

Screwworm Case Reported In County

A confirmed case of screwworms has been reported in Briscoe County. Officials of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program say the case was found on a ranch about 20 miles northeast of Silverton. This is the first reported case of screwworms since last fall on the High Plains.

The screwworm infestation was found in the eye of an animal. At the present time, program officials say the origin of the case is unknown. It is not known whether the case was in cattle brought in from another area or in cattle which had been on the ranch for some time.

Action has already been taken to find out more about the case and to get control measures underway in the area where the case was found. Sterile screwworm flies will be dropped over the infested area within 24 to 48 hours.

Close checks on your livestock is vital at this time, says Dixon Hubbard, Extension Livestock Specialist, Lubbock. Keep stock under close surveillance and call county agent Leon Grosdidier at once if an animal is found that is thought to be infested with screwworms. Grosdidier can send some of the maggots to the Screwworm Eradication Center at Mission, Texas, and if they are found to be screwworms, ranchers will be quickly notified.

Don Rummel, Area Extension Entomologist says all producers should use an approved smear or repellent on all wounds or other cut areas on any livestock. This is doubly important at this time, since screwworms migrate fast during the damp, cooler weather experienced lately.

Any further information concerning this problem can be had from the county agent's office.

National 4-H Club Week is being observed September 26 through October 3, and about 84,000 boys and girls throughout Texas are boasting the theme, "4-H: Learning for Living."

The Head, Heart, Hands and Health program which is open to all youth between the ages of nine and twenty provides opportunities for members to grow in citizenship, leadership and practical skills.

Projects and activities, based on "learning by doing," offer practical instruction in the sciences and arts related to agriculture and home economics. Personal development and career exploration are emphasized.

Extension agents and specialists provide thorough, up-to-date information while parents, volunteer adult leaders, junior leaders, businessmen and public-spirited citizens provide active support and contribute much to the success of the program.

Three project areas in 4-H work include agricultural projects or those related to agriculture, home economics projects and general interest projects.

Texas 4-H'ers, in order to publicize National 4-H Club Week and to promote 4-H in their communities, are preparing exhibits and displays in public places, special pages or sections of newspapers, radio and television programs and programs at schools or other assemblies.

During the observance of National 4-H Club Week, people throughout the state and nation are invited to take a close look at the organization that has as its goal the building of useful, desirable and happy citizens.

State Leader Reports 4-H Club Growth

"4-H Clubs are attracting more boys and girls from cities and towns than from rural areas," so reports Floyd Lynch, State 4-H Club Leader. "Texas 4-H Club enrollment is up to 84,000 members. More than 16,000 volunteer adult leaders work with Texas 4-H Club members, up from 15,000 a year ago," Lynch reported at a recent state committee planning meeting for celebration of National 4-H Club Week, September 26-October 3, 1964.

"4-H Club membership was once primarily concentrated in rural communities, but not so today. Although there are fewer families active in one-farm operations, some 40% of Texas family bread winners are engaged in a vocation of direct or indirect service to agriculture," said Lynch. "Parents and school officials continue to give strong support to local community 4-H Club programs because the movement places emphasis on practical experiences for youth in the fundamentals of the American agr-business system and our democratic constitutional heritage," Lynch added.

The history of 4-H Club development is typically American. 4-H in Texas originated as a grass roots movement to lift farm family productivity and standards of home living. The boll weevil helped trigger the organization of 4-H. Texas was invaded by the boll weevil from south of the border at the turn of the century. The best defense was believed to be in diversity of agricultural production just in case "king cotton" should be dethroned. The key to many other agricultural enterprises lay in the expansion of in-state feed grain production; in those days that meant the growing of more corn. County Agricultural Agents and lay citizens organized boys into what became known as Corn Clubs. The youth were issued certified seed and were encouraged to plant an acre according to the latest scientific advice. Samples from bountiful harvests were entered in the county fairs and other competitive events. When the boy's father and neighbors saw the youth was out-producing them they switched to the new methods of production. Youth led the way into many other new or expanded Texas agricultural enterprises, for example, girls help extend tomato culture.

County Home Demonstration Agents enrolled girls in Tomato Clubs. Each girl was given quality seed and instructions on how to raise tomatoes according to the latest information coming from agricultural research. After each girl's one-eighth of an acre of tomatoes was harvested, the Home Demonstration Agent hitched up her buggy filled with canning equipment including a hand soldering iron to seal cans and traveled from community to community teaching canning. Canning demonstrations attended by the Tomato Club girls and their mothers introduced the possibility of economical preservation of home grown products and thereby, much improved farm family diet. Tomatoes canned were often sold by local merchants who returned profits to the Tomato Club girls. The girls reinvested in a flock of chickens, cloth for a dress, or other project to improve the home or self.

Corn and Tomato Clubs were merged into what is today called 4-H Clubs during the 1920's. The movement still places emphasis on the dignity of labor, the importance of initiative, self-reliance, the contribution of applied science in human progress, and productivity on the part of the individual. America reached a level of temporary agricultural surplus in the 1950's. Why is the 4-H Club movement continuing to grow and why does it attract so many youth from urban and suburban communities?

"A youth invests capital, time and talent, must keep accurate records, competes in contest and often sells a completed project for profit or loss. Parents and educators recognize these experiences as the principles of the successful American business system and find in 4-H youth's best opportunity for practical experience in applying these principles. 4-H Club members arrive at club decisions through the democratic constitutional processes. Many parents want these kind of youth experiences for their child," states Lynch.

4-H Clubs are organized on a neighborhood basis in cities, towns and rural areas. Volunteer adult leaders serve as advisors to the youth in club organization and project activities. Each club member may select one or more of 142 projects or activities to engage in during a year. Projects include pets, farm animals, the automobile, home improvement, clothing, foods, photography, identification of insects, horse fitting and showing and many other project interests of youth.

The first state-wide 4-H Club membership campaign called "Each One Get One" gets under way September 26. 4-H Club members and adult leaders will extend club membership and leadership to at least one friend during a two month period. Cdr. Alan Shepard of NASA, and first U.S. astronaut in space, a former 4-H Club member of New Hampshire, will appear in TV spot announcements and radio spots urging boys and girls of the United States to consider membership in a 4-H Club during 1964-65.

MY 4-H STORY

by Pat Jarrett

This is my third year in 4-H Club work. I enjoy 4-H more each year. I have enjoyed the cookouts, games and other entertainment of our monthly meetings. The highlight of each meeting was the speech or lecture given by a guest, which has been beneficial to all members.

My projects have been clothing and bedroom improvement. In clothing I have completed several garments and articles. Clothing is fun and helpful. Helpful means I can do most of my sewing much as mother does for my younger sisters. I have made three shifts, two articles, one blouse and two skirts.

I also have had bedroom improvement as a project. We (my sister shares a room with me) put a peg-board in our closet for purses, belts and other things to hang on. Daddy also made us a desk with a bulletin board above it. We have re-arranged it also. We got new drapes and new bedspreads.

4-H means a lot to me and I hope to continue being a 4-H member. I like 4-H because of the members, their families and the leaders we have. I also like 4-H because it is a good club and every boy and girl has the opportunity to be a member and a good one! I like 4-H because it teaches me citizenship, responsibility and other important things girls and boys must know before they can become adults.

4-H is not just something else to go to or just another project to work on. 4-H is something we, every boy and girl who has the opportunity to be, should be. 4-H teaches not just how to feed a calf or sew straight seams, but how to be a citizen and to grow up. But besides all the other reasons, it gives me pride to be called a 4-H'er!

What I Have Done In 4-H Club Work

by Sharon Jarrett

This is my second year in 4-H. I am very happy to have the privilege to be in 4-H. Some kids don't have the privilege that I do, so I should be and I am thankful.

My first year I made a simple gathered skirt. This year I made a shift-type jumper.

Sewing helps me because I can make some of my clothes and some of my family's clothes.

What I Have Done In 4-H Work

by Cathy Jones

4-H work this year has meant much to me and my home. Getting along with other people and learning a useful trade and skill has made me understand the meaning and importance of 4-H work. Learning to keep records will help me as I get older.

My clothing project will help me with my family and friends someday, I know. This being my first year I am looking forward to all the years ahead in the 4-H Club.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

TO 4-H CLUB MEMBERS:

My best wishes to you as you plan your work for the months ahead, and my congratulations for your achievements of the past year. I also commend 4-H Clubs for their notable gains in the past 50 years, since Federal legislation recognized and expanded your head-heart-hands-health program in 1914. It is gratifying to know that today 2-1/4 million boys and girls are active in 4-H in every State and Puerto Rico.

I am glad that these learn-by-doing opportunities are open to all youth, and that 4-H dividends of character development and good citizenship accrue to young men and women of every race, color, creed, and economic circumstance. For this, much credit is due your able and dedicated volunteer leaders, parents, and public-spirited citizens who generously give of themselves and their means to support your work.

I know that each of you, wherever you live, will encourage other youth to join 4-H Clubs and share your goals of progress in this important era of change and growth for our Nation.

Training Program Held For 4-H Leaders

"Getting the most out of your sewing machine," a training program for 4-H Clothing leaders, was recently completed by 10 leaders in Briscoe County reports County Agent Leon Grosdidier. They are

Mrs. Roy Montague, Mrs. Marvin Montague, Mrs. Buck Hardin, Mrs. Claude E. Jarrett, Mrs. Pascal Garrison, Mrs. C. L. Sutton, Mrs. R. N. Muckleroy, Mrs. Leon Grosdidier, Mrs. Don Garrison and Miss Raye Garrison.

This program is sponsored by the Texas Cooperative Extension Service in cooperation with the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work and the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

The course included demonstrations and individual practice sessions on adjustment and care of the sewing machine; machine adjustment for various weights; texture and thickness of fabrics; practical use of sewing machine attachments, and special training in teaching techniques and methods for working with 4-H Club members.

Mrs. Delores Bilderback of Denver, Colorado, the educational supervisor for Singer Sewing Machine Company, taught the course. She was assisted by Mrs. Aubrey W. Russell, District II Agent.

Junior Leadership In 4-H Club Work

by Joe Bob Watson

Junior leaders play an important role in the 4-H program.

Briscoe County has about 10 junior leaders that assist adult leaders in the fields of foods, clothing, livestock, tractor, camps, recreation, and program planning.

1. Who are junior leaders? Junior leaders are experienced

4-H Club members who have worked in groups and have the ability to assist adult leaders. The qualifications for junior leadership responsibilities are that the member must have had at least two years of successful experience as a 4-H Club member, be 14 years of age by January 1 of the current year, and have the willingness and enthusiasm to train himself to accept and carry out leadership jobs to the best of his ability.

2. Why are junior leaders needed?

4-H Club work can be conducted more successfully when enthusiasm and vigor are combined with the experience and vision of adult leaders. Many times an adult leader is busily engaged in assisting with many activities. If he can delegate a part of the leadership responsibility to a junior leader to work under his guidance, he is carrying out one of the overall goals of the 4-H program—that of developing better citizens. A variety of interests may be stimulated among club members by the influence of junior leaders.

OPPORTUNITY FOR LEADERSHIP

by Dianne Davis

The basic requirement in building leadership qualities in young people is to focus attention on their responsibilities of good citizenship now and in the years ahead. The youth of our nation is growingly aware that organizations, states, cities, communities and nations are what their leaders make them—they either progress or go backward.

The Junior Leadership program is geared to kindle this awareness in 4-H Club members by helping them understand their part in making our world a better place in which to live. The purpose of the 4-H Club Junior Leadership Training Program is to encourage older 4-H Club members to develop those leadership qualities that are essential to progress and wholesome community life and to develop opportunities for service and helpfulness to others.

Not everyone can be a leader, but in our free society anyone can strive to become one. For the young people who have the basic prerequisites to leadership, there is unlimited opportunity. The "opportunity for leadership" is a vitally important element in our American way of life.

MY GARDEN

by Yater Muckleroy

I started my garden in May, 1964. I grew tomatoes, carrots, watermelon, corn and turnips. Now my sob story begins. While my cousin (whose name I will not mention) thought they were weeds and with a bitter blow with a hoe he chopped it all down except the corn because it was labeled. So my crop never really reached the 1964 judging.

MY 4-H STORY

by Nancy Reid

I have been in 4-H three years. Last year and year before last I had foods. This year I have dog care, garden, child care, yard improvement, rabbits and wildlife. I enjoy 4-H. I won two ribbons in foods. I take care of my little brother and little sister.

4-H STORY

by Carron Montague

I have completed my fourth year in 4-H and am president of the Senior 4-H Club.

In my fourth year of sewing I made a dress. I won a red ribbon on it. My leader was Carolyn Montague.

I have completed my third year in foods. I got a blue ribbon on my cloverleaf rolls. My demonstrator was LaNelle Montague.

Congratulations 4-H'ers!

We're glad to join in celebrating National 4-H Club Week. We proudly salute 4-H'ers, and the local leaders who give freely of their time and talents.

8. What awards may junior leaders receive?

A junior leader may participate in the Texas 4-H Junior Leadership Demonstration Program. The County Leadership Award is given on the county level for achievements in junior leadership work.

By submitting a 4-H Junior Leadership Record on the County, District, and State levels, a junior leader has the chance to win an expense paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. The national award is a $500 scholarship.

Leadership is also a very important factor considered in the selection of winners in other 4-H Awards Programs on the County, District, State and National levels.

In cooking I won two blue ribbons. My leader in my first year was Mrs. Juanelle Scott, Mrs. Ruby Vaughan. My leader in sewing was Mrs. LaNelle Montague. I am a Smiling 4-H'er.

JOIN TODAY!"

CDR. ALAN B. SHEPARD, JR.
NASA ASTRONAUT

Dr. Alan Shepard, first American NASA astronaut in space and a former 4-H Club member, urges boys and girls to use 4-H Club opportunities to "go places and do exciting things." The 4-H youth movement began more than 50 years ago. Now 76 nations have youth movements similar to the 2 million-member-strong American example. 4-H is designed to provide urban, suburban and rural boys and girls practical experiences in the American Agri-business system, economics, leadership and citizenship through projects related to pets, agriculture, the home and other youth interests. It is administered in Texas by the Agricultural Extension Service, a part of Texas A & M University.

4-H LEARNING FOR LIVING

About 6,300,000 boys and girls in town and country will share the observance of National 4-H Club Week coast to coast. The hand-beat-health youth belong to nearly 94,700 local clubs in all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

This year's observance is especially important because it recognizes the 50th anniversary of the Cooperative Extension Service of which the 4-H Youth Program is a significant part.

The aims of the National 4-H

Club Week in 1964 are to influence more young people to join or form 4-H Clubs, emphasize career exploration and the value of wise vocational choice, encourage capable, youth-minded men and women to become volunteer 4-H leaders, increase public understanding of 4-H aims and methods and honor 4-H friends locally and nationally.

The 4-H and 4-H-type programs in 76 other countries afford the 4-H members of the United States a unique opportunity to learn more about their world.

In April, six representative club members spent a week in Washington and New York City initiating the annual 4-H "Report to the Nation." These reporters met with national leaders in government, business, industry and educational fields. They also appeared on radio and television programs and in press interviews to talk about 4-H accomplishments of the past years and about future plans. Following their example local 4-H'ers will report during Club Week to governors, top county officials, town mayors and neighborhood leaders.

Popular 4-H projects meeting youth needs today in both rural and suburban areas include career exploration, automotive care and safety, electrification, health and nutrition, personality improvement, home beautification, horsemanship, entomology, money management, leadership and citizenship development. The number of projects 4-H'ers may carry ranges from about 25 in some states to about 95 in others.

The club program is a part of the national educational system of Cooperative Extension work in which the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the State land-grant colleges, and the counties share. The Federal Extension Service gives national leadership and the State Extension Service gives state leadership to the program. About 362,400 men and women serve as unpaid volunteer local leaders and are assisted by about 130,981 older club boys and girls called junior leaders.

The National Committee devotes its time to the welfare of 4-H members, volunteer club leaders, county extension agents, donors and other 4-H friends. It enlists the aid of business and civic organizations to provide 4-H awards and educational materials, and coordinates the efforts of donors in line with extension policies and needs. It issues a national 4-H magazine, holds each year's 4-H Club Congress, operates a 4-H supply service and carries on a year round information program.

The National 4-H Club Foundation directs private resources to such educational "Service to Youth" programs as the 4-H Citizenship Short Courses, 4-H Leadership Forums and the Human Development-Human Relations Workshop. It conducts the International Farm Youth Exchange, now in its 16th year; and the 4-H Peace Corps project. Studies are now being completed on 4-H services for urban youth. The National 4-H Center in the Nation's Capitol is a "working memorial to the 4-H program," and the houses of

4-H'ers Campaign for SAFER Use of Drugs, Chemicals

MAJOR CAUSES OF POISONING IN THE HOME

WHERE MOST ACCIDENTS HAPPEN

Main emphasis this year of the National 4-H Safety program has been safe use of household chemicals and drugs, reports the National 4-H Safety Development Committee.

Throughout the state, 4-H Club members and leaders have alerted families and communities to the dangers that misuse of common household products can cause.

There are at least 250,000 chemicals and drugs for home use that would be harmful if improperly used, they warn. These include everyday items such as cleaning aids, cosmetics, medicines, paints and insecticides.

They point out that in one year more than 1,300 deaths resulted from accidental home poisoning, of which 30 per cent were children under 5 years of age. Another 200,000 persons suffered disabling illnesses.

This year marks the 20th anniversary of the 4-H safety program sponsored by General Motors in cooperation with the Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee. Safety program membership is around one-half million.

During this time hundreds of clubs have been cited for conducting life-saving community projects, and thousands of boys and girls have been individually recognized for doing an excellent job in promoting safety, the committee reports.

The 4-H'er with the best project in the state will be the 1964 safety delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Medals will be presented to four county champions, while eight members from across the nation will receive $500 college scholarships. Clubs also will be honored for outstanding local safety programs.

Enrollment for the 1965 program begins this fall. Traffic safety will predominate. However, numerous projects will be carried out in the home and on the farm involving other vital areas of safety.

Additional information can be obtained from the county extension office.

I joined 4-H in 1960. I took foods in 1961, 1962 and 1964. In 1962, 1963 and 1964 I took sewing. In 1963 I took bedroom improvement. I took child care in 1964 and did this by keeping the nursery at church.

I enjoy 4-H because I learn how to be a good citizen and learn new things.

Scores of national and local leaders in business, industry, education and other fields give valued support to the 4-H program in every state and county throughout the country. Public spirited firms, foundations, organizations and individuals generously give money—supplementing taxes—for 4-H awards, incentives to greater achievement, leader training and important contributions of 4-H friends each year promote 4-H in America and around the world.

The 4-H plan has now been adapted so that 4-H Clubs or similar groups exist in about 75 other countries.

I guess you can say I am not a winner, but I am very proud of the things I have learned.

"REMEMBER THE ALAMO"

-- the cry that fanned Texas' defeat to victory!

On March 1, 1836, thirty men from Gonzales broke through the lines of Mexican Army Commander Santa Anna to increase the Alamo's defenses to 187. This little band of heroes held the Alamo against overwhelming odds for five more days in one of the most heroic struggles to be found in the annals of man.

On March 6 Santa Anna with over 4,000 troops stormed the Alamo, and the last of the heroic band of Texans died fighting. Names like William Barret Travis, James Bowie, Davy Crockett and James B. Bonham became immortal.

The massacre at the Alamo inspired General Sam Houston's men at the battle of San Jacinto. Crying "Remember the Alamo!", the Texans sprang upon Santa Anna's soldiers and in a swift bloody fight won Texas its freedom.

SPEAK OUT FOR FREEDOM

... with U. S. Savings Bonds!

Through the years that have followed, other "Alamos" and "San Jacintos" have inspired Americans to lead and win the fight for Freedom — Pork Chop Hill, Iwo Jima, the Meuse-Argonne Forest.

Today, by purchasing a United States Savings Bond, you can also speak out for Freedom as clearly as the battle cries of old. Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in Freedom. Buy Bonds at your bank or on the payroll savings plan where you work.

Several of the high school students, Sandi Rhode, Tina Weaver, Tena Williams, Debbie Dickerson, Garner Garrison, Greg Towe, Max Garrison and Larry McWilliams, appeared in the skit.

Coach Bill Hines reported to the students the feeling a football player has during pep rally. When the pep rally begins, he said, the player gets a tingling feeling in his stomach. When it really gets started good, his fingers become cold. By the end of the pep rally the boy should feel sick all over. If he does not, the pep rally has not been a success.

Coach Tom Thornburg urged everyone to attend and see the Owls capture their third win. After speeches by the captains, Max Garrison and Greg Towe, the pep rally was concluded with more yells.

A short pep squad meeting was held immediately after the pep rally.

Mr. Rampley Talks To Student Body

Wednesday, September 23, O. C. Rampley, principal of the high school, spoke in assembly.

He began by saying how nice it was to be an American citizen, a citizen of Texas, but not least, a citizen of Briscoe County. He expressed his joy at being principal, and having such a nice student body to work with.

He is not satisfied with an average school and average students, he said, but believes in encouraging students to be above average.

The teachers' purpose is to help the student if the student will ask them. The teachers are not, however, at school to entertain, as school is not for entertainment, he added.

Mr. Rampley said he would strive to treat all the students alike as far as they would allow him to. He asked that everyone remember that no one has it in for him.

For the benefit of the new students, Mr. Rampley went over the following school rules:

1. No writing on school or public property.
2. At sports events, no booing of referees or opponents.
3. If a student is present all the days in a six-weeks period in each class, he is not required to take the six weeks' tests. Everyone takes the semester tests.
4. No smoking at school activities or on school grounds.
5. Students may not drive during noon.
6. Girls may not wear shorts to school.
7. Athletes must pass three subjects each six weeks' period or he is suspended from participating in sports for three weeks. If this happens he automatically will not letter.

Mr. Rampley then passed on two very worthwhile quotations. "No power in the world can keep a first class man down or a fourth class man up."

"There are not many success rules that will work unless you do."

Assembly was closed with the introduction of Johan Bull-Njaa, this year's Foreign Exchange Student, and the leaders of the various school organizations.

Make Your Money Work For You

Proceeds from this supper will go toward the purchase of an ice-maker for the cafeteria.

Serving will be from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m., and prices will be $1.00 for adults and 75c for children.

SCHOOL TIME IS SANDWICH TIME

Jane Ashley

Back to school days are peanut butter sandwich days. The peanut butter sandwich is obviously the most popular sandwich for youngsters. And well it should be, for just one tablespoon of peanut butter provides almost the same protein as an ounce of meat or a whole egg. The peanut butter and jelly combination shown here is the most well-known of the peanut butter sandwich fillings. Make a variety of other fillings by mixing peanut butter with grated raw carrot, applesauce, tomato catsup, marshmallow creme, grated cheddar cheese, or deviled ham. For spur-of-the-minute sandwiches, spread bread with peanut butter and top with crumbled bacon, sliced pickle, pickle relish, bananas, or raisins.

Komments From Kathy

by Kathy Peugh

As most of you know, this is the week that all the teachers turned in their three-weeks failing list. If you were among those on this list, there is still time to bring your grades up before the first six-week ends, so why not do it.

There are a number of ways to do this; one is by entering more into class discussion. You will find that a class will be much more interesting if you take part in class discussion. If the class is discussing something, do not be afraid to express your opinion.

Another good and very important way is to ask the teacher to explain anything which is not clear to you. A student cannot expect to do good in a subject which he does not understand. Teachers are here to explain that which the student does not understand.

The third, and most important way, is to spend a little more time with your studies, especially the ones that you are lowest in. You will find that spending a few more minutes on them will not hurt anything, but may gain a great deal.

Our parents and teachers are giving us an opportunity to learn. Let's not throw it away; if we do we will not only be cheating them but ourselves as well.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

4-H drivers aim to curb teen-age accidents

Motor vehicle accidents are the leading cause of death among persons under 25. Young drivers have the highest accident and death rate of any other driver age group. These appalling statistics are the concern of 4-H boys and girls enrolled in the National 4-H Automotive program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company sponsors the program, providing awards, educational literature and other aids. Also lending support are the National 4-H Service Committee, the Automotive Safety Foundation and the National Safety Council. Local club leaders working with the young people urge them to complete projects and re-enroll to obtain the benefits of the three-unit course. The first two units are designed for the pre-driver. The program attempts to develop acceptable driving attitudes and to teach fundamentals of car maintenance. Firestone offers awards for county, state and national winners. A traveling trophy goes to the county having the most outstanding automotive project in the state. This year's state winner will attend the National 4H Club Congress, and will be eligible for a $500 college scholarship.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fitzgerald, Mrs. M. F. Breedlove, Mr. and Mrs. Guinn Fitzgerald and daughters and Mrs. Bill Durham have been visitors with Mrs. Norvell Breedlove and baby at the Tulia hospital. The couple have two other sons, Chris and Craig. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Fitzgerald and Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Breedlove. Mr. M. F. Manning of Hollis, Oklahoma is the great-grandfather.
