . The clicking of typewriters, the sound of Miss Kelly's voice, the sudden, sharp ringing of a telephone.

She turned the handle of the door and stepped inside. Everything seemed to be just about as it always had been. Green-shaded lights above golden-oak desks, shiny cork floor, high narrow windows that looked out toward the west.

Miss Saxe leaned over her typewriter, her fingers flying, her eyes bent on a shorthand pad beside her. . . . Miss Gliday read a book, propped up before her on the switchboard, as she worked. . . . A new office boy, who looked enough like Stanley Odestalki to be his brother, was getting a drink at the water cooler in the corner. Even the water cooler was the same dark blue that had always stood in that corner.

The boy turned away from the cooler and saw her.

"I'm Mrs. Farrell. I have an appointment with Mr. Nesbit," she said to him, stopping beside Miss Saxe's desk to shake hands with her.

"I'll tell Mr. Nesbit that she's here, Leonard," Miss Kelly sang out to the boy, and she said something into the telephone before she got down from her perch to greet Mary Faith.

"Well, if it isn't grand to see you! And looking so well, too!" The sweet, slightly nauseating smell of peanut brittle rose to Mary Faith's nostrils as she put her arms around her. "I just told Mr. Nesbit that you're here. He says to step right into his room."

Q. Who are the major league players who have twice made six hits in six times at bat? P. T.

A. Bottomley and Delehanty are the only two players in the history of the majors to make six hits in six times at bat, twice in their careers. Bottomley turned the trick previously on Sept. 16, 1924. Frisch Cobb, Carey, Bancroft, Cuyler, Keeler and many others have performed the trick once, but only Bottomley and Delehanty have done it twice.

Q. Who first made an ear-trumpet? A. D.

A. The first mechanical contrivance for the purpose of improving the hearing was made by Dr. Yeardsley of London in 1843.

Q. Where does the Gulf Stream originate? F. P.

A. It owes its origin to the northeast trade winds, which blow constantly toward the American shore from the direction of the Canary and Cape Verde Islands. The wind sets in motion a broad, shallow film of water upon the surface of the ocean and this, when it encounters the sloping northeast coast of South America trends northward, passes by the Lesser Antilles into the Caribbean sea. Being constantly driven on from the east and gaining in depth as its area becomes restricted, it is driven through the Yucatan channel to the Gulf of Mexico.

Q. What sun rays are supposed to be most beneficial to health? M. J. M.

A. The ultra-violet rays and the infra-red rays.

Q. In what way is the Ginkgo tree peculiar? W. S. T.

A. The Ginkgo is not a native American tree, but is indigenous to eastern Asia, especially China. This is a very peculiar tree, being a deciduous conifer, or a cone bearing tree which at the same time sheds its leaves annually. This peculiar tree occupies somewhat the same position among trees that the group of mammals to which the kangeroo belongs holds among animals in that it is a hold-over from an historic ancient form and has no near relatives. The type of tree which the Ginkgo represents was most abundant during the Jurassic period of geology.

Q. Has the American war on illiteracy brought results? J. H.

A. The nation-wide effort to stamp out illiteracy has had notable effect. In 1920 there were 4,931,906 persons ten years old or over who could neither read nor write. In 1930, there were 4,283,749. This means that there is only 4.3 per cent of the population in this class, while in 1920 the percentage was 6.

Q. Is it correct to say "Dr. Jones operated me?" V. M.

A. The sentence needs the preposition, upon.

Q. Did Patrick Henry ever serve as United States Senator? H. F.

A. Patrick Henry declined the following offices: United States senator, secretary of state in Washington's cabinet, chief justice of the supreme court, governor of Virginia and envoy to France. He had served several times in the Virginia legislative body and as governor.

Q. What is the yellow substance in the crab? B. W.

A. The yellow substance which is found in a crab is mostly fat. Some portions of it may be the eggs.

Q. How is the distance from the earth to the stars measured in miles? N. D.

A. The adopted unit of stellar distance is the distance traveled by a light wave in a year. This unit is called the light year. The distance in light years astronomically is then translated into miles, using as a basis the fact that the velocity of light is 186,300 miles per second, and it travels from the sun to the earth in 499 seconds.

Q. How long has cricket been played in England? L. D.

A. Cricket seems to have evolved slowly from an older game. It is probably a specialized form of club ball. It was certainly being played under the name of cricket by boys of the free school of Guildford as early as 1550.

Q. Who was the last of the Caesars? S. O. B.

A. Nero was the last of the imperial family, but thereafter Caesar became a title of dignity. From the name were derived the German kaiser and Russian czar.

Noted Texas Musicians Become Prominent Teachers

Emergence of a trio of well-known Texans from the field of concert work to a prominent position among fine arts teachers in New York has been recognized by metropolitan publications recently, and has attracted considerable attention among persons in this section to whom the three artists are known.

Familiar to large numbers all over this state, particularly club women, because of concert engagements filled under the supervision of federated women's clubs, the Norfleet sisters will continue to hold the interest of Texans in their new enterprise. Under the direction of Miss Helen Norfleet, pianist and composer, the Norfleet School of Chamber Music recently was opened in New York. According to the Musical Courier and the New York Sun, it is the first school of its kind to be established in this country.

Its faculty includes, becides Miss Helen, two other members of the Norfleet family, Miss Katherine, violinist, and Leeter, cellist. This trio has for the past several years made itself widely known throughout the United States by numerous concert tours. Other teachers have been obtained to provide the new institution with an impressive array of instructors, according to the information gathered from the two publications which announced the school's organization and opening.

All of the early training of the Norfleets was received in Texas. Katherine graduated in violin under Carl Venth, while Helen completed a pianistic course under Harold von Mickwitz at Kidd Key college, Sherman. During her first year of graduate study in Chicago, Miss Katherine was concert-meister in the orchestra of Bush Temple conservatory.

Miss Helen Norfleet will be well remembered by Wichita Falls young ladies who were students at C. I. A. a few years ago. She spent one year there as instructor and lecturer in piano and fine arts.

Another definite connection exists between the new school in New York and Wichita Falls. For three years, Mrs. Harry E. Fuller, teacher of dramatic expression here, was associated with the Norfleet girls on the concert stage throughout the North. Contributing dramatic elements of the program while piano and violin numbers were provided by the Misses Helen and Katherine Norfleet, Mrs. Fuller was the third member of the Wolcott-Norfleet concert company. Working with the extension department of the University of Wisconsin, the trio toured intensively several of the northern states. Leeter Norfleet, the cellist, is a younger brother of the two sisters, and has been one of the Norfleet trio only during the past few years.

Additional concert tours, including the state of Texas, are planned by the Norfleets between teaching seasons, according to information reflected in the New York publications.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Someone asked Monday in a quizzical tone, "Did you know there's been a depression?" But in spite of that depression, one leg of which we really believe is in the grave, the cheerful manner in which women have fitted the pattern of their lives to the cloth given them has been enough to make the corner stones of civilization stand more firmly.

The one thing that shackles freedom in times of depression is bad health, and so much bad health is a penalty paid for carelessness.

But here we are, arrived it almost seems, at a turning of the roads. Things are looking up. It is a sort of New Year.

The old year, however, should be framed and hung upon the wall. Not to make pessimists of us, but as a lesson that was given the world and one which had for its answer, the survival of the fit.

There were no flames of war to mark the time during the depression. There was in our country no great flood nor earthquake. But every day there were trials—great ones and infinitesimal ones and some who stood the great ones, broke under the infinitesimal.

I am no philosopher. A small accident that has happened within sight and hearing has drawn my mind entirely away from that depression. I would fain forget and the good lessons I hope it has left behind.

Two women driving cars made a terrible racket when they scraped one another's fenders—no damage showing to eyes some 50 feet distant.

But did they smile at one another and pass on? I wish the world might have seen their high and mighty faces. A traffic cop was at hand and for 20 minutes they told their stories to him and to the world at large.

Whether or not they have decided who was responsible for the damage, I do not know. A dust mop would probably have done away with perceptible scars.

But it brought to mind the ideal "courtesy of the road." No courtesy there. I heard a man remark that with many drivers, the courtesy of the road was just as perceptible as with pigs in a pen; it is a question of who can reach the trough first.

It isn't only women lacking, however, in courtesy. I have seen men leave their cars where they penned in women and no amount of honking would bring them forth until they had finished the work they started to do.

It may take the world of drivers quite as long to learn courtesy, to decide that other drivers and pedestrians have rights, as it did for men to learn it in walking on the highways and byways.

And I'm not so sure they've learned it yet in the byways.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME
Graceful Frock in Sizes 16 to 42
By ANNE ADAMS

This model was originated in wine red satin, trimmed with rhinestone buttons and the belt fastened with a matching buckle. It was exquisite! The graceful collar softly gathered by the strap in front, forms a deep collar that reaches nearly to the waistline in back. The sleeves are very smart, and you may reverse the flared cuff for three-quarter length if you prefer. A low placed skirt flare does not disturb the long slender hip line so important this season. Pattern 2004 is lovely made of flat crepe, triple georgette, canton, satin or chiffon velvet.

Pattern 2004 is obtainable only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4⅛ yards of 39-inch material. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is neccessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

The new fall catalog is now ready. It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes. Also delightful girt suggestions in accessory and transfer patterns. Price of catalog, fifteen cents. Catalog with pattern, twenty-five cents. Address all mail and orders to The Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

Favorite Recipes Of Wichita Women

A favorite summer salad of Mrs. S. E. Trevathan's which she often serves in the hot weather and which has always been received with delight is given today.

Lime Salad

One package lime jello; one cup boiling water; one cup fruit juices, orange, lemon and pineapple; one small can of sliced pineapple; one half cup blanched almonds. Dissolve the jello in the boiling water; add fruit juices, pineapple diced and almonds; pour in molds and chill; serve on hearts of lettuce with mayonnaise sprinkled with paprika.

Mrs. T. E. Darrett gives a recipe for a cake that is a favorite in her family because of its fine texture and delightful taste and a favorite of her own because it is so easily and quickly made.

Three cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder; one-eighth teaspoon salt; two cups sugar; three-fourths cup shortening; one cup milk and four whole eggs. Sift the dry ingredients together three or four times; cread shortening and add a little of the dry ingredients; then mix egg, milk and dry ingredients alternately. Flavor as desired. It makes a delicious loaf cake or will make pretty layers.

For whiter washes safely ... try these hard-water suds

THE SOAP you use makes a big difference on washday. If the suds are flat and lifeless, you'll have to scrub to get the dirt out. And even then your wash won't look white enough.

But thrifty Rinso gives you a gleaming, snowy wash every time! Its suds are creamy, active—even in hardest water. Saves scrubbing and boiling. Of course clothes last longer!

Cup for cup, Rinso goes twice as far as lightweight, puffed-up soaps—without the help of powders or softeners. The makers of 40 washers recommend Rinso. Great for dishes, too.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

(Copyright, 1931, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Eggs Needed in the Daily Diet

Many kinds of eggs are used for food, but the kind most commonly used is the egg of the domestic hen.

Poultry raising and the production of eggs have become a science and each year the production and consumption of eggs have increased. This is not only because of the nutritive value of the egg, but also because it is so easily utilized in such a variety of ways in the preparation of food. Eggs also supply a large amount of valuable nourishment at a reasonable price, so that every one can afford to use them.

There is abundant evidence that primitive people have always used various kinds of eggs for food, such as they could secure from robbing birds' and reptiles' nests. The first record we have of the training of the domestic fowl was in the fifteenth cenury, before Christ, when the natives in the jungles of India learned to catch the wild fowl and keep them in confinement, so that their eggs could be gathered more conveniently. By breeding and interbreeding the various types of fowls, we have finally cultivated the hen of the present age, and our modern ideas of housing them, keeping them warm, etc., have been instrumental in developing certain breeds which are capable of producing more eggs each year.

Turkey, goose and duck eggs are just as desirable as hen eggs from the standpoint of nourishment, and even the ostrich egg is occasionally eaten in Southern California.

The eggs of fish serve as valuable additions to the diet, being perfectly wholesome, if used fresh. Shad roe is the name given to the collection of millions of eggs taken from the shad, and makes a delicious protein food.

Caviar is made from the eggs of the sturgeon, mixed with certain kinds of seasoning, but is too highly flavored and also too expensive to be made a proteid dish at a meal.

The egg of the hen may be used alike by the hale and the delicate, and properly prepared makes an excellent food for children. Some people who have a tendency to biliousness believe that eggs are bad for their liver. I find that this is true only when too many other nourishing foods are used at the same meal; or when too many kinds of proteids are used at the same meal, or on the same day that eggs are used.

The yellow of the egg contains a large amount of fat and sulphur. Many people will find that if they use several eggs a day that it will be necessary to discard the yolk of some of them. However, the white can always be used, even by those who have sluggish livers.

(Some egg recipes tomorrow.)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Loss of Smell From Catarrh

Question—O. Q. A. says: "All my life I have suffered from colds. At present I do not have a cold but I notice that I am unable to smell anything. Is there anything I could take to restore my sense of smell?"

Answer—You undoubtedly have a form of chronic catarrh which is present in every one who is subject to frequent colds. It is often possible to restore the sense of smell by overcoming the catarrh, which is accomplished almost entirely by dietetic measures. If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I will be pleased to send you my article on the dietetic treatment of catarrh which should be helpful.

Cans Don't Cause Cancer

Question—Fred writes: "I have heard that, when tin cans are opened, small amounts of the tin fall in the food and cause cancer. Might this not be the cause of this serious disease, especially since the doctors don't seem to know where cancers come from? Wouldn't it be a good plan to can foods in glass?"

Answer—I am sure that the cause of cancer will never be found to result from these tin cans. The methods used by modern canneries make it as safe to use the tin canned foods as those put up in glass. There is practically no danger of poisoning from canned foods they way they are prepared at present.

Foods to Grow Bones

Question—A conscientious parent inquires: "What foods are best to assist the growth of children?"

Answer—The foods should be used which are rich in bone forming minerals. Among the best foods for this purpose are spinach, lettuce, cabbage, Swiss chard, turnips, tomatoes, aspargus, celery, cucumbers, beet greens, figs, lemons, oranges, milk and egg yolk.

Weather Injures Cotton in Tillman

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 1.—Several bales of cotton are now being marketed here daily, 12 bales having been ginned up to Saturday night. The first bale at each establishment is ginned free and nearly all of the eight establishments have ginned at least one bale. Some of the gins have been allowing $10 a ton on seed, in payment of ginning. While this is low, it is in line with feed, wheat selling for $10 a ton and oats at 15 cents a bushel brings but $9.75 a ton.

There has been considerable deterioration recently, due to the heavy winds and hot weather. A couple of the ginners estimate the loss in the county during the hot winds at 1,000 bales a day. If this kind of weather continues it will hurt the grade and staple. Most of the cotton has graded strict middling and was 13-16 inches in length, selling for $5.75 a hundred.

Floyd County Rural Schools Open Early

Special to The Record News.

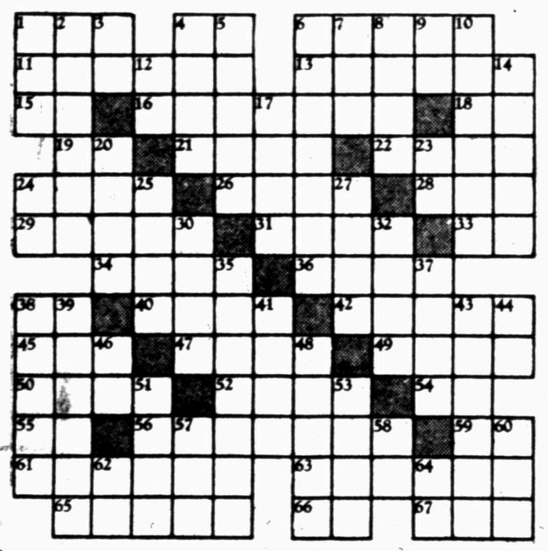

FLOYADA, Texas, Sept. 1.—Five rural schools of Floyd county have already opened their 1931-32 sessions. The schools are Antelope, McCoy, Edgin, Blanco and Fairmount. Early beginning of school at these points was made in order to get in as many weeks as possible before the beginning of the cotton picking season, when many of the rural schools will be dismissed. The matter of savings in fuel was also considered by the boards in deciding on early fall sessions. All other schools of the county will open their year's sessions on Monday, Sept. 7.

Scouts at Floydada Enjoy Camping Trip

Special to The Record News.

FLOYDADA, Texas, Sept. 1.—Troop 44 of the Boy Scouts of Floydada, under the direction of Scoutmaster W. A. Gound, left here Monday for a week's camping trip to Quitaque canyon. Troop 44 is one of the oldest troops in the county and numbers 20 members. First and second class scouting will be the feature of the trip, but merit badge work will also be taken up.

SPUDS WIN, 15-11; COONEY AND STANTON GO TO BROWNS TODAY

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

It is not often that a pitcher in any league gets the fat plum of being named the league's most valuable player. Such an honor is usually reserved for a player who is in the ranks every day, a player to whom the rest of the boys look for inspiration and guidance, and who is in all respects the nucleus of the whole outfit.

Such a player is Carey Selph, second baseman of the Houston Buffs. Day in and day out he is constantly on the job, and his hustle has done more than a little to inspire his teammates and help them over the pennant hill.

Yet he did not win the nomination as the Texas league's most valuable player.

The result of the poll of Texas league sports writers found the one and only Dizzy Dean, Buff pitching ace, receiving this honor.

However much this may be a departure from custom, we believe Dizzy actually deserved the hundred bucks and the golden scroll that will be awarded him on Labor day. After all, a great second baseman, or a whole great infield and outfield cannot win games on its own respective brilliance. Give such an outfit great pitching, however, and nothing short of the sudden demise of each and every player would stop it from winning pennants. Dizy Dean gave the Buffs that great pitching, and it still doing it.

As a salient example of what we are driving at, we are forced painfully to refer once more to the 1930 Spudders. Our boys last year were greater in every respect than the Buffs are today—with the exception of pitching. And you know well enough the fate of that club.

Upon such reasoning, the old Rambler cast his ballot for Dizzy Dean.

For second choice we named Buck Stanton, who is just as steady a bulwark to the Spudders as Carey Selph is to the Buffs.

For third place we named the above-mentioned Selph.

Football Changes

An important change in football rules for the coming season is that pertaining to a foul while a team is place-kicking, or in other ways striving for the extra point after touchdown.

Formerly, you remember, if the offensive team was off side while making the try, the team was automatically deprived of the point, whether or not the ball was kicked through the posts, or taken over the goal line by a forward pass or a line rush. On the other hand, if the defensive team committed a foul, the offensive team then and there was awarded the point.

The new rule changes all this. If the offensive team commits a foul, the regulation five-yard penalty is inflicted, and the team is allowed to try again for the extra point five yards back. If on the second try the team commits another foul, the ball is taken back five yards more, and so on until the matter is in some way settled.

On the other hand, if the defensive team commits a foul, it is penalized half the distance from the goal line. The ball, on the try for the extra point, is usually placed on the two-yard stripe. In the case of a foul by the defensive team, the ball will be moved back to the one-yard line. If it committed another foul the ball will be moved back to the half-yard stripe.

This new rule undoubtedly will make for the scoring of more points, and consequently for the scarcity of one-point victories. On the other hand, it may result in an unusual number of tie games.

A Fervent Prayer

Ge whiz, but I hope that 200-pound Harry Lucius turns out to be eligible!

A true game conservationist in Missouri has cooked up a good scheme to give the fowl something to eat this winter. Read this bulletin from the American Game association:

"A St. Louis hardware dealer is claiming that the shotgun shells being offered by his store surpass all others in versatility. This remarkable ammunition, according to his advertisements, will not only bring down game birds this winter, but will also save game birds from destruction, while at the same time giving farmers a higher price for wheat.

"The dealers is offering to exchange a dollar box of shells for every bushel of wheat bought to his store. The wheat thus collected—at a price above the present market rate—will be turned over to the Missouri game and fish department and its cooperating agencies to be used for feeding birds through cold spells next winter."

Electra Shavers Win Both Ends of Twin Bill

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 1.—The Electra Shavers won two games Sunday on the local baseball diamond by defeating the Harrold All-Stars, 8 to 7, and a team from South Vernon, 11 to 0. Haley, the new pitcher from Wichita Falls, pitched the first game and starred in sensational pitching after the second inning, striking out 11 men. Farmer Ray of Electra pitched a three-hit shutout in the last game. Scores:

Bob Wins 17th Game on Day of His Outright Sale to Major Leaguers

Browns Recall Buck Who Hits Two Doubles Against Tribe to Fall One Short of Tying Last Year's Record; Indians Stage Tough Rally in Ninth Inning

By FRED THOMPSON
Record News Sports Editor

Bob Cooney, young right-handed pitching ace of the Spudders, and Buck Stanton, classy southpaw first baseman, played their last game of the season for the Wichita Falls club yesterday afternoon, as the Spudders won a slugging match from the San Antonio Indians, 15 to 11.

President William E. Huff announced that Cooney had been sold outright to the St. Louis Browns, and that Stanton had been recalled by the Browns, who hold an option on him. Both players were expected to leave Wichita Falls Wednesday morning for St. Louis.

Yesterday's victory was Cooney's 17th of the year against nine defeats. Old Buck hit two doubles yesterday to bring his season's total to 54, one short of tying the Texas league record of 1930 set by Oscar Eckhart of Beaumont, who hit 55 last year.

Carl on First

It was announced that Skipper Carl Williams himself will replace Stanton at first base, and that there is a probability that he will also do some pitching. In the latter event, either Hungling or Fuss will be sent to the first sack.

Young Cooney started out in great form yesterday, holding the Tribe hitless the first three frames, while the Spudders scored all their 15 runs in the first five innings. But in the ninth with two out, the Indians scored six times, and Cooney barely did come out the victor. Frierson's home run with the bases loaded in the ninth was the chief blow in the rally. Hamilton hit two home runs and Nash one in the earlier stages, but it so happened that not a man was on base when either of them sailed over.

Today is two-bit day at Spudder park, and the two-bits will give the ticket-holder a seat anywhere in the stands except the reserved box sections. A double-header is to be played to wind up the series with the Indians.

Good Luck, Boys!

Cooney and Stanton leave today for their first trip to the majors. Cooney joined the Tulsa club in mid-season of 1929, and went to Topeka last year when the Tulsa franchise was shifted to that city. He had a good year, and his ability this year with the Spudders earned him the trip to the majors. He has the highest average of any hurler on the staff.

Stanton's trip to the majors is a belated one. Accidents probably kept the great little infielder from making the grade sooner. Drafted from Wilson, N. C., in 1928, he sustained a severe knee injury in the latter stages of the race and when the old hurt was aggravated in another accident in the spring of 1929 he was forced to remain idle a whole year. Last year he played the full season with Milwaukee.

It Starts Early

After the Indians had gone down in order in the first the Spuds hopped on Hobo Carson for two runs. Gerken and Allday singled and Stanton beat out a bunt down the third base line to load the sacks. Badgro grounded out to first, unassisted, Gerken scoring, and Allday tallied on Hungling's scratch hit to second. Fuss then hit into a double play, short to second to first.

The Spudders made the lead a comfortable one by scoring two more in the second after Cooney had again retired the Indians in order. Bloxsom lined a single to left and Euller plastered a double against the left field wall, Bloxsom holding up at third. Cooney popped to short, but Gerken eased a single through short to score Bloxsom and Euller. Allday flied to right and Stanton popped to third.

Carson Chased

For the third successive inning Cooney had the Tribe spellbound, Frierson grounding out pitcher to first, Heath rolling out short to first, and Carson swinging at the third one. Cooney's mates responded by routing Carson with a four-run attack in the last of the third. Badgro led off with a single to left and went to third on Hungling's single in the same direction. Fuss lined a hit through the box, scoring Badgro, and Bloxsom came through with a home run over the left field wall, scoring Hungling, Fuss and himself. Carson went to the showers, and Mueller retired the next three Spuds.

The Braves crashed into the hit column for the first time in the fourth when with two out Wade singled down the left field foul line and Higgins doubled to center, but Najo fouled out to third to retire the side scoreless.

Lineup Changed

Before the last of the fourth started Skipper Robertson of the Indians altered his lineup. Najo went to second, Hamilton to short, and Nash to left field, Flaskamper leaving the game. This change did not seem to help for the Spuds scored some more. Allday walked and scored on Stanton's double to center. Badgro walked. Both advanced on Hungling's sacrifice and then both scored on Fuss' single to right. Bloxsom rolled out third to first and Euller whiffed.

The Tribe averted a shutout when Hamilton opened the fifth with a home run over the left field fence. They followed through and scored two more. Frierson singled and went to second on Heath's infield out. Mueller fanned but Nash singled, scoring Frierson. Singles by Stebbins and Wade brought Nash home. Higgins flied to right.

The run-hungry Spudders pounded away again in the last of the frame. Cooney and Gerken singled. Allday bunted the third strike foul. Stanton doubled to center, scoring Cooney and Gerken also scored when the catcher dropped the throw-in from center. Badgro singled to right, scoring Stanton. Badgro swiped second and Hungling walked. Fuss grounded out, first to pitcher, who covered first, but everybody went to sleep and Badgro scored from second during the play. Bloxsom grounded out, short to first to finally get 'em out.

They Let Up

Frierson's double interrupted the regular order of outs in San Antonio's sixth. In the last half, the Spuds experienced something new. They went scoreless. Euller rolled out. Cooney singled, but Gerken hit into a double play, short to second to first.

Nash's home run over the left field fence was the only thing of interest in the first of the seventh.

In the last half the Spuds went down in order. Hamilton hit his second home run of the day in the first of the eighth, which otherwise was uneventful. Euller's double featured the Spudder half.

In the ninth Kowalik batted for Mueider and singled to center. Nash also singled to center. Stebbins forced Nash at second, second to short, Kowalik taking third. Wade forced Stebbins at second, third to second, Kowalik scoring. Higgins singled to left, Wade taking second. Najo walked, loading the bases. Hamilton walked, forcing in Wade. Frierson hit a home run over the right field fence, scoring Higgins, Najo, Hamilton and himself. Heath grounded out, third to first, to finally get Cooney out of the hole.

DIZZY DEAN WINS NO. 26

Buff Ace Fans 13 to Beat Shreveport, 7-4

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 1. (AP)—Dizzy Dean increased his strikeout record by 13 when Houston beat the Sports, 7 to 4, tonight in the first of a three-game series but was hard pushed to win as the result of late rallies by the home club. Moore who relieved Moulton in the second pitched good ball and fanned 10 batters. It was Dean's 26th victory. Score:

New York Teams Plan Series for Unemployed

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (US)—Tentative plans for a city series involving the Yankees, Giants and Robins, were drawn up today at a conference between the owners of the two New York clubs and representatives of Mayor Walker's unemployment relief committee.

The plan submitted by the subcommittee of sport writers was accepted in a general way but Charles A. Stoneham, owner of the Giants, expressed some doubt as to whether the series would draw. Col. Jacob Rupper, of the Yankees, offered his whole-hearted cooperation as did the officials of the Brooklyn club.

To test out the interest of New York fans, it was decided to play the first game at the Yankee stadium a week from tomorrow, an open date for both the Giants and Yankees. If the public, through its response to next week's game, demonstrates it favors the series, the remaining games will be played at the end of the season, starting Wednesday, Sept. 30, and continuing until Sunday.

Gene Vinson, Mississippi State amateur champion, shot a 68 over the par-72 championship golf course at Sedgefield, N. C.

LOU GEHRIG GOES ON SPREE

Hits Two More Homers as Yanks Win Pair

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—Lou Gehrig went on another hitting rampage today as the New York Yankees turned back the Boston Red Sox twice in a double-header, 11 to 3 and 5 to 1.

Gehrig pounded out his 39th home run in the opening contest and then added his 40th in the nightcap to go three up on Babe Ruth. The two circuit drives also ran Lou's record to six home runs in as many consecutive games. Scores:

Pampa Refuses Gas Rate Slice

PAMPA, Texas, Sept. 1. (AP)—The Pampa city commission today rejected a proffered reduction of four cents in gas rates and passed an ordinance lowering rates eight cents.

The Central States Power & Light company offered to reduce its rates four cents.

The new rate is 30 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for the first 30,000 cubic feet.

Two weeks ago the gas company was informed such an ordinance would be passed if a rate reduction was not made.

The ordinance provides that violators shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine not exceeding $200.

The Pampa city government was the second in Gray county to order rate reductions. McLean passed such an ordinance. It is now before the state court of civil appeals.

Favorite Strokes 100 In Women's Tourney

By BILL JENKINS

Mrs. W. W. Haney, a favorite of the tournament, swept around the course in 51-49—100, 16 strokes above par, to win medalist honors in the fourth annual all-city womens' golf tournament which opened on the Weeks Park Golf course Tuesday. Mrs. C. O. Davis, another favorite, took second place with a score of 50-51—101, while Mrs. Jane McKanna and Mrs. J. R. Jarboe halved the third place honors with 50-54—104 and 49-55—104 respectively.

Mrs. Haney shot par on four holes while one birdie adorned her card, a three on the eighth hole. She played consistent golf throughout the 18 holes but displayed few spectacular shots.

Mrs. Haney's card:

Par	455 536 645—45
Out	557 756 835—51
Par	334 556 645—41
In	535 657 567—49—100

Other Stars Withdraw

Following the withdrawal from the tournament of Mrs. R. R. Fisk and Mrs. F. C. Rochon, the two players that have dominated women's golf in this city for many years, comes the withdrawal of Mrs. L. W. McCrory and Mrs. F. T. Couper, feminine stars of the Country club links. Since all the stars of the Wichita Falls links are absent from this tournament, the contestants will be more evenly matched.

The number of entrants fell far below expectations, since only 10 aspirants reported to Professional Bill Strahan for the qualifying round. Plans had been formed for two flights of eight players each, but because of the small number of entrants there will be only one flight, with a consolation flight for the losers.

Only two matches are slated for today, Mrs. W. W. Haney will meet Mrs. H. L. Ruehl while Mrs. C. O. Davis will engage Mrs. D. G. Whitney. The second round matches are scheduled for Thursday, while the semi-finals and finals will follow on Friday and Saturday respectively.

Feature Contests

The first of the feature contests, the driving contest, was won by Mrs. C. O. Davis with a total of 599 yards for three drives. Mrs. W. P. Bolding was second with 440 yards, while Mrs. J. R. Jarboe won third honors with a total of 400 yards.

The approaching and putting contest was won by Mrs. J. R. Jarboe by making three beautiful approach shots and putting only twice with each of the three balls. Mrs. W. W. Haney and Mrs. J. A. Hannay shared second honors in this contest while Mrs. Jane McKanna won third place.

The qualifying scores:

Mrs. W. W. Haney	51-49—100
Mrs. C. O. Davis	51-50—101
Mrs. Jane McKanna	50-54—104
Mrs. J. R. Jarboe	49-55—104
Mrs. J. A. Hannay	62-59—111
Miss Dell Hatchitt	57-56—113
Mrs. W. P. Bolding	56-61—117
Mrs. W. M. Giddings	62-65—117
Mrs. H. L. Ruehl	61-62—123
Mrs. D. G. Whitney	65-64—129

HILL WINS TROPHY

Final tabulation Tuesday of the low choice scores of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club linksmen revealed that Newman Hill, with an 18-hole total of 50 strokes, was the winner of the Burns ringer trophy, offered by L. T. (Bobby) Burns to the golfer having the lowest choice score over the three-month period beginning June 1 and ending Aug. 31.

Hill's score included four eagles and 14 birdies. His card follows:

First nine	233 232 333—24
Last nine	223 334 333—26—50

SENIOR, JUNIOR GOLF MEET OPENS TODAY

A senior and junior championship, the former for players over 50 years of age, and the latter for boys under 19, will get under way today at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, Phil Hessler, club professional, announced Tuesday.

Qualifying rounds in each event will start over the country club course today. An entry fee of 50 cents will be charged in each event to defray expense of trophies, which will be awarded winners in both divisions.

Body of Dallas Man Recovered From Lake

DENTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—The body of Dave Garner, 40-year-old Dallas restaurant proprietor, who drowned at Lake Dallas Sunday, was recovered today when it floated ashore.

Garner drowned while trying to swim from a fishing boat to the shore, a distance of about one-quarter mile. He sank after swimming about 100 yards.

U. S. Airmen Ready for Tokyo-Seattle Flight

TOKYO, Sept. 1. (US)—Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, American airmen, today announced they have completed trial flights preparatory to their projected non-stop hop across the Pacific to Seattle. They said they will start as soon as they are granted a permit by the Japanese government.

THREE TIE FOR AMATEUR LEAD

Gus Moreland Fourth in National Event

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer.

BEVERLY COUNTRY CLUB, Chicago, Sept. 1.—Three newcomers to such rarified golfing atmosphere weathered the golfing storms of Beverly today to wind up in a three-cornered tie for the qualifying medal of the United States amateur championship.

They ranged from the lightweight to the super-heavyweight class as 135-pound Johnny Lehman, Chicago, ex-western champion, staged a bristling comeback to tie the giant Los Angeles youth, Charley Seaver, and 268-pound Arthur (Ducky) Yates, Rochester, N. Y., the largest qualifier in the history of the national tournament.

Each finished with totals of 148 for the two-day 36-hole test, paving the way for the first two rounds of match competition tomorrow.

For the second straight year, the qualifying failures were headed by the popular Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, St. Paul. Johnston, No. 1 man on this year's "seeding" list finished with 82-81—163, six strokes away from the border line.

Gus Moreland, 20-year-old Texas champion, missed a putt of barely two feet on the 17th and then put his second into a trap on the 18th, finishing two over par. His 36-hole tally of 73-76—149, put the youthful Texas, in his national tournament debut, in fourth place, tied with Samuel M. Parks Jr., Pittsburgh, who posted a consistent 75-74—149.

Giants Blank Braves, 4 to 0

BOSTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Jim Mooney, rookie southpaw pitcher, scored his fourth victory and second shutout of his brief major league career today as he hurled the New York Giants to a 4 to 0 victory over the Boston Braves. It was the third consecutive triumph for the Giants in the current series.

Ben Cantwell, who went the route for the Braves, allowed only seven hits but three errors helped in his downfall. Score:

Van Ryn, Allison In Doubles Final

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 1. (AP)—The storm-tossed national doubles tennis tournament, five days overdue, today was steered into its championship berth by an experienced crew, including last year's runner-up.

Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, defeated in last year's final by Johnny Doeg and George M. Lott, had an easy time reaching port. They overwhelmed Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, and Bruce Barnes, Austin, Texas, where Allison resides, in straight sets 6-4, 6-0, 6-3.

The other finalists, Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Berkeley Bell, New York, had to battle in downing Sidney Wood and Frank X. Shields, United States Davis cup stars, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 10-8.

Barnes and Sutter, out of competition since last Thursday, appeared stale against their crack rivals, who indicated early they were in top form. Barnes' terrific forehand was out of control when play started and it later became so wild his usually accurate service was broken four times.

The final has been scheduled for 3 p. m., eastern daylight time, tomorrow.

The state of Michigan still has 810 blacksmith shops, 200 harness stores and 70 livery stables.

LIONS EXPECT STRONG LINE

Squad of 48 Reports for Practice

By T. L. ROUSE
Record News Correspondent

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 1.—The Vernon High school Lions training camp opened Monday with 48 candidates reporting to Head Coach W. C. Weir. Ralph Binnion and Bruce Reed, assistant coaches, will help with shaping the men into the 1931 machine that will seek the championship of district 2 of the interscolastic league.

Coach Weir has 11 letter men back in uniform and an assorted group of material from which to select his team. The letter men back are Captain Watson, Frank Anderson and Cleo Mason, guards; Sam Parker, Woodie Weir, Louis Emrick and Eugene Judd, ends; Denny Dolan and Tarleton Jones, tackles; and Ernest Christian, half, and Woodrow Smith, full. The coaches are faced with the problem of a suitable quarter and the best prospect for this place is Jimmie Lutz, who played as substitute quarter last year and has been on the squad three years.

Great Line Predicted

The Lions will have one of the best lines in the district as the 1930 team was rated as one of the strongest of the whole district and few of the linemen were lost through graduation. Assistant Coach Reed is drilling the line candidates in this phase of the game and Binnion is assisting Coach Weir with the backfields.

The program for the week will be a session of skull practice each morning at 9 o'clock followed by a workout on the field, lunch at the school cafeteria and another workout at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

With a veteran line and new men for the majority of the places in the backfield Coach Weir is expected to develop a running game this year. He has some speedy prospects and with a line to hold and give the plays time to get under way this will perhaps be the Lions' main method of attack this season. Christian and Smith were both flashy players last fall on both line plunging and broken field running. Christian is small and very fast and once in the open is hard to bring down.

Two Open Dates

No team has been scheduled for the opening game yet on Sept. 18. Oct. 9 is also an open date. The rest of the schedule follows:

September 25.—Frederick, Okla., there.
October 2.—Grandfield, Okla., there.
October 17.—Childress here.
October 24.—Electra there.
October 30.—Altus, Okla., here.
November 11.—Quanah here.
November 26—Wichita Falls there.

Bailey-Moline and Sullivans Agree To Settle Dispute in 'Grudge Battle'

By the agreement of Manager Steve Franklin, of the Sullivans Grocery nine, and Johnny O'Neal, manager of the city champion Bailey-Moline team, the grudge battle between the two teams will be settled Sunday and Monday afternoons at Katy park. There was much argument between the two clubs at the end of the league season as to which one was the better of the two in spite of the fact that Bailey-Moline won the league championship.

Sullivans Grocery seemed to be of the opinion that with Stanley Anderson on the eligible list for the league playoff they would have won the championship. Anderson was ruled out of the league just before the playoff. The hard feelings of the two clubs was carried into the playoff and on into the series with the Dallas winners.

A large crowd is expected to watch these two teams battle both Sunday and Labor day. One game will be played Sunday and a double-header on Labor day. A charge of 10 cents will be made at the gate to cover the expenses of the games and help toward the buying of a suitable trophy for the winners. Both clubs turned out colorful teams this year and three great games are expected.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—An early decline in cotton was followed by rallies on covering and trade buying today.

December contracts, after selling off to 6.95 early, advanced to 7.19 in the late trading or 4 points net higher. Reactions of several points occurred in the last few minutes, with December closing at 7.12 and the general market steady at net declines of 3 to 6 points. October sold up from 6.75 to 6.96 and March from 7.26 to 7.48 or 2 to 4 points net higher, but lost 5 or 6 points the last few minutes under realizing.

Liverpool cables attributed the decline in the market to hedging combined with continental and Bombay liquidation. Reports from Washington regarding the farm board's attitude towards stabilization were not generally discussed as an immediate market factor and later reports concerning the sentiment of Texas farmers as to the acreage reduction seemed to be without much effect.

According to a canvass made here today New York cotton exchange members are expecting a crop of 15,572,000 bales on the average. Exports today 41,585, making 237,362 so far this season. Port receipts 14,041. U. S. port stocks 2,714,092.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1. (AP)—With prices again tending downward the cotton market was far from active today. Liverpool cables were worse than due probably reflecting the unfavorable political position abroad and weather over night was favorable. These influences coupled with liquidation, some hedge selling and lack of buying power caused an early decline of 16 to 17 points.

The market rallied sharply during the afternoon on a Texas rumor of a probable extra session, gaining 21 to 23 points from the lows but reacted 5 to 6 points at the end of realizing. The market closed steady net 2 points down to 1 up.

Liverpool is due 5 to 7 penny points up on New Orleans tomorrow. Liverpool cables came in 6 to 8 penny points worse than due. October closed at 6.92 or net unchanged for the day and December closed at 7.14 also net unchanged.

Port receipts 13,909; for week 44,070; for season 216,456; exports 41,585; for week 83,740; for season 232,676; last season 378,910. Port stock 2,710,213; last year 1,858,472. Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 1. (INS)—Spots cotton was quiet at the opening today with prices easier. Sales amounted to 5,000 bales.

At midday, middling fair sold at 4.85d, strictly good middling at 4.40d, good middling at 4.05d, strictly middling at 3.80d, middling at 3.65d, strictly low middling at 3.50d, low middling at 3.30d, strictly good ordinary at 3.10d, and good ordinary at 2.80d.

Futures were easy with October at 3.56d, December at 3.64d, January at 3.66d, March at 3.75d, and May at 3.84d.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Chicago cotton market closed from 1 point lower to 1 point higher today. With cables 8 penny points lower than due, the market opened 15 to 18 points down. Trade buying advanced prices in the morning and further gains were made in the afternoon. The close was steady. The weather over the belt was generally fair and favorable except light rains in western Texas and Oklahoma. Further unsettledness is forecast.

Half-Million Share Turnover Marks Dullest Day Since 1924

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (US)—Turnover on the stock exchange today involved half-a-million shares.

The session was the dullest since the initial stages of the "Coolidge bull market" just prior to his election in 1924. Perhaps this dullness provided the most cheering phase of the day's market, if it could be called a market. The half-million shares represented the total transactions in what is popular characterized as the world's leading stock exchange.

There was absolutely no incentive to trade and even the numerous pools in low-priced issues hesitated to "jiggle" their pets under the circumstances. With the market floundering around in its dullness it was but natural that many stories should be invented or gain circulation.

The most popular of these reports, and at least this seemed to gain some recognition in responsible quarters, was that the long-term government bonds were not meeting enthusiastic reception. The subscription books it was noted, were kept open for additional subscriptions, and bond market interests were not backward in expressing some discontent toward the treasury's program, although it is quite evident to all students of government finance that the issue will be completely taken. The short-term certificates were reported going very well.

Another story which gained wide circulation was to the effect that "heavy English selling" is taking place. If any heavy selling could have taken place during today's half-million-share volume, then the sellers are market masters. As a matter of fact, an English capitalist aware of true conditions in his country would be more apt to desire American securities than to sell them. There is no reason to belittle the nervousness of the English financial world, and the implications contained in the mobilization of foreign securities has ominous tone, but of late there has not been any great dumping of such securities on the American market.

The most cheerful development was the further strength in the bond market, especially during the late trading. Strength in bonds found reflection in the stock market, which enjoyed a modest rally but sufficient to show net gains for the day. The report persisted that a pool has been operating among the lower-grade bonds, but confirmation was still lacking. It is probably a case of speculative buying being attracted to the bond market in the hopes that an advancing movement may be effected in anticipation of another upturn in stock prices.

Many of the railroad stocks moved a point or more higher for the day, although it is quite obvious that their strength is chiefly in response to favorable technical conditions created by occasionally oversold condition of individual issues. Dividend reductions are still in store for many rails. The motion picture group showed sustained strength, with Loew's a leader.

Almost the entire speculative community seemingly is in agreement that little is to be expected from the market this week, and this view was strengthened when the stock exchange decided to close for a three-day holiday at this week-end. With this extended holiday ahead, few pool operators or bear operators are likely to be active, and the quietness which is preferred to all other developments by other factors except perhaps the brokers is likely to be attained.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Wheat was a little firmer today, despite the fact that rallies were hard to hold and the price ranged narrow. Trade was generally inactive. Unexpectedly small deliveries on September contracts, only 50,000 bushels, were a bullish influence. There was an extremely slow demand for wheat abroad, but crop news was more favorable. September corn showed considerable strength at times, and traders were surprised at the fact that no deliveries were made on September contracts.

Wheat closed firmer ¼@1c above yesterday's finish, corn mixed, 1c down on September, and unchanged to ¼c up on deferred months, oats ⅛@¼c higher, and provisions unchanged to 15c advance.

September corn started with a show of strength, as much as 1¾c a bushel higher, but news that no deliveries had been made sent shorts to cover and prices reacted.

Oats trade was of narrow proportions with a fairly firm tone. Provisions averaged firmer.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (US)—Although lack of deliveries in all grains brought out enough short covering to hold prices fractionally above the previous close, there was no increase in speculative interest. With the buying for a turn which would customarily develop on such a situation a strong upturn should have resulted. Action of the market was construed as just another indication of the need for speculative interest if grains are to work out of their present rut.

With almost the entire supply of corn in Chicago concentrated in one holding, failure of deliveries to appear prompted fears that there may be no deliveries the rest of the month. However, the country evinces a disposition to sell on advances. As a result covering was not urgent.

Improvement in shipping demand and charters in two days for 650,000 bushels of corn to go east by lake added to the discomfiture of September corn shorts.

The private reports on corn and spring wheat are expected to be about the same as government figures a month ago. An average of about 2,800,000,000 bushels of corn is expected, while the spring wheat yield is figured slightly less than 120,000,000 bushels.

BRAZIL BARS FLOUR IMPORTS

18 Months Embargo Made In New Decree

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Suspension of wheat flour imports into Brazil for 18 months is expected by experts to mean that Brazil will refrain from buying nearly 200,000 tons of wheat flour from the United States and Argentina during that period.

The 18-month prohibition of wheat flour importation is an amendment to the decree authorizing the exchange of coffee for United States wheat.

Argentine wheat flour sells as far north as Rio de Janeiro while United States flour has a market in northern Brazil. Flour imports from the United States during the past calendar year were 74,000 tons, about half the total flour imports.

In addition to relieving Brazil of the necessity of sending money abroad to buy flour, the suspension of importation is expected to increase wheat acreage in Brazil.

U. S. NOTIFIED OF EMBARGO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—The commerce department was advised by cable today that flour ordered before Aug. 28 would be exempt from Brazil's 18-month embargo on importations of the wheat product.

Commercial Attache Carlton Jackson at Rio de Janeiro said the Brazilian minister of finance had given verbal assurance that flour proved to have been ordered before Aug. 28 would be permitted entry.

The embargo was decreed Friday at the same time that the exchange of Brazilian coffee for American wheat was approved.

Pullman Co. Plans 'Second Fare' Charge

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (AP)—The Pullman company announced today that it had filed with the Interstate Commerce commission a tariff, establishing a charge for a second passenger occupying a berth or section. The rate, which becomes effective Oct. 15, will be 20 per cent of the lower berth rate, but will not apply to children under 12 years of age.

"This charge is analagous to that made by hotels for double occupancy of a room," read the company's statement. "Over 90 per cent of Pullman passengers will not be affected by this new regulation."

Gins Wait Cotton Crop Near Newport

Special to The Record News.

NEWPORT, Texas, Sept. 1.—Cotton is opening rapidly and the gins will turn out the first bale of cotton this week. The crop is the best this section has had in several years as the insects have done little damage. A half bale to the acre will be gathered from many fields and there are a few fields that will beat that. Farmers are discouraged because of the low price they are going to have to take and there will be little of the crop gathered by hired pickers.

Most farmers in this section favor the Long cotton plan if any such legislation has to be passed at all.

At least half a dozen syrup mills are now running every day in the Newport country and the cane is making a high grade of syrup this year which is selling all the way from 50 to 75 cents per gallon.

PENNY STARTS HUNT

ROCKY HILL, Conn., (UP)—Discovery of an early American penny dated 1838, in a tavern being dismantled, precipitated a treasure hunt. Albert Morgan, orinthologist, discovered the coin and believes it was part of a cache. The tavern was constructed in 1780, when this village was a shipping port.

East Texas Oil Storage Diminishes Rapidly With All Wells Shut Down

The East Texas tank farms will be empty in a few days, unless martial law is lifted there under some form of allowable production, it is learned.

East Texas operators report that at the rate of withdrawals during the fiscal week ended Aug. 26, the East Texas tanks would be dry by early September. Consumption averaged 300,219 barrels a day during the first full week of the military shut down.

When Gov. Ross S. Sterling ordered martial law into East Texas there was approximately 4,000,000 barrels of oil stored in East Texas. Withdrawals at the rate of 300,219 barrels a day, took out 2,101,533 barrels in the seven days ended at 7 a. m. Aug. 26.

The previous week East Texas produced 848,398 barrels a day and 110,513 barrels went to storage.

Withdrawals Cut

Trunk pipe lines cut their withdrawals from East Texas nearly 50 per cent, or 240,717 barrels a day, or 230,944 barrels a day less than the 471,661 barrels that was moved out the week previous.

The rate of deliveries was not reduced by East Texas refiners who used 38,426 barrels a day the week under review, against 40,995 barrels a day the preceding week. All of the oil came out of storage, and the supply available to East Texas refiners was limited and the rate is expected to have been further decreased for the next fiscal week ended Sept. 2.

Tank car shipments declined about 92 per cent, being estimated at 21,076 barrels a day, compared to 225,229 barrels daily the week before.

The East Texas field was entirely shut in the past week, and thus reduced the total for Texas to around 500,000 barrels a day. But for the increased allowable for the Van field to 50,000 barrels a day the state output would have been but 475,000 barrels a day.

Drilling Goes Ahead

While production in East Texas was prohibited, no interference exists as to drilling operations and none is threatened. There are today more than 1,735 completed oil wells, or 91 over the 1,644 that existed on Aug. 19, two days after martial law went into effect.

Statisticians reported that from the moment that C. M. (Dad) Joiner of Dallas, had completed No. 1 Daisy Bradford, near Henderson, in Rusk county, to the Woodbine sand, until Aug. 26, it had produced 60,549,623 barrels of oil in the four East Texas counties of Rusk, Gregg, Smith, and Upsher counties.

Considering the probable productive area to total but 90,000 acres, now accepted by geologists as a liberal estimate, the East Texas field has produced less than 700 barrels per acre. Estimate on probable recovery range from 2,000 to 4,000 barrels for those leases near the heart of the field.

Distribution of East Texas oil for the week ended Aug. 26, follows:

Method—	Aug. 26	Aug. 19
Trunk pipe lines	240,717	471,661
Local refineries	38,426	40,995
Car shipments	21,076	225,229
To storage	......	110,513
Totals	300,219	848,398

ARRESTS NEAR IN SLAYINGS

Bank Robbers Sought for Houston Murders

HOUSTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Apprehension of the two notorious bank robbers sought in connection with the double slaying of C. A. (Keggy) Jones and his wife here Monday, was expected momentarily tonight.

Officers redoubled their efforts to arrest the pair after it was definitely learned this afternoon that Jones was out Sunday night with the two men now being sought.

A woman, said to be a relative of either Jones or his slain wife, told police that the trio spent the night before the dual murder attempting to "straighten out muddled affairs."

A plot to "put Jones on the spot" was hatched in Dallas last week, it was learned.

First information that Jones had spent the night in the company of the two men sought was brought police by a negro man who said he saw Jones and two other men in an automobile at 6 a. m. Monday. The trio entered the fashionable apartment house occupied by Jones and his wife, the negro said.

Jones and his wife, clad in pajamas, were found shot to death at 11 a. m. Monday in their apartment.

MacDonald's Son Gets Position in Cabinet

LONDON, Sept. 1. (INS)—Malcolm MacDonald, eldest son of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, was given a place in his father's national coalition cabinet today.

Two Wichitans Hurt When Car Hits Ditch

Two men were in the Wichita General hospital Tuesday night after the automobile in which they were riding crashed down a steep hill into a ditch at the west end of Avenue F. Neither was seriously injured although the automobile was practically demolished.

W. M. Johnson, 45, 3005 York street, escaped with a cut on his lip and minor bruises. Roy Malone, 30, 3013 Miami, received a gash over the head and across an eye. He is to remain at the hospital overnight.

The two men were driving west on Avenue F in the automobile, according to Herbert Pogue and Homer Bentley, city officers who investigated, and apparently did not know that the avenue ended at Garfield street with a ditch at the bottom of a steep decline.

NEW PRORATION RULE BLOCKED

Sterling Disapproves of Well Maximum

and operating methods, it seems to me we have gone far enough," Neff said. "It is no concern of the commission how much a well can produce, if it produces without waste of oil and gas, or how low the price of oil goes. We should be concerned solely with prevention of physical waste."

Hopes Dimmed

The unexpected disagreement between the governor and the two majority members of the commission over terms of the order cast a new shadow over the hopes of mid-continent oil operators that definite action was in immediate prospect for regulation of the unruly East Texas field.

Reports from Tulsa said several mid-continent operators expressed regret that the East Texas allowable probably would reach 340,000 barrels daily and predicted crude oil prices probably would decline again, rather than improve, if East Texas production should exceed 400,000 barrels daily.

Storage Reported

Oil operators all over the East Texas field were rapidly complying with the military order issued last night by General Wolters, commandant, directing them to report not later than noon tomorrow the amount of oil stored on each lease. The order specified that no well would be allowed to reopen before all such information was assembled at military headquarters in Kilgore.

General Wolters reiterated, however, that the field could not be reopened, regardless of the proration schedule the railroad commission might issue, until Governor Sterling so directed. Likewise, he pointed out that even after instructions from the governor had been received, it would require 24 hours actually to lift the lid in the 600-square-mile production area, the largest territory ever placed under martial law in Texas.

Drilling of new wells was not restricted by the martial law order and General Wolters estimated that 1,800 wells would be ready to open by Thursday.

MILITIA READY TO ENFORCE ORDER

KILGORE, Texas, Sept. 1.(AP)—The militia occupying the East Texas oil field held itself in readiness to supervise re-opening of the field at command of Gov. Ross S. Sterling.

Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, and staff were prepared to act as soon as orders came through from the chief executive. Meanwhile, oil operators were requested to report the amount of oil in storage on their leases.

Those figures will be used after issuance of the expected proration order as a check to see that production does not exceed the allowable set by the railroad commission.

Under the suggested proration order of the commission, which would allow 225 barrels from each well daily, production in the East Texas field would be at least 405,000 barrels daily, or 135,000 barrels more than provided in the commission's July order.

The July order was almost completely ignored by operators on the claim, or assumption, that it was superseded by the new conservation law passed at the special session of the state legislature. Governor Sterling's shutdown martial law order went into effect Aug. 27.

Some operators in the rich field had protested already to the commission's proposed schedule, claiming it would be destructive to independents.

Once the governor's order is received, it will probably require 24 hours to put it into effect throughout the field due to the widespread scope of operations. It would be necessary for cavalry detachments to cover the entire area, much in the same manner they have since establishment of martial law.

Wichita Woodman Circle Welcomed By Bellevue Body

Special to The Record News.

BELLEVUE, Texas, Sept. 1.—Approximately 100 visitors from Wichita Falls, members of the Wilson No. 487 Woodman circle and their friends, were welcomed in Bellevue Tuesday evening. The circle staged a spectacular drill on the pavement in front of the First National bank. Afterwards the guests were entertained with supper in the hall.

McKenney to Talk On Labor Problems

In connection with the Labor day celebration Monday Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church, will speak on labor and its problems at a special service at the church at 8 o'clock Sunday night.

Doctor McKenney has invited the laboring men of the city to "come as they are" and has extended a special invitation to members of labor organizations.

First 1931 Cotton Bales Purchased in Bellevue

Special to The Record News.

BELLEVUE, Texas, Sept. 1.—Fred Aulick bought the first bale of 1931 cotton brought to Bellevue. He paid 6½ cents a pound for the 500-pound bale grown by Farmer Stone and ginned at Vashti.

The second bale, grown by B. W. Miller near Bellevue was sold to George Crockett at 6¼ cents a pound. The bale weighed 500 pounds and was ginned at the Duncan gin in Bellevue.

NEW RYE HARVESTED

HANCOCK, Wis. (UP)—More than 600 bushels of a new variety of white rye, almost as hard as wheat, were harvested here by A. R. Albert, manager of the state experiment station. The yield averaged 16 to 20 bushels an acre.

NURSES OPEN SCHOOL TERM

21 Enrolled at General Hospital

The nurses' school at the Wichita General hospital here opened its fall session Tuesday morning, according to the announcement of Miss Mary Smith, superintendent.

A total of 21 student nurses now are enrolled in the school, 14 of them starting training with the current session. An intensive course is prescribed for three years, after which students are awarded diplomas as graduate nurses. Rigid mental and physical examinations are required before entrance is granted to the training school.

Young women commencing training and who are eligible for graduation in 1934 are Misses Leona Dickenson, Wichita Falls; Mary Ferguson, Knox City; Roberta Hall, Olney; Dorothy Kimberling, Lawton; Frances McKinney, Megargel; Mary Warkham, Burkburnett; Leota Postelwait, Randlett; Helen Scott, Electra; Eva Sullivan, Harrold; Alice White, Wichita Falls; Alma Winn, Iowa Park; Ruby Wolf, Burkburnett; Alta Foreman, Iowa Park; and Zadie Fish, Archer City.

Harmonica Blues to Feature Park Program

Additional talent secured for Thursday night's closing vaudeville program for this season was announced Tuesday by C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of the city park department.

Blues numbers on two harmonicas will be given by Eddie Gillam and Herman Tice. Miss Emma Ruth Burnside will be presented in a blackface comedy act and Miss Ruby Kenneth will contribute a piano solo.

Charles King also was announced as an additional vocalist for the evening, with Marshall Wharton appearing as his accompanist.

An unusually full program is being arranged for the year's last free vaudeville bill, according to Mr. Bunnenberg.

M'GEE RITES AWAIT SONS

Heart Attack Fatal to Poultry Worker

Funeral arrangements will be completed Wednesday morning for H. H. McGee, 53, employe of the M. Johnson Poultry ranch who died Tuesday morning at his home, 4805 Pasadena, following a heart attack. Two sons, Richard and Haskell McGee of El Paso, are expected to arrive here early Wednesday.

Mr. McGee moved here from Boston, Mass., slightly more than two years ago. He had been employed by the poultry ranch during the greater part of his residence in Wichita Falls. He was said to have appeared in good health early Tuesday morning. Stricken after completing his morning work, he died within a few hours. The body is at the Merkle Undertaking company.

Surviving, in addition to the two sons, are the widow and three daughters, Mrs. R. O. Frazier of Boston, and Misses Naomi and Dorothy McGee of Wichita Falls.

DEATHS

OSCAR STIRMAN

Funeral services for Oscar Stirman, 30, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident near Lawton Saturday, were held from the First Church of Christ Tuesday morning. The Rev. L. S. White, the pastor, officiated. Burial was in Rosemont under the direction of the Hines mortuary.

Stirman died in a Lawton hospital Sunday night. His automobile overturned as it took a corner a few miles south of Lawton as he and Fred Keys were returning to Wichita Falls from Craterville. He received a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Survivors include the widow, his mother, two sisters and two brothers. He resided here on the Charlie road.

Tillman Calls Cotton Meet

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 1.—W. L. Hutcheson, director of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers association, announces that a meeting will be held at the court room at 2 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 2, when Clarence Roberts will discuss the cotton situation. Roberts has succeeded Carl Williams, member of the federal farm board, as editor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman. He will tell the farmer where he is, how he got there and the way out. All are invited to attend the meeting.

Juvenile Jail Cases Set Record in August

Incorrigibility among juveniles in this county was reflected in a new record for jail cases during the month of August, according to County Juvenile Officer James A. McDonald, the total reaching 35.

Of the 35 juveniles confined after arrest during the month, four were girls, it was reported. There were two commitments to schools of correction, one boy being sent to Gatesville, and one girl to Gainesville.

During the month of July there were 30 jail cases in the juvenile department, which Mr. McDonald declared was a record up to that time.

Tillman to Advertise Farms in Northwest

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 1.—Want ads will be inserted in papers in Nebraska and South Dakota advertising Tillman county farms which are for sale, reported H. A. Nachtrieb, manager of the home ownership committee, at a luncheon of the Junior chamber of commerce Monday. It is planned to get successful farmers on each farm in this county which is for sale. Haskell Holloman, chairman of the junior division of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce, presided at Monday's meeting.

Italian-Vatican Pact Restores Old Positions

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 1.—(UP)—The terms of the accord ending the dispute between the holy see and the Italian government to be officially announced later this week, return both parties to the position they held before the dissention, it was revealed today.

The accord will assert that no incompatibility exists between Fascism and Catholicism, the United Press learned.

Under the terms, members of the Axione Catollica, laymen's organization, which drew government's ire, will in future be permitted to belong to the Fascist party.

Students Enroll Today In Frederick Schools

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 1.—Two days this week will be given for enrolling in the local high school, Wednesday and Thursday. Seniors and juniors will enroll Wednesday and sophomores and freshmen on Thursday. Eighth grade students will enroll in the Junior high school Thursday forenoon and seventh graders in the afternoon.

NEW BOYS' CLUB HEAD ON DUTY

'Lefty' Robertson Takes Post as Director

Marvin "Lefty" Robertson, local sandlot pitching star and director of junior baseball leagues for the city park department during the past summer, assumed his duties as director of the Wichita Falls Boys' club Tuesday morning, succeeding William B. Ward, whose resignation recently was accepted by the executive committee.

Robertson is a life-long resident of Wichita Falls and a graduate of Wichita Falls High school and Junior college and of Texas university. Active in various athletics during the past 10 years, he has gained unusual prominence in baseball. Following his experience on local school and amateur baseball teams, he became a pitcher on the Texas university baseball team, and was given one tryout with the Spudder organization. Lack of weight was charged with preventing his immediate success in organized baseball. Surprising endurance featured his most brilliant mound performance, however, when about three weeks ago he was one of two amateur pitchers to go 25 innings to a tie in a local sandlot battle.

During the past summer he directed the several junior leagues sponsored by the city park department, supervising the games of several hundred boys. The baseball division was conducted on practically the same standards as those prevailing in other character-building organizations for young people.

The Wichita Falls Boys' club is now entering its third year of existence. It was organized by the Rotary club, which exercises control of the organization through a board of nine trustees, from which five are chosen as an executive committee. Its headquarters is in the annex to the old city hall on Ohio avenue, where game rooms and a gymnasium are maintained. The club now has a membership of more than 200 boys. Aside from its attention to physical culture, the club maintains a library, and conducts inspirational meetings every Sunday morning for its members. It is designed particularly to provide for boys otherwise underprivileged.

The present executive committee is composed of Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, chairman; Ben D. Donnell, Bill Killingsworth and Charles H. Featherston.

Mr. Ward, formerly purchasing agent for the city of Wichita Falls, has been in charge of the club from its inception. His plans for the future have not yet been announced.

Funeral for Car Crash Victim To Be Held in Archer City Today

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Sept. 1.—Funeral services for Mrs. H. A. Power, resident of Archer county since childhood, who died in an Abilene hospital Monday of injuries received in an automobile accident near there Sunday, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the First Christian church at Archer City.

Rev. Ray Lindley of Big Spring, former pastor of the Archer City church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Archer City cemetery. The Dalton-Powell Funeral home of Wichita Falls will be in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Power was injured when the automobile in which she and Mr. Power and their granddaughter, Frances Marion Power, collided with another machine near Abilene. Mr. Power was slightly injured. The child and occupants of the other car were unhurt.

Mrs. Power was a member of a prominent Archer county ranching family. She had been active in the affairs of her church for over 40 years and had held many positions in that organization. Mr. Power was cashier of the Power Banking company which discontinued its operations at Archer City in July.

Surviving Mrs. Power, in addition to her husband; are a son, Marion Power, a ranchman who lives near Hereford; two daughters, Misses Ruby and Caroline Power, who were visiting their brother; five sisters, Mrs. L. L. Cheatham of Abilene, Mrs. E. A. McDaniel of McAllen, Mrs. J. Harbour of Coleman, Mrs. C. E. Welch of Santa Anna, and Mrs. W. T. Browning of Stamford, and two brothers, D. L. Wolf of Olney and E. Wolf of Palacios, Texas.

Ad Club Honors Kelly's Birthday

Members of the Wichita Falls Ad club frolicked through a short program of games and stunts in celebration of the birthday of Albert E. Kelly Tuesday noon at the first meeting of the organization after a summer intermission of three months.

J. L. Jackson Jr., president of the chamber of commerce; T. J. Waggoner Jr., president of the Junior chamber of commerce; and J. H. Allison delivered short humorous talks dedicated to Mr. Kelly and presented the guest of honor with appropriate gifts.

R. E. Shepherd, president, was authorized to appoint a committee which shall have charge of presenting to Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma an oil portrait painted by Emil Hermann of this city, and which is now on display in the City National bank.

State Revenue Agent Brings License Charge

As a result of inspections made here Tuesday by R. B. Patton, representative of the state revenue department, a complaint was filed by County Attorney L. V. Abernathy against a local concern charging failure to display the license permitting imposition of a charge for sanitary service to the public.

One negro entered a plea of guilty before Judge Irvin Vogel in the county court at law Tuesday morning to a charge of theft over $5, and was given 20 days in the county jail.

Pleading guilty to a charge of assault and battery, another man was fined $5 and costs.

In justice court, before Judge O. L. Gibbs, a negro was assessed a fine of $1 and costs on a charge of gaming, the case being tried by a jury.
